ROSEMARY MINTZ retires after 34 years with the postal service.

Trading in stamps for golf clubs

Rosemary Mintz says she will have no problem finding ways to occupy her. In March, Rosemary retired as Postmaster at Laurel. After 34 years of service with the U.S. Postal Service, she says she is anxious to begin golf lessons in Wayne. A native of Winside, Rosemary attended Wayne State College and began a teaching career in eastern Nebraska at age 18. She left the teaching profession to join the postal service. "I felt that I would have security and more of a future with the postal service," she said, "and I haven't regretted it yet."

SHE JOINED THE Post Office Department as a postal clerk on June 1, 1949. Under merit of the U.S. Postal Service, she received her first postmaster commission in Washington, D.C. on November 30, 1970.

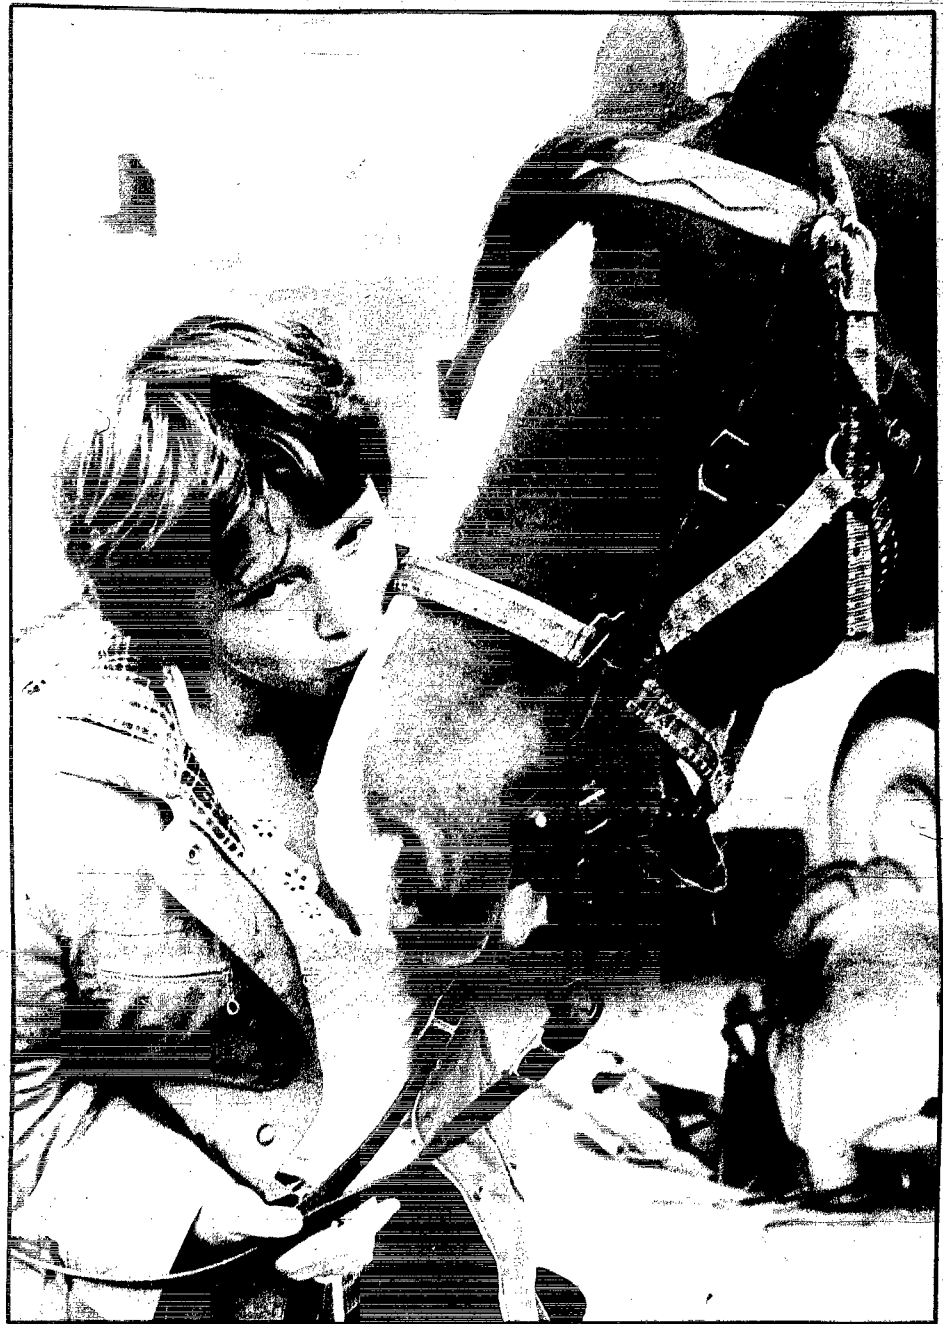

"Before the postal service was on a merit system," said Rosemary, "promotions were all politically related."

