Couple shares citizen award

The highest award presented by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce was a double honor Sunday night for one Wayne couple. Bob and Marilyn Carhart, lifetime residents of Wayne, received the chamber's annual Citizen of the Year award for 1982 during the chamber's annual meeting at the Black Knight Restaurant.

Traditionally, the award is given to one citizen for his or her outstanding contributions to the community during the year.

PRESENTING CARHARTS with a plaque was Mayor Wayne Marsh, last year's award recipient.

"We were very surprised and flattered," Carharts told The Wayne Herald Monday afternoon.

"Wayne is a good community in which to receive acknowledgment for the things you are involved in," said Bob, adding that both he and Marilyn appreciated the fact that the chamber would take time to recognize them.

Bob said residents of Wayne have developed a good town, and there is ample payback for the time invested in the community.

BOB, PRESIDENT of Carhart Lumber Co., was born June 19, 1934 at Wayne, the son of John and Winifred Carhart. His mother is deceased.

A 1952 graduate of Wayne High School and a 1955 graduate of the University of Chicago, he spent two years in the Army before returning to Wayne in 1957 to work with his father and his uncle, Ralph Carhart, in the family business.

Bob took over as president of Carhart Lumber Co. in 1969 following the death of Ralph.

The company was founded in 1921 by Bob's grandfather, Charles Carhart, and his brother, Arthur Carhart.

City to hold line on power rates in 1983

City customers probably won't be shocked by an increase in electricity rates this year. "We're going to absorb the NPPD (Nebraska Public Power District) increase this year," Phil Kloster, city administrator, told the Wayne City Council Tuesday night. "With rates on everything going up, our bottom line is looking good," Kloster said.

KLOSTER TOLD the Council that the city's annual review of electric rates indicated that "we will not be requesting a rate increase in 1983."

The city administrator said that the NPPD pass-along increase, effective Jan. 1, amounted to a 6 percent hike in electric rates.

He told Council members that budget projections showed the city could absorb the NPPD hike without passing along the bill to municipal utilities customers.

Kloster said that the city planned to "go ahead with a rate schedule review" set for implementation in April or May.

"WE ARE GOING to do away with our rather complex rate schedule and adopt a simpler schedule that you and I and the guy in off the street can understand," Kloster explained.

"We are reviewing completely the rate schedule with no intended increases," the city administrator added, noting that the simplification would involve a streamlining of the rate formula.

"There may be some movement on the rates here and there, but we're running it through a history test to minimize any changes," he added.

"It will be a change in schedule and not rates," Kloster said, noting the city's billing was based on an old, complex formula.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Council approved a housekeeping resolution on false reporting to conform city codes to state statute.

City Hall fights the bat battle

Bats continue to hang around City Hall.

Last Thursday, Jan. 5, city police assisted in the removal of another furry, winged creature from the building.

"Another bat in building...disposed of same," reads the entry on the Wayne Police Department daily report logbook, which shows the time as 7:49 p.m.

Police also assisted in the disposal and removal of a bat found in the city planner's office on Monday, Dec. 20.

And, the city administrator, Phil Kloster, assisted in the removal and disposal of a bat found in the Senior Citizens Center (City Hall basement) on Saturday, Dec. 18.

The ordinance, which defines false reporting (false alarms, false emergency reports, for instance) and sets penalties, passed unanimously.

Council also unanimously adopted the city's proposed One & Six Year Street Improvement Program after a public hearing. City Public Works Superintendent Vern Schurz reviewed the program with City Council members.

THE PROGRAM, which had reached the Council with City Planning Commission approval.

Chamber's new president leaves no stone unturned

Increased membership, a money-making project, community improvements and continued improvement of college-city relations are just a few of the plans being made by Wayne Chamber of Commerce President Randy Pedersen.

Pedersen, owner and operator of the Diamond Center, began serving a one-year term as president of the chamber this month. He was elected president-elect a year ago and this year moves up to the president's office.

One goal of 1983 is to select a new chamber executive vice-president (manager). The committee decided about three weeks ago to reject all applicants and start over in its selection process.

PEDERSEN SAID the committee felt that the present temporary manager would do as good a job as anyone who was interviewed for the position.

Randy's wife, Rozan, will continue to serve as manager until someone with the proper experience can be located. Pedersen said the search will continue and added that the committee is in no rush.

The new chamber president also hopes he can help increase membership in the chamber. "Every business will be contacted," he said, adding that current members, past members and businesses that have never belonged to the chamber will all be contacted about joining.

It also is hoped that associate membership will be increased. Anyone who is associated with education, government and farming can become an associate member. So can members of the clergy, retired persons and non-residents.

Cost of becoming an associate member is $35. "We need input from these people," Pedersen said. "We want to know how we can improve and what we are doing well."

'82 review highlights projects

Nearly a dozen major projects, and more than a dozen minor projects, got Wayne Chamber of Commerce attention during 1982.

The projects, which ranged from repainting the "Welcome to Wayne" signs to establishing the city's official 1984 Wayne Centennial steering committee, were listed for review at the 43rd annual chamber meeting this week.

More than 200 people attended the Sunday night meeting at the Black Knight restaurant.

DURING ANNUAL meeting ceremonies, Bob Enz, the chamber's 1982 president, received the organization's President's Plaque from Randy Pedersen, the 1983 president.

In addition, Pedersen introduced chamber officers and directors. Now directors for 1983 include Grant Ellingsen of Ellingsen-Motors, Lois Hall of Wayne Greenhouse, and Dale Stoltenberg of Stoltenberg Partners.

Other directors include Jim Marsh of The Wayne Herald-Sundowner, Cap Peterson of Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Galen Wiser of State National Bank and Trust Co., Ron Sladek of First National Agency, Lyle Seymour of the Wayne State College Foundation, and Pedersen of the Diamond Center.

See PROJECTS, page 10A

THE CENTENNIAL celebration planned in 1984 is of major concern to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. The chamber plans to support the event with money. "I feel it is important that more than the businesses get involved."

The 1983 chamber budget is approximately $40,000. The money, most of which is collected through dues, is used to operate the chamber. Funds are set aside for support of the centennial and to purchase new Christmas decorations. A maintenance fund is used for building upkeep.

Pedersen said he thinks he will recommend to the board that it undertake a money making project.

The Nebraska Community Improvement Program is another area of concern for the chamber. Sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, the program involves setting goals for the city and working for community improvement.

AMONG THE AREAS considered under the program are community development, business district improvement, economic development, environment and energy, farm and ranch development, health and safety, human services, public facilities and government, and recreation and

School board to seat three new members

Three Wayne residents elected to the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education in November's general election will begin their duties when the board meets this month.

The meeting, which was to have been held Tuesday night, was postponed until 3 p.m. Monday, Jan. 17.

Beginning their four-year terms this month are Joyce Reeg, Cap Peterson and Arnold Emry.

They join board members Becky Keidel, Neil Sandahl and Jim Hummel.

EMRY, A WAYNE State College faculty member, unseated board president Milton Owens of Carroll by a six-vote margin in an election-year recount.

Emry won the third open seat from Owens, the only incumbent to seek reelection to the board, with an official vote tally of 992 to 986.

Other losers in the race in addition to Owens were Carole Schmidt, a librarian at Wayne State College, and Darrell Moore, President of Marra Home Improvement Co. in Wayne.

REEG WAS the top vote getter for the first seat on the board, followed closely by Peterson for the second seat.

They replace Wilbur Giese and Dale Stoltenberg, who chose not to seek reelection to the board.

Reeg is a homemaker. Peterson is an insurance agent with Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency in Wayne.

SUPERINTENDENT Francis Haun said the new board will elect a president and a vice president when it meets Monday afternoon.

Becky Keidel presently serves as vice president.

Board members also will appoint a secretary-treasurer. That position is currently held by Doris Daniels, who is not a member of the board.

news briefs

Employment survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the week of January 17-22, 1983, William F. Adams, director of the Bureau's regional office in Denver, announced.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the January survey will include other questions concerning occupation mobility, job tenure and job training. These questions will be asked of employed and experienced unemployed persons.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

Livestock Feeders meeting

The annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 17 at the Paddock Steak House in South Sioux City, Nebraska. Social hour will begin at 6:30 with a Dutch treat dinner to follow at 7:30.

Burt Garvin, the past State of Nebraska Secretary of Agriculture, is the invited speaker. Election of Board of Directors and discussion of the upcoming membership drive are activities scheduled for the business meeting.

Wives and guests are invited to attend. Memberships will be available for anyone wanting to become a member or renew their membership.

Free trees to members

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving three free Black Walnut trees to all new Foundation members joining during January.

The free trees, which are part of the Foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America, will be shipped at the appropriate time for planting this spring.

Black Walnut trees were chosen for this campaign because of their value and versatility, according to the Foundation. The Walnut trees bear sweet, edible nuts, and they are also used for shade trees, growing to 80-100 feet. Walnut hardwood is very valuable for making furniture and cabinets.

The trees will be three to four feet tall and will be sent postage paid with enclosed planting instructions. They are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free by the Foundation.

To become a member of the Foundation, and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to: FREE WALNUT TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Jan. 31.

Tri-County council meeting

The Tri-County Council of Governments monthly meeting is scheduled Wednesday, Jan. 19 in Hartington. Dianne Sheppard, of the Department of Economic Development, will show the film "Main Street."

The film deals with the restoration of old buildings and should be of interest to area residents. The film will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Hartington city auditorium and the public is invited to attend.

Book sale at library

Kathleen Tooker, Wayne Public librarian, has announced a book sale at the library.

Mrs. Tooker said there are a lot of "oldies but goodies," including adult fiction and children's books. The books are selling for 10 cents each.

Tax help available

Persons seeking assistance in completing their income tax returns are invited to visit the Wayne Public Library.

Kathleen Tooker, librarian, said the library has the IRS publication entitled "Reproductive Federal Tax Forms for Use in Libraries."

Mrs. Tooker said copies of the reproducible forms are acceptable for submission of tax return information and can be made on a copy machine at the library at the expense of the person requesting it.

The library also has Publication 1194, "IRS Tax Information Publications," and Publication 910, "Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information and Assistance," which describes the IRS services available to persons preparing their tax returns, offers information, and tells where to get additional help.

Mrs. Tooker said although the publications are available for the public to use, the librarian will not be able to answer tax questions.

Carroll Business Club president

Gene Gubbels was elected president of the Carroll Business Club during a meeting recently at Ron's Steakhouse.

Mrs. Gene Rethwisch was elected secretary for 1983. The club plans to meet the first Tuesday of each month at Ron's.

He will receive $20,100 College Fund money following his three years.

police report

Slick streets have sparked a number of motor vehicle accidents during the past week. Wayne Police, have investigated at least six fender-benders since last Wednesday. Two parked cars collided in the 200 Block of Third Street west last Wednesday, according to police.

A 1969 Dodge, owned by Charles Timmer of Norfolk, collided with a 1977 Ford, owned by Kristy Orison of Wayne about 3:11 p.m. Wednesday, police said. According to police, the Timmer vehicle was parked on the north side of Third Street when it slipped out of gear and rolled backward across the street, colliding with the Orison car, which was parked on the south side of the street.

On Thursday, police investigated a two-car accident in the 300 Block of Lincoln Street. Police said a 1979 Chevrolet, driven by Eleanor Jones of Wayne, was backing up on Lincoln Street when it slid on the ice and collided with a parked 1975 Chevrolet owned by Gesine Bauermeister of Wayne.

Also on Thursday, police investigated a two-car accident at the intersection of 10th and Windom streets.

According to police, a 1979 Opel, driven by Lansing Hankins of South Sioux City, and a 1975 Pacer, driven by Debra Penn of rural Wayne, collided at the intersection about 4:15 p.m.

Police said both vehicles stopped at the intersection, then collided after entering it at the same time. Drivers told police the snowbanks blocked their view of traffic.

POLICE ALSO were called to the scene of a two-vehicle accident in the 600 Block of Sixth Street east on Thursday. According to police, a 1980 Datsun pickup, driven by Diana Barnes of Wayne, and a 1976 Chevrolet, driven by Debbie Bargholz of Wayne, collided at the entrance to Bill's GW. The Barnes pickup was entering the street from the parking lot and the Bargholz car was westbound on Sixth Street at the time of the accident. Police said snowbanks blocked the line of vision.

