Natural gas rate increase will now be 85¢ lower than planned

A decision by Peoples Natural Gas Company will result in a smaller natural gas rate increase for Wayne residents.
To avoid lengthy and expensive litigation, Peoples has accepted a proposal of the Bellevue City Council regarding a recent rate request, a company spokesman announced Thursday.
"We still believe our original request of a $4 per month charge is reasonable and justified and one which courts would have upheld," said Gerald Quick, area manager for Peoples in Nebraska.
QUICK SAID the company did agree; however, to reduce the monthly increase to $3.15 and to place a moratorium on rate increases through Jan. 1, 1985 in order to avoid a drawn-out court case.
In addition, Peoples agreed not to implement future general rate increases in Nebraska until Aug. 22, 1985.
Peoples filed the rate increase request with the town councils in 33 Nebraska communities earlier this year. Twenty towns, including Wayne, have already approved the increase in its original form.
Those towns, along with the 12 which have not yet considered the increase, will receive the newly amended increase offer, Quick said.

"WE HAVE a commitment to those communities which have already passed ordinances reflecting our initial request," he said. "We do not want to place a hardship on those communities which have had the foresight to act in good faith, so we are extending like terms to all cities we serve."
The Wayne City Council had considered Peoples' proposal for six weeks before giving its approval in late July. That approval was for a $4 increase.

Keith Mosley, manager of Peoples Natural Gas in Wayne, said the rate increase for the city of Wayne will now be reduced to $3.15.
He said that the natural gas company felt the only fair thing to do was pass along the change to all communities involved.
QUICK SAID neither the Bellevue City Council nor Peoples attained their objectives with the compromise solution. "But Peoples is happy to serve these communities, and we want to continue the excellent relationship we have had over the past years," he said.

With inflation moderating, Peoples should not be experiencing as many cost increases as in the past, Quick said. He pointed out that the company will have to continue economizing its operations under the current rate proposal.
Under the proposal, the new rates will go into effect on Oct. 1 for all communities. Quick said this will give those towns which have not yet passed the rate request a chance to do so.

AN AIRPLANE sits on a hillside west of Carroll where it crashed Friday evening.

Pilot escapes serious injury

Gary Cornett, 39, of Laurel, escaped serious injury when his Cessna airplane crashed on a hillside two miles south and approximately 6 1/4 miles west of Carroll Friday evening.
Cornett was spraying a bean field with parathion, a highly poisonous insecticide.
According to Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen, Cornett was making his final pass when his engine stalled out. He couldn't pull his northbound plane up in time and crashed into the hill. The plane came to rest about 40 or 50 feet from the site where it first hit.
CORNETT ESCAPED the wreckage on his own. John Hansen, who was withdrawing in the field across the road, saw the plane come down and took Cornett to the Hansen home where he washed off to prevent possible insecticide burns.
Hansen then transported Cornett to the Osmond General Hospital. He was held over for observation.
The Osmond hospital reported that Cornett was in good condition Saturday morning. He suffered bumps and bruises on his head, arm, leg and chest but had no broken bones.
The Carroll Volunteer Fire Department, which responded to the call, kept onlookers away from the insecticide spillage. The State Patrol's office and Wayne County Sheriff's office also investigated the accident.

ESU's budget is up seven percent

The Educational Service Unit One tax levy for the 1983-84 fiscal year is expected to be about 3.23 cents per $100 of actual valuation in the six county area the system serves, including Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne.
ESU administrator Harry Mills, Wakefield, said the levy is expected to generate about $490,210 of the $1,841,332 budget adopted in mid August by the ESU board of directors.

The new budget shows an increase of $205,407 over last year's budget of $1,635,925.
Mills pointed out that the 3.23 levy puts the ESU to the limit of the 7 percent lid while remaining under the maximum 3.5 cents allowed by law.
Programs funded by the county levy include health services, administration and administrative supervision, business, maintenance of plant, operation of plant and media center.

MILLS SAID the estimated valuations for 1983-84 include property in 10 counties because several school district boundaries in ESU one overlap into Antelope, Pierce, Cumming and Stanton.
Mills stressed that they are just estimates and may change, however a ballpark figure is needed for the budgeting process.
Estimated actual valuation figures presented for 1983-84, with last year's valuations appearing in brackets, are as follows:
Cedar — $299,795,170 ($299,295,170); Dakota — $396,482,729 ($319,955,802); Dixon — $196,722,580 ($194,172,110); Knox — $291,125,443 ($269,745,822); Thurston — $121,897,398 ($120,229,994); Wayne — $260,583,520 ($241,340,179); Antelope — $15,659,864 ($15,080,511); Pierce — $21,963,442 ($21,963,442); Cumming — $623,919 ($614,146); Stanton — $1,678,244 ($1,678,244).
Total for the 10 counties for the coming fiscal year is $1,606,532,309. That compares with last year's figure of $1,484,575,416, for functions — $70,346; operation of plant — $9,535; and maintenance of plant — $18,851.

