More salary expense anticipated

City workers get overtime

by Chuck Hackenmiller

A February ruling by the United States Supreme Court will result in governmental bodies contributing more in employee wages.

City Administrator Phil Kloster and City Attorney Ken Swartz attended a meeting recently which reviewed the legal ramifications of a Feb. 16 ruling by the Supreme Court which says that governmental body employees are now covered under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

During past years, the city of Wayne has been exempt from paying overtime wages. "The ruling is that we and other government entities are now required by law to pay overtime over a 40 hour week for a regular employee. There is also a time element written in there for the police department and fire department," Kloster said.

Overtime pay is time and a half over 40 hours.

Kloster said the city could end up paying interest and a penalty for non-compliance of the rules. "There is no escaping it. It is now mandated," he said.

The city, he said, will likely be spending more money on wages as a result of the ruling. Most of the department heads or those who have wages generated through general tax supported areas will be affected by the Supreme Court decision.

"One of our sister cities close by said the new ruling would roughly cost them about $40,000," said Mayor Wayne Marsh. He believed the ruling would cost the city of Wayne an increase, but not as substantial as $40,000.

In addition to the payment of overtime wages, changes will be made by the city in employee wage payment schedule. "Instead of a semi-monthly payroll, it will be a bi-weekly payroll," Kloster said.

The first paychecks for city employees will be Friday, May 10 for work period that will end at midnight on Sunday, May 3, according to Kloster's announcement of the new ruling.

TWO PUBLIC hearings pertaining to establishing street improvement districts were also conducted Tuesday evening by the city council.

An initial public hearing took place on establishing a street improvement district for the Providence Road Project — a road construction project that would bring Providence Road southward to Highway 35, down through what is known as Sunnyview.

By conducting the Providence

Road public hearing Tuesday evening, the city can now prepare the necessary documents and commence with the creation of the district. A second public hearing on the Providence Road project will be scheduled.

The second public hearing for the street improvement district of 7th Street and North Main Street was conducted and approved by the city council.

Street Improvement District 85-1, which will result in the reconstruction of 7th Street and North Main Street in Wayne, will likely be a general obligation project, Kloster said.

He said it entails rebuilding the road base between the existing curb and gutter. These items will be replaced where necessary. Replacement of storm and sanitary sewer will also be figured into the project if the lines happen to collapse, he added.

There will be a major draining project in the Pamida area, he said, and it is anticipated that a turning lane will be installed in the high school area.

The city council also passed a resolution on an approval of the State of Nebraska Highway Department's agreement regarding the street improvement project on 7th Street and North Main.

Peoples lowers rates

Peoples Natural Gas Company customers in the Wayne area will be receiving a decrease in natural gas rates.

According to Tim Connealy, District Manager for Peoples, Northern Natural Gas Co. has announced it will be filing for a rate decrease which would reduce the cost of the gas that Peoples buys to serve the Wayne area.

Connealy said the decrease will mean an annual savings of approximately $24 for the typical residential heating customer in the Wayne area.

Although the effective date of the decrease is not known, customers will be notified by a message on their bills when it is effective.

"We are happy to be able to pass this rate decrease on to our customers," Connealy said. "It is further evidence that rates are stabilizing and natural gas will continue to be the best energy value.

Peoples provides retail natural gas service to over 1700 residential, commercial, and industrial customers in the Wayne area.

Pet show scheduled May 11

Local veterinarians are planning an all-pet show in observance of National Pet Week, May 5-11. Dr. J.J. Liska said the show, open to anyone with pets, will be held Saturday, May 11 at 2 p.m. at Wayne Veterinary Clinic, located alongside Highway 35 east of Wayne.

"We want everyone to bring their pets," said Liska. "Whether they be fish, rabbits, cats, dogs, ducks or horses."

There will be door prizes, and ribbons will be awarded to participants. No pre-registration is required.

Helping out with the show will be Kathy Luf and her Wayne Wrangler's 4-H Club.

Weather permitting, there also will be free horse and wagon rides for the youngsters, provided by Mel Larsen of Wakefield.

DURING NATIONAL Pet Week, Liska said veterinarians everywhere salute the millions of Americans who care about animals and who share their concern about the well-being of animals.

