Outdoor classroom

To some people passing through Wayne, going by Wayne-Carroll High School and heading on west, the patch of wild flowers (and weeds) are sure to catch their attention. According to school officials, the patch where the wild flowers are now planted had been a grass area at one time. But the grass slowly died. Rather than sod the area, the idea popped up to plant the area into wild flower seed. The nature area has become a classroom for science classes at Wayne State College, who study the various plants. Inside the patch are the following species: scarlet flax, baby breath, bachelor button, wallflower, catchfly, blue flax, evening primrose, lance leaved coriopsis, dame's rocket, poor man's weather glass, corn poppy, black eyed susan, baby snapdragon and the iceland poppy. School officials said they did not expect the weeds to infiltrate the wild flower patch so heavily. The solution to the weedy problem still remains uncertain at this time. Making a quick study in the flower patch are Wayne Carroll high school students Mary Sieler, Casey Nichols and Dave Hintz.

How are the Conservation Tillage corn and soybean plots looking in Wayne County?

Last spring the Wayne County Extension Service planted nine different conservation tillage plots in the county using no-till planters. A pre-harvest tour is being held September 18 and 19 so farmers can take a look at each of these plots and compare their progress to conventional tillage.

The first tour will be Tuesday September 18 starting at 1:00 p.m. at the Verlyn Stoltenberg farm, 1 mile north and 1/8 mile west of Carroll. A field of no-till corn planted in soybean residue will be viewed. Other no-till planted fields that will be inspected include corn sowed into heavy irrigated cornstalk residue and dry land corn on corn.

The second tour will be the same day Tuesday, September 18 starting at the Larry Bowers field, 3 miles west and 1 mile south and 1/4 mile west of Winside starting at 3:00 p.m. This will be a field of no-till corn planted into soybean residue. On the Mike Melerhenry farm 5 miles west of Winside and 1/2 mile north a field of corn planted in 2-year-old sweet clover stubble will be looked at as well as a field of no-till corn planted into silage corn stubble.

A third tour will be held at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday September 19, starting at the Stan Baier field, 4 miles south and 3/4 miles east of Wayne. Fields of no-till planted soybeans and corn will be looked at. The last stop of this tour will be the Ervin Hagemann Jr. field 5 miles south and 1 3/4 miles east of Wayne. A field of no-till corn planted in soybean residue will be shown.

Students seek alternative

Grad ceremony questioned

A new policy concerning commencement and finals is creating a stir among seniors and other students at Wayne State College.

Effective after this December's commencement, graduating seniors will be returning to the classrooms and taking their required finals, according to the terms of the new policy.

Doug Vieselmeyer, a student member of a committee recently organized to change the commencement policy, is currently carrying an "above b" average. Whether or not he graduates with honors, he said, won't be decided until after the commencement or after the finals are taken.

His parents will come a long way to watch him graduate. But Vieselmeyer said there will be little time for visiting his relation because he'll have to concentrate on his studies for finals.

The diploma, he said, will be mailed to him.

This Saturday (Sept. 8), he and committee members will be circulating a petition to see if a change can be made in the commencement policy.

What the committee would prefer over the present alternative is to have the finals first and then the commencement.

AT THE PRESENT time, seniors who are to receive diplomas are given "minimum grades" (lowest possible grades they could receive) by their instructors to determine graduate eligibility, according to Ed Elliott, president of Wayne State College.

The focus of discussion in changing the graduation policy, Elliott said, was to see that the senior students had met all the necessary academic requirements before leaving the school.

Some students, he said, would be released from class five to six days before the final exams, leaving only the minimum grades as the mark for the students.

"This policy will now make it difficult or impossible for a minimum grade to be turned in," he said.

At future commencement ceremonies, Elliott said he will remark that the diplomas will be awarded on the condition that the student has satisfactorily completed the necessary academic requirements.

"This was not the administrative office's proposal," Elliott said. "It was the faculty proposal because it deals with academic concerns."

"Whether it's the best way or not is subject to debate," he added.

THERE WOULD be some inconvenience if finals came first before commencement, Elliott said.

"The campus would be empty then for commencement. No music students would be around [to play for the ceremony]. We could force them to come back, but that would be unfair," he said.

"We could also have to keep the dormitories open for the students," he said.

Even if a petition is gathered, Elliott said it still must be presented to the faculty senate "because it is a faculty matter."

Elliott said he would be willing to accept the petition and is willing to listen to any college group on any concern.

Student committee member Vieselmeyer, seeking a business marketing major at Wayne State College, said if the "finals, then commencement" alternative is not considered practical by the faculty senate, the committee would rather "go back to the same old way it was" instead of the "commencement, finals" policy now adopted.

Airport runway paving finished

Asphalting of the Wayne Municipal Airport's 600 foot Runway Four extension has been completed, according to Orrin Zach, airport manager.

Plans had called for the extension of the northeast end of Runway Four by 600 feet. The new addition would be 60 feet wide.

The remaining 2,800 feet of the runway has received an asphalt overlay. So the entire width of Runway Four is 60 feet. The ramp area of the airport also received an overlay of asphalt and was widened by 15 feet.

Yet to be completed is the painting, electrical and sodding work, Zach mentioned Tuesday.

The estimated cost for the project was approximately $350,000. That figure included land acquisition, construction costs, engineering fees, contingencies, legal advertising and a portion of the cost to draw up the "airport master plan" layout.

AMONG THE projects proposed in the master plan is the construction of a north-south runway at the airport. This project will not start until federal grants are secured.

Nothing is planned for the current grass runway strip at the local airport since it is situated between a state highway and a creek.

Most of the financing for the new runway extension will come from federal dollars. Ninety percent will be received from the federal government, another five percent provided by the state and the remainder will be picked up by the local government.

The federal government monies is derived from use/tax on aviation fuel.

The runway extension, when totally completed, will now allow smaller jets to utilize the local airport facilities.

