THE WAYNE HERALD

Special day in Wayne

Their motto is "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."
The Special Olympians at Sunday's track and field meet in Wayne were all winners. And all were brave in their attempts.
Participants from northeast Nebraska competed in the meet, co-sponsored by the Wayne Kiwanis Club and Wayne State College. Gertrude Vahikamp helped organize the event and numerous volunteers helped out.
Activities included a softball throw, frisbee toss, high jump, long jump, 50-meter dash, 200-meter run and 400-meter run. Cool, damp weather and strong winds didn't keep the smiles and proud looks off the faces of the participants. They knew they were winners.
Nationally, more than one million mentally retarded individuals take part in Special Olympics.
The annual State Special Olympics track meet will be held in Omaha next month. In this photo, Marla Carmichael gives her dad a hug after completing an event.

Courthouse has stood 85 years

The future of the Wayne County Courthouse, which is becoming a controversial issue, will be decided by county voters on May 15. It won't be the first time voters will be asked to decide whether to build a new courthouse.
In 1882, some Wayne landowners donated a block of land to the county. In the deed it was stipulated that the block must be used by the County of Wayne for a county court house and other county buildings.
The county was given 20 years from the date of the deed to erect a court house or lose the land.
THE SHERIFF'S residence and jail were built on the site in 1885. Nearly 150 trees were planted in two rows around the courthouse square.
A barn was purchased for $125 and placed on the property and later a sidewalk was built.
Feeling that a courthouse was needed, the county board drew up a proposition on May 15, 1890 to vote $30,000 in bonds for the construction of a courthouse.
The commissioners authorized plan preparation, details and specifications for a courthouse which would not exceed $30,000, including heating, lighting, water, vaults and furniture.
The courthouse bond issue carried. With 1,120 votes cast, 757 were in favor of the proposition and 363 were opposed.
AN AGREEMENT was made on March 28, 1899 with Orff & Guilbert of Minneapolis, for furnishing plans for the courthouse and heating and plumbing systems.
Portage stone, red press brick, adamant plaster and slate roofing were chosen for the building. Five bids were submitted and the low bid of $25,600 from Rowles & Moore of Omaha was accepted.
The courthouse was completed and was occupied Dec. 28, 1899. The commissioners spent that day helping transfer records and other property of the offices to the new structure.
Before the courthouse was constructed, small buildings had served as the county's courthouse.
WAYNE COUNTY'S first courthouse was built at the county seat of LaPorte in 1874. An election led to a vote of 26 to 21 in favor of building a courthouse.
The first courthouse, a brick structure 40 by 50 feet, was built, along with a jail, at a cost of $10,200. The frame structure which had originally served the county as a courthouse was sold at an auction for $151.
On the first floor of the building were six office rooms. The courtroom was on the second floor.
At a special election in 1882, it was voted to move the Wayne County seat from LaPorte to the new town of Wayne. The county records were moved to a building located at 4th and Main streets.
A fire, suspected to be arson, destroyed the building that served as courthouse in 1884. Another small courthouse was built on the same site for $1,800.
That courthouse served the county's purposes until the courthouse that still stands today was built.

First Savings, First National to merge

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) has announced the approval of the merger of The First Savings Company of Wayne with The First National Bank of Wayne.
The merger will be effective in May and will mean that all deposits and loans of The First Savings Company will become part of The First National Bank of Wayne.
It also means that all deposits currently being held by The First Savings Company of Wayne will be insured by the FDIC up to the $100,000 maximum. Through the merger, the total assets of The First National Bank will increase to more than $32,000,000.
"The First Savings Company was established in 1979 as a way to broaden our deposit base because the savings company was able to pay higher rates than both commercial banks and savings and loans," bank President Bob Reeg said in announcing the merger.
"During the past few years the federal government has begun to deregulate financial institutions and therefore no longer controls deposit rates paid by banks and savings and loans. This deregulation has eliminated the major advantage of the company," Reeg said. "We are very proud of the fact that The First Savings Company of Wayne was able to grow to over $4,000,000 in assets in just four years which made it one of the fastest growing institutions of its kind in Nebraska."
Ron Sladek, who joined First Savings Company as president in 1979, has resigned his position and has accepted a position as executive vice president of the First Continental National Bank in Millard.

Religious Heritage Day will be April 29

Members of nine Wayne churches and the campus ministry are busy mounting historical displays, dusting off antique items, and arranging objects handcrafted by members for use in the church.
The work is being done in preparation for a Religious Heritage Day open house on Sunday, April 29 in conjunction with Wayne's centennial celebration.
On that day, the public will be invited to visit each of the churches participating in the event between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.
PARTICIPATING churches include First Baptist, 400 Main St.; First Church of Christ, 1110 E. 7th; First United Methodist, 516 Main; Grace Lutheran, 9th and Logan; Redeemer Lutheran, 502 Lincoln;
Also, St. Anselm's Episcopal, 1006 Main; St. Mary's Catholic, 412 E. 8th; St. Paul's Lutheran, 421 Pearl; United Presbyterian, 216 W. 3rd; and the Wayne State College Cooperative Campus Ministry, 312 E. 12th.
EACH CHURCH will have hosts and/or hostesses present during open-house hours to explain the items on display. Committee members will be dressed in centennial costumes.
Complimentary refreshments will be served during the event in the Methodist Church fellowship hall.

NPA contest held

Wayne Herald wins seven state awards

For the fourth consecutive year, The Wayne Herald was the winning newspaper in its circulation division in the Nebraska Press Association's annual Better Newspaper Contest.
The Herald netted five first place awards, one second and one third in the contest. Results were announced Friday night at the Nebraska Press Association state convention in Kearney.
Points were awarded to newspapers on a formula of 10 points for each first place, seven for each second and four for each third. The Wayne Herald tallied 61 points to win its circulation division (circulation of more than 2,500) over the Chadron Record which scored 42 points.
THREE SMALLER weekly newspapers, the Gothenburg Times, the North Bend Eagle and the Benkelman Post, scored more points in their circulation classes than The Wayne Herald.
The Herald earned first places for feature story; front page; use of color; picture page and special section. A second place was earned for sports pages and a third place was awarded for feature story.
Randy Hascall's story of John Meyer and Carroll Addison traveling down the Mississippi River on a 14-foot boat was chosen best feature story. LaVon Anderson's story of legally blind dancer Mary Halversadt was selected third.
The entry in use of color included a color photo of red fox pups—a boof hanging on a fence post and printed in brown ink, and the use of blue ink on the Mississippi River boat trip. Pressmen who did the color work are Ray Murray, Al Pippitt and Jeff Sperry.
THE WAYNE HERALD'S "Hard Times" section was picked as the best special section in the competition. The section included accounts of our readers, telling stories of the hardest times in their lives.
The first place winning picture page was a page consisting of close up photos of farm equipment. In the judging of front pages, judges selected front pages at random. The Wayne Herald's were judged the best in that category.
Three individual sports sections were submitted in the sports pages competition and the Herald's were chosen second best.
With scoring taking place in respective circulation classes, here is the overall top 10 ranking for non-dailies: 1. Gothenburg (1,500 to 2,499) 72, 2. North Bend (up to 1,499) 71, 3. Benkelman (1,500 to 2,499) 66, 4. Wayne (2,500 or more) 61, 5. Wisner News-Chronicle (1,500 to 2,499) 60, 6. Millard Times (up to 1,499) 55, 7. Oakland Independent (1,500 to 2,499) 51, 8. Chadron-Record (2,500 or more) 42, 9. (tie) Crawford Clipper (up to 1,499) and Cozad Tri-City Trib (2,500 or more) 38.
BY FINISHING first in the overall competition, the Gothenburg Times was the first recipient of the Mark E. Cramer Sweepstakes Award, which has been initiated this year and will be awarded each succeeding year in memory of the late publisher of The Wayne Herald.
J. Alan Cramer, current publisher of The Wayne Herald, presented the award in honor of his father who was killed in an airplane crash in 1954, at the age of 50.
Greg Viergutz, publisher of the Gothenburg newspaper, received the award. The bronze statue, crafted by artist Herb Mignery, depicts a farm woman standing beside her rural mailbox, reading the newspaper which has just been delivered.

Train topples

RAILROAD WORKERS begin repair of the tracks where a Burlington Northern train derailed Sunday morning about one-half mile west of Dixon. Five cars overturned on the north side of the railroad tracks, spilling loads of corn on the ground. The train was eastbound when it derailed.

Winside benefit volleyball set

The Student Council of Winside High School will sponsor a benefit volleyball game for the Heart Fund on Tuesday, April 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Teams will be comprised of local and area media and townspeople.

An ice cream social will be held following the game. Admission is $2 for the game and $3 for the game and ice cream social. The public is invited to attend.

Wayne grad in St. Olaf Choir

The St. Olaf College trombone choir was featured in a special "Night of Brass" concert last night (Wednesday) in Urness Recital Hall on the St. Olaf campus.

Six brass groups played in the concert, including a trumpet ensemble, a horn ensemble, the sophomore brass ensemble, a tuba-euphonium choir, the trombone choir and the brass choir. Glenn Elliott of Wayne was one of the performers.

License gets donor card

Nebraska will now have immediate access to information about organ donation.

LB 711 provides for the placing of the uniform organ donor card on the back of the Nebraska drivers license.

The bill, introduced by State Senator William Nichol, was passed by Nebraska Legislators April 5 and signed into law by Governor Robert Kerrey on April 9.

"There is an overwhelming need for people to become aware of organ donation," said Tom Kraeger, president of the National Kidney Foundation of Nebraska. "Approximately 10,000 Americans are on the waiting list to receive a kidney transplant alone; many of these people are Nebraskans."

Winside students gets scholarship

Melissa K. Farran daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Farran of Winside has been awarded a Board of Trustees Scholarship by Midland Lutheran College.

Melissa received the scholarship based on her high school class rank and scores on the American College Test. The award is renewable for three additional years of study at the College. She will graduate from Winside High School this spring.

Remer earns UNL award

David Remer, a senior at Wayne High School, has been selected as one of 10 winners in a competition sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Chemistry. The award will be for $500 per academic year for two years while enrolled as a chemistry major at UNL.

Remer was nominated for the award by his high school science teacher, Duane Blomenkamp, and was selected as one of the 10 winners from nearly 80 students from Nebraska and surrounding states.

The winners were based on the nomination and the top scores on a science and math examination given in the student's high school and graded at UNL. Remer will enroll at UNL next fall as a chemistry major.

Area student places in contest

Lanny Boswell of Allen Consolidated School was third in the statewide Math Counts Contest held on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus last weekend.

Individual winners will represent Nebraska in the National Competition to be held in Washington, D.C. in May. The Nebraska Team will be coached by Leona Penner, a math teacher at Lincoln East Junior High.

Can fund drive established for MD

The Wayne County Jaycees are hoping to collect 500 pounds of crushed cans to help fight muscular dystrophy.

A muscular dystrophy fund drive is being planned from 8 to 10 a.m. on Thursday, April 26. Anyone who is interested in helping the cause may take cans to 212 Main Street and put them in the wagon in front of the Jaycee Hall.

The Jaycees also will pick up cans from residents if they call 375-1522 between 7 and 9 p.m. Theme of the drive is "We Can Crush M.D."