Recent research confirms that pets enrich the lives of their owners. Senior citizens value the companionship of animals, children learn responsibility from caring for their pets, and many people even exercise more regularly because their pets need exercise too.

Research also shows how physically and mentally impaired children and adults benefit from the therapeutic effect of contact with animals.

BECAUSE PETS enrich the lives of their owners and others; Liska said each owner must recognize his or her responsibility to provide food, shelter and health care, and to obey local animal control ordinances.

Endorses issuance to Timpfe, Inc.

Council approves bond resolution

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Wayne's City Council unanimously approved a resolution calling for the issuance of "not to exceed $10 million" in industrial revenue bonds to Timpfe, Inc.

The passage of the resolution was just one of several actions concerning Timpfe, Inc. which took place during Tuesday evening's regular council meeting.

"The city will issue the bond, but the entity Timpfe, Inc. will have its name on the bond issue. The city does not put its credit rating on it. They simply endorse it," said Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster.

Timpfe, Inc. plans on building a refrigerated semi-trailer manufacturing plant in Wayne, just north of Heritage Homes. Timpfe, Inc.'s arrival in Wayne will result in creating additional job opportunities for up to 200 people initially.

"Paperwork for the bonding issue, once completed by the city, must be sent to the county commissioners for their blessings," Kloster told the council.

Gerald Pospisil and Bob Nissen, Wayne County commissioners, were present during Tuesday's council meeting. Commissioner Chairman Merlin Beiermann was out of the state to attend a funeral.

"The federal government requires a resolution that says the county has to approve what the city council does tonight," Kloster said.

AN ATTAINABLE goal, Kloster said, would be to complete all the contractual obligations with Timpfe, Inc. by the end of this week. "This has been a slicker and a smoother transition than we anticipated," he said.

Councilman Darrel Heier introduced the resolution for the issuance of industrial revenue bonds for Timpfe, Inc. and his motion was approved unanimously by the council. Councilman Keith Mosley was not present at Tuesday evening's meeting.

"Another resolution passed by the city, which also must gain approval by the county commissioners, is a city county Memorandum of Understanding."

This is the first time in a long time, Kloster said, that the city is going to be working collectively with the county on a particular project — that being the bringing about of improvements and extras as part of the package presented to Timpfe.

"This [memorandum] sets the rules we are going to play by," Kloster said. The memorandum resolution was prepared by Wayne County Attorney Bob Ens.

According to the resolution, the expenses incurred by the city and county include site acquisition and preparation, utilities, parking, storm sewer, roads and engineer. The city of Wayne had obtained a commitment for community development block grant funds (for infrastructure improvement) of $500,000 for the project.

KLOSTER SAID both the city and county would make a list of what amount of dollars each entity has put into the project. The two separate amounts will be totaled and will be rationed as to what percentage each entity will get out of the $500,000 community development block grant.

Commissioner Pospisil wanted it slated in the resolution that the county would bear no cost for the storm sewer and the curb and gutter and that the costs should be broken down instead of lumped together.

Kloster didn't see any problem in placing those items in the resolution. "There's nothing hidden in this resolution," Kloster said. "This hopefully will keep everything above the table and eliminate the possibility of anything hidden from happening."

Kloster estimated the total site preparation project costs will amount to an estimated $1.2 million. Source of that funding will be derived basically from the $500,000 block grant and in-kind services, meaning that both the city and county will be using their own equipment and manpower and payroll which, in value, adds up to the remaining balance of the project.

Gary Van Meter of Mines Jewelry and Jack Hausmann of Coast to Coast Hardware presented the city council with brass plated shovels to be used when Timpfe, Inc. breaks ground at the manufacturing plant site.

One of the shovels has an inscription saying: "Dedicated to all who have worked for industrial development." The other has written on it: "Wayne will work for you."

The shovels were accepted by Mayor Wayne Marsh.

At the start of Tuesday's regular meeting, Marsh read a letter from Norfolk city administrators officials congratulating Wayne city officials for bringing Timpfe, Inc. to the area. Norfolk was one of the communities considered, but Norfolk city representatives "feel fortunate to have the company in this area."

Keeping Nigeria in the wheat market

Nigerian wheat purchase
I have arranged to meet with a Nigerian trade delegation to work out problems in the sale of wheat to that country, Nigeria, which is the seventh largest purchaser of U.S. wheat, imported 1.5 million metric tons of U.S. wheat in 1984 and 1.3 million metric tons in 1983.

