Wayne City Council deals with sewer line problem

The Wayne City Council, Tuesday night, listened to Warren (Mick) Tiedtke of 1102 Walnut Drive issue a polite request for some work to be done on a sewer line near his home.

Tiedtke explained to the council that he has had trouble three times this summer with the sewer line backing up and depositing two to three inches of water in his basement.

He said he has had trouble with the line intermittently during the last six years but this summer has been the worst.

ABOUT A WEEK ago he installed a check valve. Tiedtke said he feels the valve will help him a great deal but could cause problems for his neighbors.

The sewer line in Tiedtke's neighborhood is believed to be an eight-inch line.

Tiedtke said with Bowen Hall and the Wayne State cafeteria on the same line, he doesn't feel an eight-inch line is big enough. "I stand to be corrected," he added.

Vern Schulz, head of Wayne's street department, told the council that his department is monitoring the sewer line every day to see if any problems can be determined. He said it is possible roots are blocking part of the line or that some lines could be broken.

Tiedtke was informed by the council that the sewer line will be checked out and monitored for possible problems.

THE COUNCIL also heard an update on construction of the wastewater treatment plant.

Preliminary work has been done and construction of a garage area has been started, with forms set for footings and foundations.

The city's retirement plan drew some discussion late in the council meeting. Council attorney Kern Swarts said the city probably should determine its options.

Swarts said he could make minor changes in prior specifications of Wayne's retiree program and then the city could resubmit the plans to various insurance companies, who in turn could resubmit plans to the city.

IN OTHER action, the council: —passed an ordinance updating its present city ordinance concerning public meetings. Wayne's ordinance now complies with state laws which were passed.

—discussed a salary schedule resolution which grades employee positions. Two positions, electrical superintendent and assistant superintendent, were added to the resolution. The plan places minimum and maximum salary rates on city jobs.

—approved a preliminary plat on the Pick Subdivision, located in the area where Kent Hall is building a green house east of Logan Valley Implement.

—recessed until 7 a.m. Friday, Oct. 7 when a salary meeting is planned.

NEN United Way goal set

A goal of $80,000 has been set for the 1983 Northeast Nebraska United Way campaign, according to Fred Page of Waterbury, president of the organization.

As the United Way enters its second year of operation, Page listed the goals and reviewed the accomplishments of the past year at a recent Board of Directors meeting in Wayne.

"We distributed funds to 35 local and community based human service and health agencies," Page said. "The money was raised by local people, requests for funds were reviewed by local people and the money was allocated by local people."

ACCORDING TO PAPE, the rural United Way program had expenses of less than four percent. He said that figure is "even including those first year, start up expenses that are won't have to incur again."

"I defy anyone to raise money any more efficiently than our group does," he said. "We are a 100 percent volunteer organization with no paid staff members or office to maintain. The money raised actually goes for the purpose the donor intended."

Organizations which would like to receive funds from the current Northeast Nebraska United Way campaign should contact their local United Way chairman.

Application forms are available in each community or groups can contact the central United Way headquarters in Hartington.

"We know that in rural Nebraska, one fund drive is the best and most efficient way to raise money," Page told the directors. "We will continue to pursue that goal."

Harvest is popping

A MONSTROUS-looking combine mows through an area popcorn field during harvest time. Between corn, popcorn, soybeans, sorghum and alfalfa harvesting, farmers have had plenty to keep them busy this week.

Wayne United Way drive begins

The 29th annual Wayne Community Chest United Way officially kicked off its fund drive Tuesday morning with a coffee for volunteer workers.

The drive is scheduled through the month of October and this year's total goal is $17,600, the same as last year's.

The Wayne Recreation program will receive 30 percent of the total money raised. The Boy Scouts will receive 23 percent and 17 percent will go to the Girl Scouts.

THE RECREATION department list of activities includes basketball for boys, girls and men, baseball for all ages of boys; soft ball for all ages of girls; football for boys; volleyball for girls, women and couples; summer and winter swim teams; golf, tennis, park recreation and wrestling.

Also included is the Wayne Middle Center for students not yet in high school. The recreation department also gives money to each Boy Scout and Girl Scout troop and pack in Wayne.

The Mid America Council of Boy Scouts covers eastern Nebraska and southwest

Iowa. The council provides a program of comprehensive youth development.

The Prater Hills Council of Girl Scouts also provides trained leadership. Summer resident and day camping and various trips are activities included in the program.

THE SALVATION Army will receive 7 percent of the funds raised, the Wayne Senior Citizens Center will receive 5 percent, the Arthritis Foundation will receive 8 percent and 3 percent will go to the Florence Crittenton Home and American Red Cross. United Way administration costs will account for 7 percent of the total.

Nearly 400 Wayne residents participate in the Wayne Senior Citizens Center's activities, with 400 to 500 meals served a month.

The Arthritis Foundation is trying to fight the nation's number one crippling disease. The Florence Crittenton Home of Sioux City, provides services to unwed mothers before and after delivery, counsel, foster care and assistance in adoptions.

CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN Larry Magnuson said the committee is planning short sidewalk slide presentations from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Thursday nights through the middle of October.

The presentations, which should last three to four minutes, list the various agencies which are recipients of United Way funds and describe what the agencies do. They will be shown on the outside window of Peoples Natural Gas Company.

A benefit dance is being planned on Friday, Oct. 21 at Wayne High School following the home football game (Parents Night).

"We're trying to get people aware of what the drive is all about," said Linda Carr, assistant campaign chairman. "We feel a dance is a good way to reach the high school students. Admission to the dance will go to United Way."

The United Way staff is composed of Magnuson, Mrs. Carr and Secretary-Treasurer Marilyn Carhart.

Board members are President Vicki Pick, Vice President Gerald Schaefer, Cap Peterson, Marilyn Pierson, Loren Ellis, Virginia Otte, Jan Merriman, Gerald Conway and Jim Paige.

Eagle Scout induction is planned

A 17 year old Wayne youth will be inducted into the Eagle Scout Court of Honor during ceremonies this Saturday in the Wayne High School lecture hall. Inducted will be Blaine Johns, son of Dr. and Mrs. Hilbert Johns.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony at 7:30 p.m.

JOHS BEGAN his scouting career at the age of eight as a Cub Scout in Pack 175. After completing Webelos, he became a Boy Scout in Troop 175.

Troop officer, he has held the position of assistant patrol leader, pack leader, senior patrol leader and pack committee master.

He currently is a member of the Leadership Corps and an ordeal member of the Order of the Arrow.

Blaine Johns

Johns, who has attended Camp Eagle and Camp Cedars in Nebraska, accompanied his Troop on a 70-mile canoe trip down the Elkhorn River in 1978. In 1980 and 1982, he went on backpacking trips to the Bighorn Mountains of Wyoming.

FOR HIS EAGLE service project, Johns assisted in landscaping the grounds of the Wayne County Museum. He also conducted tours of the museum.

He is a confirmed member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne, and a senior at Wayne-Carroll High School, where he is a member of National Honor Society. Extracurricular activities include cross country, track and band.

Johns is a 10 year 4-H member. He was a newspaper carrier for eight years and has done custom computer programming for the past two years.

Following high school, he plans to attend the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, majoring in electrical engineering.

Lions offer free help for needy

The Wayne Lions Club will join more than 30,000 Lions clubs across the globe in serving the elderly and needy on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 8 and 9.

On those dates, the Wayne Lions plan to rake lawns, winterize homes, check and clean gutters and downspouts, put on storm windows, tack up plastic sheets over windows, trim bushes and cover air conditioners.

Lions will provide the necessary manpower and tools free of charge but will not be able to furnish such supplies as weatherstripping, caulk or plastic screens.

Any senior citizens who would like help are welcome to call for assistance. Neighbors and friends of the elderly or needy are asked to contact the Lions. Lions-Club members can be contacted at the following numbers: 375-3844, 375-3197, 375-3549, 375-1176, 375-1986 or 375-3878.

Music boosters schedule meeting

The Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters are planning a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday (Oct. 10) at the high school commons area.

The agenda will include discussion on a possible high school music department trip. Parents of music students are encouraged to attend.

'Fantasy of Trees' planned

In conjunction with Wayne's upcoming centennial activities, a "Fantasy of Trees" display is planned Dec. 10 and 11 in the Wayne city auditorium.

A spokesman for the committee planning the event said all local clubs, churches, businesses, organizations, families and individuals are invited to become involved in the centennial by decorating a tree for the display. Old-fashioned themes are appreciated but not necessary.

Persons interested in taking part in the event are asked to call Elaine Anderson, 375-2024, or Ellen Heinemann, 375-1488, as soon as possible so space can be reserved.

There will be no admission to view the display.

Appearing on TV special

The 206-member University of Southern California Trojan Marching Band will appear tonight (Thursday) on the NBC television special "Live and in Person." The show is scheduled to be broadcast at 9 p.m.

Dawn Droscher of Wayne, a student of the School of Performing Arts, French horn player, is a member of the band and will be performing with the band for the last of the three variety shows featuring entertainment stars from around the world. Droscher, a 1983 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Droscher.

Concord celebrates 100th

An estimated 100 residents of Concord attended an open house celebration last Saturday morning in observance of the community's 100th birthday.

Free coffee and cake were served at the Concord Cafe, which also observed its fifth year in business. Providing decorated cakes were Lucille Taylor and Doris Nelson.

A flag presented to the community from Congressman Doug Bereuter in honor of its centennial was raised and flown. The flag was flown over the Capitol of the United States on Labor Day.

Concord was platted on Sept. 24, 1883.

Elected to Arts Council

The Wayne Regional Arts Council held its annual meeting recently.

Elected to three year terms were Rae Kugler, and Don and Mary Halverson. Serving one year terms are Marla McCue, Sheryl Lirbau and Jane March.

Scheduled upcoming events include a photo workshop by Dennis Linstler, a photo show in February, an artist in residence program in dance at Wayne Public Schools, the annual Spring Arts Festival, the annual Chicken Show, and a series of art films.

The Arts Council meets the third Monday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Black Knight. All interested persons are invited. Officers are Gail Korn, president; Jan Merriman, vice president; Margaret Schultz, recording secretary; and Rae Kugler, treasurer.

Laurel schedules bike-a-thon

A Cystic Fibrosis bike-a-thon will be held this Saturday in Laurel, beginning at 9 a.m. Bikers are asked to meet at the Laurel city park. Rain date is Saturday, Oct. 8.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Caroline Peterson and Mrs. Liz Norvell.

Local accepted to college

Nancy L. Nuss, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean C. Nuss, Wayne, entered Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., this fall. She is a graduate of Wayne High School, Wayne.

The 522 students in this year's freshman class were chosen from 2,022 applicants, the second largest applicant pool in the history of the College. Twenty-four transfer students were also admitted from an applicant pool of nearly 100. Carleton's student body totals 1,700, and hails from 47 states, the District of Columbia and 17 foreign countries.

Ranked among the nation's top 25 most selective liberal arts institutions, Carleton is a private, co-educational college located 40 miles south of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Wayne doctor is certified

Dr. Todd H. French of Wayne has been named a diplomat of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP) as a result of passing a certification examination offered by the ABFP. The physician is now certified in the medical specialty of family practice.

The intensive two-day written examination is designed to prove the candidate's ability in the areas of internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry and community medicine.

To qualify for the examination a physician must have successfully completed three years of residency training in family practice. There are some 385 such training programs in teaching hospitals and university medical centers across the United States.

ABFP diplomates also must continue to show proof of competence in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years. No other medical specialty requires diplomates to prove competence on a continuing basis.

The latest group of diplomates brings the total number certified to more than 30,000. Most are members of the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy was the first national medical group to require members to take continuing medical study, and was chiefly responsible for securing specialty status for family practice.

Merit pay raises for state employees

By Melvin Paul
Nebraska Press Association

Although the state budget provides for no general pay raise, as many as 10 percent of the state employees in some agencies will be receiving pay increases during this fiscal year.

Several state agency directors are developing plans to identify outstanding employees and grant them merit pay raises of up to 5 percent before the fiscal year ends next June 30.

The effort to increase the use of merit pay raises is done with the encouragement of Gov. Bob Kerrey, who during the 1983 legislative session vetoed a 3.5 percent general pay raise. To promote uniformity among agencies in granting the merit raises, Kerrey has issued a set of guidelines to the 25 state agencies under his direct control. He had recommended the merit pay guidelines to those agencies which are governed by a board or commission.

BECAUSE OF tight state revenues, merit pay raises in state government have been almost nonexistent in the last two years. Kerrey and his predecessor, Gov. Charles Thone, have at various times imposed freezes on merit pay raises.

The last freeze was lifted on July 1, and since then Kerrey has promoted their use by agency administrators.

State Personnel Director Frosty Chapman said only about 1 percent of state workers received merit pay raises during the years in which the freezes were in effect. Before the state was beset by fiscal problems, Chapman said, as many as 20 percent of state workers received merit pay increases.

The average state agency typically spends about 95 percent of its annual appropriation, state officials say, and the merit raises in most cases will be funded by the money which might otherwise remain unspent.

Merit pay has traditionally been a sensitive matter among public employees because truly meritorious employees may be overlooked in favor of those employees who are able to curry favor with their superiors.

IN A MEMO distributed to agency chiefs earlier this month, Kerrey warned of potential problems with the merit pay.

The memo stated: "The perception of fairness in distributing merit increases is essential to the success of the effort.

Merit increases should not be given to any employee who threatens to leave the job, not to compensate for real or perceived uncompetitive pay or as a reward for longevity."

State budget preparations for the fiscal year which begins next July are already underway.

MORE THAN 90 state agencies have submitted general fund budget requests totaling more than $800 million to the Department of Administrative Services budget division.

