JOHN STRUVE calls up some information on Wayne State's energy management computer. The computer has helped keep track of and reduce energy consumption on campus.

Saving dollars

WSC's energy program working

By Randy Hascall

There was no concern for energy costs when Wayne State College was founded. Now, in a time of spiraling inflation and budget cuts, the college has concentrated on energy conservation in order to keep its head above water.

Wayne State's conservation program had a simple beginning in November of 1973 during the first Arab oil embargo. Over the past 9 1/2 years, the plan has grown into a relatively sophisticated program that is saving the college lots of money.

"One of the reasons for our success is a high degree of cooperation. The institution has always made a strong commitment to energy conservation," said John Struve, WSC's energy conservation officer. "The savings from our energy conservation program are making a significant impact on the budget cuts."

During the summer terms, window fans were purchased and students are now housed in either Morey Hall or Berry Hall.

During the energy crisis of 1974, heating controls in all campus buildings were inspected and repaired or replaced. Controls on the cast iron radiators in some dormitories were changed to provide maximum efficiency. A maintenance agreement provides for their inspection every two years.

During this time, it was discovered that Bowen's heating system worked wrong and that the steam coils in Carhart Science Building were built too big. Bowen's system was repaired and two-thirds of Carhart's coils were eliminated.

Struve said that energy consumption is watched "very closely." In December of 1980 an energy management computer was installed at Wayne State. It was hooked up to the largest consumers of energy—primarily the fan units and pumps in nine buildings.

Through a computer in Lincoln keeps everything in top operating order.

CONSERVATION WORK will continue at Wayne State and bids have already been approved to convert the old energy systems to variable air systems in the Carhart Science Building, Connell Hall, U.S. Conn Library and the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Other approved projects include control work in Benthack Hall, and control work and insulation in Rice Auditorium. The ceiling above the Rice Auditorium basketball gym will be insulated and new lighting will be installed. Pile and Neihardt Halls will be insulated.

One gradual, continuous project that is expected to add to Wayne State's energy savings is the insulating of pipes in the tunnels that run under the campus. Much heat is lost where pipes are not insulated or where the old insulation is wearing out.

During the summer, 1,700 feet of steam line is in use. The steam is under 125-pound pressure at approximately 350 degrees. Because of excessive heat loss, WSC plans to shut off as many steam pipes as possible. The move will require the replacement of some steam appliances with electrical appliances. The result may be a savings of between $6,000 and $7,000.

STRUVE SAID the college plans to submit another application for further funding in June. Projects for which funding will be requested include:

- Replacement of some equipment at the Wayne State power house. This would include replacement of individual electric meters.
- Rewiring of the electrical switching in Conn Library so that lighting can be turned off in areas of the building when not in use.
- Replacement of windows in Carhart and Fine Arts buildings with panels and double pane thermal glass.
- Adding rigid insulation in the side walls of some buildings.
- Lowering of the ceilings on the third floor of Hahn.
- Possible roof replacement at the Fine Arts Building and Student Union.
- Addition of vestibule doorways to some buildings.

STRUVE SAYS that former Wayne State President Lyle Seymour and current President Ed Elliott are both strong supporters of the energy conservation program.

The total utilities budget for the fiscal year from July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1983 is $1,235,592. That figures out to approximately $3,400 a day.

According to Struve's figures, the comparison from 1982 to 1972 shows: electrical consumption is down by 14.4 percent and the cost is up 2.4 times greater; steam consumption is down by 24.9 percent and the cost is 3.2 times greater; chilled water consumption is down by 69.5 percent and the cost is $188 more than in 1972.

Struve added that he is always open to suggestions. He pointed out that many of the successful projects began as ideas that were suggested.

A MEASURE of the effectiveness of the energy program can be made by applying 1982 utility rates to 1972 consumption rates. This year's cost avoidance because of the program amounts to approximately $375,000.

Struve said the program's goal is to have the lowest possible utility consumption while still fulfilling its academic obligations.

During the 1972 oil embargo, the City of Wayne was generating all of its own electricity using both natural gas and fuel oil. There was concern about the city running out of fuel so the college initiated a plan to conserve electricity.

From electricity, the savings efforts branched out to steam consumption then to chilled water consumption.

The program started simply. Lights and electrical devices were turned off when not needed.

ONE OF THE most successful conservation steps taken at Wayne State was the reduction of air conditioning. Instead of running air conditioning 24 hours a day, the college began shutting it off at 5 p.m.

Now air conditioning on the entire campus can be turned on or off at the central maintenance plant. The maintenance crew decides early each morning whether to turn on the air conditioning. "We try to be sensitive to individual concerns. If we are flexible, we feel everyone will be more cooperative," Struve said. "We don't make people suffer on hot days."

Since initiating its program, consumption of energy for air conditioning has dropped 70 percent, Struve said. The college now uses less air conditioning in an entire year than it used in one month before the conservation program was started.

WHEN STRUVE started Wayne's program to conserve energy, consumption throughout the campus was analyzed and data were collected. The changes which occurred over the past 10 years are numerous.

ESU will interview candidates for assistant administrator job

The board of directors of Educational Service Unit One has set aside one night next week to interview applicants for the newly created position of assistant ESU administrator.

Meeting Tuesday night at headquarters in Wakefield, board members voted to interview four of the applicants on Tuesday, March 8, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Educational Service Unit One office in Wakefield.

In a monthly report presented Tuesday night to the board, ESU administrator Harry Mills said 36 persons applied for the position.

That number was narrowed down to four by a screening committee comprised of board members.

The board also heard a report on negotiations between Educational Service Unit One and the ESU Education Association.

The 1982-83 contract dispute comes at a time when the ESU board and association would normally be opening negotiations for the coming 1983-84 school year.

Board President Claire Hansen reported that a misunderstanding last month involved going before a federal mediator in an effort to settle the dispute.

"WE ASSUMED we were going to try this, and we assumed they (the association) also agreed. But they didn't, so we go to the commission," Hansen told the board.

"I hate to see it, I wish it could have been settled the other way," said board member Leo Krampner.

Mills said hearings before the Commission of Industrial Relations in Lincoln regarding the dispute may be held the second week in April.

ESU staffers have been working the 1982-83 school year without a contract.

been an issue, it could be if the unit begins charging the public schools for the service.

"This is a matter that we've been arguing for five months now," said board member Bob Jacobs.

Jacobs said the real issue is that Wayne Public Schools are receiving two days of nursing services that they do not deserve.

JACOBS CHARGED Mills with authorizing nursing services to the Wayne Public Schools for five days a week instead of three days as stated in a proposal presented to the board last fall by Mills.

The proposal stated that for every 250 students enrolled in a school, one day of nursing services would be provided by the unit.

Wayne Public Schools has an enrollment of 836 students.

"It was stated in last fall's proposal approved by the board that Wayne Public Schools would receive three days of nursing services," said Jacobs.

"That was changed to five days a week, but only for one school," Jacobs said, adding "If you do it for one school then you've got to do it for all of them."

THE NEW assistant administrator, who must have experience as a superintendent or principal and have a six-year administrative certificate, will report to the administrator.

His job description includes studying and developing educational needs of schools served by the Service Unit, adapting special education approved for the schools, and directing activities of Service Unit professional and nonprofessional staff members.

In addition, the assistant administrator will supervise the instructional staff in the development and implementation of all services provided to the school and develop a program of public relations regarding the Service Unit concept.

THE BOARD also heard a report on negotiations between Educational Service Unit One and the ESU Education Association.

ESU staffers have been working the 1982-83 school year without a contract.

MILLS SAID although the proposal does call for one day of nursing services to a school for every 250 students enrolled, there are no written contracts with schools receiving the service.

"It is impossible to equally distribute health services throughout the area served by the unit," Mills added.

"Mills agreed to study the situation before fall and come up with something different."

Jacobs also reprimanded the board for not studying a grievance presented to the board by nurses employed by the service unit.

"We agreed with the nurses two months ago that we would study their grievance, and to date we have not done this," said Jacobs.

"I don't think we are being fair to these people," he added.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, the ESU board voted to accept a new special education contract for services to schools.

THE JOB description also calls for the assistant administrator to help administer the Service Unit's budgeted allocations, implement board policies and administrative rules, and serve as a resource person on all negotiations.

He will report to the Service Unit's central office administrative officers regarding personnel, equipment, supplies and services provided to the schools.

Terms of his employment call for an 11-month year with his salary and work year to be established by the board of directors.

Fire guts home

WINSIDE AND Wayne Fire Departments responded to a house fire Tuesday night at the Stanley Soden farm. Winside Fire Chief Russell Prince said the report was made at 9:20 p.m. enroute to the fire, Winside called the Wayne Fire Department for assistance. One Winside fire truck was out of service to have a new tank put on it and another pumper was needed at the Soden farm. The house didn't burn to the ground but was gutted. Prince said the fire may have been caused by an extension cord. No monetary estimate of damage has been made yet. The Soden farm is located 3 miles east and 2 1/2 south of Winside. It is 4 miles south, 3 west and 2 1/2 south of Wayne.

Laurel grads elected at WSC

Two Laurel-Concord High School graduates were elected president and vice president of the Wayne State College Student Senate last week.

Scott Sherry was elected president and Joe Olsen was elected vice president in the annual Student Senate race. The team netted 244 total votes to outdistance the other three teams.

Finishing second with 136 votes were Stacey Dagle and Bruce Yoder. Tying for third with 78 votes each were the team of John Vrba and Doug Peetzke and the team of John Swanson and Dan Wordekemper.

Write-in candidates received 52 of the total 578 votes.

Pre-kindergarten roundup

West Elementary School in Wayne invites all parents who will have children in kindergarten for the 1983-84 school year to visit the regular kindergarten class before kindergarten roundup.

Parents are encouraged to bring their child to see what will be expected of them and what kindergarten is really like.

Regular roundup for screening purposes is scheduled April 8. Parents interested in having their child visit kindergarten are asked to telephone the school office, 375-3854, and indicate what day they wish to attend.

Paper drive Saturday

Boy Scouts of Troop 174 will conduct a paper drive in Wayne this Saturday, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Residents with old newspapers are asked to have them bundled and set near the curb.

Laurel housing clinic

Great Plains Supply is sponsoring a housing clinic at the Laurel city auditorium Saturday, March 12, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Hours d'oeuvre will be served from 6:30 to 7.

The clinic, originally scheduled Saturday, March 5, was postponed.

A spokesman for the company said persons planning to buy or sell a home this year are encouraged to attend. Several professionals will be on hand to answer questions regarding legal matters, loans and real estate.

Persons planning to attend are encouraged to make reservations by telephoning (402) 256-273 collect. Persons who do not make reservations are still welcome to attend.

Conserving energy

SOME OF THE hot water and steam pipes which run through Wayne State's underground tunnel system are in need of insulation. A trough filled with sawdust currently offers insulation to one of the pipes. As part of WSC's energy conservation program, these pipes will be insulated to cut down on energy loss. In upper photo, Hahn Administration reflects the Wayne State energy conservation program. The old windows were replaced with energy efficient ones like these as one of WSC's projects. Many more improvements are planned to save energy and money.

