Chief says vigorous enforcement in 1985

Crime decreases in 1984

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Wayne's police department experienced a downward trend of reported crimes in 1984 compared to 1983 figures. The police department's annual report and statistical comparison of 1984 and 1983 were presented by Police Chief Vern Fairchild to the Wayne City Council during last Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Below is the crime summary as submitted by Fairchild:

- 1984 — homicide, rape, robbery and felony assault, assault on officer, no reports; 1983 — no reports.
- 1984 — misdemeanor assaults, seven reported; 1983 — seven reported.
- 1984 — two stolen autos reported, none cleared; 1983, one reported and one cleared.

- 1984 — larceny/theft, 88 crimes reported, 15 unfounded and 15 cleared, reported loss $21,255; 1983, 77 reported, 19 unfounded and 13 cleared, reported loss $8,313.

- 1984 — burglary, 12 crimes reported, two unfounded and three cleared with reported loss of $3,347; 1983, 10 reported with three unfounded and one cleared, $2,225.

- 1984 — vandalism, 42 reported and eight cleared; 1983, 13 reported and eight cleared.

- 1984 — total arrests except traffic, 79 (adults 61, juveniles 18); 1983, 89 (adults 69, juveniles 20).

- 1984 — forgery/fraud, four reported and four cleared; 1983, 13 reported and eight cleared.

"EVEN THOUGH WE show a slight decrease in crimes reported, it must be remembered that 1983 had reflected a 13 percent increase over the previous year and thus would indicate that we are at least holding the line," Fairchild said in a written release to the council.

"Given the present economic conditions of the country, I would anticipate that we will be hard pressed to continue this trend with our limited manpower, especially in the areas of larceny/theft and burglary," he said.

"We must have greater participation from the general public when they have knowledge of criminal activity if we are to maintain this area at a manageable level."

During 1984, the Wayne police department investigated 122 traffic accidents on public streets (30 less than 1983) and 51 traffic acidents on private property (nine more than 1983).

"Following the extremely bad weather during the last five weeks of 1983, we entered this past year with good weather that prevailed for most of the year and certainly had a positive impact on our traffic accident record," Fairchild mentioned.

"Again I feel economic conditions have also helped in this area, as we are apparently experiencing less vehicular travel throughout the city."

ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE more parking tickets were issued in 1984 over 1983, the greatest violations falling under the category of illegal parking in the "midnight to 5 a.m." zone (1,209 tickets).

Those who received traffic warnings in 1984 numbered 601 (there were 851 warnings issued in 1983), the largest amount (294) going to speeders. There were 145 individuals who were actually charged with speeding.

"The major area of concern to me is the decrease in written activity, such as parking tickets, warnings, violation cards and arrests," Fairchild said.

"I cannot believe that the economy has held down violations or that our officers have managed to apprehend them all," he added.

"We will be working a more vigorous enforcement program during 1985."

Arrests in 1984 totaled 387, amounting to $8,695 in fines. During 1983, there were 464 arrests that reached $15,256 in fines.

OTHER 1984 ARREST charges include: 44 with failure to dispose of parking ticket; 33 with no valid registration; 19 minors in possession; 16 thefts; 15 no operators license; 10 traffic signal violations; 8 "dog at large"; seven illegal u-turns and driving while intoxicated; six disturbing the peace, stop sign violation and consuming alcohol on public way; five disorderly conduct; four with driving under suspension, burglary, criminal mischief; three with failure to yield right of way, littering, forgery, reckless driving; two with leaving scene of accident, trespassing; one with careless driving, flight to avoid arrest, public indecency; no muffler, assault and annoying phone call.

Of this amount, six of the charges were not filed (including one on public indecency, one forgery, two minors in possession, one disturbing the peace and one reckless driving); and seven of the charges were dismissed (three on no valid registrations, one on no operators license, one on disturbing the peace, one on disorderly conduct, and one on leaving the scene of an accident).

Big Band, celebrity at WSC

Individuals can warm up in the evenings to upcoming big band sounds and observe the antics of a entertaining artist who is scheduled to appear at Wayne State College within the next two weeks.

A big band dance for Wayne State College students and the people of Wayne will be scheduled from 8 p.m. to midnight, Saturday, Feb. 9 at WSC's Rice Auditorium.

The dance, to feature big band music performed by the Wayne State Jazz Band, is sponsored by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma, honorary band fraternity and sorority.

The Jazz Band will play music from the swing era of the 1920's, 1930's and 1940's from such noted bandsmen as Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman, said Gary Davis, WSC band director.

Davis said some later big band music will also be played.

Admission is 75 cents per person or $1 per couple and the concession stand will be open.

TIM SETTINI, described as "an undimable choice between mime, musician and comedian," is making a return performance at Wayne State College Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

In addition to presenting his solo shows in colleges he appeared at WSC in 1984. Settini has been featured in concert with such recording artists as Joni Mitchell, Chicago, Guess Who and REO Speedwagon.

He also has been featured with comedians Steve Martin and Henry Youngman. Settini has also acted in the featured film "The Sciflighter" starring Tim Conway.

His performance, sponsored by the Wayne State College Student Activities Board, is free to Wayne State students and faculty with Student Activities Board passes.

Tickets for the general public can be purchased at the door for $3.

The Drinking Age: Education essential on use of alcohol

The following is the sixth article of a series prepared by The Wayne Herald editorial staff concerning Nebraska's new drinking age law.

Over the span of six weeks, viewpoints will be publicized from various representatives, including law enforcement officials, counselors, educators, organizations, parents and students.

Signed letters to the editor are welcome for people who wish to speak out on the legalized drinking age, which on Jan. 1 was raised to age 21.

By LaVon Anderson

"I think the primary purpose of increasing the drinking age was to reduce the number of persons driving under the influence of alcohol."

"I'm not sure that simply raising the legal drinking age will accomplish that purpose."

