Farm blaze on Wednesday

A FIRE DESTROYED an old house that had been converted into a storage shed at the Larry Hansen farm Southwest of Wayne on Wednesday afternoon. Volunteer fire fighters from Wayne arrived on the scene around 4 p.m. and contained the blaze to the one structure. Fire chief Dick Korne of the property about 50 tons of hav was destroyed by the fire and numerous pieces of farm equipment along with a three-wheel motorbike. The fire department was able to obtain water from a neighbors irrigation well and a tank was also brought by from the Winside fire department. Fire fighters were on the scene until short to get the exercise.

One county gets Fed aid

This week Governor Thone's office received word that disaster aid loans would be made available for farmers living in Cuming County

The low interest loans will be made available as the result of a half storm which hit Cuming, and several other counties, on

The storm, which included golfball size and larger hall stones, according to insurance adjusters at the time, hit an area 100 miles long and up to 20 miles wide, although the worst of damage occured in a 10 mile wide area.

Many of Wayne County's corn and soy bean crops were destroyed by the storm. The Wayne County emergency board estimated that 109,000 acres, or 38 percent of the county, had been damaged or destroyed due to the hail.

Since the storm effected parts of severa counties, the state attempted to have low in terest federal disaster aid loan money made available to tarmers living within the strip

"We're still in the ball game," said Jack Hart of Governor Thone's office. "Our figures indicated that Wayne County was hit lust as bad, if not worse then Cuming county. We really can't explain why, as yet, Washington awarded the toan money to only one of the counties."

Local and state officials knew that it was not going to be easy to have the federal government provide the disaster aid for the entire strip due to the regulations governing the procedure.

several countes, it appeared, did not meet this requirement, thus, state officials attempted to have the aid made available regardless of county boundries.

Hart indicated that even if the federa government was not going to accept the no tion of basing the aid funding on the strip area, Wayne County farmers still should have qualified for the low interest loans.

He said he was informed of the aid money being made available to Cuming County on about September 22 "It looks like they are going to wait until after harvest for the other five counties," Hart's said. He added that state officials will be in touch this week with federal officials from the Farmer's Home Administration in order to get some answers about the aid funding fon the rematching counties.

The aid funding for Cuming County will be provided through Farmers Home and Is no

"There's no actual level of declared aid," he said. "Low interest loans are simply made available to those who were hit by the storm."

He also said that the interest rates "really ren't all that low either." He estimated hey would probably be about 7 or 8 percent which is a long way from the 3 percent ilsaster aid toan interest rate available a lew years ago.

"At this point we just don't know their hinking," he added.

The process of receiving disaster aid money involves not only federal and state phicials, but local government officials as well.

Following the storm, an initial assessment, followed up with a more in depth report, was made by the county's emergeny, poard.

Freeze programs

The cost of traditional government obligations — defense, education, public safety, highways — is going down. In 1960, the federal government spent 12.3 percent of the gross national product on the purchase of goods and the payment of employees. By 1982 that figure had dropped to 7.4 per cent. State and local spending for goods and services had increased, but not enough to offset the five percent drop in federal spending.

Now we all know taxes have not dropped during the past 20 years. But then how can the cost of government drop while the tax load keeps going up? It's obvious. Our higher taxes have gone to the entitlement programs. If we are going to break the disastrous spending and tax cycle that is currently stifling our economy, we must control the spending for entitlements.

Today the entitlement programs make up 46.5 percent of the federal budget. That's 10.7 percent of this country's gross national product. In 1965 entitlement programs accounted for only 27 percent of the budget and 4.8

percent of GNP.

We must start by calling for a three year freeze on all government paid cost of living adjustments. This would include increases in Social Security payments, governmental pensions -- both civil and military — and, while we are at it, let's hold the line on all farm price and income support pro

Currently entitlement programs are draining away funds to meet government's traditional obligations. The entitlemnt programs used to be accepted as social problems, ones that we have turned over to the government by default. It's time now for a reversal. It's time now for Congress to change the laws that provide for automatic increased governmental en

Q. How can I collect past-due wages? I started work for a company in April and finally quit in July because my employer owed me nearly $1,250. My employer says that the customers aren't paying the bills, so he can't pay me. What legal action can I take? How long can he put me off before paying me? Does if make a difference if you are part-time or full-time? I have not received a real paycheck for months, just $10 or $20 here and there.

