Each Christmas, some new product hits the market and takes the country by storm.

You remember, Star Wars characters, E.T., Smurfs, Strawberry Short Cake.

Those were some of the biggest money makers in recent years.

If you want to go back further, there were Barbie Dolls, G.I. Joe, Hot Wheels, Matchbox cars, Suzy Homemakers, Credible Edibles and Creepy Crawlers.

I've mentioned just a handful. Some are still around. But only folks who are at least my age will remember Credible Edibles and Creepy Crawlers.

It's just as well; believe me.

All across the country there are toy manufacturers sitting around trying to think of some new product which will drive kids wild.

If you can do that, then you can turn your piggy bank into Fort Knox.

I've been told by several people that Cabbage Patch Kids are cute. I hear they come with birth certificates and adoption papers.

I may step on a few toes and get additional hate mail, but I'm going to be honest—I think they're ugly. With a capital U.

Take a look at one in your nearest catalog (that's as close as most people will get to seeing one this Christmas, since everyone is sold out).

They have plump little faces which appear to have been inflated by someone with a basketball pump.

They have deformed mouths, big, beady eyes and hair made of colored yarn.

The ones with red hair look like Raggedy Ann mutants.

To top it off, the dolls sell for somewhere in the neighborhood of $20 each.

Kids are flipping over them and some parents are flipping out.

The "cabbage craze" on national news telecasts?

On one telecast, a TV camera was set up in a store which had received 150 Cabbage Patch Kids.

The camera showed three or four hundred people rush through the doors as the store opened for business. Some had waited for hours.

The mad rush was like a herd of stampeding elephants. I sure wouldn't want to get in their way.

In four minutes, the 150 dolls had been sold.

One woman had a broken leg and other shoppers had bumps, bruises and scratches. The cameraman wasn't stupid—he was perched up above the aisle shelves, well out of the way.

The store manager carried a baseball bat to keep from getting trampled.

The people who didn't get any cabbage kids were crying and complaining.

One woman asked, "What am I going to tell my daughter when she finds out there is no Cabbage Patch Kid under the Christmas tree?"

Now that would be tragic. Can you imagine Christmas without a Cabbage Patch Kid? That would be like a meal without caviar. It's unheard of.

We'll soon be seeing demonstrations protesting the shortage of the dolls. Signs will read, "Make dolls, not war."

My theory is that Cabbage Patch Kids are a creation of the Reagan Administration.

What better way is there to get people's minds off of the threat of nuclear war, crime, poverty and inflation?

None of those folks are going to worry about national or international problems until they have solved their problem. They need one of those cabbage dolls.

In one area of the country, people (who look like adults) stood out in the freezing weather, staring at the sky for hours because someone promised to drop Cabbage Patch Kids from an airplane. It was a hoax, of course.

Producers of the cabbage kids have their employees working overtime to produce as many dolls as possible.

Still there won't be enough to go around. For some, life without cabbage dolls will be miserable. It's a catastrophe.

This year Cabbage Patch Kids, next year who knows what?

This year, the big craze is Cabbage Patch Kids. Care Bear probably is the runner-up.

Who would have guessed?

Cabbage Patch Kids are so much in demand that I really believe some people would kill for them.

Politicians continue their drive for higher taxes

By Richard L. Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

those in the United States where our federal marginal tax rates range from 11 percent at the low end to 50 percent at the top.

Now according to our raise-taxes-to-close-the-deficit friends, Sweden should be enjoying large budget surpluses. They are not. The Swedish deficit is over 12 percent of GNP — twice that of the United States.

The Washington politicians on both sides of the aisle, Republicans and Democrats, are doing it again. Doing what? Demanding higher taxes, of course.

Last year during the recession, the politicians clamored for higher taxes to fix the economy. Now as the economic recovery continues to surge ahead Republicans and Democrats in Congress want to clip taxpayers for some $50 to $70 billion in higher taxes over the next three years. This year's reason: to lower the federal deficit. The reasons change, but the demand is always the same: more money for Washington and less for the working men and women of America.

WE SHOULD'NT be surprised. In Sweden, as in America, higher taxes have two results: they encourage politicians to continue spending more money and they slow down economic growth by draining resources out of the productive sector of the economy and by reducing incentives to save, work and invest.

DEFICITS, AS BAD as they are, are not an argument for higher taxes. If we look back to 1974, we find that taxes and government spending were both roughly 19 percent of the Gross National Product (GNP).

Today, federal taxes remain at about 19 percent of GNP but federal spending has jumped to almost 25 percent of the GNP. Some simple subtraction tells us that the national deficit is six percent of the GNP. As Ed McMahan is fond of saying, "A child can plainly see" that the culprit is on the spending side of the equation.

Still we face this relentless drive for higher taxes.

Can higher taxes close the deficit? Let's take a quick look at Sweden where marginal tax rates at the lowest income levels begin at 65 percent. The top rate is 85 percent. Here we have tax rates significantly above

Moreover, the politicians in Washington know this. Their goal is not to reduce the deficit, but rather to bring in enough cash to increase spending further.

This is not to say the deficit cannot be cut down to size. If we can maintain the present low-tax, low-inflation policies that produced the present recovery, then economic growth will continue to expand the tax base and reduce the demand for social spending as people go back to work. Already the recovery has created some three million jobs.

President Reagan was right on the mark when he pointed out that "We did not get those deficits because Americans are under-taxed. We got those deficits because government has overspent."

Now if someone would only tell Congress,

ask a lawyer
a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q: Is there a legal way that I could set up a trust fund for my children (adults) whereby the fund would go to them automatically upon my death without going through probate or them having to pay taxes? Would I be able to be in control of this fund and be able to draw on it until my death?

A: There are several different kinds of trusts and you need to discuss with a lawyer the advantages and disadvantages of each.

There is an "irrevocable trust", which means that you give your property absolutely to a bank or some other trustee to hold for the purposes for which the trust is created. Once you do this it is no longer part of your estate.

Any increase in the value of the property after the trust is created benefits the trust rather than you; so, there may be some advantages in transferring property into a trust and letting the trust pay the income tax on it and receive the appreciation in the property.

As an example, if you owned a farm you could put that farm into an irrevocable trust and if the farm was then taken into the city and subdivided, the increase in value would not be part of your estate.

The main problem with such a trust is that you have no control over the trust except what rights you put into the trust document itself. It is no longer your property.

It passes, upon your death, to the parties that you name in the irrevocable trust. You may still have some tax consequences with this trust and you should discuss these with your lawyer.

Another possibility is a "living trust". Here, you designate a trustee to help you administer your property. You then transfer your property to that trustee.

You have a right to take the property back at any time you want or change trustees. In this document you can specify that, upon your death, your property shall pass to certain persons. In that respect it has the same elements that a will would have, only the trust does not have to be probated.

The advantage of this trust is that you have complete control of the property. The disadvantage is that it is still a part of your estate.

Both trust arrangements have their advantages and disadvantages. The decision that would have to be made in conjunction with your lawyer and other advisors would be whether there is a dollar advantage or some other advantage that would make either one of these programs advisable in your specific case.

Your lawyer could also discuss with you various survivorship joint ownership arrangements such as "pay on death" accounts to provide for specific beneficiaries upon your death.

Generally speaking, however, there is no way that you can fully exercise ownership of property, and not pay any taxes on it at your death.

street talk

This week The Wayne Herald asked five people, "What do you think of the Cabbage Patch Doll mania sweeping the country this Christmas season?"

"I think it's a little out of proportion. I don't think the dolls are particularly cute, and I was just a bit offended when I heard they were supposed to be baptized. I haven't seen one except on TV so I don't know how durable or cuddly they are." — Virgie Frerichs, Pilger

"I'd like to have about 100 of them. Personally, I think it's a nice doll because no two are alike, and the adoption papers and birthday cards are kind of an extra." — Dave Loose, manager, Pamida

"I love them. That's what my son bought me for Christmas. I think it's kind of crazy how people are fighting over them, but I think they're darling." — Kathy Loofe, Wakefield

"I have a little girl, but she's not really interested in them. I think they're cute, but I think people are going a little crazy over them." — Debbie Hall, Carroll

"I think it's goofy. It's a waste of time and money." — Terri Maxon, Laurel

Because of the length of the plays and differences in set design, only two plays are being performed each evening. "Murder at Moorstone Manor" and "The Golden Fleece" opened Sunday and will be staged again Tuesday, Dec. 6. Plays to be performed tonight (Monday) and Wednesday, Dec. 7 are "The Patient" (top left photo) and "Death" (top right photo). Members of the cast in "The Patient" include, pictured from left, Laura Vonbergen, Keith Christi, Kim Barth, Todd McDonald, Darrel Fickbohm, Dana Reil, Tim Ryan, Ann Marie Stehwen, and Shirley Riedmann as the patient. Cast members in "Death" include, pictured clockwise from left, Jeff Sorensen, Rod Grove, Byron Bonsall and Marty Howard. Tickets will be available at the door and are $3 for adults. ## Satanist-turned-Christian plans program in Laurel

A former Satan worshiper turned Christian evangelist will speak next month in Laurel.

