Snowy serenity

THE SNOW forms a deceiving picture of serenity on some evergreen trees west of the Carhart Science Building on the Wayne State College campus.

Lottery election bill killed

A measure that would have placed the question of a statewide lottery before Nebraska voters in the November general election was voted down 25-9 Thursday by the Nebraska Legislature.

If approved by the voters, the constitutional amendment would have placed the authorization for a state lottery in the Constitution.

Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers sponsored the motion to kill Legislative Resolution 10CA. State Senator Merle Von Minden of Allen was 1 of the 9 senators to vote against Chambers' motion and in favor of placing the lottery question on the ballot.

CHAMBERS SAID the amendment, which was in the second round of floor debate, was not needed because Attorney General Paul Douglas had already ruled that statewide lotteries are constitutional if conducted for the betterment of communities.

Supporters said a state lottery could be better controlled than lotteries now operated by local governments and organizations.

Other senators argued that the measure was unnecessary because a statewide lottery would currently be constitutional with no action taken.

At the current time, Nebraska does not conduct a state lottery but various communities operate their own lotteries.

Wayne is one of those communities. Its lottery could be eliminated by another bill which will soon confront the Legislature.

The bill, LB 336, would set up a state lottery and eliminate all local lotteries. That bill is in the second round of floor debate.

ANOTHER BILL which is drawing considerable attention won first round approval Wednesday in the Legislature. LB 56 would raise Nebraska's legal drinking age from 20 to 21. The bill advanced to the second debate stage by virtue of a 20-13 vote.

Under terms of the bill, people who reach 20 before Jan. 1, 1985, could continue to buy and consume alcohol but anyone turning 20 after that date would have to wait until they reached 21.

Senator William Nichol of Scottsbluff, one of the bill's sponsors, said raising the drinking age to 21 would save lives by removing some young drinkers from behind the wheels of automobiles.

Opponents of the bill said 20-year-old Nebraskans, who live near the Wyoming or Iowa borders would drive to those states to consume liquor and added that others living near Kansas, Colorado and South Dakota would drive to those states for 3.2 beer.

Von Minden voted in favor of the bill which would raise the drinking age.

Weather takes its toll as livestock losses mount

No one knows how deadly this winter's weather has been on livestock any better than workers at rendering plants throughout the Midwest.

LeRoy Bates of Crofton Rendering Service, which owns the Wayne Rendering Company, said the winter of 1983-84 will go down in history as one of the worst in terms of livestock deaths.

"This winter and last spring are about neck and neck. They're the worst I've ever seen," said Bates, who has been in the rendering business for 12 years. "The dead count has been as bad as last spring was."

BATES SAID the 2 or 3 week period of extreme cold around Christmas did the damage. "That really dumped them," he said.

Things are slowing down considerably now, Bates said. His rendering services are still running 2 to 3 weeks behind though, he added.

But things could very well pick up again by spring if not earlier. "If we have a wet spring, I hate to see what will happen," Bates said, pointing out that the winter weather has already weakened many of the cattle.

Bates said the warmer weather a couple of weeks ago melted some snow and could lessen the effect of the spring thaw. Other wise, a muddy spring could reduce cattle numbers even more.

RECORD LOW TEMPERATURES and record snowfall are credited in an outbreak of livestock deaths and lost profits for cattlemen.

Most of northeast Nebraska has already received between 30 and 40 inches of snow. A streak of sub-zero temperatures took an even greater toll on livestock.

According to the National Weather Service, the monthly average temperature in eastern Nebraska for December was a mere 7.8 degrees—far below the normal average of 25.7 degrees. High winds forced the wind chill factor to as low as 75 degrees below zero at one point.

The cold weather threatened midlands cattle with disease and death due to the added stress placed on their bodies while trying to adapt, said Terry Mader, beef cattle specialist at the University of Nebraska's Northeast Station near Concord.

MADER SAID cattle burn up their fat stores more quickly and, without extra feed to compensate, will start burning muscle protein.

Essentially, it's like starving to death, only it takes a lot shorter time," he said. "That is because the cattle's general health and well being is depressed."

Mader said cattle may not actually die from being frozen, but their immune systems are lowered and their ability to maintain their health is affected.

That depression makes the animal more susceptible to pneumonia, respiratory problems and frozen feet, hooves, tails and ears.

ACCORDING TO Mader, calves and cattle that have recently been transported are more susceptible to health problems because they are already under stress and weaker than the rest of the herd.

In order to avoid stress problems herds, producers must feed their cattle more as the temperatures drop because the animals use more energy just to maintain their weight.

For example, if we have a temperature decrease of 30 degrees say from 10 degrees to 20 below zero, the amount of feed required just to maintain that animal is increased between 30 percent to 50 percent," Mader said.

More feed, of course, means more expense. Mader said that some cattle feeders may be forced to spend twice as much to put weight on their animals.

MANY CATTLE producers normally turn their herds out into cornstocks but December's heavy snow cover forced many producers to begin feeding grain that they normally reserve for late winter.

That problem leaves cattlemen with a tough decision—whether to use feed reserves now and buy more later, or hold off from giving the cattle extra feed and then risk having them lose weight.

"My recommendation is to keep the cows in good condition, even if you have to buy a little more supplemental feed," Mader said. "More often than not, if they elect not to feed, they've made the wrong decision."

He likened the dilemma to a "pay-me-now or pay-me-later" situation.

Mader said alfalfa is an excellent energy source for cattle. Two to three pounds of corn per day also will make a big difference, he added.