WSC teachers attend consortium

Alan and Bobbye Lupack represented Wayne State College at the Consortium for Learning and Study Skills in College meetings held Friday at Kearney State College.

Various activities and presentations were held during the day.

Girl Scout leaders will be honored

Girls and adults throughout Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council join a nationwide celebration on Monday (April 23) honoring Girl Scout leaders for their work.

The third annual salute to Girl Scout leaders, traditionally is celebrated on April 22 but is moved this year because of Easter.

Easter bake sale is scheduled

An Easter bake sale is planned today (Thursday) from 2 to 9 p.m. at Pamida. Baked goods may be purchased during that time and all proceeds will go to the Wayne Women's Softball League.

Organizers of the bake sale, Deb Altemann, Shelley Frevert and Judy Bruna, said any donations to the bake sale would be appreciated.

Summer drivers ed classes planned

Summer drivers education classes are scheduled June 4-22 in the Wayne-Carroll High School lecture hall, it was announced by instructor Ron Carnes.

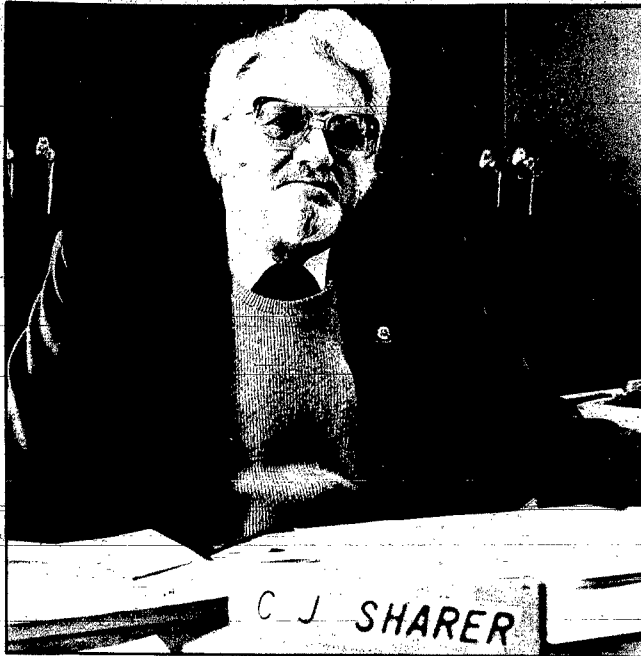

Classroom sessions are planned from 9 to 11 a.m. during that period. Cost of the course is $25. Anyone who is living in the Wayne-Carroll district can take the classes. Carnes said "The minimum age to start driving in the course is 14."

For more information contact Carnes at 375-3815 or 375-3150.

Midland scholarship awarded

Valerie J. Bush daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bush of Carroll, has been awarded an honor scholarship by Midland Lutheran College.

She received the scholarship based on her high school class rank and scores on the American College Test. The award is renewable for three additional years of study at the College. Valerie will graduate from Wayne-Carroll High School this spring.

Sharer retires from post office

More than three decades of service came to an end this week as Cleo Sharer announced his retirement as a Wayne Post Office employee.

Sharer, 59, is stepping down after 32 years with the local post office.

He started working at the Wayne Post Office as a part-time clerk-carrier in 1955 at age 31. During his postal career, Sharer worked as a window clerk, first assistant postmaster, and the last 12 years as superintendent of postal operations.

"The postal service has treated me and my family very well. I had the privilege of working with a very special group of people," Sharer said. "I would put this group up against any office in the country."

Cleo and wife, Vona, have four children, Tim, Jane, Michael and Deena. The Sharers will continue to live in Wayne, Cleo said.

business notes

Kent Neumann of the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Wakefield has accepted a job at the SCS Office in Walthill, serving as district conservationist.

Neumann began his new duties in Thurston County on April 16.

He had worked in the Wakefield office the past 19 months. He worked in the Creighton Field Office before coming to Wakefield.

Cathy Gay has joined Carhart Lumber Co. of Wayne as head of the floor and wall covering departments.

She replaces Eileen Fegley, who recently retired after 15 years of service.

A native of Rea, Mo., where her parents have been engaged in farming for 40 years, Cathy graduated from NMSU in Maryville, Mo. with a bachelor of science degree in merchandising of textiles, clothing and furnishings.

GAY WORKED for the J.C. Penney Co. in St. Joseph, Mo. as a custom decorator selling carpet, custom window treatments and wall covering.

In May 1981 she was transferred to Norfolk by K Mart Apparel Corporation and resided there until her move to Wayne last November.

A NEW 2,000 square foot department is being remodeled at Carharts to house the carpet, resilient flooring and wall-covering departments.

New wallpaper books are being added to the existing library, carpet lines are being added, and the department will now sell decorative shades and blinds.

obituaries

Rens Haller, 83, of rural Winside died Friday at the Wakefield Hospital.

Services were held Monday April 16, 1984 at the United Methodist Church in Wayne. The Rev. Keith Johnson officiated.

Rens W. Haller, the son of Gottlieb Gabriel and Ella Kirchoff Haller, was born Dec. 3, 1900 at Winside. He grew up in the Winside farming community. He married Viva Carr on March 25, 1925 at Sioux City, Iowa. The couple farmed east of Winside from that time.

Survivors include one son, Kenneth Haller of Winside and two grandchildren, Terry and Jaci Haller.

He was preceded in death by his wife in March, 1975, his parents and one brother.

Palbearers were Melvin Coulter, Larry Carlton, Victor Mann, Darrell Gilliland, Marvin Fuoss and Malvin Nydahl.

Burial will be in the Pleasant View Cemetery, Winside with Wilfse Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Optometrist bill passes in final session

The second session of the 88th Legislature officially came to an end Monday evening at 8:19. The last day began at 8 a.m. as the Legislature settled for a full-day of considering bills on final reading and motions to override the governor's vetoes.

One of the most bitterly contested issues of the session finally came to an end with the passage of LB 561. Adopted by a vote of 25-20, the measure allows optometrists (those who examine the eye and prescribe eye glasses) to treat minor eye infections, inflammations and superficial abrasions.

This treatment will consist of applying, when necessary, topical pharmaceutical agents to the anterior or surface of the eye only. More serious eye ailments will be referred to an ophthalmologist for treatment. Ophthalmologists (those who study the anatomy, function, pathology and treatment of the eye) fiercely resisted the bill's passage.

senator merle von minden

I co-sponsored passed. As a result the state college will be able to offer a Master's degree in Business Administration. Unfortunately, money to implement the programs for Wayne State and Chadron State were line-item vetoed by the governor. I attempted to override the veto, which amounted to restoring $38,000 to the budget, but was unsuccessful on a vote of 23-26. Thirty votes are needed to override a veto.

I also supported a successful veto override on another bill I co-sponsored, LB 809. This is the only measure to come out of the Legislature this session which provides actual property tax relief. This legislation will provide an estimated $75 reduction per homestead in property taxes when it goes into effect next year.

Another fairly controversial measure which I opposed was enacted into law Monday morning, LB 553, concerning investment of state funds in South Africa, passed on a vote of 28-19. Under the bill's provisions, the state is prohibited from investing funds in companies doing business with South Africa unless the firms meet a series of requirements.

Among those requirements are demands that the companies demonstrate progress in providing equal and fair employment, conduct equal pay practices, develop training programs for minorities, hire minorities for managerial positions and improve workers' lives away from the workplace.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL measure was LB 845. I supported the bill's passage because it improves our attempts at child support enforcement. It does this in several ways: 1, allows genetic blood testing to be conducted upon motion of the court or one of the parties and allows the results to be submitted as admissible evidence in paternity cases, 2, establishes a state income tax refund intercept program for child support payments and 3, changes the penalty for violation of support orders from a misdemeanor to a Class IV felony.

LB 915 ALSO received final approval on a vote of 40-7. This measure, which had my support, prohibits off-track betting services after Dec. 31, 1984. OTB services exist near all race tracks in Nebraska, including Atokad. These services allow people to place bets on horse races without going to the track.

Theoretically, the service goes to the track and places the bets for you, then keeps a percentage of your winnings as a fee. In practice, however, many OTB services never placed the bets at the track. Their activities in many instances more closely resemble bookie operations.

One further measure worthy of mention is LB 1125. This bill creates a Telecommunications and Information Center for the purpose of identifying and developing opportunities in the communications field.

I opposed the legislation because I feel it is creating an agency which in four or five years will develop into another government bureaucracy. It is yet another example of government intruding into an area which is better left to the efforts of private enterprise. Despite my opposition, the bill passed on a vote of 31-16.

viewpoint

Political interest

Just when it's easy to get the idea that people have no interest in government or our leaders, a large group of individuals turned out to meet their State Senators at Monday's legislative breakfast in Laurel.

In fact, the response was so good that the Laurel city auditorium couldn't really accommodate the large turnout.

Six members of the Unicameral spoke briefly at the breakfast and most stayed around afterwards to answer questions.

It wasn't an earthshattering legislative conference full of facts, opinions and comments. The people who attended the breakfast didn't learn all the things they wanted to learn or hear all the things they wanted to hear.

But they did turn out to meet their elected officials. The size of the audience was remarkable for an event that touched on politics and lawmaking.

The people who attended the breakfast seemed to realize that our lawmakers are important and our input to them is just as important. Hopefully, the interest that was shown Monday will carry over into the primary election on May 15.

By Randy Hascall
Wayne Herald editor

I supported LB 561 because, after listening to the arguments of both sides, I felt that the weight of the evidence indicated that optometrists were very adequately trained in this area of eye care and should not be prohibited from providing these services to their patients.

LAST WEEK I reported that LB 970 which

Olympics is celebration

To the editor:
A big thank you to the Wayne Kiwanis, WSC students and all the other volunteers who helped to make last Sunday's Special Olympics such a wonderful day for our children. We are lucky to live in a community where there are so many who care.

Mrs. Gertrude Vahkamp, our children's teacher, is a very special lady. Each spring she lovingly works with her students to prepare them for the Special Olympics meets, and giving up four of her weekends, she attends the meets with her students, coaxing, encouraging and praising them.

Special Olympics has been a topic of conversation around our house for the past several weeks and last Sunday was the first big meet. What excitement!

Our children came home with smiling faces, lovely ribbons and beautiful T-shirts. On the front of the T-shirts, these words were printed: "Special Olympics — A Celebration of Love, Wayne Invitational."

When you see the huggers waiting with outstretched arms at the finish line, and businessmen and teachers and students who gave of their time on Sunday; it was evident that it was a celebration of love.

Bill & Sharon Corbit

Special thanks

To the editor:
Hats off to the Winside School Student Council members and advisors for sponsoring the Stouxtand Blood Mobile's first visit to Winside.

The students did a great job calling and scheduling donors as well as providing the cookies and coffee. Several community members assisted in the project. Sixty-seven people donated blood.

1984 Legislative session ends

By Melvin Paul
Nebraska Press Association

It was a typical frenzied finish last week to the 1984 legislative session.

The 60-day meeting ended Monday night after a frenzied 12-hour work day in which lawmakers passed 57 bills, overrode six gubernatorial vetoes and refused to send a constitutional property tax lid to the November ballot.

