WSC poet's fiction is published in new Rolling Stone magazine

By Randy Hascall

Excerpt reprinted from Rolling Stone magazine

By J.V. Brummels

Lining the pages of the most recent Rolling Stone magazine is a story written by Wayne State College poet-in-residence and assistant professor of English, Jim Brummels.

The article, entitled "Summer in Nebraska," is part of Rolling Stone's special summer double issue, dated July 21/Aug. 4. Brummels, 32, said editors for the national magazine were looking for someone to write about the Great Plains.

THEY CONTACTED an editor for Newsweek magazine who used to work for Rolling Stone. He happened to be a friend of Brummels and gave them his name.

Rolling Stone contacted Brummels in late May and asked if he would be interested in writing a feature for the magazine. He told them he was interested and was given one week to get the feature done.

"I was real happy to be contacted. Opportunities to do something like this don't happen too often," Brummels said. "I was happy with the short deadline because if I would have had a month, I would have taken it."

Rolling Stone editors called Brummels after receiving his story and together they made a few minor changes. The magazine later sent the WSC poet a check for his work.

One ordinary, balmy Thursday night in May 1969, a few days after his high-school graduation, Peach Burdon discovered that a side door of the newly constructed Dismal River High School gymnasium was unlocked. Within an hour, he, his brothers Lane and Leon and their cousins, the Bittle boys and Tom Theone, had dismantled the gymnasium stage, loaded the pieces onto their fathers' pickups and carted them to a large hay meadow two miles away, where they reassembled it under a lone box-elder tree. From there, they drove east down the main street of Dismal River and beyond to their respective homes, leaving the object of their crime clearly visible to anyone who came by.

BRUMMELS' FEATURE is approximately 2,000 words in length and is fiction. He said the story is based "very, very, very roughly" on his past. Brummels said he started to receive cards and calls a couple of weeks ago when friends who subscribe to Rolling Stone received the issue in the mail. Several of his students also read their files before it arrived ed on the news stand and Brummels even had a chance to see it. The English professor said he is glad he was contacted after the end of the semester so he could get the feature written. "I had a lot of things planned but they just had to wait. If I would have been in the middle of a session, it would have been difficult to get it done."

Brummels, who grew up 20 miles south of Clearwater, said in writing the story he hoped to represent adequately, the experiences of summer in a small town. He has been published in numerous poetry journals but says being published in a widely circulated magazine like Rolling Stone, is even more exciting. "The bigger the audience the better," he added.

Cattle feeder being investigated

A Laurel cattle-feeding family is being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and U.S. Justice Department in connection with loans totaling $3.8 million that the First National Bank of Sioux City alleges were fraudulently obtained.

The Sioux City bank is seeking recovery of $3,821,141.12 from Marilyn Dahlquist and her sons, James and Robert Dahlquist. Last week, the bank filed suit in U.S. District Court in Omaha seeking recovery of the money from Dahlquists.

THE BANK also obtained a temporary restraining order to prevent the Dahlquists from selling or disposing of any cattle. In its petition for the order, the bank contended that the Dahlquists defaulted on approximately one million dollars in loans on June 30.

The bank reportedly sent officials to the Dahlquist feeding operations on July 4 to see if the estimated 8,500 cattle, valued at $4.8 million and pledged as collateral, were on hand. Bank officials said they were denied access to the Dahlquist properties.

Asher Schroeder, assistant U.S. attorney for the northern district of Iowa, told the Associated Press the bank had informed his office and the FBI that the loans to the Dahlquists are in default because nearly 7,000 head of cattle used as collateral for the loans could not be accounted for.

Schroeder also said the investigation will attempt to determine whether federal banking laws were violated and whether any false statements were made to the bank on the number of cattle offered as collateral.

YANKTON ATTORNEY John Harmelink, who is representing the Dahlquists, said there is no fraud. According to Harmelink, the bank is harassing his clients.

