Accident on Friday

AN ACCIDENT OCCURRED shortly after 8 a.m. Friday morning on highway 35 four miles west of Wayne with both drivers taken to Providence Medical Center. According to officer Dave Headley of the Nebraska patrol, a car driven by Lynne Allemann of rural Wayne was southbound on a county road and was going to attempt a left-hand turn onto the highway. Minnie L. Campbell of Wayne was westbound on the highway with the collision occurring at the intersection. Both cars were extensively damaged. Mrs. Allemann was treated and released from Providence Medical Center. Mrs. Campbell remains in satisfactory condition at the Center.

Two Wayne communities arrive at finals

Residents of Allen and Winside were notified recently that their communities have been designated finalists in the 1982 Nebraska Community Improvement Program (NCIP). Both communities are competing in the Class II division of the contest. Other towns competing in Class II are Meadow Grove, Brady, Glenville and McCool Junction. According to an announcement by the Department of Economic Development, a total of 30 Nebraska communities have been selected as NCIP finalists in five population categories. The communities were chosen by a panel of out-of-state judges who reviewed scrapbook materials and visited finalist communities. Judges visiting Allen recently were given a tour by Allen Community Development Club members Jim Decker, Sheila Schroeder and Cyndi Snyder. The judges looked at improvements the town has made during the past year, including the planting of trees to replace dead elm trees, construction of the community's new mini mall, the Jaws of Life recently purchased by the Allen-Waterbury Fire and Rescue Squad, and the newly remodeled Security State Bank, along with the Housing Authority which was built several years ago. In Winside, judges heard reports from various members of the community regarding activities which have taken place during the past year. One of the biggest projects the community has undertaken is a fund raising drive for improvements on the city's auditorium. Events during the past year to raise money for the auditorium have included benefit basketball and softball games, wrestling and golf tournaments, a spaghetti dinner, an AAL-sponsored chili supper, and a German dinner. Members of the Winside Federated Women's Club sold cookbooks to raise money for auditorium improvements, and the community's senior citizens made a quilt which was sold with proceeds also going for the auditorium. Other projects at Winside during the past year have included placing new playground equipment in the town's park, organizing a summer swimming program for youngsters of the community, a summer Fun Factory sponsored by the library, and adult education classes at the school. Winside's entry in the NCIP program was sponsored by the Community Improvement Committee. The winners of first, second and third place NCIP awards chosen in each of the five population categories will be presented by Gov. Charles Thone at a Recognition Day banquet planned Friday, Oct. 22, in Lincoln. The evening ceremonies will be televised live on the Nebraska Education Television Network (NETV), beginning at 7:30 p.m. NCIP is administered jointly by the Department of Economic Development and the Community Resource and Research Center of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Budget amendment was not a panacea for all the problems

Although the economy was on the mind of Congressman Doug Bereuter, Republican candidate from the First District, during a short visit to Wayne last Wednesday, many other issues, from social security to the nuclear peace movement were also addressed by Congressman Bereuter. In a short address before a question and answer session with students and during an interview with a reporter from The Wayne Herald, Bereuter discussed his campaign against his opponent who is "running an unconventional campaign." "There is a lot of difference in our opinions," Bereuter said. "I like him very much and think he has been effective in bringing up some issues during the campaign." But Bereuter left no doubt that he thinks he will continue to be a better Congressman. He also said he is supporting Jim Keck in the Nebraska senate race. "I think he would be an effective senator and Nebraska needs to have majority senators," he said. In dealing with the economy and balanced budget amendments, Bereuter said "in the '78 campaign I made it clear that we needed to restore fiscal sanity and put some limitations on spending. Unfortunately what we have is called the 'balanced budget amendment.'" Bereuter explained that the amendment would not balance the budget but does place limitations on spending. "It's very hard to resist things, Bereuter said, that there are pressures constantly on the congress by those seeking a parochial advantage. 'We need some sort of escape or release valves from the pressure,'" he said. The amendment could be overridden by 60 percent vote of the Congress and "is not a panacea for the problems. We got it passed in the Senate but it failed to pass in the house." "We need however, reasonable spending restraints, but, at the same time, as the amendment stated, we cannot pass these burdens then back to the state and local level," he explained. SOCIAL SECURITY In a question concerning social security, Bereuter said the fund will be in default late next spring. "We can juggle around with subfunds of the program but, that just makes the ultimate solution more hard to find. The lame duck session this year was to address the problem but I doubt if it comes up," he said. Social security was originally a supplement to savings, family and charity aid, but was not intended to stand alone," Bereuter said. Over the years, he explained, the government has added a lot of welfare related measures to the program, thus increasing the benefits. "I believe social security should be a supplement," he said. "It should be refined and we should get rid of the abuse that is present in the system." He indicated that most of the abuse is minor but that it adds up, such as prisoners collecting it or those who are dead. He also said that the computer that is used for the program is "an antiquated piece of junk that should have been replaced a long time ago." Retirement benefits should be changed, he said, with the changes phased in over a six to eight year period of adjustment; the program should no longer be tied to the Consumer Price Index, believing that another index would be of more benefit to the program; the age it begins and the percentage amount of benefits available at an early age should be looked at along with pushing up the retirement age of 65 as the majority of the population grows older. FARM CONCERNS "I'm in favor of a multi-year grain sale agreement (with the Soviets) with a minimum of five years," he said. "I don't favor embargoes which are selective, be it grain or steel. The only type that are effective are those that are total. A particular sector of the economy should not be selected out." Bereuter said he believes that there are a lot of reasons for low commodity prices, with increasing exports only part of the solution. If we have low prices, he said, it's due to over production and a low market share of the export market. He said that there are people in the world who need the grains but cannot afford to pay for them. "We must learn to better manage the supply and the marketing systems involved," he said. ABORTION ISSUE This is one of the most important and difficult issues Congress has ever wrestled with," he said. "I personally believe that life starts at conception. It's a biological fact," he said, but adds that he does not, at this time, support an amendment. "I don't think it will come up for quite some time," he added. "It's a very vexing problem," he said, that ultimately he believes will end up in the Supreme Court. "To have a change, there will have to be a change in the composition of the court," he said. He also doubts that allowing states to choose for themselves would be constitutional due to the fact that there would be so many differences across the country. DRAFT AND THE MILITARY Bereuter said he can understand a conscientious objectors stand when it comes to wars and fighting, but "I really don't understand their position on not registering," he said. "I see the need for registration but not at this time for a draft call up," he said. "I think it's important that we understand where and what age these people are." Regarding the recent sentencing of a young man who refused to register, Bereuter said he thought it was "very severe." As far as the military budget goes, Bereuter said that we are going through a large build up now but that he has voted, at least once, against a presidential recommendation for more funding. He supports the President but "I supported an increase of about 18 percent, but then on top of that we were asked to approve another 17 percent increase. I don't think that much money, all at once, can be well and effectively spent especially in view of the state's economy so I voted no. I'm generally very supportive of the President but this time I had to vote no." Bereuter however, is in favor of dropping some of the secrecy of the military especially regarding what is known of the Soviet

