Storm, Kirsch dispute contracts

Nurses file petition against ESU 1

By LaVon Anderson

The board of directors of Educational Service Unit 1 finds itself in the throes of a continuing dispute over nursing contracts for the 1985-86 school year.

During a meeting Tuesday night at headquarters in Wakefield, board members learned that ESU 1 nurses Bonnie Storm and Pauline Kirsch of South Sioux City have filed a petition in district court challenging the board's jurisdiction over their contracts for 1985-86.

Board members met at length in executive session Tuesday night to discuss the action taken by Storm and Kirsch.

Upon reconvening, the board voted unanimously to instruct its attorneys, Domina and Gerrard of Norfolk, to "proceed with necessary legal action as outlined concerning Bonnie Storm and Pauline Kirsch."

THE DEBATE stems from action taken by the board during its April meeting.

In April, board members approved a motion to offer amended contracts to all ESU 1 nurses for the 1985-86 school year with an approximate 10 percent reduction in services from 1984-85.

The reduction in services was the result of a March 12 meeting at which board members voted to fund the ESU 1 nursing services program at a level of $205,000 for 1985-86 — down approximately 10 percent from the 1984-85 budget of $227,525.

IN MAY, STORM requested an employee hearing with the board regarding her amended contract. Storm's grievance concerned the reduction of nursing contracts from 185 working days during the 1984-85 school year to 166 days during 1985-86.

In addition, her attorney raised the issue that the ESU 1 board of directors did not have jurisdiction to conduct a hearing because Storm was not sufficiently notified of the proposed contract change 90 days before the close of the contract period, as required by law.

Therefore, according to Storm's attorney, the amendments as stated in the 1985-86 contracts were of no legal force in effect.

FOLLOWING THE employee hearing in May, board members overruled Storm's objection and gave unanimous approval to a motion which stated that just cause existed to amend Storm's contract for the 1985-86 school year to provide for 166 rather than 185 working days.

That finding, according to the motion, was based on evidence presented at the hearing, and it appearing that timely notices had been filed.

During the May meeting, board members defeated a motion to offer a contract identical to Mrs. Storm's to ESU 1 nurse Kirsch.

Kirsch also had requested an employee hearing in May with the board, however that hearing was denied because the request was made one day late of the five-day deadline after Kirsch received the letter informing her that her contract for 1985-86 would be amended.

The board voted not to offer the amended contract to Kirsch because she did not make a timely request for a hearing and did not send back her contract signed within the legal time

Cooling off

DAVE FOOTE of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department finds a brief reprieve from the 90 degree heat when called Tuesday to the Marvin Gemelke farm seven miles south, two east and 3/4 south of Wayne. A trash fire had blown out of control and the firemen were called to protect surrounding buildings.

Proposed school budget shows tax decline

by Chuck Hackenmiller

A proposed budget brought forward by Wayne-Carroll Superintendent Francis Haun would reduce property tax requests by approximately 2 percent over the previous year.

However, to reduce the amount will require a reduction in the school district's reserve account — and some school board members would not like to see the reserve account reduced.

Haun also pointed out that the school district's settlements have yet to be resolved and could be above the 3 percent increase which he had penciled in on the proposed budget.

With the exception of school district salaries, Haun said an effort was made to hold the line on budget expenditures for school year 1985-86.

Some considerations, in addition to the 3 percent across the board salary increase, which should be given to the 1985-86 school budget, he said in a written report to the board are: two teacher aide positions were eliminated; there will be three rather than four sections of German; one temporary Middle School teacher employed; and curriculum accreditation standards are either being met or will be provided for at no additional cost.

Other considerations included: a $69,000 reduction in state aid; a $11,000 loss in federal monies for vocational education; an added $2,000 in expenditures for retention of school nurse at the 1984-85 level; no monies provided for additional public relations; the building bonds will be paid in full in September; 4 1/2 percent has been allowed for increase in health insurance premiums; a $100,000 reduction in cash reserve in anticipation of receiving all of the $375,000 allowed the district for non-resident high school tuition; $40,000 retained in building fund for Middle School wiring, parking improvements, short and long range goals; the lunch fund may be in need of general fund assistance for 1985-86; there is no budgeted money for a new school bus; energy costs are estimated to remain stable; and insurance costs on buildings and contents will increase 5 percent.

IN THE proposed budget summary, the property tax which was proposed for the 1985-86 general fund will increase $30,411. Property tax for the sinking fund will remain at $41,600 (equal to last year). The difference is the elimination of the bond in 1985-86, which in 1984-85 school year was at $66,560.

That would have brought on a 2.33 percent decrease in property tax dollars, according to Haun's figures. The total for all proposed program expenditures (including federal programs) is 3.9 percent greater than what was budgeted last school year. Comparison was made to the 1984-85 budget amount and not what the actual figures were for each expenditure, Haun mentioned.

Proposed budget receipts, including federal programs, Haun calculated, would increase less than 1 percent.

Ground offered for new city tennis courts

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Representatives of the Wayne Recreation Board met before both the Wayne-Carroll School Board and the Wayne City Council Tuesday evening, seeking financial assistance and land for constructing new tennis courts.

The end result of the discussions, where action was taken, had the school board approving to make land available for two tennis courts located immediately southeast of the high school.

Jim Keating appeared before the city council, saying that working to bring tennis courts south of the high school would be advantageous to both entities when considering the cost, use and maintenance situation.

He asked the city council members for authorization to obtain an architect for the project. He said Wayne State College is getting architect Gary Bowen for its new tennis court construction project and the recreation board would like to work with the same architect since "he has all the specifications."

No cost has been confirmed for the proposed tennis court project. However, it is estimated that the cost would be in the neighborhood of from $20,000 to $25,000.

Councilman Larry Johnson asked Keating if there was a time breakdown considered on the proposed site, where the courts would be open to the general public and how much would be the school's use for tennis matches and practices.

He said he would go along with resurfacing the old courts at the present site near the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool.

COUNCILMAN KEITH MOSLEY said there has always been problems at that location.

"I think the tennis courts will be used more by younger people if moved by the school," Keating told the council.

Councilman Freeman Decker made a motion to have the city clerk, mayor and city administrator work with the city recreation board and the school on the tennis court project, which will involve discussing the price of an architect.

Recreation board member Jim Marsh told the Wayne-Carroll School

Board that the cost of resurfacing at the present court site would be between $4,000 to $6,000. "We're at the stage now where we can contract the architect, have him take a soil sample and then we can get bids on the court costs."

Superintendent Francis Haun said the school district had planned, at one time, to build tennis courts where the present elementary school playground is located. The landscaping, he said, is already done at the proposed school site.

Neither the school district nor the city council made any financial commitments to the tennis court construction project until more details are provided on the architect fees and the cost of the court construction.

Agler defends 3-year title in cluck-off contest

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Five summers ago, John Agler of rural Wayne was doing some fieldwork on a tractor and the radio was blaring out the arrival of a new Wayne event that promoted the chicken.

At the time, Agler thought the whole idea about a Chicken Show was absolutely crazy. "I didn't go to any of it," he said.

But now Agler takes the Chicken Show with 5 grain of seriousness. After all, he's got a title to defend as the one to beat in the Wayne Chicken Show National Cluck-Off Contest.

This is quite an accomplishment for a man who originally wanted nothing to do with the Chicken Show event.

The second year of the event, Agler listened to the first year rooster crowing winner (Lyle George) and wasn't impressed with what he heard. "They needed to hear what a rooster really sounded like," he said.

Agler won the contest the second year and repeated as champion rooster caller during the third and fourth year of the Wayne event. The cackling, crowing and actions of a rooster and a hen are imitated by Agler in astonishing fashion — identical to the original sound.

This is Agler's 11th year of farming. "I've always had a love for the farm," he said. His total 300 acres northwest of Wayne produces corn, soybeans, alfalfa and oats.

He has a cow-calf finishing operation. Also he has sheep and is a member of the Northeast Nebraska Sheep Association and the Nebraska Wool Growers Association.

And of course he has chickens.

Broilers and some laying hens, that is.

"This summer we've been losing some chickens. We think there is a den of fox near here. My rooster was the first to go," Agler said.

When growing up on a farm, Agler said he was always imitating livestock — such as chickens and cows — or other items such as a chain saw. He has an assortment of animal sound imitations — in both the male and female versions.

"He'll even imitate people 'to some extent'."

Agler said he does take his title with some seriousness, and often embarrassment. "It can be embarrassing in a lot of ways by just being up there (on stage before spectators). But knowing that everyone is having fun and having a good time helps me get up there and do it," he said.

Despite winning the outright title, notably hasn't been excessively pounding on Agler's door. Radio stations in Wisconsin and Lincoln have interviewed Agler after the Chicken Show.

"I always have fun afterwards saying that I'm a national champion," he said.

Word gets around on 1985 Chicken Show

Word is circulating rapidly about the upcoming Chicken Show July 14, 15 and 16 in Wayne.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce has received over 100 calls already on the festivities of the three-day event.

Jane O'Leary, a member of the Chicken Show committee, announced Tuesday morning that the event has been plugged by the national publication, U.S.A. Today, and on Friday morning, Good Morning America (which is seen on ABC, Channel 9) will highlight the event. It was also announced Tuesday that the 1985 Chicken Show Balloon Lift contest was won by balloon owner Bernadine Schmoltd of Wayne. Her balloon traveled the farthest from Wayne after its release on May 30.

The finder of the balloon was Mrs. Arden Midtgaard of Hanlontown, Iowa, which is about 250 miles from Wayne. She included a short letter with her return form that reads:

"We found your balloon this morning (May 31) at 8 a.m. It was located in a corn field just east of our buildings. My two grandchildren and I were on our way to Bible School when we noticed it."

Mrs. Midtgaard will be sent a Chicken Show shirt for finding and returning the balloon. Schmoltd will be given $100 in a Chamber Shopper Gift Certificate.

The Chamber of Commerce released over 150 balloons this year and received only two responses — both from towns in Iowa.

As the Chicken Show dates arrive this June 12, 13 and 14, Agler wants to remind participants of the National Cluck-Off of two items — the first being that because he is defending champion doesn't mean that participants can't dethrone his title. Secondly, he said the decision on the winner usually depends on what the judges are looking for in the event.

"People should come and try out. Just because I'm there is no reason for others not to try. It's all in fun," Agler said.

Differences in the routines and characteristics of hens and roosters can be analyzed by Agler. A rooster, he said, can be more cocky and is kind of a watchbird for the hens. He will alert the hens of danger.

"The hen is kind of carefree. It just runs here and there and doesn't have much responsibility," Agler added, saying he's had years of experience just sitting down somewhere and watching the antics of the chicken.

