PELICANS FOUND a nice resting place Thursday afternoon in this farm pond located about 12 miles west and 2 1/4 miles south of Wayne. The pelicans are not that common for this area, although they have been known to come through northeast Nebraska on their southern trip to warmer climates. There were about 200 to 300 pelicans in the pond.

Area school bands gather to march in Wayne

by Kathy Kay
College Relations Intern

Over 1,200 area bandmen and women will be in Wayne on Saturday, Sept. 21 for a day of music and marching in the annual Wayne State College Band Day.

Sponsored jointly by Wayne State College and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, 25 bands will march in a morning parade and perform in the afternoon. The 25 bands will make this band day one of the largest ever at WSC, according to Gary Davis, WSC director of bands. This is the college's 17th band day.

Ray Kaiton, the longtime WSC band director who retired in 1984, will be the first Band Day grand marshal.

The top four bands will receive trophies and divide $1,000 in WSC scholarships donated by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and the Second Guessers' Bobster Club. The Wayne High School, Junior High and Wayne State bands will take part in Band Day but will not be a part of the competition.

"Each band will receive a certificate and a tape recording of its performance," Davis said. "So this is also a learning experience for the bands, not just a contest."

After an 8:30 a.m. rehearsal, the bands will participate in the parade which will start at 10:30 a.m. from the college campus and proceed south to downtown Wayne on Main Street.

A REVIEWING stand for the judges will be at 3rd and Main Streets. This year's judges are Jim Johnson, band director at Wisner-Pfizer High School and president of the Nebraska Bandmaster's Association, Jack Fischer, band director at Norfolk Junior High; and Victor Wood, band director at Audubon (Iowa) High School.

Afternoon activities will begin at 1 p.m. with the pre game parade of bands at Wayne State's Memorial Stadium as a prelude to the 1:30 p.m. football game between the WSC Wildcats and Midland Lutheran.

During halftime of the game, the guest bandmen will join the WSC Band in a mass performance directed by Davis. Also at halftime, representatives of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Second Guessers will present the awards to the winning bands.

PARTICIPATING SCHOOLS and directors include:

Wayne High School, Ron Dalton; Wayne Junior High, Keith Kopperud; O'Neill, Daryl Jessen; Garrelson, South Dakota; Helen Mogen, Creighton; Duane Boehr; Emerson Hubbard, Brad Weber; Newcastle, Pattie Stegworth.

Chilean baby has new home with single mother

by Chuck Hackenmiller

A thought which settled in JoAnn Bondhus' mind while attending law school in the early 1970's has turned into a pleasant reality.

Bondhus, a former resident of Fort Collins, Colorado, received her law degree from the University of Colorado and Masters of Law and Taxation at the University of Denver. She has been teaching within Wayne State College's Business Division as an associate professor since 1979 — a position she thoroughly enjoys.

But now she is spending less time at the office and more at her Wayne home. Her involvement with college committee assignments has decreased.

And while law is her forte, don't be surprised to find Bondhus at home reading not law books, but books on child raising.

Bondhus, unmarried, has a responsibility to someone who has recently filled an emptiness since her college graduation — a bundle of joy in the healthy form of an eight pound, over-20 inch baby girl from Chile who goes by the name of Christina Elizabeth Bondhus.

THROUGH the help of two United States adoption agencies and an eventual three day trip to Chile, Bondhus has become the new guardian and mother of little Christina. "After the first of the year, I will have officially adopted her," Bondhus said. "I wanted to be a mother. When you get to looking at your mid-30's (in age) you have to make your choices at that point," she said.

"I looked at the options and adopting seemed right to me," she said, remarking that more and more single people are adopting children. Having to be married to adopt is no longer an obstacle (for adoption), she said.

Bondhus began to pursue those adoption options in the summer of 1983. She was interested in adopting a healthy newborn girl from outside the United States, where there would be more children available and the wait would be shorter.

Lutheran Family and Social Services in Omaha was contacted by Bondhus. The adoption agency was exceptionally helpful, she said, and did not discourage the adoption request because of her unmarried status.

She said the wait is shorter for adopting Chilean children as a single parent compared to being married. But in places such as Columbia, single people can only adopt school age children and in Korea, no children can be adopted by single individuals.

Lutheran Family and Social Services conducted the home study as part of the adoption procedure — interviewing at the Bondhus home and also at the agency's headquarters. Home studies are not initiated just for investigating the prospective parent's home, but also to review the applicant's attitudes.

"The times have changed [from past home studies] when they checked the house for dust and things. Now, the agency is more concerned about whether or not you're ready to be a parent," Bondhus said.

AT ONE TIME, people had to own their own homes before adopting; they had no single parent adoptions; and if the couple were married, then the mother had to quit her job if they wanted to adopt, she said.

"Now they are more concerned about the psychological fitness of the parent. They talk about responsibility, the change in their way of life, financial fitness," she said.

"I found this process was very rewarding. I never ran into any problems...always positive."

Another adoption agency, Los Ninos (meaning "the children") International, did the international part of the adoption process for Bondhus.

"Of all countries, why did Bondhus pick Chile?"

"My stay in Chile would be shorter, from three to seven days," she said.

In Honduras and Guatemala, the stay in the foreign countries for completing the adoption paperwork and other formalities could have been three to four weeks. It would have been difficult to stay that length of time when the school year would be in session at Wayne State, she said.

In Chile, the guardianship is established and the adoption is done in the United States. "In other countries, the adoption must be done there," she said.

She had been placed in a "waiting pool" of prospective adoption clients last September. The call to her house came about 11 months later, on July 31, just two days after little Christina was born.

Filling out all the necessary paperwork and financial arrangements delayed Bondhus a month before she could get on an airplane from Miami and fly to Santiago, Chile to claim her newborn girl.

THE SECOND day she was in Santiago (Aug. 25), Christina was brought to her Holiday Inn room.

"I was so nervous. They brought her on Sunday morning. When they knocked on the door, part of me wanted to open the door and the other part wanted to hide under the bed," she said.

"But when I opened the door and saw her face and her two big sparkling eyes, I fell in love with her immediately."

"The people there were really nice and helpful. Not too many spoke English, however."

Christina's natural mother had relinquished her child, having made adoption plans for Christina prior to her birth at the Santiago hospital. Information about the father of Christina was unavailable to her.

After filling out paper work in Chile and obtaining a visa for Christina, Bondhus brought Christina back to Miami. Since then, Christina has made the rounds to relatives in Colorado and other states.

"This has been a big change. Christina is a very good baby. She doesn't fuss much and she is a good traveler. On the plane, she did real well," Bondhus noted.

Adopting as a single parent is "not for everybody" according to Bondhus, although she expresses no regrets herself.

"You have to be a real strong person to have the total responsibility [of raising a child]. Family and friend support is needed because there is no spouse to turn to," she added.

"It can also be very expensive to adopt."

Bondhus said her total cost for the adoption process was in the $10,000 to $11,000 range, which includes legal fees, travel, hospital care and home study. "And it is getting more and more expensive for people to adopt all the time," she noted. "The way I look at it though is that people spend that much money for a car. A person is worth much more than that."