Mike Warnke, once a satanist high priest presiding over a coven of witches, will tell his story on Wednesday, Jan. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Laurel Concord High School.

Warnke said he sees his own and others' flirtation with Satan as a search to fill a spiritual vacuum rather than a sign of inherent evil.

"I don't think people that get involved in the occult or satanism are basically evil people. They're hungry people looking for a way to speed themselves spiritually," Warnke said the changes in his life were gradual, spurred on by a drug overdose.

Despite his newfound faith, Warnke said he still found it hard to shed all the "wices of his previous life, especially marijuana. He said it took him nearly two years to overcome his emotional dependence on the drug as well as his own "selfishness and egotism."

Warnke has spoken at Christian conferences in the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Denmark and Sweden.

He also has appeared before the Queen of Denmark and the King of Sweden.

Mike Warnke

Warnke will be joined in Laurel by the all-black Christian singing group from Omaha, the Morning Star Band.

'Fantasy of Trees' display kicks off city's centennial

An estimated 50 Christmas trees are expected to be displayed in the "Fantasy of Trees" show Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11 in the Wayne city auditorium.

The display, sponsored by the Wayne Centennial Committee, kicks off the community's centennial celebration in 1984.

Doors will be open Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. There is no admission to the event, however persons wishing to may leave a donation which will go towards the centennial.

A SPOKESMAN for the Wayne Centennial historical and cultural committee planning the "Fantasy of Trees" event said the show will feature Christmas trees decorated in a certain theme or style.

Among the individuals and community groups participating are local businesses, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, churches, home extension clubs, Wayne County Park Producers and Region IV.

INCLUDED in the display will be a "Mitten Tree" decorated by Mayor Wayne Marsh.

The mayor is seeking donations of both old and new mittens and gloves for his tree. Mittens collected will first be used to decorate the tree, and then will be distributed to the area's needy at Christmas.

Anyone wishing to donate mittens or gloves should deposit them before Thursday, Dec. 8 at First National Bank, State National Bank or City Hall collection sites.

Another tree designed to assist the area's needy is a "Food Pantry Tree" sponsored by Church Women United of Wayne.

Persons attending the "Fantasy of Trees" display may bring canned goods to place under and around the tree. Following the display, the goods will be dispensed to needy persons in the community.

STORES in Wayne will be open on Sunday, Dec. 11 for persons wishing to shop before or after attending the "Fantasy of Trees" show on that day.

The Wayne State College concert choir also has scheduled a concert on Sunday at 3 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre. Dr. Cornell Runestad, director, said persons attending the concert also will be encouraged to visit the "Fantasy of Trees" display.

Serving on the "Fantasy of Trees" planning committee are Elaine Anderson, Ellen Heinemann, Deb Dickey, Meg Lodes and Jackie Diltan.

Also assisting at the display will be members of the Kiwanis and Wayne County Jaycees.

Fight the TV toy sell

Recent news items about the Cabbage Patch Doll mania point out that the toy sell situation has gotten out of hand.

Everywhere, children see and hear about toys they are certain they cannot live without.

What's a parent, grandparent or anyone to do? Is there no chance but to "charge ahead" and face the bills in January?

MAYBE IT'S time to turn Christmas into more than just a gift giving exchange. In addition to teaching children Christmas traditions and emphasizing the religious significance, this time of year is a good opportunity to teach children to be smart consumers.

Parents need to spend money realistically within their budgets. We are all guilty of buying impulsively during the holidays. If parents can model good consumer habits, their children will benefit.

Parents shouldn't feel guilty if they can't give children as many toys and gifts as others. It's vital to remember the most important gift and true spirit of this season is to love and care for each other.

THE IDEA of making "wish lists" may not be new, but it is still effective. This helps the child learn that choices must be made. Telling a child that he will only get a certain number of gifts may help him separate what he really wants from what looks good on TV.

Watching television with your child and asking questions about the commercials may teach both parent and child a great deal.

Younger children often believe that everything they see in the commercial is true. They don't realize that not all of the accessories and scenery they see on TV will come with the toy.

Parents can explain some advertising techniques to help their child distinguish between reality and fantasy. Often when the child gets the toy, it doesn't perform exactly as it did on television. The toy then loses its appeal and ends up on the shelf.

COMPARATIVE shopping can be introduced to children at a fairly early age.

School age children can easily understand that some toys or stores are more expensive than others. Watching the sales circular may help them learn the value of comparative shopping.

It is a valuable lesson to learn that buying one item on sale may allow you to purchase another item also.

Sluggish start Bears sent packing

The Wayne Blue Devils unveiled their 1983 attack Friday night against the Blair Bears and came away 64-58 winners.

The main thrust of the Devil attack was built around 6-5 sophomore Don Larsen, a starter last year, and 6-8 Rod Dahl, who just moved to Wayne a few months ago. The two did not disappoint — Dahl finished the night as the leading Devil scorer with 18 points, while Larsen added 17.

Wayne coach Bill Sharpe thought Dahl played well in spite of being unfamiliar with Wayne's offense.

"I thought he did alright," Sharpe said. "He had some trouble with timing and patterns, but he played well in the second half."

In fact, the whole Wayne team played well the second half.

The Devils only shot 25 percent (6 of 24) from the field the first half, but hit 18 of 21 (85 percent) in the second.

Sharpe said a lot of Wayne's ineffectiveness was because of the Devils' guards suffering first-game jitters.

"They were really nervous," he said. "We don't have much experience at guard."

"They (the guards) didn't do anything the first half — they didn't look in and they didn't shoot."

Sharpe said that a lot of what Wayne had planned to do offensively "just didn't happen" in the first half.

The first half ended with the Blue Devils holding a 23-19 lead.

Blair fared a little better in shooting the first half, hitting 42 percent of its shots (8 of 19).

"The second half we just told them to post those guys low and we just tried to hit them," Sharpe said.

Wayne came alive and worked into a 40-29 lead at the 1:10 mark in the third period.

Holding a 50-35 advantage with 6:34 left in the game, Wayne broke out of its press and the Bears whittled the lead to just 60-56 in the closing minutes. The game looked as if it might slip out of Wayne's hand in the last minute.

"When we took the press off, they really came back," Sharpe said. "I thought it (the press) did quite a bit for us in the second half where it hadn't in the first."

Blair was whistled for traveling with just 40 seconds left in the game and only trailing by four points.

Pete Warne then drew a foul and hit a pair from the charity stripe before Brad Moore stole the ball and went in for an easy lay up to pull the tally at 64-56.

The Bears added one more bucket to make the final 64-58.

"Blair is a big team and they played hard," Sharpe said. "We lacked unity — we had our spurts, but there were times when we weren't together at all."

Sharpe said the Blue Devils took much better shots in the second half.

"Our shot selection was just lousy in the first half," he said.

He added that he thought Wayne's free throw shooting was the key to the victory. The Devils hit 18 of 24.

Blair's junior varsity fared much better than did the varsity as it downed the Devils 56-48.

Jeff Sherer led the Blue Devils with 12 points.

Wayne's varsity is scheduled to take on South Sioux City next Friday on the road.

WAYNE'S STEVE Overin hits a short jumper in the first period.

Laurel 'sloppy' in win

According to Laurel's new head girls basketball coach Gale Hamilton, the Bears' first game of the 1983 season against Coleridge last Thursday night "was a sloppily played game."

Hamilton was willing to forget that fact for two reasons — it was the first game of the season and the Bears won 37-23.

"We didn't play as good as I had hoped," Hamilton said. "It's good to get that first game under our belt, though."

