THE WAYNE HERALD

Highway commission gets a hearing

Approximately 96 people were on hand at a public hearing in Wayne to ask questions about proposed road improvement projects and point out hazards of several of Nebraska's state roads to members of the state highway commission.

Among those in attendance at the public meeting, conducted Thursday evening at the Wayne City Auditorium, were Louis Lamberty, director-state engineer of the Nebraska Department of Roads; Thomas A. Wais and R. James Pearson, deputy directors; Bernard Logan, executive secretary of the state highway commission; Merle Kingsbury, state highway commission member; and Thomas McCarthy, District 3 engineer.

State Senators Merle Von Minden and Elroy Hefner were also present to ask questions at the public meeting.

Kingsbury, who chaired the public meeting, said District 3 contains 15 counties. The state road system is the "life blood of our northeast Nebraska communities, big and small," he said.

AMONG THOSE issuing concerns about future highway improvement projects were representatives from the city of Wayne and also the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

"We've had a good working relationship with the state department of roads. They have listened to us and considered our needs and have been good in informing us of plans and their reasoning," said Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh as he welcomed the visitors to the public meeting.

Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster later told the highway department panel about four items which he said concern the Wayne city council in regard to the state's road construction program plans.

The first is the proposal for highway improvement of Highway 35 to North Main Street in Wayne. "We appreciate you accommodating us for the centennial (in not disrupting traffic routes into the city). The project was originally planned for this summer," Kloster mentioned.

The city just wants to make sure the project is still planned for next summer (1985), he said.

Another priority which Kloster mentioned was the proposed reconstruction of South Main Street in Wayne (Highway 15 South). "We would like to have this project incorporated into the plans for next summer also," Kloster said.

"In some areas of town the road is breaking up rapidly," he said.

Kloster also asked that the state commission consider the South Providence Road project, which would serve as a direct route to Providence Medical Center. Currently, the only straight direct route passes near the Wayne State College campus.

Wayne State College President Ed Elliott sided with Kloster's comments, indicating the only direct route to the hospital is through the college campus.

IN KLOSTER'S ADDRESS to the state department of roads, he asked that a consideration be made in providing more "Wayne State College" location signs to be placed on several of the state's major highways.

"We get a number of comments about blind spots [where no signs are visible]. We have a lot of out of staters visiting the college or the community and it gets confusing when traveling and the signs are not there," he said. Elliott also supported Kloster on this issue.

However, District Engineer Tom McCarthy said the sign additions for Wayne State College have already been turned down.

Wayne Chamber of Commerce executive director Anne Svoboda read a letter to the department of roads representatives written by Chamber President Randy Pedersen concerning basically the same concerns brought up by Kloster.

Pedersen elaborated on same issues, saying the city of Wayne was dependent on having good roads entering and leaving the city. One project which the chamber would like to have completed earlier was the reconstruction of Highway 15 south of Wayne.

A REPRESENTATIVE from Wakefield was on hand to question the department of road officials about the bridge near Wakefield which is currently scheduled for completion the latter part of November.

The representative suggested the department of roads study the community and its surroundings and alternate routes before beginning a project, such as the bridge project in Wakefield.

He said the current five mile detour road isn't good and that "people are getting upset about traveling on the detour."

After a rain, the detour road becomes slick and the road isn't capable of handling the current load of traffic caused by the detour.

Work on the bridge was behind schedule, said McCarthy, because of the rolled steel not passing inspection the first time. McCarthy predicts the bridge will be completed by the end of November.

Area projects which have been planned for fiscal year 1985 (besides Wayne's 7th Street to Main project) include 7.8 miles of Nebraska Highway 9 from Wakefield north.

SLATED IN THE District 3 five year program are the following projects: 7 miles of Nebraska Highway 9 from Wakefield to Emerson; 6.8 miles of Highway 9 north and south of Allen; 8.2 miles of Highway 15 south of Wayne; a half mile of Highway 15 in Wayne; 4.5 miles of Highway 15 from the Laurel to Concord Junction; 14.6 miles of Highway 35 from Hoskins to Winside; 12.4 miles of Highway 57 north and south of Carroll (which Lamberty said he has driven on and commented "the road needs resurfacing and we'll do our damndest to get it done"); and 9.2 miles of Highway 116 from Hoskins northward.

Other questions directed at the department of road officials were in the area of condemnation, allocation of funds; discrepancies in the announcement which allowed the "first come first serve" people to bale hay in the state's highway right of way (some landowners didn't have a chance to purchase the hay near their home because someone beat them to the bid), why some cities received a greater percentage of the road construction projects; and when would certain highway projects begin and how they were progressing.

At the start of the meeting, Lamberty said a considerable amount of money will be spent in the coming years on interstate highway renovation, calling for the rebuilding of "nearly 400 miles of interstate in the next 10 years."

Of the 10,000 miles of roads in the state highway system, approximately 480 miles are interstate. He said the state department of roads has succeeded in getting the "balance of state highways" out of the mud.

There is less than 100 miles of gravel on the state highway system, he said, compared to 3,000 at one time.

Senator Hefner told the commission that there should be a cap on the number of gallons of fuel to be exempted. That amount could number up to $10 which could have been placed in the highway trust fund.

Hefner also suggested there be better and more efficiency in the highway department, evaluation of equipment and evaluation of the whole state highway department "as would be done with any other state government department."

Checking everywhere

OVER 3,000 ping pong balls fell to the streets during Wayne's "The Great Ping Pong Ball Drop" Thursday evening in a promotion sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. The ping pong balls, dropped from five buildings within the city, accounted for discounts at various businesses. A young boy, with cap in hand, reached under a car to scrape together all the ping pong balls he could muster.