ACCORDING TO police, Lynn Gunderson of Wayne reported a hit-and-run accident Thursday in the parking lot of Griess Rexall Pharmacy.

Police said the Gunderson car, a 1979 Oldsmobile, was struck on the right side by an unknown vehicle.

And, on Monday, Marilyn Gehner of Wayne hit a city-stop sign with her vehicle. According to police reports, Gehner promised to pay for the damage to the sign.

On Tuesday, six privately owned motor vehicles were towed from city streets for violating the city's 24-hour parking limit.

VEHICLES WERE taken to Mike Perry Chevrolet Oldsmobile from Lincoln Street Fourth Street east, Douglas Street, First Street west and Pearl Street.

Also, police investigated a report of vandalism to a vehicle parked on Wayside Lane. According to police, vandals broke hubs and hub bolts on the vehicle.

Police are searching for the driver of a white car who left the 7-Eleven store about 2:47 a.m. last Thursday without paying for gasoline.

According to police, the driver filled his car's gas tank with fuel and then purchased items inside the store.

The 7-Eleven clerk received payment for the items, but the driver left without paying for the gasoline, according to police reports.

To the editor:
After reading about the "cheese handout" story (Dec. 30 paper) I felt compelled to write.

I was divorced with two children to raise with no child support (My ex-husband kept moving right before authorities could catch up with him).

I was in a different state and had no choice but to go to welfare. First, they were surprised my children had the same father. Second, the program offers no incentive, quite the opposite.

Every time I got a raise at work they would take a benefit away until I finally had to choose between being totally dependent on welfare and starving or not trying to get ahead in the business world and living "pretty high on the hog."

I kept remembering my Mom and Dad working so hard when I was a little girl in Nebraska. It seemed they worked so hard and all we ever had were the basics: a lot of good food, and no bills to pay. I chose to get ahead and starve to save my pride and maybe have a better influence on my children.

I'm trying to say that I agree with the commissioners' decision and it's too bad that the welfare department that started out years ago to be a good program, has turned into a "freebie" for the "lazies." The only people who will truly be hurt by this decision, will be the people who truly need it.

I'm withholding my name because times are better now and I'd just as soon remember now instead of then.

Name withheld by request

To the editor:
I would like to take this time to respond to the article in The Wayne Herald's Dec. 30, 1982 issue concerning the USDA cheese handout.

I really enjoyed Page 3 of The Wayne Herald. Randy's editorial was very nicely placed right across the page from the article about the senior citizens giving out food and toys to needy families.

Evidently families need toys, but not cheese and butter. It seems a shame that we have to count on a small group of individuals to handle the problems that a few of us in society would rather not face.

I, for one, applaud those who are willing to take the time and effort to help out those individuals not as fortunate as some of us.

The purpose of the cheese distribution program is to help those individuals that need the help. These individuals, to a great extent, would not be able to buy the cheese and butter.

The government has already purchased the cheese — subsidizing the dairy farmers. If the millions of pounds of cheese were not purchased by government funds, the cheese would be sitting on grocery store shelves.

It is evident to me that there is a surplus of cheese already and the dairy farmers are being helped by the government taking some of the surplus off the market.

The cheese has already been bought, so what do we do with it? Distribute it to some people it might help in our own backyards? No. We let someone in Cedar, or Madison, or Thurston County receive it because they are more deserving of it than our neighbors. This is an injustice to all Wayne County residents.

Jim Craun
Wayne City Councilman

To the editor:

I, as a Wayne County taxpayer, was appalled, after reading the article entitled "Wayne County rejects USDA cheese handout" in the Dec. 30 issue of the Wayne Herald in which commissioners, Merlin Belrmann and Jerry Pospisil are acting as though they are God. Who do they think they are judging people's needs in Wayne County?

The commissioners may think that they are saving the county money, but in fact, the taxpayers in every county are paying for the storage of that surplus cheese and butter. Therefore we might as well give the cheese and butter away to those who may have need of it, if just to eliminate those storage costs. Thank God the congress and the President have the brains to give the cheese back to the people and try to eliminate the storage costs.

These commissioners must have never been without employment or struggled to make a living. We have more people out of work now than in any recent years.

The country is in a recession and I'm sure Wayne County has also felt this recession. I cannot understand how our commissioners can block this program in this day and age. The times are tough. The jobs just aren't there as they have been in the past.

I hope when it is time for these commissioners to collect social security benefits that they remember it is a burden on the taxpayers and refuse those benefits.

These commissioners made the remark to give the cheese to those who have paid their taxes. It just shows how smart they are. Don't they realize that if a person can pay their taxes that they can afford to buy their cheese!

These same commissioners could and should be spending their time and our money working on our roads and applying for federal funds to blacktop or pave some of those roads instead of worrying that someone might get 5 pounds of free cheese.

They are so proud of themselves and don't realize that if they don't apply for federal aid, other counties in the state will apply and will have wonderful roads. The road conditions are surely lacking in Wayne County yet all the tax money collected goes into certificates in all the banks rather than improving roads. I can't see where the commissioners are helping Wayne County taxpayers.

I'm also commenting on Randall Howell's article "The best things in life are free." He also doesn't realize how much the economy has changed lives. There are those in genuine need of some, if not all, of those "free" programs — even in Wayne County.

I would be signing my name to this but am blessed with employment and know how impossible it is to find other employment now.

Mileage message

Kill the messenger.
That's the message.

At least that's the message from Educational Service Unit One's administrator when it comes to commentary about staff mileage expenses.

Despite the fact that mileage reports are being examined by a board elected to manage and monitor ESU activities, administrator Harry Mills would have the taxpayer believe that the messenger is somehow wrong.

It's an arrogance that is not only unbecoming a taxpayer-paid public servant, but unquestionably the oldest red herring in the book.

Nonetheless, administrator Mills has hooked the red herring again — no doubt one he found swimming in the inland sea of ESU bureaucracy.

It's handy to hook them and throw them to those hungry for anything but the real issue.

And, Mills is a good angler, particularly when it comes to red herrings. He's hooked and landed more than one.

It is time angler Mills stopped fishing for red herrings. He may be baiting his own hook.

There's nothing fishy about the public's right to know the public's business...even if that business happens to be ESU mileage reports.

Commentary on those reports is an important message to administrator Mills on how the public's business is handled in this country.

That it makes him feel bitter is not only beside the point, but also a baited hook to lure the taxpayer away from any lessons that might be learned in examining the books.

Administrative accountability is the message. Consider it delivered, despite the administrator's red-herring fishing expedition.

And, long live the messenger!

Ag options may put icing on cake

By Cheryl Westcott
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Agricultural options trading would seem to offer farmers the chance to have their cake and eat it too.

As envisioned by a House-Senate conference committee and numerous ag economists, ag options would offer farmers price protection and the opportunity to forget the option if the price goes higher, both for a known, up-front cost when the option is bought.

Trading in ag options has been banned since 1936 but interest in them has revived as producers seek new marketing tools.

CONGRESS HAS approved a three-year pilot program for the Commodity Futures Trading Commission to test option trading in agricultural commodities and President Reagan is expected to sign the bill.

In options trading, a farmer who wants to insure himself against a decline in the soybean price below $7 a bushel while at the same time taking advantage of any higher price, could buy the right to sell (a put option) at $7 by paying a premium to a purchaser.

If the price should drop to $5.50, he still gets $7, but if the price goes to $8, he doesn't have to deliver on his option. He forfeits his option premium and sells his crop at the market price.

A put option to sell at $8 would cost more than one to sell at $7, since the chances of the price going to $8 are relatively less.

THE PRODUCER can make a management decision about whether the premium is reasonable in terms of the risk of price movement and the price protection provided. The premium is paid at the outset and there are no margin calls.

The basic premium would be similar to the situation prior to 1936, but there are differences. The old options were essentially short-term, primarily one or two days or one-week long which gave rise to abuses and get-rich-quick schemes. Grains and cotton were the primary commodities traded.

Architects of the new options propose terms that more closely cover significant periods from the standpoint of farm production, such as two, four or six months in length. Livestock as well as grains seem more suited to the new approach.

Analysts have identified potential problems with ag options. First, it's unclear whether options trading would compete with or complement futures trading. Assuming users of ag products — and speculators — have only a given amount of money at any one time to spend, it could be that use of ag options would grow at the expense of the futures.

USDA ASSISTANT Secretary for Economics Bill Leshar also has noted that the number of options contracts needed would be several times the number of futures contracts required to serve the same market.

Each different striking price (the price the farmer locks in) would require a separate option contract. More speculators in the market might be required to make options work, or some options might be very tightly traded.

Leshar notes, however, that in the longer run a new financial instrument tends to broaden its own markets by developing its own class of specialized users.

Another possible disadvantage is that the cost of the premiums might be more than farmers want to pay. Speculators buy the farmer's put options (that is, sell call options), and in turn exporters and processors buy calls from speculators.

THE SPECULATOR — whose role in the market is to take the risk — may pass his costs along to the farmer in the form of a higher premium.

Only experience will tell if this will be a problem but Leshar suggests that placing limits on individual traders' positions in futures and options combined would provide safeguards for such concerns.

As now planned, options trading is a simpler idea than the futures market. Conceivably, more farmers could use it directly than the futures because it doesn't require margins and doesn't have the complications of a futures contract.

It's worth taking a look at, and farmers should follow with interest the proposed pilot program if signed into law by President Reagan.

Atokad law sure bet for $65,000

The first session of the 88th Legislature, and my third regular session since being elected as your senator, convened at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Jan. 5.

The first order of business was to swear in the new legislators elected last November. Twenty-five senators took the oath of office administered by Chief Justice Norman Krivosha, ten of them for the first time.

NEXT ON the agenda was the election of legislative officers, the most important position being the speaker of the Unicameral. The speaker is the person who presides over debate in the Legislature and who determines the order of business and the bills which will be considered each day.

In a close vote, Sen. Nichol of Scottsbluff was elected to succeed Sen. Marvel of Hastings who has resigned from the Legislature after serving for 30 years and an unprecedented two terms as speaker. Other positions filled Wednesday were the chairmanships of the legislative committees. Out of the 14 standing committees, eight have new leadership. The individual members of each committee have changed substantially in many instances also.

TIME WILL tell if controversial bills, such as those concerning The Christian Schools and multi-bank holding companies, for example, both having failed to pass last year, will make it through the new committees.

The most spectacular event of the week was the inauguration of the new governor, Bob Kerry. The legislative chamber was filled with people who came to see the swearing in of the new governor and to listen to his inaugural address.

He is assuming leadership of our great state at a very difficult time. I hope for the sake of all Nebraskans that he is successful in his efforts to work with the Legislature to solve the problems facing the state today, fiscal or otherwise.

Last year I was successful in passing a measure which was designed to help Atokad and the other small horse racing tracks in the state. Atokad, in particular, was in danger of closing after being forced to hold its races at the same time as Ak-Sar-Ben.

AS A RESULT of the passage of LB 631 last year, Atokad has been able to keep operating and actually netted the state $65,217 in pari-mutuel taxes. That is all money the state would have lost if Atokad had been forced to close.

In addition, the successful season just completed by Atokad will allow it to pay off some of the taxes it owes the state from the previous racing season, again revenue which the state could not have collected if Atokad had closed last year.

The local economy has benefitted significantly from the activities at Atokad with people coming from as far away as Canada to attend the races.

Federal RIF plan stays on target

At the end of fiscal year 1982, most federal agencies were ahead of schedule for achieving the president's goal of reducing total non-defense and non-postal employment, according to figures released by the U.S. Office of Personnel Management.

In the Fall of 1981, the president set a goal of reducing federal employment by 75,000 by the end of fiscal year 1984.

Statistics through the end of fiscal year 1982 show that non-defense and non-postal executive branch federal employment has been reduced by 66,972 full time equivalents (FTE), or 89.3 percent of the president's goal.