Chickens and turkeys are his favorite animals to imitate. "Imitating a cow doesn't take much, cause all they do is walk and eat," he said.

He prefers doing turkey "toms" as they "really strut."

He's been warned by a former winner, Lyle George, that all the stops will be pulled to unseat Agler as the National Cluck-Off Contest champion.

Look for Agler to put on another strong performance.

If you are visiting Wayne and hear a rooster crowing and hen cackling behind you, and you turn around and look for the animals — don't be surprised if it's John Agler right behind you doing his chicken impressions.

Health care services

Women, infants and children meeting eligibility requirements, can receive supplemental food, nutrition education, and health care under the WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) program, a special supplemental food program provided by the state and federal government.

The WIC program is designed to help women who are pregnant, breastfeeding, or have recently had a baby, as well as infants and children up to age 5. To be eligible, women or their children must meet certain income guidelines, have a nutritional need for WIC foods, and live in a WIC clinic area.

"Diet is very important to mothers and young children," said Greg Wright, M.D., Director of the State Health Department. "Proper nutrition and health care during pregnancy and childhood influence a child's growth and development enormously."

Specific foods available include milk, fortified cereals, fortified natural juice, and eggs. Nutrition education consists of classes, small group discussions, and one-to-one counseling to inform women and others of proper nutrition habits and guidelines. WIC also assists in obtaining regular health care, if needed.

For more information on the WIC program, write: WIC Program, Nebraska State Department of Health, Nutrition Division, P.O. Box 95007, Lincoln, NE 68509, or call: (402) 471-2781.

Attends Kiwanis convention

Dr. Jack Middendorf, president-elect of the Wayne Kiwanis Club, attended the 70th annual convention of Kiwanis International in Toronto, Canada on June 30 through July 3.

More than 15,000 Kiwanis leaders and guests participated in the meeting, representing 8,200 clubs in 75 nations and geographic areas of the world.

Official reports to the convention noted that Kiwanis clubs spent $40.7 million on community service activities during the past year.

The first Kiwanis World Service Medal was presented to Dr. Giuseppe Maggi, a Swiss physician who has devoted himself to providing health care to the people of Cameroon, West Africa for the past 30 years.

In addition to electing international officers and adopting goals for the coming year, the Kiwanis delegates endorsed underprivileged children as the special subject for club service projects during 1985-86.

Maciejewski recognized

HAROLD MACIEJEWSKI received the Distinguished Service Award Tuesday night during a meeting of the Wayne-Carroll board of education. Congratulating Maciejewski is Becky Keidel, board president. Maciejewski retired this year after serving the school district for over 30 years.

BIBLE STUDY

The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the

New ADC program

Department of Social Services District Administrator, Joan Albin, has announced the creation of a new program to help Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) recipients become financially independent.

Beginning in August, over one thousand ADC recipients in Northeast Nebraska will start to attend four-week workshops designed to teach job seeking skills to the unemployed. The Department of Social Services has contracted with Career Design, Inc. of Omaha to provide these workshops. On-going workshops will be conducted monthly in Norfolk, Fremont, Columbus and the Dakota City area.

Alternate sites where the training will be given on a less frequent basis are Pierce, Albion, Bender, and Tekamah. Some of the areas stressed in the workshops will be the importance of interviews, resume writing and ways to explore the "hidden" job market.

According to Mrs. Albin, this method of assisting ADC clients to become employed and self sufficient has been used successfully in other states. The majority of the workshop graduates have obtained full-time employment within thirty days.

ADC recipients whose youngest child is age three or over and who are not employed full-time or involved in approved higher education may be required to participate in these workshops in order to continue their eligibility for Public Assistance.

The financial funding for this program is not new to the state. It was previously allocated to the former WIN Program which was available only in a few cities in Nebraska. These funds have now been distributed throughout the State with the expectation of much greater positive results.

Albin said, "I am extremely pleased to be able to offer the opportunity for this learning experience which I expect to see result in employment and financial independence for our clients."

Tri-County Guidance Center, South Sioux City, Nebraska is sponsoring a new Vista prevention worker for the coming year. She is Jean Kurtz, a lifelong resident of the Siouxland area. Ms. Kurtz will be serving the four-county area of Dakota, Dixon, Wayne, and Thurston in northeast Nebraska.

"The federal government has once again renewed its commitment to the coming year. She is Jean Kurtz, a lifelong resident of the Siouxland area. Ms. Kurtz will be serving the four-county area of Dakota, Dixon, Wayne, and Thurston in northeast Nebraska.

"The federal government has once again renewed its commitment to the coming year. She is Jean Kurtz, a lifelong resident of the Siouxland area. Ms. Kurtz will be serving the four-county area of Dakota, Dixon, Wayne, and Thurston in northeast Nebraska.

"The primary aim of the Vista volunteer is two-fold: to focus on drug and alcohol prevention efforts through community education, community awareness, and community involvement; and to raise community awareness of the problems, needs, and services available to chronically mentally ill individuals.

Organization of community support groups is in the planning stage. It is hoped that concerned and interested individuals will contact Ms. Kurtz for further information on upcoming programs. She will be available to answer your questions, accept public speaking engagements, make education presentations to your groups, as well as distribute informative films and publications.

Forced consolidation LB 662's fatal flaw; not financing system

Senator John W. DeCamp Governor Bob Kerrey loudly proclaimed that LB 662 (the so-called forced consolidation bill) was "fatally flawed" because of the new financing system for education the bill contains. Then Governor Kerrey signed LB 662 to make it the law of the land in Nebraska.

LB 662, Legislative Bill 662, is really two individual independent and separate new ideas packaged into one bill. First, is the forced consolidation portion that the Governor and the teacher's union supports and for which Governor Kerrey says he signed the bill. Second, is a new financing system for education which (1) shifts significantly from property taxes to sales taxes, (2) puts controls to permanently lower property taxes, and (3) forces the Legislature for the first time ever to control school spending itself.

This new financing system is the portion I successfully amended into LB 662 just before LB 662's final passage when I concluded LB 662 and its forced consolidation was going to pass no matter what.

My new financing system is the part of LB 662 that Governor Kerrey and his cohorts call fatally flawed.

Four times Governor Kerrey and the teacher's union desperately tried to eliminate my new financing system for education, led by Senator Vard Johnson and Senator David Landis, the forced consolidation sponsors. And four times the Governor and his cohorts failed. Now, they want a special session to attempt one final time to wipe out the new financing system and still retain their forced consolidation.

LB 662 does have a fatal flaw. But the fatal flaw is the forced consolidation part as well as the public statements of Governor Kerrey who signed the bill into law — not the new financing system.

Commissioner Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont, who offered the unsuccessful motion, said he has little hope for ultimate approval of the applications. "Obviously, there isn't a third vote (for approval)," Rasmussen said.

Commissioner Duane Gay of Columbus, an opponent of the open competition in the intrastate telephone market, predicted the issue of intrastate long distance service will ultimately be settled by the courts. Gay contends the approval of the MCI and GTE-Sprint applications would ultimately increase the cost of basic telephone service to Nebraskans outside of Lincoln and Omaha.

"Believe it or not, forced consolidation in LB 662 only affects approximately 3 1/2% of all the school students in the state. And, according to the Omaha World-Herald poll, forced consolidation is overwhelming opposed by the people of Nebraska. Most important, forced consolidation and forced busing to haul kids 20, 40 or 50 miles, at great expense, has been rendered obsolete and now unnecessary by technology.

Yes, obsolete, unnecessary and no longer cost effective. The invention of the computer and the video cassette recorder, the television and the incredible communications systems make it possible to teach French, mathematics or anything to a single student or a half dozen or even at home rather than spend millions hauling students all over on country roads. And, the technology available can provide equal or better education at a fraction of the cost.

But, what about this new financing system for education? First, it puts absolute control on how much of the financing of education can come from property taxes in Nebraska. We now have some of the highest property taxes in the entire United States and our property, in most cases, provides services from approximately 65% of the educational costs in the city to as much as 75% regularly in the rural areas. Public opinion polls repeatedly showed property taxes have become the most painful and outrageous taxes in Nebraska and the most excessive. So, this new financing system limits the amount of money that can come from property taxes. Second, for the first time ever, the burden and responsibility directly on the Legislature to take control of and to control education costs and budgets under the limits described above. At the present time, there are 254 individual school districts in Nebraska each writing its own budget and spending without any limits whatsoever. And despite the fact that state government now provides hundreds of millions of dollars of sales and income tax money to all these local school districts, such money is provided without any real laws controlling the spending of these 954 individual school districts.

Third, to take the place of some of the excessive property taxes now being spent on education, a sales tax increase of one additional penny of sales tax per dollar will be imposed beginning January, 1987 and all this money will go into the new financing system to take the place of property tax money and reduce property taxes.

SO WHY ARE the Governor and the teacher's union ready to die or do anything to eliminate my new financing system? To understand that, you have to know the rest of the story. You see, they have their own financing plan that goes the exact opposite direction of my financing plan. And one year ago, Governor Kerrey and the teacher's union, with the support of the sponsors of forced consolidation, offered their own new financing system for education. The Governor's new system would have done the following: (1) Effectively doubled the property taxes you are now paying which go to schools. (2) Radically increased the sales and income taxes to provide additional spending for schools, all without any controls. (3) Overall, actually doubled the amount of money going directly for supporting the grade schools and high schools in Nebraska. Fortunately, that new system the Governor and the teacher's union offered was stopped by the Legislature.

I am sure they understand that if my new financing system is able to be held in law, then for the first time there will be strong controls and an accountable body for education spending and those who spend money will not have to use our property tax system as an endless source of money to draw against for ever increasing spending. Now you can understand why they want to get rid of my new financing system which controls property taxes, forces the Legislature to actually control overall spending on education and shifts some of the property tax to sales tax.

Maybe the real solution to the mess is for the Governor, the petition sponsors, those of us who wrote and successfully put out the new financing system into law, and other critical and interested parties to sit down and see if a reasonable compromise acceptable to everyone can be worked out before any special session is called.

A special session without an agreed upon compromise in advance would end up being a disaster for everyone and might get matters to where they could not be reasonably solved in the future.

For one am ready to sit down and talk.

Balance far below $40 million projection

State ends fiscal year with $12.8 million

State government ended fiscal year 1984-85 on June 30 with a general fund balance of $12.8 million. The sum is far less than the $40 million balance projected a year ago, but very close to subsequent revisions that took into account cooling state economy and unexpectedly large tax refunds.

"We're right about where we thought we'd be," state Budget Administrator Larry Bare said.

While the state ends the current fiscal year with a positive general fund balance, real spending obligations in July could deplete the general fund and force officials to borrow from their $30 million cash flow fund.

