School board awards bid on bus body

Wayne-Carroll board of education members met Tuesday afternoon and voted to award a bid for a new 54-passenger school bus body to Superior Sales of Nebraska, located in Ralston.
Superior Sales submitted the lowest base bid of $13,153, with a trade-in option of $800 on a 1973 GMC bus presently owned by the district.
Other companies submitting bids Tuesday for the bus body were Nebraska Bus Equipment Co., Omaha, $13,975, minus $650 trade-in; Badger Body and Truck Equipment Co., Omaha, $13,695, minus $495 trade-in; Ward Body Co., Ames, Iowa, $14,100, minus $485 trade-in; Bluebird, Lincoln, $14,031, minus $525 trade-in; and United School Equipment Co., Omaha, $13,775 plus $550 to deliver to Wayne, minus $550 for trade-in.

FOLLOWING THE opening of bids, board members voted unanimously to accept the low bid of Superior Sales, subject to review of specifications as outlined in the bid by Superintendent Francis Haun.
Board members also voted to leave the option of trading in the district's 1973 GMC bus to the discretion of Haun and Dick Powers, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday narrowly voted to delay the opening of bids for a new bus chassis in order to allow more time for other companies to prepare their bids.
Mike Perry Chevrolet Oldsmobile of Wayne was the only company submitting a bid in time for Tuesday's meeting. Haun said Ellingson Motors of Wayne also expressed interest in submitting a bid if given more time to prepare it.
Voting in favor of delaying the opening of bids on the chassis for two weeks were board members Joyce Reeg, Neil Sandahl and Arnold Emry. Voting against the delay were Cap Peterson and Becky Keidel. Board member Jim Hummel was absent from Tuesday's meeting.

Disaster strikes county museum

LOTS OF work lies ahead at the Wayne County Historical Museum after radiators froze and broke recently.

By Randy Hascall

Disaster struck the Wayne County Historical Museum last week as broken radiators on the upper floor led to extensive water damage on all three floors of the building.
No monetary values have been made on the amount of damages.
Museum curator Donna Shufelt discovered the mess Friday night when she stopped by the museum to take down the Christmas tree. She saw water running out of the door before she even entered the building.

Inside, 6 inches of water had accumulated in the basement. The upstairs radiators had broken and lots of water had worked its way down to the main floor and basement. A water line in the kitchen also broke, spraying water throughout that room.
DICK BAIER, president of the Historical Society Board, estimated the radiators had been broken for 4 or 5 days. The last day the museum had been open was Dec. 11, he said.
Baier said the Wayne board had written to the state for recommendations on what temperature to keep the museum heated and had been told 40 degrees was adequate. He said the temperature was kept between 40 and 50 degrees when the museum was not in use.
The heating system, which utilizes hot water radiators, apparently has no circulating pump. Baier said the water did not flow properly and eventually froze upstairs.
A small crew worked vigorously from about 8 p.m. Friday to 1:30 a.m. Saturday to prevent any further flooding and damages.
Baier said three men were mainly responsible for keeping damages at a limit. Keith Mostley cut and capped the pipes going to the second floor to stop the flow of water.

BOB ECKHOFF used vacuum cleaners to get some of the water out. Leon Meyer was responsible for getting most of the water out of the basement.
Second floor carpets were ripped from the museum and helped save the flooring. The areas suffering the worst damage were the walls, woodwork and flooring. Baier said.
"It's going to take a lot of time and a lot of patience," he said. "Now that things are drying, the damage is not quite so bad. The wood floors can be restored. But, it will require a lot of time consuming work."
Some items, which had been donated to the museum, also were damaged in the incident. "Most items aren't hurt too bad. I don't think," Baier said.

THE ATTIC was the only floor which suffered no damage. The east side of the main floor also was basically undamaged.
Baier said linens received considerable damage and added that some clothes and rugs had mided.
Items in the basement received more damage than most items, including some rust and corrosion, he said. There is only one drain in the floor.
Lots of work lies ahead so the museum can be readied for Wayne's centennial celebration this summer. Baier said the museum was in good shape for the centennial before the incident.

THE BOARD is looking for any volunteers to help with the preparation. Anyone who is interested should contact Baier.
Baier said there is an insurance policy on the museum but added that there is no insurance to cover the damages or contents. He said there is really no way of insuring the contents of the museum, especially since dollar values can't be set on many of the items.
He said he thinks they can replace the heat system with one like the original.
"A good lot of it is not damaged," Baier said about the museum and items, searching for a bright spot. "We've learned an awful lot of things."

