I. M. Hipp is Carroll's new postmaster

I. M. Hipp has been named postmaster of the Carroll post office.

No, this I. M. Hipp is not the famed Nebraska running back, but rather Irene Mary Hipp of Pilger.

"I've had more fun with that name — you wouldn't believe it," said Mrs. Hipp referring to her famous "namesake."

Mrs. Hipp will be replacing Betty Kavanaugh, who was transferred to fill the postmaster's position in Laurel.

Mrs. Hipp, who first went to work for the Postal Service part time in February of 1970, began her official duties as postmaster Friday, when officials from the Postal Service's Mail Sectional Center in Omaha made the transition official.

She has been with the Carroll Post Office as a clerk since May of 1977.

Her new duties will include sorting of mail, handling window service, dispatching of mail, and "the whole ball of wax."

Mrs. Hipp will also oversee the general operation of the post office and its two-man staff, Chuck Kelzer and Gordon Davis.

Kelzer is a temporary fill in clerk from the Randolph Post Office. He will return to work there as soon as the Carroll position is filled.

Davis drives the Carroll Post Office's only route, which includes approximately 165 rural patrons in an eight-mile radius around Carroll. The town has no routes and citizens must pick up their mail at the post office.

Mrs. Hipp's husband, Raymond, is a book keeper and salesman for a seed company in Pilger. He will remain with that company, but the couple plans to move to Carroll.

"We'll move whenever arrangements can be made — probably within a year," Mrs. Hipp said.

Will her new position present much of a challenge?

"I hope it doesn't change much from what I'm used to," she said. "I've done about everything around here."

Trials might be moved

Judge says court is fire trap

The lack of a fire escape from the upper floor of the Wayne County Courthouse has one district judge concerned enough that he would consider moving a scheduled jury trial.

District Judge Merrill Warren of Creighton said he is not sure whether he would hold a jury trial in the Wayne County court or move it to either Stanton or Pierce.

"I am very much concerned about the safety of persons who have to use the second floor of the courthouse and courtroom," Judge Warren said in a telephone interview. "I am particularly concerned about the jurors I appoint and the people who are subpoenaed to testify."

WARREN SAID he is not afraid for his safety and added that courthouse employees are working there by choice. But he pointed out that citizens should have access to the courthouse without having to worry about fire hazards.

"I've been going to the Wayne County Courthouse for 15 years and I will keep going. But, I'm concerned about the responsibility we have to the citizens," the judge said. "That scares me. It concerns me that I might have to order someone to serve on a jury in that courtroom."

Warren said he would wait until a jury trial is planned before deciding whether to hold a trial in the Wayne County courtroom or move it to an adjoining county.

He said another possibility would be to give prospective jurors the option of declining jury appointment if they are afraid of the danger of a fire. That could be a costly option, Warren said, pointing out that the selection of a jury could take additional screening and be time-consuming.

THE JUDGE said the biggest danger on the upper floor of the courthouse is the threat of a fire in the stairway. Anyone on the top floor would have no means of escape if flames enveloped the stairway, he said.

The district judge said there was a similar situation years ago in Neligh. The courthouse there, also a historical landmark like Wayne's, had no fire escape from the upper floor.

A steel door and circular fire escape were added to the courthouse in 1975 at a cost of $2,800, he said.

Warren said that double that price is not even a lot to spend when human lives could be endangered.

The judge said the safety of the Wayne County Courthouse has been a concern of his since 1980 when the State Fire Marshal's Office first ordered that it be brought up to state standards.

"They've gone 4 years with no action. It's a gamble," he said.

LAST SUMMER, the State Fire Marshal's Office ordered the Wayne County Commissioners to bring the courthouse in line with state regulations.

The matter is being studied by an appeals board and possible options are now being considered by the commissioners.

One plan calls for a fire escape to be installed from the upper floor to the ground, the stair wells to be enclosed and a complete fire-detection system to be installed.

The escape is estimated to cost $10,000, the enclosure $5,000 and the alarm system $8,000. An elevator for handicapped also would be required at an approximate cost of $59,000.

The commissioners decided last Tuesday that they may let the county's voters decide whether to renovate the courthouse or build a new one. That issue could be placed on a ballot in the May primary election.

Peoples Temple story to be told

Bonnie Thielmann, author of "The Broken God," will speak Wednesday, Jan. 25 at 8 p. m. in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center on the Wayne State College campus.

"The Broken God" is Thielmann's in-depth study of Jim Jones and The Peoples Temple. Thielmann met Jones and his wife Marceline when she was 16 years old and living in Brazil with her missionary parents.

Since Jones and his wife did not speak Portuguese, she moved in with them to help acquaint them with the language and the people.

the goodness of the couple's everyday lifestyle and the way in which they shared their evening meals with 10 or 15 poor neighborhood children.

Years later, as a grown woman, Thielmann turned to Jones and The Peoples Temple for support after suffering a series of crises that led her to question her faith.

She became a prominent figure in The Peoples Temple in California and a confidant of Marceline Jones.

quirks of Jones' personality — the phony cancer "cures," faked "revelations" from the pulpit, and his use of women as sexual pawns.

Thielmann eventually defected from The Peoples Temple, but remained a confidant of Jones' wife.

TICKETS FOR Wednesday night's program cost $3 per person and may be purchased at the door.

Wayne State students and faculty will be admitted free with identification.

The program is being sponsored by the Wayne State College Student Activities Board.

IN THE MONTHS that followed, Thielmann had a long series of revelations and disillusionments.

Hats on

YOUNG KERRY McCUE, a student at West Elementary School in Wayne, models a hat sent to her by her grandmother, Sylvia Marshall, who resides in Saudia Arabia. Kerry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCue of Wayne, wore the hat to school last Friday in observance of Hat Day, listed in Chases' Calendar of Annual Events on the third Friday in January. For another picture of some of the hats worn by students, turn to page 4.

Veteran SCS technician retires

For the first time in 16 years, any farmers who drop by the Wayne County Soil Conservation Service won't see the friendly face of Verlin Francis.

Francis retired from the SCS office effective Jan. 2, ending a career with the government that spanned nearly 38 years. Two of those years were served in the military and the other 36 were served with the SCS.

Francis, 59, spent the last 16 years at the Wayne SCS office. He started with the SCS at Blair, then moved to Elkhorn in 1954 and then to Lyons in 1956.

FRANCIS WORKED as a soil conservation technician for the SCS. He staked out conservation work, helped build terraces, dams and waterways as well as some land leveling, and construction of tile drains years ago.

The SCS technician said conservation of soil has changed in some ways but added that it is pretty much the same as it has been for many years.

Francis added that farmers have seen a lot of erosion in the last 2 years and said that has made farmers more aware of the need for conservation work.

"Farmers have found that they need some terraces to shorten their slopes. They're seeing the necessity of terraces again," Francis said.

LAST YEAR the SCS completed 17 terrace jobs in the county. Another 5 or 6 were staked out but not yet completed.

Francis said that figure is higher than average and pointed out that the Payment in Kind program played a part. Because of PIK, a lot of ground was open last summer and allowed for more conservation work.

Reduced tillage is another form of soil conservation that is recommended by the SCS. That method often will leave 40 to 50 percent crop residue on top of the soil. Francis said the agency has always pushed keeping a lot of residue on top of the soil.

Francis said he also thinks no till conservation will catch on, depending on fuel prices and other factors.

