Wayne man withdraws rezoning

By Chuck Hackenmiller
A Wayne property owner withdrew his rezoning request Tuesday evening before the Wayne City Council, asking for return of his $75 rezoning fee, and saying he has received no community support and would take his business proposal to another town.
John Redel of 202 Fairground Avenue, who sought permission from the city council to rezone his property from an R-2 (residential) zone to B-2 (business), told the council he wanted to "forget the whole works."

His original plans were to operate a restaurant or coffee house at the rezoning location.
Prior to Redel's rezoning request withdrawal, the Wayne city council had considered conducting a public hearing on the zoning change when the proper plat map and the proposed use would be established.
The issue of Redel's rezoning request came before the city council two weeks ago. At that time, the request was returned to the city planning commission (who had voted favorably in June for the rezoning) for further review.

ON JULY 10 a letter signed by six of the nine members of the city's planning commission was delivered to the mayor and city council members, again recommending the rezoning be approved.
Signing the letter were Sam Schroeder, Kent Hall, Bob Meyer, Virgil Kardell, Tom Jones and George Phelps.
Some of the property near Redel is already zoned B-2 and there is a need of his proposed business to serve area residents, farmers and truck drivers, the commission members wrote.
Local residents were not opposed to the zoning change, they said, and parking on both sides of Fairgrounds Avenue and the west side of Logan Street are available.
"A B-2 zoning change, in this case, would be the most beneficial use of the property," the letter mentioned.
However, City Administrator Phil Kloster

contradicted several points mentioned in the letter.
Kloster didn't deny the need of a place to serve farmers and truck drivers. But he said other places could be considered which are already zoned business. "Just look at the empty store fronts that are in the downtown business area," he mentioned.

Since the council doesn't know what the actual business would be in the rezoned property, parking could not be addressed at this time, he said.

COMMISSION MEMBERS in their letter, said the Lumber Company which opened up in Wayne several weeks ago is a restaurant that is non-conforming by operating in a B-2 zone. (See accompanying story.)

Kloster said the Lumber Company is improperly zoned and the owners have been notified.

Zoning violation is cited

By Chuck Hackenmiller
The Lumber Company of Wayne has been operating its restaurant during the past weeks in violation of the city's zoning laws.
Wayne's city council had before them an agenda item to approve or disapprove a Class C liquor license extension to the Lumber Company, for permission to store liquor in a 10' by 12' area now being used for food storage.
Kloster recommended the license for the liquor extension not be approved until the matter of the zoning "is cleaned up."
Technically, he said, the serving from the restaurant should be restrained immediately. "But I would not recommend that to you," he told the council.
"We are going to have to have this situation addressed and find a way out of this problem," he said.

HOWEVER, in a more recent building inspection Pankaskie noticed the restaurant equipment.
The city council decided not to stop the restaurant operation at the Lumber Company, hoping that perhaps a solution to the zoning predicament can be offered and be approved at the city council's next meeting.

Dale Stoltenberg, one co-owner of the Lumber Company, said on Wednesday morning he was unaware of the zoning violation, adding that he thought the restaurant would qualify its current B-2 status because other restaurants in the downtown Wayne area are also B-2.
Kloster said Wednesday the restaurants referred to by Stoltenberg were grandfathered into its present B-2 zoning (when ownerships changed hands over the past years) and to his knowledge had met all the proper zoning requirements.
In other business, the Wayne City Council awarded two projects involving irrigation of Wayne's Overlin Field and the placement of a sanitary sewer main extension and water main extension to the Western Heights Second Subdivision.
Rain Kings of Grand Island was awarded the bid on the baseball field's irrigation system at a cost of $11,360.
ALSO, CASTLE Construction Co. of Columbus got the recommendation of Bruce Gilmore & Associates, Inc. (also of Colum bus) to complete the project of installing the sanitary sewer main and water main extensions to the Western Heights Subdivision.

Castle Construction submitted the lowest bid on the project, seeking $19,217.60 on the sewer main — over $9,000 less than the nearest low bidder — and $18,421.57 on the water main.

Work on the sewer and water main extensions are expected to begin on August 1 and be completed within a 60 day period.
Also on Tuesday evening, the city council approved two change orders on the construction of the new waste water treatment plant. The first change order approved was the installation of a compressor and addition of a manhole. City Administrator Kloster said there is currently no type of pressure system available to plug the lines at the plant.
Also, the council approved the relocation of the entrance road from what the original plans specified. The entrance will be northward from Fourth Street up the elderly housing.
Passed a resolution repealing a portion of another resolution which will now allow overnight parking on the 1300 block of Sherman Street.
And approved a resolution establishing a street improvement district 84.3 (into the Coan's Subdivision).

ESU board talks roof repair

By LaVon Anderson
The board of directors of Educational Service Unit One has set Aug. 23 as the date for a public budget hearing at ESU headquarters in Wakefield.
Board members will meet Aug. 14 at 6 p.m. in Wakefield for a budget work session. That precedes the regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m.
Meeting for just a half hour Tuesday night in Wakefield, the board voted unanimously to accept a bid of $700 from Casey Roofing Co. of Laurel for repair of leaks in the roof at ESU headquarters.
Also submitting a bid of $1,720 for the repair work was Kittle's of Belden.

The county superintendent's term expires in two years which Mills said gives the ESU board plenty of time to study the issue.
Board members also labeled action on the purchase of a three-port garage located across the alley from ESU headquarters. The garage would be used in the cooperative purchase program.
Owners of the property informed board members Tuesday night that the property will be listed immediately and sold to the first interested party.

School board discusses bids on repairs

By Jackie Osten
Members of the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education accepted the low bid for roof repair work to be done at the elementary and middle schools in the upcoming months during the first of two meetings held on Tuesday, July 10.
In a special meeting called on Tuesday afternoon, the board received and opened bids from three contractors dealing with the two roofing projects and a combined total.
The contractors also turned in bids on three alternate proposals which included repair of a chimney which was struck by lightning at the middle school, and the remainder of the roofing work to be done at the elementary school not already included in the earlier bid on two different payment bases.
Submitting the low bid on the initial roofing projects at the two schools was Western Roofing of Norfolk with a bid of $54,437.
OTHER BIDDERS were Industrial Contractors of Omaha with a bid of $58,400 and Guarantee Roofing and Siding, Inc. of Norfolk with a bid of $67,747 on the two projects.

Following the opening of the bids by school superintendent Dr. Frances Hahn, Lynn Jones of the architectural firm of Davis, Fenlon, Slange and Dapping, explained each to the board members and presented possible options.
Before accepting any of the bids, the board decided to re-let bids in the spring of 1985 for Alternates 2A and 2B, which dealt with roofing work at the elementary school not included in the Base Bid A. Alternate 1 which concerned work to be on a chimney area at the middle school was dismissed.
FOR BASE Bid A, which includes roof repair work on the east wing of the elementary school and removal of skylights and roof drains, Western Roofing submitted a bid of $32,107, compared to Industrial Contractor's bid of $36,800 and Guarantee Roofing's bid of $34,752.
For Base Bid B, which includes roof repair work on two portions of the middle school roof and removal of attic exhaust vents and construction of the hip roof extension, Western's bid was $22,330. Industrial Contractor's bid on Base Bid B was $21,600 while Guarantee Roofing bid the amount of $32,995.

Contract time on the roof repair as listed in the bid form by Western Roofing was 45 calendar days for the combined roofing projects. Both Industrial Contractors and Guarantee Roofing had projected 60 days to complete the combined roof repair.
Jones informed the board that after receiving the bids from the firms involved, the earlier estimates made by the school's architect were seven percent over the actual bid costs.
AT THE regular monthly meeting held on Tuesday evening, the board received a worksheet of the proposed 1984-85 school budget from Dr. Haun. A finalized budget will be presented at a public hearing during the board's August 14 meeting.

The board gave approval for an increase of 10 cents in the cost of daily lunches at the schools. The cost of a weekly lunch ticket at the high school and middle school will rise from $5 to $5.50 and the daily tickets from $1.05 to $1.15.
At the elementary school, a weekly ticket will cost $5 compared to $4.50 while the daily tickets cost rose from 95 cents to $1.05. Adult tickets rose from $1.25 to $1.35.
Bids for carpeting for areas at both the high school and elementary school were received from four local dealers.
THE BOARD moved to accept the low bid from Tomrile of Wayne for the amount of $5,900 with the work to be completed by August 20.
Other bids received included Vakoc Construction, $6,255.72 and Carharts, $6,435.
Dr. Haun reported to the board on the

Chicken Show stars nationally

Wayne's Chicken Show will receive some national television publicity before this week ends.
Jane O'Leary, a member of the Wayne Chicken Show Committee, said Monday the television show "Good Morning America" will air past year's film footage of the chicken show events on Friday, July 13 — the first day of the Chicken Show celebration.
"Good Morning America," which can be viewed on Channel 9, KCAU in Sioux City, will be discussing the chicken show and viewing past films between 7 and 8 a.m., according to O'Leary.
She said more information on this year's chicken show activities, plus a chicken T-shirt and chicken hat, have been sent to "Good Morning America" for use on the program.
In past years, the Chicken Show has been publicized in the Wall Street Journal, Readers Digest and other national publications.
There was an article on the Chicken Show which appeared in Tuesday's edition of The USA Today newspaper. Grit Magazine also publicized the event and calls have come in to the Chicken Show "cackle line" from radio stations from New York and Canada and throughout the nation.
The Chicken Show is scheduled for July 13 and 14. A complete rundown of the events and prizes — plus the announcement of who won the chicken fleming contest — is on page 10.

Promotion kicks off with "Pride"

"Pride in Wayne" has been designated as the official name for the promotion of the Charley Pride show which will kick off the Wayne Centennial Thursday, August 30. Pride will perform two shows at the Wayne State stadium — one at 7 p.m. and one at 9:30 p.m.
According to Alan Cramer, music and entertainment chairman for the Centennial, admission for the Pride concert will be obtained in the following manner: badges with the slogan "Pride in Wayne" and carrying a picture of the star will be sold at various locations in Wayne, by mail order and Centennial booster caravans for $6 each.
The badge will entitle the wearer to free admission to one of the Pride concerts.
"Seating at the stadium will be on a first come, first served basis," Cramer said. "There will be no reserved seats."
IN ADDITION to the Charley Pride show, the badge wearer will be entitled to discounts at the Centennial Breakfast, the Centennial Ball, and other Centennial events.
"Some activities including the Centennial Pageant will not be discounted," Cramer said, "but the low $6 is an extreme bargain considering all the benefits."
"The retail community of Wayne is very enthusiastic about the 'Pride in Wayne' concept," Cramer added. During the weeks leading up to the celebration, retailers will be offering discounts, prizes and premiums to badge wearers.
"Seating at the stadium is limited," Cramer said, "so we want to offer everyone a chance to purchase their badges as early as possible. Therefore we will start the sale during the Chicken Show."
"Although the badges have not arrived as yet, we will be taking orders during the Chicken Show, and the badges will be mailed."
Locations taking orders for the badge are: First National Bank, State National Bank, The "Lot" at Saw-A-Roo Drug, Pamida, Chamber of Commerce Office, Trio Travel, The Centennial Store and various Chicken Show booths and locations.
"The early announcement and availability of the Pride in Wayne badges should give everyone an ample opportunity to choose the Charley Pride concert they wish to attend," Cramer said.

Dixon County judging photography

Dixon County 4-H photography exhibits will be judged at the Northeast Station near Concord on Thursday, July 19. All entries are due by 11:30 a.m., with judging beginning at noon and continuing throughout the afternoon. Four members will be given the opportunity to visit with the judge about their photography exhibit during an interview session. During the interview, the judge can explain techniques and photography procedures which will help 4-H'ers improve their picture taking skills.

Hoskins principal given farewell

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bauer and sons were honored with a farewell potluck dinner Sunday in the Trinity Lutheran School basement in Hoskins. Bauer, who has taught and served as principal of the Hoskins school the past five years, is leaving next week for San Jose, Calif. He has accepted a call there as assistant principal and teacher at Apostles Evangelical Lutheran Church. A brief program was presented Sunday with remarks by school board members Scott Deck, Lane Marotz and Lon Grothe. Other remarks were by Bill Willers, congregational chairman, Earl Heidike, the Rev. Wesley Bruss and Bauer. Tracy Pochop and the school children provided special music accompanied by Mrs. Wesley Bruss.

Photo contest

Polaroid Corporation is seeking the best in its third annual photo competition for young people. Boys and girls in grades K-12 are eligible and whose pictures are selected will receive a new Polaroid instant camera. Judging criteria will be originality, creativity and visual appeal and subject matter is open. Entry deadline for Polaroid's Third Annual Young Expression Photo Competition is Sept. 15. Entries should be taken with a Polaroid camera and submissions must include the youngster's name, address, age, telephone number, school and school address on a separate piece of paper. Mail entries to Young Expressions, Polaroid Corporation, 575 Technology Square, Cambridge, MA 02139.

Receives graduate degree

Janet Linda Anderson of Wayne was among the 19 students awarded graduate degrees from Bemidji State University at the conclusion of spring quarter. She graduated with a master of science degree in physical education.

A special day

By Congressional resolution and Presidential proclamation, July 20 has been set aside as National POW/MIA Recognition Day. At 11:59 a.m. until 12:00 noon, radio and television stations are requested to provide "One Minute of Silence" to remember the sacrifices of those who have been returned and the prisoners of war and missing in action that are still being held under inhumane conditions in several foreign countries. Before or after the "One Minute of Silence" station personnel are asked to conduct a role call of current POW/MIA from Nebraska.

Swim for Heart

Swimmers from throughout Wayne will participate in a Swim for Heart on July 22 at Wayne Municipal Pool. The event will benefit the American Heart Association, Nebraska Affiliate. Swimmers will solicit pledges for the number of laps their three-member team can complete in one hour. Swim for Heart is a national event designed to educate swimmers on the benefits of regular exercise, while raising funds to support the American Heart Association's research, education and community service programs. For more information on the Wayne Municipal Pool Swim for Heart, contact Jill Zeiss, event coordinator at 375-4296.