The Bears led 14-6 at halftime, and rattled off 13 third period points and added 10 in the final quarter to put away the Chargers.

Hamilton said the offense showed the usual opening game sluggishness.

"We missed a lot of 'gimmies' — we were working the ball inside to Jean Lufe and to Wendy Robson at forward," Hamilton said.

Defensively, Hamilton said Laurel tried to keep the pressure on Coleridge's ball handlers to create turnovers — a play that worked. The Chargers turned the ball over 28 times in the contest.

"I'm naturally happy with the win," Hamilton said. "We were hustling pretty well and our people came off the bench and played well."

The Bears were paced by Renee Vanderheiden's 12 points and 8 steals. Robson added 11 points and came up with 5 thefts.

Robson also led in rebounds with 12.

Jean Lufe added seven points and three rebounds, but got into foul trouble.

"She has a habit of reaching over — she knows she does it," Hamilton said. "She's working hard to correct it."

The Bears are slated to host Winside tomorrow (Tuesday).

Lady Cats bombed by Midland

The Wayne State women's basketball team showed the effects of an 11 day snow layoff last Thursday night as they were trounced by the Warriorettes of Midland College 96-36 in Fremont.

Poor shooting hampered the Wildcats all night. Only Barb Wragge was able to score in double figures with 10 points. She also had 8 rebounds.

The Lady Wildcats were scheduled to open their 1983 home season against Peru State College last Saturday night. Wayne State was 1-2 entering Saturday's contest.

Going into Saturday's game, junior forward Barb Wragge tops the Wildcats in scoring with a 17.3 points per game average. Sophomore Deb Nygren and junior Guard Vina Kelly were averaging 12.8 and 12.7 points respectively.

Nygren is also among the team leaders in rebounds, with an average of 8 boards per outing while Wragge is averaging 6.

Cats avenge loss

With an 88-78 victory over Concordia College last Thursday night, the Wayne State mens basketball team evened its record at 3-3 and avenged the Cats' season opening loss to the Bulldogs at the NAIA District 11 Classic two weeks earlier.

The Wildcats' record will stay on hold until tomorrow (Tuesday) night when they travel to St. Joseph, Mo., to take on the Griffons of Missouri Western University. The game will be the first CSIC contest for both schools.

Coach Rick Weaver's squad ended the District 11 classic at 2-1. The Cats beat Hastings College 82-73 after the opening loss to Concordia, and then downed Doane College 73-69.

The Wildcats' next losses came against Peru State College (75-69) and NCAA Division I University of Northern Iowa (88-70).

Center Lonell Greene paced Wayne State in the second Concordia contest with 16 points and 19 rebounds. Calvin Sprew and Jimmy Gooch each added 13 points.

Sprew, WSC's leading scorer thus far, has led the Cats with a pair of 20-point games. He has also led in rebounding, with a high of 15.

Gooch, who is averaging more than 5 assists per game, had his best night against the Bulldogs in the scoring department, tallying 13 points.

Russ Uhing is the team's second leading scorer with a 12.2 average. He hit season highs with 16 points against Concordia in the first meeting and against Peru State. Uhing has started five of the Wildcats' six games.

The Cats' other senior, Rene Taylor, carries a 3.8 scoring average. His most productive night thus far this season came against Concordia last week when he scored 11 points.

Craig Willis is the Cats' third leading scorer with a 9.8 average. Willis also has 31 rebounds on the season.

John Thomsen has started every game for the Wildcats and owns an 8.5 scoring average. Thomsen is also averaging 4.8 rebounds per outing and leads Wayne State in blocked shots with 5.

Dan Radright scored a personal season high nine points against Peru State. He is scoring an average of 4.8 points per contest.

The Cats' tallest player, 6-9 Doug Vieselmeyer has been scoring and rebounding at the same rate — 2.7 per game.

CSIC opens

Wayne State's initial Central States Intercollegiate Conference basketball game is tomorrow (Tuesday) night at St. Joseph, Missouri against Western Missouri.

Like most CSIC foes, Western will be tough. The Griffons are 1-2, with a pair of games played last weekend prior to the meeting with Wayne State. Western's two losses have been close — one came in overtime.

The Griffons are led by Larry Ingram, who sports a 23.3 point scoring average. Freshman guard Maurice Collins is second with an 11 point average.

Wayne State, now 3-3, has been led so far by sophomore Calvin Sprew, who carries a 16.2 average. Russ Uhing is second, with a 12.2 average.

Sprew's 7.3 rebounds per game is second only to Lonell Greene's 8.3.

Dates given

Three Wildcats basketball games have been rescheduled, according to Wayne State College officials.

Last week's 18 inch snowfall postponed two women's games and one men's contest. The new dates are:

Monday, Dec. 5 Women at Doane College.
Wednesday, Jan. 11 Men at Dana College.

Monday, Jan. 23 Women at Missouri Western.

Laurel bows to NC

The Laurel Bears boys basketball team opened its rugged schedule with a 63-46 loss at the hands of Norfolk Catholic on the road last Friday night, but the loss did not discourage new head coach John Held.

"I was really pleased with the way we played — we really played good defense," Held said. "I found out a lot of things tonight."

Laurel trailed 18-12 after the first period of play and had fallen behind 33-19 by halftime.

"We were a little hesitant to shoot the ball," he added.

The deficit proved too much for the Bears to overcome. They trailed 63-46 going into the final period, but Held said he was pleased the Bears only had 13 turnovers.

"We didn't have a lot of throw aways," Held said. "They (the turnovers) were just the results of some bad passes."

Held said Norfolk Catholic used their advantage in height to cruise to the win.

"They just went right up over us — they're tough inside," Held said. "They're just a better ballteam."

The Knights were paced by Tod Pospisil with 14 points and Rick McCoy with 12 points.

Laurel was led by Scott Rath's 12 points while teammate Mark Penlerick added 11 and Troy Hellman tallied 10.

The rebounding department found Rath the leader with 14 boards (8 defensive).

Penlerick had 10 and Hellmann logged 7.

Held said the game was advantageous because the Knights showed the Bears so many defenses.

"They played man-to-man, 2-3 zone, a 1-3-1, a 3-2, a half-court trap — just about anything you can think of," Held said. "It was amazing they had that much installed this early in the year."

The fact isn't as amazing when you realize that the Knights return their entire starting lineup from last season.

"They do things well," Held said. "But if we play like we played tonight, we'll win some ballgames."

The Bears will get their chance this Saturday when they take on Winside on the road.

KAREN LONG takes a Deb Wernsing pass as the Devils set up their offense.

WAYNE'S KAREN Longe puts a shot up as Madison's Julie Hekrole tries to avoid the foul.

Frosh, JV & varsity win

Devils bag triple play

Wayne's girls basketball teams scored a triple play against Madison Thursday night at home, with the freshman team, the junior varsity and varsity all dumping the Dragons. The frosh won 21-13, the junior varsity won 39-26 and the varsity came out on top 35-32.

In the varsity contest, the Blue Devils finally got untracked offensively and tally eight field goals en route to the victory.

Hochstein was pleased with the play of his young squad.

"Everyone played as well as I expected for a first game," he said.

"Our free throws helped us a lot," Wayne hit only 2 of 24 field goals in the first half but added nine free throws to keep within striking distance.

"We missed a lot of five foot shots," Hochstein said.

The second half saw the Blue Devils finally get untracked offensively and tally eight field goals en route to the victory.

Hochstein was pleased with the play of his young squad.

"Everyone played as well as I expected for a first game," he said.

But we've got to work on our shooting percentage and turnovers.

Leading Wayne to the victory was Karen Longe and Fran Gross. Longe had 10 points and 24 rebounds while Gross added five buckets and 16 boards.

That was another one of the keys to the ballgame, the boards, Hochstein said.

In the junior varsity game, Laura Keating exploded for a game high 16 points while team mate Roni Johnson added 14.

Johnson also tied with Jennifer

Moore for the lead in rebounds, with eight.

The Blue Devil freshmen were paced by Jodi Ditman's 11 points, Shelly Pick 16 points, and Keria Korbi 11 points were the only other Devils to score.

Rebounding for Wayne was led by Pick 14 and Corbi 11.

"I was really pleased with our reserves and freshmen," Hornstein said.

Wayne is slated to tangle with the Norfolk junior varsity, this Thursday in Norfolk before hosting Laurel on Dec. 15.

