Day-without-pay idea sparks campus budget-cut debate

By Randall Howell

Would you work a day without pay to show public support for your employer?
Would you take a day off without pay to show public support for your employer?
Many would. Still, many would not.
HYPOTHETICAL as they may be to you, those two questions are sparking some lively mid-year budget debate on the Wayne State College campus.
The idea — working a day without pay — has surfaced during the past two weeks as WSC personnel continue to examine the institution and themselves for ways to rally the troops in the fight to live with $107,000 in state-mandated mid-year budget cuts.
Though the idea has not been presented to WSC administrators in any official form, that doesn't mean Dr. Ed Elliott, college president, isn't aware of it or the ramifications.
A support-staff suggestion, the idea seems to have generated some engaging debate among administrative and faculty personnel as well.

"IT'S A SIGNIFICANT thing to me on the participation of college personnel" in the ongoing budget-cutting discussions, Elliott said Tuesday.
"It indicates the sense of commitment and support that exists... support that is all too often lacking on the part of state employees," Elliott told The Wayne Herald.
"Regardless of where the idea originated, the fact that any group of employees would be willing to discuss this as a means to help is significant," Elliott continued.
"I haven't checked it out," Elliott added. "But, if they insisted their paycheck be reduced by a set amount, I think we'd have to do it, providing they didn't work that day."
ELLIOTT SAID he was less certain on what "we'd have to do" if the employee did work that day and insisted on no pay.
"I'm more certain that ethically it shouldn't be done," he explained.
"That doesn't detract from the commitment these people have, nor should that be construed as a negative feeling about people who don't want to do it," Elliott insisted.

"We have been involved since October on how best to handle the budget reduction," he continued.
"Anytime you have broad-based discussions, you are going to have agreement and disagreement... what we are striving for (on the budget cuts) is consensus," Elliott explained.
"I THINK we have had consensus on the course we've followed," Elliott said, noting that two main concerns have been to protect the mission of the college "at all costs" and that employees "should be the last" to feel the cuts, especially in a mid-year reduction.
"The willingness of people to surrender a portion of their salary is not in keeping with the second criteria," Elliott said.
"That affects them — it reduces their pay," he added.
"My position is that we are working hard to upgrade salaries of employees and not reduce them," he said.

"We're ASKING and being asked for input from students, faculty, and support staff," he said.
"If we are going to move forward, and keep our sense of humor, we must have these creative thoughts," the WSC president said.
"There are people who have never had a creative thought in their lives."
Elliott said he felt that many members of the WSC staff have appreciated the opportunity to be informed and involved in the process and to have the options clearly spelled out.
He said the college must continue to meet its obligations as a state agency, while protecting its flexibility as an institution of higher learning.
"WE ALSO HAVE a responsibility to eliminate uncertainty to the extent that it is possible," he said.
"I don't want the staff to deal with a lot of uncertainties," Elliott said that during the ongoing budget-cutting meetings, he is getting a rewarding message from students, faculty and support staff alike.
That message is: "Wayne State is our institution...we're a part of this."

Senator sees conservative shift coming from Kerrey

State Sen. Merle Von Minden of Allen suggests that the 1983 session of Nebraska's Unicameral may reveal a more conservative fiscal complexion than it has under Gov. Charles Thone.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the Democrats put forth more conservative programs to make themselves and the Kerrey administration look good," explained Von Minden Tuesday.

The state senator was in Wayne for pre-session meetings with constituents — part of a five-day tour of District 17.

"I CAN WORK with him (Gov. elect Bob Kerrey)," Von Minden told The Wayne Herald during his morning session at Daylight Donuts, where he was joined by his wife, Deonette, and his legislative aide, Leland Miner.

Von Minden

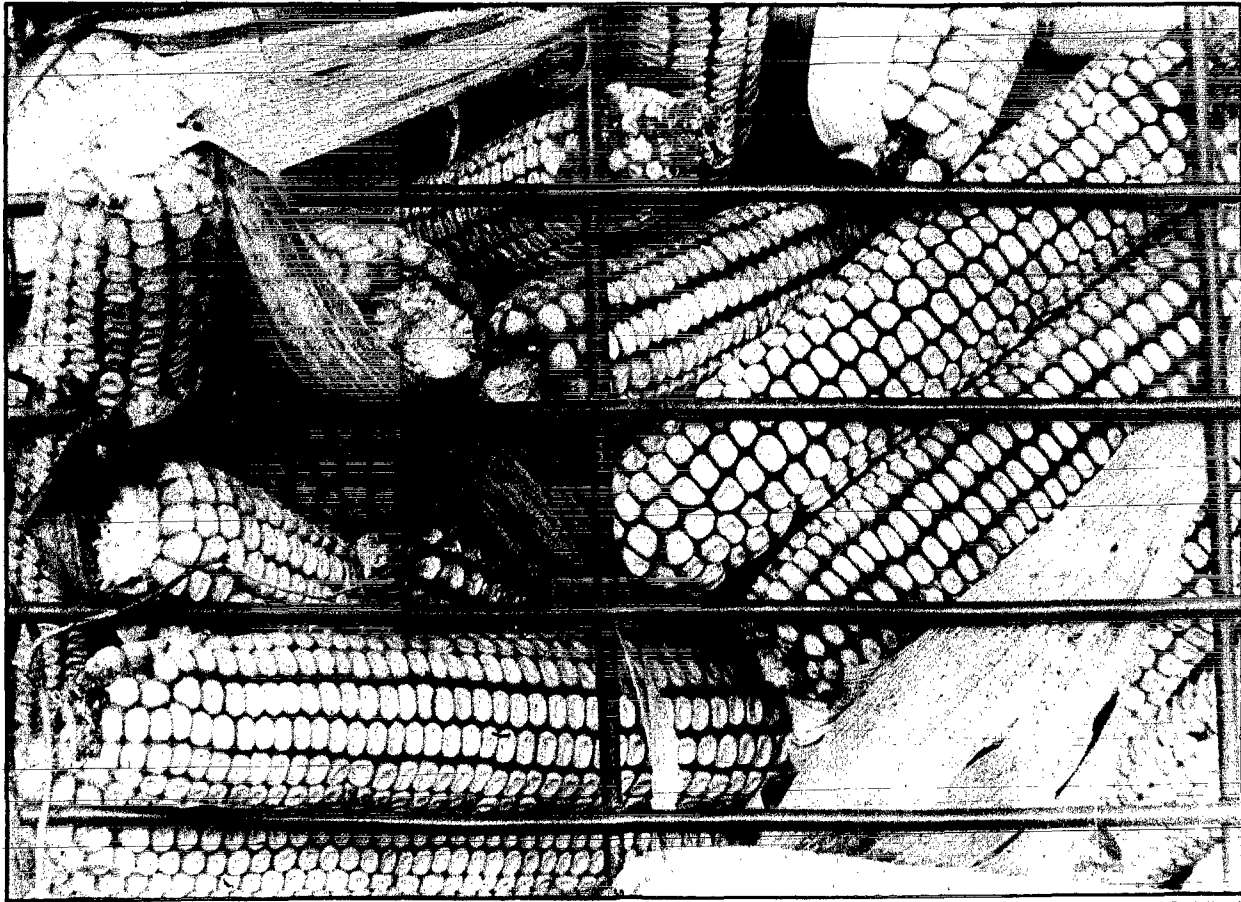

"We might end up running a tighter budget than those under Thone because of Kerrey's supporters' desire to make the new governor look good," Von Minden explained.

"And, I can assure you, I'm not going to Lincoln to spend money just to make the new governor look bad," Von Minden added.
"I just wouldn't do that kind of thing," he said.

VON MINDEN, who was in the second day of his five-day district-wide tour, said it was too early to develop a consensus on what his constituents were expecting from the 1983 session.

"They are busy on a day-to-day basis trying to survive the economic situation we're

Amazing grace

HOW SWEET THE SOUND of the last bushel of corn falling into the crib. Most Wayne area farmers have beat the weather odds and finally finished the harvest. This pattern of ear corn against wire cribbing is visible testimony to the amazing art form fashioned by mother nature under the pressures of this year's harvest. Both cob and kernel convey a calm comfort belying the battle fought over farm and field this season.

Elevator is closed in dust build-up

A Laurel grain elevator has been closed down due to an excessive accumulation of dust and electrical wiring which failed to meet required standards.

According to District Fire Marshall LaVerle (Curly) McDonald, Laurel Feed and Grain Company of Laurel voluntarily shut down operation following an inspection for grain dust and electrical wiring on Tuesday.

It was decided that the dust accumulation was excessive and electrical switches were not explosion-proof as required. An electrical inspector was called in to thoroughly examine the wiring Wednesday morning.

THE DIXON Elevator Company of Dixon voluntarily closed down a grain dryer installation for repairs following an inspection there on Tuesday.

McDonald said a propane leak and kinks in a propane pipe were spotted at a grain dryer. The drying facilities were repaired and the grain elevator remained open during that time.

An official at the Dixon elevator said the dryer wasn't even in use at the time and had been repaired already Tuesday afternoon. It was ready to run on Wednesday she stated and then added that she felt the news media had gotten carried away over a little deal.

The pipes were repaired by Coleridge Oil Company. The worker who made the repairs said there was no actual leak — just kinked pipe. "It was just a weak spot, it was no catastrophe," he said.

The Dearborn Street dilemma

City police chief in the middle of a muddle

It's one thing to be caught in the middle. It's quite another to be living there. But, that's where Wayne's police chief is living right in the middle of a continuing motorist-pedestrian muddle.

ANOTHER CHAPTER of the episode unfolded Tuesday night when a member of the Villa Wayne board appeared to seek City Council action on a "bad corner in town."

Grant Tietgen, a Wayside Lane resident, sought Council action on what he described as traffic safety hazards at the dead-end intersection of Dearborn Street and Fourth Street east.

Tietgen, who was reluctant to publicly state who he represented, complained about motor vehicles parked on the terrace in front of 328 Fourth Street east — the police chief's house.

Chief Vern Fairchild remained quiet throughout and after Tietgen's complaint.

MAYOR WAYNE Marsh said that the chief was not breaking any laws, but agreed with Tietgen that the corner was hazardous.

Though the matter was not on the Council agenda — it consumed more time than the other items as Tietgen and Council members discussed possible solutions with Phil Kloster, city administrator.

"If I was the only one (complaining), I would feel out of place," said Tietgen. "I won't mention any names, but... mayor, you know the people I represent."
Marsh told Tietgen "something is being done" about the corner, and promised to have the matter on the agenda for the Council's next meeting.