A. You have two avenues open to you to collect your past-due wages? first, a complaint with the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor, a tederal agency; and second, a private suit against your employer under Nebraska stafutes.

The first alternative involves the least expense to you, while the second may be more effective.

he federal wage and hour law does not specify the time when wages should be paid, yever, the courts have determined that wages should be paid "regularly and periodical-Thus, when there is a complaint by an employee that wages were not paid promptly as the Wage and House Division will usually place a call to the employer to attempt to clear matter up. Contact with the Wage and Hour Division does not require legal representadue, the Wage and House Division with usually provided the matter up. Contact with the Wage and Hour Division does not require legal representation.

If the failure to pay wages promptly is more than an isolated incident, the Wage and Hour Division may file a suit in federal court on your behalf. If such a suit were instituted, there is a possibility that additional damages would be assessed against the employer as punishment flowever. It is important to note that the Division's general policy is to enforce the payment only of the minimum wage. Thus, if your back wages are in excess of $3.35 per hour (or 1½ times your regular rate of pay for overtime after 40 hours in a week), under existing policy the Division would not seek payment of the excess amount.

An afternate route concerns a Nebraska staffule which specifies that an employee having a claim for wages which are not paid within 30 days of the regular payday may tile suit for unpaid wages in proper court. If such a suit were successful, the full amount of the wages would be recoverable, along with costs of the suit and afternate fees. Iff you are willing to limit your claim against your employer to $1,000, you would pursue this mafter in smalf claims court without the necessity of hirring legal counsel).

The above courses of action are available regardless of whether you worked full time or part-time.

The decision as to which course of action you should pursue depends in large part of the amount by which your back wages exceed the minimum wage. If that amount is substantial, you may wish to sue in state court. Additionally, because your situation involves some small payments irregularly made, and an employer claiming financial inability to pay, you may want to contact a lawyer to explain all the facts and determine the most practical course of action for you to pursue.

Q. What is the time limit in Nebraska for filling a personal injury lawsuit in a case involving active activation.

is car accident?

A. If your bemuit is to be filed against an individual, it must be filed within four years from the date of the plaintiff discovers the injury. If the suit is against the atale or other political substitution, this turns may year.

If the larguary resulted from a product defect, an action must be commenced within four least so the file and the date on which death, injury or damage occurred, or exittin 10 years after the date on which death, injury or damage consumption.

U.S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Last summer, an outbreak of urban violence in Great Britain prompted a number of commentators in the United States to suggest that the same fate would kiely visit American clites by the summer of 1982, thanks to Reagan administration economic policies and bydget cuts. Washington Post columnist William Raspberry was one of them On July 15, 1982 he wrote. "The British unrest has to be considered fair warning." In fairness, Raspberry qualified his statements by explaining. "It would be foolish to make the outright prediction that there will be riots in the streets of America when the Reagan budget cuts in social programs finally hit home. "But he also wrote. "The people who lose those benefits, however, are not likely to wait quietly for the long hau! What seems far more likely is what is happening in the streets of England."

I responded to these suggestions, some of

In the streets of England."

I responded to these suggestions, some of which were far more extreme than Raspberry's in my own column on August 3, 1982. I described the parailel between British riots and future American unrest as "foolish at best, and at worst a prime exam ple of Irresponsible journalism." I pointed out the relative insignificance of the budget cuts in social programs and the fact that the worst wave of urban violence this country has experienced occurred at the height of Lyndon Johnson's Great Society spending binge in the 1960s.

Well, here we are closing out the summer of 1982, and despite desperate economic conditions in many of our inner cities, thankfully, there have been no rolds. But have we seen any statements by the rold forecasters acknowledging their past misjudgements? Not a chance, Instead, on July 16, 1982, exactly a year and a day after his 1981 article on the subject, a Raspberry column appeared in the Washington Post under the headline, "Chilling Forecasts: Riots in '83."