Sorensen selected to Institute

Robert L. Raun, director of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, announced the selection of Anne M. Sorensen of Wayne to attend the 1984 Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI). NAYI is a five-day program sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture and was developed by 22 collegiate men and women known as the Agricultural Youth Council. Selection for NAYI was based on leadership ability and interest in agriculture. One hundred eighty delegates will be attending the 13th annual NAYI to be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln, Nebraska from July 23 to 27. The statewide-selected delegates will have a chance to interact with speakers who possess a wide range of background and experience. Anne is the daughter of Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen and attends Wayne High School.

Food stamp guidelines changed

The eligibility limits for people on food stamps increased on July 1 by 3 percent, reflecting changes in the cost of living since last year, according to John W. Boide, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services. Under the new guidelines, the gross monthly income limit for a family of four will increase from $1,073 to $1,105. The net monthly income limit for a family of four will increase from $825 to $850.

Looking up to the skies

An evening of astronomy, telescopes, constellations, star charts and a session of owl watching will be part of a family entertainment program on Saturday, July 14 at Wayne State College in the Carhart Science Building. The current summer sky will be featured at a planetarium show, presented by Carl Rump, beginning at 8:30 p.m. followed by an Owl Hike (Hooting Session) at 9:30 p.m. At 10 p.m., a rooftop observation of planets and constellations will be held. Star charts will be furnished. The entire evening is free of charge and open to the public. The program is sponsored by the Elkhorn Audubon Society. Direct any questions to Ed Brogie at 375-4816.

Support group meets

The Norfolk Support Group for Divorced, Widowed and Separated will meet Sunday, July 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Knight's of Columbus Hall, 105 Elm in Norfolk. The speaker will be Don Waffler and the topic will be "Setting New Goals". Bring a pen and a pencil.

Thompson attends convention

Harold Thompson Jr. of Wayne presided at the seventh annual Detachment of Nebraska Convention of the Sons of the American Legion, held June 30 through July 1 at the Holiday Inn in Kearney. Thompson, detachment commander, also presided over a memorial service for deceased squadron members. Attending were 30 delegates and six guests representing 13 squadrons in Nebraska. Eight new squadrons were added this year, including Central City, Sufion, Clay Center, Fullerton, Colon, Porter, Broadwater and Liberty. Total membership in Nebraska is 2,477.

THE KEYNOTE address during the convention was delivered by Fred Hartline of Akron, Ohio, national commander of the Sons of the American Legion. Hartline presented pins to four past detachment commanders, including Thompson of Wayne. The final bound volume of Yank magazine was donated to the four Veterans Homes in Nebraska as a detachment commander project.

SPECIAL citations of appreciation were presented to several squadrons based on their annual reports.

Receiving first place awards were Lincoln Squadron 3, winner in Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation and social relations; and South Omaha Squadron 331, Americanism and Children and Youth.

Citations also were awarded to 16 squadrons reporting memberships equaling or exceeding the previous year.

NEWLY ELECTED detachment officers are Brian Pierce, Kearney, commander; Greg Nielsen, Lincoln, first vice commander; Russell Manty, Millard, chaplain; Alan Peterson, Kearney, historian; Mike Johnson, Lincoln, adjutant; Pat Eccles, Ralston, finance officer; Harold Thompson Jr., Wayne, national executive committee member; Larry McIntyre, Ralston, alternate national executive committee member; Justin Costa, Minatare, sergeant at arms; Bill Crozier, Kearney, assistant sergeant at arms; Lou Prchal, Millard, judge advocate; and Robert Craig, Lincoln, department advisor.

The 13th annual national convention of the Sons of the American Legion will be held in Salt Lake City, Utah on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1-3. Delegate chairman from Nebraska will be Harold Thompson Jr. of Wayne. Other delegates are Brian Pierce, Larry McIntyre, Pat Eccles, Charles Beck and Justin Costa.

Financial year ends strong

State government closed fiscal year 1983-84 on June 30 in its strongest year-end financial position in four years.

According to the state treasurer's office, the general fund balance at the close of business was $45.4 million. When the $37.0 million balance in the state cash flow reserve fund is added to the figure, state government registered a year-end balance of $82.4 million, or about 10.9 percent of state spending obligations for fiscal year 1983-84.

At the end of fiscal year 1979-80, the state general fund balance was $116.3 million, the highest year end balance ever recorded by state government.

By comparison, a year ago, at the close of fiscal year 1982-83, the balance was $13.9 million.

When state officials were peering into their crystal ball fifteen months ago, things didn't look so good for mid-1984.

Gov. Bob Kerrey proposed to the legislature the creation of the $37 million special cash flow reserve fund through the imposition of a temporary sales tax. Nebraskans paid an extra one-half percent sales tax for the fund for nine months ending last March 31.

JACK SEXTON, Kerrey's director of the department of administrative services, said last week that there will be no need this summer to dip into the special fund.

Administration officials say that their decision to create the fund was a good one, despite the fact that anticipated fiscal troubles haven't materialized this summer.

"You don't get all upset because you don't have the emergency the first year the fund is there," Kerrey said recently.

Kerrey said the cash reserve fund is still needed to act as a buffer against errors in state revenue projections.

"Because the economy has shown relative stability and even some growth, revenues have been fairly easy to predict", Kerrey said. "But the minute the economy slows or state revenue projections get off track", he said, "people will be glad the reserve fund exists".

"It enables us to plan", he said. Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the legislature's appropriations committee, said he considers it wise money management to have a large reserve.

"THE BUDGET RESERVE must be higher since the legislature, rather than the state board of equalization, began setting the tax rates this year", he said.

The five-member equalization panel set rates for the first time last November. A 1983 law switched the responsibility from the board, which is chaired by the governor, to the legislature.

The change limits the state's flexibility in setting tax rates because the legislature meets for only a few months each year. The board met twice yearly for scheduled reviews of tax rates, and could easily be convened for special review meetings.

The switch means that tax rates are set by the legislature in the spring for the following year.

"It's prudent to have a storage, like for the seven-year drought—an amount of funds set aside", Warner said.

Warner noted that interest rates are going back up and he said he doesn't expect they'll recede soon. "If it's just inevitable there's going to be some slowdown (in the economy)", he said, which would make the budget reserve all the more necessary. "That should be strictly rainy day money," he said.

Where's the talent?

With all the glitter of the upcoming Wayne Centennial Celebration planning and other vacation or sporting activities of summer, lack of participation in some events suffer.

Unfortunately, it appears one Wayne centennial event is a victim of the summer's flurry of activities.

A plea has been extended for area actors and actresses, singers, dancers and instrument players who are needed to fill the cast of "Wayne, America-A Musical Celebration."

On the first night of rehearsal Monday evening, only a handful of men were available to "read through the male roles in the musical." If all these men remained to act, there would probably be no male voices to sing in the show's choir.

Likewise, if all these men were assigned singing roles, the number of actors would not suffice.

There are five speaking parts for men, at least seven spots available for male dancers and 10 or more men are needed to sing in the show.

The show could use more people all-around to fill several key roles.

Yes, the practicing will take time. It must, because the centennial celebration in Wayne is just over 1 1/2 months away. Performances are slated for Aug. 31, Sept. 1, 2, and possibly 3.

Director and playwright Helen Russell, who was assisted by Margaret Lundstrom in researching the history and writing the dialogue on the play, certainly deserves more for her efforts than menial try-out numbers for the musical.

Their efforts have resulted in a script which refreshingly takes people back 100 historical years ago to the start of Wayne. From there, the show becomes more intriguing as the time frame advances to other important events affecting Wayne, the nation and the world.

The show is very real, with the special effects, singing of old familiar tunes and dancing techniques of the past blending in to give the centennial show a flavor which should satisfy even the youngest who are curious about Wayne's history.

It's not a boring history lesson. It contains humor and plenty of highlights emphasized through the skills of the actors, actresses and other members of the cast.

Practices are schedule for every evening this week, Monday through Friday, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College Campus.

It would be a shame to allow this fine musical production to be inconvenienced because of non-participation.

Surely there are some people in the area who have the talents necessary to perform and help present the history of Wayne to others.

Marijuana and Health — the Lungs

Marijuana can be more dangerous to health than cigarette smoking, according to studies reported by the American Council for Drug Education.

Marijuana contains tar, harmful gases and 50 percent more of some cancer causing agents than does tobacco, according to the Council. Marijuana smoke also can inhibit the lungs' infection fighting abilities and cause cell changes which can lead to cancer, researchers found.

Additionally, ailments such as bronchitis, emphysema, sinusitis, pharyngitis and laryngitis have been linked to marijuana use, reports the Council.

The effects on the lungs for heavy pot smokers can be serious. The studies have shown that just a few years of habitual use of some forms of marijuana can have the same adverse effects as 10 to 20 years of cigarette smoking.

Unlike tobacco whose dangerous compounds are being reduced, marijuana is becoming stronger and containing higher concentrations of carcinogens and other harmful compounds, according to the studies.

The use of both tobacco and marijuana has great implications for the young in the U.S. For teenagers, the combination of cigarette and marijuana use can mean respiratory problems early in life, the Council says.

The above information is part of an educational series of articles provided by the Drug Awareness Council of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Farm luncheon appreciated

To the editor: Thanks to the Wayne Chamber, the area farm women have again enjoyed a get-together with our city sisters — and brothers.

It was great! The luncheon, the speaker, the music and the "chatter" with old friends.

Sam Schroeder not only does a remarkable job restoring "life" in the lines following snow storms, he's a terrific M.C. I was glad they omitted door prizes, etc., just the expense of the event hurt many of the members I'm sure. We realize "bad times" affect all of us.

So — thanks for giving us another wonderful day to remember!
Wayne we appreciate YOU too!

Break Dancing

Disaster victims given assistance

Disaster Designation

President Reagan on July 3 declared nine counties, including Cass, Colfax, Dodge, Fillmore, Gage, Jefferson, Saline, Sarpy and Saunders, eligible for Federal disaster assistance. I had asked him to expedite his decision on these counties, which were hit hardest by the June storms and flooding.

The disaster declaration will provide Federal disaster recovery assistance in the form of low interest loans and grants to those who suffered losses because of the severe weather in June. The approval of these nine counties does not mean that others won't be approved in the future.

USDA Team Visits

Earlier a team of United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) specialists visited Nebraska to survey areas damaged in the flooding. The team came to Nebraska in response to a special request I made to Deputy Secretary Richard Lyng that USDA provide all available assistance to the state following the disastrous flooding and wind-storm damage in eastern and southeastern Nebraska.

Expanded Emergency Measures

USDA sent personnel from the Farmers

Home Administration, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the Cooperative Extension Service and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. The purpose of the visit was to determine the extent of the damages, the needs of producers, and to relay information to Agriculture Secretary Block.

After this team had returned to Washington, Lyng notified me that expanded emergency measures will be implemented. These measures are intended to aid producers in the areas affected by flooding. They include expanding the emergency feed assistance program, allowing haying and grazing on land taken out of production in 1984 farm programs and assisting livestock producers in locating hay or roughage.

Many counties are already eligible for the emergency feed assistance program because of the 1983 drought. Producers may use current growing season loss of hay and grass or a combination of 1983 drought and current growing season losses in determining eligibility.

Counties where one or more producers have suffered 40 percent or greater losses of haying and grazing because of adverse weather this spring will also be considered for the program. Payment-in-kind feed grain will not be counted as feed on hand in determining eligibility unless the producer still has it on hand or sold it since June 1, 1984.

In counties designated eligible for the program, lower-grade corn will be available at reduced rates from USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation to livestock producers who have suffered a reduced feed harvest because of adverse weather or other natural disasters and have insufficient feed available to preserve their foundation livestock.

The cost to eligible producers will be 75 percent of the 1983 basic county loan rate in the county where the corn is stored. Producers will be responsible for transportation costs in moving the corn to their livestock. The emergency feed assistance will be available to eligible producers for a feeding period of 90 days or until feed would be normally available.

More Assistance Needed

While farmers need many other forms of disaster assistance, this was one step which the USDA could easily and quickly implement. I am continuing to work with the USDA, the Farmers Home Administration and the Small Business Administration to provide all available assistance to farmers and agribusiness in this very difficult year for agriculture.

Milk consumption is urged

Participation in the USDA milk production reduction program has been less than hoped. Nationwide, nearly 38,000 milk producers have signed contracts with USDA to reduce their milk marketings from Jan. 1 of this year through the end of March 1985. Those producers represent 12 percent of all farms with milk cows.

Here in Nebraska, we've done a little better proportionately, with about 21 percent or 1,031 of our milk producers enrolled in the program. USDA is expecting milk production nationwide to drop about 5.5 billion pounds or 3.8 percent of the 1983 record production of 140 billion pounds.

It's been said that we wouldn't have a milk surplus if we'd all just drink one more glass of milk a day. Probably it wouldn't hurt most of us to drink a little less coffee or soda pop.

Women, especially, are getting plenty of encouragement these days to drink more milk. It's nearly impossible to pick up a current women's magazine and not find an article about osteoporosis, the bone-thinning disease that attacks calcium-deficient women in their later years and makes them more susceptible to severe injuries from falls and other accidents.

THE MESSAGE, which targets younger women, is to drink more milk now to avoid the consequences of osteoporosis later. If the articles on osteoporosis are straightforward, the ads are something else. One — which touts a calcium carbonate tablet — shows a dressed-for-success woman moving down the street, briefcase in hand. Her shadow on the wall shows a hunched-over woman in a loose sweater, leaning on a cane. Not too subtle, but the message is still powerful.

And how much better to get the needed calcium from milk, rather than from oyster shell tablets to be hassled with three times a day.

It's unlikely that the dairy industry created the osteoporosis scare in order to boost consumption, but if it had, it certainly would have been effective marketing.