Down Winside, Coleridge

Eagles quick out of gate

Allen's boys basketball team got off to a slow but positive start in the new roundball season last Thursday night with a 34-32 victory over the Winside Wildcats.

The Eagles only averaged 43 points per contest last season, something head coach Dave Udrich would like to change.

"We were in a zone defense and then went to a man to man," he said. "They only scored 22 points the rest of the night."

the Eagles in the second half came when he took forward Craig Noe out of the game after he got in foul trouble.

"I put in Mitch Petit (4.0 Udrich) and he hit three in a row," Udrich said. "It was good to see we had some bench."

Senior guard John Chase paced Allen with 13 points and 3 rebounds while teammate Jay Jones added 9 points and 9 boards.

Petit finished the night with 6 points and 4 rebounds.

Winside's individual statistics were not available at press time, but the Wildcats made just 14 of 54 shots from the field (25 percent) and had 29 rebounds.

Allen dumped Coleridge 16-19 Friday night.

The Eagles were down 17-4 in the early going before Udrich changed his defensive scheme.

"We were in a zone defense and then went to a man to man," he said. "They only scored 22 points the rest of the night."

Allen was paced by Derwin Roberts, 14 points and Jay Jones, 11 points and 16 rebounds.

Roberts Jones and Chase played a "tremendous game," Udrich said. "The whole team played well. They never say die."

The Eagles will host Pine a Friday night.

"It's going to be tough," Udrich said.

Dual with Osmond

Sisters kissed in Winside

The Winside wrestling team kissed its sister last Thursday in its opening dual of the season — the Wildcats had to settle for a 33-33 tie with Osmond.

"We had a lot of first-time out jitters, but so did they," said Winside coach Paul Sok. "Both sides had a chance to win it."

Both teams had open weights. Winside's Tim Raney was 2 pounds over for his 98 pound classification and had to forfeit six points to Osmond's Jeff Gerdes. The Wildcats were also open at 119 pounds while Osmond failed to make weight in 135, 167 and 185.

Sok said that he was pleased with the performances of the wrestlers he saw.

"We got very good performances from 124 (Darin Schellenberg) and 138 (Kyle Miller) to keep things going."

Sok said he will be able to analyze the 1983 Wildcats better after competing at the Randolph Tournament, which was scheduled last Saturday.

The results of the Osmond dual are listed below, the Randolph tournament results will appear in Thursday's Wayne Herald.

98 pounds — Winside open — Jeff Gerdes, 6 points.

105 pounds — Marlin Schmit (Osmond) pinned Tim Raney — 1:59, 6 points.

112 pounds — Kent Brunchhorst (Osmond) pinned Jeff Bolch — 1:55, 6 points.

119 pounds — Winside open — Paul Peterson, 6 points.

126 pounds — Darin Schellenberg (Winside) decided Joe Blecha 11 to 9, 3 points.

132 pounds — Don Johnson

(Osmond) decided Chris Olson 3 to 2, 3 points.

138 pounds — Kyle Miller (Winside) pinned Henry Aschoff — 47 seconds, 6 points.

145 pounds — Mike Woerdemann (Winside) pinned Troy Johnston — 4:50, 6 points.

155 pounds — Osmond open — Mike Jaeger, 6 points.

167 pounds — Osmond open — Jeff Thies, 6 points.

HVWT — Ron Brand (Osmond) pinned Terry Haller — 2:47, 6 points.

Devil grapplers stumble

The Wayne High School Blue Devils got off to a disappointing start to the 1983 wrestling season last Thursday, dropping a 28-24 dual to Schuyler.

The Blue Devils were scheduled to wrestle in the Blair Invitational Tournament last Saturday, and Wayne coach Don Koenig said he hoped to know more about his squad after seeing it in action there.

For a season prospectus of the Blue Devils, see the 1983 Winter Sports Guide in this issue of The Wayne Herald.

The results of the Schuyler dual follow:

98 pounds — No match.

105 pounds — Dean Novak (Schuyler) decided Craig Neilus 8-9, 3 points.

112 pounds — Robbie Gamble (Wayne) won by forfeit, 6 points.

119 pounds — Jim Kasik (Schuyler) decided Chad Janke 4-1, 3 points.

126 pounds — Scott Lane (Schuyler) pinned Rod Lutt — 1:24, 6 points.

132 pounds — Doug Doescher (Wayne) won by default over Gene Henery, 6 points.

Distemper prevalent in state's raccoons

There have been 38 cases of distemper found in raccoons across the state this year, according to Game and Parks Commission Wildlife Disease Specialist George Schildman, who urges hunters to be sure their dog's immunizations are current.

"This seems like an exceptionally bad year for distemper in the raccoon population," Schildman said. "In a normal year we will receive only two to 10 distemper reports."

He said cases received in the spring proved to be predominantly teline distemper, while those received this fall have been canine distemper. "There is distemper throughout the environment (1 effects members of the dog and cat families — coyotes, foxes, raccoons, bob cats, domestic dogs and cats, as well as skunk and mink."

Schildman said many of the cases have been diagnosed by University of Nebraska Veterinary Science Diagnostic Labs in Lincoln and North Platte.

Reports of stricken animals have come from the public and Commission personnel in the northeast, southeast, south central and southwest portions of the state.

"This year's reports are considerably more than we'd had in a number of years. While distemper can be easily contracted by a healthy animal through contact with a diseased animal, it can also be contracted by inhaling air carrying the virus. The disease can be easily avoided in domestic animals with annual immunizations, and we would urge hunters to be sure their dog's shots are up-to-date," he said.

Persons who find obviously sick raccoons or other animals are asked to contact their nearest conservation officer or Commission office. Classic symptoms of the disease include matted discharge from the eyes and nose, muscle twitching, loss of fear of humans, slow, unsteady movements and sometimes weight loss.

Wakefield sporting 1-1 mark

The Wakefield Trojans boys basketball team didn't waste any time last week in jumping right into the 1985 basketball season, playing a game on Thursday and Friday and coming away with a 1-1 record.

The Trojans were ambushed by Pender 73-52 on Thursday, but rebounded to dump Bancroft-Rosalie the following night, 50-42.

Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar said the Trojans didn't change much strategy between games.

"They (Bancroft-Rosalie) had good height, but they weren't as big as Pender," he said.

The difference in the two ballgames was the Trojans ability to rebound.

Wakefield only pulled down 19 boards to Pender's 35 but got 30 compared to 27 for Bancroft-Rosalie.

Against Pender, the Trojans were outshot 46 percent to 31 percent. The second game saw Wakefield shoot 36 percent to Bancroft-Rosalie's 30 percent.

"Those two things hurt us pretty bad against Pender," Kovar said. "We have got to be able to out-rebound people and play defense — Pender got a lot of easy shots."

"Our young kids played pretty well," he added.

Leading the Trojans in scoring against the Pandragons was sophomore Wade Nicholson with 13 points.

Jeff Coble and Troy Greve (both seniors) added 11 points and 12 points respectively.

Three players tied with five rebounds each: Jason Erb, Nicholson and Steve Peterson.

Against the Panthers, Coble and Nicholson vied for scoring honors with 17 points each while teammates Brian Soderberg and Erb each added 6.

Soderberg's game was off somewhat due to an injury suffered in the Trojans' last football game. He was hit with a helmet in the small of the back and has not been able to log much practice time.

"He can play," Kovar said. "It's just that he hasn't practiced."

"You have to practice to play well — it's not his fault — he'll be O.K."

Rebounding in the Bancroft-Rosalie tilt was spread out among several players.

Erb logged a team-high 8 boards while Nicholson had 6 and Coble and Soderberg each added 4.

The Trojans are scheduled to host Wausa this Friday night.

With the break-up of the Bell System just around the corner, the days of Northwestern Bell one-stop phone repair service are over. Different companies will be responsible for repair of different portions of your telephone service.

While you won't be able to call Northwestern Bell for all your repair needs, keeping your phone service in working order will still be easy. Basically, you need to know who to call for what.

Lines: Northwestern Bell will continue to maintain all central office switching equipment and phone lines up to the point where they enter your home or business. When problems arise, just call the Northwestern Bell repair number in your directory's Customer Guide.

Equipment: If you own your telephone equipment and have problems with it, follow the instructions on the warranty or contact the manufacturer or retailer for repair.