LERND board wants SCS in Wakefield

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District, at its regular meeting last Thursday evening, took no action on any relocation proposals which concerned moving the Soil Conservation Office in Wakefield to near Ponca.

According to Tom Anderson of Wakefield, president of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District (LERND), the official action which was taken at the meeting conducted at Wayne State College was to "direct the staff to contact the Lewis and Clark Natural Resources Council on their (LERND) recommendation."

That recommendation, Anderson said, is to increase the personnel at the Dixon County Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office in Wakefield and to establish better communication between the Dixon County SCS office and SCS office in Wakefield.

The Dixon County SCS Committee had proposed the SCS office in Wakefield, be relocated to the Aowa Watershed project near Ponca, where they feel it would make a substantial difference in selling producers and landowners on the conservation needs.

Recommendations were requested by the SCS Committee from both the LERND board members and the Lewis and Clark board members (who will discuss the proposal at their Oct. 17 meeting).

The recommendations were to be passed on to Sherman Lewis, the Nebraska Soil Conservation Service Conservationist at Lincoln who would make a final decision of the relocation proposal. Wakefield area citizens have already circulated a petition, with over 300 names, asking that the SCS office remain in Wakefield.

Credit plan help to farmers

President Reagan's farm credit plan recently announced, will be helpful to area farmers, according to LaVern Ostendorf who is supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration for the Wayne County area.

"President Reagan's farm credit initiatives to reschedule portions of loans for some financially stressed Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) borrowers and to guarantee loans of some other lenders' borrowers may help farmers in Wayne County," Ostendorf said Friday.

"Annual analysis of FmHA farm loans will soon begin," Ostendorf said. "A major priority of the reviews will be to determine which farmers in Wayne County could qualify for a rescheduling of part of their loans for up to five years.

THE PRESIDENT'S plan permits up to a five-year deferral, with no interest payments, for up to 25 percent of the total loan — up to $100,000 — for present FmHA borrowers who are experiencing severe financial stress and who can produce a cash flow reflecting promise of success from this temporary economic boost.

Under a separate authority, titled the new "Guaranteed Loan" plan, FmHA will be able to guarantee another lender's classified problem loan after the lender reduces the loan total 10 percent or more — up to the amount necessary to produce a positive cash flow for the borrower.

These borrowers who, at the present time do not have a FmHA "Direct Loan", must meet certain general eligibility criteria for FmHA "Farm Operating" and "Farm Ownership" loans, according to Ostendorf.

Cheap Trick to perform in Wayne

Cheap Trick, a rock band, has been contracted for the Oct. 4 fall concert at Wayne State College and tickets are going on sale this week.

The news of the upcoming fall concert was released by Marilee Voss, student program manager at Wayne State College.

Among the singers and musicians with Cheap Trick are Robin Zander, lead singer; Rick Nielsen, lead guitarist; Jon Brant, bass player; and Bun E. Carlos, drummer.

Voss said the opening band for the fall concert will be Swift Kick from Missouri. The group has performed as opening bands for music groups such as Kansas and REO, according to Voss.

Voss said the doors for the fall concert will open at 7:30 p.m. The opening band will perform first, followed by the Cheap Trick band performance.

Tickets for the fall concert are $8 in advance and $9 at the door. They can be purchased, Voss said, in the basement of the student center on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Wayne State College students get in free, but they must show their ID when picking up the tickets. The tickets must be picked up in advance," Voss said.

Albums which have gained popularity in recent years for Cheap Trick have been "Live at Budokan," "Dream Police," and "Next Position, Please."

Single hits have included "I Want You to Want Me," "Surrender" and "She's Tight." According to an article from The Wayne Stater, written by Pat Murphy, Cheap Trick is best known for the onstage high jinks of Neilson, who sometimes struts the stage loaded with two or three guitars.

Neilson is also noted for his army style haircut, baseball cap and clothing which usually sport the name of the group.

Other groups which have appeared in past fall concerts at Wayne State College include Air Supply, Atlanta Rhythm Section, Huey Lewis and the News, Juice Newton and the Greg Kihn Band.

Book named to council

Timothy Book of Wayne was chosen recently as District III's representative on the Nebraska Council of Youth.

The purpose of the Council is to provide a "voice" for Nebraska's youth and to serve as a forum by bringing youth together so they may present and exchange their ideas.

Wayne girl makes choir

The Kearney State College Department of Music announced recently the names of students selected to perform with the college's vocal and instrumental groups.

The college's musical groups are open to all KSC students, regardless of their majors. Membership is based strictly on competitive auditions.

Each of the groups will make performing tours across the state in addition to giving concerts during the year on campus. An area member of the Choraleers is Linda Tiensovold of Wayne.

Reading association

The Northeast Nebraska Council of International Reading Association will meet Oct. 4 at Westside Elementary School in Norfolk. Shirley Williams, senior sales/service consultant with Hoff, Rhinehart and Winston Publishing Co. will present the program on "Feeling Good About Me" beginning at 7 p.m. Registration is from 6:30 to 7.

New members welcome. $2 charge to non-members. Professional growth forms are available. Lunch will be available.

Farm hazard meeting scheduled

A farm hazard meeting, sponsored by the Cedar County Cooperative Extension Service and the Cedar County Farm Bureau, will be held today (Monday) at 7 p.m. in the Belden Bank parlors.

Rolin Schneider, extension safety specialist, will present the program focusing on the fall harvest season, including how to handle accident victims and how to avoid farm accidents.

Farm families are encouraged to attend.

'Evening of Mozart' slated

"An Evening of Mozart," featuring soprano Connie Webber and pianist Arne Sorenson, will be presented Tuesday, Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. in Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus.

The public is invited to attend the hour-long program featuring works by the famed composer of the 1700's, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

Violinist Dr. Christopher Bonds will join Mrs. Webber and Sorenson in a special Mozart aria from the opera "Il Re Pastore."