DR. GARY LEACH of the Wayne Veterinary Clinic, said it is difficult to tell if an animal is suffering from frozen hooves, ears or tail until the temperature warms up.

If an animal's hooves have been frozen, there is little a cattlemen can do, Dr. Leach said. "Where the foot is frozen above the hoof, the animal will lose use of it and become lame," he said.

Another potential problem lies ahead. This winter's heavy snows are expected to create an extremely muddy spring. That could result in a high rate of calf loss.

Apparent suicide in Dixon Co.

A 23-year-old man died Tuesday as the result of an apparent suicide in his parents' home between Wakefield and Allen.

Services for Larry Lundin were held Friday at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield. Rev. Neil Peterson officiated with burial in the Wakefield Cemetery.

Dixon County Attorney Thomas Dorsey said no report has yet been completed by the State Patrol's Office but said it was a probable suicide. He said Lundin apparently died of a shotgun wound to the head. A note was left, he added.

Larry John Lundin was born Feb. 25, 1960 at Wakefield. He graduated from Wakefield High School and attended college.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lundin of rural Allen; 1 brother, Kenneth of Minneapolis, Minn.; 7 sisters, Mrs. Larry (Debra) Lawson of Des Moines, Iowa, and Kathy of Omaha and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lundin of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Meleskie of Chicago, Ill.

Bake-and-bounce heart fundraiser is planned

Plans are looking for the Wayne County Heart Association's second annual bake and bounce fundraiser.

The event will be held in February and combines cake-baking and basketball bouncing for fun and fundraising.

Lu Ellingson, secretary for the Heart Association, said the event pits Wayne businessmen against faculty members at both Wayne Carroll High School and Wayne State College.

ACCORDING TO Ellingson, each team is expected to field 16 cake bakers and a basketball squad.

The cake bakers, without the help of their wives or friends, bake and decorate cakes throughout the day Thursday, Feb. 16, at Peoples Natural Gas Co.

Those cakes will be judged by two women and auctioned off during halftime of the Feb. 16 basketball game, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the city auditorium.

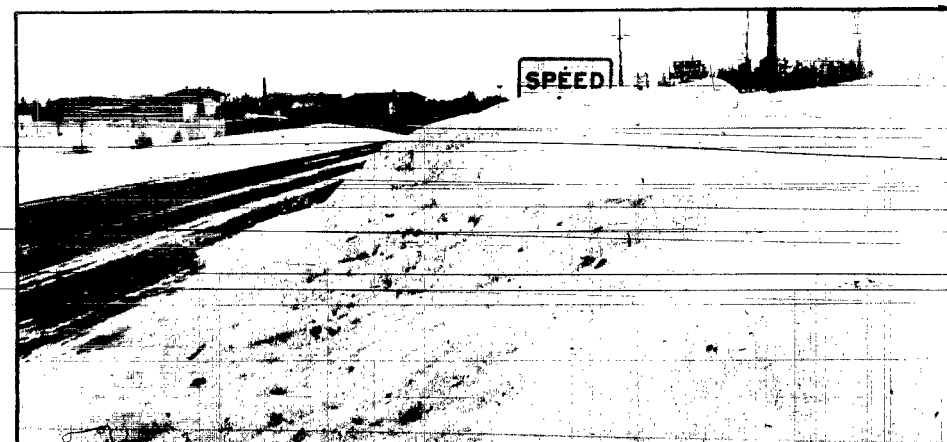

Although no prizes will be awarded for the cakes, Ellingson said they will be judged on such criteria as most unusual and most edible.

THE PUBLIC is invited to watch the cake-baking, decorating and judging, as well as the basketball game and halftime auction.

In addition, the association will sponsor free blood pressure screening at Peoples Natural Gas from 1 to 4 p.m. the baking day.

All proceeds from the bake and bounce will go to the Wayne County Heart Association.

Persons wishing to participate may contact Mrs. Ellingson.

eddie's brother

by randy hascall

Curse this winter! And curse the new year!

The two best Christmas presents I ever received were given to me 2 or 3 years ago. They are a nice set of jumper cables and a pair of insulated coveralls.

They've sure come in handy this winter. It seems like about all I ever get done is starting cars and scooping sidewalks. And there has been entirely too much of each of those activities.

I have cleaned sidewalks and driveways until I've been "too pooped to scoop."

Every miserable snowfall has resulted in too much snow to handle with one of those easy-to-use push shovels. Those shovels are great if you receive no more than two inches of soft, fluffy snow.

After that, you might just as well take the shovel on to your car and use it as an overgrown hood ornament.

Several years ago, realizing that a true Nebraskan needs a snow scoop, I picked out a nice, strong grain scoop.

As far as I'm concerned, that's the only way to go.

Unlike push shovels, grain scoops can handle a large amount of snow. But, there are a couple of problems: 1. The scoops are heavy when filled with snow, 2. wet snow sticks to the scoop and it's hard to dump.

I've learned this winter that no matter when you scoop your sidewalks and driveway, it is the wrong time.

If you scoop too early, the wind comes up and blows everything shut again. If you wait too long to scoop, the snow becomes packed and you need to use a hammer and chisel to get it off the sidewalks.

Another frustrating thing occurs after you have gotten your driveway all cleared and have gone inside to warm up. You take off your coat, cap, gloves and wet shoes and sit down to drink a cup of hot tea.

