Trustees okay Rice expansion; legislative approval required

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Wayne State College's plans for the $3.14 million expansion of Rice Auditorium took a giant step forward Friday morning when the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees approved the program statement of the recreational-intramural/physical education center.

The board of trustees, who met on Thursday and Friday at Wayne State College, also voted approval on the method of how the recreational facility expansion project will be financed.

Voting on the program statement of the additional recreational facility, which will be basically used by intramural students and non students from the community, revealed unanimous favoring by the trustee members.

TRUSTEE BOARD members and other state school officials were provided a four Thursday afternoon of the Rice Auditorium complex, which was conducted by Wayne State Athletic Director Roh Jones.

Later in the afternoon an explanation of the recreational facility program statement, particularly the various options of the expansion plans, were provided by Gary Bowen, a consultant from Bahr Vermeer & Haecker, Architects, Ltd. of Omaha.

This new addition to Rice and Carlson will bring Wayne State to the level of other state colleges and facilities of similar size as far as activities and physical education facilities, Bowen said during the work session.

Input on the recreational facility was received from as many people as possible, he said. "We spent a number of days in Wayne and interviewed around 40 people," Bowen said.

parking lot, Bowen said.

The current access road between the tennis court and Carlson would then be relocated to the north side of the proposed recreational facility, he told the trustee members.

Parking, he said, could be established within the triangle area east of Carlson, the west side of the proposed recreational facility, and there would be adequate space for up to 60 cars north of the new addition.

Bowen emphasized that this option is not clearly without "potential site problems." Site inspection by the consulting firm had noticed something peculiar about the area, such as what conditions had led to the obvious stress to the present tennis courts. Numerous cracks are visible on the courts, which were constructed in 1965.

A soils analysis completed around the tennis courts showed that the fill, ranging in depth from seven to 14 feet underneath the tennis playing surface, was generally soft, not well compacted and in some places "had the consistency of toothpaste."

Leakage to the fill appeared to have been artificial. "More likely the slow leak, quite frankly, was from the water system," said Robert Dreesen, soil analyst.

THE TWO OPTIONS for the addition are as follows:

- To build the added recreational facility north of Rice-Carlson, connecting to Carlson. The tennis courts in this option and also the second option would be removed, with five new tennis courts to be located to the north end of the Memorial Stadium day afternoon. According to present plans, the tennis courts north of Rice-Carlson will be relocated to the north portion of the Memorial Stadium parking lot.

Indians bring back missing heritage

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Something has been lost by the American Indian over the past 100 years.

And it isn't all land or buffalo which has disappeared — as Hollywood movies portray — according to Albert Whitehat, who is director of the bilingual teachers training program at Sinte Gleska College on the Rosebud Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

Whitehat and Elmer Running, who is an official Medicine Man, visited Wayne State College Thursday evening as participants in an awareness program sponsored through funding of the Nebraska Committee of the Humanities.

What has been missing among the American Indians are heritage, pride and identity, said Whitehat. He is a Catholic and a member of the Lakota Sioux Indian tribe.

"We would like to bridge the gap, either individually or non-individually, and let people know how it has been in the past and where we are today," said Whitehat.

"Tonight, we hope we leave you with a whole different attitude about the American Indians," he said. "Let me take you beyond where we are today."

TELEVISION AND Hollywood have been effective in projecting an image of the American Indian — but not necessarily the true image, according to Whitehat. School curriculum also can be faulted for false images of the Indian.

"Children look in the library and see pictures of us. They see us with feathers or look on us as heathens, or pictures of Indians that do not smile," Whitehat said.

"They think that you can go into any town and find the Indian on a street corner."

In South Dakota, tribes are dominantly Sioux. Recently, within the last 100 years, other Indians have infiltrated the Sioux tribes through marriage, such as Osage, Navaho and Winnebago, according to Whitehat.

Whitehat then detailed the historical background of his tribe's religion to the 20 or more individuals who appeared at the awareness program.

Orville Looking Horse has been, for the past five years, keeper of a very old sacred pipe. Looking Horse is the 19th keeper of the pipe and was told the story of the pipe by his grandmother. "We make offerings to the pipe," Whitehat said.

Whitehat related the history of the pipe. "One evening a woman was cooking over an open fire trying meat and fat when a visiting woman appeared in the doorway. The visitor said the cooking smelled good and that she had to come over."

The visitor was invited into the home and the woman offered the visitor some of the meat and fat. The visitor came into the home and asked if meat and fat were available to take back to her hungry children and grandchildren. The woman, after eating her own cooking, gave the visitor the remainder of the meat and fat."

"UPON LEAVING the visitor told the woman that because of the generosity, the woman should let her people to go over the hill and follow a valley where there would be a herd of buffalo. Remember before eating the buffalo, the visitor said, to always

College Concert scheduled Sunday, Dec. 9, at Ramsey

Christmas music spanning several centuries will highlight the annual Christmas Choral Concert to be presented by the Wayne State College Concert Choir and Madrigal Singers on Sunday, Dec. 9.

The public is invited to attend the program free of charge at 3 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

Another Christmas tradition scheduled this month at Wayne State is the 13th annual Elizabethan Christmas Dinners featuring settings and costumes from Olde Engleland.

The Madrigal Singers are once again providing music and entertainment for the spectacle scheduled Dec. 14-16.

DR. CORNELL Runestad, vocal conductor, said the Dec. 9 concert will include several carols and other works bound together by narration and verse.

Highlighting the concert will be the traditional Hallelujah Chorus from Messiah.

Soloists include Gene Bechen of Schleswig, Iowa, Don Fletcher of Valley and Minde Zimmermann of Norfolk, and accompanists are Diane Robinson of Lenox, Iowa and Gayle Hightree of Battle Creek, Iowa.

Narrator will be Doyle Anderson, a Wayne State College graduate now teaching music at Wynot.

The choir also will provide music at worship services in two Wayne churches on Dec. 9 — St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 10:30 a.m. and Redeemer Lutheran Church at 11.

