Property tax request lowered

by Chuck Hackenmilller

Wayne-Carroll School District's Board of Education passed a 1985-86 school year budget that reflects a decrease in total property tax requirements.

The decrease is $2,869 less than was the requirement last school year (less than 1 percent).

The total property tax requirement approved for 1985-86 is $1,514,740, which includes a 1 percent collection fee for Office of County Treasurer and a 3 percent for delinquent taxes.

According to a budget summary prepared by District 17 School District Superintendent Francis Haun, the general fund property tax requirements will increase $7,031. Sinking fund requirements will stay the same, while requirements for bond will decrease from $66,560 to zero this school year.

Haun said the bond retirement, plus the anticipation that the school district will obtain its entire $375,000 for tuition in 1985-86, are two reasons why the property tax requirement is lower than the previous year.

In a written message to the school board members, Superintendent Francis Haun said the budget

"should reflect the financial concerns of the community insofar as possible and still attempt to retain the integrity of the educational programs."

He said high school tuition receipts in past years have been impossible to predict because of litigation and shortfall funding.

STATE AID projections, he said, are reduced to $319,000 for 1986 from $384,000 in 1985.

Haun said even though the local economy is depressed, there has not been a reprieve in fixed costs for the school district. Costs of school texts and consumable supplies rose approximately 6 percent, he said.

Salary negotiations have not been resolved with the teachers. Salaries in the approved budget were set at a 3 percent increase, with some allowance made for movement on the teacher's schedule of pay, Haun said Tuesday night.

Haun told the board members: "Our last increase was Aug. 1, 1980," McEvoy told the city council.

He labeled the rate increase proposal as very nominal and "fair to our subscribers."

Councilman Hejer asked McEvoy if the customers would be getting anything from this proposed increase.

McEvoy said that over the past 1 1/2 years, the company has invested over $125,000 in improvements to the company and said the increase will be a return on the investment.

Before the investment, subscribers had 20 channels to choose from. The channel numbers have since increased to 25, including basic service, Tier I and two premium services that are available.

The company is now in a position to handle 40 channels, McEvoy said.

THE SECOND HEARING for the cable increase will take place at the next regular city council meeting, slated for Aug. 27.

In other action Tuesday evening, the city council approved a motion made by Councilman Keith Mosley to accept a bid of approximately $4,400 from Brower Construction of Sioux City for asphalt paving of the city's recreational tennis courts on the north end of the city near the municipal swimming pool.

The bid was approved subject to discussion with the Wayne City Recreation Board and the determination as to if the present courts and markings meet the current tennis regulation standards.

Superintendent of Public Works Vern Schulz said he discussed the asphalt work on the tennis courts with Brower Construction, a firm which was approved by the city council to do the asphalt overlay work on

To increase 13 percent

Budget hike gets ESU nod

By LaVon Anderson

The Educational Service Unit One tax levy for the 1985-86 fiscal year is expected to be about 3.5 cents per $100 of actual valuation in the six-county area the system serves, including Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne.

The levy is expected to generate about $532,489 of the $2,284,379 budget unanimously adopted by the ESU board of directors during a budget hearing Tuesday night at headquarters in Wakefield.

The new budget shows an increase of $268,998.69 (approximately 13 percent) over last year's budget of $2,015,380.32.

PROGRAMS FUNDED by the county levy include health services; administration and administrative supervision; business, maintenance and operation of plant, and media center.

Estimated actual valuation figures presented for 1985-86 are as follows: Cedar, $313,507,455; Dakota, $327,994,196; Dixon, $202,621,420; Knox, $226,894,869; Thurston, $121,456,489; Wayne, $260,563,155; Antelope, $15,916,917; Pierce, $23,189,852; Stanton, $1,768,989; and Cuming, $649,320.

Total for the 10 counties for the coming fiscal year is $1,536,764,862. That compares with last year's figure of $1,533,657,695, for a total increase in valuation of $3,107,167.

THE HIGHEST area that is funded through the general levy is school health services which includes the services of a nurse.

Other areas funded by the levy, listed in order from the most dollars to the least, include media services to schools, business functions, administration, administrative supervision, the board and operation of plant, maintenance, and transportation.

A COMPLETE breakdown of the 1985-86 ESU 1 budget expenditures include $1,282,890.00 in special education services; $532,489.00 in general levies; and $254,000.00 in transfers, for total budget expenditures of $2,069,379.00.

The budget also calls for $215,000.00 in cash reserves, bringing the total to $2,284,379.

Estimated revenues during 1985-86 include $200,000.00 in estimated cash carry over; $1,282,890.00 in special education contracts; $10,000.00 in earned interest; $254,000.00 in transfers; $532,489.00 in total taxes; and $5,000.00 miscellaneous, for a total of $2,284,379.

MEMBERS OF THE ESU 1 board of directors held their regular monthly meeting following Tuesday night's budget hearing.

Duane Tappe, ESU 1 special education administrator, presented board members with a written report outlining 1985-86 staff assignments.

The Level III program in Wynot will be taken over by the Wynot Public Schools, Katie Johann, ESU 1 teacher at Wynot during 1984-85, accepted a position in Sioux City.

Level III program costs in Wayne have been cut, with the number of ESU 1 aides reduced from five to four.

In South Sioux City, Janet Koening, one of three teachers there, resigned and took a job in Sioux City.

Because of declining enrollment, Tappe said Koening's position will not be replaced. The students will be divided between Diane Lundquist and Chris Jorgensen.

IN THE ESU 1, pre-kindergarten program, Marilyn Root resigned to move to Washington, D. C. She has been replaced by Leah Merkwan, who has been on the ESU 1 staff serving school age children.

Merkwan and Kay Cattle will both be full-time pre-kindergarten resource teachers.

In the resource program, Tappe reported that Carol Clark has resigned to accept a position at Laurel Public School. Since there is a slight increase in contracts, Tappe said Clark has been replaced with a 3/5 time person at Ponca and a 3/5 time person at Wayne.

Current staff in ESU 1 psychological services have all contracted again and will be assigned to schools on a full-time equivalency basis.

Tappe said it is possible that ESU 1 may need to hire an additional part-time psychologist to handle additional late requests for the service in Knox County schools.

Tappe also reported an extensive turnover in the speech pathology department with five resignations.

He said ESU 1 has been able to fill the positions with new staff and has had to change several assignments to keep employees close to schools they serve.

One speech pathologist's position was not refilled, however, because Wayne Public Schools hired their own clinician.

In closing his report, Tappe said the current ESU 1 audiologist has signed a contract for another year.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday night, board members approved a proposal by Administrator Harry Mills to purchase tapes and films in two parts.

Part of the tapes are to be paid in the current fiscal year, with the balance of tapes and films to be paid sometime in the next 12 months.

The board also voted unanimously to authorize the administrator to advertise for bids to have the ESU 1 books audited after the close of the fiscal year — Aug. 30.

