WHILE SOYBEAN harvesting has stalled because of the wet conditions, work at the Timpfe, Inc. manufacturing facility continues on schedule as workmen take steps to enclose the structure for interior construction, to be completed during the winter months. The plant is expected to open in April of 1986.

Timpte moves ahead with hiring plans

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Just as the construction of the Timpfe, Inc. manufacturing facility is continuing on course — so is the process of hiring employees who will be assembling the first refrigerated semi-trailer units to come from the Wayne operation.

On Monday evening (Oct. 21) the first 30 individuals selected to trainee slots will be completing their pre-employment training for production positions at Timpfe, Inc.

The trainees are completing four to five sessions (depending upon the trainee position), which began the second week in October and took place during evenings and Saturdays.

"From then on (the trainees) will finish the pre-employment training on Monday night. At that time, if they have completed the program successfully, they have the option to apply at Timpfe if interested," said Gloria Lessmann, personnel manager of Timpfe, Inc. in Wayne.

"We will go through our normal application process then and from that group (of 30 trainees) we will hire approximately 20 to 25 employees who will actually become fulltime employees of Timpfe of Wayne," Lessmann said.

THE PROCEDURE for narrowing down the number of applicants for the 30 trainee spots began in mid-September after it was advertised in The Wayne Herald that applications were being accepted for the first trainee slots in pre-employment training for production positions.

"We had a tremendous response to that ad. We received in the neighborhood of 450 applications that were turned in for those training spots," said Lessmann.

Applicant numbers indicate that the new manufacturing facility is about to have an impact on this agricultural area. The numbers were primarily from this area," Lessmann said. "It was a pretty good mix. Considering personal background of applicants."

Lessmann said she could not pinpoint the number of farmers in the area who had applied for the trainee slots. "Because a majority of the job screening was done by Job Service, we did not see all 450 applications," she said.

The impact of Timpfe's employment will not only affect farmers but will also present an opportunity for employees of industries or businesses that have closed or have been laid off because of the poor agricultural economy.

JOB SERVICE of Norfolk, using their own interviewing staff, went through a pre-screening of the 450 applications and referred some of the applicants to Timpfe, Inc.

"We (Timpfe) interviewed probably in the neighborhood of 60 to 70 people," said Lessmann. "From then on, with Job Service and our people, we worked then with the participating groups in the pre-employment training program to select 30 trainees," she added.

So the Department of Economic Development (DED), sponsors of the pre-employment training program, have 30 pre-employment trainees in its pre-employment training program now for Timpfe, she noted.

Lessmann said the training program utilizes the instructors from Northeast Technical Community College (NTTC) in Norfolk, some of the Timpfe officials "as well as others who help with that (job training program)." "NTTC did a lot of coordinating of the training program," Lessmann said.

"Some of the training takes place at the college in Norfolk. Some of it takes place at our facility in David City, where we can do hands-on equipment type training in that facility."

She pointed out that there have been no lay-offs at David City and she said most people are unaware that the plant in David City makes grain hoppers. "David City plant makes a different product than what we're doing to be making here in Wayne," Lessmann said.

SHE SAID IT is important to note that the initial 20 to 25 employees eventually hired and working at David City will be working separate from the David City work crews. "They will be producing a different product than the David City plant producing them into the David City plant," Lessmann mentioned.

"They (the employees) are actually beginning the work of the Wayne plant (at the David City site)," she added.

"That's the point of getting them started before the facility is built — so they can get some experience and expertise in the next four or five months."

She said there is a mix of welders, assemblers and fabricators currently being trained. "So when we come down to hiring the 20 to 25 workers, we will have a crew who can produce a trailer. With this first group, there will be a good amount of cross training, too (fabricators doing assembly work)," Lessmann noted.

Lessmann said there has been no exact date as to when the second training program, resulting in hiring of another group of workers, will take place.

"We need to get the first group through and assess the pre-employment program, the state is conducting to see if we need to adjust hours or change the program at all," she said.

"And we need to watch this first group carefully and assess how long it is going to take them to become somewhat proficient in their skills," she added.

Crime rate is low when compared to other cities

When compared to 28 other designated Nebraska First Class cities, the city of Wayne ranked highly in the least crimes per 1,000 population, according to a recently released crime comparison graphic. Crime in Wayne, when considering the number of crimes per 1,000 population, increased from 13.8 in 1983 to 18.1, still the third lowest of the First Class cities.

Wayne has the lowest in population of the First Class Cities with 5,245 white Grand Island boasts the largest population with 34,848.

According to the statistics released by the Wayne Police Department, there were 95 crimes committed in Wayne during 1984 (17 more than the previous year) which averaged out to the approximate 18 per 1,000 population crime figure.

Approximately 18 percent of the total 95 crimes had been cleared during 1984. In 1983, 12.5 percent of the crimes were cleared.

Wayne joins LaVista in having the least number of officers per 1,000 population (1.1) among First Class Cities in 1984.

Fremont, Plattsmouth, Seward and Ralston registered 1.2 officers per 1,000 population.

County approves Logan Creek plan

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners gave their approval Tuesday on a work plan for the Logan Creek Special Study project.

The Logan Creek Special Study is a coordinated and concerted effort to accelerate the application of soil and water conservation practices in a selected northeast Nebraska target area.

"Many federal, state and local agencies and organizations are involved in this study. The overall goal is to reduce soil erosion in the target area by 30 percent within a five year period," a source said.

Within the target area, 30,424 acres are in Cumming County, 15,626 acres are in Thurston County and 3,304 acres are in Wayne County. The entire target area includes 49,424 acres with the villages of Pender and Bancroft included.

"There is no cost to the county," said David Biere from the West Point Soil Conservation Service office. "The project could save the county money."

IT COSTS ONE dollar per cubic yard to hold silt versus four dollars per cubic yard to clear silt.

The participating property owner will pay 10 percent of the cost. The Natural Resources District will pay 15 percent and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will pay 75 percent.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners decided to purchase a Caterpillar model 920B loader which was bid at $70,950 (net sales price) by Nebraska Machinery Company of Norfolk. The bids opened at the Oct. 1 meeting also included a John Deere model 644D for $57,231 (with additional $4,400 for a fork lift) and an International Hough model 530 for $71,500.

Commissioner Gerald Pospisil listed several reasons for purchasing the caterpillar. "The filters are interchangeable with other county equipment and the same brand and weight of oil can be used as what we have now," said Pospisil.

He added that the maintenance shop is closer to Wayne. The board of commissioners all agreed that the resale value on a caterpillar is better and the purchase would make a better buy in the long run.

A resolution was approved by the commissioners to apply for federal aid funds to replace a bridge four miles south of Winside and one mile east of Highway 35. "It will be at least four years from now before work on the bridge will begin," Sidney Saunders, county highway superintendent said.

Progress report on highway

The road construction project of Highway 35 through Wayne will be completed this year, but it is doubtful the rest of that project, Highway 13 North in Wayne (from junction of Highway 35 and Highway 13) will be completed before winter.

That is the latest word on the progress of the highway project, as of Wednesday, many from Earl Eckhartkamp, project manager for the Nebraska Department of Roads.

"We'll be pouring concrete Wednesday on the east section of Highway 35 and should finish up with the concrete pouring by the end of this week," said Eckhartkamp.

The asphalt program over the west section of Highway 35 is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

THE VIENNA Choir Boys will appear at WSC on Nov. 11.

To Vienna Choir Boys concert

Demand peaks for tickets

The Vienna Choir Boys are very much in demand — especially in Wayne, Nebraska.

Interest to attend the Vienna Choir Boys performance on Monday, Nov. 11 has run at a feverish pitch. Tickets have been sold out since Monday (the day the ticket sales announcement was made in The Wayne Herald) and there is a waiting list of 700 people who want to get tickets for the Vienna Choir Boys concert.

"I've never seen anything like this. We've hit upon something that is of great interest to the people in this area," said Jim Day, Professor of Fine Arts at Wayne State College.

Because of the landslide of interest in the performance of the Vienna Choir Boys, the location of the event will be changed from Ramsey Theatre to Rice Auditorium. It is estimated that the seating capacity at Rice Auditorium will provide approximately 2,000 available seats.

The demand for the tickets has "taken everyone here by surprise," said WSC college relations director Steve Jones.

People still wanting tickets should call the Division of Fine Arts office to be placed on the waiting list, according to Jones.

WSC gets humanities grant

The Nebraska Committee to the Humanities, an affiliate of the National Endowment of the Humanities, announced that it has recently awarded a grant to Wayne State College and the John G. Neihardt Foundation in the amount of $2,944. The grant is to be used for "The Creative Uses of Tribal American Culture: The New Followers of John G. Neihardt." It will fund a day-long Spring Conference in Bancroft, with presentations by Bobby Bridger and William Least Heat Moon. Jo Taylor, head of the Humanities Division at Wayne State College, is project director. At its fall meeting in Lincoln, the Nebraska Committee to the Humanities elected officers and new committee members to fill vacancies created by retiring members. Elected as a committee member was Jo Taylor.