THE HIGHEST area that is funded through the levy is school health services, which includes the services of a nurse.
Cost for the coming year in the ESU One area has been anticipated to be about $200,375. Mills pointed out that all of the schools served by the unit have contracted for nursing services.
The $200,375 for the program includes $149,000 in salaries.
Another area funded under the levy includes $87,645 for media services to schools. New films alone are expected to cost the unit about $44,000, with another $21,000 in salaries.
Other area and their funding levels under the levy include administration (Harry Mills) — $50,429; administrative supervision (Rodney Garwood) — $42,355; business estimated to amount to $1,145,802.

Level I special education services provided by ESU One to the districts, estimated to cost $843,409, include diagnosis and prescription, estimated to cost $159,480; in-service/staff development, $11,770; speech and hearing, $374,256; audiology, $15,890; pre-school, $94,019; and resource, $187,994.
Mills explained that all schools are mandated by law to provide Level I services and receive 90 percent reimbursement, with the exception of the pre-school service, which is reimbursed 100 percent.
LEVEL III special education services for the trainable and profoundly handicapped are expected to cost $302,393 and include the South St. Louis City trainable mentally handicapped program, $107,849; the South St. Louis City profoundly handicapped program, $83,548; and Wayne profoundly handicapped program, $110,996.

SCHOOL CONTRACTS this fiscal year, including Level I and Level III services, are

New pre-school opens in Wayne

A new pre-school for three and four-year-olds is scheduled to open today (Monday) in Wayne.
Way Discover, which is being operated by Marla McCue, opened its doors this morning in the basement of the McCue residence at 618 Logan St.
Marla said one of the features of the new pre-school is that she hopes will appeal to mothers is the size of the classes.
"Class size is very important," said Marla, adding that no more than eight or nine students will be enrolled in each class. Marla said limited class enrollment guarantees adequate teacher supervision. "If you have too many kids you lose an awful lot of learning," she stressed.
MARLA SAID seven students are currently enrolled in the pre-school, with classes each Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to noon.
She added that plans call for adding Tuesday and Thursday afternoon sessions as more students enroll.

For working parents, Marla said she plans to offer a babysitting service before and after pre-school hours to correspond with their busy schedules.
She explained that working parents who would like their youngster enrolled in pre-school can drop them off early and pick them up anytime after pre-school as their schedules allow.
Marla added that pre-school sessions will run consecutive with the elementary school year, with the same snow days and holidays.
WEE DISCOVER will be a very loosely structured, pre-school, according to Marla, with plenty of time for field trips and walks outdoors because of the small class size. "A lot of learning takes place outdoors," she said, "but you can do so much outdoors too."

Marla said while classes for three-year-olds will mostly involve socialization and constructive types of play, classes for four-year-olds will focus on readiness for kindergarten.
THE TENTATIVE schedule calls for an hour of free play, followed with circle time, which will include songs, finger plays, activity records and the teaching of numbers. There also will be a rest time, snack time, project time, and outside or story time. Projects the youngsters have completed will be handed out before dismissal at noon.
Marla said Wee Discover will have much of the standard equipment for pre-schoolers, including lots of books.
She added that youngsters also will have an opportunity to play games on a home computer which she and her husband own. "It's not a push for the computer age," said Marla, "but it certainly doesn't hurt to expose youngsters to computers."

LICENSING OF the new pre-school is pending from the Department of Welfare. Marla explained that pre-school licenses are very tightly regulated and are not granted until the schools have been in operation for a while.
Marla, who has a teaching certificate and has taught pre-school before, said the time was right to open Wee Discover.
"Out little girl, Katie, is four years old and at the pre-school age," she explained.
She and her husband Bob, professor of biology at Wayne State College, also are the parents of Kerry, a second grader, and Bobby, who will be two years old.
MARLA SAID parents wishing to enroll their youngsters in Wee Discover are invited to visit the school anytime or telephone her at 375-1986.
She added that youngsters will be accepted anytime during the year.

news briefs

Real estate taxes delinquent

The second half of real estate taxes will become delinquent Thursday (Sept. 1) and will begin drawing 14 percent interest at that time, according to Wayne County Treasurer Leon Meyer.

