Cavett audiences get dose of intellectual humor

Photography: Chuck Hackenmiller

Dick Cavett accentuates a point in his seminar with students and faculty Wednesday morning.

"He will not only be informative, but entertaining as well."

That's what was said months ago by Wayne State College officials about the announced appearance of famed talk show host Dick Cavett, who would be one of the top acts to kick off the college's 75th anniversary celebration.

Cavett fulfilled that prophecy when a sold-out audience gathered in Ramsey Theatre on Tuesday evening to hear him comment about his talk show, listen to him speak about life in New York, and his associations with celebrities, to laugh at his quick wit or even hear him become a bit sentimental about his home state of Nebraska.

Sentimental when he talked about Wayne State alumnus, John G. Neihart, who appeared on a television special that Cavett conducted. And he switched the stage spotlight into the audience, where Wayne Care Centre Administrator Gil Haase was sitting. In the early 1950's, Haase appeared with Cavett at summer stock theatre in Lincoln.

Cavett didn't hold back on reminiscing. He told about his fondness for the Nebraska sandhill territory, about the farming crisis which he labeled as a "criminal shame."

The celebrity was born in Gibson, Nebraska, and resided in Grand Island and Lincoln until he left to attend Yale University. He was a copyboy for "Times" magazine in 1960 when he submitted some jokes for Jack Parr's "Tonight Show."

That landed him a job as staff writer for Parr. In 1964 he began writing jokes for himself and did standup comedy of his own, leading him to guest spots on such shows as Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show."

ON TUESDAY night, he appeared on stage at Wayne State College — even throwing in some magic with several rope tricks he learned as a teenager, gaining assistance that night from Ralph Barclay, professor of health and physical education at WSC.

Cavett was having so much fun he said he would like to become a WSC alumnus.

His comfortableness with Wayne State College staff and students lingered on Wednesday — the day after his performance. This time his stage was before students in a classroom-type atmosphere.

He visited for nearly 15 minutes with a fifth grade class and teacher Cyndi Swarts, who is a fifth and sixth grade language arts teacher. Cavett's stepmother, Dorcas Cavett, and Swarts' father taught together in the education department at the University of Nebraska.

According to a story written by Mary Beth Kriskey of "The Wayne Stater" on Cavett's visit to the fifth grade class, Swarts said "I think he enjoyed it the most. He tried to relate and act like one of the kids. I wish we would of had more time... He was a treat for us."

CAVETT ALSO conducted two student seminars, the morning session being at the Benhack building on the Wayne State College campus.

He told of his interviews with popular actresses. "Some people who liked me liked her better because she was on my show and she liked me," he mentioned. Confusing?

And what does Cavett think of talk show host, Donahue?

"I like Donahue. I think he does a very good job. There is a lot I could learn from him," he answered. "And he from me," he wittily added.

Cavett doesn't watch television that often. He has no regular show that he likes to watch. "There is no show that I can't do without," he said. He said, however, that he loves to work on television, particularly live television.

The better shows, he said, are the reruns on cable.

And what would Cavett think of doing a game show?

"I'd like to go on the Pyramid show, for example. If there were game shows that would be fun to do, a literate game show that I could use my ability to ad lib, if the game show was interesting — I don't see any disgrace in it [doing a game show]."

Cavett said he was offered to do two or three game shows. But facing the prospect of flying to California constantly for the game shows, he "just couldn't do that."

One fun game show to do, he said, would be a production that would feature quotes and word play.

ADMITTING HE would consider the amount of money paid to him if he was requested to appear on television (he had a guest appearance on the series "Hotel"), Cavett said he "wouldn't want to do a junk series."

When you think of the "amount of money turned down, it adds up and gives you nightmares," he mentioned.

Bob Hope drew praise from Cavett during the student seminar. "He's a

One-room school open for classes

Two examples of education from three quarters of a century ago can be relived this fall at Wayne State College.

A rural one-room school house and a dormitory room as they appeared some 75 years ago are open during special events from now until November.

They are a part of WSC's 75th Anniversary being celebrated this fall. The Emma McCorkinone Rural School will be holding its first Oct. 3 and 12 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. for class. Dr. Mary Arlene Schull, professor of education, will have WSC students giving 20 minute 19th style lessons to the public.

The McCorkinone school was brought to Wayne State and dedicated in 1964. It is completely restored with an old fashioned stove, coal bucket, school bell and learning materials from near the turn of the century.

A NEARBY Hall girls' dormitory room has been redesigned to look like a room from WSC's early days, thanks to Roberta Walto, a college residence director. We're decorated Room 14 (at the Hall's southeast entrance) with an apron bed, dresser and old grooming items. The electric lights were even taken out and replaced by lanterns for more realism.

The dorm room is open for viewing the following times: Saturday, Oct. 5, 12 and Nov. 2 (from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.); Saturday, Nov. 9 (from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.); Sunday, Nov. 10 (from 3:30 to 5 p.m.); and Tuesday, Nov. 24 (from 10 to 5 p.m.).

It can also be shown at other times by contacting Walto at 575-9725. Wayne State has afternoon football games Oct. 5, 12, and Nov. 2 and 9. Nov. 4 is also Parents' Day on campus.

Remembrance Day, honoring former WSC presidents and emeritus faculty members, is Nov. 10 and the Diamond Anniversary closing activities are Nov. 26.

Carroll Centennial kick-off Nov. 3

Residents of Carroll are busy preparing for that community's Centennial celebration scheduled July 18-20, 1986.

Activities will kick off with a pancake feed for the public on Sunday, Nov. 3 from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Carroll auditorium.

Tickets for the feed are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for youngsters age 12 and under.

At 1 p.m. on the day of the pancake feed, Howard McLain of Carroll will auction off six porcelain dolls with proceeds going to the Centennial fund.

The dolls may be seen at McLain Oil in Carroll after Oct. 1.

FOLLOWING THE pancake feed, the auditorium will remain open during the afternoon for a variety of activities, including a bake sale sponsored by the Carroll Womens Club.

Women who submitted recipes for the Carroll Womens Club cookbook are asked to bake a recipe from the book and bring it to the sale.

Tentative plans call for the cookbooks to be ready for sale at the kickoff. The books, which contain 899 recipes submitted by area women and former residents, will sell for $8 each.

CENTENNIAL BOOKS also will be available during the kickoff at a cost of $10. After Jan. 1, the books will sell for $12.50.

In addition, permits will be available for the Brothers of the Brush-beard contest and for shavers. There also will be centennial buttons, ties and bumper stickers.

Mrs. Sue Gilmore is president of the Centennial Committee. Other officers are Bill Claybaugh, vice president, and Mrs. Sandy Hall, secretary.

Chicken 'away

Don't you just love autumn? It's a photographer's dream come true, particularly when the bright perennial flowers boldly make their presence known and the colorful hue of the tree leaves blend in with the deep blue sky.

It's all really nice until someone casually suggests "Isn't it time we got the rake out and cleaned up the lawn." That's about the only thing I don't like about autumn — those pile of leaves which accumulate no matter how many times you pass over the lawn with a rake.

Nebraska certainly has its scenic spots in autumn, from what people tell me. Ponca State Park, they said, is one place that should be visited. Another is Nebraska City's Arbor Lodge.

Now, to return the favor of those who have given me some locations for Nebraska scenic, let me give readers of this column a tip on where to catch some beautiful fall scenery if they are heading into eastern Iowa territory.

