Wayne city council wrestles with the question of lottery revenue

What can the city of Wayne do with its estimated $14,000 of revenue it will receive for a period up to Jan. 1, 1985 from the city's lottery?

That question and others, including the performance of the city's building inspector, were asked during the city's second budget work session Monday morning at the Windmill Restaurant.

Several alternatives were suggested by the city officials. Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster said he was approached in the past by the city Chamber of Commerce who requested allowance of money toward purchasing new Christmas Tree decorations for the city's light poles.

Another suggestion Kloster said was mentioned to him was resurfacing tennis courts near the Wayne Municipal Pool. The swimming pool itself, according to Councilwoman Carolyn Filler, needs maintenance.

Mayor Wayne Marsh proposed that some of the money be spent on Wayne softball, because the sport is becoming "pretty big." "People who come to these softball tournaments leave money in our town. We should be doing something for the softball players," Marsh said.

A BILL WAS passed this year by the legislature in early April to ban video lottery machines in Nebraska. Wayne was one of seven cities or counties to authorize use of the machines. Wayne was required to remove its lottery machines immediately from area communities and those machines in Wayne would continue operation until Jan. 1 of 1985.

No decision was made Monday morning as to how the council wishes to disperse the lottery funds.

Also Monday morning, the city council discussed Councilman Darrel Heiler's question of whether or not Wayne's building inspector, Marcia Pankaskie, is doing her job properly. Heiler said he had received several complaints about Pankaskie's performance.

Kloster told the council the best opportunity for Wayne would be to have Nebraska adopt a state building code, with the state providing the building inspector services. One disadvantage to this proposal, he said, would be delays (or red tape) for builders and contractors once the footings are established and poured.

"Marcia has the technical expertise (as building inspector). We can't afford hiring a true builder who has the expertise," Kloster mentioned.

Kloster said Pankaskie is doing on site inspections and "gets calls on a regular basis."

One suggestion discussed by the council members would be to make it a requirement that contractors and builders doing construction in the city of Wayne call the building inspector once the footings are in.

PROJECTED REVENUE sharing, according to Kloster, will total $150,789. Major expenditures projected for revenue sharing in the coming fiscal year, he pointed out, were fire equipment, $20,000; police equipment, $15,000; auditorium equipment (basically for chairs and other new furnishings in the city auditorium), $3,100; $12,500 for Senior Citizen's Center equipment; and $4,000 for transfer station equipment upgrading.

The public works department was also projected to receive $59,000. But among those figures was an estimate to purchase a 4-wheel drive, 3-ton pickup with blade attachment to clear up the light snowfall and gather the snow which plows leave behind because of parked vehicles.

"That looks like an extravagance," said Councilman Heiler.

Kloster suggested the city council continue keeping funds available for energy observations — citing that there was additional energy conservation work needed on the city auditorium. "At city hall, we need to insulate the attic to keep the heat in during the winter and out during the summer," he added.

IN A MEMO issued to mayor and councilmembers last Friday, Kloster said the projected budget is balanced and falls within the 7 percent lid guidelines. The total budget is projected at $8.1 million and it includes several capital improvement projects.

'Pride in Wayne' Badges go on sale today

"Pride in Wayne" badges will go on sale this week (Thursday) at several Wayne locations.

The badges, when accompanied by a free ticket which is attached to them, will entitle the wearer to free admission to the Charley Pride Show, scheduled Thursday, Aug. 30 at the Wayne State College stadium.

Two shows are scheduled — one at 7 p.m. and one at 9:30 p.m. The badges are $6 each. The Charley Pride concert will be the first evening event of the five-day Wayne Centennial to take place over the Labor Day weekend.

The "Pride in Wayne" theme was devised by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce retail committee and Alan Cramer, public and entertainment chairman for the Centennial and coordinator of the Pride concert.

IN ADDITION TO the Pride show, badge wearers will be entitled to discounts on several Centennial functions. Wayne retailers will be featuring discounts and premiums to "Pride in Wayne" badge wearers throughout August.

Joe Nuss of Wayne has been named coordinator of the badge sales. In addition to the locations already named, Nuss said that any establishment wishing to handle sales of the badges may contact him. His business number is 375-2345. The badges will also be sold throughout Northeast Nebraska by Centennial Booster caravans while traveling to various neighboring communities each Thursday until the Wayne celebration.

Grant Ellingson, Wayne, is coordinator for the Booster caravans. The next booster trip is this Thursday to Wisner, Pilger and Stanton. Establishments handling badge sales so far are: First National Bank, Centennial Store, Pamida, The Loft at Sav-Mor Drug, State National Bank, Trio Travel and Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

PRIDE IN Wayne buttons, at right, will go on sale Thursday, entitling the wearer free admittance to the Charley Pride show and discounts to various Centennial events.

Ferraro's nomination represents 'stamp of approval'

By LaVon Anderson

The selection of Rep. Geraldine Ferraro as Walter Mondale's running mate on the Democratic presidential ticket this fall has stirred an emotional response from women across the United States.

"I think it will help other women candidates around the country," said Sheryl Lindau of Wayne. Lindau, who just last month was elected chairman of the Wayne County Democrats, said Ferraro's nomination is "a stamp of approval" to other women running for major political offices.

"Obviously Walter Mondale thinks he can win with her as a running mate," said Lindau, "and that gives a boost to other women around the country."

A RESIDENT of Wayne the past five years, Lindau is an active member of several women's organizations, including the American Association of University Women and the Nebraska Coalition for Women.

Her interest in politics stems back to her high school days in Wahoo, Neb. "My favorite subjects were always history and government."

In college, Lindau majored in political science.

ALTHOUGH LINDAU feels that Ferraro has and will continue to be an asset to Mondale in his bid for the United States presidency, she says there are going to be those who are skeptical about a woman as a vice presidential running mate.

"People seem to be so much more excited about the Democratic ticket," said Lindau, "but as much as we've heard that it's 'oh so wonderful,' the old boy network still exists. I think she'll have respect, but I also think people will be continually watching for her to make a mistake.

"She may be ostracized for saying some things that a man could get by with."

LINDAU SAID though Ferraro has perhaps upstaged Mondale and generated more excitement than the candidate himself, she thinks some of that will fade and people will cease to be awed by the fact she's a woman.

"Dwelling on it a little bit is good because it has never happened before," said Lindau. "It becomes negative if people feel she won't be capable because of her gender, instead of judging her from the standpoint of experience and her viewpoints on important issues.

"Hopefully we can be excited for a while about the fact she's a woman and then go on from there and look at her views on the issues and what she can do for the Democratic ticket."

"THE POLITICAL structure has been in place for a long time," commented Lindau, "and having a woman as a vice presidential candidate is a significant step towards getting women into that political structure.

"Once you're in, the problem is making people aware that you are there. This is true of women in politics in general," added Lindau, "especially in the upper hierarchy of the political structure."

Lindau said she is pleased by the fact that in Nebraska two women are running for major political offices.

Republican Nancy Hoch is running against incumbent U.S. Senator James Exon, and in the First Congressional District the Rev. Monica Bauer, a Democrat, hopes to unseat Doug Bereuter in the House of Representatives.

"Actually," smiles Lindau, "it would be more interesting if two women were running against each other. Then people would have to forget they are women and decide who was best qualified for the job."

LINDAU SAID she does not feel that Ferraro will be just a figurehead if the Mondale-Ferraro ticket wins in November.

If she should have to step into the shoes of the presidency, Lindau says she is sure Ferraro would be ready.

"The country would have to be ready, wouldn't it?," says Lindau, adding she does not feel it would be any more difficult for Ferraro than for a man in the same position. "Even though some might be apprehensive, things would go on."

LINDAU HOPES that Ferraro will inspire more women to at least register to vote in the election this fall.

"If it takes the fact that there is a woman on the ticket to inspire women to register then that's great."

Lindau added that many major women's organizations have embraced projects aimed at increasing voter registration among women.

"I GUESS IT'S just exciting to see a woman have this opportunity and be in this position," said Lindau.

"I think it will inspire women, especially young women, and entice them to try a little harder and do bigger and better things.

"Women need all the positive role models they can get."

Lindau said she would never vote for a woman based solely on the fact she's a woman.

"Any woman has a right to be elected based on her capabilities, not because she's a woman."

Mayoral Grove dedicated

Sunday marked the dedication of Wayne's Mayoral Grove at the future development site of Sunnyview Park located on the east edge of Wayne north of The Amber Inn.

Twenty-eight shrubs are now planted at the site and each one is dedicated to citizens who have served as Wayne city mayor.

The shrubs planted in the grove were obtained from Country Nursery and Wayne Greenhouse Plant Market; the Bluebird Nursery in Clarkson; and the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum of Lincoln.

Wayne mayors which were honored and their terms of office are as follows:

A. B. Slater, 1884-1886; Henry Ley, 1887-88, 1897-1902 and 1907-1909; E.R. Chase, 1889; Frank Fuller, 1890-1891; James Brittain, 1892-1894, and 1903-1905; T. Morgan, 1895; M. Stringer, 1896; J. Piepenstock, 1906; J. Bressler, 1910; J. H. Kate, 1911-1912; C.A. Chase, 1913-1914; D. H. Cunningham, 1915-1916; George Lamberson, 1917-1918; J. H. Kemp, 1919-1920; William Orr, 1921-1931; M. L. Ringer, 1932-1941; Herman Lundberg, 1942-1945; L. W. McNatt, 1946-1949; Glen Houderscheidt, 1950-1955; Willard Wiltse, 1956-1959; Alfred Koplin, 1960-1961 and 1968-1969; B. J. Brandstetter, 1962-1963; Chris Tietgen, 1964-1965; Wm. A. Koeber, 1966-1967; Kent Hall, 1970-1974; Freeman Decker, 1974-1978; and Wayne Marsh, 1979 (incumbent).

Master of Ceremonies for the dedication was City Administrator Philip Kloster, who gave the audience insight on the future development of the Sunnyview Park. Introductory remarks were provided by Mayor Marsh. Charles Maier, chairman of the Historical Plants Committee gave the mayoral roll of honor and announced the list of contributors to the Mayoral Grove Project.

Closing remarks and recognition of committee was provided by Sandra Elliott, chairman of the Historical and Cultural Committee of the Wayne Centennial.

Dixon Co. Fair boasts lots of fun

The Dixon County Fair began on Sunday and will continue until Wednesday. There were many events sandwiched in between the four day event.