FAIRCHILD'S home sets at the corner of the intersection, across Dearborn Street from Villa Wayne.

"We want something... probably to put a stop sign there or something," Tietgen said.

"Why doesn't the chief put in something for off-street parking like everyone else does?," questioned Tietgen.

No one responded.
Tietgen complained about autos on the street at that intersection and on the terrace "in front of the chief's house" blocking visibility at the corner.

The discussion also included a long-standing request from Villa Wayne residents for traffic regulation along Dearborn Street between Fourth and Fifth streets east.

"WE NEED signs warning traffic that we have elderly people crossing the street here," Tietgen continued.

Kloster acknowledged the long-standing concern over Villa Wayne senior citizens crossing Dearborn Street at a mid-block crossing point.
"It's unique because the crossing point is in the middle of the street," Kloster added, noting that city approval of a mid-block stop sign could open the door to dozens of other similar requests.

Kloster said city staff was exploring placing stop signs at the north end of the block between Fourth and Fifth streets east.

Both Kloster and Tietgen agreed that the route (Dearborn to Fourth Street) had become a cross-town shortcut in recent years.

"WE'RE GOING to have to do something with eastbound traffic on Fourth Street, anyway, because the street is so busy and the intersection is blind," Kloster said.

"The city built streets so close to the (chief's) house that a blind spot exists even when no one is parking on the terrace," Kloster continued.

Kloster suggested the city staff provide Council members with several options during the next meeting.

Councilman Darrel Heier suggested painting the mid-point walkway on Dearborn Street.

"Anything that would slow them (motorists) down would discourage people from taking that route," added Councilman Larry Johnson.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS from the Council included caution signs. Councilwoman Carolyn Filler pointed out that speeders tend to ignore traffic regulation signs.

Heier reminded the Council that the city recently "cleared out a bunch" of stop signs. "We don't want to be putting them back helter skelter," he said.

Mayor Marsh thanked Tietgen for bringing the matter before the Council and said that the city would continue working toward

Letters to Santa

A jolly old gentleman from the North Pole visited The Wayne Herald this week.

"Santa Claus" he said his name was, and he asked if the newspaper would once again collect his letters from children in the Wayne area.

Santa said he would read each youngster's letter carefully and do the best he could to make everyone happy on Christmas Eve. He reminded us that his elves are very busy keeping up with the orders and he might have to make some substitutions.

The Wayne Herald has agreed to collect Santa's letters and print them in the newspaper. The letters will be quickly forwarded to Santa at the North Pole, giving him plenty of time to get all the gifts ready before his journey on Christmas Eve.

Area youngsters should address their letters to Santa Claus, c/o The Wayne Herald, 114 Main Street, Wayne, NE 68787. Youngsters are asked to include their name, age, and hometown.

police report

Except for dogs-at-large complaints, the Wayne Police Department log showed little activity over the Thanksgiving Day holidays.

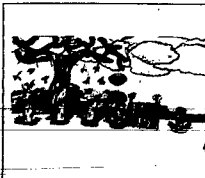

On Monday morning, however, police were called to the scene of a two-car accident in the 300 Block of Main Street.

According to police, a parked 1971 Chevrolet, owned by Larry Magnuson of Wayne, was struck by a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Lydell Heggemeyer of rural Wayne.

The Heggemeyer car was leaving Eldon's Standard Service at 8:30 a.m. when it slid on ice and hit the Magnuson car in the right front door, according to police. No injuries were reported.

Santa Claus comes to town

SANTA CLAUS came to Wayne Saturday afternoon. He landed at the city's Municipal Airport to the delightful squeals of excited children. The jolly old elf was escorted downtown by the Wayne volunteer firefighters. His helpers will be working in Wayne until Christmas.

List of car key winners keeps growing

With less than a month before Christmas, visions of a free car dance in the heads of Wayne area shoppers.

The merchant sponsored Christmas Car Giveaway contest continues to draw shoppers from throughout northeast Nebraska.

And the key winners list is growing.

BUT, THAT isn't all that's happening in Wayne.

Thursday night is Bonus Bucks night. Area shoppers have a shot at winning $1,000 in Bonus Bucks.

That goes a long way toward completing that Christmas shopping list.

Also, on Thursday night the stores are open until 9 p.m. And, Christmas shopping is available in Wayne on Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

On Monday, participating merchants will draw still more names of key winners, in the Christmas Car Giveaway.

The names are being drawn from boxes stuffed with new registrations each week.

AND, OF course, if you don't win a key that unlocks the treasure chest for the car, you still have a crack at winning some $1,400 in free gasoline from service stations throughout the area.

This week's key winners include: Bob Wohler of Emerson, Patty Beiermann of Wayne, May Pearson of Wakefield, Ted Hoemann of Winside, Harold Maciejewski of Wayne, Gene Casey of Wayne, Jeanette Vahler of Pender, John Frerichs of Laurel, Leona Hammer of Wayne, Mary Nichols of Wayne and Herb Swan.

Also, Larry Bruns, Janice Myers of Wayne, Larry Sievers of Wayne, Kenneth Johnson of Carroll, Phyllis Beck of Wayne, Susan Penlerick of Wayne, Marvin Draghu of Wakefield, Dan Kohls of Wayne, Todd Beiermann of Wayne, Martha Walton of Dixon, Arlen Wells of Wisner, Albert Fuoss of Wayne and Deb Allemann of Wayne.

Also, Clara Helford of Wakefield, K. Lockwood of Greeley, Milton Mathews of Wayne, Frieda Jorgensen of Wayne, Wanda Hefeloff of Wayne, Jay Gaunt of Wayne, Robert Faust of Norfolk, Randy Dunn of Dixon, Arthur Storm of Wayne, Mrs. Keith Erickson of Wayne, Mrs. John Heurman, Doris Ritze of Pilger, Cindy Denton of Wayne, Sheri Schulte of Vermillion, Val Dammie of Wayne and Lois Lessman of Wayne.

AREA SHOPPERS may register in the stores of any of the following participating merchants: Arnie's Ford Mercury, Ben Franklin Store, Bill's GW, Black Knight, Carhart Lumber Co., Charlie's Refrigeration, The Cupboard, The Diamond Center, Discount Furniture, Doeschler Appliances, Ellingson Motors, El Toro Lounge, First National Bank and Fredrickson Oil Co.

Snowblowers creating public works dilemma

Snowblowers may have struck a blow for snow removal, but in Wayne they've been throwing against city ordinances.

According to Vern Schulz, superintendent of public works, Wayne has ordinances against throwing material on city streets.

"It has become more evident each year that some residents with snowblowers or loaders are blowing or dumping snow from their driveways into the street," Schulz explained.

THE SNOW often is that left by city snowplows along driveway openings when the streets are cleared, according to Schulz.

"It is the job of the public works department to clear the snow from curb to curb as soon as possible after a snowfall," he said.

"And, it is common knowledge that during this removal process, the street department has no choice but to fill in driveways...there is no way to prevent it," he added.

According to Schulz, the snowblower operators often throw the snowplow ridge back onto the street.

THAT SNOW cannot be left there because it will create a rut or turn to ice after melting," Schulz said.

"That means the snow removal crews must return with a snowplow, once again, and move it back into the driveway," explained Schulz.

"These additional trips for spot cleanup are at the expense of all city taxpayers," Schulz added, also noting that the snowblower operators are in violation of the law.

"If you see your neighbor disposing of his snow this way, please call the police or the city Public Works Department," Schulz said.

SCHULZ SAID callers need not give their name, but violators will receive a summons to appear in court for the violation.

"This is being emphasized because of the more popular use of snowblowers on sidewalks and driveways," Schulz added.

Schulz said community-wide cooperation on the matter would cut snow removal costs and keep city streets safe throughout the winter months.

Richard Manz

Richard Manz, 42, of Laurel died Tuesday, Nov. 30, 1982 at Wayne. Services will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at the United Methodist Church in Laurel. The Rev. Arthur Swarthoff will officiate.

Richard Manz, the son of Melvin and Iva Stanley Manz, was born Dec. 23, 1939 on his parents' farm near Dixon. He grew up in the Laurel area. He married Doris Brockman on Dec. 6, 1959 in South Dakota. He was employed by Terra Western Corp. of Newcastle. He was a member of the United Methodist Church in Laurel, the Laurel Volunteer Fire Department, the Cedar View Country Club and the Laurel Development Corp.

Survivors include his wife, Doris of Laurel; one son, Douglas of Laurel; two daughters, Mrs. Jon (Deanna) Erwin of Wakefield and Mrs. Doug (Dixie) Gengler of LeMars, Iowa; one granddaughter; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Manz of Dixon; and three brothers, Gary of Alabama, John of Elkhorn and David of Newcastle.

He is also preceded in death by one sister and one son, David Lee. Pallbearers will be Verne Gade, Keith Clarkson, Kenneth Wacker, Kendall Martin, William Norvell and Harold Thompson Jr.

Burial will be in the Laurel Cemetery with Willse Mortuaries in charge of arrangements.

Arthur Forsberg

Arthur Forsberg, 90, of Blair died Sunday, Nov. 28, 1982 at the Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

Services will be held today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Laurel. The Rev. Arthur Swarthoff will officiate.

Arthur E. Forsberg, the son of Daniel and Sophie Johnson Forsberg, was born Feb. 3, 1892 at Laurel. He grew up in the Laurel area. He married Lillian Lundquist on June 12, 1929 at her parents' home in Laurel. The couple farmed near Laurel until retiring in 1977 when they moved to Crowell Memorial Home at Blair. He had spent the last several months in the Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

Survivors include his wife, Lillian of Blair; three nephews and one niece.

He was also preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Emil. Pallbearers will be Verne Peterson, Harvey Rastede, LaVerle Johnson, Douglas Johnson, Ted Gunnarson and Kenneth Kardell. Burial will be in the Laurel Cemetery with Willse Mortuaries in charge of arrangements.

Why is it wise to make a prearranged, prefinanced funeral?

This arrangement provides security in several ways.

1. You will be assured of the funeral home of your choice.
2. You and your family will have the comfort knowing this matter has been arranged.
3. Your investment guarantees you the service you select.
4. Your survivors can participate in the planning of the service but will not be burdened financially.
5. Your investment is protected by legislation passed by the Nebraska Legislature.