For three years I had worked in Dyersville, Iowa — a community of about 5,000 people which is approximately 24 miles west of Dubuque, Iowa. Dubuque is a river city — the mighty Mississippi River passes through, dividing the state boundaries of Illinois. You cross a bridge eastward from Dubuque and there is Illinois. Make a wrong turn after crossing the bridge and you might just find, five minutes later, that you are in Wisconsin.

THE MISSISSIPPI is, in itself, an awesome spectacle. But in the fall, the touring of the Mississippi takes a back seat to the fall foliage which appears on sides of the numerous bluffs and winding roads in the northeast Iowa area.

Twenty or so miles north of Dyersville is a community called Guttenberg — a river town with dikes along the banks of the Mississippi — where people can watch the barges being manipulated through the locks, ever so gently by riverboats.

The bluffs are spectacular. Just before arriving into Guttenberg, a sign points the way to North Buena Vista — and this is the route to take if one is interested in capturing the fall splendor. This is a gravel road and each year thousands travel it to partake in the glorious color — or just to get away from the drab grey life in the cities.

It is a road with many curves (many of them sharp as hairpins) and you don't dare let the driver's back in the autumn beauty while the car wheels are moving or else the vehicle might drop down the side and wouldn't reach the bottom of the bluff until the next day, the people there exaggerate.

You tend to believe them, though, once traveling the road.

FORTUNATELY, the road widens in spots where the photography bug can pull over and aim his camera, toward the river and the bluffs surrounding it.

One doesn't dare go off the beaten path. It is easy to get lost in this country — to go in circles and not reach the exact destination intended.

It is one of those roads where it feels like you've been driving 20 miles when the odometer only indicates five miles.

The area is blessed with rolling

by chuck hackenmiller

hills. Homes are nestled into the thick wooded areas and on cool mornings the smoke from the heating stoves circulate out of the chimneys and into the air.

North Buena Vista is in the midst of the wooded area. During the leaf fall season, the church or other organization members erect various stands to sell items, ranging from apple cider to bazaar-type crafts. The Catholic church stands square in the center of the town and all activity seems to spin around it.

Close to the small town one can catch a ferry across the Mississippi River — saying good-bye to Iowa and hello to Wisconsin.

When the drive is completed, you just can't help but say "what can beat this?"

Of course, Nebraska will likely provide equal, perhaps more gorgeous type of fall scenery — and my family is looking forward to the venture of investigating locations mentioned to us.

But we'll go back some day in autumn to the Dubuque area, just to refresh a wonderful memory and witness the beautiful miracle which this area has to offer.

viewpoint

Horn of plenty

A good idea has been formulated by Nebraska State Senator Elroy Hefner of Coleridge that people in this area "should take note of" and it has to do with Christmas shopping.

Most people, when reading the first paragraph, will say "Oh my gosh. Now the government is going to try and take away the fun of Christmas!"

On the contrary, Hefner's idea might give out an even greater spirit in the celebrating of Christmas.

He is urging Nebraskans to give "Husker Holiday Gifts" during the holiday season — specifically as a means to aid the farm economy and to promote Nebraska agricultural products as gifts for the holiday season. Hefner says that businesses give gifts such as oranges and grapefruit from Florida, cheese from Wisconsin and apples from Washington rather than taking a look at gift opportunities right here in our own backyard.

He noted that nothing beats the quality of Nebraska beef, lamb, pork, popcorn, apples, cheese and other products. Purchase of these products would add millions of dollars to the agricultural economy and thereby help improve prices.

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture is developing a list of all business that can provide "Husker Holiday Gifts."

We join with Hefner in saying that by purchasing gifts of Nebraska food products, you are giving a gift that counts one that is unique, beneficial and thoughtful.

And wouldn't it be even a greater idea to do all the Christmas shopping here at home — in the town where you live?

Abuse programs fill need

"Everyone knows everyone else here, and everyone in town thought my husband was a great guy. Where was I going for help? Where do you go with your kids with no money and no training for a job when he has threatened to kill you, when he drags you out of the car and tries to run you over, when he carries a gun in the car? I wonder if any of you know what it is like to be afraid for your very life. You just stay there and hope it doesn't happen anymore." — A victim.

The Victim of Domestic Violence feels isolated, trapped and terrified. "He broke into the house while I was on the phone, and he had threatened to kill the children. I was so terrified, I thought, this is the night he's going to do it. This is the night he's going to kill us all!" — a victim.

The children in violent homes "learn" violence in much the same way they learn any other behavior. "Family violence is a time bomb that will explode years later as children who watch one parent hitting the other repeat the example in their own relationships in the community."

— The Attorney General's Task Force Report on Family Violence. The abusive partner has little self-confidence; a low tolerance for stress and cannot identify feeling anything but anger or being okay. "I don't think men have ways to express their frustration about anger except with violence. My husband felt terrible about it after it happened, but then things would build up again and there was no other way he could handle the situation except to be violent again. Then he would feel guilty again. But he justified his actions by saying that I had caused the attack." — A victim.

While domestic violence has occurred as long as there have been families, services have been available for these families in this country for only ten years. Before the mid '70's a battered woman and her children had nowhere to go and no one to help them. The legal system was reluctant to get involved in "a family matter", no matter how severe the abuse. It was a popular belief held by counselors and the general public that an abused woman provoked the "abuse" and masochistically enjoyed it. The effects on the children were ignored unless, they, too, were physically abused.

During the past ten years, programs and services for these families have been developed across the country.

Nebraska is in the forefront of domestic violence program development. In 1978, the Nebraska Legislature passed the Protection from Domestic Abuse Act. The intent of this Act was to "develop services which will lessen and reduce the trauma of domestic abuse." This legislation gave the Department of Social Services a mandate to "establish and maintain comprehensive support services to aid victims of domestic violence and provide prevention and treatment programs to aid victims of domestic violence, their families and abusers."

The Department of Social Services responded to this charge by contracting with local community based programs that serve victims of domestic violence. Over the past seven years, 23 community based programs have been developed and are serving victims and their families across the State.

These programs provide 24-hour crisis counseling and advocacy services, emergency transportation, shelter and shelter for these families. Another service these programs provide is community education and professional training. Even today, many people believe the old myths surrounding family violence and this education is an important prevention component of these programs.

Battered women in Nebraska now have someone to talk to who understands and believes their experience. They and their children have a safe place to go where they can find respite from violence. Lives are saved by these programs. Children are safer because of their existence.

However, as we provide the basic emergency services to these families, more and more unmet needs emerge. Shelter temporarily stops the abuse, but intensive counseling for the abuser can stop the abuse permanently. Crisis counseling takes care of immediate needs, but these women often need more extensive support services including group counseling, job training and parenting skills. Shelter temporarily provides safety to these children, but they need much more in order to learn that violence does not have to be a way of life.

"Overreaching all of these specific steps is the one fundamental, indispensable step to detour and prevent family violence: the public must become aware of the nature of the problem and its obligation to combating it." "until there is a broad, clear signal that family violence is condemned by the community, abusers will continue to ignore the reality of their crimes and victims will continue to blame themselves". — The Attorney General's Task Force Report on Family Violence.

We have made a start in Nebraska. The Department of Social Services is committed to the provision of these services, but we still have a long way to go.