A report on coop purchases was given by Assistant Administrator Rodney Garwood.

ESU 1 board members learned that a unit-wide Information Day Workshop will be held at Wayne Public Schools on Aug. 26, and a Staff Orientation Day is scheduled Aug. 23 in the ESU 1 conference room at Wakefield.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, board members went into executive session to discuss contract negotiations and pending legal action.

The legal action involves a petition filed in district court by ESU 1 nurses Bonnie Storm and Pauline Kirsch of South Sioux City, challenging the board's jurisdiction over their contracts for 1985-86.

No action was taken when the board reconvened.

Next meeting of the ESU 1 board of directors is slated Sept. 10 at 8 p.m.

City conducts cable rate hike hearing

by Chuck Hackenmilller

The first of two public hearings on a request by Wayne Cablevision to increase rates took place Tuesday evening in the Wayne City Council chambers — with nobody voicing an objection to the increases proposed.

Wayne Cablevision has requested an increase of $1 per month for the "basic" cable service charge, 15 cents per month more for additional outlets and an added 50 cents per month for "Tier II" service.

The additional fees will provide to Wayne Cablevision an increase in income for the next two years of 4 1/2 percent per year.

Jack McEvoy, representing Apollo Communications, Inc. (owners and operators of Wayne Cablevision), appeared before the city council Tuesday evening to speak in favor of the rate hike.

"Our last increase was Aug. 1, 1980," McEvoy told the city council.

He labeled the rate increase proposal as very nominal and "fair to our subscribers."

Councilman Hejer asked McEvoy if the customers would be getting anything from this proposed increase.

Before the investment, subscribers had 20 channels to choose from. The channel numbers have since increased to 25, including basic service, Tier I and two premium services that are available.

The company is now in a position to handle 40 channels, McEvoy said.

THE SECOND HEARING for the cable increase will take place at the next regular city council meeting, slated for Aug. 27.

In other action Tuesday evening, the city council approved a motion made by Councilman Keith Mosley to accept a bid of approximately $4,400 from Brower Construction of Sioux City for asphalt paving of the city's recreational tennis courts on the north end of the city near the municipal swimming pool.

The bid was approved subject to discussion with the Wayne City Recreation Board and the determination as to if the present courts and markings meet the current tennis regulation standards.

Superintendent of Public Works Vern Schulz said he discussed the asphalt work on the tennis courts with Brower Construction, a firm which was approved by the city council to do the asphalt overlay work on the Sherman Street project and several other street projects near Overin Field.

Schultz said the city tennis court was never intended to become a four-nement court — but a playground court. He said the final result of the asphalt paving of the court might not make it to the best in the world, but it will be excellent courts for the city of Wayne.

Reward offered

Bill's GW in Wayne is offering a $500-reward for the reporting and conviction of individual(s) who had vandalized his business and several automobiles.

Bill Lueders said two cars in his grocery store parking lot had been scratched recently and on Sunday evening, he said holes were shot in his store windows with a BB gun.

Lueders said he hopes the reward money will bring some information on the vandalism acts. "There has been a lot of it going on in this area of town," he said.

Allen student studying in Germany

Craig Hoffman, son of Marge and Garry Hoffman of Allen, is spending his junior year of high school in Haseleuene, West Germany as an exchange student with Youth for Understanding.

Craig's host family, Mr. and Mrs. Luelbold Berentzen and their three sons, ages 18, 20 and 21, live on a 900-acre farm with seven tractors and 300 head of cattle.

Assisting Craig with the German language during the past year was Rainier Wichern of West Germany, who visited in the Hoffman home and attended school at Allen through the same Youth for Understanding program.

Rainer and his parents live approximately 200 miles from Craig's host home and have visited him since his arrival in Germany.

National Guard Unit honored

Company A 1st Battalion (Mechanized) 134th Infantry unit from Wayne/O'Neill recently returned from their two-week annual training at Camp Ripley, Minn.

During the two week training, the unit was evaluated by active army personnel and received an excellent rating.

Excellent ratings are given to those units that meet or exceed regular army standards.

This is the first excellent rating received by the Wayne/O'Neill unit in many years.

Company A also received the Battalion's Best Training Award as well as the Battalion's Best Platoon Award which was given to the third platoon of a Company.

Specialist 4th Class Mike Uhing and Staff Sergeant Ken Merchen were awarded both of the Ak-Sar-Ben awards. These awards are given to the two outstanding soldiers in the Battalion.

Company A is also located in Wayne and O'Neill and commanded by Captain Thomas Johnson of Norfolk with Dennis Spangler of Wayne serving as the First Sergeant.

School registration at Allen

High school registration at Allen will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 20 and 21 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

School officials request that freshmen and seniors register on Tuesday, and sophomores and juniors on Wednesday. Students may register either day if they are unable to register on the days designated.

Teachers will hold in-service days on Aug. 22 and 23, with the first day of school slated Monday, Aug. 26 at 8:30 a.m.

The budget hearing for Allen Consolidated School has been set for Monday, Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the school lunch room.

Campaign talk ripples state

Gov. Bob Kerrey said last week he's "strongly tempted" to seek re-election in 1986, but that he has made no final decision.

"I'm wrestling with the question of whether to go back to the business or remain in politics," Kerrey said at a press conference.

Kerrey is involved in several businesses including restaurants, a bowling alley and a fitness center. As governor, he has retained an interest in the businesses, but has removed himself from daily business decisions.

Kerrey would say only that he intends to make his decision soon. He would not be pinned down about whether that means days, weeks or months. He said he owned an early decision to other potential Democratic candidates.

Questions about his political plans followed the publication last week of a nationally syndicated column by David Broder of the Washington Post. Broder, who interviewed Kerrey recently in Boise, Idaho, at the National Governors' Association meeting, implied that the re-election decision has been made. The column notes the unpopularity in Nebraska of a Kerrey tax base-broadening proposal, and adds: "But he intends to campaign on it next year."

OF THE BRODER interview, Kerrey said: "I did not directly indicate I would (seek re-election)."

Meanwhile, interest in challenging Kerrey among Republicans appears high. The GOP has no announced candidates, but an incomplete list of those who have considered, or are currently considering, entry into the race includes former Lancaster County GOP Chairman Randy Moody, U.S. Rep. Hal Daub of Omaha, State Chairman Kermil Brashear of Omaha, state Sens. Howard Lamb of Anselmo, Rex Haberman of Imperial, William Barrett of Lexington and the Rev. Everett Slieven of Louisville.

Although they aren't talking about it much themselves, their fellow Republicans are quick to add the names of State Treasurer Kay Orr, state Sen. John DeCamp of Nelso and University of Nebraska Regent Nancy Hoch of Nebraska City.

In recent weeks, optimism seems to be on the rise among state GOP leaders about prospects for defeating Kerrey at the polls next year. The presence of the school consolidation and finance referendum on the same 1986 general election ballot where Kerrey is expected to seek re-election is bound to work to the incumbent's disadvantage, Republicans say.