THE FIGURES also show a 98,842 reduction in the number of non-defense and non-postal individuals employed by the executive branch since January, 1982.

These latest figures represent the first time since World War II that federal employment totals have been reduced for two consecutive years and only the fourth reduction since World War I.

The Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, passed in the first session of the 97th Congress and signed into law by the president last year, allows taxpayers to deduct charitable contributions even if they do not itemize their personal deductions.

For the years 1982 and 1983, the deduction is 25 percent of the first $100 of contributions.

FOR 1984, the contribution cap is raised to $300. For 1985, the deduction is allowed for 50 percent of contributions with no cap, and for 1986, the deduction is allowed for 100 percent of contributions. This provision expires after 1986.

Secretary of Agriculture John Block has appointed state Sen. Lowell Johnson to the National Advisory Council on Rural Development.

That council will assist the secretary in identifying rural problems and in supporting administration efforts and initiatives in rural development.

The council will also provide state, local, and general rural development interests with a forum for the discussion of important rural issues.

IN COOPERATION with the Consumer Information Center, the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs has prepared a 33-page what-to-do, where-to-go manual for information on conserving energy and resolving energy-related consumer problems.

Benefits bonanza

American workers in 1981 "earned" almost half a trillion dollars over and above their regular salaries and wages. Workers received employee benefits worth $485 billion or more than three times their level of a decade ago.

The estimate is based on the U.S. Chamber of Commerce yearly survey of benefits paid by private employers and on the Department of Commerce's report of total wages and salaries paid, which amounted to almost $1.5 trillion, including pay of all government workers.

The annual survey of private employers showed they spend an average of $6,627 per employee on benefits last year, or 37.3 percent of payroll, a record high.

The 1981 study covers information from 994 reporting companies, whose benefit payments ranged from less than 18 percent to as high as 65 percent of payroll and cost from under $3,000 to more than $11,000 a year per employee.

Dr. Richard W. Rahn, vice president and chief economist for the chamber, emphasized the yearly growth in employee benefits has two major consequences: It enhances workers' security and well-being and it increases the employers' cost of doing business.

Payments for vacations, holidays, rest periods and other time off now constitute almost 40 percent of the cost of total benefits — or $2,375 in the case of the average yearly benefits payment of $6,627.

Over the years, benefits have grown dramatically. Ten years ago, for example, they averaged $2,544 per year per employee. They rose sharply up until 1975 and since then the yearly growth in benefits has slowed and may be tapering off.

Where benefits will stop, of course, nobody knows. So far, at least, it appears that neither employers nor employees believe they have had too much of a good thing.

4a - speaking of people

The Wayne Herald, Thursday, January 13, 1983

briefly speaking

PEO Chapter AZ meets

Wayne PEO Chapter AZ met in the home of Leila Maynard Jan. 4 with 20 members present. Following the business meeting, Margaret Lundstrom introduced speaker Dr. Bob Johnson. His topic was "Yoga and It's Relation to Personal Health." Assisting the hostesses were Jean Dickey and Jean Griess. Next meeting will be with Jean Benthack at 1 p.m. on Jan. 18. Assisting hostesses will be Carol Mosley and Leila Maynard. President Marilyn Swanson has announced that a vote by ballot will be taken at the next meeting to determine the time of future meetings.

Story hour begins

The Wayne Public Library will again sponsor a children's storyhour, says librarian Kathleen Tooker. Mrs. Tooker said storyhour will begin this Saturday at 2 p.m. and run through Feb. 26. All area youngsters ages three through six are invited to attend.

Allen man has surgery

Armond Ellis of Allen underwent major surgery on Monday, Jan. 3 at Marion Health Center in Sioux City. He was removed from intensive care last Thursday and is reported by his family to be doing very well. Allen residents held a card shower for Armond and his wife, Helen, who observed their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, Jan. 8.

Logan Homemakers meet

Logan Homemakers Club met with seven members Jan. 3 in the home of Alta Meyer. Clubwomen were invited to attend a program at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne on Jan. 25 at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Monday Mrs. Club. Speaker will be Wayne State professor Bobby Lupack, who will tell of her experiences in Poland. Men also are invited to attend. Pitch furnished the afternoon's entertainment. Phyllis Nolte will be the Feb. 3 hostess at 2 p.m. Members are to bring a Valentine to exchange.

Cuzins' meet in January

Ella Luff was hostess for the Jan. 6 meeting of Cuzins' Club. Margaret Luff was a guest, and card prizes went to Ardyce Habrock and Ruby Moseman. Donna Luff will be the Feb. 3 hostess.

Altona Ladies Aid meets

Mrs. Paul Hilpert was hostess for the Jan. 6 meeting of First Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid, Altona. The Rev. Ray Greenseth had devotions from the LWML Quarterly, and President Mrs. Les Youngmeyer presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Richard Koll was a guest. Members discussed plans for a family night either Jan. 23 or Feb. 6. Honored with the birthday song were Mrs. Ray Greenseth and Mrs. Les Youngmeyer.

Club potluck luncheon

Sunshine Club met following a potluck luncheon Jan. 5 in the home of Mrs. Julius Baier. The business meeting was called to order by President Mrs. Clara Echtenkamp. All members were present and answered roll call with suggestions for a birthday gift. New names were drawn for 1983 secret sisters, and four suggestions were discussed. Irene Geewe, health leader, read "For the New Year I Wish." Reading leader Agatha Krallman read "New Year's Eve," and Clara Echtenkamp read "Did You Know?" Thank you cards were read from shut-ins who received boxes of cookies from the club. Next meeting is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 2 in the home of Mrs. Thelma Day.

Former resident injured

Former Allen resident Frances Brownell of Upland, Calif. fell recently and suffered a broken hip. Cards and letters will reach her at 744 Shasta Way, Upland, Calif. 91786.

Home remedies told

Confusable Collectables Questers Club members answered roll call with an old home remedy when they met Jan. 3 in the home of Geri Thomas. Guests were Mary Monson and Connie Vopalensky. Plans were made for State Day on April 21. It was announced the state president would be a dinner guest at Wayne on Jan. 12. The newspaper Prairie Tales was distributed to all members, and the lesson on sandwich glass was given by the hostess. Loreene Gildersteeve will be the Feb. 7 hostess.

'Leadership Roles' lesson topic

"Leadership Roles Group Members Play" is the title of a leader training course being offered by the Cooperative Extension Service. Dixon County Home Extension Club leaders will receive training for the lesson on Monday, Jan. 17 at 1:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station near Concord. Anna Marie White, extension agent home economics, will conduct the meeting. The lesson is designed to help groups function more productively and at the same time allow members to experience satisfactory personal relations. Any organized group is welcome to send leaders to the training meeting. They are asked to notify the Dixon County Extension Office in advance so extra lesson materials can be prepared.

Program on Holy Land

Psi Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, held its December meeting in the Woman's Club room in the Wayne city auditorium. Following the business meeting, Ella Larsen of Laurel showed slides of her trip to the Holy Land.

WWI Auxiliary cancels meeting

The January meeting of World War I Auxiliary has been canceled due to the weather. Members will not meet on Jan. 17 as earlier planned.

Door-to-door sales begin

Girl Scouts selling cookies

Girl Scout Cookie time has arrived. Wayne Girl Scouts, along with other girls of the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, will begin ringing doorbells throughout Nebraska this week asking residents to purchase the cookies. Door-to-door cookie sales begin this Friday and will continue through Jan. 31. Delivery of the cookies is expected between Feb. 28 and March 9. Cookies offered this year include the returning favorites of thin mints, peanut butter sandwich cookies, chocolate and vanilla cremes, shortbread and peanut butter with chocolate. New are the Samoas, coconut and caramel with chocolate, and the chocolate chunk cookies.

LAST YEAR, Scouts in Neighborhood 16, including Wayne, Wakefield and Winside, earned $1,100 for their individual troops and Prairie Hills Council. Top seller in local Troop 191 and in Neighborhood 16 last year was Julie Urwiler, daughter of Penny and Rick Urwiler of Wayne. The top seller in each neighborhood this year will win a slumber bag. In addition, for each 50 boxes sold, scouts earn a $5 passport which can be used for scouting activities. Other awards for top sellers include patches, doddle art posters, and an outdoor sleeping bag.

EACH BOX OF cookies sells for $1.75 with the profit going to both individual troops and Prairie Hills Council. Due to the cookie sale, troops can plan special activities and still keep their weekly dues to a minimum. Council profits from the cookies also purchased, developed and now maintain the council camp, Camp Crossed Arrows, located near Fremont. Camp Crossed Arrows is a 151-acre camp open year round for troop camping as well as being fully staffed for resident camp in the summer and a winter weekend. Funds also provide other programs for girls, including a day for Brownies, a Christmas trip for the Juniors, and a trip, this year to the Ozarks, for the Cadettes and Seniors.

WAYNE RESIDENTS who are not contacted and would like to order cookies are asked to call Jill Perry, 375-2790, or Donna Eckhoff, 375-1264.

Troutmans observe golden wedding at Wayne Country Club

Winside residents Carl and Dorothy Troutman marked their golden wedding anniversary during an open house reception Jan. 2 at Wayne Country Club. Hosts were their children, including Gary Troutman of Dysart, Iowa, Darrell Troutman and Judy Troutman, both of Lincoln, Dwight Troutman and Gregg Troutman, both of Omaha, Kirk Troutman of Ralston, and Mrs. Robert (Lynne) Wacker of Winside. There are 12 grandchildren.

TROUTMANS were married at Tyndall, S. D. on Jan. 5, 1933. They farmed near Hoskins for one year, and resided on a farm between Wayne and Winside 13 years. They have lived in Winside the past 36 years.

Allen rites unite McCoy-Anderson

Linda McCoy of Flushing Queens, N. Y. became the bride of Bradley Anderson of Highland Falls, N. Y. in wedding rites Dec. 29 at the First Lutheran Church in Allen. A RECEPTION was held at the church following the ceremony. Hostess was Helen Ellis of Allen. The wedding cake was cut and served by Nancy Ellis of Allen and Barbra Lehmann of Sioux City. Opal Allen of Allen poured, and Darlene Von Minden of Martinsburg served punch. MUSIC INCLUDED "The Wedding Song," sung by Mrs. Verlan Hingst of Allen. Guests were ushered into the church by Mark Lehmann and Blake Lehmann, both of Sioux City. Honor attendants were Brenda Delancy of Lincoln and Randal Ellis of Allen. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a long white gown. Her attendant wore a maroon floor-length dress, and the bridegroom's mother selected a rose-colored dress. THE NEWLYWEDS traveled to Niagara Falls and are making their home at 12 Church St., Highland Falls, N. Y. The bride, a 1970 graduate of Lincoln High School and a 1975 graduate of the University of Nebraska, is a student. The bridegroom was graduated from Round Valley High School in 1969 and from Arizona State University in 1974. He is employed as a bus driver.

Establishing NCIP goals

Winside improvement group appeals for new members

The Winside Community Improvement Committee has issued an appeal for new members to assist with 1983 Nebraska Community Improvement Program (NCIP) goals.

In October, Winside topped five other Nebraska communities in its population category to take first places honors during the 1982 NCIP banquet in Lincoln.

The Nebraska Community Improvement Program is administered by the Department of Economic Development's community affairs division and the Community Resource and Research Center of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

A SPOKESMAN for the Winside Community Improvement Committee said several ideas for community projects during the 1983 NCIP year have been taken from a community survey and from suggestions by residents.

Project suggestions include adult education classes (aerobics, ballroom dancing, physical fitness, calligraphy, etc.), continuation of the auditorium renovation, cable television services, and new business and industrial development.

Other suggestions include the formation of a welcoming committee, a community pantry, continuation of playground improvements, tennis court improvements, a community newsletter, street signs, summer tennis and golf lessons, a summer park program for youth, a Winside traveling float, and downtown flower boxes.

PROJECTS FOR 1983 will be selected during a meeting this month of the Winside Community Improvement Committee. The meeting has been scheduled Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Winside auditorium.

A committee spokesman said projects will be selected according to community response.

The committee is encouraging each club and organization to choose one or more of the projects as their contribution to the Winside improvement effort.