Farm truck licensing is changed

Leon Meyer, Wayne County treasurer, has announced a change in the licensing of farm trucks and the classification on driver's licenses.

The definition of a farm truck now includes combinations of trucks or truck tractor, and trailer or semi-trailer under LB72. The bill also provides that the words "not for hire" must be displayed on the license plate of the farm truck when new license plates are issued.

Meyer said fees for farm trucks will now be: up to five ton gross weight, $18; five ton through 14 ton, $22; 15 ton through 20 ton, $40 plus $5 for each ton over 15. The fee for trucks 21 tons or over will be $65 plus $10 for each ton over 20, plus $1.50 for each registration.

The vehicles will be registered for gross vehicle weight. If registered for more than 24,000 pounds, the operator will be required to have either a C or CC qualification on a driver's license.

Diabetes chief to Washington

Jim Weedman, president of the American Diabetes Association, Nebraska affiliate, and who also serves on the National Governmental Relations Committee, will be in Washington, D. C. Sept. 19-20 to promote legislation supporting diabetes research and care.

He will meet with key members of Congress, including the Nebraska delegation, concerning legislation and funding vital to the 80,000 diabetics in Nebraska.

The American Diabetes Association provides patient education, public and professional education, and research support throughout Nebraska and the United States.

The Nebraska affiliate has 36 chapters throughout the state, including the local chapter in Wayne.

Exchange student at Allen

Klaus Peter Springer, 17, of West Berlin, is attending Allen High School this year as a foreign exchange student.

Peter, as he prefers to be called, is residing with the Marlin French family. He is enrolled as a senior at Allen High and participating in football. He has studied English for six years.

His family includes his parents, Klaus and Krystal Springer, and a 16-year-old sister.

Finn wins carcass show

Mike Finn of Carroll topped the swine carcass show at the Wayne County Fair. His entry posted a percentage lean of 60.73, a length of 31 inches and had a backfat of 7 inches.

His brother Joe, also of Carroll, finished second with his entry posting a 59.83 percent lean, a length of 30.8 inches and .8 of an inch backfat.

There were 63 entries in the swine carcass show. Those placing third through 10th in order are: Chad Dorsey, Wayne; Trudy Hansen, Wakefield; Russell Longe, Carroll; Joe Finn, Carroll; Valorie Krusemark, Wakefield; Chris Luit, Wayne; Jennifer Hammer, Wakefield; and a tie between Karen Longe, Carroll and Chad Dorsey, Wayne.

weekly gleanings

CHIP MILLER, administrator of Antelope Memorial Hospital, has announced that Alan Taege, MD, will be starting a practice in Neligh in mid October. Taege was born and raised in northeast Nebraska, graduating from Wisner-Pilger High School in 1971.

A FARM family from Cuming County was featured as the Farm Family of the Week on WQWT, Channel 6 in Omaha on Friday, Aug. 26. A videotaped presentation of the farm of Randy and Fran Bellar and son Justin, of Wisner, was narrated by WQWT Farm Director Bryce Anderson during the farm portion of the noon news.

TWO MORE members of the Pierce Police Department have resigned, placing the city in dire need of replacements. Latest resignations have been Chief Tim Austin and Officer Gary Brunkhorst. At present, the law enforcement needs are being served by outside agencies.

sheriff's log

The Wayne County Sheriff's office has been busy lately. Over the past two weeks, the office has responded to the following calls:

—A one-car accident Thursday, Aug. 18 on a county road one mile west of Winside. Larry Walter, 16, of rural Hoskins, lost control of his car and went into the ditch. The car suffered considerable damage and Walter suffered a bump on his head. He was taken to a Norfolk hospital later.

—A two-car accident Monday morning, Aug. 22 seven miles west and four miles north of Carroll. A car driven by Karolyn Stevens of rural Randolph and a pickup driven by Gerard Brummel of rural Randolph were both totaled when they collided at an intersection which is blinded by corn fields.

Both drivers were taken to the Osmond hospital. Stevens, who suffered bumps and bruises, was released. Brummel, who suffered lacerations of his lip and left ear, was transferred to a Norfolk hospital.

—Vandalism of a plastic silo bag last Saturday night or Sunday morning four miles east of Wayne on Highway 35. Vandals apparently used knives to slit the full length of a silo bag owned by Merle and Ron Ring.

—The possible theft of some items at an auction on Sunday, Aug. 14. A person was high bidder at $169 on some antiques at a sale in Carroll, but took them without paying. The sheriff's office referred the case to the county attorney's office and a complaint has been filed in county court.