The fair began on Sunday evening with the Vesper Service and Presentation of the 100 Year Farm Family Awards.

Then on Monday morning, skilled horseback riders took part in the Dixon County 4-H Horse Show. Later in the afternoon was the micro-mini tractor pull and the 4-H dairy show and dairy judging.

Hungry spectators lined up to eat barbecued beef in the early evening hours and the meal was followed by another event — the open class horse play days.

The male singing trio of "Memories" and free square dancing were part of the evening entertainment.

Tuesday, 4-H members and others exhibited beef cattle in the Dixon County beef-judging contest. Then at 2 p.m. was the tractor pull. Early in the evening was a horse and dairy parade followed by a performance by Tina Carol and the Nashville Satin.

The final day of the fair (Wednesday) was reserved for swine judging and showmanship, 4-H style show and the presentation of trophies, the kiddie pedal tractor pull.

At 5 p.m. was the parade of floats, horse's antiques and machinery followed by the livestock parade and then the demolition derby.

Winners of several livestock "grand champions" and other events transpiring at the Dixon County Fair will appear in this week's edition somewhere on the inside pages.

Budget

total proposed budget would be increased 2.1 percent.

He said property tax will continue to go up next year and beyond until an alternative is found for funding various subdivisions.

A study, conducted by the director of the Nebraska City Managers League of Municipalities and Don Purcell, indicated a 1 percent city sales tax in Wayne would offset the city property tax askings based on 1983-1984 sales tax projections.

He said Kearney will be voting on this issue soon and Norfolk is studying a similar possibility.

He highlighted the following budget projections:

•General Fund, projected at $2,128,325 and a growth over the past fiscal year of 28 percent, which includes another $38,000 increase in the city's cash reserves, bringing the projected level to $151,000.

General Fund requests were originally $135,000 over revenue projections, so police, fire, library, public works and administrative budgets were cut by $135,000 to balance the projected budget.

Other highlights include: removal of the $1,000 subsidy for radio broadcasting; addition of one staff person for city hall; establishment of a $15,000 sinking fund for truck replacement; completion of capital improvement projects, $965,000 (which includes Fairgrounds and Windom Street paving, 320,000; Roosevelt Park revitalization, $110,208; and 7th and North Main resurfacing, $535,000); and the continuation of energy conservation work and building renovation, $23,000.

MOST OF THE money for these capital improvement projects will come from either grants, special assessments or bond proceeds.

•Electric Fund, with a projected budget of $3.1 million. More advertising dollars will be used to bring messages and ideas of energy conservation to customers, according to Kloster.

Major objectives and projects include: the implementation of a voluntary energy conservation program with the goal of reducing energy costs by $100,000 per year; beginning in 1984-85, targeting the installation of a peak control system to be installed by mid-1985-86; completion of the line department's building and final consolidation of operations into the facility; installation and on-line operation of the new computer system; and approximately $250,000 in system upgrade and extension.

•And Water and Sewer Fund, projected budget of $1.4 million. Major goals and objectives include: completion of the study on water location and quantity; the securing of new well and storage sites; installation of the computer system; continued lift station modernization and reconstruction; and completion of the wastewater treatment plant.

The projected property tax askings for fiscal 1984-85 is $369,239, approximately $33,000 more than was budgeted as last year's tax asking. The public hearing on the proposed budget is slated for Tuesday, July 31 at 8 p.m. in the Wayne city hall.

Dollars worth spending for extra session?

Speculations about a possible special legislative session have been circulating in the corridors of the State Capitol for the past several weeks. As you may know, I have voiced my support for a special session to consider a constitutional amendment with respect to the valuation and classification of agricultural land. As a result of the Nebraska Supreme Court opinion in Kearney Convention Center v. Board of Equalization, farmers face the prospect of an enormous increase in property taxes next year.

District Court approves the State Claims Board's determination of state liability for depositors' losses, tremendous pressure will be exerted upon the Legislature to meet and consider compensating the depositors for lost deposits.

As for the property tax question, many people agree that changes need to be made. Some, however, feel that immediate changes are necessary and a special session must be called to totally reform the current system. Unfortunately, I have yet to see any consensus among the majority of Senators on the specifics of any changes they feel need to be made.

The cost of a special legislative session runs into the thousands of dollars. It is my opinion that before we call for a special session, there must be a consensus among the Senators on what action is going to be taken. Otherwise, we are wasting taxpayer's dollars. I believe we have such a consensus on the agricultural land valuation and classification issue.

However, I'm fairly certain we do not on the issues of Commonwealth and the revaluing of our property tax system. This does not mean, however, that agreements on both issues can't be reached.

I have been contacted by several of my colleagues in the Unicameral asking for my support of a call for a special session on these issues. I would like your opinion on whether you feel a special session is necessary or desirable. You can help me by indicating your preference for or against a special session on the following subjects:

- FOR AGAINST
- (1) Agricultural land valuation and classification — —
 - (2) Commonwealth — —
 - (3) Property tax relief — —

Add your name(s) and address, drop in an envelope and mail to Senator Merle Von Minden, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509. Your input is needed and sincerely appreciated.

viewpoint

Extra session

The Nebraska Legislature is considering the consequences of going into a special session this summer. If the special session is needed, it certainly could be an expensive one.

After all, it is costly to get all 49 state senators together in Lincoln, to pay for the travel and boarding expenses, cough up money for the additional staff's salary expense and create added expenditures for paperwork generated by special session action.

During past legislative sessions, it had cost several thousand dollars just to meet for only one week, said one senate office aide.

So to justify the added expenditure, the legislators should have a consensus as to what action will pass or fail without going through a lengthy and costly extra session.

If the special session is scheduled, the likely topics to be acted upon are: arriving at an amendment which will change Nebraska's constitutional law which affects agricultural land valuation and classification; how to compensate the depositors' losses after the failure of the Commonwealth; and consider proposals to provide relief to Nebraska property taxpayers.

There should be a special session if only for the specific reason of ironing out the differences in the constitution regarding agricultural land valuation.

The current Nebraska law reads that all property tax should be estimated at actual valuation. The Nebraska Supreme Court recently concurred with that opinion in a recent case involving the Kearney Convention Center vs the Board of Equalization.

Beforehand, this was never the case. Urban property taxes were usually paid on close to actual valuation. Agricultural property tax in all but a few Nebraska counties have taxes calculated on a percentage of total valuation.

Because of this recent court decision, farmers face the prospect of having to pay sizeable increases in property tax next year.

With the state of farming conditions as it now stands, this measure will only pound the stake further in the farmer's earnings.

The state of Nebraska relies heavily on the agriculture industry, particularly in this area. Farmers will suffer, along with many area businesses which rely on the ag-oriented trade.

A special session to arrive at an amendment pertaining to the farm valuation issue would be a wise investment in Nebraska's agricultural future.

Relief from high property tax is also a good issue, but there are many alternatives attached to it. Whether or not the Unicameral can agree on a single alternative within a certain time period is another question. The answer may not be found this special session.

An alternative to the return of deposits from the Commonwealth failure also could take a lengthy time frame.

It appears, according to Senator Merle Von Minden, that most legislators know what needs to be decided upon in this valuation bill, which could result in a hasty but sure decision in favor (we hope) of amending the Nebraska constitutional law.

This is one reason alone why the Unicameral should be returned to Lincoln for a special legislative session.

Unless the legislature can arrive at an immediate single solution to the Commonwealth problem and quick relief from high property taxes, these issues should take place when the regularly scheduled legislative session begins again later in the year.

Kerrey criticized for surplus funds

A mid-summer round of state budget politics has been keeping things lively in Lincoln in recent weeks.

Citing a June 30 state general fund balance of $45 million and an additional untapped cash reserve fund of $37 million, Republican State Treasurer Kay Orr criticized Democratic Governor Bob Kerrey for maintaining an overly generous surplus of state funds.

She said that $25 million of the combined total of $82 million on hand should be returned to the taxpayers through some means, perhaps through a direct rebate to offset property taxes.

Kerrey responded by saying that the year-end balance is prudent, and that Mrs. Orr's recommendation "is not a workable suggestion."

If the reserve funds were to be depleted, Kerrey said, the state would risk running out of money in the event of an economic downturn.

"I think it is reasonable protection, and I think we need to keep it in place," Kerrey said.

KERREY QUESTIONED why Orr didn't make a similar suggestion when the state general fund registered a sizable unobligated balance when Republican Governor Charles Thone held office.

State Democratic Chairman Dave Newell jumped into the fray alleging that Mrs. Orr's criticism appears to be an effort to position herself for the Republican nomination for governor in 1986.

"Kay Orr seems to be trying to position herself as the watchdog of the treasury in hopes of becoming a prominent political spokesman for the Republican Party, and the one Republicans might look to in the gubernatorial race two years hence," Newell said.

Mrs. Orr declined to respond to the Newell's allegation that she was acting as a result of gubernatorial aspirations.

She said the state treasury surplus "rightly belongs to the people of Nebraska," and that she was taking a stand only because of her election position.

THE RECENT POLITICAL diversion concerning the state budget is ironic when compared with the political bickering during the summer of 1980.

State government had finished fiscal year 1979-80 with general fund balance of $116 million, an all-time year-end high.

At that time, it was Democrats who were howling about Republican Thone's budget surplus. They demanded that Thone convene a special meeting of the state Board of Equalization to order an immediate tax cut.

"State government has an unprecedented multi-million dollar balance in the state treasury," former Democratic state Chairwoman DIAnna Schimek said at the time. "Is that any way to manage the taxpayer's money?"

IN A LETTER to Thone, Schimek said: "Evidence indicates that the Thone administration has mismanaged the treasury of the state of Nebraska and has ignored prudent business practices in fiscal matters."

Former Senator Steve Fowler of Lincoln, a Democrat who was running for re-election at the time, joined the call for depleting the state-treasury surplus through an immediate tax cut.

Since 1980, Schimek has moved to the job of Democratic National Committeewoman, and Fowler has moved from the Legislature to Policy Research Office director in the Kerrey administration. Ironically, they now are in a position where they must defend the prudence of the Democratic governor's fat budget reserve.

The situations in 1980 and this year aren't exactly the same. For one thing, Thone's $116 million reserve was considerably larger than Kerrey's $82 million reserve. The disparity between the figures is magnified when they are considered as a percentage of state general fund spending obligations then and now.

But the reversal of the partisans' role over four years underscores the cyclical nature of the political process.