Representatives of these groups are asked to attend next Wednesday night's meeting to pledge their support.

AREA RESIDENTS who would like to work on a particular project or have suggestions for additional improvements also are encouraged to attend the Jan. 19 meeting.

Suggestions also may be sent to Esther Carlson, co-chairman of the improvement committee.

engagements

Tavis-Kerstine

Making plans for an April 2 wedding in Lincoln are Denise Tavis and Tom Kerstine.

Their engagement has been announced by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Tavis of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kerstine of Carroll.

The bride elect, a graduate of Lincoln Southeast High School, is employed as a secretary for Duncan Aviation in Lincoln.

The groom is a graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School in 1973 and attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed as a contract administrator for Duncan Aviation.

Alswager-Kwapnioski

Karen Alswager of Norfolk and Kenneth Kwapnioski of Wayne are planning a Feb. 19 wedding at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Columbus.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Alswager and Mr. and Mrs. David Kwapnioski, both of Columbus.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Columbus Lakeview High School and a 1982 graduate of the Nebraska Methodist School of Nursing in Omaha. She is employed as a registered nurse at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk.

The bridegroom, a 1979 graduate of Columbus High School, attended Platte Technical Community College in Columbus. He is manager of Godfather's Pizza in Wayne.

Marking 60th year

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Vahkamp of Wayne will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Jan. 23.

Friends and relatives are invited to honor them during an open house reception from 2 to 4 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne. No other invitations are being issued, and the couple requests no gifts.

Vahkamps were married at Theophilus Church, rural Wayne, on Jan. 17, 1923. Hosting the anniversary reception are their nieces and nephews.

American Legion Auxiliary meets

The Wayne American Legion Auxiliary met with President Louise Kahler Jan. 3 in the Vet's Club room.

Guest was Harold Thompson Jr. of Wayne, detachment state commander of the Sons of the American Legion. Ten members were present.

Membership chairman Eveline Thompson reported there are 88 paid-up members.

auxiliary attended the 50th annual educational conference held this month in Norfolk.

Among those taking part were Harold Thompson Jr., Eveline Thompson, Chris Bargholz, Wayne Donklat, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sommerfeld and Mr. and Mrs. Erving Doring.

Guest speakers included National President June Stolte and National American Legion Vice Commander Robert Gabrielson.

It was announced the District III American Legion and Auxiliary meeting will be held March 26 in Newcastle.

FOLLOWING THE meeting, members draped the charter in memory of Marguerite Hofeld. Taking part in the service were Eveline Thompson and Chaplain Mary Kruger.

Serving were Frances Doring and Pauline Sievers.

A safety program for all veterans organizations will be presented at the Feb. 7 meeting.

A LETTER was received from the department secretary treasurer with information about Girls State.

President Kahler appointed Mary Kruger, Marie Brugger and Eveline Thompson chairman of the Wayne County government dinner to be served in March.

Members will meet Feb. 11 at the Vet's Club to make 24 Easter centerpieces for the Norfolk Veteran's Home.

Hosts creep into fourth place of own tournament

Stanton	148 1/2
Osmond	126
Plainview	123 1/2
Winside	76 1/2
Logan View	74
Randolph	69
Norfolk Cath.	47
Oakland-Craig	42

Brian Bowers used a major decision to win the 155-pound class and lead Winside to a fourth place finish in the Winside Invitational Saturday.

The Wildcats were two points behind Logan View and three points ahead of Randolph entering the championship round. Randolph had two wrestlers in the finals and Logan View had one. All three lost their matches.

Bowers was one of three Winside wrestlers to reach the finals. John and Jeff Thies lost their matches and had to settle for second place.

BOWERS DEFEATED Dan Doggett of Stanton 10-0 to win the 155-pound gold medal and move the hosts ahead of Logan View. Bowers also was given the award for fastest pin of the tourney—an 18 second fall in the first round.

The Wildcats nearly had another champion in 167-pound Jeff Thies. Thies was leading Mark Scott of Osmond until the final three seconds of the match when Scott turned him over for a two-point near pin. That move tied the score at 5-5 and sent the two wrestlers into overtime.

Scott scored a fakedown and pinned the Winside wrestler 56 seconds into the one-minute first period. For Thies it was an especially disappointing loss since he had controlled the match during the three regulation periods.

Thies led 2-0 with a takedown, gave up an escape and took his opponent back down for a 4-1 lead by the end of the second period. An escape gave him a 5-1 edge but Scott's reversal cut the lead to 5-3 late in the match. The near-pin tied it up.

JOHN THIES ran into arch-rival Paul Peterson of Osmond in the championship at 112 pounds. The two wrestlers have now met nine times in their careers. Peterson scored the critical takedown to open the match. A reversal tied the score at 2-2 but Peterson reversed Thies for a 4-2 lead. Another reversal in the second period gave the Osmond wrestler a 6-2 edge. Thies had an escape and takedown in the third period but Peterson scored two points for an 8-5 decision.

In addition to one first place finish and two seconds, two other Winside wrestlers won fourth place medals. Kyle Miller was pinned by Joe Liewer of Osmond in 2:28 of the 132-pound consolation match. Mike Jaeger, wrestling at 145, lost 10-3 to Steve Nelson of Oakland-Craig in the consolation match.

"Brian wrestled a really good tournament. He showed that he can take people down and he did an outstanding job on offense," said Winside coach Paul Sok.

"JOHN GOT caught in a mouse trap game. The first takedown usually wins the match when he and Peterson meet. They've wrestled each other nine times and all of the matches have been within two or three points," Sok said.

"Jeff wrestled well until the end of the third period. This was the fourth time he has wrestled Scott and the first three ended in first period pins," said Sok. "He had a good chance to win this one but got caught on the same move that got him before."

In the team race, Stanton wrapped things up before the finals and coasted to the title with 148 1/2 points. Osmond was second with 126 points and Plainview was third with 123 1/2. Pender was scheduled to compete but sent eight of its wrestlers to the Leigh reserve invitational and withdrew completely from the Winside meet when the state's number one ranked Robert McQuistan injured his back.

Sok said Jaeger and Miller wrestled well for the hosts. Jaeger upset a wrestler with an 11-4 record to reach the consolation finals. Miller looked good against the fourth-rated wrestler in the state but got dumped and beat, Sok said.

CURT ROHDE, one of Winside's leading medal winners, found himself 8 1/2 pounds overweight on Friday. He lost the weight in time to wrestle at Saturday's meet but lost two of three matches.

Rohde had defeated Kent Brunkhorst of Osmond and Jack Johnson of Oakland-Craig earlier this season but lost to both in the Winside tourney. Sok said he was fatigued. "There will be other days and he's the kind of individual who will keep going."

The Wildcats are scheduled to send freshmen and sophomores into Saturday's Pender Invitational for 9th and 10th graders. A dual will be held tonight (Thursday) at home against Stanton.

Championship round

98—Chris Eacker of Norfolk Catholic defeated Mark Bloomquist of Randolph 7-4.

138—Monte Smith of Logan View pinned Troy Wells of Plainview in 2:10.

145—Steve Nelson of Oakland-Craig defeated Mike Jaeger of Winside 10-3.

155—Gary Totten of Logan View pinned Mike Hanna of Randolph in 1:44.

167—Mark Henrick of Logan View defeated Rod Isom of Randolph in 1:55.

185—Mike Keifer of Randolph pinned Shannon Sarrick of Stanton in :50.

HW—Mick Johnson of Logan View pinned Gordon Mandl of Stanton in :48.

Rugged road swing hurts WSC's playoff chances

The saying goes that "charity begins at home," and the Wayne State Wildcats would echo that sentiment after a tough weekend road swing resulted in damaging losses at Bellevue College and Peru State on Friday and Saturday.

Coach Rick Weaver's crew faces a rugged schedule in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium this week. Friday night brings rival Kearney State to town, while nationally-rated Ft. Hays State visits on Saturday.

All three CSIC battles are slated for an 8 p.m. tipoff, with all games preceded by 6 p.m. women's contests involving the same schools.

Bellevue and Peru State, both members of the new Nebraska Athletic Conference (NAC) that will determine two participants in the NAIA District 11 playoffs at season's end, rolled on the free throw line to foil Wayne State. The Wildcats saw a five-game winning streak halted and their record drop to 9-8, 1-2 in the NAC. Friday's Kearney State game counts towards the NAC as well as the CSIC.

A NEARLY FLAWLESS second-half performance by Peru State allowed the Bobcats to claim an 82-74 win over Wayne State at Peru Saturday.

The Bobcats, who improved to 12-5 with the win and 2-1 in the NAC, extended their winning streak to seven and their home-court victory string to 14 by hitting nearly everything they put up in the last 20 minutes.

The hosts were a perfect 21 for 21 from the charity line in the last half, and were nearly as hot from the field as they hit 14 of 19 field goals. They overcame a good effort by Wayne State, which outscored its hosts from the field for the second straight night (32 field goals to 27).

Wayne State led 36-33 at the half and was on top until less than three minutes remained. Peru State charged ahead on the strength of its awesome free throw shooting performance as the Bobcats scored 12 of their final 14 points on the line.

Everett Smith had 19 points and Kip Allison 14 for Peru State. John Reed led WSC with 18 points and eight rebounds, while Grady Hansen had 14 points and Lonell Greene 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Winside rallies past Snyder

It took three good quarters of basketball for Winside to overcome a bad start but the Wildcats rallied to defeat Snyder 61-54 Tuesday night in Winside.

Winside used a 20-8 scoring advantage in the third quarter to take control of the ball game. John Hawkins had his best performance of the season and combined with Jon Meierhenry to score all but 19 of Winside's points.

Hawkins scored 20 points, hauled in 10 rebounds and stole three passes. Meierhenry scored 20 and grabbed a dozen rebounds. Ronnie Prince had eight points and five rebounds.

WINSIDE COACH Mark Freburg said Meierhenry and Prince spent some time on the bench in foul trouble. He praised Hawkins and added that the junior had to take over. He also was pleased with the play of Dan Mundt and sophomore Kevin Falk, who is a first year player.

"The whole team played well. It was our best team game," Freburg said. "We did some dumb things in the first half but I was real happy with the second half. The win should give us some mental confidence."

The Cats ran their fastbreak well in the third quarter. In that period, Meierhenry scored eight points while Hawkins and Prince each scored six. Winside outscored the visitors 20-8.

For Snyder, Duane Renter finished the game with 17 points. Steve Prenzlow scored 12 and Jay Smeal scored 10. The visitors hit 13 of 15 free throws in the first half.

THE WILDCATS hit 46.4 percent of their shots in the ball game. After trailing 12-21 at the end of the first quarter, Winside cut that margin to three points by half-time and took over in the third.

Tomorrow (Friday) Winside will travel to Wakefield and on Saturday, the Cats will host Stanton. The Saturday event will feature games between Winside and Stanton in boys' and girls' junior high, reserve and varsity games. The games begin at 12:30 p.m.

Allen girls win 2nd place trophy

The second place trophy in the Ponca Invitational belongs to the Allen girls after a win over Laurel Friday and a loss to host Ponca on Saturday.

The Eagles got off to a slow start and by the time they got untracked the game had gotten almost out of hand. Undeclared (8-0) Ponca won the contest 39-29 to win the championship trophy.

Allen found itself down by 10 points after one quarter and by 13 points at the half. The Eagles used a big third quarter to cut that margin to four points. Allen outscored Ponca 12-3 in the third.

COACH GARY Troth said his team got back within two points at 25-27 and had three opportunities to tie the score but didn't get the job done.

Michelle Harder, Allen's leading scorer, fouled out in the fourth quarter and that hurt the offense considerably. Ponca pulled back in front by five points and hit some free throws to eventually win by nine.

"We started pathetically and went down 20-8. We turned the ball over and didn't have good execution," Troth said. "We were flat footed and played like Ponca wanted us to play. The second half was a different story. If it wouldn't have been for the terrible start, it would have been a real respectable game."

Harder finished the game with 13 points to lead the Allen attack. Tami Jewell was leading rebounder with five. For Ponca, Patricia Armstrong scored 17 and Janell Peters scored 13.