As you glance up, you see the snow plow come by and dump a pile of snow on the edge of your driveway. That's never happened to any of you has it? I probably would have moved to the Bahamas this winter if it weren't for my generous neighbor. At "Let me at that snow" Ahlman. He probably would just as soon move farther north where he can use a snowblower to clean neighbors' walks 12 months a year.

Most of the crummy winter weather occurred in December and things improved in January. For a little while! Looking back at 1983, I would have to term the year as, well, average at best. It just wasn't a very good year, in my opinion.

Since I wasn't all that thrilled with 1983 I was kind of anxious for 1984 to roll around. Now, I'm ready for 1985.

This is the worst start to a new year I've ever experienced—for numerous reasons. I sure hope the next 11 1/2 months are a lot better than the first half-month has been.

So far, this year could compare with walking barefoot through a dog kennel. Or getting caught outside on crutches during a hailstorm.

It's been about like running the rapids of a mighty river on a leaky water mattress.

It has compared with water skiing on lathes.

Or trying to polevault over 18 feet with a pile of alligators below.

It's been about as rewarding as diving into a swimming pool and finding out someone drained the water.

1984 has been about as successful as the Louisiana Purchase was to Mexico.

I'm not usually the superstitious kind but this column was written on, you guessed it, Friday the 13th!

What a terrific way to start the new year! At least no black cats crossed my path.

Hopefully, 1984 has gone better for most of you. If so, have a happy new year. If it hasn't gone any better, then I hope that things improve.

Trying to be optimistic, it looks like things have to get better because it doesn't seem like they can get any worse.

I'll keep my fingers crossed.

ask a lawyer

a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q: My mother in law died recently, leaving a will stating that certain valuable antiques and personal possessions were to go to her daughter and certain grandchildren. I have taken care of her for several years, and neither I nor my children were mentioned in her will. Is this legal?

A: The purpose of a will is to allow people to pass on their worldly possessions as they see fit; therefore, courts cannot modify or change the property distribution set out in a will unless the will's property distribution is found to have resulted from fraud or mistake.

If you believe the will is a result of fraud or mistake, you can contest the will by having your lawyer file objections to the admission of the will to probate.

Any will contest must be commenced within 3 years after death or within 12 months after an informal probate of the will, whichever is later.

You should note, however, that the court will not modify the will if it appears (in the absence of fraud or mistake) that the admission of you and your children was intentional.

The fact that you cared for our mother in law would not, by itself, give you any rights to her estate. Any contest of a will would have to be based on a legally recognizable interest such as a contract right that might arise if, for example, your mother in law had agreed to care of her.

If you had such an agreement, you could file a claim against her estate without having to contest the will.

Science kit for rural schools?

To the editor: I've been following your articles on rural schools with a great deal of interest.

I have taught in several schools in the Wayne and Carroll area. I have 33 years of teaching behind me and I loved every minute of it. Many of you reading this may have been a former student of mine. With this experience in my background I am speaking out my opinion.

Rural schools may have disadvantages, so do city schools. The teacher student contact is much closer in rural schools. They know you better and will come to you for help and get it much, much faster.

They spend more time on basics and not on so many frills. A teacher has just so many hours a day and she can spread herself just so thin. You may have all one grade in a city school, but they are not equal in handling the subject matter. This adds to your problems and time wise as to your accomplishments.

Take a check on rural vs. city elementary you might be surprised at your outcome. Many of our rural students are outstanding citizens today.

Science is a subject most of your teachers said was inadequate. Why doesn't the county have a science kit checked out and passed from school to school to use for experiments?

This would give them the same background as city schools. I found city schools can't have everything either for they have a room or two per grade to equip. Most of the experiments in today's textbooks do not take that much equipment. A good kit would be enough.

Personally I think a lot of basic teaching is done in our little rural schools. Maybe many states that have done away with them should reconsider and solve the problem. Johnny can't read!

Sincerely,
Fern E. Kelley

Worthwhile programming

I am wondering if folks tune in Channel 19. It is an educational station and there is some very interesting entertainment. It is surely worth a try.

One evening not too long ago they had the story of the Andes Mountains of South America which was very interesting. After a very dry season when the rains come it is a breath taking sight to see the beautiful flowers of every color spring up. Some of the flowers are like small trees and covered with blooms that attract the beautiful humming birds to take the nectar of the flowers.

It is these mountains the Indians raise llamas for their wool and meat. The wool is very heavy and comes off in large chunks when sheared. These animals are a proud looking animal. The wool is combed and is woven into articles of clothing.

The mountains of South America are very high with deep gorges between with swiftly flowing streams of water that eventually find their way to the Amazon River. Water fowl nest along these streams and their young take to the water when a few days old.

Also on Channel 19 there are shows in Ballet competition. The other evening there were contestants from Germany and China just to name a few. Very entertaining. Also there is some beautiful orchestral music and some outstanding opera singers.

It is not necessary to be on Cable as a friend of mine living in the county is not on cable and still enjoys programs on 19.

Hit close to home

To the editor: I am a staff member of a different nursing home. When I read the article "Too little praise" it hit pretty close to home. I too feel our community could do more with supporting the staff and volunteering their time with our residents.

Even though we have enough staff to get the daily physical requirements done, we don't always have time for the extras, just someone to listen to. Many times that can be very time consuming when you think of the number of people. Maybe someone reading this could make the time to visit a patient in a nursing home near you. You'd be surprised at the smile you'll get.

Hope reduction in taxes possible

MERLE'S MESSAGE
from the Unicameral
By Merle Von Milden

The Second Session of the 88th Legislature convened at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 4. It is the beginning of my fourth regular session since being elected as your state senator and it promises to be a very busy one.