County dairy team takes first place

Wayne County team members earned first place in the 4-H dairy judging contest with 1,830 points, well ahead of second place Gage County with 1,774 points at the Nebraska State Fair.

Erin Marolz of Hoskins paced the team with the highest individual score of 629 and earned a gold medal. The win also brought Wayne County the right to represent Nebraska in the National 4-H Dairy Contest to take place in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wisconsin on Oct. 3.

Team member Debby Bull of Wayne earned the silver medal with 609 points, with teammates Julie Anderson of Wayne earning 592 points (fifth place) and Russel Puls of Hoskins earning 582 points (seventh place).

The judging team will be accompanied to Madison by Dwight Anderson, judging team coach, and Don C. Spitzer, Wayne County extension agent.

Also, in a story last week concerning the first place Wayne County Entomology Judging team at the Nebraska State Fair, it was not mentioned that Vini Johar placed fourth in the contest.

Head lice information

Most Nebraska schools will be opening in late August. Unfortunately, unwelcome visitors are likely to accompany the children back to school. These visitors, known as head lice, are most abundant during September. It is thought that the reason for their initial occurrence is because of the general lack of awareness that exists through the summer vacation months.

Since head lice are very small (about the size of two pin heads) and are most often concealed in the head hair, particularly about the nape of the neck and behind the ears, they often go undetected. Usually, the first sign of an infestation is itching of the scalp. Upon closer inspection, the nits or eggs of the lice are often discovered attached to the base of the hair shaft. As the hair grows, these firmly attached eggs will move further from the scalp and become even more apparent.

Generally, it takes only a few confirmed cases of head lice to set off an often times unnecessary overreaction to this malady. Head lice can be acquired by anyone regardless of their personal cleanliness; however, their spread can be easily controlled when properly informed on the measures necessary to suppress a possible outbreak. One of the easiest ways to avoid an outbreak of head lice is for parents and school officials to anticipate this recurring problem.

Based on the unusual number of calls received during this summer at the State Health Department, it appears that this year could potentially be a good year for head lice.

Further information such as brochures, advice and films concerning head lice and their control can be acquired by writing the State Health Department, Division of Housing and Environmental Health, P.O. Box 95007, c/o Dr. John P. Smith, Lincoln, Ne 68509.

Immunization levels

Immunization levels among school-age children in Nebraska reached an all-time high in 1983. The number of cases of measles and rubella reached a historic low in the same period. These noteworthy events are the direct result of high immunization levels across the country.

Immunization data was released by the Nebraska Department of Health in the 1983-84 Report of the Nebraska Immunization Program. The data is collected from the schools and represents 100 percent reporting of the 297,696 student, K-12, in the state. Specifically, there are 14,000 students who do not demonstrate adequate protection against measles.

Nebraska law requires all students be immunized before November 1 unless the parent or guardian signs a statement saying they do not want their child protected by immunizations. All students should have a measles-mumps-rubella shot, and a minimum of three doses of mumps and three doses of DTP/A. In some cases, children need booster doses. When in doubt, parents should check with their doctor.

Bike-A-Thon Chairmen Announced

Thomas Horeis, president of the Nebraska Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, today announced the appointment of Sandy Chase of Allen, Mrs. Mary Schraeder of Wakefield and Caroline Peterson of Laurel as the chairmen of the annual Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-Thon. The purpose of the bike-a-thon is to increase public awareness of cystic fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, care and treatment of CF children and young people in Nebraska.

"Cystic fibrosis (CF) kills more children each year than diabetes and muscular dystrophy combined. Every day an average of five American children are born with cystic fibrosis and three die from it," Horeis said.

For information about the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-thon or about other ways to help, contact the above chairmen or write the Nebraska Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 5017 Leavenworth Street, Omaha, Ne 68106.

IRS looking for volunteers

Volunteers and sponsoring organizations are needed to help others with their federal and state income tax returns as part of the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) and Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service.

VITA/TCE volunteers assist taxpayers, often elderly, lower income, handicapped or non-English speaking individuals, who need explanations of the special credits and deductions for which they may qualify. VITA/TCE volunteers, frequently college students, law students or members of professional business and volunteer organizations, receive a training course in basic income tax law and return preparation. VITA/TCE instructors and training materials are provided by the IRS. Training is conducted at a location convenient to volunteers and generally starts in November and continues through December of each year. Training classes run from three to five days, depending on the experience of the volunteers.

VITA/TCE programs can be sponsored by local civic or fraternal organizations, educational institutions, churches and social groups. For the convenience of taxpayers who cannot travel, most VITA/TCE volunteers provide assistance in their own neighborhoods at schools, churches, libraries, civic and social facilities.

Persons or organizations interested in the VITA/TCE program should contact the IRS by calling toll free 800-424-1040 or 221-3304 if in the Omaha area exchange.

by chuck hackenmiller

There are some things which really scare me. Make me shake and quiver. It's not squeaky noises in the evening that come from the basement. Or it isn't the threat of being whisked away by foreign spaceships during the early morning hours of Wednesday or Saturday. Newspaper deadlines are frightening, but not downright scary. Driving the fast-paced highways of Los Angeles during the 5 p.m. rush hour (in someone else's rented vehicle) which I did this past winter is more of a panicky nature and frustrating. But what sends shivers down my spine is what lots of households have, either stored in their closets or suitcases. And it's not a can of Lysol, cause germs usually don't scare me either (unless they are bigger than I am).

I'm paranoid of those small instamatic cameras. Those kind that can get lost in my front pocket or suit jacket. Ones which take too long when it comes time to wind the film for the next shot because the winder can't be found.

For many photographers, amateur or professional, an instamatic camera suits the purpose. Please don't consider my misfortunes with these small cameras as common occurrences. My wife is perfectly happy with her instamatic.

But I'm not.

SOMETIMES MY 35mm camera isn't loaded with color film. Now, everyone probably knows that the first born in the family always is the most photographed subject, particularly during the first three or four years of age.