Wausa plans annual smorgasbord

The annual festive Swedish Smorgasbord will be held at the Community Auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 26. This event features real Swedish dishes prepared by the residents of Wausa from "Old-Country" recipes handed down through generations. Authentic Swedish foods, such as oskaka, meatballs, homemade breads, cheeses and the favorite drink, egg coffee, are some of the foods enjoyed. Genuine old-time Swedish congeniality and atmosphere will be evident throughout the evening enhanced by the colorful costumes of the waitresses. The Smorgasbord will again be served from 5-8 p.m. When ordering tickets you should specify the hour or group preferred. Tickets may be ordered from G.E. Gunderson. For further details check advertisement elsewhere in this paper. This 37th annual smorgasbord is sponsored by the Wausa Community. This year it is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Finck and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Anderson, general chairmen.

PSAT/NMSQT tests

This fall the nearly 1.5 million students across the United States who take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/Nationwide Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) will have a special opportunity to familiarize themselves with the testing format also used on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). On the PSAT/NMSQT, students taking the test at Wayne High School on Oct. 22 at 8:30 can "preview" the exam process for the SAT — the prerequisite for many college-bound students, said Terry Munson of the school guidance staff.

Board scholarships available for '86-87

The Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges announced the availability of 88 full tuition scholarships for the 1986-87 school year. The awards, which provide full tuition for four years at Chadron State, Kearney State, Peru State or Wayne State College, recognize the outstanding scholarship and scholastic achievements of high school seniors throughout Nebraska. In announcing the availability of the scholarships Board Chairman J. Alan Cramer of Wayne said, "The Board of Trustees is pleased to be able to recognize these students. In the 14 years that we have been offering these scholarships, recipients have used their scholastic and leadership skills to improve the state colleges and Nebraska. We are proud to be able to aid the high school students of this state in attaining their educational and career goals." The competitive scholarships require that recipients 1) be a graduating senior of an accredited Nebraska High School, 2) be enrolling for the first time as a full-time student, 3) be in the upper quarter of their high school graduating class, 4) score above the 85th percentile on a college entrance exam (ACT score of 24, SAT score of 1100), and 5) provide evidence of their high school and college interests. At least 15 scholarships are available from each state college and a candidate can apply to only one college. The deadline for application is Jan. 15, 1986. Further information and applications are available from high school guidance counselors or by writing the financial aids office of one of the colleges.

Small business division formed

Governor Bob Kerrey announced the creation of a Small Business Division within the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

"The creation of this division recognizes the importance of small business in comprehensive strategy to develop the economy in Nebraska," Kerrey said.

Gary Targoff was named as the director of the newly-formed Division. Targoff, was formerly the State's Job Training Liaison as an employee of the Department of Labor, housed in the Department of Economic Development.

"The Division has been established with certain goals," Kerrey said. "In general, we will try to create a statewide support system which will assist in the creation, expansion and retention of small business ventures."

The Small Business Division will provide an obvious focal point within state government where small businesses can obtain assistance by pulling together existing technical assistance services including export promotion, government procurement, management assistance, job training/human resource development and financing.

"We will develop regional assistance centers and incubation centers to nurture new businesses and to help with public/private financing strategies, develop entrepreneurial skills and promote minority and women-owned businesses," Kerrey said.

Several amendments accepted

Bereuter votes no on '85 farm bill

The House of Representatives completed consideration last week of its version of the 1985 farm bill. As was expected, the bill was controversial through the final vote. While the bill contains some positive and progressive features, the commodity price support programs were, by and large, a warmed over version of the previous farm bill. That is the principle reason that I voted against its final passage.

One of the last votes that occurred on the Farm Bill concerned the Alexander substitute offered by Rep. Bill Alexander of Arkansas. It was identical to the farm bill proposal introduced in the Senate by Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa. Had the substitute been adopted, it would have replaced the entire House Agriculture Committee version of the farm bill.

The most controversial aspect of the Alexander Harkin proposal was a referendum in which producers of wheat, feed grains, cotton, rice and soybeans would decide whether they wished to implement mandatory production controls. While I supported the Bedell referendum, which was defeated in the House the previous week, I had reservations about the Alexander proposal.

Questions were raised during debate about the amount of assistance that would be required and its impact on local agriculturally related businesses and the potential export and import problems caused by increasing the loan rates for these commodities to at least 70% parity. The biggest concern that I had was that, if the referendum was not passed by producers, complete discretion was given to the Secretary of Agriculture to establish commodity price support programs. In light of what the Administration proposed for a farm bill earlier this year, I think it would be unreasonable to subject agriculture to this risk.

An amendment was offered by Rep. Arlan Strangland of Minnesota to replace the discretionary provisions with an alternative commodity program that contained higher deficiency payments targeted at family-sized farms, coupled with marketing recourse commodity loans that would be repayable at the lower of either the loan rate or the average state market price. I supported this amendment to the Alexander proposal. Unfortunately, it was defeated twice on the floor. Without a fall-back provision such as the Strangland amendment, I could not support the Alexander substitute.

congressman

IN THE END, I felt compelled to vote against the 1985 Farm Bill. It offered no alternatives to the ineffective commodity programs of the past. If the referendum had been passed, it would increase farm income, and if left open the possibility that cargo preference will decimate our agricultural export promotion programs.

One of the strongest features of this Farm Bill is the Conservation Title. For the first time in history, Congress will require farmers to utilize conservation practices to be eligible for federal farm programs. The sod-buster provision of the bill would prohibit farmers from participating in farm programs, including price supports, crop insurance, and Farmer's Home Administration loans, if farmers tear up land classified as highly erodible.

Bereuter Acton

I was pleased that my colleagues in the House accepted several of my amendments to the bill. One of these amendments strengthened a provision to protect ranchers and livestock feeders in the event of a dairy diversion. The Dairy Title of the Farm Bill contains a diversion provision that could cause an increased number of dairy cattle to be slaughtered before they ordinarily would to reduce the surplus of milk and dairy products. In 1983, when an earlier dairy diversion was passed, average prices of red meat dropped $10 per hundred weight in the first month. The Dairy Title in this bill provides for an additional 200 million pounds of red meat for its feeding program in any fiscal year in which the diversion is in place.

Our cattlemen must be reasonably insulated from the negative impact of a dairy diversion. The additional cost to the federal budget is minimal compared to the losses that would be suffered by our ranchers and livestock feeders during a diversion program.

I was also successful in adding to the bill a provision that would require a study of the impact of Brazilian ethanol imports on the domestic price of corn and other grains and on the domestic ethanol refining industry. It also directs the Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the International Trade Commission and the United States Trade Representative, to determine what relief should be granted because of interference of subsidized Brazilian ethanol with the domestic ethanol industry.

On August 26, the United States Customs Service and the Treasury Department announced a decision to exempt certain marketers and traders from the Customs Service's earlier decision to impose a 60-cent duty on blended ethanol imports. This decision could allow up to 500 million gallons of imported ethanol to enter this country duty free. The impact of this ill-timed decision is disastrous. An additional 200 million bushels of corn will be added to the American market in a year when the United States already has a bumper crop of corn. That additional 200 million bushels could drive down the price of corn 15 cents per bushel.

Another amendment of mine that was adopted would require the Secretary of Agriculture to determine the feasibility and cost of implementing a program to reduce the risk of foreign exchange fluctuations to foreign purchases of American agricultural exports.

In 1981, United States agricultural exports peaked at $41.5 billion. By 1984, our total agricultural exports fell to $31.5 billion for the first time since the mid-1970's. One of the major contributing factors in the decline of our agricultural exports has been the fear of foreign countries that, when American agricultural products are purchased under multi-year credit programs, the cost of repayment will increase with fluctuations in the dollar.

Under the program to be studied, on the date a foreign buyer receives GSM-102 or other credit for purchasing American agricultural products, the maximum loan repayment exchange rate would be tied to the trade-weighted value of the United States dollar on the same date. If the American dollar gains in strength, the buyer would continue to buy the loan at the lower value fixed at the time the GSM-102 credit was extended.

There is no one cure to agricultural problems. No combination of program will save all farmers. The Farm Bill is important, as I have said before. But it is not the only legislation that has a major impact on agriculture.

As the 1985 Farm Bill awaits Senate action, the House will now consider bills dealing with tax reform, trade and agricultural credit. All of these are important to agriculture, and I will be active during their consideration.

Kerrey's decision

One thing we can say for Governor Bob Kerrey, who announced Tuesday that he would not seek another term as Nebraska Governor.

At a Public Affairs Institute conducted in November at Wayne State College, Kerrey summed up the role of those working in public service.

He said that at some point "you have to give back service and make sacrifices for what you believe in."

"In a democratic society, we are obligated to decide what is correct, believe in it and stand up for what is right and what is wrong," he told the people attending the institute.

Governor Kerrey has made his stand on several issues and has made the sacrifice of losing popularity for what he believed in.

The most recent controversial decisions — the rural school consolidation bill (662) and the new seat belt law — gained such unpopularity that petitions were gathered to place the issue on next year's general election ballot.

Also close to home was Kerrey's action, or lack of action, concerning Wayne State and other Nebraska State College.

He had vetoed introduction of the Masters in Business Administration at Wayne State College and Chadron State College, had vetoed a capital construction project at Chadron, or disagreed with the pay equity requested for the state college system.