There is one other bright spot on the dairy scene: consumption of ice cream continues to increase. Preliminary USDA statistics for 1983 show per capita consumption at 18.1 pounds annually, up from 17.5 the year before. This continues a trend that began in the early part of the '80s, after consumption remained fairly constant through the early 1970s.

ICE CREAM IS classified by the American Dairy Association into four categories. "Super premium" accounts for 11 percent of the market, "premium" for 25 percent, "regular" for 52 percent and "economy" for 13 percent. Interestingly, the biggest market growth has been in the super premium category — including, presumably, the brand with the foreign name — and in the economy or low end category.

The increase in economy purchases makes sense, since we are a country of ice cream lovers and will go out to great lengths to maintain the national passion at some level. The increase in super premium is a little more difficult to explain. Perhaps it's that, although a famous make suit is out of reach, it is still possible to own, however briefly, the top-quality ice cream.

These two "trends" — fear of osteoporosis and increasing ice cream consumption — probably won't be the salvation of the dairy industry. But they do show the range of reasons to eat dairy products. One, they're good for you, and two, they're just plain good.

Iowa church setting for Boesenberg-Brogie rites

White bouquets and candelabras with glass chimneys decorated the Kenwood Park Presbyterian Church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa for the June 30 wedding of Ellen Boesenberg to Mark Brogie.

The bride is the daughter of James and Joyce Boesenberg of Cedar Rapids. Parents of the bridegroom are Edwin and Vera Brogie of Hoskins.

Guests attending the ceremony were registered by Beth Miller of Ames, Iowa and ushered into the church by Lee Vannoy and Lynn Vannoy, both of Cedar Rapids, and Bob Stehauer of Omaha.

The Rev. David Nelson Roth of Cedar Rapids officiated at the 7 o'clock, double ring rites.

Lynnea Lathrop of Gowrie, Iowa sang "On the Wings of Love," "Follow Me," "Till There Was You," "One Hand, One Heart" and "Wedding Prayer."

Organist was Mary Greenlee of Cedar Rapids, and pianist was Jill Damer of Marion, Iowa.

HONOR attendants were Karen Boesenberg of Ames, Iowa and Ed Brogie of Wayne.

Bridesmaids were Ann Porter of Grand Forks, N. D. and Lynnea Lathrop of Gowrie, Iowa, and groomsmen were Dave Stage of Baton Rouge, La. and Brian Boesenberg of Ames, Iowa.

The bride appeared on her father's arm wearing a white gown of chiffon over taffeta. The gown featured a split V-neckline and a sheer yoke attached to a fitted bodice. Flower appliques of roses and freesias in colors to match their dresses.

The bride's attendants wore dusty rose frocks in full length with chiffon tops and pleated skirts.

Each carried an arm bouquet of roses and freesias in colors to match their dresses.

The men in the wedding party wore silver gray tuxedos.

Mrs. Boesenberg wore a pleated mauve dress in full length for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a dusty blue dress also in full length.

Flower appliques also adorned the skirt which fell from a natural waistline. Two tiers of ruffled edged the skirt and extended into a semi-cathedral train.

Her floor-length veil was attached to a chiffon fall covered with appliques of venise lace touched with sequins and pearls. She carried a white cascade of roses, carnations and stephanotis.

FOLLOWING THE wedding, a reception for 250 guests was held at the Holiday Inn in Cedar Rapids.

Greeting the guests at the wedding were Paul and Regina Messerli of Oskaloosa, Iowa. Hosts for the reception were John and Willette Luessen of Wisner.

Gifts were arranged by Gina Harvey and Jennifer Harvey of Cedar Rapids.

Patricia Ann Krueger July bride of Bradley Lenhoff at parents' home

Patricia Ann Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Krueger of Belden, and Bradley Lenhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lenhoff of Osmond, were married July 6 in 7 o'clock rites at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Ivan Amman of Randolph.

Maid of honor was Mary Jo Krueger of Belden, and best man was Neil Lackas of Randolph.

bride chose an ivory gown in ankle length, fashioned with a low cut ruffled bodice decorated with blue flowers.

Her tiered skirt was trimmed in lace, and she carried blue silk crosses and baby's breath.

The bride's attendants wore an ankle length dress in light blue with white lace trim. She wore baby's breath in her hair.

The men were attired in gray dress suits and wore blue rose boutonnières.

Both mothers of the couple wore street length dresses.

A RECEPTION was held at the Senior Citizens Center in Osmond following the ceremony.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Neil Lackas of Randolph and Mrs. Duane Krueger of Belden.

The newlyweds, who both attended high school in Randolph, took a wedding trip to southern Nebraska before making their home in Randolph.

The bride is employed at Dale Electronics in Norfolk and the bridegroom is employed by Randolph Ford & Mercury.

WEDDING GUESTS included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lenhoff of Osmond; Mrs. Esther Rosenback, Mike Peebles, and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Lackas and family, all of Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Krueger, Mary Jo, Sharon and David, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pedersen, all of Belden; Mr. and Mrs. Jody Linn and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Krueger and son, all of Hoskins; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Krueger and daughter of Columbus; and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Krueger and daughters of Norfolk.

County Home Extension Council presenting special fair awards

The Wayne County Home Extension Council met recently and announced special awards to be given during this year's county fair. Fair dates are Aug. 9-11.

The council voted to present nine special awards of $5 each. The divisions and special award categories are:

Arts and Crafts — candlework, and chicken, scotch, blouses and flowers — potting, geranium and pansy, Fruit and Vegetables — slicer, cucumbers, and potatoes; Canned and Baked Goods — chokecherry jelly and cinnamon rolls and Best Needlework Overall.

New fair categories this year are Best in Wool, sponsored by the sheep producers, and Pig Mania, sponsored by the pork producers.

Joann Owens announced that cleanup day at the fairgrounds will be Aug. 8 and encouraged all extension clubwomen to attend.

Reservations for booths at the fair must be into the extension office by July 25. Booths are to have a home extension theme.

STELLA LISKA, chairman of the Wayne County Home Extension Council, presided at the June 28 meeting at Villa Wayne with 22 members attending.

Dorine Glassmeyer will serve as chairman of the council during 1985.

Newly elected council officers for 1985 are Dorothy Groat, chairman elect; Lola Mae Langenberg, vice chairman; Eleanor Wittler, secretary; and Phyllis Rahn, treasurer.

Chairmen are Kate Luft, Wayne Carroll group; Jeanie Marot, Winslow/Hoskins group; Barb Greve, citizenship; Becky

Wilson, cultural arts; Ellen Heinemann, family life; and Joyce Niemann, health and safety, encouraged caution this swimming season.

A REPORT ON the NCHCC Convention held in Ogallala was given by Lola Mae Langenberg. She said there were 205 entries in the cultural arts contest.

Cultural arts divisions during 1985 will be sculpturing, fiber arts, and ceramics and pottery. All items must be completed between now and next May.

The 1985 convention will be held in Lincoln.

bridal showers

Carla Johnson

July bride elect Carla Johnson of Norfolk was presented a bridal shower July 2 at the Catholic Church in Wynot.

Miss Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evert Johnson of rural Wakefield, and Don Noecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Noecker of Hartington, will be married July 14 at Bow Valley.

Thirty guests attended the miscellaneous fete, coming from Yankton, Norfolk, Wakefield, Wynot, Concord, Laurel, Bow Valley, Fordyce and Hartington. Decorations included pink and white garden flowers.

Rose Koch introduced guests and was in charge of the evening's entertainment. For the program, guests made pages for a scrapbook of the bride-elect and her fiancé's first 20 married years. Mary Jean Noecker read a page from Carla's diary after a week of cooking for Don.

Hostesses were Rose Koch of Wynot, and Mary Jean Noecker and Joanne Noecker, both of Hartington.

The afternoon's entertainment included a reading by Satty Lubberstedt, a musical selection by Enean Mattes and Dawn Lamprecht, and a skit by Janet Roeber and Tressa Albertson.

Janet Roeber and Alice Roeber, sisters-in-law of the honoree, poured and served punch at the luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Francis Mattes and Mrs. Linn Mattes, both of Waterbury; Mrs. Earl Mattes, Mrs. Mark Roeber and Mrs. Harlan Mattes, all of Allen; Mrs. Willis Schultz of Ponca; Mrs. Mike Roeber and Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt, both of Laurel; Mrs. Don Johnson of South Sioux City; Mrs. Mildred Danberg and Lorree Danberg, both of Winside; Mrs. Lloyd Roeber of Wakefield; Tressa Albertson of Mowille, Iowa; and Mrs. Gerald Becker of Norfolk.

Miss Roeber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Roeber of Allen, and Rick Dowling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dowling of Ponca, will be married in the fall.

Brenda Steffen

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held July 2 in the Belden Bank parlors for Brenda Steffen of Coleridge. Decorations were in her chosen color of blue.

A quiz furnished entertainment, and hostesses were Mrs. Kearney Lackas, Mrs. Wayne Vogle, Mrs. Lawrence Fuchs, Mrs. Robert Wobbenhorst, Mrs. Harold Brunssen, Mrs. Don Boling, Mrs. Dick Stapelman, Mrs. Mike Olson, Mrs. Charles Arduer, Mrs. Loyal Lackas, Mrs. Doug Preston, Mrs. Clarence Kruger, Mrs. Robert Berner and Mrs. Charles Bierschen.

Miss Steffen and Monty Hefner will be married July 21 at the Holy Trinity Church in Hartington.

Mikki Roeber

Mikki Roeber of Allen was honored with a monetary bridal shower July 7 in the Trinity Lutheran Parish Hall in Martinsburg.

Decorations were in ivory, ginger and toast, colors chosen by Miss Roeber for her wedding. Lorree Danberg and Tressa Albertson were seated at the guest book.

A corsage, made by Donna Faye Roeber, was presented to the honoree by Rose Johnson, who also welcomed the 60 guests. Devotions were by Arlene Schultz.

Guests attended from Mowille and Sioux City, Iowa; South Sioux City, Wakefield, Allen, Waterbury, Omaha, Laurel, Wayne, Norfolk, Concord, Ponca and Winside.

Baptisms

Baptismal services for Kellie Ann Granfield, daughter of Tim and Jodie Granfield of Aurora, were held June 24 at Messiah Lutheran Church in Aurora. Sponsors were Mike and Cindy Jacobson of Aurora. The Rev. Jim Gleason officiated.

A picnic was held following the service at the Granfield home with over 30 friends and relatives present. Among those attending from Wayne were Don and Marcille Draghu, David, Draghu, and Glenn and Margaret Sampson.

The baptismal cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Sampson.

Andrew David Krei

Andrew David Krei was baptized Sunday morning at the Union Presbyterian Church in Belden. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Krei.

Dinner guests afterward in the Dennis Krei home were Karry Kelfer, Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kelfer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed H. Kelfer and family, and Alvin Krei.

Wayne legionnaires, auxiliary attend 64th annual convention

Several residents represented Wayne at the 64th annual American Legion and Auxiliary department convention held June 28-30 and July 1 in Kearney.

Attending from Wayne were Harold Thompson Jr., Sons of the American Legion detachment commander; Eveline Thompson, department county government chairman; Roy Sommerfeld, local commander; Mary Kruger, local president; Chris Bargholz, adjutant; Mabel Sommerfeld and Verona Bargholz.

Eveline Thompson attended a meeting on the Cornhusker Boys and Girls State program and announced that 80 counties now participate in the program.

THE CONVENTION began June 29 with a joint opening session and memorial service. Addressing the group was Lieutenant Governor Donald F. McGlinchey.

Opening session for the auxiliary was held Friday afternoon with a procession including Eveline Thompson, county government chairman; and Mabel Sommerfeld, District III page. Greetings were extended by several local, department and national officers. National President Mrs. Anna Gear of Hampton, Va. addressed the group during the afternoon and at a banquet that evening.

Mrs. Keith Dubry, credential chairman, announced that 983 auxiliary members attended the convention representing 151 units.

SATURDAY morning of the convention featured a Nebraska American Legion Press Association breakfast. Among those attending from Wayne were Eveline Thompson, Mary Kruger, Harold Thompson Jr. and Chris Bargholz.

Eveline Thompson was among Gold Star members who were recognized and received bells.

A convention parade Saturday afternoon was followed with receptions for the department president and vice president.

A religious service for Legionnaires and Auxiliary members was conducted Sunday morning.

AWARDS RECEIVED by the Irwin L. Sears Unit 43 of Wayne during the convention included Superior Citation of Merit in carrying forward department programs of the American Legion Auxiliary; certificate in appreciation of and recognition for active participation in the Little Red Schoolhouse by contributing 50 cents per member; and certificate in appreciation of and recognition for the 1983-84 poppy program.

The Wayne unit received first place for its poppy publicity scrapbook. The unit also received $5 for its poppy display window which now enters national judging.

The unit also was awarded second place for its publicity book and received $3.

Veterans affairs and rehabilitation home service certificates of merit were presented to Harold Thompson Jr. (500 hours), Emma Soules (50 hours), Marie Brugger (500 hours), Helen Siefken (400 hours), Mary Kruger (500 hours), Louise Kahler (500 hours), and Eveline Thompson (800 hours).

Eveline Thompson was received into the Field Service Volunteer Thousand Hour Club and received her bar for 1,000 hours. Louise Kahler and Harold Thompson Jr. received 500 hour bars.

Harold and Eveline Thompson also received certificates from the Grand Island Veterans Home for volunteer service there.

NEWLY ELECTED department officers are Mrs. Ardell Mueller, Thurston, president; Mrs. Don Coslor, Sargent, vice president; and Mrs. Keith Smith, Carasco, historian.

The installing officer was Past Department President Mrs. Lawrence Beckman of Battle Creek, and chaplain was Past Department President Mrs. Merle Von Minden of Allen.

The department president's theme for 1984-85 is "Rainbow of Hope for a Brighter Tomorrow." It was announced the national convention will be held Sept. 1-5 in Salt Lake City, Utah. A regional six leadership workshop is scheduled Sept. 28-29 in Fargo, N. D.