Rock Seminar:

I would like to respond to the letter written by Jeff Sperry. It was obvious he did not attend the "Truth about Rock Seminar" in Laurel. He should have. Dan Peters isn't against rock music, only the lyrics. You can purchase Chrisslap music with the heavy metal rock beat also.

Mr. Sperry stated he doesn't spend all his listening to the lyrics of songs. That is why the Peters brothers are promoting the printing the lyrics on the outside of the record jackets so people can read what they may be listening to before they buy it. Many people say they don't listen or understand the words anyway, but your subconscious does.

As far as Prince & his Purple Rain goes, Mr. Sperry said "these songs revolved around a singers life & his rise to stardom." That's true. I do not want my kids to put someone on a pedestal who is immoral & uses drugs. All of the rock stars Dan Peters mentioned bragged about their sexual lives & some were in cuts dealing with Satan. Why would anyone want to listen to songs written about these singer's lives when they are so unchristian?

Abuse of women & children is at an all time high. Many of these songs promote abuse. Could this be a factor?

Kids think they know what music to listen to, but they don't realize how harmful it can be. Some listen because these are the hits. Why do songs promoting sex & violence make it to the top? I think rating the music would be good. There are rock bands who write moral lyrics. I think parents should be aware of what their children are listening to. Parents need to get involved & care. I know going to the seminar opened my eyes & I intend to watch more carefully what my children & I listen to.

ask a lawyer

a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q. Is it legal to use a printed form for a will, or a do-it-yourself kit, and just fill in the blanks and sign it?
A. It is legal to use "form" wills or kits, as long as your will meets all requirements of Nebraska law. Most lawyers, however, strongly advise against the use of such kits.

The requirements for a will to be valid in Nebraska are: The "testator" (person making the will) must be at least 18 years old, except that a married person of any age may make a will. The person must be of sound mind. The will must be in writing, either typewritten or handwritten, and the will must be signed and dated in the testator's own handwriting. The witnesses must sign the will in the presence of the testator, and in the presence of each other.

Nebraska law also allows for "holographic" wills, which are handwritten wills which are not witnessed. For this type of will to be valid, the material provisions of the will must be in the testator's own handwriting, and the will must be signed and dated in the testator's own handwriting.

The reason that most lawyers advise against wills made with the aid of a kit, or a holographic will, is that these wills can be more difficult to prove in court, and they sometimes fail to make provisions for all of the testator's property. The language that people use to divide their property may make sense to them, but may not be interpreted in the desired way when the will is probated. Such wills often overlook some of the methods of distributing property which could save the estate money in taxes and administrative costs. They may not take into consideration heirs with special needs. Ultimately, home-made wills can end up costing far more, both in money and in time, than it would have cost to have the will properly drawn by a lawyer.

MARY TEMPLE, Extension Specialist, etc.

Calcium — the best for less

The average American gets only about half as much calcium as is currently recommended by nutritionists. Color counting seems to be one reason. People can add calcium to their diets without adding extra calories. Drinking three 8-ounce glasses of milk each day is the easiest way for most people to meet their minimum calcium needs. At 80 calories per cup of skim milk, that's only about 240 calories a day. That's only 30 calories more than one glazed doughnut.

Using nonfat dry milk in cooking and baking also adds calcium to a variety of dishes. It can be added to the water in cooked cereals, mashed potatoes and reconstituted soups. Nonfat dry milk can be mixed into meat loaves, casseroles, puddings, breads and other baked products.

SUBSTITUTE LOW FAT cottage cheese or yogurt for cream cheese or sour cream in sauces and dips. Both provide calcium at a fraction of the calories. Low fat cheeses such as mozzarella, ricotta, neufchatel, parmesan and Monterey Jack also are good choices.

Leafy green vegetables, such as bokchoy, kale, mustard and turnip greens also provide good amounts of calcium. The calcium in greens can sometimes be poorly absorbed.

Combination foods can be a good source of calcium, too. Cheese pizza, tacos, macaroni and cheese all provide significant amounts of calcium.

Every little bit of calcium helps, and the following recipe provides about as much calcium as one half cup milk.

The recipe for individual pizzas comes from "The American Diabetes/The American Diabetic Association Family Cookbook, Vol. 1."

INDIVIDUAL PIZZAS

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 4 English muffins, split
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon ground oregano
- 1 4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces
- 4 ounces low-fat, part-skim mozzarella cheese, sliced

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Brown ground beef with onion, green pepper and salt. Drain well. Spread split muffins with margarine; place on baking sheet. Mix tomato sauce and oregano; spread about 1 tablespoon on each muffin half. Sprinkle each with mushrooms and about 2 tablespoons meat mixture. Cover with cheese. Bake 15 minutes or until cheese melts and muffin begins to brown.

Each 2 1/2 slice serving provides 308 calories, 16 grams protein, 12 grams fat, and 128 milligrams calcium.

Poor first half costs Allen 20-18 loss to Walthill

ALLEN—Had Allen's Eagles played as well in the first half as they did in the second half, they would have blown away Walthill Friday night. However, a poor first half sunk the Eagles and allowed the Bluejays to escape with a thrilling 20-18 victory.

The main problem for Allen in the first half was its reaction. On defense, the Eagles reacted too quickly, and on offense, they reacted too slowly.

"Our problem on defense in the first half was our linebackers and secondary were getting sucked in and faked out too easily, and it's because they were just one step ahead of themselves. They didn't stay home long enough," Allen head coach Dave Ulrich said.

"And on offense, our linemen didn't figure out quick enough how to stop Walthill's defenders from exploding through the gaps," he added.

Walthill consistently used play action fakes and halfback passes for big gains in the first two frames.

After holding Allen on a faked punt in the first quarter, the Bluejays worked the ball deep into Eagles' territory on a series of play action fakes before Mark Rogers scored the game's first TD. Brian Robinson then hit Dave Wingett with a PAT pass to supply Walthill with an 8-0 lead.

Walthill built a 20-0 lead at the half by using touchdown runs of 12 and 35 yards by Robinson and Rogers, respectively.

But an obviously upset Ulrich greeted his squad with a good old-fashioned locker room talk at the half, and his discussion paid off.

"We got things straightened over halftime on both offense and defense," Ulrich said. "Since we were having trouble with their quickness on offense, we just went around the ends and to the air more often in the second half, and on defense we just had everybody stay home longer."

Allen looked like a totally different team in the third quarter and when Craig Noe hit Steve Jones with a 60-yard touchdown pass at the 4:59 mark in the third stanza, the Eagles owned all of the game's momentum.

Allen then came right back by scoring just minutes later when Max Oswald hit Dave Isom for the Eagles' second straight 60-yard TD pass of the contest. The PAT pass failed, but the game was on for grabs as Walthill only led 20-12 with 10:22 remaining.

Jyoti Kwankin was held in check during most of the contest, but it's hard to keep a running back of his caliber quiet for four quarters and he finally came to life with 2-37 left by scoring from seven yards out to make the score 20-18.

However, Allen's PAT misfortunes continued as the Eagles missed on their third extra point try after the Kwankin TD.

Allen obviously had to try an onside kick, and Walthill was prepared and gained possession of the ball.

But the Eagle defense didn't quit.

Allen battled hard and consistently tried kicking the ball. And the Eagles might have had another shot at scoring. However, they were whistled for a late hit and allowed Walthill to run the clock out and claim the triumph.