Annual drive is set by K-club

Members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club will be out on the streets of the community Wednesday, Oct. 20 and Thursday, Oct. 21, in the evenings, for the club's annual popcorn sale. Proceeds of the sale are used, in part, to fund the many public service programs of the club. This year's major emphasis project, "Share Good Health With Children" is an extension of last year's theme of "Share Good Health." This is in keeping with the Kiwanis International theme of "Making Every Child Special." The goals of this year's Kiwanis theme include to: • Motivate a child to his fullest potential. • Improve the quality of life for those less fortunate. • Enhance K-family unity. • Extend to others the opportunity of Kiwanis membership. • Strengthen the spirit of volunteerism by serving grandly and with joy, our communities and our fellow man. If your house is missed during the upcoming popcorn sale, it will still be available at People's Natural Gas, 208 Main. The popcorn includes seasonings and butter in each package. With the club beginning a new year, planned community projects include: • The Kiwanis sponsored college service club's annual Halloween party for Wayne children. • The Kiwanis Outstanding Farmer award which recognizes an area farmer couple's achievements. • The Kiwanis pancake feed in March. • Community beautification projects which include the planting of trees. • Scholastic awards banquet which recognizes the scholastic achievements of the Wayne area youth. • Junior high track meet. • Kiwanis swim meet in July.

CONGRESSMAN DOUG Bereuter was in Wayne this past week, talking about a variety of issues that ranged from social programs to the current U.S. military build up. The congressman is currently seeking another term and explained some of his philosophies and his decision, at times, not to back the President on some spending measures.

Auditors

Everyone talks about trying to save money on energy costs, usually chewing out the gas and electric companies in the process or BIG OIL. This fall however, Wayne homeowners have a unique opportunity to save money this winter on utility costs. The Wayne Energy Task Force has been beating the bushes and has come up with several volunteers who have been trained to look for problems in houses. According to the task force members, these energy auditors are not experts, but rather have been trained to spot problems in heating a home that owners may not readily see or not know about. One of the big things about the program is that it is free, and you can't get any cheaper than that. Simply by arranging a time with one of the volunteer advisors, homeowners could save on costs this winter and, in some cases, save alot. Improvements recommended are fairly inexpensive for the most part — generally under $100. In some cases too, funding is available if people wish to take on more expensive projects. There's also a good funding program available for retired folks too. So look into it. It doesn't cost anything for the audit and maybe, just maybe, it could save homeowners a small bundle come next spring. In addition, we'd like to thank these people for volunteering their time for the community's betterment and the task force members for coming up with the idea in the first place. Way to go!

ASK A LAWYER A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE NEBRASKA STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Q. What is the most effective procedure to use to try to collect past-due child support? It doesn't seem like I should have to go to my attorney, and pay additional legal fees, to collect this money. Who is responsible for enforcing this? A. The courts are responsible for enforcing child support obligations. The manner in which those obligations are enforced and whether you will incur additional legal fees, however, will depend upon which enforcement procedure you elect to pursue. Any time you retain an attorney in private practice to enforce the child support obligations of your former spouse, that attorney has a right to expect to be compensated. In some instances the District Court has the power and discretion to order the non-custodial parent to pay the attorney fees of the custodial parent, but this is not always done. One of the collection procedures available to you is a "withhold and transmit" proceeding in which the Court can order your former spouse's employer to deduct child support payments directly from his or her paycheck. The amount withheld is automatically sent to the clerk of the district court. The clerks of the district court in each county must maintain a record of child support payments and report all payments which are delinquent more than 30 days to the district court. The court is then required to appoint an attorney to begin contempt proceedings against the non-paying parent. This is the responsibility of the district court, and there is no charge to the custodial parent. You may also want to contact your county attorney's office and determine whether that office has a program of child support enforcement. If it does, that office will have available all of the enforcement mechanisms that are available to attorneys in private practice. That is, the county attorney may apply for a withhold and transmit order, begin garnishment proceedings, execute on property owned by your former spouse, and/or seek to have him or her held in contempt of court. In addition, the county attorney has the authority to start criminal proceedings against your former spouse for failure to comply with the child support order. You would, of course, not be obligated for payment of any attorney fee to the county attorney for any action taken to enforce the child support obligation. Some county attorney's offices in Nebraska are simply not equipped to handle child support enforcement. In that event, the court may appoint an attorney for the purpose of enforcing your former spouse's child support obligations. You would not be responsible for the payment of that attorney's fee. If the non-custodial parent no longer resides in Nebraska, there are laws which can be utilized by the county attorney or a private attorney for enforcement of child support in the other state.