CULTIVATORS ARE better equipped to handle ground with residue than they were in past years, Francis said.

Another method which can reduce the use of chemicals is crop rotation. Francis said crop rotation will help keep the ground built up with humus and slow down erosion.

Francis said the use of fertilizer and chemicals has led to a decline in crop rotation but adds that it can help production as well as the soil.

A field in which soybeans were raised for 2 consecutive years is more prone to erosion, the technician said.

Looking ahead, Francis said he believes people will keep building terraces and utilizing reduced tillage in the future. He said Iowa has set strict rules concerning erosion and said other states may follow.

ALTHOUGH THE PIK program allowed for the building of more terraces, it also led to more erosion in some places, Francis said some farmers didn't put a cover on their ground soon enough and lost topsoil in the heavy spring rains.

Francis said topsoil is a crucial thing to lose and added that a book he read claimed it takes 100 years for nature to build up 1 inch of topsoil.

Once ground has suffered erosion, Francis said crops, cover and chemicals can be put in to help build the soil back up. "One advantage today is that soil can be tested to see what it lacks," he said.

FRANCIS SAID he has no immediate plans for his retirement. "I have a lot of memories. There were a lot of good people," Francis said. "I enjoyed the work. I love the country and working with farmers."

Verlin Francis and his wife have 4 married children.

VERLIN FRANCIS recently retired from the SCS.

Wives and girlfriends beware!
The men of the Wayne area will soon be sporting scratchy growths of hair on their faces.

The centennial beard contest will begin Feb. 2—Ground Hog Day. That kind of sets the way for all bearded men to be nicknamed, "Ground Hogs."

Some of the beards will be nicely groomed and neat. Others will be scraggly and ugly.

Some men likely will be so fond of their whiskers and so happy to not shave that they will make the beards part of their facial attire for many years to come.

Others probably will hate the scratching and sweating that go along with chin toupees and will shave them off the minute the centennial celebration ends.

Whiskers have been an important part of many public figures and famous people for many years.

Some of the most famous are the Smith Brothers. You may remember them better as the two bearded wonders on cough drop boxes.

One of our most famous presidents, Abraham Lincoln, sported a coal-black beard that will be remembered for infinity. And how about Ulysses S. Grant?

Fidel Castro and Henry VIII probably will go down as two of history's most famous whiskered leaders.

If a vote was taken to determine the world's most famous bearded man, San to Claus surely would be one of the top vote-getters. Others who might get votes are Rip Van Winkle, Kenny Rogers, Grizzly Adams, Lyle Alzado, Charlie Daniels, Willie Nelson, ZZ Top and Wayne's Al Wittig.

There also have been plenty of famous mustaches throughout the years. Some of the most well-known mustachioed men are Rollie Fingers, Ben Davidson, Avery Shriver, Tom Sellick, Wyatt Earp, Snidely Whiplash and Wayne's own Ralph Barclay.

It will be interesting to see which Wayne area men grow beards or mustaches and which men elect to continue shaving. There are some people in the area I just can't picture with facial hair.

What would some of Wayne's famous personalities look like with beards? To find out, we've conducted a little experiment.

Can you picture our grand Mayor Wayne Marsh with a goatee or mullet chops? We figure this is the type of beard he should have and this is a preview of what to expect him to look like (should he elect to grow facial fuzz.)

County Attorney Bob Ensz just wouldn't look right with a beard—or would he? Can you imagine him presenting his case in a court trial while he sports a walrus mustache? Should he or shouldn't he? You be his jury.

Wayne State College President Ed Elliott might look nice in a handlebar mustache or a Kaiser Wilhelm mustache. It just wouldn't seem right for a college president to grow a beard but we could get used to it.

Dick Ditman of First National Agency better grow some bristles on his mug. There are lots of possibilities. Maybe he should grow a Fu Man Chu and do a Charlie Chan impersonation.

Joe Nuss of Ben Franklin fame probably should grow some facial fur to offset the lack of hair on top of his head. Again the possibilities are interesting. Maybe a full beard would be the best.

WSC's head football coach, Pete Chapman, could be sporting a beard as he finishes up recruiting this spring and summer. What kind of beard would best fit a football coach? How does this look?

Talk of centennial beards is one of the things a person can do without having to worry about being discriminatory. However, in this case I think I'll throw in one woman to see, just out of curiosity, how she would look with a beard. Let's try Anne Svoboda of the Wayne Chamber

A congressional consumer's guide

By Richard L. Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

When purchasing a used car, most Americans have a mental checklist: We kick the tires, check the mileage, look at the car's general appearance and examine the warranty. Buying a car is a big investment, and it is a decision—good or bad—that we must live with for years. A well polished clunker can look pretty good in the car lot, but end up costing its new owner hundreds of dollars in repairs. It is not a decision to be taken lightly.

I would suggest here that it is none too soon for Americans to begin preparing for a decision we all face on Nov. 6, Election Day. For electing a representative or senator can be every bit as expensive—take another look at your 1983 tax return—as purchasing a lemon of a car. It is also a decision you must live with for years. There is no warranty on representatives, and there's no trading them in for at least two years. Senators must be endured for 6 years.

Thus, in the interest of better government, I offer the following checklist as a consumer's guide to congressional candidates.

NOW JUST as all used cars were owned by little old ladies who only drove to church on Sundays, so are all congressional candidates committed foes of excessive government spending. Or so they will tell you.

Here are five quick checks to make to see if these politicians have been turning back the odometer.

The Balanced Budget Amendment: This constitutional amendment would require the federal government to balance its budget, much as you and I are required to do. This amendment has the support of more than 75 percent of all Americans and has been endorsed by 32 state legislatures.

It came up for a vote in the fall of 1982 and received the necessary two-thirds vote in the Senate but failed in the House of Representatives. If you hear a politician rail against deficit spending, but he or she voted against the Balanced Budget Amendment when it was before Congress, you know you are dealing with a lemon.

The Spending Limitation Amendment: This constitutional amendment was introduced in Congress alongside the Balance Budget Amendment. It would ensure that Congress balance the budget by limiting federal spending, rather than by piling more taxes on the American people. It is the sine qua non of fiscal responsibility. Put this on your checklist when you are looking at congressional candidates for 1984.

The Line Item Veto: The third item on the fiscal responsibility checklist would allow a president to veto part of an appropriations bill rather than face the choice of vetoing the entire bill or letting pork barrel projects slip through hidden in an otherwise worthwhile bill.

Today, 43 states have the line item veto in some form, and it is a powerful weapon for spending control. When politicians drop by your church or speak at a town meeting, be sure to ask how they stand on the Line Item Veto.

The 1981 Tax Cut: A key indicator of whether your congressman believes you work for a living or for the federal government. A big plus if your congressman voted for the 1981 tax cut that slashed personal income tax rates by 25 percent and brought us the present recovery. If he or she voted against the tax cut, it is probably time to send that congressman out into the private sector until he learns what it is like to work for a living.

No New Taxes: Will the incumbent or challenger asking for your support promise to keep his hands off the people's tax-cut? No new taxes. No "revenue enhancement." No "deficit reduction measures." And finally, no new euphemisms for tax increases.

If your incumbent senator or representative supports these 3 constitutional amendments and demonstrates a sufficient aversion to higher taxes, you probably have a "keeper" and it is safe to send him or her back to Washington for another few years. If not, it is time to start taking a good hard look at alternative candidates.

ask a lawyer

Q. I am an unwed mother and my child has my boyfriend's name (he has acknowledged the child as his). We split up and he has demanded visitation rights. He has threatened to take off with my daughter if I don't let him see her two hours a week.