The column centered on a "study" by a Swiss-based business consulting firm that predicts riots next summer "worse than those of the 1960s, both in property damage and in personal injury.

This loose talk about riots and Reaganomics is not notly irresponsible, but it is founded on gross inaccuracies. The impression conveyed is that the federal government has essentially packed up and moved out of the inner cities, folding social programs and throwing whole segments of the population off the entitlement rolls. In fact, a brief glance at the fate of major social programs under Ronald Reagan puts this charge to rest. Overall, federal spending is now running 10.3 percent ahead of last year — that's about double the rate of inflation. Uncle Sam will spend $11.3 billion on food stamps this fiscal year, and $11.4 billion in inscal 1983. The medical budget will increase as well, from $18.4 billion this year to $19.9 billion next year. Ald to Families with Dependent Children will experience a slight cut, from $7.6 billion in fiscal 1982 to $6.8 billion in 1983. Meanwhile, the granddaddy of all entitlement. Social security, continues its wild expansion — from $217 billion this year to $241 billion next year.

There is no question that eligibility rules for many programs have been tightened—as well as they should be. But in nearly every case, the budgets of these programs will still grow...It you are looking for the reason why we lace big deficits, look no turner. There is still plenty of budget cutting that can and must be done. And to raise the spectre of riots as a consequence of the minor eligibility changes made so far is a crass diversionary lactic designed to scare Congress and the American people from exercising needed budget control

Most Nebraskans don't realize that they're paying less in 1982 in state sales and income taxes than they would be paying this year if the tax burden were still as heavy as in 1978.

I guess people have become so accustomed over the years to rising taxes that they assume that their state sales and income tax levies are still increasing.

The truth of the matter is that a somewhat typical family will pay $102 less in state sales and income taxes in 1982 than they would have paid this year if state government still took as big a silce out of their earnings as in 1978, the year before I became governor.

The calculations are based upon a family of four with one worker making $20,000 and taking standard federal tax deductions.

During 1982, the state income tax rate was increased but the amount of tax paid per person will stay about the same because the state rate is a percentage of the federal tax which was lowered in July.

Because the recession caused state revenues to drop if was necessary to raise the sales tax a half percent for the last eight months of 1982. Therefore, for this year that typical family will pay $24 more than they would have paid on the same earnings in 1981 but $102 less than they would have paid in 1978.

Sophomore Kevin Maly recorded one of Wayne High School's longest kickoff returns when he brought the ball back 84 yards for a touchdown to open the second half. And if that didn't provide enough excite ment for Wayne's large following of tans, there was plenty more. Niemann passed to Pete Warne for an 18-yard TD and Kevin Koenig builted his way 14 yards for Wayne's final points.

The Blue Devil wishbone offense, which relies heavily on its running affack, opened up its passing game Friday with 66 yards through the air. Starting quarterback Niemann completed four of six passes and threw no interceptions.

Wayne had 275 yards rushing for 341 total yards and held Wisner to only 71 total yards.

After one quarter of scoreless play, if seemed Friday's game might become a tight, low-scoring battle. Wayne's ground game erased that thought and the Blue Devils scored 20 points in the second quarter and 20 more in the third.

After forcing Wisner to punt late in the first quarter, the Devils moved the ball well Janke capped the drive with a typ yard touchdown run up the gut. A miscued snap killed the point after attempt and Wayne led 6.0.

killed the point after aftempt and Wayne led 6.0 If wasn't long before the Biue Devils got the ball bark and this time Janke rambled 61 yards down the south sidelines to score. The two point conversion failed and Wayne's lead stood at 12.0.

Wayne's lead stood at 12.0. Wayne got the ball back with more that two minutes left and after a couple of good plays decided to go for another touchdown. With 35 seconds left in the first half, Niemann dropped back to pass. A heavy rush forced the quarterback out of the pocket and as he scrambled right he lofted a pass down the middle of the field.

Janke caught the pass and ran untouched to paydirt. The touchdown play covered 44 yards and Frevert's two-point run upped Wayne's lead to 20.0.