Special Session springboard for leadership positions

By Melvin Paul
Nebraska Press Association

The recently completed special legislative session gave lawmakers their first post-election opportunity to discuss how they'll divide their leadership posts when they return Jan. 5 to commence the 88th legislature.

Among the leadership races to be determined on the first day of the next session are those for speaker, executive board chairman and the chairmanships of 14 standing committees.

By the end of the special session on Nov. 13, two senators had established themselves as clear favorites for key chairmanships.

SEN. LORAN Schmit of Bellwood appeared the heavy favorite to become the chairman of the Public Works Committee, a vacancy created by the retirement of Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora.

Sen. Martin Kahle of Kearney appeared to be clear favorite for chairmanship of the Agriculture and Environment Committee. That spot opened up when Schmit, who has chaired the ag panel, decided to run for the public works chairmanship.

Schmit has been one of the staunchest advocates of an aggressive water development policy. If he's elected public works chairman, his influence over water issues will be greatly enhanced.

Schmit used the special session to make some conciliatory gestures toward that group of senators who favor a slower approach to water development.

THE GROUP includes Sens. Peter Hoagland of Omaha and Tom Vickers of Farnam.

Vickers had announced earlier his intention to seek the public works chairmanship, but during the special session he said a bid for the Education Committee chairmanship is more likely.

Schmit and Hoagland, who have feuded bitterly over water issues in the past, even discussed reconciliation over lunch at a Lincoln restaurant one day during the session. "It's been a sad two years," Schmit said of past battles with the Vickers-Hoagland faction. "We drew up sides and didn't get anything out of it."

A MAJORITY of senators who were interviewed during the special session said the 1983 legislative organization probably won't reach the intensity of 1981, when two coalitions known as the "Old Guard" and the "New Guard" clashed.

Many senators viewed the 1981 fight largely as a referendum on the behavior of Sen. John DeCamp and Neligh, whose use of campaign funds for purchase of fish tanks and Kruggerands had caused what many considered negative publicity for the Legislature.

DeCamp surrendered the vice-chairmanship of the Executive Board that year, and won re-election to the Banking Committee chairmanship on a 25-24 vote.

That storm has passed, most senators say.

THE BITTER partisanship of the 1981 battle is also unlikely to be a factor this year, according to a Republican lawmaker. Although Republicans will out number Democrats 33 to 15 next year, the senator said there's a desire among GOP lawmakers to try to work with the party of Gov.-elect Bob Kerrey, who is a Democrat.

A lively race for chairmanship of the Revenue Committee appears to be taking shape. Sen. Vard Johnson of Omaha, who has been a member of the panel since he was first elected in 1978, said he is almost certain to challenge the re-election effort of Chairman Cal Carsten of Avoca, a 12-year legislative veteran.

The announced candidates to succeed Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings as speaker are Sens. Bill Nichol of Scottsbluff and Bob Clark of Sidney.

Decamp is also said to be interested in the race. If he decides against running again for the banking chairmanship.

Sen. Howard Lamb of Anselmo said he intends to run again for chairmanship of the legislative Executive Board. Sen. Sam Cullan of Hemingford said he may run, too.

Winter wheels

Once again, it is time get our winter wheels under us. After a long summer of driving with little in the way of road hazards, most motorists have forgotten the perils of icy pavement.

With winter upon us, the icy pavement seems to get blamed for a multitude of accidents that, pure and simple, are driver error.

Overdriving the road conditions is potentially fatal year-round. But, overdriving the road conditions during winter months significantly increases the accident potential.

And, of course, the result is a rash of fender-bender accidents after each whiff of white stuff passes through the area.

Motorists and pedestrians in the Wayne area have been, by and large, very lucky over the years. Most motor vehicle accidents here rarely get beyond the property damage stage.

However, leaving the matter to lady luck is a risky business.

Underdriving hazardous road conditions is always a more reasonable approach to staying alive. It gives motorists and pedestrians alike an odds-on chance of staying alive.

By the way, in case you hadn't noticed, children represent a significant number of the pedestrians in and about town.

Most older pedestrians are cautious as they use the city's walkways. They have learned to walk defensively.

The children, however, are only learning how to survive on foot. They are no match for a motor vehicle under the best of circumstances. And, of course, winter always offers the worst of circumstances.

Wayne has an enviable record for pedestrian and driver safety.

It's a record worth keeping.

Let's drive to stay alive this winter.

Gasohol guzzle

Nebraska gasohol sales are booming. The Nebraska Petroleum Status Report, compiled monthly by the Nebraska Energy Office (NEO), shows that gasohol available for consumption in the state is growing by leaps and bounds.

Through August, gasohol sales (virtually the same as the amount available for consumption) had reached 44.6 million gallons. That record for the first two-thirds of 1982 far outstrips the total gallonage sold for all of 1981, which amounted to 31.1 million gallons.

Gasohol sales had seemed poised on a plateau during 1980 and 1981 after a healthy growth over the 1979 level of 6.8 million gallons. In 1980, the level was 30.1 million gallons, just a million fewer than the next year.

However, the first stirrings of what was to come were recorded in December of 1981. That was the first month that the sales cracked the 3 million gallons level.

In January this year, a similar level was reached and since then there has been a steady climb to the 9.2 million gallons recorded in August.

Through August, gasohol sales comprised 8.6 percent of overall Nebraska gasoline sales in 1981. A 10 percent share of the market could be reached next year if the current trend continues.

Todd Sneller, administrator at the Nebraska Gasohol Committee, said the sales boom makes Nebraska the No. 2 state in the nation in per capita use of gasohol. Iowa ranks first in this category.

Nebraska also ranks seventh in total gasohol volume, trailing six states with larger populations. Those states are Iowa, California, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Oklahoma.

Sneller said 13 regional jobbers want to start marketing gasohol, but supply limitations mean that it may take until after the first of next year. By then, more alcohol plants will be on line to provide more supply for the fuel extender.

Mixed bag of messages

Reaganomics stays course

By Richard Leshner
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The clearest message to emerge from the midterm congressional elections is that there is no clear message.

Those looking for a strengthened conservative coalition in the results will be disappointed.

Similarly, those seeking to unearth a national repudiation of Reaganomics will have to dig all the way to China before they find it.

CONSIDER THESE contradictory results:

- Conservatives suffered moderate losses in the House of Representatives, but not a single seat in the Senate.
- Several liberal candidates defeated conservative House members in the South, but in California conservatives swept the top offices from liberals. In New York, one of the most liberal states, gubernatorial candidate

Low Lehrman, who is more conservative than the president himself, won 48 percent of the vote against all odds by advocating supply-side tax cuts and a tougher approach to crime.

Republicans were toppled in areas with higher than average unemployment yet nationwide voter exit polls conducted by the major news organizations revealed significant strength for the president and his policies. For example, a survey of voters by NBC and the Associated Press showed that 57 percent of Americans believe Reaganomics is either a success or deserves more time.

DESPITE THIS mixed bag of results, the nation's capital is rife with speculation that President Reagan's support in Congress has been shattered and that we are in for two years of stalemate in Washington. Others even suggest that liberals in Congress have been handed a mandate to reverse the course we have been pursuing for the last two years.

But did you cast your vote for higher taxes, more spending and bigger deficits? Do you know anyone who did?

I pose these questions for this reason: President Reagan's economic policy, based for the most part on the premises of supply-side economics, means cutting taxes, spending and regulations to eventually spur growth and jobs in the private sector.

A reversal of that course can only mean higher taxes, more spending and greater reliance on government. By no stretch of the imagination can it be said that voters flocked to the polls to demand bigger government.

BY DOGGEDLY adhering to the basic premise of his administration—that his mission in office is to cut the scope of government—the president will make further progress in the next two years.

While it will be more difficult, the conservative coalition that passed sweeping tax and budget cuts in 1981 can be reassembled on a vote-by-vote basis to curtail growth of federal spending, weed out unnecessary regulation and put Social Security on sound financial footing.

My confidence stems from the fact that when all the rhetoric is put aside the one thing members of Congress understand more than anything is grass roots pressure from the home folks.

And organizations like the Chamber of Commerce intend to work harder than ever to see that the grass roots message of a majority of Americans is brought to bear on Congress over the next two years.

Employers can shape skills in new job-training program

Thanks to lessons learned from mistakes of past programs, the nation has in the works a new job program geared to training unemployed workers for jobs with employers who will have a voice in the kinds of job skills that will be taught.

The program, replacing the discredited CETA program, which attempted to create jobs mostly out of tax dollars, was fashioned after more than 15 months of bipartisan effort in Congress and assistance from employer organizations led by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Terms and objectives are laid out in the Job Training Partnership Act of 1982, enacted recently by Congress. In signing the measure at a White House ceremony, President Reagan said it was the first important piece of new legislation implementing his program of "New Federalism," and said it would help fill the nation's employment needs in the economic recovery underway. With unemployment still a serious problem, he added, "I will not rest until every man and woman who wants a job, has one."

ACCORDING TO the U.S. Chamber, here are highlights of the new law, which will affect unemployed youth, hard-to-employ adults and even the elderly, in hundreds of U.S. localities.

• The states, through their governors, will play a major role, channeling federal funds to local training districts. Each state will have a Job Training Coordinating Council, at least 30 percent of which must be business representatives, to advise the governor as to how the system should be designed, its goals and how other state agencies should coordinate their efforts with this job training program.

• Local employers and local government officials will work like a partnership to determine and set up programs to meet local employment and training needs.

• Seventy percent of the federal funds must be spent on training activities, instead of only 20 percent under the most recent CETA program.

• Performance standards are designed into the system. The success of the program will be measured in terms of increased earnings, job retention and reduced welfare dependency for the trainees.

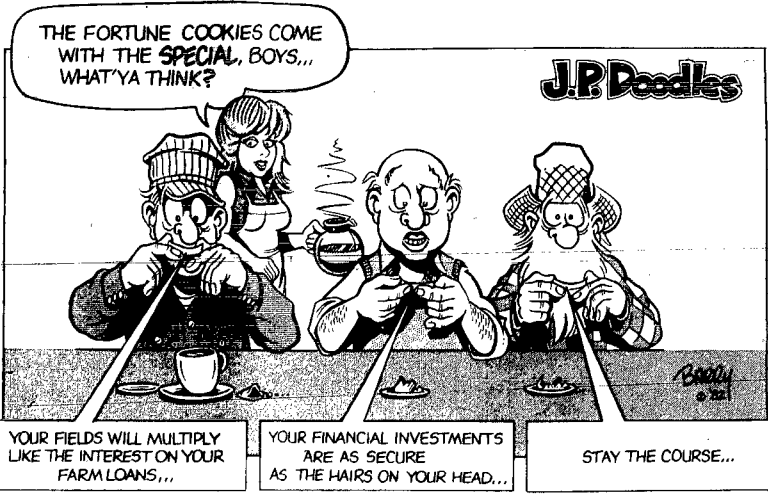

• Business leaders in the locality will serve on Private Industry Councils to be set up in each labor market, with the chairman and 51 percent of the council made up of employers. Once established each council is entitled to an initial grant of up to $80,000 for staff, office space and 1983 operating expenses.