He once gave me $40 towards her support, but never anything else. I'm scared of him and don't want him to ever come near me or my daughter. Since he doesn't pay support, does he have any rights to see her? How can I keep him away from us?

A. In the absence of any court action to the contrary, you and your child's father both have parental rights with regard to your child.

These include both the right of visitation and an obligation to support the child. The fact that you and your boyfriend were never married does not lessen or eliminate the rights you each have.

If you are concerned about what action your boyfriend might take, contact a lawyer. He or she can assist you in petitioning the court for legal custody of your child and establishing child support and visitation rights.

Your child's father would, of course, be entitled to have his interests represented in any hearing regarding the child.

If you wish to have your boyfriend's parental rights terminated, this must be done through a proceeding in juvenile court.

In determining whether to terminate parental rights, the court considers what is in the best interest of the child, including any abandonment of the child by a parent, any neglect or refusal to care for or support the child, any conduct which would make the parent unfit, and any mental illness or mental deficiency of the parent. Again, the child's father would also be entitled to exercise his rights in a termination proceeding.

You would be well advised to contact an attorney so that the rights and obligations of each parent can be legally established in case a dispute should arise over custody, visitation or support.

If you have a legal question, write "Ask a Lawyer," P. O. Box 2529, Lincoln 68502. This column is intended to provide general legal information, not specific legal advice. "Ask a Lawyer" is a public service of the Nebraska State Bar Association.

This week, The Wayne Herald asked 5 Wayne State College students, "What do you think should be done with the building that used to be the Kappa Delta Gamma house and was at one time the WSC president's residence?"

"I think they should renovate it and rent it out to someone. They can save it and make money to defray the costs of renovating it."
— Tim Uber

"Save it. It's a landmark. At least Wayne will be noted for something. They went through the trouble to move it across campus years ago, so why tear it down now?"
— Rob Dal Bianco

"The administration should open their eyes and take this a little more seriously. If we want to continue to grow, we should be expanding into facilities the students can use. It's a great attraction and it has sentimental, historical value for the college."
— Dean Jacobs

"They should renovate it and then use it for campus purposes like fraternity meetings and club meetings. They should keep it with the college."
— Gary McInnis

"I think they should just get rid of it. It's not doing us any good. They should be able to sell it. It's not serving any purpose."
— Mike McDermott

On to state

Warnemunde, Michael Gable, Trisha Topp, Susie Petersen, Chris Olson, Director Penny Roberts.

Winside one act wins — Congratulations to the Winside one-act play cast and crew. On Wednesday, Jan. 18, they traveled to Orchard for district competition. Their play, "Pink Lemonade for Tomorrow" won the first place trophy in competition with 6 other Class D plays. Orchard's team took second.

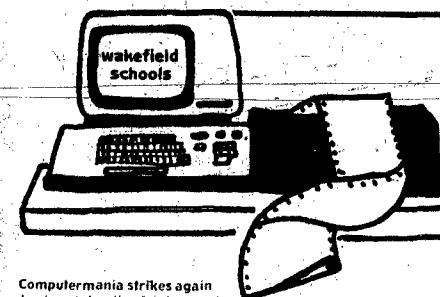

Additional congratulations go to Trisha Topp who received the "Best Actress" award. Other cast members are Chris Olson, Julie Warnemunde and Mike Gable. The play is crewed by Susie Petersen, Cindy Berg and Kerri Leighton. The play director is Miss Penny Roberts from the Winside School faculty.

The play will next be presented in state level competition at Galenberg on Jan. 27. A public performance of the play will be given Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Winside School multi purpose room. No admission will be charged.

Home ec. field trip — The Winside Junior Home

Economics class will be visiting the Wayne hospital on Thursday, Jan. 26. This is part of their child development class.

Spring play scheduled — Casting for the play "The Curious Savage" has started. The play is scheduled for an April 13 production.

Computermania strikes again — Look out for the freshmen as they make a wild dash for the computers! Additional software has been purchased and students are sharpening their skills both before and after school.

Other equipment now available in the business department includes the memory typewriter which is being leased from Educational Service Unit One. This machine is being used by the office procedures students as they prepare for employment.

These students have also recently completed a unit on application letters, resumes and job interviews. The highlight of this study was applying for a position in a local business and being interviewed.

The local businesses who participated were "Lefty" Olson of Lefty's Accounting, John Viken of the Wakefield Health Care Center and Harry Mills and Rod Garwood of Educational Service Unit One.

New semester brings changes — The first semester of the 1983-84 school year came to a close on Friday, Jan. 13, as students handed in reports, took final exams or brought food and had parties. Several classes at Wakefield are set up on a semester basis.

The next classes beginning second semester include speech, singles living, composition, general business, art IV, art III, computer programming, data processing, Spanish B, clothing and textiles, economics, physical science, physical geography and business math.

One-act play contest — On Wednesday, Jan. 11, Wakefield hosted the Clark Division one-act play contest.

Wakefield's entry in the contest was a melodrama entitled "The Banker's Dilemma." The play and its cast were well represented in both the individual and group award areas.

In individual awards, Randy Kinney of Wakefield received honorable mention for his acting, while Kiela Lund was given the award for best supporting actress. On the group level, Wakefield won the competition and received a first place trophy. The cast of "The Banker's Dilemma" includes: Cari Johnson, Edward Haglund, Kiela Lund, Randy Kinney and Jane Gustafson.

The director of the play is speech and drama sponsor, Val Bard. The Wakefield Chapter of FHA also contributed to making the one act play contest a success. The FHA members and their sponsor, Mrs. Kathy Mitchell, prepared an evening meal for all participants. The meal consisted of taverns, baked beans, potato chips, carrot and celery sticks, punch and chocolate chip bars and was served in the Home Ec room from 4:30-5:30.

Organizational news — In other organizational news, many organizations are planning for upcoming activities. The National Honor Society had a meeting recently to plan a supper for their parents and an upcoming ing dance. Other items discussed at this meeting were the annual officer's supper, and the illness of NHS honorary member, Mrs. Margaret Paulson.

The FBLA also held a meeting recently. Items discussed at this meeting were: the upcoming FBLA sponsored dance on Jan. 20, and the future FBLA State Leadership Conference.

Junior High basketball — On Monday, Jan. 9, the Wakefield junior high girls basketball team played at Laurel. The seventh grade won with a score of 10-9. The eighth grade lost, however, with a score of 20-21.

In the scoring in the eighth grade game, Sharon Wenstrand had 8 points, while Brenda Boeckenhauer scored 2. In the seventh grade game, Racquel Lueth and Stephanie Fisher both had 6 points. Shelia Anderson, Mollie Greve and Karen Hallstrom all scored 2 points, while Kelly Fredrickson and Lana Ekberg both scored 1 point.

Vocational team visits — Friday, Jan. 13, turned out to be a very lucky day as the review team from the Nebraska State Department of Education Vocational Division visited with community members, school staff and students concerning the vocational programs in the Wakefield Community Schools.

The areas that were examined were administration, guidance, business and home economics. The purpose of the Nebraska program review and the collection of program data is two-fold. First, it is designed to assist local education agencies in improving their vocational education programs to meet the changing needs of their citizens.