In all candor to Kerrey's action, the items were vetoed primarily as an obligation he established toward setting spending restrictions for educational institutions during these difficult financial times.

But when considering economic development as a priority, Governor Kerrey may have overlooked the importance of education.

Education can be perceived as the greatest source of economical development. And that is the same reaction conveyed by state college board of trustee members.

Understandably, Governor Kerrey's term was and currently is bothered by economic depression that has hit the heart of the agricultural state of Nebraska. Throughout this period he had introduced goals for economic development, education and water resources while governor.

It is unfortunate that his decision to not run for re-election was announced until after the upcoming special session by the state legislature to decide on how to regain the $32 million shortfall in state revenue.

Facing a $32 million shortfall in revenue is no picnic and the Nebraska legislators really don't need to be bothered by pressure from within (not just from the media, either) on who is or isn't going to run for the governor's race.

Now that Governor Kerrey has announced he will not seek re-election, the names will be pouring in on probable candidates from both the Democratic and Republican side.

Special legislation session ahead

Returning from a 12-day Western vacation last week, Gov. Bob Kerrey confirmed what has been obvious to state legislators for weeks.

"It's 100 percent certain we'll have a special (legislative) session," Kerrey told reporters. "It's not 100 percent certain when it will be."

The special session, which will be the second since lawmakers adjourned their regular annual session in June, will address the state's worsening financial problems.

On Sept. 27, the Nebraska Economic Forecasting Advisory Board issued a revised revenue projection that indicates that state government will collect $32 million less this fiscal year than earlier anticipated.

The revision means that state government faces a negative $16 million general fund balance on June 30, the final day of the current fiscal year.

Kerrey said he intends to recommend to the Legislature that it deal with the revenue shortage primarily through spending cuts rather than a tax increase.

Many state lawmakers have indicated that they do not think the state budget is in balance. Most of the lawmakers also acknowledge that ultimately, some revenue-raising action, including a general tax increase, will have to be taken.

A proposed agricultural land valuation manual for county assessors would reduce average values statewide by 12 percent.

The proposed manual, which state Tax Commissioner Donna Karnes is expected to certify for use by assessors, is the first to reflect the recent change in the method by which farm land is valued in Nebraska for tax purposes.

Following the adoption of a 1984 Constitutional Amendment on the subject, a task force recommended that the state abandon a valuation system based on market value of land to a system based on income-producing potential of land. With passage of L.B. 271, in 1985, the Legislature followed the advice of the task force.

At a public hearing last week, the values in the proposed manual were praised and condemned. State Senator Dave Landis of Lincoln, who was leader of the effort to change the basis for land valuation, said the manual reflects well the legislative intent of the new valuation law. Officials of some counties complained that the proposed manual will result in over-valuation of agricultural land in their jurisdictions.

The manual is expected to result in lower total agricultural valuations in 78 of the state's 93 counties.

Overall, agricultural land valuation in the state under the proposed manual would decrease to about $11.1 billion in tax year 1985 from $12.6 billion in tax year 1984.

Nebraska state lawmakers have taken the first tentative steps to the creation of a multi-million-dollar state superfund to clean up polluted ground water.

A nine-member legislative panel chaired by Senator Rod Johnson of Sufon has been meeting to consider ways to pay for the expensive clean up of chemical and microbiological pollution of the state's aquifers, including nitrate pollution.

State officials have identified more than 150 incidents of ground-water contamination in Nebraska, the result of agricultural and industrial activities and municipal waste disposal.

Legislative interest in the possible creation of a state superfund follows issuance in August 1984 by the State Department of Environmental Control (DEC) of a report on the protection of groundwater quality. The report, which was three years in development, recommended the creation of a state superfund.

The (DEC) report said that members of the superfund study committee have expressed their agreement — "that the primary legislative emphasis in assuring high quality ground water must be on the prevention of pollution. Nonetheless, the state must also plan for the clean up of those aquifers that are polluted now and those that will be in the future, members say."

Students overlooked

We are writing this letter in regards to our deep concern over the special programs ticket sales policy on Wayne State College. These special programs are scheduled to increase the students' awareness of different cultural aspects and at the same time expose us to varying frames of society.

We were very upset over the fact that Wayne State students were not given first priority to pick up their tickets for the Vienna Boys Choir. As a matter of fact, Wayne State students were not even notified that the tickets were going on sale! This may be due to lack of notification to the Wayne State and/or lack of information given by the Public Relations of Wayne State Campus.

Why, as students are overlooked when it comes to special events activities when some students are required to attend said activities for class credit? Because of this lack of communication between administration, community, and student population, we the students will suffer.

Alateen

Alateen is a support group for the teenage relatives and friends of alcoholics. This is the only requirement for membership. Alateen members share their experience, hope and strength with each other to solve their common problems, and help other teenagers, with the extra complications that an alcoholic in the family (drinking or sober) adds to the normal problems of being a teen.

The name Alateen has caused confusion. Many in the community assume this is a support group for teenagers with a drinking problem. Occasionally an agency will refer a teenager to us who should be referred to Alcoholics Anonymous or Narcotics Anonymous.

We hope this description will help clarify the purpose of Alateen. For more information please write: Alateen, P.O. Box 194, Wayne, NE 68787.

Tips for sewing blouses offered

A "Sewing Blouses" seminar will be offered on Wednesday, Oct. 23 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord.

Anna Marie White, extension agent-home economics, will discuss construction techniques, sewing shortcuts, and other ideas for sewing blouses.

Homemakers, 4-H leaders and others interested in home sewing are welcome. Pre-registration is not required, and there is no registration fee.

Winside man marks 80th

Ben Benschhof of Winside celebrated his 80th birthday on Oct. 12 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Voss.

Twenty-five relatives attended from Sioux City, Iowa; Columbia, S. D.; Wayne, Norfolk, Winside, Carroll and Randolph.

The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Dean Janke.

Honored for 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Bowers of Winside were honored for their golden wedding anniversary on Oct. 5 by their children and grandchildren during a supper at the Carroll Steakhouse and Lounge.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bowers and daughters, the Dan Bowers family, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Bowers and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Roberts, the Owen Hartmann family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Koll and Travis, and Rick Bowers, all of Winside; Cheryl Raber of Omaha; Gary and Paula Bowers of Hartington; Pam Bowers of Yankton, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Norm Pinkelmann and Mandi, and Mrs. Clarence Bowers, all of Norfolk; and Mrs. Tom Bowers of Carroll.

A corsage was given to the honored couple by their great grand children. The anniversary cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Teri Koll and Mrs. Joni Roberts.

An open house honoring the couple will be held at a later date.

Inducted into Alpha Lambda Delta

Valerie Bush, daughter of Jim and Anita Bush of Carroll, was among 23 new members inducted into the Midland Lutheran College chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta during a brunch Sept. 29.

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national scholastic honorary society. Students must have attained a B plus or better grade point average during their freshman year in order to be initiated.

Valerie, who also has been elected president of Alpha Lambda Delta during the 1985-86 year, is a 1984 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School. She is a sophomore at Midland majoring in business.

Altona Ladies Aid guest day

The First Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid of Altona held its guest day meeting on Oct. 2. Attending were 13 members and 46 guests from St. John's Lutheran of Pilger, and Immanuel Lutheran and St. Paul's Lutheran of Wakefield.

The Rev. Ray Greeneth conducted a brief devotion, and Darlene Frevert welcomed the guests.

Speaker for the afternoon was Carla Winter of West Point. Her topic was "Life's Melody - From the Clef Sign to the Double Bar Line." Mrs. Winter interspersed her talk with singing, accompanied by Gwen Lindberg.

A dessert luncheon was served.

October T and C meeting

The Oct. 10 meeting of T and C Club was held in the Edna Baier home. High card scores for the day went to the hostess and Joy Blecke.

Joy Blecke will be the Nov. 14 hostess at 2 p.m.

Acme Club meets at Windmill

Martha Biermann was hostess for the Oct. 7 meeting of Acme Club, held at the Windmill Restaurant.

The birthday song was sung for Helen James, who opened the meeting and shared a birthday prayer. Zita Jenkins gave the thought for the day, entitled "Speak Lovingly."

Fifteen members were present and answered roll call with their favorite childhood game. The constitution, as it was formed in 1882, was read and discussed.

Zita Jenkins gave a book review of "Cattfish at the Pump," tall tales of life on the Nebraska prairie by Dr. Roger L. Welsh.

The group will make tray favors for Providence Medical Center during its next meeting, scheduled Oct. 21 at the Windmill. Hostess will be Camilia Liedtke.

Jehovah's Witnesses convention

Approximately 50 local residents will be attending a two day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 26-27 at Fremont. Assembly theme is "Doing Our Part in Glorifying God."

Arthur Degryse, spokesman for the Wayne congregation, said 1,200 delegates are expected from 20 congregations in northeast Nebraska and the bordering areas of South Dakota and Iowa.

The convention begins Oct. 26 at 9:55 a.m., and concludes Oct. 27 at 4:30 p.m. A public talk, entitled "Global Peace - From What Source?" will be a feature of the Sunday program. It will begin at 2 p.m. and will be delivered by Darrel Holman, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Midwest.

Degryse said all sessions are free and open to the public.