Agencies receive United Way funds

Steve Brandt, chairman for this year's United Way drive in Wayne, has announced that agencies which the United Way helps support will receive 100 percent of the funds they requested.

Brandt said although money collected during this year's drive came short of the $17,600 goal set by the board of directors, all of the agencies will receive all of the money they requested.

Of the $17,600 goal set by the board, donations in Wayne totaled $16,877, representing 96 percent of the goal.

Agencies which the United Way helps support are Wayne Recreation Donation Fund, $5,300; Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts, $4,000; Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts, $3,000; Salvation Army, $1,250; Wayne Senior Citizens Center, $900; Arthritis Foundation, $1,350; Florence Criftenon Home of St. Louis City, $300; and American Red Cross, $200.

Only about 7 percent of the total goal, or $1,300, is budgeted for the United Way contingency fund and administration of the campaign.

Assisting Brandt as drive chairman this year was Larry Magnuson.

Members of the United Way board of directors are Cap Peterson, president; Loren Ellis, Merrill Hale, Galen Wiser, Vaughn Benson, Sheryl Jordan, Vicki Pick, Joyce Reeg, Jan Merriam, Ginny Ote and Jerry Schaefer.

Marilyn Carhart serves as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Catherine Ternent

Catherine Ternent, 72, of Wayne died Saturday, Feb. 26, 1983 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services were held Monday, Feb. 28 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. The Rev. Jim Buschelman officiated.

Catherine Ternent was born Dec. 14, 1910 at Ashington, England. She was united in marriage to Robert Ternent in 1931 in Ashington. The couple moved to Bedford, England in 1935 and in 1961 she moved to Lincoln to be with her daughter and son-in-law. In 1962 they moved to Wayne where she worked as a nurse and in the Wayne Hospital until retiring in 1973. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. James (Anne) Keating of Wayne; five grandchildren, Robert Keating, Laura Keating, Leslie Keating of Wayne, John Keating of Mesa, Ariz., Tracey Keating of Chadron; one brother, Martin Munneley of Bedford, England and one sister Annie Dean of Bedford, England.

She is preceded in death by her parents, husband, and three brothers.

Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, Wayne with Hiscox-Schumacher Funeral Homes in charge of arrangements.

Virginia McCain

Virginia McCain, 89, of Winside, died Sunday, Feb. 27, 1983 at the Wayne Care Centre.

Her body has been donated to the Nebraska Anatomical Association at Omaha for medical research and teaching. Her ashes will be returned later. A graveside service will be conducted at Pleasant View Cemetery in Winside with Father James Barnett officiating.

Virginia "Toi" McCain, the daughter of Arthur T. and Montie V. Chapin, was born in Winside, on Dec. 18, 1893. She was graduated from Winside and Wayne High Schools, the Ward Belmont College for girls, in Nashville, Tenn. She attended Wayne State College, Wayne, the Conservatory of Music, Lincoln, the University of Nebraska, Lincoln and Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass. She was baptized and confirmed in the Episcopal Church and was a member of St. Anselm's, Wayne.

She married and divorced Arthur McCain of Springfield, Mo. She had lived in Springfield, Booneville, St. Louis and Cap Girardeau, Mo. before returning to Winside. She was a member of D.A.R., A.A.U.W., League of Women Voters, was a 50 yr. member of Order of Eastern Star, also a member of the "White Shrine," Gamma Phi Beta Sorority.

Among her philanthropies were gifts to Our Lady of Lorelei for Heart monitoring equipment, the Multipurpose room in Providence Medical Center, Wayne, the Chapin Collection of Indian Artifacts, the Montie V. Chapin Music Scholarship for piano or organ and other gifts to Wayne State College. She was an active member of the Providence Medical Center Advisory Board at the time of her death.

Survivors include cousins, nieces and nephews.

Mrs. McCain has donated her body to the Nebr. Anatomical Assc. at Omaha, for medical research and teaching. Her ashes are to be returned later and a graveside service will be conducted at Pleasant View Cemetery, Winside, Nebr. with Father James Barnett officiating.

She was preceded in death by her parents.

New reporting law causes tip tiff

Many waitresses and waiters have contacted me to express strong opposition to recent changes in the law regarding reporting of tip income. Those changes are contained in Public Law 97-248.

I am afraid that there has been much misunderstanding about the new reporting law. P.L. 97-248 does not raise the tax on tips and it does not change the procedures for withholding the tax on tip income.

It only requires the employer to report what 8 percent the total restaurant/bar gross is per reporting period, as a benchmark for Internal Revenue Service consideration.

EMPLOYERS should continue withholding income tax payments only on the amount of tip income reported by the employee.

If an employer is withholding more than the tax appropriate amount for the tips reported by the employee, then an error is being made.

The purpose of the new requirement is to encourage complete, voluntary reporting of tip income by employees. The requirements are not intended to bring about unjustified withholding.

Anyone who has been reporting all of his or her tips accurately in the past should not see any difference in the amount withheld unless there is a difference in the amount of income.

IN THE LAST five years, the European Community has intentionally and unfairly moved to upset the world trade balance.

European nations are systematically producing agricultural surpluses and flooding the world market with these surpluses at less than production cost through agricultural export subsidies. It can be argued that those subsidies are financed through duties they impose on American agricultural imports to Europe.

Last week I was asked to testify before the Senate Agriculture Committee because of my experience at GATT conference in Geneva in November. At the conference for the first time all of the nations outside the European Economic Community lined up behind the United States to protest what Europe is doing.

I told the committee about information I had just received that Waldbaum Egg Co. of Wakefield, one of the nation's largest producers of processed eggs, has been taken out of the Japanese market by French egg exports — subsidized by the French government.

U.S. subsidies are aimed at reducing surplus production, but some nations, particularly in the French, are right there to move in on established markets.

The European take over of the sugar market was devastating and irresponsible. The American economy could absorb the loss, but many one or two commodity Carribbean nations were absolutely devastated and cannot meet their international debt service payments.

I talked also about the problem of low Japanese quotas on beef and citrus fruits, despite heavy demand in that country for those products. Rather than trying to get those quotas raised gradually, we should be pushing to have them eliminated altogether.

They can protect their own small domestic production by retaining 25 percent duty on our products and their own domestic subsidies. Their consumers would certainly benefit from lower prices and America would be a much happier trading partner. Free trade ought to work both ways.

THE AGRICULTURE Department announced last week that it would guarantee an additional $600 million in loans to Mexico for the purchase of American farm products.

A similar credit of $1 billion was offered to Mexico last fall.

The total of $1.6 billion will allow Mexico to buy 6.8 million tons of agricultural products from the United States including corn, soybeans, cottonseed, and eggs.

Tapping talent

A community is only as good as its people. And, in that regard, Wayne is many times blessed. The community is filled with talented, experienced and knowledgeable residents who firelessly contribute to the quality of life here. In fact, those kinds of contributions have become a tradition in Wayne. One need not go far to find that many midwestern communities would pay dearly for an opportunity to tap the talent resources we've come to bank on in Wayne.

Another unique characteristic of this community is that instead of being complacent about its unlimited people resources, leaders are constantly striving for a better way to utilize the talent, experience and knowledge that's available.

One result of that determination has brought about the Community Resource File, an idea whose time has come through the Wayne Community Council — an arm of the Wayne-Carroll School District.

The idea is exciting and those working hard to develop the file deserve a salute and the support of the entire community.

Tapping into Wayne's community talent bank for classroom enrichment goes well beyond the present.

It's a sign that this community is willing, even eager, to reach for tomorrow.

The resource file should offer an effective educational tool to build for those tomorrows...the todays that will continue to challenge community residents.

It could go a long way toward bringing the practical side of the work-a-day world into the educational system.

And, it could go a long way toward breaking down some of the artificial barriers that always seem to exist between education and practical living.

The potential for the resource file is without limit if community residents contribute to it in the spirit and tradition that has already made Wayne a unique place to live and work.

Indeed, people are our most valuable resource.

If we help with this project, we've filed our talent, experience and knowledge in a constructive effort to see that it stays that way.

Unemployment bulge

When the economic recovery gets in full swing, employment may move up faster than many believe.

An estimated 16 million new jobs will be needed in the next seven years to eliminate the current bulge in unemployment, to absorb new entrants into the job market and to assist disadvantaged and unskilled workers to find jobs.

The jobs can be achieved based on statistics of the recovery from the 1974-75 recession.

In that recession, employment bottomed out at 85.2 million in March, 1975. In the first two years of recovery, employment increased to 90.8 million. This was an increase of 5.7 million jobs, or an average of 234,000 jobs per month.

By May, 1981, employment had risen to over 101 million, an increase of 15.9 million jobs in a little over six years.

George Washington looked at the newly created federal government and gave future generations this warning: "Government is not reason, it is not eloquence—it is force! Like fire it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master, never for a moment should it be left to irresponsible action."

I repeat, "never for a moment should it be left to irresponsible action."
 A moment?

IRRESPONSIBLE action has been the hallmark of Congress for the past 20 years! While Congress fiddled, the fire George Washington spoke of exploded into a conflagration as federal spending and the national debt tripled in the last decade alone.

And yet the politicians look up at us with large cow eyes and tell us that they certainly mean well, but—so sorry—much of the federal budget is "uncontrollable."

By this they mean that the pay and pensions of government bureaucrats and now more than 30 percent of the entire federal budget is automatically indexed to increase with inflation.

These "entitlement" programs—funny how bureaucrats and welfare recipients are "entitled" to money you earned—grow like Topsy without any vote by Congress.

But Congress is hardly the innocent bystander here. Congress itself created this problem when it indexed federal pensions to the Consumer Price Index in 1962. The bureaucrats and recipients of federal giveaway programs knew a good thing when they saw it and the lobbyists went to work.

SOON, ALL federal pay and many government programs received annual automatic cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs). Congress put federal spending on automatic pilot and walked away.

The costs to taxpayers have been staggering.

Between 1970 and 1982, the automatic COLAs have cost taxpayers over $500 billion! What was Everett Dirksen's comment: "A billion here, a billion there and pretty soon you're talking real money." Well, $500 billion is real money in my book. It is half our national debt.

And if the runaway growth of these COLAs continues unchecked, the bill will climb to over one and a half trillion dollars by 1988. And that money is going to come from one source—your paycheck.

EVER WONDER why welfare payments are skyrocketing, while working men and women are struggling to make ends meet? Well, for starters, 48 percent of the growth in transfer payments over the last 12 years is a result of the automatic COLAs.

In 1982 alone, federal spending was $136 billion higher than it would have been without COLAs. The deficit was $110.6 billion.

Had Congress not embarked on the tragedy of indexing government spending there would have been a budget surplus last year—not a deficit. And the politicians would not be streaming like lemmings to demand higher taxes from the American people.

These figures are an indictment of Congress and its "irresponsible action" that George Washington warned us against.

THE ANSWER is inescapable. Congress cannot stop the growth in federal spending until it takes its lead foot off the accelerator and this means repealing or reforming the cost-of-living adjustments. And what's more, Congress knows this. No, my dear congressman, COLAs and federal spending are not "uncontrollable," they are simply left uncontrolled—by you.