So when picture potential beckons, a camera with color film loaded should be handy.

With a loaded instamatic in my hands, I'm a man looking for disaster. There is sure to be a blur, a camera strap or a finger posed in the center of the photograph. By the time I locate the shutter release and push it down, the camera originally held at a horizontal suddenly becomes slightly vertical.

And the shaking that goes with the lopsided angle certainly doesn't help toward improving the distortion.

Often in newspaper photography, we get called upon to snap a "photographer posing with photography subject" picture. Many of them have these instamatics with the automatic focus, automatic flash cameras which they hand over to me.

In our business it is required to know about aperture settings, ASA settings, backlighting, filters, flash synchronization, stop action, shutter speed, depth of field and available light.

So how come it is so hard for me to find the gizmo on the instamatic camera which pops out the flash? Why am I always pushing the film advance instead of the shutter release?

But admittedly, cameras have come a long way from what we used on the farm 20 years ago. Color photography wasn't as popular then as it is now. And most of the shots with the instamatics were either posed or group pictures. I liked those bulky cameras that didn't move whenever the shutter release was touched.

However, modern instamatics are certainly convenient and produce good results. It's just that the lighter the camera is, the more difficult it becomes for me to take a presentable photograph.

For some people, the instamatic is a blessing. But to me, it's a curse.

If you could just see all those vacation shots when the mountains are scenically blended into the background of a big finger and the black object seen in the take photo is actually the camera strap.

Or when the picture appears to have been taken underwater because it is so blurry and the beautiful once-in-a-lifetime sunset photo is lost because the camera was turned the wrong way and instead you got the most perfect shot of a nose.

If you are like me when it comes to instamatics, you learn the hard way.

Risky business

The letter below, written by Linda Kneil of Ravenna, Nebraska, to the editor of the York News-Times, states clearly and mistakenly a safety message which needs to be communicated to all motorists in Nebraska.

Maintenance work on the highways is a hazardous job. Over the past 40 years, the Department of Roads has had an average of one maintenance employee killed every year while working on Nebraska highways.

Louis Lamberty, state engineer, said the employees have been trained extensively on proper signing, barricading and other projects for work sites. They are currently reviewing procedures to determine how they can be improved, but the cooperation of the traveling public is needed. Below is Kneil's letter.

"Safety is the main concern for the protection of life and property for us as drivers of motor vehicles on Nebraska highways. For the most part, we focus on drivers safety in areas of drunk drivers, seat belts, saving gas and speed limits.

What do you think about and do when you see men-working signs, flashing arrows, flag people or other warnings?

Do you ever give thought to the State Department of Road employees working to improve the quality and safety of the roads you drive on? Do you realize the hours they put in day or night, winter or summer, repairing holes, replacing guard rails, building new road surfaces, plowing snow, spreading sand, clearing up after traffic accidents and helping our stranded motorists who find themselves in need of help?

Or as a motorist, do you think of the inconvenience of a construction area, your time lost, and at the same time go through the area as fast as you think you dare?

Imagine that you are driving along a Nebraska highway and see men-working signs and a flag person, you look down to check your speed. With that information in mind, would you be willing to trade places with that flag person? Or how about the one that is repairing the road near the centerline who is not watching the traffic but what he is doing?

They are often not aware of you because of the noise that is being made by the machine used in the performance of their work which will make driving safer and smoother for you, the motorist.

I know in many cases drivers would be scared to death to change roles, knowing the approaching speed of their cars and their mental attitude. It's way past time to think of and consider the safety and well being of these state employees working on our highways.

Flag people and fluorescent orange help, if they are not used as targets by motor vehicle operators.

Maybe it's time to make a law to be able to post 25 mph speed limit signs in the area where they are working and enforce it! It's really sad to have to make us do something when we should want to for the sake of human life. What's a little inconvenience to us when we are talking human life.

After all, that is someone's husband, son or father working for you and trusting you.

If posting 25 mph speed limit signs is what it takes, then let's make it a law! Maybe it will keep other state department highway employees from getting killed like the one on July 31 near Aurora and the many others before him."

What applies as a message to those traveling on state highways should also be recognized by city residents who drive too close to city workmen repairing streets or doing other aspects of their duty.

Driving as sensible as possible is one way to rid of the near escapes which can occur to those who are employed by the state or communities to make streets and highways safer for motorists.

a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q. My mother died recently after a long illness, leaving four children. She did not have a will. How will her estate be divided? I took care of her during her illness. Is any claim allowed against the estate for taking care of her?

If there is no will, your mother's estate would be divided equally between the four children. Generally, arrangements where an adult child takes care of an ill or elderly parent are considered to be made gratuitously with no basis for later compensation. If, however, you serve under a contractual agreement of some kind, you may be able to collect some compensation from your mother's estate apart from any other share you might be entitled to.

If you believe that you have some legal right to receive special awards from your mother's estate, you should consult a lawyer for a more thorough analysis.

Thanks for the memories—and centennial souvenir

Letter to the editor

Congratulations to The Wayne Herald! Must write and tell you what a wonderful Centennial Souvenir Edition 1884-1984 you put out. It is so interesting that once one gets started to read all the stories and look at all the wonderful pictures it is hard to put it aside.

As I am in a wheelchair I don't get down town to know where all the businesses are located and also there are quite a few residents in business whom I do not know. So I do not know the employers and these fine photos are much enjoyed by me.

So many changes have been made. For instance when I walked to school I always thought that the town of Wayne started at the end of this sidewalk down by Logan Creek and we told everyone that we lived 1/2 mile south of Wayne.

Now we are told that we live a mile south from 7th St. Some of the old landmarks are still along that way that I remember. The Wayne Skelgas has put up a new building which now contains a laundromat and dry-cleaning establishment and Skelgas which they deliver to their customers in the area.

