Knights of Columbus organizes chapter

A Knights of Columbus chapter has been formed in Wayne. Thirty-eight persons are charter members of the council which was started on Feb. 28.
The chapter has been named the Father William F. Kerns Chapter in honor of a priest who served the Wayne area in the 1940's and 50's.
The Knights of Columbus is a Catholic family fraternal service organization.
THE CHARTER members will be inducted on Sunday, March 25. Other persons also will be welcome to join the organization.
Program Director Pat Gross said that a large part of the chapter's service concept will deal with the mentally retarded. A Tootsie Roll sale is planned with proceeds going to aid mentally retarded people of any denomination.
The local chapter also will help the Veterans Club with Special Olympics, according to Gross and Grand Knight Maynard Warren.
The incorporation as a chapter will include the youth within the college and after the church," Gross said. "Social and family activities will be the focus of our concepts."

GROSS AND WARREN said the Knights of Columbus will be seeking the help of the Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts and other groups who might be willing to assist with the Tootsie Roll program.
"This is not strictly a fundraising organization. We will do good for others," Gross said.
Officers of the local chapter are Maynard Warren, grand knight; Joe Dorcsey, deputy grand knight; Rev. Jim Buschelman, chaplain; Clele Sharer, financial secretary; Dan Sukup, chancellor; Mark Klein, recorder; Charles Denesia, treasurer; John Melena, advocate; Dave Sludnicka, warden; Ernest Kovar, first year trustee; Tom Schmitz, second year trustee; John Witkowski, third year trustee; Jerry Dorcsey, inside guard; Pat Gross, program director.
The Knights of Columbus was founded more than 100 years ago. Rev. McGivern started the organization as a fraternal order to assist destitute families. The organization is considered the right arm of the church.

Filings are now complete for May primary election

The race is on. The deadline to file as a candidate in the primary election arrived Friday afternoon. It appears the 2 most interesting races will be for Wayne's First Ward City Council seat and for positions on the Winside (District 95 R) Board of Education.
SIX CANDIDATES are seeking the council seat in the First Ward. Incumbent James Craun is being challenged by Larry Creighton, Kent Hall, Stanley Hansen, John Radel, Richard Reed, Hall and Hansen filed most recently.
Nine candidates will battle for 3 positions on the Winside school board. Ten persons had filed as candidates but Willis Falk's filing was declared invalid.
County Clerk Gregoire Morris said Falk's land had been transferred into the Winside school district too late to make him eligible for the position.
School Board President Dave Topp is the only incumbent seeking re-election to the board. Dean Janke and Martin Brugger decided not to run again.
Topp is joined by Bill Burris, Sharon Haller, Derold Hamm, Richard Jenkins, Gene Joergensen, Dean Mann, Randall Miller and Robert Wacker.
ANOTHER RACE of interest in Wayne involves the Fourth Ward of the city council. Freeman Decker and Gordon Nelson both are seeking the position vacated by Lieutenant Gary Van Meter when he moved to another ward.
Most of the offices will not have interesting races. Darrel Fuetberth and Keith Mosley are the only candidates running for council in wards two and three respectively. Three seats are open on the Wayne (District 17) Board of Education and only 3 candidates have filed. Becky Keidel, Neil Sandahl and Sidney Hillier are seeking seats on the board. Keidel and Sandahl are incumbents. Another board member, Jim Hummel, elected not to seek re-election.

Two terms will expire on the Wayne Airport Authority Board and both incumbents, David Ley and Stanley Morris, have filed to run for re-election.
INCUMBENTS CLIFFORD Rohde and Lester Menke of Carroll and Dwayne Rethwisch of Wayne are the only persons filing for the Noxious Weed Board.
Wayne County Commissioner Bob Nissen has filed to retain that position and is unopposed.
Three candidates will seek 3 seats on the Sholes Village Board. Incumbents Anton Vlasak and Glenn Nelson will be joined by Tom Bauer on the ballot. Incumbent LeRoy Plummer did not file.
Three incumbents Lyle Cunningham, Arnold Junck and Robert Hall are stepping down from their positions on the Carroll Village Board and that election should be an interesting one. The 4 candidates who will seek that office are Harold Luberg, Mark Tietz, Susan Gilmore and Wayne Strick.
IN HOSKINS, for 2 council seats seeking re-election to the village board, Patricia Judigan plans to seek another term on the board and Arlin Wagner is seeking 1 seat on the other.
Winside also has 2 openings and 2 candidates Nancy Askenbom and C. G. Witt both will seek re-election to the village board.
The Wayne County land dates, broken down by office, filings and voters in alphabetical order:

Burglars strike area towns

A string of burglaries resulting in the theft of approximately $1,870 in merchandise and money occurred in Carroll, Winside and Hoskins early Friday morning.
Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen said it is believed at least 2 individuals were involved in the burglaries that happened in Friday's early morning hours.
The businesses that were hit by the burglars were Run's Bar and Hansen Grocery in Carroll, Oberle Market, Winside Pub, Wacker Farm Store and the Stop Inn all in Winside, and Dad's Place in Hoskins.
THE BURGLARS apparently attempted to gain entry into the Winside Post Office but were unsuccessful, Janssen said.

Janssen said a cash television, meat change and a flashlight were taken from Run's Bar. The estimated loss there was $875.
Meat change and a cash radio were stolen from Hansen Grocery. The value of those items was estimated at $40. The flashlight stolen from Run's was found in the grocery store.
Winside Pub was the business hit the hardest in Winside. Liquor, cigarettes, cigarette lighters and change were taken from the pub, totaling approximately $300 in losses.

TEN DOLLARS worth of meat was taken from Oberle Market. Entry was gained at Wacker Farm Store and the Stop Inn but nothing was taken, Janssen said.
Beer, change and cigarettes were stolen from Dad's Place in Hoskins. The items were valued at $400.
The Wayne County Sheriff's Office is investigating the burglaries. Janssen said private bars were used on the front doors to gain entry to most of the businesses. However, the burglars entered the back door of Winside Pub.
The sheriff's office does not have any suspects in custody.

Wayne Herald is looking for old photos, info
Work is progressing on a special centennial edition which will be published by The Wayne Herald this summer.
Information about various organizations, groups, clubs, Wayne's founding families and history of the community are being collected.
We are asking everyone's assistance to help make the book a success. We are seeking articles, information and old photographs. We will return photos, articles and other items to the owners.
Individuals who have any items they would like to share are asked to call The Wayne Herald at 375-2600 and ask for Randy Hascall, Michelle Kubik or LaVon Anderson. We welcome any help we receive.

Crete woman to announce congressional candidacy
Monica Bauer of Crete is scheduled to be on the Wayne State College campus today (Monday) to announce her candidacy as a Democrat seeking the First District Congressional seat presently held by Doug Bereuter.
The announcement, planned at 2 p.m. in the WSC Student Union, is open to the public. Mrs. Bauer said her number 1 priority will be survival of the family farm and added that she would sponsor and push for bills to target farm programs where the need is greatest.
"Doug Bereuter talks a good game but Nebraska can't be fooled," she said.
Bereuter has served enough farmers the most in need—the family farmers."
Mrs. Bauer is originally from rural Columbus and holds degrees from Bown University and Yale University.
She spent 3 years in the National Guard at the rank of sergeant. Mrs. Bauer is a member of the American Association for University Women, LaSalle, serves on the Salline County Cancer Society and performs church services for Crete Hospital and senior citizen housing.
She is married to Neil Bauer, a computer programmer from Lincoln. Currently, Mrs. Bauer is minister of the United Church of Christ in Crete.

Recorded farm messages part of national ag day
Tomorrow (Tuesday) is National Agriculture Day and the United States Department of Agriculture is sponsoring telephone messages concerning the importance of agriculture.
In an effort to increase awareness for agriculture and its contributions to society, the USDA is sponsoring a special 900 telephone line which will allow callers to hear Secretary of Agriculture John Block talk about American agriculture.
There will be 2 messages. A message for elementary school children will feature Block answering questions which school children have written to him over the past year.
The message will be repeated on the hour and half-hour from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.
A message for high school students and adults will be repeated at a quarter before and a quarter after each hour. Each message is approximately 10 minutes long and the total charge for a call should be about $3.65.
To dial the long-distance access code, call 900-410-FARM. Only 2 simultaneous calls can be made from an exchange (the first 3 digits of a phone number) at any time.
Wayne's Main Street will be in full bloom this summer if all goes as planned by the special events committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.
The committee is hoping to have flowers planted along Main Street from the Logan Creek bridge south of Wayne to the north edge of town, according to Lyle George, committee chairman.
As part of Wayne's Centennial activities, plans call for approximately 8,000 petunias to be planted on a two-foot strip of ground on each side of Main Street.
Various organizations will plant the flowers at no cost to property owners, George said. In downtown Wayne where the areas are paved, planters may be used.
George said the committee is now seeking organizations to plant the flowers and landowners along Main Street who would like to have flowers planted on their property.
Persons who would like to help plant or have flowers planted on their property are asked to call George at 375-4331. The flowers probably will be planted on May 19.