The total yards accumulated by each squad is a leading indicator of how close the game actually was as Allen finished with 227 yards and Walthill totaled 209.

And Allen's dominance of the second half is also reflected in both squads' yardage statistics. The Eagles finished with a whopping 193 yards over the last two stanzas and held their opponents to 59.

"We dominated that second half, that's the best half we've played all year," Ulrich said. "But they did the same thing in the first half. If we would've only played better in the first half," the Eagle mentor added.

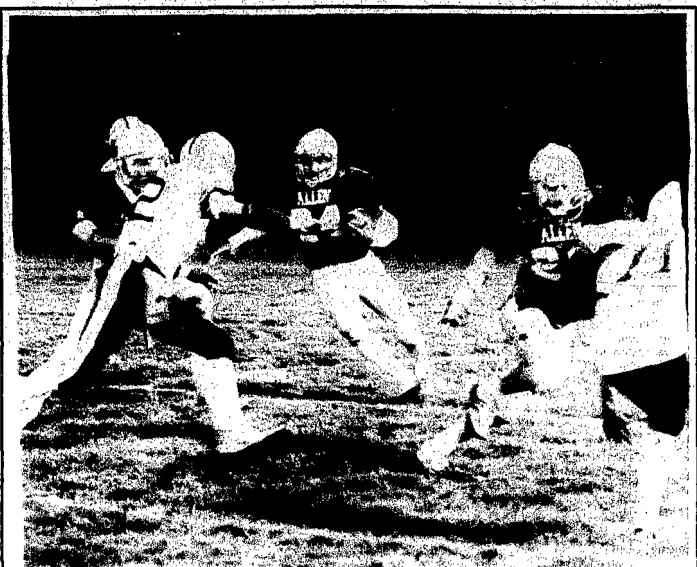

Kwankin led Allen with 40 rushing yards on 13 totes. Oswald passed for 123 of the Eagles' 183 passing yards by completing 9-of-23 aerials.

Allen controlled the air as the Eagles' 183 passing yards was 157 more than Walthill's 26.

Dave Heckathorn was the defensive leader for the Eagles, especially in the second half. The 5-10, 190-pounder closed with 19 tackles, including 12 in the second half.

"Heckathorn really played a great game. He was all over the place," Ulrich said.

ALLEN'S JYOTI Kwankin (No. 24) follows his blockers and looks for more running room in first half action of the Allen/Walthill football game Friday night. A poor first half cost the Wildcats a 20-18 loss.

Emerson-Hubbard holds off Laurel

LAUREL—The Emerson-Hubbard/Laurel Concord volleyball game Thursday night was a series of setbacks, and unfortunately for Laurel, Emerson rallied down the stretch of the third set to pull out a 6-15, 15-12, 10-15 victory.

The first set was dominated by Emerson, but Laurel battled back in the second frame by playing one of its most spirited games of the season and pulled out a 15-12 triumph.

Laurel trailed 7-4, 9-6 and 12-10 in the middle stanza, but the Bears stole Emerson's momentum down the stretch and pulled out the three point win.

"I was happy with the girls' emotions in the second set. You could see they really wanted to win and they played with a lot of heart," Bear head coach Carol Manganaro said.

The third set was another close battle and Emerson opened a slim 9-6 lead. However, Laurie Millard of Emerson took over the serving chores and fueled her club to a 13-7 advantage and Emerson hung on for the victory.

"It was anybody's set until Millard starting serving. We just couldn't return her serves and she really did a good job for them," Manganaro said.

Gail Twiford did a good job for the Bears. The 5-11 junior scored a team high eight points, finished 13 for 13 in serving and closed with a 14-for-16 performance in spiking, including five kills.

Tami Schmitt followed Twiford with seven points on 10 for 11 serving. Schmitt also finished 10-for-12 in spiking.

Michelle Josin added a 12-for-14 spiking performance for the Bears, including three aces.

Manganaro mentioned Heidi Pebrson, Sarah Adkins and Donna Sherry as leading the squad in setting.

"We had a balanced night as far as setting goes. Donna was used primarily as a hitter before but she did a good job of setting," Manganaro said.

As a team, the Bears closed with a fine 82 percent figure in spiking and served 89 percent as a team.

"As far as the team is concerned, we did a good job of serving and spiking. Especially spiking. I like for our team to finish above 70 percent and we finished above 80 percent," Manganaro said.

The biggest problem for Laurel, according to Manganaro, was missing serves in key situations.

"Too often when the game was close we missed our serves. You always hate to miss your serves, and when it comes at key points in the game it's a double negative," she said.

Laurel lost the "B" game 4-15, 4-15 but claimed the "C" bout 11-7, 11-1.

Nicola Bartels sparked the Bears' "C" outfit with a team high seven points.

"That was the first time the girls played together and worked together as a team," Manganaro said about her "C" squad. "They served 95 percent and found out that if you have teamwork, you win," she added.

The loss dropped Laurel's record to 3-5 on the year. The Bears play again Thursday, Oct. 3, at Osmond.

Cadets Capitalize 30-6

West Point sinks Wayne

WEST POINT—West Point took advantage of great field position throughout the game and thumped Wayne Carroll 30-6 here Friday night.

Throughout the entire contest, Wayne allowed West Point tremendous field possession due to poor execution by its specialty teams, according to Wayne skipper Lonnie Ehrhardt.

"Our play on specialty teams hurt us. We just gave them too many chances to score by giving them the ball deep in our territory," he said.

West Point outscored Wayne 10-0 in the first period, and both Cadet scores resulted from receiving the ball in great position.

Wayne couldn't sustain a drive on its second possession and the Blue Devils were forced to punt. However, West Point blocked the boot and recovered the ball on the Blue Devil six yard line.

The Cadets punched it in just seconds later to open the game's scoring.

On Wayne's next possession the Blue Devils were forced to punt from their own 10. West Point returned the kick 15 yards and worked the ball close enough to boot a field goal and build a 10-0 lead.

But Wayne refused to quit and cut the Cadet lead to four when Ted Luenders hit Dan Gross for a 50 yard TD at the 4:22 mark.

The Blue Devils followed by piecing together a solid drive and worked the ball down to the Cadet five yard line. However, Wayne's field goal attempt failed and the score remained 10-6 at the half.

The second half started much like the first as West Point took advantage of a bad snap by Wayne and gained possession of the ball on the Blue Devil three yard line. Two plays later the Cadets opened a 17-6 advantage.

Both squads then became engaged in a defensive battle until early in the fourth quarter when West Point took advantage of yet another bad snap by Wayne and two plays later opened a 24-6 lead.

Wayne was forced to air to save time and the Cadets iced the game with an interception and another touchdown at the six minute mark.

"We haven't taken care of the breaks we've had all season long, but tonight we just gave West Point too many opportunities," Ehrhardt said.

The game's final score and the final statistic don't coincide as both teams appeared to play relatively evenly on paper.

Wayne gained 181 total yards and West Point finished with 204. However, Wayne finished with two interceptions and several poor snaps and that proved to be the difference.

Gross was once again the Blue Devils' leading rusher finishing with 51 yards on 12 carries. Tom Perry picked up 47 yards on 15 totes and Jon Stollenberg gained 40 yards on just six carries (6.4 yards per carry).

Bill Lisika was the Blue Devils' leader on defense finishing with 11 tackles, including two solos. He also recovered a fumble.