In earlier years as I walked to college, I knew most of the people who lived along the way. Now so many hot dog stands, ice cream parlors and pizza huts are located on almost every corner, so people don't have to be hungry providing there is plenty of money in their pockets.

I often wonder where all these country names come into being such as "The Lumber Yard, Cattle Shed, "Burger Barn," "The Granary," and one I noticed lately was "Feed Bunk." But from what I have heard they are beautiful inside and that is what counts along with good food and soft music.

I will always remember Bill Stewart the cop and his large dog which carried the package of meat home for dinner.

I was so glad that I was able to see the Square Dance last Friday night. It was a rather different undertaking with a wheelchair but no one would be able to park a wheelchair in a car and find no place to park.

But there are some wonderful people in Wayne such as Dick and Marjorie Armstrong. They call on me quite often. I mentioned one time that I would like to see the Square Dance but didn't know how I would get there. Well Dick said that he would see that I got there.

It was about 4 or 5 blocks down there from the Care Centre and it wasn't too easy going up and down the curbs and watching traffic. The motorcycles and cars were moving fast in both directions but we finally made it to a good place to sit down right across from Dr. Koebic optometrist's office building where we could see that beautiful mural. It is a beautiful piece of work and the artists should be commended for their work. We got home across the streets all right in spite of the heavy traffic.

Dick was also on hand to wheel me down to the east side of the Home on Saturday afternoon where some of the residents were able to see the Shriners Parade with their beautiful white horses and little cars. That was wonderful.

The fire works were beautiful coming up above the dancers on Friday night.

On Labor Day afternoon some friends wheeled me out south of the Home and we enjoyed the long parade of beautiful horses and the vehicles. So I saw and enjoyed the Centennial in fine shape.

Working together makes for centennial's success

To the editor:

Putting away the petticoats, storing the antique costumes in mothballs, shaving off the beards and trying to return to normalcy.

No more late nights for the cast of "Wayne America," no more early morning or lunchtime meetings for the steering committee and their heads of helpers, no more phone calls trying to line up entertainment or parades. No more logging tons of audio equipment, video cameras, and table and chairs. No more planning for floats or wind-ups or "Sales of the Century." No more choir practice for the mass choir.

Now is the time to sit back a bit, put up your aching feet, and reflect a moment on the great time that was had by all during the Centennial events. Think for a moment about the crazy stunts, the Christmas trees, maypole races and the quilts, about the blitz zard during April's Church Heritage Day, the wonderful feeds, the sharing of stories, skills and family heirlooms, the buttons, "Fresh Aire" and Charley Pride, "Wayne America," the regattas and the mud runs, the dances and the sports days, the costumes and the fireworks, the arts shows, puppet shows and pet shows, lemonade and ice cream socials, square dancing and horseshoe pitching, the black powder exhibition, the murals and the country school, the speeches, the royalty and the parades.

Not everyone was able to share in everything but there was something for everyone. We'll remember the fun when we look at our souvenirs, or read the reports in the newspapers.

The most important part is the fact that for these past days the people of Wayne have shared together in a meaningful way. This was very evident during the Festival of Faith when the singing was robust and sincere. It was proven by the number of people lined up all along the parade routes from one end to the other. It was shown again by the smiles on the faces and pats on the backs of a people having fun together from the festive Christmas trees to the Centennial Dance and the clipping off of Ralph Barclay's moustache, whenever people put aside their differences to share a good time.

Now the celebration is over. When we talk about it being a great success, let us celebrate the fact that the greatest success of all is the sharing the working together for a common purpose. Old timers in Wayne, native sons and daughters, and newcomers all can continue to share together, to be friendly, to reach out to one another, to play together, sing together and pray together as we pick the best of the past for the future. In that way the next 100 years will be a success too.

A Newcomer,
Mary Manson

Community involvement makes weekend special

To the editor:

Congratulations to your community on an excellent Centennial finale over the Labor Day weekend. We were absolutely amazed at the total community commitment involved at the many events.

The "Wayne America" production was an obvious highlight for us as I am sure it was for everyone who attended. What a legacy to give to a community on it's birthday! The writers, cast, and research staff are all to be commended for an excellent and professional production.

The total community involvement and dedication was evident from the time we saw the petunias on the streets, the displays in the windows, the special dress, the beards, the Uncle Sam costume, and all the way through a 2 1/2 Grand Parade.

Thank you, "Wayne" for making this Centennial and weekend so special!
John and Carla Watson

Food and drug interactions

One out of five people takes a nonprescription medicine each day, but over half of them do not take medicines as instructed. Most medicines do not cause nutritional problems, nor do most foods dramatically change the actions of drugs.

We hear more and more about foods and drugs interacting and causing problems for some people.

The most common interaction between a food and drug occurs when a drug is being absorbed. Food may delay or prevent a drug from being absorbed. A delay in absorption may slow down the action of the drug.

Less common is the prevention of absorption. When absorption is prevented the dosage may be reduced and the drug will work less effectively.

COMMON SENSE is the best preventative measure for food and drug interactions. Read the labels on over-the-counter medications and any package inserts that come with prescription drugs for any warnings.

Always follow the directions carefully when taking medicines. Ever a little difference can cause big problems.

Most pharmacists and doctors explain how to take a medication and any cautions you should know. Ultimately, it is the patient's responsibility to learn how and when to take a medication. Be sure to ask whether you should avoid any specific foods while taking a prescribed drug.

While taking a drug be sure to tell your physician about any unusual symptoms that follow eating certain foods. Don't stop taking a medication until you've asked your doctor about any adverse reaction.

NEVER MIX alcohol and drugs. Many reactions are triggered by this combination.

Most often a medication should be taken with a full glass of ordinary tap water. Some fruit juices may irritate the stomach and milk could slow the drug's absorption. Always ask the doctor or pharmacist for sure.

Keep track of all prescription and over-the-counter medicines you regularly take. When a new medication is prescribed, ask about any possible interactions with drugs you are already taking.

