Candidate drops from top race

Gary D. Vopalensky, candidate for the office of mayor in Wayne, said on Wednesday that he is withdrawing from the November general election.

Gary D. Vopalensky

Citing personal reasons, Vopalensky expressed disappointment that he must remove himself from the mayoral race, but did emphasize that he would continue to work for all of the citizens in Wayne from his fourth ward council seat.

This spring, Vopalensky earned the right to meet incumbent mayor Wayne Marsh in the general election by narrowly defeating councilor Keith Mosley in the May 11 primary. According to Secretary of State Allen Beermann, Vopalensky's name will still be on the ballot Nov. 2 as the deadline for removing a name from the ballot was Aug. 24.

The two-year councilor stressed that even though he is not running for the city's top post, many of the issues that he was basing his candidacy on will now be approached from his council position.

Among the items are city employee responsiveness to the citizens of Wayne; an aggressive economic recovery and development plan, scrutinizing of the apparent large number of dollars spent on various studies, consultants and engineers; concern with the present city administration and full value of tax dollar expenditures.

Vopalensky said that he is anticipating a change in the present makeup of the council following the November election. He feels that the people of Wayne are ready for a more active and responsive council and he looks forward to joining them in charting Wayne's future.

He thanked all of those who supported him in his election bid and expressed regret that his bid for office must be postponed at this time.

ELECTION PREVIEW

Farm amendment

EDITOR'S NOTE

Nebraskans will be voting on six issues when they go to the general election polls on November 2. So that voters can better understand these important proposals to change the state's Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a series of news reports on each of the six proposed issues. Each story in this series concentrates on a single issue, briefly defining it, explaining its purpose and finally stating the arguments for and against it. These arguments for and against are not the actual language that will appear on the official ballot. This following is the sixth in the special public service series.

"A constitutional amendment to prohibit non-family farm corporations from further purchase of Nebraska farm and ranch land, and to prohibit further establishment of non-family corporate crop and livestock operations."

PURPOSE: The proposed amendment, which made the ballot by virtue of a petition drive by the Nebraska Farmers Union which collected more than the 49,742 needed signatures, intends to outlaw future establishment of non-family corporate farms and ranches. Existing non-family corporate farms would continue to exist under the protection of a grandfather clause. The amendment specifies several types of agricultural operations that would be exempt under the amendment, including Indian tribal corporations and farms operated for experimentation and seed growing. A corporation which acquires farm land for eventual non-agriculture use could hold it for up to five years, leasing it to a family farm operation for cultivation. Family farm corporations, which through a change in their officers cease to meet the legal definition, would have up to 50 years to dispose of the land. To be a family farm corporation under terms of the amendment, a majority of the stock must be held by persons closely related to one another.

SUPPORT: Supporters argue the amendment is needed to assure the continued existence of the family farm in Nebraska. Recent farmland purchased by corporations such as Prudential Insurance Co. have highlighted what supporters of the amendment consider a growing threat to family farming. On several occasions in recent years, the Legislature has refused to pass legislation or submit a constitutional amendment to voters to restrict non-family farm ownership. Supporters say the refusal makes it necessary to amend the Constitution. Supporters say the family farm is the backbone of the rural economy. Absentee corporate landlords don't spend their earnings on main street in the way that family farmers do, so the trend to corporate farming has a widespread negative effect on rural areas, supporters of the amendment say. Many neighboring states in the farm belt have enacted legal restrictions on corporate farming, supporters note.

OPPOSITION: Critics say the lengthy amendment is shot through with vague definitions and potential loopholes. They say the immediate effect of passage would be a rapid decline in the value of farm land because it would eliminate a class of potential buyers. The amendment would stymie future economic growth in the state, opponents contend if restrictions on corporate farming are to be enacted, the Legislature should do it through a change in statute, opponents say.

Construction begins

CONSTRUCTION RECENTLY began at the location for the new Casey's General Store. City officials have said crews plan on getting the building up before severe weather hits, then working inside to complete the building. The business has been the focal point of controversy in the community this past year since it gained a beer sales permit through the Nebraska court system.

Board delays vote on court suit

It appears the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education will file a claim with Wayne County for the full amount of the shortfall in tax money to the Wayne Public School system.

During a special meeting Tuesday night of the board of education, Ken Olds, school attorney, proposed the claim be filed.

The claim stems from a clerical error made in the Wayne County Assessors office. Board members learned in August that the error may result in lost revenues to the Wayne Public School system of about $296,254 for the 1981-82 school year.

Wayne County Assessor Doris Stopp said what the error means is that people did not pay the correct property tax levy.

At Tuesday night's meeting, Olds said he had written to the insurance carrier for Wayne County regarding an error and omissions policy taken out by the Wayne County Commissions.

Olds said although the letter was acknowledged, that is all he received up to this point, and he recommended the claim be filed.

Board members asked that discussion of the insurance claim be continued at the next regular board meeting on Nov. 8.

Purpose of Tuesday night's special meeting was for board members to meet with architect Lynn Jones to discuss plans to enclose the west and north entrances to the high school.

The plans call for enclosing the west vestibule, and installing a set of double doors on the north vestibule. Cost of enclosing the north entrance is estimated at $2,800.

Superintendent Frances Haun said three plans were presented by the architect for the west side, ranging from $13,000 to $26,000.

Final plans will be revealed at the next meeting, at which time Haun said he expects the board to authorize the architect to proceed with one of the plans and take bids on alternate proposals.

Open burning ordinance and employees are discussed

Only one formal item was on the agenda for the meeting of the Wayne city council Tuesday night, however two other items concerning city employees performance were also discussed.

Formally, the council took up the matter of bringing an ordinance outlining the requirements and regulations for open burning in the city, in line with that of state statutes.

According to city administrator Philip Kloster, the ordinance is simply a house keeping duty. The duty however will be repeated at least one more time as a motion to bypass the three readings rule failed. Voting against the bypass were councilors Darrell Heiler and Gary Vopalensky.

Kloster said the ordinance is similar to the existing city ordinance and simply is more specific on what may be burned. It also deals more specifically with the issuance of permits for open burning.

Both under the present ordinance and the pending ordinance, permits for open burning must be issued by the fire chief following a request, generally personally, by those wanting the permits.

Commenting on his no vote against immediate passage of the ordinance, Heiler said he wanted more time to review the ordinance to insure there wouldn't be a snowballing effect regarding the issuing of permits.

Most councilors were in agreement Tuesday night that they did not want to return to the days of fall when "you'd come over a hill and wouldn't be able to see the community because of all the smoke" as one said.

As a result of Tuesday night's meeting, the ordinance will now follow the more formal procedure necessary for passage and incorporation into the city code.

On an employee matter, Kloster and the entire city council formally congratulated patrolman Keith Adams on receiving the Nebraska's officer of the year award last week.

According to Kloster and police chief Vern Fairchild, Adams was more or less taken by surprise last week during a banquet in Bellevue when he was presented with the award.

"We are very glad to know that there is someone tried and true and really working for the community," commented Mayor Wayne Marsh.

"It's also something special," Kloster said "with this type of award because it is the highest type of recognition offered by fellow colleagues," Kloster said.

Adams was honored with the top award by the Nebraska Police Officers Association for his life saving action last November.

Adams was on duty the day an emergency call came through that Joshua Bowers, the son of Mary and Robert Bowers, had stopped breathing.

According to Mrs. Bowers, Adams was on the scene in less than a minute, and began treatment which directly aided in saving the life of the 20 month old youngster.

Also Tuesday night, the council recognized the efforts of the Dan Kehls and the fire department for their actions during the surprise storm on Oct. 19 and the following days.

"It was the worst kind of a storm that can happen. We'd like to publicly thank Dan and the department for all their hours of work. They've done a fantastic job," Kloster said.

Results in injuries

AN ACCIDENT on Sunday resulted in the injury of Thomas G. Fredrickson, who struck a car driven by Kevin Victor while on his motorcycle. Police officers report Fredrickson thought Victor was parking his car rather than beginning a turn into a driveway. He was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the Victor auto.

news briefs

Monthly testing scheduled

The City of Wayne will conduct the monthly testing of civil defense sirens at 1 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 29. Sirens will be allowed to ring only one minute with a three minute pause between each siren test. Sirens will be tested in the following sequence:

- Alert, both high and low siren on for one minute.
- Pause, three minutes.
- Attack, both high and low siren on for ten seconds, off for ten seconds, continuing for one minute.

Normal time sequence for each of the sirens is a full three minutes. Since this is for testing purposes only, the sirens will be shut down after one minute each.

The police department requests that if any resident living near a siren fails to hear the test, they should contact the department so that the siren may be checked for malfunction.

Community council to meet

The Wayne Community Council will meet on Nov. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the West elementary school library.

Subcommittees meeting include:

- Special needs — ongoing support for prekindergarten services, EMH and TMH programs with discussion of the mainstreaming that is taking place.
- Special Talents — report will be given on the workshop held this summer in North Platte and a report on the initial meeting of the task force for the gifted and talented.

A short introductory meeting will be held before the subcommittee meetings to discuss additional topics of interest.

Trick or treaters welcome

A spokesman for Neihardt Hall on the Wayne State College campus said doors there will be open on Halloween for all elementary age trick or treaters.

Youngsters are invited to trick or treat at Neihardt Hall between the hours of 5 and 9 p.m. Neihardt Hall is located across the street from the Hahn Administration building.

Residents of the hall will be available to accompany the youngsters to the different rooms.

Leaf pickup rescheduled

The Wayne Jaycees are planning their annual leaf pick up in Wayne on Sunday (Oct. 31) from 1 to 4 p.m. Leaves must be placed in plastic bags and set at the curb. The leaf pick up is a free service.

police report

Accidents and several complaints were investigated by Wayne's police department over the weekend.

On Saturday, officers investigated a complaint of harassment. According to the complainant, boys were pounding on a door. By the time officers arrived the subjects were gone.

The department also handled a problem of an alarm going off by mistake and a barking dog complaint.

Sunday, officers were called to the scene of an accident on West 1st street.

According to the report, a car driven by Kevin G. Victor of Wayne, was starting to make a left turn into a parking area for apartments and was hit on the left side by a motorcycle driven by Thomas G. Fredrickson of Wayne.

Fredrickson said he thought that Victor was parking the car at the curb and took his eyes off of the vehicle. When he looked ahead, Victor's auto was starting to turn and he could not avoid a collision.

Fredrickson was taken by ambulance to Providence Medical Center for treatment of injuries received in the accident.

Also on Sunday, officers received a complaint of shots being fired but upon arrival at the scene could not find anyone.

A second accident was investigated by officers on Monday. According to officers, a vehicle driven by Brian M. Roberts of Wayne, was backing from a driveway and backed into the side of a North bound vehicle driven by Bernard C. Cowgill of Wayne.

A suspicious vehicle and person was reported to the department on Monday and, a follow up call, reported someone beating on windows. Officers investigated the incident but found no one.

Also on Monday, a report of a strange noise coming from a downtown bar was found to be a record player left on after the record had finished. A complaint of a dog bothering a jogger was also received.

A complaint that someone had backed their vehicle into the side of a garage was also investigated on Monday.

All-Nebraska Community

WAYNE RECEIVED THE DESIGNATION of All-Nebraska Community at the annual Nebraska Community Improvement Program (NCIP) ceremonies Friday night in Lincoln. Accepting the award from Governor and Mrs. Charles Thone are Wayne businessman Paul Peterson and Mayor Wayne Marsh. Wayne was among 30 communities across the state to receive the All-Nebraska Community Award for providing a high level of municipal services to its citizens.