The day began with a brief welcoming address by the governor. Extended debate over adoption of the procedural rules of the legislature followed these opening remarks. The debate focused on the validity of the committee recently created by the executive board of the legislature to investigate the failure of the Commonwealth financial institution.

There was some concern about whether the total membership of the legislature had to vote to ratify the executive board's actions. It was argued that this was necessary so that there would be no doubt about the committee's authority to investigate, issue subpoenas, compel testimony, etc.

When the legislature is not in session, its business is conducted by a select group of senators who comprise the executive board. Just exactly what authority the executive board has in this area while the legislature is in session is unclear. However, it was decided that ratification was not needed.

A CONTROVERSIAL legislative resolution was the center of debate on Thursday. LR 221 was introduced to provide a guideline for the legislature to follow when making its budgetary decisions this session.

Since this is the first year that the legislature will set the income and sales tax rates, LR 221 calls for a budget that would allow the sales tax to be reduced from 4 percent to 3 percent and the income tax rate from 20 percent of your federal income tax to 16 percent.

The sales tax drops automatically to 3 percent this spring so a reduction to 3 percent is not dramatic. I hope that such a reduction in sales and income taxes is in deed possible. However, the majority did not want to work under these budgetary restraints and were able to kill the motion on a vote of 27-17.

LB 63 was killed on Friday morning on a vote of 28-13. This bill would have exempted the Lancaster County Board from publishing its proceedings in the local newspapers. Although, it wouldn't have affected my district, I think it would have set a bad precedent.

It would only be a matter of time before smaller county boards approached us to ask for a similar exemption. I think the publication requirement is important to insure that you, the public, are informed of the actions of your governing bodies. The legislature should not enact laws which restrict public access to this information.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON saw the governor present his State of the State address. Highlights include a request for more aid to education including significant raises in teachers' salaries; a pay increase for state employees and an increase to improve our roads and transportation system.

The income tax rate would be lowered to 18 percent while the sales tax would remain the same except for the half cent decrease which automatically goes into effect this spring.

Overall, I was hoping for a more conservative budget with more emphasis on tax relief. Time will tell how successful the governor is in selling his proposals to the Legislature.

I want to emphasize that I will be doing my best to fairly represent all the people and concerns of my District. If I can assist you in any way, please contact me by phone at 471-2716 or write c/o State Capitol, Lincoln 68509.

The Roaring Eighties: If we can keep it

By Richard Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

When Benjamin Franklin left the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787, he was asked by a woman what form of government America would have. "A republic, Ma'am," Franklin replied. "If you can keep it." The groundwork has been laid for a long period of strong and sustained economic growth, such that future generations will remember the 1980s as the Roaring '80s — if we can keep it.

The recovery will continue to run strong and deep. If we have finally learned from the fragility of the 1970s that ever increasing federal spending, higher taxes and attempts to direct the economy from the corridors of power in Washington are failed policies and proven prescriptions for disaster.

UNEMPLOYMENT WILL continue its steady decline and fall below 7.5 percent by year's end, if we have learned that lower marginal tax rates generate real jobs and real economic growth by encouraging work, savings and investment.

The Reagan tax cut which slashed personal income tax rates by 25 percent across the board has already created more than 3.6 million new jobs in 1983. Millions more jobs will be created in 1984 unless Congress raises taxes and kills off the hopes of those looking for work.

Inflation which dropped from 13.3 percent in 1979 and 12.4 percent in 1980 to below 4 percent during 1983 — the lowest level in years — will stay low in 1984, if we have learned that inflation does not come from greedy Arabs or sunspots or because Americans live too well, but rather from the overworked printing presses in Washington.

Interest rates which have dropped from 21.5 percent in 1981 to 11 percent today will continue to move downward, if Congress can summon the will to reduce deficit spending by cutting back on the growth of federal outlays.

Real economic growth will continue strong in 1984 following on the heels of a 2.5 percent jump in the first quarter of 1983, a 9.7 percent increase in the second quarter, a 7.9 percent increase in the third quarter and an expected 4.5 percent rise in the fourth quarter. If we have learned that low tax, low inflation policies — not federal spending — create jobs and economic progress.

OTHER UPWARD trends will continue. 1983 saw over half a million more self employed Americans, a 15.9 percent increase in industrial production, a 7.4 percent increase in manufacturing productivity, an 11 percent jump in retail sales, an 8.6 percent increase in disposable personal income and more new business incorporations in the first seven months of 1983 than in any full year prior to 1975.

Predicting the future of the $3 trillion American economy, the largest in the world, is a tricky business. Predicting the future actions of Congress is impossible.

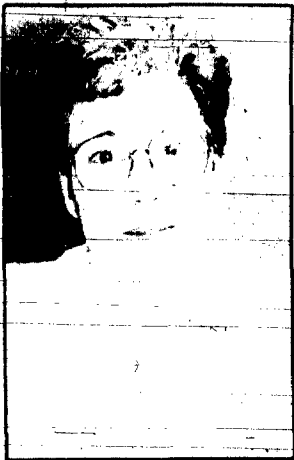

And yet, more than one would like to think our economic well being depends on congressmen and women learning from the high tax, big government stagnation of the 1970s, and the low tax, low inflation recovery of the past year, and choosing the path of economic growth over the path of government growth.

Oh, yes. My optimistic prediction for 1984 comes with one more caveat. One more "if." Congress will not sidetrack economic growth with higher taxes. If we have learned that democracy is not a spectator sport.