Later, Rosemary became postmaster at Winside. She held that position for two and a half years until going to Laurel on April 29, 1972, where she remained until retiring.

DURING HER career with the postal service, Rosemary was involved with a women's program to investigate the possibility of women in management and reverse roles in business.

"We found that the independent minded women were taking over the management positions," she said, "and the men were often caring for the family."

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD MISSY ECKHOFF, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eckhoff, snuggles up to the horses during a chautauqua Thursday afternoon at Wayne Middle School. Missy, a fifth grader, was among hundreds of elementary and middle school students who took time out from their classes to visit the many displays and exhibits featuring various Nebraska skills. The event was coordinated by middle school instructor Dan Johnson. More pictures of the chautauqua will appear in next Thursday's Wayne Herald.

Wakefield girl chosen for trip

Anita Sandahl, 22, of rural Wakefield, has been selected to spend six months in West Germany as an International Four-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate. She will stay with seven host families for approximately three weeks each.

Anita, who was graduated last Saturday with high honors from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will leave June 12 for a short orientation in Washington, D.C. She is scheduled to arrive in Germany on June 11. "It's something I always wanted to do," said Sandahl.

EIGHT NEBRASKANS will visit countries all over the world through the IFYE program. Anita is the only Nebraskan and one of four individuals from the United States who will be delegates to Germany.

Seventy-one persons from the U.S. are involved as delegates this year. The exchange program is designed to promote international understanding and develop better informed youth leaders.

Delegates are expected to learn about another way of life, become better informed on world affairs, better understand themselves and their own cultures, learn about 4-H and youth development programs, better understand the contribution being made by educational youth programs in other countries and improve their communication and leadership skills.

ANITA SAID she learned of the program because of her involvement in 4-H for many years. She was interviewed in the fall through the State 4-H Department in Lincoln and was later selected as a delegate.

The Wayne High graduate said her German language classes in high school helped lead to her appointment to Germany—the country which was her first choice.

Anita also has been awarded a $500 scholarship from the Nebraska Home Extension Council, Collegiate 4-H at UNL and Nebraska Friends of 4-H. She is the daughter of Neil and Bonnie Sandahl.

Carroll bank being sold

A group of Northeast Nebraska investors have purchased controlling interest in the Farmer's State Bank of Carroll from the Phil Olason family. Tentative plans call for Franklin S. and Susan Gilmore, Pierce, to move to Carroll and take over active management of the bank and insurance agency.

Also actively involved in the bank will be James I. Black of Pierce and H. L. Gerhart Jr. of Newman Grove. Gilmore also will remain as senior vice-president of the Coan State Bank in Pierce, a position he has held the past two years.

Sale of the bank is subject to regulatory approval which normally takes three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Olason plan to build a new home and remain in Carroll.

Winside educator retires

'Good Lord' credited for teaching career

By Michelle Kubik

Lena Miller attributes her 35 years of successful teaching to the good Lord. "I'm a very organized teacher," Mrs. Miller said. "My lesson plans are my 'Bible'."

The 66-year-old Winside Elementary School teacher retired from her sixth-grade teaching position on Friday.

Lena Miller was born in Stanton County but received most of her elementary education in the Fremont schools. Her family returned to Winside when she started the seventh grade and she graduated from Winside High. She received her B.A. from Wayne State in 1971.

MRS. MILLER BEGAN teaching with the Wayne County rural district in 1935 and remained in the rural area for 10 years. She taught in the Wayne city school system for five years and then went to Winside where she has taught for 20 years. Mrs. Miller also served as coordinator of the older Winside school building for about five years.

Lena recently was nominated as "Outstanding Educator" by her fellow co-workers and has also held offices in NSEA and NEA. She is a member of Ladies Aid, Federated Womens Club and a Sunday School Teacher at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Winside.