Mural painters' efforts are appreciated

To the editor:
A big thank you to everyone who helped in any way with the painted centennial mural on the north side of the Wayne Vision Center building.

Special thanks to Carlos Frey for the many hours he spent creating the unique design and then the many hours that he spent actually sketching and painting. The mural itself would never have been accomplished without the fine leadership and assistance of Gary Van Meter who so faithfully helped from beginning to end — and who arranged for the scaffolding borrowed from Kurt Otte. Thanks Otte.

Special thanks to Chuck Cartman who so willingly mixed the paint in accordance with Carlos Frey's chalk drawing. The colors are beautiful!
Thanks to all the volunteers who helped us paint, Carlos and Sherian Frey, Gary Van Meter, Randy Pedersen, Rev. Keith Johnson and Julie Noyes. Also, thanks to all of you for the positive comments that have been conveyed. My father, the late William A. Koeber, would have been very pleased.

We are proud to be part of such a great 100 year-old community, Wayne, Nebraska.
Thanks again to everyone Don and Claudia Koeber

drug awareness

COCAINE AND HEALTH

The number of deaths and convulsions caused by cocaine is increasing at an alarming rate, said Dr. Mark Gold, founder of a national cocaine help hotline, "800-COCAINE," and author of the book "800-COCAINE."

The increased number of deaths and epileptic type convulsions, Gold says, is due to more widespread use of the drug and to the amount and method of administration.

Known effects of cocaine abuse include heart failure, respiratory paralysis and convulsions, all of which can result in death. These physical dangers are on the increase as cocaine sold illegally is becoming purer, Gold said.

Other side effects of cocaine use include raised body temperature and increased blood pressure and heart rate.

The drug also has a powerful effect on the brain. Cocaine causes a strong sense of euphoria for a period of 10 to 30 minutes, followed by depression, anxiety and tension. Prolonged use of the drug can cause deep depression, hallucinations, confusion and paranoia.

With the dangers of cocaine abuse becoming more serious, cocaine presents an increasing threat to the health of its users.

Learning American culture

NACEL program brings France to Wayne

By Michelle Kubik

Françoise Courtois of France thought Americans ate only hamburgers and drank Coke. Other Frenchmen think Americans drive their cars everywhere, even to the end of the driveway to get their mail.

Seventeen-year-old Françoise is part of an exchange program called NACEL, which works to help people discard these stereotypes of another culture.

Françoise has been staying in Wayne with Kathy Lempke and her 7-year-old son John, since July 3 and will return to France July 30.

Her home, Grenoble, is part of the Dauphine region and is located near the Alps mountains.

FRANÇOISE LEARNED ABOUT NACEL from her mother's friend and gained approval for the visit through her English teacher.

Kathy has been a hostess for three summers in a row and plans to apply again next year. She would like to host a boy, close to her son's age.

As a French minor, she learned about NACEL from her French instructor at the college.

NACEL means "balloon basket" in both English and French, and symbolizes the method of transportation to a new country and discovery of a new civilization.

"IT'S TOO BAD more people don't take part in the program," Kathy said, "for a town the size of Wayne, more people could afford to host someone and gain the experience." Since Françoise has been in Wayne, she has gone to see Gavins Point and has went swimming at the local pool. She has also met several people through Kathy's friends, Beth Schmidt and Erin O'Donnell. They have made trips to Sioux City and they hope to go shopping in Omaha before she leaves the states.

The celebration honoring France's symbolic bird, the chicken, was also a favorite for Françoise.

SHE TOLD OF HER home's custom of putting chickens on the grass field before teams met for an important soccer game.

"I think it's good for a town to have festivals like Chicken Days," Françoise said, "it brings everyone together for a day."

In July, France celebrates Bastille Day, similar to our Independence Day, with rock festivals and other celebrations. Kathy hopes to take Françoise to the Dixon County fair as an example of an American festival.

SHE'S ALSO DISAPPOINTED Françoise won't be here for Wayne's Centennial celebration, but she plans to take her to the museum before she leaves.

Françoise found several things about American life to be different from her home.

She was very impressed with the long cars and the comfortable waterbeds.

She said television shows were similar between the two countries, but France only airs their programs from noon till midnight.

"PUBS," CALLED commercials in the United States, are less frequent on French television, she said.

"The people in my country think we have a lot of publicity," she said, "but ours is nothing compared to here."

American movies are frequent in France, and Steven Spielberg has become a favorite for Françoise.

Music is also dominated by American stars, including Rod Stewart, the Clash and of course, Michael Jackson.

FRANÇOISE HAS ALSO become fond of Prince since her stay in the United States.

A big fan of all sports, she had never seen a football or baseball game, except on television.

Françoise received a football jersey to take home and she also bought a baseball glove and ball as a souvenir.

She plays basketball in school, goes sailing, plays handball, skis, and likes to watch ice hockey.

"I REALLY LIKE RUGBY," she said, "but in France you have to be a boy to play it."

Françoise likes to paint and is a member of a drawing club in France.

She would also like to take dance lessons, but it is very expensive to enroll.

Françoise is interested in becoming a lawyer, but she is also fond of photography and journalism.

SHE MUST PASS A written and oral exam before leaving Lycée, the equivalent to a college degree in the United States.

Françoise said she has missed her home and her parents, but she would like to stay in Wayne longer.

"I found the American mentality friendlier than that of some Frenchmen," she said, "I was given a good welcome in Wayne."

Pioneer Farm Awards go to seven county families

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Seven farm families will receive the Nebraska Pioneer Farm Award during the Wayne County Fair, scheduled for Aug. 9-12. Handsome engraved plaques and framed certificates will be presented to Keith and Fern Erickson of Wayne; Donna S. Holmes of Grand Island; Anne L. Lage of Wayne; Vernon Miller of Hoskins; Marvin Nuerberger of Lincoln; Dennis and Romana Puls of Hoskins; and Wayne Sandahl of Wakefield.

These individuals are descendants of families who started a century of farm ownership when Wayne County was first being settled.

This unique award, co-sponsored by Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers, is made annually to owners of farms which have been in the same family for a century or longer.

THE FOLLOWING is information on the century Wayne County farms:

- Vernon Miller Farm — 160 acres in Township 25. The farm was homesteaded by Vernon Miller's grandfather, Edward Mueller. The name was changed to Miller somewhere around 1911 and it was then acquired by Adolf Miller (father of Vernon). He was married to Ella Hintz.
- Vernon and his wife Lois (Boyce) still live on the farm and they have seven children — four sons and three daughters — which include Dale, LaVerie, Brent, Kyvis, Phyllis (Mrs. Larry Cleveland), Carla (Mrs. Jay Dowler) and Collene (Mrs. Mitchell Robinson).
- Louis C. Nuernberger Family — 160 acres in Township 25N. History, as written by Marvin Nuernberger, says Grandfather Louis Nuernberger purchased the property from Mary Waterman of Winnebago, Illinois on Sept. 3, 1883 for $1,600 ($10 an acre).
- Puls Family Farm — 160 acres in Township 25. Franz (or Frank) Puls purchased this farm from a David Cunningham in October, 1884. His son, Herman Puls, lived on the farm from the time he married until he retired and moved to Hoskins.
- For a period of years following, the farm was rented by several families. In 1956, Dennis Puls, the present owner, rented the farm and later purchased the farm from the heirs of Herman Puls in 1974.
- Sandahl Farm — 160 acre farm located in Hunter Township. The farm was homesteaded by Joe Agler in 1880, who bought the entire farm from the government for $4.
- He came to Wayne from Virginia via Illinois after the Civil War in which he had several horses shot from under him while fighting for the Union Army.

He lived in a dugout for a couple of years and then built a house on this farm which was lived in until it was replaced by a new one in 1928. The dirt where this dugout was located is still black as coal where corn grows tall.

AGLER SOLD THE farm to Edward Sandahl in 1884, who came from Illinois with his parents, one sister and two brothers. Sandahl married Hulda Bark and they had three sons and four daughters.

The youngest son, Ernest (Dick) Sandahl married Mabel Nelson. They had three sons and lived on the farm for 85 years. He passed away in 1982 at the age of 88.

The eldest son, Dean, lives in Lincoln and his second son, Wayne, is the present owner and resident. Wayne farms in partnership with his younger brother, Neil.

- Lage Family Farm — 160 acres in Township 25. The Lage family came to the Wayne area from Iowa, and settled southwest of Wayne. The present-home was built by the parents of Martin Lage, Julia and Johannes. It was completed shortly before the death of Johannes on Nov. 19, 1918 during the flu epidemic of that time.
- Erickson Farm — 80 acres in Township 27 — Nels E. Erickson started a "Timber-culture claim" in 1884, planting five acres of trees, building a home to live in on the land for a period of eight years, after which Pres. Grover Cleveland signed a patent which entitled him to the land.
- On each of the five acres, 2700 cottonwood, catalpa and boxelder trees were planted and after eight years the land office stated he had 9,240 living and thrifty trees. He had 60 acres of land under cultivation with a house, barn and other buildings on the land.
- Only members of the Erickson family have owned, operated and lived on the farm.
- Raymond and Ethel Erickson acquired the farm from Nels and Selma Erickson in 1940 and lived and farmed there until 1971, when Keith and Fern Erickson acquired it and are presently living and operating it.
- Buskirk-Sonner-Holmes Farm — 120 acres in Township 25N.
- George Buskirk came to Leslie precinct in 1869 to homestead. He returned to Afton, Wisconsin the winter of 1870-71. He married Laura Jane Terwilliger on April 13, 1871 and they immediately set out for Nebraska in a covered wagon, bringing one milk cow with them.
- In 1882, George and Laura Buskirk bought 160 acres from an heir of the Albert Wurl homestead. In 1905, 120 acres of this land became the property of Gertrude Buskirk, Sonner. Since 1941, this farm land has belonged to Donna Sonner, Holmes.

New peak alert system to be established in Wayne

by Chuck Hackenmiller

How can the city residents of Wayne save up to $103,000 in five to 10 days annually with the least possible effort?

Wayne's city officials have the answer. Phil Kloster, city administrator, is calling it the volunteer energy conservation program.

It will be implemented this summer toward reducing the city's peak electrical loads during the hottest summer months of the year.

The city of Wayne's net cost (which it must pay to the Nebraska Public Power District) per kilowatt of demand from city residents is $10.55. This cost figure is likely to rise in upcoming years and would be absorbed through increases charged to the city residents, according to Kloster.

