Armyworms munching in Wayne

It was Thursday afternoon and Wayne County Extension Director Don Spitzke was gone most of the morning conducting a tractor-driving event in Concord.

When he returned to his Wayne County Courthouse office early in the afternoon, he was informed that the calls were flooding in to his office.

"I got a slug of telephone calls on armyworms," said Spitzke.

Wayne is in a 15 to 20 county area (in Iowa and Nebraska) that is being heavily infested with the armyworm. Spitzke put out the warning on Wednesday about the spottings of the armyworms on lawns and gardens within the Wayne community.

The last serious outbreak of armyworms, he said, was in 1970. They normally appear in cycles, he said.

As of Thursday afternoon, the spottings of armyworms in the rural areas were few, Spitzke said. "It's bad here in town (the heaviest infestation of armyworms). We've just started to get reports in the country where I don't think it's as bad — yet," he added.

Just how the armyworms came to Wayne is unknown. "There's no way I can answer that," Spitzke mentioned. One factor could have been the wet weather conditions this spring and early summer.

City residents have also been spraying lawns during the past few days to combat the armyworm.

Rural areas which are susceptible to armyworm infestation include fields where there is a growth of weeds between corn rows and in oats fields or other small grains field (particularly where alfalfa is seeded in the small grain field), according to Spitzke.

"Typically, large numbers of armyworms develop in one area and then migrate as a group to corn or sorghum when wild grasses have been consumed," said Fred Baxendale, University of Nebraska extension specialist.

PASTURES, WEEDY row crops and turf areas should be inspected closely for signs of developing armyworm infestations, he said. Edges of leaf blades would be examined for evidence of feeding and if found, the surface should be scratched to expose the worms, he said.

If heavy migrations are occurring in border rows of corn and leaf feeding is extensive, Baxendale suggests immediate treatment. Defoliation generally progresses from the lower to the upper leaves on corn.

When armyworm feeding results in the loss of two lower leaves, or when damage occurs at or about the ear zone on up to 20 percent of the plants, treatment is advisable, he said.

For spraying residential lawns, Wayne County Extension Agent Spitzke recommended use of the products Sevin, Malathion, Metoxyctox or Diazinon.

Baxendale suggested the following for armyworm control in corn: chlorpyrifos (Dorsban 4E) at 1.0 pounds AI/acre; methomyl (Lannate 1.8 EC, Nudrin 1.8 EC) at 0.46 pounds AI/acre; carbaryl (Sevin XLR, 80S, Sevimol 4) at 1.5 pounds AI/acre; malathion 57EC at 1.25 pounds AI/acre; ethyl parathion EC at 0.5 pounds AI/acre or methyl parathion (PennCap 2FM) at 0.5 pounds AI/acre.

Baxendale said label precautions should be carefully read and observed.

Restricted use products mentioned above are Lannate, Nudrin, ethyl parathion and methyl parathion for corn and parathion for sorghum.

Balloon found in Oklahoma

"Five hundred miles away from home" is a song which best describes the Chicken Show Balloon Contest event.

A helium-filled balloon owned by Mrs. Larry Johnson of Wayne traveled the greatest distance during the contest, floating in the air approximately 500 miles all the way to Sand Springs, Oklahoma.

Johnson, because her balloon traveled the most miles, will receive $100 in Wayne Chamber of Commerce shopping certificates, courtesy of the chamber office in Wayne.

Todd Nixon of Sand Springs returned the balloon with a note saying the balloon landed along a road near a grassy spot.

Nixon will win a Chicken Show T-Shirt and other chicken memorabilia.

Native of Hawaii New Wakefield doctor

Wakefield's newly acquired doctor has been in town just a short time and already his diagnosis of the community is excellent.

"I can't express enough my sincerest thanks to the people of Wakefield and everybody for helping me feel so at ease here," said Dr. Darrell Lee.

"It has just been tremendous."

LEE, WHO is 28 and a native of Hawaii, began medical practice in Wakefield on July 2.

Working with him for an indefinite time will be Dr. C. M. (Max) Coe, who has served as the community's doctor for more than 45 years.

Lee said Coe, who is semi-retired, will remain in the office to help him until a smooth transition can be made.

The Coe family has a long history of providing health care to residents of the Wakefield area.

Dr. C. M., who will observe his 75th birthday on July 17, began his medical profession in Wakefield in 1937. His first practice was with his father, Dr. C. B. Coe, who had served the community as a doctor since around 1915.

ALTHOUGH LEE began medical practice in Wakefield just two weeks ago, he said he was fairly familiar with the community through weekend visits the past several months.

He comes to Wakefield from St. Joseph Hospital in Omaha where he recently completed his three-year residency in internal medicine.

Lee grew up in Kaneohe, located near Honolulu on the east side of the island of Oahu, and graduated from high school there in 1974.

He attended Creighton University in Omaha for three years before entering Creighton Medical School. In 1981 he received his Doctor of Medicine degree and began his residency at St. Joseph.

LEE SAID he chose to attend Creighton University for several reasons.

"Creighton has a strong alumni in Hawaii and I felt the training would be better here," Lee said he also wanted to attend a smaller school than the University of Hawaii and "was ready to get away from home for a while."

He added that he chose to begin his practice in Wakefield because he's comfortable in the Midwest after living here the past 10 years.

The new doctor said he first thought about going to California when a colleague offered him a post there. "I was tempted, but here (in Wakefield) I'm more comfortable with my personality and closer to more of my friends."

Lee added that by practicing in what the government refers to as a "medically underserved area" such as Wakefield he also is repaying a loan used for his education.

WAKEFIELD'S new doctor said his ultimate goal for the community is to update its medical care.

He added that one way he plans to do that is with the utilization of other types of physicians.

"They have to come here to help the community and to help me," said Lee. "It's a golden opportunity and I think it will definitely show with better patient care and better patient management."

Regarding the recent changes in Medicare and the federal government's new system which determines what level of reimbursement hospitals will receive, Lee said he feels the new regulations will have little effect on the majority of patient care quality.

"It may be somewhat of a hindrance in some cases," Lee added, "but I don't think patients should be put out because of the new reimbursement system. In those few exceptions I feel the hospitals should absorb the costs."

Shaw to seek reelection

Wayne County Clerk Orgetta Morris announced last week that Randy Shaw has filed for re-election to the Educational Service Unit 1 board of directors from Wayne County.

Shaw, who completes his first term Jan. 1, 1985, is director of extended campus and the honors program at Wayne State College.

Other ESU 1 board members whose four-year terms expire Jan. 1 are Berneal Gustafson, Dixon County; Leo Kramper, Dakota County; Doc Walstrom, Knox County; Darrel Merry, Thurston County; and Dave Hay, Cedar County.

Merry has announced he does not plan to seek re-election to the board from his county.