Klick and Klatter meeting

Thirteen members and a guest, Mrs. Kenneth Olds, attended the Oct. 8 meeting of Klick and Klatter Home Extension Club, answering roll call with a natural remedy they remember. Hostess was Mrs. Lee Moller.

President Joyce Niemann opened the meeting with unison reading of the collect. Irene Victor led the group in singing "Church in the Wildwood."

Viola Meyer read "A Farmer's Prayer," and Stella Liska gave a family crisis and stress reading. Loreene Gildersleeve read "Scientists Crack Colds and Viral Ailments."

Orvella Blompenkamp reported on the scrapbook, and Marvel Corbit urged members to take part in the many activities scheduled in honor of Wayne State College's 75th anniversary.

President Niemann reported that 70 women attended the fellowship dinner.

It was announced Achievement Day will be held Oct. 22 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. Each club is asked to furnish a salad.

The club discussed the Toys for Tots project sponsored by Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency.

The meeting closed with a poem, "Happiness," read by President Niemann. Stella Liska received the happiness gift and the lesson on "Natural remedies was presented by Barbara Sievers."

The Nov. 12 meeting at 1:30 p.m. will be in the home of Marcelia Larson. Joyce Niemann will give the lesson, "Batters and Doughts."

"OUR TOWN," by Thornton Wilder, is being directed by Dr. Andre Sedriks, associate professor of humanities at Wayne State.

Sedriks is in his first year at Wayne State and replaces Dr. Helen Russell, who taught drama at the college from 1959 until her retirement last spring.

Shirley Kleensang, Gary James wed in Oklahoma rites

The marriage of Shirley Kleensang to Gary James was solemnized in 7 o'clock rites Oct. 4 at the Council Road Baptist Church in Bethany, Okla., where the newlyweds are making their home.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kleensang of Hoskins, graduated from Winside High School and attended the University of Nebraska Medical Center where she specialized in physical therapy. She is employed at the O'Donoghue Rehabilitation Institute in Oklahoma City, Okla.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton James of Bethany, Okla. He attended the University of Oklahoma and is employed as a mechanical engineer with Benham A & E in Oklahoma City.

THE COUPLE'S double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wendell Estep of Bethany.

Singers were Carla and Matthew Britt, and organist was Nea Teachman, all of Oklahoma City.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Randy (Rhonda) Kleensang of Hoskins and Kenneth James of Guthrie, Okla.

Bridesmaids were Cindy Heitzman of Emory, S. D., Jane Lewis of Little Rock, Ark., and Kristie Smith and Eloise Killman, both of Oklahoma City.

Serving as groomsmen were Randy Kleensang of Hoskins, and Jerry James, Eric Stockton and Chris Roulerte, all of Norman, Okla.

THE BRIDE appeared at her father's arm wearing a white floor-length gown of lace over taffeta, with a chapel length train. She wore a lace hat and carried a white Bible.

Her attendants wore peach floor-length frocks in taffeta and lace.

The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo, and his attendants were attired in black tuxedos.

A RECEPTION was held in the church social hall following the ceremony.

September ceremony

MARION BROWN and Dan Pinkelmann exchanged marriage vows during a ceremony Sept. 21 at First Lutheran Church, South Sioux City. The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Ruth Brown and John Nies of South Sioux City. Parents of the bridegroom are Cliff and Elaine Pinkelmann of Wayne. The newlyweds are at home in South Sioux City following a wedding trip to Nashville, Tenn.

Home extension clubs plan Achievement Day program

All interested homemakers are invited to attend the Wayne County Home Extension Council's annual Achievement Day program on Tuesday, Oct. 22 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church basement in Winside.

Registration will be from 1 to 1:30 p.m., with the program scheduled to get underway at 1:30.

Highlighting the program will be skits by the Highland and We Few Home Extension Clubs, and songs by the Scattered Neighbors Home Extension Club.

Serving on the committee for this year's Achievement Day program are Lolavave Langenberg, Patsy Deck and Mary Nichols.

Sundell-Stine exchange vows in autumn rites at Wakefield

The marriage of Sarilynn Sundell of Wakefield and Gary Stine of Scottbluff was solemnized in a 7:30 p.m. double ring ceremony Oct. 5 at Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sundell of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Don Stine of Cambridge.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. L. A. Sundell of Valley, uncle of the bride, and the Rev. Joe Marek of Wakefield.

The church aisle was decorated with triple hurricane lamps; teal boys, purple asters and wheat.

The altar was adorned with a candelabra with large bouquets of flowers in the bride's colors of ivory, Bangkok teal, and burning plum, altar candles and flowers.

MRS. CONNIE Smith of Pender was vocalist. Keith Krueger of Wakefield was trumpeter, and Professor Anthony Garlick of Wayne was organist.

The songs were "The Ring," "At Cana's Wedding Feast" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Debra Bradbes of Omaha presided over the guest book. Guests were ushered into the church by Bob Stine and Keith Plummer, both of Lincoln, Rick Sundell of Kansas City, Kan., and Gary Bortscheller of Sioux City.

Flower girl was Suzanne Young of Cambridge, and ring bearer was Andy Sundell of Sallina, Kan. Lighting candles were Sheryl and Renee Stine of Cambridge, sisters of the bridegroom.

THE BRIDE, who was escorted down the aisle by her father, chose a Renaissance gown of ivory satin. Reembroidered Alencon lace with sequins and seed pearls trimmed the fitted bodice, and off-the-shoulder sweetheart neckline.

Matching lace was repeated on the long tapered sleeves and puffed shoulders. A long triangular insertion of English net applied with the lace highlighted the center of the cathedral train, and a scalloped border of matching lace encircled the neckline.

Her cathedral veil was attached to a pearl and sequin encrusted ivory satin pill box, and she wore her maternal grandmother's pearl tasselier suspended from a pearl choker, also worn by her sister and her mother at her weddings.

The bride carried a long cascade of gardenias and ivy leaves accented with stephanotis.

MATRON OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Suelien Koepke of Hoskins. Bridesmaids were Leslie Dahlgren of Montevideo, Minn., and Cindy Karel of Lincoln.

They wore silk-taffeta gowns of Bangkok teal with off-the-shoulder sweetheart necklines, with matching satin slippers and ivory lace, elbow-length gloves.

Each carried an arm bouquet of cream enchantment lillies, purple asters, teal cosmos and wheat.

The bride designed the headpieces of all her attendants, candelighters and flower girl.

BRICK WILSON of Portland, Ore. served as best man. Groomsmen were Mike Oney of Phoenix, Ariz., and Rob Simpson of Newcastle.

The men in the wedding party were affixed in charcoal gray tuxcoats with gray gloves.

The bridegroom wore a boutonniere of a gardenia, and his attendants wore purple asters.

Both mothers of the couple chose mauve formals accented with white orchid corsages.

Following the exchange of vows, the mothers presented lighted candles to the bride and bridegroom at the front of the church. They, in turn, lighted the unity candle.

THE BRIDE designed the ring bearer's pillow which her great aunt, Mrs. Margaret Sundell, embroidered and crocheted.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Helen Sundell of Wakefield, crocheted the flower girl's basket.

Special guests at the ceremony were grandmothers of the couple, including Mrs. Uneeta Kingsbury of Sioux City, Mrs. Helen Sundell of Wakefield, and Mrs. Nola Sherard of Overland Park, Kan.

FOLLOWING the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlor. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Thompson. Gifts were arranged by Jim Erickson and Joey Borg.

The bride's cake was cut by Deb Barnes of Pierce, and served by Peggy Knights of Moorhead, Iowa and Mrs. Marilyn Hendricks of Atkinson. Serving the groom's Danish wedding cake was Mrs. Ruth Johnson of Wakefield.

The wedding table was highlighted by a crystal candelabra also used at the wedding of the bride's mother 36 years ago.

Mrs. Marjorie Sundell of Valley and Linda Baringer of Kansas City, Kan. poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stine

Mrs. Mildred Krueger of Wakefield pinned on corsages.

FOLLOWING the church reception, a reception for family and bridal party members was held in the Alvin Sundell home. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Borg served as hosts.

A luncheon honoring the bride, her attendants and flower girl, along with the two mothers, was held at noon on Oct. 5 in the bride's home.

The luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. Mildred Krueger and Mrs. Lorraine Hiltz.

The following noon, Oct. 6, a steak fry was held at the Alvin Sundell home for immediate family and out-of-town friends.

THE NEWLYWEDS are honeymooning in New Zealand, Australia and the Fiji Islands, and will return home Nov. 1. They are making their home in Scottbluff.

The bride, a 1982 Ak-Sar-Ben Countess, graduated from Wakefield High School in 1978 and from Nebraska Wesleyan University in 1982. She was employed by the Wayne SCS office.

The bridegroom graduated from Cambridge-High School in 1975 and from the University of Nebraska in 1979. He became a registered engineer in 1984 and is employed as a civil engineer in the ASCS office in Scottbluff.

Annual German dinner scheduled in Winside

The third annual German dinner in Winside will be held Saturday, Oct. 19, with serving times from 5 to 6 p.m., 6 to 7 p.m., and 7 to 8 p.m. in the city auditorium.

Tickets, which must be purchased in advance, are $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12 years of age.