Dan Monson, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne, says drunk driving is drunk driving — whether it's a 19-year-old or a 40-year-old.

he's intoxicated.

MONSON SAYS that in the past year or so law enforcement personnel have been more involved in both apprehending and prosecuting drunk drivers.

"But, I think the penalty for drunk driving needs to be so severe that no one, no matter what age, would think of drinking and driving. Let alone allow anyone else to get behind the wheel after they've been drinking."

"In many cases, we just slap the offender's wrists and say, 'now you won't do that again will you?'"

Monson adds that if the purpose of raising the drinking age is to reduce drunken drivers, then the laws need to be consistent across the board for all ages, and not just singling out the 20-year-olds.

"IN THE SCANDINAVIAN countries there is almost no drunk driving because the penalties are so severe that even if you are drunk you still know better than to drive."

"There is no plea bargaining or delay of penalty."

Monson credits pressure from insurance companies and organizations such as MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) for raising public consciousness of the seriousness of drunk driving in the United States.

"The economic realities are that insurance companies are going to create such a financial burden for drunk drivers that anyone who is convicted of such a crime will find insurance terribly expensive."

"We're starting to move in the right directions."

a person is mature enough to handle alcohol sensibly.

He cites an example of a brilliant 14-year-old Chinese student who enrolled at the University of Chicago.

At the age of 18, when the student applied for his Ph.D., someone asked if he didn't feel he was too immature to be applying for a Ph.D.

"The student's response was, 'To evaluate maturity on the basis of chronology is itself an immature concept.'"

"I don't have any great trust in raising the age as a way of solving the problems of teenage drinking in our society," says Monson. "In fact, it may make a greater problem for law enforcement officials."

Ideally, according to Monson, families and society would educate the proper use of alcohol to the point where eventually there wouldn't be a need for laws to reduce drunken driving.

"I THINK prohibition is the worst possible solution," says Monson. "I don't believe legislation will solve the problems of alcohol abuse, and what we're doing in a sense is instituting prohibition for anyone under the age of 21."

"Not only doesn't Monson believe in prohibition, he also doesn't believe in the way advertisers lure young people."

"In Canada, Monson says there is no advertising of alcoholic beverages. "As a result, you don't have the glamorization and sexual attraction that advertisers in the United States tend to associate with the use of alcohol."

"Teenagers today are under lots of pressure," adds Monson, "and the advertisements lead them to believe that something magical will happen when they consume the booze."

"In fact," points out Monson, "the opposite happens."

"If (advertising) is the biggest hype job in our society, just look on skid row and see what it really does."

become addicted if they expose themselves to drugs, including beer, for a long enough time.

Monson adds that while adults have a certain amount of physical resistance to alcohol addiction, he doesn't believe kids have the same resistance.

"In many parts of the country we're seeing our junior high school kids snitching alcohol and coming to school hung over."

"I don't see what changing the legal age to 21 is going to do for that."

Monson, who has been involved in counseling alcoholics and their families for nearly 30 years, firmly believes that youngsters need to be educated on the dangers of alcohol.

"I think school presentations are very helpful. They need to be pursued, especially at the elementary age."

He also believes in a strong family structure. "Parents need to be aware of what their kids are doing, and they need to do more things together as a family unit."

"If parents knew where their kids were, and vice versa, it would make things a lot easier."

ALTHOUGH MONSON doesn't feel that changing the legal age to 21 is a cure-all, he does concede that the new law may be one step in the right direction.

adds Monson. "It will keep most people out."

Monson also says the law is black and white, and students in college who are most likely to be affected by it will just have to accept it.

"They ought to think about how to have a good time without alcohol, rather than thinking how to get around the law."

"FRANKLY," SAYS Monson, "the reason I get so uptight about this is that I've conducted too many funerals that were the result of drunk driving."

"I just can't stand the thought of that."

Correction

In an article concerning street projects, $1.029 million, not $1.029 billion is the estimated cost to complete the paving or other street construction work during 1985 for the city of Wayne, as was reported.

Also, in the same article, it should have read "one street improvement project" for 1988 includes the construction of a storm sewer, closing open ditch from the Arroyo to State Roads Yard on East Highway 35, not "loan street improvement project."

We regret the errors.

Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery with Bressler Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

A saving thought

Whether we like it or not, facts and statistics point to seat belts as life-saving tools when automobile accidents occur. Civil liberty groups might protest making it mandatory to wear the seat belts. But it is hard to argue when the numbers are so favorable to seat belt wearers.

Department of Transportation statistics show nearly 9,200 lives could be saved each year if 70 percent of vehicle occupants buckled up. In addition, some $27,000 injuries could be prevented or reduced. Less than 80 percent of Americans buckle up voluntarily even though virtually every car on the road is equipped with safety belts. Most of Canada and Australia and all of France, Great Britain, West Germany and Japan are among 31 countries with mandatory seatbelt laws.

In Victoria, Australia, traffic fatalities dropped 37 percent and injuries, 41 percent, over the first four years the law was in place. In Ontario, the seat belt usage rate went from 24 percent to 77 percent. Belt usage in provinces without seatbelt laws averaged between 10 to 15 percent.

Recently a bill has been introduced in the Nebraska legislature to require drivers and front-seat passengers in cars and trucks to wear seatbelts. The mandatory seatbelt law would impose a $25 fine for those in violation of the law.

New York and New Jersey were the first states to pass a seatbelt law. New York's fine for not buckling up is $50, and that state is predicting for each one percent increase in safety belt use, 200 deaths and serious injuries will be prevented annually.

It would be foolish to deny anything that would prevent death on the highway. Seatbelts are one of the few protections motorists have, just as helmets are the most protective device for the motorcyclist.

But there are questions: Will law enforcement be relaxed on the law? How much enforcement is being done on Nebraska's legislative law to apply child restraints to those of early age?