Parking problems occupy council meeting

IGA parking lot complaints are discussed

Two separate parking issues occupied most of the Wayne City Council's time and efforts during a 3-hour and 20-minute meeting Tuesday night.
Altogether, an estimated 40 Wayne residents made their opinions known on the two issues.
Problems arising at or near the Hometown IGA/Griess Rexall parking lot brought public complaints, mostly from individuals who live near the lot.
REV. KEITH JOHNSON, pastor of the First United Methodist Church which owns half of the parking lot, addressed the issue with the council. He and the owners of Hometown IGA and Griess Rexall were invited to the meeting to give their opinions.
"My concern comes from living across the street from what is called the IGA parking lot, although half of it belongs to the United Methodist Church," Rev. Johnson said.

"And the concern I have is over the Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and the unbearable noise we have across the street," he continued. "There are usually 6 to 8 cars in the parking lot that face Main Street. And then they greet their friends when they go by honking. And the new thing on the car is the air horn. We usually try to scrape ourselves off the ceiling and try to go back to sleep."

THE NOISE often continues until 2 or 3 a.m., Rev. Johnson added. Stereos, shouting and the squealing of tires also are a problem, he added, particularly in the summer.
Johnson said his predecessor, Rev. Ken Edmunds, had lived in the same house but moved out primarily because of the noise. Johnson added that the church tried to rent out the property but had no luck keeping tenants because of the noise.
In talking to the police and legal advisors,

Johnson said he was told that some kind of ordinance is needed to help with the issue.
"A little side story," Johnson said, "I was in Fremont this weekend at a youth meeting and there were kids there from Laurel, Wakefield and West Point. They were talking with other kids and I was standing around and I heard one of them say, 'When the curfew goes into effect in Laurel, we just head to the Wayne parking lot.' One of them said, 'In West Point when the police give us any trouble we go to the Wayne parking lot.' And the Wakefield person said, 'Oh yeah, we go there too.'"

CITY ATTORNEY Ken Swarts, giving some background on the issue, informed everyone that the parking lot is "private property, private commercial property, zoned commercial and, right now, the property invites the entire world out to its business."

Swarts said the city has very little jurisdiction or control over private parking lots. However, he said the problem does need attention and said that state statutes do provide that any person parking a motor vehicle in a properly posted, restricted parking lot without the consent of the owners shall be guilty of an infraction.
The private property owners, themselves, must make arrangements to make it a properly posted, restricted parking lot with regulations, Swarts said.
Then, if there are infractions or violations, the city police would then have the authority to issue citations for the infractions.

SWARTS SAID after the property owners post a sign, the city could then pass an ordinance to allow for enforcement of the regulations.
Ron Burt, owner of Hometown IGA, also expressed his concern on the matter. "I've had lady after lady tell me that they wouldn't come at 10 o'clock at night because there were 30 kids in the parking lot."

Councilman Jim Craun brought up the possibility of limiting the parking on specific parts of the lot after certain hours.
At the present time, if people are sitting on their cars and blocking the parking lot the city has no jurisdiction to do anything.
Swarts told the property owners that if guidelines are set up, the lot can then be enforced by the city police.

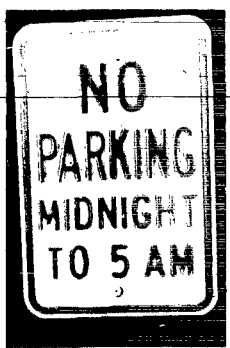

REV. JOHNSON, showing concern for other parking lots as well, asked the council about the possibility of enforcing a curfew in the community.

Councilman Keith Mostley said he is concerned about the ill effects that curfews can have. He pointed out that individuals may then go into the country and lives could be endangered.
The council also heard from residents Paul Campbell, Pat Coward and Sandy McMillan.
Campbell added that the 7-Eleven and Terry's Skelly parking lots have had similar problems and said he hopes all of the parking lots will be enforced.

He added that much of the problem occurs on the public street with honking cars and asked what can be done to stop that problem.
Coward said the parking lot and street problems stem from a more severe problem—what our children are doing. "I feel that the children of this town are not served by the town."
McMillan spoke of a couple specific incidences and complained that the police department did not put forth an effort to enforce the laws. He said one time when he called for assistance no cruiser ever showed up and the other time, it took 45 minutes

Parking proposal draws opposition

The issue of off street parking had many Wayne residents off the streets and in the city council chambers Tuesday night.
The council is considering a resolution to restrict the parking on various streets throughout Wayne. That consideration drew approximately 20 residents who object to the proposed resolution.
Among the streets which would be affected by the resolution are parts of Oak Drive, Lincoln Street, 1st Street and streets in the Knolls Addition to Wayne.
"A full list of streets listed on the proposed resolution will be published in The Wayne Herald prior to the next council meeting."