Selected to choir

The membership of the Concert Choir at Wayne State College has been announced by Dr. Cornell Runestad, Professor of Music and Director of Choral Activities.

The WSC Choir presents area concerts as well as appearing at music conventions and travels widely, most recently in May, 1984 when the choir toured through the Netherlands, Belgium, France and Switzerland.

Area members of the choir include: Emerson, Mitch Schulte and Jerry Arne Grader; Hoskins, Maria Anderson and Kathy Gmirk; Wayne, Tom Fletcher, Fran Gross, Lisa Remer, Michelle Sherlock, Nick Sieler and Lillian Winkler.

President of the WSC Concert Choir is Mitch Schulte, with Sharyn Whipple secretary and Mindee Zimmerman as librarian.

Debate between Exon, Hoch

Wayne Players at celebration

A Dakota Wacipi (Sioux Indian Dance) is planned for the weekend of September 29 and 30 at the Lewis & Clark Trail Festival. The colorful and exciting celebration has been organized by Dr. Robert Bunge of the University of South Dakota especially for the viewing of the dances of the Lewis and Clark Festival.

Dancers and singers from five states and several Sioux tribes such as the Santee, Yankton, Flandreau, and Lower Brule along with other tribes such as the Omaha and Winnebago will attend and compete in the various dance categories. Saturday evening, a special meal for the dancers will be served.

The meal of Indian fry bread, dried corn soup, and "wojapi" will be prepared and served by members of the Native American Church of Winnebago. Indian craftwork, such as the beadwork of Clarence Rockboy, will also be exhibited at the celebration.

A melodrama entitled "Down the Primrose Path" will be performed by the Wayne State Players at the Theatre In The Woods. The melodrama, complete with heroine, hero—and villain, is about frontier life in Ft. Muddy Water. The theatrical program, headed by Dr. Helen Russell of Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebraska, is also to present Lewis and Clark ballads and to impersonate Lewis and Clark among the Festival goers.

In addition to the theatre and dancing, there will be music by the Country Fiddler Express, and Hinds & Hill; along with square dancing as part of the Lewis and Clark Trail Festival held along the Missouri River 5 miles west of McCook Lake.

THE COLERIDGE Athletic Boosters have nearly completed the new softball field at the Coleridge Park. The project, which began with planning last year, was constructed through the summer at a cost of over $12,500. Nearly all of this amount came as donations through various fund raising projects and campaigns during the past year.

FORMER Pender resident Leona Schluter was named 1984 "Woman of Achievement" by Thurston County Extension Club members during Achievement Night held last week. Mrs. Schluter recently moved to West Point.

IN ADDITION to choosing political candidates this November, West Point voters will be asked to decide if the county board of supervisors should create an airport authority, and also if the City of West Point should issue bonds to construct and equip a new swimming pool.

Army Pvt. Paul D. Schaffer, son of Sharon Junck of Rural Route 1, Carroll, Neb., has participated in the U.S. Central Command exercise Gallant Eagle '84, in the deserts of California and Nevada.

This year's exercise provided a simulated combat environment to exercise, train and evaluate the command headquarters and portions of its multi-service forces in tactical employment operations in the desert.

Ground maneuver operations were conducted at the National Training Center at Fort Irwin, Fort Hunter-Liggett and the Marine Corps air ground combat center at Twenty-nine Palms all in California.

Air operations were held on the three reservations and surrounding airspace and at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev. Air support for the exercise was staged from George and March Air Force service station

Bases and El Toro Marine Corps Air Station in California.

Schaffer is an armor crew member with the 1st Battalion, 63rd Armor at Fort Riley, Kan.

Shirley G. Pospishil of Rural Route 1, Wayne, Neb., has completed the Army legal clerk course at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Students learned the duties of a legal clerk at small commands; to serve as an advisor to brigade, battalion and other commanders on administrative matters and procedures pertaining to legal services; and to act as a liaison between unit, battalion or brigade and the local staff judge advocate.

David W. Melton, son of Norman J. and Grace A. Melton of 212 W. 12th, Wayne, Neb., has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military Academy's Corps of Cadets as a new member of the class of 1988 during the annual acceptance parade.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the West Point, N.Y., academy. Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises and the firing of weapons introduced the basic cadets to military life with special emphasis on leadership, duty, honor and country.

Tracken' away

by chuck hackenmiller

Messy desks mean messy minds. That's what someone told me many years ago when I was employed at another newspaper. A tidy desk signifies a well-organized individual who has everything at his or her fingertips.

If that's true, then "disorganization" is my middle name. Oh, I've repeatedly made an honest effort to have a neat looking desk top. But within a day or two, people are looking at a conglomeration of papers piled upon papers, coffee stains, scattered books and other loose ends.

How horrible can my desk be? Consider these happenings:

•A coachroach crawled up to me and asked if I would check him in and carry his bags to one of the "room vacancies" left on the desk top.

•It took almost a half hour to find a stapler, so I gave up looking for it, only to have it reappear underneath a stack of news releases. So I attempted to use it and found it was out of staples.

Then I couldn't find the staples.

•The fire department has considered considering my desk a real fire hazard. On the other hand, some high school students want to clean off my desk, gather all the scraps together and then for Homecoming, light the world's largest bonfire.

•I found just recently the other half of my submarine sandwich from last Tuesday and half a bag of chips were down in the pile.

•My dictionary only opens from A to M and from S to Z, simply because coffee spilled on pages N through R and they all stuck together.

•It takes about 15 rings before I can find the phone and answer it, and when I want to call someone, another 15 minutes is consumed to find the phone book.

•No children under seven are allowed around my desk. Kids like to look under desks and the weight of objects on the top makes the area restricted.