Following the July 5 restraining order, Harmelink filed in a Sioux Falls federal bankruptcy court, seeking reorganization for the Dahlquists under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code.

When the Dahlquists did not make payment on the $1 million in loans due June 30 and the collateral could not be verified, the loans went into default, according to First National Bank of Sioux City President Richard Taylor.

The Dahlquists, who have been doing business with the bank for nearly 10 years, also own land in Yankton County, S.D. and lease a ranch near Avon, S.D., their attorney said.

30 responses returned

Chicken balloon found at Lake Erie

More than 700 balloons were released by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce on May 19 to help spread the word that Wayne's third annual Chicken Show was approaching.

A spokesman for the chamber said 30 responses were returned from such places as Rosalie, Harcourt, Iowa; Metamora, Ill. and Hanna, Ind.

THE BALLOON traveling the farthest of those returned was one which had been purchased by John Goeden of Wayne. Goeden will receive a $100 savings bond from the chamber.

His balloon was found about six miles off shore at Lake Erie by Mrs. Bonnie Fraser of Blenheim, Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. Fraser, who will be sent an official 1983 chicken shirt, said her favorite way to honor chickens is "sitting on a plate, alongside of mashed potatoes, gravy and corn."

ANOTHER BALLOON was found "in 140 feet of water about six miles from South Haven, Mich." by a man fishing for salmon in Lake Michigan.

Persons who found balloons were asked to contact the Wayne Chamber of Commerce prior to the Wayne Chicken Show. The show was held downtown on July 8 and 9.

A crowd estimated at more than 2,000 attended the show and organizers said they felt this year's show went over well and added that they plan to improve on next year's event.

Coverage of the annual affair was picked up by news wires and carried by media throughout the country.

County field day gives area farmers insight to options

Farmers who attended Thursday's field demonstrations near Sholes had an opportunity to learn firsthand about erosion prevention, conservation tillage, herbicides and insecticides, warm season grasses and various equipment.

The field day was sponsored by the Wayne County Extension Service and Soil Conservation Service of three farms in the northwest part of Wayne County.

A rainfall simulator demonstration showed farmers how erosion varies on land with various amounts of residue.

DAVID SHELTON of the Northeast Experimental Station near Concord and Detroit Dickey of the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture explained how the simulator is used to evaluate erosion under various tillage systems.

A plot with no residue, a no-till plot, a plot with 25 percent residue and a plot with 50 percent residue were used to demonstrate the difference in erosion under each condition.

"There is no single best tillage system," the two said. "Of course, the more residue left, the greater the soil saved."

Farmers were given information on soil erosion losses and fuel and labor requirements for five common tillage systems in corn residue on a 10 percent slope with a rainfall rate averaging 2 1/2 inches an hour.

MOLDBOARD PLOW: 15,700 pounds of soil erosion, 5.3 gallons of diesel fuel, 1.2 hours labor per acre.

Chisel plow: 4,100 pounds of soil erosion, 4.1 gallons of fuel, 1.1 hours labor per acre.

Disk: 4,400 pounds of soil erosion, 3.9 gallons of fuel, 0.8 hours of labor an acre.

Till-plant: 2,100 pounds of soil erosion, 2.3 gallons of fuel, 0.7 hours labor per acre.

No-till: 1,400 pounds soil erosion, 1.7 gallons fuel, 0.4 hours labor per-acre.

S Shelton said a 20 percent residue cover can reduce erosion as much as 50 percent from a field with no cover. "The key is don't till too much."

THE GROUP also examined corn plots on several farms. Plots on Don Leidman's farm were planted on oats and clover stubble using a minimum till planter on the upper field and a slot planter on the lower field.

Different herbicides were used on the two plots, giving farmers an idea which system of planting and which herbicide might work best for them.

On the Larry Wittler farm, the group examined a corn plot planted on corn stubble and another planted on oats stubble. An identical herbicide program and the same planter were used on both plots.