Jeff Hausmann, Brent Pick and Gross all totaled eight tackles apiece for Wayne, while Andy Hillier and Perry both closed with seven.

The loss drops Wayne to 0-4 on the year, a mark Ehrhardt said he almost can't believe.

"If somebody would've told me at the beginning of the season that we'd be 0-4, I wouldn't have believed them. But that's what happens when you don't take care of the breaks you get and you give the other team too many chances," he said.

The Blue Devils will go after their first triumph Friday when David City Aquinas travels to Wayne. The game is Wayne's homecoming.

LAUREL-CONCORD'S Jill Twiford (No. 20) skies over the net to block Emerson-Hubbard's Mary Henderson's shot at Laurel Thursday night. Emerson Hubbard claimed a 15-6, 12-15, 15-10 victory. Looking on for Laurel-Concord is Donna Sherry.

Laurel-Concord's Gale Hamilton gets the most out of Brent Haisch

To say Laurel-Concord's head coach Gale Hamilton gets the most out of Brent Haisch is an understatement. In addition to being the key player on the Bears' offense, Haisch starts at safety and also plays on the specialty teams.

"Hey, you have to take advantage of good players and play them any time you can," Hamilton quipped.

But the excessive work hasn't bothered the 6-1, 190-pounder, at least his statistics don't show any signs of fatigue.

In Laurel's first three games, Haisch gained 323 yards on 66 carries (4.8 average), gained 230 yards on kickoff and punt returns and has scored all five of the Bears' touchdowns. To top it off, he's completed 2-of-4 passes for 45 yards and has caught two aerials for 23 yards.

But Haisch doesn't only shine on offense as he's recovered two fumbles, intercepted a pass and has accumulated 33 tackles (11 per game average) from the safety slot, a position that usually isn't known for such a high number of tackles.

"And he sells popcorn in the stands during halftime," Hamilton joked. But then the Laurel mentor seriously added that Haisch is used so extensively because of his versatility.

"Brent's in great shape, as are the rest of the players. Everybody, including Brent, works hard in practice. But I think his biggest asset is his versatility. He can really do a lot of different things and he doesn't just do them well, he does them very well," Hamilton said.

athlete of the month

Brent Haisch

Haisch said he enjoys all facets of the game, but added he enjoys playing in the back field of Laurel's formation the best.

"I like defense and returning kicks, but I really like playing in the back field the most. It's just more fun and exciting," he said.

After a superb 43 yards rushing in Laurel's first game against Randolph, Haisch gained 135 yards the next week and last week against Ponca, he had his biggest game as he rushed for 145 yards, threw for 45 yards, returned a kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown and scored all three of the Bears' TDs on the night.

"What makes these accomplishments even more incredible is Haisch is only a junior. And last year as a sophomore, he gained over 1,000 yards rushing."

"That (the 1,000 rushing yards) is a goal I set each year for myself. I have different things I set out to do, but I guess gaining 1,000 yards on the ground is the biggest goal," he said.

Haisch said his powerful running style is his biggest asset, but added that none of his success on the field would be possible without his offensive line.

"I think my running style and ability to break tackles is my biggest strength," he said. "But none of that would be possible without the offensive line. Chad Blatchford, Erick Christensen, Paul Roeder, Randy Sherry and Joe Karnes do a great job and I or the team wouldn't go anywhere without these guys."

Hamilton agrees. "Brent has a lot of talent, but he benefits from a strong supporting cast and a fine offensive line," he said.

Haisch said his longtime goal is to play football at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. That's quite a goal, but the way Hamilton talks, it isn't unreachable.

"Brent's a nice kid who's pleasant to be around and he has a good head on his shoulders. He also has a lot of natural ability and if he's willing to continue to work hard all the time he could become a great player some day. But it won't come without working hard and keeping that good attitude."

Wildcats stop Stanton Winside wins third straight

STANTON-Winside's netters didn't play up to their potential Thursday night, but when the Wildcats play Stanton they dig down for that something extra and it proved to be enough as they claimed a 15-13, 16-14 triumph.

"I don't know for sure, but I think it all comes from basketball a few years ago. But at any rate, there isn't any love loss when we play Stanton and Thursday night was just a typical Winside/Stanton game," Wildcat head coach Jill Stenwall said about her club's attitude.

Stenwall said, however, that her squad's emotions almost cost them in the opener. Stanton built a commanding 9-0 lead before the Wildcats battled back by outscoring the Fillies 15-4 for the victory.

"The girls were really pumped up early in the first set and as a result, they made some silly mistakes and dug themselves into a hole. But they pulled together and pulled it out," she said.

The momentum the Wildcats built in the first set carried over into the second stanza, but this time, Stanton rallied back.

"We went ahead 10-2 in the second set and then started making silly mistakes again and Stanton came back strong. But we hung on and pulled it out," Stenwall said.

Stenwall said her club played a balanced game, however, Julie Bruggeman was the Wildcats' leading scorer with 14 points, Kerri Leighton was the leading setter (33-for-38) and Kay Meierhenry was the club's leading spiker, going 16-for-17 with four kills.

The victory is Winside's third in a row after starting the season 0-3. Stenwall credits the new attitude the Wildcats possess after they claimed their first win of the year against Coleridge as being the key to the winning streak.

"After we got that first win we just took a new attitude. We really haven't been playing that well during the last three games, but we have a winning attitude and that helps more than anything else," she said.

Winside made it a clean sweep by also winning the "B" and "C" matches.

Dawn Book and Cher Olson sparked the Wildcats to a 6-15, 15-3, 15-14 victory in the "B" game with eight and seven points, respectively.

Winside's "C" team won 11-9, 11-10. Stenwall said the Wildcats played well together as a team in the "C" game and added there wasn't any one leader.

The Wildcats will attempt to top the 500 mark Tuesday when they travel to Coleridge.

Wildcats now 9-7

Wayne State holds off Bellevue

Despite not playing up to its potential, Wayne State's netters improved to 9-7 on the year with an 8-15, 15-9, 15-11 victory over Bellevue at Rice Auditorium Friday night.

Wildcat head coach Marilyn Strate said her club hustled well, but still didn't play up to its potential against Bellevue.

"We really didn't play very well. We hustled well, but we still didn't play as good as we're capable of," she said.

Diana Assay had a solid defensive and offensive effort for the Wildcats. The Columbus native finished with a team high 13 kills and also led the squad in blocks with seven, including three solos.

"Diana played well on both defense and offense," Strate said about the junior hitter.

Tanya Gappa sparked Wayne State with a team high 10 points, while Sue Walter chipped in with seven.

Walter and Zeiss, a senior from Wayne, were the leading setters closing with 11 assists apiece, while Deb Prenger, who's also from Wayne, finished with eight kills.

The Wildcats play again Saturday when Chadron State and Dorci College travel to Wayne for High School Day. Players from 15 area high school will be on hand for Saturday's action which begins at 11 a.m.

Converging Bears

LARUEL-CONCORD defenders converge on an Emerson-Hubbard ball carrier in first half action of Laruel's homecoming game Friday night. Emerson-Hubbard pulled out a 19-7 win.

Bears fall to 1-3

Emerson slips by Laurel

LARUEL-Laurel-Concord saw a 7-0 lead disappear as the Bears dropped a misleading 19-7 loss to a solid Emerson-Hubbard outfit here Friday night.