At-large members of the board whose terms do not expire until Jan. 1, 1986 are Claire Hansen, who farms near Coleridge; Dr. Robert Jacobs, Superintendent at Verdgie Public Schools; Marvin Borg, who farms near Concord; and Deryl Lawrence, director of logistics at Wayne State College.

Educational Service Unit 1 is headquartered in Wakefield and serves a six-county area, including Dixon, Dakota, Knox, Thurston, Wayne and Cedar.

Counties eligible for financial help

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) determined today that 17 Nebraska counties are eligible for Federal public works assistance as a result of last month's severe storms, flooding and tornadoes.

Joan Hodgins, Federal Coordinating Officer, announced the determination today at the Agency's Lincoln, Nebraska, Disaster Field Office. Hodgins says of the 43 counties requested by the State, only the following have been determined eligible for Federal public works assistance: Burt, Cass, Cedar, Colfax, Cuming, Dixon, Dodge, Hayes, Howard, Jefferson, Nemaha, Otoe, Saline, Stanton, Thayer, Thurston, and Wayne.

FEMA's preliminary estimate of damage to public facilities in these 17 counties is $9.1 million.

Nebraska and FEMA, the Federal government will pay 75% of the eligible costs. The other 25% will be shared by the State and applicants.

Officials from FEMA and the Nebraska State Civil Defense Agency will conduct applicant briefings for affected State, county and city officials next week.

Fire destroys barn near Carroll

An early Saturday morning fire resulted in the loss of a large barn and livestock on the Erwin Morris farm located approximately three miles west and less than a mile south of Carroll.

Erwin said his wife, Janice, was awakened by a crackling sound at approximately 2 a.m. Saturday. She first thought it was rain, but then when glancing out the window she saw the barn was engulfed in a wall of flames.

The Carroll Fire Department, assisted by the Winside Fire Department, battled the blaze. The wood barn with the tin roof, built in 1903 by Erwin's grandfather, burned to the ground.

"I lost about 80 head of hogs. Four of them got outside but they just didn't make it," Erwin said.

Also in the barn, he said, were straw and hay bales, 500 bushels of oats inside the bins and lumber overhead.

He said sparks from the fire, according to Erwin, started a neighbor's hay stack on fire and nearby trees.

There were several tractors and a planter which were parked near the barn that was damaged by the intensive heat of the fire. A tank of diesel fuel near the barn was still intact, despite the high heat.

As of Saturday morning, Erwin said he had no idea of the dollar damage from the blaze or how the fire originated.

"We're lucky we didn't lose the tractors," he said.

Farm Bureau picnic scheduled

The Cedar County Farm Bureau picnic will be held at the Lions Club Park in Laurel today (Monday) beginning at 7 p.m. Dixon County Farm Bureau members will be guests. The picnic is potluck with drinks and ice cream furnished. Cedar County Farm Bureau members will sponsor a booth at the county fair from July 19-22. All 1983 dues paid at the fair will receive a $2 rebate. The group's next regular meeting is scheduled Aug. 16.

Populist Party organized

A statewide Nebraska organizational meeting of the Populist Party was held July 8 in Blair. Midwest Regional Coordinator Don Kimball of Fayette, Iowa was among those attending. Newly elected state officers are Roland Victor, Wayne, chairman; Virgil Faulkner, Blair, vice chairman; and Richard and Marilyn Gadeken, Beemer, national committeeman and national committeewoman. They will represent Nebraska at the National Conference and Rally in Nashville, Tenn., in August.

Teachers in business workshop

Sharyn Paige of Wayne High School joined 20 other Nebraska business teachers recently in a three-week workshop at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The teachers were selected to develop a Handbook for Business Education in Nebraska. The project was funded by the state Education Department, and workshop participants received three hours of graduate credit from UNL. Business teachers participating in the workshop were selected on the basis of their skill as high school business teachers, their experience in the field and their leadership abilities. The completed handbook will be made available to the state's business teachers in the fall.

Weatherization funds awarded

Contracts totaling more than $290,000 have been awarded to the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council Weatherization Program by the Nebraska Energy Office. The monies were awarded through the Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP), the Nebraska Department of Social Services and NEO. Funds will be used for weatherization of the homes of low-income (125 percent poverty guidelines) elderly, handicapped and high fuel usage priority clients. "Weatherstripping, caulking, insulation of attics and sidewalls and other infiltration halting measures will be available to qualifying applicants in the 12 county area of northeast Nebraska served by Goldenrod Hills," noted GHACC Weatherization Director Vida Archer. Area homes that have already been weatherized by GHACC are not eligible under this program, Archer stated, but people presently enrolled with LIEAP can receive assistance until September 30, 1984. For more information concerning this program, contact Weatherization Director, Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council, Box 10, Walthill, NE 68067, phone 946-5493.

Slide program

On Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Ramsey Theatre, there will be a slide program on the Wayne State College Arboretum by Charles Maier, official botanist. Maier's presentation will be followed by Rich Finke with a program on the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum. Both individuals will entertain questions. The programs are recommended for anyone interested in the educational use of plants.

Completes basic training

Airman Kathy Tietz, daughter of Aglen and Norman Tietz of Wayne, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi after completing Air Force basic training. The airman will now receive specialized training in the administration field.

Neihardt Day

The 19th annual Neihardt Day on Sunday, Aug. 5 will begin welcoming visitors at 10 a.m. The program starts at 3 p.m. on the grounds of the Neihardt Center in Bancroft, Nebraska — a branch museum of the Nebraska State Historical Society. Roger Welch, Nebraska folklorist from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, will be the master of ceremonies and also a featured guest. Bobby Bridger of Austin, Texas, balladeer in residence to the Neihardt Foundation will also be present. Bridger is a great, great nephew of the famed historic mountain man, Jim Bridger who was immortalized in John G. Neihardt's western epic. Old times will come alive as the Mussetleaders set up the 19th century encampment to entertain Neihardt Day visitors with demonstrations of rifle shooting, axe throwing and cooking. A photographic exhibit will also be on display in the Memorial Room of the Neihardt Center.

Minnesota visitors

A GROUP OF 4-H'ERS from Morrison County, Minn. were the guests of fifteen Wayne County families during this past week. The members were part of an exchange following a visit of Wayne County 4-H'ers to Minnesota last year. The group and their sponsor arrived on July 8 and left Wayne on Saturday morning. Activities included a tour to the state capital and a picnic at Bressler Park Tuesday. The guests from Morrison County were Kay Wolff, Claudette Moran, Jenny Wozniak, Warren Hayes, Robin Wolff, Christine Schmidt, John Schmidt, Tate Tefrick, James Doucette, Karen Younk, Karie Wolff, Lori Lapos, Judy Kelley, Nancy Doucette and their sponsor, John Aldrich. Host families from the area included Cyril Hansen, Vernon Bauermeister, Larry Sievers, Dwayne Rethwick and Darrel Rahn, all of Wayne; Byron Janke, Glen Loberg, Jim Bush and Dan Loberg, all of Carroll; Stan Walde and Terry Janke of Winside; Eldon Heineman, Neil Sandahl and Ron Krusemark, all of Wakefield and Melvin Meierhenry of Hoskins.

police report

Cases of vandalism were a problem for the Wayne Police Department during the week. Branches purposely broken off trees and kids playing on the lumber pile at Carhart Lumber Company were some of the complaints received by the department.