To pass the law and then not enforce it certainly defeats the purpose. We hear about those who never wear seatbelts but say "I should wear them." Then we hear about those in automobile accidents who say "I'm glad I had my safety belt on."

Which person would you rather be? One that buckles up, we hope.

February 2 is commonly referred to as Groundhog Day. From sources within the news came that there almost wasn't going to be a Groundhog Day in 1985.

If the ground hog sees his shadow, that customarily means six more long weeks of winter. But if the day is cloudy and the critter never sees his shadow, then spring will arrive early.

This forecast almost never came about this year. Here's what happened:

"I'm not going out and that's that!" yelled the ground hog to the psychologist in the office of the Mound Medical Institute.

"But you must! The whole world is counting on you," comforted the doctor as he continued writing in his small notebook.

"I cannot take the pressure anymore, doc! I'm cracking up. All of the work I have done and there is nobody who appreciates it. From now on, the people can go on guessing when spring will be arriving. I'm throwing in the towel," said the angry ground hog.

HE CONTINUED: "Take a look at my dental bills. You know what that's from? That's from chewing and clawing up to the surface when the ground is frozen solid. Last year I had to borrow some nitro from a demolition outfit just so I could squeeze out through a small opening. And why? Only because they expect me to not find a stupid shadow of myself!"

"Control yourself, sir. You're shaking uncontrollably," said the doctor as he slipped the ground hog a glass of water.

The ground hog took a swallow and then continued: "You can practice your medicine all you want since you can stay underground all the time. Poor me has to venture out on a freezing day, dig my way through drifts and then come back home soaking wet and nearly dying of pneumonia. Other ground hogs say that I'm crazy for doing this. I should have listened to them long ago."

"You'll be prepared for it this winter?" the doctor asked.

"I guess," the ground hog answered. "But the cold and sneezes aren't what hamper me the most—it's the pressure of the job. Countless people who count on me for the weather forecast."

"How many people will be polishing their golf clubs, ordering their seed corn, searching for spring fashions, taking time to plan their garden and all because I might not see my shadow?"

"Then there are those who become angry and violent; those who possess weak bodies and minds; those tired of looking at endless fields of drifts and feeling the bitter sting of cold."

"Would you want the job of telling them we're going to have another six weeks of winter?" he asked the doctor.

"Then I get no respect for my job. People try to drown my den with water, set traps in my doorway and chase me with clubs," the young ground hog pointed out.

"But think of the tradition," said the doctor. "Your valued judgment has a fine track record — the best we have in this whole corporation."

"Corporation? I didn't know this was a big business set-up!" said the ground hog.

"Yes indeed. You are part of a union, the GHSWU [Ground Hog Shadow Working Union] and you have the highest seniority on the list. But you are replaceable, since most farmers will abstain there always seems to be plenty of ground hogs when least desired," the doctor mentioned.

"Well then I'll just venture up to the unemployment office and collect from you people," the ground hog said.

"Don't work. Compensation for ground hogs is dirt cheap. Matter of fact, it is dirt," the doctor said.

"Okay, you win. I'll keep on the tradition, but only so I can support my family," the unfortunate ground hog proclaimed.

"There's just one more thing though..." "Do you suppose the union could afford to buy me a snowmobile suit, just to keep warm on these subzero mornings?" "Certainly not. Do you expect this entire ground hog operation to go into the hole," replied the doctor.

"Very funny," growled the ground hog.

Safety proposals bring out crowds

Capitol News
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
Few issues seem to turn Nebraskans out in greater numbers at legislative hearings than major public safety proposals.

Among the 713 bills that were introduced during the first 10 days of the 1985 session are three public safety bills that would touch the lives of nearly everybody in the state.

Fourteen lawmakers last week introduced a bill to require drivers and front-seat passengers in cars and trucks to wear seat belts. Other bills awaiting committee hearings, this year would require the use of helmets by motorcyclists and regulate the practices of outdoor joggers.

The mandatory seat belt law, LB 496, would impose a $25 fine on those who fail to strap themselves in. Sen. Pat Morehead of Beatrice, the chief sponsor of the bill, predicted that passage of the measure would significantly reduce death and injury on the state's streets and highways.

If the experience in Iowa and with mandatory seat belts reflects that of Great Britain, Morehead said, traffic fatalities in the state could be reduced by 30 percent.

Last year, New York became the first state in the union to pass mandatory seat belt legislation.

"THE BILL wouldn't apply to rear-seat passengers, rural mail carriers or persons for whom a disability makes it impractical to use the seat belt. Also exempt would be vehicles manufactured before 1964.

Drivers would be responsible for paying the fine for passengers under 16 years old who failed to buckle up.

The bill specifies that suspicion of not wearing a seat belt wouldn't be sufficient cause for a law enforcement officer to stop a vehicle. Morehead said the provision would eliminate public concerns that the proposed law would be a tool of harassment for police officers.

For the first time in five years, the Legislature this session will deal with the issue of mandatory use of helmets by motorcyclists.

Sen. Peter Hoagland of Omaha introduced LB 524, a bill to require helmet use by motorcycle and moped users beginning next January. Failure to do so would result in a $30 fine.

Hoagland said he introduced the bill at the urging of Dr. James L. Manion of Omaha, an anesthesiologist at St. Joseph Hospital. In his 15 years of medical experience, Manion said in an interview, he has treated many who have been killed or seriously injured while riding motorcycles.

"After a while, I've just gotten weary of all the young, broken bodies being admitted to the emergency room," Manion said in an interview.

Safety education programs for motorcyclists have failed to adequately address the problem, Manion said. "There are a lot of amateurs out there who are in constant danger," he said.

MANION SAID HE has volunteered to provide Hoagland with testimony from a variety of medical professionals when the bill is heard by a legislative committee.

