

Designed to raise funds for WSC

Presidents Society is formed

The Executive Committee of the Wayne State Foundation has established "The Presidents Society" to recognize exceptional leadership and support given to WSC by individuals and corporate friends.

The society is designed to raise funds to attract and retain quality teachers at WSC; make scholarships and grants-in-aid available for worthy students; underwrite institutional resources such as equipment, books, periodicals and other materials; insure budgetary flexibility considered essential to academic development.

Wayne State President Ed Elliott will be signing and sending letters to each of the college's more than 12,000 alumni informing them of the society.

DR. ELLIOTT said financial, physical and referral contributors are essential to the college.

Through this program, WSC alumni will be asked to make annual gifts to the college. The minimum level of contribution is $500 to become an associate member of The Presidents Society for a year.

A donation of $1,000 will qualify an alumnus as a member of the society, a donation of $2,500 will make a person a patron member and anyone who donates $5,000 will become a distinguished member. Donations totaling $100,000 over a lifetime will qualify a person as a lifetime member.

Corporations can attain membership in the society with a minimum contribution of $2,500. Corporate membership also is divided into various categories.

WAYNE STATE Foundation President David Ley said the foundation is "pretty excited" about the society and the benefits it will provide for the education and way of life in the community.

Scholarships for quality students will be gained through the society, President Elliott said. Some of the scholarships will be based strictly on academics and not on financial need—something that isn't normally done.

Another area that will be supported by the contributions is WSC's Special Program.

Contributors will receive various benefits of membership in the society, including invitations to the president's home, invitations to special programs and recognition at the homecoming banquet.

Legislature votes to impeach

Few senators imagined the dramatic events which were about to take place as they began the 11th week of the legislative session. Some decisive steps were taken toward settling several of the session's controversial issues of which we have more than our share this year.

The first major discussion of the week concerned property taxes. In what is bound to have serious ramifications, the Legislature indefinitely postponed LB 813 on Tuesday morning.

This is the bill which would have extended the local government spending lid for another four years. The lid, established in 1978, will thus expire on Dec. 31, 1984.

LB 813 WOULD have replaced the current 7 percent lid with a lid of 5%. This could be increased to 7 percent after a public hearing was held to inform the public of the need to exceed the 5 percent lid. Any further increase required a vote of the people as is done under the present law.

I opposed the bill motion, not necessarily because I am convinced that lids are needed, but because I think the provisions of LB 813 are preferable to the restrictions which are likely to result from an initiative petition. Such a petition calling for a lid on state government spending and a limit on local property taxes is currently being circulated senator merle von minden

throughout the state and is very likely to appear on the ballot this November.

The next major issue on the agenda for the week concerned the insolvency of the Commonwealth financial institution in Lincoln and the role of our attorney general in the events leading to its collapse. I will not go into details of the accusations of misconduct which led to the proceedings, however, I will attempt a brief explanation of the options which confronted us Wednesday afternoon.

We were given 3: to condemn, to impeach, and/or to censure. Most observers felt that a condemnation was likely because it represented a "middle ground" between censure and impeachment. It would not force the attorney general's removal but would tell the state that the Legislature condemned his actions. If condemnation failed, censure was seen as the most probable.

Few believed that impeachment would occur. It became clear to me, however, after sensing the mood of the body as I listened to debate, that the Legislature was going to vote for impeachment. After several hours of debate, the final roll call was 27 for, 19 against.

I VOTED TO IMPEACH because I felt that the attorney general's actions were at the very least highly unethical. Considering the position of high esteem which he holds, it is incumbent on him to conduct his affairs so as to be above reproach. I felt, as did many others, that voting to impeach was the best way to allow the attorney general to be heard and to defend himself before the Supreme Court.

A hearing will be held on the impeachment charges in the near future to decide whether Mr. Douglas will be allowed to remain in office. It was a serious step which we took but it was our responsibility and under the circumstances we could have done no less.