Among other major obligations, the state faces a $14 million payroll for July 25. Sales tax receipts due in late July should end at least a few months officials' concern about cash flow.

The balance is the lowest recorded since fiscal year 1981-82 when $18.6 million had to be transferred from other state funds to maintain a general fund balance just over $1 million. The largest year-end balance recorded recently was $116.3 million in fiscal year 1979-80. The balance one year ago was $45.4 million.

ROGER BEVERAGE resigned effective last Friday (July 5) as director of the state Department of Banking and Finance.

Governor Bob Kerrey said he'll name Roger Hirsch, the department legal counsel, as acting director. Hirsch and two other candidates, whom Kerrey declined to name, will be considered for a permanent appointment to the directorship, Kerrey said.

Beverage, 40, said he is leaving the position that he held for 18 months to establish a law practice in Omaha. He will concentrate on banking law and litigation.

Kerrey named Beverage as banking "deputy" director effective Jan. 2, 84, just two months after the collapse of Commonwealth Savings Co.

He succeeded John Miller, an Omaha trial attorney, who held the job temporarily after Kerrey fired former director Paul Amen in the wake of the Commonwealth collapse. During his tenure in the job, the reorganization of Commonwealth, as well as the closing and ownership transfer of other failed institutions, have been the dominant issues.

Beverage's involvement with the reorganization of Commonwealth may not be coming to an end with his departure from the banking department.

He said he is attempting to arrive at an agreement whereby he can handle the Commonwealth receivership duties of the state banking department under a contractual agreement. Beverage said his service would be at no cost to depositors.

THE NEBRASKA Public Service Commission refused last week to allow two companies to compete with AT&T Communications in providing intrastate long distance telephone service.

Commissioners voted 2-3 against an order authorizing MCI Telecommunications, Inc., and GTE-Sprint to provide long distance services for calls within Nebraska. The order, which would allow for Jack Shultz, a Lincoln attorney who represents MCI, said the vote places the issue of intrastate telephone competition "sort of in limbo."

The commission didn't authorize the applications of MCI and GTE-Sprint, Shultz said, but neither did it deny them. That leaves the issue pending before the commission.

The vote Tuesday was the first taken on the applications, which have been subject to a public hearing and under consideration for several months.

Commissioner Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont, who offered the unsuccessful motion, said he has little hope for ultimate approval of the applications.

"Obviously, there isn't a third vote (for approval)," Rasmussen said. Commissioner Duane Gay of Columbus, an opponent of the open competition in the intrastate telephone market, predicted the issue of intrastate long distance service will ultimately be settled by the courts. Gay contends the approval of the MCI and GTE-Sprint applications would ultimately increase the cost of basic telephone service to Nebraskans outside of Lincoln and Omaha.

Farm bill should contain referendum

During the week of July 7, the House Agriculture Committee expects to mark up the 1985 Farm Bill. The version of the bill that comes out of that Committee mark-up session is the one that will eventually be considered by the full House of Representatives.

Earlier, during a subcommittee mark-up of part of the bill, I asked that a referendum provision be included to give wheat, feed grain, and soybean producers an opportunity to approve or disapprove mandatory production controls.

I wrote to each member of the Wheat, Soybean, and Feed Grains Subcommittee to ask support for the referendum provision regarding mandatory production controls. That subcommittee has jurisdiction over the portions of the farm bill that deal with the United States Department of Agriculture's commodity programs, including target prices, loan rates, and supply management for wheat, soybeans, and feed grains.

The subcommittee has previously approved a proposal by Representative Arlan Stangeland of Minnesota that would set target prices for wheat at $4.75 a bushel and corn at $3.25 per bushel on one-half of a farmer's established base. Commodity Credit Corporation commodity loans would be recourse and repayable at the current market price of the commodity. This is a market-oriented approach, though it provides more substantial income protection than is offered in the Administration's farm bill.

The referendum proposal, which was approved by the subcommittee, would give producers the option of rejecting the Stangeland approach and going with even higher commodity loan rates coupled with mandatory production controls.

I told the subcommittee members that the issue of mandatory production controls has undergone considerable debate among the farmers and farm leaders in Nebraska and in the First Congressional District. With the two alternatives available, the referendum allows each producer to participate in the process of deciding the future direction of major agriculture sectors for this country.

Because of the decline in exports over the last four years, the drastic decline in all commodity prices during the past year, and the likely prospect of large surpluses and carryovers, this fall, many producers who have opposed mandatory production controls now apparently favor some option which would begin to limit total production by all producers.

One of the major dilemmas that Congress faces in passing omnibus farm legislation is the diversity of opinion from various farm organizations. This referendum would give farmers a greater opportunity to participate in deciding what federal farm policy will be for the next five years.

A little help for troubled farmers I am cosponsoring a bill that would exempt liquidating farmers from the alternative minimum tax when their assets are used to settle existing debts.

This bill, H.R. 2277, would exempt farmers who are forced to liquidate from having to pay income tax on the value of mortgages and other loans which are forgiven by the lender if more than 50 percent of the farmer's income is from farming. Under current law debts which are forgiven are considered taxable income to the borrower.

This is one small step we can take to assist those farmers who have been forced out of business by the present farm credit crisis.

Businesses handle a hazardous issue

When television news questions every other week whether our morning cup of coffee will cause cancer, it's no wonder Americans start the day off worrying about the invisible risk of substances classified as "hazardous."

Modern chemicals, like other miracles of recent science, have a more convenient and safer when used properly. Yet there is no question that they present risks of injury and disease, no matter how carefully they are handled.

The real questions are: How great is this risk? Which injuries and diseases can we prove are actually caused by exposure to hazardous substances, and to what degree? What's the fairest and least wasteful manner to compensate those who have been harmed?

These questions are especially contentious in the workplace, where the risk of injury and disease from exposure is most obvious. Fortunately, the literature shows that despite the recent wave of concern, the overall incidence of occupational diseases and of all cancers (except respiratory cancers) has actually held steady or declined since 1932 — indicating great strides in the handling and management of dangerous materials.

Unfortunately, we are not nearly as far along in answering some of the other questions I just posed. In particular, attempts to address the causation and compensation questions in legislatures and the courts have proved difficult and expensive. In court cases, the real winners are not the victims but the lawyers.

BUT IN TWO recent instances, business has shown signs of providing some of these elusive answers. The first such event was the report of the ad hoc National Business Council on Injury Compensation brought together by the U.S. Chamber. The Council found that millions of victims were already compensated through tort awards, liability and health insurance, disability payments and Federal programs. Still, the Council concluded, programs must be improved to catch a large number of victims who "fall through the cracks" of this system — but the goals should be to compensate innocent victims, not punish employers. Finally, the Council urged that scientific principles be more widely applied in establishing links between disease and exposure to hazardous substances.

Equally promising is a unique private-sector approach to claims linked to one particular hazardous substance: asbestos. More than thirty companies facing claims involving asbestos-related diseases have voluntarily agreed to refer these claims to an impartial panel called the Asbestos Claims Facility. This "Wellington Facility," named for Dean Harry Wellington of Yale Law School was served as the impartial mediator, will collect standardized personal and medical information from claimants and will be authorized to evaluate, settle, pay or defend the cases. If a negotiated settlement cannot be reached, the facility will provide a full range of mediation services. At anytime, the plaintiff may opt to take his case to court.

The bottom line: The opportunity for deserving claimants and business alike to achieve a prompt and fair settlement — while saving possibly millions of dollars in litigation costs. Increasing our knowledge of the risks — as well as the opportunities — presented by hazardous chemicals is a good thing. Even better would be to build on these efforts by the business community to address the remaining questions about hazardous wastes, so that they can be managed even more safely and responsibly.

Nigerian woman visits Wayne as part of 'Discipling Woman to Woman' program

Mrs. Martha Udoma of The Lutheran Church of Nigeria is visiting in Wayne as a guest of the Nebraska District North Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Mrs. Carol Reithwisch, Nebraska District North LWML president, is hosting Mrs. Udoma as part of the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League's newest program, "Discipling Woman to Woman."

"Mrs. Reithwisch explained that the 'Discipling Woman to Woman' program was developed to gain understanding and share solutions to common challenges women encounter as they live Christian lives in various cultures.

WHILE IN WAYNE, Mrs. Udoma will visit several LWML societies in the area to share mutual concerns.

She was welcomed during a brunch last Saturday morning, hosted by the LWML Evening Circle of Grace Lutheran Church, and at a district board picnic on Sunday evening hosted by Mrs. Reithwisch. Both events were held in Wayne's Bressler Park.

Included in Mrs. Udoma's stay will be visits to the Norfolk Regional Center, the Nebraska District Office, and Concordia Teachers' College in Seward, Camp Luther at Schuyler, the State Capitol in Lincoln, a Mission Festival at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Beemer, the Wayne Chicken Show, Wayne State College, a centennial at Madison, as well as activities in the Deshler, Lexington and Kearney areas.

MRS. UDOMA began her visit to the United States and Canada on June 13 in St. Louis, Mo.

She met Mrs. Ross Barnes, president of the International LWML, and Dr. Edward Westcott, executive director, Board of Missions of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Mrs. Udoma's stay in St. Louis included visits to the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod International Center, LWML headquarters, a KFUO radio interview, and LWML retreat.

The final stop for Mrs. Udoma will be as a special guest of the 7,000 in attendance at the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League Convention at Ames, Iowa on July 22-25.

Winside couple marks golden wedding year

Winside residents Alfred and Elsie Janke celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house reception June 30 hosted by their children.

Approximately 200 friends and relatives attended the afternoon event at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside.

The guests were registered by Mrs. Dean Miller of Garden Grove, Calif., and came from Sun City, Ariz.; Garden Grove, Calif.; Wakefield, Wayne, Pilger, Columbus, Norfolk, Hoskins, Carroll, Kearney and Winside.

Among those attending were Mrs. Carl (Tillie) Ehlers of Pilger, Mrs. Guy (Dorothy) Stevens and Julius Eckert, both of Winside, Mrs. Lester (Tallitha) Prawitz of Sun City, Ariz., and Werner Janke of Wayne, all attendants at the couple's wedding ceremony 50 years ago.

MASTER OF ceremonies for the program was Dean Janke of Winside.

Families were introduced. The program included a musical selection by Darci Frahm of Hoskins, and Dawn Peter and Darla Janke of Winside. Also singing were Lisa Janke of Winside, Shawnette Janke of Pilger, and Jennifer Miller of Garden Grove, Calif.

The happy anniversary song was sung by Jessica Janke and Misty Janke of Hoskins, and Mindy Janke of Pilger.

All are granddaughters and great granddaughters of the honored couple.

On display during the afternoon was Mrs. Janke's wedding gown. The dress, which is 76 years old, also was worn by Mrs. Janke's mother and sister.