•People can put their feet on my desk. They can also take their shoes off and put them on top of the desk, if they wish, but I will not tolerate smelly socks in the drawers.

•The "yellow pages" on my desk are not in the phone book. It's the color of news releases that have been lost on my desk and have turned a different shade.

•Paper items on the desk have been gathered and speculators have surmised that the energy experts feel there is enough material to insulate an entire four story home.

•And at 1:00 a.m. when I'm still typing away, strange noises creek from the bottom of the desk.

Still, I would take a half-decent, well-organized desk than a desk top which is absolutely spotless.

I have a mirror at home, so I don't have to see my face reflected in the desk top. Desks are not to look like it will seat a table of 10.

Desks should be whatever you are comfortable with, not drawn to the specifications of those who say "I've never seen such a mess."

And desk chairs are also important. I'm one that likes to slouch when I type. That's not good for the back, I know, and if I were anyone else I would advise against it.

There are chairs that can wheel you back and forth, some that can make you drowsy; some that lean back so the head nearly touches the floor; some that rock; some that have one leg missing or one wheel not functioning; and some that squeak to show age.

So much more to tell, but I'm afraid I've got to stop.

Somewhere on my desk are notes — and somehow they have just disappeared.

Excuse me while I go digging.

Wildlife homes

Every farm and ranch is a community of living things supported by the soil.

In this community are the plants and animals that convert nutrients, moisture and sunshine into food and fiber for man and support trees; grass, flowers and wildlife for his enjoyment.

No two kinds of wildlife have exactly the same requirements, but all do need food, cover and water. These three requirements must be available in all seasons of the year, especially during winter and early spring.

Modern agriculture has eliminated much of the winter cover and nesting cover that is critical to maintaining healthy wildlife populations. Farming right up to the fences and fall tillage eliminates any nesting or winter cover in crop fields.

Early haying operations destroy many deer fawns and nesting birds. Early mowing of road ditches is an unnecessary waste of habitat and wildlife. Many management practices are helpful to wildlife, conserve soil and water and maintain farm income levels.

In cropland practices, these include: strip cropping; covering crops on set-aside land; leaving crop residue in the fall; delay mowing of headlands, road ditches and waterways until after the nesting season; and planting turn rows to a grass-legume mixture.

In rangeland and pasture land, practices include proper grazing and salting; dams and other watering places for livestock; and partial brush removal.

Windbreaks are an excellent home for many valuable types of wildlife. Not only do windbreaks reduce wind erosion and conserve moisture, they create homes for insect eating birds and provide travel lanes for wildlife.

The Natural Resources Districts and Nebraska Game & Parks Commission have programs which pay landowners for establishing or enhancing wildlife habitat on private lands.

Contact your local Natural Resources District office or SCS office for more information.

Pays to listen

Louis E. Lamberty, director-state engineer of the Nebraska State Highway Commission, certainly didn't endanger losing respect from the nearly 90 people within the northeast Nebraska area who attended a public hearing on road projects scheduled in 1985 (and beyond) Thursday evening at the Wayne City Auditorium.

He was an attentive listener to all of the questions asked. If there were some questions which neither he or the District 3 engineer, Thomas McCarthy, could not answer, he said the questions would be taken to his office in Lincoln for further investigation.

Having the office of director-state engineer can be time consuming. But Lamberty knows of the importance of these public hearings — to hear of the problems which face northeast Nebraska residents and their highways. And not only in the urban areas, but also in the rural surroundings.

That is why he should be commended in reaching out to meet the people to discuss the highway needs of next year or in the future. His presence adds to the confidence and assurance people have in the state highway system.

There were discouraging words in some respects concerning Wayne's highway needs and that of Wayne State College.

Being a college in a rural setting, Wayne State needs additional signs along several of the major highways to point the way for out-of-state visitors. That request has already been turned down, according to the district engineer.

And there were no promises made to step up work on Highway 15 south of Wayne.

Still, the public hearing was certainly not fruitless. They heard from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce about the importance of good highways leading to Wayne.

Most likely that impression of the city's highway needs will stay in the minds of Lamberty and the remainder of the state highway commission. The entire public hearing lasted a lengthy 2½ hours. But the meeting, chaired by this area's state highway commission representative Merle Kingsbury, went smoothly without any significant confrontation.

Those who attended this hearing should have left knowing the state highway commission is concerned about the rural highway system and the people who depend on the road system for economical or health emergency transportation.

United States crime figures fall during 1983

Serious crime in the United States continued to fall in 1983, and firearm involvement in homicide dropped to its lowest level since 1964, according to data released Sept. 9 by the FBI.

The FBI's "Crime in the United States, 1983" showed that crime has been declining steadily for the last three years, and the 1983 figures reflected the largest decrease in the bureau's 23-year tracking of crime statistics.

"Obviously, the decrease in firearm involvement in homicide — during a period when no new federal gun control legislation has been enacted — totally refutes the allegation that gun laws control crime," said Warren Cassidy, executive director of the National Rifle Association Institute for Legislative Action.

Criminal justice authorities attributed the drop to tougher stands on crime at the state and federal level, increased public involvement in neighborhood crime prevention programs and the adoption, in many states, of mandatory sentence laws for crimes committed with a gun.

Steven R. Schlesinger, director of the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics, also believes the crime drop is related to the dramatic increase in the U.S. prison population, which has doubled in the last decade.

"These prisoners are at least temporarily unable to victimize the public, and this may partially explain the recent decrease in crime rates," Schlesinger said.

THE FBI DATA also showed:

- There were 8,193 reported handgun-related homicides in 1983, compared to 8,474 in 1982, almost 9,200 in 1981 and more than 10,000 in 1980.
- For the second consecutive year, handguns were involved in less than 44 percent of U.S. homicides, compared to approximately 50 percent in 1981.
- Overall firearm involvement in homicide fell 3 percent in 1983 over the previous year.
- Firearm involvement in robbery fell to the lowest level ever measured by the FBI, which started keeping track of this category in 1974.