In 1980, the Public Works Committee voted to kill a mandatory motorcycle helmet bill that was introduced by Sen. Dave Landis of Lincoln. The committee acted after hundreds of motorcyclists turned out in opposition at a public hearing on the bill.

"Whatever proponents there were must have just looked inside the door and turned around and left," Landis recalled Tuesday. "Around my office, we called it 'David in the Lion's Den'."

Although he is not a co-sponsor, Landis said he supports Hoagland's bill.

LB 476, introduced by Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln, would require joggers to run on a sidewalk wherever possible. Where a sidewalk doesn't exist, a jogger would be required to run on the far left side of the street or road to see oncoming traffic.

At night, a jogger would be required to wear reflective material on his or her clothing. The bill prescribes a $15 fine for violation of the proposed jogging law.

To the editor:
I was appalled to read the Wayne paper this week and see where Wayne was going to spend over one billion dollars on improvements.

In today's World-Herald on the Midlands News page 17, the headline was "no new solutions for farm debt."

Wayne used to take pride in running in the black. In recent years we have made a heck of a debt for probably more than just the next generation.

Everyone should know, by now, in the Midwest everything depends on agriculture. Wayne has some businesses going out of business and I was in Randolph yesterday and there were at least five business places that have gone out since the last time I was in their business district.

This is pretty much normal in the Midwest. Read your papers — banks and loan companies are also having trouble with devaluation of farms and property.

Just where in the hell do these city fathers think all this money is coming from??? Even if some is from government help doesn't anyone know for all the projects throughout the country that are helped by the government, there are still debts that have to be paid by all taxpayers? One more question — do they run their personal business the same way? If so, God help them. Enough said.

A Concerned Taxpayer
Lloyd Russel

P.S. If it was an error and should have been a million instead of 1 billion, it was still way out of line for the times!
Editors Note: The corrected total for the improvement projects in 1985 is $1,029 million (see correction on front page). Also, the $1,029 million figure is the total estimated costs of the projects alone and does not reflect on what the city's share of costs will be. Several of the 1985 projects will be financed through a large percentage of state and federal funding.

Nation
U.S. Senator Jim Exon has announced he has invited mayors and local airport representatives of 11 Nebraska communities who would be affected by the Administration's proposal to eliminate air subsidies to attend a meeting in Washington, D.C. with Department of Transportation officials.

The 11 communities affected by changes in the Essential Air Service Act include Alliance, Chadron, Scottsbluff, Sidney, McCook, North Platte, Kearney, Grand Island, Hastings, Norfolk and Columbus.

The 1978 Airlines Deregulation Act provided that rural communities would be guaranteed air service under the Essential Air Service Act. Exon said "I oppose the proposal to eliminate the air subsidies and do not intend to let this Administration or any future Administration renege on that commitment made to our rural areas."

EXON ALSO announced he is cosponsoring legislation to repeal the new Internal Revenue Service rule requiring mileage logs for business vehicles.

The legislation will restore the prior law which only required that taxpayers maintain adequate records of the business and farm use of their vehicles. It would repeal the proposed IRS rule of requiring vehicles used for business and farm purposes to maintain a mileage log.

"Our tax laws should not be a hassle to taxpayers; they should be reasonable and not interfere with the productivity of business," Exon said.

"The IRS took one word from the law and twisted it to make the taxpayers do more work for a legitimate tax deduction. I cannot help but wonder that the IRS did it to discourage taxpayers from taking the deduction."

IN ANOTHER news release from Exon's office, Exon said he is again supporting legislation to give the President line item veto authority to curtail federal spending.

This legislation, co-sponsored by Exon, would grant the President the authority to veto any portion of the appropriations bills passed by Congress. The legislation would be a two-year experiment, unless Congress specifically votes to renew the authority.

"A two year test of the line item veto authority would demonstrate to the public how effective it would be in drawing the line on federal spending," Exon said.

He added that 43 of 50 Governors have successfully used the line item veto in their states. "It is time we gave the President the same power that the majority of the Governors have to balance their state budgets," he said.

Leaders to receive listening training

During March, Dixon County Home Extension Clubs will be studying the lesson, "Listening With Your Heart as Well as Your Ears."

Club leaders will receive training for the lesson on Monday, Feb. 11 at 1:30 p.m. at the North Research and Extension Center near Concord.

Training will be conducted by Nancy Lang, Thurston County Extension Agent-Home Economics.

Leaders will participate in a variety of listening activities which will increase their awareness of speakers feelings and develop better listening attitudes and behaviors.

They also will discuss overcoming barriers to listening and reflective listening.

"Listening is a necessary skill," says Anna Marie White, Dixon County Extension Agent-Home Economics, who adds that the goal of effective communication in the family, on the job or between friends is understanding which cannot occur if people don't listen effectively.

"Listening to another person requires complete attention and concentration," says White.

"The attitude of the listener and the topic being discussed may greatly affect what is heard and how the message is understood."

COMMUNITY groups and clubs also are invited to send leaders to the training meeting which is sponsored by the Dixon County Cooperative Extension Service. There is no charge.

Persons who would like additional information may contact Anna Marie White, Extension Agent-Home Economics, North Research Center, Concord, Neb. 684-2234.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all wedding and photograph offers for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony, information submitted after that deadline will not be carried on a story but will be used in a column under the picture. Wedding photos submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

News and notes

Win the supermarket game
Research studies have found that consumers no longer view grocery shopping as being any fun.

"One approach is to turn grocery shopping into a game. Couponers have added excitement to grocery shopping by stretching their food dollars with cents off coupons.

Whether you use coupons or not, getting the most food value for your dollar can be a challenging game.

THE FIRST STEP in developing a game plan is to learn how to compare shop. Many of the more than 14,000 items sold in the average supermarket are available in different sizes, shapes, forms and qualities. The choices seem endless.