Adoption internationally also requires a lot of paperwork, requesting letters from employers and information on financial state, tax returns and insurance policies.

"To be honest, I'm worried about not having a father for Christina, trying to provide a male role model for her."

"But I guess you do the best that you can." "I hope to take her back to Chile for a visit. I want her to be aware of her heritage and be proud of her birthplace. Chile is a beautiful country and the people are kind and helpful," she said.

Fingerprint results

Republican volunteers from across the state fingerprinted more than 1,300 children at the Republican Party's booth at the Nebraska State Fair. The booth was the culmination of a statewide effort this summer to heighten Nebraska's awareness of the tragedy of missing children. Kathy Brashear, wife of state chairman Kermit Brashear, and Mike Heivican, Lancaster County Attorney, served as co-chairmen for the project. They headed up a team of more than 110 volunteers that included party chairman Brashear, vice-chairwoman Elaine Hammer and Congressman Doug Bereuter. Also assisting were public service commissioner Eric Rasmussen, N.U. Regent Nancy Hoch, and State Senators Bill Barrett, Lowell Johnson, Richard Peterson, Lee Rupp and Jackie Smith. The Nebraska Federation of Young Republicans manned the booth on Sept. 1, and UNL College Republicans took over on Sept. 3. More than one third of the county fairs across the state also sponsored similar booths at their county fairs and other activities, bringing the total number of children fingerprinted this summer to approximately 5,000. In announcing the results of Operation Web-Care, co-chairmen Brashear and Heivican said, "We're very pleased with the overwhelming success of the project. We hope the project will discourage the growth of crimes against Nebraska's children."

Merit Program finalist

Cowgill gets honor

Sheila Cowgill of Wayne-Carroll High School is one of some 15,000 high school seniors from across the United States recently named as a semifinalist in the 31st annual Merit Program.

National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the competition, publicly recognizes this select group of students in order to honor their academic talents and broaden their higher education opportunities.

More than a million juniors attending some 19,000 U.S. secondary schools entered the competition by taking a qualifying test in October of 1984. The top scorers in each state, or less than half of one percent of the state's high school senior class, are included in the nationwide group of semifinalists.

National Merit Scholarship Corporation is a not-for-profit organization devoted solely to scholarship activities that are supported by more than 600 independent sponsors.

NOTIFICATION of a decline in total valuation of $182,584 for the City of Wisner will result in a one-half cent tax levy increase over original estimates, city officials learned last week. City councilmen review a certification of actual values which showed the city's 1985 valuation falling to $23,299,004 from the 1984 total of $23,481,588. Utilities Superintendent Rollie Johnson said it was the first time in a number of years that the city's valuation dropped.

THE HOMER High School Athletic Field has been named the Ivan Krumwiede Field in honor of a Homer area farmer. The field was dedicated last Friday night at the first home football game of the season. Krumwiede, who has been a member of the Homer school board for nearly 30 years, donated thousands of hours of his own time on the athletic field project.

ST. LUKE'S Lutheran Church in Stanton and St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Pilger have a new pastor. He is James Helgren, a native of Milwaukee. He and his wife Kathy and their 2½-year-old son Adam will reside in Pilger while serving the two congregations.

LYONS Centennial directors may have felt a little like Santa last week when they gave away the remaining treasury from the community's 100th birthday celebration held in June of 1984. The distribution of approximately $6,500 came at the final meeting of the directors before they disbanded after three years of working on the centennial celebration. Projects or organizations receiving the money included playground equipment for the two city parks ($3,000); Lyons Industrial Development ($2,500); Northeast Band Parents' ($500); and Lyons Ministerial Association ($500).

Region IV approves two grant requests

The Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities Governing Board gave go ahead nods to a pair of grant requests at the Sept. 5 meeting in Wayne. The Board gave its approval for Region IV Services - Lyons to sign a contract with the Developmental Disabilities Council of Nebraska for nearly $16,000 in grant funds. These grant funds, along with $7,450 in local matching funds will be used to implement a sales and market development project. The goal of the project is to increase the productivity and independence of the individuals with developmental disabilities served in the Lyons program. The Governing Board also approved a request for Region IV services - Bloomfield to submit a grant proposal to the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control. The grant funds, if approved, would be used to develop an aluminum and paper recycling center for Knox and Cedar Counties. A similar project in the Wayne program has recycled 25,000 pounds of aluminum cans since February.

In other action, the Board moved to go ahead with plans for a new building to house the Adult Developmental Center and offices of Region IV Services - South Sioux City. The Building Committee received board permission to solicit bids from architects for the job.

They also heard a report on the development of the 86/87 budget to be submitted to the state. At the close of the meeting, Board members received an invitation to an open house in Region IV's newest group residence in Norfolk. The open house will be from 2 to 4 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 15, at 400 South 5th Street.

The date for the Governing Board's next meeting remains to be set.

Region IV is a multi-county agency which provides services to developmentally disabled adults and children through programs in the seven area communities of Bloomfield, Columbus, Lyons, Norfolk, O'Neill, South Sioux City, and Wayne. The Region IV Governing Board is made up of one county commissioner or supervisor from each of the 20 counties in the Region.

'hacken' away

by chuck hachemiller

viewpoint

"I'll never be a guest on any "American Sportsman" television show, as individuals sneak up on wild game and bag it with a hunting weapon.

I'm not against hunting. First of all I am not an avid hunter simply because my aim is terrible. Most people use tin cans for target practice. I had to practice shooting 5-gallon cream cans and maybe could hit one out of six from close range.

One time during hunting my aim was on an airborne duck and instead the shell went downward and killed another duck that was swimming below. And that's the only wild game I've ever bagged.

Secondly, I would rather photograph wildlife than shoot them.

Now, I'm beginning to wonder if I even like photographing wildlife.

Thursday afternoon we received a call from a source who said there were approximately 500 pelicans which had decided to rest in a farm pond located about 12 miles west and 2 1/2 south of Wayne.

If I get a lead like this, I jump because photography is a hobby of mine. Off went Sports Editor John Prather and I to the shooting location.

It wasn't raining, but very cloudy.

We could see the pelicans drifting in the pond, but they were to the far side.

Prather warned me: Pelicans spook pretty easily.

He knew of this when trying to capture the birds in a photo at Lake/McConaughy near Ogallala. I heeded his advice.

Prather and I got out of the car and began our trek to the other side of the pond where the pelicans settled.

THE POND was located in the middle of the pasture, where the grass had grown as tall as the waist. Cattle were in the field and I told Prather to be on the lookout for charging bulls — one can never be too careful.

We got to the point where the pelicans were in sight and Prather and I began to lower our conversation to a whisper. We moved toward the unsuspecting pelicans slowly, bending down below the height of the tall grass. One would think we were hunting dangerous African game the way we were carrying on with our mission.

At this point I began to rain.

When we got to close enough to where they could be easily spooked, Prather said: "You go ahead. I'll stay back."

I went on, hunching even lower as I made my way to a bluff. Through the grass I focused my camera and the lens kept getting filled with rain drops. After looking through the viewfinder, I knew I had to get much closer.