The figure compares to a current year general fund appropriations of $743 million. The state general fund is supported almost exclusively by state sales and income tax revenues.

At Gov. Bob Kerrey's direction, agencies were instructed to plan for a July 1 state employee pay increase of 8 percent, a figure which is subject to change.

Later in the fall, Kerrey will participate in a series of staff meetings which will pare down the requests to a budget recommendation to be delivered to the Legislature early in the 1984 session.

The University of Nebraska has submitted a state general fund request of $168.3 million, a 13 percent increase from current year appropriations. The request includes $20 million for the first year of a three-year effort to make UN salaries competitive with comparable institutions.

Kerrey has proposed a 37 percent increase for operation of the offices of governor and lieutenant governor.

Crash landing

Some of the nation's airlines have crash landed and others are struggling through turbulent times.

Continental Airlines is the latest firm to struggle. The company filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy code. Before that, Braniff Airlines folded and now Eastern Airlines is asking for employee wage reduction.

The state of the economy, fuel costs and heavy competition have contributed to the downfall of these airlines. But one of the biggest factors was salary payments.

Mainly because of labor unions, wages have skyrocketed in the past decade. Continental ran itself out of business because of high wages.

Now the company is planning salary cuts. Of course, employees are opposed to the wage cuts. That only makes sense.

But in order to have a chance at survival, Continental has no other choice. Salary cuts, some as much as 50 percent, are expected to save the airline about $250 million.

Critics accuse the airline of "union busting" but not many other options exist. If wages had not climbed to such high levels in the first place, the airline might still be going strong.

Nicotine fit

Tobacco is one of the most easily accessible and most frequently abused drugs. There are more than 50 million cigarette smokers in the United States today.

Thirty-nine percent of adult men and 29 percent of adult women smoke cigarettes. Many adults have stopped smoking over the past few years. The only major increase in smoking has been in teenage girls, which has only recently caught up with the incidence of smoking among teenage boys.

Nicotine (the active ingredient in tobacco) acts as a stimulant on the heart and nervous system. When tobacco smoke is inhaled the immediate effects on the body are faster heart beat and elevated blood pressure. However, these effects disappear quickly.

Tar in the smoke contains many cancer-causing compounds called carcinogens. These compounds, many of which are in polluted air but are found in greater quantities in cigarette smoke, have been identified as major causes of cancer and other respiratory problems. Even young smokers can have shortness of breath, nagging cough, or develop cardiovascular and respiratory difficulties.

A third principal component of cigarette smoke, carbon monoxide, is also a cause of some of the more serious health effects of smoking. Carbon monoxide can reduce the blood's ability to carry oxygen to body tissues and can promote the development of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries).

Some of the long-term effects of smoking cigarettes are emphysema, chronic bronchitis, heart disease, lung cancer, and cancer in other parts of the body. Pipe smoking is related to cancer of the lip, and both pipe and cigar smokers who smoke heavily run a risk of cancer of the mouth, larynx and esophagus.

The Delaney Case Congress and the political football

By Cheryl Stubbendorf
Nebraska Farm Bureau

The college teams and the pro teams aren't the only ones playing football this fall. Congress is continuing its six years of playing with a political football called the Delaney Clause.

The Delaney Clause was enacted in 1958 as an amendment to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. It maintains that any substance causing cancer in laboratory animals can't be added at any level in the human food supply.

OBVIOUSLY MUCH has happened in science since 1958. In that year, scientists could only detect amounts of one part per million of a substance, compared to today's analysis of one part per trillion. And they are now finding trace quantities of substances previously thought to be absent from our food supply.

A few years ago, the Department of Health and Human Services remarked on this finding: "A requirement for warnings on all the foods that may contain an inherent carcinogenic ingredient... would apply to many, perhaps most, foods in a supermarket."

Everyone on Capitol Hill agrees on the need to update Delaney to keep up with advances in technology. But the issue is a political football because public perception is that a vote for revision of Delaney is a vote for cancer.

PROPOSED CHANGES in the Delaney Clause include these ideas:

- To assume risk to human health at varying "thresholds" of exposure, instead of assuming any minute exposure conveys a measurable risk. This would involve defining the word "safe" in current law.
- To rely less on lab tests on animals and focus on long-term studies in deciding the risks of carcinogens.
- To give more weight to the costs as well as benefits of regulatory decisions protecting people from cancer.
- To require the Food and Drug Administration to consult an independent scientific committee.
- To allow phase out of a substance, instead of a ban.

THE NITRITE scare of five years ago is the classic case of misapplication of Delaney. In 1978, the government attempted to ban the use of nitrite, which is widely used to cure meat. Consumers were led to believe that pork and other meats cured with sodium nitrite could cause cancer.

By the time the FDA and USDA stopped trying to ban nitrite two years later, the damage has been done in the marketplace. Consumption of bacon and ham dropped dramatically, to the tune of a billion dollar loss to the pork industry, according to the National Pork Producers Council.

Even though government and consumer protection organizations now generally agree that nitrites used to cure meat have not been shown to cause cancer, the average shopper still remembers that controversy and purchase decisions are affected.

Scientists, who do not deal in matters of black and white, also criticize the inflexibility of Delaney. Either a substance can be permitted in foods at any level, or it must be completely absent.

"IT DOES NOT permit factors such as the extent of human exposure to a substance, or the appropriateness of extrapolation of the test data from animals to man, to be considered. In essence, the Delaney Clause short-circuits in depth, scientifically sound consideration," said C.W. McMillan, a USDA assistance secretary who testified at recent Congressional hearings on revision of the clause.

McMillan sees "risk management" as the key to modifying Delaney. "Certain foods do present risks, but there is no need for restricting or banning such a food where the magnitude of the risk can be quantified and is considered insignificant."

Although Congress and the Administration recognize the need to update Delaney, it could be another four years before anything happens.

Regulatory reform often takes 10 years, according to legislative veterans. And they say if something doesn't happen this fall, it's likely that nothing will occur until after the 1984 elections.

Overcompensating for inflation Confusion over the 'Social Security notch'

Keeping In Touch
By Doug Beruster

There has been apparently much confusion about what has come to be known as the "Social Security notch", stemming at least in part from a letter that appeared in the syndicated "Dear Abby" column in newspapers across the nation.

Because of that letter, many people have the impression that those who were born between 1917 and 1921 will receive lower social security retirement benefits. That is not accurate.

Because of provisions in the 1977 Social Security Amendments, there is a difference between the benefits paid to people born before January 1, 1917, and the benefits for people born after that date.

The initial benefit amount for everyone born after January 1, 1917 — people who reach age 62 after 1978 — will be somewhat lower than the amount for workers with similar earnings histories who reached age 62 in 1978 or earlier. This is the "notch" that people are concerned about.

NOTE THAT the change does not affect only those born between 1917 and 1921. It affects everyone born after 1916. Also, there will not be a $100 difference in monthly benefits except in a limited number of cases at the maximum benefit levels.

The circumstance being questioned actually was created in 1972. In that year the Congress decided to index social security benefits to the cost of living. What Congress did not realize then was that each time it gave retirees a raise it was also increasing amounts in the benefit table used to compute benefits for new and future retirees.

At the same time, the workers who would be retiring and receiving benefits based on the increased benefit table were also getting cost of living wage increases on their jobs. This meant that new retirees would receive benefits that reflected the same period of inflation twice — once through increases in their wages and again through the increased benefit table. The result was that this double benefit increase, coupled with the very high inflation of the 1970's, caused overall benefit levels to increase at a far greater rate than anyone had ever anticipated. The system was going broke.

IN 1977, before I was a member of Congress, that body put into effect the system that we have today which affects all people born after 1916. If provided for a five year phase in (from 1979 to 1983), the new formula provides steady new benefit levels which, for a worker with average earnings, will equal about 41 per cent of one's final wages. This will be true for all future retirees.

The only alternative to the 1977 solution would be to raise overall benefit levels for new retirees — to perpetuate overcompensation for inflation and thus to force very substantial increases in payroll social security deductions to pay for these new benefits.

Raising benefits would cost at least $9 billion in the first year, probably $20 billion the second year, and much more each year after that. I do not believe that the public really wants the Congress to make this change.

It is unfortunate that the problem of overcompensating for inflation was created in 1972, and I am sorry that the error was not corrected. It has caused so much confusion among those born shortly after 1916. Every one born after 1916 is to be treated the same way. I hope that this explanation helps to clear up the misunderstandings.

Dixon home for Kneifls following Hartington rites

Making their home near Dixon are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kneiff, who were married Sept. 24 at Holy Trinity Church in Hartington.

The bride is the former Sharon Taylor, daughter of Robert and Lorraine Taylor of Concord.

She is a graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and attended Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, where she received a degree in executive secretarial studies. She was employed at Beverly Enterprises in Sioux City.

The bridegroom, son of Mike and Ursula Kneiff of Dixon, is employed at Kneiff Irrigation and Bin Service in Dixon. He is a graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and Northeast Technical Community College, where he received a diploma in residential, commercial electrician studies.

The newlyweds traveled to the Black Hills following their double ring ceremony.

THE REV. Cyril Werner of Hartington performed the 2 o'clock rites. Decorations included two altar bouquets of white mums and pink and burgundy carnations.

Lyle and Sharon VanCleave of Laurel registered the guests, who were ushered to their seats by Dennis Berteloth of Davenport, Iowa, Bob Schulte of South Sioux City, Merlin Berteloth and Mark Addison, both of Hartington, John Taylor of Concord and Steve Rasmussen of Laurel.

Wedding music included "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother." Soloist was Steve Linn of Wayne, accompanied by Cam Berteloth of Hartington and Shirley Hoising of Newcastle.

FLOWER GIRL was Jessica Berteloth of Davenport, Iowa, and ring bearer was Charles Kneiff of Newcastle. Altar boys were Steve Schulte of Dixon and Chad Kneiff of Newcastle.

Maid of honor was Shelli Taylor of Lincoln, sister of the bride, and best man was Bob Osborne of Chambers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sandra Nelson of Concord, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Anne Remm of Norfolk, a sister of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen were the bridegroom's brothers, Pat Kneiff of Vermillion, S. D. and Michael Kneiff of Hartington.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a white silesia chiffon gown styled with a Victorian bib and accented by an embroidered yoke of tulle netting.

The long, sheer sleeves were adorned with imported chiffon. The sunburst pleated skirt was edged with a flounce of wide matching chantilly and silk Venice daisies, and draped into a full chapel train.

Her waist-length bridal illusion veil was designed with rolled hem scallops enhanced with lace motifs, and attached to a Juliet headpiece of handclipped lace.

She carried a cascade of pink roses and rosebuds, pink azaleas, and burgundy roses and wedding stars, accented with green ivy.

The bride made the cake and all of the flowers for the wedding and reception.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore two-piece burgundy dresses designed with sheer jewel neckline jackets and long see-through sleeves adorned with dyed-to-match lace. Crystal pleated skirts descended from the arched waistslits.

Each wore a floral wreath of pink rosebuds and burgundy wedding stars in their hair, and carried a single pink, long-stemmed rose.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo, white shirt and bow tie, and his attendants wore silver tuxedos trimmed in satin, with white ruffled shirts edged in gray, and gray bow ties.

The bride's mother selected an ice pink polyamide dress styled with a jewel neckline enhanced with a crystal pleated yoke and long, full chiffon sleeves.

The bridegroom's mother chose a wine-colored dress with a matching jacket.

GUESTS ATTENDING a reception at the VFW Club in Hartington following the

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kneiff ceremony were greeted by Virgil and Avis Pearson of Wayne and Steve and Mary Jo Schutte of Dixon.

Gifts were carried by Marny Berteloth of Hartington, Mary Ann Addison of South Sioux City, and Lori Addison and Loretta Kneiff, both of Newcastle.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Judy Berteloth of Hartington and Mrs. Mary Kay Giles of Sioux City. Punch servers were Mrs. Cindy Taylor of Concord and Kathy Kiefer of Omaha.

Serving as waitresses were Christi Taylor of Concord, Gena Schutte and Tricia Schutte, both of Dixon, Rita Kneiff of Newcastle, and Ann, Giles and Susan Giles, both of Sioux City.

Scott Taylor of Concord handed out rice bags.

Oklahoma church scene of Curnutt-Rubeck ceremony

Mimosa Heights Christian Church in Edmond, Okla., was the setting for the candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Katherine Curnutt and Dustin Rubeck on Sept. 17.

Dennis Slaughter of Dallas, Texas performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Curnutt of Edmond and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rubeck of Wayne.

The altar was adorned with a brass archway and two heart shaped brass candelabras decorated with greenery, white orchids and burgundy satin bows. Baskets of white gladioluses and burgundy lilies were placed at the base of the archway.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, sheer organza gown. Short, lace trimmed sleeves with lace appliques complimented the sweetheart neckline of the bodice, also trimmed in lace and seed pearls.

The bouffant skirt with lace appliques fell to a chapel length train edged in Chantilly lace.

Her illusion veil, decorated with pearls, was held in place by a wreath of baby's breath, white stephanotis and pearls.

She carried a cascade of American beauty roses, orchids, mauve roses, stephanotis, baby's breath, pearls and streamers of satin and lace.

LIZ CURNUTT of Edmond served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Julie Hammett of Dallas, Texas, and Tina Ediger and Rae White, both of Oklahoma City.

Their burgundy, three quarter length gowns were of polyester and featured burgundy lace yokes and sleeves.

They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried wedding lamps surrounded with mauve roses, white orchids, baby's breath and burgundy freesia.

THE BRIDEGROOM was attired in a gray tuxedo with tails, white shirt and ascot. His boutonniere was of white stephanotis and a white rosebud.

Best man was Hank Lamb of Houston, Texas, and groomsmen were Blane Rubeck of Dallas, Barry Rubeck of Omaha and Mark Malmberg of Norfolk.