In his unsuccessful effort to place a 2 percent property tax lid on the ballot, Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh warned colleagues that their failure to deal with the tax problem this session will return to haunt them.

ED JAKSHA OF OMAHA is circulating an initiative petition to place a lid on annual property tax bills of 1.5 percent of actual value on the November ballot. DeCamp noted his own 2 percent lid. DeCamp said, would draw the political support of farm organizations away from Jaksha because it was combined with another provision which would apply a different standard to the valuation of agricultural land for tax purposes.

On a procedural motion which needed the support of 30 senators, lawmakers voted 25-16 to preclude a final vote on the DeCamp proposal to submit to voters the constitutional amendment.

With failure of his own proposal, DeCamp said, he now intends to support the Jaksha proposal.

Lawmakers voted on the last day to override Gov. Bob Kerrey's vetoes of bills creating a wildlife habitat income tax checkoff, re-establishing a general homestead exemption program in fiscal year 1985-86, adding $250,000 to the veterans' aid trust fund and making available for general state spending about $4.5 million in interest from the state's special cash flow fund.

Lawmakers voted to sustain Kerrey vetoes on the last day on five bills, including one measure which would have made a long-term commitment to increased school aid and another which would have created a state aid program for vocational education.

IN A FOUR-MINUTE farewell speech to lawmakers just before the 8:19 p.m. adjournment, Kerrey struck a conciliatory tone, and made no mention of the dozens of veto overrides which the lawmakers dealt him in the closing weeks of the session.

"When the smoke clears," said Kerrey, "you'll recognize that you've accomplished a great deal."

Kerrey's last day successes included passage of three administration-backed bills changing the taxation of multinational corporations, creating a telecommunications information center in the state Department of Administrative Services and enacting a money-saving redefinition of eligibility for a state disability program.

Kerrey signed on the last day, LB 892, a bill which sets the state individual income tax rate at 19 percent and the state sales tax rate at 3.5 percent. The bill reduces the income tax rate by a percentage point, and leaves the sales tax rate unchanged.

Legislative general fund spending stood at $833.3 million when lawmakers went home, an 11.6 percent increase over current year appropriations. Kerrey, however, was expected to reduce the spending last week with a series of line item vetoes which now will go unchallenged.

ALLEGATIONS of deal-making also spiced the last working day of the session.

Central to the alleged deal was LB 561, an optometry bill sponsored by retiring Sen. Robert Clark of Sidney. LB 561 had failed the previous week on final reading, 22-23, but was reconsidered on Monday afternoon.

It picked up three votes and passed, 25-20.

The measure picked up the three votes the second time around from Sens. Dave Newell of Omaha, Don Wesley of Lincoln and Emil Beyer of Gretna.

Although the senators involved would acknowledge no deals, many of their colleagues alleged that it was more than coincidence that Clark provided each of the vote-switchers with last-day assistance on bills which were important to them.

Parties change, but principles endure

By Richard Leshner
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

If you walk into a McDonald's restaurant in New York City or Tucson or Paris and order a Big Mac and fries, you know exactly what you will get. Advertising and the development of brandnames for goods and services provide a great deal of information to consumers guaranteeing quality and consistency.

The use of trademarks of trade names works well for restaurants, designer jeans and hotels.

But what happens when we walk into the polling booth on Election Day, November 6, 1984, and see before us the names of candidates for federal, state and local office, and they are labeled Republicans and Democrats? Just what do those party labels mean?

LOOKING AT the present Congress we can answer, "very little."

There are Republicans who support higher government spending and feel they should be the tax collectors for the liberal welfare programs, and there are some Democrats who truly believe in limited government and lower taxes and economic growth. The two parties may have tendencies in one direction or the other, but neither party demonstrates a consistent commitment to one principle.

Perhaps this is why the number of Americans who consider themselves Independents has been steadily increasing for years. Why belong to a party if it doesn't mean anything? That the parties have become ideologically impotent also leads to crossover voting. For instance, voters who wish to vote for low tax, pro-growth candidates can select politicians of both parties.

To vote a "straight" party ticket only guarantees that some rotten apples will sneak in with the good.

The inconsistencies are within each political party today and have occurred over time. In 1932 Herbert Hoover ran for president on the Republican ticket as the candidate who raised taxes, increased spending and pushed through protectionist legislation. Franklin Delano Roosevelt ran as the low tax, anti-protectionist, cut-the-budget alternative.

During the 1930s the two parties switched sides on the economic issues.

THERE ARE in the United States, and indeed the world, two predominant competing philosophies: more government control over our lives and incomes or less government control. Our two political parties should reflect that dichotomy.

Imagine for a moment that you patronized an ice cream shop, and whenever you ordered vanilla, the clerk handed you a chocolate ice cream cone. Well, that is what has been happening to the American people when they vote for politicians who promise one thing and deliver the opposite. It is time for fundamental reform.

In fairness to American voters, and in the spirit of truth-in-advertising laws, the two parties should decide that one of them will be the low-tax, limited government party, and the other will represent the high-tax, big government position. The conservatives within the Democratic Party and the liberals within the Republican Party should either convert the majority faction of their respective parties or leave and join their philosophical soul mates in the other party.

Congressmen Phil Gramm of Texas and Andy Ireland of Florida decided that they could no longer remain in the Democratic Party under its present liberal leadership. They could not reform their party, so they left to become Republicans. John Lindsay, the former liberal Republican mayor of New York City, joined the Democratic Party when he felt he could no longer remain in the Republican Party.

Which party will become the low-tax party? (And I confidently predict that that party will win future elections hands down.) The Republicans may lay claim to the title based on Ronald Reagan's leadership over the past three years and the majority of the Senate and House who share Reagan's pro-growth philosophy. Yet, there are other Republicans who may grab control in future years who would opt for the big government party.

The Democrats, too, may go in either direction. They might follow their present leaders and become the big government-ignoring party, or they may return to the principles of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson and pre-1932 Franklin Roosevelt and support the principles of limited government and lower taxes.

May 7 event in Hoskins

Wayne County Home Extension Council plans for Spring Tea

The Wayne County Home Extension Council has announced plans for its annual Spring Tea. Vi Lange of Hoskins, a member of the Spring Tea committee, told council members during a recent meeting that the event will be held May 7 in the Trinity Lutheran School basement at Hoskins.

Registration begins at 1 p.m. with the program at 1:30. Theme is "The Family Well Being and Music Connection."
Serving with Mrs. Lange on the planning committee are Mrs. Herb Niemann of Carroll and Mrs. James Robinson of Hoskins.

NINETEEN Council members met April 9 in the Villa Wayne meeting room with Chairman Stella Liska.
Thank you notes were read from Sister Monica Backes of Providence Medical Center for the donation of $120 for the Lifeline project, and from Doug and Mary Temme for the shawl given to Anna.

Lola Mae Langenberg, council membership chairman, read an article, titled "What's the Value of One Member."

Publicity chairman Dorothy Aurich asked members to clip items for the scrapbook which will be on display during the Spring Tea.
Phyllis Rahn announced that Anita Sandahl of Wakefield is available for programs on her IFVE visit to Germany.

VI LANGE, citizenship leader, asked for 100 percent voter participation at both the primary and general elections.

Mary Porter, education and cultural arts leader, said entries in the Cultural Arts Contest will be exhibited at the Spring Tea.
A brief report on the Family Well Being Conference held last month in Norfolk was presented by Ellen Heinemann.

Mary Temme, Wayne County extension agent-home economics, announced that May is High Blood Pressure Month and said a packet is available at the County Extension Office for persons who wish to use it.

COUNCIL MEMBERS discussed a diabetic camp at Fremont and an asthma camp at Omaha.
The council voted to sponsor two children to attend the diabetic camp at $125 each. Proceeds from the Spring Tea will go into the health fund to help pay camp fees.

It was announced the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs Convention will be held June 5-7 in Ogallala. Two delegates will be named.

Mary Temme announced she is trying to arrange for a busload of women to travel to Ogallala at a cost of approximately $35 each.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, council members discussed the Wayne County Fair in August and Homemakers Recognition Day at Omaha in May.

Stella Liska is planning to attend Homemakers Recognition Day.
Next meeting of the council is scheduled June 28 with the meeting location to be announced.

Best in state

German instructor named outstanding

Wayne resident Edith Zahniser recently was named Outstanding German Teacher in Nebraska by the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German.

The award followed a statewide competition and was announced at the organization's spring meeting in York.

Zahniser teaches German at Wayne-Carroll High School in Wayne and at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

A NATIVE of Germany, she came to the United States in 1961 and has lived in Wayne since 1966.

She holds an M.A. degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

A past president of the Nebraska Foreign Language Association and of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German, Zahniser has been a language counselor at Nebraska's International Language Camp and has chaperoned students on trips to Germany.

In addition, she has organized workshops for German teachers and has sponsored German film festivals.

NOMINATION letters from students, colleagues and school administrators praised Zahniser for her dedication, knowledge and enthusiasm, and for her ability to make the German language a joy to learn.
She makes frequent trips to Germany to bring back up to date material for use in her German classes.

Spring event set in Dixon County

Dixon County Home Extension Clubs will sponsor a spring event on Wednesday, April 25 at the Northeast Station near Concord.
The morning will be spent judging entries in the Cultural Arts Contest.

Club members may enter exhibits in three categories: creative writing, hand stitching of various kinds, and paintings done in oil, acrylic or water color.
Exhibits are to be entered by 9:30 a.m. April 25. Winners will be announced during the afternoon program to which the public is invited.

GUESTS FOR the afternoon program may register at 1 p.m.
The program at 1:30 will feature Mrs. Judy Sundt of Ponca. Her topic will be "Ready for Concrete," relating to the statewide program thrust of family well-being.

A humorous skit and refreshments also are planned, and all interested homemakers are welcome. There is no admission, however a silver offering will be accepted.
Hosts clubs for the event are Arlemis, E.H. TNT, Sunshine and Aiken Community.

Consumer Education week April 23-29

"Consumers Mean Business" is the slogan for Nebraska and National Consumer Education Week, April 23-29.

"Consumers are forced to make purchasing decisions every week of the year, not just the week proclaimed as Consumer Education Week," said Anna Marie White, Dixon County extension agent-home economics.
White added that during the next week, however, consumers are encouraged to evaluate their knowledge and ability to make wise decisions.

"AN INFORMED and educated consumer is better able to interact in his/her decision making role," said White, adding that the enlightened consumer is vital to the long-term healthy growth of our economic system.

In addition, White said consumer education motivates young people to formulate more realistic, attainable standards for a higher quality lifestyle, and helps adults solve problems and make decisions in an increasingly complex financial world.

LOCAL COUNTY Extension Offices are one source of consumer information.
Through the Cooperative Extension Service, many Home Extension Clubs have studied lesson topics pertaining to consumer issues.

White said publications addressing a variety of consumer concerns are available from the Dixon County Extension Office, Northeast Station.

engagements

Grone-Roach

Mr. and Mrs. Art Grone of Winside announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail Annethe, to Mark Andrew Roach, son of Mrs. Roberta Roach and the late John Roach of Omaha.

Plans are underway for a May 12 wedding at Westbrook Evangelical Free Church in Omaha.

