Cable hook-up

JUMP STARTING got off to a "late start" this winter as this area had been fortunate in missing the brunt of cold weather systems. But last weekend's sub-zero temperatures and cold weather late in the week brought back reality to those hoping for a mild winter. Carl Haas of Carl's Conoco in Wayne was called to jump start a car Friday afternoon.

Schools get weatherization grant

Governor Bob Kerrey and State Senators Gerald Conway and Elroy Hofner have announced that three school districts in northeast Nebraska will receive energy efficiency grant funding from the Nebraska School Weatherization Program.
The three schools include Laurel Public School which will receive $2,820; Emerson-Hubbard Public School, obtaining $3,200; and Ponca Public Schools, which will get $29,168.
"Nebraska makes few investments that equal the rate of return of this program," said Governor Kerrey.

He cited Nebraska Energy Office figures showing that previous projects are earning an average 16.4 percent rate of return.
"Any investor will tell you that that's better than treasury bills or money market funds," the Governor said.
"Two things should not be forgotten. This type of investment puts people to work and reduces the impact of energy bills on a school's budget."

Statewide, 378 projects totalling $3,196,883 will be funded in this latest round of School Weatherization grants. Under the School Weatherization Program, State Oil and Natural Gas Severance Taxes are earmarked to pay for up to 80 percent of the cost of energy efficiency improvements in public schools.
The program was created by the Legislature in 1981 and is administered by the Nebraska Energy Office.

Enrollment rises at WSC

Enrollment at Wayne State College showed a 12 percent increase in the fall 1984 semester compared to the same term in 1983, the WSC registrar's office reported.
Wayne State had 2,836 students enrolled for classes last term, up from 2,522 in the fall of 1983. The increase marks the third year in a row that enrollment has gone up.
The 2,836 enrollment figure is a part of the second highest enrollment trend, or period of growth, in college history. The highest period of growth at WSC peaked in 1968 when 3,068 students enrolled.
"I think the enrollment increase reflects the growing positive relationship the college enjoys with eastern Nebraska and western Iowa," said Wayne State College President Ed Elliott.

"The increase also reflects the recognition by our consumers of quality programs at Wayne State and it demonstrates we are responding to the educational needs of the area. In some instances it also reflects the economic circumstances of our region."
All areas of the WSC student population showed an increase, including first-time full-time students, up 9 percent.
"The increase in first-time full-time students is a significant figure," Elliott said. "That is the pool of students that is declining significantly nationally and regionally. For Wayne State to increase by 9 percent in that group of students is very encouraging."

Extended campus courses had the largest increase at WSC, up 64 percent, and the number of students attending regular classes in Wayne was up 5 percent.
Full-time students were up 4 percent and part-time students showed a 37 percent increase.

Carroll announces contest

Carroll residents are already formulating plans to celebrate the community's 100th birthday during 1986.
Dates for the grand centennial celebration are July 18, 19 and 20, 1986.
In preparation for the event, the Carroll Business Club, an organization that includes all businesses in Carroll, has announced plans for an art contest.
A spokesman for the organization said $25 will be awarded to each first place winner in four contest divisions, including kindergarten through fourth grade; fifth through eighth grades; ninth through 12 grades; and 18-year-olds and above.

CONTEST participants can select a drawing of their choice depicting Carroll history throughout the years.
Drawings must be in black and white on 8 1/2 x 11-inch white paper.
Among the four first place winners, one drawing will be selected to be used on the front cover of an 80-page centennial book containing the history and pictures of Carroll.
The other three winning pictures will be used inside the book.
DRAWINGS MAY be done at any time and turned in at the Farmers State Bank or McLain Oil.

Winners will be announced at an omelet feed scheduled in March.
Residents with pictures or information about Carroll are encouraged to submit them to Jerry Junck or Barveta McLain.
Members of the Carroll Centennial Committee include Sue Gilmore, Bill Claybaugh, Jerry Junck, Barveta McLain, Arnold Junck, Sandra Hall and Leona Park.
Officers of the Carroll Business Club are Bill Claybaugh, president; Gordon Davis, vice president; and Mrs. Howard McLain, secretary-treasurer.

Meeting slated on economic development

A public informational meeting, focusing on opportunities in economic development, will take place today (Monday) in Wayne.
The meeting is scheduled from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Black Knight Restaurant in Wayne.
Sponsored by the Department of Economic Development, the session is open to local officials, business people and concerned citizens.
Fifteen other meetings will take place across the state, with key staff members from the Department of Economic Development and the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority (NIFA) conducting the program.

"In return, the staff members will have the opportunity to learn more about concerns and issues in the Wayne area. Special break-out sessions will focus on industrial development, commercial development, tourism development, financing programs and job training programs for business and industry," said Don Dworak, director of the Department of Economic Development, in a news release.

"Governor Bob Kerrey has stressed that government should help provide opportunities for individual Nebraskans to succeed," he said.
"The Nebraska Department of Economic Development is making an intense effort to make and keep Nebraska more competitive in the economic race with new ideas, programs and services."
The Wayne meeting is open to anyone in Pierce, Madison, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Wayne counties.

Lions Club sponsors annual area talent contest

The Wayne Lions Club has scheduled its annual talent contest for 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 14 in the Wayne-Carroll High School lecture hall.
Entry blanks for persons wishing to take part in the contest will appear in the March 29 issue of The Wayne Herald.
Deadline for entries is April 4. Contestants participating in this year's show will be divided into six divisions. Divisions are for eight years of age and under; 9, 10 and 11 year olds; 11 and under (groups of three through nine); 12 to 14 years of age; 15 through 18 years of age; and 12 through 18 years of age (groups of three through nine).

The contest's age on July 1, 1984 will determine the division in which he or she competes. The age of the oldest contestant in the group will determine the division in which that group competes.
Each performance will be limited to a maximum of six minutes. Judging will be based on a 60 point system which includes degree of talent (30 points), perfection of performance (20 points), and audience appeal (10 points). No act using fire will be permitted.

First and second place winners will be named in each division, with the first place winners competing in the District Lions Club Talent Contest April 28 at Wayne.
The public is invited to attend the competition. Persons who would like more information are asked to contact Hilbert Johs.

The Drinking Age: students picking fitness over alcohol

The following is the fifth article of a series prepared by The Wayne Herald editorial staff concerning Nebraska's new drinking age law. Over the span of six weeks, viewpoints will be published from various representatives, including law enforcement officials, counselors, educators, organizations, parents and students.
Signed letters to the editor are welcome for people who wish to speak out on the legalized drinking age, which on Jan. 1 was raised to age 21.

By LaVon Anderson

Although he can see some disadvantages, Pete Chapman, head football coach at Wayne State College, believes the Nebraska legislature did the right thing by raising the drinking age to 21.
"I really believe that raising the age to 21 will make a difference," says Chapman, "but until there is a uniform age limit across the nation, more kids are going to be on the road."
Chapman said he believes fewer high school students will have as much access to alcohol because of the three-year age difference between an 18-year-old and a 21-year-old.

"If your best friend was a year older than you in high school, he would probably buy for you when he was out of school."
"However," added Chapman, "an 18-year-old is not as apt to associate with a 21-year-old."
"SOCIALLY, CHAPMAN—said college students are going to have to make a drastic change in their lifestyles."
Whereas three-fourths of the college students drank alcohol when the legal age was 20, Chapman said less than half of all students can legally drink now that the age limit has been raised to 21.
"I guess they'll survive," says Chapman, adding that during the football season players are restricted from "the bar's anyway."
"CHAPMAN SEES a big problem with attitudes among young people when it comes to alcohol consumption.
"Lots of times a younger kid will say, 'Let's go out and get drunk.' not 'Let's go out and have a couple of beers.'
"With all the energy these young people have, it's really too bad they have to find their highs in alcohol," added Chapman. "It's really a waste."
"AS A COACH, Chapman says he disagrees with some of the ways in which television commercials sell alcohol.
"I don't like the commercials which show athletes competing in a sport just so they can have a beer afterward."