If America is to continue the low low inflation, pro-growth policies of the past year, those men and women who understand the power and dynamics of a free economy must involve themselves in the political process, by communicating frequently and forcefully with their elected representatives and working hard to elect pro-growth, pro jobs candidates in the 1984 elections.

This week The Wayne Herald asked executives at five Wayne financial institutions, "What do you see for the Wayne-area economy in 1984?"

"I don't foresee any major fluctuations like we've seen in the past. I don't think interest rates are going to go significantly one way or the other." — Betty Addison, vice president, Midwest Federal Savings and Loan

"I'm optimistic about our local economy for 1984. Our merchants tell us that sales have picked up. I think you could see the economy will pick up due to inflation and cheaper interest rates." — Bill Dickey, executive vice president, First National Bank of Wayne.

"I think the economy here in Wayne will remain quite stable with the entities we have here such as the college, the government institutions and agriculture. Of course there are so many variables with agriculture, but historically it's been strong and stable." — Pat Gross, president, Triangle Finance.

"I look for the economy to improve in 1984 — especially the farm economy. Grain and livestock prices are higher than they were a year ago and therefore the farm economy is good. If farmers spend more, that should be good for Wayne." — Bob Jordan, executive v. p., State National Bank and Trust

"We are looking on the positive side because the Wayne economy is primarily agricultural and all the signs are there that the economy will be better. We expect rates to remain stable and possibly decline." — Ron Sladek, President, First Savings Company.

Girl Scouts selling cookies

Friday, Jan. 13 marked the beginning of the annual Girl Scout cookie sale.

Wayne Girl Scouts, along with other girls of the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, will be calling on residents door to door to purchase the cookies from now through Jan. 30.

All cookies sell for $1.75 a box and will be delivered between Feb. 25 and March 8.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of Girl Scout cookie sales which help finance troop activities and support local councils.

COOKIES ARE again being supplied by Little Flower Baker, a Beatrice food company. Favorites being offered are the Thin Mints, the coconut-caramel Samoa, the Trefoil, the peanut butter creams called DoSidos, Chocolate Chunk, and the Tagalongs, a peanut butter base covered with chocolate.

New this year is the Medallion, a cookie that commemorates the 50 years of Girl Scouts selling cookies. The Medallion is a shortbread cookie with either a praline or chocolate coating.

For businesses, Girl Scouts are offering a portion pack, which includes 300 cookies individually wrapped two in a pack. Cookies offered in the portion pack include the Medallion, Thin Mints and Trefoils. Each pack of 300 sells for $25.95.

MONEY EARNED from the cookie sales benefit both the individual troops as well as the council. It is because of the cookie sale that many troops can carry out activities like camping and field trips while still keeping weekly dues to a minimum.

Revenues earned from the cookie sale also help maintain the council's camp — Camp Crossed Arrows — which was purchased in 1963. Today, the 151-acre camp has a winterized troop house, three units complete with platform tents and washstands, as well as a shower house near completion.

The camp is available for year round use by the troops and is the site of resident camp in the summer.

WAYNE RESIDENTS who are not contacted and would like to order cookies are asked to call Donna Eckhoff, 375-1264, or Jill Perry, 375-2790.

NSAA proposing pair of major rule changes

The Nebraska School Activities Association is considering two proposals that could have great impact on high school sports in the state.

The first proposal would shorten the prep winter sports (basketball, wrestling and swimming) season by approximately one month.

Under the present system, schools may begin practices for winter sports during week 19 of the academic year (approximately Nov. 7). The first contests are slated for week 23 (approximately Dec. 1).

Under the new proposal, the first practice date would be moved to week 23 (approximately Dec. 7) while the initial contests would be moved to week 26 (approximately Jan. 1).

Rationals for the proposal, listed in the latest issue of the NSAA monthly bulletin, follow:

1. Considering the time out for Thanksgiving and Christmas within the present NSAA schedule, there is little change in the amount of preparation, but less competition. Proposal allows for more time for academic endeavors during November and December.
2. This would bring the winter sports season into line with the other seasons as to length.
3. This proposal would still allow for Christmas tournaments.

4. This would keep teams qualifying for the football playoffs from being penalized due to far less preparation time for the first contest date of the basketball season.
5. Eases some concern about the amount of the time football players had to lose weight for certification. Although this proposal does not move the certification date back, it does delay competition so that a wrestler could spend more time concentrating on gradual weight loss before his first competition.

The second proposal would change the period of school classification (based on enrollment) from one year to two.

Rationals for the classification change follow:

1. In football, where conferences are used to determine qualifiers for the playoffs, conference membership would be stabilized for a 2-year contract period. Under the present method, conferences may re-align 1 year to meet the 5 schools of 1 classification requirement and then have to re-align the following year because of a change in classification by 1 or more schools.

If the schools desire a 2-year classification in all activities, district assignments could be made on a 2-year basis. This would permit contest sites and judges and officials to be elected on a 2-year basis.

Lady Cats fall to Pitt Gorillas

The Lady Gorillas of Pittsburg State parlayed a 15-point performance by the CSIC's leading scorer, Janet Clesen, to dump Wayne State 77-55 in Pittsburg, Kan., Friday night.

Pitt vaulted to a 42-24 halftime lead and methodically rolled to the win while hitting 53 percent (31-of-59) of its shots. The Cats made good on a meager 23 of 65 (35 percent) attempts from the floor.