THE PROGRAM will require a transition period with programs designed and in place by next August.

Instead of politicians running the show, a partnership of local officials and employers in the best position to know training and jobs needs of community employers will run the programs.

The U.S. Chamber has pledged its cooperation and plans to work with local chambers around the country to encourage business participation.

"The continued funding of the program in a locality depends on the employment and training system meeting employer needs," says Magdelaine B. Hemmings, associate director for education, employment and training for the chamber. "It will be successful if business leaders and private employers work with it and support it."

way back when

30 YEARS AGO
November 27, 1952: Clearing skies Wednesday brought an end to a two-day storm highlighted by Tuesday's blizzard that isolated Wayne and surrounding towns. Gate-like winds drifted the four-inch snow and blocked all roads leading to Wayne. Installation services were held Sunday afternoon for Rev. Roy Beckmann, new pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Carroll, who with his wife and daughter arrived last Monday from Genoa, Colo. David Ratzlaff, 14, Wayne, has been named one of the finalists in the Pillsbury fourth grade national baking contest. He will also go to Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y., Dec. 8 to compete in the final bake-off.

25 YEARS AGO
December 5, 1957: Neighbors and friends gathered at the Carl Amend farm Friday to help the Amend brothers pick corn. Seven pickers were used in the project. Ed Caauus, manager of the Wayne County Noxious Weed district, attended the annual weed district inspectors school held in Lincoln recently. Another week without precipitation allowed NE Nebraska farmers to step up their corn harvesting operations. Corn Tuesday was about 85 percent picked according to County Agent Harold Ingalls.

20 YEARS AGO
November 29, 1962: Warren Sals, Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Sals, Carroll, has been named supervisor of an 8,834 acre agriculture field laboratory near Mead. Work is making steady progress on the new fire truck building being constructed on main street in Hoskins. The building is being built by volunteer workers. Verlen Magnuson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Magnuson, Wayne, has received an $800 home economics scholarship from the Sunbeam Corp.

15 YEARS AGO
November 30, 1967: Dick Sorenson, 31, Wayne, has been named the area's Outstanding Young Farmer. He was honored at the Farmers Appreciation Banquet held Tuesday night at the Wayne City Auditorium. A whirlwind fund and pledge drive by First Methodist Church members Sunday afternoon through Tuesday resulted in exceeding the goal on a building fund campaign. In 2 1/2 days, over $121,000 was given or pledged with the quota $110,000. Wayne County is lagging in savings bond purchases this year. With only two months of sales left, the county had reached less than two-thirds of its goal, according to the state Treasury Department office.

10 YEARS AGO
November 30, 1972: Several Wayne families have organized a new church in Wayne and will hold their first service Sunday morning. The new church is the Evangelical Free Church, same as ones now operating at Concord, Stanton, Ponca and Sioux City. Wayne State's symphonic wind band will present its sixth annual December concert Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Ramsey Theater of the Peterson Fine Arts Center.

briefly speaking

Christmas Cantata scheduled

The choir of First Church of Christ, Wayne, and Wakefield Christian Church will present a Christmas Cantata, entitled "I Believe He is the Son of God." The cantata will be presented Sunday, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at First Church of Christ, located on Highway 35 east of Wayne, and on Sunday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wakefield Christian Church. The public is invited to attend the programs.

All vets Christmas party

All members of veterans organizations and auxiliaries, and their spouses, are invited to attend an all vets Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 5 in the Vet's Club room. The evening will begin with a social hour from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., followed with a cooperative potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Persons attending are asked to bring a meat dish and one other dish, plus their own table service.

98th year observed

Walter Chinn of Wakefield celebrated his 98th birthday at a dinner Nov. 21 with the Cecil Rhodes family in Emerson. Others attending were Frances Rhodes, Clint and Debbie Skinner and son Francis of Lincoln, and Mathew Rhodes of South Sioux City. The boys are great grandsons of Walter and Leila Chinn. In the evening, Mr. Chinn, Frances Rhodes, Cecil Rhodes, Norman Minolas and Ruth Nelson had birthday cake and coffee with Mrs. Chinn at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

Monthly BPW meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Wayne Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) was held Tuesday, Nov. 23 at the Stratton House. Following the evening meeting, members met at The Shepherdess where they learned to make various Christmas crafts.

On President's List

Brenda Lindsay of Wayne has been named to the 1982 spring semester President's List at Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk. Students named to the President's List must earn a perfect grade point average of 4.0.

Hospitalized in Norfolk

Tammy Hartmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hartmann of Winside, is a patient in the Lutheran Community Hospital, Norfolk, where she underwent surgery Nov. 24. Cards and letters will reach her at the hospital or at her home.

JE plans luncheon

Members of JE Club will meet Dec. 14 for a noon luncheon at the Black Knight, followed with a gift exchange in the home of Peg Gormley. Mildred West entertained the club in her home Nov. 23. Receiving card prizes were Peg Gormley and Rose Schulz.

Performing with choir

Amanda Peterson and Alan Stoltenberg, both of Wayne, will perform with the Nebraska Wesleyan University Choir in a public concert at 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5 in the O'Donnell Auditorium, Rogers Center for Fine Arts, 50th and Huntington, Lincoln. The featured work will be John Rutter's "Gloria," with the choir assisted by members of the Nebraska Wesleyan percussion and brass ensembles. The choir also will perform works by Lotti, Sweelinck and Sargent. The choir is directed by Dr. William A. Wyman, Associate Professor of Music and Director of Choral Activities at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Fun-filled fair

Methodist Women sponsoring annual Christmas Fun Fair

Christmas is less than a month away and First United Methodist Women of Wayne are gearing up for their Christmas Fun Fair. The event, which annually attracts hundreds of area shoppers, will be held this Saturday in the church fellowship room. Doors will open at 10 a.m. and will remain open until 3 p.m., said chairman Norma Carr, adding that the fair is the major fund-raising project for United Methodist Women. Shoppers are asked to use the north door of the church. Free nursery care will be provided for pre-school children of workers and shoppers.

SERVING AS co-chairman for this year's event is Martha Brodersen. Advisor is Becky Wilson. As in past years, United Methodist Women will be serving a dinner of hot turkey sandwiches, homemade pie and coffee from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Janet Bull and Jerry Sharpe are in charge of kitchen arrangements. Pie and coffee alone will be served from 10 to 11 a.m., and again from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Mrs. Carr said persons unable to attend the fair may have a dinner delivered by calling the church office. Persons in need of a ride to the fair also are encouraged to call the church office for transportation.

THE FAIR will feature seven specialty booths, including Country Store, Stitchery, Crafts Boutique, Christmas Tree and Grab Bag, Kids Korner, Cookie Decorating, and the Nook. Co-chairmen of the Nook are Evelyn Hamley, Donna Shuffelt and Sue Wert.

At the Cookie Decorating booth, chairman Randy Howell said youngsters will be invited to purchase cookies and decorate them there. Marj Porter and Sally Watson are co-chairmen of the Country Store booth, where shoppers can purchase homemade pies, cakes, rolls, candies, breads, jams and jellies, and more.

SEWING, crocheted or knitted items, embroidery, pillowcases and dish towels can be purchased at the Stitchery booth. Co-chairmen are Rachel Wolke and Esther Hughes.

At the Crafts Boutique, many craft or decorator items will be available, including many Christmas items. Chairmen are Kay Marsh and Ylene Johnson. A decorated tree in the fellowship hall will help create atmosphere for the fair. Beneath the tree will be grab bags for boys and girls. Chairmen of the Christmas Tree and Grab Bag booth are Deb Eloffson and Lynette Eloffson.

The Kids Korner booth, scaled down to small-fry size, will house items reasonably priced for youngsters. Chairmen are Nicki Tiedtke and Gerelda Lipp.

THIS YEAR, Jan Kohl will once again be selling cards and napkins. Drawings also will be held the day of the fair, with proceeds going to missions.

Drawings will be for an afghan, a stained glass mirror, a Christmas wall hanging, and a wooden bread box. Winners need not be present.

Fair chairmen remind persons who have ordered holly from United Methodist Women they may pick up their orders on Saturday.

Allen couple celebrates 50 years

The golden wedding anniversary of Carmen and Mahlon Stewart of Allen was observed during an open house reception Sunday, Nov. 21, at the Springbank Friends Church near Allen. Hosts were their children and families, Marilyn Stewart of Hubbard, Jerald and Dennis Stewart of Waterbury, Paul Stewart of Allen, and Don Stewart of Arlington, Wash. The 200 guests, who attended from Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Sloan and Missouri Valley, Iowa; Seat GRANDSON Marty Stewart of Dixon served as master of ceremonies for the afternoon program. Herb and Chris Ellis, accompanied by Vicky Hingsl, sang a medley of songs from the 1930's. Kenny and Edna Mathieson played a piano and saxophone duet of old songs.

The program also included readings by Carmen Krusemark of Emerson and Rick Stewart, and a recording of songs by Mrs. Stewart's nieces in California.

A letter was read from Harold Springer of Myrtle Creek, Ore., an attendant at the couple's wedding 50 years ago.

THE ANNIVERSARY cake, baked by Linda Stewart, was cut by Bev Stewart. Mary Stewart poured, and Lauri Stewart served punch.

Assisting in the kitchen were Bev Cook of Coleridge and Sharon Kokulak of Arlington, Wash., along with the grand children.

Stewarts were married Nov. 22, 1932 at the Springbank Friends Church east of Allen. They farmed in the Waterbury area until retiring to Allen in 1978.

They are the parents of five children. There are 17 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Immanuel Ladies Aid has election

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, met this month and elected new officers for the coming year. Serving as president will be Mrs. Gilbert Rauss. Other newly elected officers are Mrs. Marlin Schuttler, vice president; Mrs. Reuben Meyer, secretary, and Mrs. Merle Roeder, treasurer.