The tickets are available from any Winside business or at the Commercial State Bank in Hoskins.

Organizers of the event stressed that no tickets will be sold at the door.

THE IDEA FOR the first German dinner, held in 1982, was developed and continues to be coordinated by the Winside Federated Woman's Club.

"The dinner is not specifically a money making project, but a community project to get residents of the Winside area working together," said Mrs. Barb Leapey, a member of the Woman's Club.

Although much of the food is donated, prepared and served by volunteers of the Winside area, Leapey said the main course, table service, etc. are furnished by the Woman's Club.

PROFITS FROM the first German dinner were used to help purchase a new refrigerator for the city auditorium. The second year's profits were applied to the auditorium chair fund.

Although no specific project has been designated for this year's organizers of the event said that any profits from the dinner will go towards some community project.

THE MENU FOR this year's dinner, which is similar to past years, includes roast pork with or without sauerkraut, two kinds of potatoes, a vegetable, German bologna, a variety of salads, including a Waldorf salad, cabbage in wine, dill bread, rye bread, and black forest cake.

Persons wishing additional information about the event are asked to contact Mrs. Barb Leapey, 286-4850, or Lorraine Prince, 286-4232.

Date nears for annual bazaar

Only a week and a half remains before the annual fall bazaar sponsored by the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary.

This year's bazaar will be held Saturday, Oct. 26 in the Wayne city auditorium, beginning at 10 a.m. Doors will remain open until 4 p.m. The event, originally scheduled Nov. 2, was changed because of other conflicts.

PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN Donna Schumacher said the 1985 bazaar will again include a variety of crafts, including holiday gift items, along with white elephant, food and candy tables.

Given away during the day will be a ceramic nativity scene, a quilt, a needlepoint picture, two throw pillows and a wall hanging. In addition, three dolls will be given away at the children's table. Schumacher said donations, including crafts and white elephant items, are still being accepted for the event.

Persons with items they would like to donate are asked to take them to the city auditorium between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 25.

ROLLS AND COFFEE will be served the day of the bazaar from 10 to 11 a.m. From 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., there will be a lunch of chili and vegetable beef soup, sandwiches, pie, coffee and milk. Pie and coffee will again be served from 1 to 3 p.m.

All proceeds from the bazaar are used to help purchase equipment for Providence Medical Center.

Music Boosters announce start of magazine sales

Members of the Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters organization learned during a meeting Monday night that the annual magazine sales began Oct. 16 and will continue for the next two weeks.

Mrs. John Melena, magazine committee chairman, stressed that a different plan is being used this year due to problems last year.

Monday night's Music Boosters meeting was the first one of the school year and was conducted by President Jay Hartman.

The 1985-86 budget was submitted and approved.

ROB STUBERG, vocal music director, reported there are 23 men and 29 women in this year's varsity choir.

Upcoming concerts include the annual fall concert on Nov. 12 and a Christmas concert scheduled Dec. 15 in the afternoon.

Also taking part in the Christmas concert will be the seventh and eighth grade choir.

Stuberg also announced that the Wayne State Choral Festival will be held March 12, however the Wayne High varsity choir will not be in competition this year.

High School instrumental director Ron Dalton said there are 97 musicians in this year's varsity marching band, in addition to 13 flag girls and two drum majorettes.

There are 28 students in cadet band.

On Saturday, Oct. 19, the marching band will be in competition at the Band Masters Contest in Lincoln.

The band also is planning to compete again this year in the marching contest at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln on Saturday, Nov. 2.

A Middle School concert, which will involve the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade bands, is scheduled Jan. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Director is Keith Kopperud.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED during Monday night's meeting that letters have been sent to all parents of music students asking them to indicate which committees they would like to become involved with.

Entertainment following the business meeting was provided by the sixth grade band.

"The dinner is not specifically a money making project, but a community project to get residents of the Winside area working together," said Mrs. Barb Leapey, a member of the Woman's Club.

Although much of the food is donated, prepared and served by volunteers of the Winside area, Leapey said the main course, table service, etc. are furnished by the Woman's Club.

Mission Sunday

Retired missionary speaking at Redeemer

Elaine Wagner, a newly retired missionary with 36 years of service overseas, will be the guest speaker and missions presenter during Mission Sunday on Oct. 20 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Mission Sunday is patterned after the Mission Festivals many congregations have observed in past years.

Wagner will deliver the main message during the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services at Redeemer, and will make a special presentation to junior and senior high school youth during the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school hour.

At 12:30 p.m., there will be a congregational potluck dinner, followed with an audio-visual program presented by Wagner at 1:30 p.m.

There also will be special programs on missions in the regular Sunday school classes and at the adult forum.

WAGNER, a Nebraska native, was born on a farm northeast of Hooper. She became interested in missions in Sunday school, and her commitment grew as she worked in secretarial positions in Fremont and in Washington, D.C.

She returned to college to train for missionary service, graduating from Midland Lutheran College in 1947.

Wagner spent all 36 years of her missionary career in British Guiana, later named Guyana, located on the northeast coast of South America.

DURING HER early years in Guyana, Wagner was engaged in evangelistic work with women and children.

Later, she was involved in developing curriculum and plans for leadership education, with 18 primary schools, Sunday schools, vacation church school and confirmation instruction her primary area of responsibility.

In 1959, Wagner completed her master's degree in religious education, using her furlough time for study.

She has also served as missionary in residence in this country, and is widely known for her work in religious education on the mission field.

THE REV. Dan Manson, pastor at Redeemer, said the public is invited to join in the Mission Sunday activities.

Bad news smears sports pages, too

The newspaper and television industries have always been stereotyped as only printing negative news. And when people find out that I work for a newspaper, I'm often asked "why is the bad news always dwelled on?"

I never thought that question pertained to me because I was a sports editor. I always believed that a newspaper's sports section, along with its comics, was one of the few areas of the paper that didn't contain bad news.

That's how it was when I was growing up. When I was in grade school and junior high, the first thing I did when I received the Sioux City Journal was flip through the pages and hunt for the sports section.

When I finally found the sports, I'd read practically every story, and the only bad news I ever ran across was when my favorite teams lost.

BUT THAT'S ALL CHANGED during the past few years. It seems that the sports pages in most metropolitan areas have just as much bad news as the rest of the paper.

In just the past few months, there have been numerous stories that fall under the bad news category. The baseball strike, the drug trials, and the TCU players accepting illegal money are just a few negative stories that have been on the sports pages recently.

But there's something more devastating when that kind of a story is found on the sports pages, because throughout history, sports figures have always been considered heroes.

It can be argued that although people say they don't like reading negative news, they really do.

Bob Greene, a syndicated columnist, once discussed how author Laura Thomas decided to write a monthly newsletter about a fictional character who migrates from a small town in Iowa to Chicago. The newsletter's main character (who was called Laura Alexander) was a very innocent, naive woman who led a simple life.

Greene reported that fewer than 50 people subscribed to the newsletter, but when Thomas decided to switch the character's background from an innocent woman to a gorgeous, sexy, experienced, uninhibited young porno star, the subscription numbers were expected to increase.

"There doesn't seem to be a market for the adventures of an innocent young woman in the city," Thomas told Greene, before adding, "she sells."

But people (adults as well as children) don't like reading negative stories about their heroes. We don't like finding out that our idols are junkies or on the take.

BUT UNFORTUNATELY, during the past few years, that's been the case. Drugs, gambling, illegal contributions and a number of other negative stories now smear sports pages. And those topics have dampened many of today's sports figures' reputations.

For example, I always considered Bill Madlock as one of baseball's better players. But since his name came up countless times during the drug trials in August and September, the first thing I think of while I watch him play in the National League playoffs is his supposed drug use.

With most of the nation focusing on the playoffs and with Madlock having a good series, this should be his time in the limelight. But I wonder how many people there are who think about his problems rather than his mastery of baseball?

But newspapers and other medium forms can't be blamed for using bad news. Newspapers don't make the news, they only report it.

It's just a shame that so much bad news is now found on the sports pages, too.

No. 5 Fort Hays slips past Wildcats

Wayne State's upset bid falls short, lose 26-21

Mike Scott
WSC Sports Information

Wayne State's come-from-behind upset bid fell short Saturday afternoon as the Wildcats dropped a 26-21 homecoming decision to Fort Hays State at Memorial Stadium.

Trailing 26-14 in the fourth quarter, Wayne State fought back with a 75-yard scoring drive when quarterback Ed Jochum crossed the goal line from two yards out. Herve Roussel added a PAT boot to trim the Fort Hays lead to 26-21 with 4:37 remaining.

The Wildcats got the ball back one final time, but two quarterback sacks and a penalty ended their chances.

Darin Blackburn booted a 73-yard punt from the end zone with less than a minute left, but the Tigers ran out the clock to seal the victory.

The two teams combined for 617 passing yards. Jochum, who regained his starting role after sitting out last week's game against Missouri Western, threw for 299 yards, gained 33 of the Wildcats' 59 rushing yards and scored the hosts' final touchdown.

Tom Leitschuck completed an 11-yard pass to Bill Miharik on a first quarter faked punt deep in Wildcat territory to account for the rest of Wayne State's 310 yards passing.