TICKETS FOR the Elizabethan Christmas Dinners on Dec. 14-16 can be ordered by mail or picked up in person at the WSC Fine Arts Division Office, room 109.

No phone reservations will be accepted, and all sales are final with no exchanges or refunds. Ticket prices are $11 each.

Checks should be made payable to "WSC Christmas Dinners." All ticket orders by mail must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope, total remittance in check, money order or cash, and a choice of the three dinner dates.

The checks should be mailed to WSC Christmas Dinners, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Runestad said dinners will commence promptly at 7 p.m. each night in the north dining room of the Student Center on the college campus. Guests are asked to be in their seats by 6:45 p.m.

Persons ordering their tickets may also order a recently released LP stereo recording, "Christmas at Wayne State," featuring the concert choir and highlights from recent Christmas dinners.

The cost is $7 plus $1 if mailed. Separate checks must be made out to WSC Christmas Records, Music Department, Wayne State College.

MADRIGAL SINGERS include Maria Anderson, Jodi Benton and Minde Zimmermann, all of Norfolk; Diane Tempel of Seward; Jan Coffey of Columbus; Layne Johnson of Concord; Jerri Gradert and Mitch Schulte, both of Emerson; Don Fletcher of Valley; Dave Jasa of St. Edward; Sharyn Whipple of Stanton; Michelle Sherlock and Nick Sieler, both of Wayne; Gayle Hightree of Battle Creek, Iowa; Dan Harris and Cindy Linder, both of Onawa, Iowa; Gene Bechen of Schleswig, Iowa; and Scott Moore of Woodbine, Iowa.

Tom Fletcher of Wayne is the Jester.

Spirit moves medicine man

Elmer Running is a Catholic who attends church every Sunday.

He also carries a peace pipe with him on his travels and in his shirt pocket carries medicine of the spirit.

"Without the medicine, I would not be here talking to you," he said, pronouncing his words with clarity before those who listened to him speak on spiritual healing rituals at an Indian awareness program Thursday evening at Wayne State College, sponsored by the Nebraska Committee for Humanities.

You see, Running is an official Medicine Man. He's held that esteemed position for 20 years.

When he was "kind of young," he said, the spirit appeared to him early one morning. "Running did not immediately turn over a new leaf."

But when he turned 30 or so, "I remembered what the spirit told me. I went up on a hill for four days and four nights. Different animals — I had seen them and they had talked to me. A lot of things I didn't know then. I know now because of those four days and four nights," said Running.

Running said he has been working with four spirits — the coyote, black-tailed deer, eagle and the spider. "When you are a medicine man, you can take no alcohol, drugs or grass. You can't use it," he said.

"Some people with skin cancer come up to me for help. I'm not the one. It is the spirit that provided the medicine they get. They are the ones who heal the people," he said.

Running said he can pick up his medicine (roots and herbs) at night when there's no light, or in the winter time during a blizzard.

"I don't use a shovel. I just use my hands," he said.

"When I see a blue light on the ground, I know that's the medicine," he said. At times, the herb or root can be found on top of a snow drift.

You have to have patience and a good mind and willpower to work with spirits," he said.

Some of the spiritual healing tactics which Running and Whitehat mentioned were:

• Indians do not do a dance to make rain. The Medicine man asks the spirits to make rain.

• As part of a physical and mental cleansing ceremony, the medicine man conducts ceremonies inside a little lodge that is eight feet in diameter and about 2 1/2 feet tall — constructed with willows. In the middle of the lodge is a pit which is approximately 12" deep.

Hot rocks are placed into the pits and water is poured on the rocks as participants sit around and allow the heavy steam to penetrate.

• And it is best to take the medicine from the medicine man in isolation with a pipe.

Playing it safe

Beginning this month, students in approximately 40 Nebraska schools will begin learning about the mass media and traffic safety through a program called "Play It Safe." "Play It Safe" is an instructional program which combines the students' understanding of the mass media and traffic safety issues.

"Play It Safe" also offers a contest that will culminate in a national awards presentation next year. After learning about traffic safety and the news media from local area experts, teams of four students each will create a project including a print advertisement, copy for a radio public service announcement and/or a storyboard for a television advertisement. These contest entries will be judged at the local, state and national levels.

Many of the participating schools will invite radio and television broadcasters, journalists and traffic safety experts to participate in "Play It Safe."

either as subject matter specialists or contest judges.

NATIONAL PRIZE winners and finalists will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. in the spring of 1985. Cash awards to their teachers and audiovisual equipment for classroom use will also be awarded.

The beginning of the "Play It Safe" program in Nebraska was marked with a proclamation signed by Governor Robert Kerrey.

"Play It Safe" is sponsored by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Kool-Aid division of General Foods.

Other organizations supporting "Play It Safe" include American Advertising Federation, American Association of Advertising Agencies, Magazine Publishers Association, National Association of Government's Highway Safety Representatives, National Newspaper Association, Radio Advertising Bureau and Television Information Services. The program is being coordinated in Nebraska by the Nebraska Department of Education.

A recent news release from the Nebraska Department of Education indicates that a Nebraska teacher could be the first private citizen to fly on a space shuttle mission.

NASA joins others in being responsible for the first private citizen, who will be a teacher, to fly on a space mission.

The teacher must be a U.S. citizen, be a current full-time classroom teacher, have been a full-time classroom teacher for the past five consecutive years, meet specific medical requirements and not be a spouse of a current or former NASA employee.

After a screening and review process, two Nebraska teachers will be selected as nominees and the nominees from all states and territories will go through a national review process and attend a NASA workshop in Washington, D.C. in the summer of 1985.

Ten semi-finalists will be considered by NASA and will undergo a medical examination and briefings at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston. The primary and backup candidates will undergo training to prepare them for the space flight.

Application period is from Dec. 1 of 1984 to

Feb. 1, 1985 and application packets are available from the NASA Teacher in Space Project, c/o Susan Petersen of the Nebraska Department of Education in Lincoln.