"I see the presence of the referendum, coupled with an independent campaign in support of it, as being a constant reminder and a permanent monument to (Kerrey's) lack of leadership," Brashear said.

THE REFERENDUM will force Kerrey to justify to voters throughout the 1986 campaign what Republicans consider his sloppy and inconsistent handling of LB 662, the school consolidation and finance law he signed on April 24, Brashear said.

"If this were just a bad law that he signed, 90 days from now, you couldn't keep it alive," Brashear said.

Secretary of State Allen Beermann is expected to certify the referendum for the 1986 ballot once petition signatures are validated. The Committee to Repeal LB 662 has submitted to Beermann about 43,000 signatures. If at least 27,395 are verified as those of registered voters, the question of repealing LB 662 will be submitted to the people.

State Democratic Chairman Tom Monaghan, who acknowledged that it would be better politically for Kerrey not to have his name on the same ballot with the LB 662 referendum, said he doesn't consider it a serious obstacle to Kerrey's re-election.

"This is about the only issue they (Republicans) have to talk about, and they're going to run with it as long as they can," Monaghan said.

Monaghan said Kerrey should have no concerns about justifying his handling of LB 662. He suggested that Republican state senators should be concerned that voters next year will hold them accountable next year for loading down through floor amendments a clean and simple bill to create tax equity through mandatory school consolidation.

viewpoint

Police patrol

This is a hypothetical situation, but it is something that could occur in Wayne.

A party during the early morning hours gets out of hand, as boisterous and unruly individuals begin harassing other individuals — causing the party host to contact the local police department.

The officer on duty arrives at the party and finds himself alone to handle the drunkards intent now on harassing the law.

As the officer spends 20 or more minutes trying to bring peace and calm to the loud party, the remainder of the community is unguarded and vulnerable.

City Police Chief Vern Fairchild pointed out to the city council, prior to city budget approval, the importance and practicality of hiring an additional man to patrol the streets of Wayne.

The city has approved Fairchild's request. However it appears that the new officer, who will join Wayne's other city police officer in a rotating shift will not be able to start for another three to five months.

A new officer will allow Fairchild to place two law enforcers on the late evening shift — to provide additional coverage in the middle of the night.

Even police officers need vacations. Fairchild said that with days off and vacation taken by other city officers, he is lucky to have one officer on duty at a time.

During the late evening hours, the most calls come in for traffic and loud parties. There are sometimes situations where three officers are needed at the scene of the disturbance.

Before hiring a new officer, guidelines concerning civil service testing must be met. Fairchild said he couldn't afford to hire a new officer until about January, when his 1985-86 budget will allow him to start contributing a salary for the new officer.

Ordinarily, with the present economy not totally stabilized and with the talk of keeping property taxes down, this would not be a logical time for city hall to hire additional staff members.

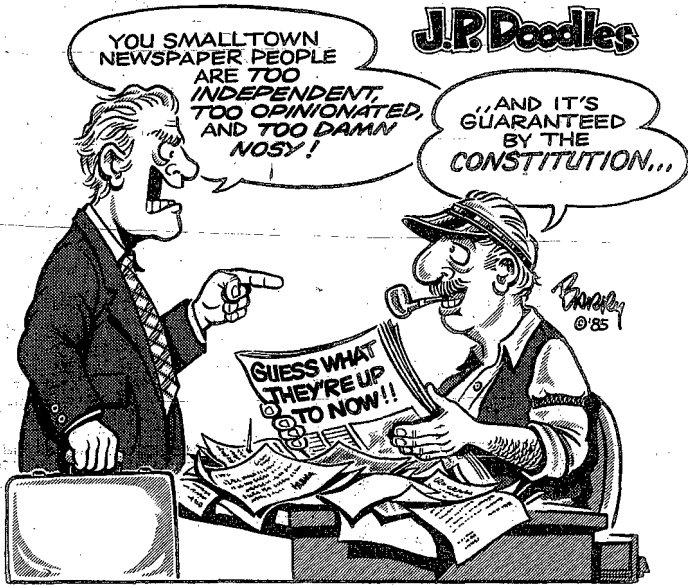

The Wayne City council feels that adequate protection is needed to assure the safety of its residents. And they have sided with Fairchild, when they approved the budget, to go ahead and find someone to fill in the new police position.

The council's attitude might be: "Better to be safe than sorry."

There is nothing wrong with that theory. The idea of one officer being tied down at another location, and leaving the businesses wide open for trouble, is unsettling.

And it is something that should be remedied.

Bill introduced on medicare reimbursements

Update on Medicare Urban/rural wage index

Since 1983, a serious problem has existed with Medicare's urban rural area wage index. The problem involves the different area wage rates for the reimbursement of urban and rural hospitals. These area wage indexes were based on the assumption that wages are lower in rural communities than in urban areas. They did not take into consideration, however, the facts that rural hospitals use more part-time staff, pay competitively to attract staff, and have high percentages of Medicare patients.

The Department of Health and Human Services has now completed a study of this situation and the Health Care Financing Administration has developed a gross wage index that, if implemented, should be fairer to Nebraska hospitals. I am cosponsoring a bill that would put this new formula into effect on Oct. 1, 1985. Under this new formula both rural and urban hospitals in Nebraska will be more fully reimbursed for their Medicare cases.

Food for peace

The final version of the Foreign Assistance Bill, which is on its way to the President, includes amendments I added in committee that will raise the amount of U.S. agricultural commodities to be shipped under the Food for Peace (P.L. 480) program. The amounts set in the final version of the bill are not quite as high as those we set during committee action, but they do represent a significant increase.

The Conference Bill provides that for fiscal year 1986, a minimum of 1.8 million tons of U.S. agricultural commodities will be shipped, and for fiscal year 1987, a minimum of 1.9 million metric tons. This amounts to an increase of 100,000 metric tons in year.

Facts on Nebraska

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently issued its annual report of state agricultural data, based on 1984 statistics. Nebraskans might be interested to know that:

- There are 49.1 million acres in Nebraska. 22.4 million acres are considered cropland and 23 million acres pastureland.
- 26% of the cropland is irrigated.
- Only 2.2% of Nebraska's cropland was set aside in Federal farm programs.
- The average Nebraska farmer is 48.7 years old.

- 85% of Nebraska's farms are family farms.
- 25% of Nebraska's farmers participated in Federal set aside programs.
- Nebraska ranks second in the nation in production of cattle and calves.
- We rank fourth in production of corn and sixth in production of hogs.
- The average Nebraska farm is 187.42 acres.
- In 1980 Nebraska farmers received $22.9 million in government payments (payments received from Federal conservation, wheat, feed grains and PIK programs). In 1983, they received $762.3 million in government payments (the increase was largely attributable to the 1983 PIK program).
- Net farm income after inventory adjustment has gone from $1,216 million in 1981 to $384.9 million in 1983.
- And Cumming County was the top county in 1984 in agricultural sales.