Secondly, the data collected will provide both the Unicameral and Congress with information on which to base their legislative decisions regarding vocational education. The data will also provide the Local Education Agency

Trivia contest started — The first trivia contest held some interesting results at Laurel Concord School.

Mr. Clark, the 10th through 12th history teacher, organized this first year event. His interest in trivia questions gave him the idea last year when he started looking for the questions.

The teams, consisting of 3 people or less, had 3 weeks to find answers for the 47 trivia questions they were given.

TROY HEITMAN, a 1 man team won this year's annual event. About 5 teams handed in results for the contest. The second place award was given to the 3 man team of Chad Blat Chford, Jim Hubbell and Paul Pearson. Originally no second place was going to be given, but these 2 teams tied and Troy won the tie breaker question.

Because of Mr. Clark's interest in trivia, he organized the contest to help students in their research techniques. Communication with relatives and parents improved also as they were involved. He hoped that the participants considered it fun.

Students went about finding answers for the contest in different ways. Buying and borrowing trivia books came in handy, and some made a few trips to the Wayne State Library. The answers were such top secrets that some contestants coded their answers and locked their lockers when the answers were in there. Answers were still stolen and even bought.

Congratulations to Troy Heitman, the first trivia contest champion in this annual event.

Bird watching in Nebraska — Contrary to the belief of some people, many birds stay in this area during the winter. Among other species of birds that stay in Nebraska during the winter are the great horned owl, the quail, the pheasant, the Hungarian partridge and the mourning dove. Birds migrate to Nebraska from the far north every winter because Nebraska seems warm compared to the climate they're used to. The pine siskin, the lapland longspur, northern shrike, snow buntings and several species of sparrows return to the north in the spring.

The birds staying in Nebraska during the winter make special adaptations to keep themselves warm. They fluff their feathers a certain way. Feather construction makes it possible for them to hold more air between their feathers, which in turn makes the bird warmer, allowing it to survive the cold climate. These birds make their homes in sheltered, weedy areas, thickets, buildings — if available, or cavities in soil banks. They eat seeds that they find left over from summer. But with large pasture lands being plowed up and used as fields, winter birds search hard to find enough food.

Mr. Ed Brogie, a biology teacher at Laurel Concord High School, became interested in bird watching in college about 9 years ago. He enjoys bird watching in other states, but likes Nebraska birds best.

He is interested in bird watching because of the biological indicator involved with it. The birds indicate the quality of habitat and the environment in the area they are found in.

On Dec. 17, Mr. Brogie and 4 Laurel Concord High School students, Allen George, Mike Erickson, Paul Pearson, and John Cimce, participated in the annual Audubon Bird Count.

Bird watchers know some little known but interesting facts about Nebraska birds. Robins were once hunted as game birds. Pigeons were brought into the United States from Europe and released. Ringneck pheasants were brought to the United States from Asia to use as game for hunters.

Some common Nebraska birds that can be seen year round are the pigeon, house sparrow and the meadowlark. The whooping crane merely flies through Nebraska while migrating, and is not a Nebraska bird, as many people believe.

Club fund raising — Clubs and organizations at Laurel High School often find fund raising a good way to make money. Skiing in Colorado, putting on a prom and buying new chorus risers are just a few of the funded projects bought.

Fund raising is usually done through selling a product and receiving a 40 percent profit of sales from a fund raiser company. Magazine sales work this way.

There are some disadvantages of fund raising through companies. Although the club gets 40 percent profit, the company gets 60 percent. Mr. Roslad states, the percent should be toward higher profit for the group, after all they are the ones who make the sales.

Other means of fund raising are bake sales, car washes, dances and auctions. These means do work, but the results aren't always profitable. Sometimes it takes years to reach a goal, and these ways may not be worth the time and effort. Fund raising drives earn large amounts of money, for groups most of the time. Earnings of $400-4,000 are common.

A look into the future — What will be in the year 2000? Some students and teachers at Laurel Concord Public School agree on changes by the year 2000.

They agree that the math and sciences will be stressed more in public schools. Troy Heitman said, "The math and sciences will be stressed much more, along with more computer centered classes." Jim Clark, government teacher at Laurel said, "Public education will not change that much, but there will be more emphasis on math and science."

Students feel that by the year 2000 there will be more fuel efficient cars. One student said, "There will probably be electric or solar powered cars because of the lack of available fuel." Troy Heitman said, "I think that we will be driving very sleek and efficient cars, but not necessarily powered by fossil fuels."

Jim Clark said, "I think the U.S. Government will be bigger and much more expensive to operate. The government will control more of our lives because we can't protect ourselves." A student said, "Our people will be controlled by the government. It will be like a communist country."

'Bods upset 84-64

Wayne State pulled a major upset Friday night when Coach Rich Weaver's Wildcats blasted Washburn 84-64.

The Central States Intercollegiate Conference contest saw the IChabods come to Wayne with an 11-3 record and some impressive wins. But Washburn had to take its 11-4 mark and 1-2 CSIC record to St. Joseph for a Saturday game with Missouri Western.

The Wildcats, 7-12 and 1-4 in the league, used double figure scoring from six players. Tracy Penn led WSC with 16 points. Jimmy Gooch, playing his first good game since injuring a leg in December, and Russ Uhing added 13 points a piece.

Freshman Dan Radig and John Thomsen each scored 12 points while Vince Tillo tossed in 10. Tillo and Calvin Sprew paced the Wayne State rebounders with eight.

Gary Carrier, the IChabods' 6-7 standout center scored 25 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. He had 16 at halftime.

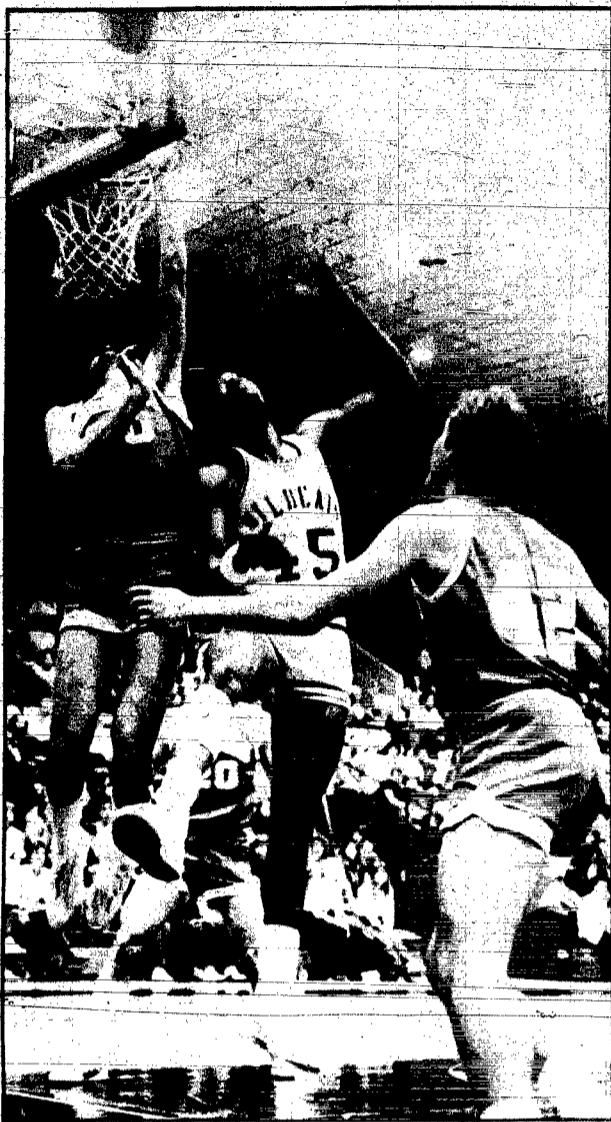

Washburn had a one-point halftime lead, 37-36, before WSC took its lead for good. The Cats outscored their guests 14-4 in the first 4:05 for a 48-41 margin.