Mrs. Miller is very complimentary of Winside's school board. "Don Leighton, Ron Leapey and the entire staff have always been very supportive," she said. "They all work together for the good of the community." She also feels close to all her fellow teachers and co-workers. "I feel that you have to be a friend in order to have a friend," she said.

"The smaller classrooms make a one-to-one relationship with the children possible," she said. "and parents have always been cooperative in the teaching process, too."

MANY OF MILLER'S former students are already married and have kids, but she still hears from them and they come to visit.

Goodbye Wayne State, hello Washington, D.C.

By Randy Mascall

The warm smile and friendly voice that greet visitors to the Wayne State College information office will soon be greeting visitors to Doug Bereuter's office in Washington, D.C.

Jeanne Ring, 25, will start working June 15 as receptionist/secretary for the Nebraska politician's office in the Longworth Building.

Jeanne, a 1975 Wayne High graduate, has worked four years in the Wayne State information office.

HER DUTIES in Washington will include giving tours of the Capitol and greeting visitors from Nebraska. She will be one of 10 staff members in Bereuter's office and will be the first person visitors will see when they walk in.

Jeanne said she first met Bereuter a couple of years ago. Then, when the inauguration for WSC President Ed Elliott was held this school year, the congressman mentioned to her that he had an opening in his office and asked her to send a resume.

"I thought about it a week and kind of talked myself out of sending in an application," she said. Expenses and finding an apartment were two of Jeanne's biggest worries since she knows no one in the area.

She said her boss, Adrie Nab, who is director of college relations, was real encouraging. He helped convince her that it would be a good opportunity.

AFTER HER interest in the job grew, Jeanne contacted a minister at a church in Washington, which she had once visited. She asked him about a place to live and he directed to a widowed woman in the area.

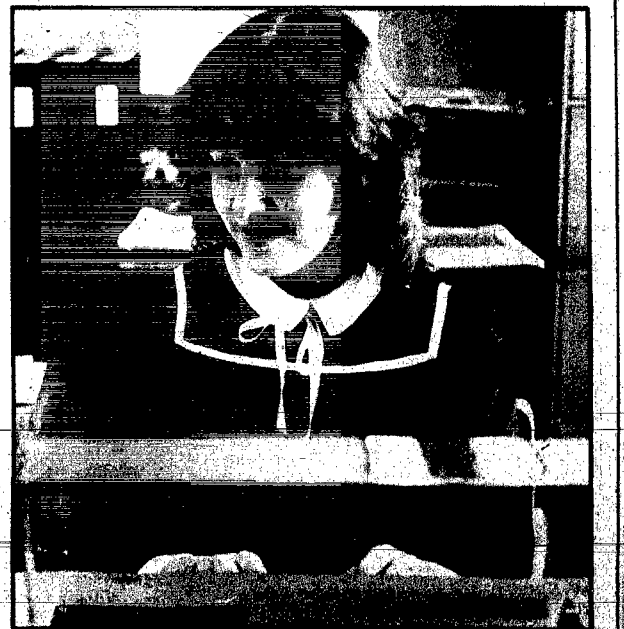

The woman, who lives near a bus route and subway system, said she would be glad to accommodate Jeanne until she gets to know the area and finds an apartment of her own.

After receiving Jeanne's application, Bereuter set up an interview with her at Laurel during a recent visit. She found out later that she had been selected for the job which opened when former receptionist Ramona Deltmeyer decided to move back to Nebraska. Mrs. Deltmeyer's sister is Luella Marra of Wayne.

Jeanne said she feels the job is a good opportunity and should be exciting. "I'm sure I'll miss the wide open spaces but when I was in Washington on vacation I thought it was a pretty city," she said.

The Wayne High grad said her parents, Merle and Donna, are excited about her job opportunity. "And she'll feel more at home when some of her friends move to Washington in August."

"One thing I'll miss is Nebraska football," she adds.

JEANNE RING WILL BEGIN work next month in the offices of Congressman Doug Bereuter in Washington, D.C.

LAUREL residents learned last week that the city will be responsible for a $68,000 portion of the $1.2 million road resurfacing and improvement project planned for Highway 15 between the Concord spur and Highway 20, passing through Laurel. Work is currently scheduled to begin in 1986, with construction to last about four or five months.