SCHOOL BOARD

Voters of School District 17

On November 2, I am seeking a spot on the Board of Education of School District No. 17. I am a mother of three school age children with a sincere interest in the future course of the educational system in Wayne. As a lifelong resident of Wayne and a graduate of Wayne-Carroll School system, I am familiar with this system and some of the existing and potential problems that face us. As a taxpayer, I share the concerns of other taxpayers in making sure every dollar spent by the board is justified and I pledge my efforts to eliminate excess spending.

I am not seeking this office in order to represent any special interest groups nor am I seeking to make any radical changes in our present school system. Thanks to the dedicated efforts of past and present school board members, school administrators, and faculty and staff of District No. 17, we are blessed with an excellent system that functions very efficiently. I pledge my full ability to continue their efforts and to further improve our school system.

Your vote on November 2nd would be appreciated.

Water resources, special session reviewed

By Melvin Paul
The Nebraska Press Association

Opponents of irrigation development in the Sandhills gained a new weapon recently with release of a new study which indicates that nitrate contamination of groundwater may occur there despite the best management practices.

Supporters of Sandhills development claim increasingly sophisticated management practices, such as the ability to apply only that amount of fertilizer which can be consumed by the plants, have minimized the contamination threat.

In recent testimony before the Legislature's Public Works Committee, state Natural Resources Commission planning chief Tony Vrana told of the new study by Gary Hergert, formerly of the University of Nebraska, which indicates a threat exists despite new fertilization techniques.

Within 50 to 75 years, according to the study, intensely irrigated areas of the Sandhills could experience nitrate contamination reaching 100 parts per million, ten times the threshold at which health problems may result.

Protection against the nitrate build-up, according to scientists, seems to be an acreage reduction of irrigated, fertilized corn to about 160 acres per section.

Vrana said the validity of the study's conclusions are bound to be refuted by other agronomists. Even if Hergert's numbers are off substantially, the development of the sandy soil appears to present a threat of nitrate contamination, he said.

The study is likely to become a source of discussion among Public Works Committee members and other senators as the ongoing debate about water legislation continues in the 1983 legislative session.

When state legislators return to special session on Nov. 5 to make their mid-year cuts in the state spending, there will be a lot of interest in at least one non-budget item.

The special session will present the ideal time for a little politicking by those senators who want to seek elective posts such as speaker, the executive board chairmanship and standing committee chairmanship when the regular session convenes in January.

Coming three days after the election, the state lawmakers will then have the answers to many serious questions that must be answered before serious organizational politicking can begin.

They'll know who the election winners and losers are, and they'll know which committee chairmen, if any, created some opportunities for colleagues by getting knocked off in their elections.

The positioning for January is likely to inject an interesting element into the November budget-cutting session.

At least two senators are expected to miss the special session due to illness. Speaker Richard Marvel of Hastings and Sen. Myron Rumery of North Platte have said they'll not attend.

Rumery didn't seek re-election. Marvel is in mid-term, but poor health since last spring may force his resignation prior to the January session.

Their absence will add an interesting element to the arithmetic of the special session.

Mid-year budget cuts will need a minimum of 33 votes if the cuts are to be enacted soon enough to avoid a sales and income tax rate increase. That's because the bills must have an emergency clause, which takes a super-majority of the 49-member body to be enacted immediately.

Viewed another way, 17 of the 49 senators could withhold their support for budget-cutting bills and thwart the will of the majority of their colleagues. With Marvel and Rumery gone, that reduces the number of senators who could join to block the budget cuts to a mere 15. That means that less than one-third of the membership could scuttle cuts in state appropriations, making a tax rate increase inevitable.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Capitol News column published the week of October 11 listed in the Nebraska gubernatorial candidates. Two of the largest contributors to each candidate were inadvertently omitted and included $65,000 from the Nebraska Republican Central Committee and $20,000 from the Republican Governors Association to Thone and a $16,000 contribution from the Nebraska State Education Association and $6,430 from the AFL-CIO to the Kerry campaign.

viewpoint

Record, not rhetoric

Governor Charley Thone's record during his first term, not the rhetoric of his opponent, should be the basis on which Nebraskans vote for the state's most important post. Let's look at that enviable record for a moment.

STATE PAYROLL — The number of state employees exclusive of those in HIGHER EDUCATION, has been reduced by about 1,400 or more that 10 percent, a savings to taxpayers of more than $20 million annually.

STATE SPENDING — Total state spending for the current year is less than was appropriated last year... the first time in 29 years a budget was reduced.

TAXES — Each Nebraskan is paying less in state sales and income tax in 1982 than they would be paying if the tax burden were as heavy as in 1978, the year before Thone became governor.

Thone has always been a positive politician. Like the good businessman, he believes in selling his own wares without knocking and running down the competition... "Accentuate the Positive" has been his theme his whole political life. Only when unfairly accused has he counter-attacked.

A farm boy of the depression days Thone well understands the plight of today's farmer. His efforts in expanding agricultural exports are bearing fruit. Through his close ties to the Reagan administration he has bent the President's ear in behalf of the farmer and will continue to be a strong advocate for the farmer... plus his opponent could not hope to muster.

Educators too should support Thone. While pay increases for state college and university staffs have been modest this year, there HAVE been increases. Given the economy of that state and nation, that in itself is a Thone plus. Many states have actually reduced faculty wages. Nebraska faculties have actually received approximately 50 percent pay increases in the past five years... four of them under Thone while entire state spending has been reduced.

All sectors of Nebraska should vote for Charley Thone. His record is clear and it is a good one. The campaign rhetoric of his opposition is meaningless.

Legal notices

Today, within the legal pages of The Wayne Herald, the third and final publication of ballot titles, texts and explanations of five proposed constitutional amendments are provided for public inspection by the state. Also included is the text and explanation of Initiative 300, a proposed amendment which is also reviewed in the news section of the paper in an article written by the Nebraska Press Association.

This week, our office has received several requests for more information on initiative 300 which deals with corporate ownership of farm land; along with more information on the proposed constitutional amendments.

To those interested, we strongly suggest that the initiative and other proposals be read, in their entirety, as they will appear on the ballot and as drawn up by our state lawmakers.

Although there does not appear to be as much public interest in the legislative amendments as there does with initiative 300, we suggest they be reviewed for they will also have an effect on our state system.

They deal with legislator's time through the reading of proposed bills in their entirety; the issuance of revenue bonds for improvement of blighted areas; the reduction in time for redemption of real estate sold for tax purposes; reimbursement for expenses incurred by legislators and the issuance of revenue bonds for water management and conservation projects.

Proponents of Initiative 300 have said that the state needs such a law, controlling corporate ownership of Nebraska's farm lands. Proponents have said that the law will not control corporate ownership, rather it will muddy the already murky waters of farm ownership in Nebraska.

We suggest, as with all issues, that you take the time to read through the proposed amendments, discuss them with your family and friends, and make up your own mind before going to the polls next week.

letters

To the editor

This letter is directed primarily at the people who are undecided about initiative 300, the family farm bill. Consider where the money is coming from to defeat this bill. Nearly $500,000 from Prudential Life Insurance, Vermont Industries, LeDoy's Land Co. and many more has been allocated to defeat this amendment. These companies have a lot of state farm, Prudential, the purchaser of the land, Vermont, the carrier, private land, LeDoy's Land Company, the sales and management of the land. They all stand to make extra money by the defeat of this amendment than the passage of it. Don't let them sway you into thinking the amendment is full of loopholes and is poorly written. If it were they wouldn't be spending this kind of money to defeat it.

This is probably the most important amendment to be voted on by the people of this state in recent times. Please take the time to read it carefully and make up your own mind. Don't be bought!

Thank You
Martin D. One family farmer

Continues support

Last week I was very pleased to spend some time with President Reagan when he visited Omaha. During that visit, the President took time to sign into law a bill that will increase the production of alcohol fuels from wheat and feed grains.

The "Surplus Agricultural Commodities Disposal Act of 1982," a bill which I cosponsored, instructs the Secretary of Agriculture, when feasible, to contract with alcohol fuel processors to convert excessive supplies of government-owned commodities into alcohol and related agricultural byproducts.

This program can lead to higher farm prices, lower government farm program costs, and increased use of renewable fuels by the Federal government.

It costs approximately $1.70 per bushel, every two years, in transportation, handling, storage and interest costs to hold grain forfeited to the government under the price support activities of the Commodity Credit Corporation. Much of this cost can be saved by converting the commodities to alcohol and utilizing the fuel for government transportation and industrial purposes.

The measure requires that all alcohol produced under the program be earmarked solely for use by the Federal government. This provision assures that the alcohol produced will not disrupt the private alcohol market or displace grain stocks already destined for alcohol production.

The support for this bill underscores a commitment on the part of Congress and the Administration to undertake innovative approaches to solve the problems that beset our agricultural sector.

Blended Credit Program

Secretary of Agriculture John Block has announced plans for a three-year $1.5 billion "blended credit" program to expand exports of U.S. agricultural products.

Interest-free direct government export credits will be blended with government guaranteed private credits to produce a lower interest rate. The new export credits will be offered principally to developing countries, with terms up to three years.

This is a package sales program that will complement our other domestic and foreign efforts to improve farm income. The program will expand U.S. agricultural exports and boost commodity prices.

Implementation of this "blended credit" program is a logical sequel to the adoption of the Agricultural Export Credit Revolving Fund. I was a principal cosponsor of that amendment to the 1982 Farm Bill.

This concessional approach to export expansion is designed to result ultimately in long-term expansion in agricultural trade under normal commercial terms. Such export expansion is not all of the answer to our problem but it is important for America's farmers. These export changes must accompany improvements in programs managing supply and marketing.

Group opposes 300

The Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association Board of Directors, meeting in York, Nebraska October 21, voted to oppose Initiative 300, which will appear on the General Election Ballot November 2.

The motion called for opposition because the amendment is "not properly written, should not be entered into the Constitution of Nebraska, and would not solve the problems of the family farm."

The NLFA Board directed President Gene Krabel, Hastings, to appoint a committee of livestock producers to work with other Farm Organizations to address the corporate farming issue. In the future, Krabel said, "We want it made very clear the NLFA is not opposed to the family farm, just opposed to this Amendment to our State Constitution."

The Association mailed a Special Edition of its internal communications publication called "Over The Feedback" to all members last week, Krabel said, which outlined both sides of the issue and included a copy of the long and complicated Amendment. It was evident from reaction of our members, who are currently in the middle of a late harvest season, that many were not satisfied with all of the complications this amendment would bring to the future of the livestock production business in Nebraska, he added.

He urged all citizens to study the issue closely, check with a friend or member of the family who owns and manages land, to better understand the restrictions called for in this poorly-written addition to the Constitution of Nebraska. When they do, he said, they will understand why our organization Board voted to oppose it, even though most NLFA members make their living on a "family farm" and want the opportunity to continue.

A few NLFA Board members indicated that some of their local association members were in favor of Initiative 300 so the vote was not unanimous, Krabel pointed out, but it was a strong majority voting to oppose the Amendment.

Chancellor's Notebook:

A column for Nebraska

One of the joys of serving as the Chancellor of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is the opportunity to travel throughout the State of Nebraska, meet and interact with a number of community groups, and share a variety of experiences with many Nebraska citizens, UNL students, faculty and staff, alumni and parents.

Visits off the campus have made me acutely aware of the interest Nebraskans have in the University of Nebraska and the pride Nebraskans take in their University. Unlike many of our sister states, the State of Nebraska and its people bear a very special relationship to the University of Nebraska.

The University plays a composite role in Nebraska's design for higher education: Where many states rely on two or more institutions to provide breadth in teaching, research and service, Nebraska's resources have been concentrated in one major, comprehensive university.

Within the University, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln fulfills a unique mission. As Nebraska's comprehensive land-grant university, UNL has a tripartite mission of instruction, research and service. Our Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources has the responsibility for instruction, developing new knowledge and extension services in agriculture and natural resources. UNL's mission also includes leadership educational roles in the professions of law, teaching, engineering, journalism, and business and in the development of the arts, the humanities and the sciences.