I came to crawling — first on my knees, then hands and knees and then on my stomach — all this effort with the realization that pelicans are birds that "spook easy."

THE BIRDS BEGAN to get restless. Perhaps they spotted me or the flicker of my camera as it moved with me through the tall grass. It was raining even harder and my eyelashes started to fog.

I reeled off three or four shots, not knowing whether or not I was adequately focused. Then I made the big decision — to stand up and take a picture of the pelicans in flight (since Prather convincingly said the birds would spook easily).

My pants, shirt, shoes and socks were soaked clear through from crawling on the ground to the pond site. Slowly I stood and prepared to snap the photograph, expecting the "spooked" panicked birds to take to the air.

But it never happened that way at all.

I stood up and instead of taking off in flight, the birds calmly and collectively looked at me for a couple minutes and then floated toward the other end of the pond.

What a feldown not seeing the birds in flight, particularly after I might have reached my destination without crawling on the ground inch for inch, avoiding cow "droppings" so carefully and getting so blasted wet.

The rain continued to fall, this time more heavily as Prather and I walked back to the car, feet sloshing and water coming out of my shoes.

"So the birds can get spooked pretty easily, John?" I wanted to mention as the raindrops dripped off my eyelashes.

"Probably too tired. They're not going to fly in this rain," he mentioned.

"Sure, John, sure. Now you tell me!" I said, mumbling so that I don't think he heard me.

A warm cup of hot chocolate and some nice dry clothes and I felt better about the whole incident.

But the next time someone says they have an elephant eating the sunflower seeds from their garden or an alligator chewing up golf balls at the Wayne Country Club (I always wondered where my golf balls vanished to) — please don't call me.

Newspaper Week

Freedom of the Press was a basic American value even prior to our country's struggle for independence. From the acquittal in 1735 of John Peter Zenger, the German-born New York printer accused of seditious libel by the Royal Governor, this principle has been among the most precious and protected of our liberties.

This year's National Newspaper Week theme, "Freedom of the Press is Everybody's Freedom," drives home the fact that we are all beneficiaries of this fundamental concept. Freedom of the Press is not some exclusive privilege restricted to a few persons within the Fourth Estate. It is a force that has contributed considerably to the growth and greatness of our Republic, its institutions and citizenry. As long as this force continues to be unchallenged and strong, we will remain the hopeful example for all mankind.

During National Newspaper Week all Americans should reflect on the importance of the First Amendment guarantee of Freedom of the Press. I commend the National Newspaper Association Managers on their sponsorship of an event that encourages public appreciation for one of the greatest safeguards of human rights.

Press freedom

National Newspaper Week serves as a reminder to all of us of the precious freedoms we are privileged to enjoy in America—and it provides a special opportunity to carry to the people reminders about the evolution and the importance of a free press.

The history of our country teaches us that a really free press was invented in America, and that its preservation is important not only for those of us in the newspaper business, but also for the preservation of all of the individual freedoms which we cherish. More than 200 years ago we inherited much of our law and our customs from the British. But they had no free press. The free press concept was born when America was born. It wasn't handed down or inherited. It was deliberately structured in the spirit of independence as absolutely crucial to the creation and maintenance of a free society.

As citizens we must continually remind ourselves that freedom of the press is a unique right of the American people and that it is indeed the American people's freedom—not ours as newspaper people—but theirs.

Above all, we must never forget that a free press is crucial to the preservation of all the freedoms embodied in our Constitution. Once we lose it the other precious freedoms we enjoy will crumble. U.S. Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter emphasized this when he said, "Without a free press there can be no free society. That is axiomatic. However, freedom of the press is not an end in itself but a means to the end of a free society. The scope and nature of the constitutional guarantee of the freedom of the press are to be viewed and applied in that light."

Today, the vast majority of countries throughout the world don't even approach, or intend to approach, what we regard as a truly free press. Compare, for example, our philosophy of government to that of the Soviet Union which enjoys no press freedom. Their philosophy is enunciated in these words of Nikita Khrushchev: "Why should freedom of speech and freedom of the press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinion calculated to embarrass the government?"

Have you seen a copy of Pravda lately? There are no ads. No opposing opinions. Just government announcements. Where government controls the press, it controls what you and I can know. And it controls the ability of businesses to pass information to its customers—making a controlled economy possible. There is no free discussion of ideas, no free enterprises, no freedom. Remember what happened in Poland when the government cracked down? Communications media got the first crack!

So newspapers matter to democracy and to open, enlightened government. They matter to safety, justice and equality. They matter to the pursuit of happiness.

Americans have always known—though we sometimes forget to articulate it—that a strong, free press and a strong, free country are inseparable. You can't have one without the other. No society ever has; none will."

Freedom of the press is everybody's freedom. Written by Edward Johnson, chairman and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

MEET JACK. JACK IS A HARD- WORKING, PATRIOTIC AMERICAN WHO LIVES WITH HIS FAMILY IN A QUIET AMERICAN TOWN.

JACK READS THE MORNING LOCAL NEWSPAPER. 'DAMNED MEDIA!' HE SAID. 'ALWAYS DIGGING UP DIRTY ON OUR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS!'

ONE DAY, A LOCAL POLITICIAN SUED THE LOCAL PAPER FOR LIBEL. HE LOST THE SUIT, BUT THE PAPER WENT BANKRUPT FROM LEGAL COSTS.

'THAT'LL SHOW THE ARROGANT MEDIA,' JACK SAID. 'WE CAN DO WITHOUT THOSE CYNICAL, TROUBLE- MAKING MUCK- RAKERS!!'

LATER, JACK'S SON DIED OF CANCER QUITE SUDDENLY. OTHERS IN THE TOWN WERE ALSO STRICKEN. SOME BLAMED A TOXIC LANDFILL DOWN THE ROAD.

JACK WAS FURIOUS. HE DEMANDED ACTION. BUT THE LOCAL OFFICIALS STONAWALLED. STATE AND FEDERAL OFFICIALS IGNORED HIM.

'I KNOW,' JACK SAID. 'IF THE PUBLIC IS OUTRAGED, THEY'LL PUT PRESSURE ON THE GOVERNMENT AND THEN THEY'LL ALL DO SOMETHING!'

Farm Safety Week observed

by Cheryl Stubbenieck

I suppose it is good news that agriculture is projected to be the "second-most" hazardous occupation this year, down one notch from its usual top spot. But the news is relative: agriculture isn't really any safer, it's just that a major mining disaster in Utah will earn the number one spot for that industry, expressed in terms of deaths and injuries per 100,000 workers.

Nationwide, the safety council estimates agricultural accidents last year caused 1,700 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries. Here in Nebraska, farm accident fatalities were up slightly in 1984, with 38 people killed in farm-related accidents. And '85 statistics, as of mid-summer, were running ahead of last year's pace with 17 this year compared with 13 for '84.

Against this background, the National Safety Council will again celebrate National Farm Safety Week, from Sept. 15 to 21. It goes without saying that safety should be a year-long concern in agriculture and every other industry as well, but harvest time is typically the high-stress, high-hazard time for farmers. There's too much to do all at once; the workers are tired, the very young, the old and persons not that familiar with farming are all helping out, and often people are working alone, far from help if they need it.