On the boards, the Gorillas tore down 40 caroms to WSC's 32. Wayne State was paced by Sophomore Shari Khron with 8 boards while Pitt's Terry Barto tallied 7.

Scoring honors went to Wildcat Barb Wragge, who tallied 24 points while hitting 10 of 25 shots from the field.

Wayne State's star center, sophomore Deb Nygren, was still hospitalized after an auto accident over the holidays.

Pitt raised its record to 9 overall, 1-0 in the CSIC while the Cats fell to 4-7 and 0-2 in conference play.

Wayne State was slated to travel to Missouri Southern on Saturday night.

Bears out of frying pan, into freezer

Laurel's girls basketball team went from the frying pan into the deep-freeze Friday night against Wynot en route to a 36-31 loss to the Blue Devils on the road.

"We shot pretty well at the beginning, but just went cold all of the sudden in the middle of the second quarter," said Laurel head coach Gale Hamilton.

The Bears finished the night shooting a meager 25 percent (14-of-55) from the field. Hamilton said the Blue Devils went into a 1-3-1 defense and "just pulled us out of our offense."

Laurel fell behind 16-13 at halftime but scored 5 quick points to begin the third period to take an 18-16 lead. The game seemed for a while, but Wynot outscored the Bears 10-5 in the fourth period en route to the win.

Hamilton said the key to the game was turnovers. "We were cold, but they forced 34 turnovers," he said. "We probably played our worst game of the season."

Laurel out-rebounded the Blue Devils 45-30 as Jean Lute tore down 12 and Wendy Robsen and Gail Twiford each added 10.

Robsen was the game's leading scorer with 12 points while Wynot's Joslin Wieseler tallied 10.

Laurel is slated to play host to Hartington tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

Freburg revamps line-up; Trojans steal victory

The Wakefield Trojans boys' basketball team literally stole a victory from Winside Friday night on the road.

The Trojans acted like a bunch of javelin throwers, accounting for 27 steals en route to the 43-26 win.

Wakefield coach Eric Kovar credited the thefts to the Trojans' ability to run the press against the Wildcats.

"We got some steals, especially in the fourth quarter, off the press that helped us immensely," Kovar said. "We got a lot in the first half but we didn't convert any."

ANOTHER FACTOR contributing to the Cats' tendency to give up the ball was that Winside mentor Mark Freburg juggled his starting lineup after last week's 58-47 loss to Snyder. The Cats started two sophomores (Ryan Prince and Doug Mundil) and a pair of freshmen (Mike Thies and Randy Leap) against Wakefield.

Scott Janke was the only senior to start against the Trojans.

"In a way, we were partly forced to because Dan Mundil had arthroscopic knee surgery today (Friday)," Freburg said.

"We really can't count on him the rest of the year -- hopefully he'll be back, though," Freburg said.

EVEN WITH Mundil out, it is not a state secret that Freburg was unhappy with the play of several of his upperclassmen during the last several games -- the main reason for the shake-up.

Was Kovar surprised to see the younger Wildcats start the game?

"Yeah, but it didn't change our game plan," he said. "We planned on coming out and pressing them anyway."

"I'd seen them play before and I figured we couldn't let Janke get the ball."

The press worked to help create turnovers, but it did little to slow Janke down. The 6-3 senior finished the night with 19 points and 10 rebounds.

"We couldn't stop Janke," Kovar said. "Everytime he got the ball, he scored -- he was just too much for us to handle."

WAKEFIELD JUMPED out to a 10-4 lead after one quarter -- thanks to scrappy play on defense and 9 Wildcat turnovers.

Freburg finally decided to inject a few of his normal starters into the game before things got out of hand.

Senior John Hawkins and juniors Jim Roberts and Chris Jorgensen were shuffled in and out for the remainder of the game -- enough to pull the Cats to within two (15-13) at intermission.

Winside tied the game twice in the third period -- at 19-19 with just 2-19 left and again at 21 a few seconds later. But Wakefield kept plugging away with perimeter shots and finished the quarter leading 25-19 on a pair of free throws by Jason Erb.

The Trojans exploded for 19 fourth quarter points off of several steals to pull away to the victory.

FREBURG SAID the Trojans gave the Cats trouble all night on offense -- a fact evidenced by Winside's 8 of 26 (31 percent) shooting from the field.

"They (Wakefield) are quick and they got a lot of steals," Freburg said. "They kept us out of our offense plus we didn't run as well as we would have liked."

Will Winside stay with the revamped lineup?

"We need outside ball players," Freburg said. "We don't know yet, they (the younger players) lack a little confidence in their shooting."

"But they played well and held their own -- especially in the first half."

KOVAR WAS obviously pleased with the win, but wasn't exactly tickled with the Trojans shooting (20 of 62 for 34 percent). "We must have shot 10 percent in the first quarter -- we got a lot of steals and didn't convert a lot of them."

The Trojans pulled down 33 rebounds to Winside's 29. Wes Greve accounted for 8 caroms while Erb added 7.

Winside's Janke took scoring honors with his 19 points while teammate Jim Roberts was next on the Cats' side, with 3.

Wakefield was paced by Erb's 12 points while Troy Greve and Brian Soderberg each tallied 8 points.

IN JUNIOR varsity action earlier in the evening, Winside dumped the Trojans 34-23 as Kevin Falk tallied 9 points. John Halverson led Wakefield with 6.

The Trojans will take on Emerson Hubbard on the road tomorrow (Tuesday) night while the Wildcats are slated to take on the Wausa Vikings on Friday.