Maintenance Plan, you can still call Northwestern Bell but, remember, you will be charged for the repair. You can also hire someone else to repair your wiring or do it yourself! (Many wiring problems are easily repaired, and do-it-yourself equipment and instructions are usually available where telephones are sold.)

To have new wiring installed or existing wiring changed, you have the same options: Northwestern Bell, another supplier, or doing it yourself!

For tips on how to avoid unnecessary repair bills, or for more information on the changes occurring in the AT&T break-up, write for our free brochure: "The New Phone Book." # Weaver has luxury of 'extra tank'

By Steve Jones
Wayne State College SID

While most college basketball teams have a sparkplug to generate some offense, you could say the Wayne State Wildcats have an extra fuel tank — depth.

In early season games, the Rick Weaver-coached Wildcats have actually used nine players before the opposition has even substituted. And that's a benefit any coach would like.

And it's also something the Wildcats can use when the tough Central States Intercollegiate Conference season begins Tuesday (Dec. 6). That's when Wayne State's men play at Missouri Western in St. Joseph, Mo.

Weaver, a Sioux City native who played his college ball at Morningside, is in his fourth season at WSC. He's got a young team (only two seniors) and just 10 on the first-semester roster.

Yet the Wildcats (3-3 as of today) have pulled off some early victories using hustle, desire and their depth.

Five lettermen return to this season's team, and all five started at one time or another in 1982-83. The other five are newcomers.

The two backcourt letterwinners are also the team's two seniors: Russ Uhing and Rene Taylor.

Uhing, from Hartington and last season's second-leading scorer at 9.2 points per game, currently averages in double figures. Taylor, from South Bend, Ind., started 17 games a year ago.

The other monogram winners are center Loneli Greene and forwards John Thomsen and Calvin Sprew. The former are juniors, while Sprew is a sophomore.

Greene, a 6-6 native of East Orange, N.J., played his best game to date Thursday (an 88-78 victory over Concordia) with 16 points and 19 rebounds.

Thomsen, from Rockford, Iowa, has started each of the six Wildcat games thus far. He stands 6-4.

Sprew, at 6-3, has had some impressive performances this season, taking right off from where his standout freshman season ended. The Omaha Northwest graduate was last season's third leading scorer at 9.1 points per game.

Through six contests, Calvin is WSC's top scorer, averaging over 13 points per outing.

junior Doug Vieselmeyer, who's a shade under 6-10. He's from Tacoma, Wash.

Forward Craig Willis, who joins Gooch and Vieselmeyer as transfer juniors, is a 6-5 former Omaha Tech player. He has improved with each game thus far and started the most recent one.

Forward Dan Radig is a big (6-4, 220-pound) frosh from Lone Rock, Iowa who has been playing a good deal. Rounding out the roster is Dean Quinn, a husky 6-3 junior from Stanton who is a walk-on.

Assisting Weaver this season is Coach Lenny Klaver. Klaver coached the past three seasons on the high school level in Iowa.

The next WSC home game is Saturday, Dec. 10 against highly-rated Morningside at Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State's schedule will be helpful down the stretch: the final seven games are at home.

Juco transfers, frosh to help Wildcats

By Jackie Osten

Concern has been expressed about the losses in personnel suffered by Wayne State's Lady Wildcats since last season, but head Coach Jan Jirsak and her squad are looking towards what they have gained, not lost, as they head into the 83-84 season.

"It's true that we lost players from last year, but in going through those changes we have gained a great deal through the people that have come into the program," Jirsak said.

While there were only a handful of players returning from last year's 15-19 squad which made it to the NAIA District 11 finals, Jirsak is pleased with the talent that has come onto the Lady Cat team in the form of junior college transfers and freshman.

Blending those newcomers in with the likes of returning starters Deb Nygren and Donetta Shultz should be a key to the success of WSC's running game, which Jirsak feels will be a strong point this season.

"We have a group of players that are runners, especially at the post position, which has been a weak spot in the past... those are the kind of players we want," Jirsak said.

Rebounding might prove to be a sore spot for the Lady Cats, at least at the beginning of the season. Defensively, the Wayne State squad will have to be strong on the boards in order to use their fast break to their advantage.

"We want to be able to start our fast break attack from underneath the basket, not from out-of-bounds," Jirsak said.

Jirsak feels the club should be "improved" from last year, in which they averaged 60 points per game compared to 66.1 averaged by their opponents. The pace of the offensive game should be fast, a run-and-gun type style which will fit in with the players available.

The Lady Cats were picked to finish in the cellar of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference, but Jirsak feels the Lady Cats are destined for better things.

"We hope to move into the middle of the conference standings by the end of the season," she said.

Last year WSC tied with Kearney State for seventh place in the CSIC standings with a 2-12 record.

"The conference will be tougher all the way around this season because many of the teams are returning juniors and seniors that were strong performers as underclassmen last year," Jirsak said, "but Wayne State will make its presence known."

Sophomore center Deb Nygren tops the list of players returning from last season. She finished out her freshman season as the Lady Cats' top scorer and second leading rebounder and was the only freshman selected to the CSIC All-Conference first team. Because of her reputation, Jirsak feels that Nygren may have to take on the role of a passer as well as a scorer as the season progressed because of the opponent's defensive coverage.

At the guard position, sophomore Donetta

Shultz returns as last year's assists leader to help out in the scoring department, as does junior Patty Carney, who returns to the line-up after a one-year absence. Junior college transfer Vina Kelly, out of Sioux Empire Junior College, should prove to be a key at the guard position with her shooting and passing ability.

Junior college (Platte College) transfer Barb Wragge will provide strength on the outside shooting while freshman Shelle Tomaszkeiwicz and Patti Laughlin will see action at the forward position along with senior Carol Durkee. Tomaszkeiwicz and Durkee will also be key figures in the rebounding department along with Nygren.

Rounding out the roster is sophomore Suzy Todd and freshman Patsy Thompson, both at the guard position.

The Lady Cats opened their 1983-84 season at the NAIA District 11 Pre Season Cage Classic in Fremont on Nov. 18-19. Their first home action was set for Saturday, Dec. 3 when they took on state college rival Peru State in a District 11 contest.

Sharpe wants to play 22 games

Having a 6-8 basketball player with two years of eligibility left transfer to your school would make just about any basketball coach a happy person. The arrival of 6-8 junior Rod Dahl earlier this year is what's keeping Wayne head boys basketball coach Bill Sharpe smiling these days.

"It's certainly made things feel a lot better," he said. "We knew we were going to have a good team without him — it's going to allow us to do some new things."

Sharpe said Dahl has all the tools to become a solid basketball player, but for his size, his speed may be his greatest asset.

"He can get up and down the court pretty well," Sharpe said.

The Blue Devils also return 6-5 sophomore center-forward Don Larsen from last year's 8-12 squad.

"Larsen is an excellent ball player," Sharpe said. "He's super aggressive."

Larsen was the Devils' leading scorer and rebounder last season.

"Obviously we have great hopes for him," Sharpe said.

Sharpe said Dahl and Larsen should alternate at the center and forward positions.

"Dahl is a real steady player," he said. "He has a good personality for the game in that he doesn't let things bother him."

Senior Layne Marsh (6-1) is expected to see plenty of action at either guard or forward.

"Layne is a two-year letterman and he's a good outside shooter and solid defensive player," Sharpe said.

Junior Steve Overin (6-1), a starter since his freshman year, should be steady at forward also.

"He's a good shooter," Sharpe said. "He rebounds well too — he's just a good all-around ball player."

Two of the Blue Devils' quickest players are guards Kevin Maly (5-8 junior) and Pete Warne (5-7 junior).

"Maly has real good quickness and is a real good outside shooter," Sharpe said. "He's really good on the drive."

Warne, Sharpe said, is an "excellent" passer and excels in assists.

Left Olson (6-0 senior) will play at either guard or forward. According to Sharpe, Olson's forte is his outside shooting.

Jim Poehlman (6-1 senior) is a two-year letterman also expected to see plenty of court time.

"He played quite a bit for us last year," Sharpe said. "He's a good jumper and is real tough on the inside."

Junior Brad Moore (5-9 guard) is one of the teams' most heads-up players.

"He's a real smart player with great anticipation," Sharpe said.

Sharpe thinks the Blue Devils' strong point will be their inside game but the major weakness could be the shooting of the forwards.