"Firearm involvement in robbery fell to the lowest level ever measured by the FBI, which started keeping track of this category in 1974.

- There were 16 percent fewer gun-related robberies in 1983 than 1982, and 20 percent fewer than 1981.
- Firearm involvement in aggravated assault has not been lower since 1967.

An analysis of FBI crime reports showed that both firearm and handgun involvement in violent crime fell 21 percent between 1974 and 1983. Yet according to data compiled by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, per capita handgun availability actually increased 43 percent during those years. During the same period, the domestic homicide rate — family members killing family members — fell 32 percent.

The Reagan administration's tough anti-crime measures reportedly have placed more criminals behind bars. According to a recent report by the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics, there are more than 454,000 inmates in American prisons; an all-time high.

Another factor cited by criminal justice authorities for the decline in violent crime was the 9 percent drop in the "baby boom" era children, the age group between 14 and 24 born during the late '50s and early '60s. This group historically has had the highest crime rates in the country.

Other studies recently made public showed that the U.S. does not rank in the top 10 in overall crime among nations.

According to data released by Interpol, a world-wide anti-crime organization headquartered in Paris, the U.S. ranks 11th in the separate categories of overall crime and criminal homicide, and 22nd in the sex-of-fense category.

However, the U.S. placed 4th in drug-related offenses, 4th in grand theft and 4th in its juvenile crime rate — the percentage of criminals who are juveniles.

Thanks to the cafeteria cooks at the Wayne Care Centre

To the editor:

There is a different atmosphere at meal time here at the Home. The main dining room is to be used for all the meals including those who are in the basement area. Those who are bed patients will be served their trays in their rooms as usual.

The first residents to be served are those from the basement who are brought up on the elevator. Those who need help with eating their food are taken care of as are all the other residents that need help.

The first resident to be brought up for their supper is at 5 o'clock and are taken down when they are finished so the folks on the main floor can be taken to the dining room at 6 p.m. for supper.

In the morning the basement folks are taken to the dining room about 7 a.m. or a little after and are taken back in the elevators so that the upper residents or those on B and C wings can go for their breakfast. All those needing help with their meals are taken care of by the Nurses Aide.

With this new plan all the residents eat in the dining room at the present time except a few bed patients. It does away with the feeding room so that room is now the Chapel where meetings can be held to discuss problems that arise.

I have been a resident of this Home for six years and want to put in a word of praise for our excellent cooks. They have a big responsibility on their hands and I know that they are doing their best to please everyone which is shown by the good meals that they serve.

Of course this is going to be some fault finding — that is human nature — like the old saying: "You can please some of the people some of the time, but you can't please all of the people all of the time."

SHELLY WIESELER DEMONSTRATES how the tanning bed works. Glendora Wieseler and Renee Jensen, at right, owners of Wayne's new Tanning Hut, said the bed is actually safer than tanning in the sun because of the sun's stronger ultraviolet rays. Hours of the new business, located at 321 Nebraska St., are noon to 7 p.m. each weekday. The owners emphasized that The Tanning Hut is for all ages, and for men as well as women.

Sunny outlook for fading tans

By LaVon Anderson

A new business venture that began in Wayne just two months ago provides a ray of hope for persons afraid of losing their summer tans during the long winter months ahead.

The Tanning Hut, located at 321 Nebraska St., opened its doors Aug. 1. Owners Glendora Wieseler and Renee Jensen are optimistic that business will continue to build as more and more persons learn what it is and how it operates.

"We hope it's here to stay," said Renee, adding that between 18 and 20 persons visited the parlor during the first week it was opened. Business since then has remained steady.

GLENDORA SAID she became interested in the business after visiting with a Kearney woman who operates a tanning parlor there.

After four or five months of research, she and Renee decided to open their own parlor in Wayne.

In addition to being a co-owner of The Tanning Hut, Renee is employed at Pat's Beauty Salon where she has worked the past 10 years. Glendora has operated the Sale Barn Cafe in Wayne for the past 16 years.

Both women feel that business at The Tanning Hut will increase once the public knows what it is.

"A LOT OF PEOPLE think the tanning bed is safer than tanning in the sun because of the sun's stronger ultraviolet rays."

Renee said it is possible to burn in the tanning bed, but only if clients stay in the bed more than a half-hour.

Glendora is quick to point out that there are no health concerns when it comes to using the tanning bed.

"One customer," she said, "visited a dermatologist in Sioux City who recommended the tanning bed for psoriasis of the skin."

Glendora added that the tanning bed has also been known to relieve arthritis. "It's not a cure," she said, "but it helps."

THE TANNING bed is shaped like a sleeping compartment. Both the bed and cover are approximately six feet long and three feet wide.

Light bulbs with 2,200 watts of light are located underneath the curved Plexiglas shields of the roof and bed.

Renee said customers are provided with eye covers to shut out the bright light. Although there is no danger to the eyes, she said the shades are more comfortable.

The length of time customers stay in the bed varies depending on their skin tone and whether they tan easily or usually burn. Renee said anyone can tan in the tanning bed even if they've never had a tan before.

She said fair-skinned people begin with 10 minutes in the bed, increasing that time to 15 minutes during the next two visits.

After that, times are increased by five-minute intervals, with 30 minutes the maximum time.

Renee said results are visible after about the third or fourth visit.

THE OWNERS SAID cost of using the tanning bed in Wayne is less than what is charged in some cities.

"Each session is $5, or customers can take advantage of a package deal which includes seven sessions for $35, with the eighth session free. Hours are noon to 7 p.m. each weekday."