A report of garbage being left in someone's driveway was also made to the department. Accidents near Logan street and at the intersection of 2nd and Main streets were investigated by police.

Two alarm malfunctions were also cause for police being called to the scenes. A malfunction at Terra Western was mistaken for a burglary in progress and an alarm at The Diamond Center was caused by the telephone company working on a line.

Police received a harassment complaint and the subject was advised to stay off the property. An intoxicated person at The Dairy Queen was taken home by police.

A bike was reported stolen from the swimming pool but was not recovered. A purse which had been lost was turned into police.

New way to grow

Small space, high yield in raised-earth garden

Consider this — a garden with hardly any weeds, no fertilizer requirements and plenty of produce in a small space.

Al Cooper, administrator at the Wayne Care Center, has "constructed" this type of "raised earth garden" on the care facility grounds which is no more than five feet wide and "as long as you want it to be."

Growing from this third-year garden are bountiful tomato plants. In another garden he has a wide array of flowers blossoming in full color. "I learned about it about eight years ago from an article in Mother Earth news," he said. "It showed how to show the most amount of food in the least amount of space and have less erosion."

The article revealed how to make $20,000 off of 2,800 square feet of soil, according to Cooper. First needed, he said, is a barrier to border the garden. Cooper used railroad ties to surround his raised earth garden project. "In the first row, dig into the ground about spade depth and throw the dirt out of the bed. Then, turn the dirt over in the second row and throw it onto the first row. Throw the dirt in the third row onto the second row and continue in that pattern. Throw in the dirt outside the garden to fill in the last row," he mentioned. The result, he said, is a garden bed of soft soil which is up to three feet in depth, much deeper than what a rototiller would reach.

ONE FEATURE of the raised earth garden is that people do not have to walk in the bed — either to pull weeds or collect the harvest. Since the width of the garden makes it accessible from the perimeter, there is less chance of compressing the dirt in the garden bed. "If there is compressed dirt, the roots are weakened and are more susceptible to disease. The soil doesn't absorb moisture," Cooper said. Composts are also critical to the raised earth garden. After the produce is harvested, he tears up the plants and returns it as compost to the garden. Weeds that are spotted are pulled out and laid to rest in the garden bed.

AFTER THE FINAL mowing of the year, Cooper says he spreads the grass over the garden. All this, he said, "makes the soil richer and richer." He advised those who wish to try a raised earth garden to plant the seeds close. "The roots go way down and are strong and the leaves block out the sunlight to the weeds, prohibiting growth," he said.

Cooper said gardeners should not be discouraged if the garden does not meet expectations the first year of trial. His didn't work out his first attempt, he said. But his second and third years with the raised earth gardens have yielded positive results.

army away

by chuck hackenmiller

On a hill, the commander promptly directed his troops to prepare for the worse. The invasion was likely to infiltrate his territory soon.

Talk on the progress of the enemy was frightening. They had broken through the neighboring ranks and were moving in his direction — leaving behind a path of devastating destruction.

The commander spoke softly to his militia. "Now soldiers, what we have is an enemy which shows no fear and will keep coming at you. But stand firm on your ground and we'll be able to turn back the invasion," he said.

"Scouts have been posted on the neighboring lawns, scrutinizing the earth for these creatures that are difficult to track. They don't like the daylight hours. It's during the evening hours, like now, when these crawling creeps will take advantage of the sleeping citizens and do their greatest damage," the commander voiced.

"Your weapons are stored inside the garage. You'll find mixtures of Sevin or Malathion and other insect-fighting repellents. Use with caution, but lay it on thick because this enemy is such a resistant predator," he added.

"I guess you know how these creatures have consumed tons of grass and garden produce. Actions of these creatures are certainly irresponsible and they must be stopped — no matter what gallons of water we use or how much we have to pay."

"We're talking about life. The life of a lawn, those tomatoes you looked forward to eating this fall, the vegetables the kids love to hate. It might be mild now, but sooner or later the situation becomes most critical.

"So men, dig in and prepare yourself for battle."

AS EVENING ROLLED IN, the soldiers adamantly stood their ground, armed with spray cans.

From across the way, the armyworms were planning their strategy. After going a full day of eating pesticide-infested grasses and plants — their military numbers were down considerably for the next attack.

Slowing the armyworms moved in on the nearby property. "I've just begun to bite," said the leader of the group.

From behind the bushes and trenches, the soldiers ambushed the armyworms, killing them off one by one and leaving all but a few survivors.

The battle was fought and the property owners won. Then something strange happened.

One of the surviving armyworms suddenly grew from its 2" length to 3", then a foot and soon, a whole yard. Apparently, the worm had an adverse reaction to the chemicals and the whole city of Wayne was in danger of being engulfed inside an overgrown armyworm.

Not only was the armyworm gulping down clumps of trees, he began devouring the city's water tower.

But then, to the rescue, came all the chickens who had participated in Wayne's chicken show over the past weekend. In a matter of minutes, the armyworm was fish bait and the town was once again safe from the jaws of the armyworm.

The nation threw a ticker tape parade for the crates full of chickens the following day. But the leader of the fanatic armyworm troop, which was able to escape with his life, said as he left the city of Wayne:

"You've won the battle this time. But we'll be back again. You can be guaranteed of that," he said.

Privy privileges

People might be interested in knowing that Des Moines Editor James P. Gannon, has taken a special liking to Nebraska rest stops.

"Not only are the plumbing facilities modern and clean, but Nebraska piles the unsuspecting traveler with culture, history, hospitality and creature comforts," he mentioned.

"The enlightening discovery was that our neighboring state (Nebraska) takes care of the trans-Nebraska traveler's basic needs in gracious style. When it comes to rest areas, Nebraska knows what it is doing," he said. He like the sculptured displays and handsome landscaping "with mature trees to provide a shady spot to stretch out on well-maintained lawns," sheltered picnic tables and "classy displays of local history and which informs the traveler of museums, historical sites and other attractions just down the road a piece."

Gannon describes Iowa rest rooms as "no shade, no sculpture, and welcome to the Third World: no bathroom," where signs say "undeveloped" and "modern" for rest area with toilets.

"You leave Nebraska with a new respect. They can do something well besides play football," Gannon said.

"I'm not in total agreement with Gannon. Not all rest stops on Interstate 80 through Iowa (and I've traveled the highway several times during the past years) are as despicable as he describes.