If some of the drug is left after your health is improved, throw the medication away. The doctor may not prescribe the same medication the next time. Old prescriptions are dangerous to you and others.

KNOWING WHAT medicines you are taking and following instructions carefully will prevent most food and drug interactions. Drug interactions are complicated, confusing and dangerous. Don't put your health at risk.

Devils show force in Schuyler win

Combine an offensive performance of 292 yards with total-kick returns of 208 yards and fans of Wayne-Carroll Blue Devils football came up with a 43-0 victory over the Schuyler Warriors in the home opener at Memorial Stadium on Friday night.

"It was a combination of all things," said Blue Devil head Coach Lonnie Ehrhardt. "Our punt returns helped us a lot, along with completion of some key passes during the game. It was an all-out good effort by everyone."

That effort saw the Devils turn out an offensive display which produced 43 points and a defensive show which held the Warriors to 9 yards total offense and never got further into Wayne territory than the 42-yard line.

SENIOR RUNNING back Steve Overin broke loose for three of Wayne's scores, including runs of 38, 5 and 32 yards. He totaled 122 yards on 9 carries for the night.

Punt returns of 71 and 48 yards by senior running back Kevin Maly also did much to spark the Wayne team in the win.

"We're very happy for Kevin," said Ehrhardt. "He works very hard in practice and tonight the blocks just went together out there the right way."

Pete Warne, a senior wingback, picked in a 33-yard pass by senior quarterback Brad Moore to account for the final Blue Devil touchdown.

WITH 9:55 remaining in the opening period, Wayne got on the board when Maly ran back a Schuyler punt 71 yards and senior Chris Wieseler added the PAT to make the score 7-0.

Just over two minutes later, Wayne again took possession of the ball and connected on a 33-yard pass from Moore to Warne for the score. Wieseler, who handled the PAT chores throughout the night, successfully kicked the extra point.

Nearing the end of the first period, Wayne couched up the ball deep in Schuyler territory, only to have the Warriors return the favor at their own 27-yard line. Wayne was penalized on a 15 yards on the play, setting the stage for Overin's 38-yard TD run with 1:12 left to play in the quarter.

Wayne's next scoring drive began at the start of the second quarter on a punt return which set the ball up at their own 40-yard line. The Blue Devils used up five plays including a 20-yard run by senior running back Kevin Koenig and a 16-yard pass from Moore to Overin before Overin rolled into the endzone on a 5-yard run with 7:43 in the half.

ON THE OPENING kick of the third quarter, Wayne returned the ball to the 38-yard line and went on an eight-play drive which was capped by Overin's final score of the night, a 32-yard scamper with 8:11 in the quarter. Wieseler's successful two-point conversion moved the score to 36-0.

Maly raced for his second touchdown on a punt return with 3:38 in the third period to give Wayne their closing points for the evening.

Overin topped the rushers with his 122 yard performance, followed by Kevin Koenig with 10 carries for 70 yards.

The leading receiver on the list was Pete Warne with one catch for 33 yards and a touchdown.

Defensively, the Blue Devils gave a strong showing. Koenig led with 14 total tackles, followed by Chris Wieseler with 13 and senior center Tim Book with 12. Junior Dan Gross and Overin each had eight stops for the blackshirts and senior Carl Urwiler and junior Tom Perry each added eight and seven tackles respectively.

Rod Luft brought down an interception for Wayne, that coming in the third quarter.

"At halftime, Coach Koenig brought up the fact that most of our tackling has been 'gang tackling' and that their is a real group effort out their on the field. The entire unit covers the ball well." Looking towards next week, Ehrhardt says that his team realizes "that they can't take anyone lightly" and that the things the team does at practice this coming week will dictate how they do in the game against Tekamah-Herman.

That contest is scheduled to kickoff at 7:30 p.m. this Friday, Sept. 14 at Memorial Stadium on the Wayne State College campus.

Laurel-Concord team effort comes close in 16-8 loss to Osmond

MIKE GRANQUIST sweeps the ball around the outside for Laurel.

A team effort by the Laurel-Concord Bears football squad fell just short on Friday evening as they were downed by the Tigers of Osmond 16-8 in Laurel.

"I was pleased with the squad's team effort," said head Coach Kurt Buckwalter. "If we continue to put out that type of team effort, we'll be alright throughout the season."

Laurel's downfall proved to be ill timed penalties which killed two possible scoring drives, one midway through the fourth period. "We had two good drives going, and it was two holding penalties which really hurt us," Buckwalter commented. "They were really untimely, we'd just get going and then they would happen."

NEITHER TEAM scored in the first quarter, but Osmond set up their first scoring drive late in the period on a pass interception with :48 remaining.

The Tigers broke for a 31 yard run to bring the ball to the Laurel 7 yard line before junior back Pat Daly ran in for the score with 8:27 on the clock. Their first attempt for the two point conversion was halted on an illegal procedure penalty, followed by a completed pass from quarterback Darin Ganselom to end Bryan Schmit, making the score 8-0 Osmond.

With 3:30 remaining in the half, the Tiger's Pat Daly broke loose for a 62 yard touchdown run from their own 38-yard line to score. Back Mike Winger scampared into the endzone for the two-point conversion to give Osmond a 16-0 lead at the break.

Laurel came out tough in the second half, shutting down the Osmond offense and mounting a scoring drive of their own, beginning with the recovery of a Tiger fumble in their own territory.

They continued their march downfield, combining key rushes and two passes from sophomore quarterback Brent Haisch to senior receiver Mike Granquist for 14 yards each.

WITH FIRST AND goal from the 2-yard line, Granquist carried the ball in for the score with 9:07 remaining in the third period. Haisch kept the ball and ran for the successful two-point conversion to close the gap to 16-8.

Laurel took possession of the ball again in the fourth quarter and started downfield before being halted on a holding call.