THE ANNIVERSARY cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Dean Janke of Winside. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Dean Janke, Mrs. Norris Janke, Mrs. Chuck Peter and Darla Janke, all of Winside, and Mrs. Kenny Frahm of Hoskins.

Mrs. Dean Miller of Garden Grove, Calif., and Mrs. Randy Janke of Pilger poured, and Mrs. Craig Janke of Hoskins and Mrs. Dean Janke Jr. of Winside served punch.

Waitresses were granddaughters Lisa Janke of Winside, Shawnette Janke of Pilger, and Jennifer Miller of Garden Grove, Calif.

Center Circle Club members assisted in the kitchen.

JANKES WERE married at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside on June 30, 1935. They have resided all their married lives in the Winside area.

The couple's children are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Miller of Garden Grove, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Dean Janke and Mr. and Mrs. Norris (Bulch) Janke, all of Winside, and Mrs. Randy Janke of Pilger.

There are 12 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Diabetic no longer running in circles

A Lincoln diabetic who is raising $70,000 for a pancreas transplant recently received a treadmill from a retired couple who read about her plight in a May issue of The Lincoln Star.

Bonnie Smith, granddaughter of Floyd and Clara Sullivan of Wayne and Mrs. Luella Smith of Laurel, suffers from several diabetic complications including retinopathy, an irreversible eye condition that can lead to blindness.

Bonnie's poor sight has made it difficult for her to jog outside, so she has been doing a daily run in the garage.

"I just can't believe I'm not running around in circles anymore," said Bonnie. "My ankles say 'thank you.'"

TO DATE, MORE than $9,000 has been contributed to the Bonnie Smith Funds, which have been set up in various banks — including both the First National and State National Banks in Wayne.

The Lincoln homemaker must have $35,000 on deposit at the University of Minnesota before she can even be put on a donor list for a new pancreas.

The pancreas produces the hormone insulin which processes blood sugar in the body.

SEVERAL UPCOMING benefit events are scheduled in Omaha, Lincoln, and in Bonnie's hometown of Ashland, where her parents Virginia and Ray Carnicle reside.

A benefit dance also is scheduled Friday, July 19 at the West Randolph Ballroom. Donna Beurn will furnish music, and there will be a lunch and a drawing for an Afghan.

Another benefit, a three-wheeler pull, is planned July 27 at the Dixon County Fairgrounds in Wheeler.

Persons who would like to contribute to the Bonnie Smith Fund may send their tax deductible donations to The Lincoln Foundation, Room 200, 215 Centennial Mall South, Lincoln, Neb., 68508, or to the State National or First National Banks in Wayne.

briefly speaking

Heiers honored for 55th year

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heier of Wayne were honored for their 55th wedding anniversary during a family dinner held June 24 in the Rowan Wilfse home in Wayne.

Guests included the couple's children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, brothers and sisters.

Heiers were married at Colridge on June 26, 1930.

Ice cream social at Redeemer

The youth group of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne is sponsoring a homemade ice cream and pie social on Sunday, July 14 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 will match funds raised during the event. Proceeds will be used for new church office equipment.

Wakefield class of '70 meets

The 1970 graduating class of Wakefield High School met recently for its 15-year reunion.

Returning for the event were Loren Schulz of Sandy, Utah; Tom Nicholson of Gretna; Bill Gustafson of Lincoln; Warren Johnson, Marlene Mills Baker and Cheryl Kahl Johnson, all of Omaha; Kayleen Christensen Dahl of Laurel; Nancy Siebrandt Zvack of Pender; Cheryl Henschke of Wayne; Richard Kline of Papillion; and Dan Bacid, Bruce Roeder and Lyle, Barb Fischer Preston, Carol Bargholz Ulrich, Lynette Miller Larson and Kip Bressler, all of Wakefield.

June wedding rites

THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN Church in Laurel was the setting for the June 22 ceremony uniting in marriage Julie Marie Fredricksen, daughter of Tom and Shirley Fredricksen of Laurel, and Dennis Hart, son of Kathy Nielsen of Greybull, Wyo. The newlyweds are making their home at 515-G St., Box 291, Basin, Wyo., 82410. The bride, a 1982 graduate of Laurel High School, has been attending Wayne State College and will be doing her practice teaching in Powell, Wyo. this fall. She plans to graduate from Wayne State in December 1985. The bridegroom is a 1983 graduate of Laurel High School and a 1984 graduate of Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk. He is employed in Worland, Wyo.

Family reunions dot calendar

McCormick reunion

The annual McCormick family reunion and picnic dinner was held in the Laurel city auditorium on June 30. Relatives came from Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Goldberg reunion

Sixty relatives and friends attended a Goldberg family reunion on July 4 in the Wakefield city park.

Special guests were family members of Ellen Lofgren, including the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Lofgren of Malaysia, the Rev. Terry and the Rev. Ruth Lofgren Roseff of Canastota, N. Y., the Rev. and Mrs. Keith Pearson and daughters of Leigh, the Rev. and Mrs. Julius Peterson and Bruce of Postville, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Peterson and son of Stanton, Iowa.

Other relatives were from Sioux City, Oakland, Wayne, Laurel, Concord and Dixon.

Magnuson reunion

The Lawrence Backstrom and Bud Hanson families were hosts for the annual Magnuson reunion on July 7 at a Wayne park.

Attending the event were 83 relatives from Pipestone and Moorhead, Minn.; Missouri; California; Omaha, Norfolk; Winslow, Wakefield, Wayne, Carroll, Laurel, Concord and Dixon.

One death, two births and one marriage were reported during 1985, leaving a total of 192 living descendants.

McCaw reunion

Families of the late Harry McCaw and Mabel McCaw met June 30 for a reunion in the Wayne Woman's Club room.

Among those attending were Mrs. Tom Park of Sigourney, Iowa; Mrs. Roger DeKok of Fairbank, Iowa; the Norman McCaws, the Jim McCaws, the Gene Dietrichs, Nikki and Staci of Marengo, Iowa; the Dennis McCaws of Ames City, Iowa; Joel McCaw of Ames, Iowa; the Karl Adamsons of Tekamah; the Loren Parks of Beatrice; Mrs. Joe Schmidt of Norfolk; Diann Lake of Laurel; the Dean Ricketts, Karla and Dennis; the Doug Ricketts of Ponca; the Bryan Parks of Wayne; the Earl Petersons and David Kardell of Dixon.

Joining them in the afternoon were Lola Rahn, Ponca; the Carroll Rahn, Pam and Dennis of Minneapolis, Minn.; and Mrs. Darrel Rahn, Valerie and Marc of Wayne.

Bengtson reunion

Sixty-five descendants of John and Mathilda Bengtson met in Wakefield during the Memorial Day weekend for their second family reunion.

Of the 10 Bengtson children, five are living and were all present, including Mary Lavin, Martha Lundin, Ruth Anderson and Paul Bengtson of Wakefield, and David Bengtson of Fort Morgan, Colo.

Deceased family members are Nancy Muller, Edith Krause, and Albert, Enoch and Clair Bengtson.

Youngmeyer reunion

A Youngmeyer reunion was held in Wayne's Bressler Park on July 4.

Among those attending were Howard Youngmeyer of Florida; Howard Youngmeyer Jr. of Puerto Rico; Bob Youngmeyer of Washington, D. C.; the Jon Wilsons and Paul Youngmeyers of New Mexico; David Welch of Denver, Colo.; Paul Voges of Iowa; Mildred Thompson, Kevin Thompsons and Jerry Thompsons, all of Norfolk; Julie and Cindy Prauner of Battle Creek; and Jim Youngmeyers and Les Youngmeyers of Wayne.

Brugger reunion

The 25th annual Brugger reunion was held the weekend of June 29-30 at the Ray Lobergs of Carroll.

Sixty-six persons attended a barbecue supper. Helping serve were Mrs. Larry Lindsay of Wayne, Mrs. Merlin Brugger and Mrs. Harlin Brugger, both of Winslow, Velva Frank of Norfolk, and Mrs. Ray Loberg of Carroll.

Mrs. Ray Loberg conducted the business meeting and read minutes of several past reunions. The first Brugger reunion was held at the Oakland Park with Mrs. Cora Shaffer and Mrs. John Brugger in charge.

Mrs. Larry Lindsay of Wayne gave the Brugger history and home-steading of the farm. The Merlin Brugger family now resides on the farm located four miles north of Winslow.

An awards program was presented in honor of the 25th reunion.

Recognition was given to Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Brugger of Wayne, the oldest couple attending; Lacey Johnson, six-month-old daughter of Jim and Jill Johnson of Westington, S. D., the youngest attending; the John Baker family of Aurora, Colo., attending from the furthest distance; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson of Westington, S. D., for attending all 25 reunions; Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Honeywell of Fremont, for the second best attendance; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lindsay of Wayne, the couple celebrating their 25th anniversary this year; Alan Lindsay and Jane Shode, couple to be married; Mr. and Mrs. Don Diekhoff, couple not related in best attendance; and Brenda Ballhagen, best groomed.

A musical-comedy program was presented by Merlin and Harlin Brugger of Winslow. The birthday song was sung for Orvyl Franklin of Wilmot, S. D., Marcella Larson of Wayne, and Christy Baker of Aurora, Colo.

The program also included a chicken-song dance contest. Prize winners were Christy and John Baker of Aurora, Colo., Karen Johnson of Ames, Iowa and Terry Brugger of Norfolk.

The 25th anniversary cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Ray Loberg, and served by Mrs. Paul Roberts of Pierce, Mary Beth Brugger of Winslow, and Mrs. Terry Brugger and Kim Brugger of Norfolk.

Out-of-town guests were campers at the Loberg farm, while others stayed with Olga Brugger and the Larry Lindsays of Wayne, and the Harlin and Merlin Bruggers of Winslow.

Sunday brunch was served at the Loberg farm with $9 attendance. Afterward, a brief worship service was conducted by Darrell Honeywell of Fremont. Mary Beth Brugger furnished organ music.

Cards and visiting furnished the morning's entertainment, while a softball game among youth was played following the noon luncheon.

Relatives attended the reunion from Westington, Wilmot and Huron, S. D.; Ames, Iowa; Aurora, Colo.; Wayne, Winslow; Fremont, Norfolk and Carroll.

The 1985 reunion will be held the last Sunday of June with the Dale Shaffer and Darrell Honeywell families as hosts.

bridal showers

Mrs. Dan Mara

Mrs. Dan Mara of Norfolk was presented a bridal shower June 22 in the home of Mrs. Phyllis Hamm at Carroll. Hosts were Mrs. Richard Slefkon of Wayne and Mrs. Ervin Wilflier of Carroll.