"They don't shoot quite as much as I'd like," Sharpe said. "It might take a while to find the right combination of players."

"My goals are high and I'm sure the kids are too," he said. "I guess I'd say I'd like to play 22 games — that would put us in the finals of the state tournament."

Six seniors gone

Wayne lacks varsity experience

Most basketball coaches losing six seniors to graduation would probably cite lack of experience as their team's major weakness. Not so for Wayne head girls roundball coach Dale Hochstein.

The Blue Devils lost seniors Deb Prenger, Missy Stollenberg, Tamie Murray, Jill Mosley, Shelley Emry and Pam Nissen to graduation from last year's 5-11 squad.

"Actually, our weakness is the same as last year -- shooting percentage," Hochstein said.

Wayne shot a meager 26 percent from the floor and 40 percent from the charity stripe in 1982.

The Blue Devils return a close-knit group that saw plenty of action on the junior varsity last season.

The post position will be held down by senior Fran Gross (5-11).

"She'll be playing inside," Hochstein said. "She has nice moves into the bucket."

Junior Karen Longe (5-11) is expected to provide help for Gross in the rebound department.

"Look for those two to get a lot of boards," Hochstein said. "We want to break and get some buckets off the boards."

The best outside shooter on the team, according to Hochstein, is senior Janine Baier (5-2).

The other two starting spots will most likely belong to junior Lisa Jacobsen (5-4) and senior Deb Wernsing (5-8).

The Blue Devils are particularly rich on the bench.

"We've got a pretty even bench," Hochstein said. "We have a lot of quickness in our starting five and we want to run the break."

"We're in fairly decent condition, but to run for four quarters early in the year is going to be tough."

Bench strength for the run and gun offense will be provided by Lori Jacobsen (5-5 sophomore), Roni Johnson (5-8 sophomore), Amy Gross (5-6 junior), Kolette Frevert (5-7 junior), Amy Jordan (5-7 junior), Jennifer Moore (5-6 sophomore), Laura Keating (5-8 sophomore) and Sonja Skokan (5-10 sophomore).

"I don't think there's going to be many teams that can keep up with us," Hochstein said.

Hochstein reemphasized the importance of increasing the Blue Devils' shooting efficiency as a key to the season.

"We don't turn the ball over much, but I consider a poor shooting percentage just like a turnover," he said.

As a group, Hochstein said the Devils are very close.

"They work together and help each other out," he said.

As far as the season outlook, Hochstein declined to predict a win-loss record.

"If we continue to improve with each game, our schedule is going to be to our advantage," he said.

Koenig hoping for grid momentum

Wayne wrestling coach Don Koenig is hoping the Blue Devils' success on the gridiron this season carries over to the wrestling mat.

"We have a great group of guys," Koenig said. "A lot of them were out for football and I think that will carry over."

The Devils should be successful in grappling circles this year — three of five state qualifiers return. Jon Jacobmeier and Gerald Monk were lost to graduation. Jacobmeier is now wrestling at Brigham Young University.

Senior Chad Janke is one returning state qualifier. Janke will go at either 119 pounds or 126 pounds.

"He rides very well and he's real quick," Koenig said.

Tim Book (junior), who will most likely compete at 155 pounds, also earned a trip to Lincoln last year.

"He really carried on the last part of the year," Koenig said. "He won his last 10 or 12 matches in a row."

The last returning Wayne wrestler to make it to state last year is junior Kevin Koenig, who will take the mat at 185 pounds. Koenig took third in Class B in his weight class last season.

"He's got a good knowledge of moves and a lot of strength," coach Koenig said. "You put the two together and you have a good combination."

Lance Corbit will be Wayne's heavyweight, but is expected to be pushed by senior Brian Loberg.

Senior Doug Doescher will go at either 132 or 138 pounds as he wrestles on the varsity for the second year in a row.

"We're looking for good things from him," Koenig said.

Another two-year varsity grappler is senior Kelley Echtenkamp, who is slated at 132 or 138 pounds.

"He gained a lot of valuable experience last year even though his win loss record wasn't that tremendous," Koenig said.

Rod Luff (junior) will compete at either 119 or 126 pounds. Luff lost in district competition last year, just missing a trip to state.

"He's just a good, quick wrestler — I look for good things out of Rod this year," Koenig said.

Junior Chris Wieseler will wrestle at 167 pounds after spending the year behind Book last season.

"Although I don't know who would win between them now," Koenig speculated. "I expect Chris to win some big matches this year."

Gregg Elliott (junior) has a chance to make the varsity team at 145 pounds while Terry Schulz will spend his second year on the varsity at either 112 or 119 pounds.

Other wrestlers expected to push for varsity spots are: Craig Neisius (sophomore — 98 or 105), Mark Janke (freshman — 98), Robbie Gamble (freshman — 119) and freshman Jamie Fredrickson.

Coaches Lonnie Ehrhardt and Don Koenig.

Sok hopes rich Winside tradition continues

Paul Sok is optimistic. He has good reason to be.

With three state qualifiers and one district qualifier returning to wrestle for the Wildcats, Winside's head coach is anxious to get the season underway.

"We should definitely be in the top three in our district," Sok said. "We've got as good a chance as anybody."

The three state qualifiers are expected to vie for honors again.

Junior Mike Jaeger is slated to go at 155 pounds.

"He's extremely flexible on his takedowns, has pretty good balance and has a knack for going for the pin," Sok said.

Another slater is 185-pound junior Jeff Thies.

"Jeff is probably the strongest guy on our team," Sok said. "His aggressiveness and single-leg takedowns make him real tough."

Sophomore Chris Olson is the Wildcats' third State qualifier from 1982 and will go at 132 pounds.

"Olson's experience, takedowns and escapes are his strong points," Sok said.

Senior Kyle Miller was the other grappler to make it to the State Tournament last year.

"His strong points would have to be his takedowns and his riding," Sok said.

Junior Mike Woerdemann placed in district competition and will go at 145 pounds this year.

Woerdemann's strong point is his riding, according to Sok.

"He usually goes for the pin pretty well," he said.

As a group, Sok said the team is "a tough bunch of kids."

"We could go from as low as five kids at state to as high as eight right now," he said.

Sok added that he enjoys working with the team.

"They're always excited out there," he said. "They enjoy what they're doing."

The Wildcats wrestle primarily a Class B and C schedule — a fact that Sok said helps Winside when it comes to district and state competition.

Winside's rich wrestling tradition is also a big plus.

"I don't know how it (tradition) will stand up this year, but I've had a champion in every tournament for the last six years," Sok said. "There always seems to be at least one kid that comes through."

As far as maintaining Winside's lofty ranking (the Wildcats have been in the top 10 for a solid decade), Sok said a lot of people start thinking it is automatic.

"We don't have large numbers (of students) but it gets to the point where the kids feel they might be letting themselves down if they don't get it done," Sok said.

"They're a tough bunch of kids," he added. "They feel they have something to carry on — they don't want to be the bunch that's left out."

Cats won't be intimidated

Winside High School head boys basketball coach Mark Freburg has a simple way for his 1983 Wildcats to do well on the court this season.

"I hope we score as many points as the football team did," Freburg said laughing.

His 1983 gridders scored 304 points during their successful season.

In all truthfulness, the Wildcat roundballers will have to score more points than that, but Freburg thinks the Cats are a better defensive basketball team.

"Right now it doesn't matter which players we play defensively — they're all pretty good," Freburg said. "Of course the defense is always ahead of the offense at this time."

Gone from last year's 5-12 squad are full-time starters Jon Meierhenry and Ronnie Prince, but Freburg has a host of experienced players returning.

Leading the pack is Scott Janke, a 6-3 senior Freburg has pegged for duty at the post position.

"He's our big guy," Freburg said. "We're hoping he'll stay healthy."

Janke broke his elbow over Christmas break last year and was "dearly missed."

John Hawkins is slated for duty at guard or forward. The 6-0 senior averaged nine points a game last season. Freburg said Hawkins is the team leader and has "very good speed."

One of Winside's best shooters is 5-9 senior guard Dan Mundil.

"He's also a pretty good leader, but Hawkins is our leader in basketball whereas Mundil was in football," Freburg said.

He added that Jim Roberts (5-8 junior guard) "is also fighting for a position."

A part-time starter last year, 6-1 senior Kevin Falk is expected to see a lot of action.

"He got some good rebounds for us and is probably our most-improved player," Freburg said.