If it does, that office will have available all of the enforcement mechanisms that are available to attorneys in private practice. That is, the county attorney may apply for a withhold and transmit order, begin garnishment proceedings, execute on property owned by your former spouse, and/or seek to have him or her held in contempt of court. In addition, the county attorney has the authority to start criminal proceedings against your former spouse for failure to comply with the child support order. You would, of course, not be obligated for payment of any attorney fee to the county attorney for any action taken to enforce the child support obligation. Some county attorney's offices in Nebraska are simply not equipped to handle child support enforcement. In that event, the court may appoint an attorney for the purpose of enforcing your former spouse's child support obligations. You would not be responsible for the payment of that attorney's fee. If the non-custodial parent no longer resides in Nebraska, there are laws which can be utilized by the county attorney or a private attorney for enforcement of child support in the other state.

Life's little ironies... Wednesdays, at best, are trash days for newspapers — up early and a lot of work. Well, this week we were running later than usual. As time went on, stress increased so, by the end of the day, we were ready to party a bit. There were some things to talk over but the boss and I needed to get, well, not smashed, but oh, a bit relaxed let's say...we got relaxed okay? I don't know how Marsh felt the next day. He had to drive to Lincoln on Thursday and I had to go to Norfolk for a panel discussion. So here I was, a can of 7-Up in my hand, my body full of extra strength pain relievers (not the Chicago stuff, even if I did feel like I had taken some of it), waiting to get into this meeting and shooting the bull with a guy from television.

I really had no idea what group I was talking to. The lady said it was composed of human service people and the theme was "access to the media". The door opened and me and my headache, upset tummy and body wandered in...wandered into a meeting of an alcohol abuse prevention group. Life's little ironies...

politics but, unfortunately on the more local level we have quite a few candidates who are running unopposed. That's the poorest thing that could happen. If you don't like the job they do, there is not a lot of alternatives except to not vote for them at all. It would be very interesting to see what would happen if a candidate got in this year with just one or two votes. Now that would be a heck of a mandate! Also while I'm on the subject, a note on my desk says don't forget those write-in candidates too. On a more personal level...Hey you honyak! Ya you, what kind of true American has never heard of, let alone eaten, fresh potato soup? You must be some kind of communist. Heck, even rich people eat potato soup, they just have French and Russian names for the stuff. At any rate, thanks for the good stuff. My, My...Isn't there a lot of stuff floating around these days in the mill from the rumor-mongers? I don't know, ever since I was young I've had a tendency to use an old phrase... "When in doubt, freak them out". In other words whether I repeat the gossip or not, and whether it's the truth or not, you can bet I'll give a reply judged to raise the most commotion. I mean, if you can't stop the gossip, why not increase it, have a little fun and see where it goes? Neh? The proof is in the pudding as they say, and good pudding does take awhile to fully cook...pff.

USDA moving ahead

By M.M. Van Kirk Nebraska Farm Bureau

An action package has been instituted by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block aimed at pulling the nation's farm economy out of the doldrums and most of the moves probably have support of the farm sector. Mostly they seek to reduce the mountainous over supplies of feed grains, wheat, and cotton that have been built up over the past three years from a combination of big crop yields, the 1980 Soviet grain embargo that prevailed for more than a year and left long-term damage, and a general decline in international export demand because of a sagging world economy. There is general acknowledgment that farm programs that encourage a constant buildup of stored commodities for which there is no market depress prices and eventually reach a point of no return. For several years it has been argued that voluntary set-aside acreage reduction arrangements simply don't work, that a paid diversion of acreage has a better chance of getting participation and compliance on the part of the farmers. For example, acreage reductions of wheat and feed grains during 1982 have still left the nation with record production despite all reports of voluntary compliance. First, Secretary Block has announced a 10 percent acreage reduction and a 10 percent paid land diversion for the 1973 feed grain program. There is also an additional $60 million allocated to the fiscal 1983 farm storage facility loan program beyond the $40 million originally allocated. The per bushel target prices for 1983-crop feed grains will be: corn, $2.86; sorghum, $2.72; barley, $2.60; and oats, $1.60. Regular Commodity Credit Corp. price support loan rates, per bushel, will be: corn, $2.65; sorghum, $2.52; barley, $2.16; oats, $1.33; and rye, $2.25. The signup for the 1983 feed grain program will be from Oct. 1 through March 31. Producers may request 50 percent of their projected 1983 deficiency payments and 50 percent of their 1983 diversion payments when they sign up. The USDA estimates per-bushel deficiency payment rates will be: corn, 21 cents; sorghum, 20 cents; and barley, 15 cents. Advance deficiency payments will be half these rates. Land diversion payments have been established at $1.50 per bushel for corn and sorghum, $1 for barley and 75 cents for oats. The land diversion payment is based on the per bushel payment rate times the farm yield times the acres diverted. Farmers who request advance diversion payments at the time they sign up will receive a payment equal to half the established payment rates. A producer who accepts an advance payment but who later does not comply with the program provisions, must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest. Interest charged will be the rate in effect for commodity loans on the date of the advance payment, plus 5 percentage points. To be eligible for these benefits and for price support loans, a producer must agree to limit corn, sorghum, oats and barley acreage planted for harvest to not more than 80 percent of the farm's feed grain base. Producers also must devote to conservation uses an acreage equal to both the acreage reduction and land diversion requirements. A spokesman for the USDA has stated that the Department will use at least $175 million of Commodity Credit Corp. funds for additional market development and export incentives in the form of subsidized interest rates and export subsidies to combat subsidies being used by the Common Market nations to move their surplus farm commodities. The House and Senate have agreed on a provision in the Agriculture Appropriations bill for fiscal 1983, mandating that not less than $500 million in direct export loans be made available by the Commodity Credit Corp. This would permit the CCC to set the interest rate on direct export loans at any level needed to meet the credit competition from other exporting countries. The USDA is working on some farm commodity barrier arrangements to trade farm products for petroleum and strategic metals, and to expand P.L. 480 shipments to needy developing nations. Taken altogether, the measures should produce some noticeable benefits to the farm economy, in combination with lower interest rates and stabilized production costs through control of inflation.