But Nebraska rest stops certainly deserve the recognition it has received.

Zoning issues

Recently the Wayne city council members have been confronted with two issues regarding rezoning.

The first dealt with a request to rezone property belonging John Redel. Redel said he hasn't had the community support and has received poor cooperation from the city planner in his quest to rezone his property from residential to B-2 (business).

He had planned on operating a coffee shop on the property, but said to the council in frustration that he would take his business proposition elsewhere.

Accusing the city administration of "dragging its feet", he withdrew his rezoning request and asked that his rezoning fee be returned.

The planning commission approved the rezoning request last June. When the item came on the city council's agenda in July, the council voted to return the request to the city planning commission until more information could be obtained.

Once again the planning commission approved the request and it again was placed on the city council's agenda Tuesday evening.

There appeared to be confusion, or lack of communication, on several points involved with the zoning. From impressions of Tuesday night's council meeting, the property owner and a planning commission member were unaware of possible parking restrictions which could affect his proposed business when road work on Fairgrounds Avenue begins.

And in fairness to the city, a proper plan should have been provided by the property owner so the council could study the proposal and be fully informed as to what the actual dimension and project intentions were before making a decision on the rezoning request.

The second situation dealt with a new restaurant operating in a B-2 zone when it should have been in a B-3 zone.

The owner had the impression that the B-2 zoning was logically correct since other restaurants in the downtown area were also zoned B-2. But those restaurants downtown were grandfathered in, according to the city administrator and were not in violation.

So now the restaurant faces discontinuation unless the city can immediately find a way to rezone the property to its proper zone designation.

Once again, it appears there was lack of communication on the part of the property owner and the city.

One suggestion to clear up future confusion, made by a member of the city council, would be to distribute minutes of the planning commission meetings to city council members for review.

This idea should become a standard practice. It is important for city council members to keep tabs on whatever city governmental unit action is approved or disapproved and the reasons for the decision.

To drop zoning altogether is not the solution. Zoning in a community Wayne's size is important to city residents for protection of property and business purposes. There is a city comprehensive zoning plan which took plenty of study and maximum efforts to compile and it should be followed with minimum changes.

And those that fault the planning commission should realize first how difficult it is to find someone to serve on the board. Rezoning requests from residential to business, according to the city planner, are few and are more complicated than the past cases the commission has handled.

Check-ups, better documentation and constant communication are several ideas which might stop these past rezoning conflicts from occurring again.

Chicken Olympics suggested in '84

To the editor:
I'd just like to say that the people who organized the Chicken Days did a fine job, however, I think they really missed the spirit of '84. After all this is the year of the Olympics. Have you seen the cheering crowds the cross-country flame bearers???

Well I think we oughta have a Chicken Olympics. The revenue generated from Chicken Chariot races alone could pay for the new streets. Now I know they already have this event planned but they are misinformed. A chicken chariot is a two wheeled cart, but, it's pulled by 150 thoroughbred chickens (leashed chickens!! how unprofessional!!!!).

The only problem we have is finding a company that makes chicken whips, the horse whips used now tend to make the chickens explode causing a loss of power.

Another popular event could be chicken softball. We hope that scientists will be able to breed chickens that would stay together after impacting on a softball bat. Until then we will shorten the base lines and maybe have chicken soup after the game.

Of course we would have to have an official chicken bearer. Maybe he could run from Wakefield to Wayne holding a live chicken above his head the whole distance.

We could have chicken soccer. The only rule changes would be that anybody falling on a chicken would be penalized and if you made a head shot goal you would get an extra point. Since chickens don't bounce off your head as well as a soccer ball this seems fair.

How about volleyball? A goal is scored when the chicken crosses the net alive provided two (2) players touched it in play. Free shots may be taken when a player breaks the rules...like committing a Neck Shot Fowl (grasping the chicken by the neck and flinging it over the net). The chicken is hit one-handed by any player. A two handed hit could result in a Dead Fowl Ball.

Betcha didn't know there are 73 internationally recognized chicken dives classified by type and body position in the air?? The Wayne pool would be the sight of this exciting event, certainly a favored event of mine. During the dive the chicken can make

1/2 to 3/2 somersaults, but they must land head first in the water. Each dive is marked on grace, smoothness, loss of feathers and number of eggs laid in flight by a panel of 7 judges chained to a bench. (Wouldn't want them to get away would you?). Should your entry down hill will still be invited to the awards banquet.

So let's really put Wayne on the map!! Support the Chicken Olympics and find out why the chicken really crossed the road!!! (self-preservation most likely) Why settle for omelets when you could have mashed chickens instead???

With tongue firmly implanted in beak I leave you to ponder these thoughts.
Matt Maloy

Former Wayne resident recalls her earlier days in town

To the editor:
Twenty years ago (1964), I wrote to you asking if you would please print an article inquiring if any Wayne Public School graduates of 1914 were still alive. You kindly did so, and I received responses from Elsa Allinder Dawson, Frank Roe, Earl Schroer, Ruth Bressler even came out to Sierra Madre, California to visit me.

Now it is 1984 and I am one of these "Oldies." I attend four senior clubs a week, play the piano for shu-lins in a rest home and go on trips.

My recipe for old age is enjoy everything, that includes cards of 500, Crazy 8, Kings in the Corner, Spades, 99, Bingo is boring.

Here are other signs of Old Age — recalling past incidents.

I received graduation invitations from my great grandsons and I recalled for the first time my graduation.

Grandma, who raised three motherless granddaughters had made me a pretty white dress. We wore the caps and gowns even in those by-gone days. I was scheduled to sing a solo. I wanted my white dress to show so I peeled off my robe and sang.

One night I was just dozing off and, "When you come to the end of a perfect day and you sit alone with your thoughts and the charms ring out with a golden ray, for those joys that they day has brought."

Does anyone know the rest of this song?
Henrietta Symonds

Goldberg-Davis repeat vows in Fremont Methodist Church

Making their home at York are Debra Goldberg and Daniel Davis, who were united in marriage June 30 in 7 o'clock double ring rites at the First United Methodist Church in Fremont.

The bride, daughter of Kenneth and Barbara Goldberg of Arlington, is a graduate of Arlington High School. She graduated from Wayne State College in 1984 and will be a business teacher at Hordville Public Schools.

The bridegroom, son of Robert and Peg Davis of Seward, graduated from Seward High School and attended Wayne State College two years. He is a Sergeant in the Nebraska National Guard and is employed by Walker Manufacturing in Seward.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Davis

Decorations for the couple's ceremony included baby blue, royal blue and white roses and ribbons. All of the flowers and decorations were made by the bride.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Schaffl of Fremont officiated at the rites.

Pam Shook of Tekamah was seated at the guest book. Others were Paul Roach, Dave Urbach and Doug Wasser, all of Seward.