Since 1983, Nigeria has not qualified for the Export Credit Guarantee Program, which provides credit guarantees for foreign purchases of U.S. commodities. That program is designed to expand U.S. agricultural exports by stimulating U.S. bank financing of foreign purchases on credit terms. Under the program, a Commodity Credit Corporation guarantee will cover most of the amount owed to the U.S. bank in case the foreign buyer's bank fails. The Nigerians are upset about their failure to qualify for this program, and they have indicated that they may not make the full purchase.

Nigeria is one of our major markets for wheat and it is imperative that we hang on to it. The amount of wheat exported to Nigeria in marketing year 1983-84 equaled 71 percent of the total amount of wheat produced in Nebraska during that year.

In fiscal year 1985, export value may recede to $24.5 billion, nine percent below last year. I intend to redouble my efforts to promote the export of our agricultural products. I will use my position on the House Foreign Affairs Committee's Trade Subcommittee and on the Banking Committee to work out these export problems wherever possible.

"Creeping Capitalism"
I am cosponsoring a bill that would increase the percentage of competitive contracts bid by the Department of Defense (DOD) by five percent per year until 70 percent is reached. The benefits of this competitive approach to contract awards can be numerous. Competition will, above all, reduce costs and add to the value of each defense dollar we spend.

In addition, competition, when put into practice, has in the past spawned some of the most creative and innovative achievements of our nation's defense industry. This measure should increase economy and efficiency in the way the Pentagon buys its weapons and help insure that every tax dollar spent by the Pentagon gets us a dollar's worth of defense.

Old Postal Savings
Depositors or their heirs who want to claim old postal savings now have three months to do so, according to the Postal Savings Statute of Limitations Act enacted last summer which gave depositors one year to file claims. Any remaining claims must be submitted to the Department of Treasury's Financial Management Service (formerly Bureau of Government Financial Operations) by July 13, 1985.

The Postal Savings System was established in 1911. Over half a million accounts worth $65.1 million were transferred to the Treasury agency for liquidation on July 1, 1967. By September 30, 1984, over 90 percent of the total funds invested had been paid to claimants, although 80 percent of the accounts remained unpaid.

Depositors or heirs who wish to file claims should send the Postal Savings certificate or the depositor's name, account number, and name, city, and state of the post office where the account was held to the following address:

Culvert problem puzzling

Rainy conditions in the past week has led to the demise of a road construction project which had been completed last year.

The cost of replacing or repairing the box culverts and/or road, located a mile north and about 1/2 mile east of Wayne, is unknown by county officials at this time.

It was learned that County Commissioner Merlin Beermann had obtained pre-cast box culverts for the construction project, done primarily to save the county the cost of casting the culverts at the construction site.

While standing in the rain near the wash-out section of the east-west road near the culverts, it was noticed that the flow of the stream as it came down from a southern field entered the culverts at an angle. To the north of the culvert, the water flowed out of the culverts in a straight stream before meandering through ag land to the north.

But we are not engineers and we can't pinpoint the road deterioration on the flow of the stream. There are other factors which might have had a bearing on the road break-up.

This spring there have been a number of county (and city) roads, both hard-surfaced and graveled, that have undergone substantial deterioration. That's hard to believe since snowfall this winter was below normal.

But it is happening. Just ask the people in Dixon who recently saw their entire Main Street turn into an obstacle course.

We can appreciate the county's efforts and give them credit in cutting down the costs of bridge or culvert replacement at a savings to taxpayers. Yet we also realize the job must be done right or else it could end up costing more for the project (and to the taxpayers) than anticipated.

Maybe this is freakish. It could never happen again in 100 years. We could shrug it off as just a natural occurrence.

But having it happen to a road improvement project that was completed just last year, we have to wonder.

Financing of schools, education

Much of this week's debate in the Legislature was given over to discussion of revenue bills. Often, when revenue measures come up, the talk is about what the distribution between taxes will look like, not just the level of those taxes. In other words, it's how the pie will be sliced, not the size of the pie. That comes later.