"This year we concentrated our efforts in the Sholes area. We're looking for six or seven plots for next year's demonstration."

said Don Spitzke, Wayne County extension agent.

WARM SEASON grasses, including two varieties of switchgrass and one type of Big Blue stem grass were included on another test plot.

According to Spitzke, 100 acres of broom grass would carry 50 animal units for the season while 40 acres of switchgrass and 60 acres of broom will carry 65 animals for the season with slightly better gain.

In addition, Spitzke said 40 acres of broom, 20 acres of switchgrass and 40 acres of Big Blue Stem grass will carry 75 animals for the season with even better gain.

Some questions were raised concerning corn borers and root worms.

ENTOMOLOGIST JOHN Wilkowski said this year's infestation of borers is one of the most serious ever. He pointed out that recent strong winds have prevented aerial application of insecticides.

"Control is marginal now. They're boring in and you can't get them," Wilkowski said. "If there are enough borers in the whorl you might get your money back. But you need at least two or three in the whorl or it's not worth it."

The entomologist said he also expects the second brood of corn borers to be a real problem.

eddie's brother

by randy hascall

Vacation time is the time of year when people look forward to getting away from work for awhile, taking it easy or getting caught up on work around the home. Unfortunately vacations often don't go as planned.

Everyone's idea of a vacation is a little different than another's. Take The Wayne Herald's employees for example. One of our employees, Pokey, likes to spend all of her spare time just lying in the sun getting the best suntan possible. She is one of those suntan nuts who believe that a perfect tan is a true work of art. It's important that all of her toes have even fans that match her fingers. Some people believe that lying out in the sun is a waste of time but Pokey feels that it is the best way to make good use of time. She likes to just lie in a lounge chair, staring at a picture of Tom Selleck.

Skinny, another employee, isn't nearly as fond of the sun. Last week she spent some free time painting her house and came back to work looking like a tomato.

I wouldn't say she got a little too much sunshine but she did leave a trail of shedded skin on the office floor this week. Her face was so red that it turned white whenever she blushed.

Tootle Fruittie is a cleaning fanatic. Her idea of a fun vacation is scrubbing floors, vacuuming, dusting and cleaning closets. She's the only person I know who carries a scrub brush in her purse. Her idea of a good time is an opportunity to scrub a toilet bowl. What a vacation!

Merle, Purple, Spike and Sun-nybrooke, all college girls, like to split their free time among various activities which include swimming, cruising Main Street, listening to music by Tolo or Walter Egan and chasing guys. Mostly they like to chase guys. Merle picks green beans and milks cows. Sun-nybrooke plays mud-football. Spike takes golf lessons and Purple potty trains puppies.

Pressman Ramondo spent his vacation by undergoing a knee operation, recuperating, pulling together jigsaw puzzles and planning a special newspaper for his 40th reunion. Exciting, huh?

Tuesday spends her free time watching movies. She has seen every movie that has been around the last three years, ranging from Porky's to Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. When she doesn't go to movies, she reads Stephen King books to add more excitement to her nightmares.

Bubbles likes to spend her vacation time either traveling or sleeping. Preferably sleeping. Her idea of "camping out" is to sleep in an air-conditioned camper at a site with an electrical outlet and hot running water. Cisco spends his spare time moving out of one house and into another, lifting refrigerators and hurling his back.

Bambino, an expectant father, will spend his vacation changing diapers, heating up formula and getting up in the middle of the night.

D.D. probably will spend his vacation making divots on golf course fairways and roughs.

Pippeeto's vacation probably will consist of either playing five-point pitch or watching HBO.

Irish likes to ride his bicycle, talk football with Big, Dumb, Stupid Larry and buy punk rock albums.

Alley Cat is a soap opera addict. She only watches one soap, she says, but she records it and watches it three or four times a day. During break she just talks about how Liz shot Marie and Neil finally told Marie that it was Liz, not a burglar, who shot her.

During vacation, she rents two video recorders from a local business and tapes soap operas on the two networks she can't watch.