Mrs. Mara is the former Deb Hamm, granddaughter of Mrs. Phyllis Hamm.

WAYNE'S 15-UNDER girls softball team won three games and lost one en-route to claiming the district championship at Norfolk last weekend. They will now play at Gresham Saturday morning in a 9:45 game. Front, from left, is Dawn Book, Shannon Janke, Dana Nelson, Traci Gamble, Kelly Fleming, Kristi Hansen and Tonya Elsberry. Back, Coach Doug Carroll, Robin Luft, Sarah Peterson, Leslie Keating, Suzy Luft, Shelley Gilliland, Betsy Lebsock, Karmyn Koenig, Amy Schluns and Coach Marilyn Strate.

Play at Gresham

15-Under girls advance to state

Wayne's 15 and Under girls softball team will play in the state tournament at Gresham this weekend after claiming district championship last weekend at Norfolk.

The local girls averaged 22 runs a game in their four games played. They defeated Pierce B team and Pierce A team and Stanton before losing to Pierce A in the next to last game of the tournament.

However, Pierce A forfeited the game to Wayne because of injuries to players and the extreme-hot conditions, which gave the title outright to Wayne.

Dana Nelson pitched all four games in the tournament and her battery mate, Dawn Book, was behind the plate for almost all the innings of play. "They should be given a lot of credit for how they played in the hot weather conditions," said Coach Marilyn Strate.

A rundown of each game is below.

Wayne 29-Pierce B 3
Wayne's bats were ringing in this game as they collected 12 hits — two each by Dana Nelson, Shannon Janke and second baseman Leslie Keating. Nelson, who scored four runs, and Janke each socked a double for the winners. Kristy Hansen also had a double for Wayne.

Others getting a hit were Shelley Gilliland, Amy Schluns, Robin Luft, Sarah Peterson and Tonya Elsberry.

Wayne scored five runs on one hit in the first, six runs on five hits in the second, seven runs on three hits in the third, and 11 runs on three hits in the fourth inning.

Alding Wayne in the scoring was the 18 walks given up by Pierce B fear pitching.

Nelson limited Pierce B to three runs on four hits, walking two and striking out two.

Wayne 26-Pierce A 9

Wayne lashed out over 18 hits, six of them for extra bases, in their next game of the district tournament.

Leading the hitting attack was pitcher Dana Nelson, who had five hits including a triple and home run.

Amy Schluns finished the game with four hits, including a double and triple. Susy Luft had three hits for Wayne, all singles.

Getting two hits were Shannon Janke and Sarah Peterson. One of Janke's hits was a double. Robin Luft also hit a double for Wayne.

Also with a hit for Wayne was Tonya Elsberry and Dawn Book.

Wayne scored one run in the first inning; 13 runs in the second inning (when everyone in the starting lineup scored at least once); six runs in the third inning; three runs in the fourth and three runs in the fifth.

Nelson was the winning pitcher, giving up at least six hits and striking out three.

Wayne 21-Stanton 9

The bats continued to boom for Wayne as they picked up 13 hits in their win against Stanton. Leading the hitting charges were Shannon Janke with a single and a double, and Tonya Elsberry, Sarah Peterson and Dawn Book each with two singles.

Amy Schluns and Susy Luft each hit home runs in the game and Robin Luft smacked a double. Others getting hits were Dana Nelson and Leslie Keating.

Wayne scored five runs in the first inning on four hits; two runs on three hits in the second; eight runs on four hits in the third inning; and six runs on two hits in the fourth.

Once again, Nelson was the winning pitcher, scattering 11 hits while striking out two.

Pierce A 16-Wayne 13
Wayne got a taste of its own medicine as the local 15-Under girls were socked for 16 runs on 12 hits by Pierce A.

Wayne still outlast Pierce, coming up with 13 of their own hits.

Leading Wayne's hitting force was Amy Schluns with three hits, including a double. Susy Luft had two hits, a double and home run and Traci Gamble had a triple.

Each getting one hit were Dana Nelson, Robin Luft, Tonya Elsberry, Leslie Keating, and Dawn Book.

Wayne jumped to a 4-3 lead after the first inning on five hits, but Pierce tied the score in the second inning and then went on to score six runs on three hits in the third inning.

Wayne cut the Pierce lead to 10-9 after the fourth inning; However, Pierce outscored Wayne 6-4 in the last two innings to clinch the win.

Wayne was to play Pierce A team again to decide the district championship, since each team had a loss. But Pierce suffered injuries from game action and heat exhaustion and called off the championship game.

Midgets nip Pender

In a game played Monday night at Pender, the Wayne Midgets squeaked out a 7-6 win over the host team in extra innings.

Bill Landanger, who scored three of Wayne's seven runs; crossed the plate as the winning run in the top of the eighth inning and the pitching of starter Rob Rabe was good enough to retire Pender in order in the bottom half to preserve the win.

Rabe allowed just four hits in the eight innings and struck out eight while walking four Pender batters.

Pender jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second inning following an infield error, two walks and a grand slam home run by Hlrich.

Wayne tied the game in the third when Landanger walked, Russ Longe was hit by a pitch and Steve Luft doubled. Jason Jorgensen lofted a sacrifice fly and Ted McCright followed with a single. Mark Creighton then doubled to bring in more runs.

The tie was broken by Pender in the bottom of the third after Lehmkuhl singled, advanced to second on a wild pitch and scored on an error. Hanson, who reached base on an error, later scored, making the score 5-4.

In the fifth, Wayne's Jason Jorgensen cracked a home run to close the gap on the Pender lead and in the sixth inning, Wayne tied the score after Landanger reached base on an error by the Pender first baseman, stole second, advanced to third and scored on a sacrifice by Longe.

Wayne's winning run was scored when Landanger hit a double and scored on a single by Longe.

Nine hits were tallied by Wayne — two of those by McCright.

In bottom of ninth

Crofton slips by Wayne

Crofton scored its winning run on an error with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning as they edged the Wayne Town Team by a 6-5 score.

The loss puts Wayne's record at 4-7. Six of those losses have been by one run.

Wayne had its own fireworks in the game, supplied by leftfielder Dennis Danielson. Danielson cracked two home runs, each two-run shots, that drove in four of Wayne's five runs.

Wayne scored the first runs in the game with two in the top of the fourth. Joel Ankeny was safe after an error by the Crofton shortstop and Danielson drilled a home run over the leftfield fence.

Crofton went ahead, 3-2, in the bottom of the fifth inning when Mike Drotzman and Randy Phillips singled. Drotzman scored on an error by Breske after a Steve Hegges grounder. Phillips and Hegge then scored on a single by Brad Peterson.

In the eighth inning Crofton scored two more runs (making it 5-2) after Brad Peterson singled and Bob Hegge hit a home run over the left field fence.

Wayne tied the game at 5-5 in the ninth inning when Breske led off with a single and moved to third base on two wild pitches. With two outs, Joel Ankeny singled home Breske.

Then Danielson hit his second homer of the game over the center-field fence, driving in two more runs.

Crofton broke the tie in the bottom of the ninth after Steve Hegge singled. Jon Wieseler hit into a fielder's choice with Hegge out at second.

Second baseman Morris had trouble taking the ball out of his glove on a double play pivot at second base, allowing Wieseler the base.

Larry Bartz then walked and Brad Peterson hit a ground ball to Breske. Breske committed an error on the grounder. Wieseler, trying to score from second, was safe at home on an overflew to the plate.

MARK STARZL won his outing against Bloomfield.

Wayne starter John Reed was the losing pitcher, striking out six and walking four while allowing eight hits. The winner was Steve Hegge, who threw nine innings and gave up seven hits.

Brad Peterson led Crofton hitters with two singles and a double and two runs batted in.

Starzl, Ankeny pitching blanks Bloomfield

Mark Starzl pitched seven strong innings of shut out baseball Sunday night as the Wayne Town Team defeated Bloomfield 4-0.

Starzl allowed only two hits, three walks and struck out 12 in the seven innings he pitched. He was relieved in the last two innings by Joel Ankeny, who gave up two hits, walked one and struck out three.

He also drove in two runs for Wayne.

The win ups Wayne Town Team's record to 4-6 in Tri-County League play.

Both teams were held scoreless until the fourth inning, when Wayne scored its first run.

With two outs, Ankeny walked and advanced all the way to third base on two wild pitches. An infield single by centerfielder John Reed scored Ankeny.

Wayne broke the game open in the fifth inning with five runs on four hits.

First baseman Doug Carroll led the inning off with a walk. After Kim Baker popped up to the Bloomfield third baseman, leftfielder Todd Dorcay reached base on an error by the shortstop.

Mike Breske then laced a double to left field, scoring Carroll. One out later, Starzl cracked a double to the wall in right centerfield to score both Dorcay and Breske.

Ankeny then hits the third double of the inning, this time to centerfield, that brought home Starzl. Reed later pulls an inside pitch right over third base and Ankeny scored.

Wayne added a single run in the eighth inning when Ankeny walked, stole second and scored on a wild pitch.

John Reed led all Wayne batters with two hits and two runs batted in. Others getting hits were Breske, Ankeny and Dorcay.

ABOVE, MORRIS hustles down first base line after reaching on an error in the first inning. At left, Todd Dorcay races safely back to first on a pick-off attempt by Bloomfield.

18-Under action

Norfolk trips Wayne

Norfolk's 18-Under Golden Girls took advantage of six Wayne errors and came out on top, 12-6, in a game played Monday night at Overin Field.

Wayne could get only three hits off Norfolk pitching, all of those coming in the second inning. Collecting those hits were Lori Jacobsen, Karen Longe and Kellefte Frevert.

Norfolk gathered three runs in the first inning on one hit; three runs in the fourth on two hits; a single run in the fifth inning on one hit; and two runs in the seventh on one hit.

Johnson was the losing pitcher, allowing seven hits, striking out eight and Frevert batted a triple.

Frevert then scored on a passed ball. Lisa Jacobsen and Paula Koplin each got on base after infield errors and Lori Jacobsen and Longe each socked singles.

From the third inning on, Norfolk allowed only four baseruns.

Norfolk scored two more runs in the top of the third on one hit; three runs in the fourth on two hits; a single run in the fifth inning on one hit; and two runs in the seventh on one hit.

Johnson was the losing pitcher, allowing seven hits, striking out eight Norfolk batters and walking four.

Tourneys involve area softball and baseball

This will be a weekend of softball and baseball tournaments for area teams.

The Wayne 15-Under girls softball team will play in the state tournament at Gresham on Saturday morning at 9:45 a.m. They drew a bye the first round of the state tournament.

It is anticipated that the Wayne 18-Under girls softball team will be participating in a district tournament this weekend. The location and time of the game has yet to be announced. Because of the lack of district teams in Wayne's class, Wayne will automatically qualify for state at Beatrice for the July 19-20 weekend.