—A one-car accident at about 3:20 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 20 on a county road three miles east and one mile north of Wayne. Lee Foote, 18, of Wayne was driving west when he lost control of his car, went through a hedging fence and clipped off a Northwestern Bell telephone box. He was not injured.

eddie's brother

by randy hascal

Remember when they didn't use to let school out because it was too warm? All of us "old-timers" do.

Even if the temperatures hit 100 degrees and you were sopping wet with sweat, you still had to suffer through your national geography class. There was no closing school early because of the heat.

People are spoiled now. If the thermometer registers 90 degrees, schools close two hours early so football players can go out in the sun and run drills and volleyball players can go to the warm, stuffy gym and practice spiking. The next thing you know, someone will request that personalized air conditioners be installed at each desk in each classroom. That's when I'm going back to be educated.

After watching several schools conduct football and volleyball practice I do feel sorry for the athletes. They've had to work hard in weather that is, let's just say, unpleasant.

Then, reading a story about the death of an Auburn University running back due to the heat makes an athlete wonder if it's really worth it.

Just one more short note on sports and then I'll try to stay away from that area for awhile. Although it's still August, the football season opens when Nebraska plays Penn State in the Kickoff Classic.

I hope nobody wants me to take any pictures because I plan to be glued to the television set. After all, this will be one of the few times when I'll be able to follow Cornhusker football without listening to Lyle Bremser. Both teams might be as hot as the weather.

The farmer is another person who is griping about the weather. The only problem is that he can't do anything about it.

When people ask me why I didn't become a farmer after growing up on a farm for 19 years, I reply, "I knew better."

I loved living on a farm but have had absolutely no desire to become a farmer. I know how much farmers have to spend on land, machinery, parts, seed, fertilizer and pesticides, livestock, feed and other miscellaneous items.

I've also lived through dry weather, floods, hail, insect infestation, crop diseases and low grain prices.

I've seen hundreds of hours of hard work washed by one hard rainfall, one bad hail storm or thousands of bugs. I've had my fill of farming.

With the sun baking down on my brow I have a hard time thinking ahead to Christmas. Yet, Bev and Don Merriman of Wayne threw a Christmas bash last Monday night.

From what I heard it was quite a party with everyone having a good time. At first I thought the idea was a little strange. But since the Merrimans and most of their friends and neighbors will be in distant areas of the country over Christmas, the party makes sense.

I even heard they had some surprise Christmas carolers show up at their house during the party. In order to protect the not-so-innocent carolers, I won't even mention their names. If their friends or relatives would find out, they might try to have them committed.

Since I'm just doing a lot of rambling this week, I might as well add a personal note to the infamous Osceola Ocelot, Derald Johnson, and to our Irish sports editor, what's-his-name.

Our foursome in the Second Guessers golf tournament last week may not have done too well but at least we got to hit the ball a lot of times for our money.

If the Irish guy has as much trouble hitting a golf ball as he does driving a golf cart, he better stick to fiddly winks.

I've seen the Ocelot try to golf. The Osceola country club usually boarded up its windows when he showed up at the course.

If you're ever on the links with Derald, remember not to stand behind him when he's hitting the ball. The safest spot is to stand in his so-called line of flight.

Good news on interest and dividends

Good news! As a result of the tremendous outpouring of public opposition to the withholding of 10 percent income tax payments on interest and dividends earned, Congress has finally approved legislation to repeal these burdensome requirements retroactive to July 1, 1983, when they were scheduled to go into effect. President Reagan is expected to sign this repeal legislation.

In the event that some withholding was done, the legislation directs the Secretary of Treasury to establish a procedure for the refund of such withheld payments. Congress has listened!

THE TEXTILE industry is trying to delay United States negotiations with the Peoples Republic of China for a new long term textile trade agreement. A breakdown in those talks could end any immediate hope of reviving the $2 billion a year United States grain trade with China which is tied closely to a textile agreement.

For that reason, I have joined with some of my colleagues and sent a letter to the President urging him to resist efforts to delay negotiations and to press for an early agreement so that United States-China trade can resume. An early agreement on textiles is the key to resumption of agricultural exports to the Peoples Republic.

Trade problems between the two countries developed last December when the textile agreement expired. The United States imposed unilateral controls limiting textile imports to 1982 levels, and China retaliated by suspending imports of United States cotton, synthetic fibers and soybeans.

Although the suspension did not officially include corn and wheat, the Chinese have made no new purchases of these commodities from the United States since early January. United States corn and wheat sales to China reached $1.2 billion dollars in 1982.