The research and Ph.D. granting functions distinguish UNL from many of its sister institutions in our state. At UNL, research is a critical component of the instructional process. The discovery made in UNL laboratories, offices and field stations cuts new paths along the frontier of scholarly understanding, enriches the environment for learning and provides new knowledge for instruction.

As chancellor at UNL, I have had the good fortune to witness many moments of discovery — by our own distinguished scholars and scientists, by visiting scholars, and by our students and Nebraska citizens who have occasion to visit and become acquainted with the Lincoln campus each year. With this column, I plan to share many of those discoveries with you. I hope you will find the topics interesting and informative. And as I continue to travel the State in the months ahead, I hope many of the topics committed to print will stimulate you to share your ideas and opinions with me.

Dr. Martin A. Massengale is the chancellor of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

briefly speaking

'Joy in the Evening' meeting

"Joy in the Evening," an interdenominational Christian organization, will meet Saturday, Oct. 30, at 8 p.m. in the Columbus Federal Savings and Loan community room in Wayne. Guests during the evening will be Dennis and Charlotte Tripp. Dennis is the president of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Association in Omaha. The public is invited, and admission is free.

Local DAV recognized

Members of Disabled American Veterans Chapter 28 and Auxiliary of Wayne attended the seventh annual Volunteer Awards Program last Sunday at the Nebraska Veterans Home in Norfolk. August Lorenzen, chapter commander, and Irma Baier, auxiliary commander, received certificates on behalf of the DAV for outstanding volunteer work at the Norfolk Veterans Home. Auxiliary members receiving new certificates for volunteer work were Verona Bargholz and Irma Baier. Chris Bargholz and Neva Lorenzen received 30-hour pins for volunteer work. The program included the presentation of colors, invocation, welcome, presentation of awards, and a thank you by Duane Hodge, administrator of the Norfolk Veterans Home. Coffee and cake were served.

Program at Assembly

Dave and Maggie will be ministering in music on Sunday, Oct. 31 at Christian Life Assembly Church, 901 Circle Dr. in Wayne. The public is invited to attend the program at 7:30 p.m.

Guest attends Homemakers

Lydia Thomsen was a guest at the October meeting of Progressive Homemakers Club, held Saturday in the home of Emma Dranselka. Nine members attended. Julia Haas will be the Nov. 16 hostess at 2 p.m.

Grace Duo Club meets

Couples of Grace Lutheran Duo Club (Lutheran Laymen's League) met Monday evening with President Arvid Marks. Reports were given on the September progressive supper, the Lutheran Laymen's Fall Rally held recently at Immanuel in Laurel, and the Golden Age dinner held Oct. 17 for members of the church 70 years and older. Special donations were decided upon, and the program was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mann and Mr. and Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen. Opening the program was a hymn. The lesson was entitled "God's Love — in Bread (I Am the Life)." Cards followed the program. Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomsen and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schmidt. Next meeting will be Nov. 29 in the church fellowship room.

Daughter dedicated

Jamé Renee Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Peterson of Concord, was dedicated Sunday, Oct. 17, at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord. Officiating was the Rev. John Westerholm. Dinner guests afterward in the Peterson home were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rice, Jeremiah and Jessica of South Sioux City, Susan Peterson and Nicki, and Joy Pearson of Sioux City; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beck and Janet, Robb Linafeller, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Erwin, Susie, Lisa and Lana, Mrs. Earl Curry of Ponca, Mrs. Alberta Erwin of Laurel, and Mrs. Mabel Nelson.

Hospitalized in Omaha

Mrs. Ida Carstens, a former resident of Winside, is a patient in the Nebraska Methodist Hospital in Omaha. Cards and letters will reach her if addressed to Mrs. Ida Carstens, Nebraska Methodist Hospital, 8303 Dodge St., Omaha, Neb., 68114.

Baby shower given

Mrs. Dennis Beckman and son Nicholas Duane of Wayne were honored at a baby shower Saturday afternoon at the Windmill Restaurant in Wayne, with 30 guests attending. The hostesses, who presented Mrs. Beckman with a corsage, were Mildred and Edna Dangberg of Wayne. Assisting with gifts was Mrs. Beckman's sister, Mrs. Dennis Schlines. A salad luncheon was served.

Winside tops NCIP contest

WINSIDE RESIDENTS WERE PROUD to learn last week that their community received the first place Nebraska Community Improvement award in its population category, during the 19th annual Nebraska Community Improvement Program banquet Friday night in Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium. Accepting the plaque and $450 cash award were, seated, Gloria Lessmann and Curt Jeffries. Other members of the Winside Community Improvement Committee, which entered Winside in the contest, are, standing from left, Julie Kant, Don Nelson, Marvin Cherry, Marilyn Morse, Betty Thies, Ida Fenske and Ron Leapley. Committee members not pictured are Esther Carlson, Bev Voss, George Farran, Kelly Leighton, Kim Frederick and Shawn Boldt. Mrs. Lessmann said the Winside Community Improvement Committee will hold its reorganizational meeting on Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Stop Inn. The group will elect officers and establish goals for the 1983 year. Mrs. Lessmann said everyone is encouraged to attend and bring their ideas.

College hosting FHA program

The home economics department at Wayne State College will host approximately 75 Future Homemakers of America (FHA) students from nine area schools for a program on Wednesday, Nov. 3. The program is entitled SEARCH (Student Events for Achievement and Recognition in Consumer Homemaking), according to Dr. LaVerna Roemhildt, associate professor of home economics. Students will attend from Allen High School, Emerson Hubbard High School, Laurel Concord High School, Pender High School, Randolph High School, Stanton High School, Wakefield High School, West Point Junior and Senior High Schools, and Wisner Pioneer High School. FHA is a national organization for the vocational home economics programs at the high school level. The SEARCH program is designed to assist students in developing personal leadership, citizenship, knowledge and skills for personal, family, and community living through vocational home economics education. Participating students will prepare projects in three main categories, including general chapter presentations, consumer homemaking presentations, and national project presentations. These presentations will be judged by individuals with a background in each area. Dr. Roemhildt said. Students who receive "superior" ratings will go on to statewide competition.

Upcoming production

Area students chosen

Students from Wayne, Carroll and Winside have been chosen to participate in the upcoming Wayne State College Theatre production of Ira Levin's "Deathtrap." Michele Johnson, daughter of Kent and Norma Brockmoller of Winside, has been chosen to play the part of Myra Bruhl. Michele is a junior majoring in theatre. Her previous experience includes roles in "All My Sons," "La Mandragola," "The Time Machine," and "Radio Rescue." Cast as Sidney Bruhl is David Blenderman, son of Harold and Judith Blenderman of Wayne. He is a junior majoring in physics and math. Corinne Morris of Carroll has been chosen as head of the publicity crew for "Deathtrap." Corinne is a junior majoring in theatre and home economics. Other Wayne State College productions she has been involved in include "Little Foxes," "The Lion in Winter," "All My Sons," "The Blind Date," and "The Time Machine." "Deathtrap" will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7, and at 8 p.m. on Nov. 8 and 9 in the Ley Theatre in the Education building on the college campus. Admission is $3, and tickets may be purchased at the door. Wayne State students will be admitted free of charge with proper identification. Those interested in group rates should contact the Wayne State Theatre Department by calling (402) 375-2200.

Observance is scheduled

World Community Day, a national observance sponsored by Church Women United, is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 5. Services in Wayne, sponsored by local Church Women United, will begin at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. The message will be delivered by the Rev. A. R. Weiss of Christian Life Assembly Church, and special music will include a solo by Grace Melton. All Wayne area women are invited, and babysitting will be provided. Local participating churches include St. Mary's Catholic, United Presbyterian, Redeemer Lutheran, First Baptist, St. Paul's Lutheran, and First United Methodist. World Community Day, an annual celebration observed since World War II, is motivated by the concern of Church Women United for justice and peace in a global society. The service this year looks at the universal problem of "Scarcity/Abundance" from a Christian perspective. Written by participants in Church Women United's International Christian Causeways, it draws upon insights gained from these experiences of sharing concerns and building bridges of understanding with Christian women of other countries and cultures. Instituted in 1966, International Causeways have taken church women from the United States to Africa, Latin America, Ireland, Asia, the Caribbean, Eastern Europe, and the Pacific. Church Women United is the national movement bringing more than half a million Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women together.

'Deathtrap' scenes to open Fine Arts Night

The Wayne State College Fine Arts Division will display its range of talents when Fine Arts Night is presented on Tuesday, Nov. 2, according to Dr. Jay O'Leary, Fine Arts division head.

The theatre department will open the program at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre with scenes from "Deathtrap," the play that has been scheduled to open Nov. 7 in the Ley Theatre in the Education building.

The program will then move to the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, where a reception will be held for Carlos Frey, whose pastel works are on display through Nov. 12.

Frey, a Wayne resident, operates the Mid America Art Studio. He also is recognized for conducting art workshops and exhibiting his work in Nebraska.

The music department will provide the finale for the evening, with a discussion and demonstration of keyboard instruments in Ramsey Theatre.

Musical selections by Byrde, Scarlatti, Corelli, Quantz, Tcherenpinn and Dupre will be performed on the clavichord, harpsichord, piano and organ. The program is free and open to the public.

Projects selected

The newly organized Blue Devil Boosters have kicked off a number of projects to raise money to help support local school activities.

Formed last month during a meeting of interested parents and fans, the group met last week to discuss proposed bylaws and to provide a structure for the organization.

Wilma Moore, a member of the Blue Devil Boosters, said membership consists of "people interested in, or supportive of, activities in the Wayne Carroll Public Schools."

Dues were set at $1 per member, payable annually, and membership cards will be printed.

Election of the board and officers will be held each May prior to the start of the fall sports season the following year.

At last week's meeting, reports were given on several fund raising events.

During a recent fish fry, Boosters sold 550 tickets for a profit of approximately $1,600.

The winner of a trip sponsored by the Blue Devil Boosters to the Nebraska-Hawaii football game, in Hawaii, was scheduled to be announced during the football game between Wayne High and O'Neill on Wednesday night, Oct. 27.

Boosters will continue to sell Blue Devil pennants at all home games during the basketball season. Cost of the pennants is $2.

It also was announced during last week's meeting that the first order of Booster shirts should be in soon. The shirts, ordered through Garvin's Sporting Goods, will be sold at a cost of $12.50 or less.

T-shirts for children and adults also are available at Garvin's at a cost of $2.50 plus $1 for the transfer emblem for children, and $3.25 plus $1 for adults.

A second order of shirts will be taken at the first home basketball game. Interested persons may also contact Joann Kubik, 375-3157.

Boosters have formed a committee for the spring all-sports banquet, tentatively scheduled May 19. Chairmen are the Vern Jacobmeiers and the Terry Janes.

Ron Carnes, representing Wayne High School, addressed the Blue Devil Boosters at their October meeting.

Carnes proposed several ideas for creating enthusiasm among the athletes and fans. He will work with Dr. Jay Liska, Booster president, and present more information at the next Booster meeting.

John Carhart, representing the student council, expressed his thanks on behalf of the students for the work the Booster group is doing.

Another meeting of Blue Devil Boosters will be held in November, with the date and time to be announced. A faculty representative will be asked to address the issue of the reorganization of a student cheering section.

The final post-game coffee for the football season was scheduled to be held in the high school commons following the Wayne-O'Neill football game Wednesday, Oct. 27. All Blue Devil fans were invited.

Bears 2nd again

Emerson wins conference title

For the second consecutive year, the Laurel volleyball team finished as runner up in the Lewis & Clark Conference playoff.

The Bears shared the Clark Division title with Wynot but represented their division in the playoffs because they defeated Wynot in the regular season.