Even so, most farm and ranch accidents can be prevented, by allowing plenty of time for each specific task and by knowing and following safe, equipment operating procedures. And by being sure workers have adequate rest and nutrition.

ACCIDENTS ARE costly, not only in terms of pain and personal loss, but also in dollars. This year's Farm Safety Week slogan is "Health plus Safety equals Success." The safety council figures the total cost of accidents and fires to farming families approaches $5 billion annually.

With agriculture experiencing tough times now, the safety council's William D. Hanford says there's little room for waste and inefficiency in any farming operation and farm accidents and illnesses are an unnecessary drain of time, energy and money.

Agricultural accidents also hurt the local community as well, Hanford says, because money lost to work disabilities isn't available for new equipment, farmstead improvements or general consumer goods.

Another trend in agriculture, the increase in part-time ag producers, has also contributed to making farming and ranching high-risk. Farms with fewer than 200 acres have an injury rate almost as great as that of commercial farms with more than 200 acres. Generally part-time farmers are using older equipment that is more prone to break down and malfunction, and many of these farmers have jobs in town, which makes for long days and odd hours.

THE SAFETY council is concerned about still another ag trend, increasing use of three-wheeled all-terrain vehicles or ATVs. An ATV is not a tractor, the council points out. For example, overturn accidents may occur if an ATV is used to pull heavy farming implements or many bales of hay. ATVs do not have adequate brakes to control heavy loads, particularly on an incline.

ATVs are useful for such tasks as taking lunch or messages to the field, for checking fence or livestock or irrigation systems, and for such simple operations as spot spraying of weeds in crops. And, of course, they're quite useful in mud, sand and snow. But they are also quite hazardous. Preliminary stats for '84 show 48 deaths and nearly 67,000 injuries attributable to the 1.8 million ATVs in use nationwide. ATVs are useful as a supplement to specialized equipment on the farm or ranch but they're not a substitute.

Farm Safety Week was begun 42 years ago to fight accidents impairing wartime food and fiber production. Unfortunately the need to highlight farm and ranch safety continues.

news and notes

Mary Temme, extension agent-home ec

Cabinets may need cleaning, not refinishing. Now that fall has arrived you may be turning your attention to indoor home fix-up tasks.

Do your kitchen cabinets look like they could use revitalizing? Before you get started refinishing, try a thorough cleaning. That may be all that is necessary.

Cooking, dishwashing and other kitchen activities cause kitchen cabinets to get dirtier than cabinets in other rooms.

Frequent use causes grimy stains to concentrate around cabinet handles. The longer they accumulate the harder they are to remove.

Kitchen soils generally can be removed with a solution of detergent and water.

REGULAR CLEANING will keep any type of cabinet in good shape. A creamy liquid wax that cleans and waxes helps keep cabinets soil free. Be careful not to apply wax over previously oiled surfaces without first removing the oil.

Periodically washing the cabinets with a detergent solution may be necessary. An all-purpose household cleaner or liquid oil soap may also be used. Check package instructions first to be sure that the cleaner can be applied to the type of cabinet surface.

If you are unsure about using this method, test the product in an inconspicuous place and watch for "bloom." Bloom is a white discoloration that indicates moisture is penetrating the finish and may be permanent. If "bloom" occurs, do not use a cleaner with water.

If there is no problem of "bloom" occurring, wipe the solution over the surface with a cloth. Rinse the cloth in clean water and wipe off the surface thoroughly. Use a dry clean cloth to buff the cabinet dry. This helps maintain the luster and prevents streaking.

A detergent solution or household cleaner usually will lift stains from painted, laminated or metal surfaces. Wood finish cabinets may need further treatment.

SOLVENTS SUCH AS paint thinner or mineral spirits help to remove deeply embedded grease or wax on wood finishes. These products must be used with caution as they are flammable and may emit dangerous vapors.

Be sure the area is well ventilated and that there are no open flames or pilot lights. Working outdoors on cabinet doors is an alternative.

Test the wood finish before using these products. Dab some thinner on an inconspicuous corner or the back of the door. Wait an hour or more and check the finish for a whitish discoloration or other changes.

Dab some thinner or mineral spirits on a clean cloth and rub it vigorously over the cabinets. Retold the cloth frequently to prevent dirt from being rubbed back into the wood. Change cloths as soon as one becomes saturated with grime.

Rub stained areas with thinner or mineral spirits until they look clean. Dry the area immediately with a soft, clean rag.

After cleaning your cabinets with thinner or mineral spirits they may look dull. The luster can be restored by applying a coat of furniture wax or polish. Apply the polish sparingly and buff immediately.

REGULAR CLEANING of your kitchen cabinets may not be an exciting task. The alternative of an expensive and time consuming refinishing job makes cleaning more appealing.

Not much left for Rose

After all the accomplishments Pete Rose has achieved in baseball, many probably wonder whether or not he can even be considered human.

In addition to the hit record he set Wednesday evening at Cincinnati's packed Three Rivers Stadium, Rose also owns the record for the longest hit streak in the National League, the most games ever played, and many many other Major League marks.

But the hit record, he established is by far the most impressive.

Over the last half century, most baseball enthusiasts have agreed that four records in the game would never be broken.

Lou Gehrig's 2,130 consecutive games played, Cy Young's 511 career pitching victories, Joe DiMaggio's record of hitting in 56 consecutive games and Ty Cobb's 4,191 hits, the experts reasoned, were secure records.

But on September 11, 1985, Rose broke one of baseball's impossibles when he singled an EPC Show fast ball to left-center. The hit was Rose's 4,192 of his career, one more than Cobb.

When experts said Cobb's record would never be broken, it seemed like a sure bet. In order to break Cobb's mark, a player would have to play 21 years and collect 200 hits every season. To play 21 years is extraordinary in its self, but 200 hits every year is almost impossible. Only a handful of players reach the 200 hit plateau each season.

But not only that, but 3,000 hits in a career is close to impossible. Collecting 3,000 hits is so rare, in fact, that only 13 players have accomplished it. To break Cobb's hit record, a player would have to bang out another 1,192 hits after reaching the coveted 3,000 hit plateau. And age would play a major role in a player's pursuit as he'd have to add the additional 1,192 while playing in his late 30s and early 40s.

"I can't even comprehend 4,000 hits," Padre Tony Gwynn said. "I don't think anyone else can either." The 1984 National League batting champion added.

But Rose could. He's different than other players and for the past three or four seasons, when he realized he had a chance to overtake Cobb's mark, the Cincinnati King has been like a hitting machine, pumping out single after single, gradually climbing closer and closer to the hit record established some 57 years ago by the man named Cobb.

And during this process, Rose seemed almost unhuman-like, always keeping that tough-hustle image in store and concentrating all his efforts to that one goal—4,192 hits. His chasing the record was simply that: All he wanted the last few seasons was to break the record. And he admitted that reaching the milestone didn't make him the best player ever.

"When I get the record, all I will make me is the player with the most hits. I'm also the player with the most at-bats and the most outs. I never said I was better than Cobb," he once snapped.