Pete Chapman

Mac Maciejewski

Athletic Director Harold (Mac) Maciejewski says that although he no longer coaches and it's often difficult to tell just from observation, he is sure that the school's coaches are aware that drinking is going on from time to time.
"We do stipulate in our training rules what we would like our athletes to do. These are guidelines, but remember that guidelines are not always followed."
Maciejewski said copies of the school's activity training rules and regulations are distributed to every student involved in sports and must be read and signed by both the student and his or her parents.
The regulations clearly outline the consequences should an athlete be caught smoking, drinking, or using drugs.
"BEFORE BEING named athletic director at Wayne High in 1967, Maciejewski served the school as head football, basketball and track coach from 1953 to 1962.
He said he personally feels that alcohol and drugs are less a problem now among young people than in the 1960's and 1970's.
"We went through that whole drug culture in the 60's and 70's," said Maciejewski, "but things seem to be turning around."
Maciejewski said young people today seem to be more concerned with their appearance and physical fitness—and that doesn't include alcohol.
"WHEN IT COMES to advertising alcohol on television, Maciejewski said he doesn't like the way commercials portray drinking as a symbol of high status and maturity.

"Commercials exert one of the most powerful influences of behavior in our society," said Maciejewski. "and they indicate that drinking is necessary to have fun."
While he doesn't always agree with the commercials, Maciejewski said he realizes they are a necessity for the beer industry and he feels that youngsters are probably more influenced by what they see at home than by what they see on television.
"Parents' attitudes and practices affect their child's behavior," said Maciejewski, "and a parent's drinking habits have a great deal to do with shaping that child's drinking patterns."
"MACIEJEWSKI SAID society needs to show kids that they can have a good time without having liquor.
"You know today's physical fitness craze is great. People are dieting, lifting weights and running to stay in shape—and they're staying away from the alcohol."
"Maybe our young people are looking at this type of advertising too."
"BOTH CHAPMAN and Maciejewski agree that there are many ways besides alcohol in which young people can channel their energies.
"We want to see our kids enjoy life athletically," said Chapman, "and not through the bottom of a beer bottle."

"I guess we have to understand what the beer companies are trying to do."
"Their directing their commercials at the college age crowd because drinking habits are established at that age and will continue through life."

Wayne Bureau meets

The Wayne County Farm Bureau met for its monthly meeting Jan. 27 at the Farm Bureau office in Wayne. President Don Coleman led the meeting and reported on a two-day meeting for county presidents he attended recently in Norfolk. Brian Kai is expected to attend the Young Farmer and Rancher conference to be held Jan. 26-28 in Grand Island.

Charles Wageman and Karma Magnuson will represent Wayne County at a legislative school in Lincoln Jan. 30-31. State Senator Gerald Conway has agreed to meet with Farm Bureau members at a time and place to be announced soon.

O'Leary, Bonds present concert

Two Wayne State College music professors will present their Faculty Recitals Tuesday, Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. in the Ramsey Theatre of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Dr. Jay O'Leary, head of the WSC Fine Arts Division, will perform on the oboe and clarinet. Dr. Christopher Bonds, assistant professor of fine arts, will perform on the violin.

Selections from Marcello, Mozart, Chabuzac and Stravinsky will be played, according to Dr. O'Leary.

Dr. O'Leary is the principle oboist in the Sioux City Symphony. Dr. Bonds is the Concertmaster of the Sioux City Symphony and is the director of the Northeast Nebraska Sinfonia.

Two area musicians will assist the professors. Arne Sorenson, an instructor at Morningside College, Sioux City, will accompany them on the piano, as will Dr. O'Leary's wife, Jane.

Nebraskans for Peace meeting

The Wayne Chapter of Nebraskans for Peace will conduct its first meeting of the new year on Thursday, Jan. 31 at 4 p.m. in the Commons Area (second floor) of the Wayne State College Humanities building.

The meeting will be devoted to launching Wayne's participation in the Sister City Pairing Project, a program in which U.S. and Soviet citizens make contact on a person to person, or town to town basis.

Anyone interested in becoming a part of this program, or learning more about it, is urged to attend the meeting.

Other business will include ongoing work towards a nuclear freeze in the state of Nebraska. Wayne is part of a network of Nebraska cities and towns engaging in local, statewide and national events to work toward control and reversal of the nuclear arms race.

An update on the state of Freeze work in Nebraska will be provided at the meeting.

Anyone wishing further information is asked to contact Rita Kissen or Sayre Andersen at 375-2200.

WSC hosts FHA program

The Home Economics department at Wayne State College will host approximately 65 "Future Homemakers of America" (FHA) students from seven area high schools for a program Wednesday, Jan. 30, according to Dr. LaVera Roemhild, associate professor of home economics.

The FHA SEARCH (Student Events for Achievement and Recognition in Consumer Homemaking) will involve students from Emerson Hubbard, Pender, Randolph, Stanton, Weafield, West Plains and Wisner High schools.

FHA is a national organization for the vocational home economics programs at the high school level. The SEARCH program is designed to assist students in developing personal leadership, citizenship, knowledge and skills for personal, family and community living through vocational home economics education, Dr. Roemhild said.

Participating students will prepare projects in three main categories which include oral chapter presentations, consumer homemaking presentations and national project presentations.

These presentations will be evaluated by individuals with a background in each area during the morning session. Students who receive "superior" ratings are eligible to participate in the statewide FHA SEARCH event.

Employee honored

The Region IV Governing Board, at their Jan. 23 meeting, took time out to recognize the Region IV Employees of the Year. Among those honored was Ronda Koehler and Betty Dahlquist. Each received a Certificate of Appreciation. Koehler has been with the Central Office for over two years. She was voted Employee of the Year by the Central Office staff. Dahlquist has been a Social Service Worker with the Wayne program for over two years. She was voted as Employee of the Year by the Wayne area staff. From left to right are Sandi Dorcey, executive director of Region IV Office; Betty Dahlquist; Ronda Koehler; and John Corcoran, executive director of Region IV Office.

Federal block grants available for health projects

The Nebraska State Department of Health today announced that $500,000 in federal block grant funds are available to fund new health-related projects. The funds, available through the Preventive Health Services block grant and the Maternal and Child Health block grant, will be awarded on a competitive basis to public and private non-profit organizations. Gregg Wright, M.D., Director, Nebraska Department of Health, said the funds will enable the department to fund new health programs that previously were not under the block grant program or to expand the scope of current block grant programs. Programs that will be considered for funding should address one or more of the following areas: child abuse; infant mortality and morbidity; the provision of maternal and child health services to those who do not have access to care; preventive health services in medically underserved areas; health promotion; or the dental health of children. The Department of Health decided to set aside funds from the federal block grants to help subsidize new health programs after receiving testimony during public hearings last year favoring such an approach. The Department of Health is responsible for the administration of the federal block grant programs. Grant guidelines are available by writing to Special Health Programs, State Health Department, P.O. Box 95007, Lincoln, NE 68509. The deadline for receiving concept papers from interested applicants is March 1.

1985 Ak-sar-ben memberships on sale

"Another great lineup of entertainment." That's how J. Alan Cramer of Wayne, Ak-sar-ben Ambassador described the entertainment offered. Ak-sar-ben members this year.

Cramer said that the membership drive ends soon and that he wants all Wayne area residents to have an opportunity to join the statewide civic organization.

"This year Ak-sar-ben has said that they will have to limit the number of members," Cramer said. "Those interested should join now so as to be sure of getting seats for these great shows."

The shows this year, entitled "Accent on Excitement," include: Wayne Newton, Tammy Wynette, Mel Tillis and Milti Gaynor. In addition, members can get discounts on tickets to the Ice Capades family show, the Coronation and Ball, World Championship Rodeo and half-price admission to the thoroughbred races.