Flower girl was Stephanie Sages of Plymouth, Ind., and ring bearer was Justin Davis of Creston, Iowa.

Candles were lit by Jeanne Robinson of Fort Calhoun and LaDonna Robinson of Tekamah.

WEDDING MUSIC included "Sunrise, Sunset," "Truly," and "Just You and I," sung by Lynette Turner and Larry Haybrock of Omaha. The maid of honor, Kristy Phillips of Council Bluffs, Iowa, sang "God, Woman and a Man." Organist was Barb Johnson of Fremont.

Bridesmaids were Merri Croshol of Fremont, Denise Davis of Decorations included Boston ferns and an arrangement of pink and white carnations.

Mark and Carole Richman of Fargo sang "You Are Loved" and "You and I," and Don Noecker of Norfolk sang "Rainbow." Organist was Sharon Anderson of Fargo.

For her marriage, the bride selected an oyster georgette dress in street length. The wide collar formed a V at the waistline and was trimmed in off-white lace and satin ribbon.

She wore an oyster colored straw hat trimmed with off-white lace, and carried white roses with rose colored tipped petals, baby's breath and variegated spider plant leaves.

and Helen Goldberg of Bennington and Dee and Sandra Cheek of Ames, Iowa greeted the 200 guests who attended a reception and dance at the Lovelace Opera House in Fremont following the ceremony.

Arranging gifts were Deb Olson of Lincoln and Lisa Daniels of Wayne.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Marsha Davis of Creston, Iowa and Eyde Hughes of Ames, Iowa. Julie Hayden of Bennington poured, and Rita Gahan of Shelby served punch.

Vera Andrews of Fremont was kitchen chairman. Waitresses were Sandy Werkmeister of Tilden, Lori Jahnke of North Platte, Lisa McKamy of Omaha, Kathryn Keck of Norfolk and Kathy Collins of Fremont.

Nokken-Johnson exchange vows

Connie Nokken and Bruce Johnson, both of Moorhead, Minn., exchanged marriage vows at the Atonement Lutheran Church in Fargo, N. D. on June 30.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sather of Bentonville, Ark. and Mr. and Mrs. Evert Johnson of Wakefield.

The newlyweds are making their home at Rt. 2, Box 66, Moorhead, Minn., 56560. The bridegroom attended Laurel-Concord High School and is employed at Johnson Fire and Security in Moorhead.

MATRON OF honor was Diane Reff of Fargo, and best man was Brent Johnson of Concord.

Bridesmaids were Kristi Nokken and Beth Nokken, both of Moorhead, and groomsmen were Doug Krie of Laurel and Eric Nokken of Moorhead.

The matron of honor's dusty rose georgette dress was in street length and was fashioned with a matching lace insert at the neckline.

The bridesmaids wore dusty rose dresses designed with dropped waistlines and off-white collars.

They carried white roses with rose colored tipped petals, pink carnations, baby's breath and variegated spider plant leaves.

Home at Osmond

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN Church in Osmond was the setting for the June 23 marriage of Lori Lynn Miller to Dean Marvin Koehler. Their parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Larry Miller of Gardnerville, Nev. and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koehler of Pierce. The bride plans to graduate this year from Concordia Teachers College. The bridegroom is engaged in farming.

news and notes

Keeping air conditioners in condition. If your air conditioner isn't in tiptop shape, you will soon know about it. The recent hot and humid weather has us all wishing for the cooling comfort of our air conditioners.

Many problems with cooling systems could be avoided if the consumer were more knowledgeable about the installation, operation and maintenance of the appliance. When the air conditioner isn't cooling properly, there can be several reasons and solutions for the problem.

A CLEAN appliance is a much more efficient appliance. Clean filters and/or evaporator and condenser following the manufacturers use and care guide instructions. It is important to never operate the air conditioner without filters. The dust particles will collect in the unit and reduce cooling efficiency. Furniture or draperies might be blocking the path of cool air.

Be sure the unit you are using is large enough to cool the room space. Figure air conditioner requirements for the room from a cooling load estimate form or manufacturers sizing charts.

One way to cut down on cooling requirements is to close off unused rooms. Shut doors or registers in bedrooms during the day. They can be opened again in the late afternoon and bedrooms cooled by bedtime. Make use of fans to circulate cool air throughout the house.

YOU CAN ALSO make your air conditioner more effective by keeping warm air out of the house. Mothers of active children know it's almost impossible to keep doors shut.

Closing doors and windows conserves cool air. Remember to draw shades and draperies if sunlight falls directly on windows.

Improper cooling can result from low voltage to the unit. Have an outlet installed near the air conditioner and don't use extension cords. Putting the unit in a south window where it is exposed to direct sunlight could be a problem. Place the air conditioner in an east or north window if possible. An awning can help protect the unit if it must be out in the sun.

Take care of your air conditioner and you can save on electricity, service calls and frustrations.

Have a cool summer!

engagements

Walker-Koll

Col. and Mrs. Lyle Walker of Bellevue announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy Ann Walker, to Timothy Donald Koll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Koll of Wayne.

Plans are underway for an Aug. 25 ceremony at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The bride-elect, who plans to graduate from Wayne State College this year, is affiliated with Delta Sigma Pi professional business fraternity. She is a 1980 graduate of Bellevue West High School.

Her fiancé graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1977 and from Wayne State College in 1981. He is employed at Carhart Lumber Co. in Wayne.

Concord 4-H'er top demonstrator

For the fourth consecutive year, Diane Olson of Concord has been named outstanding demonstrator in the Dixon County 4-H Demonstration and Illustrated Talk Contest held July 2.

Miss Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Val Ebberson of Coleridge and Mrs. Sally Ebmeier of Laurel, will receive a trophy donated by the Dixon County Farm Bureau.

Her demonstration, entitled "Tricks for Treats," focused on nutritious and attractive snacks for young children and earned her a purple ribbon.

Various uses of milk and cheese in preparing the snacks resulted in Diane being named recipient of the demonstration plaque awarded by the American Dairy Association.

Diane is a member of Dad's Helpers 4-H Club.

Other 4-H members entered in the contest were Sonya and Renee Plueger of the Allen Wrangler's 4-H Club, both receiving purple ribbons; Lynell Wood of the Allen Lucky Lads and Lassies 4-H Club, receiving blue; and Mark Olson of the Concord Dad's Helpers 4-H Club, receiving blue.

KATHY RHODES and Shelle Koch of Concord, both 4-H leaders, assisted with the contest. Judging the event was Mrs. Karen Kander of Stanton.

Midgets use fifth inning to defeat Wisner 10-2

A fifth inning blast by the Wayne Midgets insured their fourteenth win in as many outings as they surged past the Wisner Midgets 10-2 in baseball action Friday night at Overin Field.

Don Larsen and Jeff Hausmann combined on the mound to throw a no-hitter, the first for the Midgets this year.