Legislative debate continues over proposed income tax hike

The Legislature went back to work Tuesday after a four-day recess for a little rest and recuperation. Thirty days of the 90-day session are behind us, but a tremendous amount of work remains to be done before we can go home.

In floor debate last Wednesday, LB 59 successfully advanced to select file or second reading.

This is the bill that would raise the income tax rate to 20 percent of our federal income tax retroactive to Jan. 1.

THE VOTE was close, 25-20. Final passage of the bill still seems doubtful because of the general disagreement over whether 20 percent is the correct rate or whether the economy shows signs of recovering enough to bring in added revenue without raising the tax rate.

The fate of LB 59 will probably be decided on select file where prolonged debate is expected over several amendments waiting to be attached to the bill.

In committee action Tuesday, the revenue committee listened to proponents and opponents of LB's 12 and 47, which would impose a sales tax on services.

I am glad to report that LB 47 was killed by the committee Wednesday morning. However, LB 47 remains. It is not clear at this time what the committee intends to do with this bill.

ON WEDNESDAY afternoon, the Judiciary Committee held a public hearing on LB 588. This bill would further increase the penalties for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

The mandatory penalties for first and second offense are changed to the minimum penalties and a harsher maximum is created.

For example, first offense is not punished by a mandatory sentence of seven days imprisonment, $200 fine and six months revocation of driver's license.

This would now be the minimum sentence allowed, unless probation is given, and the maximum is increased to three months imprisonment, $500 fine and six months revocation of license. In case of probation, the mandatory suspension of license would be increased from 60 to 90 days.

PERHAPS THE most interesting debate of the week occurred during consideration of LB 199. It would raise the permit fee for entry into our state parks, Ponca State Park, for example, by 100 percent, from $5 to $10.

This is a per vehicle fee. Duplicates were eliminated last year. Advocates of the bill pushed aside all amendments, some of which would have lowered the fee and others which would have allowed for duplicate permits.

I supported these amendments because I feel that raising the entry fee to $10 per vehicle will keep local people from using and enjoying our state parks.

Few people are going to pay $10 for the opportunity to enter Ponca State Park for a drive around the park or an afternoon picnic.

THE SPONTANEOUS trip to the park on a warm afternoon won't happen as often.

These are activities which those of us who live close to a state park used to enjoy but will surely think twice about now.

If any fees need to be raised, I would prefer raising camping or cabin fees for those who use those facilities. Despite the efforts to amend the bill, it advanced to second reading on Thursday.

bridal showers

Miss Peggy Bowers

Two showers were held recently for March bride-elect Peggy Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers of Carroll.

Thirty-five guests from Carroll, Randolph, Belden and Wayne attended a shower Saturday at the Methodist Church fellowship hall in Carroll.

Hostesses were Mrs. Robert I. Jones of Wayne, and Mrs. Ronald Rees, Mrs. Melvin Dowling, Mrs. Keith Owens, Mrs. John Rees, Mrs. John Williams and Mrs. Darrell French, all of Carroll.

DECORATIONS were in the bride's chosen colors of ivory, seafoam green and yellow. The hostesses presented the honoree a corsage.

Mrs. Clarence Morris and Mrs. Dean Owens were winners of a game.

Mrs. Rick Backer and Mrs. Bruce Strathman, both of Randolph, assisted with the gifts. Gift carrier was Diane French. Mrs. John Bowers poured at the salad luncheon.

AUNTS OF Miss Bowers were hostesses for a bridal shower Sunday at the Methodist Church fellowship hall in Carroll, with 30 relatives attending.

The guests were from Carroll, Randolph, Creighton, Norfolk, Winside, Wayne, Pierce, Belden, Pender and Columbus.

Hostesses were Mrs. Don Harmer of Norfolk, Mrs. Herb Willis and Deanna of Winside, and Mrs. Marvin Eckert and Tracy of Pierce.

Mrs. Rick Backer and Mrs. Bruce Strathman assisted with gifts, and Deanna Willis and Tracy Eckert were gift carriers. Mrs. John Bowers poured at the luncheon.

MISS BOWERS will become the bride of Dave Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hay of Belden, on March 26 at the Presbyterian Church in Laurel.

Allen sweetheart royalty

ALLEN HIGH SCHOOL seniors Pam Kavanaugh and Troy Harder were crowned king and queen during the annual FHA-FFA Sweetheart Dance Saturday night at the school. Attendants to the couple were juniors Kevin Chase and Tami Jewell, sophomores Shawn Mahler and Amy Gotch, and freshmen Brian Malcom and Michelle Greenough. Theme for the dance was "Two Less Lonely People." Master and mistress of ceremonies were Kirk Hansen and Karma Rahn.

Carroll residents observe 60th wedding anniversary

Friends and relatives gathered at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll Sunday, Feb. 20 to celebrate the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morris.

A carry-in dinner was served at noon, followed with an open house reception from 2 to 4 p.m.

Assisting with serving were Mrs. Clarence Morris, Pat Morris, Mrs. Dean Owens, Mrs. Keith Owens and Mrs. John Rees.

Hosts were the couple's children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Morris (Joyce) Sandahl, all of Carroll. There are five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

THE 125 guests were registered by Charles Morris and Ed Sandahl, both of Carroll, and John Sandahl of Wakefield.

The guests attended from Lewistown, Mont.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Omaha, Fremont, Nicksen, Norfolk, Wayne, Carroll, Wakefield, Winside and Hoskins.

Gifts were arranged by Mrs. John Sandahl of Wakefield and Jennifer Sandahl of Minneapolis.

JENNIFER Sandahl gave the welcome for the afternoon program.

Elizabeth Claussen of Carroll, and Jennifer, Megan and Tammy Sandahl of Wakefield sang. They were accompanied by Mrs. Delbert Claussen, who also played several piano solos.

Music also included piano solos by Mrs. Ruth Van Hying of Lewistown, Mont., and a piano duet by Mrs. Delbert Claussen and Elizabeth. Mrs. Etha Fisher read an original poem, entitled "This is Your Life Marg and Lloyd."

The Rev. Gail Axen spoke, and the program closed with group singing.

Pastor Axen also had a special prayer for the couple during Sunday morning worship services at the Congregational Church.

THE ANNIVERSARY cake, baked by Mrs. Lonnie Fork of Carroll, was cut and served by Mrs. John Sandahl and Charles Morris.

Mrs. Delbert Claussen poured, and Jennifer Sandahl served punch.

MORRISSE were married in the Presbyterian parsonage at Carroll on Feb. 26, 1923 and have lived at Carroll since that time.

Since 1954 they have resided on a farm three and a half miles west of Carroll.

Lloyd is a lifelong member of the Congregational Church west of Carroll, and Mrs. Morris has been a member there since their marriage.

Varsity band plans concert

The 26-member varsity band of Wayne-Carroll High School, under the direction of Ron Dalton, will present its annual mid-year concert on Tuesday evening, March 8, in the high school lecture hall.

The public is invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. program. Admission will be $1 for students and adults.

FEATURED ON the program will be a French horn solo performed by Dawn Dreescher. Dawn was selected a member of McDonald's All-American Band this past year.

The work, entitled "Moroccan De Concert," was written by Saint-Saens and the band arrangement is by Douglas Nelson. An additional feature of the concert will be music from the roaring twenties.

Presented as a nostalgic night club review, these selections will include a master of ceremonies and dancers.

Immanuel ladies plan bake sale, guest day

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church held its regular monthly meeting Feb. 17. Hostesses were Mrs. Elray Hank and Mrs. Arnold Roeber.

Vicar Bowly opened with a presentation of "Chosen," taken from John 15:16. He closed with devotions and prayer.

MRS. GILBERT Rauss gave a reading, entitled "Are You," and welcomed guest Mrs. Bernard Pehrson.

The visitation report was presented by Mrs. Eimer Schrieber and Mrs. Gilbert Rauss.

Members voted to sponsor a bake sale on April 23 and hold a Guest Day meeting on May 17. The Aid will send a centennial plate and history book to the Concordia Historical Institute at Seward.

THE GROUP honored the February birthdays of Mrs. Laverne Wischof, Mrs. Merle Roeber and Vicar Bowly.

Named to the visiting committee for March were Mrs. Elray Hank and Mrs. Merle Roeber. The cleaning committee is Mrs. Gary Nelson, Mrs. Dale Lessman, Mrs. Larry Echlenkamp and Mrs. Oscar Gemelke.

Next evangelism at the Wakefield Health Care Center will be March 14.

Next regular meeting is scheduled March 17 with Mrs. Marvin Nelson and Mrs. Laverne Wischof serving.

Open house at Ponca

Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen will be honored for their silver wedding anniversary during an open house reception Sunday, March 6 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Ponca Fire Hall.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend. No other invitations are being issued.

The event is being hosted by their children, Monica Rasmussen of Sioux City and Patricia Ingram of Wichita, Kan. Rasmussens were married Feb. 17, 1958 at Dixon.

SUE JUHLIN works the ball in.

Lady Wildcats reach finals of NAIA District 11 playoffs

Thanks to clutch free throw shooting, the Wayne State Lady Wildcats are in the finals of the NAIA District 11 playoffs.

Wayne State made 8 of 10 free throws down the stretch to pick up a 57-52 semifinal win over Concordia College Tuesday night in Rice Auditorium. The Lady Cats will now face the winner of Wednesday night's Midland-Kearney State ball game. Midland entered that game ranked third in the country.

"It's nice to be in the finals and it's nice to claim two victories back-to-back," WSC coach Jan Jirsak said after Tuesday's win. Her team defeated Kearney State 62-56 Monday night to earn the home court advantage in Tuesday's semifinal round game.

TUESDAY'S WIN gave the Lady Cats a 15-18 record. That mark is the highest number of wins in Jirsak's collegiate coaching career. Concordia finished its season with a 22-5 record.

Wayne State's final basket came with about three minutes to play when Sherri Campbell scored to put the hosts on top 49-47. The final eight WSC points were scored on free throws.

A pair of free throws by Janet Lee put Wayne in front 51-47 with 2:46 to go. The lead remained at four points as Sue Juhlin made one free throw for a 52-48 count and Donetta Shultz added two for a 54-50 lead.

Two free throws by Juhlin with 32 seconds remaining put the game out of reach at 56-50. The final WSC point came on a free throw by Jackie Schimonitz.

THE SCORE was tied a dozen times in the game. Wayne State broke away from a 10-10 tie with 11 consecutive points for its biggest lead. Lee made four of those points. By the intermission, Concordia had gotten back within four points at 25-21.

The Lady Bulldogs gained the lead in the second half but never got further than three points on top.

"I was a little nervous. We passed-up some outside shots that we should have been taking. But it was a good team effort. We got the job done," said Jirsak.

The coach praised Juhlin for her fine performance. The 6-0 junior saw considerable action as starters Deb Nygren (6-1) and Robbie Lehr (5-11) got into foul trouble. Nygren fouled out with 6:21 left to play and Lehr fouled out with 3:23 remaining.