You can purchase apples either fresh, frozen, canned, dried, whole, sliced, or as sauce and juice. During the peak apple season, you can save money and enjoy eating fresh apples. Before the new crop becomes available in early fall, apples purchased in some other form than fresh may be a better buy.

How you intend to use an apple or other fruit or vegetable will be a factor in your selection. If an apple is to be served whole or sliced with cheese or other fruit you will want to select large attractive fresh apples. They may cost more per pound but the end use justifies the cost. Apples used in baking that will be chopped or sliced can be less perfect in appearance and might be more economical in price.

THE SECOND STEP to the supermarket game is using unit pricing or the cost per ounce or pound.

Until you become familiar with unit pricing you may not realize which size of a product is the best buy.

Some supermarkets include both the unit price and the total price on the shelf sticker near the product. If the unit price is not available, you can divide the total price by the number of pounds or ounces in the package. Small hand held calculators are handy for figuring unit prices this way.

Often you may find the large or giant size package is not the best buy. Once you have used unit pricing to find the least expensive size, you need to decide if that size is right for your family.

The larger size isn't a good buy if the food will spoil or family members tire of it before it can be eaten.

ONCE COMPARISON shopping and unit pricing have become so commonplace, don't forget the most important part — your game plan. Otherwise known as a shopping list, the game plan is written at home and taken along to the supermarket.

Sticking to your shopping list will help you resist costly impulsive buying and help you win the supermarket game.

Outlook for 1985

Food prices to increase moderately

Food prices for 1985 as reflected in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) are expected to average 2 to 5 percent above the 1984 prices, with most farm foods in good supply, according to figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The increase continues a recent trend of moderate food price increases. Little if any rise in farm prices is likely, but food marketing costs are expected to rise by 3 to 5 percent.

Consumer demand will be moderate during 1985, putting little pressure on retail prices.

BEEF PRICES are expected to average only 1 to 4 percent above 1984, however by the fourth quarter of 1985, retail beef prices will be noticeably higher than the present time.

Supplies of beef will remain high through mid-1985; the result of extra slaughter, as producers cut back on the size of their breeding herds.

However, this means a smaller base for beef production and smaller supplies in the long term.

As beef production slows down, the forecast for retail beef prices is for a gradual increase through the year.

PORK PRICES will remain fairly stable, with only slight increases expected during the second half of 1985. Pork supplies in the first quarter will be sharply lower than during the end of 1984, and prices should rise sharply at first.

Even though total supplies will about equal 1984, reduced supplies of competing beef will encourage stronger pork prices.

Poultry supplies will increase as lower feed prices and reduced beef supplies encourage producers to expand output. Poultry prices are expected to average from 2 to 5 percent less during 1985.

Egg production was up substantially during the last half of 1984 and prices dropped sharply, recovering from high prices caused by avian flu last winter.

Since egg prices will be fairly stable, the average for 1985 should be 14 to 17 percent below 1984.

THE CPI for dairy products should not change significantly. Milk production will rise slightly.

The farm value of dairy products is expected to be lower, so any increase in retail prices will likely be caused by increases in processing and distributing costs.

Prices in the CPI for fresh fruit will be down seasonally during the winter, but will rise sharply during the summer as supplies of mid-season and late season oranges and apples are drawn from storage.

Citrus production is forecast to be larger than that damaged in last year's freeze, but still below the crop of two years ago.

Apple and winter pear production is down from last year.

Processed fruit prices also are likely to rise an average of 7 to 10 percent. Packers have bid grover prices up sharply to replace depleted inventories.

A large Florida orange juice production is expected and imports of frozen concentrated juice will be larger again during 1985.

Sugar support-price increases will put some pressure on retail prices, but the increase is expected to be moderate, from 3 to 6 percent.

The CPI for cereal and bakery products is expected to rise 4 to 7 percent. Marketing costs are likely to be responsible for the increase, since farm ingredients account for only 12 percent of the total cost.

PRICES FOR fats and oils are expected to rise 3 to 6 percent due to increases in marketing costs.

Soybean production was up significantly after the drought-plagued crop of 1983, and assurance of good vegetable oil supplies points to no likely increase in the ingredient costs of salad oils and shortening.

Non-alcoholic beverage prices will rise moderately, from 3 to 6 percent. Most of the increase will be due to higher marketing costs.

World supplies of coffee are expected to be ample.

Soft drink prices will rise, partly due to higher marketing costs and in small part to increases in sweetener costs.

Competition between bottlers, however, will tend to dampen price increases somewhat.

WITH HER eye on the ball, Laurel's Wendy Robson goes for the layup.

Lady Bears edge past Wausa 42-41 enroute to L&C title bout versus Walthill Bluejays

by Jackie Osten
Laurel's Lady Bears kept their hopes of a third consecutive Lewis and Clark conference basketball title alive Friday evening with a nail-biting 42-41 win over Wausa in Clark division semifinal action in Laurel.

Gale Hamilton's 14-1 Lady Bears were slated to face Walthill in the conference finals on Saturday evening, Feb. 2 at 6:30 in Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College campus in Wayne. The Bluejays worked their way into the final game by virtue of a 45-35 upset win over previously undefeated Newcastle on Friday evening.

"It was really a dogfight," said Hamilton following the game. "We got exactly the type of game we were expecting from them...they are a very good team."

THE BEGINNING of the battle between the two teams really didn't give any indication that the score would be so close. Wausa made good use of a Laurel cold spell at the bucket to build up an 8-0 lead before Gail Twiford netted the Lady Bears' first points on a shot underneath following an offensive rebound.

Wausa then pulled to a 13-4 lead before Laurel made the switch to a man-to-man defense and shut down the Vikettes outside shooting game. A pair of baskets by senior Wendy Robson brought Laurel to a 13-8 deficit at the end of the first quarter. Field goals by Robson and Renee Vanderheiden brought the Lady Bears to within two points at 14-12. Midway through the period, junior Michelle Joslin took passes from Vanderheiden to the hoop twice to knol the score at 18-18 with 3:30 left in the half.