Both teams were slow getting started, both teams going scoreless until the third inning when a Wisner runner reached first base on a Wayne error and later scored on a passed ball.

Wayne answered back with a tying run in the bottom of the third, as Shannon Dorcey advanced on a walk and rounded the bases on a Wisner error and stolen base.

Wisner scored a single run again in the fourth when a runner walked and used two passed balls to get into scoring position with one out.

Wayne took control of the game in the fourth inning when a Brent Pick smacked out a two-run triple to help Wayne take a 3-2 lead. C. Nichols walked and was followed with a single by Don Larsen before Pick came up to the plate for his extra-base hit.

Things broke loose in the fifth inning when Wayne's Midgets ran up seven runs to take a final 10-2 lead.

Dan Gross and Jeff Hausmann started the inning off reaching first base on a Wisner error, and were brought across the bag on a double by Scott Baker.

Casey Nichols went to first on a fielder's choice followed by walks for Don Larsen and Tim Fleming. Brent Pick made it to first on an error which also scored a Wayne run. Russ Longe brought home Wayne's final two runs when he let go with a double with one out in the inning.

Wayne's five hits included the doubles by Baker, Longe and Pick and single base hits by Gross and Larsen.

Wayne's pitching staff logged 13 strikeouts and allowed just two walks in their no-hitting performance.

The Midgets were scheduled to take their 14-0 record into the O'Neill Tournament this past weekend, July 14-15 against teams from Norfolk, Lexington and O'Neill. Next home play is set for tonight (Monday) against Emerson at Overin Field in Wayne beginning at 7 p.m.

JEFF DION rips a over-the-fence home run to left field victory over Coleridge at Overin Field on Thursday to score two runs during the second inning of Wayne's night.

Dion, Schwartz home runs key to 15-3 victory over Coleridge

Jeff Dion and Bill Schwartz each connected for out-of-the-park homeruns on the way to Wayne's 15-3 romp over Coleridge on Thursday night at Overin Field in Tri-County baseball league action.

Coleridge came out early, scoring two runs in the first inning on three singles.

Wayne answered back in the second inning when Bill Schwartz reached first on a single and Jeff Dion stepped to the plate and belted out a two-run homer to knot the score with no outs. Joel Ankeny advanced to first on a walk and later crossed the plate to give Wayne a 3-2 lead.

The Wayne lead was increased to 8-2 in the third inning on singles by Bill Schwartz, Mike Meyer, Al Nissen, and Doug Carroll.

Coleridge's final run of the game came in the fourth inning on two singles and a pair of Wayne errors. Wayne added five more runs in the fifth inning including a three-run homer by Bill Schwartz with two on and two out. Two more runs in the bottom of the sixth inning gave Wayne the 10-run rule seven inning victory.

Bill Schwartz was the powerhouse in the hitting department for Wayne, going four-for-four with a home run, three singles and three RBI's. Mike Meyer went three-for-four at the plate with three singles while Al Nissen knocked out two singles in three at bats.

The locals totaled 13 hits in the game with two home runs and 11 singles while their opponents came up with seven singles on the night.

Jerry Goeden handled the pitching chores, throwing six strike outs and allowing just one base on balls.

Wayne took a 12-3 Tri-County League record into play with Hartington at home last night (Sunday).

Juniors taste revenge with tough 9-7 win over Wisner

Wisner's Junior Legion baseball team received a taste of it's own medicine when they were defeated by the Wayne Juniors in a close 9-7 contest on Friday night at Overin Field.

Wayne had fallen last Monday to the Wisner team by the score of 6-2 in Wisner. The game was close throughout as the lead changed hands several times before Wayne came out on top.

Chris Wieseler notched a single in the second inning to set up Wayne's first run of the game. He scored later in the second with two outs on a Jeff Jorgensen single.

Wayne increased their lead to 4-0 in the third inning when Todd Dorcey walked to first base followed by Randy Gamble who advanced to first on a Wisner error. Chris Wieseler again stepped up to the bag and belted out a triple to score two runs. He later added a run on a double by Jeff Sherer.

Wisner roared back in the top of the fourth inning with six runs to take a 6-4 lead. Two walks and a Wayne error stacked the bases before Wisner falled two outs, but managed to place two more runners on base with walks. Steve Overin relieved starting pitcher Jeff Sherer with two outs and allowed a single before the close of the inning.

Wayne regained the lead in the same inning with four runs of their own. John McCright and Jeff Jorgensen each reached base on balls before a single by Todd Dorcey brought one run in. Steve Overin also walked and was followed up by Randy Gamble with a single, scoring another Wayne run.

Wisner threatened in the fifth inning with a single run before Wayne added their final score in the bottom of the sixth when Randy Gamble advanced to first on an error, stole second base and headed for home on an RBI single by Jeff Sherer.

Wayne used three pitchers in the win. Jeff Sherer, Steve Overin and Todd Dorcey. Together they allowed three hits and nine walks on their way to striking out four Wisner batters.

Chris Wieseler led Wayne's hitting department, going two-for-three at the plate with a triple and single, and Jeff Sherer was two-for-four with a double and single.

The Juniors also competed in the O'Neill tournament scheduled for Saturday and Sunday in O'Neill against Norfolk, Lexington and O'Neill's Junior teams.

Girls state tourney bound

One thing is for sure. The Wayne Girls 18-under softball team is going to a state tournament this year.

The only uncertainty left for the players and coaches is which one of the three state championships the team will participate in.

The Wayne team was scheduled to finish up play in the District Softball Tournament being held in Emerson this past weekend.

After winning a 9-2 seven inning decision over Newcastle on Friday night, the team was assured of one of the seven top spots in the district and a trip to the state tourney. Should they finish in the top three, they will participate in the Class A Tournament being held in Grand Island July 20-22. Fourth and fifth place finishers will compete in the Class B Tournament being held in Millford on July 27-29 and sixth and seventh place teams will travel to Aurora for the Class C Tournament, also being held the weekend of July 27-29.

Following a disappointing loss to 5-3 loss to Bancroft on Tuesday night, the Wayne girls bounced back on Wednesday night to romp over Dakota City in a 2-3 contest that lasted only three innings.

Wayne totaled 13 hits in the game, including two triples by Sarah Lebscock and a double and single by Kathy Mohfeld. Laura Keating was two-for-three with two singles as was Lori Jacobson, while Kolllette Frevert was two-for-four with two singles.

Roni Johnson and Sarah Lebscock handled the pitching for Wayne, with Lebscock coming out on the mound in the final inning.

Dakota City ended the night with 16 at-bats, and struck out at the plate six times. Wayne's girls were scheduled to play Homer at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 14.

Centennial sports

Wayne's Centennial celebration is drawing near and the special edition which The Wayne Herald is assembling is progressing.

One section of the edition will be devoted to the history of sports in Wayne.

We are interested in pictures and information concerning sports, outstanding athletes and teams of the past.