Laurel took an early 7-0 advantage when the Pirates fumbled just moments after they received the opening kickoff. The Bears capitalized on the mistake when Scott Marquardt bolted in from four yards out. Brent Haisch added the PAT and Laurel was on its way with the 7-0 edge.

But unfortunately for the Bears, that was all the scoring they could muster on the night and Emerson answered by tallying a touchdown in each of the last three frames.

Laurel had a chance to tie and take the lead two different times in the last period.

With a little over eight minutes remaining in the game, Laurel staged a modest drive that reached mid field. However, a fumble thwarted the Bears' attempt to score.

Then, with approximately three minutes remaining, Laurel had another shot to pull out the game. However, the Bears fumbled again on their own two yard line and Emerson-Hubbard cashed in the turnover for another TD and made the final score somewhat misleading.

"I guess you could say the final score was really 12-7, but it doesn't matter because we lost and that's the bottom line," Laurel head coach Gale Hamilton said.

Hamilton added that throughout the contest his club missed several scoring opportunities that might've turned the game around.

"We threatened several times, but we just couldn't quite punch it in when we had the chance. You never know, but with a close game like this 11 might've turned the game around," he said.

Haisch led the Bears in rushing with 70 yards on 16 carries. Jeff Curry added 20 yards on four totes for Laurel. Marquardt completed 1-of-6 passes for 20 yards.

Defensively, Randy Sherry had an outstanding game for the Bears finishing with 21 tackles.

"He (Sherry) was all over the place. It seemed like everytime I looked up he was in on a tackle," Hamilton said.

Sherry wasn't the only Bear that shined on defense, however, as Haisch finished with 12 tackles and one fumble recovery, Brad Prescott totaled 14 tackles and Marquardt picked off an interception. Hamilton also cited Erick Christensen and Chad Blatchford as having good defensive efforts.

"We really did a good job on defense. Actually, both teams did. They probably outgained us, but it was just a good defensive effort by both teams," Hamilton said.

The loss drops Laurel to 1-3 on the year. The Bears travel to Osmond next week and Hamilton is looking forward to the challenge.

"We're going to Osmond and let it all go. We're just going to play our hardest and throw the chips on the table and go for it," he said.

Allen

But Heckathorn wasn't the only Eagle with a big defensive game as Brian Malcom finished with 16 tackles, while Jones and Nee both totaled 14. Jim Kroll added 12 for the Eagles and Isom totaled 11.

After the game, Ulrich was still disappointed in his club's first half, but said the Eagles' second half play might be a confidence builder for the future.

"We looked like two completely different teams out there tonight. That first half really cost us. I just can't describe how we played," he said.

"But in the second half we were tough as nails and maybe that will help our attitudes for the rest of the season."

The loss dropped Allen to 0-4, while Washburn improved to 1-3. The Eagles' next game is Friday when Wakefield travels to town.

Wayne-Carroll runners place fourth at Crofton

CROFTON-Wayne-Carroll's cross country team just keeps getting better and better as the season moves along and Friday, the Blue Devils finished with their best team performance of the season as they placed fourth at the Crofton Invitational.

South Sioux City claimed the title with 13 points. Wayne finished with 90 markers for the fourth place finish.

"I was really happy with the way the kids performed Friday. The main reason they're getting better is because they're working hard and putting out 110 percent at every practice and all the hard work is just showing up at the meets," Donelson said. "It isn't anything I'm doing. I'm just telling them what to do and they're doing it."

Matt Hillier led Wayne by placing 20th and closing with a 13:08 clocking. Jeff Simpson finished 21st with a 13:15 effort, while Ted Lohrborg placed 24th with a 13:33 time and Tim Griess came in 25th by posting a 13:45 clocking.

John Howze added a 34:18 for the Blue Devils which was good enough for 33rd place.

Taki Nataka of South Sioux won the event with an 11:06 time. Fifteen teams competed at the invite and the course was approximately two miles long.

THE 4th JUB

Wildcat tackler

WINSIDE'S DARYL MUNDILL (No. 82) chases a Coleridge runningback in the Wildcat's 48-0 loss Friday night.

Wildcats fall to 1-3

Winside blanked 48-0

WINSIDE-Coleridge exploded for 30 first quarter points and went on to bury Winside 48-0 here Friday night. The game was called during the fourth period because of the 45-point rule.

Coleridge was just unstoppable in the first stanza and throughout most of the game. Although the Wildcats did shut the guests out in the third stanza, Coleridge scored 12 second quarter points and six more in the final stanza in addition to the 30 markers in the opening frame.

Coleridge finished with a whopping 238 yards rushing on 27 carries. Coleridge added 62 yards through the air by completing 3-of-9 aerials.

Winside, on the other hand, finished with 700 yards on 41 toles and completed 2-of-16 passes for 16 yards.

Winside head coach Mark Freburg said turnovers ruined two scoring chances for his squad during the game.

"We had a couple of scoring opportunities but we fumbled them away. We were deep in their territory in the second and third quarters and both times we fumbled," he said. The Wildcats also tossed three interceptions.

Despite the lopsidedness of the game, Daryl Mundill had good game offensively for the Wildcats as he gained 64 yards rushing on just five carries for an average of 12.4 yards per crack.

Mace Kant completed both of the Wildcat passes. Ryan Prince and Mundill hauled in the two Winside aerials.

Doug Wylie led the Wildcats on defense with 10 tackles. Teammate Steve Jorgenson added nine tackles for Winside.

Winside lost three fumbles on the night, while Coleridge lost one.

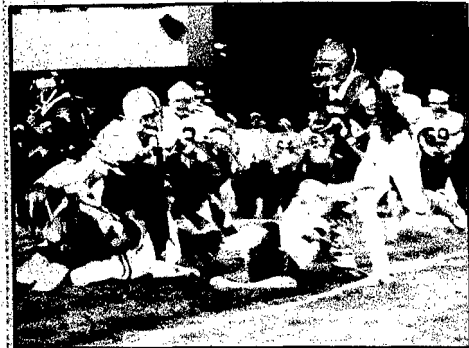

The 45 point rule is in its first year, and although Freburg said he hasn't built a solid opinion about the rule, he does see one advantage.

"If (the rule) really hasn't been around too long so I really don't have a strong opinion about it yet, but it does stop teams from running the score up," he said.

The loss dropped Winside to 1-3 on the year. The Wildcats play again Friday at Wausa.

Chapman discusses Kearney State

By Todd Hilder

WCS Sports Information

Kearney State and Wayne State were picked to finish 1-2 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference race this year by conference coaches, but thus far neither team has lived up to its preseason outlook. Nevertheless, both teams are looking to start the conference race with a notch in the victory column. The two meet in a 1:30 p.m. game at Foster Field in Kearney on Saturday.

Despite the fact the Antelopes have been adapted as the arch-rivals of Wayne State, head coach Pete Chapman is keeping it all low-key.

The fact that this week's opponent is Kearney State doesn't make the game any more important, according to Chapman.

"Every game is important," Chapman said. "The way we look at it, it's our first conference game and we have to be ready to play a good, tough, physical, aggressive game."

The Wayne-Kearney rivalry enters its 42nd year since 1928, when the Antelopes won 7-6. It will be the 59th meeting between the two with Kearney State leading the series, 38-14-5, including 13 straight victories since 1971.