The game's first score came when Fort Hays quarterback Robert Long found Ralph Humphrey in the end zone for an eight-yard TD pass. Tom Olde's PAT kick missed to make the score 6-0 in the first quarter.

Two possessions later, a 46-yard field goal attempt by Roussel fell short, and Fort Hays took over on its own 26-yard line.

The Tigers opened a 13-0 advantage at the end of the quarter with a 29-yard TD pass from Long to Eric Busenbark with no time remaining on the game clock. Olde added a PAT kick.

Sonny Jones fumbled the Tigers' kickoff on the 10 and returned it to the 46 before being run out-of-bounds by Olde. The Wildcat drive ended five plays later with Fort Hays State's Paul Nelson picking off a Jochum pass on the four yard line.

The Tigers were forced to punt from their own five, and Wayne State's offense pieced together a 47-yard drive ending with Matt Hoffmann making a one-yard leap for the touchdown. The Roussel PAT kick was good to make the score 13-7 at the half.

Wayne State opened a lead midway through the third period following a Matt Hoffmann eight-yard run to pay dirt. Roussel added his second PAT to supply the Wildcats with a 14-13 edge.

But the Tigers came back late in the period with a 38-yard scoring drive capped by a Terry Thomas six-yard touchdown run. The two-point conversion pass failed, but Fort Hays pulled ahead 19-14.

On the Wildcats' first possession of the fourth quarter, Roussel missed another field goal, this time a 48-yard attempt, and the Tigers took over on the 31 yard line.

Fort Hays followed by covering 69 yards on 10 plays. Thomas ended the Tiger drive with his second six-yard touchdown run. Olde added a PAT kick for a 26-14 Fort Hays lead.

Wayne State fought back with the 75-yard drive and Jochum's two-yard TD. But Jochum's touchdown and Roussel's PAT kick was the Wildcats' last hooray.

Jochum led the Wildcats offensively, completing 22-of-51 passes for 299 yards. Jochum spread his passing over eight receivers, led by Glenn Mathews with six catches for 47 yards, and Sonny Jones who totaled four catches for 73 yards.

Long also had a big day passing completing 34-of-62 aerials for 307 yards.

Jochum's 20 rushes for 33 yards also led the team. He gained 80 yards rushing, but was sacked for 47 negative yards. Hoffmann followed Jochum with eight carries for 16 yards and the two touchdowns. Carl Calvert, Wayne State's leading ground gainer this year, suffered a leg injury while warming up before the game.

Tony Shaw once again led the Wildcat defense finishing with 19 tackles. Mark Will followed with 12 tackles, a broken up pass and an interception. Rich Loseke added 10 stops for Wayne State.

Fort Hays improved to 5-0-1. The Tigers were ranked fifth in NAIA Division I coming into the game. The Wildcats are now 2-4 overall and 1-2 in the CSIC. This Saturday, they travel to Topeka, Kan. to meet the Washburn Ichabods.

Wildcats improve to 6-3 Winside holds off Laurel

WINSIDE Winside overcame a spirited attack by Laurel to up its win streak to six and down the Bears 15-10, 13-15, 15-12 here Tuesday night.

According to both coaches, Laurel played one of its better games, especially from a hustling standpoint.

"We didn't play that well as far as technique goes, but we hustled well and that's what made the game so close — our hustle," Laurel head coach Carol Mangano said.

Jill Stenwall, Winside's head coach, agreed with Mangano. "I thought Laurel played well. They were especially scrappy and really hustled well and forced us into some mistakes," she said.

"In the rubber set, Winside jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead, but Laurel came back and tied the score at four."

Winside followed by regaining the momentum and opened a seemingly comfortable 13-6 advantage. However, with Laurel's Gail Twiford and June Heydon leading the way, the Bears sliced the Wildcat lead to one, 13-12.

But as they did all set, Winside scored when it needed to and scored the frame's final two points for the victory.

Stenwall said her club suffered a mental breakdown during most of the action.

"I don't think we've played as well as we have in other games this year. We weren't in the game mentally and that's a result, made several silly mistakes that we usually don't make," she said.

Mangano said her club's lack of aggressiveness and inability to score the big point cost the Bears.

"We lack experience that can only be gained through playing. Too many times we weren't aggressive enough — we played not to lose instead of playing to win and that hurt," she said. "Also, when we made a big play to get possession of the ball, we'd miss our serve and that destroyed our momentum."

The "closeness" of the game is reflected in the contest's final statistics.

Winside's leading scorers were Tricia Hartman and Kerri Leighton with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Twiford and Tami Schmitt led Laurel with 11 and 10 points, as well.

Both teams had a balanced hitting attack. Tracy Topp led Winside with eight kills, while Kay Meterher and Teresa Brudigan added six and three aces, respectively, for the Wildcats. Twiford led Laurel with eight kills and while teammate Michelle Joslin followed with four.

Sarah Adkins led the Bears in setting going 37-for-39. Leighton sparked the Wildcats with a 76-for-80 setting performance.

Winside also won the "B" game 15-7, 15-7, and the "C" bout 11-4, 2-11, 11-7.

Michelle Lindsay led the Bears' "B" team with five points, while Cher Olson and Lori Jensen sparked Winside with nine and eight markers, respectively.

In the "C" game, Amy Morris led Laurel with 12 points, while Christina Bloomfield and Mary Brugger closed with 10 and eight points, respectively, for Winside.

The victory improved the Wildcats' record to 6-3, after ushering the '85 campaign with a 0-3 mark. Winside will go after its seventh win in a row Thursday night when the Wildcats travel to Allen.

Laurel slipped to 4-8 on the year. The Bears' next game is Tuesday when they host Coleridge.

Shaw and Jochum sited for their play Saturday

John Riggs of Chadron and Midland's John Davis were named the NAIA District 11 offensive and defensive players of the week, respectively.

Riggs completed 27-of-49 passes for 477 yards and six touchdowns in Chadron's 49-28 rout over Peru. Davis totaled 13 tackles, including six solo stops and a sack. In Midland's 15-7 triumph over Doane.

Wayne State's Ed Jochum and Tony Shaw were both nominated for the respective awards. Jochum threw for 299 yards, completing 33-of-59 aerials. He also rushed for a team-high 33 yards and scored a TD. Jochum actually gained 80 yards, but 47 yards in sacks resulted in a net 33.

Shaw once again led the Wildcat defense with a team high 19 tackles.

Hartington CC stops Wayne

Slow start costs Blue Devils loss

Wayne-Carroll's volleyball team just couldn't get out of the starting blocks Tuesday night and as a result, dropped a 15-17, 6-15 decision to powerful Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Wayne trailed 7-0 in the opening frame, before Jennifer Salmon put the Blue Devils on the scoreboard with an ace serve. However, Hartington added three more unanswered points and pulled ahead 10-1. But Wayne finally settled down and started chipping away at the Lady Trojan lead.

With Marnie Bruggeman feeding Shelly Pick, Sonja Skokan and Kecia Corbit with perfect assists, the Blue Devils gradually worked their way back in the game by outscoring Cedar Catholic, 14-5 down the stretch to force an overtime.

However, the Lady Trojans proved to be too tough and tallied the set's last two markers for the 17-15 triumph.

The second set was much like the first as Wayne fell behind 8-0 before making a move. However, unlike the first set, Hartington didn't struggle and played steadily enough to pull out the nine point victory.

Mavis Dalton, Wayne's head coach, said establishing momentum was the Blue Devils' biggest problem Tuesday night.

"We just couldn't get it going. In both sets we fell way behind and our biggest problem was we just took too long before we established any momentum," she said.

Lori Jacobsen led the 11-5 Blue Devils with nine points, while Bruggeman closed with a team high 47 spikes.

Pick was Wayne's leading spiker closing with 14, including four kills. Skokan totaled 10 spikes and three aces, while Corbit finished with 10 spikes and one kill.

Despite losing, Dalton said her club proved they were a good squad by coming back on Cedar Catholic.

"At the end of the first set we played as well as anybody could've. Any team that comes back from such a big deficit against a team like Cedar deserves credit," she said.

Hartington is one of the state's best squads in Class B. Although not ranked, the Lady Trojans are one of the top contenders according to the Omaha World-Herald rankings.

Wayne did win the "B" game 11-15, 15-9, and the "C" bout 15-7, 15-10.

In the "B" game, Amy Schlons scored a team high 13 points for Wayne, while Salmon added 11. Salmon also finished with 26 sets, but the Blue Devils' leading setter was Susy Lutt who totaled 30.

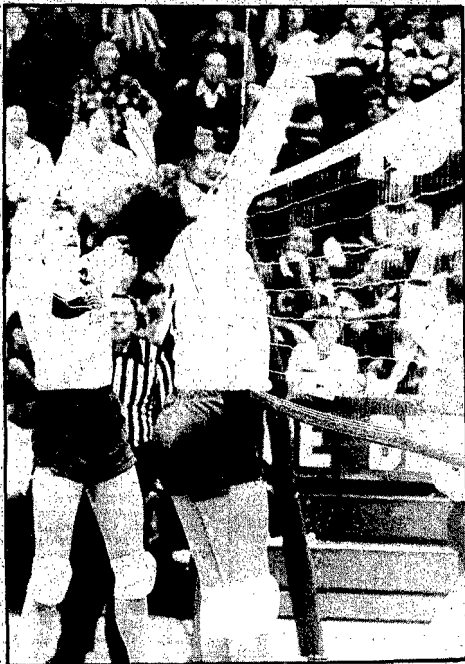

Jenny Wessel led Wayne with 11 spikes, and Sarah Peterson added 10.