The discussion about the distribution of tax collected from sales, income, and property is important because different people tend to bear differing amounts of the tax burden in these categories. Farm families tend to pay more in property tax and less in the income tax area. This

Kerrey to call special session

by Melvin Paul
Overcoming severe reservations about the school financing provisions of the bill, Governor Bob Kerrey last week signed LB 662, the bill mandating consolidation of the state's 666 smallest school districts with larger districts.

At a late evening press conference last Wednesday, just two and a half hours before the constitutional deadline for action on the bill, Kerrey announced his signing of the bill. He told reporters that he had asked state senators to pass subsequent legislation this session stripping from the new law the requirement for a one-percent point increase in the state sales tax rate to finance additional state aid to education.

If left in the law, the increase would take effect in 1987. Lawmakers included the tax increase in the bill as a source of partial funding for the requirement that public schools limit their reliance on the local property tax to no more than 45 percent of their support.

Kerrey said he will also call a special session of the Legislature in late August or early September to work out details of the merger process and other education issues.

Kerrey said he signed the bill as a vehicle achieving tax equity across district lines. Some of these districts enjoy much lower property tax levies than neighboring kindergartens through 12th grade districts.

The fuel tax exemption for gasoline will be phased out under a bill passed last week by the Legislature.

Lawmakers gave 40-a final passage to LB 346, a bill introduced by Senator Loran Schmit of Bellwood and Vard Johnson of Omaha.

On July 1, the bill calls for a reduction to three cents from five cents the exemption on each gallon of gasoline purchased at the pump. Effective in 1993, the exemption would be eliminated.

By reducing the exemption for gasoline, officials say, the overall state fuel tax on gasoline and diesel fuel is expected to be reduced by about 0.2 cents a gallon. The state fuel tax this quarter is 14.5 cents a gallon.

Despite the passage of LB 346, however, motorists face the possibility of an overall increase in their fuel tax because of other pending action by the 1985 Legislature.

The proposed state Department of Roads construction and repair budget and a pending bill to increase the fuel tax for city and county road maintenance, LB 112, could result in a state fuel tax of about 17 cents a gallon beginning on July 1.

Governor Kerrey has served notice that he intends to resist legislator's demands that a proposed state cigarette tax increase be used for the general support of government rather than be earmarked for specific state programs.

Earmarking has been done before, Kerrey said. "It's reasonable, and I'm going to fight for it."

Committee Chairman Jerome Warner of Waverly and Revenue Committee Chairman Vard Johnson of Omaha have filed an amendment with the Clerk of the Legislature that would strip the earmarking provisions from LB 110; the bill that would create Kerrey's proposed Nebraska Future Fund.

The bill calls for a conditional increase in the state cigarette tax to offset a scheduled decrease in the federal cigarette tax. Unless Congress decides to reverse its earlier decision in the next few months, the federal cigarette tax will decrease by eight-cents-a-pack on Oct. 1. LB 190 would match the federal tax decrease penny-for-penny with a state tax increase.

Further, Kerrey's bill would divide estimated annual revenue of $13 million equally among the state's soil and water conservation fund, a seven-year-old unfunded scholarship program and a yet-to-be-defined economic development program.

Lawmakers have already debated the issue twice this session, first killing the bill and then reviving with the understanding that any tax money would go to the general support of government rather than the programs cited by Kerrey. Kerrey, however, said he'll work to assure that earmarking remains part of the bill when it is next debated.

tends to be reversed in the cities and towns. Obviously the intent is to distribute the tax burden and equally as possible so that everyone pays only their fair share. The task is not easy.

The distribution of taxation was part of the question in one of this week's most-watched bills, LB 662, which may make significant changes in the structure of our children's educational system. The bill was passed by the Legislature last week and was signed by Governor Kerrey last Wednesday.

The commitment to lowering property taxes has been a spotlighted part of LB 662 since its introduction. In addition to equalizing the collection of the tax, many senators worked to limit the amount of school operating funds that property taxes could supply. Prior to his signing, the Governor expressed misgivings about the funding restrictions and has announced he will call a special session of the Legislature in August to examine the need to further realign school financing in Nebraska.

The unicameral will not get into the session with an empty state, however. Under LB 662 we will as of 1987 have a limit of 45% on property tax as a source of school funds. Also provided for is a one cent increase in the state sales tax. That's intended to supply an increase in state aid to school; a further decrease in the property taxes that you'll have to pay to fund education obligations. Changes will come from that starting point.