The big Wildcat burst came midway through the second half. WSC scored 14 unanswered points to build a one-point 54-53 margin with 11:10 to play to 68-53 at the 4:08 mark.

Wayne State outscored Washburn 48-27 in the second half and held the IChabods to 11 points in the final 11:00 of the game.

The wildcats were slated to host Emporia at Rice Auditorium on Saturday night and will entertain Briar Cliff tomorrow, Tuesday.

Devil free throws absent as Cedar returns favor

There was something missing from Wayne's 51-34 loss to Hartington Cedar Catholic on the road Friday night — free throws. Oh, they weren't totally gone from the game, just from the Blue Devils' side.

Hartington CC finished the night going 7-of-11 from the charity stripe while Wayne had double goose eggs.

"I've never had a game where we didn't shoot some free throws," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "But we just didn't play very good."

THE TROJANS were out to average a 58-44 loss at the hands of the Blue Devils in the championship game of the Wayne State College Holiday Tournament in December that knocked HCC from its lofty number two ranking in the Class B ratings.

Wayne's two big men (6-5 Don Larsen and 6-8 Rod Dahl) got into foul trouble in the first half and had to ride the bench much of the second half.

The Blue Devils appeared to be in control of the game early as they vaulted to a 10-7 advantage after the first quarter, but turnovers and a small, but extremely vocal Trojan crowd kept HCC in the game and allowed the Trojans to go ahead by one (17-16) at intermission.

"IT WAS jam-packed and noisy," Sharpe said. "There were only about 800 fans there but they were noisy."

The game was nip-and-tuck throughout the third period, but more Wayne turnovers kept thwarting the Blue Devils.

"They'd come down and miss and we'd take the ball back and do something dumb," Sharpe said.

The Blue Devils gave the ball away 15 times on the night. To make matters worse, Wayne's two big men (6-5 Don Larsen and 6-8 Rod Dahl) got into foul trouble in the first half and had to ride the bench much of the second half.

"We tried to hold onto the ball, but we'd just take bad shots and commit turnovers," Sharpe said. The Trojans outscored Wayne 16-9 while Dahl and Larsen were on the bench. HCC led 36-28 after the third period and coasted to the 51-34 win.

"WE JUST didn't play well under adverse conditions," Sharpe said. "We still could have won if we had showed some gumption — if would have been fouled, but I feel we have the better ball club."

Scoring honors on the night went to the Trojans' 6-4 Tom Viach, who tallied 26 points — 12 in the fourth period. Wayne was paced by Larsen and Dahl, who had 14 and 12 points respectively.

Wayne outrebounded HCC 22-21 as Dahl pulled down 11 carsoms and Larsen added five.

In the junior varsity game, Wayne came out on top 40-38 as Jeff Sherer tallied 12 points while teammate Brent Pick accounted for 10.

THE BLUE Devil freshman team dumped the Trojans 37-30 after dropping a 20-23 decision to Schuyler earlier in the week. Cory Dahl led the Devils against HCC with 12 points and Ted Lueters added 10. Lueters also tallied 10 against Schuyler.

Does Wayne have the better team as Coach Sharpe indicated? Only time will tell. The two meet again on Feb. 3 in Wayne.

Trojans at 6-6

Raising their season mark to 6-6 (3-2 in the Lewis and Clark Conference), the Wakefield Trojans boys roundballers dumped the Blue Devils of Wynot 60-45 on the road Friday night.

The Trojans vaulted to the victory on the 25 point performance of junior Brian Soderberg while forcing Wynot's big man, 6-8 Chris Marks, to get into foul trouble.

"He had three-fouls by halftime and that really restricted him," said Wakefield head coach Ernie Kovar. "It shut down their offense pretty well."

The Trojans "zoned" em most of the night and took a 27-18 lead into the lockerroom at halftime. The third period saw Wakefield explode for 16 points while limiting the Devils to seven.

Wynot outscored the Trojans 20-17 in the final period, but came up 15 points short of the final buzzer.

Besides Soderberg's 25 point output, Troy Greve added 10 while senior Steve Peterson added six. Rob Burbach paced the Devils with 14 points and was the only Wynot player in double figures.

Wakefield outrebounded the Blue Devils 30-29 as Soderberg tore down a team-leading 10 carsoms.

The Trojans are slated to play host to the Laurel Bears this Friday night.

Lady Cats sing the blues against the Blues

Wayne State ended up singing the Blues Friday night — that is Lady Blues, as the Washburn University women's basketball team handed the Wildcats a 62-57 loss at Rice Auditorium.

To those watching the game, the five point margin of victory by Washburn was perhaps a little surprising. After all, the Wildcats committed 23 turnovers, many of those coming under the offensive boards.

Although Wayne State trailed by just two (28-27) at the half, Washburn came out sizzing in the second half and went up by ten at 41-31 with 16:37 left in the half.

To the Cats' credit, though they kept snapping throughout the second half and pulled to 58-52 with just 1:26 left on a Barb Wragge jumper from the left corner.

The Lady Blues kept their cool, and Shari McCullough hit both sides of a one and one with less than ten seconds left to tie the victory.

Wayne State head coach Jan Jirsak was quick to analyze the loss.

"It was real simple — we didn't get on the boards and we didn't get down the court and play defense," Jirsak said. "We jogged up and down the court, we weren't hustling and we had no intensity."

Jirsak was the least happy with the Wildcats' 23 turnovers.

"We tend to think that because something is open underneath that we should throw the ball," she said. "Our pass from the point guard to the baseline player was open, but we mishandled it every time."

Jirsak added that she was proud of the way her squad hung in the game, especially since the Wildcats had just eight players suited up against Washburn.

"We get up and down the court pretty good most of the time, but when you can only give your starters a minute or two of rest each half, it's going to take its toll," Jirsak said.

"We had plenty of opportunities to pull it out — we gave them a couple of free throws at the end, but we missed a couple of bunnies that were wide open," Jirsak lamented.

Scoring honors for the game went to Wayne State's Barb Wragge, who finished with 18 points on the night. Teammate Vina Kelly added 12 while Patty Carney and Shari Krohn each added eight.

Washburn was paced by Joy Benton's 14 points while Lady Blue Janelle Johnson tallied 12 points.

The Wildcats shot 37 percent (28 of 75) from the field for the night while Washburn hit 38 percent (26 of 68).

On the boards, Wayne State won the war 56-45 as Krohn pulled down 13 boards and Wragge added 12.

With the loss, Wayne State dropped to 4-9 overall and 0-4 in the CSIC while the Lady Blues upped their mark to 12-2 and 3-0.

The Wildcats were slated to entertain Emporia State in Rice Auditorium on Saturday night.

Turkey dates set for 84

Nebraska's Game and Parks Commissioners set the dates for the 1984 turkey hunting seasons and increased the number of authorized permits at their meeting in Lincoln Friday, Jan. 6.

There will be a total of 5,445 permits available for the 1984 spring shotgun turkey hunting season, 365 more than were authorized for last year's spring season, which saw 1,693 turkeys harvested by 5,087 permit holders, for a 33 percent success rate.