"The tanning bed is so much easier than laying out in the sun five to six hours," said Renee, "and you can get a tan year-round."

"I love it. I think it's great," said Michelle Sokol, a sophomore at Wayne-Carroll High School who has been a steady customer at The Tanning Hut since it opened two months ago.

Renee pointed out that The Tanning Hut isn't just for the young. And it isn't just for women.

"We've had all ages," she said, "ranging from high school age, to college, to women in their mid 40's."

"And," she added, "we've even had a couple of guys."

Marking 80th year

The 80th birthday of Anna Graunke of Wayne will be observed with an open house reception on Sunday, Oct. 7 in the basement of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. All friends and relatives are invited to attend the event from 2 to 4 p.m. The honoree requests no gifts. The reception is being hosted by her children.

Winside Methodist Church observes 100th anniversary

Members and friends of the United Methodist Church in Winside observed its 100th anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 23 during a day-long celebration.

The Rev. John Craig of Overton, pastor of the church during 1967-68, was guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. worship service with 72 attending.

Soloist was Shirley Carpenter of Randolph, and organist was Mrs. Helen Holtgrew of Winside. Altar flowers marking the church's 100th anniversary were gifts of the Young Women's Circle of Trinity Lutheran Church, Mrs. Charlotte Wylie, Mrs. Ruby Swigard, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Eckert and Peg.

A CARRY-IN dinner with 60 attending was served at noon. United Methodist Women were in charge of arrangements.

An organ piano duel preceding the afternoon service was provided by Mrs. Helen Holtgrew and Mrs. Shirley Carpenter.

The Rev. C. A. (Sandy) Carpenter read greetings from the Rev. Art Ernst, Northeast District Superintendent.

Greetings from former pastors were read by Mrs. Judy Carlson. A history of Winside United Methodist Women was written by Mrs. Dorothy Nelsen and read by Mrs. Dottie Wacker.

CORSAGES FOR Missions were presented by Mrs. Helen Holtgrew, assisted by Mrs. Elsie Longnecker.

Receiving corsages were the Rev. Sandy Carpenter, Mrs. Shirley Carpenter, the Rev. and Mrs. John Craig, and the Rev. Gail Axen of Stanton.

Others receiving corsages were Mrs. Ruby Swigard and Mrs. Bessie Leary, who have been members of the congregation for 70 years; Mrs. Charlotte Wylie, for 57 years of membership; Bill Burris, a member of the congregation for the shortest length of time (one week); and Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer of East Moline, Ill., attending the celebration from the furthest distance.

THE WINSIDE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH celebrated its centennial on Sunday, Sept. 23. During its 100 year history, the church has had 1,081 members and 48 pastors.

THE AFTERNOON program also included "The Church Triumphant," read by Mrs. JoAnn Field, a vocal solo by Shirley Carpenter, and a trumpet solo by Pastor Carpenter.

Melissa Farran read the history of the Winside United Methodist Church which was written by her mother, Mrs. Elva Farran.

On display during the day was a quilt which was made by Epworth League and given away during a drawing held in 1914. Samuel Reichert won the quilt and loaned it to Willis and Gladys Reichert for the celebration.

Sixty-three persons attended a wiener roast later in the afternoon with members of FIGS in charge.

Entertaining the group with inspirational stories prior to the evening service were The Clowns of Norfolk.

FAVORITE HYMNS were sung during the evening service with 115 attending.

Special music included vocal duets by the Rev. and Mrs. Art Winkler of Pierce, by the Rev. and Mrs. Julevu Miquel of the Stanton-Pilger United Methodist Church, and by Mrs. Shirley Carpenter and Eric Carpenter; vocal solos by Mrs. Shirley Carpenter and by Eric Carpenter; trumpet solos by Pastor Winkler and by Marvin Weber of Randolph, and a trumpet trio comprised of Pastor Winkler, Marvin Weber and Pastor Carpenter.

Also singing during the service was the choir from the Stanton-Pilger United Methodist Church.

THE WINSIDE United Methodist Sunday school was organized on May 4, 1884. Services were held at various locations, including School District 16, the depot, and business places.

The first minister appointed by the Nebraska Conference was the Rev. E. E. Wilson in the spring of 1886. The church was constructed in 1891, and the Ladies Aid was formed in 1903.

The church has had 1,081 members during its first 100 years and has been served by 48 ministers.

The Rev. Sandy Carpenter of Randolph is the present minister.

Add a little bulgur to your menu
 If your diet could use more fiber and plenty of B vitamins and phosphorus, then bulgur will do the trick.
 Bulgur — precooked, cracked wheat — is a versatile, relatively inexpensive source of fiber. Bulgur can be used at any meal, eaten alone, or mixed with fruits, vegetables, meats or salads. And, it can be boiled, roasted, fried or baked.
 Bulgur is cooked in much the same way as you would cook rice. As with rice, you do not wash or rinse the bulgur before or after cooking. Rinsing the bulgur washes away some valuable water-soluble nutrients.

FOLLOW THE package directions for the amount of water to use in cooking bulgur. You wouldn't want to use an extra amount of water as you would with a pasta product.
 And don't stir the bulgur while it is cooking — it just makes it sticky. The bulgur should be a little more than double its dry volume after cooking.
 Bulgur is precooked and dried so it is easily stored. The kernels are hard, much like rice. It's usually packaged for sale in boxes or plastic bags, about a pound in a package.
 Because it is a dried product, care should be taken to store the bulgur in a cool, dry place to prevent moisture reabsorption. Part of the wheat germ is still a part of the bulgur kernel. Storage at high temperatures also encourages rancidity development in the fat of the germ.

BULGAR IS A good substitute for rice in many recipes — like fried rice or a soup containing rice. It may be used in stuffing for poultry in place of the traditional bread.
 A handful in homemade bread gives it a crunchy texture. And, many people like to use it as a meat extender in ground meats. It absorbs meat juices during cooking, helping to retain the meat flavor.