Monday night in Laurel, the best of the Clark met the best of the Lewis Division and Emerson-Hubbard rolled to a surprising 15-9, 15-8 victory.

Laurel had defeated Emerson in two sets at the Pender Tournament early this year but the Pirates avenged that loss Monday.

Emerson did most of the attacking and used good serving to pull away in both sets. The first set was tied at 6-6 but Emerson outscored Laurel 9-3 for a 15-9 win.

Cammie Crookshank connected for an ace spike and Jean Lute had an ace block in the early going. Emerson's serves brought the score to 11-6 before Crookshank scored three straight points. Lute had some nice blocks at the net.

Two ace spikes by Emerson's Mary Walsh sparked the Pirates to victory. The Bears were caught on defense throughout much of the game and didn't set the ball the way they had planned.

Emerson took control early in the second set as Laurel had trouble controlling serves. The Pirates were up 7-1 when Kim Sherry's serving put Laurel back in the game.

Sherry served to 4-7 with Lute hitting an ace spike and Patsy Thompson added a nice block. Sherry's ace spike tied the match at 7-7 and an ace spike by Lute gave Laurel its only lead at 8-7.

Just as the momentum seemed to be shifting, Emerson put together eight consecutive points to win the championship trophy in a 30 minute match.

I told the girls the best two teams were here. We really played because we're one of the best," said Laurel coach Dwight Iverson. Emerson served awfully well and that takes you out of the game. We didn't execute well and didn't hitate on our first hit.

Sherry led the Bears with eight points and Thompson scored four. Lute had a good night at the net, hitting 9 of 12 spikes. Crookshank made 10 good serves, 10 at attempts, and Carol Osborne was 2-for-3. Leading spiker Gadeken hit only two spikes all night, mainly due to Emerson's offensive attack.

Laurel was scheduled to play the Pirates in a regular season finale Tuesday night at Emerson. The Bears were 13-4 entering that match.

Lewis & Clark Conference picks all-conference teams

Clark Division co-champ Laurel picked two players on the Clark Division all-conference first team and Allen placed two on the Lewis Division all-conference first team.

All-conference selections were presented by Winside's Don Leighton and Jim Winch following Monday's Lewis & Clark Conference playoff between Emerson Hubbard and Laurel.

In the Clark Division, Renee Gadeken of Laurel was top vote getter. Renee Wenstrand of Wakefield and Cammie Crookshank also were named to the first team.

In the Lewis Division, Tami Jewell and Michelle Harder of Allen were both named to the first team. Division champion Emerson Hubbard placed only one player on the first team, leading vote getter Tania Braveak.

Shelly Krusemark of Wakefield was the only area player who earned second team honors, honorable mention selections from the area include Missy Jensen and Judy Bauermeister of Winside, Kim Sherry and Patsy Thompson of Laurel and Lana Erb of Wakefield. All in the Clark Division, and Allen's Pam Kavanaugh and Machele Peltz in the Lewis Division.

Washburn's first triumph drops Cats into cellar

A fourth-quarter comeback by Wayne State came up short, allowing Washburn to take a 19-13 win in Central States Intercollegiate Conference play Saturday night.

Wayne State closes out its 1982 home season Saturday at 1:30 p.m. when conference-leading Pittsburg State (Kan.) comes to town. The nationally-ranked Gorillas are 5-1 and battered Ft. Hays State 37-15 Saturday.

Wayne State had a first down on the Washburn 15 with two minutes to play, but came up empty on downs. The defeat left the Cats at 16 and 0-4 in the CSIC, while Washburn posted its first win in seven outings and is 1-3 in conference play.

The Ichabods, from Topeka, rolled on superior speed and the big play to post their first win since a 10-6 verdict over the Wildcats last year. Of their 310 net yards, 180 came on just three plays.

The first was a 74 yard bomb from quarterback Jeff Leiker to Mark Elliott to open scoring in the first quarter. A 60 yard James Gambrell to Wes Warrick loss in the second quarter set up Ron Davis' two yard scoring run, and Warrick raced 46 yards on a pitch play for Washburn's final score in the third period.

Leiker's 74 yard pass to Elliott came on a third and 15 play midway through the first quarter. It marked only the second touchdown pass of the season for the Ichabods. Randy Davey added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Wildcat quarterback Mike Warren guided WSC on an 80 yard march for a score late in the first quarter. Sophomore fullback Bob Norris provided most of the power with his running up the middle.

Warren hooked up with split end Jerry Holbrook for a 38-yard touchdown. It was the first WSC scoring pass of the year not caught by junior Scott Hallstrom. Carlos Lagunilla kicked the extra point for a 7-7 first quarter tie.

A 92-yard drive early in the second period was highlighted by a 60 yard Gambrell to Warrick pass that carried to the Wildcat six. Two plays later, Ron Davis scored from the two and the Ichabods moved on top 13-7.

Warrick scored the final Washburn touchdown early in the third period when he took a pitch around his right end for 46 yards. The extra point kick was wide but the visitors held a 19-7 lead heading into the final period.

Wayne State freshman quarterback Ed Jochum entered the game with 13 minutes to play and promptly took the Cats in for the score. Jochum hooked up with Scott Hallstrom for the 24 yard touchdown. Lagunilla's point after kick failed but the Cats trailed by just six, 19-13.

minutes to play set the Cats up on the Ichabod 45. Jochum hit wingback Tom Winger for 30 yards to the 15 and the Cats threatened to take the lead for the first time in the game.

Tailback Randy Davey gained a yard up the middle, then Jochum went to the air. Throws into the end zone intended for Winger and Hallstrom fell incomplete. On fourth and nine, a 60 yard pass to Winger was jarred loose in the endzone as Washburn held on for the win.

Tom Winger had four interceptions for 90 yards to pace the WSC offense. Bob Norris had a quiet day, finishing with 58 yards on 11 carries. Warren completed four of nine passes, with one interception for 98 yards, while Jochum hit three of nine with one pick off for 55 yards. Both threw for touchdowns.

Linebacker Ron Gilbert once again paced the defensive effort with 18 tackles including a pair of quarterback sacks. Noseguard Troy Thomas had 11 stops and safety Ken Kohlhof had 10.

CSIC leader invades on 'Parents Day'

An opportunity to upset a nationally ranked football opponent will present itself to the Wayne State College Wildcat-Football squad this Saturday as the Cats host the Gorillas of Pittsburg State in Central States Intercollegiate Conference action.

The game, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium, will be one of the highlights of Wayne State's annual "Parents Day" and final home game of the 1982 season.

Pittsburg State, rated ninth last week in NAIA Division 1 with a 5-1 record, brings an unblemished 4-0 conference mark and the number one spot into the game. Their most recent contest was a 37-15 win over Fort Hays State last weekend. The Gorillas opened their season with a 43-0 rout of Lincoln University (Mo.), then suffered their only defeat at the hands of the University of Missouri-Rolla, 9-21. They went on to win over Emporia State 14-7, Missouri Southern 35-15 and Washburn 38-14.

Pittsburg is averaging 390 yards total offense per game, with 232 of those yards coming on the ground and 158 yards through the air. On defense, they have held their opponents to 193.3 yards total offense per contest, including just 73.7 yards rushing and 119.7 passing yards.

The strong ground game is headed by Rodney Lewallen, who is averaging 88.2 yards per game on 78 carries for 529 yards and four touchdowns. The second leading rusher, Cebron Robinson, has carried the ball 86 times for 318 yards and four touchdowns.

The passing attack of Pittsburg State keys on the arm of quarterback Nick Motosko, who has completed 29 of 59 passes with five interceptions for 591 yards and six touchdowns. His top receiver, Greg Cobble, has caught 12 passes for 344 yards and two touchdowns.

"Pittsburg State is a formidable ball club, strong on both offense and defense," said Wildcat Coach Del Stollenberg. "Their balanced running and passing game will be a challenge for our defensive players this weekend."

The Wildcats will be looking to mount an offensive attack of their own, after falling to Washburn University 19-13 last Saturday evening in Wayne.

Wayne's Tom Winger led pass receiving in the losing effort, catching four passes for 90 yards. Sophomore fullback Bob Norris rushed 11 times for 58 yards. On defense, Ron Gilbert totaled 18 tackles, two of those quarterback sacks.

The injury situation has diminished somewhat, according to head trainer Kurt Czupryn. Juniors Steve Hawkins, Paul Zelinsky, and Mark Walker all are suffering from ankle sprains, but are listed as probable for Saturday.

CSIC stats are released

Central States Intercollegiate Conference statistics released this week show several Wayne State College football players among the conference leaders in certain areas.

Kurt Brosamle ranks second in punting with an average of 40.3 yards per punt. He has only punted eight times. Brosamle also ranks second in punt returns with an average of 7 yards per return. He has returned 11 punts.

Tom Winger is listed seventh in kickoff returns with seven for an average of 17.3 yards. Ron Gilbert and Ken Kohlhof have each intercepted four passes to tie for fourth in that category. Three individuals are tied with five:

Wayne among statistic leaders

Wayne's volleyball team is among the Class B leaders in several statistical categories released this week by the Nebraska School Activities Association.

Wayne is tied for eighth in team ace serves with 109. The Blue Devils are sixth in team setting percentage with a mark of .956 or 767 good serves in 802 tries.

Wayne has 84 blocks to place third in the team blocks department. In ace spikes, the Blue Devils have collected 187 to rate 10th in Class B.

Trojans are a longshot

The Wakefield Trojans still hold onto second place in the Class C-2 District 2 football point average. Humphrey St. Francis leads the district and the state with an average of 49.5. Wakefield's average is 41.3.

Although the Trojans have the eighth highest point total in Class C-2, they are a longshot to earn a state playoff berth. Their only chance is to win a wildcard spot and two teams lead the chase for the two available wildcard berths. Henderson and Stromsburg are the two teams ahead of Wakefield.

Blue Devils stop South Sioux City

All three matches went three sets as the Wayne Blue Devils defeated South Sioux City in varsity and reserve matches and lost a freshman match Tuesday night in the Wayne High gym.

Wayne won the varsity match 15-6, 6-15, 15-8 to cap off the night's activities. Karen Longe was leading server with 10 points. Deb Prenger hit 14 spikes and had six aces to lead that department and Missy Stollenberg was right behind with 12 good spikes and five aces.

Tammie Murray made 35 good sets as Wayne improved to 12-7 for the year. The Blue Devils are scheduled to open district volleyball play against Hartington CC at 6:15 Monday in the West Point High School gym.

Wayne won the reserve contest 15-8, 9-15, 15-13 to finish its season at 5-3. Lisa Jacobsen scored 12 service points. Fran Gross made 10 good spikes with one ace and Karen Longe had nine good spikes with three aces.

South Sioux won the freshman match 15-4, 2-15, 15-3. Angie Nicholson led the Blue Devils with seven service points.

Eagles down Coleridge

A win Tuesday night guarantees the Allen Eagles of no worse than a 500 finish in the 1982 volleyball season. The Eagles tripped Coleridge 15-9, 15-6 Tuesday to complete their regular season.

Allen's varsity is scheduled to face third-seeded Winnebago when the Class C-7 district tourney opens Monday at South Sioux City. That match is planned at 8 p.m. Monday.

Michelle Harder was 10 for 11 in serving with six aces and Tami Jewell had eight aces to lead the Eagles in serving. Pam Kavanauh led setting with six good sets in six attempts.

Only the fine serving of Teri Arduser kept Coleridge in the game. Allen led 11-3 in the first set and 11-0 in the second but Arduser drilled 13 serves for points.

Harder hit 6 of 10 spikes for three aces and Jewell and Shelly Williams were each 3 for 4 at the net for Allen. "We played pretty consistently except for the two series of serve reception," said Allen coach Gary Troth.