My fellow Waynites, I ask for your attention this day to announce my intentions to run as a write-in candidate for public office.

Being a person who is always a day late, I missed the filing deadline to place my name on the primary election ballot. I arrived at the county courthouse at 5:01 p.m. Friday and found the front door locked.

Realizing that my political future was dampened by my late arrival, my feelings were seriously crushed. However, within a few hours I decided to wage a write-in campaign.

Being an editor has its advantages when seeking public office. I can announce my candidacy in the paper and then endorse myself with an editorial.

Right now my only problem is trying to decide which office I will seek. Should I set my goal for a local office, a state one or a national one?

Living in Wayne's First Ward I could seek a seat on the city council, opposing the 6 candidates who filed for that position.

The benefit of serving on the council is that I could be earning a councilman's salary and my newspaper salary at the same time.

Since I have to cover council meetings anyway, I might just as well take notes while serving as a councilman.

Another thing that newspaper people and councilmen have in common is that they have lots of enemies. Many of the people who would get mad at me for my actions as a councilman probably already are mad at me for something I wrote (or didn't write).

Of course if I decide not to run for council I still have plenty of options. I can run for a school board seat, a county commissioner seat, a Noxious Weed Board seat, an Airport Authority seat or even a position on the Unicameral.

I think I'll wait at least a couple years before I decide to challenge for a job as a U.S. Congressman or Senator. And Bob Kerrey won't even have to worry when his term expires—I'll wait at least until his second term is up to challenge him.

By the time I serve terms in all of those offices I should be ready for the presidency. Either that or a funny farm.

Unlike most senators and congressmen, I don't plan to spend thousands of dollars for the three P's—paper, printing and postage. But like any free candidate I have a long list of promises I won't be able to keep.

Depending on what office I will seek, here is a list of my promises:

1. Every citizen's salary will be doubled.
2. Ten more legal holidays will be added to give state and federal employees more vacations.
3. Northwestern Bell will be given a $3 billion grant so telephone rates don't have to skyrocket.
4. Everyone will be eligible for the welfare program.
5. Unemployment benefits will climb to $400 per week so lazy people don't have to resort to real labor.
6. Everyone, regardless of income, will be entitled to unlimited amounts of free cheese through the government's cheese giveaway program.

7. Wayne will get a new courthouse at no cost to taxpayers.

8. All of this country's missiles and nuclear weapons will be junked in favor of an indestructible, impenetrable, transparent, giant dome that will cover the United States with the touch of a button in a time of nuclear attack.

9. Video slot machines will be legal in Nebraska to help communities like Wayne raise funds without taxing.

10. Video slot machines will be illegal in Nebraska because they are immoral and criminal.

11. Farmers will be guaranteed $8 a bushel for corn and $14 a bushel for soy beans etc.

12. Income tax rates will be cut in half.

13. The national deficit will be eliminated.

14. Properly taxes in Wayne will drop to a respectable, affordable level—like 25 percent of what they are now.

Now tell me—don't I sound like a true politician? Just remember that spelling when you write in your vote. it's H a s c a l l

Q: In our divorce decree, I was awarded our house. My ex-husband pays child support. I have been told that I will have to have him sign the papers if I want to sell the house. Is this correct?

A: It is unlikely that your ex-husband will need to do anything in order for you to sell the house. If, at the time of your divorce, your ex-husband signed a quitclaim deed deeding the property to you, he will not need to sign any transfer documents on the sale of the house. Additionally, if your divorce decree has "words of conveyance" awarding you the property, the decree acts as a conveyance and you will not need his signature on any of the papers. If the decree does not contain language of conveyance and your ex-husband did not sign a quitclaim deed, you would need to have him sign a quitclaim deed conveying his interest in the property to you in conformity with your decree.