Breaking ground for injured farmers

by Cheryl Stubbendieck

No two ways about it — farming and ranching are hard, physical jobs. For farmers and ranchers with handicaps, pursuing their chosen professions is even more difficult.

In 1979, a farmer with a serious physical handicap contacted the ag engineering department at Purdue University in Indiana, seeking information on how to modify his machinery so he could continue farming. The ag engineers soon concluded that there was little technical information available to help farmers with special needs. Because of this incident, a project called "Breaking New Ground" was established at Purdue. Very simply, its goal is to help agricultural producers with physical handicaps continue in their line of work.

FARMING IS the most hazardous occupation in the U.S. today, in part because farmers often work alone and help may be a long time and a long distance away if an accident happens. Last year, more than 400 agricultural-related accidents resulted in temporary or permanent disabilities, including hand, arm and leg amputations; paraplegia and quadriplegia; back injuries; head injuries; musculoskeletal injuries; and injuries to eyes. More than 560,000 U.S. ag workers have physical handicaps which hinder them in completing essential farm or ranch tasks.

Since its inception, Breaking New Ground has sought to identify barriers for producers and find ways around them. The barriers are many. Heavy farm machinery and its components often have to be hitched to a tractor or disassembled, which generally requires a strong, two-armed individual. Access to a tractor or combine seat is a critical barrier for persons with impaired mobility. Operating tractor controls can be very difficult for operators with impaired mobility, arthritis or missing limbs.

Farmers or ranchers with arm amputations or limited use of one hand have difficulty in grasping tools and equipment. Agricultural buildings often are not accessible for producer whose mobility is impaired.

YET ALL OF these problems can be overcome with the right modifications. Wrenches can be adapted for use with a prosthetic device. Chairlifts allow a farmer to transfer from a wheel chair to the driver's seat of a tractor. Hydraulically operated steps unfold from another tractor, allowing a farmer with limited mobility to climb into position; the steps fold up while the tractor is in use.

Many other modifications are possible. Breaking New Ground has researched many of them and acts as a clearinghouse for information about them. In its six years, the project has helped only about 800 farmers, no doubt because farmers and ranchers with handicaps are unaware of its existence.

Breaking New Ground published a quarterly newsletter by the same name, which shows useful modifications for farm equipment and details one person's experiences in overcoming problems on the farm or ranch. It also conducts workshops and conferences and has an information and referral service to respond to specific needs.

Interested persons can get a copy of the newsletter and receive other help by writing Breaking New Ground, Department of Agricultural Engineering, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana 47907. Breaking New Ground received start-up funding from Deere and Company but now depends on contributions.

It is most certainly true that intelligent management, not physical strength, determines an individual's success in farming or ranching nowadays. But without special help, ag producers with handicaps often don't have a chance for success. The Breaking New Ground project can be an important resource for many people.

FATHER RICHLING of Lynch officiated at the 2 o'clock wedding rites. Decorations included pink pew bows.

Singers were Sister Rosann Ocken and Sister Marie Marie Rofinghaus of Norfolk, and organist was Barb Weeder of Lynch.

Guests were registered by Annette Ludwig of Spencer, and ushered into the church by Rick Hull of Grand Island, David Podany of Stanton and Kelly Kalkowski of Lynch.

Nicky Muhs of Lincoln was flower girl, and Christopher Klime of Batesland, S. D. was ring bearer. Altar boys were Scott Allen and Kory Kalkowski, both of Lynch.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father and appeared in a white floor-length gown. She wore her mother's wedding veil.

Maid of honor was Bernice Kube of Wayne, and bridesmaids were Synthia Paulson of Norfolk, Mary Podany of Petersburg and Leona Halstead of Lynch.

They wore pink taffeta frocks in floor length, and carried pink roses.

Mike Kathol of Elgin served as best man. Groomsmen were Lance Zach of Columbus, Jamie Selting of Elgin, and Paul Podany of Petersburg.

The men in the wedding party were attired in gray tuxedos with matching ties and cummerbunds, and white wing tip collar shirts.

The bride's mother selected a pink dress, and the bridegroom's mother chose a gray fashion.

FOLLOWING THE wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the Lynch Community Hall; hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Don Kayl of Lynch.

Arranging gifts were Julie Sixfa, Barb Courtney and Brenda Purviance, all of Lynch.

Eva McGill of Lynch cut and served the cake. Noreen Bjornsen of Lynch poured coffee and tea, and Lisa Scott of O'Neill served punch.

Waitresses were Lynette Kalkowski, Leah Kalkowski, Cecilia McGill and Kimberly McGill, all of Lynch.

Watch for bikers

Sorry kids, but it's almost time to put away the cutoffs and tanning lotion and break out the pencils and notebook paper. That's right, school opens in just a couple of weeks.

In addition to paper and pencils, another popular item most of the younger children and plenty of the senior high and college students use during the first few months of the school year is bikes. And for motorists, that can be a headache.

But bike riding can be a headache (and many other aches) for pedalers, too, because many motorists are not defensive enough when driving in town.

Motorists should be disciplined and on the lookout for bikers. However, it seems many drivers are too carefree and too careless.

Early Monday evening as I was walking up Main Street I heard a truck roaring behind me. To be honest, I didn't know it was an automobile until I turned around and saw it. When I first heard it I thought a pilot accidentally thought Main Street was a runway and he was landing in town. Let's just say the truck was loud and moving rather quickly.

As I turned back around and started walking again, I noticed two children on bikes approximately 50 feet in front of me.

Immediately I pictured a catastrophe, but fortunately one not only wouldn't have had the truck, but also earless.

Since the children were normal and did have the proper number of ears, they heard the "bomb" coming, stopped at the corner and waited for it to pass.

As the truck disappeared and the children rode by, I heard them talking about how fast the driver was going through town.

Although they were only in the 10-12 age bracket, they made rather mature comments. The children discussed how lucky they were that they heard the truck coming because they were just about to cross the street.

And then I realized that most cars (or tanks for that matter) aren't as loud as that particular truck was and that children usually rely on only one sense, their sight, to determine if it's safe to cross the street.

When you think about it, it's kind of scary knowing that young children have only one defense (their vision) against motorists. And for that matter, motorists can also only use their vision to detect bikers.

It's also scary when you think about the many accidents that occur each year between defensive motorists and defensive bikers. It makes you realize just how serious the subject is.

When you think about it, driving over the speed limit in town is silly anyway. Lights, stop signs, congested traffic and pedestrians all effect the rate one can travel within the city limits.

But this isn't a column about reckless driving and speeding. We're all including your truly topped speed limits before. At one time or another we've all been in a hurry or became lackadaisical while driving and have gone over the speed limit.