The final major issue to come before us concerned LB 744 and the video lotteries. Discussion of the measure came as somewhat of a surprise since it was not scheduled for consideration until the following week.

An agreement was arrived at between supporters and opponents which will allow existing video lotteries to remain in operation until Jan. 1, 1985. No video lotteries can operate after that date. Additional machines will not be allowed to go into operation after the effective date of the bill.

BECAUSE THE emergency clause is attached, the bill will go into effect immediately after the governor signs it, which is expected to be sometime within the next 10 days to 2 weeks. The bill still must be approved on final reading which is the reason for the slight delay. After the agreement reached Thursday, passage is assured barring some unforeseen development.

The bill also restricts video lottery machines to areas within the city limits of the municipality which has voted to conduct a lottery. Any machines operating beyond such boundaries must be removed. It was agreed further that LB 336, a bill calling for a statewide lottery, would be withdrawn.

I supported the action taken because, overall, I think this was a good development and will achieve by Jan. 1, 1985, the complete elimination of video lotteries in the state of Nebraska.

Adequate health care is urged necessary for all Americans

Copyright, 1984, the National Forum

In 1965, President Johnson signed Medicare legislation into law, providing basic health insurance for the elderly. It was a new milestone in America's ongoing effort to safeguard the quality of life for its older citizens. It was a natural extension of Social Security — health insurance was recommended by President Truman soon after World War II.

In 1965, Congress also enacted Medicaid — a Federal-State program of health care for the needy, enabling them to obtain services they could not otherwise afford.

In the past 2 decades, then, America has taken giant steps forward in providing health benefits for those most vulnerable to high medical costs.

Today, America faces extraordinary inflationary pressures throughout the entire health care field. In 1982, total national expenditures for personal health care represented 10.5 percent of the Gross National Product — the largest share in history. And the inflationary spiral gives no sign of slowing down.

Adequate health care is still not available to everyone. Medicare and Medicaid have improved access to some services but in recent years even those protections have eroded.

Because of runaway health care costs, the Health Insurance Trust Fund (the part of Medicare which pays for hospital care) could face a financial imbalance later in this decade. This is a problem in its own right; it is also a symptom of a much larger problem.

The current crisis in Medicare and Medicaid is more than a financing problem — it is a problem which exists throughout the entire health care delivery system.

Our goal must be an efficient and effective health care delivery system which will provide access to health care to all people as a matter of right, in a responsible manner of right, in a responsible manner. We must find solutions which deal with all health care expenditures, not only those costs which show up in the Federal budget.

To make this worthy goal a reality, support for the following is essential:

1. Legislation to control health escalating costs.
2. Prospective budgeting for all payors and providers, public and private, assuring access to the health system for all without reducing the quality of health care.
3. Mandatory assignment under Medicare for all physician payments.
4. Combining Part A (hospitalization) and Part B (physician's services) under Medicare and paying part of this combined cost from federal general revenues.
5. Improved access to a full range of health care services for the chronically ill, including home help, hospice and out-patient care.
6. Improved coverage for preventive care needs, with particular emphasis on health education, to help keep people healthy, instead of waiting to care for them until they become sick.
7. Catastrophic insurance coverage, as a matter of right, for people with long-term medical problems, built on top of a basic comprehensive benefit program.
8. Improvements in Medicare benefits, including reimbursement for prescription drugs, eyeglasses, hearing aids, dental care, and long-term care benefits.
9. Federal financing of Medicaid, with the entire cost paid from Federal general revenues, accompanied by uniform benefit levels throughout the nation, and liberalization of the income and asset test.
10. Uniform levels of reimbursement for all public and private payors, so that costs would be consistent throughout the health care system.
11. Improvements in maternal and child health care, which would provide comprehensive benefits to mothers and the young, and future benefits to the old.
12. Adequate funding of health insurance for the unemployed on a continuing basis so that workers and their families will not lose health coverage when they lose their jobs.
13. Federal financial and technical aid for non-profit Health Maintenance Organizations which serve as models of efficient and cost-effective health delivery.
14. Creation of mechanisms in all health programs to protect the quality of health care.
15. Consumer participation in the decision-making process to make these programs more responsive to the needs of people.
16. A universal national health care plan with comprehensive coverage and benefits, cost and quality controls, annual budgets and a reorganized health delivery system.