Squeak likes to travel, either overseas or to Broken Bow, Nebraska. In her spare time, she writes letters (in German) to a friend she met on her latest trip to West Germany. If she can't travel, Squeak's idea of a fun vacation is to schedule family reunions at the park.

I'm not sure yet how I'll spend my vacation but I do know I'm going to stay home, take my telephone off the hook and pretend like no one's home. See you in a week.

ask a lawyer

a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q: A woman in our office had a child three years ago, out of wedlock. Recently she took her former boyfriend to court to get child support. The boyfriend didn't even know about the child, though it probably was his as they had been living together at one time. How can he be forced to pay this support?

A: He can be forced to pay support if the court determines from the evidence that he is the father of the child. Nebraska law provides that the father of a child whose paternity is established either by judicial proceedings or by acknowledgement is liable for the support of the child to the same extent as the father of any child born in lawful wedlock. Of course, the mother is also liable for the child's support.

If a court determines that the boyfriend is actually the father of the child, it will enter a judgment to that effect. Once that judgment is entered the court will enter an Order providing for the support of the child as may be in the best interests of the child, based upon the ability of the child's parents to contribute support.

If you have a legal question, write "Ask a Lawyer," P.O. Box 2529, Lincoln 68502. This column is intended to provide general legal information, not specific legal advice. "Ask a Lawyer" is a public service of the Nebraska State Bar Association.

letters

To the editor:

This letter will read, in part, like an academy awards acceptance speech. Only I didn't receive an award, Wayne did. What did Wayne get? Wayne got the third annual Chicken Show.

On behalf of the people of Wayne, I want to say some "thank you's." Thank you Jane, Dean, Dean, Pearl, Gail, Karen, Michelle, Anne, Sam, Karen, Dave, Kathryn and many many other individuals, you know who you are. I can't name you all. Thank you to the Fire Dept., Police Dept., Eagles, and City of Wayne officials. Here is where my "thank you" speech gets threatened. I must simply add thank you to all of the "little" people. You deserve a pat on the back.

Did everyone notice that huge "thank you" sign we had propped up against the tree in front of the city auditorium? Thanks again to all of you people who donated food, money and prizes. Wow!

Thanks to the organizers, judges and participants in the parade. It was Great! Same goes for the people involved in the displays, contests, fun run, music festival, talent contest, omelet feed, chicken feed, etc. etc. (If this was an acceptance speech, about now I'd be getting the frantic signals from the director and the M.C. would be edging his way into the spot light to edge me off of the stage.) And yet, I'm hardly done with my thank you speech. Suffice it to say, you all worked so hard, did so much, accomplished so much. This summer's Chicken Days was a huge success. You're a great bunch of people and deserve much more than this letter can express.

Like I said, the real winners are the people of Wayne and the many out of town visitors.

If you are one of the doubters who didn't attend the gala event, and still think of it as "dumb," I'd like to share with you my view of the Chicken Show. As one of the officials, I watch the events from behind the announcers, looking out into a sea of smiling faces. Everyone from one to one hundred is enjoying themselves, there is something of interest for all. Families sit together, older folks are out and about. Everything is free so that all can participate. There is no finer, family oriented, fun filled, festival in the town, area, state or country.

My theme song Saturday was "Happy 3rd Birthday, Dear Chicken Show, and many more." And thank you dear people who give so much of yourselves to bring it to us all.

Marie McCue
P.S. I'd like to throw in an additional "thank you" and this is the only appropriate place. I must mention the spouses of the people who make the Chicken Show into a resounding success. It's not easy being married to one of these Chicken Phanatics, is it?

To the editor:
For the past two years, it has been my pleasure and good fortune to live in the community of Wayne and work for Wayne State College.

In those two years, I have met a lot of wonderful people, both on and off campus. Wayne, you have a lot to be proud of!