A NEW postmaster has been assigned to permanent duties at the Wisner Post Office, according to Ed Nelson, officer in charge of the local office. Kenneth Schmidt, 41, is scheduled to assume postmaster duties on May 28. The Norfolk man has 16 years of experience with the postal system.

FIREFIGHTERS from Belden and Randolph combined efforts last Sunday evening to answer an emergency call involving a semi-trailer load of hay that was on fire. According to Belden Fire Chief Lawrence Fuchs, Steve Fox of O'Neill was east bound on Highway 20 about a mile west of Belden when Earl Fish passed the flaming truckload of hay and turned around to notify the driver. Approximately $1,600 of hay was lost in the fire and the truck sustained some damage to the rear axle where the flame originated.

HOWARD Schuetz of Stant was named one of the outstanding dairymen in the State of Nebraska by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, in conjunction with upcoming June Dairy Month.

AN EXPLOSION and fire last Tuesday night has left a rural Thurston man in critical condition in a Sioux City hospital with third-degree burns over about 50 percent of his body. Burned when he attempted to light the propane gas furnace in the basement of his home about two miles southeast of Thurston was Kim Davis, 29.

Lena Miller's husband, Alfred, recently sold his Skelly Oil station in Winside after 30 years of operation. The couple is planning a one month trip to the West Coast to celebrate their retirements.

They will spend time with their son, Larry, in Gardnerville, Nev. and attend their grandson's graduation. They're also planning to travel farther north to Seattle, Washington and then into Canada. The Millers also have another son, Gene, who does carpentry in Omaha.

Mrs. Miller knows her decision to retire is right but says she will miss teaching. "Children have been my life," she said "I feel that there is good in every child and I try to bring it out."

She has also been part of a committee which observed and made recommendations of post offices in Norfolk, Lincoln and Omaha.

ROSEMARY FEELS that if you want to climb on the professional level, it's good to have a degree.

"Education is the name of the game," she said, "you need to be prepared for anything."

She also feels that computers are becoming a big part of all businesses and a background in computers is especially important.

ROSEMARY PLANS to remain in Laurel and is involved in many activities there.

She is a member of both the Laurel and Wayne chapters of the Order of Eastern Star, the Laurel Book Club, and the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. She also serves as chairman of the Cedar County Kidney Foundation and is a member of the Wayne Hospital Foundation Board.

Mrs. Mintz has made fruitful efforts to obtain a doctor in the Laurel area. Last fall, her work proved successful when Dr. Willis Wiseman and Dr. James Lindau opened a satellite office in the Laurel Medical Center.

A RETIREMENT PARTY was held last month at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll, when about 123 relatives, friends and postmasters from northeast Nebraska gathered to honor Rosemary.

She was presented with her retirement plaque for 34 years of service by Mr. D'Andrea, officer in charge of the Omaha post office.

Co-workers at the Laurel post office also held a retirement celebration for her last Thursday night at Ron's Steakhouse.

"AFTER ALL THIS celebrating is over," smiles Rosemary. "I ought to have enough money to buy a lot of golf clubs for my new hobby."

Rosemary hopes golfing will become a favorite sport of hers, and, she also enjoys gardening.

Mrs. Mintz has one son, Mylen, who is a writer at the Marriot Hotel in Dallas, Texas.

Bracket creep takes heavy toll on taxpayer

A bitter lesson in tax policy is in store for millions of American taxpayers who have suffered through a decade of more bracket creep, perhaps not fully understanding how it works and raises their taxes unfairly.

Although not scheduled to go into effect until Jan. 1, 1985, tax indexing, which would eliminate bracket creep, already is under attack by members of Congress seeking its repeal. The provision is, perhaps, the most important in the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, which also provides for three years of tax reductions totalling 25 percent.

The coming debate, if anything, should convince taxpayers that bracket creep has taken a heavy toll — perhaps "skimmed" is not too strong a word — off the top of the public's purchasing power.

UNDER OUR graduated system of income taxes, taxpayers pay a larger percentage of their income in taxes as their income goes up and they move into higher income brackets. It is the combination of this tax system with high inflation that has eroded purchasing power of American families since the early 1970s.

For example, a couple with $20,000 income in 1984 would be in the $16,000-$20,000 bracket where the tax rate is 18 percent. But if the breadwinner gets a 5 percent raise ($1,000) to compensate for inflation, the $21,000 income — still worth only $20,000 — would push the couple into the next higher bracket where the tax rate is 22 percent. This is how bracket creep works.