And when he banged out number 4,192, he remained invisible in machine-like image. As 12,527 fans cheered and celebrated "Charlie" Hustle's most amazing feat, he stood at first base in total control, completely composed.

But when it dawned on him what he had actually accomplished, he broke down and wept. When he realized the chase was finally over, Pete Rose, one of baseball's toughest men ever, stood and cried as America watched.

And now that Rose has broken Cobb's unbreakable record, all he has to do now is add to his own.

John Prather will have a column in the usual Thursday edition also.

Wildcats down Walthill 6-0

Team effort boosts Winside

WINSIDE One game might not seem like a lot, but to Winside's head coach Mark Freburg, it meant the difference between losing to winning Friday night.

"We played a lot better this week and I think a lot of it had to do with the kids getting that first game under their belts last week," Freburg said. "I know, Beemer is a lot better than Walthill, but the kids just acted like they had more football sense this week and they played better overall." The Winside mentor said after his Wildcats hung on for 6-0 victory over Walthill here Friday night.

The Wildcats did indeed look sharper, and especially in the early going.

After failing to score on its first possession, Winside held Walthill and then pieced together a drive which climaxed when Mike Thies crossed the goal line with approximately five minutes remaining in the opening period.

Although Winside's PAT failed, the six points provided by Thies proved to be enough for the victory. However, things did get a little scary for the Wildcats in the second half.

After intermission, Walthill put together several threatening drives that concluded in Winside's territory. Then, as the game clock ticked down to the final four minutes, the Blujays worked the ball inside the Wildcats' 20 yard line.

But the Winside defense rose to the occasion and all the further Walthill could get was to the 15 yard line.

"The victory was a total team win, and when we held them from scoring in the last quarter is a perfect example," Freburg said. "There were several key gang tackles by a lot of different kids late in the game and that's what it takes."

Winside also had several chances to score and add to its lead in the second half, but couldn't cross the goal line when it had to.

"We were naturally looking to increase our lead, but every time we got close we just couldn't punch it in," Freburg said. "I think a lot of that and the reason the game was so low scoring was because of the weather conditions. In addition to it being pretty cold, it was pretty wet too. It was like soup out there."

The statistics support Freburg's statement, Winside finished with just 97 total yards and Walthill ended with only 77. Also, both squads turned the ball over four times.

Thies had a big night for the Wildcats. In addition to scoring the game's only touchdown, he rushed for 67 of Winside's 90 yards. The 188-pound junior picked up his 67 yards on 20 carries.

On the night, Winside rushed for 90 yards on 39 carries and gained 97 total yards.

Although the Wildcats' offensive statistics aren't very impressive, the Winside defense limited Walthill to just 73 rushing yards on 47 totes and a total of 77 yards. Also, Winside recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pair of Walthill aeriels.

"Our offensive statistics aren't as impressive as they were a week ago, but the key is we played better defensively. We used a team effort to close down Walthill," Freburg said.

Last week, Wynot gained a total of 355 yards against the Wildcats, including 192 on the ground and 163 in the air. Walthill's total is more than 270 yards less than what Wynot's was.

Chris Olson led the Wildcats in defense with 12 tackles, while teammates Randy Leapley and Daryl Mundil added 10 and nine tackles, respectively. Also, Bill Schmitt and Kevin Jeager both picked off a pass for the Wildcats.

"I like to see that team effort. Everybody has to chip in to win and we did it on defense and offense," Freburg said.

Freburg added that in addition to the poor weather conditions, an injury also hindered the Wildcats Friday night.

"Doug Mundil is our starting quarterback but he didn't play because of a sore ankle and that naturally didn't help matters. You combine your starting quarterback being gone with the rainy conditions and you're asking for trouble. But Macé Kant did a nice job of filling in for Mundil," he said.

Kant completed two aeriels on the night and did a nice job of directing the Wildcat offense.

The Wildcat triumph came just one week after they were humiliated by Macé Kant did a nice job of filling in for Mundil," he said.

"We play Hartington next week and they list to Beemer 40-0 Friday night. I expected them (Hartington) to be better since it was their second game. But just because they lost by 40 doesn't mean we can take them lightly. We match up pretty well and we'll have to be on top of our game to win," he said.

Next week's game will be played at Hartington.

Wakefield remains undefeated

Trojans hold off Lyons

WAKEFIELD-Although poor serving hampered Wakefield during most of Thursday night, Stephanie Torzon rifled a pair of ace serves in the final set to allow the Trojans a hard-fought 16-14, 7-15, 15-9 triumph over Lyons-Decatur.

Paul Eaton, Wakefield's head coach, admitted he was pleased to see Torzon's aces to end the game. "Our serving was just terrible and when you don't serve well, anything can happen. So I was just glad to get out of the gym with a win," he said.

Wakefield had its hands full all night as the scrappy Cougars constantly rallied from big deficits. However, Lyons-Decatur made too many mistakes in the final frame, and the Trojans proved they were also a fiery squad by capitalizing on the Cougar miscues and escaping with the victory.

Lyons-Decatur opened a quick lead in the "bumper set" but several carry calls against the Trojans allowed Wakefield to pull within one, 4-3.

Julie Oswald then took over the serving chores and the 5-5 senior served her club to a 6-4 lead.

Wakefield then used Marci Greve's and Kristi Miller's hard hitting to build a comfortable 13-9 advantage before Torzon finished Lyons-Decatur off with her two ace serves.

Wakefield started quickly in the opening set but saw its 7-2 lead evaporate and trailed 13-11. However, the Trojans' defense improved and after lying the set at 14, Kristi Clay's serving and Suzanne Stelling's spiking lifted the hosts to victory.

The middle frame was all Lyons-Decatur as the Cougars opened a quick 5-1 lead then built a 9-3 cushion and went on to post the eight point triumph.

In addition to their poor serving, Eaton said, setting was another weakness the Trojans suffered.

"One of our biggest strengths is our hitting and our setters getting the ball to our hitters. But we had trouble setting up our hitters against Lyons," he said.

Oswald and Clay led Wakefield with 10 and eight points, respectively. Oswald finished 11-for-13 in serving, while Clay went 10-for-14 and Tanya Willers added a 9-for-10 performance.

"We finished with 42 good serves against 20 bad ones and you're not going to win many matches with a statistic like that," Eaton said.

Greve led the Trojans in hitting finishing 22-for-24 with 10 aces. Stelling was perfect in eight hits, while Clay closed with a 12-for-15 effort. Stelling was the squad's leading passer, finishing 13-for-14.

"Suzanne was just player that passed well. Passing was probably our biggest strength," Eaton said.

Lyons-Decatur captured the junior varsity and freshmen matches. The Cougars' JV's claimed a 15-13, 10-15, 15-9 victory, while the freshmen won 11-8, 4-11, 11-8.

Kodi Nelson led Wakefield's junior varsity with 14 points and an 8-for-9 spiking performance, including five aces.

Michelle Otle was the Trojans' leading scorer in the freshmen bout closing with 11 points. Karen Hallstrom was perfect in nine spike attempts for Wakefield's frosh.