The one thing that we cannot allow to happen as a result of finagling with the school tax support structure is a weakening of the system that provides our youth with a quality, locally based education. We must maintain, and dismantle the hybrid of schools that fulfill the varying needs of our children in the state.

In continuing strong localized control of all sorts of schools, we can also learn and grow from observing the best in the classrooms across our counties. Growth and development is what we expect of our children as a result of their educational experience. As we continue to work our way through this difficult issue, we can ask no less of ourselves.

Absence of trees

Several years ago an old farmer died. His heirs sold his farm to a banker in West Point. That fall the new owner hired a bulldozer to push all the trees and buildings into a pile to be burned.

The next spring I was working in the field just across the fence from the old building site. As I slowed up to turn at the end of the field I looked up and there, circling above the area that had been their summer home, were perhaps 75 to 100 swallows. They had come home that day but there was no home left. I wondered how that landowner would feel if he came home from a trip to the sunny south and found that someone had dozed his house into a pile while he was gone.

There has been a campaign in Nebraska this spring encouraging people to plant trees. Why not a campaign to save the trees that are already established? These absentee landowners and farm managers who can't see the birds and other wildlife because of the dollar signs in front of their eyes need a little education in that area.

Can friends be good medicine?

With increasing high costs of health care, we are all searching for ways to cut costs and stay well. According to new medical research, excessive stress in our lives is at the root of 50 to 80 percent of all illness.

If we can find ways to reduce the stress in our lives, we can not only help cut down those medical costs, but we can actually prevent many illnesses from occurring in the first place.

New medical research shows that people who maintain their personal relationships, especially in time of crisis and change, have less mental and physical illness than people who go it alone. Friends, neighbors and families can assist you in coping with excessive stress that causes illness.

Most of us know about the harmful effects that smoking, drinking too much and eating poorly have on our health. Most of us don't know, though, that our personal relationships are also an important health factor. Recent medical research shows that close and supportive ties with others keeps us healthier, both physically and mentally.

Consider the results of several studies: people who isolate themselves from others have two to three times the risk of early (premature) death; terminal cancer strikes isolated people more often than it does those who are connected; the rates of mental hospitalization are five to ten times greater for separated, divorced and widowed persons than for married people; and pregnant women under stress and without supportive relationships have three times the number of complications compared to pregnant women with close ties who are equally stressed.

Friends don't come for free. It takes a lot of work to make new friends or maintain and nurture the ones we already have. May is Mental Health Month, which means that your local Community Mental Health Center is using this opportunity to remind us that friends can be good medicine.

Lady Cats tripped up in conference tourney

Hopes of a CSIC softball championship eluded the nationally-ranked Wayne State Lady Wildcat softball team over the past weekend as they fell in their opening two games of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference tournament on Friday in Topeka, Kan.

Rain delayed scheduled games with Dana College in Blair that were scheduled for Tuesday, April 30, so the next action for WSC will be the NAIA District 11 tournament in Omaha tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday, May 3 and 4. The Lady Cats, top-seeded in the event, were slated to face eighth-seed Doane in the opening game at 10:30 a.m. Friday morning. A complete tournament bracket is listed elsewhere on the sports pages.

IN THE OPENING game of the CSIC tournament, second-seeded Wayne State was blanked by Nebraska foe Kearney State in a 5-0 ballgame on Friday morning.

The Lady Freds scored two of their runs in the third inning and added three more in the bottom of the fifth inning to earn the win in the double elimination tourney. KSC logged seven hits in the game, while the Lady Wildcats cracked out five base hits in the loss.

Senior Laurie Owens pitched in the loss, allowing seven singles while giving up no walks and striking out six KSC batters.

WAYNE STATE wasn't able to bounce back in their second game later that day, as Emporia State came up with a seven run third inning enroute to a 12-9 five inning win.

The Lady Hornets started out the game with two runs in the bottom of the first inning before WSC tied the score at 2-2 in the top of the third. Emporia State then took advantage of WSC fielding errors to bring seven runs across the plate, five of those coming with two outs in the inning. ESU also logged a double and single and placed a pair of runners on base with walks.

In the bottom of the fourth Emporia State expanded their lead to 12-2 with two runs. The Lady Wildcats' Shelle Tomaszewicz came across for WSC in the top of the fifth inning to give WSC their final run after reaching base on a single.