Miss Grone, who is employed at Methodist Hospital in Omaha, graduated from the University of Nebraska-Omaha College of Nursing with a bachelor's degree.

Her fiancé plans to graduate in May from the University of Nebraska-Omaha with a bachelor's degree in engineering.

Miller-Garvin

Sharon Kay Miller and Timothy Patrick Garvin are making plans for a June 22 wedding.
Their engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Miller of Pilger. Garvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garvin of Dixon.

Miss Miller is a 1977 graduate of Wisner-Pilger High School and a 1981 graduate of Wayne State College. She received her master's degree from the University of South Dakota in 1982 and is employed as an instructor at Wayne State College.

Her fiancé is a 1975 graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and a 1979 graduate of Wayne State College. He farms near Dixon, owns and operates an electronics shop, and teaches adult computer classes for Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

May production

Community theatre staging 'East Lynne'

Rehearsals have been underway for the past several weeks for the upcoming Wayne Community Theatre production of "East Lynne," an old-time melodrama.

The play, complete with olio or specialty acts, will be presented Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 at 8 p.m., nightly in the "Ley Theatre" on the Wayne State College campus.

In keeping with Wayne's centennial year, "East Lynne" is an adaptation of Mrs. Henry Wood's immortal novel which was written about the time Wayne became the county seat.

DIRECTOR MICHELE Johnson said audiences will sigh and weep for the fair heroine, Lady Isabel Vane, who is winsome as a sunbeam. Lady Isabel will be played by Juli Burney.

They will hiss and boo, said Johnson, for the villainous rogue Sir Francis Levison, played by Tim Ryan.

Cheers will be in order for the manly hero, Archibald Carlyle, portrayed by Lyle George. Cornelia Carlyle, Archibald's sharp-tongued sister, will be played by Dee Stollenberg. Don Whisenhunt is cast as John Dill, a law clerk who has worshipped Cornelia from afar for years.

Raymond Vane, who inherits the title of Lord Mount Severn and is Isabel's only living relative, will be played by Maurice Anderson. Jane March is cast as his wife, Emma Mount Severn, who is envious of Isabel's youth and beauty.

MINDEE ZIMMERMAN will play Barbara Hare, who has always secretly longed to become Archibald's wife. Her brother Richard Hare, who is believed to be a murderer, will be portrayed by Byron Bonsall.

Cast as Joyce, an upper servant at East Lynne, is Vicki Nicholson. Megan Owens is another servant, Wilson, and Michelle Brodsky will play the widow Clara Bethel.

Rounding out the cast is Mike March as Little Willie, the Carlyles' ailing child.

Assistant director for "East Lynne" is Michele Flowers.

Jaycettes name officers

Mindy Luff has been named to head Wayne County Jaycettes during 1984-85.

Other officers, elected during a meeting April 10 at the Jaycee Hall, are Anne Nolte, vice president; Linda Jensen, secretary; Jan Magnuson, treasurer; Debbie Bargholz, awards vice president; Nancy Reinhardt, individual development vice president; and Mary Heithold, Pam Nolte and Ann Ruwe, board members.

The program at the group's April meeting was on self defense and was presented by American Taekwondo teacher Tim Thomas and his student Ed Poole.

Debra Youngmeyer was installed as a new member of the organization.

A REPORT was given by the centennial committee on an ice cream social to be held June 14 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at Bressler Park in Wayne.

Rules were reviewed for the Little Mr. and Little Miss Centennial contest and for the Senior Cent and Senior Belle Contest, both sponsored by Jaycettes.

Contestants will be presented during the June 14 ice cream social in a 7 p.m. coronation ceremony at the band shelter. Winners will be presented special awards.

LINDA JENSEN reported on the success of the concession stand during the wrestling tournament.

Special recognition was given to the concession stand committee by President Luff.

Plans are being made for a CPR instruction for babysitters in grades five through eight, with emphasis on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and choking.

Diane Zach reported 13 members certified in the Time Dynamics class held April 2.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, members were reminded of the Awards Banquet scheduled April 28 at 7 p.m. at the Black Knight, and of the convention in Norfolk May 11-13.

The group decided to have a plant exchange at the May 8 meeting. Guests interested in attending are asked to contact Mindy Luff, 375-1192.

Dixon Council picks winning posters

Members of the Dixon County Home Extension Council judged a "Get It All Together" art poster contest during its regular spring meeting.

The contest involved third graders from schools in Ponca, Newcastle, Allen and Dixon. Prizes were awarded for first, second and third place.

Winning posters were entered by Nikki Kehe of Newcastle, Brett Polkinghorn of Ponca, and Bren Mattes of Allen. Heather Sachau of Allen received honorable mention.

The contest was directed by Janet Manz of Newcastle, council health and safety chairman.

DURING the council's regular business meeting, Suzie Johnson of Concord, council chair, and Janice Harlman of Dixon, council chair-elect, were named delegates to attend the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs meeting in Ogallala in June.

Alternates are Connie Lindahl of Allen and Verna Schweers of Ponca.

Grayce Lund of Allen reported on the Building Family Strengths Conference she attended last month in Norfolk.

Janice Harlman of Dixon will attend Homemakers Recognition Day in Omaha on May 3. The event, co-sponsored by the Omaha Women's Chamber of Commerce and Omaha Livestock Market Inc., recognizes one homemaker per county for community leadership and service.

Irene Magnuson of Concord, council vice chairman, is the alternate.

THE MEMBERSHIP committee report was given by Alyce Erwin who announced a plan for publicizing home extension clubs, their activities and programs.

The council reviewed plans for the Spring Event and cultural arts contest on April 25.

Mrs. Judy Sundt of Ponca will be guest speaker for the afternoon program. Her topic, "Ready for Concrete," relates to family well-being.

Cultural arts contest entries are to be brought to the Northeast Station by 9:30 a.m. April 25. Judging will be done in the morning and exhibits will be on display during the afternoon.

THE COUNCIL voted to sponsor the trophy given for the top 4-H exhibit in advanced unit clothing construction at the 1984 county fair.

Extension club members are asked to enter at least one exhibit at the county fair. Exhibits entered by members will be identified with a special hang tag.

Jan Stalling of Wayne, a representative of the League of Human Dignity, presented a special program to help council members become aware of the league. Its purposes and how it can be helpful to physically disabled residents of Dixon County.

Plans were discussed for a home extension tour in the fall. More details will be given at the regular council meeting July 11.

Allen girls claim first-track title

The Allen girls athletic program has been a successful one and tournament titles have not been uncommon—in volleyball—and basketball.

But the Eagles had never won a major track meet until Tuesday.

Five first place finishes helped Allen's girls collect the first place trophy in the Beemer Invitational held Tuesday on the Wayne State College track.

Another area team, Winside, placed fifth in the meet. The Wildcats won the 400-meter relay in :54.6 and the 1,600-meter relay in 4:27.0 and Tammy Brudigan won the 400-meter dash with a time of :43.2. Laurel finished eighth in the invitational.

Long jump: 1. Pam Heckathorn, Allen, 15-33/4; 5. Tami Jewell, Allen, 15-11/4.

Boys finish in fifth

Blessed with an ideal day for a track meet, the Wayne boys track team finished fifth in the Randolph Invitational Tuesday.

Dan Gross was the only Blue Devil performer to win a gold medal. He broke the 53-second barrier in the 400-meter dash, winning in 52.9 seconds. Gross also finished fourth in the 100 with a time of :13.9.

Carl Urwiler chalked up some valuable points for the Devils when he placed second in the triple jump with a mark of 41-4/8 and took third in the 200-meter dash. No time was available for that race.

WAYNE'S 1,600-METER relay team finished second with a time of 3:46.5. Team members are Blaine Johs, Andy Hillier, Pete March and Scott Baker.

In the 800-meter run, Blaine Johs finished third with a time of 2:07.8.

Tim Fleming picked up a pair of medals by finishing fourth in the pole vault at 10-0 and sixth in the 110-meter hurdles in a time of :17.5.

Kevin Koenig was fifth in the discus with a throw of 132-3 and sixth in the shot put with a mark of 45-3.

THE BLUE DEVILS did the remainder of their scoring in the 400-meter relay and the 3,200-meter relay. In the 400, Gross, Jon Mc Crigh, Koenig and Urwiler teamed up to run a :47.8 for fourth place.

In the 3,200, the team of Pete March, Andy Hillier, Dave Remer and Leif Olson finished fifth in 9:08.0.

Team standings: 1. Battle Creek 134, 2. Pierce 95, 3. Crofton 70, 4. Bloomfield 67, 5. Wayne 56, 6. Hartington CC 29, 7. Humphrey 26, 8. Norfolk 16, 9. Emerson-Hubbard 12, 10. Randolph 1.

Third place finish

Wayne performs at Tekamah

The Wayne girls track team put together only one first-place performance but had enough balance to finish third in the Tekamah Invitational held Tuesday.

Team standings: 1. North Bend 87, 2. Hartington CC 70, 3. Wayne 64, 4. Wisner-Pilger 63, 5. Logan View 57, 6. Ponca 31, 7. Emerson-Hubbard 28, 8. West Point CC 14, 9. Tekamah 13, 10. (tie) Oakland-Craig, Scribner, West Point 5 each.

The Blue Devils' 1,600-meter relay team won that event in 4:20.3. Team members were Lori Anderson, Beth Janke, Lisa Jacobsen and Fran Gross.

WAYNE COACH Darrel Heier said he was pleased with his team's showing in the 12-team field and added that competition was tough.

Second place finishers were the 400-meter relay team, Fran Gross in the 400-meter dash, Lisa Jacobsen in the 100-meter hurdles and Cindy Brown in the 100-meter dash. Deb Wernsing finished third in the 100 and Jennifer Wessel was fourth in the 100 hurdles.

Other fourth place winners were Rhonda Dahlkoetter in the shot put and Sarah Bliven in the discus.

In the 200-meter dash, Wernsing finished fifth and Jody Allen was sixth. Jodi Dittman tied for fifth in the high jump and Sarah Lebsack was sixth in the long jump.

WSC wins two contests

Tuesday was a good day for the Wayne State College baseball and softball teams.

The Wildcats blasted Concordia 17-0 and 13-5 in Seward while the Lady Cats dumped Kearney State 7-4 and 1-0.

Max McDonald fessed a three-hitter to pitch Wayne State to victory in the first game of the baseball double-header.

At the plate, Rich Aucock had three hits, including two doubles, drove in three runs and scored four more. Gregg Cruttschank and Jeff Clark had three RBIs apiece.

IN THE SECOND game, Jeff Scharr clubbed a grand slam home run and finished with six RBIs.

Scharr, who was two-for-three for the game, rapped a two-run triple in the fourth to eliminate Concordia's 2-0 lead. With Concordia leading 6-3, he slugged a grand slam in the eighth-run fifth inning.

Rick Guy picked up the pitching victory in relief. Wayne State is now 5-15 while Concordia drops to 1-10.

IN SOFTBALL ACTION Wayne State improved its season mark to 15-9 with a couple of wins.

Mary Lingelbach picked up the win in the first game. She aided her cause with two hits, including a two-run triple in the fourth inning.

Teresa Durbala had two hits and Maggie Alberts added a triple. In the second contest, Lori Owens fired a one-hitter to improve her record to 9-3. Lori Johnson had two of Wayne's hits while Durbala and Lingelbach each added one.