That is why Kloster and the city council members have decided to work with the volunteer energy conservation concept — to keep future electrical costs to city residents down.

In August of 1983, the city set two new all-time highs for peak loads from the municipal power plant. During the following month, on Sept. 9, the city set a peak record of 9.2 megawatts.

"Our bad months are July through September because of the hot temperatures and humidity. The time frame for reaching the peak is normally between 4:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.," Kloster said.

PEAK DAYS occur only five to 10 days a year, he said. But instead of having that big peak arrive all at once, he suggested leveling the peak load to a 8.2 megawatt peak maximum all summer.

Doing this would require a voluntary effort from Wayne institutions, businesses and city residents to cut down on electrical power usage when the peak alert sounds.

"The savings for making the reduction on peak days (from 9.2 megawatts to 8.2 megawatts) would be $103,000 for the next 12 months," Kloster mentioned. "That amount could equate to about a 7 percent annual savings in energy costs."

The system was put to the test on Monday when the city conducted an experiment on peak load usage. By 2 p.m. on a hot and humid Monday, the peak load level was hovering around the 7.5 to 7.6 megawatts range. The expected high peak load at the electricity plant was estimated to arrive at 5 p.m.

Wayne businesses were directly called and asked to participate in a peak reduction Monday afternoon when a peak alert from the city was announced. KTCH was also called to put out the word on radio of the voluntary energy conservation program.

"Wayne State College dropped all the [electrical load] it could and some businesses turned completely off while others raised the temperatures eight degrees," Kloster said.

By 4:15 p.m., the peak level at the municipal plant reached 8 megawatts. "It held for an hour and then it dropped off. At this time, the peak level normally goes up," he said.

Because of the cooperation by the college, businesses and also city residents who heeded the warning and did not use the electric oven or water heater, the city was able to avoid a big electrical surge.

Kloster said there may be some inconvenience by not using normal electricity allowances during the hours between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. But he said the voluntary cooperation would allow the city to save money and would mean less demand charges which the city must pay to the Nebraska Public Power District.

This in turn would bring relief from future electrical increases once the savings have been realized.

When a peak load alert sounds, the city will do these four things — sound the city of Wayne's outdoor warning system; announce it over the city's public address system; broadcast the message over KTCH radio; and use the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Hotline to notify city businesses of the peak alert.

THE NOTIFICATION system of peak alert will be as follows:

- A series of two short blasts over the outdoor warning system of about 10 seconds in length. Citizens should be alert for important public messages which will convey that an electrical system brownout or peaking emergency is in effect; a water emergency is in effect; or some other important public message will be forthcoming.
- Kloster said eventually the city could bring in a line which could actually control the resident or businesses' electrical system and stagger the amount of power going into the homes when peak alerts are issued.
- A specified lower rate would be given to those residents who participate in the volunteer electrical conservation program.

Not all diamonds bargains

Buyers, beware of jewelry fraud

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Scams involving jewelry purchases at supposedly "bargain prices" should be investigated before actual commitment is made, according to Wayne Diamond Center's Randy Pedersen.

"This person recently brought in something they received in the mail about winning a free diamond ring — a 17-facet diamond layered in 14-carat gold. All they asked was to them $2 for postage and handling," Pedersen said.

Because of recent national attention to the diamond scams, Pedersen has joined with the Jewelers of America in alerting consumers to the fact that diamonds and colored stones are no bargain when they are at the $4 asking price.

"There's been a lot of complaints about people being 'taken' on this type of program. I've had customers come into my store, not only with literature about diamonds but also of emeralds, who want to know if they should send for it," he said.

"You pay the $4 and get a green piece of gravel," he added.

THERE ARE FOUR basic factors which determine the value and price of a gemstone — color, cut, clarity and weight.

One diamond promotion boasts a 17-facet diamond. Gemstone-quality diamonds are actually cut according to an exact mathematical formula and a finished diamond has 58 facets, according to the Jewelers of America representatives.

Another point emphasized by Pedersen was the number of promotions selling a "25 pt. diamond" for $4. There is a considerable difference between pt. and carat size, he mentioned.

While 25 carat diamond means 1/4 carat, people buying a 25 point diamond are receiving a diamond of 1/400 carat.

A FLAWLESS colored gemstone is very rare and expensive. But when there are many flaws that the stone is opaque instead of clear, its value is non-existent. That's why the $4 emerald, which is opaque, is just a green pebble with no value, according to the jewelry experts.

If these offers arrive by mail, either disregard or speak to any of the local jewelry stores in town before deciding on venturing into the jewelry purchase proposal.

"I would make the recommendation that the people don't send the money in. Save the $4 because the quality of the item will be very poor and most of the time there is misrepresentation on the object," Pedersen said.

A Better Business Bureau may also be able to provide useful information before any monetary commitment is made.

"There's enough of it [jewelry scams] out there to be concerned," Pedersen said.

Dog Days set

all the publicity in recent weeks about the Wayne Chicken Show, said the Dog Days promotion will feature more than just lots of eggs and clucking.

"I have a bone to pick. It's about time our dogs get some ink. Maybe I'm barking up a wrong tree, but people should really capitalize on this Dog Day promotion," McDoogie said.

Dog Days, he said, is scheduled for this Saturday, July 28, and he advised readers to view the advertisements in Thursday's Wayne Herald edition.

"There will be plenty of 'dog-gone' bargains for everyone," McDoogie concluded.

"We will not be outdone by the chickens."

That comment was heard from Muttley McDoogie Wednesday morning as he announced Wayne's upcoming promotion of Wayne's annual "Dog Days" celebration.

police report

Crowds in several Main Street parking lots were cause for complaints during the weekend.

Police were called to Grace Lutheran Church, the laundry mat at 9th and main, the Dairy Queen and the Saw-Max. Drug parking lots to clear the groups and stop the unnecessary noise.

Complaints were also made concerning loud parties, but most were quiet after one warning or were unfounded reports.

A possible prowler was reported near Windom street, but police were unable to find a suspect.

A bike was reported stolen from the swimming pool during the weekend.

A car charged with overtime parking was towed away and another vehicle blocking a driveway was moved from the area.

An alarm at Midwest Federal turned out to be a malfunction of the system.

Several members of the Wayne Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol joined the Wayne State College Aero-Space Education class members on a trip to Washington, D.C. over the weekend.

The group was provided Military Air-Lift by the U.S. Air Force and traveled round-trip on a C-130 Transport plane departing and returning to the South Dakota Air National Guard Base, Sioux Falls, S.D. The Nebraska group met with CAP members and workshop students from Augustana College and the S.D. School of Mines, Rapid City for the trip.

CAP members taking part were John Paxton, first Commander of the Wayne Squadron, Lt. Millie Pfueger, SM Edith Williford of Norfolk, and Lt. Helen Dalton, Dixon, Nebr. Wing Public Affairs Officer, Lt. Carl Rump and Lt. Dean Metz, Wayne State College Aero-Space Education teachers, and Cadets Kurt Rump and Monica Metz.

Among the places visited were the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum, the Museum of Natural History, the White House, Washington Monument, Vietnam Veterans Memorial, Lincoln Memorial and Arlington Cemetery, U.S. Capitol Building, Jefferson Monument, Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. A special highlight of the tour was a visit to the Paul E. Garber Silver Hill Facility at Suitland, Md., the restoration and preservation area for historically significant airplanes and spacecraft.

The Aero-Space Education Workshop is held each summer to prepare teachers and leaders of young people's groups to demonstrate the principles of aero-space technology and council young people on the opportunities available to them in this fast developing field. The workshops are supported by the U.S. Air Force and its auxiliary, the Civil Air Patrol.

Wakefield double ring rites unite Victor and Allemann

The marriage of Gwen Victor and Brian Allemann was solemnized in a 7 o'clock ceremony July 14 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

The Rev. Dennis Morner officiated at the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth and Lois Victor of Emerson and is a graduate of Wakefield High School. She attended Wayne State College and is presently a senior at St. Luke's School of Nursing in Sioux City. The bridegroom, son of Leslie and Arlene Allemann of Winside, attended Winside High School and Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk. He is employed at Throener Implement in Pilger.

GUESTS ATTENDING the wedding ceremony were registered by Jean Susle of Correctionville, Iowa, and ushered into the church by Rodger Allemann of Wayne, Michael McMinn of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Richard Doflin of Hoskins.

Matron of honor was Kathleen McMinn of Sioux Falls, S. D., and bridesmaids were Ardie Sommerfeld of Wayne and LeElla Kell of Lincoln. The bride's personal attendant was Mary Milander of Coleridge. Jerry Allemann of Wayne served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Brian Eckert of Pilger and Loren Victor of Emerson.

GWEN JENSEN of Wayne sang "The Wedding Song," "God, a Woman and a Man," and "A Wedding Benediction," and the congregation sang "From All That Dwell Below the Skies." Organist was Renee Bartels of Wakefield.

Flower girl was Michelle Black of Grand Island, and ring bearer was Joshua Black of Grand Island.

Candles were lighted by Jolene Bartels of Wakefield and Annette Hanson of Lincoln.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her parents and appeared in a white gown with a high neckline of schiffli lace. The V-shape bodice was of Chantilly lace and satin ribbon, and rows of silk-venice-lace accented the long, full chiffon sleeves.

The natural waistline was accented with a bow and held the full skirt with two pick-up flairs trimmed in Chantilly lace and ribbon. The dress featured a chapel-length train.

The bride's fingertip veil was held in place by a halo of white baby's breath and forget-me-nots, and she carried a cascade of pink silk roses and bell flowers with white miniature carnations, daisies, and fresh baby's breath and greenery.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore long, rose-colored gowns with chiffon bodices of lustrous polyester. Each carried a cluster of pink silk roses and bell flowers with fresh baby's breath and greenery.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo with a pink ruffled shirt, vest, and white bow tie. His attendants wore silver gray tuxedos with matching ties.

SHARLENE LUDWIG of Battle Creek, Iowa arranged gifts at a dinner reception at the church following the ceremony.

Greeting the guests were Walt and Ardith Woolson of North Platte and Lyle and Carol Thies of Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Allemann of Norfolk.

Cutting and serving the wedding cake were Anita Rastede of Allen and Diane Lurz of Valentine. The groom's cake was cut and served by Jolene Bahr of Quimby, Iowa. Tracey Brahmstead and Connie Duncan of Pilger poured.