MRS. HELEN Echtenkamp and Mrs. Ben Hoffman were co-hostesses for the November meeting, which opened with prayer and the singing of "I Know That My Redeemer Lives."

Vicar David Bowlby presented the lesson topic, entitled "The Beauties of Thy Peace."

Mrs. Etray Hank, president, opened the business meeting with a reading, "What Thanksgiving Means to Me."

Present were 23 members and two guests, Mrs. Morris Backstrom and Mrs. David Bowlby. The visitation report was given by Mrs. Gilbert Rauss, Mrs. Marvin Nelson, Mrs. Albert Echtenkamp and Mrs. Arnold Roeder.

GUEST DAY, scheduled to be held in October, was canceled because of inclement weather and has been rescheduled in the spring. The 40th anniversary of the LWML was observed with a short program, closing with the Lord's Prayer. Women observing birthdays during October and November were honored in song.

NEXT MEETING of the Aid will be a potluck guest luncheon at noon on Dec. 16.

Mrs. Arnold Roeder and Mrs. Lloyd Roeder will serve as dining room hostesses, and Mrs. Laverne Wischmidt and Mrs. Viola Roeder are in charge of coffee.

Mrs. Marvin Nelson is in charge of the program.

baptisms

Sara Nichole Hoffman

Baptismal services were conducted recently at Mt. Olive Lutheran Church in Norfolk for Sara Nichole Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hoffman of Norfolk.

Officiating was Frank Brink, lay minister. Sponsors were Mrs. Tyler Frevert, Chuck Langenberg and Brian Hoffman, all of Winside, and Mrs. Doug Asmus of Norfolk.

Dinner guests afterward in the Hoffman home included Sara's great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jaeger of Winside, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hoffman of Winside and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langenberg Jr. of Hoskins.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Frevert and April, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hoffman and Aaron, and Chuck Langenberg, all of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Asmus, Danielle and Cassie, Gene Langenberg and Leslie Lieswald, all of Norfolk, Dave Langenberg of Hoskins, and Kathy Reigle of Brunswick. The baptismal cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Ed Brogie of Hoskins.

Adam Jeffery Hartung

Adam Jeffery Hartung, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hartung of Dixon, was baptized Sunday morning during worship services at the United Lutheran Church in Laurel.

The Rev. Kenneth Marquardt officiated, and sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Litz of Millard.

Dinner guests afterward in the Hartung home were the Robert Litz family, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Litz, Hartington, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hartung, Coleridge.

Fund drive hatches for Chicken Show

The committee for the 1983 Chicken Show, slated to be held next July in Wayne, has hatched plans to raise money for the third annual event.

A spokesman for the committee said the first fund drive is underway and includes a drawing for a Christmas capon. The drawing will be held this month, with a 50 cent donation securing one ticket and a $1 donation securing three tickets. Tickets are available from several Wayne individuals, including Dean Bilstein, David Ley, Gail Korn, Jane O'Leary, the Rev. Dan or Mary Monson, Clyde Flowers, and at the Christmas Shop.

OTHER fund raisers for the Chicken Show will include achievement contests with pledges made, and a repeat of the balloon promotion.

Plans for other fund raisers also are in the works. Tentative plans for the July event call for an extension of activities to span three days, opening with a carnival and a "Chicken Hill" talent show. More contests will be held on Saturday, encouraging adult participation. In addition, there will be a public auction of celebrity chicken items.

SEVERAL interested artists and craftsmen have already reserved tables at $10 each for the Chicken Arts and Crafts Show, which will be sponsored by the Wayne Regional Arts Council (WRAC).

Forms for reservation of tables are available from WRAC President Gail Korn, 375-3615.

Area residents interested in helping with the 1983 Chicken Show are encouraged to leave their name with Dean Bilstein. General contributions toward the show may be given to committee treasurer David Ley.

Eagles families gathering for annual Christmas event

Members of the Wayne Eagles Club and Auxiliary will meet this Saturday for a family Christmas party at the club.

Mary Gamble and Arlene Olson are in charge of decorations, and Florence Koplin and Bonnie Mohlfeld will conduct the program.

Members are asked to bring two dishes for the 7 o'clock potluck supper, which will be followed with a $1 gift exchange.

Children are to bring children's gifts, and adults are to bring adult gifts.

FAMILIES also are invited to go Christmas caroling on Dec. 23 at 7 p.m.

Those attending are asked to bring a plate of Christmas goodies for lunch afterward at the club.

Gayle Mau and Mary Woehler are in charge of the event.

PLANS FOR the Christmas party and caroling were made when the Eagles Auxiliary met Nov. 15 with 17 members present.

Valerie Nelson was voted into membership.

A report was given on the District 6 meeting in Fullerton on Nov. 7. Attending from Wayne were Arlene and Tony Olson, Lynn and Jan Gamble, Larry and Fern Test, and Mylet Bargholz.

Fern and Larry Test attended an officers workshop in Hastings Nov. 13 and 14.

THE AUXILIARY'S annual stagette has tentatively been set for Feb. 11.

A family potluck supper was held Nov. 12 with 65 persons attending. Babs Middleton, Ruth Korth and Helen Sommerfeld were on the committee.

Thanksgiving to Christmas is being honored by the Eagles as Home and Family Month.

In keeping with the observance, families of club members involved in 4-H, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and sports activities were recognized.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, Ruth Korth handed out flag pins given by Gordon Nedergaard in honor of Veteran's Day. All veterans of the club were recognized.

Terry Gilliland, son of Darrel and Doris Gilliland, spoke on his experiences at Boy's State held this past summer in Lincoln.

Next meeting of the auxiliary has been set for Dec. 6 at 8 p.m.

An All-American welcome

NEBRASKA'S ALL-AMERICAN musicians received a warm welcome to the "Big Apple" by Terri Utley, Miss USA 1982, prior to their appearance in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City. Pictured with Miss USA are Richard Ayala of Bellevue and Dawn Droscher of Wayne. Both performed in the holiday parade as members of the 1982 McDonald's All-American High School Band. The band is comprised of two outstanding high school musicians from each state and the District of Columbia, plus one member each from the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Lady Wildcats win own tourney trophy

The Lady Wildcats of Wayne State College claimed the top spot in their first annual Thanksgiving Tournament and moved their win streak to four games on Nov. 26-27 in Rice Auditorium.

Coach Jan Jirsak's Lady Cats, with a 4-1 mark, will see their next action on the road at St. Joseph, Mo. on Friday, Dec. 3, against the Lady Griffons of Missouri Western. On the return trip they are scheduled to stop in Peru to take on the Lady Bobcats of Peru State College.

A summary of the tournament results included Wayne State downing an unbeaten Buena Vista squad 62-56 to win the championship round on Saturday. In consolation play, Westmar College battled to a 73-67 overtime victory over Mt. Marty.

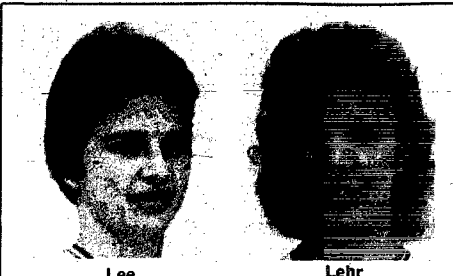

In opening night action on Friday, Wayne State posted a 64-47 win over Mt. Marty, while Buena Vista swept by Westmar College 76-54 to advance to the championship contest.

IT TOOK a strong second half effort for the Lady Wildcats as they came back from a 31-29 halftime deficit to defeat the Lady Beavers of Buena Vista 62-56 and take first place in the tournament.

The score was tied several times throughout the game before a basket by Robbie Lehr put Wayne up for good at 45-44 with 9:50 remaining in the second period.

Lehr turned in her best performance of the year thus far, scoring 19 points and gathering up 17 rebounds. Janet Lee, Maggie Alberts, and Deb Nyrgren also hit the double digit mark with 10 points each. Nyrgren and junior Sue Juhlin backed up the strength on the boards with eight rebounds apiece.

WSC players all-tourney

Strong offensive and defensive performances earned two Wayne State College Lady Wildcat basketball players first team honors at the Thanksgiving Tournament held Nov. 26-27 at Rice Auditorium in Wayne.

Juniors Robbie Lehr and Janet Lee represented the Lady Cats on the all-tourney team. They were joined by Tara Bertram of runner-up Buena Vista College, third place Westmar's Karen DeYoung and Ginny Oleson of Mt. Marty College.

Lehr, a 6-1 center, led her team's winning effort in both scoring and rebounding, compiling 31 points and 32 rebounds over the two games.

Teammate Janet Lee, a 5-7 guard, displayed her aggressive style of play on offense and defense, scoring 22 points and pulling down 14 caroms as well as coming up with eight steals and nine assists.

Second place Buena Vista's Tara Bertram, a 5-9 sophomore, dumped in 28 points and totaled nine rebounds to claim all-tourney honors.

Senior Karen DeYoung of Westmar scored 32 points along with nabbing nine rebounds and seven steals in her team's third place finish.

Final team member Ginny Oleson of Mt. Marty totaled a tournament-high 33 points and pulled down seven rebounds along with five steals.

top player with 11 points and seven rebounds.

In the consolation game, a 19 point scoring performance by junior Julie Cronquist moved the Westmar College Lady Eagles past the Mt. Marty Lady Lancers 71-63. Mt. Marty's scoring was led by Darla Odens and Ginny Oleson with 17 points each.

Cats stopped in second half

The Wayne State men's basketball squad battled the Panthers of the University of Northern Iowa on even terms for 25 minutes last Saturday, but a late UNI surge carried the hosts to a 69-49 win.

Coach Rick Weaver's Wildcats, 3-3, traveled to the University of South Dakota at Springfield on Tuesday. WSC will participate in the Missouri Western Classic on Saturday and Sunday.

The Wildcats return home on Dec. 11 against Dana College.

THE NCAA Division I Panthers hit a shot with one second left in the half to take a 28-25 lead going into the lockers. Wildcat forward Grady Hansen popped in two shots to open the second half as WSC moved on top 29-28.

A layin by sophomore center Lonell Greene kept the Cats on top 31-30 with 18:15 left to play, but UNI held WSC without a point for over five minutes as they surged to a 37-33 advantage and never looked back.

Hansen was the only double-figure scorer for Wayne State, hitting five of seven from the floor and two of two free throws for 12 points. John Reed was next with just six points. Ron Taylor grabbed six rebounds to tie for game honors.