Although the Wildcats used a record-breaking performance in defeating Midland 37-13 last week, this week's game is just a little different.

"Kearney's the favorite," Chapman said. "They're hard-nosed, they run right at you, they're well-coached and you can add any other superlatives you want," he said.

Kearney State is led by senior quarterback Brett Kuhn and senior running back Emmet Cox. Cox has 164 yards in two games this season and averages 4.4 yards per carry.

Defensively, the Antelopes are also solid, according to Chapman. "They're bigger on defense than they were last year and a little faster."

Tackles Troy Stonacek and Scott Cooper led the Scales at 273 and 258 pounds, respectively.

In its first two games, Kearney held its opponents to 30 points, which is impressive considering those opponents were South Dakota and UNO. Kearney lost to South Dakota, 18-0, in the NAIA Division II No. 1 team, 20-3, while UNO, a top contender in the same poll, needed a last second touchdown to defeat the Antelopes 10-6.

The lack of sustained offense in the first two games has caused concern for Kearney head coach Claire Boroff. The Antelopes averaged only 120 yards per game on the ground and have yet to score a touchdown. Chapman, however, has nothing but praise for Kearney.

"They played two fantastic teams and didn't get blown out," he said.

In last year's snow-filled contest, Wayne led 6-0 after the first quarter behind two Herve Rousseau field goals. Kearney then scored 10 second quarter points to lead 10-6 at the half. Both teams scored in the third quarter, but Kearney added a touchdown in the final quarter to win 24-13.

Wildcat quarterback Ed Jochum was 6-of-29 against the Lopers last year, and threw five interceptions. Kearney had 192 yards rushing for the day.

Last week, the Wildcats picked up a much-needed win against Midland. In that game, Jochum broke Wayne's school record for career total offense. He now has 4,329 yards, breaking Rick Lade's old mark of 4,099 set from 1977-80.

Jochum combined with receiver Sonny Jones in the game to break another school record on a 98-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter. That pass is the longest recorded in Wayne State history.

Senior linebacker Tony Shaw led the defensive effort against Midland, tallying 24 tackles, 16 of which were solo shots. Shaw also recovered two fumbles and intercepted a Midland pass. He was selected NAIA District 11 defensive player of the week, the third time he's been so honored.

"There were a lot of mistakes in the game," Chapman said. "But I'm always happy when we win. We were able to come up with some big plays which we had been unable to do."

Kearney State was idle last Saturday. "It helps them tremendously because they'll have another week to practice against us," Chapman said.

Bancroft pounds Wakefield 52-6

BANCROFT-Bancroft exploded for 36 first half points and went on to pound Wakefield 52-6 here Friday night.

Bancroft opened a 20-0 lead and extended that to 28-0 before Trojan Brad Lund scored from two yards out to make the score 28-6.

With over half the game remaining, Lund's score gave the Trojans a realistic shot at catching Bancroft. However, just moments later the Panthers tallied another TD and added a two-point PAT to make the score 36-8 at the half.

Bancroft added a touchdown and a PAT in the third and fourth quarters, respectively, to end the game by the 45-point rule.

Wakefield head coach Dennis Wilbur had nothing but praise for the Panthers.

"Bancroft has one very good football team. After the game, our players told me that they weren't that impressed with Bancroft's strength, but said their speed is amazing," he said.

Brent Gatzemeyer led Bancroft with 129 yards on 15 carries. Gatzemeyer is only a sophomore.

"They have an experienced offensive line and a young but very quick backfield," Wilbur explained.

Bancroft finished with 266 rushing yards and completed 3-of-5 passes for 82 yards. Wakefield gained 82 rushing yards on 28 toles and passed for 33 more by completing 2-of-12

The two squads played in foursomes and Team No. 12 owned a 3 1/2 point edge after the first squad concluded play. However, the other half of Team No. 28 outscored their playing opponents 42-0 and claimed the victory 4 1/2-3 1/2.

Both squads battled to a tie last week and after one playoff hole, were forced to stop because of darkness. The championship round was moved to the next Wednesday.

Outdoorsman discusses '85 hunting seasons

By Tom Keith

Fall has officially arrived on the calendar and it's not a minute too soon for Nebraska hunters who have been anxiously awaiting this year's seasons. And, it looks like the 1985 seasons will be worth the wait.

Squirrel season has been open since Aug. 1 and many a cast-iron skillet has already seen duty. In preparation of steaming batches of squirrel stew, mourning doves are still providing exciting early season wing shooting, though recent cool temperatures have moved the majority of the birds south. Persistent hunters can continue to chase doves still in the state through Oct. 30, and squirrel hunters can enjoy hunting bushytails through Jan. 31, 1986.

Grouse hunting season is underway and should provide plenty of action this season. In spite of a cold, rainy opening day that kept many hunters out of the field, last spring was warm and dry which made good nesting conditions for the birds and grouse production was up across most of the bird's range. The grouse season will continue through Nov. 30.

Nebraska's turkey hunting seasons are just around the corner and increasing turkey populations should provide lots of hunting action in most areas this year. The archery season opens Oct. 1 and will continue through Nov. 8; the shotgun season opens Oct. 19 in all but the late season units, which open Oct. 26.

Deer hunters are expected to have another great year. Deer populations are the highest on record and there have been more deer sex permits issued for this year's season than ever before. The archery season has been open since Sept. 15 and lots of deer have already been checked-in by successful bowhunters. The archery season will continue through Dec. 31, though it's closed during the firearm season, Nov. 9-17.

Waterfowlers should have some exciting hunts again this year. Goose hunters can expect a season similar to last year's with good numbers of geese to test their shooting skills. Duck hunters will have to endure a shorter season and reduced limits by virtue of higher duck point values this year, but they should still have some enjoyable outings. A successful hunt isn't always measured only by the number of birds collected and from that standpoint this year should rank as high as any in terms of hunter enjoyment. Remember, the use of steel shot is required for all waterfowl hunting in Nebraska beginning this year.

The big story this year will be the return of the ringneck pheasant. The pheasant is coming back strong after the severe winter of 1983-84 and the following wet spring will help Nebraska's ringneck population a devastating loss. Game and Parks Commission Upland Game Specialist Jim Mitchell says hunters can look forward to a population of about as many birds as there were two years ago, which was considered to be a pretty good year for pheasants before the brutal cold weather set in.

The quail hunter will have pretty slim pickin's again this year, but the bobwhite population is slowly increasing in numbers after the disastrous 1983-84 winter. Quail numbers were knocked very low during that winter and the small birds just don't bounce back as quickly as pheasants, so recovery will take longer. There will be some birds afield to provide hunting opportunity, but finding them will be more difficult and the bag and possession limits have been reduced. Ken Johnson, Chief of the Commission's Wildlife Division, points out that Nebraska is located on the northwest edge of the quail range, which makes fluctuations in the quail population fairly common, though the reduction two years ago was more severe than usual. "We'll always have ups and downs in total quail numbers," he said. Both pheasants and quail hunting seasons will be Nov. 2 through Jan. 15, 1986. Hunting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset until Jan. 1 when all shooting must stop at 4 p.m.

It's going to be another good year for rabbit hunters. In fact, Mitchell and other biologists wish more hunters would take the cottontail seriously. They say there are lots of rabbits in the state but few hunters pursue them. Rabbits are a great game animal capable of providing many hours of exciting hunting action and are great on the table.