We should note that during the six months between the time a divorce decree is entered and the time it becomes final you are still legally considered to be husband and wife, and both husband and wife would have to sign all deeds of homestead property even if only one is the owner of legal title.

Ag embargoes have hurt our farmers

I am very pleased to have been appointed to the House Senate Conference Committee for the Export Administration Amendments Act. That committee will have the responsibility of resolving the differences between the House and Senate versions of the bill, and my participation on it will give me the opportunity to protect some language that is very important to Nebraska's farmers and to the American economy.

Tremendous damage has been done to our farmers and our economy by ill advised agricultural embargoes. The last agricultural embargo did infinitely more harm to the American farmer than it did to the Soviet Union.

ill-conceived agricultural embargoes. Agricultural exports are a major determinant of farm income. They account for $1 of every $3.50 earned by the agricultural sector. More than 1.2 million Americans owe their livelihood to the production, processing, assembling or distribution of agricultural exports.

The Senate and House versions of the bill both address contract sanctity, though the language in the Senate bill is stronger. I believe that we should have unlimited contract sanctity in both foreign policy and short-supply situations.

LAST YEAR I was successful in amending the Export Administration Amendments to exempt food from the reach of foreign policy embargo authority. My amendment would prevent an Administration from using food embargoes as instruments of foreign policy.

The Senate version of the bill prohibits embargo to any agricultural commodities for national security purposes. If this provision stays in the bill, agricultural commodities could be embargoed only in cases of short supply.

I intend to fight for the strongest language possible to protect this country from future