They wore gray tuxedos with white shirts and dark striped ties. Their boutonnières were American beauty roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Curnutt wore a mauve, three-piece, street-length dress featuring a striped corsage of mauve, ivory and gray.

Mrs. Rubeck chose a mauve Georgeanne dress designed with long sleeves, a stand-up collar and gored skirt.

Both mothers wore mauve rose corsages with baby's breath and lace ribbon.

RING BEARER was Gary Scott of Carrollton, Texas, and flower girl was Erin Bygland of Richardson, Texas.

Candles were lighted by Kevin Gunter of Oklahoma City and Jim Herdwick of Lamar, Colo. They also served as ushers.

Wedding music included "Flesh of My Flesh," sung by Hank Lamb of Houston, Texas, "Truly," sung by the bridegroom; "Sunrise, Sunset," sung by Hank Lamb and Ron Key of Dallas, and "Heaven Sent," sung by Ron Key.

Accompanist was Dorelle Franklin, professor at Dallas Christian College.

The benediction was offered by Matthew Smith, professor of music at Dallas Christian College.

B. G. HASSELLE of Dallas registered the 225 guests attending the ceremony from Nebraska, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, and Iowa. Jayne Campbell of Dallas was in charge of gifts.

Carlin, South Sioux City, a son, Jonathan David Allan, 6 lbs., 3 oz., Sept. 25, Mrs. Carlin is the former LeAnn Barge of Wakefield.

KAREN STEWART of Dallas poured, and Joanie Quandt of Council Bluffs, Iowa served punch.

THE BRIDE graduated from Edmond High School in 1980. She attended Midwest Christian College in Oklahoma City and Dallas Christian College, where she graduated in May 1983 with an associate of arts degree. She has been employed by the Oklahoma Department of Roads the past three summers.

The bridegroom graduated from Wayne Carroll High School in 1979. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Dallas Christian College in May 1983. For two years he has traveled with a gospel quartet, Joshua, as a recruiter for Dallas Christian College.

Following a wedding trip to Acapulco, the couple will be at home at 105 S. Nevada, Apt. B, Montrose, Colo., where the bridegroom is youth minister at Montrose Christian Church.

THE RUBECKS were honored at a reception at Montrose Christian Church on Sept. 25.

Johnny Appleseed pays visit to District 59 students

An unexpected guest paid a visit Monday afternoon to Dixon County School District 59, located three miles north and two east of Wayne.

His name was Johnny Chapman, better known as Johnny Appleseed.

Johnny appeared at the school barefoot and with a tin pan on his head, which, he said, was used both as a cap and as a cooking utensil for his apples. His clothes were tattered and torn from his travels.

He held a Bible in one hand, since he was a very religious man and always carried his Bible on his travels, and wore a flour sack of apples and apple seeds flung over his shoulder. Accompanying him were two of his pets, a cat named Skinny, and a dog named Sugar.

IN HONOR of his birthday, the students and teacher of District 59 joined Johnny in the celebration by eating apples, apple pie, apple juice, apple cookies, and caramelized apples. Johnny told about his adventures. The students listened to a record on the life of Johnny Appleseed, wrote stories about his life, and did apple math sheets.

STUDENTS OF District 59 include kindergartener Kim Nolte; first grader Shawn Nolte; seventh grader Chad Jones; and eighth grader Vickie Meyer. Teacher is Mrs. Eileen Jager.

School board members include Ken Nolte, Dick Nolte and Brian Heithold.

The part of Johnny Appleseed was portrayed by Ron Sebade of Wayne.

Dixon resident completes bar

Sandra Kay George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold George of Dixon, was among 178 persons admitted to the bar of the Nebraska Supreme Court on Sept. 19 at the State Capitol in Lincoln.

She also was admitted to practice before the Federal Court by U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom.

A May graduate of the Nebraska College of Law, Miss George will be associated with the firm of Luckey, Sipple and Hanson in Columbus.

Among those attending her swearing in ceremony were Mrs. Harold George, Alice, Carolyn and Allen, and Fred Lundstedt of Camarillo, Calif.

Saturday afternoon rites unite Coan and Dinsmore

Joni Coan became the bride of Alan Dinsmore in afternoon rites Saturday, Sept. 17 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Coan of Wayne, graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1980 and from Metropolitan Technical Community College in Omaha in 1982.

The bridegroom is a 1977 graduate of Northwest High School, Omaha, and attends Metropolitan Technical Community College. He is the son of Dr. James Dinsmore of Omaha.

The newlyweds traveled to Hawaii following their ceremony and are making their home in Omaha.

The bride's personal attendant was Helen Gunderson of Wayne, who also designed and fashioned all of the gowns.

GIVEN IN marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin and organza.

The Victorian neckline, bodice and sleeves were fashioned of embroidered organza trimmed with appliques and pearls. The flared skirt, with an embroidered organza overlay apron trimmed with pearls, swept into a cathedral train.

She wore a hat trimmed with pearls and appliques, and carried a silk nosegay of white roses and stephanotis, purple violets and white flocked baby's breath with satin and pearl streamers.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore plum and lavender wrap gowns of tafeta in ankle length, trimmed with rose fabric. The gowns were designed with bolero jackets with ruffled capped sleeves.

They carried silk nosegays of deep purple roses and violets, light lavender tiger lilies and white flocked baby's breath with white satin streamers.

The men in the wedding party were attired in gray with striped pants and ascots.

The bride's mother wore a light gray, George-Jane dress in floor length, designed with a white tulle collar and cuffs.

FOLLOWING the ceremony, a reception for 100 guests was held at Wayne Country Club. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carlson of Concord. Gifts were arranged by Cindy Dalton of San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dinsmore

The wedding cake was cut and served by Sandy Pearson of Akron, Iowa and Jane Schorr of Denver.

Carolyn Lee of Lincoln poured, and Janel Pearson of Akron, Iowa served punch.

Waitresses were Katie Fulton and Wendy Kunold, both of Omaha.

The bride graduated from high school in River side, Calif. in 1978, and is employed at the State Bank in Waverly.

The bridegroom, a 1977 graduate of Primghar High School and a 1982 graduate of Iowa Southern University, is employed with the Compac Corporation.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a capsule underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Walking for CROP

Persons interested in helping the world's hungry are invited to take part in a CROP walk Sunday, Oct. 9 in Wayne. Rain date is Sunday, Oct. 16.

Grace and Norm Melton, chairmen, said the 10 mile walk will begin at 1 p.m. in the vicinity of the West Elementary School playground. Participants are asked to meet there between 12:30 and 1 p.m. to register.

Interested persons of all ages are asked to contact their local church representatives for sponsor sheets, and to solicit pledges for each mile walked.

After the pledge money is collected, participants are asked to return their money and envelopes to their church representatives no later than Oct. 23.

MELTONS SAID the walk is designed for two purposes, to raise funds for the world's hungry as well as to raise public knowledge about world hunger.

CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) is the name given to local community efforts at hunger education and fundraising for Church World Service, the relief and development agency of more than 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations in the United States.

Over 90 percent of every dollar raised goes for programs overseas and at home.

Walkers will travel down to Grainland Rd., past the fair grounds, across Highway 35 and one mile north, where they will turn east on the Dude Ranch Drive. In road.

Walkers will then go south on Highway 15, through the two mile Wayne State College fitness course, and back to the elementary school.

Walkers are asked to stop at each mile marker and have their tickets checked to keep track of the miles walked. Water will be available every two miles, and provisions will be made to pick up any person unable to walk the entire route.

Meltons stressed that participants should dress comfortably.

Double ring wedding unites Fritschen-Pritchard at Laurel

Double ring rites Sept. 17 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Laurel united in marriage Annette Fritschen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fritschen of Lincoln, and David Pritchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pritchard of Spalding.

The 2 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Allen Martin of Laurel. Decorations included pew arrangements of wheat fans tied with large mauve and pink ribbons.

She carried a silk cascade of mixed flowers in mauve and burgundy, including mums and sweetheart roses.

HER ATTENDANTS were attired in mauve polyester gowns with handkerchief hemlines, fashioned with bateau necklines and flutter sleeves with slit openings.

They carried cascades of mauve and burgundy flowers with accents of silk wheat flowers.

The men were attired in gray tuxedos.

The bride's mother wore a rose dress of polyester in street length with gray accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore a pleated mauve dress, also in street length.

Jana Wacker of Lincoln registered the guests. Ushers were Cleve Stolpe of Laurel and Patrick Fairbanks of Spalding.

Altar boys were Paul Fairbanks and Mark Glesinger, both of Spalding, and delivering the officery were Mary Fleming of Flandreau, S. D., and Mary Ann Pfeifer of Spalding.

MARK CREAMER sang "Wedding Song" and "Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Wacker of Laurel.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Anitta Fritschen of Lincoln, and bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters, Denise Spelic of Spalding, Dorothy Pritchard of Lincoln and Diane Pritchard of Spalding.

The bride's personal attendant was Cindy Kastrop of Laurel, who also pinned on flowers.

Don Pritchard of Spalding served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Spelic of Spalding, Steve Pritchard of Virginia, and Mike Glesinger of Ord.

GIVEN IN marriage by her parents, the bride appeared in a white tulle and organza gown. Silk veil lace accented the Queen Anne neckline, which was framed with a sheer silesia yoke and petit ruffle.

"The see through bishop sleeves were cuffed with Venice lace and a small ruffle. French imported lace motifs dramatized the gown, with a double embroidered gathering of Chantilly lace accenting the skirt edge.

Her scalloped bridal illusion fingertip veil was enhanced with handclipped appliques and attached to a Juliet headpiece of lace motifs and seed pearls.

MIDLAND'S BOB Denton (97) tries to bat down a Tom Leitschuck aerial.

TOM WINGERT (12) hauls in a pass in the second quarter.

WAYNE STATE'S Rick Johnson (94) and Russ Gade crunch Warrior quarterback Joe Berger.

Wildcats succumb to Midland's big plays

By Kevin O'Hanlon
Wayne State college came up on the short end of the Battle of the Big Plays last Saturday as the Wildcats dropped a 53-30 decision to 19th-ranked Midland College in their 1983 home opener.

Midland's big play scores came on runs of 52, 53, 34 and 57 yards while Wayne State countered with a pair of 30-yard scoring tosses and an 89-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by freshman Sonny Jones.

Wayne State defensive coordinator Mike Breske said the defense made "some key blunders" in defending Midland's explosive wishbone offense.

"It seemed like every time we had a guy go the wrong way, they would score," Breske said. "You just can't do that against an offense like Midland's."

Another key to the game was the turnover factor. Wayne State lost four of five fumbles (one at Midland's three-yard line) and had five passes intercepted.

HEAD COACH Pete Chapman had mixed emotions about the turnovers.

"We just can't fumble in that situation (so close to the goal)," Chapman said. "But when you throw the ball as much as we did (47 times) and have quarterbacks as young as ours, the interceptions are going to happen."

Despite the interceptions, Chapman was generally happy with the Wildcat passing attack.

"Tom (Leitschuck) jumped off his primary receivers several times and threw to secondary receivers for big gains," Chapman said. "Our receivers also made some good catches."

The Warriors jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter after Midland recovered a Wildcat fumble at their own 29-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Joe Berger pitched to Jim Carbaugh, who scampered 29 yards for the score. The PAT kick was good and Midland led 7-0 with 8:42 left in the quarter.

AFTER HOLDING Wayne State, Midland took over on the 46-yard line.

Two penalties against the Warriors made it 11-0 at the 36 before a 14-yard blast by Midland's Jim Carbaugh put the ball at midfield.

The Wildcats' Keith Turner then came in from his defensive end position and threw Berger for a three-yard loss to bring up third down.

A 17 yard dash by Garrelts, followed by a personal foul on Wayne State's two plays later, helped set up a six-yard touchdown run by Ray Koonce. The point after kick was good and Midland held a 14-0 advantage with 2:14 remaining in the period.

Leitschuck then went to work for the Wildcats, hitting Scott Hallstrom with a 24-yard strike on first down. The play carried to Midland's 44-yard line.

FRESHMAN RODNEY McClain got one yard up the middle before Leitschuck teamed up with tight end Scott Wilson for 19 yards and a first down at the 24-yard line.

A 21-yard loss to senior Tom Wingert made it first-and-goal at the three as the first-quarter gun sounded.

Tragedy struck on the next play, though, as McClain fumbled after being hit and Midland recovered at the four.

One play later, Koonce broke free around right end, turned on the afterburners and ran 92 yards for a touchdown. Linebacker Kevin McArdle blocked the extra-point attempt and the tally stood at 20-0.

The teams exchanged punts before Leitschuck again went to work for the Wildcats.

After three straight incompletions from Midland's 30-yard line, the sophomore from South Sioux City found freshman Sonny Jones in the corner of the end zone and completed a 30-yard scoring toss. Wingert booted the PAT to pull WSC within 13 at 20-7.

MIDLAND THEN took the ball at the Wildcat's 33-yard line and, after failing to make a first down, the Warriors punted and Wayne State took over at the 33.

An "illegal procedure" penalty brought first-and-fifteen before Leitschuck drilled a pass to Wingert at midfield.

McClain then added seven yards around right end to bring up second and three at Midland's 45-yard line.

Aided by a 20-yard aerial to 6-5 freshman Darin Blackburn and a pass interference penalty against Midland, the Cats had a first down at Midland's 33-yard line.

Lady luck then frowned on WSC as Leitschuck's pass was picked off by Midland's Gronewald at the 47.

On the first play from scrimmage, Berger kept the ball and swept around left end for a 53-yard scoring jaunt. The kick was no good and Midland took a 26-6 lead.