As usual for spring turkey hunting seasons, the limit will be one male turkey per permit holder.

Dates for the 1984 spring shotgun turkey season by area and the number of permits available in the unit are: April 14 through May 6 Central Unit, 60; Ponca Unit, 150; Rock Creek Unit, 25; Round Top Unit, 1,750; Southeast Unit, 50; Southwest Unit, 300; Wildcat Unit, 100; April 14 through 22 — Niobrara Unit (early season), 800; Verdigre Unit (early season), 700; April 23 through May 6 Niobrara Unit (late season), 800; Verdigre Unit (late season), 700. Hunters applying for permits in the Verdigre and Niobrara Units must specify if they are applying for the early or late season.

The 1984 spring archery turkey hunting season will be April 1 through May 6.

Hunters who did not have a spring shotgun turkey permit in 1983 may apply for a 1984 spring shotgun turkey hunting permit Jan. 21 through Feb. 17. A drawing will be held Feb. 23 for permits in over-subscribed units. Any Nebraska resident may apply for a permit March 1 through 16 during the second application period. A drawing will be held March 23 for permits in over-subscribed units. The third application period begins March 26, when residents and non-residents alike may apply for a permit. Beginning April 5 persons may apply for a second permit in areas where permits still remain.

Again this year, hunters may obtain one shotgun permit and one archery permit, or two archery permits if there are still shotgun permits available April 5, but each hunter is limited to a total of 2 permits whether shotgun or archery or a combination, for a single season.

Permit applicants and a check for $15 must be mailed to Commission Headquarters in Lincoln during the indicated application periods. Archery permits, also $15, are unlimited and may be purchased over-the-counter at any Game and Parks Commission office in Lincoln, Omaha, Norfolk, Bassett, North Platte, Alliance or Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium at Schramm Park SRA near Gretna.

L & C action Wildcats sting Bears

By Ann Wickell

A tremendous amount of pressure played the key role in determining the outcome of an action packed game between Lewis & Clark conference rivals, Laurel and Hartington Friday night. It was a close race on Laurel's boys home court until the fourth quarter, when the Bears couldn't handle the pressure anymore and dropped a 41-37 decision to Hartington.

Scoring was evenly distributed between the two teams in the first quarter. The score was knotted four times even though Laurel ran into foul trouble when Scott Rath committed three of his fouls before the half was over. Laurel had control 12-10 at the end of the quarter.

An increase in defensive pressure created several turnovers for both teams in the second quarter. The Bears kept their poise as their shots connected to even the scoring pace with Hartington. Laurel only trailed 20-21 at halftime.

At the beginning of the third quarter, the tables turned as Laurel's Mike Forsberg hit a pair of baskets from the outside and gave the Bear's a 28-23 lead.

Later in the quarter Forsberg tried shooting from the same position but couldn't connect. Meanwhile, the Hartington boys were hot, bringing the game back to a few points again. Laurel was still in the lead with a 31-30 edge at the end of the quarter.

The Bears got off to a bad start in the fourth quarter as they missed several of their outside shots. Hartington soon had a 39-33 advantage.

Laurel hadn't given up yet, at as Mike Granquist made two free throws to move the score to 41-35 with only a minute to go in the game. The clock showed 18 seconds left when Mark Penberick went inside to raise the score to 41-37 but it was too late and the buzzer sounded.

Laurel Coach John Held said "Laurel had 14 unforced turnovers in the game." According to Held this is the fifth game in a row that Laurel has out shot their opponent in a losing cause.

"We need someone to take charge offensively when the game gets tight," Held said. "We don't have that right now."

The Bears edged Hartington in field goal percentage as they connected 17 of 44 of their shots to the Wildcats 15 of 40.

Laurel's top scorer, Mark Penberick totalled 13 points, Scott Rath added eight points, and Mike Forsberg had six points.

Eagles warm-up 52-49

Despite "not matching up at all height wise," Allens' girls basketball team warmed up for what Eagle mentor Gary Troth hopes is a good conference playoff performance with a 52-49 squeaker over Walthill on the road Friday night.

"We're 6-3 now," Troth said. "It was crucial that we win, especially looking at the seeds for the conference playoffs."

Allen opened up a 15-17 advantage after the first quarter of play and went up 30-25 at intermission.

"We were able to get the ball up and down the court in the early part of the game," Troth said. "Then in the second half, we got into our half court game."

The Eagles were outscored 13-10 in the third stanza but registered a 12-11 advantage in the fourth period en route to the win.

Troth said he was pleased with Allen's play down the stretch, especially when the Eagles had three starters on the bench. Pam Heckathorn was nursing a sprained ankle while Tami Jewell and Michelle Harder left the game with four fouls each.

"Boyle, Magnuson and Oswald did a great job slowing things up

Devils parlay 30 gifts

The Wynot Blue Devils parlayed 30 Wakefield turnovers into a 43-34 victory in high school girls basketball action on the Trojans' home court Friday night.

Wakefield was ahead 18-17 at the half, but the Devils came out in a press and dealt the Trojans fits.

"We had five bad passes that they converted," said Wakefield head coach Mary Schroeder. "I was pleased with the way we played, but the turnovers just killed us."

Kelli Inyde, the Blue Devils took those five gifts and converted them into a 27-26 lead after three periods and then put it in over drive and coasted to the win.

On the boards, the Trojans lost the battle 26-18 as Roni Starzl pulled down six to lead Wakefield. The Trojans managed just four offensive boards for the night.

"We moved the ball real well," Schroeder said. "But they (Wynot) shot well from the outside — they didn't get much from the inside though."

Neither team dominated the field-goal percentages — Wakefield hit 41 percent (13-of-31) while the Devils were 21 of 49 for 42 percent.

Brenda Jones led the Trojans with 11 points while Starzl and Melodie Will each added eight.

Wakefield falls to 4-7 on the season with the loss and will go after a win number five this Thursday at Laurel.

Leighton happy in defeat

For a coach whose team had just lost its 13th game of the season, Winside mentor Don Leighton was a happy man — he had good reason to be.

The Winside girls basketball team had just dropped a 47-42 decision to Wausa on the road Friday night, but the Wildcats had found themselves.

"I've never been more proud of a group of players in my life," Leighton said.

Winside, which had been lucky to hit 20 percent of its shots in the season's earlier games, hit 32 percent (18-of-57) from the field while playing against the much taller Vikings. Wausa started 6-3 Jodine Fink, who finished the night with 18 points. The rest of the Viking line-up went 5-10, 4-0, 5-6 and 5-5. "We had originally planned on coming out and playing a slowdown game," Leighton said. "But the girls were faking and driving and showing no hesitation at all — they didn't let that (Wausa's height advantage) bother them a bit."

Leighton also cited the officials for calling a good game.

"They were great both ways," he said. "I have no complaints — they just let the girls play ball but didn't let things get out of hand."

There were only 20 fouls (10 for each team) for the night.

On the boards, Winside pulled down 38 caroms and was led by Trisha Topp's 10 boards and Pam Peter's 8.

Peter was also the Cats' leading scorer with 13 points while Missy Jensen added 10. Winside is slated to take on Osmond at home tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

"If the girls just remember what they did tonight," Leighton said, "we'll give Osmond a run for their money."

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Old, fat grapplers wanted

Plans are being made to host an oldtimers wrestling tournament at Clearwater on Saturday March 31. The tournament is for all wrestlers who have not competed this past year on a high school or college level. Any man can enter whether they have competed before or not.