BECAUSE OF an oversight in the "Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981," a non employed spouse who earns a very small amount of money can be disqualified from the benefits of a spousal Individual Retirement Account.

After being contacted by a constituent about this problem, I introduced H.R. 2468, which would provide that a spouse earning less than $250 annually would not be disqualified from a spousal IRA. I am very pleased that the bill now has 106 cosponsors. It is clearly a much needed change in our tax laws.

2,236 methods to cut our federal spending

By Richard Lester
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Two and a half years after the inauguration of President Reagan and almost three years since the mandate of the 1980 election, federal spending continues to careen out of control.

Despite popular misconceptions, the federal budget is actually growing more rapidly today than it did under Jimmy Carter. Budget growth in constant dollars averaged 3 1/2 percent under Carter. Average growth in the past two years has jumped to 4.3 percent.

Runaway federal spending presents two dangers to the present economic recovery. First, federal spending financed through taxes is a drain on personal income and high marginal tax rates are a disincentive to save, work and invest. Second, that portion of the budget financed through borrowing — the deficit — absorbs capital that would otherwise be available for investment in the productive sector of the economy. Larger deficits mean less capital, or more expensive capital, for home loans, car loans or venture capital for new businesses and new jobs.

WHEN ONE SPEAKS with congressmen about the problem of excessive spending in Washington, the responses can be broken down into three categories.

First, are those politicians who insist that we should reduce the deficit through higher taxes rather than spending restraint.

This method of reducing the deficit has one fatal flaw, however. It doesn't work. Raising taxes will only fuel more spending and slow the growth of the economy. Recent studies show that a one percent decline in the growth of the economy will increase the 1984 deficit by $13.5 billion and hike the 1985 deficit by $26.7 billion. Raising taxes will increase, not decrease, our deficit.

The second response is an echo of the old New England farmer who responded to a request for directions by saying, "You can't get there from here." These politicians insist that the $85 billion budget for 1984 cannot be reduced. The budget, they say, is already "cut to the bone." The hidden message here is that they would rather keep taxes and spending high on all Americans than confront the special interests and tell them that there will be fewer goodies this year than last. They represent the "I've never met a special interest I didn't like," school of politics. It is a high stakes game, but played with the taxpayers' money.

The third response from the politicians is often, "I'd like to cut the budget, but can you show me where it can be done." It is intended as a conversation stopper. A put down. The average taxpayer is not versed in the intricacies of the federal budget.

THIS HAS CHANGED however with the release of the report of the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, also known as the Grace Commission after its chairman J. Peter Grace. The commission was led by business, labor and academic leaders who donated their time.

In all, more than 1,300 individuals spent months researching the federal government discovering ways to reduce waste, fraud and abuse. Their findings to date have tallied to 98 pounds of reports including 2,236 recommendations. If all these recommendations were enacted, federal spending could be cut by over $270 billion in the next three years.

Some of the recommendations require congressional action. Others could be enacted by an executive order from President Reagan or his department heads. The importance of the Grace Commission report is that it puts to rest once and for all the myth that the federal budget cannot be reduced without cutting programs.

As taxpayers it will be extremely interesting for us to watch our congressmen and the Administration to see whether these recommendations are enacted or buried in a file cabinet. It will tell us a great deal about the true nature of our national leadership.

Americans have always known that where there is a will there is a way. The Grace Commission has shown us 2,236 ways to reduce federal spending.

Congress and the Administration must know how to show the will.

street talk

This week The Wayne Herald asked five people in downtown Wayne the burning question of the summer, "Who do you think is going to win the Nebraska vs. Penn State football game?" They were also invited to predict the score.

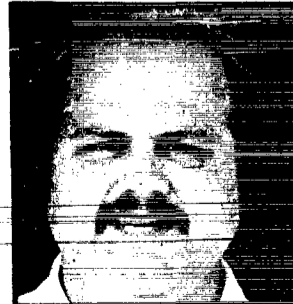

"Nebraska is going to win. I haven't read much about it but I know it's going to be a tough game. I'll say Nebraska by 35-17."
—Ken Burns, Wayne

"Just to be good, I'll say Nebraska. 21-14."
—Anne Svoboda, Wayne..

"I'll probably get killed for this, but I'm leaning towards Penn State by 21-0."
—Tom Fletcher, Wayne

"Nebraska 28-7—you bet. I think they are going to go undefeated this year."
—Dr. Darrell Thorpe, Wayne.

"Oh, I really don't know, but I have a gut feeling Nebraska is going to lose—but what do I know—I'm a native lowen. I'll say Penn State 21-20."