This is, however, a column about being extra careful while driving and biking. It's a reminder—that accidents do happen and are more likely to happen to careless drivers and to careless pedestrians than to careful ones.

So just remember to take it easy and be on the lookout for bikers and motorists. Don't simply hope a child won't dart out in front of your car, but instead anticipate possible confrontations so you'll be prepared if something does happen. And by the same token, don't expect motorists to be careful. You should anticipate a reckless driver.

Remember, anticipation will not only make you better drivers and bikers, but if also might save a life.

'Mac' calls it quits after 31 years at Wayne-Carroll

When the 1985 school year begins at Wayne-Carroll later this month, a familiar face will be missing.

After 31 years of teaching and coaching in the Wayne school system, Harold 'Mac' Maciejewski has decided to retire.

Although it may seem strange not having Mac directly associated with Wayne-Carroll athletics this year, retirement is all that's left for the 65-year-old because since his teaching/coaching career began in the 1940s, he has accomplished almost every goal men of similar positions would desire.

Mac's teaching/coaching career all started in Arkansas after he graduated from Henderson State College in Arkadelphia, Ark. in 1942.

He was a member of the 648th Topographical Battalion in Australia and the Philippine Islands during World War II from 1942-45. During his stay in the Philippines, he was scheduling chairman for 18 football teams that played in Manila and he also coached one squad there.

As a high school football player, he was recruited by Henderson State to play football and received a scholarship to attend the teacher's college.

His college football career was so successful that he returned to his home town, Loup City, to train for a tryout with the Los Angeles Rams.

It was during this training period that Mac decided to teach in the Loup City school system.

"I still wonder how I would've done with the Rams. I was 5-10 and 210 pounds and back then that was big enough to play pro ball. But the job opened up at Loup City and I thought it would be fun and challenging to teach at the same place I went to school so I took the job," Mac explained.

Mac's teaching duties at Loup City were English and social studies, but he was also named football, basketball and track coach.

And it didn't take him long to turn Loup City athletics into a respected program. In addition to directing a successful football team, Mac guided Loup City to the state basketball tournament his first year as the school's mentor in 1949.

After six years and a lofty 39-15 basketball record at Loup City, he decided to take an insurance job. However, it was during his brief insurance career that he decided to get back into teaching and took the job at Wayne.

Harold 'Mac' Maciejewski

"I was working with New York Life insurance but decided to get back into teaching. When I took the job at Wayne I just loaded up the car with my belongings and drove here without even visiting first," Mac said.

But he obviously liked what he saw as his career at Wayne spanned more than three decades.

Mac's first year at Wayne was during the 1953-54 basketball campaign. And as he did at Loup City, he quickly became a success at Wayne by ending his first year as cage coach with a 14-6 record, a co-championship of the West Division of the Husker Conference and a district title.

District championships came easy for Mac. Basketball teams he quickly qualified for the state tournament each season from 1954 through 1960, but the squad that went the farthest was his 1956 state champions.

The '56 title didn't come easy. After stopping Loup City 45-50 in the semifinals, Wayne had to overcome a halftime deficit and by outscoring Hebron 19-11 in the third quarter pulled out a 61-56 victory.

"That '56 title is one of the most memorable moments of my coaching career," Mac said as he reflected back to the 1956 Blue Devil season. "All those years of qualifying for state was great but beating Loup City and winning it all was just fantastic."

Mac continued to enjoy more success after the '56 season. In 1959, Wayne's football team finished the year 6-1 and won the Husker Conference championship. And after his 1961-62 basketball team finished 16-1, he directed the 1963-64 Devil Chargers to a 15-4 mark and another berth to the state tournament.

Over the 37 years as coach, Mac finished with a 285-96 win-loss record in basketball and a 76-74 football mark. But perhaps his most impressive statistic as a coach is his .760 winning percentage while coaching Wayne High School basketball.

But winning ball games wasn't the only achievement Mac accomplished. In 1956, he was named Siouxsian Coach of the Year. In 1980 he won the Nebraska Athletic Directors Outstanding Service Award and in 1982 he received the Wayne Blue Devil Booster Award in appreciation for 29 years of service to athletes and students of Wayne-Carroll Schools.

Even during his last few years he remained very active with Wayne athletics and in 1985, he steered Wayne's golf team to the Class B state championship and won Nebraska's Athletic Director of the Year Award in 1984.

"After nearly 40 years of coaching everything from cross country to basketball and teaching different subjects from physical education to social studies, Mac admits he's ready for retirement.

"I've been coaching and teaching for a long time and I'm kind of looking forward to taking it easy," he said. "I really haven't made any specific plans, but I do plan on playing a lot of golf. I'm still healthy and that's good because I'm looking forward to retirement."

Wildcats begin fall grid drills August 16

Eighty-five varsity football players are expected to report for the opening of fall football drills on Friday, Aug. 16, according to Wayne State Head Coach Pete Chapman.

The players will report for physicals and team meetings on Aug. 15 with practice beginning the following day. Chapman also expects an additional 23 freshmen to report on Friday, Aug. 23. The first scrimmage is set for Saturday, Aug. 24.

Returning for the Wildcats will be 34 lettermen, including 19 starters. With that experience, depth should not be a problem for the Wildcats in 1985, a situation Chapman and his staff have never experienced at Wayne State.

"In certain areas our maturity and experience will be improved over last year. We'll be better in certain situations," Chapman said. "Last year's record-setting performance will be a challenge to top, but the third year coach believes the players are realistic about the season ahead. "We know we're the target this year, but we're confident we can meet the challenge," he said. "The players' attitude is to play the best they can, every game."

Last year's squad finished 7-4 and tied for third place in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC). On their way to the school's first winning season since 1977, the Wildcats managed to set 20 individual, 15 team and three national records.

The Wildcats will hold practices in the morning and afternoons until Monday, Aug. 26. Classes at Wayne State officially begin on Aug. 27. Night practices are scheduled for that Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 27.

The Wildcats open the season Sept. 7, against Morningside College in Sioux City.

Flight winners

Condon wins Ladies Tournament

Jean Condon defeated Char Bolin in a playoff to capture the championship flight of the 1985 Ladies Cub Golf Tournament at the Wayne Golf and Country Club Tuesday morning.

Condon and Bolin both fired an 89 over the 18 hole tourney, but Condon came out on top in the playoff for the victory.

Lisa McDermott placed third in the championship flight with a 91 and Ann Barclay's 92 allowed her fourth place.

Jeanne Sturm won the first flight with a 49, while Ruth Kerstine captured the second flight title with a 51.

Like Condon and Bolin, Kerstine and Ann Barclay tied during regulation but Kerstine won the playoff and as a result, the second flight title.

Perhaps the most competitive flight of the tourney was the fifth flight as Marilyn Pierson, Lori Carroll and Marge Reeg all tied for first place with a 63.