WAYNE STATE'S Breske said Berger is an exceptional quarterback.

"He's a good one," Breske said. "At the beginning, we had our ends come and then we let up a bit — that slowed him up some."

Breske said that Midland's score just before half was probably the turning point of the game.

Leitschuck had another pass picked off during WSC's last drive.

The second half began much as the first had ended — with Midland scoring.

The Warriors drove 65 yards in seven plays, capped by a 34-yard scoring run by Koonce to make it 33-6.

Sonny Jones got Wayne State's spirits soaring again as he fielded the ensuing kickoff at his own 11-yard line, cut to his right, and letted 89 yards for a touchdown. Wingert's kick was no good and the score stood at 33-12.

Midland was forced to punt on its next possession, but Wingert lost the handle on the ball while returning the kick and the Warriors recovered on the twenty.

A 20-yard blast by Garrelts set up an eight-yard keeper by Berger for the touchdown. Ronhove missed another kick, but Midland was now out in front 39-12 and it appeared that nothing the Wildcats could do would stop them.

INJURIES BEGAN taking a toll on the Wayne State sideline. Wide receiver Scott Hallstrom separated a shoulder in the second quarter. Wingert twisted a knee and wide receiver Dostal and fullbacks Bob Norris and Rob Franklin also left the game.

"I don't know if many people realized it," WSC head coach Pete Chapman said, "but we had two halfbacks in there at once towards the end of the game."

Terry Graver came in at quarterback for the Wildcats towards the end of the third period.

A pass interference penalty against Midland during Graver's second drive gave the Cats a first-and-goal at the ten-yard line. Graver then lofted a pass to Jones, who made a spectacular leaping catch in the left corner of the end zone for the score.

"Jones did a great job of keeping his feet in bounds on that catch," Chapman said. "He really came to life."

With the score at 39-18, Wayne held the Warriors to force a punt, but the Cats fumbled on the return and Midland recovered at the 28.

It took the Warriors six plays to score, putting the tally at 46-18.

STATE added a pair of scores after Graver completed six straight passes and McClain took it over from one yard out.

Quarterback Ed Jochum later found Darin Blackburn for a score before Midland's Garrelts added a 57-yard touchdown to end the scoring blitz with the Warriors on top 53-30.

For the day, the Wildcats didn't enjoy much success on the ground. Wayne State's leading rusher was McClain, with 21 yards on 10 carries. Norris added 13 on four totes.

Wingert led all receivers with nine catches for 124 yards while Jones had 109 yards on just six catches.

The defense was once again led by linebackers Kevin McArdle and Steve Besch, with 18 and 17 tackles respectively.

The Wildcats will host Missouri Western University this Saturday in a 1:30 CSIC game.

Coach Breske said the Griffons should prove to be a test for winless Wayne State. "They are a veer team, but they throw the ball a lot," Breske said. "They have experienced personnel at the key positions and are big in the offensive line — they're not overly fast — just big."

BRESKE SAID the Griffons' backfield is explosive.

"They've got two running backs (Jeff Holland and Chuck Jones) who will probably be the best we've seen so far," he said. "They have a lot of speed and if they get out in the open watch out — they're finesse runners."

The Griffons also return starting quarterback Joe Holder, who is back after an early-season injury. Holder threw for more than 300 yards last Saturday against Evangel in a 42-7 win.

Coach Chapman said he is impressing upon his team not to give up despite an 0-3 record.

"We're not going to change what we've been trying to do," Chapman said. "There are some tough times ahead, but there are going to be some rewarding times too."

Missouri Western first CSIC foe

WHEN & WHERE: Oct. 1, 1983, 1:30 p.m. at Wayne State College's Memorial Field.

THE COACHES: WSC — Pete Chapman 0-3-0 (at Wayne State; 12-11 overall)
MWU: Rob Hicklin (Tenth year, 55-38-4 at MWU; 55-38-4 overall)

THE SERIES: Missouri Western leads the relatively new series 4-2. The Griffons won last year 17-0 and the three previous seasons: 36-13, 57-34, and 24-10. WSC won 36-34 in 1978 and 21-15 in 1977.

LAST WEEK: Wayne State lost its third game and home opener to Midland Lutheran College, giving up 456 yards (422 on the ground) while racking up 417. WSC was led by freshman Sonny Jones' three touchdowns.

Missouri Western, spurred by the return of injured quarterback Joe Holder, stomped Evangel 42-7. Holder threw for 345 yards and two touchdowns.

GAME NOTES: —The Wildcats' 3-0 start equals the 1976 start. The 1974 Cats forfeited two games and were 0-4 after four weeks.

Wildcat wide receiver Scott Hallstrom suffered a separated shoulder in last Saturday's game and is out for the season.

Missouri Western's Holder has only played in two of the Griffons' four games, but has completed 27-of-52 passes for 484 yards and four touchdowns.

Holder was named the CSIC's offensive player of the week after completing 16 of 30 passes for 345 yards against Evangel. Two of Holder's tosses went for touchdowns of 70 and 14 yards.

Jeff Holland (181 lbs., sophomore) is the Griffons' leading rusher with 204 yards on 64 carries (a 3.2 average per carry).

—All of Wayne State's five touchdowns last week were scored by freshmen and sophomores. Sonny Jones had three scores, while Rodney McClain and Darin Fulcher tallied one each.

—Three former WSC athletes (Rex Johnson, Tom Fulcher and Dean Eloffson) will be inducted into the college's Hall of Fame this weekend and will be introduced at halftime.

CSIC releases football stats

Several Wayne State football players appear on the list of CSIC individual statistical leaders released Wednesday.

Freshman Sonny Jones is tied with several players for the fifth in scoring, with 18 points. Jones leads the CSIC in kickoff returns, with a 42.7 yard average on just three returns.

Tom Wingert is third in punt returns, averaging 8.3 yards a crack, and is fourth in pass receiving with a 70.3 yards per game. Jones is three spots behind Wingert with a 50.7 yards per game average.

Wildcat quarterback Tom Leitschuck is the league's seventh best passer statistically with a .344 completion percentage and a 92.7 yards per game average.

Defensively, Wayne State is represented by Ted Ragone in the punting department. Ragone is averaging 37.7 yards per punt. Linebacker Steve Besch leads in the CSIC in interceptions, with two in three games.

Missouri Western and Wayne State are ranked first and second respectively in passing offense in the CSIC weekly statistical report released Wednesday.

Missouri Western is averaging 212 yards through the air per game while the Wildcats are averaging 193 yards.

Both teams boast good pass defenses however, with WSC ranked second in the conference (allowing just 81 yards per game) and the Griffons third (96 yards per game).

Missouri Southern leads the CSIC in total offense with a 417 yard per game average. Wayne State is last with a 269 yard per game clip.

The Wildcats are also last in rushing offense, averaging 75.7 yards on the ground. Missouri Western leads the league in total defense, allowing a mere 183.3 yards per contest while the Wildcats have given up 319 yards per game and are fifth.

For the second week running, I have given myself the "Einstein of the Week" award.

Faithful readers will remember my account of last week in which I drove to Allen via Wakefield for the Allen vs. Wakefield football game — only to find out the game was being played in Wakefield.

While covering last Friday's Wayne vs. West Point contest, I took four or five what surely would have been Pulitzer Prize winning photographs before realizing — you guessed it — there was no film in my camera.

At this point, I don't think I have to worry about being bothered by the Rhodes scholarship people.

Speaking In Spirit

Before the Wayne game, I was talking with Wayne State offensive line coach John Hughes when Darold Johnson of KTCH walked by and said: "Why don't you guys come up to the press box at halftime —"

I figured Johnson just wanted to chat during the intermission. I didn't realize until I got to the booth that he intended to INTERVIEW me on the air.

Initial panic gave way to a cool head.

"Just be calm and be yourself," I thought to myself.

I put on the headphones and KTCH's Lee Daniels asked me something about Wayne's offense.

As the blood rushed out of my head, I uttered something like: "Well, they should be able to pass if they have the heavy bats and are hot at the free-throw line."

To tell the truth, I don't have any idea what I said. At least I isn't down in print anywhere.

A career behind the mike is not looming.

What happened to Tuna U.?

Wayne State basketball coach Rick Weaver (while not hot on the recruiting trail) has been spending his time this fall putting out a weekly college football Top Ten. I thought I would share it with those of you lucky enough to escape Weaver's distribution route.

Weaver's Top Ten

(Week of Sept. 26)

1. Iowa (Weaver is an Iowa native.)
2. Illinois (Don't ask me!)
3. Nebraska (Now we're getting somewhere.)

4. Texas
 5. Arizona
 6. Ohio State
 7. Michigan
 8. Rice (Weaver says he is high on the Owls — I say he's high on something else.)
 9. P.F.M. (Professional Food Management)
 10. R.P.M. (Revolutions Per Minute)
- Weaver said Tuna University dropped out after a loss to Mahareesh Tech.
- I think Weaver has stepped over the free-throw line.

What's next?

Capitalism reached a new low this week. I received my weekly statistical report from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics on Monday and was dumbfounded.

What used to be the weekly NAIA top 20 football ratings for Divisions I and II is now the "NAIA Miller Beer" top 20.

Give us a break guys!

It's nice to see the big beer companies take an interest in athletics and young people, but I think the NAIA has prostituted itself by this move.

Somehow, a national top 20 released from the association's headquarters with the Miller High Life logo on the letterhead gives the NAIA about as much credence as the weekly "Budweiser sheet" available at local taverns across the country.

What's next, the NAIA Preparation H All America Team?

If ya wanna dance, go to a disco.

It was kind of nice to watch the New York Jets vs. Los Angeles Rams highlights last Sunday.

New York's Mark Gastineau was doing one of his nauseating dances after sacking Ram's quarterback Vince Ferragamo when some of L.A.'s offensive linemen decided to "cut in."

After a few do-si-do's with Harrah and Co., Mr. Gastineau put away his dance card.

ZIP!

Speaking of do-si-do's — If you're going to the Wayne State vs. Missouri Western football game this Saturday, keep an eye on Griffon running back Jeff Holland (24). This guy is FAST!

Defensive linemen Vince Johnson (94), Steve Marlay (72) and Tim Boender (97) are BIG — and FAST. Later...

WSC netters busy

The Wayne State College volleyball team got its first taste of what this year's CSC competition will be like as they traveled to Kearney last weekend for games with Kearney State, Pittsburg State and Washburn University.

The Cats lost on Friday night to Kearney in three sets 15-5 15-9 16-4.

In Saturday's action, Wayne State lost to Pittsburg State 15-6 15-8 15-3 but came back later and defeated Washburn 15-9 15-8 15-7.

On the weekend, sophomore Jill Zeiss lead the Cats in scoring, tallying 25 points in the three matches. She was followed by fellow sophomore Pam Gogan, who accounted for 15 points. Beth Erickson had 12 points.

Zeiss also led the Wildcats with 39 assists while teammate Becky Frahm added 20.

Gogan was the team leader in net play, downing seven spikes (three dinks) and notching nine blocks. Beth Erickson had six spikes (one dink) and six blocked shots.

Norfolk native Mary Kary Becker accounted for eight blocks and had four spikes.

Upping its record to 10-5 for the season, the Wayne State College volleyball team beat Nebraska Wesleyan University in its first match of a triangular meet against the Plainsmen and Peru State College Wednesday afternoon in Lincoln.

The Cats downed Wesleyan 15-11 13-15 16-14, rallying in the last set after falling behind 5-13.

In the second match, the Wildcats dropped a decision to Peru by scores of 7-15 11-15.

Mary Kay Becker and Jill Zeiss led Wayne State in scoring, tallying 13 and seven points respectively for the day.

Zeiss was also top setter, with 21 assists while Becky Frahm accounted for 15.

Spiking was led by Andrea Jones with Ten, and Pam Gogan and Beth Erickson with six each.

Wayne State hosts Chadron State College tomorrow (Friday) night at Rice Auditorium from 7-30 p.m. contest while Wesleyan comes calling Saturday at noon.

Devils burned

The Wayne Blue Devils came down off a three game winning streak Tuesday night, dropping a 15-7 15-7 contest to West Point at Wayne High School.

Wayne coach Mavis Dalton said the Blue Devils lack of floor communication was a key to the loss.

"We seemed to have lots of communication problems tonight," she said. "Maybe we were still up in the air about the win over Norfolk and forgot to come back to earth."

"We just didn't play like we were capable of tonight."

Fran Gross and Paula Koplin led the Blue Devils in the loss. Gross had nine spikes while Koplin had seven serving points, a pair of good blocks and four ace serves.

"With homecoming this week it's been hard to get the girls to concentrate," Dalton said.

The Junior Varsity notched its first win of the season, dumping West Point in two sets, 15-8 15-6.

Lisa Jacobsen and Amy Jordan were the Blue Devils' leading servers, with eight and seven good serves respectively.

"We finally played together as a team tonight," Dalton said of her reserve squad.

Wayne's C teamers lost to the Gadets 11-15 11-15. Jodi Ditman led all Wayne scorers with nine points while Shelly Pick added seven.

Wayne will travel to Laurel today (Thursday) for a 6:30 p.m. meeting with the Bears.

Eagles down Indians

The Allen Eagles upped their record to 5-1 last Thursday by taking a tough 15-11 7-15 16-14 from Winnebago at home.

Despite the win, Allen coach Gary Troth was not pleased with the Eagles' performance.

"To be honest — we played lousy," Troth said. "I think we overlooked them (Winnebago) even though they were 4-1."

Troth said the Eagles got caught in incorrect coverages several times during the night.

"We just weren't ready to play," Troth said.

Allen only hit on 59 of 67 serves. Michelle Harder led the way, making good on all 17 of her attempts and scoring ten points.

In the setting department, the Eagles were 48 of 82.