AM I, AS a journalist, jealous? In a way I am.

After all, I would consider myself a perfect candidate for a private citizen astronaut. Here are some recommendations from some people to have me riding in that space shuttle.

My wife — Please accept my husband as a candidate for the space mission. He has been in an ugly mood for the past several weeks and everything I cook for him he hates. You have him for a week or two. Just feed him lots of "Tang" and that will keep him satisfied.

Also, he likes his laundry hung outside to dry, so maybe you could bring a few clothespins along and let them air dry 'n space.

My boss — Dear NASA, We would like you to consider giving our employee a ride in your space shuttle. We had intended to send him off to Siberia or some other distant place just to give us peace of mind, but why pay when we can get rid of him free of charge in space.

You don't have to hurry him back. Our editorial department needs the vacation.

Oh, one more thing. To us, he will always be remembered as a "space cadet."

My mother — I would like to see my son as the person chosen to travel in space. Just see that he brings plenty of blankets along in case the nights get cold.

Also, I will pack a sack lunch for him for the first day in space, so don't worry about providing for him that day.

We'd be proud of you son. Just remember to pack some clean underwear with you.

MY SCIENCE TEACHER — NASA, please accept my recommendations to allow my student to be a passenger in the space shuttle. Not because he is a brilliant scientist, but because he needs a lot of things pointed out to him.

For instance, he still thinks the moon is made of cheese and the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper were two singing groups in the 1950's. He still wishes upon stars and when looking for zodiac signs in the sky, he wonders if they should appear as triangles that say "No passing" in bold black letters.

From watching television, he thinks the space shuttle view of earth looks like a hard-boiled egg that looked pitiful after the outside shell sticks to the white portion of the egg.

He first thought the shuttle was something to take between Buffalo and New York.

(You know the song — "Shuttle off to Buffalo"?)

So as you can see, a space shuttle trip would certainly enlighten this man's philosophy and ideas on the space program in general.

From myself — If you would like to consider me as a possible candidate, NASA, I'll send you an envelope with my return address. I won't take up too much space and if you want I can conduct an experiment and be the first to take pictures with a camera while walking in space and retrieving a satellite or something.

Just get me back before the deadline for news copy. That's all I ask.

Move to reform

Prior to the November election, Roy Coryell of Wayne picked up an informative fact sheet on what effect a 1-cent city sales tax would have on residents of Norfolk and the rural area.

One sentence of the fact sheet struck him — if a local sales tax is adopted, a tax bill to the city of Norfolk would be $278.75 if the typical family in the city had an annual income of $22,000-$24,000 and owned a $50,000 home.

This bothered Coryell, which prompted him to conduct a search as to what other city residents including Wayne were paying for property taxes.

His findings, which he strongly backs, reveal that a taxpayer in Wayne County will be paying more in total property taxes than those residents in the cities of Blair, O'Neil, Hartington, West Point and Norfolk (the city sales tax was passed in the November election and becomes effective April 1, 1985).

Here is the information he gathered, based on information and comparison of city's tax paid on a $50,000 house in the city.

In Wayne, this figure amounts to $359.90 for city tax, $204.20 for county tax and $697.55 for school tax. Add other taxes from the educational unit, agricultural society, Natural Resource District and Northeast Tech.

The total property tax paid on a $50,000 home would be $1,323.80, according to Coryell.

The total property taxes to be paid in Blair is $1,263.60; O'Neil, $815; Hartington, $1,233; West Point, $902.20; and Norfolk, $985.40.

All but one of these cities lost in population numbers while others increased as much as 9.5 percent, according to the 1980 census — and that city is Wayne, where the city, from 1970 figures were down in count by 139 people and 342 people in Wayne County.

City officials of Wayne, however, gave Coryell another aspect to consider when looking at property taxes. Since 1980, Wayne expenditures have decreased "per capita" in the general fund and electric fund, with only a 31 cent increase in the water and sewer fund.

Based on 1983-84 figures, Wayne was lower per capita in tax valuation, levied property tax and current dept per capita than either Norfolk and West Point.

City officials point out that in comparison with Norfolk, Wayne is less expensive in providing the combination of two key factors associated with living in a $50,000 home — taxes and the provision of electricity.

Those per capita rates could be increased if the population count of Wayne during the 1980 census did not include students attending Wayne State College, according to Coryell.

Coryell has made it clear he isn't knocking city or county officials and the school board members. These board member positions are very demanding and require a straight-forward conscientious approach directed toward trimming government and school spending.

Yet, it can be difficult to do so without input from others that are not board members — which is one reason why Coryell is making his findings available to the media. He hopes it will create interest which will bring more people to the council, county or school board meetings.

It is time people took an interest. The list of delinquent tax payers, although less than last year, still number many. And real estate listings are growing.

On Saturday afternoon, representatives of this newspaper will be attending a meeting in Emerson to meet with a Farm Crisis Committee, where local bankers and legislative representatives will gather to discuss family farm survival.

Coryell's findings will stir some interest — both negative and positive — but at least he is letting his voice be heard and is given the opportunity to voice some alternatives.

Isn't that how a democratic society is suppose to work?

Farm credit takes a peek at 1995

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
By Cheryl Stubbendieck
Director of Information

The scope of America's Farm Credit System isn't easy to describe or grasp. Currently it provides a mind stretching $80 billion in loans to farmers, cooperatives and other borrowers — that means that $800 million is a mere one percent of total loan volume. Either figure is difficult to conceptualize, but the importance of the system is apparent.

Late last year, senior executives of the banks and other agencies making up the nationwide system began an internal study of the system. The results form the first part of "Project 1995" and will help the system shape a blueprint for its future. Admirably, the system is sharing its proprietary findings with the rest of agriculture.

Some of these changes have already appeared in other crystal balls: the increasing importance of off-farm income; a dual agriculture of relatively fewer large farms and more smaller farms; no repetition of the ag export growth of the 1970s; the increasing influence of domestic and international economic policies on U.S. ag.