Pierson went on to win fifth flight honors by posting a playoff win. Suhr placed second and Reeg finished third.

Elaine Christensen ran away with the third flight championship with a 50, and Lori Carroll won the fourth flight.

All golfers that competed in flights 1-5 played nine holes, while championship flight golfers played 18 holes.

Wayne spikers start August 18

Wayne State head volleyball coach Marilyn Strate welcomes 27 players back to campus Aug. 18 for the start of fall practice. The players will report for two daily practices the first week. Conditioning, fundamentals and team tactics will be stressed during the first practice session, Strate said.

The Lady Wildcats are tentatively scheduled to scrimmage the College of St. Mary in Omaha on Saturday, Aug. 24. The team will return to one daily practice when school officially opens on Aug. 26.

Eight returning letter winners from last year's 24-20-1 team join several newcomers in the Wildcat camp. Top returnees include: Jill Zelsa, setter; Wayne Sue Walter, hitter; Norfolk; Missy Stoltenberg, hitter; Wayne; and Deb Pringer, hitter; Wayne. Top newcomers include: Meg Hurley, Omaha; Kristi Bateman, Omaha; Tanya Gappa, Arcadia; Bev Mueller, Scribner; and Natalie Highman, Sioux City.

Wayne State opens the 1985 season on Wednesday, Sept. 4, against UNO in Omaha. The first home match is Sept. 18 against the College of St. Mary and Briar Cliff.

Klaver inks eight recruits

Wayne State head baseball coach Lanny Klaver has announced the signing of eight recruits for the 1985-86 season.

Pitching depth was an area of concern for the Wildcats in the upcoming season, according to Klaver, but the new recruits include four pitchers to fill that void.

"I'm very happy with the recruiting this season," Klaver said. "We filled our essential needs of pitching and quality catching."

The new recruits include: Frank Fundermann, 6-4, 185 lb., a left-handed pitcher from Malvern, Iowa who prep'd at Fremont-Mills High School; Jeff Pasold, 6-1, 165 lb., a right-handed pitcher from Norfolk High School; John Russo, 6-1, 185 lb., a right-handed pitcher from Detroit, Mich. and Berkeley High School; Mike Greenlee, 6-1, 220 lb., a right-handed pitcher from Humeston, Iowa who attended Mormon Trail High School; Monty Shultz, 5-11, 165 lb., a catcher from Kearney High School; Destry Jaeger, 6-0, 165 lb., an outfielder from Imperial, Neb. and Chase County High School; Pat Woredekemper, 6-1, 190 lb., a third baseman from West Point High School; and Gerry Peppmuller, 6-1, 190 lb., a first baseman-catcher from Fremont High School.

Tryouts for the baseball team will begin in the fall after classes resume at Wayne State, Klaver said.

Starkey named head trainer

Jerry Starkey has been named head trainer at Wayne State College, according to Athletic Director Ron Jones.

Starkey is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) and is also a certified Emergency Medical Technician (EMT). He is a native of Bismark, N.D. and a graduate of Valley City State College. He earned his M.A. in sports medicine from the University of Arizona in 1974.

Starkey was an instructor and head trainer in the Miami, Fla. high schools for five years and also served as head trainer at Miami Day Community College for two years.

His duties at Wayne State will include teaching as well as heading the athletic trainers for all eight intercollegiate sports.

Bresslers win Wakefield golf tourney

WAKEFIELD: The Wakefield Lions Club hosted a full card of golfers for their annual Father-Son Texas Best Ball Golf Tournament Sunday at the Logan Valley Golf Course. The father-son team of Warren and Kip Bressler captured the championship trophy as they shot a 64 for the 18 holes.

Other flight winners included: first flight, Dale Mayberry and Roger Anderson; second flight, Leigh and Clark Cull; third flight, Paul Jensen and Don Norlander.

Second place in the championship flight went to Doug and Todd Colt. Don and Doug Coulson were third, while Bus Schroeder and Tim Paterson finished fourth.

In the first flight the team of Gordon and Jerry Boatman finished second followed by Drs. I.E. and Dave Peterson and the team of V.E. and Jack Fyoch.

Others placing in the second flight were: second, John Addison and Dave Anderson; third, Art and Randy Hansen; fourth, Terry Baker and Emil Muller.

In the third flight, some younger (junior high age) sons helped their dads place in the money. Mike and Chris Looft placed second, followed by Dan Looft and Mike Mogus and John and Kyle Torczon.

WAKEFIELD: Eldon Nixon won the top prize, a set of Wilson golf clubs or $400, in the fund raiser the Wakefield Lions Club held in conjunction with their annual Father-Son Golf Tournament. Proceeds from the activity help the Lions sponsor the Summer Baseball Program for the younger boys.

The Lions also awarded pin prizes for various shots on the golf course during the tournament held Sunday at the Logan Valley Golf Course.

Following is a list of winners, the shot they made and the business which donated the prize: First hole, Kipp Ufermark and Bert Frink; shortest drive, Wakefield Drug; Second hole, Doug and Todd Colt, closest to the pin in two shots, Wakefield National Bank; Third hole, Drs. I.E. and Dave Peterson, closest to the pin with tee shot, Logan Valley Golf Course; Fourth hole, Bill and Scott Norvell, closest to the pin with tee shot, True Value Home Center; Fifth hole, Warren and Kip Bressler, closest to the pin in three shots, Terry's Lawn Service; Sixth and Seventh holes, Doug and Don Coulson, longest drive in the fairway, Fair Store and Krafke Oil; Eighth hole, Jim and John Dorcey, closest to the pin in two shots, Dirty Harry's; Ninth Hole, Sid and Gary Preston, longest putt, Mori's Lounge.

Volleyball begins August 19

Wayne High School will begin girls' volleyball pre-season practices Monday, Aug. 19, at the high school gymnasium at 9 a.m.

A second session will run from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Physical forms must be completed prior to this first practice.

The practice is open to girls in grades 9-12.

Koenig one of strongest NU freshmen

LINCOLN: 1985 Wayne High School graduate Kevin Koenig started his Nebraska University football career out the right way as he tied three other freshmen for the bench press title during pre-season conditioning drills here Sunday.

Koenig and three other "rookies" bench pressed 355 pounds. The other athletes that equaled Koenig's lift were Dan Jackson of Lincoln, Tim Moore of Atwater, Calif. and Bill Bobbora of Amarillo, Texas.

Inventive shoe'er

W-C school board sets hours

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Hours have been established for the Wayne-Carroll 1985-86 school year following approval Tuesday night by the school district's board of education.

Students attending Wayne Elementary Kindergarten will attend half day sessions of school from 8:30 to 11 a.m. and 12:30 to 3 p.m.

First and second grade school hours at the Wayne Elementary is 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. For third and fourth graders, the school hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 3:20 p.m.