Waitresses were Sharon Murray of Valentine and Kristi Miller, Marci Greve and Kerri Blattert, all of Wakefield.

THE NEWLYWEDS traveled to Minnesota and Canada following their wedding, and are making their home at Pilger.

Former Wayne woman needs transplant - and $35 thousand

If all goes well for a former Wayne woman she could have a new pancreas and a new lifestyle before the year's end.

If not, the future of 27-year-old Carol Kumm of Fremont doesn't look bright. Carol, daughter of Harland and Lavilla Kumm of Fremont, formerly of Wayne, is in desperate need of $35,000 - money which could save her life through a pancreas transplant doctors say should be performed sometime this year.

CAROL, WHO became a juvenile diabetic at age six, has suffered 30 percent damage to her kidneys as a result of the disease.

Doctors at the University of Minnesota have told her that a pancreas transplant would reverse the damage and the kidneys would heal themselves.

Doctors added that a kidney transplant alone wouldn't do much good because without a new pancreas they would simply be damaged again.

As a result, Carol and her family are working to raise the $35,000 deposit needed before doctors at the University of Minnesota hospital will consider the operation.

ACCORDING TO a recent article which appeared in the Fremont Tribune, Carol said the $35,000 needed for the operation must be raised outside because insurance companies won't cover the surgery calling it too experimental.

Carol told the Tribune that several people have been trying to get federal help for the family, including U.S. Senators James Exon and Edward Zorinsky, and U.S. Representative Doug Bereuter. Dodge County Social Services also has assisted with the search for funds, as well as the family lawyer.

In addition, a trust fund has been set up in Fremont to accept donations and local service organizations have been contacted to assist with the fund drive.

IN THE ARTICLE which appeared in the Fremont newspaper, Carol's mother said her daughter is a "very brittle diabetic" and added that the extreme differences in her blood sugar levels make it difficult to control the disease.

Carol, who has not been able to work for six years, lives by her herself but still needs outside help.

A woman in her neighborhood was asked to call her twice each night to wake her up because if she sleeps through the night she could sleep herself into a coma.

Two-and-a-half-years-ago Carol received a new advanced insulin pump with hospitalization now necessary approximately every six weeks because of abscesses due to the needles.

Carol has had liver problems, and although her sight is "okay," her kidneys continue to deteriorate.

IF ENOUGH money is raised for Carol's surgery her donor will be her 38-year-old brother Alan of Fremont.

Carol told the Fremont Tribune her brother is a perfect tissue match and has agreed to the surgery.

"Alan knows how much his sister has suffered and wants to help her," Carol's mother told the Tribune, adding that doctors will take about half the pancreas for the transplant thereby allowing both persons to function normally.

Dr. David Sutherland of the University of Minnesota, who has performed approximately 100 pancreas transplants, said the rate of recovery is very high (75 to 80 percent) for patients with live donors.

AREA RESIDENTS who would like to contribute to a fund which has been set up for Carol can send their donations to the Carol Kumm Fund, Equitable Federal Savings and Loan, 400 E. Military, Fremont, Neb., 68025.

Donations also may be sent to the Carol Kumm Fund, Osmond State Bank, Osmond, Neb., 68765.

briefly speaking

82nd birthday observed

Allen United Methodist Women traveled to the Wakefield Health Care Center last Thursday afternoon to honor the 82nd birthday of church member Opal Wheeler.

A program honoring Mrs. Wheeler, with residents of the center as guests, was held in the main dining room. The program included duets by Gail and Doug Folsom, and Phyllis Swanson and Evelyn Trube. The entire group sang several old numbers accompanied by Gail Folsom at the piano.

Also entertaining were baton students of Mrs. Wheeler's great niece, Jeanne Warner, who was assisted by her mother Norma Warner. Twirlers included Lynell Wood, Carla Stapleton, Tracy Jackson, Tami Jackson and Tiffany McAfee.

Fran Schubert, president of United Methodist Women, had opening devotions. Doris Linafelter read a poem which was presented to Mrs. Wheeler on her 75th birthday, and the Rev. Anderson Kwankin closed with the benediction.

Approximately 60 persons attended a tea served in the west reception room following the program. Birthday cake was furnished by United Methodist Women.

Oakdale School reunion set

The annual reunion of the Oakdale School district will be held this Sunday at the Allen park beginning with a 12:30 p.m. potluck dinner.

The Oakdale district was located northeast of Allen between Allen and Waterbury. All former residents of the district, teachers and students are invited to attend the reunion.

Youngsters dedicated

Dedicated during worship services last Sunday morning at the Concord Evangelical Free Church were Joel Kardell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derwin Kardell of Dixon; Kristi Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Peterson of Dixon; and Katie Koester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Koester of Allen.

The Rev. John Westerholm officiated.

The Lindy Koesters and daughters entertained at a dinner afterward honoring Katie. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gary Erwin, Susan and Lana, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Koester, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koester, Ben Jackson, Mrs. Henry Erwin, Laurel, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Rastede and family, Davenport, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Koester and Christy of York, Doug Koester, Joan Koester and Barney Jorgenson of Creighton.

Koepkes plan reunion

A Koepke family reunion will be held Sunday, Aug. 5 at the Herman Koepke home, 1211 North 11th St., Norfolk.

The event begins with a carry-in dinner at noon.

Franzen reunion is Sunday

The annual Franzen family reunion will be held this Sunday. Relatives are asked to meet at Bressler Park in Wayne.

Men's Fellowship meeting

The Northeast Nebraska Christian Mens Fellowship will meet Friday, July 27 at 8 p.m. at the Dixon United Methodist Church.

Speaker will be the Rev. Anderson Kwankin. A business meeting will follow to discuss plans for the annual fall crusade.

Winside, Laurel twirlers win

Baton twirlers from Winside and Laurel won 11 trophies during the Rivercade Open Baton Contest held July 21 in Sioux City.

Kim Damme, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Damme of Winside, received two first place trophies in intermediate fancy strut and beginner basic strut, and three second place trophies in advanced solo, advanced two baton and hoop.

Her sister Kay Damme, 5, won three first place trophies in special beginner fancy strut, beginner fancy strut and beginner solo.

Deanna Wills, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wills of Winside, placed first in beginner solo and second in beginner two baton. She received two trophies.

Over $1,200 collected by Swim-for-Heart

Over $1,200 was raised by a group of Wayne swimmers taking part in the Swim-for-Heart held on Sunday, July 22 at the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool from 1-9 p.m.

The money raised was based on the amount of money pledged per lap swam by each of the 19 individuals who participated. All proceeds went to the American Heart Association.

Those swimmers who took part included Kip Korth, Greta and Stephanie Kloester, Traci Gamble, Melinda Olson, Jason Poff, Shelly Schroeder, Mike DeNaeyer, Greg DeNaeyer, Deb Penn, Karlene Benhoof, Missy Stoltenberg, Linda Carr, Christy Carr, Shanna and Shawn Schroeder, Lisa Casey, Jody Osentowski and Shane Olson.

Those volunteers helping count laps throughout the day were Dick and Becky Keldel, Terry French, Jenny Otte, Sally Schroeder, Teresa Ellis, Trudy Pflanz, Mindy Burst and Jody Osentowski.

Jill Zeiss, coordinator of the Swim-for-Heart, was pleased with both the number of participants and the amount of money raised, saying it was better than she had expected for the first time. "A lot of kids came up and asked if they could do it on Sunday," said Zeiss, "so now that people know about it, the turnout next year should hopefully be better."

Swimmers ranged in age from 11 years and older, and all received a prize for participating in the Swim-for-Heart.

FIRST BASEMAN Jeff Hausmann makes the play on the foul ball, backed up by pitcher Don Larsen.

Midgets lose to Fremont, come back against Norfolk

For only the second time this season the Wayne Midgets were defeated as Fremont downed the locals in a 5-2 decision on Sunday afternoon in Wayne.

Wayne was able to bounce back from the loss on Monday night on the road in Norfolk, blanking the Norfolk Midgets 8-0 to boost their record to 19-2 overall.

In the loss to Fremont, Wayne gave up four runs to the visitors before making a mark on the scoreboard in the fifth inning.

Fremont came up with their opening runs in the second inning filling the bases on walks with two outs before a double brought across three runs. A single minutes later scored the fourth run to give Fremont the advantage.

Wayne's first run came in the fifth inning after Tim Fleming reached base on a walk and scored on a double by Shannon Dorcey with two outs.

A run in the sixth inning by Wayne closed the margin to 4-2 as Ted Lueders used a Fremont error to advance to first and came across the bag on a base hit by Scott Baker.

Fremont threatened to score big in the top of the seventh inning when they strung together a double, single and walk to bring in one run and leave two on base with no outs. Jeff Hausmann came in on the mound to relieve starting pitcher Don Larsen and finish out the game.

Hitting for Wayne was Scott Baker who was two-for-three with a pair of base hits and Shannon Dorcey with a double and one RBI.

Don Larsen threw eight strike outs and gave up 10 walks before leaving the game in the top of the seventh.

The Midgets were also able to turn a double play during the game, in the top of the fifth inning when a hit to third base was fielded by Scott Baker, thrown to Fleming at second for the first out and on to Hausmann at first for the second.

AGAINST NORFOLK on Monday night, the Midgets had an easier time as they scored throughout the game to take the 8-0 shutout in seven innings.

The initial run came in the first inning when Ted Lueders rapped out a single before advancing on the base paths and scoring the run on a wild pitch with one out.

In the third inning Dan Gross received a walk to first base and was brought home by a Scott Baker base hit with two out.

Wayne scored single runs again in the fourth and fifth innings and two in the sixth on a two RBI single by Russ Longe.

They added two final runs in the top of the seventh inning when Casey Nichols knocked out a single and Jeff Hausmann walked to first. A single by Brent Plck scored on run while the second came on a Norfolk error.

Jeff Hausmann tossed the win for Wayne, striking out nine opposing batters and walking none.

Top hitter for Wayne was Casey Nichols who came up with two singles in three trips to the plate.

The Midget team holds a 19-2 record going into a game with Norfolk at Overin Field tonight (Thursday).

The team will then take a break before beginning play in the Class B Area 3 baseball tournament hosted by Wayne beginning on Wednesday, Aug. 1.

Weekend split leaves Town team in battle for division runner-up

A split in a pair of weekend baseball games gave Wayne at least a third place finish in their Eastern Division of the Tri-County baseball league.