ACCORDING TO Troth, the Eagles staged a good comeback and didn't give up. He added, however, that the girls need more confidence.

Next action for Allen (3-3) is scheduled tonight (Thursday) at Winnebago. The Eagles will host Winside Monday. A double-header against Bancroft-Rosalie's boys and girls was indefinitely postponed Tuesday night because of the snowstorm.

Walthill pulls away from Trojans

Brian Soderberg's best performance of the season wasn't enough to lead the Wakefield boys to a win. Walthill pulled away in the fourth quarter to post a 52-39 victory over Wakefield Tuesday night.

Soderberg led all scorers with 19 points. Leading rebounders were Soderberg with six and Gary Tullberg with five. For Walthill, John Rossiter scored 16 points.

The Trojans made 25 percent of their shots and Walthill hit 39 percent. Wakefield lost 42-44. Jason Erb had 8 points for the Trojans.

On Friday, Wakefield will host Winside.

opportunities in a row.

"We played pretty well until midway through the fourth quarter. Then we missed some free throws and made some turnovers," Wakefield coach Scott Miller said. "We had a pretty good game but they're one of the best teams we've played."

The 5-4 Trojans committed 17 turnovers in the game. In junior varsity action, Wade Nicholson scored 18 points but Wakefield lost 42-44. Jason Erb had 8 points for the Trojans.

Merriman picks national panel

by Derald Johnson
WSC Sports Intern

For Wayne State College's Dr. John Merriman, this spring's national convention of the Sport Society of America of the AAHPERD (American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance) will be an opportunity to lead a panel of five nationally recognized figures in the field of sports sociology.

Dr. Merriman, an associate professor of health, physical education, recreation and athletics at Wayne State, was asked to organize a panel discussion for the convention April 7-10 in Minneapolis, Minn. The topic of the 2 1/2 hour discussion for the panel will be "Student-Athlete: A Dichotomy?"

Dr. Merriman has assembled an impressive list of panelists, including Jim Dutcher, University of Minnesota head basketball coach; Dan Offenburger, Creighton University athletic director; Dr. Ursula Walsh, athletic academic advisor of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln; Dr. H. George Fredrickson, president of Eastern Washington University; and Alan Page, a practicing attorney and former NFL All-Pro defensive lineman.

"I WAS EXTREMELY flattered to be asked," said Merriman. "I chose the topic because I feel a growing concern as to whether a student-athlete can effectively excel in both areas at one time."

According to Merriman, "I wanted to get people who weren't studying the topic, but living it." He added, "I wanted to get a cross-section of the country represented."

Dr. Walsh, one of the more widely recognized authorities on the relationship of athletics and academia in the nation, indeed "lives" the topic. In the past decade, the University of Nebraska has produced more NCAA academic All-Americans than any other school in the country.

Walsh said of the student-athlete relationship, "I do not think it has to be a dichotomy. Time management is the most important thing to manage." Walsh continued, "Here at the University (of Nebraska), I feel we're in a very fortunate situation. We place a great deal of emphasis on classroom achievement because Coach (Tom) Osborne has his doctorate, has played professionally, and realizes the value of an education. That's his philosophy."

SHE CONCLUDED "The players still themselves out, too. If they're not willing to stress their education, then they probably won't end up here."

Wayne State athletic director Ron Jones said Merriman's committee appointment was great for WSC.

"I think it's a tremendous thing for Wayne State and our athletic department to have him (Merriman) heading a program at the national convention. It's a real feather in our cap."

In relation to the panel discussion's topic, "Student-Athlete: A Dichotomy?", Jones said, "I don't think there is any doubt they can co-exist. That is one of the reasons our institution is a member of the NAIA. It's the NAIA's philosophy that athletic field is an extension of the classroom. They emphasize completing your degree in four years."

With a great deal of speculation going on now regarding the stiffening of national college entrance requirements and eligibility standards, this may well be a topic of increasing interest to sports fans across the country.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

A Lone Star trainer

The 1982 Texas high school football season came to an end on Dec. 18 as Beaumont West Brook High School won the AAAAA championship. Two weeks earlier, the Dickinson High Fighting Gators were eliminated from the playoffs by West Brook.

The Gators have a northeast Nebraska connection. Tim Wacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wacker of Wayne, is athletic trainer for the team. He is a 1971 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a 1976 graduate of Wayne State. In 1977, he received his Master of Science degree in athletic training from Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Ind.

Wacker has been athletic trainer at Dickinson the past four years. He and his wife (the former Cinda Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Owens of Carroll) have two sons (Eric and Jason).

Some 25,000 fans were on hand to watch West Brook defeat Dickinson 49-30 in the fourth round of the playoffs. The game, which was played in the Houston Astrodome, ended Dickinson's season with a 10-4 mark and a regional championship.

Highlights of the season included winning the District 24-AAAAA championship for the second consecutive year and defeating the state's number one ranked Port Arthur Thomas Jefferson High School. That game was played before 28,000 fans in the Astrodome. Last year the Gators finished the year with an 11-1 record and a bi-district crown.

A total of 258 high schools participated in Class 5A at Texas this past season. Dickinson reached the quarterfinals (top eight schools) in the playoffs. Dickinson defensive back Vincent Wydermyer was named defensive player of the year on the All-Greater Houston Football Honor Squad.

The Gators placed 11 players on the all-district team and coach Dub Farris of Dickinson was named coach of the year.

Tim sounds like he might make a good contact for out-of-state recruiting by Wayne State College.

Bravo, Brooks

By the time this edition of The Wayne Herald has gone to press, an announcement will be made to introduce the latest members of the Baseball Hall of Fame.

At the top of that list, I hope, is Brooks Robinson, the best defensive third baseman to ever play baseball. For 23 years Brooks sucked up almost every ball that came within diving distance.

The human vacuum cleaner also was a clutch hitter but will always be remembered for his fielding, not his hitting. The young baseball fans today have plenty of talented players to watch in the professional ranks. But, it's too bad that many have never seen Brooks in action. He was the best.

Coaching applications cease

More than 60 applications for the Wayne State College head coaching position were received before applications were closed Monday.

The selection committee met yesterday to cut the list down to a field of finalists. That list will be given to WSC President Ed Elliott tomorrow (Friday). Interviewing will begin next week and a deadline of Feb. 1 has been set to announce the hiring of a new coach.

Lady Cats lose

Number 2 team ends win streak

A five-game home court win streak by the Wayne State College Lady Wildcat basketball team was ended Saturday night as the nationally-ranked Midland Lutheran Warriorettes invaded Rice Auditorium and defeated the Lady Cats 79-55.

Central States Intercollegiate Conference action is next on the schedule for the Lady Wildcats and Coach Jan Jirsak. The first full weekend of conference play will be at home on Friday and Saturday with the teams from rival Kearney State and Fort Hays State, all with start times of 6 p.m., followed by men's contests at 8 p.m.

Midland came into the game against the Lady Cats as the number two team in the nation (NAIA) and proved that rating with the 79-55 win. The loss put Wayne's record at 8-6 overall and advanced Midland's to 10-0.

WSC TRAILED throughout the game, although it made several runs at the lead in the first half and was only down by seven points at the halfway point, 35-28. Freshman Deb Nygren was Wayne's bright spot in the loss with a team-high 20 points and 15 rebounds despite fouling out. She was followed by Robbie Lehr who fouled out of the game with nine points and 10 rebounds.

Midland's high-powered scoring was paced by Kari Kramme with 22 points and Lisa Lundergard with 20 points. Janet Essmann was the only other player in double figures with 10 points.

Kay Blase, along with Kramme, led the Warriorettes rebounds with eight and seven boards respectively.

Wildcats win conference tilt

When Wayne State basketball coach Rick Weaver learned that starting forward Grady Hansen had the flu and would miss Tuesday's conference game with Missouri Western, he lost some of his confidence.

Weaver had a right to be worried; Hansen is Wayne's leading scorer and rebounder. He pumped in 29 points in an earlier season loss to Missouri Western and has a history of good performances against the Griffons.

To top it off, Western's leading player, Larry Ingram, missed the first game between the two squads. This time Ingram was back and Hansen was gone but the host Wildcats avenged that loss with a 66-63 win in Rice Auditorium.

WITH HANSEN gone, several other Wildcats picked up the scoring and rebounding slack in a balanced performance. It was Wayne's balance against Western's two-man show by Ingram and Arthur Cooks.

Russ Uhing, Calvin Sprew and Ron Taylor dumped in 12 points apiece to lead the home team. Brad Edwards scored nine and Lonell Greene scored eight. Nine WSC players scored. Ingram finished with 23 and Cooks scored 18 for Western.

The Missourians held a 31-28 half-time edge but Wayne turned the game around in the second half. The Cats took the lead for good at 46-45 with 11:36 left in the game.

A backdoor layup by Bill Marshall made the score 48-45. Sprew put the hosts on top 57-51 with 4:34 left in the game but Western fought back.

TWO KEY plays late in the game were a three-point play by 5-11 guard Brad Edwards and a pair of free throws by Ron Taylor. Edwards made a layup with 1:58 to go and was fouled on the drive. His free throw gave WSC a 63-57 lead.

Missouri Western hung on until Taylor hit both ends of a one-and-one with 16 seconds to play, icing the game at 66-61.

Wayne improved to 10-8 for the year and 1-1 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference. Western drops to 4-9 and 1-1 in the CSIC. The Wildcats will host Kearney State Friday in a key NAC and CSIC contest. Fort Hays will be in town Saturday.

12th rated team tops WSC

Facing the 12th ranked team in the NAIA, the Wayne State women lost 74-54 on their home court Tuesday to Missouri Western.

The Lady Wildcats' duo of Robbie Lehr and Deb Nygren combined for 35 points and 17 rebounds. Lehr led the scoring with 18 points and grabbed 7 rebounds. Nygren scored 17 points and topped the rebounding chart with 10.

The visiting Lady Griffons hit

46 percent of their shots while improving their record to 9-1 overall and 2-0 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference. Both wins came against Wayne State.

THE LOSS dropped Wayne to 8-7 overall and 0-2 in the CSIC. The hosts trailed by only six points at 43-37 with 14 minutes remaining.

Over the next seven minutes, Western outscored WSC by nine points. The winners were led by Pat Graham with 16 points, Julie Sherwood with 14, Sandy Stevens with 11 and Cheryl Kempf with 11. Wayne State is scheduled to host Kearney State tomorrow (Friday) and Ft. Hays Saturday. Both nights will feature double-headers with men's action following.

Mac's pack

THIS GROUP of men played basketball under former Wayne High coach and current Athletic Director Harold Maciejewski (left) during his coaching career. Two men, Ken Dahl and Larry Test, were members of the 1956 state champion team. All of these fellows were on hand at Mac's recognition ceremony during the

Trojans settle for 2nd place

Hopes of winning their own tournament were wiped out Saturday night as the Wakefield Trojans were defeated 44-29 by Homer in the championship game of the Wakefield Post Holiday Tournament.

The Trojans fell five points behind by the end of the first quarter and six at the half. They were back within four points when the third quarter closed but Homer dominated the final period 14-3.

"We played pretty well in the first three quarters. We turned the ball over in the fourth quarter," Wakefield coach Scott Miller said. "Brian Soderberg is playing a lot better and we need him to play that way."

LEADING THE second place finish for Wakefield were Mike Clay with 12 points and Soderberg with 10. Clay had nine rebounds and Gary Tullberg had six. For Homer, John Theleman scored 12 points. The Trojans shot just 30 percent from the field and Homer hit 40 percent.

Wakefield game tonight

Snyder dominates Winside

Cold shooting plagued the Winside girls basketball team in its first mismatch of the season. A fall, talented Snyder team pounded the Wildcats 44-7 Tuesday night in Winside.

It was a frustrating night for the Wildcats, who fell behind 11-4 after one quarter. The hosts hit only three of 30 shots from the field and were held scoreless in the second and fourth quarters.

The two girls who scored for Winside were Trisha Topp with four points and Pam Peter with three. For Snyder, Patty Heimann had 18 points and Shannon Lennermann scored 16.