CITY ADMINISTRATOR Phil Kloster said a number of areas were missed when signs were posted throughout Wayne restricting parking between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m.
Kloster said the midnight to 5 parking restrictions are in effect on 25 to 30 percent of the streets in the community.
The main purpose of the resolution is to get cars off of the streets for proper snow removal. Kloster said the city has had tremendous added expenses for snow removal and removal of vehicles. That money comes from property tax dollars, he said.
Under the resolution, rental units would be required to provide off street parking before August.
BILK PAYSEN, who lives on South Maple Street, said the resolution would mean a tremendous expense for property owners who would have to build driveways.
He suggested a 48 hour emergency plan for snow removal which would keep residents from parking on streets for 48 hours at the time of snowstorms.
"It looks to me like this ordinance right now, what they're saying is 'we don't want nobody to park on the streets in the city of Wayne overnight,'" Paysen said. "Does anybody know where there's another city in the state of Nebraska with an ordinance such as that where nobody can park on the street overnight?"
Paysen said snow on the streets in his neighborhood is never removed until at least 6 a.m.

NANCY JO POWERS, who lives on Oak Drive, said she also would like to see the parking remain the same, especially on Oak Drive.
She pointed out that the regulations would pose a real problem for her family since their 2 sons, who will be home this summer, park their cars on the street.

John Metena, who also lives on Oak Drive, said he thinks the city should tow the cars of the "3 or 4 inconsiderate violators" who don't move their cars when snow removal is required.
"See how long they continue to park there when it snows," he said.
Metena also is opposed to the midnight to 5 parking regulations.
KLOSTER SAID the city crews would be able to clean the streets between midnight and 5 a.m. if they knew the streets would be clear of vehicles.
Paysen asked Kloster what would be wrong with removing snow from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Kloster replied that those hours would not be functionally feasible with moving traffic.
Lynn Etofson, who lives on 1st Street, said she thinks the city should ask the people what they prefer.
Paysen said the resolution would take parking away for 365 days while snow only needs to be cleared about 8 days a year.

COUNCILMAN DARREL Heiler said the parking regulations would pose some problems. He said the resolution would make it harder for the streets to be cleaned but said he is not in favor of the proposal.
Councilman Carolyn Filler said that 24 streets are included in the proposal and suggested that the council take a closer look at each street.
Councilman Jim Craun asked if there was any thought to allowing parking on one side of the street on odd days and on the other side of the street on even days.
Kloster said that would be hard to enforce and would require more posting of signs.

DICK BROWN, who lives on 1st Street, said cooperation will be required to come up with a solution. "Are we trying to fix something that's not already broke?" he asked.
Councilman Larry Johnson said he believes most people still feel they would not like to have their parking privileges taken away for 365 days.
Under the recommendation of Councilman Gary Van Meter, the resolution was tabled by the council until it can be reviewed in depth. It will be on the next meeting agenda.
Councilman Filler said the council just saw the resolution for the first time Tuesday night and said she believes the council should take a better look at it.

Faculty profile

Positively influencing careers of teachers who ultimately have a positive impact on kids in the school system has been an ongoing goal of Dr. Robert Bower.

Assistant professor at Wayne State College for three years, Bower teaches in the education department. He also works with the honors program and independent study students helping them with research.

BOWER received his master's degree in 1976 in the field of instructional communications at Tennessee University. He also earned his doctorate degree there in 1979 in supervision.

That same year, he went to the University of Kansas for post-doctorate study with Dr. Ogden Lindsley, a well known behavioral psychologist.

Bower came to Wayne State in 1980. "I think Wayne is an unusual setting. It encourages professional growth and development. At Wayne State, I've been able to pursue my interests in experimental research through the honors program."

Robert Bower

BOWER'S hobbies include running, refurbishing old furniture, and traveling with his family, including wife Mary, and Josh, 3, and Erin, 1.

He also enjoys spectator sports and activities with his children.

Several new courses offered through WSC extended campus

Wayne State College will offer a CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) course on Feb. 3, 4 and 5.

The course is offered for one undergraduate credit hour.

Mrs. Bernice Fulton will instruct the class which will meet on Friday from 5 to 10 p.m., Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Wildcat room located in Rice Auditorium on the college campus.

If textbooks are required, they will be made available at the first meeting of the class.

WAYNE STATE also will offer the course, "School Law for Teachers," at Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, on Feb. 18 and 25.

The course is offered for one senior/graduate credit hour. Robert Enst, attorney from Wayne, will instruct the class which will meet each Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

If textbooks are required, they will be made available at the first meeting of the class.

THREE OTHER extended campus courses are being offered in January at Northeast Technical Community College for three undergraduate/graduate credit hours each.

"World War II and the Movies" will be offered each Monday, Jan. 16 through May 7, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Instructor will be Dr. Mike Blayney.

"Lives and Works: Women in 20th Century Literature," will be instructed by Rita Kissen each Monday, Jan. 16 through May 7, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

"Vocational Advisement and Techniques" will run each Tuesday, Jan. 17 through May 8, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Instructors will be Norm Smith and Nancy Schwede.