Wayne's Town Team lost to Battle Creek in a make-up game played on Saturday night in Wayne 9-7 before traveling to Laurel for their last regularly scheduled game and taking a 8-7 squeaker over their hosts.

Against Battle Creek, both teams remained scoreless until the third inning when Battle Creek broke the ice with a single run which reached base on a walk and scored on a Wayne error.

Wayne evened things with a run of their own in the bottom of the inning. Rich Neely took first base on a Battle Creek error and later crossed the bag.

A single run in the fourth by Mike Meyer gave Wayne a 2-1 lead.

Battle Creek took a short 4-2 lead in the top of the fifth, scoring two runs on a trio of singles.

The score was tied later in the inning when Neil Blohm cracked out a double followed up by a Jerry Goeden single and another double by Jeff Dion to score two runs.

Each team scored runs in the sixth inning to continue the tie, but Battle Creek outscored Wayne two-to-one in the seventh inning to take the lead which they held onto for the remainder of the game.

Trailing by two runs in the bottom of the ninth, Wayne placed Rich Neely and Al Nissen on base with two outs before Tim Pfeiffer was called for the strike out to end the game.

Top hitters for Wayne included Rich Neely who went three-for-five with a double and two singles. Neil Blohm was also three-for-five with a double and pair of base hits.

Pitcher Joel Ankeny went the distance, throwing three strike outs and giving up four walks.

IN A game which featured the second and third place teams in the Eastern Division of the league, Wayne came out on top over Laurel 8-7 on Sunday evening.

In the second inning Wayne opened with two runs as Jeff Dion rapped out a base hit and scored on a two run homer by Rich Neely with one out.

Laurel took a 3-2 lead in the third when Wayne pitcher Jerry Goeden walked the first two men-up and Laurel scored with a double and single.

Their lead increased to 5-3 in the fourth when Laurel blasted a home run with one on to score two runs.

The game was tied in the sixth inning by Wayne as Mike Meyer unloaded a home run with no one on and two outs and Jerry Goeden advanced with a walk and scored on a triple by Al Nissen.

Both teams added two runs in the seventh to tie the score at 7-7 before Wayne's Bill Schwartz came up with the fourth home run of the game with no one on to score one run. Laurel threatened in the bottom of the inning with a double and a walk before retiring on an out to second base.

Jerry Goeden tossed a dozen strike outs in the win for Wayne.

Play will continue this weekend with division playoffs scheduled to start on Sunday, July 29.

Juniors extra-inning loss to Fremont sets tone of weekend

It was a rough weekend of baseball action for the Wayne Junior Legion baseball team as they lost both of their scheduled games to Fremont on Sunday and to Norfolk on the road Monday evening.

In what turned out to be the longest game of the season so far, the Wayne Juniors fell to Fremont in a 10 inning contest 13-11 on Sunday, July 22 at Overin Field.

Fremont looked like they were going to run away with the game in the opening inning, scoring five runs on a double, two singles and three walks given up by starting Wayne pitcher Jeff Sherer. Todd Dorcey came in to relieve in the inning with two outs.

Wayne came back by scoring one run in the bottom of the first inning, as Kevin Maly went to first on the walk and scored on a single by Steve Overin.

Fremont was held scoreless in the second inning while Wayne knocked in five runs to take a 6-5 lead. Pat Melena came up with a base hit, followed by Kevin Maly who was out on a fielder's choice and Todd Dorcey who was able to make it to first on a fielder's choice.

Fremont's pitcher then came up three walks to bring in two runs before an RBI single by Jeff Jorgensen scored the last run of the inning.

Wayne added a single run in the third inning by Kevin Maly before both teams hit a scoring slump that was to last for three innings with Wayne holding an 7-5 lead.

Fremont began their comeback bid in the top of the seventh, placing men on base and scoring two runs on a double, single and walk to tie the score at 7-7.

Pitching problems for Wayne in the eighth inning gave Fremont the advantage as Fremont's batters advanced to the bases on a Wayne error and a single before Steve Overin came in to relieve Dorcey with no outs and two men on. Wayne then came up with two force outs at home plate before Overin walked two batters and another runner advanced to base on a fielder's choice. Todd Dorcey came back onto the mound for the final out.

Wayne tied the game in the bottom of the inning with three runs scored by Jeff Sherer, Dave Longe and Jeff Jorgensen. Sherer and Jorgensen reached base on walks while Longe popped out a base hit to go to first.

Three runs in the top of the tenth inning by Fremont put the game out of reach for Wayne as they were only able to come up with one of their own in the bottom of the inning for the 13-11 margin.

Kevin Maly went four-for-six at the plate with singles to lead Wayne's hitting. Overin was three-for-seven with all singles.

The three Wayne pitchers combined for just three strike outs and gave up 12 walks to Fremont batters.

WAYNE WAS unable to comeback in the game against Norfolk on Monday in Norfolk, losing a 7-1 game in seven innings.

The lone run of the game came in the fourth inning when Steve Overin slammed out a home run with no one on and two out.

That hit, plus a single by Todd Dorcey in the seventh inning were the only Wayne hits of the game.

Norfolk had a total of 10 hits in their win. Starting pitcher Randy Gamble tossed two strike outs in the game for Wayne.

The Wayne Junior Legion team was currently 15-9 going into a game with South Sioux City last night (Wednesday) at home and will host Norfolk tonight (Thursday) and play a doubleheader with Elkhorn on the road Sunday, July 29 before entering play in the Class B Area 3 Legion baseball tournament beginning on Tuesday, July 31.

The 11th annual Wakefield Lions Club Father-Son golf tournament will be held on Sunday, Aug. 5 at the Logan Valley Golf Course.

The father-son or son-in-law or grandson teams will play 18 holes of Texas best ball. The tournament is also open to unrelated pairs who have a least one generation of difference in age.

Golfers may reserve tee off times by calling the golf course at 297-2343.

Allen Pee Wees win tournament

The Allen Pee Wee baseball team were the winners of the Northeast Nebraska Little League Tournament held at Jackson over the past weekend.

A win over Willis earlier in the week gave the Allen team the league championship and a bye in the tournament. In their second round game, Allen defeated Dakota City 3-0. Kevin Crossgrove had come up with a triple that scored all three of Allen's runs. David Kluser also had a triple.

The team then went on to meet Jackson for the championship that evening, winning the game 6-3. Paul Brestlinger knocked in two runs, as did Kevin Chase and Jody Marlinton.

Pitchers for the team were David Kluser and Kevin Chase, who each turned in fine performances throughout the season.

Coaches for the team were Keith Hill and assistant Dale Jackson. They, along with Jim Decker, provided treats for the team members following the win.

The trophy which they won is on display at the Cash store in Allen. Each team member was presented with a medal at the tournament as well.

Photography is judged

Dixon County 4-H members enrolled in photography projects were given an opportunity to visit with the judge while their photos were critiqued and placings decided on July 19 at the Northeast Station, Concord.

Interview judging gives the 4-H'er a chance to realize the good aspects of his exhibit, ask questions, and learn how to improve his photography techniques.

Amy Kovar's picture store series was selected as the champion exhibit in Photography Unit 1. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Kovar, Wakefield, and a member of Country Style 4-H Club.

She will receive a trophy donated by Tri-County Insurance Agency, Allen.

THE CHAMPION exhibit in Units II and III was a picture display, belonging to Brian Bartels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bartels of Wakefield.

He is a member of Pop's Partners 4-H Club and will receive a trophy donated by State Farm Insurance, Allen.

Other photography entries which will be entered at the State Fair include those of Angela Jones, Allen, Unit I, picture display of people; Karen Hallstrom, Wakefield, Unit II, picture story series; and Allen George, Dixon, Unit III, picture story series.

OTHER 4-H'ERS exhibiting photography and their ribbon placings were as follows:

Unit I-Picture Display: Purple — Christi Taylor, Concord; Blue — Michelle Otte, Ryan Ekberg and Scott Mattes, all of Wakefield, Gretchen Manz, Newcastles; Red — Pat Brentlinger, Dawn Preston, Concord, Tricia Wilson, Ponca.

Unit II-Action Pictures: Blue — Jennifer Benstead, Allen; Red — Kenny Hoising, Newcastles.

Unit II-Picture Story: Red — Dawn Preston, Concord, Tricia Wilson, Ponca.

Unit III-Picture Display: Purple — Allen George, Dixon; Blue — Linda Wood, Allen, Jackie Harder, Ponca, Leigh Johnson, Wakefield, Pam Ruwe, Wayne.

Keeping cattle cool

Hot weather will cause cattle discomfort and reduced appetites. When the humidity is high, it will cause stress conditions and even death. The performance of feedlot cattle is reduced during heat stress because maintenance requirements are increased and feed intake is usually reduced. Measures to reduce the heat stress of cattle include providing shade, sprinkling, cooling the drinking water and increasing the rations caloric density.

When temperatures hover around 100 degrees F., it may no longer be a matter of trying to keep cattle cool, but rather a case of trying to keep them alive. This is especially true for heavy weight, fat cattle that are about ready for market.

Cattle in close confinement (buildings, etc.) may have a greater problem than those with more room in outside dirt lots. In a Missouri study, cattle in open dirt lots, provided shades with metal roofs gained 0.1 lb/head/day faster than those without shade in July and August when temperatures exceeded 90 degrees F.; although, the cattle without shade caught up in September. Kansas research has shown 6% improvement in gain and 37% efficiency with shade.

Proper construction and location of shade is important. An aluminum or solid-type roof provides excellent shade. A single layer of snow fence is less effective. Shaded areas in lots should be designed to be 10-12 feet high and provide at least 20 square feet for 600 to 800 lb calves and up to 30 square feet for heavy cattle. Most shade should be oriented east-west. Trees can be used for shade, also.

Sprinklers have increased the rate and efficiency of cattle in July and August in Kansas studies. Sprinklers that are on two minutes and off 28 minutes were used in the Kansas studies. Sprinklers that deliver large droplets are better than those giving fine mists or fogs.

Heat problems may be increased with fogs or fine mist-mozles since they may increase humidity and reduce rate of evaporation. The system should be designed to deliver 0.6 gallons per animal per hour in the two minute wetting period.

Reduced feed intake is a main reason for the lower performance of feedlot cattle in hot weather. Replacing the roughage in rations with grain to reduce the heat increment (heat of digestion and metabolism) of a ration, has improved the performance of cattle in some studies.