The junior varsity team was won 11-7, 11-1 by Allen. Troth said everyone played well and added that Lisa McDonald served well. He said his team's floor play was improved.

The Eagles lost the C match 9-11, 11-11 with every Allen player seeing action. Allen's junior high teams also swept two matches from Wakefield.

Trojans improve to 10-3

A pair of wins in the past week will send the Wakefield Trojans in to Class C-7 districts with the best record in the eight-team field. The 10-3 Trojans defeated Bancroft 15-13, 6-15, 15-3 Friday and Lyons 16-14, 15-9 Monday.

Wakefield, seeded second in districts, is scheduled to face Walthill at 7 p.m. Monday (Nov. 1) at South Sioux City. Seedings were made prior to this week's matches.

Against Bancroft, Renee Wensstrand was 13 for 13 with seven ace serves. Michele Meyer was 11 for 11 with one ace serve. Lana Erb was 7 for 7 with three aces. Brenda Jones was 13 for 15 with five aces and Shelly Krusemark was 7 for 11 with six aces.

At the net, Kelly Greve connected on 21 of 24 spikes for six aces. Krusemark was 15 for 16 with five aces, Jones was 12 for 13 with four aces and Wensstrand was 10 for 15 with four aces. Lana Erb made 30 good sets in 30 attempts with eight for aces. Cristy Hingst was 21 for 21 in setting with seven sets for aces.

Wakefield's B team defeated Bancroft 15-1, 15-8, with Julie Oswald scoring nine points.

Against Lyons Monday Wensstrand hit 18 good serves in 18 tries and nine were aces. Erb was 8 for 8 with three aces. Leading spikers were Krusemark with a 14 for 16 performance and six aces and Greve who was 8 for 8 with three aces.

Hingst was busiest setter with 22 good sets in 23 tries and four aces. Erb had 10 for 10 outing and had five sets for aces.

Wakefield won the B match 15-8, 15-11 and lost the C match 9-15, 7-15.

PAM NISSEN prepares to bump the ball as South Sioux City hits a spike. Lisa Jacobsen (31) also was alert.

WSC loses on road

It was a disappointing weekend for the Wayne State College Lady Wildcat volleyball team as they suffered three Central States Intercollegiate Conference losses in action at Emporia, Kan.

On Friday, a 15 point scoring performance by sophomore Andrea Jones fell short as the Lady Cats lost in four sets to Missouri Southern, 15-10, 15-7, 12-15 and 15-12. Annette Reiman posted nine assists along with nine downed spikes and freshman Jill Zeiss added ten assists. Bobbie Gierman downed five spikes, while Diane Wachholtz notched four downed spikes and four dinks at the net.

On Saturday morning, host team Emporia State stopped Wayne in three straight sets, 15-4, 15-8 and 15-7. Wayne again fell in the final match of the day to Fort Hays State, 16-14, 15-10 and 15-3.

On the day, Jones again led scoring with 10 points. Reiman followed with nine points and 20 assists. Teammate Zeiss added another 17 to the assists column. Wachholtz and sophomore Beth Erickson topped downed spikes with 10 and nine each.

The losses moved Wayne State's record to 8-19, 10 overall and 2-9 in the CSCIC.

Laurel loses to Pirates

In a span of two days, Emerson Hubbard handed Laurel two losses. After winning the Lewis & Clark Conference on Monday, the Pirates defeated the Bears 7-15, 15-12, 15-12 Tuesday in Emerson.

The chances were there, we could have won it," Laurel coach Dwight Iverson said. Those two teams will meet again in district action if both win their first round matches.

Iverson said Emerson got hot and served well. He credited his team with a good effort and pointed out that it is tough to play the same team back to back after losing the conference title. Iverson said Kim Sherry turned in her best performance of the season. She was aggressive and wanted to win," he added.

The 13 Bears were led in scoring by Patsy Thompson who was 17 for 17 and scored 12 points. Carol Osborne scored nine points and Sherry made seven. Jean Lute was 10 for 12 in spiking and Renee Gadeken was 7 for 11. Osborne made 18 good sets in 20 attempts.

The Bears are scheduled to play Ponca at 6 p.m. Monday (Nov. 1) at South Sioux City. Emerson Hubbard will play Homer at 5 p.m.

Laurel won the B match 15-7, 15-10 to finish its year at 8-3. Renee Vanderheiden scored nine points in that match. Wendy Robson scored nine points to lead the Laurel C team to a 5-15, 15-8 triumph, upping its record to 9-2.

Lady Cats win two

Making its first home appearance in more than a month, the Wayne State volleyball team posted a pair of victories over Northeast Tech and Westmar College Tuesday night.

The Lady Wildcats defeated Westmar 15-3, 15-4 and then topped Northeast Tech 16-14, 15-4. Northeast defeated Westmar 15-2, 17-15 in the round robin competition.

Becky Frahm led Wayne State's scoring with 17 service points. Annette Reiman made 16 assists and Jill Zeiss had eight assists. Diane Wachholtz hit 10 down spikes, Beth Erickson had eight, Ann Montag made six and Reiman had six down spikes and two dinks.

The victories improved Wayne's record to 10-19, 1 not including Wednesday's games against Northern Iowa.

Wayne State will play in a quadrangular with Pittsburg State, Emporia State and Kearney State at Pittsburg, Kan. Oct. 29-30. The regular season will close on Nov. 3 when the Lady Cats travel to Bellevue.

Districts open

C-5 at South Sioux

Laurel, runnerup in last year's district tournament, is the top-seeded team in this year's field when the Class C-5 district tourney opens Monday at South Sioux City.

The Bears will play Ponca at 6 p.m. Monday in the South Sioux City gym. At 5 p.m. Emerson-Hubbard and Homer will clash. Second-seeded Wakefield will meet Walthill at 7 p.m. and third-seeded Winnebago faces Allen at 8 p.m.

Semifinals are scheduled Tuesday with the Laurel-Ponca winner meeting the Homer-Emerson winner at 7 p.m. At 8 p.m. the Wakefield-Walthill winner takes on the Winnebago-Allen winner.

The district championship will be played at 7:30 p.m. Thursday (Nov. 4).

B-3 at West Point

Omaha Roncalli moves into the Class B-3 volleyball district this year and the Omahans will be top-seeded when the tournament opens Monday (Nov. 1) at West Point High School. Wayne High is seeded fifth in the eight-team field.

Wayne will meet old nemesis Hartington CC for the fourth time this year at 6:15. Roncalli and Blair will play at 5 p.m., third-seeded Wisner-Pilger will face South Sioux City at 7:30 and second-seeded Logan View will play host West Point at 8:45.

The Wayne-Hartington CC winner will meet the Roncalli-Blair winner at 6:30 Thursday (Nov. 4) and the Wisner-South Sioux winner will face the Logan View-West Point winner at 7:45 Thursday. The championship match is scheduled at 7:30 next Friday.

D-7 at Laurel-Concord

Winside is scheduled to open district volleyball action Monday against Decatur in the Class D-7 district tournament at Laurel-Concord High School.

The Wildcats will meet Decatur at 8:30 p.m. in Monday's final first round match.

At 4:30 Newcasth plays Santee in a preliminary match. The winner of that match meets Snyder at 6:30. The 5:30 match pits Niobrara against Coleridge. Hartington and Verdigre will clash at 7:30 with the Winside-Decatur match set to follow.

If Winside wins, the Wildcats will play the Verdigre-Hartington winner at 8 p.m. Tuesday (Nov. 2). The other semifinal round match is planned at 7 p.m. The district championship will be played at 7:30 Thursday (Nov. 4) in the Laurel-Concord gym.

WSC Madrigal Singers performing at convention

The Wayne State College Madrigal Singers have been selected as one of the performing groups at the state convention of the Nebraska Choral Directors' Association in Kearney today (Thursday) and Friday.

The Singers will join choral ensembles from throughout the state in presenting music for assembled directors, according to Dr. Cornell Runestad, professor of music at Wayne State. The Singers will present a lecture demonstration entitled "What to Do With the Music After It's Memorized."

The presentation will demonstrate various aspects of tuning, ensemble precision, vowel and consonant problems, and musical interpretation.

In addition, the Singers will be featured in a half hour concert on Thursday evening, Dr. Runestad said.

A vote "FOR" will create a constitutional prohibition against further purchase of Nebraska farm and ranch lands by any corporation or syndicate other than a Nebraska family farm corporation.

A vote "AGAINST" will reject such a constitutional restriction on ownership of Nebraska farm and ranch land.

- For
  - Against
- Shall a constitutional prohibition be created prohibiting ownership of Nebraska farm or ranch land by any corporation, domestic or foreign, which is not a Nebraska family farm corporation, or by any syndicate as defined, with certain exceptions? A family corporation would be defined in part as a corporation in which the majority of the voting stock is held by members of a family related to one another within the fourth degree of kindred or their spouses and where at least one member of the family resides on the land and where none of the family members are nonresident aliens.

THE SHERIFF'S JOB

Now this Sheriff's job is a curious one;
Like the housewife's work, it's never done.
Calls come by night and come by day,
They may be near, or miles away.
Do hurry up, says the voice of the caller;
You're badly needed in Possum Holler.
Paw's on a rampage; he's got a gun;
Been looking for Maw since halfpast one.
So we jump in our filliver and hit the trail;
And drive like a streamliner carrying the mail.
Our only hope and all we can figure,
Is to be on hand before Paw pulls the trigger.
We finally arrive and amid confusion —
We learn the affair was a simple delusion.
Paw with his gun was just hunting squirrels.
Maw had gone to school with the two oldest girls.
Next day we're hunting a mottle-faced cow;
That night we referee a nice family row.
Now, that's just a sample of what we do;
And endless variety of the old and the new.
It may be a prowler, a burglar, a drunk;
He may steal your billfold, your watch or your trunk.
We set out to catch him, and we do our best;
We catch our percentage and lose the rest;
We can't catch them all, for some leave no clue —
They don't leave their cards, like the candidates do.
Sometimes they plead guilty, and the judge will scold.
Then half the country will want them paroled.
They blame the depression, the new deal, the tariff —
But most of the folks put the blame on the Sheriff.
So, it's quite a game, if you stay right in —
You'll get a pat on the back, and a sock in the chin.
But, I like it, and I'm shedding no tears —
And I'd like to be your Sheriff for the next four years.

SAMPLE BALLOT (Non-Political) PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION General Election November 2, 1982

Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will remove the constitutional requirement that all bills be read aloud in their entirety before being voted on for final passage, and substitute therefor a provision that they shall only be read aloud in their entirety when requested by any one member of the Legislature.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain the present constitutional requirement that all bills automatically be read aloud in their entirety before the vote on final passage is taken.

For
 Against

Constitutional amendment to require reading of bills at large before final passage only if requested by a member of the Legislature.

Proposed Amendment No. 4

A vote FOR this proposal will provide that members of the Legislature shall be reimbursed for their actual expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties, while retaining their salary at the current level of four hundred dollars per month.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will continue to prohibit members of the Legislature from being reimbursed for their actual expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred in performing their duties; will continue to allow them only travel expenses for one round trip to and from each legislative session as well as their salary of four hundred dollars per month.

For
 Against

Constitutional amendment to provide that members of the Legislature shall be reimbursed for their actual expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties.

Proposed Amendment No. 2

A vote FOR this proposal will enable the Legislature to broaden the Industrial Development Act, under which cities and counties may issue revenue bonds to acquire, develop, lease and finance real and personal property suitable for use by manufacturing or industrial enterprises, by enabling the cities and counties to do the same for other types of business or commercial enterprises (which are not manufacturing or industrial in nature) as would be determined by statute, so long as such property was located in blighted areas as defined by statute, and would continue to provide that such bonds would not become general obligation bonds of the issuing city or county.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain the present provision limiting the cities and counties under the Industrial Development Act to acquiring, developing and leasing property suited only for manufacturing or industrial enterprises, thus prohibiting the Legislature from broadening the Act allowing them to do the same for non-industrial or manufacturing commercial enterprises located in blighted areas.