"The time has come for decisive action — action that will break the vicious circle of spiraling prices and costs. I am today ordering a freeze on all prices and wages throughout the United States for a period of 90 days." With those words, spoken on August 15, 1971, President Richard Nixon sought to quell a country up in arms over inflation — inflation which for the first half of that year was running at a pace of, would you believe, 9 3/4%! It is clear to most economists that President Nixon's wage/price controls made the long-term inflation picture worse, not better. (By 1974, prices were escalating at a rate of 11%.) But the Nixon thing with controls is instructive as we witness politicians and policymakers today patting themselves on the back for beating inflation down to an annual rate so far this year of 5.1%. Make no mistake, the Reagan administration and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker deserve credit for courageously addressing what everyone agreed two years ago was the number one problem facing America. Substantial progress has been made. After two years of double-digit inflation in 1979 and 1980, the rate was cut to 4.9% during the first year of Reaganomics and now, it's down to the present 5.1%.

There are those who doubt that President Reagan's medicine of budget cuts, resistance to quick-fix spending programs and greater reliance on free market forces can bring this about. But those are the same doubters who said that we would be stuck with double-digit inflation and 21% interest rates for the years to come — the same doubters who said that removing controls from crude oil and refining energy prices to the dictates of supply and demand would send those prices into outer space. Today, gasoline is actually cheaper than it was when the President took office. The inflation battle is far from won. Let's give credit where credit is due, but then press on until the American people can once again afford the American dream.

Nebraska will reap great benefits if we can make just small percentage gains in exporting agricultural products. Chase Econometrics recently made a study of what the effects would be if feed grain exports to other nations would grow a little faster than anticipated. They concluded that if sales grew 10 percent faster than expected, farm cash receipts would be $3.3 billion higher in 1985 and $10.08 billion higher in 1990. Net farm income would be $2.2 billion higher in 1985 and $9 billion higher in 1990. Average local corn prices in 1990 would be $5.64 Chase said. Therefore, we must continue to emphasize exports. We don't need to have the sharp percentage increases in farm exports we've had in the past five years, such as the 97 percent rise by Japan, the 164 percent climb by South Korea and the 615 percent rocket up by Mexico.

New uses for agricultural products can help farm prices, and I'm pushing for more research and development in that area. But the rising levels of income around the world augurs well for much greater exports too, and I will continue doing everything in my power to make the United States competitive in selling agricultural output abroad.

One-man show features author in own story of life of Jesus

Actor-author Norman Dietz will bring his retelling of the life of Christ, "The Jesus of Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and Norman," to Wayne State College on Monday, Oct. 25.

The public is invited to attend the program free of charge at 8 p.m. in Ley Theatre in the Education Building.

Dietz is being sponsored by the Wayne State religious student organizations, including Campus Ministry, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Gamma Delta, Inter Varsity, and Newman Club.

Dietz's presentation is in contemporary language, but is based on ancient New Testament narratives.

Beginning with Jesus' birth in poverty, the tale sweeps through his life of healing and teaching, and his growing conflict with the authorities, to his capture and trial, his death by Roman crucifixion, and to the empty tomb.

Rounding out the 90-minute show, titled "Jesus and Ymir: Images of God," will be Dietz's well-known short fable, "Old Ymir," the story of a wise old potter and the rebellious pot he creates, vows to destroy, then inexplicably spares when the two are reconciled by an unanticipated act of love.

Dietz is a writer, actor and director. His work has been praised by The New York Times as "colorful and religiously vibrant."

Since 1962, working alone and in the company of his actress-wife Sandra, he has presented close to 1,000 performances of his fables and theatre pieces in New York, on college and university campuses, in theatres, churches, and convention centers.

His plays are performed by theatre companies and amateurs throughout the United States, and in Canada and England.

His first book, "Fables and Vaudevilles and Plays," a collection of his work, sold 10,000 copies. He also wrote "The Life Guard and the Mermaid," and is presently at work on a third.

A record album made by he and his wife, entitled "Tandem," contains some of his most popular writing.

After living in Manhattan for 10 years, where they produced, directed and performed, the Dietzes moved in 1970 to the seaside hamlet of Orient, close to the ocean on Long Island's east end.

There they purchased the village's abandoned 50-year-old sweet shop as their home and, when not on the road, now operate a 30-seat ice cream parlor theatre called The Ice Cream Works, devoted to ice cream concoctions and performances of Dietz's work.

Wayne girl selected for NSVH program

Diane Glass of Wayne, a student since 1975 at the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped (NSVH), Nebraska City, has been chosen to participate in a cooperative program between NSVH and the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation.

Goal of the program is to promote one-to-one interpersonal relationships between Nebraska City Lourdes High School students and students from NSVH.

Examples of these goals are developing independence, increasing positive self-concept, encouraging verbal expression and exposing students to new people and new experiences.

Carroll postmaster is honored at national NAPUS convention

Over 3,200 postmasters met in Biloxi, Miss. Oct. 3-7 for the 78th annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States (NAPUS).

Concord Postmaster and Mrs. Norman Anderson, Carroll Postmaster Betty Kavanaugh, retired Carroll Postmaster and Mrs. John Rehwisch, West Point Postmaster Eldon Bernhardt, and South Sioux City Postmaster Rex Wilcox were among the 56 Nebraskans who attended the five-day meeting.