If the Gators weren't mentally depressed when they came out of the lockerroom they were only one play later. Maly received the second half opening kickoft, cut right and raced 86 yards down the north sideline for a fouchdown.

On the very next play, the 195-pound sophomore fullback ran for a TD. Again the snap was dropped on the point-after attempt and the score remained 40-0.

Penalties and a strong defense held Wisner once inside the Wayne 10-yard line. Wayne took over the ball but had no luck moving it. On fourth down, Frevert dropped back to punt. The snap was bad and the punter couldn't control it.

Instead, Frevert, whithin the grasp of a defender, unloaded a pass which was completed to number 55 Tim Heier. Heler found his way the length of the field but the play was called back because he is an ineligible receiver.

Another Wisner threat was thwarted when Layne Lueders batted down a probable touchdown pass and Pete Warne picked off the next one in the end zone and ran it out to the four-yard line.

The two teams then played giveaway for a few minutes. The Devils tumbled and the Gators recovered at the four. Two plays later, Wisner fumbled away a pitchout and Dennis Lebsock recovered at the Wayne 25. Wayne fumbled it back at its 22 and this time the hosts took advantage. A six-yard pass from Doug Johnson to Dan Volker gave Wisner Its only TD. Johnson then connected with Mark McGuire for a two-point conversion pass.

Wayne's injury situation was improved with Lebsock seeing considerable action after sitling out three games and Overin seeing limited action as a defensive player. Both are expected to be ready to play next week.

A key block by Fran Gross dropped in for an ace and returned controlled of the serve to the Devils.

Prenger, who also played a good net and floor game, served the final three points to secure the victory. Murray set to Stoltenberg for an ace spike for the final point.

"Every aspect of the game was better," said Wayne coach Mavis Dalton. "Our serving improved and we didn't have mental lapses like we did against Norfolk Tuesday. The second game we did have a mental lapse but the girls came back to play well in the third game."

Leading the Devils to their 88 percent serving mark were Stottenberg with nine points and three aces, Jacobsen with nine points and three aces, Jacobsen with nine points and three aces and Pam Nissen with six points.

"There will be four age divisions this year: 8 and under, 9 years, 10 years and 11 years. Contestants, will compete in kicking, punting and passing.

Hunting certification at Concord

Here is a question from your Game and Parks Commission. Will you be hunting this fall? If your answer is yes, and you are between the ages of 12 and 16, this message is for you.

State law requires that youngsters 12 through 15 must successfully complete a hunter safety course before they can hunt.

Roy F Stohler of Concord will be conducting a certification course on Saturday, Oct 9 from 8 30 a m to 4 p.m. at the Northeast Station near Concord

The advisory of the course call the Northeast Station at 584 2261. The register for the course call the Northeast Station at 584 2261. Hunter safety training is definitely a step in the right direction loward eliminating hunting accidents, improving the hunter's image and introducing a positive approach to shooting. Stohler said "Hunting season will be here before you know it. Be ready, be cerustrated."

NOW OVER 1,500 LOCATIONS • U.S. & CANADA

WE'LL HELP YOU LOSE THAT WEIGHT OUICKLY, SAFELY, NATURALLY!

AND WE'LL TEACH YOU HOW TO KEEP IT OFF FOR GOOD.

From size 16 to size 8 — I've lost over forty pounds on the safe nutritious Diet Center program. And now I can maintain my weight with sensible eating and the behavior modification techniques I've learned with Diet Center. The Diet Center diet is not difficult or expensive to follow. The foods on the program are all familiar foods you purchase at the grocery store and prepare yourself. The fivephase Diet Center program has been successful for millions of people across the country. National statistical averages of people who lose weight on other diets and maintain their weight loss are not encouraging (98% regain their weight and often more than they lost.) But of Diet Center dieters who follow the complete five. phase program, over 60% maintain their new weight, if you had started on the program on June 1, you might have already lost 25-50 pounds as many of the people coming to Diet Center in Wayne have. Call today for your free introd uctory consultation. . .it could be one of the most important calls you have ever made.