At Carroll Elementary School, the school hours will be from 8:20 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Wayne-Carroll Middle School fifth graders will attend school from 8:35 a.m. to 3:35 p.m. Sixth graders will start school the same time as the fifth graders, but will be released at 3:45 p.m.

Both the seventh and eighth grade students will begin school at 8:35 a.m. and end classes at 3:54 p.m.

In the high school level (grades 9-12), the school hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Wayne-Carroll School District will begin regularly scheduled classes on Thursday, Aug. 29.

However, teachers and other professional staff will be in the classrooms three days prior to class opening attending a workshop.

AN ESU WORKSHOP is slated at Wayne High School and Wayne Middle School on Monday, Aug. 26, and is expected to draw up to 600 individuals. The keynote address will be by James K. Merrill, president of Lutheran Social Services of North Dakota. His address begins at 9 a.m.

Sectionists, which covers classroom work, social issues, health, careers and various other school-related topics, will follow the keynote address. The final session is at 2:45 p.m.

On Tuesday, Aug. 27, there will be an "all school breakfast" at the Wayne Elementary, and new faculty are invited to bring their families. Dan Johnson and Company will be providing a short program.

From 9 to 11:30 a.m. will be a presentation by Cliff Ginn and staff at Wayne High School on the topic "Economic Education."

In the afternoon, from 1:15 to 3:30, Sister Mary Christelle Macaluso will speak to the teachers, and public, at the Lecture Hall on "The Joy of Loving Yourself."

Wednesday will be a day of meetings with the superintendents, department heads and athletic coaches and room preparation. The following day, school begins.

ALSO ON TUESDAY the Wayne-Carroll School Board:

- Transferred the school district accounts from State National Bank to First National Bank, effective Sept. 1. This procedure is done on a three year revolving basis, according to Superintendent Haun.
- Awarded the bid of milk for the 1985-86 school year to lowest bidder

Gillette Dairy, Inc. Two other companies, Well's Blue Bunny and Roberts Dairy Company, had also submitted bids.

- Approved the bid of $9,150 to repair and resurface the high school track. The specifications call for removing all loose materials, repair areas, high jumps and pole vault runway; fill all cracks and build up low areas as best as possible; apply primer coat and sealer coat; and apply lane lines and event markings as per track standards.
- And established the price of school lunches for the coming year. The costs are: high school and middle school students daily, $1.20; high school and middle school students weekly, $5.75; elementary school students daily, $1.10; elementary school students weekly, $5.25; adults daily, $1.45; and adults weekly, $7.25. The daily rates increased a nickel over last year and weekly costs 25 cents a week more than the previous year.

cost of nearly $1,650 per block. The asphalt overlay for the two blocks was also approved by the city council.

Also during the meeting, the city council:

- Took no action on a request by Ralph Sherer to have a nearby neighbor trim his hedges and have the city council consider the hedges as a public nuisance because of safety factors.
- The property, located at 112 East 8th Street, has hedges which Sherer said were a safety hazard to children who walk on the sidewalks. Drivers heading southbound in the alley near where the hedges are located cannot see kids walking on the sidewalk that crosses the alley, Sherer told the councilman.

Sherer said the speed limit in the alley is 25 miles per hour and has heavy traffic on it. Sherer said he would like to see the hedges trimmed to 36 inches high and 42 inches on the corners and "kept and maintained that way."

He told the city council that if any kids get hit by a car at the alley sidewalk crossing: "You'll know I'm in town!"

Councilman Filler said she "honestly feels the alley and hedges create a bad situation."

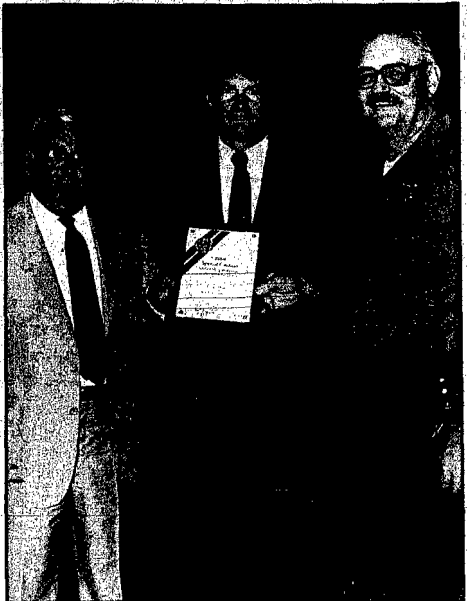

City Attorney Kem Swartz, however, pointed out to Sherer that individuals can legally place a fence up to 6 feet high on private property and can spoil the vision of motor vehicle operators, so whether the city has any legal obligation to have the hedges trimmed is questionable.

City Police Chief Vern Fairchild said his department cannot take any action on the hedge trimmings unless the hedges are declared a public nuisance.

- Voted to name the new north-south road to Timp, Inc., being constructed by Wayne County, as Centennial Road. Another road in the industrial area was named Industrial Drive.

The city has the legal right to name the road because both are in their two-mile zoning jurisdiction, according to city administrator Phil Kloster.

- Approved a one day liquor license permit for Nov. 30, 1985 to the Wayne Fire Department for the annual Firemen's Ball.
- Adopted an ordinance which will allow the city's police department to enforce, through municipal statutes, the delour stops signs and no parking signs.
- And noted that a public hearing on the creation of street improvement district 85-4 (East 14th Street) will take place on Sept. 10 at 7:45 p.m.

City gets special citation

Wayne has earned the American Automobile Association's Special Citation for Outstanding Pedestrian Accident Record for its achievement in the prevention of pedestrian fatalities and injuries and its outstanding pedestrian safety programs, according to AAA of Nebraska.

The award was presented Tuesday morning by Maynard Ohl, Jr., a Nebraska AAA representative, to Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh and Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild.

The special citation is one of 320 top citations to be presented by AAA clubs across the country in the federation's 46th annual Pedestrian Protection Program. Ohl said 26 of the 320 nationwide cities were in Nebraska.

The city officials also received an appraisal report, which compares Wayne's 1984 performance to other cities of similar size.

Wayne scored 71 percent in total program and record score; 99 percent in pedestrian death and injury score; and 54 percent in pedestrian program activities score.

Police Chief Fairchild cited two reasons why prevention of pedestrian accidents is so effective in Wayne: training programs put on by the department officers at the elementary and junior high school levels and by the amount of sidewalks in the city.

"Wayne is blessed with an abundance of sidewalks that a lot of other communities don't have. When the pedestrians have to walk in the streets, you've got problems," he said.

Budget

Library and audio-visual services — increased by 3.7 percent.

Board of Education — increased 14.3 percent.

Executive Administrative Services — an added 3.7 percent over last school year.

Office of the Principal — up by 4.8 percent.

General Business Support — up 11.8 percent.

Operation of Plant — will increase 2.1 percent.

Maintenance of Plant — the same increase as operation, 2.1 percent.

Regular pupil transportation — increased 3.8 percent.