JUHLIN FINISHED the game with 13 points and 9 rebounds. Lehr scored 12 points and had 6 rebounds. Campbell scored 12 points. Janet Lee scored 8 and Schimonitz scored 7. Shultz dished out six assists while Lee and Lehr each tallied three steals.

The Lady Wildcats made 22 of 64 shots for 34 percent and hit 13 of 18 free throws for 72 percent. Concordia also made 34 percent of its shots but made just 67 percent at the line. The hosts held a 42-39 rebounding edge.

Kearney downed Wayne State's women claimed the best of three series against rival Kearney State this season by trimming the Lady Lopers 62-56 Monday night at Platte College. WSC won the first meeting of the two teams but KSC won the second.

Monday's game determined semifinal pairings for the NAIA District 11 playoffs. The win matched Wayne against Concordia on the Lady Wildcats' home court Tuesday night. Kearney had to play of Midland Wednesday night.

Free throws were a major factor in Monday's win as Wayne State was outshot from the floor. The Lady Wildcats didn't hit well from the free throw line but got 34 opportunities and made 16. Kearney made just 6 of 17.

WSC HIT 42 percent of its field goal attempts while Kearney made just 25 baskets in 91 attempts for 27 percent. The Lady Cats were outrebounded 60 to 48.

Deb Nygren led the Cats with 16 points and 7 rebounds. Jackie Schimonitz scored 11 points. Robbie Lehr scored 10 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. Donetta Shultz and Sue Juhlin each scored 9 points. Shultz made 6 assists and Janet Lee had three steals.

Team scoring: Sherri Campbell 0, Janet Lee 4, Carol Durkee 1, Jackie Schimonitz 11, Donetta Shultz 9, Robbie Lehr 10, Deb Nygren 16, Sue Juhlin 9.

Double overtime win

Wayne rec teams are busy

An exciting double overtime win by the Wayne eighth grade boys over the Omaha Gladiators highlighted a full weekend for Wayne's junior high recreation basketball teams.

Wayne nudged the Gladiators 51-50 Sunday afternoon in the final weekend game. The boys B team lost 25-51 and the eighth grade girls lost 29-35. On Saturday, Wayne's boys were beaten 44-35 by Fremont and Wayne's girls lost 30-29 to the Fremont girls.

Tournament time for the Wayne teams is approaching with the eighth grade boys scheduled to compete in the Lincoln Y Tournament Saturday and Sunday, March 12 and 13. The boys and girls will both participate in the Fremont Y Tournament Friday and Saturday, March 25 and 26.

WAYNE 51, GLADIATORS 50: The Omaha Gladiators missed two free throws in the final seconds of the second overtime as Wayne's eighth grade boys held on to victory Sunday.

The score was tied at 44 at the end of regulation. Wayne held a six-point lead in the first two quarters and an eight-point advantage in the third before Omaha rallied. Wayne's only fourth quarter points came on baskets by Bill Liska, Russell Longe and Jason Jorgensen.

In the first overtime, Ted Lueders scored Wayne's only basket. Jorgensen scored four points and Longe added one free throw in the second overtime. Four Wayne players scored in double figures. Lueders led the way with 14 points, Longe scored 11, Jorgensen scored 10 and Troy Wood scored 10. Liska made four points and Jon Stoltenberg added two. The locals improved their record to 8-2.

OMAHA 51, WAYNE B TEAM 25: In the B team game between Omaha and Wayne, the Gladiators thumped the Wayne seventh and eighth grade B team.

A 20-4 scoring advantage in the second quarter provided most of the difference in the ball game. Kevin Griess and Mark Creighton scored eight points apiece to lead Wayne. Bill Liska, Tom Miller and Tom Baier each added two points.

OMAHA 35, WAYNE GIRLS 29: The Wayne eighth grade girls were in the ball game until late in the fourth quarter but ended up losing to the Gladiators Sunday afternoon.

The score was tied at the half and Wayne was only one point down with one quarter left to play.

Cindy Brown led the hosts with 10 points. Jodi Diltman scored 9, Kecia Corbit scored 6 and Shelly Pick and Kathy Mohlfeld scored one basket apiece.

Gladiators	4	9	11	5-29
Wayne	5	8	12	10-35

The loss dropped Wayne's record to 3-4.

FREMONT 44, WAYNE 25: After getting off to a slow start the Wayne eighth grade boys fought an uphill battle before losing to Fremont on Saturday.

The hosts were down 2-8 by the end of the first quarter and played a pretty even ball game from that point on.

Ted Lueders topped Wayne scoring with 18 points, Jon Stoltenberg and Jason Jorgensen scored four each, Ted McCright scored three, Mark Creighton scored two, Troy Wood scored two and Kevin Griess scored two.

Fremont	8	10	13	13-44
Wayne	2	12	10	11-35

WAYNE GIRLS 30, FREMONT 29: The Wayne eighth grade girls held off a Fremont rally to cling to a one-point win Saturday in Wayne.

The hosts built up an 11-3 lead by the end of the first period and never let Fremont catch up. Shelly Pick scored all of Wayne fourth quarter points with four free throws to protect the lead.

For the game, Pick and Kecia Corbit each scored eight points. Cindy Brown hit seven, Jodi Diltman scored five and Kathy Mohlfeld added a bucket.

Broomball champs

Imagine sliding around on a hockey court with a broomstick in your hands trying to chase after a plastic ball.

That's how some Wayne State College students spent their weekend. A group of WSC students competed in a "broomball" tournament between periods of the Sioux City Musketees hockey matches this weekend.

Wayne State won the four-team tournament by defeating Donnelly Marketing 1-0 in the first round Saturday. In the other first round game, the University of South Dakota beat Morningside.

On Sunday, WSC defeated USD 1-0 in the title game. The championship team was composed of Sabrina Martinson, Lindsay Boyer, Deb Nygren, Steve Hawkins, Rob Franklin, Joe Falcone and John Krebsbach. All live in Moray Hall.

I wasn't lucky enough to watch the action but guess that broomball is played like hockey. The players, wearing tennis shoes instead of ice skates, try to knock a plastic ball into the goal with a broom.

Big name basketball camp

Talk about big name players at a basketball camp! I'll match the big names at the Lipscomb College (Nashville, Tenn.)

against just about any camp in the country. Lipscomb coach Don Meyer (son of Don and Edna Meyer of Wayne) has lined up Larry Bird, Dominique Wilkins and Kyle Macy for his 1983 Bison Basketball Camp. The camp has grown from 188 campers in its first year to 1,250 last summer.

This year, Meyer predicts that as many as 1,800 campers could be on the Lipscomb campus during the eight sessions. It's the largest summer basketball camp in the South.

As if Bird, Macy and Wilkins weren't enough to attract campers, Meyer has lined up successful coaches from across the country and Converse is giving away a pair of basketball shoes to each camper.

Practicing outdoors for once

Send this bit of information in to Ripley's Believe It or Not: the Wayne State College baseball team practiced outside prior to its annual southern trip.

Coaches Neil Blohm and Bill Schwartz reported Tuesday that it has been many years since weather has permitted the Wildcats an opportunity to practice outdoors. Indoor practice sessions certainly help players but these are replacements for an outdoor workout.

Wayne State has practiced outside at least three or four times and will be heading south this weekend. With pitching a question mark, let's wish the Cats luck on their trip.

The WSC softball team also practiced outside this week. A soggy field and temperatures that dropped a little on Tuesday didn't keep the Lady Cats from preparing for their opener.

Stories were lost

Several individuals brought it to my attention this week that no writings appeared in the paper covering the Wayne-Pierce boys basketball game or the Wayne High freshmen in the Norfolk Tournament.

I remember writing the articles but looked back and found out that they didn't ever appear in the paper.

Perplexed, I looked back on my computer terminal files and discovered that the stories were there. Apparently, I forgot to mark the files and the articles were never printed. Somehow their absence was overlooked in last week's five-page sports section.

I apologize to the coaches, players and readers for the inconvenience caused by the mistake and promise to watch more carefully in the future. Thank you for bringing it to my attention.

Devils start in the hole; can't pull off the upset

Very few teams can spot a ball club like Columbus Lakeview a 10-point head start and expect to win.

That's what happened to the Wayne High Blue Devils Saturday afternoon as Lakeview ended Wayne's season 64-46 in the first round of Class B-3 districts at Northeast Tech in Norfolk.

The Vikings scored the game's first 10 points and the Blue Devils couldn't ever quite pull themselves out of the hole.

WAYNE TRAILED 3-12 after one quarter of play but got back within five points several times in the second quarter. In the first half, the Devils missed the front ends of five one-and-one situations.

The second quarter play of Jeff Jorgensen brought Wayne back within striking distance. Jorgensen, who scored eight points in the second period, hit two free throws to make the score 7-12. His layup kept the Devils within five at 9-14.

Don Larsen connected on two free throws and Shaun Niemann hit a basketball as the five-point deficit was maintained at 13-18. Two free throws and a basket from the outside by Jorgensen got Wayne within four points at 17-21. Wayne never got closer.

By the half, Lakeview had opened up an eight point lead again. And in the second half, the Vikings came out tough to build a 15-point lead. Niemann started Wayne's final rally when he hit a three-point play to cut the lead to 10 points.

LARSEN AND NIEMANN kept Wayne within seven points and Steve Overin made a 25-foot jumper at the buzzer to make the score 36-43. Overin also hit his next two shots from the 20-25 foot range as the Devils stayed within seven points in the fourth quarter.

That was too much ground to make up in the final period and Lakeview pulled away. The win advanced Coach Joel Parks' ball club into semifinal round play against cross-town foe Scotchus. Scotchus had been beaten twice by Lakeview this year but defeated the Vikings Monday night.

In the Wayne-Lakeview game, Larsen scored 12 points and Niemann scored 11. Jorgensen finished with 9, Todd Schwartz scored 8 and Overin scored 6. Schwartz spread his scoring out in the final three quarters. For Lakeview, Rory Went scored 21 points and Jeff Muhle scored 14.

Wayne coach Bill Sharpe said he thought his players gave a good effort. The Blue Devils, who finished their season with an 8-11 record, made 18 shots in 53 attempts for 34 percent. Lakeview hit 22 of 48 for 46 percent.

At the free throw line, Lakeview outshot Wayne 69 percent to 63 percent. The Blue Devils, who were outrebounded 27 to 35, had 11 offensive boards to 9 for Lakeview. Larsen led Wayne with 7 rebounds, Schwartz had 5 and Overin had 5.

"When you're down that far it's tough to catch up," Sharpe said. "The kids seemed tight when the game began. They froze and didn't get after the ball. We did beat them in the middle quarters."

4th quarter slip costs Wayne boys

A good effort ended in a loss as the Wayne Blue Devils were defeated 70-63 by the Pierce boys in their final regular season game.

The game was tied entering the final period but Pierce outscored Wayne 18-11 in the last eight minutes.

"They have a good ball club. They're as good as we've played," Wayne coach Bill Sharpe said. "We really played pretty well."

THE BLUE DEVILS fell behind in the middle of the fourth quarter and Pierce scored at the buzzer to pad its final margin of victory.