PERSONS wishing to enroll in any of the courses listed above are asked to contact the Extended Campus division at Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 217.

faculty accomplishments

—DR. BOBBY LUPACK, associate professor of English at Wayne State College, received a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities for travel and research on her book on modern American literature.

—DR. DONALD Whisenhunt, vice president at Wayne State, was honored Dec. 10 by the Mercer County Historical Society in Mercer, Penn. The occasion was the publication of a new book revised and edited by Dr. Whisenhunt, entitled "On Polar Trails: The Peary Expedition to the North Pole, 1908-09," by John W. Goodsell, M.D. Of all the members of the Peary expedition, Dr. Goodsell, the medical officer on the trip, was the only one who did not publish a book about the experience. He wrote a manuscript shortly after his return from the Arctic, but various circumstances, including a personal dispute with Peary, prevented its publication. Since the Historical Society now owns the manuscript, the officers have worked with Dr. Whisenhunt for over 10 years to get the book published. Dr. Whisenhunt completely revised and rewrote the massive manuscript of almost 700 pages to get it to its present size of 200 printed pages. A press conference was held on Saturday to introduce the book, and an autograph party was held on the same day.

—JOYCE THIERER, instructor of informational services at Wayne State, presented a paper, entitled "Conservation and Preservation: Management Issues," at the semi-annual meeting of the Art Libraries Society of North America, Central Plains Chapter. The meeting was held in Omaha Oct. 7. The August release of ERIC included a descriptive report written by Thierer, entitled "Kansas State University Libraries' OCR Labeling Project." The report was written during her last month at KSU and concerns one phase of implementing their automated circulation system.

CLEP exams offered in January

A program that enables persons to earn college credits by examination will be offered Jan. 18 at Wayne State College.

The College Level Examination Program (CLEP) provides students the option of earning college credit without enrolling in college courses.

CLEP also provides an opportunity to save both time and money in earning a college education.

Students wishing to participate must register on or before Monday, Jan. 16.

ANYONE CAN take CLEP exams and submit scores to one or more of 2,500 participating institutions.

To receive college credit at Wayne State, students must either be currently enrolled or have met Wayne State admission requirements.

Students can get a good overview of the areas they select to take a CLEP exam by obtaining a booklet titled "Guide to the CLEP Examinations" from the student services office at the college.

The booklet can help students decide if they have enough knowledge about particular academic areas to attempt the related CLEP examinations.

The booklet may be borrowed on an overnight basis or purchased for $5.

CREDIT received for CLEP is entered on a student's record without a grade, thereby not affecting grade point averages.

There is no official record entered if the CLEP exam is failed, and students can re-take the same exam again provided appropriate fees are paid.

Wayne State places no limit on the maximum number of credit hours earned through CLEP and taken before the senior year.

Each CLEP exam usually takes about 90 minutes to complete, and scores are reported to the student and the college within one week.

Fee for general and subject examinations is $28 per exam.

For more information contact the Wayne State College Student Services Office, (402) 375-2200, ext. 213.

Wayne student on Midland Dean's List

Seventy nine students have earned spots on the fall Dean's List at Midland Lutheran College by acquiring a minimum grade point average placing them in the upper 10 percent of the student body.

According to Dr. Donald L. Kahnk, vice president for academic affairs, students must have completed a minimum of 12 credit hours on the A-F grading system and achieved a 3.74 or higher grade point average for the semester to receive the honors.

Named to the Dean's List from this area was John G. Warner of Wayne.

20th-ranked Griffons blast Lady Cats

Wayne State's women's basketball team got a tiger in its tank Tuesday night, but it was the Griffons of Missouri Western who had the last roar as the Lady Wildcats dropped an 88-57 decision at Rice Auditorium. The Wildcats looked like they might be in line to upset Western, the NAIA's 20th-ranked Division I team, in the early going. A scrappy Cat defense helped Wayne State stay within striking distance of the Griffons before Vina Kelly hit a 20-foot jumper at the 6:25 mark of the first half to put the tally at 26-25.

THE CATS took their first lead of the night with just 3:42 left in the half as 5-9 freshman Shelle Tomasziewicz scored to make it 29-28 in favor of Wayne State.

The score see-sawed after that and Tomasziewicz hit a basket at the buzzer to cut Western's lead to 38-36 at intermission. The second half was a different story, however.

Wayne State missed four shots in a row at the outset as the Griffons caught fire and vaulted to a 48-38 advantage at the 17:05 mark.

Wildcat Kelly then went down with a leg injury and had to go to the bench. She returned to the lineup later, but the Griffons had extended their lead by that time and they coasted to the easy victory.

WHAT CAUSED the Wildcats second-half letdown?

"After we make a couple of mistakes, we try as individuals to take over and to compensate," said Wayne head coach Jan Jirsak. "Then we tend to get down on one another for making mistakes."