Lingelbach's sacrifice batted Carmen Doeschot in the third inning. WSC coach Sue Kovar, said playing the games was "just like playing our first game again" after a lengthy layoff because of bad weather. But, she added that she was pleased with the wins.

Golfers open home season

Strong winds posed the strongest threat to Wayne High golfers Monday as the Blue Devils easily defeated Hartington Cedar and Hartington High in a triangular at Wayne Country Club.

The hosts finished 35 strokes ahead of Hartington CC and more than 100 strokes ahead of Hartington.

Three Wayne golfers shot below 40 in the high winds on the front nine. Cole Froeschle turned in a one-under-par 35 for the day's low total. Tied at 39 were Rod Dahl and Brad Moore.

Tom Perry shot a 40, Kevin Griess carded a 41, Layne Marsh shot a 44, Dave Ellis and Tim Griess each shot a 45, and Cory Dahl had a 46. Other Wayne golfers included Perry Benschoff, Jay Lutt and Jaret Olson.

Wayne coach Harold Maciejewski said he was taking a four-man team, a three-man team and a two-man team to Wednesday's O'Neill Invitational. That tournament allows competition in those three divisions.

Winside wins at own tournament

The Winside Kids Wrestling Team won its own tournament Saturday. Eight squads entered the team competition and Winside came out on top.

Approximately 240 wrestlers from 18 communities participated in the meet. Medals were presented to every wrestler.

Team standings: 1. Winside, 2. Wisner, 3. Hooper, 4. Norfolk, 5. Stanton, 6. Randolph, 7. Battle Creek, 8. Osmond.

First place winners for the hosts were Chad Carlson, Jamie Holdorf, Chris Mann, Jason Maquire, Mace Karit, Max Karit, Brian Thompson, Trevor Topp and Doug Paulson.

Placing second were Ryan Brogren, Jeff Carlson, Jason Asmus, Gory Jensen, Kerry Jaeger, Jason Kruger, Steve Jorgensen and Matthew Stultman.

Third place finishers were Tyler Schellpeper, Steve Velle, Colby Jensen, Jimmy Kittleman, John Hancock and Cory Miller.

Lady Cats finish first in home meet

Wayne grads lead in win at triangular

Several graduates of Wayne High School helped the Wayne State Lady Wildcats chalk up an easy victory in a home triangular Monday. WSC scored 83 points in the meet compared to 36 for Wisconsin-River Falls and 35 for Seward Concordia.

Missy Stoltenberg, a freshman from Wayne, won three individual first places. She claimed top honors in the 100-meter dash, the 200-meter dash and the long jump. Stoltenberg also took second in the 100-meter hurdles.

Lynn Surber, also an alumnus of Wayne High, won the 800-meter run and finished third in the 1,500. Another Wayne High graduate, Jo Carlson, placed third in the shot put and the discus.

FIRST PLACE finishes for the Lady Cats included Vicki Byrkit in the high jump, Cindy Heesacker in the 400-meter dash, Kelley Snyder in the 100-meter hurdles and Andra Jones in the javelin.

The hosts won the top four places in the 100-meter dash and the top three spots in the 200-meter dash. WSC also won the 4-by-100 relay and the 4-by-400 relay.

WAYNE STATE'S football team practices for today's scrimmage and the upcoming varsity-alumni game.

Intrasquad scrimmage planned

The Wayne State football team will have its Black & Gold intrasquad scrimmage today (Thursday) at Memorial Stadium.

Coach Pete Chapman's squad will be divided in half and will scrimmage in game-like conditions beginning at 4 p.m.

Wayne State fans are invited and encouraged to attend the scrimmage. WSC ends spring practice April 28 with the annual Wayne State alumni-varsity spring football game.

The offense did some things "very well" in a controlled scrimmage Saturday afternoon at the midway point of Wayne State's spring football drills.

"I was really pleased with the way the kids performed on Saturday," WSC Coach Pete Chapman said. "We started doing some things with consistency on offense. And we had some really good plays on defense."

The Wildcat offense rushed 51 times for 132 yards in the rain on the muddy practice field, and passed for another 126 yards. WSC transfer Carl Calvert, a senior-to-be fullback, led the ground gainers with 14 rushes for 59 yards. Mike Schmidt of South Sioux City added 34 yards on 10 carries. Another South Sioux City product, quarterback Tom Lellschuck, led the passers with 81 yards on three completions in nine attempts.

WSC will practice the next two weeks and wrap up drills with the Wayne State Alumni Varsity Spring Football Game at 2:30 p.m. April 28.

sports briefs

WSC Invitational rescheduled

The Wayne State Invitational scheduled Thursday was postponed because of rain and high winds. It will now be held Monday, April 30 beginning at 1 p.m.

Three grid signees in Shrine Bowl

Three high school football players who have signed letters of intent to play at Wayne State next fall will be playing in this summer's Nebraska Shrine All-Star game.

The three are Rich Ruffcorn of Omaha South, Ben Lehr of Omaha Central and Steve Wichman of Pierce.

Ruffcorn, a 6'0, 215-pounder, and Lehr, a 6'2, 220-pounder are linemen who will play for the South squad. Wichman, a 6'1, 230-pounder, is also a lineman who will play for the North team.

WSC to host softball tourney

Wayne State College will host the 1984 Central States Intercollegiate Conference softball tourney on April 27 and 28, according to WSC softball coach Sue Kovar.

Play in the double-elimination tournament is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Friday, April 27 at the softball fields located on the northeast edge of campus. In case of inclement weather, the tourney will be extended to Sunday, April 29.

Tournament seedings to determine opponents in the opening round of play will be set on Thursday, April 26. A tournament banquet will also be held that evening in the north dining room of the Student Center on the WSC campus for all players and coaches.

Conference teams included in the tourney include reigning champion Emporia State University, Fort Hays State University, Washburn University, Pittsburg State University, Missouri Southern State College, Missouri Western State College and Kearney State College.

School records are set

Two school-record performances and another personal best highlighted Wayne State at the W Club Invitational track meet hosted by Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln Saturday.

Andra Jones threw the javelin for WSC 127-6 to set a new school record. The old WSC record was 113-9 by Lori Goslar in 1980. The other new school mark came in the 100-meter dash where Missy Stollenberg of Wayne was timed in :12.2

Those two performers led the WSC women's team to a second-place finish at the nine-team Nebraska Wesleyan meet behind Midland Lutheran.

The men finished fourth out of nine teams. Randy Ditter threw the shot put 50-4 1/2 for his best Wildcat performance to date in winning the event. Mark Vollmer triple jumped 47-9 1/2 to become WSC's other men's winner.

Softball games coming up

Last week's bad weather postponed or cancelled all of Wayne State's softball games. However, the chances of the 12-8 Lady Wildcats playing their four twinbills this week are good.

WSC is on a five-game winning streak since good weather April 12-13 allowed the Cats to get in five games.

FFA hosts volleyball tournament

The Emerson Future Farmers of America chapter hosted a volleyball tournament on April 9. The chapters who competed in the competition were Allen, Pender and Emerson. Allen had nine members and one advisor present. They were Derwin Roberts, Jay Jones, Mike Hingst, Shawn Mahler, Roger Clough, Brian Hansen, Rick Boyle, Mitch Pettit and Chris Hedland. Tim Wilmes is advisor. The chapters were divided into two teams for one chapter. It came down to Allen A team versus Allen B team in the finals. Allen B team won. Allen brought home the trophy. ### Volleyball camp to be held WSC volleyball Coach Marilyn Srate has announced plans for the Wayne State College Volleyball Camp to be held June 6-9 in Rice Auditorium.

The cost for the four day camp, which is open to girls in grades 7-12 is $50 and includes only insurance and the cost of instruction. Housing and meals are not included in the cost. Coaches will be admitted free.

Coaches at the camp will include Janice Kruger, volleyball coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha; Sue Homan, volleyball coach Northwest Missouri; Marilyn Srate, volleyball coach at Wayne State College; Mavis Dalton, volleyball coach at Wayne High School, along with WSC volleyball players and other area high school coaches.

Applications for the camp can be obtained from Coach Srate at Wayne State College, Coach Kruger at University of Nebraska-Omaha or Coach Homan at Northwest Missouri.

Wrestling championships scheduled

The first Northeast Nebraska Wrestling Championships for men and women, sponsored by the Wayne Marketing Club of Wayne State College, will be at the King of Clubs in downtown Wayne April 28.

Weigh-in begins at 6 p.m. with competition to start at 8 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded for the winners in each of the six classes, and awards will be presented to the second and third-place finishers, also. The entry fee is $5.

All qualifiers will advance to state finals in Lincoln in July. CBS sports will cover the action, according to the Wayne Marketing Club.

"All the proceeds from this tournament will benefit the Marketing Club," said club member Doug Vieselmeyer who is promoting the tournament.

The two-month-old Wayne-Marketing Club is raising funds to help sponsor its projects and cover the expenses of traveling to meetings and seminars.

The tournament will have four weight classes for men (150 pounds and under, 151-175, 176-200 and 201 and above) and two for women (135 and under and 136 and over).

Entry forms can be obtained in Wayne at King of Clubs, State National Bank and First National Bank, Wayne Sporting Goods, Ron's Hometown IGA, Bills G.W., Rusty Nail, Carhart Lumber and Daylight Donuts.

Contestants can also enter by mailing in the entry fee along with their name and weight to Division of Business, Wayne State College, Wayne Marketing Club, Wayne 68787.

For more information, call Doug Vieselmeyer at 402-375-3261.

Baseball team splits with Kearney

Even though the Wayne State baseball team split with Kearney State on Sunday (winning 6-1 behind Neil Brown's pitching and falling in the nightcap 6-5 in eight innings), the Wildcats will host the Central States Intercollegiate Conference baseball tournament.

The three-team tourney (the CSIC's Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri champions will compete) will be April 27-28.

The winner of this spring's Wayne State Kearney State four-game baseball series was going to host the CSIC meet. The two teams split the first time they met. Normally, if the teams split four games, a one-game playoff would be played. But since this spring's bad weather has altered everyone's schedule, the coaches decided that the team with the most runs Sunday would host the tourney. WSC outscored KSC, 12-6.

Neil Brown has a 3-2 pitching record and, obviously, owns all three of 3-15 WSC's wins.

Brown tossed a three-hitter against the Loper and was backed by seven Wildcat hits, including Mike Hutcheon's two-run home run in the second.

An unearned run in the top of the eighth (WSC was the home team in both games because they were moved from Wayne) gave Kearney State its 6-5 win in the second contest. Trent Herman took the loss in relief.

'To Worlds Unknown' showing

Wayne State College's Dale Planetarium, located in the lower level of the Carhart Science building, is presenting "To Worlds Unknown" every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. through April 29.

"To Worlds Unknown" is an imaginary voyage to the planets and their moon, worlds whose features have only recently been unveiled by interplanetary probes from the Earth.

The showing is free and open to the public. Special showings can be arranged for school groups and other organizations by contacting the planetarium at Box 77, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Faculty art show at WSC

Drawings, pottery and sculpture are on display during the annual Wayne State College Faculty Art Show, located in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

The show, which runs now through April 27, features works by Ray Replogle, associate professor of art, Wayne Anderson and Marlene Mueller, assistant professors of art, and Kim Spradling, interim assistant professor of art.

The Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of April 20 and 23.

The art exhibit is free and open to the public.

International program agenda

The Wayne State College international program, now in its 15th year, is offering an opportunity for participants to travel and learn about foreign cultures through four different programs during June and July.

The Scandinavian Program (June 5-19) is conducted in Copenhagen, Stockholm, Helsinki and includes a three-day tour to Leningrad, Russia. The Spanish Program (June 6-28) is centered in Valencia with a nine-day tour to Granada, Seville and Madrid.

Two programs in Germany are offered June 6-28 and June 27-July 16. Each includes an attendance at the Passion Play in Oberammergau as well as a colorful tour through eastern France, Switzerland, Austria and southern Germany.

Participants can earn from three to six undergraduate credit or three hours graduate credit depending upon program selection, or just enjoy the learning experience.

The programs are open to the public as well as to students who must be at least a high school senior.

Persons who would like free brochures are asked to call (402) 375-2200, ext. 229, or write to International Programs Office, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Course offered in Norfolk

Wayne State College will offer the course, "Curriculum Modification for the LD Child" at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

The course is offered for two senior/graduate credit hours. Carolyn Linsler will instruct the class which will run May 25-27 and June 1-3.

The class will meet on Fridays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sundays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. If textbooks are required, they will be made available at the first meeting.

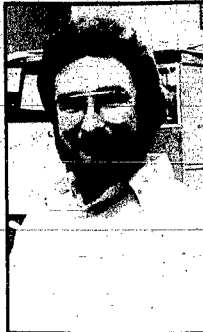

Persons who would like to enroll or wish additional information are asked to contact the Extended Campus Division at Wayne State College, (402) 375-2200, ext. 217.

faculty profile

Obtaining certification in undergraduate and graduate counseling programs is a goal of Dr. Michael Petrasek, a Wayne State College professor.

Petrasek, a second year instructor, teaches classes in psychology, education and graduate level counseling.

"A certification in the counseling program would add credibility to the program and will be useful for self-evaluation of the instructors and the program on a national level," according to Petrasek.

Michael Petrasek

RECEIVING BOTH his master and bachelor degrees from Bowling Green State University in Ohio, the Cleveland native obtained his doctorate in counselor education at the University of Arkansas.

Petrasek's personal goals are to improve his teaching on an ongoing basis.

He presently is on a committee for the American Association for Counseling and Development, and a member of the Nebraska Professional Counselors Association and the National School Psychology Association.

PETRASEK LIKES the people at Wayne State. "My colleagues are cooperative, hard-working, pleasant people, and the students are pleasant to associate with."

He and his wife Diane, who also teaches classes at Wayne State, are the parents of a daughter, two-year-old Heather.

Petrasek enjoys tennis and running, and plans to get involved in skiing to help cope with the winter weather.

Graduate record exam set at WSC

The fifth Graduate Record Examination will be given at Wayne State College on June 9, with registration deadline on May 4.

Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) are taken by graduate students during their first-nine hours of study.

The exams are used for advisement purposes and by the graduate office to assist in advising students as to their potential for graduate study.

THE GRE tests are given nationally at many locations during each year.

This year, Wayne State College will offer the GRE in the Nebraska room located in the lower level of the Student Center. Mike Gahaway, assistant dean of student services, will administer the exam from 8 a.m. to 12:35 p.m. The fee is $29.

THE GRE measures certain developed verbal, quantitative and analytical abilities that are important for academic achievement.

In doing so, the test necessarily reflects the opportunities and efforts that have contributed to the development of those abilities.

A general information bulletin containing registration forms and sample tests may be obtained from the Student Services Office located in Hahn, or the Graduate Office located in Brandenburg Education building on the Wayne State campus.

'Fun Camp' first in Nebraska

A unique and exciting summer camp for students in grades five through eight, called "FUN," is being sponsored by Wayne State College's Extended Campus Division.

According to Cyndi Swarts, Wayne Middle School teacher and coordinator of the summer camp, FUN is the only opportunity of its kind in Nebraska, because any student may apply.

Swarts expects anywhere from 100 to 150 children to participate.

FUN, WHICH stands for Fine Arts and Unique Experiences in Northeast Nebraska, is a camp devoted to better meet the creative needs of students.

Students will have a unique opportunity for creative learning not ordinarily possible in the regular classroom.

FUN, which runs June 18 through June 22 on the Wayne State campus, will offer courses in creative problem solving, creative movement, creative music, creative theatre, creative writing, visual arts, and Amesian (American Sign Language).

The week and events will end with a dinner and special presentation by FUN participants, entitled "Connecting the Rainbow."

ANY STUDENT who presently is in fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth grade is eligible to take part in FUN.

Nominations for FUN may be initiated by teachers, parents, guardians and students.

All students wishing to participate must complete the official application form and accompany it with three letters of recommendation, one each from a teacher, parent or guardian, and the student.

Each letter of recommendation should explain why the nominee would benefit from the creative experience of FUN.

Faculty members for FUN include Mary Ann DeNaeyer, Joyce Mitchell, Ted Blendenman, Diana Runestad and Mary Halversladt, all of Wayne. Eleanor Jones of Omaha and Nigil Buss of Neligh.

TUITION FOR those attending is $125, which includes housing, food, use of buildings, supplies and teaching staff.

All participants of FUN will be housed with families in the Wayne community.

A $25 deposit is required at the time of registration to be refunded if the application is not accepted. Registration ends April 30.

Application forms or information can be obtained from Cyndi Swarts at Wayne Middle School, 375-2230, or at home after 2 p.m., 375-3251.

Students to present senior honor projects

Two Wayne State College seniors will present their senior honors colloquium projects culminating their work for the Honors Program.

The projects will be presented on April 25 at 3 p.m. in the Hahn board room, according to Dr. Randall Shaw, director of extended campus.

The two seniors presenting their projects are Scott Ehlers of Fremont and Kirk Kain of Fenon, Iowa.

EHLERS, A business administration major, will be presenting his project titled "Finding an Approach to Exchange Rate Fluctuations."

Kain, who is majoring in community service counseling and sociology, will present his project titled "A Counselor Training and Evaluation Study."

To participate in the Honors Program, students must be recommended by a faculty member in their academic division.

These recommendations are based upon a student's academic achievement.

THE HONORS Program is divided into two parts.

First, students complete an independent study, which is usually done during the junior year. To qualify for independent study, students must have an overall grade point average of 3.3 as well as a 3.3 grade point average in their major.

During the senior year, those students who participated in the independent study and have an overall grade point average of 3.5 as well as a 3.5 grade point average in their major are eligible for the Senior Honors Colloquium.

Students participating in the Senior Honors Colloquium present their projects to Wayne State administrators and faculty members in the form of a paper, research report, or an audio-visual presentation.

These students will then graduate with special honors in their major field, said Shaw.

SHAW ENCOURAGES all students interested in participating in the Honors Program to contact him at (402) 375-2200, ext. 217.

WSC hosting industrial education competition

Junior and senior high school students will demonstrate their industrial skills and scholarship at the second annual Wayne State College Industrial Education Competition Day on Thursday, April 26 on the college campus.

Top industrial education students will compete in skills tests in the area of woods, drafting, metals, electricity, and power mechanics.

The skills tests will take place in Benthack Hall.

STUDENTS' projects will be judged for design, quality and craftsmanship.

The projects will be on display for public viewing from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the north dining room of the Student Center, with awards being presented at 1 p.m.

Schools registered to compete include Humphrey, South Sioux City, Columbus Lakeview, Macy, West Point Public, Genoa, Wausa, Niobrara, Norfolk Senior, Madison, and Kearney, Mo.

THE INDUSTRIAL Education Competition Day is sponsored by the Wayne State College Applied Science Division.

Dr. Don Gattle, division head and associate professor of industrial education, is this year's program coordinator.

The Labor World.

The Field of Industry. The people of Buffalo expect soon to have a supply of gas for domestic use.

Tool works and foundries and machine shops are springing up rapidly in the south, and northern skilled labor is in demand.

A wire rope has just been made at Newcastle, Eng., half a mile long and six and one-half inches in circumference. The breaking strain is 175 tons.

There is not an agricultural implement in the Transvaal region, Africa, but that is of American make. In one locality 80,000 American plows are used.

The western miners expect to re-establish satisfactory rates of wages, although the temporary dullness in the market makes employes willing and anxious.

The New England house builders are making no effort to advance wages. Employers are putting up a great many small houses, which they will sell on easy terms.

A party of English capitalists have made extensive mineral investments near Cumberland Gap, Ky., with a view to coal development and the building of iron works.

Great interest is shown by the wage-workers of Indiana in the united labor party. Eighty counties in Ohio have been organized and General Weaver is making a tour of the state.

The success of the Western Building and Loan association has led to much more building of small houses than would have been possible without that system of mutual banking.

A building and loan association was established last week in Milwaukee with a capital of $5,000,000, to build power for mechanics and laborers. Capital is being attracted in that direction.

Three Ontario weavers have invented a process for weaving cloths of a mixed material so that they shall be inseparably woven, showing one surface of hemp or jute, and the other of cotton or wool.

Steelmakers are busy in foreign countries and ironmakers are finding less and less to do. The discharged workmen are seeking for work, and see no remedy out in other and unfamiliar employment.

At a meeting of the united labor party of Denver a resolution was passed by ten yeas and nays out of altogether an account of the 10 per cent advance in rents without a corresponding advance in wages.

Silver and gold mining is attracting more capital. The silver production has increased in the ratio of $39 in 1880 to $51 in 1886. Silver production has increased throughout the world from $22,000,000 in 1880 to $124,000,000 in 1886.

The Chinese government has ordered from a Birmingham (Eng.) firm, ninety noiseless automatic presses, which have a capacity of coining 2,700,000 pieces per day of ten hours. They are to be ready in one year. The Royal mint of London has sixteen of the same kind.

Two great copper-producing companies in the northwest are greatly increasing their capacity. The capital of the Anaconda has been increased to $20,000,000 and the Calumet and Hecla has increased its output capacity 50 per cent.

Every large manufacturing center in France has a technical educational establishment. Five hundred scholarships have been established at an annual government expense of $150,000. Germany is far ahead of France in the matter of technical education.

So sorry. Boston Transcript: A bewildered-looking man accosts a passer-by. "Beg pardon, sir; but I want to go to the New York and New England depot."

"And they won't let you? Poor fellow, I pity you from the bottom of my heart. I replied the other promptly, and then, leaving the bewildered man, I hurried that before."

The Nation's Historic Names.

Omaha Bos: At the recent session of the American Historical and Economic Association in Boston Prof. Moses Coit Tyler presented a paper on "The Historic Name of Our Country," which was at once interesting and instructive. He said that to many thoughtful people the technical and official designation of our country—"United States of America"—is unsatisfactory. They object to it, to begin with, because it is not a word, but a phrase; not a single word like France, Italy, Germany, England, but a mere agglomeration of words, a political formula, at once awkward and utterly void and dry of all that is picturesque and lovable. It is a designation from which we have no means of describing ourselves but by circumlocution. Then, too, that part of the phrase which is composed of the word "America" is objected to as the monument of an injustice to Columbus. Furthermore, the word "America," it is said, does not distinguish our country, since it is equally applicable to the whole hemisphere. Finally, the words "United States" do not correct the indistinctness, there being several other "United States" in this hemisphere.