"The first show is next month," Cramer said. "I will be happy to forward memberships for those interested, but it must be done right away." A coupon appears in an advertisement elsewhere in today's paper.

Four farmers to speak 1985 tillage conference

Four farmers, representing a variety of tillage systems, cropping systems and soil types, will highlight the 1985 Tri-State Conservation Tillage Conference. It will be held Feb. 5 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City. Advance registration is required.

Two farmers will discuss their ridge planting systems. Al Liske farms about 300 acres near Early, Iowa. He started ridge planting in 1980 on a small acreage and now plants all of his acres with the ridge planting method. For corn in 1984, Liske planted, fertilized and sprayed herbicide in one trip and cultivated and side dressed nitrogen. In another trip for the only field operations prior to harvest. In the 1984 Master's contest, he produced 146 bushels of corn per acre.

Marlin Heinenmann has been using ridge planting on his farm near Wayne for about 10 years. He uses this system on about 600 acres of both upland and bottomland. The upland ridges are on the contour to provide additional erosion protection. Don Hunter farms about 1,500 acres of corn and soybeans near Centerville, S.D. He has used his conservation tillage system for about 15 years. Hunter does not do fall tillage and leaves at least 30 percent residue cover after planting with his chisel-disk system. Some of his land is irrigated.

A no-till system will be outlined by Loren Schuett, a farmer from Holstein, Iowa. He has been using no-till on about 340 acres of corn and soybeans since 1978. Prior to 1978, he had used the till plant system for about 13 years. Schuett received an energy conservation award in 1982 from the Iowa Energy Policy Council for his conservation tillage work.

The Iowa Cooperative Extension Service's programs and policies are consistent with pertinent federal and state laws and regulations on non-discrimination regarding race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age and handicap.

Taxation protest

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen has a legitimate gripe against the Internal Revenue Service concerning a recent regulation mandated by the IRS. Janssen echoed his concern over the new regulation during last Tuesday's county board of commissioners meeting. The regulation requires taxation ($4 per working day) of an employee that takes a governmentally owned vehicle to and from his residence at the beginning and end of each working day. According to Janssen, each sheriff's deputy is assigned a governmentally purchased patrol cruiser. Each deputy is required by the Sheriff to take that patrol unit to his residence since all the deputies are subject to emergency calls 24 hours per day and seven days per week. Each deputy, under this mandated law, would be taxed on approximately $960 per year for this requirement, which could put the deputies in a higher tax bracket. It is reported as income charged to them but never received. Janssen said it is not feasible for the deputy to pay such sums of money, especially for those deputies living away from the office to drive from their residence and pick up a cruiser. They would then drive back to that same area for patrol. Lastly, Janssen said in his letter to the IRS, it is not feasible for the citizens of Wayne County to pay for such an IRS ruling that would only serve to raise taxes for deputies' salary and benefit increases in order to keep competent help on the payroll. "Should an emergency call be initiated one mile from a deputies home and that deputy who lives 15 miles from the office is called, the deputy would have to drive 31 miles to the scene. "A true waste of taxpayer's dollars and much more sensitive waste of the time that may have to be spent saving a precious human life is clearly demonstrated," Janssen said. Janssen's point is a worthwhile thought. When vehicles are provided to county government officials, it should only be fair that the vehicle's use be restricted to business use within county. If vehicle usage extends into personal means of transportation, beyond government business, then perhaps it isn't such a bad idea to tax the county employee extra. But it is not a good idea to hamper the sheriff deputies' efforts in providing law and order for this area. That is what the new regulation will do. Response time could mean the difference between life or death. The IRS should reconsider its regulation and corner only the abusers of government vehicle usage with its taxation law. Chuck Hackenmiller, Wayne Herald editor

I knew there would be days this winter in Nebraska when the temperatures would hit the sub-zero mark. But nobody ever told me we'd get weather like last weekend, when the temperature dipped to 20 below or colder and rode in on the wind, that produced a chill index of almost 80 degrees below zero. That's almost as bad as Minnesota winters. It makes a person wonder how our ancestors survived in this climate without natural gas or No. 2 fuel oil to spark a fire in our modern day furnaces. How cold was it during the past weekend when the frigid temperatures hit the area? It was so cold that: We had to jump start the electric stove. The ice box became an "ice box." My wife's "showered" softly as you turned the ignition key. "I gave up. You're not going anywhere today. And that's final!"

Our nearly two year old son had to break out his long johns for the first time as the furnace cranked out the heat as best it could but there still was a feel of chill in the house. People who generally gripe about the high cost of fuel count their blessings that they do not have to go out to the woodpile during the coldest day of the year. There is a hint of isolation as you can sense those people who headed to the warmer climates (although they too got hit by the unusual cold weather) during the winter months so they can laugh at all of us, midwesterners who decide to "go it another winter." You wish you would have frozen that delicious vegetable soup that was enjoyed during the summer so that the steaming broth could warm your innards on a cold blustery day. CABIN FEVER is highly contagious because nobody in their right mind (unless their occupations demand it) would venture outside. All you can think of is a lyric from "Let It Snow" when the verse begins "Oh, the weather outside is frightful." You wonder about all the families or individuals who have no roof over their heads and must face the cold northerly winds behind the shelter of a old tattered blanket. Mittens, gloves and scarves cannot be found in the house. You begin to develop frostbite just by listening to how cold the temperature is. You have to strap the ice off your eyeglasses once you return inside the house after spending five minutes outside trying to convince the automobiles to start without complaining. Not a single car passes by the house, which means a lot of people are playing it smart and not traveling outdoors. And outside looks so barren it resembles those pictures one sees of Siberia.

YOU CURSE yourself for not overstocking on anti-freeze when the price was so remarkably low. The outside thermometer greeps and flashes a sign that says "I give up," when the mercury can fall no further. You just don't feel like sitting down at the supper table and eating a bowl of cherry nut ice cream. Joggers look like snowmen, wearing as much clothing as possible to perform their "never stop running" daily task. Mail deliverers were probably wishing they could take a holiday. That you hope nobody has a house fire. Really though, we can't complain about the winter so far. But usually all it takes is a person to write about how mild the winter has been and then we get 16 inches of snow dumped on them and deep-freeze temperatures for a whole month. Better stop writing. I don't want to push my luck.

Administrator shares insight into rural hospital

To the editor: The statement in a recent "Letter to the Editor" about anyone being in a hospital anywhere knowing about overcharging and fictitious charging bothers me. I happen to be an employee of a rural hospital and I know how our hospital functions. I know how charges are derived, and I also know that fictitious charges would be very difficult to construct with all the checks and balances maintained. Charges are checked against nurses' notes, against orders from the physician, etc., and all this then reviewed by auditors and surveyors on at least an annual basis. I know why hospitals in rural settings have to charge what they do. If the average rural hospital would look into the finances of a rural hospital (a self supporting not-for-profit hospital) he would soon realize the tremendous overhead a facility has. He would also realize the demands for excellence required by the State and Federal agencies of hospitals — not only in service, but in plant and record keeping. Twenty-four hours per day skilled personnel, and working, skilled personnel also have to be on call. Society demands high technological or state-of-the-art equipment. This also demands high technological maintenance. One might be able to buy generic food or even occasionally generic drugs, but generic parts do not work on the highly sensitive and high specialist equipment. Life and death remains in the balance. If the people we have as staff are not properly trained, or the equipment is not properly maintained and malfunctions. When prices fluctuate, as in the case of the silver market, silver hit a high price a few years ago, so a x-ray film went up 40 percent, but when silver went down, the price maintained or went up. To take good x-rays you need good film. If the price is high you have to pay it. Supply cost can be high, utilities high, insurance high and nobody controls those costs to us. Medicare, through the "Conditions of Participation," have made many demands upon hospitals. You either comply or you are out of compliance and jeopardize funding for the Medicare patients. To meet those demands is costly. Quality assurance programs must be maintained in all areas of service. Certain staffing patterns must be kept in direct ratio to patient levels and preventative maintenance assured. If the medication charges of $100 a day were charged it was probably due to high cost medications or solutions necessary for treatment. There would be little advantage to charging more than cost plus overhead because a hospital only receives back cost on its Medicare patients (60 percent of patients) and all patients are charged the same. Under the new system of DRG's patients can have charges of over $14,000, and the hospital may only receive $3,000-$5,000. This may be based on the fact that for a particular diagnosis the average stay may be five days but the patient could have had a series of complications resulting in a three month stay or more. A hospital would get very little more for that long stay. These adjustments have to be figured into operating overhead. With all the changes that are taking place in reimbursement to hospitals under the DRG system, PNC has been able to maintain and has not increased its charges to the patients for two years. Our main goal is to provide an excellent medical facility at the best possible cost.