"We just weren't very good at setting tonight," Troth said. "Juice Book was sick so things didn't click as well as they usually do."

Pam Heckathorn led the Eagles in setting, hitting 31 of 35 attempts.

At the net, the Eagles went 58 of 71.

"Our passing wasn't too good and that affects our setting and that, in turn, affects our spiking," Troth said.

Harder was the leading spiker, going 19 for 23 at the net and registering a pair of ace blocks.

In B team action, Allen lost in two sets, 15-7 15-1. The C teams did not play.

Bears 1-1 for week

The Laurel Bears split a pair of volleyball games during the past week, downing Coleridge 15-10 15-9 last Thursday and rebounding to defeat Osmond Tuesday night in three sets 15-4 3-15 15-9.

Against Coleridge, Renee Vanderheiden led the Bears in scoring with 11 points.

Starter Jean Luft sprained an ankle and was replaced by junior Doreen Rahde, whom Laurel coach Carol Manganaro said "played a real well rounded game."

Wendy Robsen led Laurel at the net with eight downed spikes against the Chargers. Manganaro said the Bears had several players with six or seven points.

She also said that Lynn Malchow "set very well" and that the team "showed real good team work."

In B team action, the Bears downed Coleridge 15-10 10-15 15-5 with Carol Osborne leading the way with 11 points.

The C team fell in three sets 11-4 8-11 4-11 with Sara Adkins accounting for eight points.

In Tuesday's action against Osmond, the Bears only served 85 per cent as a team, a figure Manganaro was not pleased with.

"We lacked at the net and in serving but we played very good defense," Manganaro said.

Laurel's B team dropped a 6-15 9-15 decision to the Tigers. Gail Twiford had four points in the game.

"We started slow and I think that hurt the A team too," Manganaro said.

The C team dumped the Tigers in three sets, 13-11 6-11 11-4 with Gail Twiford again leading the way with eight points.

Laurel's season record is now 6-4 while the Bears are 2-1 in conference play.

Laurel will host the Wayne Blue Devils today (Thursday) in a 6:30 p.m. contest.

Allen takes second

The Eagles took second place on the Newcastle Invitational played Monday and Tuesday, beating Walthill 15-7 15-7 and Homer 11-15 15-7 15-12 on Monday, but losing to Wynot 14-16 15-13 11-15 in the championship game on Tuesday.

In Monday's contest against Walthill, the Eagles hit on 97 per cent of their sets as a team with Tami Jewell and Juice Book perfect on 11 and nine attempts respectively.

At the net, Michelle Harder went 11 of 12 and had four aces. Jewell was 8 for 9 and also had four aces.

Mary Oswald was perfect on 15 serves for the day.

"We played pretty well," coach Troth said. "We have some good hitters but still lack in setting."

Against Homer the Eagles' serving fell to 90 per cent, but was still adequate.

Oswald went 14 for 15, Deanna Hausen was 11 of 12 and Denise Magnuson was good on 13 out of 14 attempts.

Oswald did most of the Eagles' setting for the game and hit 37 of 39.

At the net, Jewell went 14 for 17 and bagged three aces. Harder had a game-high seven aces.

"We were making a lot of mistakes," Troth said. "Both teams played fairly well, though."

In the loss to Wynot, Troth said Oswald "did well for us, again in serving." Oswald went 19 for 20 with a pair of aces while Harder added three aces while going 11 for 12.

Dodding was led by Harder (25 of 28 with 11 aces). Jewell (20 of 21 with four aces) and Oswald (14 of 17 with three aces).

Book was again perfect in setting, with 35.

"We weren't putting the ball where we needed it," Troth said.

"Our defense was pretty good, but in the third set we gave them seven free balls and they got spikes on all of them."

Allen will travel to Walthill today (Thursday) to meet the Blue Jays again.

Wayne 8th-graders bomb Hartington HT

Wayne's eighth grade football team downed Hartington Holy Trinity 20-0 in action Tuesday afternoon at Wayne.

The Blue Devils scored 14 points in the second quarter off of a five-yard scamper by Jason Liska and a two yard plunge by Corey Frye. Liska accounted for both extra points.

Wayne coach Al Hansen was generally pleased with the Blue Devils' performance.

"We had a lot of little mistakes that got us in trouble, but our defense is awfully tough," Hansen said.

Wayne added an insurance touchdown in the fourth period on a three yard run by Frye.

Quarterback Matt Hillier completed three passes out of 19 attempts for the afternoon. Leading receivers were Frye (two for 12 yards) and Scott Sherer (one for seven yards).

Rushing was led by Liska, who racked up 43 tough yards on 12 carries. Scott Pokett had 38 yards on 10 carries while Matt Hillier added 39 yards on 11 totes.

The defense was led by Frye (four tackles) and Jess Zeiss, Jed Reeg and Scot Baker (three each).

Steve Cowgill had a pair of fumble recoveries.

The Blue Devils controlled the ball most of the game, running 53 plays to Hartington Holy Trinity's 15.

Olympic run sponsored

For the third consecutive year, Natural Light beer will conduct "Run Your Way to the 1984 Olympics," a special program designed to raise funds to assist the United States' Olympic effort prior to the 1984 Summer Games, which will be held in Los Angeles.

In the first two years of the program, more than 12,000 runners participated, generating more than $300,000 for the U.S. Olympic effort.

Any runner can participate in the Olympic promotion which consists of runners of every ability soliciting pledges for each mile they run in training or competition from Oct. 1 through Dec. 1. At the end of the promotion, runners will total their mileage and collect the pledges from their sponsors.

The runner who collects the highest amount of pledges will receive an all-expense paid trip for two to the 1984 Summer Olympics. Numerous other prizes, including official Olympic warm-up suits and Olympic satin jackets, will also be awarded.

Each participant in the "Run Your Way to the 1984 Olympics" will receive an Olympic-style running shirt and training map so each runner can chart their progress to Los Angeles.

To enter "Run Your Way to the 1984 Olympics," send the $5 entry fee along with your name, address and shirt size to: Natural Light Olympic Fund, P.O. Box 8797, St. Louis, Mo. 63102.

Additional information on "Run Your Way to the 1984 Olympics" is available by contacting Forest Harwood, program coordinator, at (314) 982-1723.

Blue Devils crack polls

Wayne High School's 4-0 football team appears in all three major high school football polls this week on the heels of a 36-7 victory over previously undefeated West Point.

The Blue Devils are ranked eighth by The Omaha World-Herald, The Lincoln Journal and the Associated Press.

The Associated Press also lists Wayne's opponent this week, David City Aquanis, as receiving votes but does not have the Monarchs in the top 10. West Point also received votes, as did Hartington Cedar Catholic, the Blue Devils' foe on Oct. 21.

Wayne gains in playoff picture

The Wayne Blue Devils are in a two-way tie for second place in the point totals to determine which team will compete in the 1983 Class B high school football playoffs which begin on Nov. 2.

Points are awarded or subtracted based on the quality of opponents, which is determined by their record and class.

Wayne has accumulated 44.5 points; during four games and is tied with Mitchell. Grand Island Catholic is first with 47 points.

Sixteen teams will qualify for playoff berths, some as conference champions others via the point system.

Other Wayne opponents, their record, point totals and ranking in the playoff picture are: Hartington Cedar Catholic (4-0) 41.2, 11th; West Point (3-1) 37.7, 24th; West Point Central Catholic (3-1) 37.5, 28th; David City Aquanis (3-1) 37.2, 31st; O'Neill (1-2) 33.3, 43rd.

Battle of sexes set at Allen

It will be the boys versus the girls in volleyball competition scheduled for Monday, Oct. 3 at Allen.

The fifth grade boys will go up against the sixth grade girls as will the sixth grade boys in later competition.

In other action, the junior high school mothers will take on their daughters.

There will be no admission and the games will begin at 7 p.m.

Bon fire set back

A bon fire and pep rally to kick off homecoming activities for Wayne High School this week was moved from tonight (Thursday) to last night because of schedule conflicts. The rally was scheduled for 9 p.m. at the grounds surrounding the Terra Chemical International Inc. plant, located east of Wayne on highway 35.

Public invited to meet WSC greets

The public is invited to attend a reception this Saturday, Oct. 1, honoring the induction of three former Wayne State athletes into the school's Hall of Fame.

Former gridder Rex Johnson (class of 1949), baseball standout Tom Fulcher (class of 1966) and basketball great Dean Etelson (class of 1970) will be honored at a banquet on Friday night.

The public reception is scheduled at the Wayne Country Club immediately following the Wayne State vs. Missouri Western University football game this Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Wayne JV squeak past HCC

The Wayne High School junior varsity football team used a halfback pass to score a touchdown and squeak past Hartington Cedar Catholic 12-6 Monday afternoon on the road.

Wayne's Kevin Maly was involved in both of the Blue Devils' touchdowns, passing 23 yards from his halfback slot to Rod Lutt, and running eight yards for another score on Wayne's next possession.

The Trojans returned the ensuing kickoff for their lone score of the afternoon.

Wayne coach Ron Carnes was not overly pleased with the Blue Devils' performance.

"We missed a couple of scoring opportunities in the second half," Carnes said. "On the kickoff return, we just got bottled up in the middle and didn't stay in our lanes."

Defensively, the Blue Devils were led by Tim Fleming, who logged 12 tackles. Darrin Barner had eight stops while Tim Hansen and Rod Giltland with six each.

Wayne is scheduled to travel to Schuyler next Monday, Oct. 3.

Boosters plan fish fry

The Wayne Blue Devil Boosters are planning a fish fry from 5 to 9 p.m. tonight (Thursday) at the Wayne city auditorium.

Cost of the all you can eat meal is $5 for adults and $3.50 for students. Tickets will be sold by Wayne High students and also can be purchased at First National Bank, State National Bank, Griess Rexall and Sav Mor Drug, all in Wayne.

35 compete in Lions football competition

Thirty-five youngsters competed in the Football Skills Competition sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club last Sunday afternoon at Wayne State College's Memorial Field.

The event, formerly known as the Punt, Pass & Kick Competition, was sponsored by the Ford Motor Co. Ford until the company dropped sponsorship several years ago in an economy move. Since then, the Wayne Lions have sponsored the event locally.

BOBBY BARNES approaches for a place-kick.

A muddy mess

SABRINA MARTINSON pins another foe in last Thursday's mud wrestling competition at Wayne State. Martinson was one of the winners in the event which was sponsored by Berry Hall as part of the college's "Hog Wild Weekend." Temperatures were in the 50s during the mud wrestling competition, making things a bit nippy. Cold running water was a real shock to the contestants but was required as part of cleanup.

Faculty profile

Being what can be called a native northeast Nebraskan, Dr. Randall Shaw, who holds his doctorate in curriculum and supervision, is a full professor in the applied science division at Wayne State College.

Shaw is originally from Orchard and presently lives in Wayne with his wife and two children.

Shaw graduated from Wayne State College in 1969 with a bachelor's degree in industrial education. In 1970, he received his master's degree in the same field from Wayne State.

He earned a second master's degree at Wayne State in 1974, this one being in counseling. SHAW HAS taught at Wayne State College since 1974, minus a year in 1975-76 when he took leave to work on his doctorate at Utah State which he received in 1977.

He divides his time between teaching in the applied science division at Wayne State and working as the director of the extended campus program.

Before coming to Wayne State in 1974, Shaw taught in area high schools in Coleridge and Winside. At present, Shaw's wife Sharon teaches second grade in Wakefield.

IN HIS spare time, Shaw likes to do mechanical work on cars as well as participating in basketball and running to keep in shape. He also is involved in writing for publication and research.

He is a board member of the Nebraska Industrial Arts Association. He also is a member of the American Industrial Arts Association.

Within the community of Wayne, Shaw is secretary of the Educational Service Unit One board, the Wayne High School-Vocational Advisory Committee, and the Wayne Baseball Association.

Shaw said he and his family appreciate the lifestyle of Wayne.

He also said the quality of students at Wayne State College is high, which is "really reflective of the Midwest's good quality homes and schools."

Randall Shaw

WSC selects sculpture

Wayne State College has awarded a $10,000 sculpture commission to University of Nebraska Omaha sculpture professor Sidney Buchanan.

The Board of Trustees for the Nebraska State Colleges approved the commission at its meeting recently in Kearney. Buchanan's work, entitled "Cybele," will be completed around Oct. 1 and will be displayed outside the newly renovated Humanities and Education buildings on the Wayne State campus.

The steel fabricated sculpture weighs five tons and will be 15 feet high, 12 feet wide, and 17 feet long.

EIGHT OTHER works by various artists, consisting of five oil paintings, one water color, one print, and one welded steel indoor sculpture, will be placed inside the two buildings.

The project is being funded through the 1 percent for Art legislation declaring that all newly constructed or remodeled buildings on state property must use a minimum of 1 percent of the capital expenditures for artwork.

An art selection committee advertised to approximately 600 artists nationwide and in all the Nebraska daily newspapers to submit entries.

The committee was appointed during the fall of 1982 by WSC President Ed Elliott and was chaired by Dr. Jay O'Leary, head of the WSC division of fine arts.

THE LIST OF artists was presented to the committee by the Nebraska Arts Council, which worked closely with the college to select the final pieces. All entries, totaling 129, mailed slides of their work.

Four pieces of sculpture were selected for the outdoor location. These four artists were then requested to submit a model out of which Buchanan received the commission to prepare his sculpture.

The entire selection process was open to the public.

WORKING WITH O'Leary on the art selection committee were Wayne Anderson, assistant professor of art; Dr. Joe Fleck, head of the division of education and psychology and dean of graduate studies; Morris Anderson, professor of education; Dr. Bob Johnston, professor of communication arts; and interim head of the division of humanities at the time of the appointment, and Dr. Bob Zahmer, associate professor of English and German.