The Bears ended the game with 206 yards in total offense, with 144 yards coming on the ground. Granquist led the rushing effort with 72 yards on 19 carries while senior Dave Kardell added 38 yards on 10 attempts. Senior receiver Mike Forsberg topped the receiving corps with one catch for 33 yards and Granquist hauled in three passes for 15 yards.

"OUR KIDS showed a lot of character to come back and put on a drive like they did in the third quarter," Buckwalter said. He was also pleased with the defensive show in the second half as they held Osmond scoreless. The Bears will take their 0-2 record into a conference game against Lewis division member Ponca next Friday, Sept. 14.

Unfortunate fumbles critical as Winside falls to Walthill

Ball control, or the lack of it, proved to be the determining factor in Friday night's 26-16 loss of Winside to the Walthill Bluejays on the road.

"On offense, the fumbles were unfortunate for us," said Winside Coach Mark Freburg. "We only punted the ball one time, so we moved the ball well...we just kept laying the ball on the ground."

WALTHILL KNOCKED the ball loose seven times throughout the game, and came up with five of the Winside fumbles on their way to the win.

Winside's opening score came in the first period when Chris Olson got into the endzone on a 5-yard run. The two point conversion attempt by senior Chris Olson was successful.

The Bluejays returned the following kickoff for a touchdown and added a second score in the next period to take a 12-8 lead at the half.

In the third period, Walthill capitalized on two long pass plays to add a pair of touchdowns to their score, coming off throws of 60 and 20 yards.

QUARTERBACK DOUG Mundil struck for Winside in the fourth period to close the gap to 10 points when he crossed the goal line with an 8-yard run. Jorgensen again was successful with the two point conversion, bringing the final score to 26-16.

"Our defense played well throughout the game, only giving up the two long pass plays," said Freburg, adding that he was happy with that effort.

The Wildcat defense also showed Winside a new look with a completely new formation than that used in their opening contest last week.

Rushing was the strong point of the Winside offensive game, with Chris Jorgensen leading the way with 80 yards on 22 carries. Quarterback Mundil rushed with the ball 15 times for 50 yards and Mike Thies had five carries for 21 yards.

Mike Jaeger keyed the receivers for Winside, snatching in two passes for 46 yards.

On defense, Jeff Thies and Mike Jaeger turned in top performances.

Looking forward to the upcoming game with Coleridge, Freburg commented that "the Bluejays have a good team and play a consistent type of game." He also added that his squad suffered no serious injuries and should be in good physical shape for the contest.

Hunting-fishing day proclaimed

Governor Robert Kerrey recently proclaimed Saturday, Sept. 22 as Hunting and Fishing Day in Nebraska, to coincide with similar celebrations on that date across the country.

The proclamation Kerrey signed recognizes that Nebraska's sportsmen are interested in the land, woods and waters of the state and have worked to see them preserved.

It also recognizes that the state's hunters and fishermen have purchased some 34,000 acres of land and water since the 1930's using hunting and fishing money, federal excise taxes on hunting and fishing equipment, and the Habitat Fund, rather than general fund tax money.

Runner to speak at Sioux City

Dr. Joan Ulliyot, a world-ranked distance runner and author of several books on running, will visit Sioux City Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 13-15, to present a program and runners clinic and run in the annual Woodbury Medical Society's Medic Road Race and Fun Run.

Ulliyot, an authority on sports medicine and women's athletic and health concerns, will present the program "Exercise and Health" on Thursday, Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

The physician-runner will conduct a runner's clinic free to the public on Friday, Sept. 14 at 3 p.m. at the Hoover Junior High School track. Area runners and joggers are encouraged to attend.

Proclamation points out the lands and water purchased by sportsmen are open to everyone for a variety of uses compatible with hunting and fishing, like hiking, nature study and wildlife photography.

Lady Wildcats start season slow

Wayne State's Lady Wildcat volleyball team got their season off to somewhat of a disappointing start as they dropped their home opener to Concordia College in Rice Auditorium on Thursday, Sept. 6 and fell on the road to South Dakota Tech in Chadron on Friday evening.

Marilyn Sfrate's Lady Cats, who finished last season with a 21-19 record, forced Concordia into a full five sets before losing by scores of 13-15, 12-15, 15-7, 15-12 and 11-15.

IN JUNIOR VARSITY action, Wayne took two straight sets over the Concordia reserves, 15-10 and 15-7.

On Friday night, South Dakota Tech felled the Lady Wildcats in three games by set scores of 13-15, 15-12 and 11-15.

Leading Wayne's scoring was senior Mary Kay Becker and sophomore Missy Stollenberg, each with eight points.

The Lady Wildcats will take their 0-2 record back home when they host Dana in a dual set for tomorrow night (Tuesday), Sept. 11 in Rice Auditorium.

Lyons netters defeat Wakefield

The Wakefield Trojan volleyball team found that games on the road can be tough as they traveled to Lyons and were defeated in three sets on Thursday evening, Sept. 6.

In varsity action, the Wakefield girls took the opening set 15-11 before giving up the next two by identical scores of 15-7, 15-7.

"Our setters had a hard time, for us it was a lack of experience at the position," said Coach Mary Schroeder. "We had trouble finding the net on our sets, either we were right on top of it or too far away."

A junior and pair of sophomores shared the setting chores, with Julie Oswald making 21 successful sets in 40 attempts. Stephanie Torczon was 17-24 in sets and Val Krusemark was 4-6.

Roni Sfrate topped the spiking charts with 10 spikes on 11 attempts with six aces. Kristal Clay was 9-14 with six aces as well, while Stacey Kuhl went 8-14 with five kills.

The loss brought Wakefield's varsity record to 1-2 over all and 1-0 in the Clark division of the Lewis and Clark conference.

THE TROJAN'S B team also fell to Lyons by set scores of 9-12 and 8-12. Their record now stands at 1-2.