Mrs. Kavanaugh is editor of Nebraska Postmaster, the Nebraska chapter publication, and served as chairperson of the national press release committee for the convention in Biloxi.

She was honored during the convention with a certificate of excellence for the best feature article among the chapter publications.

The publications were judged by a professor of journalism from Georgetown University, Joseph Gondola of Clifton, N. J., national president of NAPUS, which represents over 27,000 postmasters nationwide, expressed the need for the preservation of the Private Express Statutes to help assure equally priced mail service nationwide.

Gondola encouraged postmasters to help make their customers aware of the need for the ZIP plus 4, presorts and automated services available in the Postal Service.

Featured speaker of the convention was Postmaster General William F. Bolger.

Bolger attributed the postal rate stability expected until 1984, in part, to an increase in productivity because of automation, a higher than expected volume in mail, and fuel and energy savings of $17 million this year.

Other dignitaries who addressed the convention included congressmen, postal officials, members of the U.S. Postal Board of Governors and Postal Rate Commission, and Cincinnati letter carrier Donald Marrs who walked across the United States for cancer.

National NAPUS and postal officials gave presentations and held training seminars which included such topics as stress, employee involvement, legislation, communication, public relations and retirement.

While in Mississippi most of the postmasters and spouses toured New Orleans and other gulf coast sights.

The Rehwisches visited their daughter and family in Tennessee and their son and family in Pennsylvania before returning home.

The Andersons and Kavanaugh were among 13 Nebraskans who drove to Biloxi in a motor home. They toured Graceland in Memphis and Silver Dollar City in the Ozarks.

Big plays lead Cats past Eagles

The Winside Wildcats picked up their second victory in a span of five days with a 20-7 win over Allen Friday night at Winside. The Cats also defeated Wynot Monday in a game that was postponed from last Friday.

The early Eagles trailed 13-7 at that point with plenty of time left in the game. Needing five yards for a first down, quarterback Shawn Mahler turned and pitched the ball back on a second down play.

John Hawkins scored on the next play to put Winside back in control. The point after attempt by Dan Broekemeier gave the hosts a 20-7 lead with 8:17 remaining in the game. Opening strike for TD. The explosive Hawkins scored both of Winside's other touchdowns. The first came with 10:17 remaining in the first quarter. The Wildcats defense held Allen on its first series and forced a punt. Winside took over in excellent field position at the Allen 39 yard line following a short punt.

The Eagles' rushing attack was led by Chase with 15 carries for 77 yards and Kirk Hansen with 11 carries for 55 yards. Quarterback Mahler carried for several big gains but his gains were neutralized by quarterback sacks.

The Eagles converted a fourth and six play when Shawn Mahler carried to the Winside 25 in the first quarter. Allen ran into another fourth down situation at the 17 yard line and this time Brian Bowers and Tony Woerdemann made the stop short of the first down.

Wayne dumps Pirates

A Friday night victory gave the Wayne Blue Devils more football victories than any Wayne team since 1978. Wayne stopped Emerson-Hubbard 14-0 on the Wayne State College field to build its record to 4-3.

The Blue Devils have a chance for their first winning season since a 5-3-1 campaign in '78. Wayne is scheduled to play Hartington CC on the road Friday for the West Husker Conference championship. The locals will wrap up the season Wednesday, Oct. 27 when O'Neill comes to town.

It was a real hard fought football game. We had the stats on them but we couldn't get out of our own territory in the second quarter," Wayne coach Lonnie Ehrhardt said.

Wayne's lone touchdown came following a good defensive showing in the third quarter. The Eagles got the ball at their own 33 and moved it downhill. After grinding out a couple of first downs, Chase gained 24 yards on one carry to put the ball at Winside's 22-yard line.

Ponca bombs Bears

The celebration of Laurel's first football victory came to an abrupt end Friday night when up-and-down Ponca ripped the Bears 38-0 in Newcastle.

Ponca plays all of its home games on a neutral field this year because its own field is newly seeded. Laurel was just coming off of a 20-8 win over Hartington on Monday night. That game had been rescheduled due to last Friday's storm.

Coble leads Trojan win

Wakefield's two leading running backs, Rod Nixon and Mike Clay, were on the sidelines Friday night for a division game against Homer.

Nixon suffered some frayed ligaments in a ball game a couple of weeks ago and Clay injured his shoulder in practice Thursday. Guy hasn't been able to fully recuperate from a knee injury sustained more than a year ago. His knee swelled up on him this week after he saw offensive and defensive duty in Monday night's loss to Osmond.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

National Activities Week
This week (Oct. 17-23) is designated as National High School Activities Week. Friday is National Coaches Day and Thursday is National Officials Day.

Wayne-Carroll High School has sent some information regarding the importance of high school activities throughout a community. I'll share the information with readers:

Why a National High School Activities Week?

"The need for public awareness and support of high school activities programs is acute and each year illustrations of the lack of support or awareness of the values and needs of high school programs appear.

Usually, where there is a strain on the public educational dollar, high school activity programs are the first to be considered for reduction or elimination, because, in all sections of the United States, demands for the educational dollar are becoming greater and the resultant strain on activity program funding increases.

As to the values of activity programs, there are several very vivid, documented examples:

—National surveys reveal that students participating in high school activities are more likely to have higher academic averages and far better attendance records.

—Of the students who drop out of high schools, 94 percent have not been involved in any school activities such as athletics, music, speech, student government...

—The best predictor—according to ACT and SAT studies—of success in later life is previous participation in high school activity programs—not high school or college grade point average, test score or rank-in-class.

—Generally, participation in activity programs teaches values that make children happier and better citizens, builds strong minds and bodies, emphasizes that competition is not evil, and that race, color, sex and economic status are not obstacles for participation, and finally, instills poise and confidence.

