17 vehicles pile up, 1 hurt, in 5 storm accidents

Winds whip snow, cold across area

A winter storm took its toll on motorists near Wayne Tuesday as 17 vehicles were involved in five separate highway accidents. The accidents resulted in only one bodily injury. Joe Corbill of Wayne injured a leg and suffered facial lacerations when the car he was scooping out of a snow drift was struck by another vehicle. That accident was a five-vehicle pileup which occurred at about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, approximately 1 1/2 miles east of Wayne on Highway 35.

ACCORDING TO the Wayne County Sheriff's office report, Corbill was scooping his car out of a snow drift off the south edge of the highway when an eastbound vehicle driven by David Bloomfield of Waterbury hit the stuck car. An eastbound vehicle driven by Sara Miller then struck Bloomfield's vehicle. Another vehicle driven by Gerald Haglund of Wakefield, also eastbound, struck Miller's vehicle. The fifth vehicle involved in the accident was driven by James Martindale of Wakefield and also hit Miller's vehicle. A four-vehicle accident earlier Tuesday, about 2:15 p.m., also was investigated by the sheriff's office. David Luff, 37, of Wayne was attempting to pull out a stuck vehicle when his pickup was struck on the passenger side by a pickup driven by Robert Norris, 20, of Wayne. Lyle Anderson, 40, of Sioux City came along and struck the rear end of Luff's pickup, causing the rear end of Anderson's pickup to slide around to the ditch.

THE PICKUP sat sideways in the road when a pickup driven by Stephen Watler, 30, of Wayne collided with the driver's door. All vehicles were eastbound.

According to the report, the accident occurred in a snowstorm with visibility near zero. All vehicles suffered more than $250 damage. Highway condition was snow packed and icy.

State trooper David Headley of Wayne also responded to accidents Tuesday on Highway 35. A three-vehicle pileup and two-vehicle crash occurred 6 1/2 miles east of Wayne.

In another accident, between 1 1/2 and 2 miles east, three vehicles were involved. No reports or details were available yet Friday afternoon but Headley said there were no injuries in the accidents.

WAYNE WAS hit by four inches of snow and strong winds. The snow was light and resulted in heavy drifting. Only 17 hundredths of an inch of moisture was recorded by official weather keeper Pat Gross of Triangle Finance.

City buys bargain snowblower

IN A TIME of record-high inflation, the city of Wayne may have gotten the best bargain around. For $1,150 the city purchased a used snowblower from Wayne County, District 3 on Feb. 17, 1982. Another $350 was put into the snowblower for additional work, making the total cost about $1,500. A new snowblower the equivalent of the used one would cost approximately $30,000 according to Street Department Manager Vern Schulz. Schulz explained that this type of snowblower doesn't work well on county roads but is "great in the city." The city of Wayne loaded snow for many years with the use of loaders. It used to take 1 1/2 to 2 minutes to load a truck with snow, Schulz said. Now, with the new blower, a truck can be loaded in anywhere from 3 to 7 seconds. Five trucks are usually used with the machine. "It's worked like a peach this year. It works fine and we're tickled. This has been an ideal year to use it," Schulz said. In photo, Albert "Andy" Anderson operates the snowblower as Tim Pickinpaugh drives the truck.

Residents raise $18,000 for project

Winside restoring town landmark

When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

That familiar adage is particularly true for residents of the Winside community who, despite a depressed economy, have raised nearly $18,000 to restore a community landmark.

"This hasn't been just one person's effort, but the efforts of a lot of people," stressed town board member Nancy Warnemunde.

THE MONEY, which to date totals $17,762.26, is being used to restore the community's 44-year-old auditorium.

"It was in pretty bad shape," said Nancy, who serves on the town board's auditorium and park improvement committee.

The idea to restore the building, according to Nancy, was spurred several years ago by members of the Winside Federated Woman's Club who meet monthly at the auditorium.

Members of the Woman's Club decided the auditorium was in such bad shape that they formed a committee and approached the town board to see what could be done.

The committee's efforts prompted town board members to install new glass doors.

THEN IN 1981, following a community attitude survey, town board members learned that 80 percent of those responding felt more improvements were needed on the auditorium — even if it meant the use of tax monies.

The drive was underway. Fundraising efforts were kicked off with a $2,000 donation by the Winside State Bank.

The Winside Community Improvement Committee, an offshoot of the Federated Woman's Club, was asked to work as a collecting agent and line-up fund raisers.

Then came the bake sales, spaghetti suppers, a community play, golf tournaments, wrestling tournaments and basketball tournaments.