If you have any contributions on old-time sports, please contact Michele Kubik or Jackie Osten at the Wayne Herald office.

Barclay wins Sr. womens Golf tourney

Ann Barclay of Wayne became the first person to win back-to-back championships in the Wayne Country Club Senior Womens Golf Tournament held on Wednesday, July 11.

Barclay carded a score of 45 to win the tourney for the second straight year in the 35-member field. She received the first place prize for low gross score as well.

Dorothy Whorlow shot a 47 to qualify for the second place low gross score.

Winning prizes for low net score were Ruth Kerstine, 31, first; Shirley Fredrickson, 31, second; and Marge Fuetberth, 34, third.

Blanche Collins was also awarded a prize for low total of putts with 14.

The Senior tourney, which is open to women 50 and over was hosted by the Wayne County Club junior members. A potluck luncheon was served at the close of the competition.

On a sunny day

ON A SUNNY summer day, there's nothing better than being outdoors and enjoying one of America's favorite pastimes — baseball, or in some cases, softball. Above, a member of Wayne's summer recreation Little League team slides into home plate for a score against Laurel during a game played Thursday. Below, a group of 12-under girls participate in a girl's recreation softball practice at Overin Field.

Laurel youth in Jr. Olympic tryouts

Travis Monson, nine-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Monson of Laurel placed third in the 800 meter dash at the Region VIII Junior Olympic Track and Field Championships held on Saturday, July 7 in Omaha.

He competed in the banlam age group (born in 1974 or later), and ran against the state qualifiers from all classes of schools in South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska. His time of 2:48.13 was enough fast enough for the bronze medal finish.

Travis qualified for the regional championship meet by winning the state championship in the 800 meter event during June in Columbus.

Youth tennis awards to be given

Youth who participated in the Wayne Recreation Tennis program will be able to take part in an awards presentation on July 17 at 11 a.m. at the Wayne State College tennis court area.

Certificates and badges will be presented to those who took part in the summer program and the public is welcome to attend.

Pilger Days Road Races

A pair of road races have been scheduled as part of the Pilger Days festivities on Saturday and Sunday, July 28-29.

A one-mile and three-mile road race will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, July 28 in Pilger, and will run primarily through the flat residential area of the town.

There will be a men's and women's division in the one-mile race with medals given to the first place finisher in each. The three-mile race will include five divisions for both men and women, including age 14-under, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39 and 40-over. Medals will be given to the top two places in each division and to the overall finishers for men and women.

There will also be random drawings for door prizes throughout the races.

Entry fee for the events is $6 if postmarked on or before Saturday, July 21 and $8 after that and on race day.

Entry forms are available from Pat Gross in Wayne. For more information, contact Dennis Meyer, at R.R. 1, Pilger or 396-3103.

Swim-for-Heart July 22

A Swim for Heart to benefit the American Heart Association will be held at the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool on Sunday, July 22 from 1-9 p.m.

The Swim-for-Heart is open to all ages. Those participating will collect pledges based on the number of laps they plan to swim.

For more information, contact Jill Zeiss at 375-1454 or 375-4296.

WSC cheerleading camp a success

A total of 85 Nebraska and Iowa junior and senior high school cheerleaders attended the Wayne State College International Cheerleading Foundation Clinic on July 8-11 on the WSC campus.

The ninth annual ICF clinic gave cheerleaders the opportunity to learn new cheers, chants and stunts along with receiving individualized attention from the ICF staff and instructors and meeting other area cheerleaders.

Winners in the various divisions included the Winside varsity cheerleaders, who were selected grand champions in the varsity division as well as being the winners of the Danceom Pon competition. The Broken Bow cheerleaders were runner-up in the varsity division, followed by the Louisville cheerleading squad.

Selections for the various awards and recognition were made by the members of the International Cheerleading Foundation staff.

Sports information assistant named

Steve Allen has been named the assistant sports information director at Wayne State College as a graduate assistant, according to school officials.

Allen, a North Platte native and a 1984 journalism graduate of Kearney State College, will work with all sports at WSC in 1984-85 and assist sports information director Steve Jones.

A 1979 graduate of North Platte High School, Allen wrote for the Kearney State student newspaper, and was on the yearbook staff. He was also a varsity golfer at KSC for two years.

1984 hunting seasons set

Regulations establishing fall hunting seasons on prairie grouse, mourning dove, turkey, rail, snipe and woodcock were set by the Game and Parks Commission on Wednesday, July 11 following a public hearing at Commission headquarters in Lincoln.

The Commissioners also adopted regulations that provide for special limited seasons directed at local deer and antelope herds causing damage on farms and ranches. They also made refinements to Nebraska duck hunting zones that will be submitted for approval by the Central Flyway Council and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The seasons adopted for 1984 will be roughly equivalent to last years, or in some small respects, just a bit more liberal. Wildlife Division Chief Ken Johnson testified that range conditions in the Sand Hills are very good this year.

The season enacted include a Sept. 15 through Nov. 30 grouse season with a daily bag limit of three birds and a possession limit of nine.

Dove hunting will open Sept. 1 and close Oct. 15 with limits of 12 birds daily and 24 in possession. Rail season will run Sept. 1 through Nov. 9 with daily limits of 10 birds and a possession limit of 20. Snipe season will be Sept. 1 through Dec. 15 with limits of 8 daily and 16 in possession. Woodcock season runs Sept. 15 to Nov. 8 and allows five birds daily and 10 in possession.

The regulations on special deer or antelope seasons were adopted by the Commission to implement LB 1001 which was passed by the 1984 Unicameral.

Under the new law, the director of the Game and Parks Commission may declare a limited season in a small area if it is apparent that the animals have caused excessive damage, and other methods of dispersing or removing the herds are not feasible. Landowners requesting relief from deer depredations may not deny access to holders of special licenses, and they may not charge a fee for access. However, they will be able to impose limits such as restrictions on vehicle travel and closing areas around livestock and buildings to hunting.

The special depredation seasons are meant to provide quick response to depredation problems. Permits may be sold locally, rather than at Commission headquarters in Lincoln. The season will range from two to ten days and will offer a minimum of ten permits.

Tops in bicycle rodeo

Shawn Isom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Isom of Allen, was the top senior participant in the Dixon County 4-H Bicycle Rodeo held July 11 in Concord.

The top contestant in the junior division was Daniel Kliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Kliver of Allen.

Shawn, a member of the Wranglers 4-H Club, will receive a trophy donated by Community Pride Club of Ponca, and Daniel, a member of Lucky Lads and Lassies, will receive a trophy donated by Jerry's Body Shop of Ponca.

SPORTSMANSHIP awards went to Jessie Jacobsen, Steve Johnson, Mark Olson, Tricia Bathke and Christina Jacobsen.

Each will receive a free ticket for a carnival ride at the Dixon County Fair.