Under tax indexing, the $16,000-$20,000 bracket figures would be raised by 5 percent for inflation — and the tax rate would remain at 18 percent for a $21,000 income. This is illustrated in the table above:

Income	Bracket	Tax	Creep Indexing	Tax
$20,000	$20,000	$2,673	$20,000	$2,673
5% Inflation raise	1,000	2,461	2,461	2,461
Total	$21,000	2,461	$21,000	2,461
Tax on $21,000	2,673	2,461	2,461	2,461
Tax on $20,000	2,461	2,461	2,461	2,461
Tax increase	212	123	123	123
Percentage tax increase	8.6%	5.0%	5.0%	5.0%

THIS KEY POINT — taxes rise faster than inflation — is made by Dr. Martin Feldstein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, to rebut claims that indexing increases the size of budget deficits by reducing revenues at a time when government outlays are going up with inflation. "This argument is wrong because it misrepresents what indexing is all about," Dr. Feldstein says. "The indexing benefits (outlays) means that benefits just keep pace with inflation. The indexing of tax rates means that tax receipts don't rise faster than inflation through bracket creep."

The comparison also explains why economists for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which strongly supports indexing, estimate that for every 1 percent increase in inflation, tax collections go up 1.6 percent.

As has been wisely noted, only politicians love bracket creep. It gives them more money to spend without voting to raise taxes. "Tax indexing is needed," according to the U.S. Chamber, "to keep pressure for discipline in federal spending and tax policy."

If indexing is repealed, the action would especially hurt lower income and small business people (who file returns as individuals, rather than business entities).

They would continue to be taxed at higher and higher rates, whereas taxpayers already in the top bracket would not face further bracket increases. Moreover, the Chamber points out, the value of the personal exemption and the standard deduction, which are relatively more valuable to lower income taxpayers, would be reduced by inflation. In short, they would continue to be taxed on inflationary income gains.

If indexing is repealed, bracket creep would cost Americans $90 billion from 1985 through 1988. Unfairly. That's the bitter lesson.

"WHY PENALIZE those who obey the laws, pay their taxes and attempt to save for the future?" — From a constituent's letter to Rep. James R. Olin (D-Va.)

Literally thousands of similarly pungent questions are pouring into Congressmen's offices from taxpayers protesting the new law requiring 10 percent withholding in taxes from dividend and interest payments starting July 1.

The withholding provision was one of many swept along last summer when Congress enacted $100 billion in new tax increases. Now that the time of the paperwork crunch is on the horizon, it has emerged as a sleeping monster.

The overwhelming majority of taxpayers report and pay tax on dividend/interest income. The new law simply collects the tax at the source — but it inconveniences all taxpayers.

As Rep. James R. Olin (D-Va.) observes, there are simpler, more direct ways of accomplishing what the law was intended to do. It shouldn't penalize honest taxpayers.

A PACK OF DOGS RUNNING in Wayne is responsible for this damage in the backyard of the Duane Blomenkamp home at 622 Westwood Dr. The dogs, which were sighted by Blomenkamp early Friday morning, tore up and broke into pieces nearly 25 feet of plastic perforated run-off pipe which was buried nearly a foot underground. Blomenkamp said this is the third time within a month that the dogs have dug up the pipe. The Wayne Police Department said as many as six dogs have been seen in the group and residents are urged to keep their pets tied up.

The ghost of Herbert Hoover returns

By Richard Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Herbert Hoover had a problem. The year was 1930 and the nation was in a recession. A recession — not yet a depression. Unemployment was just below 9 percent, but earlier recessions had seen unemployment approach 10 percent and recovery had begun within a year. The nation had experienced recessions in 1910-1912, 1907-1908, and 1899-1900, and each time wages and prices had adjusted to contractions in the money supply and the American economy had surged ahead once again.

But this time, Hoover declared, things would be different. The federal government would not wait for the free market to restore growth. The government would take the lead in "fixing" the economy. In his memoirs, Hoover wrote, "the primary question at once across as to whether the President and the federal government should undertake to investigate, and remedy the evils." Hoover's answer — tragically — was yes.

America back to work. Yet, employment continued to fall.

The Smoot Hawley Tariff Act was finally passed on June 13, 1930 and signed by Hoover two days later. Protectionism was supposed to raise the price of imported goods and thereby put Americans to work. Instead, nations around the world retaliated by raising their own tariffs and American exports could find no buyers. The stock market fell to 41 from a high of 381 in September 1929. Protectionism did not create more American jobs — it destroyed them.