Jirsak said Missouri Western also deserved credit for playing a "much better" game in the second half.

"They are a fine ball club," she said. "But we missed a lot of easy baskets and we threw some silly passes and got a lot of turnovers."

The Cats committed 33 turnovers against the Griffons — many of those coming after Kelly left the game for several minutes with her injury.

JIRSAK SAID the Wildcats are not the same team with Kelly out of the lineup.

"There's something about Vina that makes the team feel secure," Jirsak said. "But the same could be said about Wragge (Deb) and Tomasziewicz."

Jirsak added that the Wildcats' game plan was also foiled by the turnovers.

"We were trying to take the ball inside because we figured they (Western) would come out in a half-court trap," she said. "We tried to attack the middle by getting the ball to our high post, but unfortunately we just missed a lot of shots."

The Cats were bothered by cold shooting all night — hitting just 32 percent (21-of-64) from the field while Western went 37-for-70 for 52 percent.

THE STORY from the free-throw line was a little better as far as the Cats were concerned. Wayne State hit 60 percent (15-of-25) from the paint to Missouri Western's 56 percent (14-of-25).

The Griffons had 5 players in double figures and were paced by Kim Palmer's 19 points. Wayne State was led by Barb Wragge's 14-point output.

On the boards, Western had a commanding 56-41 advantage.

Wayne State is slated for a swing to the south this weekend with the men's team to take on Pittsburg State (Friday) and Missouri Southern (Saturday) in CSIC action.

JIRSAK SAID the Cats will have to regroup if they expect to do well for the remainder of the season.

"That's probably our biggest goal right now — to come back this weekend and play together as a team," she said. "We were not displeased with the margin of the loss tonight — it doesn't make a difference if it's 2 or 30 points as long as we try."

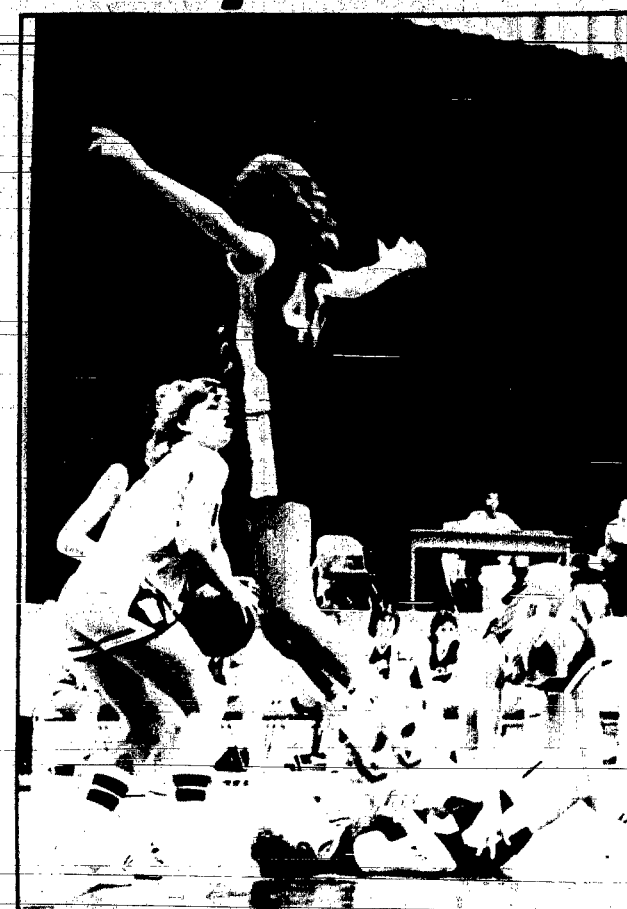

"The thing I get upset with and the kids get upset with is when we don't play up to our ability."

Blue Devil matmen rip West Point CC

This is West Point Central Catholic's first year to participate in prep wrestling — and it shows. Wayne traveled south to meet the Bluejeans on the mats on Monday afternoon and came away a 55-4 winner. The Blue Devils went 1-1 in junior varsity matches, but won 10 of 12 on varsity en route to the rout.

Wayne coach Don Koenig said the Devils used a junior varsity wrestler in every varsity slot where possible. Any varsity wrestlers competing for Wayne were moved up a weight classification.

Class B's top-ranked wrestler at 185 pounds, Wayne's Kevin Koenig, kept his record perfect with a pin of CC's heavyweight, Kirk Kreikemeier at the 1:44 mark.

7 other Wayne wrestlers (including 1 junior varsity grappler) — Bill Landanger (132 TW), Mark Janke (105), Terry Schulz (126), Jamie Frederickson (132), Gregg Elliott (155), Tim Book (167), and Chris Wieseler (185), won their matches via pins.