Wakefield's next match is Monday at Laurel-Concord. Then on Tuesday, the Trojans will compete in the Winside Tournament.

Eaton said that Susan McQuistan, a starter in Wakefield's first match of the year against Winside, has mono and might be out for the rest of the season.

Wayne game postponed

Wayne-Carroll's Friday night football game scheduled with Schuyler has been postponed until Saturday night, according to Wayne-Carroll athletic director Ron Carnes.

"Schuyler called this morning (Friday) and said their football field was under water and in no condition to play on. So we both decided to move the game back to Saturday," Carnes said.

Check Thursday's Wayne Herald for complete details of the game.

Laurel-Concord pulls out 12-6 win

CROFTON Laurel-Concord opened a 12-0 halftime lead and hung on for a thrilling 12-6 triumph over Crofton here Friday night.

The first 24 minutes belonged to Brent Haisch and Laurel-Concord. The Bears' defense recovered a Crofton fumble deep in their own territory and just seconds later Laurel-Concord capitalized when Haisch crossed the goal line from eight yards out to supply Laurel-Concord with a 6-0 advantage with a little over nine minutes remaining in the first period.

Both teams then became engaged in a defensive battle the rest of the first quarter and most of the second. But as halftime approached, Scott Markquard tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass to Haisch to fuel the Bears to a 12-0 halftime cushion.

Neither team scored in the third stanza but Crofton broke the standstill on a freak touchdown with five minutes remaining in the game.

Crofton faced a fourth and 13 situation from the Laurel-Concord 25. Crofton passed the ball into a dangerous area and the ball was tipped by a Bear defender. However, a Crofton player gathered in the tipped pass and scored to cut the Bears' lead to six.

"We should've intercepted that ball instead of tipping it around. It's early in the season and hopefully the kids learned a lesson on that play," Laurel-Concord head coach Gale Hamilton said.

Laurel-Concord received a scare late in the game when a Bear fumble almost resulted in Crofton lying the game.

Laurel-Concord was in the process of running the clock out when the Bears tumbled and Crofton regained possession with approximately 90 seconds remaining in the contest. However, Laurel-Concord's Jeff Curry picked off a Crofton pass to ice the win for the Bears.

"We made way too many turnovers (five) on the night and that almost cost us the game. But a Crofton turnover did cost them the game," Hamilton said, referring to Curry's interception.

In addition to his pair of touchdowns, Haisch gained a lofty 132 yards on 22 carries and received a team high 51 yards. Markquard passed for 72 yards.

Other than Curry, defensive leaders for the Bears were Brad Prescott who closed with a season high 16 tackles, and Jody Cunningham who picked off two Crofton aeriels. Curry added 10 tackles for the Bears.

Hamilton mentioned the numerous turnovers as being the only weak spot with his club's victory.

"We pretty much dominated the game. I think we held them to four first downs the entire night. But you wouldn't know it by looking at the score because we gave them too many opportunities by turning the ball over too much," Hamilton said.

"Turnovers can kill you and it almost cost us the game tonight. That's something we'll definitely have to cut down on."

Laurel-Concord's next game is Friday when the Bears invade Fonda. Statistics of the game were not available.

Wayne State Improves to 2-1

Wildcats slip by Dordt

SIQUX CENTER-Wayne State's volleyball team improved its season record to 2-1 with a five set victory over Dordt College here Thursday night.

Defense and depth were the keys to the win, according to Wildcat head coach Marilyn Strate.

"It was a total team victory. The bench really came through for us and when we trailed two games to one, our blocking allowed us to come back and pull out the win," she said.

After posting a 15-10 victory in the opening set, Dordt claimed a pair of 15-12 triumphs to take a 2-1 lead in set play.

But the Wildcats came back with their strong defensive effort and pulled out 15-7, 15-8 victories for the win. Missy Stollenburg and Nate Fontenelle led the squad in serving going 26-for-26 and 21-for-22, respectively. Stollenburg added a pair of aces, as did teammate Sue Walker.

Shelle Tomaszewicz finished with 14 kills, and Jill Zelis contributed 24 assists and 13 digs. Meg Hurley led the Wildcats in blocks with five.

A total of 11 players saw varsity action on Thursday and Strate said she was pleased to see such depth.

"We played a lot of girls and our bench really came through. That's nice to see because in a long season like we have, you need depth," she said.

Strate complimented Dordt's players and said the rematch should be exciting.

"Dordt has a very solid team. They come here (Wayne) on the last Saturday in September (the 28th) and that should be a good game too," she said.

Wayne State also won the junior varsity game 15-8, 15-8.

Tanya Gappa and Shelley Krusemark led the Wildcats' JVs with 10 and seven points, respectively. Bev Moeller totaled four digs and seven assists for the JVs, while Kristi Baleman and Gappa totaled five and four kills, respectively.

Kolette Frevert added five assists for Wayne State.

The Wildcats are participating in the Briar Cliff Tournament on Saturday and will play their first home game of the season Wednesday when Briar Cliff and St. Mary's invade Rice Auditorium.

In addition to Briar Cliff, Wayne State will play Grandview, Northeast Tech, Midland College and Buena Vista at the Chargers' tournament on Saturday.

"The two toughest matches for us should be the first one against Grandview and the last one against Briar Cliff," Strate said.

The Wildcats have won the tournament the last two years.

Illnesses hinder Laurel-Concord's bid

WYNOT-Illness to two of Laurel-Concord's key players hindered the Bears in their 4-15, 5-15 loss to Wynot here Thursday night.

Heidi Pehrson and Donna Sherry, two starters for the Bears, missed Thursday's game and Laurel-Concord head coach Carroll Manganaro said their absence was devastating to the Bears.

"Heidi and Donna are two of our better players and one's a setter (Pehrson) and the other's a hitter," she said. "We were working on a new offense all week and really looked pretty good in practice, then they both called in about 30 minutes before the bus left for Wynot and there was nothing we could do except go out and try our best."

The Bears' best efforts weren't enough, however, as Wynot cruised to the easy sweep.

Shelly Waffler led Laurel-Concord with five points. Tami Schmitt and Michelle Josin both went 3-for-3 in spiking, while Gail Twizard added a 4-for-5 hitting performance.

Wynot made it a clean sweep by winning the junior varsity tilts 14-16, 15-3, 15-6, and the freshmen contests 11-4, 11-5.

Gene Schulte led the Bears' JVs with six points. Manganaro said the scoring was balanced in the freshmen bout.

Manganaro added that although the Bears are only 2-3 overall and 0-2 in conference play, she is optimistic they still put together a successful year.

"We're having our troubles lately, but I'm not giving up yet and either are the fans. There's a lot of season left and I think we can get everybody healthy and still have a good year," she said.

Laurel-Concord's next game is Monday when Wakefield invades the Bear gymnasium.

WAYNE FRESHMAN Jason Cole (number 86) reaches the Hartington quarterback as he passes.

Field goal in overtime sinks Wayne frosh

Wayne-Carroll's freshmen dropped a 3-0 decision on a 22-yard field goal in overtime by Hartington Cedar Catholic Thursday night at the Blue Devil practice field.