Having available for our patients the Meals-on-Wheels, Life-Line and Home Health does make earlier discharge possible. To survive, hospitals have to cover cost, or if expense overruns, only one thing will suffer — health care coverage in a rural setting — the people. Hospitals are closing all over the country — some may be due to inefficient management, but some may be due to inadequate coverage of the costs by the insuring agencies and/or Hill Burton Charity (non-covered costs) or bad debts. If rural hospitals don't make it — then the cost may be even higher — not only cost in time and money traveling to the city — but the cost of life — if it is an emergency. When one says "Hospital anywhere," I would only like to say, "I don't agree. I know that in the hospital I work, the only thing that could be fictitious would be a legitimate mistake (something getting on the wrong account), which can happen. But anything like that can and should be questioned and correction made. We are all human and can make mistakes, but no mistake will be left uncorrected if questioned and identified at PNC. Providence Medical Center in a recent survey by the state had an outstanding report as it has had for the past several years. We were commended for an outstanding facility. When one strives for excellence and feels it has been achieved, it is difficult to accept criticism given in a general sense. Maintaining that excellence may be difficult if funds are continually being cut. But all personnel are working very hard at PNC to maintain the reputation as one of the best in the state, they are meeting the challenge. Dedicated people wearing many hats, that are working together, striving together and thus surviving together — this is the backbone of the hospital in Wayne. I am proud to be a part of PNC. Marcile Thomas, Administrator, Providence Medical Center

Raising the age 'not the answer'

To the editor: I am writing in regard to my opinion on raising the age for purchasing beer or liquor. I don't feel this is the answer. We need stiffer penalties on fines and fines mean nothing. It seems if they have money for beer they have money for fines or Dad does. Drinking too much is the problem. They can do that after 21 as well as before. Whether it be my kin or someone else, I think anyone caught driving and drinking should be thrown in the slammer for a week or whatever. This would be humiliating and make them think twice (no work release). If they are caught drunk driving and someone is killed, their license should be taken away for the rest of their life. There will always be drinking and driving, no matter what the age is as long as our laws are such. If the young people cannot congregate with their friends in the bars until 21, even if they only drink pop, pray tell me where they can gather. Nothing in Wayne. Let's hear other opinions. Q. Is it OK to have a joint will for two people? A. Joint wills are recognized in Nebraska and most other states, but many attorneys recommend against their use. A joint will is a single instrument executed by two persons, typically a husband and wife, which is intended to operate as the will of each person. For a document to operate as the will of an individual, it must be signed by that individual (or some other individual in the testator's presence and at his or her direction), dated, and witnessed by two persons who also sign it. Therefore, as long as both parties to a joint will effectively sign it and the will is properly witnessed, it should operate as a valid will for each person. However, you should be aware that either party can revoke a joint will at any time. Unless there is a special clause in the will making it irrevocable, one party to a joint will may revoke the will and change the distribution of the estate before or after the other party has died. The fact that the will was made jointly to dispose of mutual assets does not mean that there is a contract between the parties not to revoke the will. Therefore, if you want to be sure that both parties honor the provisions of a joint will, the will should include a clause creating a contract not to revoke the will unilaterally. Joint wills are generally not recommended because of the possibility of litigation over whether the parties made a contractual agreement not to revoke the will.

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter. Letters may be published with a pseudonym or with the author's name omitted if so desired. However, the writer's signature must be a part of the original letter. Unsigned letters will not be printed.

Economic solutions

To the editor: As I see the so-called economic crisis in agriculture, I offer this solution to those who have way over-borrowed on their credits. The creditor who loaned the most money to the farmer is the one who should help him out. If the farmer has land or property, appraise it at the same value as the last cash flow statement which both the borrower and lender were a party to. The borrower would give the lender a deed to enough acres to cover the loan amount and the lender would rent the land back to the farmer for share rent for five years, with the option to buy the land back at the end of the five years. This is not an item for anyone else to bail out, this is no one else's responsibility — not the government nor FDIC. The other solution is on the cost of farm operations. We can not raise our prices for our farm products high enough to help or absorb the inflated costs to generate a crisis, even if you don't have high interest debts and are not buying new equipment. New equipment is impossible. This inflation started in the 1940's, brought about by organized labor, big business and government. Forced strikes by labor were accepted by big business and the government and charged to the consumer every year after, including 1984, but left inflation out of agriculture and small business, especially in small towns.

Now if anyone has the power to bring cost of operation down — okay. These costs include fuel, repairs, interest rates and all supplies it takes to operate the farm. In addition, cash rent should not be allowed for cropland — only for pasture and hay land. If President Reagan had been around to shut off strikes in 1946 we might have been alright and financially solvent. I also don't like what our Legislature is doing. Especially Senator John DeCamp and his city senators in trying to amend Initiative 300 that was voted in by the people. He should be able to see what his neighboring county, Holt County, has caused in the way of corporate farming. National Farms produces and hauls on Highway 20 more livestock than all the rest of the producers in this area together. Will a meat-dog producer like National Farms in Nebraska be the answer or be to the welfare of Nebraska? We do not need any more large feed lots to compete with farmers or corporations that use foreign capital for their operations. And, do you think we need 500 new bills in our Legislature hopper again this session? Why this excessive "crisis"? And, what? So they can get double interest? Is this progress? ## Commission for Women meeting

The Midwest Nebraska Commission for Women will meet Tuesday, Jan. 29 at Geno's El Ranch, located on Highway 275 between Warner and Pilger. A social/supper hour is scheduled at 7 p.m. with the business meeting beginning at 8.

Over the past spring, the commission is a regional organization which seeks to promote an increased understanding of issues facing women in northeast Nebraska, and to provide a network for persons interested in improving the status of Nebraska women.

Interested persons should contact Jori Peterson, 371-1234, Sheryl Lindau, 375-3333, or Jean Karlen, 385-2657 to make reservations for the meeting or to obtain further information about the commission.

The January meeting is slated as a general planning and update session. Membership is open to anyone interested in the commission's goals and activities.

Retired Teachers meet

Wayne Area Retired Teachers met Jan. 14 in the State National Bank conference room. Sixteen members answered roll call.

The program was conducted by Dr. Don Whisenand of Wayne State College, who showed slides of expeditions to the North Pole.

Minnie Rice presided at the business meeting. Several changes were made in chairpersons. Angie Denesia will head community service, and Fern Kelly is in charge of the program and printing of booklets for each member.

Theophilus Ladies Aid

The Theophilus Ladies Aid met in the Mathilde Reeg home on Jan. 24 with eight members and one guest, Mrs. Milfer Barber. Also attending was the Rev. Gail Axon.

Officers for 1985 are Margaret Coulter, president; Ruth Reeg, treasurer; and Mathilde Reeg, secretary.

Mathilde Reeg, lesson leader, opened with prayer. She presented the lesson on Epiphany and read several Bible thoughts. Members sang "Beneath the Cross of Jesus," "Rock of Ages," "More Love to Thee," and "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Song leader was Ruth Reeg.

Thank you notes were read from Mrs. Ofio Koch, Emilie Reeg and Mrs. Louise Hoeman. Emilie Reeg, Mathilde Reeg and Ruth Reeg will serve on the flower committee for the next three months.