"They're good. We hated to lose that bad," Winside coach Don Leighton said. "Our shots just didn't fall. The girls still didn't give up. They hustled and did a good job of rebounding."

REBOUNDING WAS one of the bright spots for the hosts. Winside finished with 32 rebounds and was led by Shelli Topp with 10 and Trisha Topp with 7. The Wildcats committed 26 turnovers against Snyder (7-2).

Winside (1-5) will play at Wakefield tonight (Thursday) in a makeup game that was postponed Monday because of snow.

The Wildcats are scheduled to host Stanton Saturday. Saturday's action will involve junior high games in the afternoon and varsity girls and boys games in the evening.

Wayne CC elects board members

The Wayne Country Club held its annual election of board members by mail this past week. Willis Lessmann was re-elected and Bill McQuistan was elected to serve on the board. Both will serve three year terms.

McQuistan replaced Gordon Neuerberger, whose term expired. Other board members are Al Cramer, Ron Dalton, Sid Hillier, Jim Marsh and Bob Carhart.

Final tennis rankings released

The final state tennis rankings for the 1982 calendar year have been released and a Wayne man is listed in the ratings. Tom Roberts is ranked fourth in the men's 45 singles ratings. Players from Grand Island and Lincoln are rated above him.

To be eligible for the ratings, players must compete in a minimum of three state tournaments sanctioned by the U.S.T.A. Roberts played in eight.

Men's softball officers elected

Officers for the Wayne Men's Softball Association were elected Sunday at a meeting of team captains. Steve Brandt was elected president, Darwin Ruback was elected vice president and Paul Lindner was elected secretary-treasurer.

Other discussion involved umpires, possibility of a home plate "strike pad," a snowball tournament, the Jaycees softball complex and fencing, league dues and the possibility of expanding the board to five officers.

At Fremont next

Wayne boys split recreation games

Wayne's recreation eighth grade boys basketball teams had to settle for a split of games Saturday as Fremont won the varsity game and Wayne won the reserve game in Fremont.

After a rusty start, the eighth grade B teamers rallied to defeat Fremont's B team 27-23 in the opener. The locals scored 12 points in the second quarter to open the game up.

For the game, Jason Jorgensen and Steve Luff scored six points apiece, Kevin Gress and Ted McCright each scored five and Mark Creighton had four.

In the A team game, Fremont topped Wayne 48-37 behind the 23-point output of one player. The first quarter killed the locals as they faced a 2-16 deficit. Wayne outscored Fremont 35-32 in the next three periods.

Ted Lueders scored 16 points for Wayne and Russ Longe scored 11. Bill Liska and Jon Stollenberg each scored four points and Troy Wood added two.

Next action for the Wayne teams is scheduled Saturday at Fremont Holy Trinity. The girls will play a double-header beginning at 9:30 a.m. and the boys have a double-header scheduled at 11:30.

outdoor briefs

Free tree seedlings offered

For interested farmers and ranchers, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission once again has free tree seedlings available, through the Nebraska Wildlife Habitat Program, for planting in the spring.

Seedling bundles are available for farmers and ranchers and are intended for rural sites only, outside city limits. The seedlings must also be planted at least 200 yards from inhabited dwellings.

To receive an application form, write to Habitat, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln 68503. Applications may also be obtained from District Game and Parks Commission offices in North Platte, Bassett, Alliance, Norfolk and Omaha.

This year the program continues with two different bundles, the habitat bundle and the woodlot starter bundle. Applicants are limited to one of each, and supplies will provide 500 bundles of each.

The conifer bundles will 50 red cedar and 50 Austrian pine will provide better habitat for most situations. The wood lot starter bundles, with 100 green ash, are offered as habitat improvement but also to encourage replenishment of Nebraska's fuel supplies.

Hunting laws still apply

Though hunting seasons are winding down and hunting pressure is light in most areas, hunters are reminded they must still observe hunting laws, especially those pertaining to trespassing and snowmobile operation.

Bill Earnest, Game and Parks Commission Conservation Officer in the Kearney area, says coyote hunters are causing problems by trespassing on private property without permission while chasing coyotes, and are shooting from the road when they spot a coyote. "Both practices are illegal and we are arresting and prosecuting offenders," he said.

Conservation Officer Bruce Wiebe, who works the Bassett area, says snowmobilers are illegally hunting coyotes from their snowmobiles. "It is illegal to shoot, take, hunt or kill any wild animal or bird from or with a snowmobile," he said. "It's also illegal to possess or carry an air rifle or shotgun while operating or riding on a snowmobile." In addition, the law states it is also illegal to carry or possess any firearm, bow and arrow, or other projectile device on a snowmobile unless the firearm, bow and arrow, or projectile device is enclosed in a carrying case or unloaded and enclosed in a carrying case.

A complete listing of laws governing hunters is available in the Game and Parks Commission hunting brochures. A brochure on snowmobiling Nebraska's Public Parklands is available from all Game and Parks Commission offices, and for a complete listing of laws governing the use of snowmobiles, contact the Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles.

Wood cutting not allowed

Though many people have contacted the Game and Parks Commission requesting permission to cut wood on state owned wildlife management areas, Chet McClain, Resource Services Division field supervisor, says the law forbids granting such permission.

"The law states it is illegal to cut or remove wood from these areas," McClain said. "Therefore, permission to do so cannot be granted to anyone."

Snowed out games being rescheduled

The unpredictable winter weather did it again. Sunday night's snow and wind storm caused cancellation of most area schools on Monday and also forced postponement of Monday's athletic events.

The Laurel girls basketball game at Hartington CC and the Winside girls game at Wakefield were both postponed. The Laurel game had not been rescheduled yet at press time.

"The law states it is illegal to cut or remove wood from these areas," McClain said. "Therefore, permission to do so cannot be granted to anyone."

The Winside-Wakefield game has been rescheduled for Thursday at Wakefield.

Allen school was also called off on Tuesday, leading to the postponement of a boys and girls double-header against Bancroft-Rosalie. The Eagles will host Bancroft Saturday night.

Those were the only varsity contests affected by the storm.

Sewing tips, information offered to 4-H leaders

An afternoon of sewing tips and information will be offered to 4-H clothing leaders on Tuesday, Jan. 25 at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station near Concord.

Linda Biles, extension clothing specialist from Lincoln, will offer the training for leaders of the 4-H clothing projects — Clothing Magic and Fashion Flair.

IN ADDITION to explaining the projects, she will provide tips on seam finishes, hems and interfacings.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and run until 3:30 p.m.

Although the meeting is planned for Dixon County 4-H leaders, interested clothing leaders from neighboring counties are welcome.

Mothers of 4-H'ers taking clothing projects also are invited.

PRE-REGISTRATION for the meeting is due by noon Wednesday, Jan. 19. A $1 fee is requested, payable at the time of pre-registration.

Checks should be made payable to the Dixon County Home Economics Fund and mailed to Dixon County Extension Office, Concord, Neb., 68728.

For more information, contact Anna Marie White, extension agent-home economics, at 584-2261.

Storm date for the meeting is Wednesday, Feb. 23.

SOS training offered at Northeast Station

Weight loss often is accomplished by dieting and restricting calorie intake.

Recent weight loss and weight control programs are stressing behavior change, according to Anna Marie White, extension agent-home economics.

Save Our Shapes (SOS) is an eight-week series designed to help overweight people practice behavioral changes which will result in weight loss.

A SPECIAL one-day workshop is planned to train SOS leaders to conduct the series.

The workshop will be held at the Northeast Station near Concord on Friday, Jan. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Leon Rottmann and Katharine Riddle, extension specialists from the University of Nebraska-

Lincoln, will conduct the workshop.

White said the training is designed for persons who intend to conduct the series with other weight control groups.

Nutritionists, nurses, teachers or others who work with special groups are encouraged to become SOS leaders.

THE FEE, payable in advance, is $3.50 per person. Pre-registrations are requested by Jan. 14.

Checks are to be made payable to Dixon County Home Economics Fund and mailed to Anna Marie White, Extension Agent, Northeast Station, Concord, Neb., 68728.

Participants may either bring a brown bag lunch or eat at a local cafe.

Today, Carhart Lumber Co. maintains lumber yards in 10 area towns, including Wayne, Randolph, Pierce, Hartington, Bloomfield, Neligh, O'Neill, Tilden, Albion and Plainview.

IT WAS AT Carhart Lumber Co. that Bob met Marilyn when she came to work for the company as a bookkeeper in 1956. They were married in 1959.

The daughter of Ernest and Dorothy Grone of Wayne, Marilyn was born Dec. 28, 1937 and is a 1955 graduate of Wayne High School. She attended Wayne State College.

Bob and Marilyn are the parents of three children. Scott, 22, is a senior at Wayne State College majoring in industrial management. JeanAnn, 21, is a senior majoring in finance and business at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and John, 17, is a senior at Wayne-Carroll High School.

IT WAS THROUGH their children that Bob and Marilyn became active in the scouting program.

Both of their sons have received scouting's highest honor, the Eagle Scout Award.

Bob presently serves as district commissioner for the Diamond Dick District, which includes seven counties in northeast Nebraska.

He was scoutmaster of Troops 174 and 221 for 10 years and has received the Award of Merit from the Diamond Dick District and the Silver Beaver Award from the Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts.

Marilyn, currently treasurer for Wayne Girl Scouts, has served as a troop leader and den mother. She too is a recipient of the Award of Merit from the Diamond Dick District.

In addition, she has served as neighborhood chairman and District 4 chairman of the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council. She also served as vice president of the council.

IN ADDITION to his scouting activities, Bob is president of the Wayne Hospital Foundation and served as co-chairman of the fund raising committee when the hospital was built.

He is a member of the First National Bank board of directors, a position he has held for several years, and is a member of the Wayne Country Club board of directors.

He also serves as president of the Wayne State College Foundation.

HE SERVED AS president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce during 1961, and is past president of Wayne Kiwanis.

A former chairman of the Wayne Planning Commission, he served with Roger Nelson as co-chairman of the Wayne Downtown Improvement Committee in 1974.

In addition, Bob is a past board member of the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry and presently serves on the association's labor relations and taxation committees.

In 1980-81 he was a member of Governor Charles Thone's task force on government improvements.

A BOOKKEEPER at Wayne Skelgas for the past year, Marilyn also works as a bookkeeper at Koplin Auto Supply.

She is a member of several Wayne organizations, including FEO, where she currently serves as treasurer, and the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary.

She also is a member of Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters, where she has served as president and as a member of the board.

Marilyn also was active in organizing the Blue Devils Athletic Booster Club, of which both she and Bob are members.

In addition, Marilyn has served as secretary-treasurer of the Wayne Community Chest since 1976, and was a member of the board of directors two years prior.

CARHARTS ARE members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne, where Marilyn is superintendent of Sunday school and current president of Lutheran Churchwomen.

She has also served as financial treasurer of Sunday school and as secretary and treasurer of churchwomen.

Bob, a factor and usher, has served on the church council.

Marilyn also is a member of the Order of Eastern Star, where she has served in several capacities. Bob, who has served as associate patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, was installed as worthy patron of the organization during ceremonies held this past Monday evening.

Bob also is a member and past master of Wayne Masonic Lodge No. 120.

AVID READERS and golfers, Carharts also are members of Wayne Country Club, where Bob plays in the men's golf league.

Marilyn served as treasurer of Wayne Country Club Women in 1982, and in 1981 was co-chairman of the women's golf league.

1982 Citizens of the Year presentation

MAYOR WAYNE MARSH, the city's 1981 Citizen of the Year, presents Bob and Marilyn Carhart of Wayne the 1982 Citizens of the Year award during special ceremonies at the 43rd annual Chamber of Commerce meeting Sunday night. More than 200 businessmen and businesswomen attended the annual meeting, which was held at the Black Knight restaurant. Mayor Marsh welcomed the attendees and presented the annual chamber award. New chamber president Randy Pedersen presented Bob Ens, past chamber president, with the organization's President's Plaque.

humanities.

It is hoped that Wayne can use the program as a tool for recruiting industries, doctors and other professional persons to the community, Pedersen said. The program involves a great deal of work and an organization or individuals will be needed to take charge of a scrapbook.