Other players expected to see plenty of floor time are Doug Wylie (5-8 sophomore guard), Chris Jorgensen (5-8 junior guard), Doug Mundil (5-10 sophomore guard) and Ryan Prince (5-11 sophomore guard).

Freburg also mentioned 5-11 freshman Mike Thies and 5-10 freshman Tim Voss as possible breakthroughs.

The Cats' main weakness, according to Freburg, will be lack of experience.

"We only return two guys who started a lot of games," he explained. "The other guys fighting for the fourth and fifth spots started very few games or none at all."

He said Winside's strength will be its seniors.

"They're all good athletes and get up and down the court real well," Freburg said.

"We'd love to play seven or eight guys — especially with all the guards we have," he said. "We'd like to press and run a little."

Freburg said staying healthy will be important to the Cats' success.

"We play a pretty heavy (Class) C schedule," Freburg said. "But I don't think we'll be intimidated by anyone."

Teamwork is Cats strength

Winside head girls basketball coach Don Leighton is cautious in assessing the 1983 Wildcats.

He's optimistic — but cautious. The Cats return four starters from last year's 2-13 squad: Pam Peter, Shelli Topp, Trisha Topp and Leah Jensen. Only guard Karlene Benschopf was lost to graduation.

"Right now, I'd say we're way ahead of where we were last year at the end of the season — basically because we were so young last year," Leighton said.

"I'm trying to build up to the point where I've got eight or nine girls playing pretty steady," he added.

Among the leaders for the starting positions are seniors Shelli Topp (5-7) and Pam Peter (5-8).

Trisha Topp (5-8 junior), Leah Jensen (5-7 junior) and Tammy Brudigan (5-2 junior) round out the top five with several players expected to provide needed depth.

Missy Jensen (5-7 junior) Kay Meierhenry (5-8 sophomore) and Kerri Leighton (5-2 sophomore) are being looked at to work into the lineup, "quite a bit."

Leighton said the Cats have been working hard in practice, but that the team will have to learn to shoot more.

"They hesitate — they don't want to miss," he said. "They want to be able to make them all."

"They would rather work the ball underneath the basket," Leighton added. "I want them to start shooting out around the key and on the wings."

The Wildcats will use two offenses: the 1-3-1 and the 1-2-2.

Defensively they will most-likely stick with the 2-1-2.

"We used it all year last season and it worked pretty well," Leighton said. "The teams that beat us did so on the outside, rather than on the inside."

Leighton also said the Wildcats will have to improve their free throw shooting — they only made an average of 43 percent from the charity stripe in 1982.

"We lost too many games on the free throw line," Leighton said. "They're coming on that and trying awfully hard and looking better."

Leighton said the Wildcats' strongest point is team play.

"They're looking for the open player," he said. "Last year we had to think about it, but now it's becoming instinct."

Even though the Wildcats are young, Leighton is looking for a good year.

"I would sure like to see us at around .500 this year," he said.

'83 Trojans might be foul-prone

The Wakefield Trojan boys basketball team is going to be facing the same dilemma that plagued the football team this year — lack of size.

Of the Trojans 18 players, only three are over six feet tall.

"We're just not very big," said Wakefield head coach Ernie Kovar. "Our biggest problem is going to be getting to the boards because of our lack of size — everybody we play is going to be bigger than us."

Before worrying about rebounds, however, Kovar must find a replacement for graduated Mike Clay — the Trojans' leading scorer in 1982.

"He'll be the hardest to replace," Kovar said.

Kovar is expecting to rotate seven players regularly.

The player expected to carry the Trojans until things get settled is three-year letterman Jeff Coble (5-6 senior guard).

"He's going to have to run the show a little bit up on top of our offense," Coble said. Another projected starter is Steve Peterson (6-0 senior forward).

"He's going to play inside for us — he's pretty quick and is a fair shooter," Kovar said.

Troy Greve (5-10 senior) "has pretty good quickness," according to Kovar, while Wes Greve (6-3 senior) "will have to play inside for us."

"He's pretty strong and efficient," Kovar said.

Three-year letterman Brian Soderberg, a 5-10 junior, sustained a back injury during Wakefield's final football game and is doubtful for early action.

"He's our wing man and will help bring the ball up," Kovar said.

Soderberg was the Trojans' second leading scorer and rebounder in '82.

The last two players expected to see extensive playing time are Jason Erb (5-11 sophomore) and Wade Nicholson (5-10 sophomore).

"Erb is looking pretty good and Nicholson shoots pretty well. But I don't know what to expect because they don't have much varsity experience," Kovar said.

"Our depth at seven or eight is pretty good, but you're talking about a lot of kids that should be getting their experience at the junior varsity level," Kovar said.

The Trojans strongest point should be "Playing defense 40 and 50 feet from the basket."

"We've got pretty good quickness and can use it at both ends," Kovar said.

"Quite honestly, these kids play pretty good defense," he said. "Fundamentally, they're very sound — and that pays dividends."

Another problem for the Trojans, according to Kovar, is that they are foul-prone. That's what happens with our size," he said. "They've got to really battle for the ball."

Competition-wise the Trojans, with exception of four or five teams, "stack up very favorably."

"We're capable of beating everyone on our schedule," he said. "The same holds true for them, though — we're just going to have to be ready each game."

Coach Ernie Kovar.

Time will tell for young Trojans

To say the 1983 Wakefield girls basketball team is young would be quite an understatement.

The Trojans have nine freshmen and three sophomores on their 17-player roster.

Head coach Mary Schroeder said having so many young players is not necessarily a detriment.

"I'd like to have a winning season," Schroeder said. "With so many young players, we'll have to keep together."

"Hopefully they'll stick with it — they're the type of group that doesn't give up too easily," she added.

Gone from last season's squad are team leader Renee Wenstrand and Cristy Hingsi.

Kelly Greve, a junior who saw a lot of playing time last year, elected not to go out for basketball this season.

Of the returnees from 1982, Schroeder is looking for senior Brenda Jones (5-7 forward) to be one of the team leaders. Jones led the Trojans in per-game scoring and rebounds in 1982.

Another solid building block is Michele Meyer (5-7 senior guard).

"She's been a starter since her sophomore year," Schroeder said, "and will probably be handling one of our guard positions."

Junior Melodie Will (5-11 center) "will see a lot of time at the post," according to Schroeder. Will alternated with Greve last season.

Other players expected to provide balance on the squad are Roni Starzl (5-10 junior forward), Kristal Clay (5-7 sophomore guard), Darla Hartman (5-10 junior guard-forward), Stacey Kuhl (5-6 freshman forward) and Jennifer Salmon (5-2 freshman guard).

"It looks like we'll be a real deep bunch, so we should be able to rotate in and out," Schroeder said.

Schroeder expects the Trojans' main strength to lie in their overall team speed.

"This is probably the quickest team I've ever had," Schroeder said. "We're not very tall, but we're real, real quick."

She added that the team is not just quick on the court.

"They're also quick to pick up new ideas and concepts," Schroeder said.

The Trojans are expected to be a much better defensive ball club in the early going.

"On offense, we've had to break everything down each night," Schroeder said.

The fact that Wakefield's volleyball team made it to the State Tournament forced the Trojans to start practice a week-and-a-half late.

"But these girls are really easy to coach," Schroeder said. "We come out after each practice feeling like we've really accomplished something — they seem to have picked up where they left off last year and retained everything."

Schroeder looks for Allen, Walthill and Wynot to be the Trojans' toughest competition.

Only time will tell

Eagles shoot for .500 mark

Allen's second-year head boys basketball coach Dave Uldrich is expecting his 1983 Eagles to post at least a .500 record. "Anything less and I'll be considerably disappointed," Uldrich said.

The Eagles return six lettermen from 1982's 3-13 team. Leading the returnees is Kevin Chase (5-9 senior guard).

"He's a much improved shooter and ball handler," Uldrich said. "He's going to be pretty good."

Derwin Roberts (6-3 senior) is slated to fill the center position. Roberts finished eighth in the Lewis & Clark Conference in rebounding last year.

The Eagles' point-guard will most likely be Mike Hingst (5-6 senior) with Jay Jones (6-1 junior) expected to fill a forward spot.

"He's really tough on the inside and is a good jumper," Uldrich said.

Kirk Hansen (5-11 senior) has been tabbed by Uldrich as a fill-in player, expected to see action at a couple of positions.