To combat the mounting deficits Hoover went on to raise taxes on June 6, 1932. The top income tax rate was increased from 25 percent to 63 percent. The lowest rate jumped from 1 percent to 4 percent — a 400 percent increase. Other taxes were also raised. The corporate income tax was increased. The inheritance tax doubled. A gift tax imposed. Postal rates jumped 500 percent. Sales taxes were placed on autos, tires and gasoline. New taxes were imposed on telephone, telegraph and radio communication.

And yet, the deficit was not reduced. It increased. The increased taxes were such a burden on the economy, that total tax revenues actually fell.

OF COURSE, Hoover was not satisfied to simply raise taxes, increase protectionism and begin make-work projects. The federal government got into the business of fixing wages and prices, subsidizing whole industries and printing more money.

The American people, quite wisely, voted Hoover and his interventionist policies out of office in 1932 and elected Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who promised to reduce the tariffs, cut the federal bureaucracy by 25 percent and maintain the gold standard.

However, once elected, FDR continued the policies of Herbert Hoover and repackaged them as the "New Deal." As a result, the 1929 recession became the Great Depression and lasted 11 years.

THIS LITTLE known slice of history is important for two reasons. First, most Americans still believe that Hoover was a devoted supporter of the free market. (What is the saying, "with friends like these, who needs enemies?") As a result the history of the Great Depression has been wrongly interpreted as the failure of the free market — rather than the example of failed government intervention that it truly was.

Second, it is important to keep Herbert Hoover and his response to the 1929 recession in mind as we listen to our present day politicians explain their "solutions" to today's unemployment situation. What is their program?

They want to raise taxes. Just like Hoover did. They would bring back protectionism. Just like Hoover did. And they would pass more make-work jobs programs. Just like Hoover.

And they would trigger another Depression. Just like you-know-who.

MASSIVE MAKE-WORK projects such as the Hoover Dam were begun to "put

To the editor:

This past weekend, Wayne State hosted two BI-District games. Unfortunately, these games had to be held in Yankton, S.D. because the new college field, built three years ago, is still not acceptable for regulation play. I think it's a shame, that the poor condition of the softball fields have cost Wayne State the loss of a great deal of publicity and income.

It has been brought to my attention, that next spring the CSIC Tourney is to be held in Wayne. Unless the fields are worked on now, they will not be acceptable as sites for conference tournaments. If the fields are not ready, the coordinator of this tournament will be forced to move the location of the tournament (North or Sioux City).

I hope you realize, this will result in a great loss for Wayne State and the local business persons in the city of Wayne.

It would be nice to see some action taken on this project. The results would not only be for the betterment of Wayne State College, but also the city of Wayne.

A Wayne State Student Fan
P.S. Congratulations, Wayne State! Good luck at nationals!

ASK A LAWYER
A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE NEBRASKA STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Q: My father left a will stating that my brother-in-law should be allowed to purchase a 160-acre piece of land for $50,000, which is far less than it's worth. Can you legally put a provision like this in your will? The land was owned by my father, and the will also stated that dad's entire estate was to go to mom, and then to my sister and me after mom is gone. The part about my brother-in-law buying the land was added quite recently.

A: As a general rule, a testator (person making the will) is allowed to make any provision he or she wishes in a will and the personal representative is obligated to carry out the testator's intent.

The provision to sell a parcel of real estate to an individual at below its market value is not uncommon and is legally recognized. For various tax purposes, however, the personal representative must report the value of the property at its fair market price on the date of the decedent's death.

It sounds as if your father made a codicil or addition to his will. This is perfectly proper, assuming it was made according to the requirements of Nebraska law. This was your father's property and he could give it away if he wanted to.

If you are suggesting that your brother-in-law exercised some undue influence over your father, causing him to change his will, you may wish to ask your attorney to examine the facts of the case and advise you whether to try to contest the will.

Are you feeling anxious and pent up? Is there a tense feeling in your shoulders or frown lines on your face? Your body and feelings are trying to tell you something. They are reacting to the stress you are experiencing. A certain amount of stress is good and keeps us alert, but too much causes us to slide to the end of our rope.