In C team action, Wakefield took a 11-9 and 10-5 victory over Lyons and put their record at 2-1.

SERVING WAS a strong point for the team in the three sets as they made 62 of 64 attempts at the line. Individually, Kristi Miller led with 13-13, while Stacey Kuhl and Stephanie Torczon were each 12-12.

Early lead fails to hold in Trojan 34 - 10 defeat by Coleridge

The Trojans of Wakefield were unable to hold on to an early first quarter lead as they suffered their first defeat of the young season at the hands of the Coleridge Bulldogs, 34-10 at home on Friday evening in eight-man football action.

"We led 10-0 in the first quarter, and then suddenly everything fell apart," said Coach Dennis Wilbur.

WAKEFIELD STARTED out strong, scoring early in the first quarter on a safety following a snap over the head of the Coleridge punter.

They added a touchdown minutes later when senior Brian Soderberg returned a kickoff for 60 yards to make the score 10-0 in Wakefield's favor.

It was at this point that the game plan fell through for the Trojans and Coleridge went on to score 34 unanswered points and the win.

Their scoring began with a sack of quarterback Soderberg in the endzone for a safety, followed up by a 29-yard punt return which set up a three play scoring drive ending with a run of 20 yards for the touchdown.

The final score of the first half came off a 45-yard march of nine plays and was capped with a 4-yard run by the Bulldog's Mike Olson.

COLERIDGE'S THIRD quarter score came off a recovery of a Wakefield fumble which they took hold of and pushed through to the endzone in four plays covering 36 yards.

A pass interception by Coleridge in the final period set up their last score, when they returned a Wakefield punt for 38 yards and took the ball in on a 15-yard run.

Injuries took their toll on the Trojans throughout the night, as several of the team's members went down with the contest, including starting senior quarterback Brian Soderberg. He suffered a bruised knee after being tackled in the second quarter, but returned to the game in the fourth period.

Junior receiver Jason Erb was knocked out for the season when he broke his collar bone after being tackled on a punt return in the fourth quarter.

They joined several other Trojans who suffered injuries during the week's practices, and left Coach Wilbur and his staff searching for players to fill the positions left vacant.

"We'll have to make shifts to fill the spots left open," Wilbur said. "We're really starting to get down on numbers, with around 25 players suited up for the Coleridge game."

BRAD LUND was the leading ground gainer in the effort, with 14 carries for 30 yards, while Jason Erb caught three passes for 17 yards before leaving the game.

Lund also was among the leaders on the tackle charts with 11 stops including a hit for a loss of 19 yards. John Halverson topped the list with 12 tackles, and Jeff Rose added 11 tackles while Mark Kubik brought down nine Coleridge players, one for a loss of five yards.

Punt returns were also a key for Coleridge, as they returned the ball for a total of 150 yards, which "gave them consistently good field position," according to Wilbur.

"We didn't execute well offensively or defensively, but our defense did start to take hold later in the game," Wilbur said. He added that "a lot of mistakes" were made by both sides in the game.

Wakefield's next game will be on the road when they travel to Allen to take on the conference foe Eagles in a game this Friday, Sept. 14.

Newcastle tops Allen in rushing dual

In a game highlighted by strong rushing performances by both squads, the Allen Eagles fell by a 26-22 score to the Newcastle Raiders on Friday night at Newcastle.

"Our kids were really pumped up for the game," said Allen Coach Dave Uldrich. "They aren't used to being in the position of 'giant-killer' and they got scared at what might be coming next."

Allen came up with 184 yards rushing in the game, while Newcastle tallied 169 yards on the ground.

NEWCASTLE STRUCK early in the game, taking the ball down the field following an Eagle punt and scoring on an 11-yard pass play with six minutes remaining.

In the second period, Allen came up to the scoreboard with a drive down the field which ended with a 3-yard pass from quarterback Brian Hansen to Craig Noe. Rainer Wichern came through with the successful point after kicking an attempt to give Allen a short-lived 7-6 lead.

The first came in the second quarter with :30 left, when Allen's defensive coverage broke down and gave up a scoring play to give Newcastle the 14:7 halftime advantage.

ALLEN CAME roaring back in the third period, taking possession of the ball off a punt and going down the field to end with a 1-yard run by Hansen and two point conversion.

The Eagles then "went for the throat", according to Uldrich, and came up with an on-side kick and took possession of the ball on the Newcastle 35-yard line. They took the ball into score on a 13-yard run by senior 1-back Shawn Mahler to take a 22-12 lead going into the final period.

A double reverse play and quarterback special led to a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns late in the fourth quarter to give Newcastle the winning margin.

Mahler and Shane Fahrenholz were the leading rushers, Mahler carrying the ball 22 times for 81 yards and Fahrenholz taking it 15 times for 54 yards.

Defensively, senior Jay Jones finished the game with 24 tackles to lead the blackshirts.

while Brian Hansen added 19 stops, Shawn Mahler with 17 and Shane Fahrenholz with 12 tackles.

"Our defensive statistics speak for themselves," said Uldrich. He was also pleased with his teams offensive performance, citing that the linemen did a fine job and "deserve credit." "They all played a really fine game."

Allen will host rival Wakefield this Friday, Sept. 14, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Wayne frosh win opener

Scoring drives in the closing moments of the second and fourth quarters led the Wayne-Carroll ninth grade football team to a 16-0 victory over Hartington Cedar Catholic on Thursday, Sept. 6 at the high school practice field in Wayne.

Both teams went scoreless in the opening period and remained so in the second quarter until Wayne took possession of the ball off a Hartington punt and began their first scoring drive.

A 69-yard run by Scott Pickett with just under a minute left to play gave the Blue Devils their first score. Jason Liska ran into the endzone for the two-point conversion to make the score 8-0 Wayne going in at the half.

NEITHER TEAM was able to do much of fensively in the third period, and it was late in the final quarter when Wayne scored their final touchdown on a 40-yard pass from quarterback Rob Raabe to tight end Bill Landanger. Robbie Gamble carried the ball on the successful two-point conversion attempt.