"He always does a good job when he's in the game," Uldrich said.

Other players expected to break into the lineup or see considerable playing time are: Shawn Mahler (5-8 junior guard), Kevin Malcom (6-8 junior center) and Craig Noe (6-1 sophomore forward).

Uldrich also stressed that he is looking for Brian Hansen (5-9 junior guard), Mitch

Petit (6-0 junior forward), Max Oswald (6-1 freshman forward) and Steve Jones (6-4 sophomore center) to provide needed depth.

"As a team I'll have to stress defense," Uldrich said.

The Eagles only averaged 43 points per game in 1982.

"We've got to get tough -- defense is important," Uldrich said.

He added that the Eagles have a lot of team speed except at the center position. Uldrich has implemented a couple of changes he hopes will act as positive factors on the team.

A horseshoe now hangs above the Eagles' locker room for each player to touch before every game to nudge Lady Luck a bit.

He has also added disciplined warm-up drills to help stress team unity.

As far as the season is concerned, Uldrich sees Wynot, Hartington and Wauso as the toughest teams in the Eagles' district.

"It's always up in the air as far as the district goes," he added. "Anything can happen."

He looks for Newcastle and Emerson to be near the top in conference play.

"But I think we're going to be tough by the end of the year -- it's just a matter of getting the kinks out before mid-season."

Coaches Rod Bubke and Dave Uldrich.

Troth not counting Eagles out

"I'd say fundamentally we're real good. That is the assessment of Allen girls head basketball coach Gary Troth of his 1983 squad.

"I think everybody is a pretty good shot and ball handler," Troth said.

The first order of business for Troth and his Eagles will be finding replacements for Pam Kavanaugh, Michelle Pettit and Shelly Williams — key players on last year's team.

Leading the pack is junior Pam Heckathorn (5-6 guard).

"She's a pretty good shot and has excellent quickness," Troth said.

A starter in 1982, Tami Jewell (5-6 senior guard) is expected to help provide steady play for Allen.

"She's a real good shot, has good floor play and was our assist leader and third in scoring last year," Troth said.

Next in line is senior Deanna Hansen (5-5 guard), another returning starter.

Besides being a sharp-shooter from the floor, Troth said Hansen has "good court sense."

"I look for her to have a good year," he said.

Coach Troth added that sophomore LeAnn McDonald (5-4 guard) has also been impressive in practice.

"She hustles real well and is aggressive," Troth said.

Troth is looking for senior Michelle Harder (5-9 forward) to provide much needed leadership.

"She'll have to pull some of the team load again," Troth said. "She's a good ball player."

The Eagles will also be looking to junior Mary Oswald (5-8 forward), who missed much of last season due to illness.

"She's going to pull her weight at one of the forward spots — she's capable," Troth said.

Another part-time starter in 1982 was senior Jeanne Warner (5-8 forward).

"If she can stay healthy, she's going to have to get a lot of rebounds for us because we're awfully short," Troth said.

Other players expected to see action are Karma Rahn (5-4 senior guard), Shelly Boyle (5-5 junior guard-forward) and Denise Magnuson (5-7 sophomore forward).

"We'll be quick, but not very tall," Troth said. "We're in the process of altering our offense and defense to fit our personnel."

Troth expressed concern about the Eagles' lack of height.

"We could get hurt in some games where we run up against some big teams," Troth said. "So what we're going to look for is to try to get some pressure on the perimeter people and make it a little harder for them to get inside."

Troth said this group of girls is good to work with because of the team unity carried over from the volleyball season.

"I don't know if total athletic ability is our greatest asset — yet there are some fine athletes there," he said.

"I think we're going to be solid — and if we can use eight or nine people a lot I think we can cause some teams some problems," Troth said.

Troth was reluctant to make any predictions about the Eagles' chances this season.

"I'm not counting us out of anything, though," he said.

Bears depth is strength

There is not much difference between number one and number 11.

That is the assessment of Laurel's first-year boys basketball-coach John Held of the 1983 Bears.

"I don't know if that's a problem or a luxury," Held said. "It's going to be hard getting playing time for all of them — so when they're in the game they'll have to make the most of it."

Only three lettermen return from last year's squad that posted a 7-12 mark: Mike Forsberg (6-1 junior guard), Mark Penlerick (6-2 senior forward) and Mark Herrmann (6-0 senior forward guard).

Held said Penlerick's great jumping ability should be an asset to the Bears rebounding.

"He's really our only player with varsity experience so he'll have to be our leader — especially early in the year," Held said. Held said Herrmann could be a "pleasant surprise" and Forsberg is the best shooter on the team.

"Mike is the only pure shooter we have," Held said. "The transition from guard to forward has been tough, but he's a hard worker."

John Chace (5-10 junior forward) is expected to see plenty of action as a utility player while Ben Galvin (6-1 senior guard) is expected to provide defensive pressure.

"When Ben plays with confidence, he's as good as any player we have," Held said. Mike Granquist (5-7 junior) and Mike Forsberg (6-1 junior) are projected starters at the guard spots while Scott Rath (6-3 junior) is expected to join Penlerick at the forward position.

"Rath is probably the best all-around player we have," Held said. "He can play outside and is a good rebounder."

The center spot is expected to be nailed down by junior Troy Hellman (6-3). "Troy is a natural," Held said. "He is going to explode some time this year."

The Bears' roster is rounded out by Kyle Daberkow (6-2 junior center), Dave Kardell (5-10 junior forward guard) and Brent Halsch (6-1 freshman center).

The Bears' most prominent weakness will be lack of game experience, while their strength should come under the boards.

"I think we can rebound," Held said. "When we go at it I think we can really play some teams."

One other factor that might hurt the Bears, according to Held, is the lack of one dominating athlete. But as a group the Bears are strong.

"They're not too bad if they mold as a team," Held said.

Laurel faces a tough pre-Christmas slate, facing Norfolk Catholic, Hartington Cedar Catholic and Wayne.

"I'd like to go .500 — anything over six or seven wins is going to be a plus," Held said.

Coaches John Held and Kurt Buckwalter.

Team unity might carry Bears

Unity. That's what Laurel girls' head basketball coach Gale Hamilton hopes will carry the Bears this season.

"I think we've got some kids who really like each other and want to see each other do well," Hamilton said.

The Bears posted a 15-5 record in 1982, but lost starters Patsy Thompson, Kim Sherry and Renee Gadeken to graduation. Those three were vital cogs in the Bears' successful '82 campaign, and Hamilton considers lack of experience as the Bears' main weakness.

Hamilton is looking to several players to fill in where graduation left holes.

Cara Dahlquist (5-7 senior) is one of the Bears' most court-wise players.

"That's her strong-point — experience,"

Hamilton said. "I'm looking for her to lead with experience."

Another returning veteran is 5-9 junior Jean Lute, who Hamilton said has invaluable experience and is expected to help Dahlquist lead the team.

Renee Vanderheiden (5-9 junior) is the team sharp-shooter while Wendy Robson (5-8 junior) is the team "jack-of-all-trades."

"She's one of the best players in the area," Hamilton said. "She does many things that the boys do and does them better."

"She's a good shot and ball handler and should see action at guard or forward."

The last, and youngest of the top five Bears is 5-9 sophomore Michelle Joslin.

"She's very aggressive and strong," Hamilton said.

Hoping to build a solid bench, Hamilton is looking for Donna Sherry (5-6 sophomore, guard), Gail Twiford (6-0 freshman center) and Sara Adkins (5-6 freshman guard) to provide depth.

"I'm expecting a lot out of those three — especially Twiford," Hamilton said. "She went to basketball camp last summer and has improved a lot."

Laurel will run a double low post offense but defense might be the Bears' forte.

"We're going to be real aggressive," Hamilton said. "We're going to play some people man-to-man but will probably be in the zone most of the time."

Hamilton added that the Bears will also try some full and half-court presses.

The Bears are not a particularly fast squad.

"We're just a little above average speed-wise," Hamilton said. "But everybody on the team is so close to each other talent-wise that we hope to be able to platoon to keep our quickness."

As far as the season looks, Hamilton said he expects Wynot, Allen and Randolph to be some of the strongest area teams. He won't really know what he has as a team until after the first game.

"Realistically, I'd like to think we can play and give anybody a good game," he said. "If we win some of the close ones, our record should be good."