On the whole, the farm credit executives believe that U.S. agriculture must continue to plan for a difficult future. Still, there will be ample profit opportunities for innovative and progressive operators, especially those who learn to manage risk for their own profit.

THE NUMBER OF farms is expected to decline about one percent per year through 1995. Realized net income for agriculture will be $3 to $9 billion annually from 1985 to 1995, up from 1981-83 but below any year during the 1970s.

Total debt is projected to reach $465 billion by 1995, based on an annual growth of 7.5 percent (compared with the 1970's annual debt growth of 12 percent). Equity of proprietors is expected to grow about 6.5 percent per year.

The system believes that most crop production increases in the future will come from new technology, not more cropland, but major technological breakthroughs aren't expected by 1995.

Consumption of beef, veal, lamb and pork will remain at 1982 levels, according to the study, and milk consumption will decline. Poultry will be favored over red meat, based on demographic and diet preferences. After 1985, total cattle numbers will begin to accumulate, and net returns will fall by the end of the '80s. Stocker programs will grow and feeder programs will decrease in importance. Cow numbers will hold steady, as will feedlots, and feedlots will continue to be concentrated and centralized in the Great Plains. No major regional production shifts for hogs, dairy and poultry are expected by 1995.

CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS of agriculture will continue to grow, but more slowly than in the 1970s. Asset growth will be about 6.5 percent per year, with non-real estate assets growing faster than real estate.

For the system itself, the farm credit executives expect the competitive environment for delivering credit and capital to producers will change greatly. The principal suppliers won't change, but market shares will shift to favor lenders who can segment the market; provide tailored packages of debt, equity and lease capital; manage delivery costs effectively and use new computer and communications technology.

Deregulation is expected to increase the competitive effectiveness of commercial banks and savings and loans.

Overall, the system sees changes as evolutionary rather than revolutionary, with all of the changes in agriculture mutually reinforcing the movement to change.

The total Farm Credit study is exhaustive and well-done, but as one of its executives puts it: "Projection for the future of agriculture really represents only the first step, the easy part. The real work lies in planning for the future."

Legislators begin session with election

State Legislators have begun their biennial ritual of reorganizing themselves under new leadership.

Among the first orders of business when the 89th Legislature, First Session, convenes on Jan. 9 will be the secret-ballot elections of a speaker, chairman of the Legislative Council Executive Board and chairman of 14 standing committees.

Since the Nov. 6 election, lawmakers have been gathering in a series of informal private meetings to discuss the reorganization.

The main race is the contest for speaker between Senators Bernice Labedz of Omaha and William Nichol of Scottsbluff.

Labedz, an eight-year legislative veteran, entered the race last week against Nichol, who is seeking re-election to a second two-year term as speaker.

Bill Nichol has done a fine job, but traditionally the speaker has served only a two-year term," Labedz said. Only once has a speaker been elected to two terms: Former Senator Richard C. Hennings was elected to the post in 1979 and 1981.

LABEDZ, A Democrat, promised to be "Fair, honest and accessible" as speaker, whose main influence derives from the ability to set the legislative floor agenda.

Nichol, a Republican, disagreed with Labedz's contention that the speakership is an honor to be passed among legislators. "I've never known it to be an honorary position," Nichol said. "To me it's hard work."

Nichol said Marvel's election to two terms has set a precedent for his re-election.

Other races were taking shape last week, too.

Senators Rod Johnson of Harvard and Harold Steck of Pleasant Dale have announced their intentions to oppose Senator Rex Haberman of Imperial in his bid for re-election to the chairmanship of the Agriculture and Environment Committee.

Senator Jim Pappas of Hershey has announced that he will challenge Senator Elroy Hefner of Coleridge for the chairmanship of the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee.

Senator R. Wiley Remmers of Auburn may face a challenge from Senator Marge Higgins of Omaha for the chairmanship of the Urban Affairs Committee. The chairmanship becomes vacant with the retirement of Senator Dave Newell of Omaha.

Senator Don Wesley of Lincoln, who has been vice chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee for four of his six years in the Legislature, announced last week that he'll run for committee chairmanship left vacant by the defeat in the Nov. 6 election of Senator George Fenger of Bellevue.

TWO YEARS AGO, Fenger beat Wesley for the chairmanship by one vote. Although Wesley's activism on cost containment issues has irritated some segments of the health care industry, no opponent had surfaced by late last week.

With Labedz's decision to seek the speakership, she leaves open the chairmanship of the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee. Senator Lee Rupp of Monroe, a former Game and Parks Commission employee, is expected to seek the position.

One problem that lawmakers see in the reorganizations is that only three chairmanships — constitutional revision and recreation, urban affairs and public health and welfare — are opening up.

As one senator described the problem: "There's a lot of ambition and not a lot of rewards to be handed out."

With the exception of Nichol, most of the senators in key leadership faced re-election without opposition at the end of last week.

Among them are Senator Vard Johnson of Omaha, chairman of the Legislative Council Executive Board; Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Appropriations Committee; Senator Cal Carsten of Avoca; chairman of the Revenue Committee; Senator John DeCamp of Neligh, chairman of the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee and Senator Loran Schmit of Bellwood, chairman of the Public Works Committee.

news and notes

Are vitamin pills for you? Many people don't always eat sensibly and a vitamin or mineral supplement may be appropriate for them. Others simply take their daily supplement out of habit. A nutritionist will usually tell you to spend your money on food, not vitamin pills. Currently, nutritional supplements are a $1.5 billion per year business that by 1988 is projected to top $3.5 billion. A recent Food and Drug Administration survey found many people consume over 20 supplements daily.

BEFORE CONSIDERING a nutritional supplement, decide if your diet is deficient in nutrients. Usually, a person eating a variety of foods will be getting adequate nutrition.