Wayne High teacher defends excellence in education

To the editor: I came home angry! Until the last few weeks, I have always been proud to be a teacher in the Wayne School System. We have what I consider to be an excellent group of professional teachers who are concerned about the students as individuals and give above and beyond the call of duty to help those young people develop both character and academic skills.

The administrators have been supportive of excellence in education long before the national and state reports were issued. Parents have also been involved in that support and the Wayne Community has always seemed to desire excellence in education.

In the past few weeks, I have heard much criticism and gossip about teachers and coaches. I have seen these same people who have suffered what I consider to be abusive treatment, turn the other cheek and give students extra opportunity and alternatives for learning and developing skills and character.

I know it is not easy to walk with dignity and be extremely fair to students when you are being treated unfairly yourself, but I have watched faculty members rise above criticism and do just that. We care about your children, your school and your community.

As I said before, I came home angry because I wonder how we can expect young people to grow to adulthood and exhibit the qualities of character so necessary for survival in life without having an example to follow.

Things such as honor, integrity, perseverance, dedication to duty, self discipline and love of fellow humans are all qualities that can be developed through home and school activities such as athletics if parents and teachers and students work together toward that goal.

team of any kind function if the team members are trying to follow several different sets of directions? If you question the idea of mixed messages, just listen to the spectators at any event you attend.

If you are being vindictive as a parent, are you going to accept vindictiveness in your child? If we as teachers say something you don't approve of, are you going to have the courage and the courtesy to come and talk to us about it face to face so that we can reach an understanding that will be the best for all of us, student, parent and teacher?

As a critic of schools, I feel I have some knowledge to give credibility to my opinion.

Anonymous author is urged to take letter's responsibility

To the editor: I always wonder about the people who write into newspapers attacking someone or a group of people. If, at the end of the letter they sign their name, I stop to ponder if in deed they have a point.

When they request to remain anonymous after chewing someone to bits, I disregard the letter and wonder who the gutless person was who wrote the letter.

The sole letter appearing in Wednesday's edition of the Herald is typical. Grumbling about a certain coach of a certain team that I have taught in metropolitan areas and rural schools, at levels from kindergarten through college in three different states. I have had five children go through the schools in those three states and I lived with a school administrator for twenty four years.

I have always ranked the Wayne School System as one of the best because of its professional faculty, knowledgeable administrators and supportive and interested parents, and, most of all, because of its talented and bright young people. We all should be proud of the total program. Naturally we can always try to improve.

you meet the (high) expectations of the cheering public is typical too. Grandpa used to call it "sour grapesing."

These days, a person willing to dish out criticism and "take" the responsibilities associated with expressing those opinions is, unfortunately, alypical. Most editors who receive burning letters like the one published Wednesday have come to expect the inevitable "please withhold my name" at the end of such letters.

Most editors hate to publish these letters, but they realize probably more than anyone however, in this we need to seek each other's help.

As teachers and humans we make mistakes, but we care about our school and its young people. I hope you care enough to give us your support and backing. I hope we can work together. I know the faculty will give every effort for the good of the students.

Winning in life is a most important goal for any individual, but what is winning in life? Let's work together to find the answer.

Sincerely,
Mary Lou George,
WHS resource teacher

WHS coaching staff is congratulated for work

Dear former Wayne athlete: After reading your letter about the Wayne High coaching staff, I was struck that some person who was an athlete for Wayne High could give the coaching staff such a low blow.

I'd like to tell you that I was a participant in football and wrestling, and in both sports there was excellent coaching. Both in football and wrestling the coaches lead their teams to winning records. So I would like to congratulate those coaches Mr. Ehrhardt, head coach of football, and Mr. Koenig, head coach of wrestling.