Now, the time has come for me to move on. The lure of my alma mater and the chance for advancement are drawing me back to Peru State College. But I am going to miss Wayne very, very much. Wayne and WSC have been good to me, and I'll always have a soft spot in my heart for this place.

My sincere thanks to you, Wayne, Nebraska, and to you, Wayne State College. To the both of you I have a debt! I can never repay!

To the editor:
I think it is insulting, annoying, and presumptuous that business thinks it has the right to invade movie theatres.

I am referring to the commercial advertising which one must sit through before being allowed to view the movie at our local theatre. This does not include our local advertisers, but the ads for "Kool" cigarettes and video games.

I go to the movies to relax and get away from the bombardment of advertising on my television set once in a while. Seeing these advertisements on the movie screen makes me angry. Even a brief travelogue would be preferred over these obnoxious intrusions of which I have no intention of paying $3.25 to see anymore.

To the editor:
I'd like to thank every person who entered the "chicken show contests," everyone who accepted to be a judge, KTCH disc jockeys for being emcees and also the Waldbaum Co. for furnishing the eggs. Thanks to you all.

Michele Flowers
P.S. You don't need to like chickens to go to the chicken show. It is just a time for fun.

National honor

Former Wayne woman wins top press award

A former Wayne woman recently received the nation's top journalistic award from a national organization of press women.

Marjie Lundstrom, 26, daughter of Max and Margaret Lundstrom of Wayne, last month was the top communications contest sweepstakes winner for the National Federation of Press Women.

Lundstrom received the honor at the group's annual convention in Vail, Colo.

LUNDSTROM, a feature writer for The Denver Post, received the honor for her first place stories on Jack Swigert, the Colorado congressman who died of cancer shortly before his swearing-in; a package of stories on alcohol, including pieces on campus drinking, the closure of downtown's seamy bars and police officers who arrest drunken drivers; and an in-depth look at the vanishing ski bum.

The articles appeared in Contemporary magazine which appears on Sundays in The Post.

Lundstrom, who has been at The Post for two years, topped 1,726 entries from 44 state press women affiliates to receive the honor.

Contestants qualify for the national competition by winning first-place awards in state contests.

A GRADUATE OF Wayne Carroll High School, Lundstrom attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where she majored in journalism and minored in English.

She graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1978 and was named the Sigma Delta Chi outstanding journalism graduate that year.

While in college, she was an editor for the student newspaper and traveled to Europe on a photography seminar.

She began her professional career at the Fort Collins Coloradoan, a daily newspaper. While at the Coloradoan, she was asked to participate in a special investigative project for the Associated Press, which received a national citation.

LUNDSTROM JOINED the Denver Monthly magazine in 1979 as senior editor and became managing editor several months before the magazine ceased publishing.

While at the magazine, she traveled to Wiesbaden, West Germany, to cover the return of the hostages.

She joined The Denver Post in August 1981 and has filled assignments as a columnist and feature writer.

Marjie Lundstrom

Most recently, she has been writing primarily for Contemporary, one of The Post's two Sunday magazines.

200 attend Koepke anniversary celebration at Norfolk Elks Lodge

Over 200 friends and relatives attended the 40th anniversary open house for former Hoskins residents Herman and Dorothy Koepke at the Elks Lodge in Norfolk on June 26.

The event was hosted by the couple's children, Judy and Jeff Schmid of St. Louis, Mo.; Janis and Jon Bible of Lincoln, Neb.; and Doris Koepke of Boulder, Colo.

Gary and Terry Koepke, and Gene and Delvene Koepke of Missoula, Mont.; Lonnie and Sallan Koepke of Hoskins, La. Koepke and Lynne Koepke of Lincoln; Jeffrey Koepke of Norfolk, and JoAnn, who was hospitalized in Omaha and unable to attend.

THE TABLE was decorated with red roses, accented with pink and blue blooms and baby's breath, in a crystal bowl.

Pale pink candles in crystal candlesticks completed the arrangement.