A carry-in lunch was served at the close of the meeting. Next meeting will be Feb. 21 with Ruby Ritze as hostess.

Lutheran Churchwomen meet

St. Paul's Lutheran Churchwomen of Wayne met Jan. 23 with President Evie Schock, who opened the meeting with a short devotional. Thirty-two members were in attendance.

The president reminded members of the district assembly scheduled Thursday, April 15 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Norfolk. Women have been asked to furnish sewing kits for Lutheran World Relief.

The women's pioneer craft retreat will be held April 26-28 or May 17-19 at the camp near Ashland.

Redeemer Lutheran Church of Wayne will host World Day of Prayer services on March 1.

Mary Martinson presented the program, "Let Your Light Shine in the New Year." Hostesses were Bernice Peterson and Mabel Peterson.

Next meeting will be Feb. 27 at 2 p.m. Guests are welcome.

Open to general public

Christian comedian-evangelist appearing on college campus

Renowned Christian evangelist and comedian Mike Warnke will appear at Wayne State College on Wednesday night, Jan. 30, in conjunction with Religious Emphasis Week on the college campus.

Warnke, who has spoken to capacity crowds in Sioux City and Laurel during the past year, will present his concert in Wayne at 7 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

The Rev. Jim Thompson, Wayne State campus minister, said Wednesday night's concert is open to the general public.

He has been a keynote speaker at many Christian conferences in the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Denmark and Sweden, and has appeared before the Queen of Denmark and the King of Sweden in command performances.

Warnke was Record World Magazine's contemporary and inspirational non-musical Artist of the Year for 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1979.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Valley Christian University in the field of Christian counseling, and a Ph.D. in Christian education.

His second book, "Hitchhiking on Hope Street," was published in 1979 by Doubleday and Co.

Appearing on stage with Warnke will be his wife, Rose, who will share her musical talents.

In addition to the Warnke concert, other events during the week-long celebration include a concert tonight (Monday) by Severed, a Christian singing group.

The concert is open free to the general public and will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Severed features a mellow rock style of contemporary Christian music and is unique in that it utilizes computerized instruments as background for the group's vocal talents.

Tickets are $4 for students (college age and below), $5 for all others in advance, and $6 at the door that evening.

Advanced tickets may be purchased at Living Waters Bookstore in Wayne, in the Student Center on the Wayne State campus, at Teen Challenge in Laurel, and at other bookstores in Norfolk, Columbus and Sioux City.

A SPECIAL prayer breakfast is scheduled Tuesday, Jan. 29 on the college campus for all local clergy and Wayne State College administration, faculty and staff.

The breakfast will be held from 7 to 7:50 a.m. in the Nebraska room located in the lower level of the Student Center.

The Rev. Ken Cleveland of the First Church of Christ in Wayne will lead the devotional time.

Winding down Religious Emphasis Week will be a special fellowship night on Thursday, Jan. 31 for all students at the Campus Ministry House, from 9 to 11 p.m.

The evening will include refreshments, a special movie, and a time to discuss the Mike Warnke concert.

ON STAGE, Warnke will discuss his life as a former hippie, Marine Corp medic, drug pusher, and priest in a satanic coven participating in ceremonies that included elements of human sacrifice.

Warnke began his evangelistic career following his first book, "The Satan Seller," which was published in 1972.

RUTENBECK, 33, resides on a farm southwest of Wayne with her husband, Chuck, who is engaged in farming, and their two sons, Terry, age 9, and Mickey, 5.

She attended rural school through eighth grade, graduating from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1969. She also graduated from Wayne State College in 1972 with a bachelor of science degree in business.

Rutenbeck held various part-time jobs throughout college and following her marriage in 1972.

Since Aug. 1, 1984, she has been employed full-time as a clerk in the Wayne County Treasurer's Office. She also assists her husband in his farming and livestock operation.

RECIPIENTS of the NOYW award are chosen from nominees submitted by individual Jaycee Women chapters across Nebraska.

Candidates for the award include young women who have achieved personal success and in doing so, have made a contribution to their community.

Contestants must be between the ages of 18 and 36.

All nominees will be interviewed on Saturday of the convention, with three equal winners to be announced during a banquet that evening.

IN ADDITION to doing volunteer work with Cub Scouts and assisting with various fund drives for organizations such as March of Dimes, Kidney Foundation and Easter Seals, Rutenbeck has also served on the local election board.

She is involved in her sons' school and recreational activities and lists sewing, handicrafts, gardening and canning among her hobbies.

Jaycee Women pick nominee for Outstanding Young Woman award

Kathy Rutenbeck of Wayne has been selected to represent Wayne County Jaycee Women for the eighth annual Nebraska Outstanding Young Woman (NOYW) award.

The program, which seeks to honor outstanding young women in the state, is sponsored by the Nebraska Jaycee Women.

The award will be given at the group's winter quarterly convention scheduled Friday night and Saturday, Feb. 8 and 9 in Grand Island.

RUTENBECK AND her husband are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne, where she has served on the evangelism committee, youth committee and church council, and taught vacation Bible school.

She presently is a member of the church's Christian education committee and serves as librarian, financial secretary and registrar of Sunday church school.

She also belongs to the Lutheran Churchwomen organization.

She also enjoys poetry and art. One of her poems, entitled "To Catch a Memory," was published in Kitchen Klatter Magazine.

Wayne Regional Arts Council elects officers

The Wayne Regional Arts Council board of directors elected officers at their first meeting of the new year.

Elected chairman was Veronica Trezona.

Other officers are Gail Korn, vice chairman; Cathy Blaser, secretary; Michele Flowers, treasurer; Maria McCus, publicity; and Paula Priueger, program coordinator.

Margaret Schultz and Rae Kueger also are members of this year's board.

THE COUNCIL promotes arts in the area through various activities, including the Spring Arts Festival, workshops, concerts, united shows and other events.

Displays by area artists also are presented at Daylight Donuts in Wayne throughout the year.

Presently on display at Daylight Donuts are paintings by Mike Luit. The majority of his paintings, which depict wild animals and scenes of rural life, were done while Mike, now 21, attended high school.

CECELIA Werner of Wayne had a display of prints, an ink sketch, tape macramé and one acrylic during December.

Raised on a farm near Petersburg, Werner attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and recently received her BFA in art education from Wayne State College.

A MIXED media display by Ellie McBride of Laurel was featured in November. Acrylics, oils, and prints were the main point of the display, however, McBride also presented one weaving and one watercolor.

Works by Dennis Linsler, industrial arts instructor at Wayne State College, were displayed during September and October.

Music Boosters schedule soup supper

Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters are planning a chili and vegetable soup supper on Thursday, Jan. 31 in the Wayne city auditorium.

Seating will be from 5 to 8 p.m., and cost is $1.50 for both children and adults. Tickets will be sold at the door. The meal includes soup, crackers, bars and coffee.

A spokesman for Music Boosters said continuous music will be provided throughout the evening, including both vocal and instrumental students in fifth grade through high school.

The schedule of music during the evening includes the fifth grade band, 5:30 p.m.; seventh and eighth grade bands, 6:20 p.m.; high school swing choir, 6:40 p.m.; high school stage band, 7 p.m.; high school choir, 7:20 p.m.; and high school concert band, 7:40 p.m.

"This is definitely a listener's concert," said Ron Dalton, high school instrumental director, adding that selections to be performed will be of a popular variety.

Dalton, along with middle school instrumental director Keith Kopperud, and high school vocal director Rob Stuber, will form a trumpet trio to perform at approximately 7:45 p.m. during the soup supper.

All proceeds from the supper will go to support the music department. This year's soup supper is being held in place of the group's annual bake sale.

Your personalized budget

Budgeting ought to be a four letter word! That's the way many people feel, but it doesn't have to be that way. Budgeting is really just another word for planning.