Flier observance

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES are invited to attend an open house reception on Sunday, Oct. 7 in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Flier of Wayne. The event will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne. Hosts will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flier and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Flier, all of Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ludeking of Rock City, Ill. The couple requests no gifts.

ALLEN'S DENISE Magnuson and Shelly Boyle go up for the block attempt against Walthill.

Allen win over Walthill 'critical game'

The Allen volleyball team came out on the winning side in Thursday night's offensive battle against conference foe Walthill, as they downed the Bluejays in two sets at home.

The win, which was important in determining standings of the conference's Lewis division, gave the Eagles a 3-1 record in the division and a 7-3 mark overall.

ALLEN FELL BEHIND in the opening set 4-1 before tying the score at 4-4 and scoring 11 unanswered points for the opening set win. The lead changed hands in the second set several times and Allen trailed 14-10 before tying the score at 14-14 and 15-15. The Eagles were then able to get back the serve and score the necessary two points for the 17-15 win.

"It was a pretty critical game for us in the division," said head Coach Gary Troth. There were four teams, including Allen, Beemer and Walthill, tied at the top of the Lewis division with 2-1 records, and Troth said he felt that a team with just one loss would be the team to finish on top.

Mary Oswald led Allen's scoring effort with 11-11 serves for 10 points, followed by Denise Magnuson with 8-8 serves for seven points and two aces. Pam Heckathorn also had seven points on 9-10 serve attempts, and Diane Magnuson was 7-7 for six of the match's points.

Spiking at the net was headed up by Denise Magnuson who had 11 good spikes in as many attempts with five for kills. Mary Oswald was also 11-11 with three aces and Shelly Boyle was 7-7 in spikes.

Denise Magnuson and Shelly Boyle each had two ace blocks on the night.

SETTING CHORES were split between Tammy Kavanaugh and Pam Heckathorn. Kavanaugh was 12-13 in setting with five for kills, while Heckathorn went 12-12 with four sets for ace spikes.

"It was a battle of offenses for both teams," said Troth. "We have had the tendency in the past to get way behind early, but this time we went out and played good from the start."

In B team action, Allen also won in two sets by scores of 15-8 and 15-10.

LeAnn McDonald was leading scorer with eight points and Tiffany Harder added seven points.

Kris Hansen was 5-7 with 1 kill and one ace block at the net.

Setting leaders were LeAnn McDonald with 12-15 sets for three kills and Nikki Olesen with 8-10 good sets.

Allen will be at home again tomorrow night (Tuesday), Oct. 2 when they host Bancroft-Rosalie, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

A MEMBER of Wayne's seventh grade volleyball team returns the ball with a bump during the second set.

W-C junior high netters sweep Wakefield

The Wayne seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams made a clean sweep over the Wakefield Trojan junior high on Thursday when they won both matches in their first competition on the home court.

THE SEVENTH grade team scored their first win of the season against one loss when they came from behind to win in three sets, 5-15, 15-4 and 15-7.

Leading scorer was Teresa Ellis with 19-24 good serves and 18 points. Heidi Reeg added six points on nine good serves in 10 attempts.

Coach Sue Koch said "It was the best that I have seen them look so far, they have come a long way in the past three and a half weeks."

"Our serving is especially making good progress in moving from the underhand to overhand serve for some of the girls," she added.

"After we got behind in the match with Wakefield, we didn't worry so much about setting up the offense as we did just playing it and getting it back over."

THE EIGHTH GRADE team was also a winner in two sets, by scores of 15-10 and 15-4. Their season record is now 2-1.

"We didn't pass the ball as well as we have in the past, especially when it came to the first pass up to the setter, so that's something we will be working on in practice this coming week," said Koch. "That was the only area in which I was disappointed in their play."

Holly Paige headed up the scoring with 16 points on 16-20 serve attempts. Dana Nelson averaged 60 percent in her spiking and had one spike for an ace.

"Wakefield was the type of team that set the ball up a lot, so we had to be able to return the ball to them...that was something we had lacked being able to do before."

It is the first year that Wayne-Carroll has offered a structured junior volleyball program with a full-time coach and organized practices.

Both teams will be in action at home again this Thursday, Oct. 4 against Hartington Holy Trinity, beginning at 4 p.m.

Parents Night win

WSC sets back Lady Bobcats

The crowd at the Wayne State Volleyball Parents Night on Wednesday wasn't disappointed as they watched the Lady Wildcat varsity and junior varsity win in straight sets against Peru State College.

The varsity won the best-three-out-of-five set match in three games, 15-1, 15-10 and 15-10.

AFTER WINNING the first set handily, the Lady Cats fell behind 6-0 and 7-1 before being able to string together points behind the serving of Mary Kay Becker, Linda Bode to tie the game at 10-10. Pam Gogan served up five consecutive points to give Wayne their second set win.

"Our poor serving was the thing that really hurt us," said Coach Marilyn Strate. "Otherwise, we played together as a team very well."

Mary Kay Becker totaled 14 points for the Lady Cats in the win, while Pam Gogan added eight points. In serve receiving, Gogan led with 13 good receives in 16 attempts.

Setting was led by Jill Zeiss with 12 assists. Linda Bode had four sets and Sue Walter had three assists.

Missy Stollenberg had six kill spikes in the three sets, and Diana Asay and Pam Gogan each added four downed spikes.

Sophomore Deb Prenger had a strong night defensively with six blocks at the net.

THE RESERVES won their match against Peru in two sets by scores of 15-4 and 15-5.

Leading scorer was Janelle Moline with 11 points. Laura Irwin and Paula Dolech each had five points and Michele Chapman added four points.