Two-out of three ain't bad

Two out of three ain't bad. That's how the Wayne Blue Devil girls basketball teams might view last Saturday's road trip to South Sioux City where the Devil freshmen topped the Cards 22-21, the junior varsity triumphed 28-27 and the varsity fell 60-57.

In the freshman contest, Wayne came back from a 17-4 first half deficit and exploded for 12 third period points en route to the victory.

Wayne coach Becky Kelley said Wayne's press was working better in the second half (the Cardinals were limited to 4 second half points) because Wayne's shots were starting to fall.

Jodi Dufman's 10 points paced the Blue Devils while South Sioux was led by Amy Brady with 12 points.

Blue Devil Shelly Pick and Kecia Corbit each added 4 points. Corbit also had 8 rebounds.

The junior varsity game saw the Devils fall behind 16-12 at halftime, but outscore the Cards 12-1 in the third period to take the lead for good.

"We just had a good third period," said Kelley. "We went out and played good, sound basketball and didn't give up."

Roni Johnson and Sonia Skokan shared Wayne's scoring honors with 6 points apiece while Amy Gross added 5.

On the boards, Kecia Corbit pulled down 5 rebounds, all in one quarter of play, to pace Wayne. Gross added 4 caroms.

South Sioux's Val Torricelli led all scorers with 10 points.

The Wayne varsity wasn't as lucky as its younger counterparts, however. The Blue Devils never managed to overcome a 30-16 halftime deficit. The Cardinals were relentless, scoring 19 points in the third period and 11 in the fourth while limiting the Devils to just 12 points.

Wayne was paced by Karen Longe's 8 points while South Sioux's Trudi Trysla accounted for 10 points.

The Blue Devils are slated to take on Howells tonight (Thursday) on the road.

Defense is concern for Held

The Laurel Bears are going to have to learn to play defense.

That is the opinion of Laurel head boys basketball coach John Held after his team dropped its record to 0-8 on the road 84-66 season with a 61-56 loss to Homer on the road.

"We didn't play defense," Held said. "We're just not getting after it on the defensive end of it — that would pick us up offensively."

The Bears fought to within a three point (18-15) deficit at the end of the first quarter and trailed 35-27 at the half.

Showing its determination, if not its defense, Laurel fought off a 21 point lead by Homer in the third period to make the final 61-56 score respectable.

"We had our chances, but we were giving them too many loose balls," Held said. "We played hard though — like we're going to have to do in the second half if we want to win."

Held said if the Bears continue to try and improve, he would be happy.

"I can live with that," he said.

Laurel pulled down 49 rebounds against the Knights and was led by Mark Penlerick's 15.

Scoring honors for the Bears went to Mark Herrmann with 20, while Penlerick added 16.

On the night, Laurel shot 40 percent (23-of-57) from the field to 42 percent (19-of-45) for Homer.

Held said the Bears will have to get a new start against Wynot on the road tomorrow (Friday) night.

"We're going to have to make our own breaks — nobody is going to give us anything," he said. "We're by no means where we want to be."

My nomination for the sports name of the year goes to Randolph High School's heavyweight wrestler.

There it was, right on the program right along with the others at the 15th Annual Winside Invitational Wrestling Tourney last Saturday. Most of the names were rather common: Nick Johnson, Kevin Tranter, and so on.

What a better name for a heavyweight wrestler than Hoss-Hammond? At first I thought I was seeing things, but good ol' Hoss grapples for Randolph High School.

That is one great name. The kid should go into professional wrestling after graduation.

Of course, Hoss would have to change his style if he went professional — they don't really wrestle. It's more of a combination acrobatics/Three Stooges act.

I had a high school teacher who was also Blair's head wrestling coach. He was adamantly opposed to comparing the two sports (pro and amateur). Coach Huff insisted that the professionals were not wrestling, but rather "rassling. We be un to anyone who said Huff's kids "rassled."

The guy has a point.

As much as I hated to admit it, I have to agree with Kansas City Star sports editor Joe McGuff in that he's heard and read so much of Nebraska's "courage" in going for the two point conversion against Miami in the Orange Bowl, that he's reached "the point of gagging" I agree. The game is over. We lost. Drop it.

Kelly is district leader

Wayne State's Vina Kelly is leading the NAIA District 11 players in free-throw percentage in games played up to Jan. 9, according to statistics released Monday by district officials.

Kelly is 21 of 24 from the charity stripe for 87.5 percent while teammate Carol Durkee is fourth at 76.9 percent (20-of-26).

The Cats lead team free throws with a 671 clip (153 of 228).

In field goal percentage, Wayne State is fourth with 408 percent from the field. Midland Lutheran College is the district leader with a 515 clip.

The Cats are also fifth in scoring defense (17 points allowed per game) and sixth in rebounding margin — allowing their opponents 49.2 boards to their 43.3.