Summer School, Drivers Education — upped by 7 percent.

Adult Education — down 50 percent.

Chapter 1, II, Title VIB and Lunch, federal and state — up 10.7 percent.

Up to 65 percent of the budget is reimbursed or funded through state and federal programs.

What the actual tax levy will be won't be established by the school board, but by the county. The school board says in its budget how much money it needs to operate on." Haun said.

LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT

Groundwater level monitoring program

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District groundwater level monitoring program began in spring 1976. The monitoring program consists of spring and fall measurements of water levels in the same irrigation wells. The measurement is taken by lowering a steel tape down the well when it is not being pumped.

Approximately 300 of the 3469 Irrigation wells registered in the Lower Elkhorn NRD through 1984 are being monitored in parts of 13 counties. Over a period of years, this information will help indicate areas of significant water level changes and also evaluate the general availability of groundwater resources.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD's monitoring program is part of a state-wide program co-ordinated by the University of Nebraska Conservation and Survey Division and the United States Geological Survey. Water level measurements were begun in 1930 in a limited number of observation wells through out the state. In 1986, about 8000 water level measurements were made in about 3500 observation wells. Water levels were measured by the Conservation and Survey Division, UNL, the U.S. Geological Survey, the Nebraska Department of Water Resources, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and various utility districts in addition to all of Nebraska's NRD's.

The accompanying tables and map show only Lower Elkhorn NRD monitor information. Statewide information is presented in Groundwater Levels in Nebraska 1984, Nebraska Water Survey Paper 59, by Michael J. Ellis and Darryll T. Pederson.

Summary

Hydrologic conditions vary greatly over short distances in Northeastern Nebraska. Thus, county or NRD-wide water level averages conceal the variety of changes brought about by variations in well depth and aquifer conditions. (Data for individual monitored wells are available at the NRD or Nebraska Natural Resources Commission in Lincoln).

Recharge to an aquifer is affected by temperature, soil moisture, and vegetation at the time water reaches precipitation. (E.g. Rain on frozen ground or a lack of vegetation increases runoff and thus, decreases recharge to the aquifer). The ground water supplies presently used have come almost entirely from precipitation within your local watershed.

Water level changes do not always compare logically with precipitation. The thickness, permeability, and porosity of the aquifer and overlying unsaturated material also affect the amount of water level changes. Over most of the Lower Elkhorn NRD, short-term water level changes brought about by weather conditions and/or heavy pumping are much larger than the long term water level trends. In the 1976-85 period, no large areas of long-term water level change (such as those in southern Nebraska) have yet appeared in the Lower Elkhorn NRD. For more information call your local Conservation and Survey Division at 371-6512.

Program concludes

APPROXIMATELY 40 youngsters took part in this year's summer reading program at Winside Public Library. Theme for the 10-week program, which began June 10 and concluded with a picnic last Monday evening, was "All Aboard the Reading Railroad." During the 10 weeks, activities included story hours, movies, a pizza and root beer party, a bicycle safety course, crafts, costume party, pet show, and a demonstration by the Norfolk Model Railroad Club. Monday night's closing family picnic in the Winside park included the presentation of awards and a demonstration by Randolph Chief of Police Gerald Greeley and his trained Doberman pinscher. Youngsters in the top photo at left look on in amazement, as Greeley and assistant Mike Beaudette of Randolph demonstrate how the Doberman will attack, as well as retreat, on command. In the bottom right photo, families enjoy their meal prior to Greeley's program. At left, Clara Shultsworth, 7, takes a big bite of her hot dog while two-year-old Samantha Deck, bottom center photo, receives some assistance from her mother Cheri. ### LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Aug. 7 with 20 members present. President Mrs. Arnold Janke called the meeting to order.

Hostesses were Gert Vahlkamp and Norma Janke.

Laura Jaeger and Gert Vahlkamp presented devotions, entitled "Take Time," followed with group singing and prayer.

The Rev. John Fale led the Bible study, "The Language of Liturgy," and also had prayer.

He also thanked the Ladies Aid for its help in cleaning and for the reception he and his family received upon arriving in Winside.

Mrs. Marsha Fale was welcomed into the Ladies Aid.

Angie Hansen thanked the group for the money she received to attend Camp Luther.

An invitation was received to attend guest day at St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield on Sept. 6 at 2 p.m. Those planning to attend are asked to contact Mary Janke by Aug. 15.

Discussion was held on the Christmas bazaar, and further discussion was tabled until the September meeting.

President Janke reported that all unclaimed dishes will be packed and sent to Goodwill Industries at the end of the week.

The constitution was read by Laura Jaeger and Marguerite Janke. Pastor Fale also will read the constitution and make revision suggestions at the September meeting. A vote will be taken at that time.

Beverly Voss will purchase gloves for the brass altar bases. Emma Willers and Verdel Reeg will be hostesses for the Sept. 4 meeting.

LWML MEETS

The Lutheran Womens Missionary League (LWML) met at St. Paul's Lutheran Church following the Ladies Aid meeting on Aug. 7.

We've got some bad news and some good news for savers!

The bad news.

Interest rates continue to be very volatile. The prime has been plunging all summer and is likely to continue. If you're sitting on some cash, falling rates spell bad news.

The good news.

You can still lock in decent rates at Occidental Nebraska. It's a great hedge against continued falling rates.

Lock in a great rate, now.

Choose a certificate term from 2 to 5 years, $500 minimum. Of course, your savings are insured safe up to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

Current high rates

Week of August 12, 1985

Term	Rate	Annual Yield
24 month	9.00%	9.20%
36 month	9.25%	9.46%
48 month	9.40%	9.62%
60 month	9.60%	9.83%

Special rates on Certificates of Deposit of $50,000 or more can be obtained by calling or stopping in to any office.

Home Office: 11808 W. Center Road, Omaha 330-1300. OFFICES in Ainsworth, Alliance, Alma, Arapahoe, Blair, Chadron, Crawford, Cozad, Elkhorn, Franklin, Fremont, Gothenburg, Hartington, Imperial, Kearney, Lincoln, Minden, Neligh, Ogallala, Omaha, O'Neill, Red Cloud, Rushville, Wayne and West Point.

Accounts insured by the FSLIC up to $100,000. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.

Wayne County fair: feast, fun, friends

THE WAYNE County Fair ended Sunday and was blessed as a success, according to reports from various fair officials. Rhonda, clockwise, still had upper front left. The midway at the Wayne County Fair drew a sparse Sunday night crowd as the fairgoers enjoyed the demolition derby. Lines stretched long for the Friday evening barbecue. The Clyde Foley Cummings Band members jam it up during a Friday night performance. Former Miss Texas, Gloria Gilbert, performs a ventriloquist act, followed by the Denny Rourke Magic & Illusion Show, and one of the modified tractors that entered the Wayne County Fair sanctioned tractor pull Saturday afternoon.