Winside's senior citizens joined in the effort by making a quilt, and Woman's Club members put together a cookbook which raised over $1,000.

All together, proceeds from the fund raisers totaled $3,437.98.

ADDED TO that was a matching funds contribution of $5,000 by the local branch of the Aid Association for Lutherans, who also sponsored a chili supper which grossed $600. Donations by private individuals, organizations and businesses totaled $8,724.28.

"We were overwhelmed when we added it all up and it came to well over $17,000," said Nancy, adding that the town board's original goal for auditorium improvements was $10,000.

"Times are tough," said Nancy. "We weren't sure what we could get done with only $10,000, but we thought it would be a start."

IMPROVEMENTS which have been made on the auditorium to date include the installation of two new furnaces, insulation, installing storm windows and repairing broken windows, and putting windows.

"Before," said Nancy, "the auditorium wasn't even open during the winter months because of the cost of heating the facility."

"There were occasional wedding dances during the summer months, and the annual alumni banquet."

Nancy said the town board has accepted a bid to paint the auditorium "from top to bottom," and plans to install new vinyl floor covering in the kitchen and carpet in the lobby.

NANCY PREDICTS that all of the planned improvements will be completed by the end of March.

"We'll be running out of money by that time," she smiles, adding that plans down the road include installing new drapes, refinishing the floor, and purchasing new tables and chairs.

Nancy said the town board has also hired a janitor to look after the newly remodeled auditorium, with his salary paid by the board and not from the improvement fund.

NANCY SAID community response has been very good, and plans are underway for a basketball tournament March 4-6 to raise money for adult recreation equipment to be used in the auditorium.

"The community as a whole has been behind everything 100 percent," smiles Nancy, adding that the facility is already rented for five consecutive weekends beginning May 1.

'The Hard Times' special

Sure, times are hard. But, you don't have to talk to too many oldtimers to find out that times have been harder. And, even some not so oldtimers, remember when times were harder. Of course, most youngsters and oldsters also will tell you that when those times got that tough, the tough got going.

THEY SURVIVED the droughts, the low farm prices, family and personal crises, depressions, recessions, insect plagues, dust bowls, bankruptcies, business reversals, foreclosures and a host of other family-farm and small-town disasters.

With a faith in God, a willingness to work and the instinct for survival, they pulled through it all with a next-year spirit that is unique to rural America.

The stories about those hard times and the spirit that brought the survivors through them contain valuable lessons about farm folks and small town residents in northeast Nebraska.

SO, IN KEEPING with that undaunted spirit! found right here at home, The Wayne Herald would like to share your hardship stories with our readers.

That's why we need your help. On Thursday, Feb. 24, The Wayne Herald will publish a special section called "The Hard Times."

It will be your special section, containing stories and photographs that recall the hard times you or your family have experienced over the years in northeastern Nebraska.

We are asking your help, but we will help, too, by collecting the stories and photographs and publishing them at no charge in a keepsake edition for all our readers.

THERE'S NOT MUCH time, so start digging into the family photo album and start reviewing your family's hard-times history.

Then, tell us about your hard-times experiences in a story written by you, or someone in your family, for publication in your special edition. Don't forget to tell us how you made it through the hardships and hard times. Perhaps the wisdom you, or your family gained, will serve as an inspiration to all of us in these hard times.

Stories can be typed or handwritten. All photographs will be returned. Be sure to include your name, address and telephone number on anything submitted to The Wayne Herald for the hard-times special section.

The Wayne Herald had planned to award a $50 first prize, a $25 second prize and a $15 third prize.

But, since times are so hard, first prize will be $43.83, second-prize will be $19.83, and third prize will be $11.83.

DEADLINE FOR stories and photographs, which will appear under your name, is 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 21.

By the way, we'll increase The Wayne Herald press run for your hard-times special section.

That way, you can pick up a few extra copies to send to friends and relatives who will, no doubt, remember the hard times you survived together.

We'll even drop the price of the extra copies from 28 cents to 13 cents, to help you through "The Hard Times."

Fundraising major goal

Wayne State President says next 10 years critical time

The Wayne State College Foundation executive committee met Jan. 27 with President Robert Carhart. First on the agenda was an analysis of the 1983 budget by Executive Director Dr. Lyle Seymour.

Seymour reviewed accounts of the Foundation as of Dec. 31, 1982, presenting a detailed list of fund sources and of their dispersal. Seymour said in the future a monthly review of accounts will be available to the committee.