Senior citizens invited to take part in TLC

Wayne State College is initiating a volunteer program to assist handicapped and disabled students in all aspects of college life.

Although everyone is welcome to volunteer, Dr. Bobby Lupack hopes that Wayne senior citizens will become involved.

Lupack is director of the Teaching Learning Center (TLC).

"Our senior citizens are a virtual reservoir of talent and caring, of experience and expertise, and have very much to offer others. Allowing senior citizens the opportunity to interact with Wayne State students would be highly beneficial to the young people involved ... and to the community as a whole," said Lupack.

School superintendents meeting

The Northeast Nebraska School Superintendents Association (NENSSA) will meet on the Wayne State College campus on Wednesday, Oct. 19, according to Bob Lohrberg, WSC director of placement services and student housing, and secretary treasurer of NENSSA.

Registration will take place from 9:15 to 10 a.m. in the north dining room of the Student Center. Coffee and rolls will be served.

A brief business meeting will follow the welcome by WSC Vice President Donald Whisenand.

FEATURED speakers include Joe Lutjeharms, commissioner of the Nebraska Department of Education and member of the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges; Larry Vontz, deputy commissioner of the Nebraska Department of Education;

Also, Gail Sims, consultant management assistance Nebraska Department of Education; Gene Ulrich, outstanding science teacher from North High School in Sioux City; and Justin King, executive director for Nebraska Association of School Boards.

NENSSA president is Jim Lolquist, superintendent of Laurel public schools.

Planning members are Leigh Cull, superintendent of Stanton public schools, and Don Leighton, superintendent of Winside public schools.

Speakers, workshops are focusing on non-traditional students at WSC

Several speakers and workshops are being conducted for non-traditional students at Wayne State College.

Non-traditional students are invited to bring their own lunch to the Senate Room in the lower level of the Student Center on Tuesday, Oct. 4, and enjoy an informal hour with selected speakers.

The luncheon starts at noon.

THIS SECOND in a series of programs is entitled "Open Sharing Session - Get Acquainted."

Speakers will be Dr. Bobby Lupack, director of the teaching learning center, and Donna Bliss, director of counseling.

The purpose of the program is to familiarize non-traditional students with the college. A service is provided through the Adult Resource Center, directed jointly by Dr. Lupack and Bliss.

Dr. Max Lundstrom, dean of student services, also assisted in the program.

ANOTHER WORKSHOP program for non-traditional students is scheduled on Thursday, Oct. 6 in room 18 in the lower level of the U. S. Conn Library.

The session will run from 3:15 to 4:45 p.m. and is entitled "Coping With Academic Anxiety."

Selected speakers for this third in a series of six programs are Cliff Ginn, division head of social science, Donna Bliss and Dr. Bobby Lupack.

NON-TRADITIONAL students, according to Lupack, are students over the age of 23, particularly married students, commuters, veteran, single parents, elderly students/senior citizens, adults exploring career changes, extended campus students, and women beginning college after raising families.

UNDER construction soon will be a center for handicapped and disabled students.

The center is an extension of the Teaching Learning Center and will provide academic support to these students. Handicapped students will be able to use a special lounge and study area in the lower level of the library.

The center will be equipped with special study desks for wheelchairs, proper lighting for visually impaired, and other aids for the students.

VOLUNTEERS WILL be a basic support for the handicapped. Their duties would consist of reading to visually impaired students, helping wheelchair students or those on crutches pick out library books or shop, among other things.

Although volunteers will not be paid for their services, they will be invited, as guests of the college, to attend scheduled activities.

Volunteers who are willing to offer a few hours per week will be trained to help students in need of their services.

Interested persons should contact Dr. Bobby Lupack, director of TLC, Wayne State College, (402) 375-2200, ext. 402 or 394.

Former senator visiting campus

Former United States Senator Gale McGee will be visiting the Wayne State College campus Oct. 3-8.

McGee is a Wayne State graduate of 1936.

An expert in foreign affairs, he will speak several times throughout the week for Wayne State students and faculty.

On Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 11:15 p.m., the public is invited to his program, "U.S. - Central American Relations" in the north dining room of the Student Center.

McGEE SERVED Wyoming in the Senate from 1958-76 where he was a member of the Foreign Relations and Appropriation Committees.

From 1976-81, he was the permanent U.S. representative to the Organization of American States with the rank of Ambassador.

Cliff Ginn, head of the Wayne State division of social science and coordinator of the event, expects that McGee will have a great deal to say on a number of issues, including the area of foreign relations.

McGEE WILL speak at classes meeting in Connell Hall room three, on Oct. 3 at 10 a.m., Oct. 5 at 9 a.m., and Oct. 6 at 10 a.m.

He will speak on the topics of "Changing Politics of the Federal System," "American Political Trends," and "The President Senate Foreign Policy Relationship."

Houseman on 'Houseman'

John Houseman, author-actor-director, producer, best known as Professor Charles W. Kingsfield Jr. on "The Paper Chase," will be on the Wayne State College campus on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Houseman's one-man show, entitled "Houseman on Houseman," will begin at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

The public is invited to attend the program.

HOUSEMAN'S CAREER spans more than 60 years and has taken him from England and France to a cattle ranch in Argentina and ultimately to the United States.

He first made his mark on the world, not as an actor or author, but rather as a grain speculator. He changed his course in life when the Depression hit in 1929.

In 1931, he devoted himself to writing and to the theatre. His theatrical career started out as a director and producer which led him into such company as Orson Welles and Archibald MacLellan.

Houseman and Welles co-founded The Mercury Theatre which, among other productions, produced the "Men from Mars" broadcast which panicked the nation in 1938.

HOUSEMAN continued writing and producing various programs on the radio until 1941 when he began working in motion pictures. In this medium, he worked with such greats as Alfred Hitchcock and Ingrid Bergman.

After the attack on Pearl Harbor,

Houseman became the Chief of the Overseas Program Bureau for the Office of War Information.

In this capacity, he supervised the production of "The Voice of America."

Following the war, Houseman went back to Hollywood and produced films for Paramount, Universal and MGM.

IN ADDITION to his acting and directing, Houseman also has been a part of the academic world.

He spent a year as associate professor and head of drama production at Vassar, a semester at Barnard, as well as several lecture tours of American universities.

His writing credentials include articles in Harper's, Vogue, The Nation and The New York Times.

Houseman is being brought to Wayne State College as part of the Special Program Series. The series is part of a continuing effort to bring quality and meritorious programs to the college campus, the community and surrounding regions.

Admission for the program is $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for high school students and younger. Wayne State faculty, staff and students, and holders of Wayne State activity passes, are admitted free of charge.

Tickets will be available at the door.

FOUR OTHER special programs will be offered at Wayne State College during the 1983-84 school year.

They include James Barbagallo, pianist, who will appear Tuesday, Nov. 8. The Muir String Quartet, which will perform Monday, Feb. 20; the Neilhard-Bentley Guitar Duo, which will perform Tuesday, March 20; and the National Shakespeare Company, who will stage "Hamlet" on Tuesday, April 3.

All tickets will be made available at the door the day of the programs

Six new faculty members at WSC

Wayne State College has announced the appointments of six new full-time faculty members.

Serving as head football coach and physical education instructor is Pete Chapman, who received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and his master's degree from South Dakota State University.

Chapman previously taught and coached at Yankton College. He and his wife Marcia have two children, Jennifer, age nine, and Matthew, six.

ROY COOK, a business instructor, returned to teach at Wayne State College after working seven years as corporate director of personnel for Adam's Mark Hotels in St. Louis, Mo.

Cook received his bachelor of science degree from Southwest Texas State University and his master's degree from Sam Houston University.

He and his wife Gwen have one son, five year-old Chad.

RITA KISSEN has been appointed assistant professor of English.

She did both her undergraduate and graduate work at Cornell University, and is currently a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Massachusetts.

Her most recent teaching position before coming to Wayne State was in Springfield, Mass., where she taught at the high school level.

She has two children, Michelle Brodsky, 16, and Andrew Brodsky, 13.

SERVING AS assistant professor of art is Kim Spradling. He and his wife Carol have a son, Ian, age three, and a daughter, Sarah, six months.

Spradling received his bachelor of science degree from Northwest College in Orange City, Iowa and his master's degree from the University of Iowa, which is where he last taught.

Dr. Jo Taylor fills the position of humanities division head as well as being an associate professor of English.

CHEON YOUN has been appointed instructor of computer science.

Youn received his bachelor of science degree in physics from Seoul National University, Korea, and his master's degree in computer science from Sangamon State University, Springfield, Ill.

This is Youn's first teaching position in the United States. He and his wife Gilsoon have two children, Brian, 21 months, and Ann, five months.

Fall tutors named at WSC

Tutors for the fall 1983 semester at Wayne State College have been announced by Dr. Bobby Lupack, tutor director.

Tutors must be upperclassmen with high overall grade point averages, and receive the endorsement of and recommendations from the college faculty, Lupack said.

As tutors, they conduct review sessions before tests and quizzes, work with students on an individual basis, and consult regularly with administration and faculty members.

BUSINESS TUTORS include Shirley Spieker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Spieker of Petersburg; Kurt Pestel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pestel of Wisner; Mark Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Peterson of Scribner; Fred Readman, son of Lorraine Readman of Logan, Iowa; and Todd Weyrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Weyrich of Osmond.

Spieker is a junior majoring in accounting, and Pestel and Peterson are both seniors majoring in accounting.

Readman is a senior majoring in accounting/data processing, and Weyrich is a junior majoring in accounting.

BIOLOGY TUTORS include Sandy Havlovec, a senior majoring in biology; and Bill Lovgren, a senior majoring in biology and earth science.

Havlovec is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Havlovec of North Bend, and Lovgren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lovgren of Omaha.

The chemistry tutor is Bruce Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Yoder of Millford. He is a senior majoring in chemistry.

English tutors include Darla Sorensen, daughter of Janet Sorensen of Stapleton, and Jeff Clem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myle Loecker of South Sioux City.

Sorensen is a junior majoring in English/speech education, and Clem is a senior majoring in broadcasting and English.

THE ECONOMICS and sociology tutor is Keith Diederich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Diederich of Omaha. He is a senior majoring in economics and sociology.

American government tutor is

POTLUCK DINNER
Seventy-five persons attended the monthly potluck dinner last week at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center. Mary Nichols, R.N., conducted a free blood pressure clinic with 67 participating.
Kitchen chairmen for the day were Amy Lindsay and Emily Middendorf. Gladys Petersen and Emily Middendorf arranged the flowers for the serving table. Viola Lawrence welcomed the group with a fall poem. The invocation was given by Max Schneider.
The program on drivers license examinations was given by Trooper Buckingham of the Nebraska State Patrol. Slides were shown and driving techniques were discussed.
Later in the afternoon, Genevieve Craig gave a chalk drawing for the group, and lunch was served.

FILM SHOWN
A film, "Salt and Hypertension," was shown at the center last Thursday afternoon, with 30 attending.
Discussion followed the movie.

TRAVEL TO LAUREL
Several Wayne senior citizens traveled to Laurel last Friday for a pitch and canasta card party. Driving vehicles were Carl Thomsen, Ralph Olson, Harry Wert and Emma Dranseika. Laurel seniors treated the group to a salad lunch late in the afternoon.

Local student wins scholarship

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture has announced the presentation of Arthur and Viola Thompson Scholarships to six NU animal science majors. Receiving a $240 scholarship for the 1983-84 academic year was Lon Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne.

New publications catalog available

Nebraska residents may now obtain a free copy of a new catalog of publications produced by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Available at local extension offices, "Publications for Farm and Home" is an 88-page, cross-referenced catalog with listings for more than 1,000 publications, fact sheets and research bulletins.

General subject areas include crops, engineering/conservation, food and nutrition, forestry, home and family, insects, lawn and garden, livestock, marketing/management/economics, range and forage, soils, water, weather and climate, weeds and wildlife management.

While the catalog contains an order blank for publications, most titles are available through local extension offices.

Forages increase food availability

The use of low quality forages can increase the availability of animal products for human consumption, while decreasing production costs, according to a University of Nebraska animal science professor.

John Ward said since the world's population is increasing and the land mass available for food production is decreasing, "it becomes imperative that we take advantage of the capability of dairy and beef cattle to utilize forages of all kinds for the production of milk and beef."

Forage, or roughage of low weight per unit of volume, is best suited as portion of the ration in stages of lower productivity during mid to late lactation or for the maintenance of the non-lactating gestating cow, Ward said. However, "they may be used on limited basis in growing and finishing programs."

Protein and available energy are serious deficiencies in low quality forages, Ward said. "Whenever they are used, they must be properly supplemented with protein, minerals, vitamin and energy when necessary," the specialist added.

Downward trend slowed

Fall beef prices are stabilizing

Fed-cattle prices weakened further in late August and early September, continuing the substantial downward trend in prices since mid-April. But prices now look likely to stabilize, holding near mid-September levels the balance of 1983, according to Allen Wellman, University of Nebraska extension marketing specialist.

The downturn has seen Omaha prices for Choice steers decline from $70 to $71 per hundredweight in April to $58 to $60 in early September.

"A somewhat higher level of slaughter than last spring, little downward adjustment in retail beef prices and resulting wide farm-to-retail margins on beef have been major factors in the decline," Wellman said. "Pork supplies have also been larger than expected. And very hot summer temperatures may have cut demand for beef."

WELLMAN SAID he looks for Choice steer prices to range in the high $50s to low $60s through the balance of the year. He expects moderately stronger prices early in 1984, with prices possibly averaging in the $63 to $66 range from January to March.

He said if beef supplies are down slightly as expected and farm-to-retail beef margins follow the seasonal pattern of recent years, late winter-spring prices could be in the high $40 range and possibly higher at times.