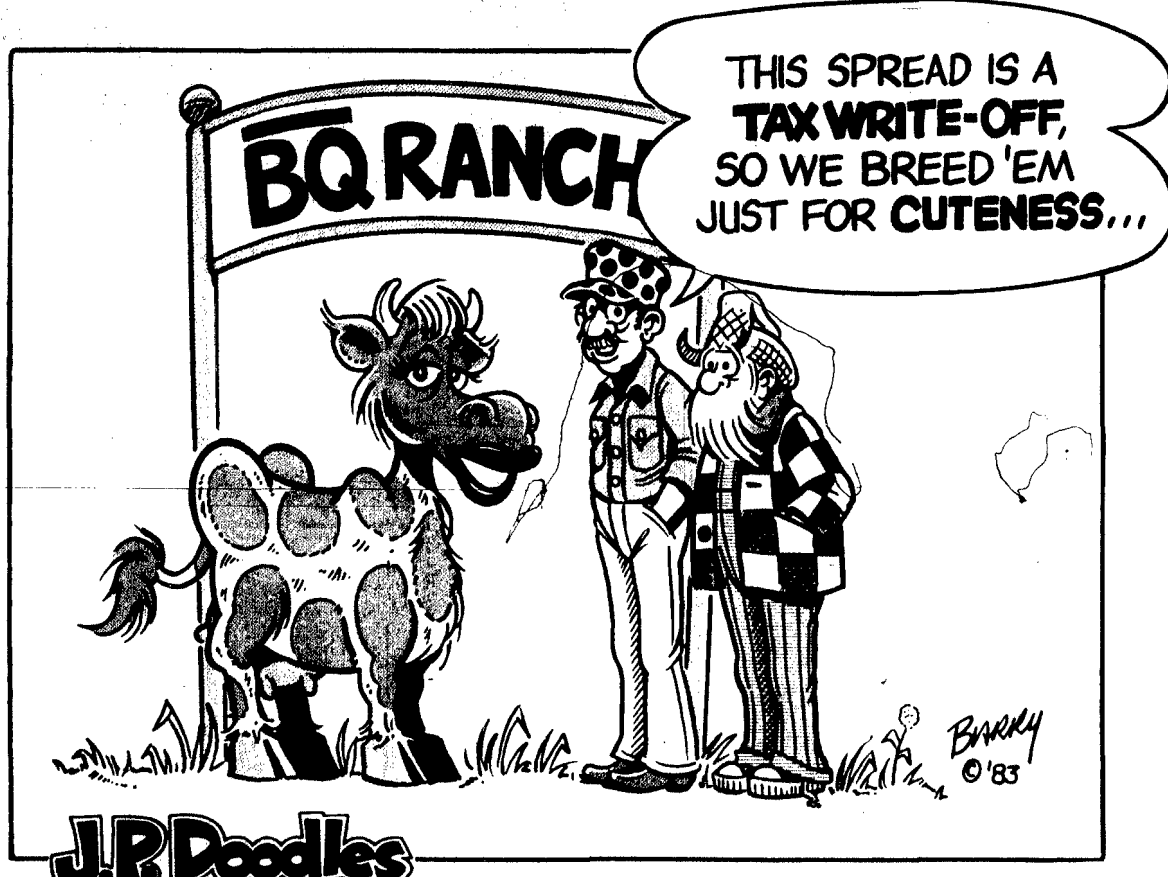

THERE HAS been much concern recently about conflict between Iran and Iraq in the Strait of Hormuz. United States, French and British warships are there now, and everyone is mindful of President Jimmy Carter's pledge that this country would keep the Strait open.

We should give some consideration to the fact that the United States is significantly less dependent on that Persian Gulf oil coming through the Strait of Hormuz than Japan and Western Europe are. The total oil production capacity in the world today is 52 million barrels a day. Total current use 44 million barrels a day. Of that 44 million barrels, 8 to 10 million go through the Strait of Hormuz. The United States is importing 4 1/2 million barrels a day, and 1/2 million of that comes through the Strait. Japan, on the other hand, is relying on 2.7 million barrels of oil a day coming through the Strait.

This brings me to two points. At a time when the Japanese are so dependent on U.S. naval forces to keep the Strait open, they could well afford to be more accommodating to us as we try to establish trade reciprocity (i.e. trade barriers, and quotas on red meat and citrus). And, the Japanese certainly ought to bear a greater share of the financial burden of their international security expenditures.

At present, for FY 1984, Japan is devoting 0.99% of its GNP to national security, and that country indicates it intends to keep that figure below 1%. Japan, of all nations, should take on more of the burden of keeping those shipping lanes open.

Meeting thrills young fan

YOUNG LUKAS SCHROEDER of Laurel had stars in his eyes recently when he met in person his favorite soap opera actress, Gloria Loring, who plays Liz on "Days of Our Lives." Lukas shows off his autographed picture of Ms. Loring, along with an autographed picture he also received from Wayne Northrop, who plays Roman Brady on the same show. Lukas, 3-year-old son of Jim and Sue Schroeder, met the two soap opera stars during a visit he and his parents made last month to the "Days of Our Lives" set in Hollywood, Calif. Mrs. Schroeder said she and Lukas have both been fans of the soap for long time and that Lukas particularly enjoys Ms. Loring's singing voice. Loring visited with Lukas and his parents for nearly 30 minutes during which time Lukas presented Ms. Loring with a box of candy and a plaque which read "You have a special place in my heart."

LENTEN SERVICES
Several churches in the Laurel and Belden community are observing Lent with combined services. The first service was held at the Logan Center United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 14, but because of the weather was held in the Laurel Methodist Church. A large group attended with the message given by Pastor Kenneth Marquardt of the United Lutheran Church, entitled "What's Your Price." Crosses were made by each individual church and at each Lenten service a symbolic piece is given to each family to correlate with the large cross used during the church service. The title of the Lenten services is "Cross/Piece." The Logan Center Church furnished small money bags to hang on the crosses.

The schedule for the remaining services is as follows: March 21, United Lutheran Church, Rev. Tom Robson of the Presbyterian Church preaching; March 28, Laurel Presbyterian Church, Rev. Bruce Mathews of the Methodist Church preaching; April 4, Laurel Methodist Church, Rev. Tom Robson preaching; April 11, Union Presbyterian Church at Belden, Rev. Kenneth Marquardt preaching.

The Maundy Thursday services will be held in each individual church with the Good Friday community worship service held at the Presbyterian Church in Laurel.

FARMERETTES
The Laurel Farmerettes Extension Club met in the home of Mrs. Mae Detlefsen on Tuesday with 11 members and 1 guest, Mrs. Ben Edmeier, in attendance. Mrs. Marguerite Dickey, president, conducted the business meeting.

Bake N Take Days will be held