Honey myths

We are bombarded with warnings to lower the amounts of sugar and fat in our diets. Research has shown that Americans do overindulge in these two areas. Along with those warnings come advice on how you can cut your sugar or fat consumption. Much of the time the advice you read or hear is full of half-truths or misconceptions. One example is the theory that replacing refined white sugar with honey is more nutritious.

IT MAY SURPRISE most people to learn that honey is probably not a more nutritious replacement for sugar. As far as your body is concerned, there seems to be very little difference between the final fate of the two sweeteners. Both are used in the body as either immediate energy or for storage in the form of glycogen or fat. When the body breaks down table sugar during digestion, two simple sugars, glucose and fructose, are produced. Honey also yields these sugars, but in slightly different proportions. Honey contains more fructose than glucose.

FRUCTOSE IS ABOUT twice as sweet as glucose which may explain why some people think honey is sweeter than table sugar. People who use honey to sweeten beverages sometimes use less than if they were using sugar. The difference in amounts used is usually so small that no savings in calories occurs. Nutritionally, honey seems to have no advantage over table sugar. There are very small amounts of some trace minerals and vitamins in honey that are not in sugar. But it's important to know that these nutrient amounts are insignificant in a balanced diet. To compare, one cup of honey supplies about the same amount of iron as two slices of whole wheat bread.

CLAIMS THAT HONEY has special health-giving properties are unproven. In fact, including honey in an infant's diet may actually be a health threat. Honey contains the spores that cause botulism. In an adult this causes no problem. The spores pass through the digestive system without causing any harm. The infant's digestive system is not yet mature. Botulism spores in the honey can grow and produce deadly toxins that will poison the child. For this reason, infants should not be fed honey until they are a year old. Again, the danger of botulism from honey is very real for infants under one year of age. It poses no threat to adults who eat honey.

AS YOU SEARCH for ways to cut down sugar consumption or find a replacement, you might remember the best remedy is to restrain your sweet tooth.

Dixon County planning tour

Dixon County Home Extension Clubs are sponsoring a tour to De Soto Bend and Shenandoah, Iowa on Tuesday, Sept. 13. Interested persons are invited to join the tour. A chartered bus will board at the Northeast Station near Concord at 6:30 a.m. The De Soto Bend Wildlife Refuge and Museum will be visited enroute to Shenandoah.

SITES TO BE VISITED at Shenandoah include the Larry Greenwaldt Art Studio, Earl May Seed and Nursery Co., KMA Radio Station, and Kitchen Klatzer Co.

There will be time for supper and shopping at the Council Bluffs Mall on the return trip. Plans are to return about 9:30 p.m.

The noon meal will be at the Tall Corn Restaurant in Shenandoah, with each person ordering from the menu. Tour participants are asked to bring their own mid-morning snack. COST OF THE TOUR is $18 per person for bus fare only. Pre-paid reservations are to be mailed to Mrs. Julie Hartung, Dixon, Neb., 68732 (584-2489) by Sept. 6. No refunds will be made. Persons who pay and are unable to attend are asked to try and find someone else to take their place on the bus. Committee members in charge of planning the tour are Mrs. Loren Lund and Mrs. Craig Williams of Allen, Mrs. Jeff Hartung of Dixon, and Anna Marie White, Dixon County Extension Agent-Home Economics.

Realigned playoff plan has 3 area schools playing 8-man football

Most people that follow high school football in Nebraska are aware that there is a playoff system to determine the state champion in each class. Few understand how it works.

The main reason for the confusion is that the system has been changed several times since its inception in 1975.

In 1975, Nebraska's high schools were divided into six classes: A, B, C-1, C-2, D and eight-man. This year's alignment is still six classes, but the two smallest classifications (D-1 and D-2) will play eight-man football.

REX JONES, assistant director of the Nebraska School Athletic Association said there were a number of reasons for the changes.

"The main reason was that, with decreasing enrollments, more and more schools began to play eight-man football," Jones said.

Class D-1 Allen and Winside will play eight-man football.

Twelve schools in the state have announced that they will play six-man football this year. No playoff system presently exists for schools playing six-man football.

Four eight-man teams will be ineligible for the playoffs because their enrollments are too large. Wakefield, with an official enrollment of 98, is one of those schools. The limit for the eight-man playoffs is 80.

"It's a dilemma," Jones said, "though I'm also sure that there are some people up in northeast Nebraska who think Wakefield shouldn't be playing eight-man football."

WAKEFIELD HEAD football coach Dennis Wilbur disagrees.