A new "City of Wayne" brochure, that will include Wayne State College and the city, will be published. The brochure will be useful in recruiting college students.

Pedersen said he hopes college-city relations will continue to improve. "The college students and faculty are a vital part of Wayne's economy. We hope to continue to improve on those relations as we have done in the past," Pedersen said.

THE CHAMBER will become more involved in the annual Wayne "Chicken Show." "We probably should take hold and become more involved in the show. It gives us publicity and it's a time to have fun."

Another one of Pedersen's plans is to hold a Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors retreat. The current board, last year's three board members and the three previous presidents would be invited to attend a day of work and brainstorming.

Pedersen will serve as president in 1983 and Galen Wiser will serve as president-elect. New board members are Dale Stoltenberg and Grant Ellingson. Lois Hall, who filled in an unexpired term, was reelected to that post.

Pedersen, 34, is a Wayne native. He and wife Rozan have one son, Joel, age 12. Randy was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1966 and from Wayne State College in 1971. He moved to Pender and sold mutual funds and insurance after graduation.

He was later hired by Zales Jewelry in Omaha. He worked as manager trainee there for 1½ years and served as store manager at Zales Jewelry in Grand Island for 4½ years. In April of 1976, he purchased Dale's Jewelry from Dale Gutshall. The business is now the Diamond Center.

CHAMBER OFFICERS for 1983, in addition to Pedersen and Ens (past president), include Sladek as treasurer and Wiser as president-elect. During Sunday night's annual meeting, Mayor Wayne Marsh, the city's 1982 Citizen of the Year, welcomed Wayne businessmen and businesswomen.

Marsh also announced the city's 1983 Citizens of the Year — Robert and Marilyn Carhart.

Included in the review of major 1982 chamber activities is the establishment of the city Energy Task Force, selection of the city as a participant in the Doctor Recruitment Internship Program, the 14th annual Farm Women's Appreciation Luncheon and the 11th annual Farmer's Appreciation Dinner.

ALSO INCLUDED is the chamber's continuing activity in the area of legislation, which urged congressional delegation support for stands on Social Security, the sale of alcoholic beverages on election day, local liquor license applications and the establishment of a Casey's General Store in the city.

Also, during 1982, the chamber provided judges and trophies for Wayne State College's Band Day parade and awarded $500 in scholarships.

Chamber efforts helped bring home the All-Nebraska Community award for the third year.

And, the chamber provided printing, publicity and correspondence support for the Wayne Regional Arts Council's second annual Chicken Show.

CHAMBER BOARD members re-established a business department liaison with Wayne State College, and authorized Nebraska Business Development Center to conduct a needs survey in Wayne.

Other projects for the year included sponsorship of an unofficial Farmer's Market in Wayne and holding a host of chamber Progress Award coffees.

The chamber also participated in dozens of local functions, including such events as Swine Days, the Shrine Parade, Wayne County Fair, WSC freshman orientation, new faculty member receptions and, of course, getting Santa Claus to town.

No one spoke in support or opposition to the plan during the hearing, which was conducted by Council President Keith Mosley in the absence of Mayor Wayne Marsh.

Councilman Gary Vopalensky also was absent for Tuesday night's meeting.

During the brief meeting, Kloster extended a public thank you to Erna and Mike Karel of Wayne for allowing the city to dump snow on their property, just south of Wayne, during the digout from the holiday blizzard.

"IF WE HAD not been able to find a place like that it would have delayed the clearing (snow removal) by at least another day," Kloster told the Council.

"There are just not that many (dumping) sites anymore," Kloster said. "We really appreciated their offer."

Mosley extended the city's appreciation to snow removal crew members for their performance during the post-blizzard clearing operations.

THANK YOU

To All Our Customers:

We want to thank all our valued customers for their patronage and friendship during our years at Sav-Mor Drug and the Loft. A special thank you to Cheryl Hall, R.P. and to all our employees for their loyal service.

We know that Pharmacist Will Davis and wife Sue will operate a very fine drug store and always give you professional, courteous service. We wish them every success!

Cattle feeders planning to increase beef exports

It is a realistic goal for 2.5 percent of the annual U.S. beef production to be exported by 1987, compared to the present level of one percent, those attending a Nebraska Cattle Feeders Seminar were told in Lincoln Thursday (Jan. 6).

Alan R. "Bud" Middaugh, president of the U.S. Meat Export Federation, Denver, spoke to about 80 cattle feeders attending the two-day event, sponsored by the Feedlot Council of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association and the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and animal science department.

While the volume of beef exported has quadrupled since 1971, with approximately $886 million in sales in 1982, the one percent level of exports is "total embarrassment" to the industry, Middaugh declared.

THE GROWTH of exports the past decade is somewhat misleading, Middaugh said, "because tonnage hasn't accompanied the dollars." The value of beef exports—which totaled 258,000 metric tons last year—has increased annually over the period partly due to inflation, he explained.

While many countries are acquiring a taste for beef, trade barriers and subsidies paid by foreign governments to their own farmers loom as formidable obstacles to expansion in U.S. beef exports, Middaugh said.

Sixty percent of the population in Japan is under 40 years of age, he noted, representing a vast reservoir of potential beef consumers as tastes and lifestyles change in that Far East country. The two largest outlets—in volume of sales—of one American fast food chain featuring hamburger are in Tokyo and Hong Kong, he commented.

The 10 member nations of the European Community have a combined population of 317 million persons, but "tremendous political clout" by European livestock producers has made it difficult to increase beef exports to Europe, Middaugh said. While fast food outlets are "rampant" in Europe, many feature French and Scottish beef, he said. There is a market for American beef "variety meats" in Europe, however, Middaugh said.

Middaugh said the three key words in efforts to increase U.S. beef exports are "pressure, persistence and patience." More pressure must be exerted in Washington, D.C. as well as in Tokyo, he said, to lower trade barriers. Market development "is not going to get done in six days or six years," he cautioned.

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Don Todd, vice president of operations for IGA, Inc., of Chicago, said producers and retailers, at opposite ends of the beef production-food chain, "ought not to have an adversary relationship... both need to be healthy."

The executive of the third largest retail food group in the U.S. stressed the importance of beef in anchoring a supermarket operation. In 1980, beef was the largest selling single item, accounting for 9.25 percent of total store sales nationwide, he reported. Sixty percent of the output of U.S. beef producers is marketed through retail food stores, Todd stated.

He pointed to beef's stronger position in food stores compared to pork and poultry. In 1981, two-thirds of the output of the nation's pork producers was merchandised through retail outlets but accounted for only 1.94 percent of store sales. Poultry accounted for 2.54 percent of total store sales.

Beef merchandising problems faced by retailers include adjusting the size of cuts to smaller family units, moving frozen meat and gaining more consumption of beef at breakfast and lunch, Todd said.

Consumers are reluctant to buy frozen beef in the store, but 60 percent of fresh beef purchased at the store is frozen at home, he pointed out.

SMALLER FAMILIES, "the explosion" in numbers of single-person families and more than 50 percent of wives now working changes the ingenuity of meat merchandisers, Todd said. As an example, "we're still looking for a way to cook a rib roast for two persons," he said.

Todd said many shoppers, of which an increasing number are male, identify a store by the quality of beef it offers. "Good beef brings people back to the store," he maintained, "while chicken is all alike."

Charles Jennings, vice president, public affairs, IBP, Inc., Dakota City, stressed a recurrent theme that producers are in the protein, not just the beef business. The beef industry is engaged in the production and mass marketing of protein, and as such competes with all other protein sources. "The principal competition in our (beef production) area is price," he added.

Commenting on concerns of many regarding "the beef industry in transition," Jennings said "the industry has been in transition since Day One... I hope it stays in transition." Changing conditions and challenges provide the opportunity for improvements, he said, urging feeders not to be afraid of transition. A key to the survival and thriving of the industry is the willingness and ability for individuals and organizations to change when change is desirable. Each segment of the industry is hampered by too many individuals unwilling to change, he charged.

Jennings said meat packers must depend on economy of scale in operations and the higher and better use of by products, called "the drop" in industry terms. Enhancing the commercial value of the drop "helps keep us in the beef business," he stated.

JENNINGS MENTIONED experiments in which beef tallow is emulsified in water and sprayed on leaves to form a coating which retards evaporation. Development of new meat products and better use of existing products must persist "to narrow the continuous gap between what we produce and what the consumer wants," he said. Jennings cited the trend toward more boxed beef in the industry. He said a USDA study, released Jan. 5, reported that boxed beef accounted for 49 percent of all federally inspected slaughter of steers and heifers in 1979.

Boxed beef is a process in which primal or subprimal cuts are sealed in airtight plastic bags and shipped from packing plants to distributors and retailers in boxes rather than in carcass form. The study showed that 54 firms (including IBP) with 82 plants—located mostly in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Texas, and doing both slaughtering and fabricating, accounted for 88 percent of all boxed beef production.

"Chuck" Schroeder, purebred and commercial beef producer, Palford, pounded hard on the theme that an individual producer "must merchandise his product, don't just sell it." He called on beef producers and feeders to do their homework much more thoroughly in knowing the kind of product they are producing, knowing more about the type of consumer who will be eating it, and knowing when and how to sell their product.

As the ability to identify superior individual animals is developed and adopted by increasing numbers of beef producers, "we need to move away from buying on the average," Schroeder said, a practice which he said "has encouraged mediocrity over the last century."

"Produce the best product you can, manage what you can," Schroeder recommended. Genetics, animal health and nutrition can be managed, he said, noting that too many producers "are still trying to be their own veterinarian," and "there are a lot of (producer) amateurs" in the area of beef cattle nutrition.

Far too many beef producers don't know what their cattle are worth at marketing time, Schroeder said. Four "musts" for cow-calf operations, he said, are "to know what they have to sell, what it's worth, how they (the cattle and their carcasses) will do after they leave (the producer's premises), and what it costs to produce a calf."

UNDERSCORING THE interdependence of various segments of the beef industry and the need to break down barriers in the food chain, Schroeder told feeders their responsibility "goes beyond the fence line and their customers" into the total system. Needed are cattle which will perform profitably for feeders and others in the industry as well, he said. The marketing system needs to "recognize the producer who takes responsibility seriously and pay him for what he's done."

He advised feeders to identify and feed the same type of cattle over the long haul to achieve "demonstrable predictability" in feedlot performance. This will require extensive recordkeeping and performance testing by feeder cattle producers, he pointed out.

As the ability to identify superior individual animals is developed and adopted by increasing numbers of beef producers, "we need to move away from buying on the average," Schroeder said, a practice which he said "has encouraged mediocrity over the last century."

"Produce the best product you can, manage what you can," Schroeder recommended. ### 4-H leader development set

4-H leaders are invited to attend a 4-H Leader Development Program which will be held on Monday, Jan. 31, at the Plainview United Methodist Church and Tuesday, Feb. 1, at the Christ Lutheran Church in Winer. Both programs will start with registration and refreshments at 9 a.m. and the program opening at 9:20 a.m.

Workshops will be held on five new or revised projects or activities. These include photography which will be presented by Bart Steward, extension communication specialist; careers which will be presented by John Orr, extension 4-H specialist; citizenship by Kenneth Schmidt, extension 4-H specialist; 4-H beef breeding and meat animals by Doyle Wolverton, extension 4-H extension animal science youth specialist; and youth environment society by Roy Stohler, extension 4-H, youth and CRD specialist.

Additional information will be supplied on the Junior Leader project; and County 4-H teen councils. This training is being provided by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Registration forms and additional information on the Leader Development Programs are available from the County Extension offices.

Barrow show scheduled

The planning committee of the Midwest Market Hog Show announced that the 31st annual show will be for barrow entries only. The show, sponsored by the George A. Hormel Co., the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, will be market show for purebred and crossbred barrows, a major change from past shows' barrow and gilt divisions.

Harry Hartley, Hormel Co. staff member and show superintendent, said the renamed Midwest Market Barrow Show will be March 19 at the Christensen Agricultural Park in west Fremont. The show, which annually attracts entries from Nebraska and several other states, will be judged by John Halstead of West Point.