YOU CAN'T AVOID stress, it's a part of all that you do. A marriage or graduation in your family can be as stressful as an illness or severe storm. It can't be avoided, but you can learn to cope with stress. The way you manage your stress can lessen its negative impact. Begin by talking with someone you trust. A different perspective may help you see that your problems can be solved. They may even help you to see the humor in your situation. The ability to laugh at ourselves is a great tension reliever.

ANOTHER PERSON will probably be able to point out that you do some things well. Looking at the positive can give your moral a boost. It may even give you an idea about how to use your talents for your benefit. Sometimes talk is not enough, you need action. When you're upset or angry, physical exercise can bring you peace of mind. It's important not to punish your body with hard workouts done occasionally. A regular exercise program is one of the best stress management tools you can use.

WHEN YOU FEEL stressed, a major project like cleaning the garage can seem impossible. Take one step at a time and complete your project. This removes a feeling of being trapped and prevents guilt feelings about not completing your project. Set aside some time each day to do part of the project and before long it will be done. Stress can overpower you when your body isn't being taken care of properly. No matter how tense or anxious you feel, taking the time to eat balanced meals is vital. When pressures mount you may find yourself working longer hours and sleeping fitfully. Set aside time to get enough sleep and relax before bedtime to take your mind off your troubles.

PHYSICAL PROBLEMS or illnesses may be adding unknown stresses to your system. If you've tried to combat stress with exercise, rest and common sense without success, you may need to see your doctor. He can diagnose physical problems or refer you to other professionals for specialized help.

Froeschle wins Class B state golf tourney

Wayne High golfer Cole Froeschle captured the individual golf title at the Class B state golf championship held last Thursday at the Grand Island Municipal Golf Course.

Froeschle capped a great season with a 71-stroke performance on the par-72, 18-hole layout. He turned in a 36 on the front nine and finished the back side with a 35. Martin Przak of West Point finished second, one stroke back at 72.

Wayne's Perry Benschoot finished the day with an 88 (47-41), sophomore Brad Moore (44-46) and John Carhart (43-47) both fired 90's and Tom Perry had a 91 (48-43).

Wayne finished a disappointing ninth in the team race with a four-man total of 339. Champion Superior turned in a 324.

The Blue Devils did manage to finish three strokes ahead of district champion Blair. The Bears edged Wayne by one stroke in district play two weeks ago.

Wayne High golf coach Harold Maciejewski shouldn't lose too much sleep worrying about next season with Froeschle, Benschoot, Moore and Perry returning. Senior John Carhart will graduate and leave the only hole to fill in the line-up for next year.

Final Class B team standings: 1. Superior(324), 2. Schuyler(332 - won the single-hole playoff), 3. Holdrege(322), 4. Ogallala(335), 4. Chadron(335), 6. Auburn(337), 6. Lincoln Pius X(337), 8. Crete(338), 9. Wayne(339), 10. Blair(342), 11. Lexington(346), 12. Minden(349).

Winside pair on their way

It was a successful day for a pair of Winside athletes at the opening day of the Nebraska Track and Field Meet, Friday, at Omaha Burke.

Winside high jumper, Jon Meierhenry cleared 6-4 to win a second place medal in Class D. Bruce Kelley of Beaver City won the event at 6-5, three inches above his personal best. Meierhenry's best this year is 6-5.

Sprinter John Hawkins was on his way to two state medals after opening day. He won his heat of the 100 and 200-meter dashes and had Class D's fastest time in both events.

From the area is by Wakefield's 3,200-meter relay team of Gary Tullberg, Brian Obermeyer, Mike Clay and Ignacio Cuadrado. The team placed sixth with a time of 8:22.71.

Cuadrado and Laurel's Scot Curry both qualified for Saturday's finals of the 400-meter dash. Running in the same heat, Cuadrado was second in 52.43 and Curry was third in 52.70. Because Curry's time was one of the two fastest thirds, he was picked for the finals.

Wayne's Alamy Stoltenberg qualified for the finals of the 100-meter low hurdles by running a 15.45 and placing second in her heat. She failed to qualify for the finals of the 100 or 200-meter dash.

Fran Gross of Wayne also failed in her bid to reach the finals of the 400-meter dash. She finished fourth in her heat which was won in 1:00.07.

Jo Carlson didn't place in the shot put but was still entered in Saturday's discus.

IN THE CLASS C girls division, Wakefield freshman Suzanne Stelling had a disappointing day.