The economist said fed-cattle marketings in the near term appear likely to remain higher than a year ago, but fourth-quarter marketings may be below last year.

"There's a good chance that higher corn prices and weak fed-cattle prices will result in some decline in fall placements into feedlots," he said.

The economist said he expects total slaughter and beef production in the first half of 1984 to be down slightly from 1983. He said market weights should average lower as higher feed costs and more non-grained cattle go to slaughter.

He said total beef slaughter this year through August has been 2 percent larger than it was in 1982. And marketing weights have averaged higher due to greater number of fed-cattle in the slaughter mix, so total beef production has increased about 3 percent.

CHANGES IN the farm-to-retail margin also have contributed to weaker cattle prices, Wellman said. Low prices tend to coincide with wide beef margins.

The nearly 13 cent per pound increase in the margin from Aprilto July is the equivalent of more than $5 per hundredweight in live cattle prices. "In other words, over $5 per hundredweight of the decline in cattle prices since April is explainable by the widening of the beef margin," he said.

Feeder-cattle prices should remain near early September levels, Wellman said, as higher feed prices, poor feeding returns and reduced feed supplies hold the market steady.

"But," he said, "prospects for stronger fed-cattle prices in the first half of 1984 and the chance feed prices will drop back moderately after harvest could bring stronger feeder-cattle prices in the winter and spring."

Wellman said farm-to-retail margins have followed a fairly consistent seasonal pattern during the past three years, narrowing in late winter-early spring and widening in summer and fall. "While reasons for this pattern are not clear," he said, "changes in the farm-to-retail margin have had a major impact on cattle prices."

The NU economist said relatively strong second-quarter prices in each of the past three years have coincided with periods of narrower margins and that lower prices have coincided with times of wider beef margins.

HELPING HANDS The Helping Hands 4-H Club held a family gathering Sept. 25 in the Winside city park.

A covered dish picnic dinner was served. Afterward, a softball game was played at the Winside ball park.

Four-H'ers and their families attending were Mr. and Mrs. Don Leighton and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morse and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Volle and family. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Evans and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cherry and family, and Mrs. Dennis Greunke and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Volle furnished watermelon following the game. Next meeting will be Nov. 12 in the home of Jenny Volle at 1:30 p.m. New officers will be elected.

Unexciting farm year lies ahead

It will not be an exciting year for farm programs in 1984, according to Roy Frederick, University of Nebraska extension economist—public policy.

"I don't think we will have tremendous participation in farm programs in 1984," Frederick said. There will be an acreage reduction program for wheat in 1984, but it is not that attractive to the producer, he said.

"It's very unlikely that we will have a PIK program next year," the economist said. Agriculture Secretary John Block recently announced in Omaha that there will not be a PIK program in 1984, but an official announcement is expected in a few weeks, he added.

"THE DROUGHT as much as anything is responsible for not having a PIK program next year," Frederick said.

Frederick will look at the prospects for the 1984 farm programs on the "Farm and Ranch Report." The Nebraska Educational Television Network series program will be aired on Sept. 29 at 12:30 p.m., repeating at 9:30 p.m. The hot weather's effect on reproductive efficiency of swine will also be discussed on the program.

When deciding whether to sign up for a program or not, a producer should make sure he understands all of the details of the program," he said. The producer also needs to make an assessment of what will be best for him. "Maybe the producer doesn't want to take the risk next year. If that's the case, he should sign up for the program," Frederick said.

A second topic to be discussed on the "Farm and Ranch Report" is how the reproductive efficiency of swine has been affected by the hot weather.

The hot weather of the last three months could still have an effect on the pig crop into next February, according to Don Levis, NU extension swine specialist at the South Central Station, Clay Center.

"THE LAST three months have put a lot of heat stress on boars and sows, especially the boars," Levis said. A heat stress period occurs when the temperature is 85 degrees Fahrenheit or above.

"There is a dramatic decrease in the reproductivity of boars once heat stress occurs," he said. Sterility can occur when the temperatures reach or exceed 85 F; however, the boar's performance remains the same. Boar fertility usually returns six to eight weeks after the boar is removed to cooler temperatures.

In sows, the litter size will decrease and "there may be some empty farrowing crates down the line," Levis said.

"Since the weather has been hot all the way into the middle of September, we will have problems breeding all the way into the beginning of November, since fertility of the boars may go down," Levis stressed. This then carries over into February farrowing, and could pose problems for many swine producers, he added.

"There is nothing producers can do now unless it gets hot again," Levis said.

Time for bulbs

It's about time to visit your nursery to see the arrival of the spring flowering bulbs. The tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, and crocus should start arriving at your nursery by the end of September.

September through early October is an excellent time to purchase bulbs while there's still a good selection available in the garden shop. Most failures with bulbs are due to holding them too long so they become desiccated, or planting late in the season that there is insufficient time for roots to form before freezing soil temperatures arrive.

Bulbs sold at the close of the season are usually dry and of poor quality. Good bulbs are firm, clean, and free from insects and disease.

Bulbs should be planted as soon as possible after purchase. Regardless of which cultivar of bulbs selected, locate the planting in full sun, in a well-drained soil.

Prepare the soil before planting by tilling and working organic matter into the soil and adding two pounds of a complete fertilizer per 100 square feet bed area.

Plant bulbs so the base of the bulb is at a depth that is three-times the diameter of the bulb.

Bulbs make a more effective display when planted in masses of one variety and color. Plant the bulbs close together (3 or 5 inches apart) if you want thick masses of flowers the first year.

Lift and Divide old peony plants

Fall is the time to lift and divide those old peony plants that may have decreased in vigor and are not producing the quantity of flowers desired.

Use a spade or fork to lift the plant loose from the soil. If you wish to propagate a large number of peonies from one old plant, consider washing the soil from the roots with a hose. This method allows you to see where the natural division of the plant crown are located.

Carefully cut the plant apart. Avoid breaking and loosening of many of the thick fleshy roots. These roots are food storage organs of the plant and are necessary for rapid development of the new plants. Each division should contain three to five eyes.

This size division can be planted in your landscape small divisions (one to three eyes, with small roots) should be planted in your garden for one to two seasons before using in a permanent location.

Peonies need well-drained soil. They grow best in slightly raised beds that provide good drainage. Plant where they will receive full sun. Shade reduces plant vigor and bloom. Plant your peonies with the uppermost eye not more than two-inches below the ground surface.

Deep planting will delay or even prevent flowering. Water well after planting to settle the soil around the roots. Peonies do not send out new roots in the fall.

Mulching may not be necessary every winter, but for the first year, peonies will often benefit from a protective mulch of two to four inches of straw. Remove tops at ground level from all peonies. This practice reduces disease problems the following year.

In addition to all the fun jobs—cooking, cleaning, chopping, hissing, chasing cattle that you get involved in when living with a farmer, there is another one reserved for pure minutes called Patching!

I knew about it—my Mom does it well, of course. When I was growing up, we washed on Monday, ironed on Tuesday, patched on Wednesday, therefore, it never pilled up.

MY MOTHER-IN-LAW is the world's champion patcher—she can put patches on patches!

She says growing up in a family of 12 when times were tough ensures your learning this skill. Because she is so accomplished at it, the Big Farmer doesn't feel loved unless he has a few patches on.

He also never gives up on an item of clothing. There was one especially comfortable denim jacket that was really shot—he sneaked it over to his Mom's when I was in the hospital with one of the kids. She completely rejuvenated it and I didn't even recognize it.

Of course, the Big Farmer never recognizes clothes when I get them patched and back in his drawer—because he's been so long since he's seen the item. Things the kids need patched go in a box marked "to be outgrown."

ONCE IN AWHILE, I get a spurt of domesticity and repair several pair of once and wrap them for a surprise birthday or Father's Day gift.

It makes him feel loved and it doesn't cost any money.

I've found that I'm not the only woman who has patched piled up.

Especially women who work off the farm have problems keeping up with the mending (unless a mother does it for them.)

One teacher friend told me she was feeling virtuous one day. Besides, her husband had no work clothes left to put on. So she went upstairs to find a box of old overalls to cut up and use for patches. Lo and behold, these were in better shape than the ones she was going to fix!

FARMERS PRESENT such interesting challenges in their rips and tears. I seldom see a split up a seam. But I deal with a lot of 3-corner tears at the knee from crawling over barbed-wire fences and I cover a lot of chipped-up seats for which I don't have an explanation.

It is a bit easier with a free-arm sewing machine; but iron-on patches are a fizzle—they don't stand washers and dryers.

Then there are the elbows out of the hooded sweat shirts and the torn insulated coveralls which are four-layered.

Long underwear develop holes in odd places; but they make really good dust cloths, so I don't spend a lot of time on them.

BOTH GRANDMAS also darn socks. I think this is getting to be a lost art. Ann left some socks at a friend's home, and when her Mother returned them, she commented about the darns because she hadn't seen any for so long.

It's even getting hard to buy darning thread. I happen to think darning is kind of fun. It's just that there are so many other things that are more fun.

Fortunately, both our Grandmas live near by and appear to have darning at the top of their enjoyment lists. My Mom did the last bunch while watching Big Red annihilate Minn.

And since the Big Farmer has a birthday coming up, I think I'll buy him some new jeans! This patching is for the birds. We'll have to make him feel loved in some other way.

LUTHERAN CHURCHWOMEN

The Churchwomen of the Salem Lutheran Church met Thursday at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Paul Fischer welcomed everyone and gave a September reading.

Heleen Anderson led devotions and gave a prayer. The hymn, "Of the Heavenly Father," was sung. Heleen Anderson gave a recipe for a happy home.

The program was given by Circle 4. It was on the family tree and each circle member told about one them and what it meant. The hymn, "Oh Happy Home" was sung. An offering was taken. The program, "Tribute to a Woman" was given by Mrs. Burnell Grosz. It was in honor of Mrs. Robert B. Johnson on her birthday. Mrs. Grosz also read a biography of Mrs. Johnson's life. Mrs. Johnson was presented a gift and the birthday song was sung.

Everyone brought their baby picture and everyone was to guess who they were. Mrs. James Gustafson got the prizes for guessing the most right.

Mrs. Dean Salmon, Mrs. Norman Haglund, Marlon Christensen and Lennea Olson served lunch.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

The next meeting is Thursday, Oct. 27 at 2 p.m.

BOY SCOUTS REORGANIZE

School night for the Cub Scouts of Wakefield Pack 172 was Sept. 15 after school. The recruitment this year was a success as seven new Cub Scouts (complete with den leader and assistants) signed up to form Den 2.

The new recruits are Michael Anderson, Mason Beard, Danny Gates, Kelly Turney, TJ Preston and Jason Notebook. Den leader is Lynda Turney, assisted by Wanda Beard.

Den 2 plans to meet on Mondays after school at the Presbyterian Church starting Oct. 3. Eight-year-old boys still interested in joining should call 287-2646 to register.

Cub Scouts from Den 1 began their 1983-84 season with a campout at the Wakefield park Sept. 16. Those participating were Lowell and Jon Johnson, Ron and Aaron Holling, Lyle and Anthony Brown, Jim and Matt Martindale, Doug and Jeremy Jensen, Allen and Scott Johnson, Duane and Marcus Tappe, Steve Clark, Ben Gustafson and Brandon Benson.

Cub Scouts who are now 10 years old are forming a Webelos group with Scott Utecht as the leader and Kathy Johnson, Carol Clark, Angle Blattert and Linda Martindale assisting him on their projects. Aaron Utecht is the new recruit for that age group.

The Boy Scouts will go on a weekend camp scheduled in Norfolk Oct. 7-9. These boys include Chris Looft, Mike Mogus, Elliot Salmon, Stuart Clark and Matt Tappe. Their leaders are Duane Tappe and Jim Clark. The boys will work on their physical fitness merit badge while in Norfolk.

SENIOR CITIZENS

On Sept. 13 the Wakefield Senior Citizens hosted a grandparent's day celebration with the Emerson Senior Citizens as guests. Prizes were given to Doc Quimby for oldest grandfather; Everett Van Cleave, youngest grandfather; Alvina Bransden of Emerson, oldest grandmother; and Ruth Fell, youngest grandmother. Entertainment was provided by the Emerson Kitchen Band and the Waldbaum day care center kids.

On Sept. 16, proud hour was held with 15 seniors participating.

Upcoming Events

Friday, Sept. 27: Legal Aid speaker, 12:45 p.m.

BALLOONS FOUND

Balloons were launched by members of the Christian Church on Sept. 11 during their Sunday school roundup. Attached to each balloon was a card identifying the sender.

One of the balloons traveled to Floyd, Iowa, which is approximately 230 miles. Other balloons were found at Akron, Livemore, Everly and Paulina, Iowa and at Elk Point, S.D.

The balloons were donated by the Wakefield National Bank.

The difference between center pivots is how many times they can do this.

Valley builds them tougher.

It isn't just one thing. It's the toughest gearbox in the industry — the one they put on other make center pivots by the thousands when their gearboxes fail. It's a new, no-grease urethane U-joint that easily outlasts conventional U-joints. It's a proven multi-directional flex joint that allows easy operation on slopes up to 30%. It's a structure where you can see the difference when you put a ruler to it.

And that's just for starters. Let our dealership show you the rest. Ask us for a free ValCom energy analysis before you buy any system. The difference can be thousands.

Valley dominates the field.

Band room storage

MEMBERS OF Wayne High School's building construction class add some finishing touches to cabinets in the Wayne Middle School band room. The class constructed the cabinets to hold uniforms and instruments as its initial project of the school year. Class members pictured include Brendon Dorcsey, Steve Kessler, Tod Claussen, Bryan Grone and Brian Loberg. Not pictured are Lenny Schmale and Dave Longe. Mike Mallette is instructor and Paul Sobansky is observing. The next project will be a drafting room in the old high school shop. Mallette said the class is looking for some interior jobs for the winter.