A Men's Slow Pitch softball tournament, called the Chicken Show Softball Tournament, will take place throughout this weekend at the Wayne Jaycee Complex, with separated classes competing for the championship.

Wayne Midget and Wayne Junior Legion baseball teams will be competing in a round robin baseball tournament at O'Neill on Saturday and Sunday, July 13 and 14.

The schedule for Saturday is as follows: 10:15 a.m., Norfolk Midgets vs O'Neill Midgets; 12:45 p.m., Norfolk Juniors vs Wayne Juniors; 3:15 p.m., Wakefield Juniors vs O'Neill Juniors; 6 p.m., Wakefield Juniors vs Norfolk Juniors.

Sunday, 10:15 a.m., Wayne Midgets vs O'Neill Midgets; 12:45 p.m., Wayne Juniors vs O'Neill Juniors; 3:15 p.m., Wayne Midgets vs Norfolk Midgets; 5:45 p.m., Wakefield Juniors vs Wayne Juniors; 8 p.m., Norfolk Juniors vs O'Neill Juniors.

Way-Wak team loses to Roncalli

Omaha Roncalli nipped the Wayne-Wakefield Junior Legion team in the consolation game final, 7-6, last Saturday at Lincoln.

The game ended in seven inning regulation play at 6-6. Roncalli scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning on a walk and a double by Joe Cotton.

Wayne-Wakefield led 2-1 after three innings, scoring both runs in the first. Kevin Maly led off with a walk, stole second and third and later scored on a groundout by Snyder. Mark Kubik and Chris Wieseler each drew walks and reached on a short-stop error that scored Overin. Designated hitter Larry Ballinger upped the lead to 3-1 with a solo homer in the top of the fourth. One more run was added after Jeff Hausmann walked and Maly singled. An error by Roncalli's third baseman put runners on second and third. Brian Soderberg then lofted a sacrifice fly to score pinch-runner Don Larsen.

Wayne-Wakefield jumped to a 4-1 lead in the top of the fifth inning on a two-run home run smacked by Wieseler. Roncalli came back in the bottom of the fifth inning with three runs on three hits. Roncalli tied the game in the bottom of the seventh with two runs, scored after a lead-off walk and stolen base by Tony Schroeder; a single by Joe Cotton and a single by Joe Siwa.

In the eighth inning, Wayne-Wakefield left three runners on base and in the ninth, had the bases loaded before Kevin Maly smashed a hard hit grounder to the third baseman that resulted in a double play.

Overin led the Wayne-Wakefield hitters with two singles. He was also hit by a pitch once and was walked twice. Maly and Snyder also had two hits, both singles.

Others with hits were Kubik, Wieseler and Ballinger. Jeff Sherer took the loss for Wayne, pitching the full nine innings, allowing nine hits, giving up four walks while striking out two Roncalli batters.

Overin led the Wayne-Wakefield team in hitting with a .455 batting average. Next was Snyder with a batting average of .357.

Cable seeks rate hike

by Chuck Hackenmilller

Wayne Cablevision, affiliated with Video Communications, Inc., has informed the Wayne City Council that it will be seeking a rate increase for the company, provides hearings for the rate increase will be held at City Hall on Aug. 13 and Aug. 27, 7:30 p.m.

An attorney representing Wayne Cablevision, Sandra Inkster, said the council must be aware of the rate increase because the council is the board of trustees that had initially granted the cable franchise. The request is for an increase of $1 per month for the "basic" cable service charge, 15 cents per month for additional outlets, and 50 cents per month for "Tier II services (an add-on box for the television set that allows the customer to receive expanded services over and above the basic cable service).

The increase will provide an increase in income to Wayne Cablevision over the next two years of 4 1/2 percent.

She mentioned that the present rate for the basic service has been in effect since Aug. 1, 1986.

According to general manager John McEvoy, the company has spent and committed over $125,000 on the system during the above mentioned time frame "to keep it one of the most modern in the State."

"Additionally, satellite programming costs — including "Premium" services — have risen 77 percent since 1982 and continue an upward trend and copyright fees have risen 87 percent since our last rate increase," he wrote.

"A comparison of current rates in Norfolk, indicates the proposed rate to be both fair and favorable. Their basic service charge is $9.82 per month," he added.

Also Tuesday evening, the city council discussed complaints submitted to them concerning operations at the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool. Councilman Stanley Hansen said he was told by a resident that the water in the pool was too cold.

Councilman Larry Johnson expressed disagreement on an item of discussion by pool management, saying that if any of the men's or women's locker rooms are left in disarray by the swimmers, the particular party is told to sit out at the pool as a penalty.

Johnson said this was not the proper way to handle this situation, claiming that it is not the responsibility of the child or parents to keep the locker rooms tidy — but the individuals employed by the city.

Complaints were also registered to the city council on lifeguard duty, too many kids swimming during family hour, and not allowing college youths to use the family membership.

"Reopened a portion of the Timpfle, Inc. location. The rezoning was necessary because the company changed its location, of the building and additional property was purchased. The rezoning was for the additional property purchases compensated by the change in location of the building."

Reviewed the 1985 summary of the school year's census.

The census (by county residence of school age children 5 to 18 years of age) was down by 11, from 876 to 865.

Dropping in numbers were: under 1 year, 18 less; 1 year, one less; 3 years, 18 less; 5 years, 12 less; 9 years, seven less; 13 years, 14 less; 15 years, two less; 16 years, 13 less. 18 years, one less.

A census was also taken on 19 and 20 year olds, and the number of physically disabled.

"Presented a Distinguished Service Award to retiring Wayne-Carroll Athletic Director Harold Maciejewski.

"And approved the hiring contracts of Terry Munson as guidance counselor and Elizabeth Schaffer as speech therapist in the Wayne-Carroll school district.

IN OTHER action Tuesday evening, the Wayne-Carroll School Board:

"Directed Superintendent Haun to obtain bids for repair of the high school track. "The facility down there [school track] is deteriorating. If we don't do something about it, it will continue to deteriorate and cost us more," said board member Sid Hillier.

Cap. Peterson, another board member, said the track is being used for more than just school related athletic events. Adults walk or run on the track in the evenings, he said. He said cracks in portions of the track are "two inches wide in some places."

"For obtaining all new surfacing, repair, lining and setting the track up for track events could cost nearly $14,500, according to a quote received by Haun. Haun said the track repair had been "put aside for several years."

"Adopted a revised policy on the minimum number of instructional hours in the school year. That number will be 1,080 for middle and senior high school students; 1,032 hours for grades 1-6 and 400 hours for kindergarten school students.

Currently scheduled for the upcoming school year, Haun said, is 1,100 hours for middle and senior high students and 1,060 for grades 1-6.

Instruction time includes classroom time, passing time and recess. It excludes lunch time, parent-teacher conferences and other dismissals of the entire student body of individual schools or the district.

Times that students are absent from school, for which the school assumes sponsorship (curriculum contests, workshops, field trips, district music contests, science fairs, math contests, annual workshops, speech contests, leadership workshops, convocations, system-wide tours of select music groups and practices for special music programs and field days) will be counted as instructional time.

Extra-curricular activities will not be counted as instructional time. Examples include athletic practices, contests and travel, performing groups entertaining away from school buildings and student council conferences.

ESU

limit. That action, however, was rescinded during a special meeting of the ESU-1 board of directors just one week later.

"At the special meeting on May 20, the board voted to offer Kirsch an amended contract identical to Storm's."

BOARD ACTION taken by the ESU-1 board of directors during their July 9 meeting included setting a date for a public hearing on the ESU-1 budget. The hearing will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 13, prior to the board's regular meeting at 8 p.m.

Board members met at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday night for a budget workshop prior to their regular July meeting.

REPORTS TUESDAY night included one of ESU Administrator Harry Mills regarding contract talks with the South Sioux City School system for the Bryan building, and with Region IV for their facility in Wayne.

Mills said it appears that Region IV will not increase the rent for its facility ly which provides day services for children. ESU-1 currently pays $735 per month for lease of the building.

"We don't know yet what South Sioux City is going to do," Mills told board members.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night gave unanimous approval to a request by Janet Koenig for release from her contract with ESU-1.

Koenig had served as special education teacher at the Bryan School in South Sioux City. Before adjourning, Mills requested that the board's insurance committee meet during August to study ESU-1's insurance policies and if necessary make recommendations.

Serving on the insurance committee are Paul Steffek of Hartington and Marvin Borg of Concord.

The board policy committee also will meet during August to study and review the board policy. Members of that committee are John Post of Bloomfield, Dr. Ervin DeBoer of Walnut Hill, and Ken Lantz of Ponca. Board Chairman Garry Schwartze reported that contract negotiations are continuing between the board of directors and ESU-1 Education Association.

The Chicken Lady

Malinda could pluck a chicken faster than anyone in Douglas County back in my youth.

She knew everything important there was to know about a chicken — when they slept, why their eyes were beady, the fact that you wouldn't have much luck giving them all names because they all answered to the same one anyway, so why bother. The reason they pecked my toes as I screamed was not lost to her either. "They think it's macaroni!" she would tell me, as if I should somehow be reassured by that knowledge.

In my innocence and fear, would make my daily morning trek each morning, basket in hand and her instructions still ringing in my ears. "Now get dem all und don't come back with a empty basket again or ve don't eat."

Naturally I would bypass the nests with the larger, more beady eyed hens and head for the smaller more amiable of the group, be they pullets, or roosters or pigeons; it didn't matter just as long as they moved fast and left an unprotected egg for me to retrieve. Never mind that the sizeable more edible eggs were still under the hens with the throaty clucking going on. Let them keep their old eggs!

Well, I never did get the knack, no matter how many times she took me by the hand and showed me how to gently reach under each hen and pull out the eggs.

Sure it was easy for her! They didn't stare and growl at her! They were too scared. When she was in a hurry she could clear a hen house in 27 seconds flat just by the sound of her voice. The troops would flutter and squawk and scurry out the door into the safety of the yard leaving the eggs to their mistress and her glowing granddaughter.

She would feed them and water them with such care. When they aired, with whatever ailment befalls a chicken, she would scoop them up in her arms and gently stroke the sick one and talk to it while she ministered to it.

At brooding time the small house would be filled with incubators in each room. Baby chicks would peep and cheer to my delight. They were all my own personal real stuffed toys. I was thrilled with them. When it was time to turn them loose into the chicken society I was always so disappointed. We, my pets and I, had come to a parting of the ways. It was now their duty to terrorize me and mine was to learn to conquer them.

The chicken lady loved her feathered friends. She would never let me pick one out as a pet though, which I could never understand as a child. "You can't get attached to a chicken," she would say in her thick German accent, "they will peck you Go play with the kitty."