A detailed nutritional analysis of your diet can be made by a dietitian who compares your intake of nutrients to the Recommended Dietary Allowances (RDA's).

A computer program from AGNET called diet-check is available at the Cooperative Extension Service. This program requires that you record all foods eaten for one or more days. Hair analysis is not a valid method of measuring nutrient deficiencies. Although hair analysis can help detect certain mineral toxicities, it is useless for diagnosing mineral deficiencies because normal values of minerals in hair have not been established.

Beware of anyone offering an impressive computer print out based on a sample of hair and suggesting vitamin and mineral supplements.

LARGE DOSES of one mineral can upset the body's use of others. It is best to avoid self-prescribed supplements and get minerals from a varied diet.

A multivitamin capsule should contain no more than 100 percent of the RDA and all ingredients should be present at the same percentage of the RDA.

Be sure the supplement carries an expiration date. Store brands are acceptable if the turnover is rapid and the bottle hasn't been sitting on the shelf too long.

Some of the theories on megadoses, such as taking large doses of vitamin C to prevent the common cold, are unproved.

Hundreds of experiments have been conducted, but the conclusion is that vitamin C has no effect on the number of colds people get. In some people, it lessens the severity of cold symptoms.

RECENT POPULAR books on children's nutrition recommend megadoses of various supplements for childhood diseases ranging from cradle cap to crossed eyes.

Generally these are not only useless, but also potentially harmful. Poisonings have occurred in children because of overdoses of supplements.

Vitamin and mineral supplements are good tools in the hands of the medical profession. Try to avoid self-prescribing supplements without knowledge of possible side effects.

Two in a row

Allen Eagles open season with wins over Winside, Coleridge

The Allen Eagles boys basketball team made it two in a row in their season opening double-header, taking wins over Winside and Coleridge last Thursday and Friday night.

In the season opener for both schools on Thursday, Nov. 29, the Eagles took a 52-38 decision from the Winside Wildcats on the road.

The hosts led at the end of the first period 10-9, before falling behind in the second quarter to trail at the half 24-18.

IN THE GAME'S third period, both teams were again evenly matched in scoring. Allen coming up 13 points while Winside scored a dozen.

Early in the fourth quarter, Winside was able to pull within five points before Allen pulled away with a couple of quick buckets and held out for the win.

"We led for much of the first half, up until the closing minutes," said Wildcat Coach Mark Freiberg. "The turnovers really hurt us in the second half especially, and that gave them the opportunity to shoot the ball 21 times, compared to our 48 attempts from the field."

Allen Coach Dave Uldrich cited fouling as the big problem for his team in the game, with three of his starting five players getting into trouble early in the first quarter. "We had to play the bench most of the game because of the foul trouble, but we found out that we had a good bench and that they are there for us."

First-game jitters may have been part of the cause, but Uldrich says his players will have to go back and work on the area. "They know what to do fundamentally, they just need to execute better."

Despite the loss, Freiberg was pleased with the performance of his team at both ends of the court and with the hustle up and down the floor. "From now on our shooting percentage will improve and getting game experience will also help. The Wildcats shot 48 percent from the floor on 12 of 48 tries, while Allen sank 18 of 61 attempts for just under 30 percent."

ALLEN'S SCORING was led by Craig Noe with 14 points, the only Eagle to hit double figures. Kevin Malcom added eight points and Jay Jones hit seven points.

For Winside, Mike Thies topped out with a 14-point performance, followed by Kevin Falk with 11 points and Doug Mundil with eight points.

Noe also led on the boards for Allen with seven rebounds, while Jay Jones and Mitch Petit pulled in six each. Falk and Thies each logged seven boards for the Wildcats, and Doug Mundil added six rebounds.

In junior varsity action, Allen came out the winner in a 34-28 contest. Leading scorers included Kevin Jaeger with 13 points for Winside and Lanny Boswell with eight points for the Eagles.

The next action for the Wildcats is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 7 on the road in a Clark division contest with Laurel-Concord.

IN FRIDAY NIGHT'S home opener with Coleridge, the Eagles had to come from behind and break a third quarter tie to take the 51-47 win to up their record to 2-0.

Coleridge took control of the game early and held a slim lead throughout the first two quarters despite several runs by the Eagles offense. The Bulldogs were on top at the half 25-23.

Allen tied the game up on their first shot of the third quarter on a bucket from underneath by Shawn Mahler before battling back and forth with Coleridge to a 35-35 tie at the end of the eight minute period.

A pair of free throws by Jay Jones at the start of the fourth quarter gave the Eagles a lead which they held onto and increased to 10 points with under five minutes to play.

The Bulldogs closed the gap to four points following an Allen turnover, but Craig Noe put all hopes of Coleridge getting any closer when he blocked a shot and the Eagles took the ball over with about 20 seconds left.

JAY JONES HIT a pair of free throws to give Allen their final points of the game, while Coleridge's Troy Bartling hit a long jumper at the buzzer to narrow the gap to four points.

"In the fourth quarter we forced their turnovers and they began to force their shots," said Uldrich. "Things went really smooth for us."

"Our overall shooting was better than it was against Winside, and our shot selection was good."

Jay Jones dumped in 14 points to lead the Eagles scoring, while Craig Noe and Steve Jones also hit in double figures with 12 points each.

Jay Jones and Noe were also key figures on the boards in the game, pulling in 16 and 14 rebounds respectively.

"We knew Coleridge was a good team, they were quick, played man-to-man defense, and were well-coached," said Uldrich. "We told the kids to feed the ball to the inside and get their big players in trouble early, which is what we were able to do."

The difference in the team's statistics concerning fouls was "night and day" according to Uldrich, as was the team's ball handling ability. Against Winside, the Eagles had 24 fouls, while limiting themselves to just 12 against Coleridge.

Uldrich says he expects the team to work on defense in the upcoming practices. "Defense is an area where we haven't spent a lot of time, now we'll start to polish that as well."