231 entrants a course record

Hornbeck comes from behind to take Open

Bill Hornbeck of South Sioux City outlasted a record-setting field of entrants and claimed the top spot in the championship flight of the annual Wayne Country Club July Open, held on Sunday.

Hornbeck, whose score of 70 after the first 18 holes was four shots behind leader Rene Sasse of Lincoln, shot a three-under-par 33 on the final nine for a score of 103 to earn the first place finish. His scores of 70-33 for a 103 final were an improvement over his performance of 112 in the earlier June Open, in which he placed eighth.

Tim Marchese of Omaha, winner of the 1984 Wayne Country Club June Open, finished second in the championship flight following a sudden death scorecard playoff with Dan Freed, carding scores of 72 and 33 for a 105 27-hole total.

Dan Freed of Sioux City shot 70-35 for a total of 105 for third place in the championship bracket.

Fourth place went to Martin Przek of West Point with a 73-33-106 score. Rene Sasse, the leader after the first 18 holes with a 66, had trouble with the final nine and ended the day in fifth place with a 106 total.

Pat Ward of Sioux City placed sixth with scores of 70-37-107, followed by Wayne's Bob Reeg in seventh place with a 72-35-107 total and Steve Marsh of Sioux City with a 71-37-108 finish.

The outcome of all ties throughout the championship and lower flights was determined by a sudden death score card playoff in which the player with the lowest score on the first hole was named the winner.

A record field of 231 entrants participated in the fourteen flights of the Open, including a total of 73 golfers in the championship flight.

The listing of flight winners, their hometowns and scores for 18 holes includes the following:

First flight—Doug Sturm, Wayne, 73; Darrell Fuehlberth, Wayne, 74; Walt Radcliffe, Lincoln, 75; Joe Kalina, Omaha, 75.

Second flight—Jim Garden, Norfolk, 77; Todd Bornhoff, Wayne, 77; Les Luff, Wayne, 80; Dave Grunke, Beemer, 80.

Third flight—Bob Schultz, Mapleton, Iowa, 76; Ron Dalton, Wayne, 77; Lee Tietgen, Wayne, 79; Larry Geiger, Wayne, 80.

Fourth flight—Dick Pflanz, Wayne, 79; Fred Stenger, South Sioux City, 82; Kirk Wacker, Wayne, 83; Thomas McClain, Wayne, 84.

Fifth flight—Randy Workman, Wayne, 73; Randy Simonsen, Pender, 78; Bill Denkinger, Austin, Minn., 78; Robin Rush, Beemer, 79.

Sixth flight—Pat Gross, Wayne, 79; Charles McDermott, Wayne, 79; Wayne Tietgen, Wayne, 82; Randy Swanson, Laurel, 82.

Seventh flight—Willie Mahler, Beemer, 79; Don Brockmann, Beemer, 81; Glib C. Millnitz, Plainview, 84; Mike Perry, Wayne, 84.

Eighth flight—Greg Urwier, Laurel, 79; Loy Todd, Lincoln, 83; Ken Marra, Wayne, 84; Roy Coryell, Wayne, 85.

Ninth flight—Doug Thompson, Laurel, 83; Jack Suhr, Lincoln, 84; Doug Raetz, Leigh, 85; Max Kathol, Wayne, 86.

Tenth flight—John Addison, Wayne, 83; Rod Watson, Plainview, 83; Jerry Hellthuson, South Sioux City, 84; Merlound Lessman, Wayne, 91.

Eleventh flight—Jim Busker, South Sioux City, 84; Ric Wilson, Wayne, 88; Steve Hix, Chicago, Ill., 89; Harold Burns, Laurel, 91.

Twelfth flight—Gary Wrede, Wayne, 88; Wayne Marsh, Wayne, 88; Lynn Lessman, Windsor, 93; Dick Camp, Hooper, 93.

Thirteenth flight—Ralph Waderich, Dow City, Iowa, 93; Merlin Petersen, Danbury, Iowa, 96; Bob Volmer, Norfolk, 96; LaVern White, Hooper, 97.

The format for the July open featured a new tee-off system, which proved to have an effect on the number of entries, according to Rudy Fraesche, WCC golf pro.

Instead of golfers-teeing off on both the front and back nine holes, all golfers began at the first hole and played through the full 18-hole course.

Tournament chairmen were Bill McQuistan and Darrell Moore.

Those serving as ball spotters throughout the day-long tournament were Jesse Broderson, Jason Claussen, Kevin Heier, Jerry Heier, Andy McQuistan, Matt Bruggeman, Seah Nutzman, Kyle Dahl, Heidi Reeg and Aaron Wilson.

Crofton explodes in eighth inning to best Wayne 5-1 in Tri-County baseball action

The Wayne Town Team suffered their third loss of the season on Sunday night when they were downed by Crofton 5-1 in baseball action at Overin Field in Wayne.

The loss moved their record to 11-3 overall in the Tri-County Amateur Baseball League.

Crofton drew first blood in the contest with a run in the top of the third inning as Randy Filips reached first on a single and later came home a sacrifice fly.

Wayne tied the game with a run in the bottom of the sixth inning when lead-off batter Mike Breske rapped out a single and advanced to second on an error by the Crofton left fielder. A sacrifice by Neil Blohm with one out brought Breske across the plate for the score.

Both teams remained deadlocked until the top of the eighth inning when Crofton exploded for four runs.

A home run by Crofton's Dale Mickel with one out and one on brought in two runs to start the inning. Bob Hegge then followed by knocking out a double and Rod Hegge advanced to first on a Wayne error. Both scored on a sacrifice by Brad Peterson later in the inning.

Wayne totaled five hits in the game, the only extra base hit coming off the bat of Neil Blohm, with a double in the fourth inning.

Bill Schwartz, Mike Breske, Jeff Dion and Blohm all came up with singles to finish out Wayne's hitting.

Crofton's hitters came up with eight hits including a home run, one double and six singles.

Pitcher Neil Blohm struck down 12 Crofton batters at the plate and gave up two walks.

The next action for the Town Team will be this Thursday, July 13 when they face off against Coleridge at Overin Field in Wayne.

The game was originally scheduled to be played Wednesday night, July 12 at Coleridge.

WAYNE'S DAN Gross drives back to first base after attempting a steal during Sunday's 10-1 Midget win.

Midgets continue winning

The Wayne Midget baseball team upped their 1984 season record to an unblemished 13-0 with three straight wins during the past weekend over Ponca, O'Neill and Pender.

The Midgets appeared to have little trouble as they downed Ponca 13-2 on Friday, July 6 and O'Neill 10-1 on Sunday, July 8 at Overin Field in Wayne. In a game played Monday night in Pender, Wayne took a 13-5 win over their hosts.

IN THE win over Ponca, Wayne flew to an 8-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back as they won by a margin of 13-2 in five innings.

Shannon Dorcey started the eight run spree with a walk, followed by a Dan Gross single and walks by Jeff Hausmann, Scott Baker, Russ Longe, Tim Fleming and Casey Nichols. Don Larsen and Brent Pick each knocked out singles to drive runs home and later scored.

Wayne added three more runs in the second and two in the fourth to complete their scoring. Ponca's runs came in the fourth and fifth innings when the Wayne pitching staff ran into trouble and allowed four batters to reach base on balls.

Don Larsen and Brent Pick shared the pitching chores, with Pick coming in for relief in the bottom of the fourth inning. Larsen gave up four walks and struck out seven batters while Pick allowed two walks and set down two batters on strike outs.

WAYNE AGAIN used the big first inning to set themselves up for the win in their 10-1 victory over O'Neill on Sunday.

The Midgets came up with five runs in the opening inning and five more in the bottom of the fifth in a game that went the full seven innings.

Scott Baker was a sterling four-for-four at the plate with four singles, Shannon Dorcey, Jeff Hausmann, Dan Gross and Mark Creighton all added singles to total Wayne's eight hits.

O'Neill came up with their only run in the top of the first inning on a walk and single with two outs. Hausmann went the distance on the mound, collecting eleven strike outs and two walks on his way to giving up just two hits, both singles.

VICTORY NUMBER 13 came on the road in Pender on Monday night as Wayne took a 13-5 decision in six innings.

Wayne tallied 10 hits on their way to scoring 13 runs, including doubles by Brent Pick, Ted Lueders and Scott Baker.

Scoring was spread evenly throughout the game for Wayne. They opened with two runs in the first inning when Lueders and Dan Gross scored on a Scott Baker double.

Fleming and Pick scored again in the third inning along with Don Larsen on a sacrifice by Lueders and single by Dan Gross.

Larsen was the starting pitcher for Wayne and struck out six batters and walked two before being relieved by Pick in the fourth inning. Pick struck out five batters and walked six while on the mound.

The Midgets were scheduled to be in action against Madison at home last night (Wednesday). Their next Ralph Bishop League action will be on Monday, July 16 at home against Emerson at 7 p.m.

District softball continues

BANCROFT'S RUNNER is out as Lisa Jacobsen handles the throw at first during Wayne's 5-3 nine inning loss on Tuesday night. The Wayne 18-under girls softball team opened play in the District Tournament on Sunday afternoon, when they downed Bow Valley 14-4 in six innings. Play continued last night as the Wayne team was scheduled to match talents with Dakota City in a loser's bracket game beginning at 9 p.m. In case of a win, their next district game would be at 9 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) night against a yet undetermined opponent. The tournament is being held in Emerson and runs through Sunday.

Members sought for junior golf league

Wayne's junior golf league is alive and well, but the invitation to any interested youth wanting to participate is wide open, according to Rudy Froeschle of the Wayne Country Club.

The sessions aren't sequential, said Froeschle, and there would be no trouble if one of the sessions is missed. "There is no problem in getting back in, and all of the sessions are beneficial to the young golfer," Froeschle said.

The [junior golf program, a part of the Wayne Summer Recreation Program, meets each Friday morning from 9 a.m. to noon throughout the summer. It is open to youth of all ages, although younger golfers might need to be accompanied by an adult.

There is no cost involved either, as the program is part of the Wayne Recreation Program. Froeschle suggested that if transportation is a problem for youth interested in attending the league, they could gather at the 7-11 store located at 7th and Main. Parents who are taking their children to the course could possibly check at the store before heading out to the course.

Friday morning sessions begin with a clinic session, where Froeschle instructs league members in such areas as rules, golfing etiquette, putting and the proper grip. "After that they are grouped together and head out to play on the course," he said, adding that getting them out into the actual playing atmosphere of the course is the prime objective.

Club."

Attendance is down this season from previous years, and Froeschle feels there are several reasons. "We are actually a victim of our own success," he said. So many of the junior golfers are doing well in tournament play, he explained, and that tends to thin the ranks of those attending the Friday morning league.

There are also a lot of other activities such as sports camps and driver's education classes which cause a scheduling problem.

Up to as many as 40 youth have been involved in the sessions in past years, but currently around 20 to 30 have been attending morning sessions.

Youth who participate in the junior league are also eligible to compete in a variety of tournaments throughout the area and in Wayne.

MEMBERS OF the junior golf league check out their groups before beginning a putting contest.

Junior Legion goes 2-3 in week's baseball action

Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team won two of its last three games on their way to improving their season record to 9-7.

The Junior split in games played over the weekend, winning over Ponca on Friday night 13-0 before falling to a strong O'Neill team 12-2 at Overin Field on Sunday. They were able to bounce back on Monday night and took a 10-run win over Pender 15-5.

STEVE OVERIN hurled his second no hitter of the season on the way to Wayne's 13-0 win over Ponca.

Wayne led 5-0 going into the fourth inning, where they exploded for eight runs to put the game out of reach.

A strong hitting performance accounted for Wayne's scoring binge. Overin was four-for-four with three doubles and a single to bring in four runs, while Randy Gamble was three-for-three with a pair of doubles and a single.

Other hard hitters were Dave Longe with two singles in three trips to the bag and Kevin Maly with a double on two tries.

Overin notched 10 strike outs and three walks on his way to pitching the no-hitter.

WAYNE'S JUNIORS weren't as lucky on Sunday afternoon as the O'Neill Juniors handed them a 12-2 loss in six innings.

The Juniors two runs came in the bottom of the fourth inning when Chris Wieseler advanced to first base on a fielder's choice and later scored. Dave Longe made it to first base on an O'Neill error and came home on a single by Jeff Sherer with two outs.

O'Neill came on strong from the outset, opening to a 5-0 lead in the first inning and never looking back. Steve Overin and Jeff Sherer both saw pitching action and combined for two strike outs and four walks.

CHRIS WIESELER ripped off a grand slam home run in the top of the fourth inning to boost Wayne to a 15-5 win over Pender on Monday.

Wayne trailed 5-4 going into the top of the fourth inning when Kevin Maly nailed a home run with no one on to tie the game. Todd Dorcay and Steve Overin each rapped out singles and Randy Gamble reached first on a walk to set up the four run homer by Wieseler with one out.

Pete Warnne scored later in the inning after advancing to first on a single followed by a Dave Longe double. Longe crossed the plate on a single by Kevin Maly to end the inning's scoring.

Wieseler was three-for-four on the night with a double and single in addition to his home run. Kevin Maly came up with a home run and single in three tries at bat and Steve Overin was three-for-four with a trio of singles.

The Wayne Juniors are scheduled to participate in the O'Neill Tournament this coming weekend, July 14-15 before heading back into league action against Laurel at home on Friday, July 20.

Pilger Days Road Races

A pair of road races have been scheduled as part of the Pilger Days festivities on Saturday and Sunday, July 28-29.

A one-mile and three-mile road race will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, July 28 in Pilger, and will run primarily through the flat residential area of the town.

There will be a men's and women's division in the one-mile race with medal given to the first place finisher in each. The three-mile race will include five divisions for both men and women, including age 14-under, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39 and 40-over. Medals will be given to the top two places in each division and to the overall finishers for men and women.