Hartley said other aspects of the show will continue to operate as in the past with judging of entries at 8:30 a.m., followed by a hog judging contest for spectators at 10:30 a.m. A market barrow evaluation contest will be held from 1-2 p.m. with the show's championship judging done at 3 p.m.

Show entries must be postmarked no later than March 12, Hartley emphasized. Each exhibitor is limited to one barrow, and corporations and their employees to two entries. To qualify at show time, barrows must weigh not less than 200 pounds nor more than 240 pounds.

Entry blanks are available at extension offices, vocational agriculture offices and the livestock department, George A. Hormel Co., Fremont, Nebr. 68825.

Crop protection clinic at Norfolk

Economically hardpressed farmers faced with cutting operating expenses can learn about cutting costs of herbicides by attending a crop protection clinic Friday (Jan. 14) at the Norfolk Villa Inn.

This word comes from John Furrer, University of Nebraska extension weed specialist, who said the meeting also will feature recommendations on new weed control methods. The statewide meetings, now in their 10th year, drew record numbers of crop producers in 1982.

NU extension entomologists and plant pathologists join forces with agronomists to bring the newest information on pest control to farmers, Furrer said. Programs are tailored to each location to assure that relevant problems are covered, he added.

Farmers need not pre-register, but should arrive at each meeting site shortly after 8 a.m. to register in time for sessions which begin at 9 a.m., Furrer stated. Programs are available from extension offices around the state.

Livestock feeders to meet

The annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association is scheduled for Monday, (Jan. 17) at the Paddock Steak House in South Sioux City. Social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a Dutch treat dinner to follow at 7:30.

Burl Garvin, the past State of Nebraska Secretary of Agriculture, is the invited speaker. Election of Board of Directors and discussion of the upcoming membership drive are activities scheduled for the business meeting.

Wives and guests are invited to attend. Memberships will be available for anyone wanting to become a member or renew their membership.

Swine Housing Facilities Can Be Too Tight

A tight facility is necessary to reduce winter drafts and lower expensive fuel consumption. But two extension specialists from the Northeast Station, Mike Brumm and Dave Shelton, warn that facilities can be made too air-tight, especially if unvented space heaters are used.

Unvented heaters are not 100 percent efficient in converting fuel to heat. Even when properly cleaned and maintained, these heaters produce small amounts of carbon monoxide and other combustion products which are exhausted into the animal zone.

Improper maintenance or a dirty combustion chamber will result in an increase in the concentration of these gases and combustion products. Furthermore, for every gallon of fuel burned, approximately one gallon of water vapor is added to the air in the space being heated. It may be necessary to increase ventilation rates to remove these combustion products.

Producers using unvented heaters are urged to check all components of their ventilation system to assure that enough air is exchanged in the animal space to remove the added moisture and combustion products.

Failure to provide enough fresh air, which is tempting to do as the temperature plunges, can result not only in damp buildings but also in dead pigs. In farrowing houses and gestation areas, high concentration of carbon monoxide may not kill the sow but can result in increased fetal deaths, resulting in abortions or more stillborns.

In nurseries and farrowing houses, reducing the ventilation rates to conserve fuel not only increases the odors and gases but also increases moisture in the air. This often results in wet pans and wet pigs, which often leads to chilled and/or dead pigs.

For efficient operation, all heating and ventilating systems components must be clean and properly maintained. This is especially important where unvented or other direct combustion heaters are used.

Four Major Swine Diseases

Pseudorabies, TGE, Swine dysentery and Mange are the four main causes of economic loss among swine herds in Nebraska.

Pseudorabies is continuing to spread among swine herds because many producers are not isolating and retesting newly purchased animals and not furnishing clean boots and coveralls to visitors. Farmers who continue to dump dead pigs in the fields with manure spreaders could also cause the disease to spread.

TGE is another common swine disease. Another form, called Endemic TGE, is caused by a low level of immunity. The pig will start showing signs of TGE at 10 days of age instead of the usually two days. Since TGE normally affects the younger pigs, this type is usually not recognized as TGE, and may go untreated. Anytime there is a diarrhea problem in little pigs regardless of the age, producers should think TGE.

Swine dysentery, another swine problem, continues to spread because people don't recognize it. Dysentery can be controlled by using effective drugs plus good sanitation program. It is not necessary to depopulate, because the causative organisms live in the environment, not in the treated pigs.

Mange, a common problem of swine producers for many years, continues to plague many swine herds. Producers aren't aware of the anemia and other problems that mange can cause. To effectively eliminate the mange, the hogs must be treated twice at 10 day intervals.

Active members wanted

"You Are Not Alone" is the theme of concentrated membership drive plans by the Northeast Livestock Feeders Association, according to Deree Grahler, president of the organization in Pender.

"Our Board of Directors plans to hold a kick-off meeting Thursday, Jan. 20 at 8:30 a.m., at the Barrill Inn, Wakefield. Then, as we did last year, we will spend two days calling on neighbors to join or renew their membership in our Association, the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, and the National Cattlemen's Association. This three-way combination gives us the representation the livestock industry needs at the local, state and national level," he said.

Other officers and directors include: Rod Lander, Pender, Vice President and Membership Chairman; Norman Meyer, Wakefield, Secretary; Roger Tremayne, Walthill, Treasurer; Everett Moore, Winnebago; Neal McQuistan, Pender; Art Greve, and Sam Utech, Wakefield; Lowell Rethwisch and Darrell Rahn, Wayne; Gaylen Jackson, Allen; Gerlad Muller, Concord; Ernst Bartels and Walt Beerman, Dakota City; Marvin Rasmussen and Milo Birkley, Hubbard.

A strong and active membership is essential for effective representative in all matters concerning the livestock industry, Grahler said. Some of the concerns of our industry, he continued, included support for the proposed Regional College of Veterinary Medicine in Nebraska, and keeping watch over the animal rights movement, as well as state and federal legislation and regulations.

A primary activity of our local and state organization this year, he added, will be to gain passage of a Beef Check-Off Bill in the Nebraska Unicameral. These funds are needed to expand promotion of our product, he said, in addition to providing support for research and education about the nutritional values of beef.

416 BLUE LIGHTS

A total of 416 Blue Lights were bought for the Christmas trees at the Wakefield Health Care Center this year. The lights are given in memory of a deceased loved one or to honor living loved ones. The project is sponsored by the Hospital Auxiliary with Mrs. Gordon Bressler and Mrs. Gordon Bard in charge.

There were more lights purchased this year than in any of the previous ten years of existence. Last year's trees were decorated with 324 lights.

Letters were received from Florida, Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota and many former

GYMNASTIC CLASSES

A gymnastics class for elementary and junior high students will begin Saturday at 9 a.m. in the multi-purpose room at Wakefield community school. The 10 lessons will be taught by Jeff Sauser at a charge of $10. At the first meeting the classes will be organized according to the child's needs.

Checks for the course are to be made out to Northeast Technical Community College.

Adult education classes will commence the week of Feb. 7 at the school. Courses to be offered will include furniture refinishing, bridge, cake decorating, introduction to micro-computers, ballroom dancing, bookkeeping, small engine repair and a basic education course.

LIONS PLAN BOWLING

will be held at the Wakefield Recreation Center on the weekends of January 15-16, 22-23, 29-30 and February 5-6. Terry Baker will be tournament manager.

There will be men's single, doubles, teams and mixed doubles events. Bowling will be from 1-11 p.m. on Saturdays and 1-6 p.m. on Sundays. All prize money will be returned 100 percent, if anyone has a special time they would like to bowl send entries to Terry at Wakefield 68784 or call 287-2628 or the Recreation Center 287-2599.

ATTITUDE SURVEY

Residents of the Wakefield Community, including the rural area will soon have an opportunity to tell what they think is right or wrong with the community through a "Community Attitude Survey" according to an announcement from the Wakefield Community Club.

Don Kuhl, survey chairman, said a questionnaire covering nearly every phase of community, including the business and residential areas, recreation and community services will be circulated soon.

"The primary purpose for conducting the survey," Mr. Kuhl said, "is to find out where the community is doing a good job and where it needs to improve. With this information, we can proceed to develop a community development action program."

"We want to know how Wakefield measures up as a place to live, and the only way we can be sure we are getting a complete picture is by asking the people who live and work here."

"This survey is important because it will tell us where we are and now and will indicate what has to be done to make Wakefield a well-rounded community and a place where our young people will want to grow up and raise their families."

The questionnaire will be distributed to each home in town by volunteers on Saturday and Sunday, January 15-16. Rural residents will receive their questionnaire in the mail approximately the same time.

Letters will be sent out shortly to Community Club members and community minded citizens to help in distributing and collecting the surveys, according to Mike Salmon, president of the Community Club. He urges everyone to help in this project for a better Wakefield.

Wayne State College hosting Junior Academy of Science workshop

Wayne State College will be the site of the annual Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science workshop this Saturday, according to Ed Brogie, president of the Northeast Nebraska chapter.

The workshop, to be held in Wayne State's Carhart Science Building, involves students from a number of area high schools.

Last year's "workshop" was canceled due to bad weather.

THE WORKSHOP is divided into 17 different categories, including astronomy, microcomputers, photography and rocketry.

Participants will take part in two categories of their choice, spending the morning in one workshop and the afternoon in another.

"The workshop is a way to develop interest in some of these areas," said Brogie. "It's a way to promote science as well as get students of similar interests together."

AS OF TUESDAY, high schools signed up to take part included Randolph, Humphrey, Wisner-Pilger, Madison, Wausa, Silver Creek, Spalding, Spalding Academy, Homer, West Point, Newman Grove, Walthill, Tilden, Elkhorn Valley, Wayne-Carroll, and Laurel-Concord.

ENROLLMENT POLICY

Because adult education classes are partially supported by registration fees, we must reserve the right to withdraw a class offering if enrollment is not adequate. This will be done, however, only after those who do register are given the opportunity to continue the course in such cases for a slightly higher fee. High school students may enroll with special permission from parents and school authorities. Registration is not complete until all charges are paid.

SUGGESTIONS? Help us plan our next adult education program by completing the following and return it with your registration. Even if you are not enrolling for the winter program, your suggestions can assist us.

Frontier Days

MORE THAN 1,200 persons were treated to a free meal and a tour during the 13th annual Frontier Farming Days last week at Logan Valley Implement Company in Wayne. Visitors at the Valley Engine building watched films about new equipment, took snowmobile rides, looked over equipment and test drove tractors such as the new 15-hp speed John Deere 4850 and the four-wheel drive 4050. Youngsters participated in a pedal tractor pull and radio-controlled tractor driving contest. In photo at right, Jennifer and Erik Haglund check out some equipment. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rod Haglund.

WRANGLERS 4-H CLUB
Wranglers 4-H club will try for the third time to hold their annual achievement night postponed twice because of the weather. They will hold a pot-luck supper at 6:30 Friday at the Farmers Cafe in Allen. Those attending are to bring their own table service. Drink will be furnished.

Residents of Allen living along highway 9 experienced a bit of the old west on Sunday afternoon as a cattle drive was held with 103 head moved from two and a half miles south and west of Allen to about two and half miles north and west of Allen. The cattle owned by Frank and Kathleen Pleuger were headed down the road with the help of friends and neighbors with lots of help of Allen residents as they watched streets and alleys as the herd roamed down the highway which runs thru the east part of Allen. Frank and Kathleen appreciated all the help and the help appreciated the move which some of the youngsters and oldsters enjoyed as they saw a new sight and some remembered the days of yester-year, when this was more of a common occurrence.

Kevin Johnson joined the voting membership. Edward Fork, chairman, conducted the business meeting and Arnold Junck was acting secretary. Carl Peterson, treasurer gave a report. Lumir Buresh was re-elected Elder to serve with Arnold Junck and Murray Leicy.

John Peterson was elected to serve as secretary of the congregation, because of the recent death of Arnold Hansen. Lonnie Fork, Dennis Junck and John Peterson are Trustees.

Mrs. Clayton Schroeder and Brandon of Lincoln visited in the Ken Linafelter home Wednesday thru Sunday. They were Saturday afternoon supper guests of Jacki Schroeder of Dakota City.