The Wayne County Board of Equalization met per adjournment for the purpose of setting the tax rates for 1983. All members, Jerry Pospisil, Chairman, Robert Nissen, Member, Merlin Beiermann, Member and Orgetta Morris, Clerk were present.

The following resolution sets the tax rates for 1983 for the County of Wayne and its subdivisions:

RESOLUTION Receipt of the valuation of Wayne County for 1983 as determined by the State Board of Equalization was reported as $260,508,420.00. There was presented by the Board by the Finance Committee of said Board a detailed written assessment and tax levy document.

WHEREAS, the final action of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment of the State of Nebraska, for the current tax assessment year of 1983 has been taken and certified to and reviewed by the County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, as provided by law and the various Political and Governmental subdivisions of Wayne County, Nebraska, has each and all determined and certified their respective financial and tax requirements for said year as provided by law and the County Board of Wayne County, Nebraska has also therefore determined the budget, financial and tax requirements of said County for said year as provided by law and

WHEREAS, all prior proceedings provided by law pertaining to the assessment and levy of taxes for the current tax assessment year of 1983 has been taken, entered and completed with, and the Finance Committee of said County Board have heretofore reviewed the various financial and tax requirements and respective tax levies of said County and said several political and governmental subdivisions thereof and specific and detailed assessment and tax levy document and report thereon, which document and report thereon have been filed and entered in detail and as fully and specifically described in the written detailed tax levy document and report as provided by law and

WHEREAS, it is now the legal duty and obligation of said County Board of Equalization of Wayne County, Nebraska, to make all tax levies requested, required and certified by law for the levying and collection of said taxes for the current tax assessment year of 1983; as provided by law.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT DETERMINED, RESOLVED AND ORDERED, by the County Board of Equalization of Wayne County, Nebraska, as follows:

1. That the financial and tax requirements of the State of Nebraska, and of the County of Wayne and of the several political and governmental subdivisions thereof, as heretofore determined, requested and certified by each governmental subdivision and taxing authority, as set forth in detail and as fully and specifically described in the written detailed tax levy document and report as provided by law and filed by the Finance Committee of said County Board, which document and report is by this reference specifically made a part thereof as though fully copied and set forth herein by and hereby are approved, confirmed and adopted as the true and correct financial and tax requirements and requests of each said governmental agency, subdivision and taxing authorities for the current tax assessment year 1983, all as provided by law.

2. That there is hereby levied and assessed for said current tax year of 1983, on the taxable property of and within the county of Wayne, State of Nebraska and within the several political subdivisions thereof in the exact manner, form and extent provided by law thereof each and all of said taxes for each and all of said governmental and political subdivisions and taxing authorities all as specifically itemized, described and set forth in the written detailed and tax levy statement prepared and filed by the Finance Committee of said Board, and which document and report by this reference is made a part of this resolution as though copied and set forth herein.

3. That there is hereby required, thing, action and proceedings which is provided by law for assessment and levy of each and all of said taxes for said year of 1983, by and hereby is done and entered of record by said County Board of Equalization and each and every public officer performing legal requirements to be done and performed by him, as provided by law for the levying and collection of said taxes, shall do and perform the same in the manner provided by law.

Passed and Adopted this 15 day of September, 1983, in the County Courthouse in Wayne County, Nebraska.

The above and foregoing resolution was presented, fully discussed and a motion was made by Beiermann, seconded by Nissen, that said resolution be adopted, whereupon the Chairman called for further discussion and remarks thereon which followed, and the said Chairman called for roll call vote thereon which resulted as follows: Beiermann Aye; Nissen Aye; Pospisil Aye; No Nays.

card of thanks

WE WOULD LIKE TO say thank you to all our friends for their expressions of sympathy at the time of Clem's Ken's step-father and our children's grandfather's death. A time like this is made easier by friends that care. Thank you one and all: Ken, Sandra, Macheile, Mitch and Malinda Petit. $29

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our most sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness, flowers, memorials, cards and food received during the illness and following the death of our loved one. Special thanks to Pastors Nitz and Olson for their prayers, visits, and comforting words. The family of Manley Wilson $29

I WANT TO THANK all my dear friends, neighbors and relatives who have been so good to me while I'm recovering from surgery. It's great to know you care! How can I ever thank the excellent: Providence Medical Center staff; Dr. Bobb Dr. Walter, Gary West, Sister Gertrude and all the gentle, kind nurses? I'm certain they wouldn't want me to take care of them if they were sick, but I'd sure want each of them back if I should need them again. Thank you all. Connie Jo Phelps. $29

Decade

Parents — Columbus Finds America — Strides Into Eighty-year-old Publication — In Quest of Pheasants.

Ten years have passed since our eldest daughter was translated into precious memory. The weather on the late October 12 was reminiscent of that of a decade ago. A resplendent sun brightened falling leaves. Mild zephyrs caressed those here in sorrow. She lived beautifully, but too briefly.

But countless thousands have passed on during the 10-year span. Countless survivors have been stricken by irreparable losses. Thousands of fair youth gave their lives in the world's worst conflict. Thousands of parents and wives and children drank deeply of life's bitter cup.

We are not convinced what comes at the point of transition. No one knows, it is not in the plan for mortals to see. The greatest of all mysteries is not revealed to finite sense, and it continues a source of uncertain speculation.

But the world's great religions offered in faith attempts to support ideas of extinction. Thought travels in the direction of immortality. It holds that spiritual development begins at the end of years for higher spheres of understanding. It yearns for reunion with kindred souls. Its conclusions are based on scientific logic as well as ardent hope.

Accidental Discovery.

Accidents will happen. Columbus accomplished one when he discovered America October 12, 1492. He figured he was headed for India. Instead he kept going until he ran into a new continent. Columbus' adventurous spirit got him into a lot of trouble. His companions on the most voyage home he was taking then on a wild goose chase, and he was, though it turned out all right, and results saved his unaged head. The country he discovered also had a series of troubles in developing from a wilderness into the richest and most powerful nation in the world. His strength has made it kindly and generous instead of arrogant and mean, and it has proved a source of help to weak nations and the cause of human freedom in all parts of the world.

Columbus did not know what he was doing, but he accidentally revealed something that has been a boon to progress and civilization. It was the country he discovered that led to the native of Italy and protégé of Spain!

Walls to Appear.

The Publishers' Auxiliary, issued in the interest of American newspapers, had to this week an account of a strike among workers of the American Typographical Union for 80 years the Auxiliary had appeared in the past. A single interruption. Every printing office in the land no doubt noted with regret its failure to show up.

A combination of workers, determined to win demands regardless of consequences, is certain to upset the usual order. Labor disputes work seriously against the powers of reconstruction.

Hunting Season Opens.

Hunters from near and far shouldered their guns and hid to farm areas early Saturday morning when the usual order, labor disputes work seriously against the powers of reconstruction.

Youth Is Freed From Jap Camp

Pvt. Clarence Come to Come Home from Manila Soon

Message States.

Pvt. Clarence Come, who made his home with the John Gettmans at Carroll for a number of years, was freed from Jap prison camp September 14, according to word coming from the war department Friday. The young man added a few words to the telegram to say that he was in Manila and would be home soon. The official message stated that Clarence is in fair condition and that he had been returned to military control.

Clarence had been in prison camp 40 months, one week and one day. He was taken at the fall of Corregidor May 6, 1942. It is reported that he was taken to a camp in Japan to work in Jap war industry.

The Gettmans had received a card in September from Clarence. The message had no date but had been received months ago. Another card received Memorial week was written in the same hand.

Pvt. Come enlisted February 6, 1941, when he was 18. He signed up for three years' foreign service with the coast artillery.

Pvt. Come is one of six orphans who came to Wayne county to make their homes some years ago. He was with the Gettmans until he was sent to Manila about a year before he enlisted.

Mrs. Betty Roberts Giese of Wayne, sister of Pvt. Come, is the only other member of the youth's family now in Wayne county.

Growing Accident Rate in Motoring Causes Duw Alarm

WARNING against careless motoring is reemphasized by the Nebraska Safety Patrol as the record of deaths and injuries due to motor accidents is reviewed. The state department reports that from January 1 to October 10, this year, 5,200 accidents occurred with 138 killed and 2,000 injured, thus exceeding any like period since 1941. Removing careless motorists from the road is a top priority. The poor mechanical condition, high speeds, and excessive use of horns are necessary to prevent an inherent risk for each motorist. Driving is mentioned as a full-time job. It requires concentration, alertness, and good judgment.

1600, undivided attention, with careful heading of signs, signals, of pedestrians, curves, hills and blind corners. Motorists must realize, says the report, that the meaning of their may or may not be so clear, may or may not be so clear, may or may not be so clear, may or may not be so clear.

Police officers are urged to be on the alert for any signs of careless driving. The accident rate is appalling.

Child Is Injured By Horse's Kick

Janice Loch, Carroll, Has Face Badly Fractured

Thursday Night.

Janice Loch, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Loch of near Carroll, suffered severe injuries when she was kicked by a horse. Her cheek, nose, upper jaw bone and the roof of her mouth were fractured and three teeth were knocked out. The child was rushed to a Sioux City hospital that evening for care. The check and jaw bones were set and a silver plate placed in the roof of her mouth Friday. She is improving as well as can be expected.

Janice was with her father about 6 Thursday evening helping about 100 from northeast Nebraska Lutheran church prepared for Reformation festival to be held at Wayne auditorium October 29. Prof. Oscar Lindner of Midland college, Fremont, directed the singers. St. Paul ladies served luncheon to the group.

Lack of Material Restrains Needed Improvement Here

WE ARE pleased to note some improvements going on in Wayne, and are glad to be assured that others will materialize as soon as material and workmen become available. A few eyesores in the business district could be advantageously replaced by new, modern structures. Necessary during the war, buildings were largely wood-frame and some time will be required to get numerous plans into effect. The Chamber of Commerce's recent request for better downtown lighting is timely, and will no doubt in time be realized. Extension of zones for manufacturing establishments will take care of prospects hampered by present restrictions. Every worthy project which should be made a reality and properly encouraged. The town will, as soon as possible, receive the improvements it needs with modernization of its streets, conspicuously neglected spots.

Convention Held Here for Groups

Legion and Auxiliary Are Represented by Large Number at Meeting.

About 400 members attended the banquet of the Third district Legion and Auxiliary convention which was held in Wayne city auditorium Wednesday. A dance followed the banquet. Commander A. C. Smith of Scottsbluff, moderator of the banquet and Prof. G. Dale served as toastmaster for the dinner program.

Nearly 200 Auxiliary members attended the noon luncheon held in the Methodist church. Mrs. L. W. Weston was general chairman for the Auxiliary and F. A. Miller, general chairman for the Legion. Mrs. S. Berry had charge of the banquet arrangements.

Legion state and district officers who attended the convention included Adjutant R. C. Patterson, Assistant Adjutant Roy M. Lang, District Secretary O. E. Miller, D. March of Lincoln, J. B. Rossier of Walthill, district commander, and Louis C. Ribbe of Hartington. Mrs. Gladys Plunkert of Emerson, past department president, was employment representative for the U. S. employment service, also attended.

Auxiliary district and state officers include Mrs. Marie Clough, Waverly; Mrs. Mabel Dendrover of Hartington, secretary; Mrs. E. C. Beckman of Hartington, treasurer of Third district; Mrs. Evelyn Mitchell of Eastern, past department president; Mrs. Genie Beckman of Lincoln, department rehabilitation poppy chairman; Mrs. Gladys Plunkert of Emerson, past department president.

Open Bids Soon On Power Plant

Windside Considers Change From Direct Current to Alternating Kind.

Windside village board will with in 30 days open bids on remodeling the power plant equipment and distribution system to change from DC to AC current. Time for taking bids closed Tuesday, but the board wanted to have all members of the board present when action is taken. As W. H. A. Miller was in Dakota for benefit of his health, it was voted to wait until his return.

The board received one bid on the plant from Fairbanks Co. of Omaha, and one bid on the lines from Snyder Electric Co. of Omaha. These will be opened when the meeting is called.

The proposal is to lay one new cable in the power plant and remodel the other. The estimated cost of the work in the plant and on the lines is $200,000.

At this special election, W. H. A. Miller was elected to the board. He will be in charge of the project.

Drive for Chest Fund Is Opened

Five Service Men Speakers At College Convocation Tuesday Morning.

The annual campus chest drive for funds to be used for USO, Red Cross, foreign students, refugees, United Seaman's services, American field services and other worthy purposes, was launched Tuesday at Wayne college convocation. Five veterans spoke. Last year's students here contributed an average of $3 per student for the war effort.

Duane Graber of Platte, James W. Brady and Gerald W. Plunkert of Norfolk, Harold Anders of South Sioux City, and Julian Torgerson of Sioux City, were the speakers.

The first four about their war experiences. The last named made an appeal for the drive.

Grabber served in the Aleutians and also with the infantry in Europe. He was in battles in Belgium, France, Holland and Germany. He took part in the Rhine campaign in the battle of the Ruhr industrial area. He was with the army of occupation and then went to Rheims, France, to help reorganize the Pacific. End of the war changed plans and he arrived in New York September 30.

Brady, with the air corps, finished cadet training July 5, 1941, and joined a B-17 crew at Lincoln. The group went to Ireland and then to England, continuing missions until March 1, 1945. His ship dropped food in Australia. He credited USA and Red Cross with much assistance before the break of dawn. Heavy foliage favored the birds and afforded additional assistance. Mission with fewer results. Precautions should not doubtless will be taken through the open season to avoid accidents.