Northern Iowa's 6-11, center

Ray Storck, took game scoring honors with 21 points. He was the only Panther in double figures as UNI won its season opener.

Area girls earn all-state honors

Five girls in The Wayne Herald coverage area received recognition Sunday by earning honorable mention honors on the Omaha World Herald's all state volleyball teams.

In Class B, Deb Prenger and Missy Stoltenberg of Wayne were both listed on the honorable mention all state list. In Class C, Laurel's Renee Gadeken, Wakefield's Renee Wensstrand and Allen's Michelle Harder all earned honorable mention status.

Two players on C-2 all-state list

Tim Heier of Wayne, Derwin Roberts of Allen and Dan Broekemeier of Winfield were the only three area football players named to all state lists by the Omaha World Herald.

Heier earned honorable mention honors in Class B while Roberts and Broekemeier were both named to the honorable mention list in Class C-2. The Lincoln Journal and Star all state teams contained the names of no area players. The Associated Press team will be announced later this week.

Rating caps Trojans' fine year

A successful football season at Wakefield High School ended with the Trojans being listed in the final Class C-2 state rankings. Wakefield was listed seventh in the final AP ranking and eighth by The Omaha World-Herald.

The Trojans racked up 117 first downs to 73 for their opponents. They outgained the opposition 2,558 to 1,554. Of that total, 1,849 was gained on the ground. Wakefield scored 183 points for an average of 20.3 points per game and the opposition averaged 8.3 per game.

Mike Clay was leading rusher with 140 carries for 675 yards and a 4.8 yard average. Rod Nixon rushed 87 times for 506 yards and Jeff Coble carried 86 times for 369 yards. Jon Stelling carried 23 times for 91 yards. Ten running backs gained yardage for the Trojans.

QUARTERBACK BRIAN Soderberg completed 44 passes in 95 attempts for 676 yards and three touchdowns. Coble was on the receiving end of 21 passes for 311 yards and two TDs. Gary Tullberg made six catches for 119 yards. Nixon had six receptions for 97 yards and Troy Greve made six for 79 yards and one TD. Coble, Nixon and Soderberg were Wakefield's leading return specialists. Nixon was leading scorer with eight TDs. 13 point after kicks and a two point conversion for 63 points. Clay scored eight TDs and a two point conversion for 50 points. Coble scored 38 and Stelling had 18.

Defense leaders were rated on a point system which gives five points for a fumble recovery, five for an interception, five for a blocked kick, five for a tackle for a loss, two for a solo tackle, two for a blocked pass and one for an assisted tackle.

Defensive leaders were Soderberg with 145 points, Clay with 131, Stelling with 114, Gary Tullberg with 113, Paul Schopke with 103, Coble with 94, Mike Muller with 76, Mark Borg with 73, Nixon with 64, Troy Greve with 50, Wayne Guy with 47, Brent Vander Veen with 43 and Ted Tullberg with 38.

SODERBERG HAD five interceptions and Nixon made three. Soderberg blocked seven passes. Clay recovered five fumbles. Schopke recovered three fumbles. Gary Tullberg recovered three fumbles and Stelling, Gary Tullberg and Ted Tullberg each blocked one kick.

Clay had most tackles for losses with seven for 40 yards. Gary Tullberg made six for losses of 51 yards.

Herald's All-Area squad shows lots of offensive potential

Chances are that if all of this year's Wayne Herald All-Area team selections were placed on one team, the opposition would spend most of its time dodging hard, speeding spikes.

Some of the best spikers in northeast Nebraska were named to this year's team. They are joined by several fine setters, making the dream team nearly awesome on offense. Throw in some consistent, accurate servers and the team is complete.

The first team has no towering players but does have balanced height with six players taller than 5-7. The 12-member team is composed of four juniors, one sophomore and seven seniors.

Three of this year's first teammates are repeat selections. They are Renee Gadeken of Laurel, Missy Stoltenberg of Wayne and Renee Wenstrand of Wakefield. Deb Prenger of Wayne moves up from second team while Cammie Crookshank of Laurel, Michelle Harder of Allen, Shelley Krusemark of Wakefield and Tami Murray of Wayne were on last year's honorable mention list.

Laurel, Wakefield and Wayne each placed three players on the first team. Nominations were made by coaches and final selections were made by The Wayne Herald based on team contribution, individual statistics and opposing coaches' comments. The All-Area team for 1982, in alphabetical order.

CAMMIE CROOKSHANK of Laurel was an all-around player for the Bears. The 5-8 senior made 260 good sets, scored 56 points, hit 93.9 percent of her serves and made 94 good spikes.

LANA ERB of Wakefield was a consistent setter for the Trojans with 347 good sets for 93 percent success and 94 aces. The 5-3 junior scored 103 points with 96 percent serving and had 37 ace serves.

RENEE GADEKEN of Laurel is known for her hard spiking. The 5-9 senior hit 190 good spikes in 223 attempts and scored 90 service points. She had 116 good serves for the Bears.

MICHELLE HARDER of Allen was the leading spiker and blocker on her team. The 5-8 junior led the Eagles with 219 good spikes in 262 attempts and 81 aces. She had 31 good blocks and added 69 good sets in 73 tries although she wasn't used much as a setter.

TAMI JEWELL of Allen was a fine all-around player. The 5-5 junior led the Eagles with 50 ace serves and was second leading scorer with 103 points. She made 135 good sets in 141 attempts, and led her team in passing and serve reception.

MISSY JENSEN of Winside

was the leading spiker for the Wildcats with 49 good spikes and 14 aces. The 5-7 sophomore blocked 27 shots, made 165 good passes and hit 65 good serves.

SHELLEY KRUSEMARK of Wakefield was the leader at the net for the Trojans. The 5-10 junior made 229 good spikes in 267 attempts and had 82 aces. She made 14 ace blocks and had 89 good serves.

TAMIE MURRAY of Wayne was a workhorse in the setting department. The 5-6 senior made 763 good sets in 795 attempts, hit 166 good serves, had 429 good bumps and added 87 good tips. She scored 127 service points.

DEB PRENGER of Wayne was a real threat at the net. The 5-11 senior made 283 good spikes with 117 aces. She had 78 good tips and 24 blocks. She also made 179 good serves for 110 points and hit 502 good bumps.

KIM SHERRY of Laurel was an all-around player for the Bears. She scored 75 points on 102 good serves. The 5-7 senior hit 78 good spikes and was a good passer.

MISSY STOLTENBERG of Wayne joined Prenger as Wayne's one-two punch at the net. She made 258 good spikes with 113 aces, 102 good tips and 28 blocks. The 5-10 senior hit 185 good serves for 103 points and added 539 good bumps.

RENEE WENSTRAND of Wakefield was the leading scorer and a key net player for the Trojans. The 5-7 senior made 921 good serves for 129 points and 97 percent success. She had 129 good spikes with 41 aces.

Tennis and cross country athletes earn honors

The All-Area fall sports teams announced by The Wayne Herald also include the sports of tennis and cross country. Wayne has enjoyed successful cross country for several years and started a tennis team last year.

Laurel also began a tennis program last year and started cross country this past fall. Two members of Wayne's cross country team and one member of Laurel's squad have been chosen to this year's All-Area squad. All three were medal winners this past season.

One tennis player from the two schools also was named to the All-Area fall sports team. Laurel's only tennis player earned honorable mention honors along with three Wayne players. Those three juniors alternated positions and saw action in number one singles, number two singles, number three singles, number one doubles and number two doubles slots.

Coaches of the sports nominated individuals for All-Area honors and final selection was made by The Wayne Herald based on leadership, individual talent, past season success and contribution to the team.

CHRIS HILLIER of Wayne was half of the Blue Devils' one-two punch on the cross country trail. The sophomore won several medals in competition at invitational and had a best time of 19:04.

BLAINE JOHS was the other half of Wayne's one-two punch in cross country. The junior also won several medals and led Wayne in most of its meets. His best time was 18:44.

LAYNE MARSH of Wayne was the only tennis player selected to the All-Area first team. The 6-0 junior was the leading player for the Blue Devils this past season. He saw action as number one singles player and as a member of the number one doubles team. Marsh and Jeff Stratton teamed up to win one doubles match at state.

JIM PEHRSON of Laurel was a medal winner for the Bears in their first season of cross country. The sophomore won a medal in the Crofton Invitational and just missed a district medal.

Area ponds are stocked

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission stocked a total of 161,238 fish in 83 farm ponds across the state during 1982. Of that total, 137,357 were one-half inch to one-inch bluegill and the remaining 23,881 were fingerling largemouth bass. All of the fish stocked in Nebraska farm ponds were reared at the Valentine Fish Hatchery near Valentine.

The 1982 farm pond stockings included the Richard Grosvenor pond in Dixon County and the Janelle Gubbels pond in Wayne County.

Archery success 16 percent

A total of 80 turkeys were taken by archers during Nebraska's 1982 fall archery turkey hunting season by 488 permit holders, for a success rate of 16 percent.

This total is compared to the 1981 fall archery turkey season when 616 permit holders took 130 birds, for a success total of 21 percent. The lower 1982 success total was blamed on weather that made hunting conditions fair to poor across the state.

Biologists say despite the low success rate, turkeys were quite numerous in most hunting units.

Shotgun turkey season successful

Nebraska hunters enjoyed another great fall shotgun turkey season in 1982 as 4,700 permit holders bagged 2,295 turkeys for a success rate of 49 percent.

The 1982 success total was down from 1981's fall shotgun turkey hunting success total of 51 percent, but there was 402 more permits issued for the 1982 season than for the preceding year.

Biologists report birds were numerous in all areas, but weather conditions were poor to fair for hunting activities.

The hunting unit, number of permits issued, number of birds harvested and the success percentage were: Niobrara Unit (early season) 800 permits, 405 birds harvested, 50.6% success; Niobrara Unit (late season) 612 permits, 272 birds harvested, 44.4% success; Roundtop Unit 1,937 permits, 894 birds harvested, 46.1% success; Southwest Unit 100 permits, 49 birds harvested, 49% success; Verdigris Unit (early season) 602 permits, 326 birds harvested, 54.2% success; Verdigris Unit (late season) 460 permits, 323 birds harvested, 53.8% success; Wildcat Unit: 49 permits, 26 birds harvested, 53.1% success.

Future Homemakers of America students compete at Wayne State

Future Homemakers of America students from five area high schools received superior ratings for their projects during the FHA Districts competition Nov. 3 at Wayne State College, according to Dr. LaVera Roemhild, associate professor of home economics.