Rainy conditions hindered both squads during the game, but Hartington moved down to the Wayne-Carroll four yard line and booted the winning three-pointer.

The Blue Devils' most serious scoring threat came in the third quarter when the hosts moved the ball to the Hartington 20-yard line. However, a fumble ended the drive and Hartington took over possession.

Eric Liska had an impressive day for the Blue Devils. Liska rushed for 74 yards on 18 carries and finished with six tackles.

Corey Frye also had a big night gaining 64 yards on 10 totes and totaling a team high 10 tackles. Jason Cole and Sean Baker added six tackles apiece for the Blue Devils.

Wayne Carroll rushed for a total of 167 yards and completed 2-of-8 passes for nine yards.

Blue Devil coach Duane Blomkamp was pleased with his club's effort, despite the loss.

"We gave a good effort. It was a hard-fought game with bad conditions and we'll just use this as a learning experience for the rest of the season," he said.

Wayne Carroll will attempt to even its record at 1-1 Thursday, Sept. 19, when the Blue Devils travel to Pierce.

Coleridge downs Allen's Eagles

COLERIDGE Coleridge took advantage of Allen's setting problems and went on to down the Eagles in straight sets 16-14, 15-13, here Thursday night.

Allen head coach Gary Troth said his club's main problem was its setting, and he added that since the scores were so close his club would have had a good chance to win if they would have set better.

"We had a real strong floor game, but our setting just killed us. Both matches were pretty close, but the difference was our setting," he said. Allen opened a slim lead in the first set, but Coleridge battled back and pulled out the final two points for the victory.

Coleridge made it a clean sweep in the second frame by also scoring the set's last two points to end another close battle.

Troth added that Coleridge did a good job of serving.

"They've always had a tradition of serving hard. Most of their serves are either way off or really tough to handle, and we just caught them on a good night," he said. Kristy Chase led the Eagles in scoring with six points, while Denise Magnuson and LeAnn McDonald both chipped in with four markers apiece.

Magnuson led the club in serving finishing 8-for-8 with two aces, and closed with a 9-for-12 spiking performance, including three kills. Diane Magnuson and teammate Tiffany Harder both added 4-for-5 spiking efforts after dropping the first frame 7-11.

Allen did win the freshmen and junior varsity tilts. The Eagle JVs captured a 15-12, 15-7 triumph, while the freshmen claimed 11-1 and 11-8 decisions after dropping the first frame 7-11.

Allen's next contest is Tuesday when Ponca invades the Eagle gymnasium. Troth said he plans to insert a few changes into the Allen lineup for the Ponca bout.

"I'm going to try a new offense, maybe a 5-1 or something similar to that. That way I'll get to see a lot of the girls in action and since we have a well balanced team, it could help us in the long run," he said.

Wakefield falls 52-18

Coleridge thumps Trojans

COLERIDGE Wakefield's head coach Dennis Wilbur knew Coleridge was going to be a rough game. "Coleridge is going to be one tough game," he said last Saturday morning.

But whether the Trojan mentor thought his squad would get thumped by 34 points is doubtful, but that's exactly what happened as Wakefield dropped a 52-18 decision to the Warriors here Friday night.

Coleridge completely dominated the first two quarters. After opening a commanding 37-0 halftime advantage, the Warriors scored the first touchdown of the second half to open a 44-0 lead, just missing the 45-point rule.

But Wakefield finally got its offense on track by scoring a pair of touchdowns in the third stanza and another in the fourth period.

"I don't like the 45-point rule. If Coleridge would've scored one more extra point they would've beaten us in three quarters, but we went on and did a lot with the ball in the last half," Wilbur said.

Brad Lund scored the Trojans' first two TDs on runs of two and one yards. Todd Kraftke scored the other Wakefield touchdown from four yards out. Lund closed with 129 yards on 30 totes.

The Warriors proved they were deserving of their No. 4 ranking in Class D-2 by gaining a whopping 320 yards on the night. Wakefield closed with 208 total yards.

Wilbur said he was disappointed with most aspects of the game, but did say he discovered some key players in the late going.

"There's really not much I can say. We didn't play well and they did. But one positive part of the game is I did find some people who wanted to play ball and they really gave it their best effort despite the one-sidedness of the game and really, we outplayed them.

Eagles labeled 'unknown'

Chapman discusses Chadron

By Todd Hilder
WSC Sports Information
 "What bothers Wayne State football coach Pete Chapman the most about Saturday's game at Chadron State is that, 'It's all an unknown.'"
 "They brought in 36 junior college transfers," Chapman said. Only seven starters return for the Eagles, who defeated South Dakota Tech 27-7 in their season opener.
 "Tech is normally a good football team. For them to have beaten them 27-7 is a pretty good accomplishment," Chapman said.
 Chadron's size also worries Chapman. The Eagles are large up front with the offensive line averaging 279 pounds. The defensive line tips the scales with a 250 pound average. Gene Hanks, a 6-8, 245 lb. senior tackle, and Ron Smith, a 6-9, 290 lb. junior guard, are the most impressive of Chadron's offensive linemen. Defensively, the Eagles play a 4-3.
 Quarterback John Riggs will lead the Chadron offense. Riggs transferred with head coach Don Turner from Eastern Oregon two years ago. "Their quarterback is a senior and has some skill," Chapman said of Riggs. He will have speedy receivers in flanker Duane Smith, 5-8, 165, and spilt end Scott Orchard, 5-7, 160.

 While the Eagles were routing Tech, the Wildcats found the going tough, losing to Morningside College 34-10. Eight regular starters were injured in the game for the Wildcats and Chapman may have to dig into his bag of reserves for replacements.
 Included in Saturday's injured list were: wide receiver Sonny Jones; wide receiver Glenn Mathews; left guard Ruben Mendoza; fullback Carl Calvert; cornerback Lamont Lewis; defensive lineman Mike Brungardt; defensive end Scott Wightman and linebacker Greg Cavill.
 "The injury reports are a lot better than they were Sunday, however," Chapman said. Mathews and Wightman are the only players definitely out of Saturday's game, according to Chapman. "The others are all questionable."
 "The way it looks right now, Morningside was a very expensive lesson," he added. "But we'll come back. They're working extremely hard in practice this week."
 In addition to the injuries, penalties also took its toll on the Wildcats. Wayne State was penalized for 105 yards in the game, including seven personal fouls due to unsporting manlike conduct.

"Our kids lost their temper, which is not indicative of Wayne State football. The penalties were the major thing that put us in a hole. You take away those situations and the teams are pretty even. It won't happen again though. I guarantee it," Chapman said.
 Wayne State and Chadron will conduct their series which dates back to 1912 when Chadron won 27-0. Chadron has won three of the last five contests dating back to 1980. Chapman teams are 1-1 against the Eagles, having lost in 1983 10-0 and defeating them in last year's game 36-7. Chadron leads the series 31-27-1.
 In last year's Wayne State victory, the Wildcats rode the record-setting kicking of Herve Roussel. Roussel started things off with a 46-yard field goal in the first quarter to set a new school record. Three minutes later, he promptly broke that record by kicking a 47-yarder. By the end of the day, Roussel had kicked five field goals, four from 46 yards or more. Ed Jochum threw for 226 yards and two touchdowns to Matt Hoffmann and Darin Blackburn. Chadron's only score came half-way through the fourth quarter on a 15-yard pass.