There will also be random drawings for door prizes throughout the races.

Entry fee for the events is $6 if postmarked on or before Saturday, July 21 and $8 after that and on race day.

Entry forms are available from Pat Gross in Wayne. For more information contact Dennis Meyer, at R.R. 1, Pilger or 396-3103.

Swim-for-Heart July 22

A Swim-for-Heart to benefit the American Heart Association will be held at the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool on Sunday, July 22 from 1-9 p.m.

The Swim-for-Heart is open to all ages. Those participating will collect pledges based on the number of laps they plan to swim.

For more information, contact Jill Zeiss at 375-1454 or 375-4296.

Roberts competes in Lincoln Open

Tom Roberts of Wayne participated in the Lincoln Tennis Open on July 7-8 in Lincoln.

In the men's 45-over singles division, Roberts defeated his first opponent Dale Schilke of Fremont in two straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, before going on to fall to top seed Ben Radar in semi-final action 6-3, 6-3.

In doubles play, Roberts and partner Dean O'Hern of Bellevue were seeded second and received a bye in first round action. In the semi-finals they downed Ed Bailey and Tom Dvorck of Lincoln 6-4, 6-1.

Roberts and O'Hern went on to face the top seed of Bernie Anderson and Don Masemann of Omaha and were defeated in a three hour match, 3-6, 6-4, 3-6.

Roberts is scheduled to compete in the sanctioned Fremont Open this weekend, July 13-15.

Hartington wins mid-season tourney

The Hartington women's softball team won a mid-season tournament which was hosted by Allen on Sunday, July 8.

Teams participating in the double-elimination tournament included Allen, Wynot, Hartington and Martinsburg.

Dave Udlich presented the trophies to Hartington, second place Martinsburg and third place Allen.

Merchants third in Yankton tourney

The Wayne Merchants womens slow pitch softball team finished third in the Coors Light Softball Tournament held in Yankton, S.D. over the weekend.

The Wayne team opened play with a 6-5 win in seven innings over Nite City of Sioux Falls, S.D. Leading the hitting was Linda Bode, who was two-for-three with a home run and single, and Jackie Bode with a pair of singles.

They also took their second game over Oasis of Norfolk by the score of 9-0.

The Wayne team totaled 13 hits in the game, including a two-for-three performance by Donna Kelly and Joan Miller. Linda Bode, Diana Asay and Lori Kellogg each had two hits in the game.

The Norfolk Coors team handed the Wayne Merchants their first of two losses by the score of 6-5.

Wayne's runs came in the fourth inning when they struck together a single by Donna Kelly, a home run by Diana Asay, a single by Jolene Bartels, triples by Linda Bode and Lori Kellogg and a single by Michele Meyer.

The Swim Club, which currently has 30 members, began practicing in mid-June and will continue throughout the month of July.

There are three more meets scheduled for the remainder of the summer. Those dates include Friday, July 13 at Norfolk; Wednesday, July 18 at O'Neill; and Thursday, July 26 in Wayne.

The club is part of the Wayne Summer Recreation Program and is coached by Cathy Wieseler and Jane Schade.

WSC's Chapman reveals assistants

Wayne State College head football Coach Pete Chapman has announced the hiring of two graduate assistant coaches for the 1984 school year.

Named to the positions were Kelly Higgins of Omaha and Mike Warren of Wayne.

An Omaha Cathedral High School graduate, Higgins was an All-North Central Conference tight end for South Dakota in 1975 and is a stand-out baseball player.

The past year he was an assistant football coach with Omaha Roncalli High School's program.

Warren, a Papillion native and former Wildcat quarterback, will be in his second season as a Wayne State coach, serving as a student coach for the squad during the 1983 season.

As a player, he lettered three times and was the starter his senior season in 1982. He is currently ninth on the all-time WSC career passing list.

"Kelly and Mike will be great additions to our program," said Chapman. "Kelly will bring up some fresh ideas and works well with the players. He will also help our recruiting in Omaha. Mike has worked with our program before and knows it well."

Higgins is projected to work with the Wildcat's running backs, while Warren will work with the receivers.

The first-ever Nebraska Sportsmen's Fall Expo has been set for Sept. 28-30 at the Peter Kiewit Conference Center in Omaha.

The event will be co-sponsored by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, the Omaha World-Herald and the University of Nebraska-Omaha's College of Continuing Studies.

The giant sportsmen's exposition will be open to the public Sept. 28 from 5:30-10:30 p.m.; Sept. 29 from 10 a.m.-10:30 p.m. and on Sept. 30 from 11 a.m.-7 p.m.

Among the workshops scheduled are those dealing with wild game cooking, duck calling, muzzleloading, wildlife photography, trapping, decoy carving, along with several on tips for hunting waterfowl, deer, upland game, small game and turkey.

Also slated are state champion duck, goose, turkey and predator calling contests. There will be calling exhibitions by nationally known and former world champion callers. An archery range and an air rifle shooting range will be available for the enjoyment of youngsters attending the show.

Those wanting more information on the Expo can contact the Game and Parks Commission's Omaha office at (402) 554-2144 or write: Sportsmen's Fall Expo '84, College of Continuing Studies, 1313 Farnum, Omaha, Nebr. 68102.

Mayor's Grove dedication July 22

The Mayor's Grove, designed in honor of Wayne's Centennial, will be dedicated at Sunnview Park, July 22 at 4:30 p.m.

The grove, consisting of shrubs for each of Wayne's 27 past and present mayors, is located at the north and east ends of the park in the Sunnview addition to Wayne.

Charles Maier, committee head for organization of the Mayor's Grove, said there are four arcs of seven shrubs each, dedicated to the past mayors.

Wayne's last three mayors, Kent Hall, Freeman Decker and Wayne Marsh, will be on hand to plant the final shrub, dedicated to the next mayor of Wayne.

Wayne's Centennial Committee paid for the materials to construct signs identifying the plants and the mayors to which they are dedicated.

The signs, constructed by Vern Schulz, will be set in concrete. The City of Wayne also helped with preparation of the signs and donated the posts for the project, Maier said.

Ralph Beckenhauer, Brent Pedersen, Kent Hall, Dick Gavil and Maier are all part of the committee responsible for "doing something historic with plants."

Maier said they are urging all families of previous mayors to attend the ceremony.

Safe Walking Tips

1. Carry or wear something white at night to help drivers see you.
2. Cross only at crosswalks. Keep to the right in the crosswalk.
3. Before crossing—look both ways. Be sure the way is clear before you cross.
4. Cross only on proper signal.
5. Watch for turning cars.
6. Never go into the roadway from between parked cars.
7. Where there is no sidewalk, and it is necessary to walk in roadway, walk on left side, facing traffic.

Vehicle registration law changed

by Chuck Hackenmiller
New laws which were enacted Tuesday (July 10) are affecting automobile drivers licensing and the cost of registering cars and motorcycles.

An additional dollar will be tacked on to the cost of registering all motor vehicles throughout Nebraska, according to Wayne County Treasurer Leon Meyer.

Registering the car and obtaining license plates will now cost $19.50. The licensing fee ($15), license plate charge ($2) and clerical work costs will remain the same.

Another $1 was added to the $18.50 regular cost, with the extra dollar directed toward the state's road recreation fund.

The new law, which was introduced earlier this year and passed during the legislature's recent session, also reduces the motorcycle registration fee from $5.50 to $4.50, according to Meyer.

There will also be changes in the method which drivers' licenses will be renewed.

STARTING ON Tuesday, individuals renewing their Class A (automobile only) operator's license will be exempt from taking the knowledge test by presenting an abstract of their driving record indicating no traffic violations since their last license was issued.

Drivers record abstracts can be obtained from Drivers Records Section, Department of Motor Vehicles, P.O. Box 94789, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509-4789.

Make sure the following information is available with the request: name (as stated on the driver's license); date of birth; driver's license number; and a check or money order for $1.

Even if the violation-free abstract is presented to the examiner, the renewer will still be required to take a vision test and "may, at the discretion of the examiner, be required to demonstrate his or her ability to drive and maneuver a motor vehicle."

The driver's license fees will remain the same.

MEYER ALSO pointed several other significant changes in the issuance of license plates, including:

•Providing that the anatomical gift act information be provided on the back side of the driver's license. Should a licensee wish to cancel an anatomical gift, the individual should either cross through or write "void" across the back of the license, and then initial and date it. It will be the licensee's responsibility to renew the gift upon renewal of the license.

•Special license plates can be issued to former prisoners of war, to be issued by the department of motor vehicles. The applicant must make application to the motor vehicles department, indicate that the applicant has paid all registration fees and applicable taxes as a prerequisite to the department of motor vehicle department which issues the plates.

•Allowing those who purchase automobiles from private sources to have 15 days instead of 10 to register the vehicle.

•A person who is out of state at the time of renewal of his or her driver's license may be issued a license without the photograph affixed — but only after the payment of the proper fees.

•And a person from out of state may be issued a duplicate or replacement driver's license by furnishing proof of identification and making an application for such license.

After 30 days, when the person returns to Nebraska, he or she must obtain a regular operator's license with a photo affixed.

School Board

results of lab tests for asbestos in three areas of the elementary, middle and high school. According to results received from a Analytica Laboratories, Inc. of Sioux Falls, S.D., only a small portion of pipe wrap at the middle school tested out to have asbestos material. Haun told the board that the wrap has already been replaced and that all other insulation tested out to have no asbestos content.

The board went into executive action to review salary negotiation, but no action was taken.

IN OTHER action:

—The board was informed that an energy grant has been received for the Carroll School. The grant will be used to place insulation in the first floor ceiling of the building prior to the heating season.

—Approval was given to a motion which authorizes the school district to make payment on electrical bills to the City of Wayne prior to board meetings when necessary.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, Assistant ESU Administrator Rodney Garwood informed the board he will compile a list of items for the board policy committee to review.

Members of the committee, including Garwood, Randy Shaw and Darrel Merry, will meet during the next two months to review the policy and make any suggested changes.

Mills also informed board members whose terms expire this year that they have until Aug. 1 to file for re-election.

County members whose terms will be up include Berneal Gustafson, Dixon County;

Leo Krampner, Dakota County; Doc Walstrom, Knox County; Darrel Merry, Thurston County; Randy Shaw, Wayne County; and Dave Hay, Cedar County.

Merry is the only board member at this time to definitely announce he will not seek re-election.

Rezoning request

already have one is not justification," Kloster said.

Councilman Freeman Decker followed Kloster's statement by saying that it was not proper to disregard the recommendations of the planning commission. He said the Redels were willing to take a chance and pay for the expenses of the business.

"We'd be remiss if we didn't go along with the recommendation," Decker said. "I'll go along with that somewhat," said Mayor Wayne Marsh. "But there is a lack of information at the present time, like what is going to be built down there."

"If we don't have that, then I don't think we can proceed," he said. A question also arose on whether or not any parking would be allowed along Fairgrounds Avenue and Windom.

Wayne City Attorney Kern Swarts said the grant for future improvement on Fairgrounds Avenue is from the state and federal government. So the project is really "an urban designated highway," he said.

SIGNS AND PARKING regulations would be under federal and state regulations. Because of the width of Fairgrounds Avenue, there is a good chance that parking would not be allowed (following street improvement) along the avenue or Windom, he mentioned.

Kloster then asked the councilmen to consider whether Redel's rezoning request would affect the current master plan.

"Would it provide favorable development for the city of Wayne? Is the need factor sufficient to change the zoning?" he asked.

"Quite frankly, we've been too easy-going on rezoning requests," Kloster added.

Keep granting rezoning requests, he said, and the city "might as well throw the blue book out the door and let anybody build anywhere in town."

Redel, in withdrawing his rezoning request, cited incidents of non-cooperation from the city of Wayne's city planner and Building Inspector Marcia Pankaskie.

Pankaskie said she was initially approached in January, 1984 by Redel on questions pertaining to rezoning property. She said a rezoning plat map from the Redels came weeks later (on May 17) following the April public hearing on the rezoning proposal.

Redel presented another drawing of the proposed rezoned property Tuesday night to the Wayne city council.

The city council voted to return Redel's $75 which he paid to initiate the rezoning process.

Police list June activities

Complaints/requests for police service were up while traffic accidents on public streets were down according to June 1983-84 comparisons released Tuesday evening by the Wayne Police Department.

There were 36 more complaints/request this year in June than last year, while traffic accidents on public streets were shortened from 11 to 8 over June of the previous year.

Traffic accidents investigated on private property was up from five in June 1983 to six in 1984.

One criminal arrest was made in June, 1984 compared to three in June, 1983 and criminal complaints stated the same at 74.

The police department issued a total of 68 parking tickets in June — 26 more than June of last year.

There were 65 total warnings issued during June (including 24 for speeding).

Arrests included nine for speeding; three for MIP; two no valid registration; two no operator's license; two failure dispose of parking ticket; two warrants; one consuming alcohol on public way; one dog at large; one criminal mischief and one leaving the scene of an accident.

A total $494 was collected in fines, with seven to be heard, two released from county court; one labor, and one handled within the police department.

The police department is currently spending $33,652 less than what was actually allocated to the department for this fiscal year, according to the June police department report.

Plans finalizing to open new Wayne business

Paula Pflueger, who recently joined the Financial Services Firm of Edward D. Jones & Co., is meeting the people of Wayne and finalizing plans to open an office within the next few months.

A native of Norfolk, Paula joined Edward D. Jones & Co. in February. She is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Lincoln where she received a degree in Business and Economics. Since joining the firm, Paula has undergone an intensive training program to prepare her to properly handle the needs of conservative investors.

Her initial plans include calling on all businesses and residents of the area to introduce herself, explain the conservative investment philosophy of Edward D. Jones & Co., and offer financial planning and investment services.

"We are pleased to extend our services and our firm to the community of Wayne," said John Bachmann, managing partner of Edward D. Jones & Co. "For many years we have sought to fill the financial planning and investment needs of intelligent investors throughout the country who have worked hard for their income, do not wish to speculate, but are looking for a return on investments to keep pace with inflation and taxes."