Wausa drew to a 20-18 lead and a 22-20 lead before a shot by Twiford in the lane gave Laurel their first lead of the game, 24-22 with 23 seconds on the clock. A Wausa basket with eight seconds left tied the halftime score at 24-24.

For the first half, Laurel balanced out their early lack of shooting to hit 12 of 32 shots for 38 percent from the field.

Michelle Joslin opened the third quarter with a big three point play, hitting a jumper from outside and drawing the foul. Behind the scoring of Joslin and Robson, who combined for the Lady Bears' 11 third quarter points, the Lady Bears maintained their lead and were up at the end of the period, 35-32.

A FREE THROW by Joslin at the start of the fourth quarter gave Laurel their biggest lead of the game, 36-32, but Wausa took advantage of a pair of Laurel fouls to briefly recapture the upper hand, 37-36 with 6:01 remaining.

Gail Twiford caught a pass from Renee Vanderheiden in the corner to regain the lead for Laurel, 39-37 and gave her team a little breathing room with a second bucket from the lane at 4:48 that made the score 41-38.

The game then shifted gears and became a defensive game for both teams in the closing minutes. Wausa notched their final points on a field goal to tie the score at 41-41 with 1:11 on the clock.

The tie was broken on a free throw by Michelle Joslin, who hit her fifth shot on six attempts for the night with 25 seconds left to make the score 42-41.

Wausa controlled the ball in the final seconds of the game and put a shot up which bounced out and ended with a jump ball on the rebound with two seconds left. The ball was batted down again as time ran out on the clock.

The scoring chores were evenly divided between four of the five starters. Wendy Robson ended the game with 13 points to lead the team, followed by Michelle Joslin with 11 points. Gail Twiford with 10 points and Renee Vanderheiden with eight points.

LAUREL FINISHED the night hitting 18 of 48 shots from the floor for 38 percent and went 6 of 12 from the line for 50 percent. Against a slightly taller Wausa line-up, the Lady Bears pulled down 31 rebounds.

"We started out the game expecting them to work the ball to the inside...so we put a lot of people down there to shut them off and they just started to hit from the outside," said Hamilton. "They also reversed the ball very well and got a couple of easy shots early which got us down."

Hamilton added that his team had been prepared to deal with Wausa's height advantage. "We were trying to help each other out on covering the big girls and limit their scoring as much as possible."

"Our switch to man defense was the spark we needed to get things going and get our heads back in the game," Hamilton said.

Despite the outcome of the conference championship Saturday night, Hamilton's team will face a rematch with Wausa in Laurel on Thursday night, Feb. 7.

Blue Devils fly past Albion; shooting stops Wayne gals

A scoring surge in the third quarter padded a five point Wayne High halftime lead and boosted the Blue Devils boys team to a 62-41 romp over Albion Friday night on the road.

The victory put the Blue Devils back on the winning track following a loss to West Point last week and gave the eighth-rated Wayne team a 11-2 season record.

In girls play, Wayne saw a one point half time deficit turned into 13 points as Albion outscored the Blue Devils in the third quarter on the way to a 50-37 win.

WAYNE COACH BOB UHING said his team was able to come out and control the game from the initial buzzer, as they opened to a 17-10 first quarter lead. Albion came back in the second period to close the gap and trailed at the intermission 25-20.

Uhing's squad made some adjustments on offense during their halftime discussion and the results became clear in the first minutes of the third period when Rod Dahl broke into the clear and fired in three straight buckets. Wayne continued their scoring pace, out shooting Albion 20-7 in the quarter.

The Cardinals were able to open up their scoring somewhat in the fourth quarter, but not enough to close on the Wayne lead.

"It was a good total team effort by our kids," said Uhing. "We had a good week in practice, got mentally ready for the game, and that is the key for us."

Don Larsen and Rod Dahl combined for 38 points of Wayne's final tally. Larsen hitting six field goals and adding 9 of 12 from the line for 21 points while Dahl netted 17 points, all but one from the floor.

Larsen also led on the boards with 14 rebounds and Dahl carded eight rebounds. "We came out good in the third quarter, we made some adjustments at halftime and the kids did a good job of getting the ball to Rod, who was able to get open," Uhing said. "After the loss to West Point, the team seems to have picked up where they left off and bounced back well."

Uhing said his team is also getting closer to "pulling together four good quarters", which has been a season long goal for the team. "At this point in the season, this is where we want to be, but we still have a lot of little things to work on."

Wayne was slated to host Hartington Cedar Catholic on Saturday night, Feb. 7.

FOR THE WAYNE girls, a poor night shooting from the floor proved to be their undoing, as they hit 13 of 62 shots for 21 percent in the loss. Albion took an equal number of shots in the game but hit on 28 for 45 percent.

The Lady Blue Devils started out slow and found themselves down 1-7 after the first quarter before outscoring Albion in the second period to close the gap to 18-17 at the half.

The Cardinals turned the tide in the game's third quarter, hitting the hoops for 16 points to Wayne's 10 points to re-establish their lead and hold out for the victory.

Kecla Corbell turned in a balanced performance for Wayne, leading the team in scoring with a team high 16 points and in rebounding with 13 boards. Laura Keating had her best scoring game of the year, netting nine points, and Shelly Pick helped out on the boards with 12 rebounds.

"Our shooting percentage is what really hurt us," said Coach Dale Hochstein. "The girls came out with really positive attitudes and were ready to play."

"We played hard and got the good open shot but they just wouldn't drop for us," he added. "We got down by eight points a couple of times in the first half but managed to come back and make it a one point game at half."