There will be 10 weight classes to compete in. They will be the regular college weight classes of 126, 134, 142, 150, 158, 167, 177, 190, and heavyweight with the 220 class instead of 118. This change is in the theme of the name of the tournament, "The Fat Old Men Open". Entry fees will be 5 dollars with a deadline of Wednesday March 28.

If interested, contact Martin Fleming, FOM Tournament Director c/o Clearwater Public School, Clearwater NE 68726. More information such as entry forms will be available later.

Wildcats improve in loss to Vikings

"We showed some real good things for a change."

That was the assessment of Winside head boys basketball coach Mark Freburg after his Wildcats dropped a 64-47 decision to the Wausa Vikings on the road Friday night.

"We hate to lose, but it wasn't a discouraging loss," Freburg said.

If anything spent the Cats' nine Tives Friday, it was their painfully slow start.

WINSIDE FELL behind 10-0 and trailed 14-7 after the first period.

"We just got a slow start and found ourselves having to battle back all night," Freburg said.

The Wildcats shot a miserable 8-of-28 (28 percent) on route to a 29-18 halftime deficit. That is a stark contrast compared to Winside's 7-of-14 (50 percent) from the field in the fourth quarter. Winside shot 34 percent (21-of-61) for the night to Wausa's 40 percent (25-of-62).

While senior John Hawkins led the Wildcats with nine field goals and 18 total points, Winside's big man, 6-3 Scott Janke, jumped in to one of his least productive nights in what has been a stellar season for the big senior. Janke tallied 11 points, but has enjoyed nights recently in the 25 to 30 point range.

"JANKE WAS — just cold tonight," Freburg said. "He couldn't get much to go down for him tonight."

Freburg couldn't say enough about Hawkins' performance. "He had a good game — he showed tonight what he is capable of doing," Freburg said.

The Wildcats came out in a man-to-man defense but switched to a zone for much of the second and third periods, while trailing by as many as 10 points.

"We did some really good things tonight," Freburg said. "We got some really good things out of our guards."

Winside committed just 15 turnovers, which is pretty good for us," according to Freburg. The Cats lost just six in the second half.

Hawkins' 18 points and Janke's 11 led the Cats in scoring. Hawkins also pulled down 11 of Winside's 37 rebounds for the night. Kevin Falk added eight and Doug Mundill tallied seven.

The loss puts the Wildcats' season mark at 3-10. They will try for their fourth win of the season this Friday at Hartington against their Wildcat counterparts.

Bluejays foul-up Eagles

Allen head boys basketball coach Dave Uldrich could have cried "foul!" Friday night. He might as well have, the referees did.

The Eagles had three players (Shawn Mahler, Max Oswald and Kirk Hansen) foul out of Friday's 72-52 loss to Walthill on the road — two others (Craig Noe and Derwin Roberts) were whistled four times. On the night, Allen drew 30 whistles to send the Bluejays to the line 37 times.

"It was a physical game and we got whistled right out of it," Uldrich said. "We got in foul trouble early — it was just one of those nights."

The Jays also expended for 23 points in the second period to give them a 38-24 halftime lead and added 24 in the third period to Allen's 12.

"We didn't play bad," Uldrich said. "They just hammered us."

"They played tough for a 3 B team — I've got to give them credit, they just outlasted us."

Allen, now 5-6, barely outbounded the Bluejays 48-46 as Roberts ripped down 11 caroms and teammate Steve Jones added nine.

In all, 12 players scored for the Eagles — who shot 29 percent (22-of-74) from the field. Walthill was 26-of-55 for 47 percent.

Leading the Eagles in point production was Steve Jones, who tallied 10 points while Noe added eight and Mitch Pettit seven.

Allen is slated to host Wynot tonight (Monday).

Corbit enjoys good week

Wayne High School's Pecia Corbit enjoyed a productive week on the basketball court last week, tallying 15 points in the Blue Devils' junior varsity win over Howells and 15 points in Thursday's 37-28 thrashing of Schuyler in freshman team action.

Shelly Pick also helped the Devils frosh raise their season mark to 5-0 on the season as she scored 14 points against Schuyler.

Wildlife ETV feature

The Jan 26 "Outdoor Nebraska" TV Show Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. on ETV will feature a look at Nebraska's non-game wildlife. Ross Lucke, the Game and Parks Commission's Non Game Specialist, will also discuss the activities of his division.

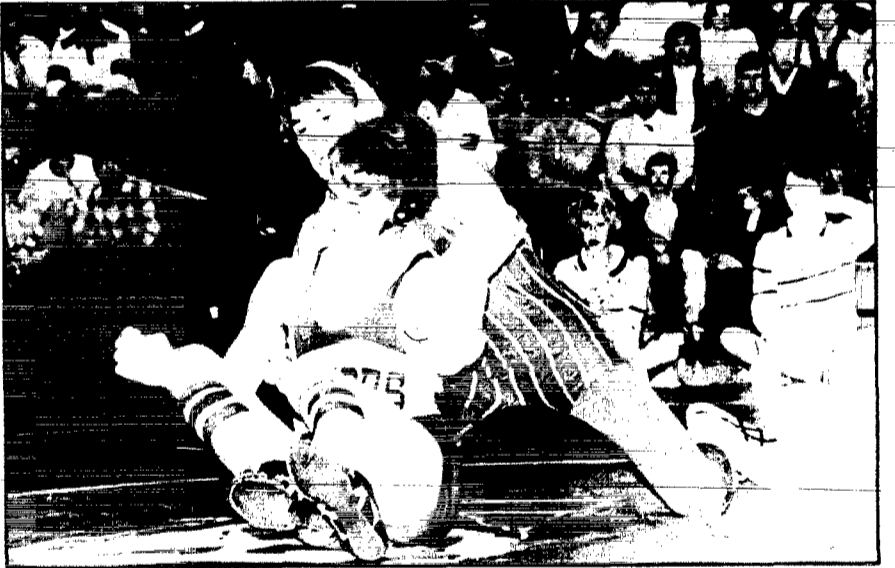

Also scheduled is a film on eagle banding, a glimpse at the Victoria Springs State Recreation Area near Arapahoe, and part two of an outdoor education workshop on "How to Catch Walleye."

If you happen to miss the initial Thursday evening showing, be sure to tune in Sunday afternoon Jan 29 at 3 p.m. when the show will be rebroadcast on ETV.

Lutt misses school mark by one second

KEVIN KOENIG keeps his record spotless.

DOUG DOESCHER en route to his 5-0 decision over Alan Houghton.

Rod Lutt missed setting a school record for the quickest pin and Wayne High School gave up 12 points and still managed to beat a solid Wisner Pilger wrestling team 30-26 Thursday night on the Blue Devils home mat.

Lutt, wrestling at 126 pounds, pinned the Gators' Mark Hurlbert in 16 seconds, just missing the school record of 15 seconds set by Dan Mitchell during the 1980 season.

The Devils came into the dual with two weights (98 and heavyweight) open, and had to spot the Gators 17 points from the outset.

Other highlights included Todd Dorcay's (138) pin of Nick Heller at the 5:10 mark after he fell behind 6-2 in the early going.

Craig Neisius (112) lost a narrow 5-4 decision to Wisner Pilger's Jeff Young in one of the evening's better matches.

Gregg Elliott lost an 11-1 decision to Kenny Kramer while filling in for the injured Tim Book, (shoulder separation) at 155 pounds.