"I enjoy meeting the business community and residents of Wayne and the surrounding area," stated Paula Pflueger. "I plan to become quite active in the community by joining local civic and business groups, and look forward to raising a family in this area."

The firm began in St. Louis, Mo., in 1871; and the home office today is located in Maryland Heights, Mo., about 20 miles northeast of St. Louis. In the late 1940's the firm evolved the concept of opening offices in small towns, concentrating on those with a population of 10,000 to 25,000.

The first branch office was opened in Mexico Mo., and later another office was opened in Pueblo Co., 800 miles west of St. Louis. Today this network extends to nearly 700 branch offices in 33 states.

Chicken Limericks

Chicken days are in the air,
Chickens here and chickens there.
In our hair and everywhere,
Chicken wears and chicken cares
Have ended in a feathery nightmare!

Chicken stares,
Chicken dars,
We must bare
But never rare
Are chicken appetites that fare.

A chickenburger I'm a pickin',
My appetite does quicken
And my teeth goes a clickin',
Then I'm stricken,
Where's the chicken?

A chicken clucks
And I get stuck
To make a buck,
So I'll pluck
And hope for some Irish Luck!

Janice D. Morris, Carroll

There was a chick from North Gowlay,
Who got stuck in the chicken coop crawlway.
She met a common old rooster
Who became a real booster
When he goosed her in the hallway.

Richard Bareiman, Elkhorn

There was an old egg layin' chicken
Who only laid eggs when a kicken',
"If I didn't have wings
Then I'd sit and I'd sing
'These eggs sure taste good-finger lickin'!"

LaRayne Meyer, Pilger

There once was a chicken with eggs,
He tripped and fell and broke his legs.
The little eggs fell
He let out a yell
Because then he had scrambled eggs.

There once was a mother hen who had a daughter named Jenn
She knitted her a coat
Got ran over by a goat and so she buried her then.

There once was a man who was named Ken
What is as wide as he was tall then
He ate a big brunch
And also a lunch
But what's that got to do with a hen.

Christine Schmidt, Little Falls, MN

There was a young hen from Wayne,
She sat on her nest and complained.
One day a fancy cock strutted by,
And caught the dear chick's eye.
Now she sits on a nest of eggs ALL DAY!

Carol Griesch, Wayne

There was an old rooster named Moe,
Who had great ability to crow.
He sat on the edge of a tank
Where the cattle often drank,
Until he had a slip of the toe.

Margo Sandahl, Wakefield

A chicken is quite a strange bird
She'll sit there with nary a word.
Then, just how isn't clear
An egg will appear
And she'll cackle — how truly absurd.

Laying eggs may seem easy to men,
Like counting from zero to ten.
And the rooster seems happy,
It's no sweat being pappy.
But it's a whole day's work for a hen.

A rooster works hard when he crows.
It starts way down deep in his toes.
Then it builds in his gullet
And explodes like a bullet.
He's glad when it's done, I suppose!

Dean Craun, Wayne

A century ago when he crowsed,
His song was considered an 'ode'.
When he no longer boasted,
He was stewed, boiled or roasted.
Now he's marinated, McNuggetted and Microw'd.

There once was a chick from Nantucket,
Whose outlook on life was to 'chuck it'!
"There's no use denying
I'll end up a-frying,
Is there life after Sanders' big bucket?"

The life of a hen can be lonesome,
They're misunderstood and called dumb-dumb.
But one man's belief
Gave them a purpose — not grief.
Thank God for Milton G. Wajdbaum.

Bob, the barbarous bard (and bartender)

There once was a rooster from Wayne
Who made a big circle round Main.
He lost his big tail
And learned without fail
A chicken has no business on Main.

Janice Bareiman, Wayne

There was a pretty young hen,
Whose grandfather's nickname was Ben.
He taught her to sing,
The prettiest thing,
That helped her to get all the men.

Marta Sandahl, Wakefield

Mister Rooster crows all day long
Mama Hen cackles and cackles a song
Get a rig
and your wife a wig
Chicken Days are coming, ding ding dong.

Oh-ma-ma, do you think I'm crazy?
He bought me a hen and a daisy
His name is Jake
He wants a date
Shall I ma-ma-for the Chicken Show-the omelet they bake.

Jack and Jill went up the hill to fetch a pail of eggs
And on to Chicken Town trot trotted their eggs.
Some prizes they won
And full of omelet and fun
Home they did run to sing their Wayne escapades.

Alice Wagner, Carroll

One day I was hungry for chicken,
The kind that was finger lickin.
It came out of the pot
Juicy and hot,
I woofed it down like the dickens.

George Chicken was 100 in years
Who was looked up to by all his peers.
He felt like a perennial
As he celebrated his centennial.
He will live forever so it appears.

There was a chicken named Brewster.
He was a physical rooster.
He did sit-ups and jumps,
Got rid of the lumps
And looks better than he use'er!

Meet Henny, the cutest of chicks,
Who was sad because she couldn't do tricks.
She got a book
And after one look
Decided instead to play pick-up sticks.

Donna Frevert, Wayne

The rooster likes to crow
As he walks to and fro.
He flutters his wings
As he struts and sings;
Telling what he has to show.

Marta Sandahl, Wakefield

A chicken can be a real aggravation,
The most frustrating thing in creation,
But those crispy fried legs
And delicious fresh eggs
Make it the favorite bird of the nation.

Elta Fisher, Carroll

$1000 in cash and prizes to be awarded

Wayne Chicken Days activities will cause weekend 'scramble'

Approximately $1000 in cash and prizes will be awarded to participants in the Wayne Chicken Show on Friday and Saturday. Six new events are scheduled along with many old favorites from past shows.

Festivities begin Friday evening with the KTCH Fowl Players Talent Contest at the City Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. Northwestern Bell has provided $250 in prizes to be divided among winners in two age categories: 14 and under, 15 and over.

Plan to attend the Chicken Show Box Social between the talent show and the Chicken Show Square Dance. Mike Slevers will auction off desserts for two packages in decorated boxes. A $50 savings bond will be awarded to the contestant whose dessert box brings the highest price. The best decorated dessert box will receive a recipe book. Saturdays events begin with the Fun Run for Two-Legged, Non-feathered contestants. Runners will leave Wakefield at 7:30 a.m. and arrive in Wayne sometime later.

THE ROOSTER CROW, scheduled for 8:30 a.m. outside the City Auditorium, is one of the new events. The rooster crowing most often in a half-hour period will be declared the winner. First prize is a $100 savings bond, second prize is a $50 bond, third prize is a sack of chicken feed from Feeders Elevator. Come and root for your favorite rooster.

Entries for the Chicken Theme Bake Sale and Contest must be at the Centennial Souvenir Store, 110 Main by 9 a.m. Rusty Nail is providing prizes. The sale itself is a benefit for the American Cancer Society.

The running of the Chickens is a new event scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Parade viewers who come early to get a good spot for the parade will get a chance to see chickens racing along the street between First and Third Streets. Prizes include $10 cash, a recipe book and Chicken Chit Chat Games. Chickens will be available to lease for this and other chicken events.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. with the winners receiving trophies from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Several events will be judged at 10:30 at the City Auditorium. The biggest chicken in the Midwest will be selected from entrants outside the auditorium. Winner of this event will receive a bag of chicken feed from Feeders Elevator; the bird's owner will receive a plaque.

EGGS WILL be judged inside the auditorium. The lightest egg, the preflight egg and the oddest egg will be selected. A $5 cash prize will be awarded in each category.

Chicken Hats will be judged in front of the auditorium at 10:30 with prizes from Dairy Queen for all entrants and for the winner.

The Flying of the Chickens, another new event, is also scheduled outside the auditorium at 10:30. Chickens will compete for a flying distance record. Birds will fly from a mail box perched 10 feet above the ground in a straight line to a point unknown. Chickens who do not leave the mailbox voluntarily after 30 seconds will be declared "chicken" chickens and will be gently induced to fly. This is a nationally sanctioned event.

Four weight classes will participate with a $50 savings bond as first prize in each category. Chicken Chit Chat Games will be awarded to the runners-up.

THE BON AMI COMPANY has provided $250 in prizes for their Bon Ami Pane-ting Contest. Judging for that event will be at 11 a.m. inside the auditorium. Milton G. Waldbaum Free Omelet Feed starts at 11 at the Fire Hall.

During the Omelet Feed, feasters may observe the Egg Drop Contest at noon. This event is a variation of last year's egg toss. Eggs will be dropped to contestants from the fire department's cherry picker. Prizes are $10 cash for first, a cap from Campbell's Soup for second and third a Chicken Chit Chat Game.

Henpecking will begin at 1:30 outside the City Auditorium. Couples are urged to enter. The best henpecker will receive a $50 savings bond with prizes of a recipe book and a Chicken Chit Chat Game for second and third.

Hard-boiled Egg Eating will begin at 2:30. Prizes for this event are $10 cash and a Chicken Chit Chat Game for the winners. Another new event will take place throughout the morning: "Guess Eggsactly." A number of eggs will be placed in a galvanized tub. The person who comes closest to guessing the correct number of eggs will receive a cash prize of $13.50.

Two major contests, one established and one new, culminate the competitive events for the day.

The National Cluck-Off will begin at 3 p.m. outside City Hall. There are two divisions: hen and rooster, with two age groups, adult and children, included in each. The four winners will receive a $50 savings bond with runners-up receiving Chicken Chit Chat Games.

After the four winners have been selected, a national cluck off will select the overall best chicken. The winner will receive a traveling trophy to keep until next year's Chicken Show.

The Chicken Chit Chat Races will be held in Bressler Park at 6 p.m. During the Chicken Barbecue which begins at 5 p.m., chickens pulling chicken-size chariots will race in a number of heats along a selected, enclosed course. The winner of the elimination event will receive a $50 savings bond.

A $10 cash prize will be awarded to the runner up with a sack of chicken feed going to the third place fowl. The chicken with the best placed time will receive a flight bag. Each heat winner will get a Chicken Chit Chat Game. The best charlot will receive a $10 cash prize. All in all, the weekend promises a great deal of craziness for viewers and participants alike. A complete run-down of chicken events may be heard by calling the Chicken Line at 375-2714.

Pick up a chicken tee shirt and/or chicken button at downtown stores or the Chamber of Commerce. Remember, these items will be more expensive the day of the show. Tee shirts are only $6 now and buttons are $1. Many more chicken items will be for sale at the craft show in the auditorium on Saturday.

Chickens will be available to lease during the day. Entrants may bring their own chicken or rent one.

All winners at show

Contestants in the Chicken Hat Show on Saturday morning will receive more than just the honor of participating. Prizes will be awarded to each entrant this year, as well as to the winners.

Dairy Queen is providing certificates for ice cream cones to each entrant, and a chicken sandwich to the winner. A Chicken Chit Chat Game will be awarded to the runner up. The ice cream cone and chicken sandwich certificates will be redeemable at the Dairy Queen at 7th and Main here in Wayne.

Arnie's Ford-Mercury is providing a ride in the parade for many of the contestants. Anyone interested in displaying their hats along the parade route, should be at the parade formation point (Godfather's Pizza lot, 1st and Main) at 9:30 Saturday morning. Judging of the hat contest will be immediately after the parade in front of the City Auditorium. Contestants riding in the parade will be driven to the auditorium for the actual contest.

Pane-ting Contest July 14

Judging of the Bon Ami Pane-ting Contest will be held at 11 Saturday morning in the City Auditorium. There is still time to pick up Bon Ami and an instruction sheet from State National Bank and Trust or First National Bank lobby and paint a masterpiece on a glass "palette." Prizes for adult entrants (ages 18 and over) are $75 for first, $50 for second and $25 for third. Entrants in the eight to 14 age group will vie for prizes of $35 for first, $25 for second and $10 for third. Winners in the under eight years old category will receive $15 for first, $10 for second and $5 for third.

For further information, please call contest coordinator Veronica Trezona at 375-3422.

Fall garden

It's still early in July but it's time to be thinking about a garden this fall.

"Fall Garden" is a confusing term. Many fall garden crops are actually seeded in July and August so they have time to mature before killing frosts or freezes arrive. Vegetables like lettuce, radishes, broccoli and beets, which are more commonly sown in April and May, lose quality and flavor quickly when hot June weather arrives. Yet these same vegetables, when grown as fall crops, are crisper, tastier and more productive because of the cooler nights and shorter days of fall.

Careful planning now is required for fall gardening, to be sure plants will have a long enough season to mature, crops like beets, carrots, lettuce, chard and turnips must be started before mid-August.

Warm-season crops like snap beans, cucumbers and summer squash can be planted through early or mid-July and will still have enough time to bear a crop. Soak seeds overnight and sow a little deeper and thicker than usual to assist germination. With proper care, these succession plantings will keep you in vegetables until frost.

Broccoli can be grown as a spring or fall crop, but generally has better flavor and quality when grown as a fall crop. The edible parts of broccoli are a thickened, immature floral stem and florets.

For a fall crop of broccoli choose later-maturing varieties (65-80 days from transplanting to harvest). Waltham 29 is one variety which does well in Nebraska.

Fall broccoli also can be seeded directly into the garden. This should be done before July 15.

Caring for cabbage

Cabbage heads often split when heavy rains fall after the heads are well developed. Prompt harvest is the best approach. If this is not possible, twist or pull the plant slightly to tear some of the roots, cutting down on water absorption and consequent splitting.

Root pruning with a shovel will also accomplish this. Some varieties of cabbage are more prone to splitting than others.

Strawberry renovation

For the highest yields and best quality from a strawberry planting, remember to renovate the planting in early July. Thinning, mowing and fertilizing are the key factors in a good renovation procedure. As soon as harvest is completed, narrow the strawberry rows to 8 to 12 inches wide using a rototiller.