Robin Luff and Holly Paige led the Blue Devils' "C" team with nine and eight points, respectively.

Dana Nelson was Wayne's leading setter with 21, and Kristy Hansen sparked the Blue Devils with five spikes.

Tuesday night's match was parent's night for all the Blue Devils on the volleyball and golf teams.

Wayne's next match is Thursday at Pierce. Pierce has only lost two matches all season, one of which came against Hartington-Cedar Catholic.

Krusemark leads Trojans to victory

WAKEFIELD-A key element to any good team is depth. If a team doesn't have somebody that can come off the bench and fill in, it's a safe bet that that team will eventually run into trouble during the season.

Tuesday night, Val Krusemark supplied Wakefield with a key performance off the bench and sparked the Trojans to come from behind 10-15, 15-4, 15-3 triumph over Walthill.

Late in the first set, Wakefield saw a once comfortable lead evaporate into a 10-12 deficit. And during Walthill's 10th point, starting setter Steph Torzon cracked her chin on the floor diving for a ball. After the play concluded, Torzon exited for the hospital to receive 12 stitches.

"We don't pull Steph out too much during games. She's such an important player that we thought her absence might have a negative affect on the kids. We kind of thought the girls might start hanging their heads," Wakefield assistant coach Arnie Cerny said about the Trojans.

But instead of hanging their heads, Wakefield came storming back and was keyed by Krusemark's all-around play.

After dropping the first set, Krusemark led the Trojans to a spirited 15-4, 15-3 win over the final two frames.

Despite coming off the bench and playing just two sets, Krusemark finished 8-for-9 with five aces in serving, was 10-for-10 with seven assists in setting, and finished 15-for-18 in passing. And in addition to her fine statistics, Cerny said she provided the Trojans with an emotional boost.

"Like I said, we thought the girls might hang their heads when Steph had to leave. But Val came in and did such a good job that the girls forgot about Steph being gone and just pulled together and played well as a team," he said. "The girls just came together and showed a lot of heart, and you couldn't ask much more from a kid coming off the bench."

The Trojans did indeed play well as a team, and Wakefield's statistics reflect that team effort.

Motti Greve led Wakefield in scoring with 10 points, finishing 13-for-14 in serving with 10 aces. Kristal Clay added an 11-for-13 serving performance with eight aces and eight points.

Clay was also a leading spiker closing with a 10-for-12 performance, including four kills. Suzanne Stelling went 6-for-8 in spiking with a team high six kills.

Julie Oswald led the Trojans in setting going 26-for-28 with 15 assists, and Stelling closed with a 19-for-21 passing effort.

The Trojans made it clean sweep by also winning the "B" game 15-3, 15-2, and the "C" contest 11-5, 11-7.

Cerny was pleased with both the "B" team and the "C" team's efforts saying it was of the better games of the season for both squads.

The Wakefield junior varsity is now 7-2 on the year, while the Trojan "C" team is 5-4.

Wakefield's varsity improved its record to 10-1 and plays again Thursday at Coleridge.

Eagles fall to Newcastle

ALLEN-Newcastle took advantage of Allen's unemotional play and downed the Eagles with a pair of 15-7 verdicts in straight sets here Tuesday night.

Gary Troth, Allen's head coach, said he doesn't know exactly what the problem is, but said his squad played lackadaisically.

"We didn't serve or receive very well, but I think our biggest problem was we didn't play with any enthusiasm. I don't know what the problem was, but we were flat," he said.

Troth added that although the Eagles have the athletic ability, a string of consecutive losses might have had a negative affect on the hosts.

"We have good enough athletes, but we lost a lot of close matches lately and I think it's just getting harder for the girls to get up for games now. But like I said, we have good athletes and I still think we could put together a long winning streak," he said.

Denise Magnuson finished 11-for-12 in serving and added an 11-for-14 spiking performance, including two kills.

Diane Magnuson led the Eagles in spiking going 12-for-15 with four aces, and LeAnn McDonald was Allen's leading setter finishing a perfect 13-for-13.

"The night wasn't a total loss for the Eagles as Allison's "B" and "C" teams both pulled out straight set victories.

Troth mentioned Barb Hansen, Liz Hansen and Lana Erwin as playing well in the junior varsity's 15-9, 15-6 triumph.

Troth added that Toni Boyle and Candace Jones hustled well during the freshman's 11-11-7 win.

The loss dropped Allen's varsity record to 5-8. The Eagles' next game is Thursday when they host Winside.

Laurel downs Randolph

RANDOLPH-After struggling in the first set, Laurel-Concord's volleyball team came storming back with a pair of triumphs in the final two frames for a 5-15, 15-8, 15-11 victory here Thursday night.

The Bears' serve receive has been their biggest problems all season, and in the first set against Randolph it once again hampered the visitors. But Laurel head coach Carol Manganaro said that all changed in the last two stanzas.

"We had more trouble with our serve receive in the first set and that's what cost us. But we figured out our receiving problems and turned the game around in the last two sets," she said.

Improving their serve receive wasn't the only asset Laurel used, however, to pull out the win as Manganaro added that the Bears also worked together as a team well.

"We worked together as a team like we never have before. The girls played together and made up their minds that they weren't going to lose, and they didn't," she said.

Michelle Joslin had a big night for Laurel leading the Bears in scoring with 15 points and adding a 7-for-7 spiking performance with one ace.

Gail Twiford led Laurel in spiking with a 15-for-16 performance, including six kills. Stracy Strawn added a 6-for-8 spiking effort.

Sarah Adkins led Laurel in setting going 27-for-28, and teammate Dana Anderson went 17-for-19.

Wildcats go after third win

Wayne State/Washburn game profile

The Game
Wayne State vs. Washburn University, Saturday, Oct. 19, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the Moore Bowl in Topeka, Kan.

The Coaches
Wayne State — Pete Chapman, third year, 11-16 at WSC. Washburn — Larry Elliott, fifth year, 35-46-1 at WU.

The Series
Washburn leads the series 6-4 since its beginning in 1970. The two teams met in 1970 and '71, splitting those two meetings. They did not meet again until 1977 when Washburn won 24-17. Wayne State won the next four games until 1982 when Washburn won 19-13. Chapman is 1-1 against the Ichabods.

Lost Year
Wayne State led 14-0 in the first half on two short touchdown runs. The first was set up by a Washburn fumble on the 20, with Randy Hupp recovering for the Wildcats. The second was set up by a 36-yard interception return by Elvis Harrell. Herve Rousset added two second-half field goals and the Wildcats drove 40 yards in 10 plays in the third quarter for their final touchdown. Washburn's only score came on a Dino Delisa 53-yard touchdown run.

The Ichabods
Washburn is now 4-2 on the year and 2-1 in the CSC after losing to Pittsburg State 35-18. The Ichabods have defeated Northwest Missouri State 38-24, Central Missouri State 31-3, Missouri Southern 19-6 and Emporia State 25-18. Their two losses have come to Morningside 47-17, and Pittsburg State. Senior running back Dino Delisa leads the Ichabods' ground game with 636 yards on 151 carries. Delisa has six touchdowns and averages 4.2 yards per carry. Quarterback Mike McCartney has completed 74 of 151 passes for 891 yards and eight touchdowns. Steve Tacca leads the receivers with 23 catches and 262 yards for a 43.5 per game average. Linebackers Mark Brinker and Eugene Battle are the Ichabods' leading tacklers with 40 each.

The Wildcats
Wayne State is now 2-4 overall and 1-2 in the CSC after losing to Fort Hays State 26-21 in last Saturday's Homecoming contest. Senior quarterback Ed Jochum regained his starting job and responded by completing 22-of-51 passes for 299 yards. Jochum also led the Wildcats in rushing with 33 yards on 20 carries. Senior Matt Hoffmann was moved to the starting running back spot and carried for two Wayne State touchdowns. Senior linebacker Tony Shaw again led the defensive effort with 19 tackles, including 12 solos. Mark Will and Pat Jennings both had interceptions for the Wildcats.

Injuries
Wildcat running back Carl Calvert suffered a leg injury in warm-ups against Fort Hays. Sophomore linebacker Greg Cavilli has a broken finger, also suffered in warm-ups. WSC Probable Offensive Starters Sonny Jones (WO), Glenn Mathews (IR), Randy Ogren (ST), Ruben Mendoza (LG), Lionel Garnes (C), Phil Wickwar (RG), Mike Anderson (RT), Chuck McGinnis (WO), Tom Letschuck (IR), Ed Jochum (QB), Matt Hoffmann (FB), Herve Rousset (K).

WSC Probable Defensive Starters Rusty Ruhl (DE), James Bester (DT), David Uhlers (NG), Randy Hupp (DT), Keith Turner (DE), Judd Meenley (LB), Tony Shaw (LB), Lamont Lewis (CB), Pat Jennings (FS), Mark Will (SS), Rich Loseke (CB), Darin Blackburn (P).