Guenther rapped out a triple for WSC's only extra base hit of the game. The Lady Wildcats had a total of five hits in the game.

Pitcher Mary Lingelbach took the loss for Wayne State, giving up 12 runs on eight hits and giving up five walks.

"OFFENSIVELY, WE didn't expect to be as sharp defensively as they are capable of." "We had a lot of mental errors that shouldn't be happening at this point in the season."

Strate also said that her team was not as sharp defensively as they are capable of. "We had a lot of mental errors that shouldn't be happening at this point in the season."

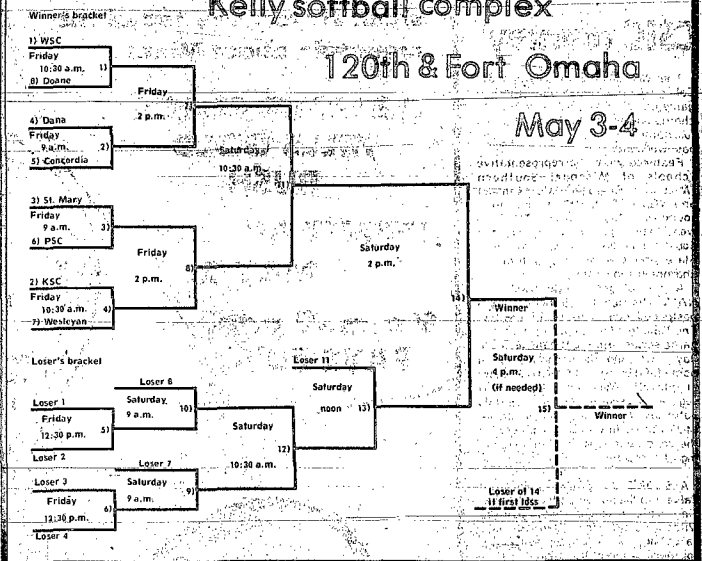

Looking towards the NAIA tournament this weekend, Strate feels that her team will have to play up to its best potential in order to come out as a winner. "Kearney State and St. Mary's of Omaha are the two toughest teams in the district...we'll have to play our best in order to win."

Wildcats come close in CSIC tourney

The 1985 edition of the Wayne State College baseball team came within a game of a Central States conference championship at the annual CSIC tournament in Joplin, Mo. over the past weekend.
 Featured were the representative schools of Missouri Southern (Missouri), Emporia State (Kansas) and Wayne State (Nebraska) in a round-robin style tourney. The Cats won their opening game against Southern before losing to Emporia State and drawing a bye into the championship game.
 A pair of games scheduled with NAIA District foe Bellevue were postponed due to rain on Tuesday. The Cats lost the opener in the three game series with the Bruins on Monday, 11-7, and their chance for a home field berth in the NAIA District 11 playoffs May 9-11. Their next regular season action will be this Saturday, May 4 when they take a 24-21 record into a doubleheader on the road against Briar Cliff beginning at 1:30 p.m.

A SCORE BY pinch-runner Paul Calvert in the bottom of the eighth inning broke a tie score and gave the Wildcats a 9-8 win in their opening game against host team Missouri Southern in the CSIC tournament.

Each team scored a single run in the fifth inning to begin the tie battle before WSC scored five runs in the seventh inning to open up a 7-2 lead. Southern answered back with a five run spree in the top of the eighth to knot the score. Third baseman Mike Hoflar drew a walk and was placed on base by Calvert, who stole second base and later scored on a single by senior Kurt Brasamie.

The game's hitting was led by Pete Miller, 2-5, with two RBI's and Jeff Strain, 2-3 with two RBI's. Relief pitcher Jose Ruiz finished out the last inning and a third to earn credit for the win, replacing Jeff Rothrock.

The Wildcats eight-game winning streak was snapped in their second game of the tourney by the Hornets of Emporia State in a 11-5 ball game. ESU scored seven runs in the bottom of the first inning, a margin that proved to be too large for the Cats to overcome.

Pitcher Dave Lang went two-thirds of an inning before being relieved by Dennis Vollmer who finished out the game on the mound.