Next I'd like to say that I am sorry to see that Coach Sharpe is resigning, but I am glad to see that he is going to still teach at Wayne High. I'd also like to congratulate Coach Sharpe on an excellent coaching year on bringing his team to a winning record. I'm so sorry to see that people have to pressure a good coach into resigning.

As for that comment about the girls basketball team, they tried real hard and did their best out on the court. I can also say for a fact that coaches did a good job of coaching the girls and worked them real well and hard in practice.

I'm sorry to see that you are so upset with the Wayne High coaching staff, and am sorry to see that you didn't have nerve enough to sign your name to the article. Once more, I'd like to congratulate the coaching staff.

Steve Heisler

Wayne recreation teams finish season with wins

The Wayne recreation seventh grade boys won a pair of ball games over the weekend to finish their season with an 8-3 record. Wayne defeated the Fremont Cagers 33-24 and defeated Lincoln Roberts 37-23 in a Lincoln tournament. The locals were forced to forfeit their first ball game because they arrived in Lincoln late. In the win over Roberts on Sunday, Jarrod Wood scored 10 points and Jess Zeiss scored 8. The locals held a slim 18-17 lead at the half and a 24-23 lead after 3 periods.

Eric Liska 4, Jed Reeg 4, Eric Runestad 7, Greg Schmidt 7, Daryl Lindsay 7. Against Fremont, Wood had the hot hand, accounting for 16 of Wayne's 34 points. Rescue unit is winner

The Laurel Rescue Unit was the big winner as the KNEK Krazy Kagers and Laurel Life Savers battled heads on the basketball court on Sunday, March 18.

The benefit game between the Norfolk radio station team and a team of rescue unit members and Aid Association for Lutherans members drew a crowd of 400 and raised money for the rescue unit.

At halftime, auctioneer Lonnie Nixon auctioned off pies and cakes. Highlights of the game included the matchup of Laurel's L.J. "Ole" Mallatt against KNEK's Jeff Reynolds, who is a foot taller. KNEK's 4-11 center, Heather Arthur sank 2 key free throws.

The second half featured some slam dunks by former Laurel High and South Dakota State University basketball star George Schroeder. A KNEK player was rescued by Laurel EMTs equipped with a stretcher, backboard and makeshift siren.

The night's proceeds, combined with several hundred dollars in previous donations, totaled $1,700.20. AAL Branch 1566, which co-sponsored the game, will match the amount raised.

Funds will be used to purchase new lifesaving items such as a pager system, a portable suction unit, an ambulance cot, Kendrick Extrication Devices and Philadelphia model cervical collars.

Anyone who would like to donate can send a check made payable to AAL Branch 1566 to either Marcia Nixon or Cherry Drwiler of Laurel.

Champions

District 57's boys and Allen's girls prevailed Saturday evening in the Dixon Recreational Basketball Tournament.

District 57 School of Wayne County defeated Dixon 38-31 to win the boys championship and Allen defeated Dixon 36-19 to win the girls title.

In consolation play, District 57 topped Hoskins 29-13 to place third in the girls division. In the boys division, Winside edged Hoskins 22-20 for third place.

Mayor John Young presented trophies to the winning teams.

In other basketball action on March 10, Dixon's girls (grades 3 through 7) blasted Winside 48-9. In the boys game, Winside dumped Dixon 47-16.

New Center for Economic Education

Reprinted from "Chalk Talk" Nebraska Council on Economic Education. Teachers in northeast Nebraska now have an additional—and much closer—Center for Economic Education to which they can turn for assistance. Nebraska's fifth Center for Economic Education was recently established at Wayne State College in Wayne. "We're very pleased to have the new center located at Wayne State College," said the college's president, Ed E. Holt. "The economic education of people in northeast Nebraska is a top priority for the state. The center, the 250th in a national network affiliated by the Joint Council on Economic Education, will offer workshops and graduate credit courses on teaching economics, said NCEE Executive Director Bill Walstad. The first three credit hour graduate courses is now being planned by the center's interim director, Cliff Ginn, who heads the Social Sciences Division at Wayne State. Economics for Teachers will be offered in June. The center also provides resources, materials and additional training for development and maintenance of economic education