Wildcat Barb Wragge is second in field goal scoring with an 18.3 per game average.

Deb Nygren is seventh in the district in field goal percentage. The 5'11" sophomore is hitting half of her shots (41 of 82).

Slow-starting Bears fail to overcome Cedar Catholic

The Laurel Bears succumbed to a slow start that saw them fall behind 13-4 in the early going to drop a 46-34 decision to Hartington Cedar Catholic at home Tuesday night in girls basketball action.

Laurel mentor Gale Hamilton said the Bears had trouble countering the Trojans' Janet Stevens, who scored three quick buckets from underneath to give the visitors an early 19-0 advantage that Laurel never was able to overcome.

"We were doing pretty well on defense covering Stevens and Gail Dunn but they're (Hartington CC) so fast you can't key on 1 player," Hamilton said.

HCC's height advantage showed in the rebounding statistics. The Bears were outboarded 37-29 as Trojan Mary Feilmair pulled down 11 boards. Gail Twilford paced the Bears with 8 rebounds.

Hamilton said he was proud of the way his squad kept scrapping.

"Our girls never gave up," he said. "They played well. Cedar knew they were in a ballgame."

Laurel's Renee Vanderheiden was the leading point getter for the Bears with 13 points while Jean Lute, Wendy Robson and Twilford each tallied 6.

Laurel shot just 39 percent (12-of-39) from the field.

In junior varsity action, the Bears were spanked 31-8. Stacy Strawn led Laurel with 4 points.

Baseball camp starts Saturday

Omaha Royals catcher Brian Poldberg, St. Joseph High School (Omaha) head coach Ken Rieschl and assistant Kansas State baseball coach Marli Wolever are among the staff members who will help conduct the 3rd Annual Nebraska Professional Baseball Camp starting Saturday, Jan. 14.

The camp, which will be conducted at Omaha's St. Joseph High School, will run for 4 consecutive Saturdays (Jan. 14 through Feb. 5) and is open to players 13 years old and up.

The camp staff is comprised of current and former professional baseball players, managers, scouts and college and high school coaches.

For more information and a free brochure, contact Marli Wolever (712) 366-1007 or Ken Rieschl (St. Joseph High School) (402) 733-4941.

Softball tourney set

The Columbus Softball Association will conduct a fund-raising softball tournament the weekend of Jan. 28-29 to help defray the costs of last season's operation.

The coed "Snowball Tourney" will award 6 frozen turkeys to the winning team with the second-place team receiving 4 birds and the third-place squad taking home 3 gobblers.

Entry fee for the slow-pitch, double elimination event is $60 per team. The entry deadline is Jan. 20.

Teams can be made up of men and women and do not necessarily have to consist of players that have played together on a team before.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Randy Krumland at the Boulevard Lanes (564-8022).

Allen 3-1 against Indians

Allen's junior high school girls and boys basketball teams went 3-1 against the visiting Ponca Indians on Saturday, Jan. 7.

The seventh grade girls lost 20-8. Candance Jones tallied 6 points in the losing cause while teammate Missy Martinson added 2.

The Eagle eighth grade girls fared better, dumping Ponca 13-4 as Lana Erwin and Dan Kluver tallied 5 points each.

Both boys teams went down to defeat — the A Team dropping a 42-18 decision and the B-teamers falling 14-6. Jim Kroll's 6 points paced the eighth-graders while Curtis Blohm was high-point man for the seventh graders with 4 points.

Wingert correction

Tom Wingert, Wayne State College's record-breaking wide receiver, was incorrectly identified as Dan Wingert in the Jan. 9 edition of The Wayne Herald.

Wingert and teammate Kevin McArdle received honorable mention honors on the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Division I All-America football team announced last week.

Devil frosh not Gator bait

Wayne's freshman basketball team traveled to Wisner Pilgrimage Monday night and proved to be ungracious guests. The boys dumped the Gators 47-31 while the girls beat the hosts 19-15.

The Blue Devils led just 23-21 at halftime and shot only 29 percent

(19 of 66) from the field, but out rebounded the Gators 33-19.

"That was definitely the key to the ballgame," said Wayne coach Duane Blumenkamp.

Leading the Devils on the boards was Bill Liska and Troy Wood, who each pulled down 7 rebounds.