In the reserve game, Allen scored their second win in as many outings, downing the Bulldogs 27-23. Leading scorers for the Eagles were Clarke McGrath with six points and Craig Hoffman and Max Oswald with five points.

Allen's next game will be Friday, Dec. 7 on the road against Ponca.

Winside wrestlers notch dual win

Winside's 1984-85 wrestling squad got their season off to a strong start after picking up a 39-27 dual win over the Osmond Tigers on Thursday night, Nov. 29 in Osmond.

Head Coach Paul Sok said that the opening matches revealed both some pleasant and not-so-pleasant surprises. "It showed the team's overall strength and that some of our techniques are in good shape," said Sok. "We still need a little work on our combinations in practice, and in working out of the bottom position."

"Our takedowns went well, in our first six matches we had takedowns right away in the first period."

Sok also added that he was pleased that all of the team members were able to make and certify at their season weights.

The Winside wrestlers were scheduled to compete in the Randolph Invitational on Saturday, Dec. 1 and will be on the road for a dual with Pender on Thursday, Dec. 6.

Wakefield Trojans split in season opener

The Wakefield Trojan boys basketball team tasted both victory and defeat in their opening games of the season played Thursday and Friday on the road.

Their first win came Friday night against the Panthers of Bancroft-Rosalie in a hard-fought 48-45 decision.

THE TROJANS, trailing for most of the game, opened up a slim lead in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter but saw it cut to just one point, 46-45, with 15 seconds left after Bancroft capitalized on a Wakefield turnover for a bucket.

The Panthers then committed a personal foul which sent senior Brian Soderberg to the line for one and one free throw situation with five seconds left. Soderberg hit both free shots to secure the Trojan win.

"We trailed throughout the game, but in the final four minutes of the game we were able to keep better ball control," said Trojan Coach Clark Coco. "We got a couple of baskets underneath to get ahead and played good, intense defense which helped cause some turnovers."

"As a team," Coco was pleased with the overall defensive performance, which showed improvement from the season opener with Pender. "As a defensive unit, we knew where we were at on the floor."

A trio of Trojan players hit double figures, led by Jason Erb with 13 points, and Brian Soderberg and Wade Nicholson, each with 12 points.

Both teams hit 20 field goals from the floor, but free throws proved to make the difference. Bancroft committed 20 fouls while only going to the line six times, while Wakefield was 8 of 22 from the line and committed 12 team fouls.

"We shot 30 percent from the floor and went 8 of 22 from the free throw line," said Coco. "We are going to have to shoot better to play with the quality teams in this area."

Coco also cited having a game under their belts made a big difference in the team's play, and gave them exposure to both the zone and man-to-man defensive styles. It was the season opener for Bancroft-Rosalie.

THE WAKEFIELD'S boys basketball team was unable to hold off a fourth quarter surge by Pender as they fell 57-45 in their season opener Thursday night.

The Trojans played neck-and-neck with Pender through the first three quarters of the game, trailing by one point, 35-34, going into the final minutes.

In that quarter, the Pendergones pushed their lead to five points before breaking things open and outscoring Wakefield 22-11 for the win.

"We played really well into the fourth quarter," said first-year Coach Clark Coco. "In the final period we lost our defensive concept, and once they got up four or five points we tried to press what we were doing and things got out of control."

Junior Wade Nicholson came off the bench to lead the Trojan's scoring with 19 points on seven field goals and 5 of 7 performance at the free throw line. Senior starter Brian Soderberg was the only other Trojan in double figures with 12 points. He also headed up the Wakefield rebounding game with seven boards, and added five assists.

WAKEFIELD SHOT 28 percent from the field for the game, a factor which Coco says will improve as the season progresses. "Right now we are playing three players that have not varsity experience, but as the season goes along, they will gain that experience and that will help a lot."

Coco said that the Trojan offensive game was a little tentative and needs to be more sure of itself, but "that too will come with time."

"We played well in the first half, especially on defense. In the overall game, we lost our concentration in the fourth quarter, but it was a good, learning experience for us."

Top-rated Wayne Blue Devils surprised by Blair in 54-41 loss

Pre-season Class B basketball favorite Wayne High was surprised in their season opener by Blair on the road Friday night, as the Bears handed Wayne a 54-41 loss.

It was also the inflating game for Blue Devil Coach Bob Uhing, who is in his first year with Wayne High after coaching and teaching at Harrington Cedar Catholic High.

"I'M HAPPY with the way the kids played," said Uhing. "They baffled the whole way and never gave up."

Blair, also ranked among the leaders in Class B, was in control of the game from the opening tipoff, leading 12-7 at the end of the first quarter and expanding their lead to 24-13 at the intermission.

"It was only a five point ball game at the end of the first quarter, and we weren't really bothered by that," said Uhing. In the second quarter Blair was able to come up with three quick goals to increase the lead to 11 points.

Wayne was outscored in the third period, but found their offensive game in the closing minutes, racking up 21 points to slim the Bears winning margin down to the 54-41 final.

"Seeing the Blue Devils come a live in the fourth quarter was a bright spot in the game, according to Uhing. "We were really tight in the first half, but we came back and played well in the fourth quarter."

REBOUNDING, WHICH Uhing predicted earlier as being a problem area for the Blue Devils, proved to be just that in the loss. Wayne was outboarded 31-27, with 16 of Blair's takedowns coming off the offensive boards. "I was concerned that our rebounding was going to be weak, and it really showed in this game," said Uhing.

Despite the loss, Wayne registered three players in double figures. Don Larsen led with 11 points, followed closely by Rod Dahl and Dan Gross with 10 points each. Dahl and teammate Jeff Hausmann each logged eight rebounds to top the charts.

"I still think that we have good kids, we just need to rebound and get more aggressive on offense. We have excellent shooters, but they just aren't taking the shots."

Wayne shot 15-46 from the field for 32 percent and hit 11-17 shots from the free throw line for 64.7 percent. The Bears had the hot shooting hand from the field, making 21-41 field goals for 51.2 percent and 12-21 from the stripe for 57.1 percent.