For the game, Don Larsen scored 20 points, Todd Schwartz scored 14 and Jeff Jorgensen scored 10. Leading rebounders were Larsen with 16 and Overin with 7. Pierce was led by Anderson with 24 points and Kruger with 19.

"The kids did a pretty good job. Pierce is big and tough on the boards," said Sharpe. "I think we're playing as well as anyone going into the district."

Wayne made 24 of 71 shots from the field for 34 percent while Pierce hit 29 of 70 shots for 41 percent. The winners held a rebounding advantage of 47 to 39.

THE BLUE DEVILS took an 8-10 record into the Class B-3 district Monday night at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

In Saturday's junior varsity game, Wayne finished the year with a 12-2 record by edging Pierce 54-52. Left Olson earned a last-second 15-foot jumper to win the ball game.

Brad Moore scored 14 points, Olson scored 10, Carl Urwiler scored 8, Pete Warne scored 6, Kevin Maly scored 6, Jim Poehlman scored 4, Rick Nelson scored 4 and Layne Marsh scored 2.

Freshmen tripped in tourney final

A late charge by South Sioux City kept the Wayne freshman boys short of reaching their quest for a Norfolk Tournament championship on Saturday, Feb. 19.

The Blue Devils won their first round game 69-47 over O'Neill but lost 58-53 to South Sioux in the championship game.

In the title contest, Wayne led almost all the way but South Sioux scored the final nine points to steal the victory. "It was a rough, physical ball game and we played hard," coach Duane Blomenkamp said.

WAYNE'S LEAD was lost after Scott Baker, Dan Gross, Brent Pick and Tom Perry all fouled out. At that point, South Sioux began its comeback.

The Blue Devils completed their season with a 7-4 record. Gross led the locals with 15 points, Perry scored 12, Pick scored 10, Shannon Dorcsey scored 8, Baker scored 5 and Casey Nichols scored 3.

The win over O'Neill was led by three players in double figures. Gross scored 21 points, Perry scored 16 and Pick hit 12. Nichols had 8 points and Baker scored 6 while Dorcsey, Andy Hillier and Scott Milliken each added two points.

In that game, Wayne went scoreless in the first four minutes. The score was tied 31-31 at the half and the Blue Devils broke the game open in the third period.

O'NEILL'S LEADING scorer had 20 points in the first half but was injured near the end of the third quarter and didn't score in the second half.

Blomenkamp said that factor probably led to Wayne's large margin of victory in what could have been a close game.

"I thought we played real well and did a lot better job of playing defense in the second half," said Blomenkamp.

Season finale Doane surprises Wayne women

It was a disappointing regular season finale for the Wayne State Lady Wildcats as they dropped a 53-35 contest to the Lady Tigers of Doane College on Friday in Crele.

Wayne and Kearney have identical 5-2 marks in NAIA District 11 play and have earned positions in the upcoming playoffs.

A lack of consistent offense was the downfall for the Lady Cats in their 53-35 loss to Doane. After being down 29-20 at the half, Wayne pulled to within two points, 32-30, with twelve minutes left before both teams went cold and were unable to score in the next four and a half minutes.

The Lady Tigers thawed their scoring attack by scoring 13 straight points to seal the win before the Lady Wildcats were able to come up with only one basket in the 11 minute period.

Juniors Robbie Lehr and Janet Lee were the only Lady Cats in double figures with 12 points each. Freshman guard Donetta Shultz was a surprise on the boards, pulling down 10 rebounds on the night. Sue Juhlil followed with seven rebounds.

Betsy Nienkamp was the leading scorer for Doane with a game-high 16 points. She was followed by Ginger Horrik with 12 points.

FOR the first time in many years, the Wayne State baseball team was able to practice outside before leaving on its southern trip.

Headin' south Baseball team leaving on annual trip

It's difficult to envision an afternoon doubleheader in the chill of early March, but the 1983 Wayne State College baseball team will take to the diamond for the first time in less than a week against Big Eight Conference foe Kansas State.

Coaches Neil Blohm and Bill Schwartz welcomed 28 squad members to spring drills Jan. 18, and have been holding two-a-day workouts ever since in preparation for their March 6th opener against the Wildcats in Manhattan, Kan.

The coaches have been pleased with the team's early-season progress. "There's a real good attitude. They've been working hard," Blohm said. "I can't single out anybody in particular—everybody's been pushing everybody. It's been a good team concept."

watch. "We're going to do a lot of things to keep the defense moving around. We'll do a lot of hit-and-run, stealing and bunting. The more you keep the defense moving, the better the chance of making them commit an error." Blohm added. "If we can get our speedsters on the basepaths, we could steal 125 bases this year."

The Cats will go with a 12-man pitching staff this year led by 1982 All-District 11 selection Dan Hiltgenkamp (junior, Arlington). Last year, Hiltgenkamp won two of six decisions, but posted a team-low 3.73 ERA.

According to Blohm, defense will be the team's strong suit. "We're two-deep at every position in the infield with juniors and seniors, and the outfield will be fast."

'College Rap' airs on KWSC-FM

The Wayne State College campus radio station, KWSC-FM, is hosting a new talk show entitled "College Rap." The program airs every Sunday night at 10 p.m. and features a special guest who discusses specific topics. During the hour-long program the general public is invited to call in to voice comments on the issues being discussed. Dale Hensley, a senior business and communication arts major from Shenandoah, Iowa is the host of the weekly talk show. Persons interested in sharing their viewpoints may telephone (402) 375-2207 between 10 and 11 p.m. on Sundays.

WSC hosting College Career Fair

Wayne State College will host the "Nebraska College Career Fair" today (Thursday) from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The event, sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Beta Lambda, and the Life Learning Development Center, is free to WSC students and will provide students with opportunities to visit with company representatives. Topics to be discussed are qualities sought when hiring employees, the most effective college courses to prepare students for jobs, keeping a job, and graduate school opportunities. A "Dress for Success" fashion show will round out the day at 3 p.m. Fifteen area colleges have been invited to participate as well as many businesses. Businesses which have not been contacted and wish to participate are encouraged to contact the division of business at Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787, (402) 375-2200, ext. 245.

International programs offered

Summer international programs offered by Wayne State College during 1983 include: Scandinavia/Russia ($1,595, June 7 through June 20); Germany and Spain ($1,495, both tours leave June 7 and return July 1); England/Scotland ($1,595, July 1 through July 25). Total price includes tuition for 3-6 undergraduate or three graduate credit hours, roundtrip air travel from Chicago to Europe on scheduled airlines, domestic travel accommodations, and one to three meals per day depending upon the program in which the participant is enrolled. Enrollment deadline for all programs is May 1. For more information or to enroll, contact Director of International Programs, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787, (402) 375-2200, ext. 230.

Jump-a-thon scheduled for Heart Association

Teams of six students will jump rope in a marathon at Wayne State College to raise money for the American Heart Association, according to Dr. John Merriman, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation. The marathon will be held on Thursday, March 17 from 5 to 8 p.m. in Rice gymnasium on the Wayne State campus.

Students on the teams will take turns jumping rope for the three hours, Merriman said.

PARTICIPANTS will collect pledges from sponsors, who will pay a certain amount per hour that the team jumps. Participants will receive prizes based on the amount of money they collect. Those prizes include a t-shirt for those collecting at least $25; a tote bag and t-shirt for those collecting $50 to $100; a hooded sweatshirt and t-shirt for those collecting $100 to $200; and sweat suit and t-shirt for those collecting over $200, Merriman noted.

IN ADDITION, a textbook about prevention and treatment of cardiovascular diseases has been donated to U.S. Conn Library at Wayne State through the Heart Association, Merriman added.

Full-time equated enrollment jumps

Full-time equated enrollment (FTE) at Wayne State College took a 3.2 percent jump over the previous year, according to a preliminary report issued by Registrar Virginia Wright. Several Extended Campus courses and graduate classes are still to be counted before a final second-semester enrollment figure for Wayne State College will be reached.

FULL-TIME equated enrollment is a figure that reflects the number of credit hours being taken by students. FTE enrollment is currently at 1,866, compared to 1,807 at the same time last year.

"The most important enrollment figure is FTE enrollment," commented Dr. Ed Elliott, WSC president. "I'm extremely pleased that our preliminary report shows a 3.2 percent FTE increase."

The FTE figure is not only one that shows an increase over the same time one year ago. Overall enrollment — often termed the "head count" — indicates 2,207 students taking the WSC courses, up 53 students from the same time period last year. That computes to a 2.4 percent increase.

The total number of individuals enrolled as full-time students at WSC also is up over the same period in 1982. Last year the figure was 1,634 students; this year the figure is 1,675, also a 2.4 percent jump.

"ENROLLMENT stability is important to Wayne State College, and it reflects the efforts that are being made to deliver quality programs and to retain students who have made a commitment to enter this institution," Dr. Elliott said.

"Wayne State is a quality institution, and as our visibility and institutional advancement programs continue to expand, the result will be continued positive enrollment management on the part of the institution," he added.

Nuclear freeze panel

Representatives from the U.S. State and Defense Departments, as well as the Nuclear Freeze Campaign, will make up the panel for this year's Public Affairs Institute Program "A Nuclear Freeze: Plausible or Not?" which will be presented on Tuesday, March 15 at Wayne State College.

The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center on the Wayne State campus.

LT. COLONEL James E. Laney, a Vietnam War pilot, will represent the Department of Defense. He is currently serving with the Directorate of Plans for the Strategic Air Command.

His responsibilities include the development of policies and plans in the areas of arms control, international security, and policy planning.

Representing the Department of State will be Bruce MacDonald, Special Advisor, Bureau of Political and Military Affairs, Office of Strategic Nuclear Policy, U.S. Department of State.

Dr. Leo Sartori, a former advisor to the SALT II negotiations in Geneva, Switzerland, will be one of the freeze campaign representatives. A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Sartori is currently serving as a professor of physics with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

THURSDAY, MARCH 3
WSC Plains Writers Series No. 2 presents guest poet Caroline Wright, poetry reading, 7 p.m., KWSC-TV studio, lower level of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Admission: free and open to the public.

WSC hosts the Nebraska College Career Fair with 15 colleges and area businesses participating, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with registration from 9 to 9:30 a.m. in the WSC Student Center. Admission is free to participating businesses and college students.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4
WSC Counseling Department presents health workshop "Physiological Aspects of Psychological Disorders," 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., North Dining Room in the Student Center. Interested persons are encouraged to preregister by contacting Dr. Marguerite Brady-Ciampa at WSC, Wayne, Neb., 68787, or telephone (402) 375-2200, ext. 385. Cost is $10.

Health workshops planned

The counseling department at Wayne State College will present two health workshops during March.

The first workshop, "Physiological Aspects of Psychological Disorders," will be Friday, March 4, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The second workshop will be Friday, March 25, also from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and is titled "The Alcoholic Patient and His/Her Family."

DON TETHEROW will present the first workshop on March 4 in the north Dining Room of the Student Center on the WSC campus. Tetherow has degrees in alcohol and drug abuse studies and nutrition. He is in private practice in O'Neill and Burwell.