Mary Meyer of Cavour, S. D. and Grace Johnson of Pierce served cake. Leatha Starbuck of Norfolk poured, and Marlene Walker of Hoskins served punch.

Janice Bible modeled her mother's wedding dress and veil. The children's surprise gift to their parents was a book containing the genealogy and historical narrative of both the Koepke and Herman and Dorothy's life together.

Most of the work on the book, which took three years to complete, was done by daughter Judy and her husband Jeff Schmid of St. Louis.

KOEPKES WERE married June 27, 1943 at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, Huron, S. D. They turned on the home place where Herman was born, until moving to 1211 N. 11th, Norfolk, about two months ago.

Are you preparing to pick the fruits and vegetables of your labor? Many gardeners are beginning to produce more than can be eaten. If you're planning to can the extra, check out the new recommendations from the USDA.

New research has prompted the USDA to change their recommendations for canning tomatoes, applesauce, pumpkins and squash. You will want to change the time tables in your favorite canning guide.

LET'S BEGIN with tomatoes, a favorite crop with many gardeners. Tomatoes should be firm, ripe and fresh.

There's an old rule of thumb that says two hours from garden to jar. This helps insure the best quality in your canned products.

After washing thoroughly, peel and remove cores. The woody cores of tomatoes can cause spoilage in canned goods.

The new recommendations suggest that tomatoes should be hot packed only.

Cut in halves or quarters or leave tomatoes whole. Put in a kettle and bring to a boil without adding water. Stir to prevent sticking and watch carefully so tomatoes don't become mushy.

WHEN BOILING, pack into clean jars leaving one-half inch headspace. You may add salt if desired for flavor, one-half teaspoon canning salt for pints and one-teaspoon for quarts.

Adjust lids and process in a boiling water bath for 35 minutes per pint and 45 minutes per quart. Strained tomato juice should be processed for 35 minutes in both pint and quart jars.

If you plan to can pumpkin or squash, research recommends using only a cubed product. Strained or purced pumpkin and squash may not reach a temperature high enough to prevent spoilage.

Follow your canning book's recommendations for processing time.

FINALLY, FOR appearance and fruit purity the processing time has been lengthened to 20 minutes for both pints and quarts. Researchers learned that a mold found in these products has a high heat resistance. Longer processing times should kill this mold.

Follow these new guidelines when you can this summer. It's still better to be safe than sorry.

Junior golf title goes down to wire

Mike Peterson of Oakland and Wayne's Cole Froeschle waged a tooth-and-nail battle during the State Junior Golf Championship played at the Wayne Country Club last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The two golfers went into the final day of play tied at 145 after 36 holes. Peterson prevailed in the class A division with a 72 73 70—215 three-day total while Froeschle turned in a 72 73 72—217 to claim second.

Wayne Country Club golf pro Rudy Froeschle said 65 boys competed in the tournament's two divisions. The class A boys played 54 holes while the class B competition consisted of 36 holes.

"THE TOURNEY went very well," Froeschle said. "The weather was beautiful and the course was in good shape."

Most of the boys stayed with host families while in Wayne. "We owe a lot to Mike and Jill Perry," Froeschle said.

The Perrys were responsible for finding accommodations for the boys.

Other Wayne golfers competing in the tournament were Brad Moore (class A) and Kevin Ellis (class B).

Class A
1. Mike Peterson, Oakland 72 73 70—215; 2. Cole Froeschle, Wayne 72 73 72—217; 3. Kirby

Smith, Omaha 150 74—224; 4. Kelly Danielson 154 72—226; 5. Brad Olson 153 74—227; 6. Mike Rack, Lincoln 153 74—227; 10. Brad Moore, Wayne 78 76 80—232.

Class B
1. Dave Johnson, Columbus 72 79—151; 2. Dave Haas, Lincoln 74 78—152; 3. Arjay Eyselmler, Lincoln 80 76—156; 4. Steve Hansen, Grand Island 79 78—157; 5. Bruce Thayer, Superior 74 84—158; 6. Ron Bounds 77 82—159; 11. Kevin Griess, Wayne 80 86—166.