Eagles fall to 0-2

Turnovers sink Allen 53-28

WAUSA-Wausa capitalized on several second half turnovers by Allen and went on to thump the Eagles 53-28 here Friday night.
 Wausa held a slim 22-20 halftime lead but took advantage of three Eagle turnovers in the third quarter to build a comfortable 42-20 lead in just 12 minutes.
 Allen head coach Dave Ulrich said untimely mistakes sunk his club.
 "When you make a lot of turnovers, you're naturally going to feel it. But not only did we turn the ball over too much, but every time we did it we deep in our own territory and Wausa never had very far to go to score," he said.
 Allen's biggest weapon on the night was Jyoti Kwankin. Kwankin rushed for 142 yards on 21 carries and scored three touchdowns, including a 72 yard punt return in the second quarter.

But in addition to outscoring Allen 20-0 in the third stanza, Wausa won the final frame 13-8 and claimed the 25 point victory.
 Allen's fourth quarter TD was scored by Kwankin on a 40 yard run. Trevis Schroeder scored the PAT.
 Oswald passed for 46 yards, completing 9-of-13 aerials, Noey was 1-for-2 for 30 yards.
 Noey, as the busiest receiver hauling in five catches for 26 yards. Steve Jones caught two tosses for 35 yards.
 Defensive leaders for the Eagles were Noey who totaled nine tackles and recovered a fumble, Kwankin and Mark Isom who totaled nine tackles apiece, and Brian Malcolm who finished with 10 hits.

Allen's next game is Friday when the Eagles host powerful Beemer. Ulrich said the Eagles will have to be on top of their game for Friday's bout.
 "Beemer's a very good team and we can't give up the ball like we did tonight and expect to beat them," he said.

 "Kwankin had a big night, but all the kids played a lot better. It was a day and night difference from last week," Ulrich said, referring to Allen's 40-0 loss to Wynot last Friday.
 Kwankin, first touchdown came in the initial quarter when he galloped 29 yards to pay dirt. After the 150-pound junior scored on the punt return, Max Oswald hit Craig Noe with a five yard touchdown strike. The duo also teamed up for the PAT after the touchdown which brought the Eagles within two just before halftime.

 Wakefield outscored the Warriors 18-15 in the last 24 minutes and gained almost 200 yards.
 Wakefield has next week off, but the Trojans will go after its second win of the season the following Friday when they travel to Bancroft.

PRACTICE SAFETY — IN ALL THAT YOU DO

At Home

If the plug is in, the power is on. Therefore, when you keep appliances near water, keep them unplugged.

Each year 600 Americans die from electrocution in or around their homes. Electrocutions may occur in kitchens, bathrooms or outdoors — anywhere near water sources. That's why it's a good idea to always unplug any small electrical product after using it. Don't assume that if the switch is "off," there's no danger of electrocution.

Other tips include:

- Never use any electrical product while bathing or put it where it can drop or be pulled into the tub or sink. If the appliance accidentally falls into the water, don't reach into the water for it. Unplug it immediately at the wall outlet.
- Never leave a small portable electrical appliance within the reach of small children. Children left unattended could pull the plugged-in, but switched-off appliance into the tub or sink and risk being electrocuted.

At Work

Modern farming requires the use of large, complex machinery. Each year a tragic number of accidents are caused by careless handling of farm equipment around electric power lines. Your power supplier urges you to use caution at all times — to watch for overhead power lines and utility poles and to avoid any contact with this potentially lethal power equipment.

Insist that hired hands and family members alike learn to survey their working areas carefully before engaging farm equipment in work activities. Have every worker assure himself that the equipment he is using will not come into contact with power lines or power support equipment.

At Play

Never fly your kites or model airplanes near electric power lines! If the kite string or the control line to the airplane touches a power line, you could be burned very badly. Be sure to warn anyone you see flying a kite or model airplane near power lines that they are in danger.

Trees are great for hiding in, for building tree houses and just for climbing. But before you start to climb a tree, be sure there are no electric wires running through the branches or touching anywhere else. Trees are full of moisture and electricity runs through them very easily. Avoid the danger by staying away from trees near wires, and tell your friends to do the same.

Welcome back, students

AS A gesture of appreciation to the students who have returned to classes at Wayne State College, the Wayne Chamber of Commerce sponsored a "Welcome Back WSC Students" Dance Thursday evening at the Wayne City Auditorium. In the foreground at left are Chamber chaperones Anne Svoboda, Gail Korn, Jim and Phyllis Spethman and Dale Stoltenberg, president of the Wayne Chamber. Some of the music was a bit more than some of the chaperones' ears could bear.

Head lice cases could multiply

Head lice cases are expected to multiply as the school year begins and students come into closer contact with one another, a state health official says.

Dr. Paul Stoesz, Director of Disease Control with the State Department of Health, said head lice can spread rapidly among children as school begins and students share combs, scarves, and coats.

Lice are tiny insects that live on the scalp and lay eggs on hair shafts in cases called nits. They are usually found on the head, but may be found on other hairy parts of the body.

"It has been a prevalent problem in part of the state from time to time," Stoesz said.

The spread of lice among humans has almost nothing to do with cleanliness or economic status, he said.

"It's a simple matter of exposure to an infected person," he said.

School health officials rated the severity of the head lice problem in 1984 as average to below average, according to a report published by the Division of Environmental Health and Disease Surveillance. Almost four-fifths (79.7 percent) of reporting counties contain schools that reported head lice for a survey done last August through January.

"Cases of head lice appear to be extremely common throughout the state, particularly in preschool and elementary school-age children," the report states. "However, infestation rates seldom exceeded 1 out of 30 children when outbreaks occurred."

Head lice are characterized by severe itching in the scalp area, Stoesz said. Cure is rapid with application of special shampoo. The only successful method of avoiding lice is to avoid infected persons and their clothes, combs, and hats, he said.

For disease protection

Have immunization checked

As children head back to school, state health officials remind parents to check the immunization records of their children to ensure their immunity from seven childhood diseases.

State immunization coordinator Christine Newton of the State Department of Health reminds parents to check especially the records of children entering school for the first time or transferring to a Nebraska school from out-of-state, where immunization laws may be different.

Nebraska laws require children be protected against measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, and mumps. Parents or guardians should check with their health care provider to make sure their children have been properly immunized. Records show adequate immunizations are due in the school by November 1.

"While children sixth grade and lower are showing high levels of immunity, some protection levels of children of higher grades are below the 95th percentile, the minimum established level for prevention of immunizable diseases," Newton said.

This is especially dangerous because these unimmunized students graduate into colleges and the general population, she said, increasing the risk of larger outbreaks. Several colleges and universities have experienced outbreaks and deaths from these diseases and are beginning to stress immunization more heavily.

Nebraska parents and guardians who don't wish their children to be immunized may sign refusal forms.