"We dropped about 14 or 15 kids that moved away," he said. "That put us down to 81 kids — just one over the limit for the playoffs."

Wilbur also pointed out that enrollment numbers can be deceiving.

Wakefield's senior class has just 12 boys compared to 31 girls.

Although Wakefield's fans will only be able to bask in the glory of regular season victories, followers of Wayne, Allen, Laurel and Winside can chart their team's progress towards a possible playoff berth.

Simplified, the system works like this: points are given for victories and subtracted for losses. The teams with which accumulate the most points over the course of the season are eligible for post-season competition. Eight teams will qualify for Class A, Classes B, C-1, C-2, D-1 and D-2 will each send 16 teams to their respective playoffs.

UNFORTUNATELY, the system is more complicated than that.

Some wins are worth more points than others. A team receives more points for beating an opponent with a winning record than by beating a team with a losing record.

Points are also awarded if a team beats an opponent from a larger classification. Points are subtracted if, for example, a Class B school should lose to a Class C school. (Of course the Class C school would greatly benefit point-wise from the same situation.)

The following information is from the NSAA's official bulletin, and explains point values.

1st Division Team	2nd Division Team	3rd Division Team
Victory over	50 points	45 points
Loss to	30 points	25 points

A first division team is one which has won more than 66% of its games.

Example records: 9-0, 8-1, 7-2, 6-3.

A second division team is one which has won at least 34%, but not more than 66% of its games.

Example records: 5-3, 5-4, 4-4, 4-5, 3-5.

A third division team is one which has won less than 34% of its games.

Example records: 3-6, 2-7, 1-9 and 0-9.

In addition, bonus points are also awarded on the following basis:

— For a win over or a loss to a team from a higher classification, 3 points are awarded.

— For example, Wayne will receive 3 bonus points for playing Class A South Sioux City on Sept. 2, win or lose or draw.

— For a win over or a loss to a team in a lower classification, 3 points are subtracted. The exception is that Class A schools are not penalized for playing one of the 32 largest Class B schools.

THUS, NORFOLK would not be penalized for playing Class B schools the size of Lincoln Plus X, Boys Town or Blair. They would lose 3 points for playing Class B schools the size of Wayne, West Point, or Wisner-Pilger.

In competition between teams in a two-step higher or lower classification, 6 points are awarded or subtracted. The NSAA considers C-1 and C-2 schools to be in different classes. The same holds true for class D-1 and D-2.

Teams finishing the regular season undefeated will be awarded 2 points for each win.

Another new feature to the playoffs is that the score of the game will not affect the number of points awarded for a win. Thus, a 7-6 win is worth just as much as a 56-0 rout. In the past, bonus points were awarded for a bigger margin of victory.

So grab your calculator and chart your favorite team's progress. If you still understand all of this by season's end, the NSAA just might have a job for you.

City rec baseball out, volleyball in

Wayne city recreation director Hank Overin announced that this fall's Tuesday night baseball practice for Midget and Legion players listed in the schedule in last Monday's Wayne Herald has been cancelled.

Adult women's volleyball has been added on Tuesday nights from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the city auditorium.

A full updated schedule of this fall's city recreation schedule will appear in next Thursday's Wayne Herald.

Overin said that the program will not start until Tuesday, Sept. 6, in honor of Labor Day.

Roberts plays in doubles at tourney

Tom Roberts of Wayne competed in the doubles competition of the Missouri Valley Closed Zeros-Tennis Championship played Aug. 18-21 at Des Moines' Hickman Tennis Club.

Roberts teamed up with Ken Liddle of Bellevue in the 50 doubles competition.

In the first round, the men defeated Len Majestrick and Paul Warner of Des Moines 6-0 6-2.

The pair lost in the second round 7-5 7-6 (9-7) to the eventual champions, Roger Olson of Kansas City and Gerry VanGinkle of West Des Moines.

City rec gridders to be outfitted

Wayne city recreation director Hank Overin said that football equipment for boys participating in the city rec football program will be checked out this week at the Middle Center above the old fire hall.

Boys in the 5th, 6th and 7th grades, who are not playing on a school team, should check out equipment on Wednesday, Aug. 31 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Equipment will be checked out to 3rd and 4th grade boys on Thursday, Sept. 1 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Those unable to check out equipment at those times should do so on Friday, Sept. 2 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. or Saturday, Sept. 3 from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Softball meeting on Sept. 14

An organizational meeting for all team captains of Wayne's city recreation men's softball teams is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 14, according to Wayne Softball Association president Darwin Ruback.

The organization will also elect new officers for the 1984 season. The meeting is tentatively scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Lindner's Shop.