Wakefield

Bancroft finished with 12 first downs, while Wakefield totaled seven.

Lund had a respectable rushing day for the Trojans picking up 60 yards on 17 carries. Jason Erb gained all of Wakefield's 33 passing yards on two grabs.

Kirt Roberts led the Trojans in tackles with 11, including five solos. John Halverson and Jeff Rose both totaled nine tackles and four solos for Wakefield, and Kevin Greve also finished with nine. John Wriedt and John Navrkal added seven and six tackles, respectively, for the Trojans. The loss dropped Wakefield to 1-2 on the year. Wilbur said his club is down, but certainly not done.

"We've taken our lumps and the kids are down, but there's a lot of season left and we aren't done yet," he said.

Wakefield will attempt to even its record at 2-2 Friday night when the Trojans travel to Allen.

Although next week's contest is at Allen, it will be Wakefield's homecoming game. The Trojan gridiron is being renovated this year and as a result, Wakefield was forced to play all its games on the road.

Cavett

great performer, not only on television but also in film.

Hope is constantly working hard and doesn't waste any time, Cavett added.

Cavett said he comes back to Nebraska "depending on if anything comes up. One year I was here three times."

"I fulfilled my dream of driving west in my car toward the sandhills and not knowing where I was going to end up at," he said.

In answering a question as to whether he is satisfied with what he has attained material and non-materially, Cavett said in essence that despite all the wealth one possesses, a person "can still fall down and hurt a knee."

Cavett said, when talking of non-material wealth, that he still finds murky areas in his personality and at times he is "hard to get at."

HE ALSO mentioned his habit of arriving "always two minutes late."

He said in a serious tone: "Sinatra was always on time. Marilyn Monroe would be two to five hours late. The saddest part was not that she wasn't there, but that she was in her dressing room scared to come out."

Cavett said he feels attracted to Wayne and experiences a sort of pleasant "time warp thing" of being out of New York. "I love to get out here. Harry Reasoner said he feels sorry for people who are born in one part of the country and only work in that part of the country," he said.

"This [visiting the Wayne State College campus] is fun for me," Cavett added.

"Once I came back to Nebraska and didn't tell anybody, I saw wonderful little houses, toys outside, picket fences, people going to church on Sunday, and I realized that's what I miss — that's the life I want," he noted.

"People who live in this part of the world generally have a better life," he said.

Cavett went on to say to the students and college staff that "the luckiest thing you can do in life is to get paid for what you want to do."

"Try the thing you want to do before you resolve not to do it. You don't have to do anything that people tell you to do. You don't have to get married, or not get married," he said.

"If you're not going to do it [try what you want] in this life, which life are you going to do it in?" "Is that too profound?" he asked.

Fleas cause havoc for pets

This year's flea population, uncommonly high this year, has many pet owners — and veterinarians — worried about the health of their favorite animals.

"Fleas are the most serious problem to strike the pet world in a long time," said Dr. Ken Liska, veterinarian at the Wayne Veterinary Clinic.

Liska said nearly everyone that has a dog or cat at home is, or has, experienced these parasites in the last two years.

"Many are embarrassed by the fleas' presence and feel it is due to poor housekeeping. But nothing could be further from the truth," Liska said.

"Climatic conditions the last two years have been wet and warm, which is ideal for flea multiplication. Not a day goes by when we are not questioned at the veterinary clinic about fleas," he added.

ANIMALS THAT scratch and bite at themselves and have small black specks of dried blood (flea feces) on their bodies are usually infected, he said.

"Nearly all flea control products are effective, but flea collars are probably the least effective when infestation occurs. A combination of products must be used simultaneously on both the pet and environment for successful control," Liska noted.

"Your veterinarian who is well-trained and knowledgeable of animal parasites can recommend sprays, powders, dips, fumigants or systemic products to suit your needs," he said.

"In some instances, pest exterminators are needed to clean up at home.

Liska said lawn treatments with Sevin, malathion or diazinon should be used. Vacuuming three times weekly of carpets and upholstered furniture for eggs, larvae and adult fleas is very important.

LISKA PRESENTED the following information on fleas:

- Fleas are wingless, dark brown laterally compressed, blood-sucking parasites. They can jump a foot up or up to 36 inches laterally. This is equivalent to a human jumping over the Washington Monument.
- Fleas have survived freezing and have been found living in bird's nests in the Antarctic. When thawed, they become active.

- Warm, moist indoor temperatures can keep fleas laying eggs in a home during winter. However, most homes do not have the humidity to reproduce in large numbers.

- Cold weather reduces infestation, but dry weather kills the fleas.

- Fleas are notorious carriers of bacterial and viral diseases — most infamously the bubonic plague. These fleas, however, are not associated with dogs and cats. Flea bit dermatitis is the most common consequence of flea infestation.

- Very heavy infestations, through blood-sucking, can cause anemia in your pet.

- Fleas can survive without food (blood) for up to 17 months. There are nearly 1,200 species in the world, 200 here in North America — but only one attacks dogs and cats.

- Best breeding conditions for fleas are 65 to 85 degrees, and a humidity of 70 percent or higher. This is the best time to apply treatment for effective control.

More truth about rock

Does "Prince" promote pornography? Is "Madonna" "Like a Virgin"? What about rockers such as Motley Crew, Bruce Springsteen, the Scorpions, Ratt, and Kiss? The Rock Music Seminar entitled "Why Knock Rock?" will be presented at Winside by the Peters Brothers from St. Paul, Minn. They have appeared on "ABC Nightline" with Ted Koppel, "CBS Evening News" with Dan Rather, and "PM Magazine." Their documented evidence rips the mask off x-rated and satanic rock in a free seminar to which the public is invited. The lyrics and the lifestyles of rock musicians will be discussed with the aid of multi-media format.

Dan and Steve Peters, authors of "Why Knock Rock?", have conducted thousands of seminars in the United States and Europe. Their seminar began in October of 1979 when these brothers finally got fed up with the effects of rock music on young minds and began looking for the root cause. They found that many rock lyrics push homosexuality, rebellion, satanism, and even suicide. The Peters Brothers felt they had to take a stand.

This "awareness" seminar entitled "Why Knock Rock?" will be presented at the high school gymnasium in Winside, on Sunday, October 6, at 6:30 p.m. A free offering will be taken to cover expenses.

THE WAYNE HERALD FOOTBALL CONTEST

1st Place $75 GIFT CERTIFICATE
 2nd Place $25 GIFT CERTIFICATE

CONTEST RULES
 One football game has been placed in each of the ads on this page. Indicate the winner by writing in the name of the winning team on the proper line on the entry blank. No scores. Just pick the winners, or ties. In case of tie, write "tie." Use the entry blank below or a copy of equal size.
 Write in your guess of the total number of yards gained by both teams in the game of the week. This will only be used in case of a tie. The person that comes closest to the total number of yards without going over will be the winner.
 One entry only to each contestant, but members of a family may each submit an entry. Entries should be brought or mailed to The Wayne Herald office not later than 5 p.m. Thursday, or if mailed, should not be postmarked later than 5 p.m. Thursday. You need not be a subscriber of the Herald to be eligible for prizes.
 The Winners will be announced weekly on the Thursday sports page of The Wayne Herald. Employees of the Herald and their immediate families are ineligible. Judges' decisions will be final in every case.