In the senior division, Shawn

Isom of Allen received a blue ribbon.

JUNIOR division ribbon placings were as follows:

Purple — Daniel Kliver, Allen; Brett Nelson, Ponca.

Blue — Pat Brentlinger, Nathan Heinemann, Mike Johnson, Bobby Kumm and Bobbi Strivens, all of Allen; Tricia Bathke, Dixon; and Shawn Meyer, Wakefield.

Red — Paul Brentlinger, Shane Fiscus, Jay Jackson, Sandy Noe and Kristy Taylor, all of Allen; Brian Anderson, Mark Olson, Scott Taylor, Matt Westerholm and Ford Baumgardner, all of Concord; Craig Bahkke, Travis Kraemer, Christina Jacobsen, Charly Jacobsen, Jessie Jacobsen and Steve Johnson, all of Dixon; Brian Nelson, Ponca; and Keith Wenstrand and Scott Mattes, both of Wakefield.

White — Michelle Isom and Lynell Wood, both of Allen; and Andrew Manz and Gretchen Manz, both of Newcastle.

EVENTS included in the bicycle rodeo were a safety quiz, fast-time and slow-time control events, riding a slalom course, and riding figure eights.

Demonstrations to be given

Contests are scheduled

Wayne County will hold the Ag Demonstration contest July 23 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. The contest is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Four-H'ers interested in demonstrating in ag or miscellaneous project areas will compete in the event.

The Home Economics contest will be held Tuesday, July 24 in the Woman's Club room in the Wayne city auditorium. The contest will begin at 1 p.m.

unless a large number of entries is received. Four-H'ers who plan to demonstrate in clothing, foods, home environment, child care or family life should enter this contest.

BOTH CONTESTS will include show and tell demonstrations for younger 4-H'ers. To enter, this division 4-H'er must be 11 years old or younger and a first time demonstrator at the county contest.

Complete rules for the show and tell division are available at the Extension Office.

Entries for both ag and home economics demonstrators are due today (Monday).

Four-H'ers may pick up a form at the extension office or phone in their entry. To enter by telephone the 4-H'er should know the demonstration title and its approximate length.

Clothes encounter of the 4-H kind

Four-H'ers in northeast Nebraska are invited to attend a special 4-H Clothes Encounter which will be held Monday, July 30 in Norfolk.

The program begins with registration from 9:30 to 10 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church, and will conclude with dinner at The Depot.

Included on the program is Rose Marie Tondl, extension specialist in clothing, who will discuss clothing careers and the clothing industry.

Colleen Tuttle of Image Improvement and Milady Fitness Center will discuss "Feeling Good About Yourself," and a panel comprised of representatives from J. C. Penneys and Trapp's will discuss merchandising techniques.

There also will be a style revue and program presented by the Nancy Bounds Studio.

TOURS of Norfolk businesses related to the clothing industry include: Vicki's Bridal and Formal Wear, So Fro Fabrics, The Golden Rule Store, Queens X, Dudley Laundry Co., For Kids Only, Berle's Mens Shop, Kreg's for Women, Style Shop, Norfolk Sewing Craft & Yarn Center, The Man's Place, and J. C. Penneys. Registration deadline is July 20 at the Northeast Station, Concord.

Interested 4-H'ers may contact the Wayne County Extension Office for a brochure containing complete details and a registration form.

HEALTH TIPS

From Your Family Physician

AVOIDING ADOLESCENT COMMUNICATION TRAPS

1. Don't cross aniters. Many adolescents are insecure and testy, so avoid direct confrontation. Do not interject dialogue which might be interpreted as personality criticism.
2. Don't attempt to use teenage jargon unless you are comfortable with the terminology. Ask for clarification.
3. Always convey your positive expectation of outcome. Also use positive nonverbal clues.
4. Expedite dialogue through humor, not confrontation.
5. Never underestimate the power of retaliation. It is valuable to redefine what an individual is attempting to communicate, and ask his acceptance or rejection of the interpretation.
6. Timing in conversation can help. It can involve: presenting data when best expected; postponing discussions; or introducing an unexpected change of pace.
7. Acknowledging you don't know or don't have all the answers may reduce hostility, especially in those who have difficulty with authoritarian figures.
8. Short phrases or acronyms may allow adolescents to communicate feelings without being ill at ease. For example "T.N.T." may stand for "Thanks for being nice to me."
9. Direct communication is best. It requires good rapport, the right timing, and the appropriate setting. Also the intention of the interaction should be clear.

LADIES AID
Thirteen members of the St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid of Winside met at the church Wednesday at 12 noon and went to Camp Luther.

Mrs. Werner Janke of Wayne and Mrs. Arnold Janke of Winside led in devotions at the little church chapel. The devotion lesson was on "Discovering the Will of God." The group sang the hymn "God Moves in Mysterious Ways." They closed with the Lord's Prayer.

The secretary and treasurer reports were given and approved. A motion was made and seconded and carried to pay all bills.

A thank you was read from the Richard Miller family and a donation was received by the Aid from the family.

A correspondence was read from the East Zion Lutheran Church of Hoskins stating that 15 members plan to attend Guest Day, Aug. 1.

Norman Jensen; Tammy Brudigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Brudigan; Julie Warnemunde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Warnemunde; and Christi Thies, daughter of Duane Thies.

METHODIST WOMEN
The United Methodist Women met Tuesday in the church social room. Mrs. Don Longnecker, president, conducted the meeting.

Sandy Carpenter gave the devotion, "Two Views of Life." The main theme of the reading was that we are responsible for our own view of life.

Mrs. Anna Wylie gave the lesson on the "Gifts of the Spirit." She was assisted by Mrs. Longnecker. Scripture was read from Isaiah 11 and 1st Corinthians 12. The hymn "Breathe On Me, Breath of God" was sung by the group.

CHEERLEADING CAMP
The Winside cheerleaders were chosen as the grand champion cheerleading squad at the International Cheerleading Foundation cheerleading camp held on the Wayne State campus July 8-11.

During the week the squad learned new chants, cheers, dances and stunts. Evaluations of their performances were held daily. In addition to their selection as the grand champion squad they received first place in the dance competition and won 10 ribbons throughout the week.

The squad is made up of Trisha Troop, head cheerleader, and Tracy Troop, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Troop; Missy Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Christi Munding, Wendy Morse and Jennifer Hancock, members of the Winside Brownie Troop 167, and Kristy Miller, a member of the Cadettes Troop 235, spent three days camping at Camp Crossed Arrows at Nickerson.

Kristy Miller was helper at the camp and earned a service pin.

While at the camp the girls went hiking, did crafts, had cookouts and made a water slide.

Mrs. Joe Munding took the girls to camp on July 5 and Mrs. Jay

There is still some time to join the reading contests. If you would like to join, just come to the library and check out some books and after you have read the books you may start one of the contests.