Lowering the roughage in feedlot rations in hot weather has caused some problems with acidosis. Higher energy rations are harder to manage and may create more problems than they solve. Keeping feeds fresh by feeding more often and by liming feed outputs with the peak feed intakes of cattle will help increase feed consumption. Cattle tend to have consumption peaks near sunrise and sunset and a lesser peak in the middle of the night.

Other methods of minimizing heat stress is to allow greater area per animal (300 to 400 square feet) or reduce the number of head per pen. Keep lots current and control flies. Eliminating or minimizing other stress will lessen the effect that heat stress will have on the animal.

Ag olympics scheduled

"Olympic Games" come to Sioux City this summer! The Sioux City Stockyards will be the site of the 1984 Stouland Ag Olympics, a twenty-team event featuring such events as the haybale throw; the 50-lb. feed bag relay; and the egg pitching contest.

The "Ag Olympics," scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 18, is new to the Stouland area, according to meet director LeRoy Barnes. "This basically will be a day of fun for the contestants and spectators, but at the same time, we are drawing attention to agriculture and some of the skills that are used in farming enterprises," said Barnes.

He explained that eight different events will be held in the competition, with twenty teams of eight players (four men and four women) making up the field. All events will be held at the south end of the stockyards cattle facility, with bleacher seating available for the general public to view the games.

Trophies, medals, and certificates will be awarded to the top finishers in the competition. In addition, a band and dance will be held after the events, and food and drink will be available. Barnes noted that there is no admission charge to the Ag Olympics and everyone is welcome to attend.

The Ag Olympics "Corn Cob" will be carried from downtown Sioux City to the Stockyards, where Sioux City Mayor John Van Dyke will be on hand to officially open the games. Also on hand to help with the festivities will be the 1984 Farm-to-Market Truckers' Queen, Diane Koenig of Whiting, Iowa, and the 1984 KMNS Combine Queen, Kim Altman, Oto, Iowa.

Some of the area early team entries in the competition include: Cumming County, Pork Producers; Cedar Co. Livestock Feeders; Northeast Nebr. Livestock Feeders; Northeast Nebr. Pork Producers and Wayne Co. Pork Producers.

The eight events for the competition are: Backseat driver (involving a garden tractor); haybale throw; grain shovel race (one for the men and one for the women); bucket brigade relay; women's dinner run; egg pitching; and men's feed bag relay.

Door prizes will be given away, and a weight guessing contest is planned, also.

The 1984 Stouland Ag Olympics are co-sponsored by the Sioux City Stockyards and KMNS radio, Sioux City, along with the cooperation of area agribusinesses.

Funds for farm loans

An additional $250 million for farm operating loans is being made available immediately by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration, Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said today.

The funds are being transferred from other loan programs where, it is anticipated they will not be needed in the remaining 12 weeks of the current fiscal year.

"This move will help ensure that farmers' needs for credit to finance this year's production will be met," Block said. "These funds are in addition to a record-high $1.91 billion already budgeted for operating loans this year for Farmers Home Administration."

Of the $250 million total, $150 million in insured — or direct — loans is being moved from the single-family housing program, and $100 million in loan guarantees is being moved from the business and industry loan guarantee program.

The additional funds will be made available on an as-needed basis to Farmers Home Administration field offices.

Rules developed

Farmland protection needed

All federal agencies will be using criteria developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to determine if federal or federally aided construction will have any adverse effects on farmland designated for protection under the 1981 farm bill, a USDA official said today.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John B. Crowell, Jr., said USDA is issuing the rules to carry out its implementation of the Farmland Protection Policy Act of 1981.

Congress passed the farmland protection legislation as part of the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981. The law was designed to minimize the role of federal agencies in converting farmland and to ensure that federal agencies follow federal, state and local government policies to protect the nation's farmland. USDA cooperated with other federal agencies in developing the criteria for farmland protection.

Under the farmland protection law that the rules implement, federal agencies are required to measure the impact of their projects on farmland, and in some cases, consider alternative designs or locations to minimize the amount of farmland converted. The rule will apply to farmland that qualifies as prime or unique or that state and local governments identify as having state or local importance — if USDA agrees.

Crowell said USDA had taken care to see that the new rules would not let the federal government intrude on local land use policies or upset applications for federal assistance to development projects on farmland. "If a tract of prime farmland already is in or committed to urban development by local zoning, for example, the federal agency will not have to measure the impact of a development project on the site, Crowell said.

He said even where the federal agency studies the impact of a project on farmland and considers alternatives, the agency still will be free to go ahead with the project after the study. Moreover, no federal agency may use the rules as a reason for refusing any assistance to a development project on farmland, Crowell said.

USDA's Soil Conservation Service will provide technical assistance on farmland protection to agencies that request it, he said. Assistance on site assessments also will be available from many state or local government planning offices.

Pioneer farmers

PIONEER FARM Awards were presented to four families Sunday evening following the vesper service at the Dixon County Fair. Honored were the Erma Brammer farm, the Stark family farm near Ponca; Marvin and Lois Borg farm near Concord and the Fredrickson farm near Wakefield. Pictured, front left to right are: Mrs. Marlyn Koch, accepting award for Erma Brammer; Ed Stark, Linda Makosky, Alberta Stark, Carmen Stark, Amanda Stark and Richard Stark. In the back row are Marlyn Koch; Lois and Marvin Borg, Clifford and Doris Fredrickson and Ruby Pedersen of Omaha and Famy Johnson of Wakefield (both representatives of the Fredrickson farm).

One day in June, Mary Temme called from the extension office to say that he had more 4-Hers coming from Minnesota in July than they had hosts. They had one young lady just Kay's age whose mother was a nurse; so, naturally, I said we'd take her.

Soon, we got a picture of a smiling girl named Karen Younck, from Little Falls. I later learned that Charles Lindbergh was from Little Falls, Minn.

John's roommate from Aurora came to visit and we showed him the picture. His comment, "She looks like a 4-her." And, you know, he's right. 4-Hers have a special look: a combination of honest, friendly, enthusiastic, and creative.

Anyway, Karen was here the week of July 8-14, and we really enjoyed her. We hope she enjoyed us! When we have guests for that long, I suddenly notice all the bickering. She says, "warts and all."

I noticed on Saturday morning, when all the guests and host families gathered in the court house parking lot, that there were lots of hugs and a few tears. Kind of a taste of what having a foreign exchange student must be like.

Teen-agers are all alike. Karen liked shampoos in the shower, rock music, sleeping in, movies, boys, and jeans. Her father is a dairyman with an off-farm job to try to stay in farming.

She was their county's style-revive champ last year. Too bad we hadn't realized that in time to get some help with our sewing projects.

I'm showing the signs of summer. My back is peeling from the sunburn I acquired at Gavins Point, and I have chigger bits on my seat from watching ball games.

The flies are so thick, we have to wave our hands before we come in the door.

The news about mosquitoes is really discouraging. There are some 300 species over the entire globe. There are 200 in this country, and no state is without them.

Only females bite; they take in blood to supply protein for the eggs they lay. As blood goes in, saliva goes out, and we itch because of an allergic reaction.

As far as I can determine, there are only two positive benefits from mosquitoes; they provide protein for birds, fish and other insects; and they pollinate certain wildflowers.

No research confirms the effectiveness of the blue-light bug zappers. The Reader's Digest says we have three choices: 1) adopt a barnyard animal. Mosquitoes would rather dine on an animal. "It has long been known in Italy that those who sleep with a pig in the same room tend to remain free of malaria." 2) Smear chemicals on your skin.

DEET is truly repellent to mosquitoes. A lady in the beauty shop told me she finds vanilla effective. I'll try it on my walk tonight. 3) Give up and go inside. Killing a few hundred mosquitoes per day is like trying to ladle out the ocean with a teaspoon.

Uncle Reuben writes that, he, too, enjoyed Bess Streeter Aldrich. But an English teacher said her books were for reading from a hammock, on a warm summer day.

We're having warm summer days. Remember, "Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body." This is my answer to all the sweating joggers I see on the roads. I've noticed quite a few couples just walking together in the evening. I highly recommend this, too.

July is National Baked Bean Month. It's also the special month for the peach, the blueberry, and the hot dog. Most important, it's Ice Cream Month. And warm summer days lend themselves to the eating of ice cream. And lying in hammocks, reading good books, swatting flies and mosquitoes!

Winside news

Helen Hancock

New Winside correspondent

The Wayne Herald this week announces the appointment of Helen Hancock as the new correspondent for the Winside area. Mrs. Hancock, a native of Winside, takes over the duties of correspondent for that area from Phyllis Gallup.

Mrs. Gallup, who resigned her position to take a full-time job in Norfolk, has written for The Wayne Herald the past two years.

MRS. HANCOCK, daughter of Walt and Ethel Hamm of Winside, is a graduate of Winside High School.

She attended Norfolk Junior College one year and continued to reside and work in Norfolk until approximately 1970 when she moved to Omaha.

While in Omaha she was employed by the U.S. Checkbook Co.

In 1976 she moved back to Winside, where she is a member of the United Methodist Church and active in the FIG's organization. She also is a sponsor for the church's youth group.

THE MOTHER OF three children, including Wins and Jennifer, age 9, and Amy, 2. Mrs. Hancock said her hobbies include crafts, crocheting and baking.

Persons in the Winside area with news they would like included in The Wayne Herald are asked to contact Mrs. Hancock at 286-4265.

WINSIDE COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The Winside Community Improvement met July 18 at the Stop Inn.

More donations have been received for the table and chairs fund for the auditorium. Fund raisers were discussed as more money is needed.

Lilac bushes were planted on the south side of the park. The Helping Hands 4-H Club assisted in the planting.

A letter was received with suggestions for the city park. Some new equipment will be purchased in the near future.

The street signs will be put up the week of July 23.

Interest has been shown to have a Community Theater again this year. Anyone interested in participating, please contact Gloria Lessman.

The scrapbook for the state is being put together. It is due September 15. Persons who have something they wish put in it, please contact a member of the organization.

The next meeting will be August 15.

ST. PAUL'S CHRISTIAN COUPLES

A family picnic was held July 20 at Bressler Park. Families attending were Cyril and Bev Hansen, Dan and Bonnie Hansen, Rod and Claire Brogren, Bob and Marie Janke, Norman and Mary Jensen, Dean and Dalsy Janke, Brian and Kathy Stoltenberg, and Ron and Rhonda Sebade. Guests were David Steckelberg and Lisa Janke.