"Gregg did a good job tonight," said Wayne coach Don Koenig. "Book has the same type of injury as Chris Wieseler (who wrestled) but we were just holding him out to make sure — his is a little more serious."

Wayne's Kevin Koenig (185) kept his undefeated record and number one ranking (Class B) intact by registering a Superior Decision (12 points or more) over Randy Koelmoose. It was one of the few times this season when Koenig failed to pin his opponent.

Was going the distance good for Kevin? "I don't see anything wrong with that," said coach Koenig. "If he beats everybody else from here on out 13-0, that would be pretty darned good."

Koenig said he was pleased with the results of the dual, especially after giving up 12 points (two forfeits).

"I think it was a good team effort," Koenig said. "Everything you give away is points and win by 6, that means you beat out 18 points better than they are — or something like that."

More Profit-Minded Growers Choose Westeel Storage Bins

Westeel is one of the world's largest manufacturers of grain storage bins... for a lot of good reasons. We provide our Westeel dealers with products, services and pricing that combine to assure more sales, more profits.

Here are just a few benefits of Westeel bins, 4-inch "Wide-Corr" corrugation, 44-inch body sheet, fewer lifts and fasteners for quicker set up, long-lasting PVC sealing washers throughout.

Grade No. 5 steel hardware is packaged in metal pallets for easier storage and handling.

Westeel bolt-on bottom angle permits future extension of bins. Top angle provides continuous eave seal and adds strength — save spacers available for drying bins.

Wildlife habitat program

Landowners and hunters in Nebraska have a unique opportunity to cooperate in establishing good wildlife habitat on private lands. This cooperation is made possible under the Wildlife Habitat Program. Hunters provide 75% of the funds for the program by purchasing the $7.50 habitat stamps with hunting permits. These funds plus 25% NRD funds are made available to landowners to establish, protect or improve wildlife habitat on their lands. Landowners may enter 2-5 year contracts with Lower Elkhorn NRD and receive payments up to $35 per acre annually. Local SCS personnel are available to take applications and assist with planning and selection of cover types.

PRACTICE II PROTECTION OF EXISTING WILDLIFE COVER

- Five year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of three acres and three acres per plot with a maximum of 40 acres in 4 plots.
- Cover types may be grasses, legumes or woody species that are existing at the time of application.
- Payment is $7.50 per acre annually.

PRACTICE III SWEET CLOVER PLANTING WITH OATS

- Two year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 3 acres per plot and a maximum total of 40 acres annually.
- Yellow sweet clover is to be planted as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of the oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second February following seeding.
- Only the oats heads may be harvested, with the stubble to be left standing.
- Payment is $30 per acre annually.

PRACTICE IVa GRASSLAND HABITAT

- Three year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 3 acres with a minimum of 80 acres.
- Priority will be given to mixtures of sweet clover, red clover, alfalfa, native prairie grasses, or cool season grass. Cool season grass mixtures must contain at least 25% legumes. Seeding rates will be established according to SCS standards.
- Payment is $40 per acre annually.

PRACTICE IVb STRIP-CROPPING WITH OATS AND SWEET CLOVER

- Two year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of three acres and a maximum of 40 acres in strips 100-250 feet wide planted on the contour. The contract area should be 20%-50% of the field with the remainder being row crops. Field borders don't qualify.
- Yellow sweet clover is to be planted at a rate of 8 lbs. per acre as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of the oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second February following seeding.
- Only the oats heads may be harvested with the stubble to be left standing.
- Payment is $30 per acre annually.

PRACTICE IVc STRIP-CROPPING WITH PERMANENT COVER

- Three - five year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District. (landowners option).
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of three acres and a maximum of 40 acres in strips 100-250 feet wide, planted on the contour. The contract area should be 20%-50% of the field, with the remainder being row crops. Field borders don't qualify.
- Priority will be given to mixtures of sweetclover, red clover, alfalfa, native prairie grasses or cool season grass. Cool season grass mixtures must contain at least 25% legumes. Seeding rates will be established according to SCS standards.
- Payment is $50 per acre annually.

PRACTICE IVd IMPROVEMENT OF EXISTING WILDLIFE COVER

- Five year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of three acres and three acres per plot and a maximum of 40 acres in 4 plots.
- In areas of existing cover, a plan will be developed to improve that habitat to its highest potential by whatever means are necessary (grass seeding, tree planting, tree stand improvement, food plots, etc.). The plan must be approved by the NRD and the Game and Parks Commission.
- Payment is $7.50 per acre annually until all improvements are complete. Thereafter payment is $30 per acre annually.

PUBLIC ACCESS OPTION

Cooperator in any Practice will receive an additional $5.00 per acre annually for agreeing to permit public access on contracted land, by foot traffic only. Access may be for the purpose of hunting, fishing, hiking and trapping. Contracts including this option will have first priority.

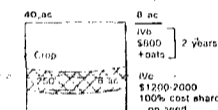

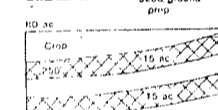

SEED AND TREE PAYMENT

Landowners applying for Wildlife Habitat contracts may be eligible to be reimbursed for the cost of the seed or trees planted on contract areas. Mixtures and seeding rates must conform to SCS recommendations with applications approved before seed is purchased. Tree plantings may be for improved existing stands or to obtain a good balance of woody and grassy habitat.

Payment will be for 100% of cost of grass seed or the current cost of trees under the Clarke-McNary Program.

GROUND PREPARATION PAYMENT

Cooperators who apply for Practices IVa or IVc are also eligible for a one time payment for ground preparation. The payment is $25 per acre of land seeded. Practice IVd contracts which include ground preparation, also qualify for this payment.

Examples of landowner annual benefits under practices IVb and IVc, strip-cropping.

What is the cost of firewood?

Did you ever wonder how much money you save by burning wood, or what it costs you to cut your own wood? The following formula and table will help to calculate your costs:

$$C = (P \times M) + (F \times D) + (L \times N) + (R \times S) + (T \times H) + (U \times V) + (W \times X) + (Y \times Z)$$ where:

- C = chain saw cost (variable & fixed) for cutting one cord
- P = price per gallon for truck fuel
- M = miles per gallon for truck
- F = fixed cost per mile for truck
- D = number of round trips required to haul one cord
- N = round trip hauling distance
- R = hours required to cut, split, load and unload one cord
- S = average speed of truck during haul
- T = labor charge per hour
- U = to illustrate how the formula works lets use a 1/2 ton pickup that will safely haul 1/2 cord of wood. Other assumptions include:
- V = Chain saw cost ($1.20 per cord for gasoline and oil plus $0.40 per cord for depreciation and maintenance)
- W = Truck fuel cost ($1.10 per gallon)
- X = Truck mileage (10 miles per gallon)
- Y = Truck fixed costs ($1.50 per mile (ins., maint., taxes, depreciation))
- Z = Round trips cord (1) = 3 trips per cord
- Labor hours per cord (1) = 10 hours
- Truck speed (R) = 25 mph

The cost per cord for firewood under four different hauling distances (D) and three different labor rates (L) are given in the following table:

Labor cost per hour	Round trip hauling distances (miles)
	10	20	40
$2.50	$10.30	$16.10	$24.30
$3.00	$12.30	$19.10	$28.30
$3.50	$14.30	$22.10	$32.30

Obviously, the cost of firewood is determined by the total cost.