Wayne will finish out their regular season at West Point, beginning with South Sioux City on Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Lewis and Clark boys action

Wakefield Trojans fall short in divisional battle with Osmond

The Wakefield Trojans were stopped short of a trip to the finals of the Clark division semifinal playoffs by Osmond on Thursday night following a 33-25 loss to the Tigers in Laurel in second round Lewis and Clark conference action.

The Trojans, 6-9 going into the game with the 10-2 Tigers, controlled the offensive tempo from the outset of the game, a factor which head Coach Clark Coco said would be important in the outcome. "We know that we would have to control the tempo of the game and keep Osmond below 40 points to be in the ball game," said Coco. "I'm not at all unhappy with the way our kids played...Osmond is a very good team."

THE FIRST QUARTER was a low scoring affair, with Wakefield spending a large amount of the time on offense, working the ball around the outside. Osmond opened scoring and went up 4-0 before Wade Nicholson scored all six of the Trojans first period points to put Wakefield ahead 6-5.

The Trojans were able to keep that lead for most of the second quarter with their slow, deliberate style of play. The only time Osmond went ahead was on a field goal to make the score 11-10 with 2:41 in the half. Senior Brian Soderberg fired in back-to-back baskets to bring Wakefield back into the lead of 14-11 before a shot by Osmond with 35 seconds left narrowed the Trojan gap to 18-13 at halftime.

The tables turned against Wakefield when Osmond broke a 19-19 tie with the front end of a one and one free throw attempt and added two straight baskets to widen their lead to 24-19 with just over a minute in the quarter.

"When you are playing in a low scoring ball game, a five point lead becomes very important," said Coco.

Osmond added a hoop off of an offensive rebound and another free throw in the closing seconds of the quarter to make the score 27-19 in their favor before Soderberg netted a jumper from the corner to bring the game back within six points at 27-21.

Wade Nicholson scored a field goal and pair of free throws in the fourth quarter to finish out Wakefield's scoring story. Osmond came up with a pair of baskets and a 2 of 6 from the line shooting percentage, which was enough to keep the game out of the reach of the Trojans.

WAKEFIELD'S SCORING came from two key sources, Wade Nicholson with 14 points and Brian Soderberg with 10 points.

Kevin Greve was 1 of 2 from the line for the Trojans' only other point.

While he would like to see the scoring statistics a little more evenly distributed, Coco said he realizes that the bulk of his scoring will have to come from Soderberg and Nicholson until the other players start shooting the ball more. "We have to get more scoring...become more offensive-minded out there on the court."

But, he added, he was pleased with the defensive effort of his entire group of players on the night. "Osmond is a good team and we played them a hard game."

The Trojans, 6-10, will have some well earned time off before their next game at home against Coleridge on Friday, Feb. 8.

sports briefs

Wakefield fresh place third

The Wakefield freshmen girls basketball team came home with third place from the Pender freshmen basketball tournament held Tuesday and Thursday, Jan. 29 and 31.

The Trojans were defeated in their opening round game by West Point High, 40-24. Leading scorer for Wakefield was Sheila Anderson with six points. Kodi Nelson and Stephanie Fischer were top rebounders with 10 and nine boards respectively.

Wakefield bounced back in the consolation round game to down Homer by a 29-14 margin. Tricia Schwanen dropped in 13 points for the Trojans, followed by Racquel Lueth with eight points. Kodi Nelson and Stephanie Fischer again led on the boards with nine and six rebounds each.

Team members include Linda Greve, Racquel Lueth, Sheila Anderson, Lana Ekberg, Tricia Schwanen, Kelly Fredrickson, Kodi Nelson, Stephanie Fischer and Anu Leulinineu. The team is coached by Arnold Cerny and Dennis Wilbur.

Wayne freshman boys fall to Norfolk

The Wayne freshman boys basketball team suffered a 59-34 defeat by the Norfolk Junior High team on Tuesday, Jan. 29.

The Blue Devils got off to a shaky start, which Norfolk took advantage of to build a 28-15 halftime lead.

Wayne was led by Nick Engelson with 14 points and seven rebounds, followed by Scott Hammer with eight points. Tom Baier with four points, Seth Andersen with four points and Rob Rabe and Jason Liska each with two points.

The freshman team was scheduled to play Hartington Cedar Catholic Saturday evening, Feb. 2 and will participate in the Randolph freshmen tournament on Feb. 7 and 9.

First round action will see the Wayne freshmen girls play Hartington Cedar Catholic on Thursday, Feb. 7 at 2:30 p.m. and the boys face Randolph later that day at 7 p.m. Final round play on Saturday will begin with the girls consolation game at 12:30 p.m., followed by the girls finals at 2 p.m., boys consolation at 3:30 p.m. and the boys finals at 5 p.m.

EVERYONE TRIES to get a hand on the ball, including Wakefield's Kevin Greve (51) and John Halverson (33).

Winside ends dual season with win

Winside's Wildcat wrestling squad put the finishing touches on an undefeated dual season with a 51-12 run-over West Point Central Catholic on Thursday night in Winside. The Wildcats were led by their senior corps in the dual, with Jeff Thies, Mike Woerdemann and Mike Jaeger, all picking up pins in their matches in the upper weight classes. Senior Chris Jorgensen won by forfeit in the heavyweight class.

"I felt that the three seniors who wrestled did a good job and clearly dominated their match," said Winside Coach Paul Sok.

Winside's Mace Kant and Doug Paulsen improved their individual season records by forfeit wins at 98 pounds and 105 pounds, respectively. Despite winning four of the remaining six weight classes, Sok felt that his wrestlers in the lower classes came out sluggish, winning one match by a pin and the other three by forfeits that had very little mat action.

Winning by a pin was Jeff Bolich at 112 pounds, while Darin Grunke, Darin Schellenberg and Chris Olson each decisioned their opponent at the end of three periods. Rod Dieckrichs and Randy Leapley each were downed by pins in their varsity matches.