Pender High school student Kelli Hermelbracht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hermelbracht, and Lori Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holland, won superior ratings for their performance in the "General Chapter Presentation" category.

Other students who received superior ratings in this category were Wisner Pitger High School student Beckie Rathke, daughter of Elvern Rathke, and West Point Junior-Senior High School student Joyce Denton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Denton.

FIVE presentations received superior ratings in the "Consumer and Homemaking" division.

Pender High School students Lisa Kai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kai, Stacey Carlsten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenney Carlsten, Terri Suhr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rich Suhr, and Shari Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nelson, teamed up for one presentation.

Pender student Lyn Wingett, daughter of Larry Wingett, also received a superior for her solo presentation.

Other winners in the "Consumer and Homemaking" presentations categories were Cheri Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Stevens, and Peggy Rethwisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rethwisch, both from Randolph High; Janice Wickert, daughter of Mrs. Eva Wickert, and Bobette Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harrison, both from West Point High School; and the Emerson-Hubbard Community School trio of Kristi Kubik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kubik, Tammy Stolze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stolze, and Kay Messerschmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Messerschmidt.

TWO TEAMS received superior ratings in the third category, "National Project Presentations."

Pender High students are Kris Munderloh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Munderloh, Shari Burmester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Burmester, Nancy Kratky, daughter of Eugene Kratky, and Cyd Condon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Groy Condon.

Emerson-Hubbard High students are Kristi Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jensen, and Raejean Most, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Most.

THESE TEAMS will go on to compete at the state SEARCH (Students Events for Achievement and Recognition in Consumer Homemaking) Event, according to Dr. Roemhild.

Other participants included Allen High School, Laurel-Concord High School, Stanton High School, and Wakefield High School.

Students receiving superior ratings will advance to state competition.

campus brief

Elizabethan tickets available

The 11th annual Elizabethan Christmas dinners will be presented by the Wayne State College Madrigal Singers Dec. 16-19 on the Wayne State campus.

The dinners begin at 7 p.m. each night in the north dining room of the Student Center.

Ticket prices are $9.75 each, with group rates available. Checks should be made payable to WSC Christmas dinners.

Tickets can be purchased on campus in the Fine Arts Building (room 109) or by mail.

Displaying artwork

An art exhibit by Wayne State College students Todd Pischel and Maria Mantey Austin will be on display Nov. 29 through Dec. 10.

The art exhibit can be viewed on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery of the Peterson Fine Arts Center on the Wayne State College.

Admission is free and open to the public.

Pischel, a native of Niobrara, is the son of Joe and Carol Pischel and a graduate of Niobrara Public High School. The art show will be displaying Pischel's own works of pottery, sculpture, jewelry and drawings.

Austin will be showing her original paintings, watercolors, drawings, prints and sculpture.

Formerly of Scottsdale, Ariz., and now residing in Wayne, Maria is married to Kenneth Austin and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Mantey of Norfolk.

Both Pischel and Austin plan to graduate from Wayne State College this December.

Wayne Carroll High School seniors, accompanied by American government teacher Becky Kelley, toured the Nebraska Diagnostic and Evaluation Center in Lincoln on Nov. 15.

A law related education program, which is funded by the Nebraska Bar Association, coordinated the Lincoln trip. Don Young is the coordinator and set up the trip for the Wayne group.

The center is not funded by the state bar association as stated in an article in the Monday issue of The Wayne Herald. We regret the error.

in," explained Von Minden. "And, many of the farmers are still out trying to wrap up the harvest."

The senator, who plans to repeat the district-wide tour after the 1983 session adjourns, said he has found that a majority of the District 17 constituents are not yet fully aware of the impact of the Unicameral's recent budget-cutting Special Session.

"THIS ALSO is an effort to get Miner (the senator's full-time aide) out into the district," Von Minden said.

"He's the one many local constituents will be talking to when they call my office in Lincoln because of my committee assignments and the work on the Senate floor," explained Von Minden.

"I'm proud of him (Miner), and wanted people to get to know him," the senator continued. "He's a local boy...a Wakefield High School graduate and a Wayne State College graduate."

Miner earned his law degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and joined Von Minden's staff last year.

"I didn't think too many people had the same philosophy that I do, but he does," Von Minden said. "He's worked his way through school and that helped...he knows what it's like out there in the real world."

VON MINDEN said he expects budgeting and a host of water bills to dominate the Legislature during the coming session.

Water bills are becoming an important part of the Unicameral agenda, according to Von Minden.

He said he found it ironic that people seemed to be against the $350 million Norden Dam, a federal project, because of the expense, but seem willing to turn around a spend millions of state taxpayer dollars for state water diversion projects.

"I wish more people would get a little more involved," he added. "It's disappointing to find that so many don't have any idea about what's going on in Lincoln."

Von Minden also was scheduled for constituent listening sessions in Hoskins and Winfield Tuesday. He is scheduled for two sessions in Wakefield on Tuesday, Dec. 7.

a solution. In other action, Council members passed an enabling ordinance that paves the way for city designation and enforcement of handicapped parking regulations.

THE ENABLING ordinance was preliminary to the Council's consideration of a Disabled American Veterans' request to designate a handicapped parking spot in Wayne's downtown shopping district.

Designated handicapped parking spots already exist at the Midways Federal building on Main Street north, and the city Fire Hall and the Family Practice Center clinic on Pearl Street.

After the enabling ordinance passed, and in direct response to the DAV's request, Kloster suggested the Council designate a handicapped parking space on the east side of Main Street at the north end of the 200 Block.

IF THE RECOMMENDATION gets Council approval, a handicapped parking space soon will be designated in front of the Olds, Swartz & Ensz Law Office building.

"We looked at other positions on the end of city blocks, but most have catch basins which would make it difficult for handicapped persons," Kloster said.

"The corner we recommend does not have a catch-basin problem, and it already has a signing post to make posting the sign easier," he added. Kloster also acknowledged that the spot was selected because there was some concern over placing it in front of retail outlets along Main Street.

LEGAL COUNSEL was asked to prepare a resolution for Council consideration designating the handicapped parking space. Council members also reviewed bid specifications for a new Police Department patrol car.

Kloster said the city is planning to advertise for a bid return on Dec. 28.

Discussion ensued over engine sizes and the availability of some optional equipment.

Elevator

AT LAUREL Feed & Grain, Morey's Cleaning Service out of Hartington was busy vacuuming the grain dust Wednesday morning. The dust cleanup was expected to be completed Wednesday.

Vacuuming of grain dust is common practice for most grain elevators.

The manager at Laurel Feed said he immediately contacted Morey's Cleaning Service after learning of the dust buildup. He said he also learned of some electrical wiring complications Tuesday but said he hadn't been informed that he would have to shut down because of them.

None of the parties involved knew how long the elevator would be shutdown. A feed service, run by the business, remains operable.

Aw, shucks

RECENT WET, warm weather hit northeast Nebraska the past few days and is preventing some farmers from finishing their harvesting. While a large majority of corn has been harvested, there are still some acres left standing. Some of the ears, like this one, haven't been accepting the weather too well.

Crop protection clinics planned

An abundance of unbiased information for anyone using, selling, applying or advising on pesticides will be offered at a series of 14 crop protection clinics around Nebraska from Jan. 10-28. That's the promise of University of Nebraska extension weed specialists John D. Furrer and Alex. R. Martin, who noted that average attendance at each of the 1982 sessions was more than 200 persons. The clinics are in their 10th year, the specialists said, having grown from five clinics in 1974, with an average attendance of 100.

Programs are tailored for each location, they reported, with two sessions presented simultaneously—one on weed control and the other on insect and disease control. Sixteen topics will be presented at each location. A summary of topics—not all-inclusive: Entomology (insect control)—insectigation, stored grain insects and new developments in insecticides. As applicable at various locations, corn rootworm alternatives, alfalfa weevils and special insect problems. Plant pathologists (plant diseases)—Corn disease problems at all locations. At selected sites, information on new diseases of wheat, dry beans and sugar beets; effective aerial application and soybean yellows.

Weed control — how to cut costs, conservation tillage and ecotallow, new herbicides, latest on incorporation and new equipment, weather and herbicides in 1982 and problem weeds, such as shattercane, velvetleaf and nightshade.

REGISTRATION STARTS at 8 a.m. at each site; sessions at 9 a.m.

The crop protection clinic schedule: Jan. 10—The Knolls, Lincoln; Jan. 11—Legion Club, Auburn; Jan. 12—4-H Bldg., Fairgrounds, Fairbury; Jan. 13—Valley View Country Club, Fremont; Jan. 14—Villa Inn, Norfolk; Jan. 18—Panhandle Station, Scottsbluff; Jan. 19—Holiday Inn, Ogallala; Jan. 20—Junior College, McCook; Jan. 21—Ag. Center, Holdrege; Jan. 24—Camelot Inn, York; Jan. 25—Holiday Inn, Hastings; Jan. 26—Elks Club, Ord; Jan. 27—Legion Club, O'Neill; Jan. 28—Holiday Inn, Columbus.

Plans for a series of four Nebraska Swine Days educational programs in January have been announced by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service animal science department and cooperating swine interests.

Robert D. Fritschen, NU extension swine coordinator, said meetings will be held Jan. 17 at the Elks Club in Nebraska City; Jan. 18 at the Adams County Fairgrounds, Hastings; Jan. 19 at the Elks Club Cozad and Jan. 20 at the City Hall, Creighton.

Slightly different program formats are in the works for the four locations; Fritschen said. The program content will be the same at Nebraska City and Creighton, and at Hastings and Cozad, he said.

HIGHLIGHTING ALL four sessions will be presentations by Terry Schrick, executive secretary of the Nebraska Pork Producers Association, and Temple Grandin, livestock handling specialist, University of Illinois. Schrick will give his opinion on "The Shape of the Swine Industry" in the future. Grandin, an author of numerous articles in national magazines and a designer of livestock handling systems for hogs, cattle and sheep, will discuss moving and transporting hogs.

Producers attending the Nebraska City and Creighton sessions will hear Duane Reese, of the NU animal science department discuss fiber in swine diets; Murray Danielson of the NU North Platte Station will perform a similar function at Hastings and Cozad. Bill Ahtschwede, extension swine specialist, will outline ways to improve feed efficiency through genetics at all four sites. Don Lewis, extension swine specialist at the NU South Central Station, Clay Center, will talk about boars and breeding efficiency.