Mow off old leaves 1 inch above the crown and remove the leaf debris. This will help cut down on foliar disease problems. Thin out remaining plants to three plants per square foot by removing old mother plants and weak new runner plants.

Make a fertilizer application of 6 to 8 pounds of complete fertilizer like 10-10-10 per 100 feet of row. Keep the planting well watered and weeded throughout the growing season.

CATTLE GRAZE in a ditch near the Wayne County Fairgrounds — kept in line by electric fencing.

the farmer's wife

by pat meierhenry

I did not mean to imply last week that we have never had a vacation. We've been married 24 years; and, counting our honeymoon, we've had half a dozen. There have been four-day excursions to the Black Hills, Ft. Robinson, and Winnipeg (visiting a friend in grad school).

For our wedding trip, we were away for a week in September, which in retrospect, seems impossible. We're always so busy in September.

That next winter, before there were any children, and only about 20 head of livestock around, we enjoyed a trip to California. We watched the Rose Parade, visited Disneyland, mooched off the bunch of cousins who live there, and had a great time.

I especially remember the Big Farmer's reaction to seeing the Rocky Mountains for the first time. It's a good thing I was driving, because he was awe-struck.

Ten years, four children and 100 stock cows later, we decided to try another winter vacation. Grandma sort of "volunteered" to keep the younger two. We had full-time hired help, and there were friends and relatives at strategic places.

We ordered tickets to the Orange Bowl game, planned an itinerary, and cleaned up the station wagon. We hosted Christmas dinner, and left that afternoon. There was just a little snow on the ground, and the holiday lights in every town looked like a succession of Christmas cards.

By 9 p.m., we were lost in Northwest Missouri. For some reason, Sue had a map of that part of the country, and we eventually found our way to St. Joe.

THE NEXT MORNING, Jon and I were afflicted with "traveler's scourge," and we had to make an emergency stop in Kansas City for a bottle of Kaopectate.

On the second day, we took one of the longest detours known to man through the hills of Kentucky. When we finally got back to civilization, we learned that the natives were driving on the road that was "under construction."

We spent a night with our best man at Raleigh, N.C., and then made our way to my brother's home in Charleston, S.C. My sister-in-law is the world's greatest hostess, and she took us to a posh restaurant. Trouble was, we heard a newscast that afternoon that said there was a blizzard in Nebraska, and the Big Farmer was preoccupied all evening.

We went on to Palm Beach to pick up the Tillama boys at their Grandma's, and spent New Year's afternoon in the ocean.

Then, on to the Big Game. We were in front of a pair of disgruntled Notre Dame fans.

Sue and I got lost going out of the stadium. Pretty scary, in south Miami that time of night!

ON TO ORLANDO, to stay with my old friend Tom Waco and stand in all the lines at Disneyworld. Uncle Reuben cooked for us.

Then, it was time to head for home, stopping at all the McDonald's to fill up those four kids.

Once the Big Farmer points the car in the direction of Home, he doesn't stop. We came across Missouri in an ice storm; and when we crossed into Kansas, the gas gauge was close to E. There were no stations open — it was the middle of the night — and it was cold.

At Auburn, Neb., we decided to find the local law enforcement and see if they could help us out. Driving down Main St., we were welcomed by half-a-dozen mules running up and down the street.

At the police station, we learned that the mules belonged to the mayor and that all available man-power was involved in rounding them up.

While the dispatcher tried to coordinate the video, he got a call for help from the local hotel. Some guy had slashed his girlfriend with a knife! So the squad car went right over; and while we sat there, they brought him in, in handcuffs.

It was impossible to get their attention, so we found a filling station with a house behind it, and woke up a very sleepy guy who filled the gas tank.

We picked up Kay and Ann in Lincoln and made our way to the frozen north. There were piles of snow, and some cows had strayed during the blizzard and the carcasses weren't found until Spring.

For some reason, we've not had a winter vacation since. Right now, I'd settle for a weekend in Sioux City. Better to have loafed and lost! than never to have loafed at all.

Bean cutworm also goes for corn

Despite its name, western bean cutworm has become a major pest in corn, and cutworm eggs soon will begin showing up in Nebraska fields.

Keith Jarvi, pest management extension assistant at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station at Concord, said the main flight of egg-laying moths is expected next week. The adult moths will lay eggs on the upper side of corn leaves. If the eggs mature and hatch, the cutworm will feed on the ear of corn itself, Jarvi said.

The western bean cutworm originally was a pest in field beans in western Nebraska. It during the past 10 years, Jarvi said, the cutworm has become a regular pest in corn. Western bean cutworm is found most often in sandy soil and is not a major pest in eastern Nebraska, he said.

JARVI WILL TALK about recognizing and controlling western bean cutworm on "Farm and Ranch Report," Thursday, July 12, at 12:30 and 9:30 p.m. The program airs on the Nebraska ETN network and will be shown again Saturday, July 14, at 7:30 a.m.

Cutworm eggs are pinhead size and very white, Jarvi said. They generally are laid in masses of between five and 50 eggs. The masses will range from dime- to quarter-size. The eggs hatch four to seven days after being laid and turn a bluish-black color as they mature.

"Young cutworms" are dark brown with faint, diamond-shaped markings on their backs. They grow lighter as they mature, and can be recognized by the three dark stripes that run lengthwise behind their heads.

As cutworms mature, they work their way into the ear and feed on developing kernels. Pesticides applied through either aerial spraying or center-pivot irrigation can control the cutworm, Jarvi said. The most effective time for treatment is during the egg-hatch period, approximately one week after the eggs are laid, he said.

"If we find eggs on 8 percent to 14 percent of the plants in a field, we recommend treatment," Jarvi said.

Western bean cutworms also will begin showing up in western Nebraska field beans next week. Moths lay their eggs on the underside of bean leaves. Young cutworms chew holes in the pods and feed on developing seeds.

Damage in beans may not be noticed until the beans are wind-dropped, Jarvi said.

Insect checks needed for all stored grain

Grain to be kept in storage for part or all of 1984 should be checked every few weeks this summer for insect activity, according to University of Nebraska entomologists.

Since pest activity increases as grain temperatures rise, it is best to maintain temperatures at or below 50-60 degree levels for as long as possible, NU extension entomologist Dave Keith said. "This must be done carefully to avoid moisture condensation."

A grain probe should be used to check grain at various locations and depths for moisture level, temperature and the presence of insects. "Significant changes in moisture and temperature are a warning that problems may be developing," he said.

The presence of insects on the grain surface or in the mass may indicate a need for action, Keith said.

NU EXTENSION entomologist Fred Baxendale said one of the most common surface-feeding insects of stored grain is the Indian meal moth. "The greyish worms produce webbing on the surface of the grain and on the walls of bins," he said.

Other insects, such as granary weevils, saw-toothed grain beetles, flour beetles and lesser grain borers are likely to be found throughout the grain, the NU entomologists said.

Surface insects can be controlled with applications to the surface layer of the grain, while others may require fumigation or movement of the grain and subsequent treatment with a stored grain protectant, Keith said. "If fumigation is necessary," he said, "we suggest that farmers contact a commercial grain fumigation firm, rather than handle fumigants themselves."

For meal moth larvae, the NU entomologists suggest an application of a bacterial insecticide (Dipel, Thuricide, SOK-BT) to the top 5-6 inches of stored grain. "This can be added as a dust or a liquid and mixed directly into the surface grain," Baxendale said. Adult moth activity may be prevented by hanging DVP-impregnated resin strips above the grain mass (one per 1,000 cubic feet of air space).

For insects feeding throughout the grain mass, a grain protectant may be used, but is not likely to provide the degree of control given by a proper fumigation, Keith said. For light infestations, he suggests application of malathion (57°C or 1.0 percent or 6.0 percent dust) while grain is being transferred to another bin and incorporated through the mass with an auger.

"Again," he added, "if fumigation is necessary, we encourage the use of a commercial fumigation firm."

July 16 is last day for reporting corn acres

Wayne County farmers who have planted corn and other spring seeded crops still have a few days to report the acreage to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service and become eligible for 1984 farm program benefits.

"The final certification date is July 16," Erwin Morris said. Farmers who meet this deadline will avoid paying a late certification fee. He said that all farmers who accurately report crop acreages will be eligible for price support loans and target price protection.

To date 800 farms are certified. Mr. Morris said the entire farm must be certified correctly before farm program participants can receive benefits.

THOSE FARMERS who are not participating in the 1984 programs should also certify their acreage because their participation in future programs can be adversely affected if they fail to certify their acreages of crops.

To avoid eligibility problems and be sure of their planted acres, farmers can request measurement service. "For a reasonable fee farmers can have their planted crops measured before reporting their acreages," Mr. Morris said. The fee covers the cost of a farm visit and the work necessary to accurately measure the acreage.

The ASCS Official said farms will be randomly checked to verify that acreage reports are correct and aerial photographs will be available for farmers to identify their fields.

Crops may be certified with the county ASCS office weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Scouting for corn borer infestations important now

Farmers who applied a soil insecticide for corn at planting time may not be getting as much protection against European corn borers as they think.

Recent research shows that at-planting treatments are not likely to prevent serious corn borer damage, especially if the insecticide is applied at the rate recommended for rootworm control.

At most, farmers applying insecticides under these circumstances should only expect slight suppression of corn borers.

"Farmers who depend on these rootworm treatments for all-season protection against the corn borer may be faced with reduced yields, along with damaged corn and harvesting difficulties," warns Bill Pagano, Dyfonate product manager at Stauffer Chemical Company.

Pagano says growers should be wary of insecticides that claim they control European corn borers with at-planting treatments. These insecticides must be applied at two or three times the regular rate and even with that expensive treatment, only the first-generation borers are affected.

FARMERS WOULD STILL face the possibility of second-generation or even third-generation corn borers.

The better approach to handling corn borers, Pagano says, is for farmers to scout their fields first, then apply a granular insecticide in an "over-the-top" application. Scouting should be done in early July for the typical symptoms of borer infestations.

Pagano says the time to look for moths is when the temperature is consistently warm at night. The moths are likely to be flying and laying their eggs on those nights when the wind is calm and the humidity is high. Moth traps are helpful in determining when the borers are likely to be laying eggs.

According to Pagano, rescue treatments perform well in controlling the corn borer but not too late. Treatments should be applied when egg masses or signs of feeding are spotted.

If treatment is necessary, Pagano recommends using a granular insecticide as Dyfonate 20-G. Granular insecticides tend to control corn borers more effectively than sprays because the granules roll down into the soil and come into contact with the borers where they are feeding.

Irrigation tour scheduled

The 11th annual two-day Nebraska Irrigation Tour, sponsored by the University of Nebraska and the Nebraska Water Conference Council, is scheduled for Aug. 16 and 17.

According to Les Sheffield, NU extension farm management specialist, buses will travel to Columbus, Norfolk, Burwell, Grand Island and Hastings on the 500 mile tour.

Sheffield, tour coordinator, said the tour will focus on water resources in the Elkhorn, Loup and Platte River Basins and the three proposed irrigation projects that would use Platte River water.

Tour buses will pick up participants at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln, the Grand Island Mid-town Holiday Inn and the Norfolk Holiday Inn. The air-conditioned buses will stop at the Nebraska Public Power District and that district's hydro-electric generation plant, Willow Creek Dam and Reservoir, Lindsay Manufacturing Co., and the Calamus Dam and Reservoir.

The second-day itinerary includes a visit to the Platte River Habitat Tour at the Mormon Island Crane Meadows and Spemaker Island with a presentation by John G. Vandervalk, executive director of the Platte Whooping Crane Habitat Maintenance Trust.

At the Friday noon luncheon, Robert Kutz, vice chairman of the Nebraska Water Conference Council, will lead discussions of three new irrigation projects using Platte River water.

State horse show

Brad Lund, Kiela Lund, Scott Lund and Jeremy Grace all qualified for the State 4-H Horse Show to be held at Fanner Park at Grand Island July 19-19. The young people are all members of the Country Style 4-H Club.

Brad received a second place medal in the senior western pleasure class in Madison on June 20. He also participated in senior horsemanship and senior poles. Kiela Lund was in senior western pleasure; Scott, junior poles and junior barrels and Jeremy was in the junior barrels event. Brian Larson also participated in the show at Madison.

To qualify for state, a participant must get a blue or purple ribbon at the district show.

New storage loan rate

Commodity and farm storage loans disbursed in July by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 12 percent interest rate, CCC Executive Vice President Everett Rank said today.

The new rate, up from 11-3/8 percent, reflects the interest rate charged by the U.S. Treasury in July, Rank said.

Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Exposition

All entries for the 1984 Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Exposition are due in County Extension Offices no later than August 17, according to Ak-Sar-Ben's Director of Agricultural Activities Sherman Berg. The entries then must be forwarded to Ak-Sar-Ben by August 22. Entry blanks and application forms are available at County Extension Offices or at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Berg announced the 4,300 Market Beef nominations have been submitted for the 1984 Exposition, the 57th edition of the event. Nominations have come from 4-H youngsters from an eight-state area for this year's Exposition, the world's largest 4-H livestock show. The eight states represented are Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, and Missouri. The show is scheduled to run Sept. 19 through Sept. 29.

The 4-H Horse Show judging will be held Sept. 19, 20, and 21. Dairy judging starts Sept. 21 and runs through Sept. 22. Market Swine judging is all day on Sept. 22. The Market Beef judging will be held on Sept. 24 and 25, followed by the premium Livestock Auction.

Ak-Sar-Ben annually hosts 2,500 exhibitors to the Livestock Show, held in conjunction with the Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo during River City Roundup, a midwestern celebration of the area's agricultural and western heritage.

Monica Hanson, daughter of Roy Hanson, Concord, was the top Dixon County contestant at the area 4-H livestock judging contest held in Concord July 6.

She scored 552 points out of a possible 600 points. Sonya Plueger, daughter of Frank Plueger, Allen, was the top Dixon County junior division participant. Monica and Sonya will each receive a trophy donated by the Wakfield National Bank. Monica is a member of Dad's Helpers, Concord. Sonya is a member of the Wranglers 4-H Club, Allen.