After the picnic supper all joined in playing various games. The evening closed with devotions led by Cyril Hansen.

The next meeting will be August 17 at 8 p.m.

All couples of St. Paul's Lutheran congregation are invited.

THEOPHILUS LADIES AID

The Theophilus Ladies Aid met July 19 in the Mrs. Duane Thompson home.

Mrs. Herman Reeg presented the program, "The Earth is the Lord's." She then read Psalm 23. The group sang three hymns. The program closed with prayer.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Margaret Coulter, president. The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Clara Frevert.

The flower committee for September, October and November is Mrs. Herman Reeg, Mrs. Harold Ritze and Mrs. Duane Thompson. Emily Reeg will have the card box.

The next meeting will be August 23 in the Margaret Coulter home. Ruby Ritze will have the program.

PINOCHLE CLUB

The Pinochle Club met July 20 in the Otto Herman home. Guests were Leona Backstrom and Myrtle Nielsen. Ida Fenske received high and Laura Jaeger had low. The next meeting will be held August 3 at the home of Marian Iversen.

S.O.S. CLUB

Mrs. Edgar Marotz was hostess to the eight members present for the July 20 meeting of the S.O.S. Club.

Roll call for the meeting was, "Easy Way to Get Into Trouble." "How Did You Celebrate the Fourth of July Years Ago?" was the topic of the meeting. The songs sung were, "America" and "Darling Nellie Gray."

Ten Point Pitch was played for the afternoon entertainment. Marie Suehl received high with Lena Jensen receiving second high.

The next meeting will be August 17 at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Lena Jensen.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Edgar Marotz.

SCATTERED NEIGHBORS

Nine members of the Scattered Neighbors Club took a tour July 18.

Places toured were The Flower Shop in Wisner, Wimmers, The Craft and Gift Shop, The Old Blacksmith Shop in West Point. The group ate a noon luncheon at the Villa Inn in Norfolk. The afternoon was spent touring Gillette Dairy and the Norfolk Daily News.

The next meeting will be held August 15. It will be the Clubs 30 Anniversary Party with Mrs. Wilmer Deck as hostess.

F.I.G.S.

The F.I.G.S. met July 17 at the United Methodist Church basement with 7 members present.

Chairperson Judy Carlson opened the meeting with prayer.

Discussion was held on the upcoming 100th Centennial to be held September 23. They will help serve the supper. F.I.G.S. will be helping the Youth Group by sponsoring a "fun" event.

Next meeting will be August 23 with Judy Carlson hosting.

FRIENDLY WEDNESDAY CLUB

Five members of the Friendly Wednesday Club met July 18 for dinner at the Lumber Co. in Wayne.

They spent a social afternoon in the Florence Niemann home. The next meeting will be August 15 at the home of Mrs. Wesley Ruback.

Leisure Living Latex Enamel is a durable paint for interior woodwork and walls. Applies easily and dries quickly to a smooth, nearly flat finish that is resistant to stains and is color fast. Warranted one-coat coverage when applied as directed. In white and 40 colors. (F01)2-074

LEISURE LIVING
WARRANTED ONE-COAT & SCRUBBABLE latex flat enamel FOR WALLS AND WOODWORK CUSTOM WHITE F012-074

How to ESTIMATE PAINT LIKE A PRO.

Estimate the square foot of your walls. First measure the perimeter of the room. Then multiply this figure by the height of the room. Check the square footage of doors, windows, fireplaces, built-in shelves, etc. If the total area is more than 50 sq. ft. subtract it from the total square footage. The average covering power of the paint is 400 sq. ft. per gallon. Divide the total square footage of the walls by the average number of coats you want. This will tell you how many gallons of paint you will need. Buy one extra gallon. You may want to keep some on hand in case of a change.

For an example let's paint a room 12 x 12 with an 8' ceiling. The perimeter is 48 x 8 = 384 sq. ft. The height of the walls is 12 x 8 = 96 sq. ft. The total square footage of the walls is 384 + 96 = 480 sq. ft. Subtract the square footage of doors, windows, fireplaces, built-in shelves, etc. from the total square footage. The average covering power of the paint is 400 sq. ft. per gallon. Divide the total square footage of the walls by the average number of coats you want. This will tell you how many gallons of paint you will need. Buy one extra gallon. You may want to keep some on hand in case of a change.

EMT LICENSE
Tom Huddleston of Laurel was recently issued an advanced Emergency Medical Technician license by the Iowa Board of Medical Examiners on July 5. Guidelines for the course permitted Tom to learn the skills of "successful" venipuncture, intravenous therapy and advanced airway management by the use of esophageal obturator airway (E.O.A.), esophageal gastric airway (E.G.T.A.) and endotracheal intubation, as well as the application of medical anti shock trousers. (M.A.S.T.). Tom will now apply for the final class of advanced EMT-P. If accepted he will learn drug administration and therapy, advanced cardiac dysrhythmia detection and defibrillation techniques, all for the license of paramedic.

His training has been through Western Iowa Tech, St. Luke's Medical Center and Marian Health Center in Sioux City. He is currently a holder of an EMT-A license in Nebraska and Iowa and EMT-I license in Iowa.

He and his wife Lori live in Laurel. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huddleston of Laurel.

Considering Their Short Distance Rates, No Wonder They Call Themselves Long Distance Phone Companies.

Cost of a 6-minute call at Day Rates excluding tax.

Distance of call	NWB	Sprint	MCI	Thrifty Call
10 miles	.94	.96	.90	.84
20 miles	1.09	1.31	1.26	1.14
30 miles	1.39	1.66	1.56	1.40

Sprint rates are based on FCC Tariff #11. Thrifty Call rates in effect as of 6-84. MCI rates are based on FCC Tariff #1. NWB rates are based on the intrastate tariff in Nebraska. Bell Zone calls within Iowa are billed at similar rates. Bell Zone calls that cross state lines are billed at a higher interstate rate.

If you're thinking about using one of those new long distance phone companies to place short long distance calls, there's a good chance that you'll pay more than you should. You need to know about something called a Bell™ Zone. It's sometimes referred to as a Local Access and Transport Area (LATA) and it's where Northwestern Bell can provide your long distance service.

In the process, we can often save you money. As you can see from the chart, our rates are competitive. More importantly, you'll get what you pay for—clean, clear connections on every call. Or your money back.*

And, of course, our long distance service offers calling ease that is second to none. Simply dial "1" plus the number. Include the Area Code only if it's different from your own. So the next time you think about using one of those other long distance phone companies, consider where you're calling. If it's in your Bell Zone, we could save you money.

1+ Northwestern Bell

*If you reach a wrong number, have a poor connection or any other problem, hang up and dial "0" right away. The Operator will arrange for the proper credit on your bill.

COMMUNITY CLUB

At a meeting of the Wakefield Community Club July 12, Marvne Ekberg was elected secretary of the organization. She replaces Marty Burgess who is leaving the community.

There were 41 who attended the meeting held in the city council room and hosted by Borg Supply. Mrs. Alden Johnson, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $2,667.71. President Marvin Borg reported on standing committee structure, chairperson heads and asked for volunteers for each committee.

He also spoke on the Dixon County Fair being held this week. The group voted to purchase 4-H livestock at both the Dixon and Wayne County fairs.

Mike Salmon reported on the community float and recognized individuals from the Senior Citizen Center and businesses for donating items. Mrs. Joyce Kuhl gave a report on the Fourth of July celebration and Warren Bressler reported on the bridge construction north of town. At the present time the bridge is to be closed 90 days with a Nov. 1 opening date.

Bill Benson announced that the Lions Club Golf Tournament for father/sons will be held Aug. 5 at the Logan Valley Golf Course. An open discussion was held on a Saturday night celebration but no action was taken.

Bill Hornbecker announced a bankruptcy meeting will be held July 31 at 8 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center concerning Chapters 11 and 13. He said the meeting is primarily for small businesses and farmers and not for creditors but they are welcome to attend if they so desire.

Connie Navrkal, director at the Senior Citizen's Center, reported the need for pictures for the community scrapbook. Randy Lanning from the Wakefield National Bank, Dr. Darrell Lee and Dan Dutcher, District Moorman manager were introduced.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 9 in the city council room with Myron Olson from the Sioux City Journal as host.

NEW COMMANDER

The Anton Bokemper Post #1 met July 11 at the Legion Hall. Larry Anderson was installed as commander; Tom Eaton - first vice commander; Jeff Swanson - second vice commander; Eugene Swanson - adjutant; Roland Slagle - treasurer; Terry Turner - chaplain and Eph Johnson - sergeant-at-arms. Dean Ulrich, Third District Vice Commander, was the installing officer.

During the meeting the state baseball tournament, to be held here Aug. 10-15 was discussed. Don Rouse will serve as tournament director, assisted by Jim Clark and Eugene Swanson. The Committee chairmen appointed to handle the tournament include Eugene Johnson - tickets; James Gustafson - parking; Merlin Olson - publicity and Eugene Swanson - color guard. Commander Anderson announced that Jim Clark will serve as children and youth chairman for the coming year; Don Rouse - athletic chairman; Eugene Swanson - membership and Tom Eaton - Americanism.

TEMPERANCE UNION
 Friendship Womens Christian Temperance Union sponsored a LTL Day Camp, July 17, 10 a.m. held at the United Methodist Church basement, with seven children attending — Kathy, Chris, Mike Pierce, Tricia Bathke, Ryan Hintz, Chris and Mandy Hartung. The children had singing, scripture reading, work-time and games before their noon lunch. Ade Prescott and Helen Gould were leaders. At 2 p.m. the WCTU ladies met with the children giving the program on the work they had accomplished. They gave a tobacco experience, showing the effects. The group sang the songs they had learned, including "I'm in The Lords Army," "Zachaeus," and "This Little Light of Mine," also a skill "Who Likes Tobacco" which they all took part in. Helen Gould had devotions and read several articles on Our Country, America. She also showed films on "Four Secrets of the wicked Oooooze" (Alcohol). 1. Sneaky, 2. Drug, 3. Hurts people, 4. Wicked Oooooze, can't hurt you if you don't open the bottle. The second film dealing with smoking was "Lite up Lucifer has met his Match," smoking can make you sick, set your home on fire and shortens your life. An offering was received and given for film expense. Next meeting is August 21, 2 p.m., Dixon Methodist Church. A cooperative lunch was served.