Planning how to spend your money can mean the difference between living on one pay check to another and affording some extras for your family.

Making a spending plan doesn't have to be drudgery. It can be a good way to provide all family members with a say in family spending.

YOUR PERSONALIZED money planning is the theme for the learn-at-home packet, "Your Budget: Making It Work for You."

You can use this packet to learn all on your own, in your own home. There are no deadlines, tests or grades.

This learn-at-home packet includes good advice on money management. More importantly, it has a series of worksheets geared to your family and your financial plans and priorities. This makes the course personal, using your facts and figures to concentrate on your situation.

"Your Budget: Making It Work for You" can be purchased at your local extension office for a small fee.

The packet begins with a worksheet to help you get to know your family situation better. By discussing things that are important with others in your family, you can then set down workable goals.

THERE IS A game entitled "How Would I Use Our Money." This is for the entire family and can raise questions about financial priorities. Other worksheets examine the needs and values of your family and how you spend your money.

All families have some problems when it comes to spending money. A worksheet asks a series of questions to help you identify the source of your difficulties. You can work at solving them.

At the end of the final and most important steps is to get an accurate picture of your family income and expenses. Worksheets are included to help you record this information.

Trying to account for every penny can spill sure defeat, so an H.O.K. category is included. It means "heaven only knows."

THE LEARN-AT-HOME packet, "Your Budget: Making It Work for You," can help you on the way to wise money management and help provide financial security for your family.

Carefully examining your family's goals and money you have available will help you reach those goals.

3M's extension club welcomes new member

Marian Clark was welcomed as a new member of the 3M's Home Extension Club when it met Jan. 23 in the home of Joceli Bull.

Seven members answered roll call by describing one behavioral practice or condition that interferes with their ability to listen effectively. Also attending as a guest was Mardella Bebe.

The group opened the meeting by reciting "We Prepare for Tomorrow."

YEARBOOKS were distributed and filled in by each member. It was decided to make tray favors for the month of July at Providence Medical Center.

Citizenship leader, Delores Utecht reported on the inauguration of the United States president.

THE HOSTESS was leader for the lesson, entitled "Listening With Your Heart as Well as Your Ears."

Next meeting of the club is scheduled Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mari Porter.

WSC downed in home bout with Antelopes

When the Wayne State Wildcats and Kearney State match up talents on the basketball court, the action is usually intense and the outcome exciting.

Friday night's home matchup between the two schools was no disappointment in the intensity department although it left a capacity crowd in Rice Auditorium a little short as the Lopers came from behind to edge the Wildcats, 76-68.

While winning by eight points, the game was a close contest from start to finish and a strong free throw shooting performance by Kearney State made the difference down the stretch.

WSC evened their season record at 8-8 with the loss and dropped to 2-3 in the CSIC while Kearney State upped their record to 11-5 overall and advanced their CSIC mark to 3-1.

IN THE OPENING minutes of the first half, the two teams traded baskets and worked up to a 16-16 tie before a layup by Calvin Sprew put the Wildcats up 18-16, a position they were able to remain in until the closing moments of the game.

WSC used balanced scoring to hold onto the lead and increased it to as many as eight points, 32-24 with 4:59 left in the half. KSC then brought the game within reach near the end of the half by scoring six points to the gap to 36-31. A shot by KSC at the buzzer fell through, but came too late to count as a score.

Play remained close in the second half, as Kearney State nibbled away at the Wayne State lead and went ahead 50-48 on a jump shot by Dana Falter with 12:45 remaining.

KSC upped their lead to 54-50 on a shot by Joel Hueser before Wayne State came back and regained the upper hand on a pair of free throws by Vince Tillo, 57-56. That lead was to be short-lived though, as Kearney State answered back with a bucket by Brian Anderson to recapture the lead and keep in the rest of the game.

WSC made several runs and came to within two points at 68-66 with 37 seconds left after Ed Heritage nabbed the ball away from the Lopers, following some defensive heroics by the Wildcats and netted a jump shot.

Kearney State managed to put the game out of reach in the final seconds by hitting 8 of 8 free throw attempts to pad their lead to eight points.

"YOU HAVE TO GIVE Kearney State credit, they were able to make the shots when they had to, and that's what made the difference," said WSC Coach Rick Weaver.

"You can't take anything away from them," WSC's scoring was led by four players in double figures, including Tracy Penn with 18 points and John Thomsen with 13 points. Vince Tillo added an even dozen points and Calvin Sprew dropped in 10 points.

Jon Bergmeier led KSC with a game-high 28 points, which included hitting 11 of 18 shots from the floor. Dana Falter added 15 points, Brian Anderson 12 points and Kip Kricher 11 points.

As a team, the Wildcats hit 29 of 71 shots for 41 percent from the floor and were 10 of 13 from the line for 77 percent. The Lopers shot the ball somewhat less, netting 32 of 58 attempts for 55 percent and went 12 of 14 from the stripe for 86 percent, which included an 8 for 8 stint at the end of the game.

BOTH TEAMS BATTLED evenly on the boards, the Cats holding the slight advantage, taking down 39 boards to 33 for KSC.

The key in the game for us was not being able to stop Kearney State from scoring in the second half. They are a hard team to defend and we probably should have run with the ball more.

Weaver added that his Cats may have gotten too conservative with the ball when they held a lead in the second half of the game.

"We just weren't able to put the ball down when we had to."

"Kearney State played the type of game we were expecting from them...they are a run-and-shoot team and they didn't surprise us at all."

55-53 final score

Cadet comeback edges Blue Devils

By Chuck Hackenmiller

West Point overcame a 12 point deficit in the second half, taking advantage of several Blue Devil turnovers. To squeak by Wayne Carroll Friday evening by a 55-53 score.

Wayne, after trailing most of the first quarter, got ahead of West Point 19-18 with 6:17 left in the second quarter, following a three-point play by Carl Uewiler. The Blue Devils outscored West Point 12-7, the remainder of the quarter and led 31-26 at halftime.

Two baskets by Dan Gross, one by Brent Pick and another by Don Larsen gave the Blue Devils a 39-27 lead with 3:09 left to play in the third quarter.

But West Point, leaving their zone defense in favor of man-to-man, creared back and held Wayne scoreless till Rod Dahl broke the ice at 5:56 in the fourth quarter. By then the score was 43-41, and Wayne was losing.

Blue Devil Coach Bob Uhing said a combination of West Point's aggressive defense and Wayne's lack of defense and rebounding proved to be the downfall later in the third quarter and early in the fourth quarter.

"We gave up some cheap shots inside and gave up some offensive boards," Uhing said.

"They [Cadets] played defense exactly the way we thought they would. They did a very good job," he said.

"We [Blue Devils] have been doing this all year, getting a lead and then letting our opponents get back into the game. It hurt us tonight."

THE SCORE WHEN the third quarter ended was tied at 39-39. West Point scored the first points of the final quarter with a field goal and a pair of free throws, making the score 43-39.

A Rod Dahl basket and a free throw and a field goal by Uewiler gave the Blue Devils the lead at 44-43, but the Cadets came back with a basket to lead 45-44.

Wayne surged ahead on two field goals by Pick and a layup by Pete Warnie, leading 50-45 with less than three minutes to play in the game. The Cadets pulled to within two points when the officials called Dahl for goaltending and a foul on a field goal attempt by Paul Ernest.

Dahl came right back with a big three point play and boosted the score to 53-48 with less than a minute to play in the game.

THE CADETS cut the margin to 53-51 with 39 seconds remaining and then a three-point play after a Blue Devil foul gave West Point the lead which it never relinquished. The Blue Devils had an opportunity to bring the game to overtime with under 10 seconds on the clock, but failed to connect on the field goal before the game-ending buzzer sounded.

During the frenzied third quarter, Uhing called time out twice to rally the Blue Devil charges.

"They just lost their patience on offense and were not showing good movement," Uhing said.