Two Rivers to be closed

"Due to the recent period of severe heat, water conditions in the Two Rivers Trout Lake are presently unsuitable for restocking trout," says Fisheries Biologist Randy Winter, "consequently the lake will not be open for trout fishing over Labor Day weekend."

He said the Commission will continue to monitor water quality in the lake and the lake will be restocked and opened to fishing as soon as conditions improve. Fisherman will be notified of the opening date as quickly as it is available.

Bowhunting workshops planned

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's Outdoor Education Division has scheduled "Bowhunting Deer" workshops in four cities across the state.

The workshops will cover hunting techniques, the importance of archery practice, the use of portable tree stands, selecting and buying archery equipment and the biology and habits of deer. Paul Horton, Chief of the Outdoor Education Division, says "bowhunting workshops are among our most popular. There are quite a number of bowhunters who want additional information on their activity."

There are workshops set for Sept. 6, 7:30 p.m. at the First Federal Meeting Room, 223 Box Butte Avenue, Alliance; Sept. 7, 7:30 p.m., Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium at Schramm SRA near Gretna (call 402-332-3901 for reservation no more than one week in advance); Sept. 8, 7:30 p.m., Nebraska Technical Community College, Community Services Room, in Norfolk; and Sept. 15, 7 p.m., University of Nebraska North Platte Experiment Station Auditorium, North Platte.

All workshops are open to the public free of charge.

"Last year Nebraska's independent PCAs paid over $2,100,000 in taxes."

"Ask the person who really knows. Ask a PCA member!"

It's because the 14 independent PCAs in Nebraska are taxpayers like other private enterprises.

Some people incorrectly believe that PCAs are government organizations or agencies. Far from it, PCAs are simply financial services cooperatives. Our Association is wholly-owned and financially supported by local producers. We lend both our own reserves and money raised through the sale of non-government bonds in the nation's money markets — Wall Street. If loans aren't repaid, or we have a loss, local members end up footing the bill.

So, we operate our Association on a sound and business-like basis. Our directors, who are PCA members and borrowers, are elected by local members to set policy for the Association and hire professional management. This gives us the kind of direction which enables PCA to serve our own producers better and more completely through a professionally run organization.

PCAs are not alike. Although all of the 423 PCAs in the United States are operated under the same rules and regulations, like many businesses and industries today, each is independent and has its own management style based on the needs of the local producers. Our PCA is unique.

Yes, we did pay taxes. Nebraska's PCAs also returned $204,046 to Nebraska PCA members in 1982 in addition to providing professional quality financial services.

For many producers in Nebraska, PCA is smart business. That's why we say PCA is for people who make a business out of agriculture. Find out for yourself.

Waiting just one more year to start an IRA will cost George $43,467.

There are rewards for starting an Individual Retirement Account early. When you do, you build more security into your retirement.

If George opens his IRA at age 25, (based on 9.50% annual interest) a $100 monthly deposit will provide him with retirement funds of $487,845 at age 65. Beginning his IRA at age 26 would provide funds of $444,178 - a loss of $43,467 for delaying one year.

Choose a plan to suit your budget now. Even $25 a month becomes a substantial retirement fund and every penny you deposit in your Federally insured Midwest Federal IRA is deducted from your 1983 taxable income.

Midwest Federal charges no fees or commissions. Stop in our office and we'll show you what your IRA can grow to if you begin now.

It's great to be a Midwesterner

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska
August 16, 1983
Roll call showed all members present.
Advance notice of this meeting was published in The Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper on August 11, 1983.

Motion by Nisissan and seconded by Beiermann that whereas the Clerk has prepared copies of the minutes of the last regular meeting for each Commissioner and that each Commissioner has had an opportunity to read and study same that the reading of the minutes be dispensed with and declared approved. Roll call vote: Nisissan-Aye; Pospisil-Aye; Beiermann-Aye. No Nays.

Sidney Saunders, CEA, met with the Board to discuss Federal Aid Priority Bridges. At 11 a.m. a budget hearing was held for the 1983-1984 fiscal year. One interested County resident, Morris Weible, attended the hearing.

The discussion on the Courthouse heating system was tabled until the next meeting September 6, 1983.
On motion by Beiermann and seconded by Pospisil the Board will advertise for sealed bids on a truckload of culvert pipes. Bids will be opened on Sept. 6, 1983. Roll call vote: Nisissan-Aye; Pospisil-Aye; Beiermann-Aye. No Nays.

The following claims were audited and allowed. Warrants to be ready for distribution on August 26, 1983.