Each team turned the ball over 13 times, while the Blue Devils committed 15 fouls and Blair 13 fouls.

"We need to find front line people who can pin on the offensive boards," said Uhing, who added that he was pleased with the solid performance of his guard corps in their first game. "We have a long way to go, but there is a lot of time to get there."

Wayne, now 0-1, will play their next game this Friday, Dec. 7 at home when they entertain the South Sioux City Cardinals. On Saturday, Dec. 8, the Blue Devils are again scheduled to host, when the Columbus-Lakeview Vikings come to town.

Laurel shows look into future in 44-20 win over Coleridge Chargers

The Laurel-Concord Bears girls basketball team showed a glimpse of things to come in their opening game of the season Thursday night, when they downed Coleridge 44-20 at home.

"We played well and were able to do some of the things that we wanted to do in the game," said Bears Coach Gale Hamilton. "We were able to move the ball well and used the fast break a lot throughout the game."

LAUREL OUTSCORED the Chargers 14-4 in the first quarter and held them to single-digit scores in the following three periods. Hamilton was pleased with many aspects of the season opener for his team. "We shot fairly well...it's the type of performance I'd hope for in every game."

Leading scorer was senior Wendy Robson who dropped in 11 points. Teammate Gail Twiford, a sophomore, added nine points and was the squad's top rebounder with 11 boards.

Senior Renee Vanderheiden tallied eight points and sophomore Lori Jensen coming off the bench pulled in six rebounds.

The Coleridge scoring was headed by Sharon Hoffart with eight points.

HAMILTON ADDED that while he had been concerned earlier about the strength of his bench, the contest with Coleridge changed his feelings. "I feel good about our bench. They came in and really helped out, filling in wherever they were needed."

The Bears were without a returning starter, sophomore Sara Adkins, who was attending a conference in Chicago. Sophomore Tami Schmit filled in at the starting spot.

The experience that Hamilton had been looking for from his returning players was also in view. "Both Robson and Vanderheiden played well...they gave what I expected of them to give in the game."

Laurel's next game will be a meeting with Clark Division foe Winside on the road tomorrow night (Tuesday), Dec. 4.

Schuyler first victims as Wayne matmen open season

It was a case of pin or be pinned for the Wayne High varsity wrestling team as they successfully opened the 1984-85 season with a 37-27 win over Schuyler on Thursday evening, Nov. 29.

Of the 12 weight classes, five were won by pins for the Blue Devils, while four went in favor of the visiting Warriors. In the three remaining weight classes, Wayne picked up two of the three decisions.

"I was generally pleased with the way we performed in the win, it was a good one, especially coming against Schuyler," said Coach Don Koenig. "The areas of inexperience are where our losses occurred, and where we had the experience is where we came through. There still is a lot of work to be done."

Koenig also cited the performance of senior wrestler Gregg Elliott in the 167 pound. "He did a super job for us in his match," Koenig said. Elliott's 9-5 decision tied the dual score at 27-27 prior to a decision win by Tim Book in the 185 pound class and a pin by Kevin Koenig at heavyweight.

In junior varsity competition, the Wayne grapplers came on the short side of a 26-22 score to the Schuyler reserves.

The Blue Devils grapplers were scheduled to compete in their first tournament action on Saturday, Dec. 1 at the Blair Invitational. The next dual was scheduled against Randolph on the road this evening (Monday).

Low scoring does damage in Wayne girls loss

A low-scoring first quarter spelled trouble for the Wayne girls basketball team, as they were unable to overcome the deficit against Madison in a 41-34 loss on the road.

The Blue Devils were held to a single point, a free throw by Jennifer Moore, in the opening period compared to 13 for the Dragons, before line-up changes brought the scoring game around and tallied 16 points to close the gap to 24-17 at the half.

"WE LACKED INTENSITY" and were out-hustled in the first quarter," said Wayne Coach Dale Hochstein. "We brought in some of the younger players in the second quarter, such as Kecia Corbit, Shelly Pick and Laura Kealing, and they came in and played well."

Wayne's poor shooting also hampered their efforts, as they hit 14 of 61 from the floor for 23 percent and were six of 16 from the charity stripe on the night.

"We are still shooting poorly and that will continue to be an area where we will spend a lot of time on in practice," said Hochstein.

Starter Sonja Skokan led the Blue Devil scoring with eight points, followed up by Lisa Jacobsen, Laura Kealing and Kecia Corbit, all with six points. Other scorers included Shelly Pick with three points, Jodi Dittman with two points, Amy Jordan with two points, and Jennifer Moore with one point.

Corbit and Pick combined to give Wayne an effective one-two punch on the boards, coming down with 14 and 12 rebounds respectively.

An area of concern for Hochstein in the game was the amount of playing time left for the junior varsity players in the varsity game. Some of the players who came off the bench had seen considerable action in the reserve game, and "we hoped we could work their playing time out, but it didn't work."

"IT WAS DISAPPOINTING to lose, but we did learn who really wants to play the game, and we'll know that from here on out," Hochstein added.

Hochstein was pleased with the defensive performance of his team, citing their press as a factor in "raising the team's intensity, especially in the final three quarters."

In the reserve game, Wayne lost by a slim 29-24 margin. Leading scorer was Kecia Corbit with 11 points.

The Wayne freshmen also went down in defeat in their season opener by a score of 24-14. Leslie Kealing and Marnie Brugeman topped the scoring with six points each.

The Blue Devils next game will on Thursday, Dec. 6 when the freshmen, sophomores and juniors will take on the Norfolk High junior varsity teams in Wayne.

Concordia victory boosts Lady Cats

The Wayne State women's basketball team bounced back from a nine-day layoff to notch a 63-54 win on Wednesday, Nov. 28 in Seward against Concordia College in the first of a three-game road trip.

"The Lady Wildcats were up at the half by a slim 34-31 margin, after taking the lead in the opening moments of the game and then falling behind by as many as eight points further into the period.