For
 Against

Constitutional amendment to authorize the use of revenue bonds to develop blighted property.

Proposed Amendment No. 5

A vote FOR this proposal will provide that when the Legislature determines by a vote of three-fifths (3/5) of the elected members that the construction of water retention and impoundment structures for the conservation and management of water resources will promote the general welfare, it may authorize the issuance of revenue bonds for such construction (as it may now do for highway construction under the same procedure) and may pledge state revenue received from the use of such structures to pay the interest and retirement of the bonds.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will not permit the Legislature to issue revenue bonds for the construction of water retention and impoundment structures under the conditions and procedures set forth above.

For
 Against

Constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of revenue bonds for the construction of water retention or impoundment structures for the purpose of water management and conservation.

Proposed Amendment No. 3

A vote FOR this proposal will reduce the period of time in which owners and persons interested in real estate subject to public sale for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments may redeem such property from not less than two years to not less than six months, if such real estate is located within an incorporated city, village, or sanitary and improvement district, but will retain the present redemption period of not less than two years if such real estate is not located within an incorporated city, or village, or sanitary and improvement district, or if it is the residence of the owner.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain the present period of not less than two years within which owners and persons interested in real estate subject to public sale for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments may redeem such property, regardless of where it is located or the use to which it is being put.

For
 Against

Constitutional amendment to limit the right of redemption of real estate sold for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments to a period of six months when such real estate is located within an incorporated city, village, or in a sanitary and improvement district, except that such limitation shall not apply to real estate that is the residence of the owner of such real estate.

Constitutional amendment to limit the right of redemption of real estate sold for nonpayment of taxes or special assessments to a period of six months when such real estate is located within an incorporated city, village, or in a sanitary and improvement district, except that such limitation shall not apply to real estate that is the residence of the owner of such real estate.

Pork queen crowned

SUSIE PETERSEN, 16 year-old daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Petersen of rural Carroll, was crowned Wayne County Pork Producers queen for 1983. The Winside junior was crowned by 1982 queen Kelli Baier at the Pork Producers banquet Saturday. Other contestants were: Tena Bargholz of rural Wakefield, Trudy Hansen of rural Wakefield, LeAnn Janke of rural Carroll, Yvonne Johnson of rural Hoskins, Deb Luff of rural Wakefield, Karen Reeg of rural Wayne and Cheryl Sukup of rural Wayne. Johnson was second runner-up and Bargholz was first runner-up.

Pre-winter maintenance suggested

By David Shelton
Extension Ag Engineer
University of Nebraska
Northeast Station
Concord

In addition to Pork Month, October usually means the start of the winter heating season for farrowing houses and nurseries.

With the advent of cold weather heating system components will be operating frequently. Now is the time to make sure that all heating and venting equipment is in top shape and operating at peak efficiency. Producers should clean and adjust furnaces and heaters according to the manufacturer's recommendations. Inspect chimneys and flue pipes for corrosion and replace if necessary to be sure the chance of fire to be sure that the unit is burning properly to avoid introducing large amounts of water vapor and carbon monoxide into the facility. Winter ventilation must not be restricted to assure that adequate oxygen is available for combustion.

Be sure to conduct pre-winter maintenance of all heating and ventilation system components. This involves cleaning and adjusting thermostats, inlets, baffles, safety screens, shutters and fans. Checking fan shutters is especially important during cold weather to be sure they do not become frozen in one position. A dust buildup of 1/8 inch on fan blades and shutters can reduce fan performance by as much as 30 percent. Allowing dust to build up on the shutters so the shutters do not open fully further restricts fan performance.

Use a vacuum cleaner to simplify cleaning of fans and thermostats. A stiff bristled nylon brush helps to loosen stubborn dirt. A plastic windshield scraper is also useful for heavy dirt buildups.

Clean fan blades with a brush and detergent water. Harsh scraping can scratch the blades, causing imbalance and increasing corrosion. Use a pressure washer to clean the fan, housing, and hood. Be sure that the fan motor has a totally enclosed motor housing so water and dirt cannot get into the motor windings. Otherwise, take off the motor and clean it separately.

Use oil sparingly on fan and motor bearings. Too much oil attracts dust and soaks into motor windings. Apply a few drops of antifreeze or graphite on shutter hinges to reduce sticking in cold weather. Do not use oil, as this will quickly attract dust and become sticky.

Check wiring for signs of deterioration, loose connections, and rodent damage. Poor connections and/or corrosion result in higher electrical resistance, which can lead to overheating and increased potential of fire. Examine fan housings, frames, and weather hoods for dirt buildup and corrosion. Repaint these items after cleaning to prolong their life. Use a rust and corrosion resistant paint.

Ventilation and heating equipment needs periodic and routine maintenance to ensure efficient and safe operation. Now is the time to prepare this equipment for the cold weather ahead.

Computerized irrigation set up

A University of Nebraska agricultural engineer has programmed a portable microcomputer to automatically control an irrigation system at NU's field laboratory.

The computer takes its commands from George Meyer, NU assistant professor of agricultural engineering. He tells it when to turn on the pump and start the solid-set irrigation system being used in the study. The system has 24 sets.

Irrigation dates for each set are entered into the computer's memory bank well in advance of the needed waterings, Meyer said. The dates are determined by irrigation scheduling procedures, he added.

The electronic device also monitors the flow of water at the well and turns the pump off when the amount of water that Meyer specified has been applied.

With more research and development, Meyer said he ultimately hopes to program the computer to read soil moisture blocks in the field, determine moisture stress in the crop and record information from an on-site weather station. With these capabilities, the computer will be able to schedule irrigations without human assistance, he said.

It is also possible that the computer could calculate the amount of water the crop needs at each irrigation, the agricultural engineer said. However, much more programming will be needed before this will be accomplished, he added.

The portable microcomputer has been mounted in a protective box and placed in the 20-acre field that the irrigation system serves, Meyer said. It is plugged into a standard electrical outlet, but a battery-powered backup system has been added so the computer can continue operating during power outages, Meyer said.

Assisting him in the development of the system are Paul Fischbach, professor, and James Lamb, research associate, in the Department of Agricultural Engineering. The NU Water Resources Center is funding this three-year study as part of its effort to increase the efficiency of irrigation and conservation of water through improved technology. This past summer, the agricultural engineers traveled from Lincoln to Mead in order to electronically encode the irrigation dates into the computer. They hope to eliminate the 60-mile round trip next summer by sending instructions over a telephone line from a computer terminal in Meyer's Lincoln office to the irrigation computer at the field laboratory.

The telephone link will also allow the agricultural engineers to eavesdrop at any time of the day on the computerized irrigation system to see if it is operating on schedule.

During the first summer of the study, Meyer, Fischbach and Lamb worked several "bugs" out of the irrigation computer to make it more reliable. The computer now continuously monitors pressure sensors that have been added to the irrigation system. It also measures the rate that the water is flowing through the pipes.

Whenever the computer notices a sudden drop in pressure or an increase in the flow rate, which are indicators that a major leak is occurring, the irrigation system is automatically shut off, Meyer said.

A wind gauge has also been connected to the computer. The irrigation system is temporarily shut off the system when the gauge indicates that winds are in excess of 10 miles per hour. High winds reduce the efficiency of sprinkler irrigation.

"With more development, computerized irrigation can become trustworthy enough to be of practical use for center pivots and perhaps even surface irrigation," Meyer said. "This is a very new application of microcomputers and it needs maybe one to two more years to develop and thoroughly test."

Corn forecast up 2%

Nebraska corn production on October 1 is forecast at 800.4 million bushels, up two percent from the September 1 estimate and just slightly below last year's crop. Yield is indicated at 116 bushels per acre, up two bushels from last month and 1 bushel above the record yield for 1981 and 1979. Acreage intended for grain harvest remains at 6.9 million acres, down one percent from last year.

Irrigated crop production is estimated at 635 million bushels, three percent below last year's record. Yield is forecast at 127 bushels per acre, up two bushels from last month but two bushels below last year's record. Acreage for grain harvest continues at five million acres, 1 percent under last year.

Dryland corn production is forecast at 165.4 million bushels, 9 percent above last year. Indicated yield of 87.1 bushels per acre is up two bushels from a month ago and 8.7 bushels above 1981. Acreage for grain harvest remains at 1.9 million acres, 30,000 acres below last year.

4-H Council has election

Two 4-H leaders and two 4-H members were recently elected to serve a two year term on the Wayne County 4-H Council. New adult council members are George Biermann of Wayne and Mrs. Ron (Karma) Magnuson of Carroll. New junior members are LeAnn Janke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Janke of Carroll and Kenny Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kramer of Winsor.

These four members are replacing retiring members Larry Sievers and Cindy Willers of Wayne and Karen Sandahl and Kent Roberts of Wakefield. Members who have a year to serve are Harold Wihler of Hoskins, Mrs. Gerald (Julie) Gine of Wayne, Valerie Bush of Carroll and Chad Janke of Winside.

4-H workshop is planned

All teenagers are invited to participate in a 4-H "Group Dynamic" workshop to be held at the Northeast Station at Concord on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12 and 13. The workshop will help youth learn how to work more effectively with groups. Roy Stohler, Extension Specialist—4-H, Youth, and CRD at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station will be leading the workshop.

Participants will have the opportunity to increase their understanding of how groups operate, how members' behavior affects groups, how to effectively communicate with groups and how to reach agreement, make decisions, solve problems and evaluate outcomes.

The program is being sponsored by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and the District III 4-H Awareness Team.

Registration fee will be $4. Registration information can be obtained from the Wayne County Extension Office or from Roy Stohler, Northeast Station, Concord 68728, phone 584-2261. Registration deadline will be Nov. 3.

Finn 3rd in carcass show

Joe Finn, son of Mr. & Mrs. Pat Finn of Carroll, had the third place swine carcass in the 1982 AK SAR-BEN Swine Carcass show at Omaha. Joe's 4-H swine carcass was one among 729 swine entered in the contest from five states.

Walde picked 4-H delegate

Thirty seven Nebraska 4-H members have been selected to attend the 1982 National 4-H Congress to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, Ill. Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

The delegates were selected on the basis of their performance in their winning project area, according to Nancy Wagner, state 4-H project assistant.

Delegates will have the opportunity to meet youth from other states and exchange ideas as well as attend a wide variety of workshops, project area sessions and tours to areas of interest in Chicago. Some 2,000 delegates are expected to attend the congress.

Chaperones for the Nebraska delegates are Warder (Gus) Shires, extension agent agriculture, Nemaha County, and Sandra Hatler, extension agent home economics, Knox County.

Chosen was Cynthia Walde, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Walde of Winside. Her project area was Ag achievement and her trip donor was International Harvester Company.

Cynthia will graduate in May from Wayne Carroll High School. A nine year member of 4-H, she plans a career in animal science.

She has won county medals in beef, poultry, garden, sheep, dairy, and ag achievement. She was the county fair champion in the fat lamb area in 1981, reserve champion in the rate of gain steer in 1982, reserve champion in the Hereford steer in 1982, and the grand champion goose.

She has been on the State Fair livestock judging team for two years and was co chairman of a committee planning a workshop to teach 4-H members how to judge livestock.

Our Sincere Thanks:

Wayne County Public Power District's employees and the Board of Directors express our sincere appreciation to all of our customers for your cooperation and patience during the blizzard of October 19, 1982. Though nearly all of you experienced some degree of inconvenience, the District was very fortunate in that there was minimal damage to our electrical facilities from the heavy snow and high winds.