With as much resolve as she used raising them she would pluck and clean and sell them. Her backyard assembly line was as fast and efficient as any factory line. I learned to pluck and pull out pin feathers and singe the ones. I couldn't get out a single lot more than I plucked!

In her wisdom she taught me more about life than chickens. That being no get attached to things you can't keep. The hens were a means to an end for her, simply an occupation, an income.

Life goes on, there will be more baby chicks after these are gone. It seems to me though I recall there being one or two very old looking hens scratching around that yard. Hmm, could it be that you don't always have to go play with the kittens?

To Cackle or Not to Cackle

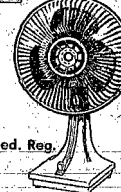

To cackle, or not to cackle, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler to suffer the pains and anguish of causing consternation among humans as they try to interpret our pedestrian activities, or to go forth and insult these people as we actually wing it. Either way they'd want our heads. Aye, that's the rub; to fry, to roast. What more can we do? For they even take the fruit of our wombs. Our grief is enough to make us hide our heads and close out the world. Yet when the morning comes, we again greet the new day and get about the business at hand. To cackle, or not to cackle, That is the question.

Watering Gardens

When watering, apply enough to penetrate the soil to a depth of at least 6 inches. For best production, most gardens require a moisture supply equivalent to one inch of rain per week during the growing season. Light sandy soils generally require more frequent watering than heavier, dark soils. If sprinklers are used, water in the morning to allow plant foliage to dry before night. This practice will help prevent foliage diseases. If possible, use row (furrow) irrigation.

Summer Lawn Care

As the summer temperatures get higher the height of cut on the cool season grasses should also be raised. Maintaining a cutting height around three inches allows the vegetation to insulate the crown or growing point of the turfgrass plants. Watch for signs of drought stress on the lawn. The grass will turn a darker blue-green color and "footprint" when walked on. Water should be applied deeply and infrequently. Do not fertilize cool season turfs such as Kentucky bluegrass during July and August.

Tomatoes

Blossom-end rot is a common growing disorder of tomatoes and peppers. It appears as a leathery scar or rot at the blossom end of fruits and may occur at any stage of fruit development.

Most blossom-end rot occurs after a sudden change in soil moisture. It is most serious when plants growing rapidly are hit with a high soil moisture and by a greater than 90 degree dry spell. Minimize these moisture fluctuations in tomatoes and peppers by mulching them thickly (after watering or a good rain) with grass clippings, newspaper or straw.

They have been doing well all year after year. Try to improve the organic matter of your soil by incorporating leaves and grass clippings when you plow in the fall. These materials all will help the soil hold water longer, yet still be well-drained.

Leaf roll of tomatoes is another disorder which occurs when soil moisture fluctuates rapidly. This leaf roll is not the leaf roll caused by prolonged rains causing too much moisture in the soil, or by severe pruning. Some varieties are more inclined to roll than others.

Lower leaves are the first to roll. The rolling continues up the plant, leaving leaves thick and leathery. The best control is to maintain a uniform soil moisture by using aplastic mulch and irrigating regularly.

Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Exposition

All entries for the 1985 Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Exposition are due in County Extension Offices no later than August 16, according to Ak-Sar-Ben's Director of Agriculture and Events, Berg. The entries then must be forwarded to Ak-Sar-Ben by August 21. Entry blanks and application forms are available at County Extension Offices or at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Berg announced that 4,200 Market Beef nominations have been submitted for the 1985 Exposition, the 58th edition of the event. Nominations have come from 4-H youngsters from an eight-state area for this year's Exposition, the world's largest 4-H livestock show. The eight states represented are Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, and Missouri. The show is scheduled to run September 17 through September 28.

The 4-H Horse Show judging will be held September 18, 19 and 20. Dairy judging starts September 20 and runs through September 21. Market Swine judging is all day on September 22. Market Lamb judging is all day on September 21. The Market E-F judging will be held on September 22 and 24, followed by the premium Livestock Auction.

Ak-Sar-Ben annually hosts 2,500 exhibitors to the Livestock Show, held in conjunction with the Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo during River City Roundup, a midwestern celebration of the area's agricultural and western heritage.

Swine marketing meeting

The Wayne County Pork Producers and the Wayne County Extension Service is sponsoring a swine marketing meeting Thursday, July 18 at 8 p.m. in the Woman's Club Room, City Auditorium, Wayne. Al Wellman, Nebraska Extension Service Livestock Marketing Specialist, will be the main speaker. Terry Schrick, Executive Secretary of Nebraska Pork Producers will also speak.

There is no charge for the meeting and is open to anyone regardless of whether they are members of the Wayne County Pork Producers.

Demand for hay

Demand for alfalfa hay from dry areas in South Dakota and Western Nebraska is starting to pick up, says Don C. Spitzer, Wayne County Extension Service. Farmers wanting to list their hay for sale on Ag-net, can do so by contacting the Wayne County Extension Service.

Ag-net is a computer program sponsored by the University of Nebraska that goes to subscribers in several adjacent states. There is no charge for this service.

JP WITH AGRICULTURE
By David Garst

Walk into any grocery store, and you may hear people complaining about the cost of food.

Actually, Americans spend only about 15 percent of their disposable income on food. This is less than for taxes to support our government. It's less than in any other country. Food, here in the U.S., is a bargain, thanks to our efficient food production and distribution system.

Unfortunately, not everyone benefits equally from this efficiency.

Recently, in honor of National Agriculture Day, a non-profit group in the Midwest sold bread on the steps of city hall for a nickel a loaf - the approximate price farmers receive for every loaf sold in the supermarket. This was not the first time that the group had staged such an event. Ten years ago, they sold "nickel" in honor of those same city hall steps, also in bread of Ag Day.

The interesting thing is that while consumers pay more for bread today than ten years ago, the farmer receives less.

Statistics show that in 1974, the price of wheat was $5.25 a bushel, and a loaf of bread cost the consumer about 40 cents. The farmer received 54 cents per bushel. In 1983, the price of wheat was $3.67. The farmer received only 43 cents per bushel, while retailers paid about 40 percent more.

The truth is, our prolific production is a double-edged sword: By being efficient producers, farmers ensure that Americans enjoy low food prices. The price of food has risen much more slowly over the past few years than the price of other things. Farmers pass their efficiency on to consumers.

By being efficient, farmers lower the price they receive for their products... and yet they are experts at producing bumper crops. Their mountains of grain force the value of this grain down. Add to this the fact that a strong U.S. dollar is suppressing exports, and it's easy to see why it's tough today for farmers to make a profit.

The truth is, efficiency is not fair to farmers. Farmers take it on the chin financially so the rest of us can eat like kings for pennies a bite.

Americans work only 17 minutes to earn one pound of pork, three minutes to earn one pound of bread, and five minutes to earn one dozen eggs. This is in sharp contrast to the Chinese, who must work 500 minutes to earn one pound of pork, 280 minutes to earn one pound of bread, and 375 minutes to earn one dozen eggs.

If we had to shop for groceries in any other country, we'd see that food prices in America are not too hard to swallow.

Cargo preference hurts the hungry

by Doug Gibson

Africa's tragic famine and U.S. shipments of grain and other food to the drought-stricken countries capture the interest of many Americans. But what few people know is that a good share of the tax money that pays for this relief doesn't go to feed the starving people. Instead, it goes for subsidies to the U.S. shipping industry.

Cargo preference laws require that half of the tonnage of commodities shipped under the Food for Peace Program (P.L. 480) must be carried in U.S. flag vessels that charge about $5 more to ship a metric ton of grain than competing foreign ships. American's tax dollars (via the USDA budget) are used to make up the difference in freight cost. The cargo preference cost for a shipment of 30,000 metric tons is about $1.65 million.

For 1985 the "ocean freight differential" will cost taxpayers an estimated $155 million - about one-tenth of the Food for Peace budget, but most people assume it spent to help needy and hungry persons around the world.

This is not only a bad law for the world's hungry, but it's also detrimental to farmers. To make matters worse, maritime interests want to extend cargo preference requirements to other shipments and to increase the 50 percent requirement to a higher percentage of P.L. 480 shipments.

LAST FEBRUARY the maritime interests succeeded in getting a federal judge to rule that cargo preference also applies to the blended credit program. That forced the USDA to cancel $500 million in blended credit sales to several foreign buyers of U.S. farm commodities. That was another blow to the staggering ag economy.

However, the court decision focused attention on a law that needs repealing. Several bills were introduced in Congress to free blended credit and other assisted commercial sales from cargo preference. Farm Bureau and a number of ag allies favor total exemption for agriculture from cargo preference.

Nebraska Congressman Doug Borer and Oklahoma's U.S. Senator Don Nickles introduced Farm Bureau-backed legislation (H.R. 1760 and S.930) to achieve the complete exemption for all farm exports. Nebraska's entire congressional delegation is apparently supportive of such exemptions. Unfortunately, the complete exemption legislation remains stalled with a so-called "compromise" received Senate committee action.

Last month the Senate Ag Committee favorably reported S. 721, which would exempt all ag export programs from cargo preference except food shipments under P.L. 480. At that time the maritime interests hailed this as a "compromise" with agriculture. Then a few days later, the maritime interests prevailed in the Senate Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee with S. 721 given an adverse recommendation.

FARM BUREAU believes that agricultural exports are in so much trouble that they shouldn't be encumbered by cargo preference. That's why Farm Bureau wants to see all ag exports exempt from cargo preference. Farm Bureau views S.721 as a questionable compromise which would take nothing away from maritime interests.

A tough fight is expected when

Center for Rural Affairs schedules annual meeting

The Center for Rural Affairs' annual meeting will be held Saturday, July 27 at the fair grounds in West Point. The day long event will be filled with workshops and panel discussions on ways to strengthen family farming, food and socializing and a 7 p.m. keynote address by Victor Ray, Little Rock, Ark., of the Land Stewardship Project.

Ray will discuss soil conservation, the 1985 farm bill, and corporate and family farming. Ray edited a rural Arkansas newspaper, worked for many years on the national staff of the Farmers Union, and wrote The Corporate Invasion of American Agriculture.

Hour long concurrent workshops will be held in the morning, including "How The Norden Dam was Blocked and the Challenge of the O'Neill Alternative Plan," "How to Survive the Debt Crisis," "How to Get Involved with Your Natural Resource District's Groundwater Management Plan" and "How Reagan's Tax Reform Would Affect Family Farmers."

Three sets of concurrent hour long panel discussions will be held in the afternoon. They include: "The Future of Family Farm Livestock Production," "The Changing Structure of Agriculture and Rural School Consolidation," "After the Crisis: Credit Programs to Rebuild Farms," "Beginning Farmers: Lessons Learned Starting Farming During Financially Tough Times," "Initiative 300 - Now More Than Ever," and "Established Farmers: Reducing Financial Risks by Using Resource-Conserving Alternative Farming Practices."