Senior division ribbon placings were as follows: purple, Monica Hanson and Doug Olson of Concord; blue, Mike Anderson of Wakfield, Mitch Pettit of Allen, Marc Bathke of Dixon; red, Tabitha Burnham, Tamie Noe, Arnette Noe, of Allen and Tim Johnson of Dixon.

Junior division ribbon placings were as follows: purple, Sonya Plueger and Nathan Helmering of Allen, Craig Bathke of Dixon; blue, Matt Anderson and Keith Weststrand of Wakfield, Sandy Noe, Renee Plueger and Kristy Taylor, all of Allen, Brian Anderson of Concord; red, Mark Olson of Concord, Tonia Burnham of Allen; white, Bobby Kuhn of Allen.

Livestock judging club team placings were as follows: first place senior team - Dad's Helpers 4-H Club - Monica Hanson, Doug Olson, Marc Bathke, Tim Johnson; second place senior team - Wranglers 4-H Club - Mitch Pettit, Sonya Plueger, Renee Plueger; third place senior team - Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club - Tabitha Burnham, Tamie Noe, Arnette Noe; first place junior team - Dad's Helpers 4-H Club - Craig Bathke, Brian Anderson, Mark Olson; second place junior team - Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club - Sandy Noe, Kristy Taylor, Tonia Burnham, Bobby Kuhn.

The contest included judging of beef, sheep and swine classes, answering questions about the classes, and the senior division giving oral reasons for their placings of the market swine class.

The top five senior individuals will be eligible to compete for the four team positions to represent Dixon County at the State Fair livestock judging contest. These five are Monica Hanson, Doug Olson, Mike Anderson, Mitch Pettit and Marc Bathke.

SCHOOL DISTRICT 45 schoolhouse near Wayne, a 98 year old structure, sold for less than expected at Sunday's auction.

End of School District 45

FROM INSIDE looking out of the schoolhouse window, a young girl samples one of several writing desks.

MIKE STEVERS and Orville Lage hold up a globe which appears to be stretching under the humid, hot weather.

Bits and pieces of the 98 year old School District 45 schoolhouse and its contents were auctioned off last Sunday afternoon in sweltering heat and humidity.

Books, desks, teaching tools and other school equipment were sold in addition to the schoolhouse, playground equipment and two outhouses that adorned the school's lawn.

Lyle Grone, president of the District 45 school board, said the auction "went really well."

"There was a good turn-out of people there," Grone said.

Estimated total sales from the auction were $2,100.

During the course of the sale, alumni talked about familiar items which were used in the classrooms during their own school days.

The auctioneering was handled by Lage and Baier.

DESK CHAIRS made a good foot rest for several of those attending Sunday's schoolhouse auction.

A WIDE selection of books were available at Sunday's sale.

A ROLL of toilet paper hanging on the inside indicates the schoolhouse site was common.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Evangelical Free Church Womens Missionary Society held its monthly meeting July 3. After old and new business was discussed, a report from the National WMS was given.

National WMS was part of a week-long conference held in Des Moines June 24-29. The Evangelical Free Church celebrated its 100th year of ministry. The Concord WMS attendees were Mrs. Joyce Benstead, Mrs. Judy Kvols and Mrs. Linda Westerholm. The theme of "Beauty in Change" was the new year's theme as the Womens Missionary Society has changed its name to Womens Ministries, Focus on Missions.

At the meeting, Judy Kvols reminded the ladies that July is the special "Christmas in July" month when money is received and sent overseas for Missionary's Christmas. The church will be playing "On the Carillon" Christmas carols and hymns daily for the month of July as a reminder of this need and Christ's birth. Hostesses were Judy Kvols and Joyce Benstead.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The Evangelical Free Church Sunday school picnic was held July 11 with approximately 95 gathered at the Lions Club Park in Laurel. The potluck supper and fellowship was followed by game time led by Julie Bloom and Jim and Judy Kvols. Children were assigned "cheerleaders" from adult classes, but all ages participated in games ending with the water balloon toss. A childrens presentation of music was followed by Jodi Erwin's report from Indonesia where they have been missionaries. Ice cream was served at the close of the evening.

LCW CIRCLES

The LCW Circles met Thursday. Bible study was stewardship of money from the old and new testaments.

Phoebe Circle met with Mrs. Wallace Anderson as hostess with nine present. Bible study was led by Mrs. Quinten Erwin. They planned the July serving at the LCW meeting. The August meeting will be a care center visit.

Eilizabeth center met with Mrs. Marlen Johnson as hostess with 10 present. Mrs. Johnson also had the Bible study. They planned the July LCW program and August is open.

Anna and Dorcas Circle will meet at a later date.

3 C'S CLUB

The 3 C's Home Extension Club members met for morning coffee at the Concord Cafe on Saturday with all 11 members present. Carolyn Hanson, president, led a short business meeting. A tour will be held to Sioux City today (Thursday). The banner for exhibit at the county fair was finished and displayed to the club. Aug. 6 will be the family picnic held at the Concord Senior Center. Aug. 21 is field day at the NES Concord. Volunteers were asked to help with the blood pressure clinic and to help at the agricultural building during the county fair. Student lessons were discussed.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL
The Concordia Lutheran Couples League sponsored a homemade ice cream and pie social Sunday evening on the church lawn. Coffee, ice tea and brownies were also served. Proceeds will be added to the centennial fund.

Sunday, July 15: Morning worship service, 8 p.m.

Rev. John Westerholm and family traveled to Ames, Iowa where the Evangelical Free Church celebrated its 100th anniversary at Iowa State University, north of Des Moines. Opening night speaker was Rev. Charles Swindoll and several Concord, EFC families traveled to hear his message.
Rev. and Mrs. Walter

Westerholm spent a few days at Concord before traveling to the Conference with Pastor John and family. The conference was held June 24-29 with speakers, messages and business meetings.

The Rev. Albert Sleek family of Spencer were July 3 overnight guests in the Norman Anderson home. Joining them for July 4 were the Jerry Stanley family of Dixon and Lillian Anderson of Wayne.

July 4 supper guests in the Brent Johnson home were the Regg Swanson family of Pasadena, Calif., the Dean Bruggemanns, the Doug Krie family, the Duane Stingleys of Laurel, Carla Johnson, Don Noecker of Norfolk, the Evert Johnsons and the Ernest Swansons.
Jim Pearson, Tyler and Tara of Lincoln were July 6 and 7 guests in the Clarence Pearson home.

Thursday afternoon, birthday guests honoring Opal Carlson at her home were Mrs. Irene Luft, Mrs. Mathilda Bareiman and Mrs. Marla Ritze, all of Wayne. Evening guests were the Wallace Andersons, the Vern Carlsons, Randall Carlson and the Clifford Fredricksons. Friday evening guests were the Kenneth Andersons.

The Regg Swansons, Leslie and Brett of Pasadena, Calif. came July 2 to visit in the Ernest Swanson home. They all visited in the Evert Johnson home Thursday evening and in the Steve Scholl home at Sioux City on Friday. Mrs. Regg Swanson left for Pasadena Sunday morning. Regg and the children will stay for a longer visit.

The Raymond Hangons of Van Alstyne, Texas, spent the weekend in the Roy Hanson home and visited other relatives. They visited Theima Hanson at the Laurel Hillcrest Care Center on Saturday.

Phyllis Dirks returned to Concord Thursday after spending a few days in Lincoln. While in Lincoln she visited in the home of her son, the Ross Dirks.

Papa Johnson of Lincoln spent July 4 and the weekend with her parents, the Marlen Johnsons.

The Marc Lawrences of Crete came Thursday to spend a few days in the Bud Hanson home.

LADIES AID
The Ladies Aid LWML of St. John's Lutheran Church met Friday. Mrs. Marvin Stolle opened the meeting with the LWML devotions. Topic was Red, White and Blue. The group sang "Let Christ's Freedom Ring."
Mrs. Raymond Prochaska presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Harold Holm and Mrs. Clarence Schines gave a report on the LWML convention they attended at Wisner on June 11-12.
They will have their guest day on Friday, Sept. 7 at 2 p.m. Mrs. George Roeber and Mrs. William Domsch were hostesses. Their next meeting is Friday, Aug. 3 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Eugene Johnson and Mrs. Walden Kraemer will be hostesses.
SWANSON RETIRES
Salesmen and their wives from the Pioneer Division of the Morrison Manufacturing Co., with headquarters at Quincy, Ill., held a retirement party for Eugene Swanson and his wife on June 29 at the Villa Inn in Norfolk. Special guests were Vern Steinman of Norfolk, regional manager; Bob McFarland of the Columbus plant and Mr. and Mrs. Mel Kubik of Lincoln.

Steinman was in charge of the program following the dinner. He presented Eugene with a scrapbook of various items of happenings over the past 15 years and letters of congratulations from Quincy representatives. He also received a plaque and Glen Anderson of Laurel presented Gene with a retirement pin.
Also attending the event were Claudia Adams of Wayne, Jeff Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Schwarten of Wakefield.

FUN RUN
A Fun Run will be held July 14 in conjunction with the Wayne Chicken Days which will be held in Wayne July 13-14. There is no entry fee; entry registration or entry classification nor is there any prize or glory in the run. The run will be from Wakefield to Wayne to honor the Chicken.

Anyone interested in a non-race run of about ten miles should be at the Wakefield National Bank on Saturday at 7:30 a.m. sharp.
Pat Gross, run director, said the pace promises to be easy, sociable and if tradition holds, hot.

BEEF DRAFT
Melodie Witt, Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Queen presented a $10 beef draft and T-shirt to Hung Nguyen on the birth of the Nguyen's son, Toan Vu.
The Feeders Auxiliary has given drafts for the first baby born at the Wakefield Health Care Center on or after Father's Day for the past six years.
Toan Vu was born to Hung Ba and Mal Bu Nguyen on June 26 weighing in at six pounds and twelve ounces.

Baseball

Free From Old-Time Bitterness—Painfully Apathetic—County Fairs—From Former Winside Man—Last Week's Rain—Political Enemies Endorsed—Schooling.

Opening of the baseball season leads us to wonder how prevalent interest in the national game compares with that of early-day communities. We recall the depth of feeling aroused many years ago for the home team and against its rival. Boys of the town made no secret of their admiration for home players nor of their dislike for the opposition. A game that was supposed to be friendly with no reason to be otherwise, often engendered a good deal of hostility. Neighboring towns frequently developed bitter rivalries over competition in baseball, sometimes seriously interfering with business and social relationships. There seems to be an improved attitude toward the game, and the excitement of the season is being felt by the masses. It is wonderful that in a community with so many young men, the game has been so popular. It is a wonderful fact that the game, with its rival animosity largely eliminated, its popularity seems to grow.

Modern County Conventions.

Kept by the primary law from having anything to do with primary candidates, county conventions have become purely apathetic. Selecting delegates to state conventions, fixing up local organizations and passing resolutions do not excite the fever of interest that gripped the old-time convention which had in hand the business of naming or endorsing the hopes of ambitious individuals. The old convention system has its objective but in its favor, it has a way of arousing popular interest quite impossible under the primary plan. Sharing of responsibility between the convention and primary might be a satisfactory solution.

New Plan Proposed.

A Wayne report announces a new plan to put more life into the Saunders county fair. Accustomed to a mediocre fare, the fair is to be more diversified program including modern exhibits. The fair is to be held at the county seat. The new plan suggests that while old spots remain, new spots should be added. It is bound to disappear, because of the indifference or apathy of persons who have developed other likes. "The county fair is truly a problem," says the Wayne Herald. "There is need for it, but how to make it succeed is a difficult question. Activities are needed to give vitality to this far from county activities that will help build back a moral and loyal life."

Writes From California.

D. J. Cherry, resident of Winside for many years, now living at Pasadena, Calif., and brother Judge J. H. Cherry, who resides in the Herald office, have sent the following paragraphs from the Los Angeles Times concerning the migration of South American corn:

"As a forerunner of the 70,000 tons of food of cheap corn now being brought to Pacific Coast ports during the next three months, the British tramp steamer, the York, is due at San Pedro from Waila, Conception today with 7,600 tons of corn for local discharge.

"Also due at San Francisco this week with a single cargo is the British tramp Trent, from San Lorenzo. Dr. Cherry accompanies the newspaper except with this disclaimer: "I think the farmers should know what is making cheap corn and grain prices."

"Enclosed is a clipping from this morning's Los Angeles Times, and this is only for one day. A shorter time ago I read where 175,000 tons of shelled corn came from South America in one day, and they were clamoring for more storage room that it might be sent in faster."

"The Roosevelt administration does not want our farmers to raise it and give employment to our own people, but permit it to be shipped in from foreign countries. In other words give employment to cheap labor in other countries, and deprive taxpayers here support our unemployed. I am no politician, but to me the outlook is bleak."

April Drouth Broken.

Wheat varying from a fraction of an inch to two inches tall over Nebraska last week, and they raised the spirits of inhabitants very materially. Some hail in southeastern Nebraska recently found no crops to destroy. Where rain falls in the mid-western area, there is danger of hail, and insurance would seem a wise precaution. April was unusually dry, but plenty of moisture during this and coming months will make satisfactory solution of our crop problems.

WAYNEITES SCORE HIGH RATINGS AT KEARNEY CONTEST

A LARGE exodus of music students, directors and fans headed for Kearney last week-end to share in the state contest, and it is gratifying to learn that both high school and college training school groups captured high ratings. Their awards distinction will encourage them to strive for even higher marks next year, so believes Prof. J. H. Keating, who transferred his musical leadership to Kearney for the contest. Fred L. Blair, generalissimo of Wayne's transportation forces, prepared a few choice buttings when he explained how well youngsters from local schools performed. Incidentally, he said Kearney is not equal to the task of accommodating the state music contest in its act as host to big meetings. He thinks every town ambitious to act as host to big meetings should in the meantime, big meetings should be held here.