Time was the largest handicap in getting the power restored. Because of the numerous twisted conductors and fallen tree branches, nearly every section of the District's 1100 miles of line had to be patrolled before the line could be re-energized. Your patience during this period has strengthened our pride and our eagerness to continue providing you, our rural consumer, with a dependable source of electrical energy.

WHAT CAUSES STALK ROT IN CORN

Stalk rot is caused by various soil borne fungi. The two most common stalk rot diseases are Fusarium and Charcoal.

Fusarium stalk rot is the most common disease found in Nebraska corn. This disease causes various degrees of root and stalk deterioration in much of the crop. The disease flourishes when high plant populations, excessive fertilizer and environmental stresses exist.

Charcoal stalk rot is more common in corn under dryland production. This disease can result in heavy losses in years when heat and drought stress is severe following pollination.

Stalk rots are difficult to control. However, in order to minimize losses due to the disease, plant pathologists suggest that plant populations should not exceed those recommendations by seed companies. Good fertility practices should be followed and varieties with good standability and yield characteristics should be planted. Early harvest also will reduce losses due to stalk rots.

RECENT SWINE HEALTH DEVELOPMENT

Pork producers have long been aware of the major swine diseases but a University of Nebraska extension veterinarian reports that several changes in swine health have occurred.

Transmissible gastroenteritis (TGE) which usually occurs in newborn pigs, can occur in pigs of all ages. Dr. Alex Hogg said the disease is now being found in pigs 7 to 10 days old.

The new form is milder, but producers are not expecting the TGE at this growth stage so they are not looking for signs of it, Hogg said.

Herds that are infected are quarantined and treated he said. Since depopulation is too expensive, Hogg advises producers to follow a treatment program using a killed vaccine every six months in the breeding herd and continue for several years or until all infected animals are culled. He suggests testing the breeding herds three months after the last animals were vaccinated.

The most recent reports on Parvovirus infections, according to Hogg, are that new vaccines are available and should be used before breeding and for every gestation.

Hogg advised all producers to follow an overall herd control program including these management steps:

- Prevent the introduction of diseases
- Isolate all newly purchased animals for 30 to 60 days
- Retest for pseudorabies after 21 days
- Treat for swine dysentery for the first 30 days after pig's arrival at the farm

Gilt pool is profitable

By
Donald G. Levis
Extension Swine Specialist
South Central Station,
Clay Center

The portion of the swine breeding herd that actually holds the total swine operation together, but is the most overlooked and undermanaged, is the replacement gilt pool.

A gilt pool will contribute to the profitability of a farrowing operation since the success of the operation is very dependent on the volume of pigs moving through the system.

It is well known that following weaning, a number of sows are going to be culled due to factors as age, lameness, size, disease, and non cycling. Producers can not afford to have farrowing stalls empty as a result of culling, therefore, these farrowing stalls have to be refilled with replacement gilts. Sows recycling or cycling late from other groups cannot be depended upon for filling empty stalls.

The number of replacement gilts needs to complete a farrowing group is best determined by examining records of previous years for that same season and type or breed of sows. However, many swine operations that do not have a gilt pool established also lack a records program.

Thus, a general rule for estimating the number of gilts to keep is to assume a culling rate for weaned sows of 15-20 percent for spring, winter, and fall months and 25-50 percent for summer months.

It is unlikely that all selected gilts will cycle, breed, and farrow, therefore, the number of gilts selected should be adjusted for about 10 percent not cycling and 35 percent not farrowing after being bred. Many producers achieve a higher farrowing rate for gilts, but a 65 percent level is simply good insurance to help maintain a full farrowing facility.

The gilt replacement pool is especially valuable during the summer months because of the increase in number of sows not cycling after weaning. Therefore, gilts to be used for next summer should be initially selected and identified as soon after birth as possible from the upcoming November, December, and January farrowings.

The active gilt pool should be designed and managed so: 1. Nonbreeders can easily be identified, 2. Nonbreeders are culled before 9 to 10 months of age, 3. Feed cost is minimal.

Pork producers' quiz:

Do rodents cost you money?

By
Robert M. Timm
Extension Vertebrate
Pest Specialist
University of Nebraska

Answer these 10 questions "True" or "False." The correct answers are provided below.

1. Producers with modern confinement buildings have fewer problems with rats and mice than do other pork producers. True or False?

2. Rats and mice avoid insulated wall spaces and attics. True or False?

3. When buildings are constructed using corrugated metal siding, open corrugations must be sealed to prevent mice from entering the building. True or False?

4. About the only way to find out if rodents are present is to go out late at night with a flashlight. True or False?

5. Visible damage, such as contaminated feed, rat burrows, gnawing on wood, etc. is the only damage you need to be concerned about. True or False?

6. If rats or mice are often seen during the daytime, hundreds may be living on the premises. True or False?

7. Rats never travel more than a half mile from where they were born. True or False?

8. Rats, unless eating very moist food, must drink water every day. House mice, however, can survive without a source of liquid water. True or False?

9. Most commercially available rat and mouse poisons are not effective. True or False?

10. The Cooperative Extension Service can provide you with information on the control of rats and mice. True or False?

ANSWERS

1. False. Expensive, modern confinement buildings often are not rodent-proof and may provide an ideal environment for house mice and Norway rats. In these buildings, there is a potential for thousands of dollars' worth of rodent damage to occur.

2. False. No insulation is completely rodent-proof. Rats and mice gnaw and tunnel through most types of insulation and may use it to build their nests. In doing so, they destroy the material's insulating ability.

3. True. Open ends of a corrugated metal panel often provide an entry point for mice. A rubber or vinyl vapor barrier will not stop them; they can gnaw through it. Open corrugation must be plugged with steel wool, concrete mortar, or sealed with metal flashing to prevent mice from entering.

4. False. Tracks on dusty surfaces or in mud may indicate rodents are present, even if you seldom see the rats or mice themselves. Look for tracks on ledges, the top of pen dividing walls, or around puddles outdoors. Rodent gnawing, droppings, and burrows may also indicate rodents are active.

5. False. If visible damage has been found, there may be hidden damage as well. For example, house mice may have destroyed insulation within wall spaces. Controlling rodents will not compensate for damage which has already happened, but it will prevent future and possibly more serious losses.

6. True. Mice and rats are active mostly at night. When seen in daytime, this may be an indication that large numbers are present.

7. False. Rats are known to travel from one farm to the next, particularly during times of changing weather or if food and shelter become scarce. Rats may disperse 5 miles or more.

8. True. House mice, unlike rats, can manufacture water metabolically from the solid food they consume. Both rats and mice will readily drink water when it is made available to them. For this reason, liquid rodent baits (poisons) are very effective where other sources of water are scarce.

9. False. The commonly available multiple-dose (anticoagulant) rodent baits are very effective when used properly. Rodents must feed on the bait for several days in a row for death to occur. Therefore, it is important to maintain an adequate supply of fresh bait until all signs of feeding stop. If feeding stops but rodents are still present, the bait is not of sufficient quality to compete with other food sources. Change to a different bait type or make the bait more easily available to rodents.

10. True. Your county Cooperative Extension Service office has copies of the NebGuides "Controlling Rats" and "Controlling House Mice," free of charge. Your extension agent can provide additional information if you are having particular problems with rodents on your farm.

THONE

Resolute Stands

You may not agree with every belief of Governor Charles Thone, but you know where he stands.

KERREY

Flip-Flopping Positions

Bob Kerrey has been on both sides of most major issues.

EXAMPLES

Death Penalty

Governor Thone believes that some violent crimes are prevented by criminals' fear of the death penalty. Therefore, in 1980, the Governor vetoed a bill passed by the Legislature that would have repealed the death penalty.

↑ The Flip: Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star, May 2, 1982: Concerning the death penalty, "He said he supports its abolition."

↓ The Flip: On August 12, 1982, Kerrey told the Gretna Optimist Club he favored keeping the death penalty.

Special Rights to Homosexuals and Lesbians

Governor Thone was on record in opposition to the proposed "gay rights" Lincoln Ordinance, and like about 75 percent of the citizens of Lincoln voted against it in the May 11, 1982 primary. The Lincoln Star, May 7, 1982, quoted Kerrey's opponent in the Democratic primary, State Sen. George "Bill" Burrows: "If he were a Lincoln voter, Burrows said he would oppose the ordinance because it gives homosexuals housing discrimination privileges in preference to families with children."

↑ The Flip: Minutes, Lincoln Commission on Human Rights, December 1, 1981: Mr. Kerrey "...move that we recommend to the City Council to include affectional or sexual orientation as a member of protected class, and that we define affectional or sexual orientation as being male or female homosexuality, heterosexuality, and bisexuality by orientation or practice, by and between consenting adults... a businessman who was concerned about being able to hire whom-ever he wanted, and was also concerned about being able to put together a good group of employees that he felt were compatible and would be able to work together as a team. And we clearly see in this instance that there were certain things that people do not have a right to do. In this instance it's clear to me one of the things an employer should not have a right to do is to either deny employment or to fire someone because of a preference, because of particular sexual preference."

↓ The Flip: Lincoln Journal, August 21, 1982: "That (GAY RIGHTS) is not an issue of mine."

Compulsory Unionism

Governor Thone supports Nebraska's Constitution which contains a right-to-work provision prohibiting forcing a person to join a union against his or her will. Since 1949, this Constitutional guarantee has worked well for both labor and management. A governor can't veto a proposed Constitutional amendment passed by the Legislature, but Governor Thone has said he would lead a public campaign to defeat a proposed amendment that would take away the freedom of Nebraskans to join or not to join a union.

↑ The Flip: Omaha World-Herald, June 29, 1982: "Bob Kerrey, Democratic candidate for governor, said he told a session of Omaha labor union leaders that he would sign a repeal of the state right to work law if it were passed by the Legislature... The current issue of the Omaha Labor Chronicle said Kerrey made the remark at a recent 'off-the-record' session with area union leaders."

↓ The Flip: Lincoln Star, August 19, 1982: "Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bob Kerrey says he would vote no on the question of repealing the right-to-work section of the Nebraska Constitution."

TNT EXTENSION CLUB

The TNT Extension Club met Thursday evening at the Allen fire hall.

Sarah Haglund, acting vice president, called the meeting to order with the reading of the Col- lect.

Roll call was answered with ways of fixing meat.

Sarah Haglund, safety chair- man, reported on electrical wires and Emma Shortt, citizenship leader, gave a report.

The members reviewed the amendments of the coming elec- tions and encouraged the members to get out and vote.

It was reported the club had presented a book to the Spring bank Township library in honor of Mary Burnett, who has moved from the community. The book which was presented was "Black Elk Speaks" by John Neihardt.

Hostess was Sarah Haglund. Dorothy Kjer presented the ex- tension lesson, "Meeting Meats."

Club members are asked to bring a plastic bag, fruit jar, a three pound oleo container and a flat cardboard to the next meeting which will be held Nov. 18 at the Allen fire hall. Hostess will be Virginia Wheeler and lesson leader will be Doris Carr.

Northeast Nebraska Needs Representation On University Board of Regents

Area not represented since 1970

There hasn't been a Northeast Nebraskan on the University of Nebraska Board of Regents for 12 years. The incumbent is not running for re-election. There are two candidates for Regent, 3rd District. One lives in a town down on the Platte River. The other is Margaret Robinson from Norfolk in Northeast Nebraska, who finished first among four candidates in the Primary.

Why area representation is important

If an area isn't represented, it's apt to be neglected. For example: The Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station at Concord has 11½ professional people, compared with 15-to-18 at the other stations. A request to finish off the second floor of the Concord station headquarters has been pending before the University Adminis- tration and Regents for six years. Margaret Robinson says, "When I'm elected Regent, I'll get action on this."