Workshop leaders and panelists include farmers, farm organization and church leaders, staff of the Nebraska Water Conservation Council and the Farm Crisis Hotline, a Natural Resource District manager and board member, representatives of the Farm Credit Bank of Omaha, the Farmers Home Administration and the Nebraska State Policy Research Office, educators, Center for Rural Affairs staff and University of Missouri agricultural economist Dr. V. James Rhodes.

A polluck supper line opens at 5 p.m. Meat is $1 per serving and guests are asked to bring desserts, salads or other side dishes. The annual meeting is being held in conjunction with the Small Farm Resources Project's Farm Tour and Discussion Day on Friday, July 26 in Hartington. The Small Farm Resource Project is part of the Center for Rural Affairs.

We had a weiner roast on the Fourth, and the chiggers found me. Makes it tough to get to sleep at night. At last it's been nice and cool. In fact, we had to have jackets to watch the fireworks.

For a long time, I read about Yuppies and wondered what that meant. I knew Yippee and Hippie and Flower Child. I learned last week that in California a Granola Mom is an Earth Mother.

"But Yuppies? It didn't sound like anything I would want to be. Turns out it stands for Young Urban Professional. Maybe I would consider it, but Young is an exclusive term, and I'm certainly not Urban. I like to think of myself as Professional. I guess.

I've found a quiz to determine whether I can fit the category, and I failed miserably. You add 10 points for things like wearing labels such as Calvin Klein, and going to tennis camps. You subtract 10 points if you wear polyester any time or use any household appliance that is avocado green.

When my old refrigerator conked out in July two years ago, I got a good buy on the last avocado green one in the store. I finally had appliances that matched.

I think I must be more of a Yubbie. Yubbie stands for Young Urban Breadwinner. I'm not any of those, but I fit the criteria:

Collect two points for driving an American car made in 1977 or earlier, subtract ten if you own a sailboat or time-share a vacation condo.

YUBBIES THINK a beautiful piece of art is a framed family portrait, patronize the drive-up window at Burger King, and do not have mothers-in-law living in Palm Springs.

All of this information I gleaned from last Sunday's World Herald, along with one psychiatrist's theory of what has gone wrong with America's children. She says the problem is too little "lap time." She says if a child wants to be held, the mother should respond and be relaxed about it.

The problem is that too many of our children don't get enough lap time at an appropriate age, and this propels them into premature sex, alcohol and drug abuse.

And she ends by saying "We will be well into the prevention of what we call social ills if we understand the critical importance of adequate emotional nurturing. So much of what we see as social problems is really a search for something to kill the pain and love of inadequate lap time." Makes sense to me.

My Dad once bought an oak rocking chair with arms at an auction for 50 cents. It was in my Mom's living room, and eventually came to mine. It was used for each of our kids. The rockers have both been replaced. In fact, it's in the basement waiting for stain and varnish right now.

"But I wouldn't take $50 for it. I plan to rock my grandchildren in it. I have my own theory that many little ones don't get enough "nap time" either. That was always the high spot of our day. They needed it, and if they didn't, I did!

There was a lot of corn "knee high by the Fourth of July." There was also some that just sprouted since the rain. The warm days and cool nights are great corn-growing weather.

Did you hear about the Iowa farmer, the Kansas farmer, and the Nebraska farmer, all of whom died in the same week and wanted to be cremated? There aren't that many crematoriums in the Midwest, and their bodies all ended up in Omaha.

The Iowa farmer went in first. They turned on the heat for 20", and gave the ashes (they're called cremains) to the family.

It took an hour to do the Kansas farmer. And after two hours, the Nebraska farmer walked out, wiping his brow, saying, "Boy, if this heat keeps up, it'll be the end of the corn!"

July 4th parade

A LARGE CROWD WAS ON hand last Thursday morning to watch the first Fourth of July parade in Hoskins since the 1940's. The 25 entries were led by a color guard from American Legion Post 16 of Norfolk. A total of 40 flags were carried in the parade and placed in front of each Main Street business. Among those taking part in the celebration was State Senator Gerald Conway of Wayne. Other participants included uniformed veterans, 4-H groups, members of the village-sponsored baton twirling class, horses, clowns and floats. The parade ended at the fire hall, where the city flag was raised and everyone joined in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Hahn and daughter of Lincoln and Mrs. Alta Heggemeyer and Loren of Kearney. Other evening guests were Mrs. Bill Gries and Beth of Elkhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Droscher and Mandy of Hadar and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Wagner and Missy Reeves of Hoskins.

Mrs. Charles Maas returned home Thursday after spending 10 days with her mother, Mrs. Wilma Holroyd at Winfield, Kan. While there she attended the Holroyd family reunion at Cedar Vale, Kan. She also participated in two concerts with the Winfield Municipal Band. She was a member of the band from 1964-1972.

Christine Lueker returned home June 29 from Missouri where she visited her aunts, Mrs. Mary Kromming at Union, Mo. and Mrs. Bertha Stettin at Washington, Mo. She also visited friends and relatives at St. Louis and attended the wedding of Phyllis Riley and Thomas Pasley at Jefferson City.

A family gathering was held at the Hoskins fire hall Saturday evening honoring Cami Jo Thurstenson of PETE SNYDER OF ALLEN, at right, accepts a $10,000 check from members of the Aid Association for Lutherans Branches 2796 of Concord and 1443 of Martinsburg. The money was raised to assist Snyder, who underwent surgery earlier this spring to remove an aneurysm of the brain. Presenting the check are, from left, Sandy Petit, representing Branch 1443, and Duane Harder and Francis Kraemer, representing Branch 2796.

Neva and Ralph Smith and Ella Isom spent the 4th of July with the Merlin Smith family at their cottage at Black-Hawk Lake in Iowa.

The Emry family had five cousins all the same age in attendance at the alumni reunion. Attending were Bob Johnson, Sioux City, Ia. Dr. Arnold Emry, of Wayne, Arlene Emry, Fox of Orlando, Fla. Carolyn Snyder Kraemer of Wakefield, and Dr. Warren Emry of Boevidere, Ill. The cousins had all graduated from Allen high school. The cousins have celebrated their birthdays together thru the years.

July 4th dinner guests of Mabel Wheeler were Mrs. Vera Hinds of Ponca, Mrs. Bill Carnell of Coon Rapids, Minn. and Mrs. Elvera Gobel of Longmont, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Emery Boevidere, Ill. were Sunday thru Thursday visitors of Mrs. Edna Emry.

Friday afternoon guests in the Oscar Koester home were Mr. and Mrs. Jody Ellis, Alexis and Greg of LaVista, Mrs. John Stephens Stacy and Nicole of Belton, Mo. They were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ralph of Ramona, Calif. left Monday morning following a two week visit with relatives in the area and attending the Isom reunion. They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Linafelter.

On Friday the Senior Citizens Center celebrated the occasion of birthdays of five people at the Allen Senior Center. They were Erma Koester, Alice Steele, Alan Hagland, K.R. Mitchell and Connie Lindahl. Mistress of ceremonies, acting in place of the director, who was on vacation, was Virginia Wheeler, who also made the table favors. Hostesses were Sarah Haglund, Sylvia Whitford, Elizabeth Anderson and Inez Jackson. Over 30 were in attendance.

The old Grand picnic was held at the home of Oscar and Ruby Beargon in South Sioux City with Mr. and Mrs. Clair Schubert, Ardith Linafelter, Carmen Steuwer, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Schroeder attending from Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lindahl and Mrs. Della Rasmussen of Homer met Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lindahl Mike and Brian of Dumas, Texas in Salina, Kansas over the week end. The boys returned home with them for a weeks visit with them and Mr. and Mrs. Don Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Peters of Dixon.

Rev. and Mrs. Andy Kwankin and Des Williams were July 4th weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Williams of Gettenburg Iowa.

June 30 guests in the Oscar Koester home were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wheeler of Madera, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Luhr and Cory and Ryan Wheeler of Wayne, Norman Koester of Council Bluffs, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Nygren, Sioux City Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Wakefield, and Virginia Wheeler.

Marion Ellis, Carol, Stephanie and Stacy Carlson attended the Lieber reunion on Sunday at the Oakland, park. One hundred and one attended.

Virginia Johnson and Judy Fowler of Texas were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Ellis.

Reva Stahn and Edna Rapp of Pleasant Dale spent last weekend in the Ella Isom home and attended class reunions and the alumni gathering on Sunday afternoon. Dinner guests Sunday of Elias's were Ralph and Neva Smith of Ontario Ore. Reva Stahn, Edna Rapp, Harlin and Verlyn Anderson and Dana, Bob and Karin Blohm, Kris and Brent, Phil and Marlen Ellis and Bob Good were afternoon callers.

Visitors in the Vernon Ellis home the past 10 days were Don Ellis of Alta Loma, Calif. Calvin Ellis of Denver, Colo. Keith Ellis and Lance of Englewood, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellis of Storm Lake, Iowa. Friday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ellis and family of Orange City, Iowa. The Merlin Schultz family of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Sandbold and family of Morris, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ellis and family of Sioux City, Ia. Bob Good of Torrence, Calif. and Larry. Good, Sioux Falls, S.D.

Vernon "Doc" Ellis is a surgical patient at the St. Lukes Medical Center in Sioux City and reported doing fine.

Fund drive completed for resident of Allen

Members of the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Branches 2796 of Concord and 1443 of Martinsburg recently completed a $10,000 fund drive to benefit Pete Snyder of Allen. Branch volunteers participated in May 17 at Marian Health Center in Sioux City to remove an aneurysm of the brain.
 During the fund raising efforts, branch members organized a variety of activities to pay temporary living expenses for the Snyder family while Pete is disabled, as well as for extensive medical and related expenses not covered by insurance. AAL Branch volunteers participated in the AAL's Cooperative Benevolence Program through which AAL supplements funds raised locally to help volunteers achieve their financial goals.

Lock in high rates on your savings now.

Interest rates are falling. So now's the time to LOCK IN a high rate for long-term savings.

Occidental Nebraska is consistently a leader in offering high rates on certificate savings. Now is the time to take advantage of these high rates as a hedge against future interest rate plunges.

Choose a term from 2-5 years, $500 minimum. Of course, your savings are insured safe up to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

Special rates on Certificates of Deposit of $100,000 or more can be obtained by calling or stopping in to any office.

Term	Rate	Annual Yield
24 month	8.85%	9.04%
36 month	9.00%	9.20%
48 month	9.25%	9.40%
60 month	9.50%	9.72%