These objections have been felt ever since we became a nation, and many attempts have been made, with more or less seriousness, to induce the people of this country to agree to adopt and use some one name as the exclusive and permanent sign of our national identity. Thus during the past one hundred years at least nine words have been brought forward for this purpose—Columbia, Alleghania, Apalochia, Washington, Vesperia, Freeland, Fredonia, Gabotia and Finland. These attempts have, of course, failed, for the simple reason that a name by which a country and a people are known in the world is always a growth, and can never be manufactured to order. From this it follows that whenever the name of any nation has become matter of general usage among men, that name has become historic and has passed beyond the reach of criticism on what ever score, whether that of original injustice or of original indefiniteness, or of lack of euphony, or what not.

The question therefore is, has our country such a name? Some considerations will show that it has such—the single word America; not North America or South America, but just America; and this by a usage which began 250 years ago and has steadily been growing ever since.

The word "America," said Professor Tyler, has been in existence just 380 years, and during that time it has passed through at least four distinct stages of meaning. Its first meaning, and apparently the only one intended for it, was the name of a supposed Asiatic locality—namely, that portion of the newly discovered lands including what is now called Brazil, and the continent south of it. Apparently there was no intention that the word should cover the central regions first seen by Columbus, or the northern regions first seen by Cabot. The second stage of the meaning began to appear after about thirty-four years, and was the extension of the word over the entire western continent. The third stage was such a modification of this as came from the recognition of the two great bulks of land in the new world as forming two continents, and to be distinguished as North and South America. In this way the word America has less and less been used as a separate continental term, and was left comparatively free to be appropriated as it began to be during the first half of the seventeenth century, as the distinguishing name of the English portion of the northern continent.

This leads up to the fourth meaning, as the collective name for the English colonies here in the seventeenth century, and adhering to them as they came grouped into distinct colonial units, and finally as states united into one nation. The progress of the usage is traceable in colonial charters, state papers, parliamentary papers, colonial declarations, pamphlets, and private correspondence down to the present—all going to establish the proposition that the word America is the historic name of our country, quite as much as the usage of other peoples as of ourselves.

OLD SAWS IN RHYME.

Actions speak louder than words ever do; You can't eat your cake and hold on to it too. When the cat is away, then the little mice play; Where there is a will there is always a way. One's deep in the mud as the other in mire; Don't jump from the frying pan into the fire. There's no use crying over milk that it is spilt; No acener is needed by conscience of guilt. There must be some fire wherever it smokes; The stoker goes out to the well till it's broke. By rogues falling out honest men get their share; Whoever it hits, he must put on the shoe. All work and no play will make Jack a dull boy; A thing of much beauty is ever a joy. A half loaf is better than no bread at all; And pride always goes before a sad fall. Fast find fast find, have two strifes to your bow; Contentment is better than riches, we know. The devil finds work for hands idle to do; A mile is as good as a mile to you. You speak of the devil here to appear; You can't make a silk purse from out a cow's ear. A man by his company always is known; Who lives in a glass house should not throw a stone. When the blind leads the blind both will fall in the ditch; It's better born lucky than being born rich. Little ailments have big ears; burnt child dreads the fire; Though speaking the truth no one credits a lie.

Speech may be silver, but money is gold; There's never a fool like the fool who is old.

Lucky Robb.

Atheism (Kan.) Champion, May 3.—The Champion reporter hearing of the recent good fortune of our colored colored workman, L. Robb, proceeded yesterday to hunt him up and interview him. Mr. Robb being a mail carrier, and on duty every day from morning until night, it was somewhat difficult to catch him at a time with sufficient leisure to give an account of his lottery windfall in detail.

After waiting patiently until late evening, he was finally found at the postoffice, and in reply to inquiries, gave the following account: "My name is L. Robb, agent of the Pacific Express company, for collection. He sent it once New Orleans, and in a few days afterwards I received the whole $5,000 in gold. I took the money, and after deducting a small amount to pay some bills due, I deposited it in the Exchange National bank of this city, where it stands to my credit today. Thus by an investment of $1, or, if you like, $8, I made $5,000, and, in consequence to-day, in comfortable circumstances. It is needless to say that I believe in the Louisiana State Lottery as the poor man's friend."

His Terrible Crime. New York Sun: Kansas Judge (to prisoner)—What was your reason for murdering the man in such a cold-blooded way? Prisoner—Yer honor, he pronounced me "dumpy."

An Incentive to Greatness.

Arkansas Traveler: "It is socially dangerous to express such an opinion," said an old man, "but did you ever notice that the most successful man in nearly all departments of life are reformed drunkards?" "I have noticed that a great many of them are," some one replied, "but that is no argument in favor of intemperance." "Oh, no, but upon the contrary, it is an argument in favor of reformation." "But unless a man has been a drunkard, how can he reform?" "We won't go into an argument of the finer points of the case. I make the assertion that the most successful men in business, law and literature, are reformed drunkards. It seems that when a man drinks until he becomes thoroughly convinced that the way less he changes, his course he will never amount to anything, he is moved by a power which sober men never feel, and that he calls to his aid and ability which men who have always been temperate cannot summon. He has to build up his character and business at the same time; and, building up one seems to help the other. Now there was Horace Greeley—

"He never drank?" "What, Horace Greeley never drank?" "Never took a drink in his life." "Well, we'll take Daniel Webster." "Webster did not reform." "What, Daniel Webster didn't reform?" "No, sir."

"Well, then we'll take—hang it, we'll take a drink."

A Low Down Trick. Texas Sittings: "Will I have time to stop off and get some refreshments?" asked a drummer on a Texas railroad of the conductor, as the train stopped at a station.

"You will have plenty of time," the drummer stepped off, and the train went off without him. The next morning the drummer saw that conductor. He took him to task very severely for his conduct, complaining that he had to lay over at that lonely place seven hours.

"Well," replied the conductor, "you asked me if you would have time to get some refreshments, and if you would get all you wanted in seven hours it seems to me you are a hog."

Verdict for the conductor, and no appeal.

It Made Him Sick. Texas Sittings: Hostetter McGinnis—Esmeralda, I love you—

Miss Esmeralda—But it's all a mistake about my being rich. I am a poor girl, Mr. McGinnis.

"You didn't let me finish my sentence. I was going to say that I love you not."

"That's all right, Mr. McGinnis. I was only testing your affections. I have a fortune of $100,000 in my own name."

"Why do you interrupt me? I was saying I love you not on account of your money, but for yourself alone."

"I am glad to hear it. That was all a joke about the $100,000," replied Esmeralda.

McGinnis looked as if he was not getting well.

When she comes home again: A thousand ways I fashion, to myself, the tenderness Of my girl's welcome. I shall tremble—

And touch her, as when first in the old days I touched her girlish hand, and dared upraise My eyes, each was my faint heart's sweet detester.

Then, silence, and the perfume of her dress The room will sway a little, and a hazy Clay exclaim—tonight, even—for a space; And later—yet, and the note here in the heart.

How know that I do ill to serve the place Her arms work for me; and the sobbing note I say with kisses, for you toward alone."

Not An unusual Catch. "Fishing yesterday, eh?" queried Wigwag. "Yes," replied McPeller, hoarsely. "You brought your catch home this time?"—facetiously. "Yes, and I've got it yet."

"What was it?" "A cold—the worst I've had this season."

MY CREED.

Believe in God, Creator, Father of all human souls; Not a material watching nature while her rostrated plan unfolds; But the father of our spirits and the mother of our frames, Loving each as one begotten, calling all by separate names. In the Creator of our spirits I believe. I believe the hallowed Jesus loved, directly, suffered much. That our God might teach His children with a close and human touch; Drawing us with love so tender, up the pathway where He trod, Till we fall like weeping children in the yearning arms of God. Our King and Priest and Prophet I believe. I believe the Holy Spirit fills the earth from shore to shore; Bounding about, above, within us, bearing witness evermore; Where He has Ghost abideth, if He tarry out a night; Every mortal eye beholding else the wondrous love and light. In the Paraclete of promise I believe. I believe the holy angels hover round all the way. Each commissioned by the father; clouds of witnesses are they; To the throne they bear our sorrows, then return on Ureka's wing, Bringing to each heart dispatches from the palace of our King. In the ministering of angels I believe. I believe in life eternal; trees and flowers, and drops of rain, Life and die, and deepening life and die, and live again; Doubting still what wonderful changes shall complete the perfect sphere. Life I know is greater, grander, than the scene we see; In the coming Life Eternal I believe. I believe the holy message is infallible and true. What therein the Lord commanded He will strengthen us to do; Not in character, saints, or prophets, nor in any man do I trust; If they teach the words of wisdom, where they learned them there I trust. In the word of Inspiration I believe. I believe in sweet communion with the saints in praise and prayer; I believe that in forgiving we rise upward stair by stair; I believe in holy strivings; I believe in contrite tears. I believe that in believing we shall live through endless years.—Mrs. J. C. Kistwaaver.

STOLEN FRUIT. A sweet, fair face was rated to mine, With ev'ry gleam of soul, That bending o'er entranced, half blind, List all self-control. Bent low, and ere she was aware That night would be unmit, I stole from off her lips so rare, A most delicious bit.

Immediately I thought a scene Would certainly come, Yet in her rosy-kissed face serene No anger could I view; Still, trembling, fearing she'd resent My whole wholesale impudence. I owned I was a miscreant, The 'twas my first offense.

Her quizzing head she alertly bent, And yelled her naughty eyes; Her parted lips her gaze went To words that did surprise; "I will forgive, since you request, The modesty you lack, If with computed tears you seek To put it right straight back. Chicago, Ill.—Hudson More Kobas.

Gen. Butler in New Orleans. Boston Journal: Gen. George A. Sheridan relates a story which he picked up in New Orleans. A delegation of citizens of that place visited President Lincoln to beg him to remove Gen. Butler from command there.

The president listened while they presented their thousand and one grievances, and then he said: "Well, gentlemen, as much as you dislike Gen. Butler, at least he has done one good thing for you, for by his wise sanitary regulations he has kept the yellow fever out."

Remote sensing aids farmer

Individual farmers and ranchers could apply the techniques of remote sensing data analysis with their home computers, making farm and range management more efficient.

The unique feature of the system, Miller said, is its ability to divide the large land area captured by satellite imagery into smaller known units used on current detailed maps.

The second version of this system is a tabletop system which can perform the same analysis as its larger prototype, further reducing the cost to about $10,000, Miller said.

Fighting disease

Planting trees is just one step

Tree planting will begin soon but planting is only one step in establishing a useful free area. Disease in trees is a common problem facing the grower, especially in pine and red cedar trees.

Safe pesticide storage

In the past three years there were only one-third as many livestock deaths caused by improper storage of pesticides as for the years 1978, 1979 and 1980. But a University of Nebraska pesticide expert warns that now is not the time for farmers to be complacent about pesticide storage.

Proper electrical systems

An invisible form of energy may be adversely affecting farmers' livestock, said a University of Nebraska extension agricultural engineer.