Rod Dahl was the high scorer for Wayne, contributing 14 points. He also led the Blue Devils in rebounding with 13. Still, Uhing felt Dahl should have been more of a dominating factor in the scoring column.

"We had our post people on the inside a number of times. Rod was open a lot inside but we didn't give him the ball," he said.

"We played below average tonight. It was just one of those things. We did not have a real good week of practice and it showed up in this game." Also scoring in double figures for Wayne was Brent Pick with 12 points and Don Larsen with 10 points.

Uhing said he was pleased with the performance of his two starting guards, Ted Luiders and Gross. Warnie and Uewiler did a good job coming off the bench, he said.

The Blue Devils committed 26 turnovers in the game while the Cadets had 13 turnovers.

AS A TEAM, WAYNE hit on 23 of 42 field goal attempts for 54.7 percentage. West Point burned the nets by shooting a scorching 67 percent from the field, hitting on 21 of 32 field goal attempts.

In the free throw category, Wayne hit on only 7 of 17 attempts and West Point connected on 13 of 25 attempts.

The Cadets, who were rated seventh in Class B and now have a 12-1 record, were tied in scoring by David Petz and Paul Ernest, each with 12 points.

In the two games before the Wayne-West Point varsity match-up, the Blue Devils freshman team and junior varsity team both came away with victories.

In the reserves game, Wayne handled the Cadets by a 62-46 score. Jeff Hausmann led all Wayne scorers with 18 points, followed by Scott Baker with 14 points.

DAN GROSS goes up to attempt the block on Daren Hoffman.

And in the freshman game, the young Blue Devils edged West Point on a last second shot, winning by a 43-42 score.

Nick Engstler led the Blue Devils in scoring with 17 points.

The schedule doesn't get any softer for the 10-2 Blue Devils as they travel to Columbus-Lakeview Tuesday night, Jan. 29.

Wayne Carroll was rated fourth in Class B prior to Friday night's game with West Point.

Eagles win over Emerson boosts season record to 8-4

It seems as if the Allen boys basketball team is back on the winning track again after taking their latest win, a 68-48 victory over Emerson-Hubbard on Friday night in Allen.

The Eagles came out slow at the start of the first and found themselves down 4-0 before hitting the hoop for over 20 and going up by as much as 24-8 early in the second quarter.

AT THAT POINT, Emerson-Hubbard tried to make a run at the Eagles but fell short, trailing at halftime 39-21.

The Pirates outscored Allen 18-15 in the fourth quarter but the Eagles were able to finish up most of their scoring in the opening two minutes of the period.

Max Oswald came on to lead Allen's scoring with 14 points. He was joined by Craig Noe with 13 points and Kevin Malcolm with 12 points.

Oswald also hit the board for the Eagles, hauling in nine rebounds, while Kevin Malcolm brought in seven boards and Troy Stewart six rebounds.

Uldrich added that his team played an aggressive defense which brought on a large number of fouls and gave Emerson-Hubbard plenty of opportunity from the free throw line.

"If Emerson had hit their one and one shots early in the game, it may have been closer. They had a right to be in the game."

Allen also won the reserve game over Emerson-Hubbard, 43-21.

The Eagles are scheduled to host Ponca in the opening round of the boys' Lewis and Clark tournament this evening (Monday).

States loss

Lady Cats denied home win by rival Kearney

Wayne State's Lady Wildcats were denied their first win in the Central States conference by a slim margin Friday night when the Kearney State Lady Antelopes came from behind to slip Wayne a 70-64 loss.

The loss dropped the Lady Cats to 7-10 overall and their CSC mark to 0-5. Kearney State improved their overall season record to 13-3 and evened their conference mark at 2-2.

WSC SOARED TO A quick lead in the game when they outscored the Lady Lopers 9-0 in one quarter during the early moments of the game. They were ahead 13-4 with 16:01 left in the half. Wayne continued to have the hot hand from the field, dropping shots in from around the court to increase their lead to 23-10 following a three point play by Barb Wragge with just over 12 minutes to play.

The Lady Lopers strung together six straight points and outshot WSC 10-4 near the close of the half to give themselves back into the neck of the game and trailed at halftime 34-22.

A steal and breakaway layup by starter Robin Wells boosted Wayne's lead back up to 9 points, 43-34, with 15:33 left to play. The Lady Cats then committed a series of personal fouls which Kearney State capitalized on to close the margin to five points after making good on a technical foul assessed against WSC for a scorebook violation, 43-38.

Kearney State continued to make headway in the scoring race and took the lead for the first time in the game with 5:30 remaining, 56-55 on a pair of free throws by Karen Sperdus.

Gophomore Shelle Tomaszewicz tied the game up twice in the closing minutes for the Lady Cats, the last time at 63-63 following a 20-foot jumper that cleared the rim with 1:38 left.

The Lady Lopers ended up taking the game at the free throw line, hitting 5 of 6 shots in the final minute and a half to ice the win.

WSC had three scorers hit double digits, led by Barb Wragge who netted 10 of 23 from the floor and added a 6 of 8 performance at the line to score 26 points. Deb Nygren added 15 points and Robin Wells dropped in 14 points.

KEARNEY STATE WAS led by LaNell Cox with 18 points and Beth Carlson with 13 points.

Both teams battled evenly on the boards throughout the night, each coming away with 43 total rebounds. Shelle Tomaszewicz was the top rebounder for WSC with nine rebounds, while Wragge and Nygren each pulled in seven boards.

Wayne shot well from the floor in the first half, hitting 14 of 32 shots for 44 percent, but cooled down somewhat in the second half, making 9 of 31 attempts for 29 percent. Overall, WSC was 23 of 43 for 53 percent. Kearney State netted 26 of 68 shots in the game for 38 percent.

Wayne Coach Lenny Klaver felt that it was team depth that made the difference down the stretch for his squad. "We were just basically going with six girls in there, and our substitutes just weren't used to playing, that type of pressure situation," Klaver said.

Coming into the game, Klaver said his team was prepared to come out and go at Kearney from the start, which they were able to do successfully in the first half. "Kearney State came up much better on defense in the second half, while we tended to do a little less. We came out against them man-to-man in the first half, which is something other teams haven't done and they had to work to make some adjustments, towards it."

KLAVER ADDED THAT the statistics were fairly even in the game, the difference just came down to Kearney's slightly higher shooting percentage.

"It was a very disappointing loss for us...but we realize that we have to play a full game like we played the first half against KSC."

WSC was scheduled to go up against the Lady Tigers of Fort Hays State in Rice Auditorium Saturday evening, Jan. 26.

Tom Morrison, park superintendent, and Rocky Hoffman of the Game and Parks Commission's North Platte office, will be special guests.

Compete in Taekwondo journey

Members of the Wayne Taekwondo class, taught by Tim Thomas, participated at the regional American Taekwondo Association tournament in Omaha on Saturday, Jan. 19. The event was held in the UNO Fieldhouse, located on the campus of the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

Placing in the competition were the following students: Cory Conely, Wayne — adult yellow belt division, second place in form competition; third place in sparring; Byron Wacker, Wayne — adult green belt division, first place in sparring.

Jack Swinney, Wayne — 9, 10, 11 and 12 year old black belt division, second place in sparring; Jeff Munderloch, Pender — adult red belt division, third place in sparring.

John Addison, Wayne — adult red belt division, 11th place in form competition.

Also competing were Steve Smith of Pender in the red belt division and Chris Straight of Wayne in the yellow belt division. A belt ranking test will be held in Columbus in February, and Thomas reported that all class members will attend and participate in tests for high belt rankings.

Laurel Lady Bears jump back on track with 57-29 victory over Wakefield Trojans

The Laurel Lady Bears jumped right back on the winning track on Thursday evening with a 57-29 road win over the Wakefield Trojans.

The Wakefield man-to-man defense came on strong in the opening period and gave the Lady Bears more than they bargained for, allowing Laurel a slim 9-6 margin.