Other Wayne golfers were: Tom Perry, who turned in an 80 86—180, and David Ellis, who scored 94 87—181.

Wayne's Midgets settle for double-header split with Norfolk

Wayne's Midget baseball team squeaked past Norfolk 4-3 Wednesday night in the first game of a double-header at Hank Overin Field.

Jeff Hausmann, who went the distance on the mound for Wayne, struck out two men in the top of the first inning and Norfolk left two men stranded.

Wayne got three runners on in the first as Chris Wieseler walked, Steve Overin got on as interference was called on a Norfolk player, and Jeff Hausmann got to first on a fielder's choice. All three were left on, however, to end the inning.

NORFOLK STALLED again in the second, leaving two men on and sending Wayne to the plate.

The hosts scored the first run of the ballgame after right fielder Pete Warne took a base on balls with one out and advanced to third on a couple of passed balls.

Jeff Sherer and Kevin Maly got charity trips to the plate before Overin took a base on balls to send Warne home.

Norfolk countered with two runs in the third as the first man up, Dresden, singled and was followed aboard as the next man up got on via a Wayne error. The two runners both scored on sacrifices and Norfolk took a 2-1 lead going into the bottom half of the third.

NOT CONTENT to sit still, Wayne quickly regained the lead after Dan Gross and Rick Nelson walked with one out and advanced as Norfolk's pitcher was charged with a balk. Pete Warne got on with a fielder's choice that saw all runners safe and the bases loaded.

Jeff Sherer then walked to score one run as the other scored on an error by the first baseman.

Norfolk changed pitchers and the next two Wayne batters went down as Wayne took a 3-2 lead.

Norfolk's right fielder, List, singled to start the fourth inning, but the next three batters were out on a sacrifice, a strikeout and a grounder, too short.

Wayne also came up empty in the fourth after Don Larsen tripled with one out and was left on base.

Norfolk tied the score with a solo run in the top of the fifth as its shortstop was beaned with a pitch, stole second base, and went home on two passed balls.

In the bottom of the inning, Wayne's Pete Warne was hit by a pitch and then stole second before Jeff Sherer came to the plate and drove him home with a game-winning single.

Locals suffer their first season loss

Norfolk's Midget baseball team was very generous during the second game of a double-header with Wayne last Wednesday night at Hank Overin Field.

After Wayne handed them a 4-3 loss in the first game, Norfolk saw fit to give Wayne a double dose of its own medicine with a 9-0 victory that was Wayne's first loss of the season. Thirteen Wayne batters struck out in the game while Norfolk scattered its runs throughout the early innings and never looked back.

A three run first inning, helped by three Wayne errors, got the visitors off to a fast start.

WAYNE MANAGED only four hits in the game. Rick Nelson and Shannon Dorcey had singles in the second inning while Tim Fiem ing had a one bagger in the fourth and Steve Overin one in the fifth. Other than that and a few scattered walks, Norfolk completely shut down Wayne's offense.

The visitors added two runs in the second with the help of two passed balls and a stolen base after two men got on via a Wayne error and a fielder's choice.

Wayne stiffened somewhat in the third, and Norfolk retired in order. But Wayne was stymied, as it would be all night, in getting anything popping on offense.

The Norfolk Midgets padded their lead with four runs in the fourth, as passed balls and errors continued to plague Wayne.

The hosts finally slowed Norfolk down enough to prevent anymore runs in the game, but failed to score as Norfolk went on to win the contest 9-0.

League triumph

Pitchers combine for a no-hit shutout

The Wayne midget baseball team got back on the winning track last Thursday night with a 10-0 victory over Bancroft at Hank Overin Field.

Brent Pick saved a no-hitter for Steve Overin as he came in for relief in the final inning. Eleven of 17 Bancroft batters recorded strike outs in the game.