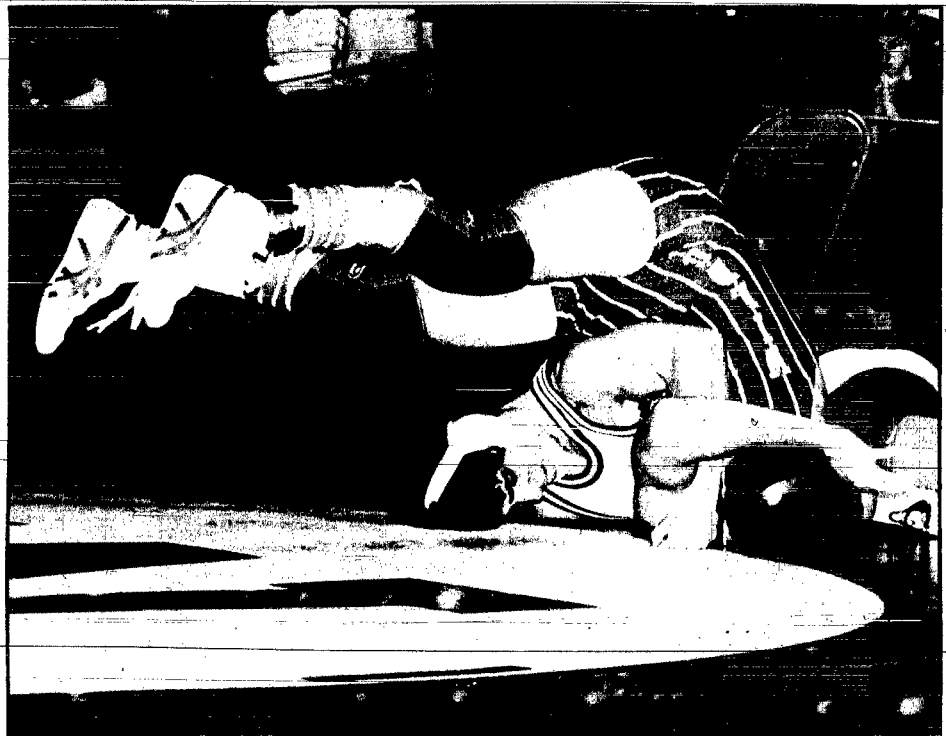

Wayne was paced by Cory Dahl's 12 points while teammates Ted Luaders and Jon Stoltenberg each added 7.

The freshman girls sneaked past the Gators 19-15 after trailing 11-9 at the half. The Devils' press began to take affect in the second half and Wisner Pilger scored just 4 points in the remainder of the contest.

Kecia Corbit led Wayne with 11 rebounds while scoring honors went to Shelly Pick with 8 points and Jodi Dittman with 7.

Wisner Pilger was paced by Kayla Roth's 9 points.

Stanton muscles way to Winside crown

Stanton muscled its way to the team title of the 15th Annual Winside Wrestling Tourney last Saturday by amassing 162 1/2 total points to runner up Logan View's 116 points.

Host Winside was eighth in the nine-team field with 62 points — far ahead of last-place Battle Creek, which could only muster 5 total points.

Wildcat Jeff Thies wrestled his way to the 185-pound championship by pinning Osmond's Ron Brand in 3:31. Thies won all three of his matches by pins — nailing Oakland-Craig's Craig Johnson at the 1:54 mark in the first round and Logan View's Corky Thies in 3:19.

Winside's Chris Olson worked his way back through the consolation bracket to take fourth place at 126 pounds with an 8-1 decision over champion Stanton's Brad Brauer.

Kyle Miller laid claim to third place at 138 pounds after pinning Cory Bendixon of Norfolk Catholic in 1:42 of their wrestle back match. Kevin Wockman of Stanton, won his fourth consecutive Winside Invitational title by pinning Logan View's Marty Smith in 2:30.

In the 155 pound competition, Mike Jaeger pinned Logan Valley grappler Gary Totten in 2:45 for a third place finish. Jaeger won his first match of the day by defeating Jay Frahm of Oakland-Craig, but was sent to the consolation bracket after Joe Hansen of Stanton pinned him in 1:51.

In the heavyweight competition, Winside's Terry Haller placed fourth after Plainview Pirate Jerry Schumacher pinned him in just 54 seconds.

The team standings and point totals at the Winside Invitational follow.

PAY THE IRS LESS.

Working couples can invest up to $4000 a year in a Columbus Federal Individual Retirement Account. Individuals can invest up to $2000 a year. And every cent you invest is fully deductible from your gross income subject to federal income tax. For example, if you are in the 35% tax bracket and invest $2000 in an IRA, you'll reduce your tax payment by $700.

PAY YOURSELF MORE.

Your Columbus Federal IRA is a growing retirement fund. You may save in a lump sum each year or in smaller amounts throughout the year. Contributions made in 1984 (prior to filing your '83 income tax return) are eligible as 1983 deductions. When you open a Columbus Federal IRA you can choose to invest in a variety of accounts with terms up to five years. Depending on the plan you select, your IRA investment can earn up to —

This interest is also tax deferred.

Compounding the interest over years generates more dollars, earning you significantly more than would be possible with taxed dollars. Your Columbus Federal investment counselor can show you how you can substantially increase your retirement fund. And whatever type of IRA you choose there are never any service charges or fees.