9 Devils score in romp

Nine players scored for Wayne Friday night as the Blue Devils boys' basketball team upped its season record to 7-3 with a 67-53 win over the Mustangs of Stanton on the road.

Wayne looked as if it might be in for another long night in the first quarter as the Mustangs led 13-12 after the first period of play. But the Blue Devils mixed it up on offense, and managed to hold Stanton to nine in the second quarter while tallying 21 big points.

"We played a 2-1-2 or a 2-3 and we did press some," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. Sharpe said the key to the game might well have been the second half.

"We came out in a little half court trap and that put us by seven," he said. "I thought that got us going."

The Blue Devils didn't exactly fire off the launch pad to begin the second half, however, Wayne went four minutes before scoring a second half point.

"We turned the ball over four or five times," Sharpe said. "We just didn't get a very good start."

Stanton's 6-8 Scott Paragill was the game's leading scorer with 31 points, but he tallied 16 of those in the fourth quarter after Sharpe had inserted several reserve players for Wayne.

"We pretty much took away their big boy for a while," he said.

Junior Steve Overin led the Blue Devils with 19 points while Rod Dahl added 12. Don Larsen and Overin led Wayne on the boards with 13 and 7 caroms, respectively while Dahl added 4.

Wayne tallied a total of 58 rebounds (31 defensive).

Sharpe said Larsen's low point production (4 points) was because the Blue Devils had the sophomore in a different role on offense than in the past.

"We were in a 1-3-1 with Larsen on the wing," he said. "That's why he didn't score that much."

Sharpe said the Blue Devils are going to play better. "They (HCC) are going to play better."

"But I think our kids will hang in there."

Sharpe pointed out that the Trojans are tough to beat at home.

"They haven't lost up there since the great flood," he said.

Softball tourney set

The Columbus Softball Association will conduct a fund-raising softball tournament the weekend of Jan. 28-29 to help defray the costs of last season's operation.

The co-ed "Snowball Tourney" will award 4 frozen turkeys to the winning team with the second-place team receiving 4 birds and the third-place squad taking home 3 gobblers.

Entry fee for the slow-pitch, double-elimination event is $40 per team. The entry deadline is Jan. 20.

Teams can be made up of men and women and do not necessarily have to consist of players that have played together on a team before.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Randy Krumland at the Boulevard Lanes (564-8022).

Commission warns snowmobile users

The snow cover that is blanketing much of Nebraska provides nearly ideal conditions for the snowmobiler, but Game and Parks Commission Conservation Officers say many people are operating their machines illegally.

Don Schaepler, Chief of the Commission's Law Enforcement Division, says all snowmobiles must be registered and licensed annually in the owner's county of residence. Snowmobile owners can register and license their machines at their County Treasurer's office.

For information about snowmobiling rules and regulations, write for the free "Nebraska Snowmobile Guide," Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Box 30370, Lincoln, Neb. 68503.

Held finds why's and Wynots

Laurel coach John Held found out the why's and Wynots of basketball Friday night as his Bears were edged by the Blue Devils 45-41 in overtime on the road.

The tally stood at 33-27 in favor of the Devils after three; and it appeared as if Wynot was about to blow the game open, but Laurel battled back and tied things at the end of regulation on a 15 foot jumper by Dave Kardell.

Fremont Oktoberfest
On Nov. 11, 13 members of the Wayne High German Club traveled to the Fremont Oktoberfest. The evening of games, singing, dancing and eating was sponsored by the Fremont German Club.

Rod Porter participated in the polka contest and won first prize of five dollars. A live polka band provided music.

The Fremont club members worked hard in preparing the food. Kaiser rolls, bratwurst, and several types of pretzels satisfied the hungry crowd. Free pop also was available.

Organizing FHA
This year, Wayne High School is organizing a Future Home-Makers of America (FHA) Chapter.

So far, the group has met 3 times and a Christmas ornament exchange was held. An FHA group deals with many areas in the life of teenagers, such as home economics skills, and community and school activities. Members are introduced to new ideas for homemaking and modern living.

FHA is divided into district, state, and national chapters. Conventions are held throughout the year, and officers are elected.

This year, under the direction of Mrs. Cathy Fink, the group wants to get organized by meeting 2 times a month, electing officers, setting dues, and planning activities.

Fun-filled evenings will be planned in the future. The group also plans to hold fund raisers, such as a bake sale, and attend conventions held in the spring in Lincoln.

Deutsch Klub

German Club has been quite active this year. A pizza party in Bressler Park started off the new German Club year.

Officers elected were Lori Baker, president; Pete March, vice president; Becky Schmidt, secretary treasurer; and Paula McCright, student council representative.

It was decided meetings would be held every second Monday of each month.

The first shipment of German candy was sorted and slides of the Berlin Wall were shown at the second meeting. Plans were made to attend the Fremont Oktoberfest and to eat at BH of Germany in Norfolk on Nov. 1. Becky Schmidt, Paula McCright, and Pete March made apple cakes of the Pennsylvania Dutch heritage for the meeting.

T-shirts, more German candy, and advent calendars were ordered at the Nov. club meeting. A fund raising dance was planned for Jan. and 10 club members planned to go to Lincoln on Nov. 20 to see the Oscar-winning foreign film "Mephisto".

A Christmas party for parents and students was planned for Dec. 12. The German film, "Der Abtahrer", was presented. Lori Baker, Paula Koplin and Pete March provided the refreshments.

Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation
Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership seminars seek out, recognize, and reward leadership potential in high school sophomores. This year's Laurel Concord winner was Paul Pearson, and runners up were Michelle Joslin and Marcie Campbell.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Brogie, both teachers at Laurel High, judged this contest among sophomores. Carol Osborne and Lisa Dietz also helped judge the competition. The Student Council picked the judges.

Paul Pearson will go on to a 2-day State Leadership workshop in Lincoln.

Paul is the son of Dale and Mae Pearson of Wakefield.

Tour to Nucor
On Nov. 29, the students in electricity class and the AIASA club of Laurel Concord High School toured Nebraska's largest consumer of electricity, Nucor Steel.

Two students who participated in the field trip called it a learning experience. Students learned the steel making process and the importance of good quality work.

Students also learned some interesting facts about Nucor Steel such as the fact that the monthly electricity bill at Nucor ranges from a quarter million to a million dollars.

The biggest problem at Nucor Steel, as told by the safety coordinator, is drugs and alcohol on the job. He also reported that if an employee is one minute late for work, he loses the day's bonus.

Lyle VanCleave, electricity instructor and head of the AIASA club, set up the tour to show his students an industry, industrial process, job performance, job skills, and employment opportunities.

The details of the tour were arranged by student teacher Paul Sobansky who arranged the tour through the Nucor safety coordinator.

Worries, worries, and more worries

At Laurel Concord Public School, the juniors and seniors participated in a survey like the one administered to 900 California students to see what high school students worry about most in both the Laurel and California surveys, the students reported they worried about the death of their parents.

In fact the California student feared this most while the seniors at Laurel classified nuclear war as their greatest fear with their parents' death second. The Laurel juniors topped their list of worries with getting bad grades and parents dying.

The seniors chose being sick or crippled as their next worry and the juniors thought not finding a job would be a big concern. The students from California stated getting bad grades was their third greatest worry.

WINNER IN this year's Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership seminar was Paul Pearson. Runners-up were Michelle Joslin and Marcie Campbell. Those 3 are pictured here with Mr. Clark and Mr. Brogie.

Other concerns of the students not reported in the California survey include not having a girl, friend, not getting important things done, and goofing up while performing for someone.

Some things which students from California worried about rarely ever affected the Laurel students. For example, California students admitted that drug addiction worried them a lot, while the vast majority of students at Laurel did not concern themselves with this problem.

The same pattern also holds true with other worries such as the leaking of nuclear power plants, world overpopulation, parental divorce and looking up for the specified course. Miss Johnson stated, "A progress report tells parents how the student is doing in class."

Progress reports do help students. Many times a parent doesn't know that the student's work is falling. The progress report helps when the student doesn't realize how his grades are. With help from this report, grades become better when report cards come out.

Comments are often printed on the report. Miss Johnson usually writes what the students can do to improve their grades. Some ways are to pay attention in class, get daily studies done, hand in assignments, and also to come in for extra help.

Teachers disagree on whether or not the progress report is a "protection" to them. Mr. Roslad said, "It's a courtesy to the student and parent." Miss Johnson feels the opposite. "It's a protection to me because I can say I warned the students of a falling grade," she added.

Progress reports are sent to students every 10 weeks after a new 9 week period.

By Bronda Juvett

A helpful hint
Progress reports at Laurel Concord High School provide proven results for teachers and students.

A progress report, as stated by Mr. Roslad, is a notification to a parent that their child isn't meeting minimum requirements

Navy Reserve seeking students

Ten thousand young men and women with no prior military service will be added to the strength of the Naval Reserve each year for at least the next 5 years.

The Sea Air Mariner (SAM) Program is seeking high school, college, vocational and technical students who wish to serve in the Navy, but are not looking for an extended tour of duty away from home.

Recruits selected for this program will have an opportunity to specialize in any of the 70 plus occupations the Navy offers. Most volunteers for the program are expected to be high school juniors and seniors, vocational students and college students.

For example, a high school student, at least 17 years old, would be eligible to join the program during the school year. He would attend basic training but when his junior and senior year, and upon completion of basic training would begin attending one monthly paid weekend training session. (A monthly paycheck for that one weekend a month, plus full pay for two weeks active duty for training each year adds up to $1,200 annually.)

After high school graduation, if qualified, he could attend a Navy "A" school, or receive additional apprentice training for his preferred professional or occupational education.

He would then resume regular Naval Reserve training sessions in or near his hometown, along with a two week period of active duty for training each year.

Similar offers would be made to vocational and college students.

BONUSES OF up to $2,000 are offered if qualified in a designated technical Navy rating. Up to $4,000 in educational assistance is available to students enlisted in an eligible rating and enrolled in an accredited institution.

A special option open to graduates of technical schools, or men and women already skilled in an appropriate technical field, will enable them to enlist at an advanced pay grade.

For additional information on the "SAM" Program in the Naval Reserve, contact your Naval Reserve Recruiter, Doug Hausken, at 712-276-2944.

"REMEMBER ME?"

"Two years ago, I was proud to announce that I had lost thirty pounds on Diet Center's Program."

Using and maintaining weight is not easy. But Diet Center taught me how to lose weight and how to keep it off — the easy way! Every day I received encouragement from my counselors. Daily reinforcement prepared me right from the beginning for the day when I would reach my goal!

Diet Center taught me how to stabilize and maintain my ideal weight. This is all part of Diet Center's total program!

They even told me what to say to my husband so I got their approval. He stood by me all the way and brought me a new wardrobe when I reached my goal! You can do it too!