AFTER DRAWING a bye into the tournament finals after each team finished with a 1-1 record, Wayne State gave opponent Emporia State a much tougher time in the championship contest, falling by a 4-2 margin.
 The game was tied at 2-2 going into the final inning when Emporia score a pair of runs on two hits and two walks. They ended the game with six hits, while the Cats had three hits.
 Mark Prieznitz handled the pitching chores for the full nine innings.

Provide service to community

Area groups join during Mental Health Month

The Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center (NNCMHC) has joined the Wayne Satellite Mental Health Clinic in observing May as Mental Health Month.

Along with other community mental health centers, the NNCMHC is using the theme "Community Care for a Caring Community" to emphasize its unique role in the mental health care system.

"The theme reiterates our commitment to providing services in a community setting and recognizes the community's support for meeting the mental health needs of its citizens," said NNCMHC director Dr. Richard Sanders.

"Through their community mental health center, residents of Wayne have access locally to services designed to promote mental wellness and treat a variety of mental health related problems," Sanders said.

"The Wayne Satellite Mental Health Clinic is part of a nationwide system of agencies delivering care at the local level," he said.

"There are, however, still far too many people who are not receiving the care they need. The Council for Understanding Mental Illnesses estimates that some 19 million Americans with mental health related problems do not seek any kind of counseling, treatment or other mental health services," he added.

"Increased awareness of mental illness and mental health care can assist in breaking down some of this reluctance to request help. Community mental health centers offer prevention and education programs which contribute to public understanding and encourage people to take advantage of the services they need," he said.

"THERE IS a wide range of mental health resources in this area, and during Mental Health Month, we urge everyone to familiarize themselves with all the available service."

Mental health services are available to the Wayne community through the Wayne Satellite Clinic located at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Appointments are available on the first and third Thursday of every month. To make an appointment, call the church office at 375-2899 or Tri-County Guidance Center in South Sioux City at 494-3337.

The Tri-County Guidance Center is one branch of the NNCMHC, which serves all of northeast Nebraska. Other branch offices are located in Columbus and Ainsworth, with the central office in Norfolk.

The Norfolk branch of the NNCMHC has recently adopted the name of "Monroe Mental Health Center."

THE WAYNE Satellite Clinic operates with staff from the Tri-County Guidance Center in South Sioux City.

Services available include: individual therapy, marital and family counseling, and psychological evaluation and consultation.

Also available to the residents of Wayne County are drug and alcohol counseling services.

Every Wednesday, a counselor who is certified by the Nebraska Division on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, provides evaluation, education and counseling services at the Wayne State College Counseling Center.

For an appointment, call 375-2200, extension 321. This service is provided to the community by the Tri-County Guidance Clinic and is not limited to Wayne State College students.

The NNCMHC also operates a 24-hour toll-free number to handle mental health emergencies at 1-800-672-8323.

Stuthman receives special recognition

The Nebraska Department of Social Services of Wayne observed National Volunteer Week April 22-28. During this week recognition was given to Ms. Christine Stuthman who has served as a volunteer in the Wayne Office since August 1984. She was one of nine persons to be nominated for the 1985 Outstanding Volunteer for the Northeast District.

Christine, a Wayne State College graduate, has put in over 280 volunteer hours in the Wayne office. She types, files, acts as receptionist and does many more tasks a clerical person would do in an office. She also assists with special commodity distributions. She has been a great help and is very much appreciated by the staff.

Since the Volunteer Services Program started in the local Social Service Offices about a year ago, more than 28,000 hours of time have been donated to the Department of Social Services by volunteers across the state. During any given month, the Department has some 300-500 volunteers.

Wayne has had a total of 19 volunteers since the program's beginning. Volunteers provide support in the distribution of food commodities, office assistance and one-to-one client support.

Kill velvetleaf in reduced-tillage corn.

Reduced-tillage systems for corn mean tougher weed problems, so you need the herbicide with more control. You need Banvel® herbicide. Use one pint of Banvel when corn is spike-to-five, and you'll get effective control until corn canopies. Banvel knocks out even your toughest weeds, like velvetleaf, as well as cocklebur, sunflower, and Pennsylvania smartweed. This year, see your agrichem supplier to get the herbicide that can handle the tough broadleaf weeds in reduced-tillage corn: Banvel herbicide.