Dolsch and Chapman each tied with five assists to head the setting category.

Natalie Fontenelle had eight good serve receives, followed by Laura Irwin with five.

"The junior varsity had a better night serving than the varsity did, and they moved very well on the court," Strate said. She added that she was pleased with the opportunity the match gave her to see the freshmen play against a level of competition closer to their own.

Wayne State was slated to be in action this weekend when they played at Nebraska Wesleyan on Saturday, Sept. 29. Games upcoming include a triangular with Ft. Hays and Washburn University at Topeka on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5-6.

KERRI LEIGHTON (center) bumps the ball on a serve. Brudigan (10) and Tracy Topp (34), waiting to set up receive to teammates Trisha Topp (left), Tammy the play.

Winside falls to tough Coleridge Chargers

The Winside volleyball team was handed their fourth defeat of the year on Thursday night on their home floor when the Coleridge Chargers downed the varsity Wildcats in three sets.

Winside won the first set of the match 15-9 but was unable to maintain their momentum in the final two sets, falling by scores of 15-8 and 15-13.

record as they downed Coleridge in two sets, 15-3 and 16-14.

Kristi Serven scored 11 points with 11-12 good serves and seven aces. Cherie Rhode was 11-15 at the serving line for nine points and five aces.

Julie Warnemunde led spikers in the match with 5-6 good spikes for three aces. She also was the team's top setter with 21-24 successful sets.

THE WILDCAT'S leading scorers were senior Trisha Topp with 12 points on 18-19 serve attempts with two aces and Tracy Topp with 15-16 good serves for 11 points and six aces.

Missy Jensen was the team's top spiker with 20 of 25 successful spike attempts for 10 ace spikes. Kerri Leighton was the main setter with 51 good sets on 58 attempts.

"We're still making mental mistakes out on the court, and that proves to be what is hurting us the most," said Coach Jill Stenwall. The Winside reserve team was able to maintain their undefeated

WINSIDE'S FRESHMEN team lost in their match with Coleridge in two sets, 13-11 and 11-9.

Carmen Reeg helped out with six points and five aces on 9-9 serves.

Setting was led by Tricia Hartman with 13-13 good sets and spiking leader was Lori Jensen with 3-5 good spikes for one ace.

The next competition for Winside squad will be Tuesday, Oct. 2 at Wynot.

LOCALLY! ROSES

The money you spend helps your community grow & prosper

A part of everything you spend in local stores goes to make your town a better place to live for you and your family. Merchants pay taxes, make charitable contributions and support local institutions. The merchants are your neighbors and they want to work with you to improve and support the good life in your community. You'll be helping your neighbors and yourself.

When you shop locally, everyone benefits. It's more convenient so you save gas and time. You get friendly, knowledgeable service because local merchants "know" you and appreciate your business. They depend on you to keep their stores going strong. And some of what you spend goes back into the community in the form of taxes and charitable contributions paid by the merchants.

Remember...

Your money buys more when you shop at a local store. It's good for you, good for us, good for the community.

MARANATHA FELLOWSHIP
The Maranatha Fellowship from the Laurel United Methodist Church held a progressive supper on Sept. 23. The group met at the church and had their salad in the home of Regg and Mary Ann Ward. The main course was served in the home of Dennis and Jean Dickey with dessert served at Duane and Sue Stingley's. Following the meal the group listened to the tape "Why Women are So Weird and Men are So Strange" by Tim Timmons.

The next meeting will be held at the church on Sunday, Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. with Betty Swarthout of O'Neill as the speaker. She will show slides and tell about her recent trip to England, Scotland and Wales, entitled "The Flying Deaconess." Members of the Laurel and Logan Center churches are welcome to join the group. There will be a fellowship hour following the program with Cindy Strawn and Linda and Nick Britzell in charge of the kitchen.

CHEERLEADING CLINIC
The Laurel-Concord varsity cheerleaders attended the Wayne State College fall cheerleading clinic in Wayne on Sept. 22. Those attending were Heidi Pehrson, Hollie Helgren, Stacy Strawn and Donna Herrmann.

New chants, jumps and routines were taught in the morning. In the afternoon Hollie Helgren and Stacy Strawn received a blue ribbon for their stunts and a red ribbon for their cheers and their jumps in the evaluation which was judged individually rather than competitively.

Other towns attending were Westwood/Sloan, Iowa, Ponca, Randolph, Emerson, Hubbard, Wayne and Waltham.

HEALTH TIPS
From Your Family Physician

PNEUMONIA VACCINATION
Pneumonia is an inflammation of the lungs caused by bacteria, viruses, or the inhaling of irritating substances. Pneumococcal pneumonia is by far the most common kind of bacterial pneumonia.

Pneumococcal pneumonia sometimes occurs in otherwise healthy people, but more often it hits those who are older or have chronic ailments.

The symptoms of pneumonia may develop suddenly or take a few days. They may include shaking chills, high fever, cough, and stabbing chest pains that are particularly bad when the person breathes in or coughs.

With prompt treatments pneumococcal pneumonia can often be successfully treated with antibiotics. However older individuals or those weakened by other illnesses may face a long period of recuperation and a greater risk of death.

A vaccine is recommended to help protect high risk people against pneumococcal pneumonia. High risk groups include healthy adults over 65 years, adults with chronic cardiovascular or pulmonary diseases, adults convalescing from a serious illness and those in particular with diabetes, kidney failure or certain cancers.

This vaccination can be administered anytime except with a febrile illness. Pregnancy, children under the age of two and those allergic to any of the vaccine components should not be immunized. Once immunized, and with those previously immunized, it is felt now further pneumonia vaccination are needed in the future.

Flu vaccination and pneumococcal pneumonia vaccinations are in no way related and may be administered at the same time.