Bancroft got one man on due to an error on Jeff Hausmann, but Overin fanned the last man up to put an end to the threat.

After Kevin Maly grounded out for Wayne's first out, Chris Wieseler took a base on balls before Overin followed with a double.

Jeff Hausmann got to first with a fielder's choice and Rick Nelson added an RBI single. Singles by Pete Warne and Tim Fleming put the tally at 6-0.

Bancroft got shot out of the saddle in the second as Overin smoked all three batters.

two more runs across the plate off of a two RBI single by first baseman Don Larsen, as Wayne went out in front 8-0.

The visitors' bad luck at the plate continued in the third inning as two more men were left on base.

The hosts cooled off in the bottom of the third. With one out, Kevin Maly got on via a Bancroft error and then proceeded to steal second and travel to third on a passed ball. Overin took a base on balls, but Hausmann grounded out to end the inning.

The fourth stanza saw Overin fan three more foes and Wayne added one run as Darrin Barner sacrificed to send Rick Nelson home.

Pick took the mound for Wayne to begin the fifth and walked the first man before retired the next two men with strike outs, and the third grounded out to short.

The game ended after five, as Rick Nelson had an RBI single to score Pick.

Is Your Money Safer Under Your Mattress?

Maybe Many people are reluctant to question their bank concerning its stability and safety. They assume that all banks are safe simply because they are called banks.

A bank's safety is measured by its Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation protection and its Federal Reserve protection. FDIC protection means that as a depositor your accounts are insured to $100,000. And that your IRA or KEGG plan accounts are insured separately for $100,000.

At the State National Bank and Trust Company your accounts are insured by the FDIC and protected by the Federal Reserve. Your money is safe with us.

So don't assume that all banks are backed by the FDIC or the Federal Reserve, but don't start banking out of your mattress either. Come to the State National Bank and Trust Company, where your accounts are backed by the FDIC and the Federal Reserve.

And the second Monday of each month St. Mary's Ladies bring cookies to share with us. Grace Lutheran Ladies also came the past month. The Eagles Auxiliary came to help play bingo. They gave prizes and also brought a delicious lunch which they served following the game.

Our monthly birthday party is held on the third Wednesday each month. Seven residents will be seated at our honored table for July: Clara Schneider July 7, Gust Peterson July 10, Martin Steinhilber July 11, Gladys Hines July 14, Erma Kearns July 15, Loyal Keen July 16, Bill Jager July 17.

The maintenance men finished the cement work in Central Park area so the residents can be taken out in their wheelchairs to enjoy the great outdoors with "Peachy" our cat.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the friends of James Miller whose services were held this past Saturday. We are most happy to welcome Viola Beiser and Basile Pelman to our home.

"Last year Nebraska's independent PCAs paid over $2,100,000 in taxes."

It's because the 14 independent PCAs in Nebraska are taxpayers like other private enterprises.

Some people incorrectly believe that PCAs are government organizations or agencies. Far from it. PCAs are simply financial services cooperatives. Our Association is wholly-owned and financially supported by local producers. We lend both our own reserves and money raised through the sale of non-government bonds in the nation's money markets — Wall Street. If loans aren't repaid, or we have a loss, local members end up footing the bill.

So, we operate our Association on a sound and business-like basis. Our directors, who are PCA members and borrowers, are elected by local members to set policy for the Association and hire professional management. This gives us the kind of direction which enables PCA to serve our own producers better and more completely through a professionally run organization.

PCAs are not alike. Although all of the 423 PCAs in the United States are operated under the same rules and regulations, like many businesses and industries today, each is independent and has its own management style based on the needs of the local producers. Our PCA is unique.

Yes, we did pay taxes. Nebraska's PCAs also returned $204,046 to Nebraska PCA members in 1982 in addition to providing professional quality financial services.

For many producers in Nebraska, PCA is not a business. That's why we say PCA is for people who make a business out of agriculture.

Find out for yourself.