WINSIDE OLD SETTLERS

compiled by Lee Koch

The Early Years 1901-1918

The earliest forms of entertainment for the Old Settlers Picnic were probably for the most part, unorganized, spontaneous affairs. The craying for patriotic speeches was covered by Fourth of July orators in Wayne and Hoskins while the cultural necessities were covered by Chautauques in Winside and Carroll. Opera houses in four Wayne County towns provided everything from pony shows to The Mikado; Shakespearean plays by local companies along with evangelists and lecturers from the eastern centers of learning. Old Settlers would be opened by a locally prominent business leader, political figure or educator. The picnic, which took place on the Courthouse lawn, had Miss Charlotte White as the speaker with Professor M.S. Davies in charge of music. Local groups such as quartets and bands provided concerts for the listening pleasure of the celebrants while men and boys played one-on-one cat, workup or some variation of baseball. Boys being boys and men being men, there certainly had to be competition — whether organized or not with foot races, horse races, wrestling or other forms of athletics with the intent of showing off to impress the young ladies in attendance.

DR. H.G. Leisenring, owner of the first automobile in Wayne, made his impression at the Old Settlers Picnic at the John Grimmsley farm by taking the local ladies for short rides in his brilliant red one seater at the unheard of speed of 12 to 15 miles an hour.

One young lady was overheard to remark that she was afraid to open her mouth because "we went so fast."

He also reportedly did a good job of scaring the horses and cattle along the routes he followed. Since the automobile was just coming in vogue at this time, it is not beyond reason to assume that there may have been contests involving the relative merits of cars.

One of the favorite past times of these "one lungers" was apparently displaying the power of the machine on a steep hill about a mile east of Carroll. The ability to make it to the top of the hill in high gear proved the vehicle's superiority.

The young ladies were not to be denied. Traveling the grueling distance between Hoskins and Wayne or Carroll and Winside for the Old Settlers Picnic, in dusty wagons or buggies or in a soot belching train required clothing which held up under the rigors of such travel.

You can bet your bottom dollar the first thing these young ladies took care of, either before or shortly after arriving at the picnic grounds, was a change of finery consisting of finery consisting of colorful bonnets, high necked puffed shoulders and ground length dresses with high loped shoes.

They, too, had the burden of putting their best foot forward as undoubtedly many matches of years standing probably started at these picnics.

SCOUTS PLANT TREE

The Wakefield Cub Scouts and the Junior Girl Scouts have planted trees at the Wakefield city park. The project is the result of participation in the Midland Youth Tree Planting program, sponsored by the Ontario World Herald and the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. Youth groups were offered up to 30 trees to plant and maintain. The Wakefield scouts received 23 trees including red and white oak, Kentucky coffee tree, Canada cherry and shagbark hickory. The seedlings are from 6-12 inches tall. The trees were planted April 20 between the two ball fields toward the east edge of the park. The scouts were assisted by Lowell Johnson, a member of the Wakefield fire board, their leaders, Lynda Turley, scout mother, and Sue Sandahl, junior scouts, and by some of the scout's parents.

The Wakefield Health Care Center is pleased to have used to honor volunteer workers at the Wakefield Health Care Center on April 17. John Vikeh, administrator, welcomed visitors and volunteers and expressed thanks for their efforts. Both retail and wholesale customers

NPPD announces reduction

Customers of the Nebraska Power District (NPPD)—both the 108,000 served directly at retail and the 70,000 equipmented wholesale customers—will see a reduction in their electric bills. The reduction in what they pay for power and energy from NPPD. Lower than anticipated fuel costs for generation as well as revenue from the sale of surplus energy to other utilities will benefit NPPD customers in lower electricity costs.

The new PCA credit has been set to return to customers approximately $4.4 million in surplus revenue in the PCA account. An agreement between NPPD and its wholesale customers requires an adjustment in the PCA factor when the PCA account has a surplus or deficit of $4 million. The PCA factor, primarily reflects changes in the fuel and other power production costs not anticipated when the rates are set.

Wholesale customers will see a reduction in billings of 2.3 percent. Residential customers served directly at retail by NPPD using 750 kilowatt-hours per month will realize a reduction of 1 percent or about 42 cents a month on electric billings. Total electric residential customers served at retail, consuming 3,000 kilowatt-hours per month will see a 2.3 percent or a $2.49 per month reduction in billings.