IN THE GAME'S second half, Wayne out-distanced the Bulldogs 29-23 in scoring for the win.

"It was really a sloppily-played game for both teams," said WSC Coach Lenny Klaver. "The shooting percentages for both teams were really low, a lot of it may have had to do with the long Thanksgiving layoff."

As a team, the Lady Wildcats shot 19 of 64 from the field for 29.7 percent and 25 of 36 from the free throw line for 69.4 percent on the night. Concordia fared little better, hitting 23 of 69 shots for 33.4 percent and 8 of 22 free throws for 36.4 percent.

Senior Barb Wragge topped off Wayne's scoring with a game-high 34 points, including eight of ten from the line. Junior center Deb Nygren added 12 points, Shari Krohn scored 11 points and sophomore Shelle Tomasziewicz dropped in 10 points as the only other Lady Cats in double figures.

WSC showed a strong performance on the boards both offensively and defensively, with four players in double figures with rebounds. Tomasziewicz pulled in a team-high 14 boards, followed by junior Shari Krohn with 12 rebounds, Nygren with 11 rebounds and Wragge with 10 boards. Wayne out-boarded Concordia 63 to 51.

NYGREN ALSO registered three blocked shots, while Krohn came up with four steals on defense.

"Our rebounding was very balanced in this game, we did a really fine job on the boards, and had some good defensive play," said Klaver.

The win gave the Lady Wildcats a 4-2 record going into their game with Doane College on Friday night. They were also

2-12 from the line Free throws hurt in Laurel Bears loss

Poor shooting from the free throw line made the difference for the Laurel Concord boys basketball team in their season opener on Friday night in a 45-34 loss to Norfolk Catholic in Norfolk.

The Bears shot 2-12 from the charity stripe in the game, while the Norfolk Catholic Knights converted on 21 of 30 trips to make the difference. From the field, Laurel outscored their hosts 32-24.

"THE LOSS BOILED DOWN to poor free throw shooting," said Laurel Coach John Held. "We really didn't play that bad of a game."

Our free throw shooting at practice has been good," he added, "but the game pressure is something that you can't simulate at practice."

The Bears trailed 19-11 at the half but were able to pull within one point, 26-25 at the end of the third period.

Laurel was whittled for three traveling calls in the opening of the fourth quarter, which resulted in turnovers and three quick Norfolk Catholic Buckets. "We went from looking at a one-point ball game to a seven-point game, and then we had to start playing catch-up."

Sophomore Brent Haisch led all scoring with a game-high 20 points, and he also pulled in 11 boards to lead the Bears in that department as well. Senior Scott Rath contributed with 10 rebounds and five points, and Mike Granquist logged six assists.

The Knights scoring leaders were Steve Denn with 14 points and Ross Diederman with 12 points.

NORFOLK CATHOLIC was a good defensive team, according to Held, and probably was the second best team based on talent that the Bears will face this season. "They are a very solid team, with a number of good, dependable athletes."

"We know what we need to work on and improve now," said Held. "We can't be satisfied with just staying close with teams." Being more aggressive on offense, along with improved passing and consistency are a few of the items the Bears will be spending time on in upcoming practice sessions, according to Held.

The Bear reserves came out on the winning end of their score, taking a 25-20 victory over the Knights. Randy Prescott led Laurel with 10 points, while Mitch Wallace netted 10 for Norfolk Catholic.

Laurel will have a week to gear up for their next game, which will be on the road in Winside on Friday, Dec. 7.

WSC reserves down Bulldogs 79-64 at home

Wayne's junior varsity basketball team boosted its record to 5-3 on the season with a 79-64 win over the Concordia College reserves on Thursday night, Nov. 29 in Rice Auditorium.

"Concordia plays a very patient offensive game, and I told the team before the game that we would have to overplay the passing lane and force the turnover," said junior varsity Coach Del Mounds.

The Cats weren't very successful at their game plan in the first half, according to Mounds, and the two teams battled to a 31-31 tie at halftime. "We tried in the first half, but we just weren't very successful."

In the second period, the Wildcats did a much better job, coming out to play a "strong first 10 minutes" which earned them a lead which they maintained on the way to outscoring the Bulldogs 48-33. "We were also able to play the fast break...our defense forced 21 turnovers for Concordia in the game," said Mounds.

The Wildcats limited themselves to 14 turnovers in the game, and Mounds said that the team's ball control is definitely improving with every game. "We spend a lot of time in practice and pre-game working on ball handling drills."

SCORING LEADER FOR Wayne was Russ Rosenquist with a game-high 22 points. Aaron Sprew was close on his heels with 18 points, hitting 9 of 11 shots from the field.

Jim Myers was the other Wildcat in double figures with 10 points.

Paul and Ron Martin shared the top rebounding honors with seven and five boards each. Sprew was the assist leader with four and Rosenquist came up with three steals on defense.

"There is always someone different who comes through for us in the games," said Mounds. "I would like to see one game where everyone plays at that level...we would really be tough. Right now we are still inconsistent."

Next action for the Wildcat junior varsity will be tonight (Monday) at 8:30 p.m. when they play host to the Yankton College junior varsity in Rice Auditorium.

THE BASICS

The Right Balance

A balanced workout consists of three types of exercise: Strength (calisthenics and weight training); endurance (aerobic, running, swimming, cycling, walking briskly); and flexibility (stretching, bending, twisting). You should include all three in your program.

Use it or lose it

You can't hoard physical fitness. At least three balanced workouts a week are necessary to maintain a desirable level of fitness.

The Trigger Effect

One of the most important benefits of exercise is its positive influence on personal habits. Persons who exercise become more health conscious and are more likely to modify or eliminate practices such as smoking or over-eating.

(This series of 'Fitness Tips' is a service of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, and are intended to help guide the average, healthy adult in starting or maintaining a fitness program. They cover some of the basic principles required for a minimal fitness level.)