—Nationally, more than one-half of the high school student population participates in high school activity programs for approximately one percent of the total school budget, obviously the best value in public education today.

—Truly, high school activities are, in fact, "The Other Half of Education." With such values for such a minimum investment, it is important that the public become aware that this "other half of education" is needed and therefore public, parental and student support a necessity—thus the reason for National High School Activities Week.

Six class system proposed Nebraska's present system for high school athletics breaks schools into four basic classes (A, B, C and D) by enrollment. Football actually has A, B, C-1, C-2, Eight-man 1 and Eight-man 2.

Now, high school administrators are being asked to consider a reclassification plan which could expand the division of schools for basketball, volleyball and track from four classes to six.

The proposal calls for Class 6A to consist of the largest 33 schools in the state. Class 5A would consist of the next 64, Class 4A of the next 64, Class 3A of the next 69, Class 2A of the next 69 and Class 1A of the smallest 69 schools.

The present breakdown for basketball, volleyball and track lists 32 schools in Class A, 64 in Class B, 128 in Class C and 145 in Class D.

Under the proposed plan, eight districts in Classes 6A and 5A would be held in basketball and volleyball with winners qualifying for state. Each of the other classes would have 16 districts and winners would play regional playoffs to send eight teams to state.

Volleyball would consist of a two-day state tournament using two sites. In basketball, boys and girls teams would play in the same district tournneys. State tournaments would include boys and girls teams from 3A, 2A and 1A in a four-day meet the first week of March and teams from 6A, 5A and 4A the following week.

Allen netters top Winside in old rivalry

In a battle of serving, the Allen Eagles trimmed Winside 15-7, 15-12 Friday night at Winside.

Allen grabbed a quick 7-0 lead on good serving in the first set but the Wildcats gained ground and pulled back within one point at 7-6. The Eagles got back on track at that point and pulled away for a 15-7 win.

The hosts got the early lead in the second set holding advantages of 4-0 and 8-3. But again, Allen came back and turned the competition into a tight ball game. Winside's lead dwindled to 9-7 and 10-9 and then finally Shelly Williams hit an ace spike to tie the score at 12 all.

The Eagles slid past Winside at 13-12 and held on to win 15-12 when Williams added a final ace spike.

The winners were led in scoring by two players. Williams had 15 good serves in 16 attempts and made four aces and Pam Kavanaugh hit 15 consecutive good serves and four aces.

Machelle Pettit was 18-of-21 in setting and Kavanaugh was 13-for-13. At the net, Michelle Harder hit 10 of 15 spikes with four aces. Williams made 9 of 10 and had four aces. Tami Jewell was successful on all five attempted spikes and made two aces.

Allen coach Gary Troth said his team's passing game was not sharp right away but took care of itself. He added that setting went in spurts but overall was "not too bad." The Eagles' floor play got off to a slow start but picked up into the match, Troth said.

"We had a couple of lapses in our serve reception and we tenced up a little," said Troth. "This rivalry is always tough."

Winside was led in scoring by Patti Langenberg with five points in the first set and Lori Schrant and Pam Peter with five and three points respectively in the second set.

Lori Schrant hit all nine of her attempted serves and Langenberg was 9-for-10 in setting. Winside coach Marie Dougherty said serving hurt her team at the wrong time.

"They have two real good spikers and they beat us at the net. The girls showed a lot of hustle but our play was inconsistent. We would play well for a few points and then fall apart for awhile," Dougherty said.

The Wildcats won the junior varsity match 7-11, 11-2, 11-1. In the first game, Tammy Brudigan scored four points and in the second, Julie Bruggeman scored four. Bruggeman scored seven and Leah Jensen added four in the final set.

Dougherty said her JV players looked the best they have all season. They demonstrated movement and hustle while overcoming a slow start and pulling together, she said.

Allen was paced by the play of Mary Oswald. "We had a real good first game," said Troth who said he didn't know who the team was that played the second and third sets. He jokingly added that he planned to find out who stole the JV uniforms and put them on. "That wasn't us on the court," he said.

Allen now holds a 5-6 varsity record and Winside drops to 2-7. The Eagles will host Homer tomorrow (Tuesday) while Winside travels to Hartington.

Title match ahead

In a tuneup match before Thursday's Clark Division championship, the Laurel volleyball team defeated Randolph 15 13, 14 16, 15 8 at Laurel High School Thursday night.

Coach Dwight Iverson said the win was the most exciting match in which his team was involved this year. The crowd got its money's worth of good spiking and good volleyball in general he said.

Leading scorers for the Bears were Jean Lule and Renee Gadenken with 12 points and 11 respectively. Gadenken had eight ace serves. The Bears were good on 62 of 69 attempted serves for about 90 percent success. In the setting department, Carol Osborne had 20 good sets in 24 attempts and Cammie Crookshank made 22 of 23 good sets.

Gadenken led the winners in spiking with 19 good spikes in 24 attempts including 11 for aces. Kim Sherry was 9 for 12 with five aces.

Iverson said Laurel's B team played its best match of the year to defeat a good Randolph team 15-4, 15-5. Cara Dahlquist scored nine points and Lori Lindsay scored seven for the winners. Laurel had 42 good serves in 43 tries for 93 percent success.

Laurel's C team lost its first match of the year 10-12, 11-2, 6-11. Michelle Joslin was leading scorer with nine points.

Iverson said he was glad to get the Laurel match out of the way and happy with his team's performance. The Bears will host Wynot Thursday and the winner of that match will be Clark Division champion. The Bears are 12-3 overall and 5-1 in the conference. Wynot is a 6-0 in the Clark Division. The winner will represent its division in a Lewis & Clark Conference playoff with the Lewis Division champ next Monday.