Topics to be covered during the workshop include physiological components of psychological disorders; chemical abuse and homeostasis; and cerebral impairment and chemical dependency.

THE SECOND workshop, to be held March 25, will be presented by Dr. Marguerite Brady-Ciampa, assistant professor of education/psychology at WSC, and Sue Ostergard, certified alcoholism counselor at Valley Hope in O'Neill.

Dr. Brady-Ciampa has been actively involved in the prevention, intervention, and treatment of the alcoholic for several years, and Ostergard has been employed at Valley Hope since 1981.

The presenters will cover topics including physiological factors in alcoholism; components, and stages of alcoholism; elements of the treatment process; and adolescent, elderly, and female alcoholics.

They also will discuss alcoholism as a family disease, and AA, Al-Anon, and Alateen in the recovery program.

THE WORKSHOPS have been designed to increase awareness and to educate people about health problems related to chemical abuse and chemical dependency.

They could be helpful to educators, helping professionals, health care professionals, families, clergy, and students.

Cost of the workshops is $10, or $15 if both workshops are attended.

For more information or to register, contact Dr. Marguerite Brady-Ciampa, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787, or phone (402) 375-2200, ext. 385.

Canadian concerts highlight tour

Concerts in Canada will highlight the 1983 Spring tour of the Wayne State College Concert Choir, according to Dr. Cornell Runestad, conductor and professor of music.

The Canadian performances will be in Winnipeg, Manitoba, at the University of Manitoba, at the provincial capitol building, and at St. Mary's Basilica for Sunday worship services, said Runestad.

OTHER CONCERTS are scheduled at Sioux Falls College in South Dakota, at the University of Minnesota-Morris, at the Benedictine Sisters Chapel in Yankton, S. D., and in Creighton, Neb. and Watertown, S. D.

Selections to be performed include sacred and secular music spanning four centuries, Runestad explained.

Several soloists will be featured, as well as the Madrigal Singers.

Junior Steve Linn of Laurel and senior Judy Kucera of Osceola will accompany.

THIS WILL be the third international performance for the Wayne State choir.

In the past five years they have sung in Europe and Mexico.

Last year, at the State Music Convention in Lincoln, the choir sang under the direction of internationally acclaimed choral conductor Robert Shaw, in two performances of the Britten "War Requiem."

Shaw presently is the conductor of the Atlanta, Ga. Symphony.

AREA CHOIR members include senior Brad Eddie of Carroll, Bass I; Junior Mark Creamer, Tenor I, and sophomore Layne Johnson, Tenor III, both of Concord; junior Steve Linn of Laurel, Bass I.

Also, junior Tim Thomas, Tenor I, sophomore Lisa Remer, Alto II, freshman Nick Sieler, Bass I, freshman Tom Fletcher, Bass II, and senior Scott Hall, Bass II, all of Wayne.

Faculty profile

Maria Grovas has had two opportunities to leave Wayne State College, but she said she never did because she loves the institution "very, very much. I like the small classes and the closeness of the students — some of them are good friends. I like the way they treat me," she said.

Grovas, a native of Matanzas, Cuba, came to the U. S. in 1963 and to Wayne State in 1969. Currently she is an associate professor of Spanish, coordinator of foreign languages, and a director of the Nebraska-Spain Institute.

SHE STARTED teaching when she was 17 years old. While in Cuba, she was a principal in a secondary school and a teacher in a normal school. In the U.S., she taught at a high school and a technical school before coming here.

Grovas has a teaching degree, similar to a master's degree, from Havana Normal School, which she earned in 1956, and a Ph. D. from the University of Havana which she earned in 1959.

She also has a master's degree from Kearney State College, which she earned in 1973.

SEWING, reading, and visiting

with friends keeps Grovas busy when she's not teaching.

She also sponsors the Spanish Club and Chi Omega social sorority, and is a member of the National and Nebraska Foreign Languages Association, Circulo Literario, and the American Association of Spanish and Portuguese.

Now a widow, Grovas has three grown children: Amy, Sara, and Alfred.

Search on for artwork

Due to a bill passed in 1978 by the Nebraska Legislature, an Art Selection Committee at Wayne State College is seeking artwork of any form to be placed in and around the newly renovated Education and Humanities Buildings on the college campus.

The "1% for Art" bill created a state policy through which a portion of all appropriations made for capital expenditures for new construction or remodeling be set aside for the acquisition of art works to be used in public buildings.

ACCORDING TO Dr. James O'Leary, chairman of the Art Selection Committee, part of the available funds will probably be used to purchase a permanent piece of outdoor sculpture.

The remaining money will be used to acquire other works of the visual arts such as paintings, prints, or indoor sculpture.

Interested artists should submit a current resume and color slides of existing artwork to the Art Selection Committee, Office of the Vice President, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb. 68787. Deadline for applications is March 25, 1983. More information on how to apply for consideration is available from the same office, or by phoning the vice president (402) 375-2200, ext. 208. Materials will be returned only if return postage is included.

THE COMMITTEE, which consists of O'Leary, the Education and Humanities division head, one faculty member from both the Education and Humanities departments, and one art faculty member, will review all the entries and notify applicants of their decision sometime in May.

Since the funds are public money and the artwork will be used to beautify public buildings, the public is encouraged to participate in the selection process.

Soils specialist is honored

George Rehm, extension soils specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord was honored Saturday evening when some 65 fellow workers and friends from northeast Nebraska gathered for dinner at the Black Knight in Wayne.

Rehm, who has been employed at the Northeast Station for the past 15 years, left with his wife and three children on March 1 to make their home in Minneapolis. There he will join the faculty at the University of Minnesota.

Sheep shearing school set

A sheep shearing school has been scheduled for March 28-29 at the University of Nebraska Field Laboratory near Mead, said Ted Doane, NU extension sheep specialist.

According to Doane, a nationally known shearer will be the instructor of the two-day school. Charles Swain, shearing consultant for the Sunbeam Corporation, Drakeville, Iowa, and a national sheep shearing winner, will conduct the classes which begin at 8:30 a.m. and run through 3 p.m. each day.

In addition, Hank Ruckert, Mid-States Wool supply manager from Hutchinson, Kan., will speak to the students on "sharpening and management of equipment," Doane said.

"We will accept 24 students at Mead," Doane said. Applications to attend the school are due March 15 in Doane's office at 221 Marvel Baker Hall, University of Nebraska, East Campus, Lincoln, Neb. 68583-0908. Application forms can be picked up at any Cooperative Extension Service office or high school vocational agriculture department.

Pancake, sausage feed near

Wayne County Pork Producers will host their annual Pancake and Sausage Supper at the Winside Region hall on Friday, March 4, serving from 6 to 8 p.m.

All active producers and associate members are invited to attend. Prospective new members are also invited for supper.

Up-to-date information will be available on the new pseudorabies bill now pending in the unicameral. Someone will be available to answer questions on this bill. The 1983 Pork Queen, Susie Peterson, will be on hand to help with the event.

Laurel man earns award

Two Cooperative Extension Service agents and three lay persons were recognized for their contributions to extension work in Nebraska at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of County Extension Boards (NACEB) in Lincoln.

Cited as outstanding extension workers at the luncheon were Extension Agent Robert Voboril, Columbus; and Susan Brown, Hastings, area extension agent-home economics in Adams County.

Outstanding layperson awards were given to Warren Patefield of Laurel, Mary Ann Hestermann of Sterling, and Arnold Stuthman of Platte Center.

Patefield has served as 4-H leader for 20 years for the Coleridge 4-H Club. He has been a director of the Cedar County Extension board, and for 11 years has served as the Cedar County Fair Junior Division Superintendent in the beef breeding and swine division. Patefield was instrumental in organizing the Northeast Nebraska Swine Association, as well as obtaining the NU experimental farm (now Northeast Station) near Concord. In 1968 and 1969, he cooperated with NU extension agronomists on a pasture grazing fertility study.

Wayne 4-Hers nominated

Cynthia Walde and Steve Rethwisch, 4-Hers from Wayne County, have been named by the district 4-H award committee as district nominees for further consideration and competition for the State and National 4-H Awards Program.

As nominees they will compete with other 4-Hers from throughout Nebraska for the opportunity to attend the National 4-H Conference and compete for scholarships.

They were selected for their outstanding 4-H record in the following areas: Cynthia Walde, special out of state award; Steve Rethwisch, Entomology and public speaking.

Seed specialists prepare

Certified seed is one of the most used and useful tools a farmer has in crop production today, according to Dennis Thompson, secretary-manager of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association (NCIA).

Meetings to discuss the factors involved in producing, merchandising and other phases of seed certification were held recently in Alliance, Scottsbluff, McCook, Beatrice and Fremont, he said.

"Discussion focused on topics such as the framework and responsibilities of the NCIA and its members, certification of public and private varieties, Foundation Seed Production and responsibilities. Seed certification procedures and regulations also were reviewed," he said.

Anyone interested in participating in the seed certification program this year should contact the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, 266 Plant Sciences Hall, East Campus, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583-0911; Phone (402) 472-1444 for more details.

Solar workshops planned

Solar heating for swine housing has been demonstrated to be technically feasible by a recent University of Nebraska Department of Agricultural Engineering project.

That project, as well as specifics on solar systems for use in swine facilities, will be the topic of a series of workshops scheduled for various locations across Nebraska.

"Emphasis during the workshops will be on 'how to' details," said Michael F. Kocher, NU extension solar project engineer.

Each one-day workshop will include a discussion of solar energy availability; principles of collection, storage and transport of heat energy; materials selection; basic economics and system management, Kocher said.

Advance registration and payment of the registration fee is required to ensure a spot in the workshop. The registration fee prior to March 15 is $10 and after March 15 it is $15. The fee includes workshop materials, coffee and lunch, according to Kocher.

Registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m., and the workshops will begin at 9 a.m. and will generally continue until 3 p.m., Kocher said. Participants should bring a simple calculator with which to work example problems, Kocher added.

The schedule: March 28—Fairview Cafe, Wahoo; 29—4-H Building, Clay Center; 30—4-H Building, Tecumseh; April 5—Lutheran Parish Hall, Mirage Flats; 6—4-H Building, Kimball; 7—4-H Building, Imperial; 8—Elks Club, Cozad; 11—Knights of Columbus Hall, Albion; 12—Knights of Columbus Hall, Atkinson; 13—Legion Club Plainview; 14—City Auditorium, Oakland.

Farmland renting popular in Nebraska

Farmland rental is a very pronounced feature in Nebraska's farming sector, said Bruce Johnson, University of Nebraska associate professor of agricultural economics.

Johnson indicated that part ownership has emerged "as the dominant tenure class over the past generation, paralleling a trend of farm consolidation and growth."

Citing data from the most recent U.S. Census of Agriculture released in 1978, Johnson noted that nearly 43 percent of the land in Nebraska farms was owned by someone other than the operator. "In total, farm operators were renting nearly 20 million acres," Johnson said.

ALTHOUGH the data are nearly five years old, Johnson said, the ownership pattern has changed only slightly over time. "The changes are much more evolutionary than revolutionary. A historical perspective of land tenure patterns reveals considerable stability over time."