Scholarships, grants available to area

Scholarships and educational grants are available to area students and others from the region seeking higher education. Over 3 billion dollars a year available in scholarships and grants according to Scholar Aid Bureau, Melrose Park, Pa., a national scholarship matching service. Much of this money goes to fund Steven Seaver, president of Scholar Aid reports, because students are unaware of its availability. Scholar Aid offers guaranteed matches of at least 100 percent for all possible scholarship sources for undergraduate students. If we cannot provide a minimum of $1,000 in awards per student our entire fee is refunded and the student need those materials we did obtain—and lower. Scholar Aid's vast computer data bank of scholarships is constantly updated and can also benefit graduate students and those seeking athletic scholarships. An online computerized college entrance is invited to send his name and address to Scholar Aid, P.O. Box 29793, Elkins Park, Pa. 19026. For complete information.

Faculty profile

"Being a native of the Midwest has affected Dennis Linster's views of Wayne. "Being a Midwesterner, I like the environment that Wayne has to offer. It's a nice place to live and raise a family," he said. Linster, assistant professor of industrial education at Wayne State College, was raised in Odebolt, Iowa. He originally came to Wayne to study at Wayne State. HE RECEIVED his bachelor of arts degree and master's degree from Wayne State. Currently, he is working on his doctorate in education through the University of Northern Colorado at Greeley. Linster is very happy with his position at Wayne State. "I like the size of the classes and the high quality of students at Wayne State College. It's very easy to grow professionally here. "Wayne State College lacks a lot of bureaucratic activities that some other institutions seem to thrive on," he said. LINSTER belongs to the National Education Association, the Nebraska Education Association, and the Wayne State Education Association. He also is a member of the Nebraska Industrial Education Association, the American Industrial Arts Association, Phi Delta Kappa, and Epsilon Pi Tau. Linster's hobbies include hunting, fishing, photography and "playing" with his computer. He and his wife Carolyn have three children, Sarah, 17, Amy, 13, and Molly, 3.

SNAPPER BREAKS NEW GROUND

Have you ever broken your back digging in the garden? Then it's time to take a look at SNAPPER's rear tire tiller. You'll find it difficult to believe that this tiller can actually break new ground without inflicting torture on you.

With one pass you can easily break a 20" path of new ground. SNAPPER's 5HP and 8HP tillers are equipped with "in-the-garden" easy change forward or reverse rotation tilling.

There's also an 8HP model with an electric start. Remove the tiller case and the tiller becomes a powerful walking tractor. Then with the wide range of Universal Garden Tools* you can easily handle other gardening projects. Plowing, cultivating and there's even a dozer blade for loose soil and snow removal.

The SNAPPER rear tire tiller, a revolutionary ground breaker that takes the sweat out of digging. The complete tiller for today's gardener. See your SNAPPER dealer today.

How do you guarantee a home for your family, even if you're not there?

No problem.

Auto-Owners Mortgage Life Insurance goes beyond your homeowners insurance to make sure your family will have a home if something should ever happen to you. And, it's a very affordable protection to have. Just ask your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent to tell you how Mortgage Life Insurance can be no problem for your home and family.

Tough Tougher Toughest

It isn't just one thing. It's the electric motor specifically engineered for center pivots.

It's the no-grease U-joint with the flexible urethane inserts that easily outlasts any conventional U-joint.

It's the toughest gearbox in the industry — the one they put on other brands of center pivots by the thousands when their gearboxes fail.

It's the proven multi-directional flex joint that allows easy operation on slopes up to 30°.

It's a structural design with no scrimping in critical areas, and a tough no nonsense electric system.

It's full hot-dipped galvanized protection that's standard, not an option.

And that's just for starters. Let us show you the rest. We can convert almost any brand to a Valley drive train.

Rest easy. It's a Valley.