Ranked teams win

The Wayne State College Lady Wildcat volleyball team continued to play nationally ranked competitors, losing a pair of matches to the rated Lady Griffons of Missouri Western on Tuesday.

Upcoming games for Coach Ernie Kovar's Lady Cats include a varsity and junior varsity match at Dordt College in Sioux Center, Iowa on Wednesday. Final home games will be on Tuesday, Oct. 26 against Westmar and Northeast Tech colleges and Northwestern Iowa on Oct. 27. Matches will begin at 6 p.m. Wayne State holds a 7-16-1 record overall and a 2-6 record in Central States Intercollegiate Conference competition.

Scores of the first match were 15-10, 15-4, 11-15 and 15-4 in favor of the Lady Griffons. Western went on to win the second match in three sets, 15-13, 15-9 and 15-3. Missouri Western moved their records to 17-4-4 and 7-1 in the CSIC.

Jill Zeiss and Anne Montag were Wayne's top scorers, serving up 15 and 14 points each. Senior Annette Reiman led in assists with 17 and turned in seven downed spikes on the night. Becky Frahm added 10 assists.

Diane Wachholtz played strong on the front line for Wayne State, notching nine downed spikes and two dinks. Montag and Andrea Jones each downed seven spikes.

"We're becoming more competitive as the season progresses," said coach Kovar. "The team has played several tough teams some good games, and that is a favorable sign. We hope to maintain that level of play for the rest of the year."

The volleyball team has scheduled a parent's night for the Wednesday, Oct. 27 varsity and junior varsity contests against Northwestern. Along with showing appreciation to the players' parents for their support, it will also be the last chance to see senior Annette Reiman in action at home.

LAYNE MARSH whips a serve across the net as partner Jeff Stratton covers. The Wayne doubles team won a match at state.

Marsh-Stratton win one state match

The Wayne Blue Devils scored eight points in the Class B State Tennis Tournament Thursday, completing their season against the best in the state.

The number one doubles team of Layne Marsh and Jeff Stratton won a match at state to give Wayne four points. Another four points were awarded as a result of first round byes.

Scheidtger and Castner upped their season record to 20-1 with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over the Wayne team.

In number one singles action, Vini Johar lost 0-6, 0-6 to top-seeded and undefeated Robert Sjohelm of Columbus. In number two singles play, Jessi Johar lost 2-6, 0-6 to Jeff Kissling of Beatrice.

Wayne's number two doubles team of R. J. Metteer and Ted DeTurk was defeated 0-6, 0-6 by a Bellevue West team of Eric Swanson and Chris Hawkinson that was second seeded.

Laurel's lone tennis player, Paul Lotquitt, lost 2-6, 2-6 in the first round of the number two singles competition to Ron Tuch of Reilston, the number two seed in the division.

Wayne's freshmen pick up victory number three, 26-8

A strong rushing attack paced the Wayne freshman Blue Devils to a 26-8 thumping of O'Neill Thursday afternoon in football action.

The hosts scored the first 14 points of the game and the last 12 to post their third victory in four games.

Wayne rushed for 151 yards and passed for 60. Of that 60 yards, 57 was gained on one play—a touchdown pass from Jon McCright to Brent Pick with four minutes left in the first half.

That TD seemed to take the wind out of O'Neill's sails after the Eagles had cut Wayne's lead to 14-8 with a touchdown on a kickoff return.

The Devils scored first on all four yard runs by Dan Gross following an O'Neill fumble at the Eagles' 13-yard line. Gross scored again on a one-yard run in the second quarter and McCright passed to Gross for a two-point conversion and a 14 lead. That touchdown also followed an O'Neill turnover at the 16.

O'Neill returned the kickoff for a TD and scored a two-point conversion. The TD pass from McCright to Pick capped a 70-yard drive and made the score 20-6 at the intermission.

For the game, Gross finished with 94 yards rushing and Andy Hillier had 44. Leading tacklers were Gross and McCright with eight each. Coach Duane Blomkamp said his team played as hard and as well as can be expected to ever play.

Wayne will finish its season tomorrow (Tuesday) with a game at West Point CC.

WAYNE'S FRESHMEN gang tackle on this defensive effort against O'Neill. Dan Gross (33), Casey Nichols (68), Scott Baker (22) and Jon McCright (16) make this defensive play. The Blue Devils held O'Neill to one touchdown on a kickoff return Thursday.

Blue Devil Boosters to meet

The Wayne-Carroll Blue Devil Boosters have scheduled a meeting at 8 p.m. tonight (Monday) in the high school commons area. The purpose of the meeting is to hear reports by those in charge of booster shirts, the fish fry and raffle tickets. Information on contributions and bylaws of area booster clubs has been received and will be discussed. Anyone who is interested in the boosters is welcome to attend Monday's meeting.

Turkey permits available

A total of 404 fall shotgun turkey permits still remain for the 1982 season. The Game and Parks Commission announced Thursday. Still available are 154 permits in the Round Top Unit and 249 permits in the Niobrara Unit (late season). One permit remains in the Wildcat Unit.

1982 fall shotgun turkey permits may be purchased for $15 from Game and Parks Commission Headquarters, 2200 No. 33rd, Lincoln 68503.

Quail information sought

Game and Parks Commission biologists are asking interested quail hunters for information to assist in the state's quail management program.

This year, as in the past, the Commission will rely on the help of cooperating hunters to provide valuable information about quail and the quail hunting season. Reports from individual hunters aid in determining hunting pressure, rate of quail harvest, provide information on reproduction, crippling losses and other important data.

Dedicated quail hunters wishing to cooperate with the Commission in this study are requested to contact Jim Bruner at Commission Headquarters, Box 30370, Lincoln 68503, or by calling (402) 464-0641.