In a single reserve match, John Brudigan was pinned in his match with Pat McGill at 1:30.

"West Point CC has a young program, but they wrestled tough against us," said Sok. "We also came out slow at first...we could have wrestled better."

The undefeated dual season is the first for Sok in his coaching career at Winside, and he also added that the team is currently "doing the best of any year so far." In addition to their dual record, the Wildcats have won two invitational championships and finished as the runner-up in two other tournaments by narrow margins.

Varsity results vs. West Point CC
98 pounds - Mace Kant (Winside) won by forfeit.

105 pounds - Doug Paulsen (Winside) won by forfeit.
112 pounds - Jeff Bolich (Winside) pinned John Grudigan, 2:34.
119 pounds - Darin Grunke (Winside) decisioned Tim Hagdon (WPCC), 14-13.
124 pounds - Darin Schellenberg (Winside) decisioned Rob Michaelis (WPCC), 5-2.
132 pounds - Chris Olson (Winside) decisioned Rich Schmader (WPCC), 5-0.
138 pounds - Tim Rolf (WPCC) pinned Rod Dieckrichs (Winside), 1:16.
145 pounds - Brian Guenther (WPCC) pinned Randy Leapley (Winside), 3:44.
155 pounds - Mike Jaeger (Winside) pinned Dennis Peatrowsky (WPCC), 2:42.
167 pounds - Mike Woerdemann (Winside) pinned Chad Kaitz (WPCC), 2:41.
185 pounds - Jeff Thies (Winside) pinned Duane Theoner (WPCC), 3:35.
Heavyweight - Chris Jorgensen (Winside) won by forfeit.

WSC Wildcats, Lady Cats fall to Southern

In their third full weekend of Central States Intercollegiate Conference action, the Wayne State College Wildcats and Lady Wildcats were handed losses by Missouri Southern State College in Joplin, Mo. on Friday evening.

The Wildcats fell to the MSSC Lions by a 94-84 margin, while their counterparts were downed by the nationally-ranked Lady Lions 71-38.

IN THE MEN'S game, Missouri Southern nailed 21 of 34 shots in the first half to open an early lead over the Wildcats. WSC closed the margin to within two points at 20:18, but were never able to gain the lead in the half and went into the locker room down at the half 50-42.

Southern came out scoring at the start of the second half and moved to a 56-44 lead with 18:27 left. Led by the 26 point performances of starters Tracy Penn and Calvin Sprue, WSC came back to make it a two point game at 8:41, 73-71, before MSSC made some defensive changes and forced the Cats to shoot from the outside and ended their scoring comeback.

Along with Penn and Sprue, Ed Heritage dropped in 16 points to hit double figures for WSC. On the boards, Calvin Sprue pulled in 10 boards, assisted by Tracy Penn with eight rebounds.

From the floor, WSC was 35 of 78 for 45 percent, while the Lions scorched the nets with 24 of 58 shots for 39 percent. In the free throw department, WSC was 16 of 18 for 89 percent and Southern hit 26 of 33 shots for 79 percent.

WSC dropped to 9-10 overall and 2-5 in the CSIC. The Lions went to 7-12 on the season with the win, and a 3-4 mark in the conference.

THE LADY WILDCATS fell prey to a powerful Southern Lady Lions team enroute to their 71-38 loss. MSSC was rated eighth in the latest NAIA women's basketball rankings.

Wayne State fell behind in the game early, by as many as 18 points at one time, but was able to pull to within 10 points at halftime following two baskets and a pair of free throws by senior Barb Wragge to bring the score from 32-16 to 32-22.

The Lady Wildcats had trouble moving the ball in the second half, especially on the inside, and were limited to just 16 points in the final 20 minutes.

Barb Wragge led WSC's scoring with 10 points, followed by Ren Gribble who came off the bench for eight points; and Deb Nygren and Robins Wells, each with six points.

Junior Shari Krohn hit the boards for eight rebounds, and Wragge added to the team total with seven boards.

As a team, WSC hit 15 of 57 shots for 26 percent, but were perfect at the line, connecting on 8 of 8 attempts.

The Lady Cats fell to 9-11 overall and 1-6 in the conference. MSSC went to 16-1 on the season and 5-1 in the CSIC.

Both WSC teams were scheduled to compete in a conference doubleheader with Pittsburg State University in Pittsburg, Kan. on Saturday evening, Feb.

CSIC opponents among nation's top

A total of four Central States Intercollegiate Conference opponents are listed among the top 20 men's and women's teams in the latest polls released by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics on Jan. 28.

The Fort Hays State Tigers, 17-2 and the pre-season favorite to win the NAIA, jumped from fifth place to second place following a major shake-up among the top five rated teams. Washburn University, with an 18-3 mark, dropped down from third to fifth place, while Emporia State tumbled from a ninth place tie to fourth after being beaten by CSIC foe Pittsburg State.

The Kearney State College Anielopes were the only other WSC opponent to receive votes for ranking among the Top 20.

In the women's ratings, the 14-1 Missouri Southern Lady Lions are the only CSIC team among the top teams, sitting in eighth place for the second straight week.

The Lady Tigers of Fort Hays State, who were defeated by WSC last weekend, also - received votes in the week's balloting.

SHOP LOCALLY!

Cut down on unnecessary mileage and save on gasoline

With the cost of gasoline increasing by a few cents per gallon nearly everyday, you can't afford to waste it. Who can. So why shop in another town when local merchants can supply you with everything you need — all conveniently close to where you live. From clothes, to groceries, to vacation supplies, smart shoppers know that shopping locally is the very best way to go.

When you shop locally, everyone benefits. It's more convenient so you save gas and time. You get friendly, knowledgeable service because local merchants "know" you and appreciate your business. They depend on you to keep their stores going strong. And some of what you spend goes back into the community in the form of taxes and charitable contributions paid by the merchants.