IT WAS THE second quarter that put the game out of reach for Wakefield as Laurel exploded for 27 points and held the Trojans to 2 points to string up a 36-8 halftime lead.

In the third and fourth quarters, Laurel increased their margin despite being outscored in the final eight minutes, 13-7. Wendy Robson led the Lady Bears with a game-high 18 points, followed by Michelle Joslin with 10 points and Renee Vanderheiden with eight points.

The Trojans were paced by Stacy Kuhl with 11 points.

Gail Twiford headed up the boards for Laurel with 15 rebounds and Michelle Joslin added eight rebounds. For Wakefield, Kody Nelson pulled in six rebounds and Darla Hartman, Ron Starz and Marci Greve each added five boards.

"Laurel started out slow, and we probably played the best we have all year in the first six minutes of the opening quarter," said Wakefield Coach Arnold Curry. "We stayed close with them and were able to break their half-court trap and get the ball down."

Curry felt that his team lost their intensity in the second quarter of the game, giving the ball up on turnovers and missing wide open shots. "We didn't make a lot of wide open shots and they would pick up the rebound and we didn't seem to hustle down court."

LAUREL COACH GALE Hamilton agreed that his squad started out the game slow. "We missed some early shots and Wakefield was playing a good man defense against us. We realized that Wakefield was going to play us a really tough game. Our press turned out to be effective and we were able to pick the ball off and get scores off of it most of the time."

"It was a good win for us after losing the Randolph game," said Hamilton. "It also let Wakefield know that they won't be taken lightly when we play them again in the conference tournament. Our girls have to realize that they have to play all of their games hard and hopefully the momentum from this win will carry us through the tournament."

Laurel also came out the winner in the junior varsity game by a 21-15 score.

The two varsity teams were slated to butt heads again in the first round of the Lewis and Clark conference tournament Saturday evening.

Allen gains division win over Emerson-Hubbard

It was a big win at home in the Lewis division Thursday night as they edged past Emerson-Hubbard in the final second of the game, 32-31.

Emerson-Hubbard jumped to a quick 10-4 lead in the first quarter on strong shooting before Allen got on track and the two teams started a defensive battle that lasted the rest of the game. The score at the half was deadlocked at 22-22.

ALLEN HAD TROUBLE putting points on the board in the third quarter and the Pirates used that to pull to a two point 28-26 lead going into the fourth quarter.

The outcome came down to the final seconds of the game when Emerson-Hubbard took down the defensive rebound on the front end of one and one shot by the Eagles. Shelly Boyle and went into a stall game with under 30 seconds left.

Allen's pressure defense caused Emerson-Hubbard to cough up the ball on a bad pass, which Pam Heckathorn picked off and brought down on a layup to score and put the Eagles ahead 32-31 with 10 seconds left. Allen then stole the ball again on the inbound pass and an Emerson-Hubbard foul sent Heckathorn to the line for the one and one. The first attempt was missed and the Pirates took down the rebound and got off a final shot at the buzzer which fell away.

Scoring for the Eagles was evenly spread, with Denise Magnuson, Shelly Boyle and Pam Heckathorn each netting eight points. Mary Oswald added six points. Denise Magnuson led the boards with 11 rebounds and Boyle registered 10 rebounds. The Eagles held Emerson-Hubbard to 24 field goal attempts on the night. The Pirates hit 14 of those attempts for 58 percent. Allen was 16 of 36 from the court for 44 percent.

IT WAS A low-fouling game for both teams, each committing 11 personal fouls. Allen of 0 of 3 from the line, while the Pirates hit 2 of 4 for 50 percent.

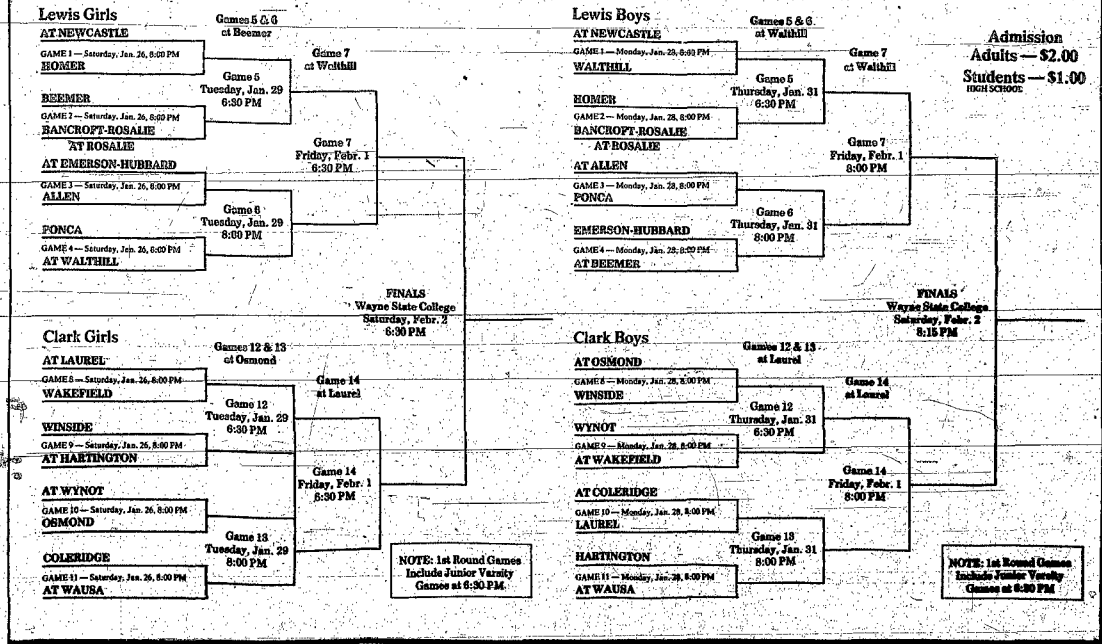

"The fact that both teams played a good, aggressive defense led to the low number of shot attempts for both," said Allen Coach Gary Troth. "Overall, it really wasn't one of our better played games. Emerson was getting a lot of good shots off in the first quarter which helped them get the lead...they probably were a little more patient on offense than we were."

Allen also won the junior varsity game against Emerson by a 22-9 margin. Kris Hansen, Lana Erwin and Chris Blom each scored four points.

The Eagles, with a 7-3 overall record and a 4-2 mark in the Lewis Division, were scheduled to a rematch with Emerson-Hubbard in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark conference tournament Saturday evening in Emerson.

time period to down the Wildcats 32-26. The score between the two teams was tied at the end of regulation, 24-24.

AGAINST HARTINGTON Winside's scoring started out slow, netting four points in the first quarter to split the game.

THE WILDCATS MANAGED to capitalize on a low number of turnovers in their game with Osmond last Tuesday night, downing the Tigers in a nip and tuck battle 40-38.

On again-off again seemed to be the pattern for Winside's offensive game, as they hit a rough spot again in the third quarter.

Osmond held slim leads at the end of the first quarter and then again at halftime, 20-11, before Winside came up with an extra bucket in the third quarter to knot the score at 30-30.

Winside trailed by as many as 10 points in the final period before working their way back to within five points at the buzzer.

During the game's fourth quarter, Missy Jensen, who led the Wildcats in scoring with 17 points, dropped in several key baskets down the stretch to help boost Winside to their fourth victory of the season.

Missy Jensen topped scoring for Winside with 17 points. Tammy Brudigan and Kay Meierhenry were the top rebounders for Winside with six boards each.

Kay Meierhenry added nine points and nine boards in the win. Tammy Brudigan logged nine rebounds and a game-high 10 assists.

"We really didn't play a bad game. We just came out slow in the first and third quarters again and that is what hurt us," said Winside Coach Jill Stenwall.

"While we didn't play our best game, we had a low number of turnovers (15), which helped us out," said Stenwall. "The gals were low coming off of the game with Wausau and they came out sluggish at the start against Osmond."