Commission seeks addresses

There are seven lucky deer hunters and two lucky turkey hunters whose names were drawn to receive deer and turkey permits for the 1982 season that won't be hunting this fall unless the Game and Parks Commission can locate their present addresses.

The Post Office has returned their permits because of incorrect or unknown addresses. One of the men has a Hoskins address. The names of the missing permit holders and the addresses that appeared on their permit applications are: Mike A. Bleyhl, RR 1, Hoskins, 68740; Billy J. Houser, 1004 East 6th, North Platte, 69101; Gary L. McNeal, Rt. 1, Box 164, Scottsbluff, 69361; Mike J. Nash, P.O. Box 105, Laha Ave., Murray, 68409; David E. Nielsen, 2421 So. 48th, Ave., Omaha, 68106; Laura A. Palmer, Grant, 69140; Terrance B. Podraza, RR 1, Box 100, Yutan, 68073; David F. Gates, RR 1, Cedar Rapids, 68627; and Daryl F. Scott, 6920 Oak Plaza, No. 12D, Omaha, 68106.

Anyone knowing the correct addresses for these individuals is urged to contact the Game and Parks Commission at 2200 No. 33rd, Lincoln, 68503; or phone (402) 464-0641.

Hunter safety improving

Nebraska's Hunter Safety Program is proving its worth. Nebraska's mandatory program requiring all youngsters age 12 through 15 to successfully complete a hunter safety education course before they hunt became law Jan. 1, 1976. In the following five years since inception of the program (1976-1981) Nebraska recorded the lowest firearm accident totals of any consecutive five years since 1958.

The North American Association of Hunter Safety Coordinators says firearm accidents are declining on a national basis too, especially in those states that have offered hunter safety programs for some time.

Usually, the Association says, a decline is noticed some 10 to 15 years following implementation of the program, but in Nebraska the positive results from the program became evident much quicker.

Factors such as weather conditions, time of day, how many hours the party had been hunting or conditions in the field, (snow cover or muddy terrain) all play an important part in determining what should be emphasized in the student's Hunter Education Course.

Since 1958, the one field situation that has produced more firearm accidents than any other is "victim covered by shooter swing on gun." Almost half of Nebraska's firearm accidents since 1958 have resulted from violating the zone of fire.

Free seedlings available

For interested farmers and ranchers, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission once again has free tree seedlings available through the Nebraska Wildlife Habitat Program.

Seedling bundles are available for farmers and ranchers and are intended for rural sites only outside city limits. The seedlings must also be planted at least 200 yards from inhabited dwellings. To receive an application form, write to Habitat, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln 68503. Applications may also be obtained from district Game and Parks Commission offices in North Platte, Bassett, Alliance, Norfolk and Omaha.

This year the program continues with two different bundles, the habitat bundle and the woodlot starter bundle. Applicants are limited to one of each, and supplies will provide 500 bundles of each.

The habitat bundle will consist of 50 red cedar and 50 ponderosa pine, will provide better habitat for most situations. The woodlot starter bundle, with 100 green ash, are offered as habitat improvement but also to encourage replacement of Nebraska's fuel supplies.

Free IRS package is available

The Internal Revenue Service has announced a major redesign of its "Understanding Taxes" program for 1983.

"Understanding Taxes" is a complete, free educational package, which teaches high school juniors and seniors important aspects of the Federal tax system. Over 35,000 students in Nebraska used the course last year, according to IRS.

After a year long study, the new curriculum will include more information and skill development than ever before.

The materials will now be presented in a "modular" format, permitting teachers greater flexibility when scheduling and teaching.

The curriculum will include a line-by-line explanation of the Form 1040A and a discussion of a basic Form 1040 and Schedule A for itemized deductions. However, new chapters will also cover such information as the economics of taxation, tax legislation and the role taxes play in our society.

Student course books, teachers' manuals, special training visual aids and audio visual materials are supplied free by the IRS. Teachers do not have to be skilled in tax law to teach this course, according to the IRS.

The IRS advised high school administrators: teachers and parents interested in learning more about offering "Understanding Taxes" program to contact the IRS by calling the number listed in local directories.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Frink went to Sioux City the evening of Oct. 10 to visit his sister, Mrs. Florence Jenkins, of Winside who is in a hospital there recuperating from surgery that she had Oct. 5.

Every day, more than 107,000,000 Americans — seven out of 10 adults — read a daily newspaper. Every week nine out of 10 adults read at least one newspaper.

Lamb Meat Balls

1 lb. ground lamb
1 small onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
1/2 t. salt
one eighth t. pepper
cooked rice
Shape meat into 1 1/2 inch balls and brown. Add onions and green peppers and continue to cook for 5 more minutes. Add soup, milk, salt and pepper, mixing well. Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Serve with rice.

Barbecued Rib Chops

1 pkg. Italian dressing mix
6 ozs. tomato paste
8 lamb rib chops 3/4 inches thick
Combine salad dressing mix and tomato paste; spread in a thin layer over top side of chops on outdoor grill. Cook five to seven minutes and turn and brush with sauce. Cook five minutes or until desired doneness.

Glazed Leg of Lamb

1 leg, six to nine pounds
salt and pepper
1/2 cup dry sherry
1/2 cup currant jelly
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 t. dried marjoram
parsley and lemon slices
Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper. Roast in oven at 325 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until meat reaches 145 degrees for med. rare. Meanwhile, combine sherry, jelly, catsup and marjoram in sauce pan. Stir until jelly melts. Brush lamb frequently with sauce the last 1 1/2 hours of roasting time. Heat remaining sauce and serve with lamb. Garnish with parsley and lemon.

Lamb Meat Dish

1 lb. ground lamb shoulder
1/2 to 1 cup ground carrots
1/2 cup ground onions