Hartington never really threatened to score, their deepest penetration coming after an interception of a Wayne pass which was blown on the Blue Devil 40-yard line.

The Blue Devils totaled 186 yards on offense, 146 coming on the ground on 30 carries and 40 through the air. In the passing department, Wayne was 14 with one interception and one touchdown.

Wayne fumbled the ball four times, but managed to recover each one. On defense, the Blue Devils recovered two Trojan fumbles and blocked one punt.

INDIVIDUALLY, Pickett was the top ground gainer with 83 yards rushing on seven carries.

Jason Liska and Scott Hammer were the top defensive performers in the opening game, each with six tackles.

"It was a typical first game, we need to concentrate on our offensive performance," said Coach Duane Blomenkamp on his team's first performance. He also mentioned that he was very pleased with the performance of his defensive unit.

The next game on tap for the Wayne ninth grade squad will be Thursday, Sept. 13 when they host the Pierce Bluejays.

Hi!o Everyone!
There is a touch of fall in the air this morning. Nice for a change other than hot and humid weather.

Welcome to Father Basha of Wayne, Erno Brommer of Wayne and Mrs. Terrell of California. Alvino was born at Pender, Neb., spent 40 years with her husband in California. She has some of her nieces and nephews live. Leone Migration of Wayne, nee: Leona Hansen is a nephew and a niece. She has 14 nieces and nephews. Welcome aboard and hope that you enjoy your stay with us.

Deep sympathy goes out to the family of Zaida Shupe who passed away Aug. 13. She was here at the home such a short time.

For activities coming this month there are movies on Monday afternoon with popcorn. On Tuesday afternoon there is Rhythm Band. On Wednesday afternoon there are cards and dominoes. On the third Wednesday we have our birthday party for the month when we will sing the birthday song and we will have treats.

On the second and fourth Thursday of each month the Senior Citizens come to entertain us.

St. Mary's ladies come with treats on the second Monday of each month around the birthday table. Sept. 1, Anne Hov; Sept. 4, Carl Bohl; Sept. 6, Kenneth deFrance; Sept. 13, Ezra Walton; Sept. 20, Duanna Molcum; Sept. 20, Agnes Duffy; Sept. 28, Minnie Butler; Sept. 26, Rex Huchstep.

The centennial parades were the highlight of the week. All the residents were able to see them from the home here either in the day room windows, many more outside west of the building and along this side of the street. Some folks brought their lawn chairs along and sat along the curb.

The drivers with their beautiful white horses and tiny cars put on a beautiful and spectacular show.

The antique parade was wonderful and with plenty of antique carriages and buggies with beautiful horses. Lots of noise and it made one wonder what was next. There were the spectacular bands, church floats, and beautiful floats from the granhouse. The grand parade was beautiful with so many vehicles of all kinds.

All in all it was a wonderful celebration that will never be forgotten.

The Wayne Herald with its stories and such good pictures that it will never be put aside until we read it all.

Extra: The Evangelical Free Church is sponsoring the movie "101" on Friday afternoon, Sept. 7 for our viewing pleasure. Until next time — have a dog gone good week.

HARVEST WITH SAFETY

We want to keep you as our most valued customer

More often than not, power lines follow property lines. You may be lulled into a dangerous complacency when you're right in the middle of your crop field, because you know for sure no power lines are over your head. When you reach the end of your field and turn your equipment, there's a very good chance power lines will be nearby. Always be alert to power lines on your property lines. They may even be hidden by trees or brush, so you must take precautions to ensure your equipment doesn't make contact.

If you're planning the construction of any new storage bins, be sure to take the placement of existing power lines into account. For the best use of your farm space, storage bins are often erected along property lines. Again, that's just where the power lines usually are.

If you simply can't find adequate space to construct those bins away from power lines, why not contact your electric power supplier for some advice. Someone will be sent to your farm to survey your potential building sites and work with you in order to come to the best possible results. Your complete safety and comfort are prime concerns to your electric power supplier. We'll be happy to assist you in developing a safer farm. Harvest with safety and you'll continue to enjoy a productive life and a productive farm.

Wayne Herald photographers have captured some of the past weekend's centennial action in pictures and has put together this convenient section for our readers to enjoy and remember.

It's our special centennial gift to all our subscribers — our Wayne Herald Centennial Photo Album.

Clockwise, from top left, several of the State National Bank and Trust Co. employees pose near the fire station's first warning bell; Bud Foehlich, centennial steering committee chairman, leads the field of royalty candidates during opening ceremonies; Wayne Marsh gave the opening ceremonies address; Janet and Jennifer Schmitz won the family centennial attire event; Royalty Little Mister and Misses (Jeremy Luff and Gina Zrust) sit with Centennial Bell Myrtle Splittgerber and Max Schnieder); Centennial Attire female winner Pam Maier; Centennial Attire male winner Lee Swinney.

Ladies and Gentlemen
Members of the Centennial Committee Distinguished Guests

I wish to welcome you, the citizens and friends of Wayne, to our official opening of the Wayne centennial celebration.

From our beginning back in the 1800's, you the people have made our community special.

Today, as one of Nebraska's first class cities, Wayne has evolved into a community with a unique balance between agriculture, education and industry to provide a stable environment for all areas.

The future is at your control and direction! I ask that you do the following:

1. Plan your course well.
2. Use your heritage to build from.
3. Preserve what has been left to you.
4. Pray that our community may be blessed the second hundred years as much as it has been during the first hundred years.

—We hope that the next few days will be full of fun and enjoyment for each and everyone of you. I ask that each of you reflect back on our forefathers and remember their struggle and efforts to make Wayne what it is today.

I hereby declare the City of Wayne's hundredth birthday party open and proclaim a week of celebration for all.

Mayor Wayne Marsh