Grass is grass until you need it

What do cattle eat in July when most pasture grasses are not actively growing and have turned brown? If your answer is brown grass, maybe it's time to consider what kind of grass is growing in the pasture.

There will be an expense to establish a warm-season pasture and possibly fencing and watering facilities. Can the added expense pay for itself? Research studies in this region show that beef production can increase an average of 40% by shifting from grazing cool-season grasses year round to grazing cool-season grasses in the spring and fall, and grazing warm-season grasses in the summer.

Larry Welterberg, of the Soil Conservation Service in Wayne, recommends spraying with an air mist blower, wherever possible. The fine mist produced by the blower penetrates the trees and has the ability to spray tall trees.

Return containers to their permanent storage location, which should be under lock and key. Pesticides also must be disposed of properly when empty, Nelson said. Paper containers should be burned on a regular basis. Other containers should be rinsed three times, then crushed and buried in a location where there is no danger that residual chemicals could get into the ground water, he said.

More Nebraska acres will be planted in soybeans

There will be more acres in soybeans this year according to an NIU extension crops specialist. "It appears the acreage of soybeans in Nebraska this year will be much larger than last year and in previous years," said Don Hanway.

Hanway cited economics as the biggest reason for the popularity of soybeans. "The cash flow requirements for soybeans are much less than those for corn and the price of soybeans is good, making the opportunity for profit better," he said.

Because of the increase soybean acreage and a number of producers new to soybeans, Hanway will be giving advice on all aspects of soybean planting on the "Farm & Ranch Report." This weekly series dealing with production agriculture airs Thursday, April 19 at 12:30 p.m. A repeat airs at 9:30 p.m.

HANWAY SAID THAT soybeans need to develop nodules on the roots to be able to fix nitrogen from the air into a form the plant can use. To do this, farmers need to inoculate the seed with rhizobial bacteria that doesn't exist in soil where soybeans haven't previously grown, he said.

Rhizobial can be bought at seed stores and Hanway said it can be purchased in three forms: granular, liquid or peat carrier. Hanway encourages use of seed best adapted to a producer's immediate area for best yield results. He said a producer may check with his extension agent for added guidance on varieties. Varieties of seed are not only important, Hanway said. He recommends certified or commercial bag seed. "Soybean seeds are very subject to damage in harvesting and handling which can reduce germination potential and vigor," he said. He added that producers should avoid bin run seed, using it only as a last resort after checking its germination potential.

But if a producer hasn't bought seed yet, Hanway said he should do it now. "If any farmer is thinking of planting soybeans and doesn't have his seed lined up, he better be seeking them out right away," he said.

HANWAY RECOMMENDS these planting practices:

— Soybeans should be planted in warm, moist soil with a soil temperature of 65 degrees or better for quick germination emergence.

— Best dates for planting are the last 10 days of May, but if conditions are not favorable at that time, planting can be put off until the first week in June.

— In medium- or fine textured soil, plant soybeans with 1 1/2 to 2 inches deep.

— Plant seeds at the rate of seven to nine viable seed per foot in 30 inch rows for six plants per foot of row at harvest. This will produce a good population of 105,000 to 125,000 plants per acre at harvest time.

"WEED CONTROL is essential and needs special attention," Hanway said. He encourages producers to have weed control practices in mind well before planting time. He also recommends use of the 1984 Guide for Herbicide Use in Nebraska, produced by the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

"If a farmer carries out proper weed control practices now, he can achieve essentially weed-free fields," he said.

Hanway advises the producer living in an area under irrigation to keep the top 6 feet of soil wet. "If soils are medium- or fine-texture, that amount of moisture will be enough in most years including into flowering," he said.

Because sandy soils won't hold as much moisture, Hanway said producers should follow a scheduling pattern. He warned not to start too soon because the excess moisture will stimulate excess vegetative growth which leads to lodging.

Nebraska second most irrigated state

Nebraska consolidated its hold on second place in national irrigation statistics, remaining the second most heavily irrigated state in the nation in 1983, according to figures published in the current issue of Irrigation Journal magazine.

In 1982, Nebraska moved ahead of Texas by a small margin. But in 1983, the gap widened as Nebraska's irrigated acres increased by 1 percent while, those of Texas dropped by 1 percent. Meanwhile, California continues to lead the nation by a significant margin.

The Big Three in irrigation statistics, in terms of 1983 irrigated acres are California, 9.9 million acres; Nebraska, 8.0 million acres; Texas, 7.8 million acres.

THE CALIFORNIA and Texas totals are essentially unchanged from 1982. Nebraska increased its irrigated acres by 72,300 acres, nudging up its 1982 total of 8,015,700 acres to a 1983 total of 8,088,000 acres.

The Nebraska statistics were furnished to the annual national irrigation survey by Paul E. Fischbach, professor of agricultural engineering, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska.

The number of irrigated acres nationally decreased by 0.7 percent; whereas the drop in the 17 western states was 0.9 percent. Nationally, the number of irrigated acres dropped about 460,000 acres to 61.3 million acres.

Again, as in past years, Nebraska leads the nation in the number of acres irrigated by sprinkler systems. In this area, the Big Three are Nebraska, 3.5 million acres; California, 2.1 million acres; and Texas, 2.2 million acres. Nebraska increased its sprinkler-irrigated acres by 2 percent, whereas both California and Texas reported essentially no change.

ACCORDING TO the Irrigation Journal, the number of registered irrigation wells in Nebraska remained unchanged in 1983 at 69,346. That does not include, however, with statistics published earlier by the Nebraska Department of Water Resources, which last year gave the 1982 total as 69,456 and this year gave the 1983 total as 70,087. The slowly decreasing rate of newly registered irrigation wells in Nebraska is an indication that irrigation is continuing to grow in the Cornhusker state, but at a slower pace. The increase in registered irrigation wells during the last three years show the following downhill slide: 2,573 in 1981, 1,108 in 1982, and 431 in 1983. Meanwhile, the overall total of irrigated acres in the nation has slowed to a virtual standstill. For the last three years, the number of irrigated acres in the United States has remained essentially unchanged.

The four join 19 other EMTA's on the Allen Waterbury rescue squad. The 81 hours included classroom study and also hospital in training in St. Luke's and the Marlton Health Center in Sioux City.

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE
Representatives of Allen FFA Hero Chapter joined over 1,200 home economics students and advisors statewide to attend Future Homemakers of America's annual State Leadership Conference, April 9-11, in Lincoln at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The three-day meeting with the theme "Believe to Achieve: Together We Can Make It" was designed for youth, by youth and focused on discussing special family and community members. Attending from Allen were Amy Gotch, Renea French, Michelle Greenough, LeAnn McDonald and Shelly Boyle, advisor Kathy Boswell and Chapter parent Roni Gotch.

Shirley Lueth, Nebraska humorist and author, was the keynote speaker on Tuesday in addition to her humorous anecdotes that morning. Doug McDallum of Lincoln spoke to groups in the afternoon. He delivered an address on "What Winners Are Made Of." Conference highlights included sessions on such issues as careers, nuclear war, goal setting and motivation, teenage stress, domestic abuse, teenage nutrition and fitness and interaction between elderly and youth. Leadership sessions included a focus on parliamentary procedure, decision-making, personal growth and public relations. SEARCH Events (Students Events for Achievement and Recognition in Consumer Homemaking) provided the opportunity for delegates to share their special skills and knowledge with others and to be recognized for their achievements. The Future Homemakers of America is a vocational student organization for home economics. There are more than 4,100 members in 143 chapters in Nebraska.

VOAG JUDGING CONTEST
Thirty-one teams from across the state competed in ag mechanics during the State Vocational Agriculture Judging Contest. The Allen vocational agriculture team representing one of the eight districts won a red ribbon. The three-member team was tested in special areas of ag mechanics. The contest includes three parts: written examination, problem solving and mechanics skills. The "hands on" phase tests the mechanics skills. The students must carry out three activities in two areas. They are judged on procedure selection of tools and materials, completed activity and results, proper use of equipment and safe work habits. Members of the Allen team are Kirk Hansen, Jody Jones and Jerry Dickens. Individual ribbon placings went to Jody Jones and Kirk Hansen. Both received purple ribbons.

JUDGING CONTEST
Sixteen teams of three members each competed in the State Vocational Agriculture Soil and Water Management judging contest held at the convention. The Allen team earned a blue ribbon in the competition. After surviving district eliminations, the team entered the state contests hosted by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Team members worked independently at each other. There are two parts to the judging contest: a written exam on conservation, irrigation, drainage, surveying and water resources; and a field exercise consisting of laying out a survey line for contour farming or terracing operation, checking a farm level for adjustment, differential leveling and profile leveling. Team members are Eric Lund, Darwin Roberts and Mike Hingst. Mike Hingst received a red in individual standing.

Arboretum presentation

DR. CHARLES MAIER, professor of Math and Sciences at WSC, talked to the Wayne Women's Club Friday afternoon, concerning the development of the college arboretum. Dr. Maier gave a slide presentation of the campus, showing the trails which have been developed. He explained that an arboretum is an educational display of trees and shrubs used as an outdoor classroom for the college and the Wayne community. Dr. Maier also said that the college's arboretum has been in the works for about four years and brochures which diagram the paths are now available.

card of thanks

I WOULD LIKE to say thank you to my family, relatives and friends for the flowers, cards, gifts and phone calls I received while in the hospital and since my return home. Also, to Dr. Bob and Walter Benhack, Gary West and the nurses for their wonderful care. A special thank you to Sister Gertrude and Father Jim for their visits and prayers. I will always be appreciated. Marie Pfeiffer. a19

I APPRECIATE SO very much all the love and support given to me during my recent hospitalization in St. Joseph's Hospital, Omaha. Thank-you my friends and family. A special thank you to Mrs. Hobart Auker, who so faithfully sent messages of cheer and hope from the United Presbyterian Ladies. Your concern, as expressed in your cards, letters and flowers, is important to my recovery from surgery. I will not forget your many kindnesses. Zelda Shupe. a19

SINCERE THANKS to everyone for cards, phone calls, memorials and food following the death of Cordelia Chambers. We wish to especially thank Pastor Greeneth for all of his visits to her. Mr. and Mrs. Harris Heinemann and family. a19

SINCERE THANKS to all friends and relatives who remembered me with cards, flowers, gifts, visits, phone calls and prayers while I was in the hospital and at home. A special thanks to my wonderful family for all the help they gave me. God bless you all. Esther Koester. a19

DELTA SIGMA PI would sincerely like to thank everyone who contributed to our MDA dance. We would like to extend a special thanks to PFM, Pizza Hut, Godfather's, Black Knight, Poppo's II, Rusty Nail, Sav-Mor, Wayne Shoe Co., Pamida, Daylight Donuts, T&C Electronics, and Norfolk Beverage Co. for their gifts and discounts. To Randy Pedersen, Merrill Hale, Bob Newman, Lynn Prevett, Verdell Lull, Mike Ganaway, Gerald Conway, Coach Pete Chapman, Dave Ryan, Dean Jacobs, Tim Ueber, Jimmy Gooch and Marilea Voss, we express grateful appreciation for offering to participate in the pie throwing contest. Thanks again — all of you helped to make our 1984 dance a success! a19