WAYNE STATE College President Dr. Ed Elliott distributed copies of his fundraising brochure, entitled "1983-1993, a Decade of Dedication." Elliott addressed the committee on that theme, stressing the urgent need of financial support for the college so that programs of excellence may be maintained. He described the next 10 years as critical in view of the cuts in state aid and asked that the Foundation make fundraising its major goal in the coming decade.

THE OBJECTIVE of the first phase of the campaign, said Elliott, will be to raise $1 million, soliciting contributions to be used where need is greatest.

The goal of the second phase will be to raise a second million to increase the permanent endowment. "It is vitally important," said Elliott, "that a national alumni association be established since Wayne State alumni number more than 10,000 and are a significant source of funds."

WITH THAT end in view, a search for a person to direct the development of such an association is underway.

The new director will be in constant touch with alumni and will keep them informed as to budget needs, both immediate and long range, and will clearly specify those areas of need in his communication with alumni.

The proposed Wayne State College Alumni Association (WSCAA) will plan to incorporate existing regional alumni organizations and will help form new chapters where Wayne State graduates are numerous. Each area chapter will be encouraged to have its own slate of officers.

The WSCAA and the Foundation will have the common goal of supporting the college.

DR. SEYMOUR presented a detailed list of Foundation scholarships and the funding sources, a list of securities held by the Foundation, and a view of investments as of Feb. 1, 1983. The committee voted to accept the concept of the "Decade of Dedication" and to use the brochure as a working document.

A committee consisting of Kenneth Olds, David Ley and Adri Nab was appointed to refine it before it is presented to the trustees.

A statement of fundraising goals will be sent first to the two committees chiefly involved in that effort — planning and deferred giving, chaired respectively by Alan Cramer and Hilda Peiri — to be used by them as a blueprint in plotting their course for the future.

IN OTHER business, David Ley reported that his committee on the proposed printing of a trustee roster is prepared to go ahead on that project with the approval of the executive board. The vote to approve was unanimous.

New service at PMC

A NEW DEPARTMENT HAS been established at Providence Medical Center to provide patients with respiratory therapy. Pictured beside a pulmonary function machine, used to diagnose lung disease, is Gary Jordan of Austin, Texas. Jordan, a registered respiratory therapist, has been in Wayne since Jan. 17 to help set up the new program. According to hospital administrator Marci Thomas, a full-time accredited therapist will be hired this month to supervise the department. Mrs. Thomas said the new respiratory therapy department will allow patients who in the past were sent to area hospitals to be diagnosed and treated at Providence Medical Center. The public will be able to tour the new department during an open house planned in the future.

Most people today realize what an investment carpet and flooring are. But what many don't know is the best way to maintain their floor coverings. It's no surprise that the task is difficult. There are a variety of different floor polishes on the market. Waxes, polishes, strippers — are they even necessary?

THE SAME goes with carpet care: A wide array of products and methods of cleaning are advertised. Each has its advantages and disadvantages. Understanding these products and learning the proper application techniques will keep your floor coverings looking better and lasting longer.

To help you choose the best method of maintaining your floor covering the Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a leader training lesson called "What Goes Down Must Come Up — Floor Care." The lesson is open to all interested persons and will be held on Friday, Feb. 11, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arnold Wittler in Hoskins. For further information contact the Wayne County Extension Service at 375-3310.

Call-back auditions for 'Blithe Spirit'

Call-back auditions for "Blithe Spirit," the Wayne Community Theatre's spring play, have been scheduled Tuesday, Feb. 8 at 8 p.m.

Auditions will be held in Ley Theatre, located on the second floor of the Education Building on the Wayne State College campus. Dr. Helen Russell, a member of Wayne Community Theatre, said persons who were unable to attend previous auditions Jan. 30-31 are urged to attend Tuesday night's call-back.

"BLITHE SPIRIT," written by Noel Coward, will be staged March 26 and 27 in Ley Theatre and will be directed by Juli Burnay.

The play calls for parts for two men and five women, ranging in age from the early twenties to 65. Crew heads for the play were selected during a meeting last month of Wayne Community Theatre.

"BLITHE SPIRIT" is an unusual and improbable farce and was a smash hit of the London and Broadway stages.

The plot tells how novelist Charles Condomine invites an eccentric, breezy lady medium into his placid country home to learn the language of the occult.

LITTLE does Charles or his second wife, Ruth, dream that the seance staged by the medium will summon back Charles' deceased first wife.

Hilariously funny situations follow since only Charles can see or hear his first wife.

Lesson to focus on floor care

To help homemakers determine what is the best method of maintaining floor coverings, the Dixon County Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a leader training lesson entitled "What Goes Down Must Come Up — Floor Care."

The lesson will be offered on Monday, Feb. 14 at 1:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station near Concord.