Margaret Robinson A successful businesswoman

Margaret Robinson knew little about the steel business when her husband died suddenly in 1974, leaving her as President of Norfolk Iron & Metal Co. Since then, sales have quintupled, while employment increased 35 percent. The U.S. Small Business Administration in 1979 named Mrs. Robinson's firm as the Small Business of the Year for Nebraska.

Margaret Robinson & Education

Margaret attended what is now the University of Nebraska at Omaha and has a bachelor and masters degree. All four of her children have college degrees including a masters and a M.D. from the University of Nebraska.

Margaret Robinson's record of public service

- Present Responsibilities as a Member:
  - Norfolk Board of Education
  - Executive Board, Nebraska Council of Economic Education
  - Board of Directors, NEBRASKAland Foundation
  - Board of Directors, Norfolk YMCA
  - Nebraska State Panel, American Council on Education
  - Governor's Task Force on Private Initiative

Allen:

A small community with a big, big heart, a pioneering

'What impresses m friendly and caring

Nestled in the rolling hills of northern is the community of Allen.
With a population of 390, many of the businesses are gone, however Allen is a gressive town in the center of a beautiful friendly farm community.

It is "home" to the descendants of pioneer families as well as newcomers.

New houses are being built, businesses remodeling, and a new mini mall is expected bring new business and interest to the town.

Presently, the community is planning $391,000 water project, with work to be spring.

Village clerk Pearl Snyder said the water ject, which was undertaken because of count in the community's water discove

two years ago, will include the construction new well, well house and transmission replace old mains, install new mains w ed, install or replace fire hydrants, rep meters and service lines.

Mrs. Snyder said the village hopes to ing test wells by Dec. 1.

The Water Improvement Project will in part by a grant from the Department Economic Development, totaling $198,4 mainder will come from an FmHA loan $134,000, and from conventional financ totaling $59,388.

Last week, Allen was among six com its population category in the state to b the 1982 Nebraska Community Improve gram (NCIP).

The community, which received hono
tion during a NCIP banquet in Lincoln, selected a finalist by a panel of out-of-s who reviewed scrapbook materials and community.

According to Cyndi Snyder, a member
Allen Community Club which was re during the past year. Judges looked at provements the town has made during year. Including the planting of trees to dead elm trees, construction of the com
new mini mall, the Jaws of Life recentl
ed by the Allen Waterbury Fire and Res
Squad, and the newly remodeled Secur
Bank, along with the Housing Authority built several years ago.

"Everybody works together, that's wh a good rescue squad, fire department, a five Senior Citizens Center," said Kurt
Allen chairman of the board.

During the past 10 years, Johnson sa community has been cleaned up a lot. A mi was constructed in 1976 as Allen's Bicent project, and work is currently being do public park.

"The future growth of Allen depends cluding Dixon, Martinsburg, Waterbury and Concord as well as Allen.

"The majority of our teachers are local," said Heckathorn, adding that about 75 percent are graduates of Wayne State College and there is very little teacher turnover in the school.

Of the 25 teachers at Allen, seven have earned their master's degree.

About 65 percent of the students attend post high school institutions following their graduation from Allen.

Heckathorn said he believes the school holds two records in Nebraska.

Allen was the first school in the state to bus students in a horse drawn bus, and K. R. Mitchell, who still resides in Allen, is the longest tenured superintendent in the state.

Mitchell served as superintendent at the Allen School for 32 years.

Heckathorn said although Allen has an older school, it is well maintained.

He said the school's most comprehensive departments are vocational agriculture and an "excellent" music department.

"All of the departments are very good," said Heckathorn, "but these two are especially popular and well received."

Heckathorn said girls athletics is another department which has been very good throughout the years.

Allen, which was founded in 1890, has an interesting history.

Frank Surber opened a hotel in September of 1890, and the Allen State Bank was open for business on Aug. 9. New houses were being built, and the first lighting was a jet gas system owned and operated by Ora Whitford, who went around each evening and lighted the torches by hand.

The first election was held in November of 1890, and on May 16, 1893 the town was incorporated with a population of 200. Businesses included two hardware stores, a lumber yard, a real estate office, and the Allen News which was in business until 1943.

The early town was on a hill as high as the house now standing behind the Security State Bank.

When the townspeople decided to lower the town, the buildings were propped up high enough on poles so work could be done beneath them with a team of mules. Then the props were removed and the buildings lowered to the ground.

In 1912 the town had two drug stores, a saloon, hardware store, restaurant, contractors and builders, insurance office, an auctioneer, veterinarian, harness shop, dentist, two barbers, brick layer and mason, soda fountain, jeweler, dealer in auto parts and repairs, and two garages.

Two fires swept through the town in 1913 and in 1914.

During the next several months, the Wayne Herald will spotlight area towns with pictures and a story. The series begins this month as the newspaper pays a visit to the community of Allen.

NOTICE OF INFORMATION TO LANDOWNERS ALONG SOUTH LOGAN, DOG AND DEER CREEKS

Surveying the South Logan Creek Watershed Flood Plain in Wayne, Dixon, and Cedar Counties will begin in the month of November, 1982. The Nebraska Natural Resources Commission is directed by the 1967 Nebraska Flood Plain Act to delineate by maps the flood plains of the state. Pursuant to this state statute (Section 2-1506.3) the Commission has recently designated the South Logan Creek Watershed as having priority for such study at this time.

It is necessary that field data in the form of valley cross-sections be obtained by survey in order to model the flood plain areas for evaluation of their flood carrying characteristics. This involves entering private property along the river to obtain the needed surveys. Landowners cooperation in permitting surveys to be conducted is greatly appreciated. Without the survey data, the studies would be much more time consuming and expensive to you the taxpayers of Nebraska.

Survey teams of the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission will complete the valley cross-sections. Landowners will be contacted by Soil Conservation Service and Lower Elkhorn NRD personnel to obtain permission to survey.

If anyone has questions, regarding the flood plain mapping contact either the Soil Conservation Service in Wayne, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District in Norfolk, or the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission at Lincoln. (402) 471-2081.

TAX-DEFERRED ANNUITY PLAN

Earns high interest now, can pay cash-for-life later and defers taxes in between.

A remarkably simple, yet powerful annuity plan that helps your money work harder, earn faster and yield more for your retirement. Start yours with as little as $2,000.

The Tax-Deferred Annuity Plan allows you to earn high interest, without paying federal or state taxes on your interest earnings until distribution to you, usually at retirement, when you are likely to be in a lower tax bracket.

The Tax-Deferred Annuity Plan offers a "Cash-For-Life" option that will pay you a guaranteed retirement income at maturity which you cannot outlive.

Your money is insured-safe by the FSLIC, an agency of the U.S. Government.

Stop in for details and learn more about the Tax-Deferred Annuity Plan that can make your retirement more comfortable.

PHYSICIAN COMMITTEE

The physician recruitment committee met at the Wakefield National Bank on Sept. 30 at 8 p.m. A considerable portion of the meeting was spent discussing recruitment efforts with two recent candidates and plans were made for a third candidate visit on Oct. 2.

Don Kuhl and Mike Salmon also reported on their trip to Geneva to learn about their recruitment efforts.

The finance committee reported that some funds may be available from the Wakefield Development Fund for recruitment purposes.

Plans were made to visit with a local community recruitment committee, to visit a physician firm and to attend the National Health Service Corps Recruitment Conference in Lincoln on Nov. 12-14.

The next meeting will be today (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at the bank.

DIABETES CHAIRMAN

Lois Hollman will head the 1982 residential door-to-door drive in Wakefield on Thursday, Nov. 4. Girl Scout Troop 73 will be conducting the drive.

November is National Diabetes Month and the Nebraska Affiliate is taking part in a nationwide campaign to increase public awareness and support to fight diabetes, the third leading cause of death by disease in this country.

Seventy-five percent of the money raised from the drive will stay in Nebraska to fund the affiliates ongoing programs of research, diabetes workshops, Camp Floyd Rogers and the Nebraska Diabetes Education Center.

Anyone who wishes to volunteer their time to cover their neighborhood, contact Lois at 287-2875.

116 EAT AT SCHOOL

There were 116 adults and 29 preschool age children who look part in National School Lunch Week by eating with students and teachers at the Wakefield Community schools Oct. 11-15.

Mrs. Tom Harrison is head cook and is assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Utecht and Mrs. Glenn Green.

LANDFILL USE

At the regular meeting of the Wakefield City Council on Oct. 6 a discussion was held on rates to be charged for users of the city landfill. Due to the cost of operating the landfill, all utilities customers and users of the landfill will be charged a monthly fee beginning with the billing for the month of October.

Residential customers will be charged $3.50 per month and all commercial customers will pay $4 per month. Industrial users and the fee that will be charged to them include Waldbaum Company, $100 per month; Big Red Farms, $50 per month; Gardner Growers, $50 per month; Wakefield Health Care Center and Wakefield Community Schools, $25 per month.

A review will be made at a later date to see if any readjustment should be made concerning these charges.

Which states have constitutional amendments like Initiative 300?

...and neither should Nebraska!

It won't help family farmers.

Initiative 300 will do nothing to solve the problems of high interest rates, high production costs and low commodity prices... the real enemies of family farmers.

Initiative 300 doesn't belong in our Constitution.

No other state has a similar constitutional amendment and for good reason. Initiative 300 is a vague, confusing and poorly-written proposal that would require a statewide vote each and every time one of its many flaws must be corrected.

It will lower farm values.

The value of Nebraska farmland will be lowered because Initiative 300 will restrict and limit buyers for our farms and make it more difficult for young farmers to start farming by reducing the amount of land available for leasing.

Laws should solve problems...not create them!

card of thanks

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our sincere gratitude and appreciation to all those friends who helped at the Memorial Service held at the Hillcrest Care Center at Laurel, Nebraska, and later at the Wilfse Mortuary in Wayne, Nebraska. For Miss Grace Banister, daughter of John and Linnie B. Norris Banister. Special thanks to Mrs. Ole (Marian) Mallatt for her music at the Care Center, to Pastor Bernard Maxson for his inspiring and comforting messages at both services, and to the ladies of the Wayne Independent Faith Baptist Church for the fine refreshments served at the church following the services. Our heartfelt thanks go to the nurses and staff at the Hillcrest Care Center for their wonderful care and many kindnesses to Grace. We wish also to thank the Wilfse Service for being so very considerate and helpful in making arrangements. Special thank you's, too, to the pallbearers. Also, our special thanks to the Wayne Senior Citizens who came to the Wayne Service in a group to honor Grace with their presence. God Bless you all!! Mrs. Lulu Schuler and Miss Genevieve Craig 028

I WANT TO THANK Dr. Wiseman and the staff at Providence Medical Center for their care during my stay at the hospital. Also, to family and friends for the cards, gifts, phone calls, visits, flowers and food. It is much appreciated. Doris Fredrickson 028

A SPECIAL THANK YOU to the employees of the city, especially Don Neistius and Al Grashorn, for their prompt repair of our electrical lines after Tuesday's storm. Gale and Judy Nervec. 028

THANK YOU WINSIDE Community residents for your support of the community fund raiser and new activities during the 1982 Nebraska Community Improvement Program Year. Because of your continued cooperation and involvement we can all share in the pride of being named number 1 class two community in the state. Keep up the good work! Winside Community Improvement Committee 028

THANK YOU TO ALL who made Winside's First Annual German Dinner a success. Thanks to all of those who donated food and equipment, waited tables, helped us serve and set up, provided entertainment — the H & F band, the Wayne High School German Club, and the Jaeger family. Also, to all who attended our German dinner, thank you again from the Winside Federated Womens Club 028

THANK YOU TO EVERYONE who was involved with the Wayne County Pork Producers Annual Banquet and Queen contest. A special thanks for the cash gift I received. Tena Bargholtz 028