A small acreage of Nebraska land, 2.5 million acres, was being released from other active farmers, Johnson noted. "Still, the majority of rental acreage was leased from nonfarmer-landlords and amounted to three out of every eight acres of Nebraska farmland."

Despite the substantial portion of Nebraska farmland owned by nonfarmers, land ownership still remains closely associated with farming, Johnson said. Nearly eight out of 10 active farmers owned at least some portion of the land they operated. Johnson added, however, that most were classified as part owners since they combined rented parcels with their own units to achieve their land base.

"The incidence of part ownership clearly intensified as the value of the unit's land base increased," Johnson said. "Nearly three-fourths of the units with a reported real estate value of more than $1 million were part-owner operations. In contrast, at the other end of the size spectrum, two-thirds of the farming units with land asset values under $100,000 were reportedly full-owner operations."

The relative importance of ownership versus rental in access to farmland also varies widely across the spectrum of farm operator age classes, Johnson noted.

"YOUNGER FARMERS are heavily dependent upon rented land," Johnson said. "It has become increasingly difficult for young farmers to acquire ownership of their land base."

The heavy dependency upon rental by younger farmers suggests that land tenure features may be particularly relevant to questions of access into agriculture, according to Johnson.

"If ready access into farming is deemed socially desirable, then perhaps policy measures should be taken to facilitate the acquisition of rental land by younger farmers and improve the security of tenancy," Johnson said.

One policy measure, Johnson suggested, would be to provide land owners with an incentive to rent their land to young or beginning farmers. "Other states give tax breaks to those who sell and to this group," Johnson said. "Maybe we should be looking at something like this for rental land as well."

Other incentives, such as leasing the land on a multi-year basis instead of from year to year, could also help younger farmers get established, he added.

Another implication of existing land tenure patterns related to the distribution of income and wealth associated with land ownership, Johnson said.

"The decade of the 1970s saw unprecedented rates of land value appreciation. For the land owner who held Nebraska farmland over that 10-year period, the purchasing power doubled."

HOWEVER, HE added, this equity buildup was not flowing solely to active farmer owners. "Roughly three-eighths of the capital gains were flowing to non-farmer owners. This can represent a form of economic leakage out of the sector."

Conversely, during the periods of asset depreciation, such as the case from late 1970 through 1982, the nonfarmers land ownership factor serves as an economic buffer for agricultural products, Johnson indicated.

"Quite simply, the farmer tenant does not experience an economic deterioration of his asset position — his landlord does." Therefore, Johnson noted, in addition to supplying capital in the form of land to agriculture, nonfarmer landlords are also carrying a portion of the economic risk associated with asset ownership.

"In an environment of what appears to be ever-increasing risk and uncertainty, farmers may find this role increasingly important."

IF PAST trends of farm consolidation and expansion continue, Johnson noted, the proportion of farmland rented may gradually increase in the future. "Land holding necessary for a viable-sized farming unit are already of a size and value which often precludes full ownership for the operator. Part ownership will likely continue, but with a relatively lower ratio of owned to rented land," Johnson said.

While landed institutions tend to change slowly, "one must not forget that they are still dynamic," Johnson said. "Changes are inevitable in the man-land relationship. The focus of policy is to promote those changes which lead to a more desirable outcome for individuals and society."

Flood land

SNOW MELT over the past week has resulted in the accumulation of water on farm and pasture land. This field was an extreme as a large pond shows the irony of a center pivot irrigation system in the background.

Conversion to pasture an option

Farmers and ranchers have many opportunities for economic return from land idled as part of government farm programs in 1983. But, said a University of Nebraska extension forage specialist, one of the best opportunities for use of idled land is in converting it to permanent pasture.

In fact, Bruce Anderson added, farmers and ranchers "probably never will have a better opportunity to make these changes."

Farmers who withdraw crop acres to comply with the Acreage Reduction Program (ARP) can also withdraw more to meet Payment in Kind (PIK) qualifications.

"Reducing the amount of acres produced to bring supply and demand in balance and to relieve the federal government of a lot of their obligations of grain storage and loan payments" are two of the objectives of the 1983 farm programs, Anderson said.

THERE ARE, however, two requirements that must be met under the programs, Anderson pointed out. "The idled land must be protected from wind and water erosion, and weeds must be controlled," he said.

"We have a lot of land in Nebraska that's being used for feed grain production that's not ideally suited for this and is extremely susceptible to erosion," Anderson said. This type of land is ideal for conversion to pasture, he added.

Anderson noted that establishing pasture often reduced production from the land during the period of establishment. "This sometimes lasts for one year or more," he said. But because many of the idled acres will be on soil that is marginal for grain crop production, "1983 is an excellent time to take the opportunity to return these lands to production."

For this to be an option, Anderson said, farmers must have a need for additional grazing acres.

"In many farms there's a great need for additional, productive pastures. On much of the lands where grain production is less profitable, pasture growth can still be high," Anderson said.

WHEN ASTRAZINE carryover is expected, Anderson advised seeding warm-season grasses, especially big bluestem or switchgrass.

"These two grasses can tolerate atrazine. Prompt establishment and substantial growth of these grasses can be expected during the first year by using atrazine for weed control," Anderson noted. That's in contrast to the traditional three-to-five years that used to be required for adequate stems of warm-season grasses.

Grasses in eastern Nebraska, where the pasture base is primarily cool-season grasses such as brome and bluegrass, are relative unproductive during the summer, Anderson said.

Where cool-season grasses are needed, "seeding can be made in April or August provided herbicide carryover won't limit the plant growth," Anderson added.

The spring seedings often have more weed competition than seedings made in the late summer, Anderson pointed out. "But late summer seedings are more reliant upon fall rainfall which is less predictable."

Either of these seedings, Anderson said, should be expected to provide grazing during 1984.

Proper computer can save money

Pork producers who think getting a computer "will solve your problems so you can lay on the beach" will find this to be a fallacy, those attending the 10th annual Nebraska Feeder Pig Expo were told.

But Ron Kahle, a Kearney swine producer who makes extensive use of a computer system in his operation, said a computer carefully selected to fit the needs of a particular enterprise can save money through greater efficiencies as well as being more convenient.

Kahle, a former president of the Nebraska Pork Producers Association, went back and forth between facts and fallacies in the use of a computer for various recordkeeping and management functions, citing his own experiences.

"THE HARDEST thing about computers is not to be afraid of those beasts," he counseled those considering purchase of computer software and hardware.

Kahle, who wrote his own software program when one he purchased did not work without making major changes in his operation, had these two pieces of advice.

It's important to decide what you want it (the computer) to do for you.

You may have to change some things in your setup in order to get what you want from the computer.

Kahle said computerizing his operation has made it possible to put together meaningful information of which to base management decisions "from piles of papers," typical of a swine operation, such as scale tickets, feeding records, etc. papers kept in a box or spindled do not get processed by hand because of the press of other facets of the operation, he said.

In answer to a question, Kahle said it takes an average of about 10 minutes a day to input necessary information to his computer. Acknowledging that working on records by hand might happen "only if it snowed hard enough" (to isolate him inside), Kahle said that the big payoff in time saved by the computer is in computations, analysis and manipulation of data (outputs).

HIS COMPUTER system, with five disk drives, records data on all pigs farrowed, to make possible an ongoing "swine index," which sorts out desirable sows on the basis of their pigs' performance.

The Ohio State Sow Productivity Index puts sows in rank order, based on the litter weight of their pigs at birth, number of pigs born and litter weight at weaning corrected back to 21 days. The index is an indication of the sow's milking ability, he explained.

Kahle said the index, made possible by computerization, was surprising in the range between high and low-ranking sows. While the sow index is controversial in swine circles, he said, it is difficult to visually distinguish between pigs growing and doing well and those from low-indexing sows.

Culling 30 inferior sows from the operation has saved a significant amount of money, Kahle said, making it certain that the computer will pay for itself in a relatively short time.

One caution, Kahle said, is to assure that you handle no more paper with a computer than before. Because computer spew out voluminous printouts, a system must be worked out to use and save only what is needed, he said.

BOTH KAHLE and following speaker, Jordan D. McGowen of Abacus, Inc., Omaha, recommended that producers set goals and buy appropriate software before worrying about hardware components.

"There's plenty of hardware," McGowen stated, noting that "now there are 150 microcomputer manufacturers (in the United States), although there may not be two years from now."

McGowen said new users of computers face somewhat of a dilemma: "How do I know what I want it to do until I know what it can do?"

Both Kahle and McGowen warned against purchasing a computer with overcapacity or unnecessary attachments for the job to be done in a swine or other farm or ranch operation. Kahle likened this to buying a too large, and therefore too expensive, computer to buying an oversized piece of farm equipment, which sits idle much of the time.

bull by randy hascall

The nice weather we've had recently gives me the urge to get out of the office, find a good fishing hole and bait up a hook. I never was much of a Tom Sawyer or Huck Finn type but ever since I was just a little squirt, I've enjoyed fishing. And my favorite fishing partner was my Aunt Hazel.

She'd pick me up nearly every weekend and we'd head out with our fishing poles, tackle box and bait. I was usually in charge of digging worms and found the most under a couple of old warped boards next to the brooder house.

SOMETIMES, WE would stop and buy a couple dozen night crawlers if we thought they would entice the fish any. Night crawlers were my favorites since they were big enough to bait a hook and still have plenty left over.

Once, Hazel even bought a jar of newfangled catfish food, hoping to lure a couple of big channel cats. But we never had much luck with that stuff—I always figured it was because it stunk so bad it just scared the catfish away.

Hazel's favorite time to go fishing was 5 a.m. I'd be ready by 4:50 because she always arrived at least five minutes early. She's never been late in her life.

I think we tried every lake and farm pond in southeastern Nebraska. It sure seemed that way anyhow. And I don't remember ever getting skunked although we probably did.

I thought I had it made one year when I got a rod and Zebco 202 reel for my birthday. I figured that just had to be the best equipment made.

Sometimes we fished for catfish, bass or walleye but when our luck ran bad, we went to a favorite farm pond to fish for bluegills. Anyone could catch a bluegill and we always came home with all we wanted.

TO MAKE FISHING more of a challenge I tried using an empty hook once in awhile. That didn't even keep the hungry, desperate blue gills from biting. The worm scent on the hook must have been enough for them.

I enjoyed fishing for bullheads more than anything. They put up just enough of a fight and challenge to make fishing fun. They usually liked to play with the bait and run with it before they pulled the bobber under. And when one would swallow a hook, it had a big enough mouth to fetch it back out.

Bullheads had to be handled carefully to avoid getting stung. Most people don't like to clean fish but I never minded. The worst part was killing them.

Like all fishermen, I too have my tales about the big ones that got away. But my favorite story is about the big one that didn't get away.

WHILE FISHING at a farm pond near David City one morning I jumped to my feet and starting reeling for all I was worth after my bobber shot two or three feet under water. I knew there had to be a bigger one on the other end of the line. I tugged and I reeled as Hazel coached me to make sure I wouldn't lose the 10-pounder. My Zebco was bent nearly in two and I feared there might be too much stress on my nylon line.