Dr. E. R. Peo, Jr., professor of animal science, will cover developments in high lysine corn at Creighton and Nebraska City. Dr. Jim Meisner, a practicing veterinarian from Paxton, will advise about "Expanding in the Swine Industry," in a presentation at Cozad and Hastings.

GET YOUR PLANTS BLOOMING FOR THE HOLIDAYS
Most of the plants identified with Christmas produce red or white blooms during the holiday season that lasts for a few weeks to a few months. The rest of the year, they primarily exist as foliage plants.

The poinsettia and the Christmas cactus are probably the most popular holiday plants. Other, less well-known plants include the Kalanchoe and the cyclamen.

All require different care methods if they are to be at their "blooming best" over the holidays.

One of the most common problems with poinsettias is a dropping of lower leaves, caused by lack of fertilizer. Poinsettias are highly fertilized to get them to grow and bloom for the holidays. If you fertilize the plants two weeks after purchase and then fertilize again every month after that, the leaves shouldn't drop.

Water the plant whenever the soil is dry, watering thoroughly until water comes out of the hole in the bottom of the pot.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS

The Christmas cactus is a jungle cactus and needs a high organic soil mix, even moisture and full sunlight.

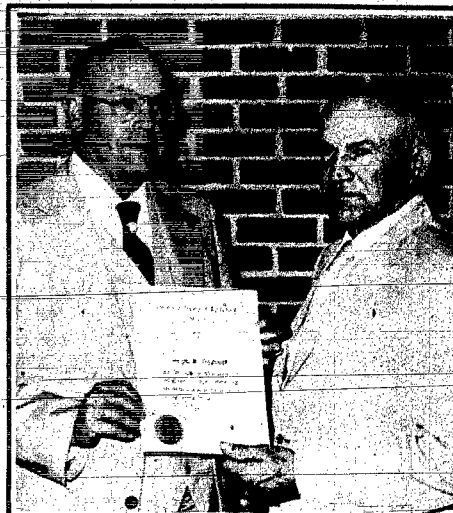

To force bloom for Christmas, both the Christmas cactus and the poinsettia need a daily dark period of 5 6 hours per day. To accomplish this, place the plant in a closet or cover it with a black cloth from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily. Begin this treatment about three weeks prior to when you want the plant to bloom. The plant should have temperatures of around 55 degrees and reduced moisture.

KALANCHOE

The Kalanchoe needs a high organic soil content and full sunlight. The soil should be allowed to dry before watering. To reflower the kalanchoe, keep the plant actively growing and remove the flowers as they fade. Pinch back the new growth to keep the plant bushy.

CYCLAMEN

The Cyclamen is probably the most difficult plant to keep growing during the holidays. It needs a well lighted location, cool night temperatures in 50's and high humidity. Keep the soil evenly moist and if you fertilize the plant once every two or three weeks with half the recommended concentration, it should keep for the holidays.

Dairy specialist, mastitis team awarded

The University of Nebraska chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, National-Honorary Cooperative Extension Service Fraternity, has presented commendation awards to two teams of extension staff members for outstanding accomplishments in carrying out educational programs.

Ph. Cole, extension dairy specialist and outgoing president of the Nebraska chapter, said awards have been given to a team carrying out the Nebraska Mastitis Control Program, and to the Management Team for the 4-H Division at the Nebraska State Fair.

Don J. Kubik, extension dairy specialist, Northeast Station, Concord, is leader of the mastitis team, which includes six other extension staff members representing four departments of the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

TEAMS WERE judged on how programs were carried out, planning, selection of target audience, results achieved and evaluation procedure carried out.

The mastitis team, winner in the large (number of members) team division, kicked off a statewide effort in 1979, and has reached nearly all dairy producers in Nebraska through 150 educational meetings attended by more than 5,000 persons at 40 locations.

Results of the program has been documented, showing improved milk production in demonstration herds following recommended practices on preventing and treating mastitis, along with reduced somatic cell counts — an indicator of the presence of mastitis.

Team members Bill Caldwell, assistant extension director 4-H youth development, and Glen Krohn, 4-H youth development specialist, planned and implemented a number of major changes in operation of the 4-H division at state fair.

Streamlined the handbook of state fair 4-H procedures.
Developed a new layout for 4-H exhibits.

PHIL COLE (left), extension dairyman at the University of Nebraska, presented a Distinguished Extension Specialist Award to Don J. Kubik, district extension dairy specialist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station in Concord. The award was presented during the recent Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association annual meeting in Omaha.

Worked with state fair management and the fair board in development and construction of a new $1 million youth complex.

Increased the use of the computer in direct reporting of contest results to mass media and in recordkeeping and awards distribution.

Increased use and involvement of teen and adult volunteers in various phases of the fair operation.

Enhanced visual impact of the youth complex area with flags, trees, and landscaping; the latter two items made possible in part by contributions of 4-H members, leaders and parents from around the state.

State is tabbed bovine tuberculosis free

Effective Oct. 1 Nebraska has been given a Bovine Tuberculosis Accredited Free status which has been signed by the deputy administrator and the secretary of agriculture.

Dr. N. W. Kruse, Nebraska state veterinarian and Dr. Richard R. Bowen, veterinarian in charge, USDA, stated the free "rating" means Nebraska has had no known bovine tuberculosis for the past five years and also that the slaughter surveillance system is adequate.

"This free rating means that properly identified breeding cattle from Nebraska do not have to be tested for shipment within or out of state unless required by state of destination," said Dr. Bowen.

The national trend for bovine tuberculosis has been going down. In 1972, there were 52 cases reported nationwide compared to only 11 cases in 1982. Bovine tuberculosis is a bacterial disease of cattle and other animals which can be transmitted to humans, infection may occur by drinking milk from a tubercular cow. Such an infection occurs very rarely in the United States where milk is pasteurized and cows are tested for tuberculosis. The infected animals must be slaughtered because there is no treatment.

Testing for TB in cattle is done much the same as tuberculosis in humans. A small amount of tuberculin is injected just below the skin. Two to four days later a lump forms at the sight of injection. The size of the lump will determine whether the patient has tuberculosis. In severe cases, lesions of tuberculosis can be found in slaughtered carcasses and can be diagnosed.

MASTERCRAFT of OMAHA

Fine Upholstered Furniture

Once-A-Year Sale on Mid-America's Finest Upholstered Custom Made Furniture with These Outstanding Quality Features...

THE INSIDE STORY

- Strong Rigid Durable Frames — Mastercraft frames are strong, rigid, durable. Made from dried hardwood — every joint double doweled — every corner double braced — every contour pleasing to the eye
- Dacron/Qualux Cushions — Sit in comfortable, permanently resilient Dacron/Qualux cushions with unique Triplex construction.
- Incomparable Tailoring — Pay special attention to incomparable tailoring.
- Handsome, Neat, Precise — Seams and welting are straight and clean. Handcrafted by master mechanics. Compare!
- Rollers for Mobility and Center Legs for Extra Strength — Most Mastercraft sofas have center legs for added strength equipped with free wheeling rollers for ease of movement.

- Coil Spring Base and Back — All Mastercraft sofas and chairs contain steel coil springs in seat and back — not the less costly mass-produced zig-zag type. Look underneath at long rows of tempered steel coils.
- Soft, Resilient Front Edge — Press down on front edge. Not soft resilient springs. This is a must for added life and maximum comfort. Note: Be wary of furniture lacking this very important feature!
- Fully Padded Arms — Mastercraft products are fully padded at outside of arms. Fabrics do not touch the bare frame. Note: Feel outside arms of most other sofas — note hollow emptiness.
- Multitude of Designs — A multitude of designs, in numerous lengths and heights to suit any exacting room sizes — hundreds of fabrics in a wide galaxy of the newest colors, hues, patterns and weaves.

LUTHERAN CHURCHWOMEN

About 50 ladies of the Salem Lutheran Churchwomen met Nov. 23 at 2 p.m. at the church. Circle 6 was in charge of the program. They showed a film strip on "We're Number One, Enough or too Much." They also put on a Thanksgiving skit. There were 700 pounds of clothing given to Lutheran World Relief. Thanksgiving offering boxes were received and cheer boxes will be packed in the near future. Circles 2 and 5 served refreshments after Thanksgiving services on Nov. 24. They will have their Coffee Kalas on Sunday, Dec. 19 at 2, 4, 6 and 8 p.m. Officers for 1983 are Mrs. Paul Fischer, president; Mrs. Kenneth Thomsen, secretary; Mrs. James Martindale, outreach and fellowship; Mrs. Rodney Haglund, faith and life; and Mrs. Art Greve, Christmas action.

Mrs. Kenneth Thomsen, Lona Jensen, Mrs. Veri Dean Carlson and Mrs. Warren Bressler were the hostesses.

The next meeting will be the Christmas luncheon on Saturday, Dec. 4 at 12:30 p.m.

RED CARPET DAY

Three senior students from Wakefield High School attended Red Carpet Days at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln on Nov. 19. Attending were Jonathan Stelling, Crisly Hingsi and Dilynne Byers, Renee Wenstrand and Gwen Hartman, who were selected to attend the event, were unable to attend. The day-long event helps acquaint Nebraska high schoolers with UNL programs, activities and policies. Students were selected for the program on the basis of PSAT scores and recommendations from high school counselors.

NEW BOOKS

Two new books have been received at Graves Library, according to Mrs. Pat Berry, librarian. One book entitled, "How to Survive College" is for students who are thinking about attending college.

The book is designed to help students to do three things which include develop effective study habits, develop positive attitudes towards learning and improve specific study skills necessary to be successful college students.

A second book, "Complete Guide to Woodburning Stoves" is a comprehensive guide to stove selection, installation and efficient operation.

NEWSPAPER DRIVE

A paper drive, conducted by the young people from the Christian Church, will be held Saturday, Dec. 4 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Papers are to be tied in bundles and put out on the curb for pick up. For further information call Marty Burgus at 287-2412.

HUNTERS BAG DEER

The late fall harvest attributed to the low number of deer that were shot during this year's deer season, according to personnel at the check-in point at Ponca State Park. Hunters from Wakefield checking deer in at Ponca were Keith Woodward and Kevin Woodward. Others who reportedly bagged deer included Jerel Schroeder, Kenneth Schroeder, Lyle Brown, Gene Brown and Dennis Meyer. Pat Nicholson, Mike Carlson and Dennis Carlson each bagged a deer in the Pine Ridge Unit.