She failed to qualify in either the 200 or 400-meter dash. However, she was still scheduled to compete in Saturday's high jump and 1,600-meter relay.

Wildcats eliminated from area playoffs

The Wayne State College Wildcats suffered back-to-back losses in the NAIA Area II baseball playoffs in Tulsa, Okla., on Thursday and were eliminated from the tourney.

The Wildcat coaches' Neil Blohm and Bill Schwartz ended a fine year with a record of 23-15. Wayne State has put together consecutive NAIA District II titles and appearances in the area tourney in Tulsa, whose winner advances to the NAIA World Series in Lubbock, Texas.

A fine Central State (Okla.) University club downed the Wildcats 6-2 in the tournament opener, then Northern State (S.D.) College eliminated Wayne State by a 15-4 count in the artificially-surfaced Tulsa County Stadium.

Wildcat junior Neil Brown pitched the full nine innings and suffered his fourth loss against four wins. He settled down after a rocky first inning, giving up just one run and four hits over the final eight innings while striking out 11.

Wildcat first baseman Gregg Cruickshank was 2-for-4 and the only batter with more than one hit. Mike Hutcheon blasted a solo home run in the bottom of the sixth inning for the final run of the game.

base hits, including four triples. Wildcat Dan Hilgenkamp took the loss to end his season at 5-4.

The Wolves charged to a 4-0 lead heading into the bottom of the third inning, but senior centerfielder Craig Ladwig blasted a three-run homer and the Cats appeared on the way to a rally, trailing just 4-3.

But from that point on, the Cats only offense was a leadoff triple in the sixth inning by catcher Jeff Clark. Clark was brought home by Rich Murcek's sacrifice fly.

Terry Jastram paced the Wolves' offense with three hits in five at-bats and three RBIs. Kevin Miller pitched the full nine innings and scattered just seven WSC hits to earn the win.

The final margin was padded by six Northern State runs in the ninth inning, when the outcome was no longer in doubt.

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Department 32235, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

FINAL EXAM

PASS THIS TEST AND GRADUATE WITH HONORS

Multiple Choice

1. An Omaha couple recently purchased our best diamond engagement set because:
- A. Omaha people will buy anything.
 - B. They were on their way to the Westroads and got lost.
 - C. After taking time to shop around, the Omaha couple found the best buy for both money and quality in Wayne at Mines.

Answer: C. Incidentally, they saved about 20% on a 1/2 carat diamond.

2. The majority of wedding sets purchased at Mines Jewelers in Wayne are to:
- A. Couples in Wayne.
 - B. Couples around Wayne.
 - C. Couples who take the time to shop around carefully and compare both quality and price.

Answer: C. Stop to visit with us first and we'll show you what to look for in a diamond and mounting, how to compare and what to expect to pay.

3. Many couples who buy their wedding sets out of town:
- A. Assume it's more expensive in Wayne without seriously looking first.
 - B. Didn't know there were over 100 styles in stock to select from at Mines Jewelers.
 - C. Don't want anyone else to know what they're doing.

Answer: All of the above. However, don't assume anything — check for yourself, come see the selection and phone for an evening or weekend appointment. Your visit and purchase will be your business.

4. Mines Jewelers sells:
- A. Mounted wedding sets.
 - B. Unmounted sets that you can select a diamond for.
 - C. The most current styles by Keepsake™ and Orange Blossom™.
 - D. Your choice of any size diamond to suit your budget in nearly every mounting at no extra setting charge with your choice of four or six prong head.

Answer: All of the above, plus just about anything you'll see in another store except lesser quality 'featherweight' sets.

5. When you come in for a comparison at Mines Jewelers you get:
- A. Tips on what to look for when shopping for a diamond and mounting.
 - B. A sample copy of our warranty to compare to others elsewhere.
 - C. A "gemprint" of your diamond choice that you have viewed under our gemscope to aid your sensible comparison of quality and prices.
 - D. A firm quote, good for 30 days, giving you plenty of time to shop around.
 - E. Two booklets with over 150 of our best selling mountings nationwide without compliments and an invitation to stop back again soon.

Answer: Of course, you guessed it, all of the above. Should you settle for anything less?

Scoring Analysis:

1 to 4 correct answers — You need some help. Come see us. We won't let you make a mistake.
5 correct answers — Perfect! And for more correct answers come see us. With a new diamond engagement ring from Mines Jewelers, you're going to be so proud!