After a 10 or 15 minute battle I had the bobber above dry land and knew the fish couldn't be far behind.

My excitement turned to astonishment as a big, old, ugly muskrat darted out of the water and into a large hole near the edge of the shore. My hook had snagged it by the leg.

Now that's the first and only time I ever caught a muskrat. The problem I faced was what to do now that I had gotten it to shore. My best solution, I decided, was to club it to death.

I TURNED my rod and reel over to Hazel who kept tension in the line as I cautiously walked near the hole which sheltered the ugly creature.

On first sight, I wacked the muskrat over the head. After it reached unconsciousness I pulled it out of the hole and finished the job, making darn sure the critter was good and dead. Luckily, there were no game wardens around at the time.

After the animal was breathless I took the hook out of its hind leg. Rather than leave it on the shore, I dug an old paper sack out of Hazel's car and plopped the dead creature in. When we got home my parents asked us the same old question, "Did you catch anything?"

My mom was sure surprised when I whipped the dead creature out and stuck it in front of her face.

AVOID FIREBLIGHT
If you've had problems with fire blight in apples, crab apples, mountain ash or cotoneaster in the past, chances are good that you'll have problems again this year unless you do something about it.

You can do two things this spring to beat this disease which has become increasingly severe in many parts of the state. Prune diseased parts early this spring if you haven't already done so. Prune about mid-March before frosts are growing actively. Apple varieties with some resistance recommended for Nebraska are: Delicious, winesap and Northwestern Gering.

When pruning, cut at least 10 inches below the edge of the infected area or canker. Sterilize the cutting tools after each cut to avoid spreading the disease by dipping the shears or knife in the disinfectant or pouring it over the cutting edge. A 5 percent lysol, or a 10 percent household bleach or 70 percent denatured (rubbing) alcohol are satisfactory as disinfectants.

Other practices which help control fire blight are avoiding excessive nitrogen fertilizer combined with heavy watering which produced succulent growth. Fireblight is worse on such growth.

PRUNING WOUNDS
Research conducted by the U.S. Forest Service indicates that wound dressing in some instances actually hinders the natural healing of pruning cuts. The report says that wound dressing isn't necessary because the tree itself reacts by growing a shield to inhibit rot.

POISONOUS HOUSEPLANTS
Poisonous plants are to be avoided not so much for their ability to kill, but because severe reactions to them may require hospitalization. In 1970, 4,308 incidents of plant ingestion occurred in the United States. Children under the age of 5 were involved in 3,149 of those cases.

Fewer than 100 children who ate plants in 1970 required hospitalization, according to the data. There was one reported death from eating yew.

Lists of potentially harmful plants are updated as research continues. Some plants once thought to be very poisonous are no longer considered so dangerous.

There are several potentially harmful house plants. The plants and the specific parts of them that are toxic include: castor bean, seeds; dieffenbachia, calladium and some philodendrons, all parts; hyacinth, narcissus, and daffodil, bulbs; rosary pea, seeds, and oleander, leaves and branches.

District award

A YIELD of 141.28 bushels of No. 2 corn per acre has won Kenneth Haller, right, Winside, a district winner's award in Crow's 1982 CornMaster Yield Project. Haller received his award from Fred McGuire, left, his Crow's district manager at a meeting in Columbus. Haller planted his winning entry May 8 in 36-inch rows and harvested the crop Nov. 23. Harvest moisture was 19.3 percent. Haller is one of 134 winners in this year's project. Twelve meetings were held to make the awards — in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

World Day of Prayer will be held at Salem Lutheran Church tomorrow (Friday) at 2 p.m. Other churches participating will be the Presbyterian and Evangelical Covenant. Mrs. Kermit Johnson and Mrs. Ardath Utecht are co-chairmen for the service.

The theme of this year's observance will be "New Persons in Christ." World Day of Prayer is a worldwide gathering of Christian Women in 150 islands and countries and had its origin in 1887. It started as a day of prayer for Home Missions by lay women of the Presbyterian Church.

Two years later it was made an annual event and soon became a global service which is an ecumenical worship service and includes women of many cultures and traditions. A coffee hour will follow the worship service.

RECEIVE FUNDS

Jack Rohrborg presented a check for $600 to Burnett Grosc, chairman of the Salem Lutheran Church centennial committee. Rohrborg, district representative for Lutheran Aid Association for Lutherans, said in his presentation at the worship service Feb. 13, that AAL wishes to recognize the contribution the Salem congregation has made to enrich the community of Wakefield and faithfully enhancing the cause of Christianity and Lutheranism in this country.

Aid Association for Lutherans is a nationwide fraternal benefit society of over 1.2 million members who carry out humanitarian services and social projects through grants from the national office at Appleton, Wis. and through the 5,500 local branches of the society. Project Milestone is just one of those grants. A milestone is a significant point in development.

LUTHERAN CHURCHWOMEN

The Salem Lutheran Women met Thursday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Paul Fischer, president, welcomed everyone and read a poem concerning the not so fortunate. February is Bethage shower month.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and correspondence was read from the Mrs. Emil Ekberg family, Louis Bales, Myrtle Lundberg and Emma Fredrickson. Mae Greve, chairman of Christian action, showed the baby quilt that will be quilted for Bethage. They discussed the banner being quilted for their 100th anniversary. Ruth Boeckenhauer, card and napkin chairman, reported that a new shipment of cards and napkins would be in soon.

The World Day of Prayer will be tomorrow (Friday) at Salem at 2 p.m. District Assembly will be Monday, April 11 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne. The theme is "Our Joy Overflows." Cards were signed for Mrs. Dean Dahlgren, Mrs. Mel Larson and Edna Byers.

The program was given by Circe S. Lisa Jensen gave a reading "Food for Thought" it was concerning the handicap. A film was shown "To Touch A Butterfly" it was about Bethage. Pastor Robert V. Johnson gave a talk about the film, saying how things at Bethage had changed since this film was made.

The next meeting will be Thursday, March 24 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Glen Paulson, Mrs. Lowell Newton, Augusta Jensen and Mrs. Gary Salmon served lunch.

LEGION BIRTHDAY

The Wakefield American Legion Auxiliary will host a birthday party for the American Legion on Sunday, March 20 at the Legion Hall. A potluck supper will be held at 6:30 p.m. followed by entertainment.

HISTORY BOOKS

"Seedlings in a Showbox, a History of Wakefield," written by Lynn Holm for Wakefield's centennial will only be available for another couple of weeks. The books sell for $20 each and are available at True Value Home Center. Mail orders must include an additional $2 for postage and handling.

DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM

The Nebraska Food Distribution Program issued processed cheese and butter through the county welfare office to welfare recipients and eligible low income families in Wakefield Feb. 9 at the Senior Citizens Center. In Wakefield, approximately 100 households received five-pound sticks of cheese and one-pound packages of butter, according to Connie Navrkal, director at the Senior Citizens Center. John Stander, Dixon County welfare director, was in charge of the distribution and he said the cheese and butter would be distributed again on March 2, 3 and 4 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the center.

Those in the Wakefield area who are unable to pick up cheese or butter may contact Connie at the center or the welfare office in Ponca.

TRYING TO DECIDE WHICH IRA PLAN SUITS YOU BEST?

THE ANSWER IS PRETTY SIMPLE.

An IRA from the State National Bank can ensure a very rewarding retirement for you! In addition to earning high interest on an investment by retirement you can tax-defer all your contributions and earnings up to $2,000 until you actually retire. A married couple can shelter up to $4,000 if both work, and a couple with a non-working spouse can shelter $2,250. Each IRA is insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C. Interest rates will vary from time to time and you'll want to check the current rates available but you'll want to start that IRA as soon as possible.

FORMER WAYNE Fire Truck No. 5 sits in the United State's Forest Service fire equipment repair shop ready line, located near the Lincoln Municipal Airport. According to Mel Baldwin, a Forest Service employee, the truck is maintained in running condition in case it is needed by another fire department. Wayne Fire Chief Dick Korn said the old equipment truck was returned to the Forest Service when a new one was purchased. It was restored to working condition and is now available for use by rural fire departments which may be in need of it. The photo was taken by Carl Swanson, a Wayne High graduate and University of Nebraska journalism student.

card of thanks

A SPECIAL "thank you" to our relatives and friends for the flowers, memorials, food, cards and many expressions of sympathy during the loss of our loved one. Thank you to the Wakefield Care Center for their excellent care. To Dr. Muffly, the Wakefield and Allen rescue units for their help during Bud's illness. Thank you to Rev. Kwankin for prayers and words of comfort; organist Carol Jean Stapleton and to the United Methodist Ladies for the dinner served. We will always be grateful. Bonnie Black, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anderson and family. m3

A THANK YOU to Pastor Bruss for visits and prayers while I was in the hospital. Also, to relatives, friends and neighbors for visits, cards and food. A special thank you to Arlene Rabe for care and help, and to Von Seggers for calls and mail. Alice Marquardt. m3

THE FAMILY OF George Grone wishes to thank everyone who sent cards, memorials and flowers. Also, to his brothers and sisters for their many calls and visits to cheer him through his long illness. Special thanks to Bonnie and Leo for all their help and love through Dad's ordeal. May God bless all of you. The Grone family. m3

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our thanks to Dr. Robert Benhack, Mrs. Jenness and staff at Providence Medical Center for their good care of our aunt, Mrs. Virginia Chapin McCain. Also, to all her neighbors and friends for visits, cards and gifts. Mark Stringer family, Darwin Agler family, Mrs. Elizabeth Calmes family, Ronald Stringer family. m3

MY SINCEREST thanks to everyone for their visits, cards, phone calls and many acts of kindness during my stay in Providence Medical Center. Especially Dr. Wiseman, Rev. Monson, Sister Gertrude, the entire staff at P.M.C., the prayers of family and friends, of Redeemer Lutheran Church together with the Prayer Chain groups. Again, I say thank you each and everyone. Wm. (Bill) Vahkamp. m3

WORDS CANNOT EXPRESS my appreciation to my family for hosting the open house for my 90th birthday; and for the many relatives and friends who came to make it a wonderful day that I will always cherish. A special thanks for the lovely cards, gifts and flowers. Thanks for coming and sharing. Mrs. Albert Sundell. m3

THE WAYNE CARE CENTRE had a mechanical malfunction of our fire alarm system resulting in the alarm sounding on February 23. On behalf of all our residents and employees we wish to express our appreciation for the rapid response of the Wayne Fire Department. Alan Cooper, Administrator. m3

SPECIAL THANKS to all my dear friends and relatives for the many cards, flowers, visits and telephone calls while I was in the Wayne hospital. Also, Dr. Lindau, the entire staff, Rev. Mendenhall, Rev. Vogel and Sister Gertrude for their prayers. All of God's great blessings to each one. Ella Bartels. m3

WE WISH TO THANK our friends and relatives for the cards we received in memory of my brother, Earl "Bud" Black. God bless each and every one. Eshler and Paul Koester. m3

MANY THANKS FOR flowers, cards and visits during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. Karen Nolte. m3