Hunter safety courses offered

CONCORD—A hunter safety training class for youth ages 11 through 15 will be held at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord, according to Stan Starling, Extension Agent in Dixon County. A total of 10 hours of instruction is required. The schedule is as follows: Friday, Oct. 18 — 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 19 — 8 a.m. to noon; Friday, Oct. 25 — 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Participants need to attend all sessions. A registration fee of $1.50 covers materials needed for the course. Firearms used will be provided; participants should not bring their own firearms.

Upon successful completion of the course, youth will receive their safe hunter patch allowing those age 12 to 15 to hunt in Nebraska. Youth are invited to encourage a parent to be aware of the principles taught and of fer positive reinforcement during beginning hunts.

Since most firearm accidents occur in the home, youth not interested in hunting may also wish to attend.

Participants may register, on a first-come-first-served basis, by contacting the Dixon County Extension Office at Concord by letter or telephone (584-2234).

Echtenkamp wins contest

Catherine Echtenkamp of Wayne captured first place in the Wayne Herald Football Contest last week.

Echtenkamp and Al Hansen, also of Wayne, both missed three games, but Echtenkamp won the tie breaker.

Wayne's Cindy Alcaranz placed third with four misses. Mary Wert, Duane Bargholz (both of Wayne) and Darin Schellenberg of Winside also missed four games, but Alcaranz won the tie breaker.

Bancroft-Rosalie spans Allen gridders, 78-30

BANCROFT—With Brent Galce myer leading the way, Bancroft Rosalie stormed past Allen 78-30 her Friday night.

Galcemeyer rushed for 238 yards on just 17 carries for an average of 14 yards per tote.

Galcemeyer led the Panthers to nine touchdowns, eight of which were scored on running plays.

It didn't take long for Bancroft to take the upper hand as the Panthers built a quick 32-0 lead in the first quarter.

During Bancroft's first period uprising, the Allen offense was limited to just 21 yards of total offense in the first 12 minutes.

Bancroft added 18 markers in the second frame to open a commanding 50-14 lead at the half.

Allen's Max Oswald scored the Eagles' first TD on 14 yards out and followed by hitting Tyler Harder with a pass for the PAT.

Jyoti Kwankin tallied Allen's second touchdown when he rambled in from 30 yards out. The Eagles' second PAT attempt failed.

Bancroft added 22 more points in the third quarter and held Allen to just eight.

Jeff Gotch scored the Eagles' third period TD on a 45-yard run Gotch followed by adding a two-point PAT conversion.

The Eagles' final touchdown came in the fourth stanza when Kwankin reached pay dirt from one yard out.

Oswald added his second PAT strike when he connected with Clarke McGrath for a two-point PAT pass.

Allen rushed for 219 yards on 47 carries, while Bancroft totaled 390 rushing yards on 37 tries. Both squads added 69 passing yards.

Kwankin was Allen's leading rusher closing with 96 yards on 20 totes. Gotch added 58 yards on four carries and Greg Stapleton closed with 25 yards on seven tries.

Oswald completed 10 of 18 aeriels for all of Allen's 69 passing yards.

Gotch was the Eagles' leading receiver with 38 yards on three catches. Craig Noe hauled in four passes for 27 yards.

Brian Malcom and Travis Schroeder led Allen in tackles with 12 apiece, while Kwankin finished with 10.

Allen head coach Daye Uldrich said that powerful Bancroft should remain strong in the near future.

"They have a very good football team and the scary part is they're young. They only lose three starters off this team and Galcemeyer is only a sophomore," he said.

The loss dropped Allen to 1-5 on the year. The Eagles play at 1:5 Harington Friday night.

Wayne JV's drop heartbreaker

Wayne-Carroll's inability to score a two-point PAT conversion cost the Blue Devils a 13-12 junior varsity football decision to South Sioux City at the Wayne practice field Monday night.

With the game tied at six at the end of regulation time, South Sioux opened a 13-6 advantage when the Cardinals scored on a third four situation during overtime.

The South Sioux ball carrier was stopped at the line of scrimmage, but the football teammate hopped on the loose ball in the end zone for touchdown. The Cards followed with a PAT boot to open a seven point lead.

Wayne came storming back, however, and pulled within one on its first play from scrimmage during the overtime session.

During overtimes, both teams receive the ball on the 10 yard line and have four plays to try and score.

And Russ Long scored on the Blue Devils' first opportunity of overtime to make the score 13-12. However, Wayne went for the win on a two-point PAT attempt, but the Blue Devils' bootleg fell a yard-short and South Sioux hung on to the win.

The Cardinals led 6-0 after a touchdown in the first quarter, but Long tied the game at six when he crossed the goal line from five yards out just with over four minutes remaining in regulation.

Long had a big game for the Blue Devils, rushing for 100 yards on 13 carries and intercepting a pass. He was also one of Wayne's tackling leaders.

Joining Long with seven or more tackles were Mark Creighton, Al Foote, Jason Liska, Tom Baier and Ted McCright.

Wayne coach Ron Carnes said, "South Sioux has a good team and added that his club played well."

"This was our toughest game of the season. We played extremely hard, but we got a bad break when the fumble landed in the end zone," he said.

The Blue Devils are now 3-1 on the year. Wayne's next game is Monday, Oct. 28, when West Point travels to town for a 4:15 p.m. contest.

"Also, we need to make sure construction is progressing so that we are certain that the project date is, in fact, a reality."
The completion of the facility is anticipated for April of next year.

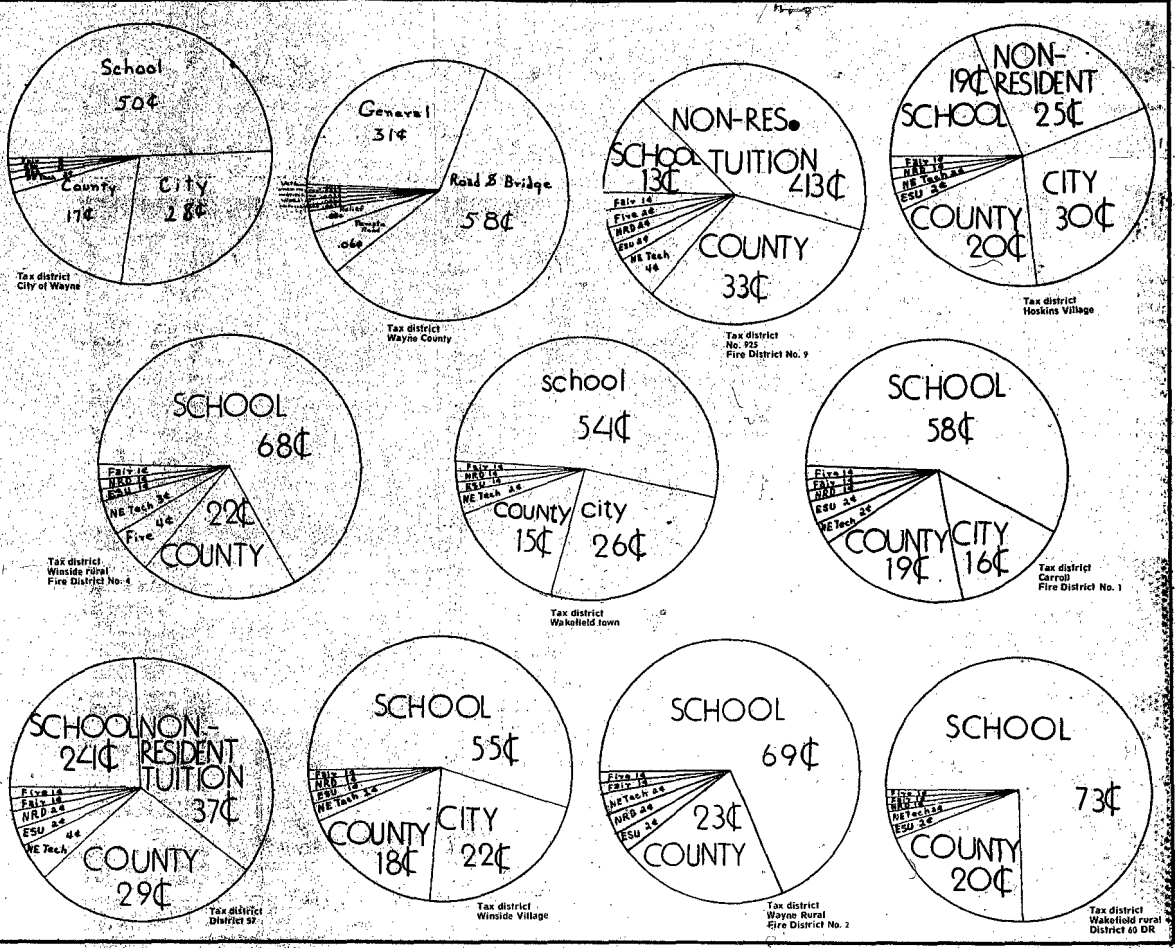

SOME OF THOSE decisions Timpte officials will make "as we go along," said Lessmann. "We feel that when we're ready to handle more people (for training slots), then we will do so," she emphasized.

Timpte officials are currently working on establishing position titles and job descriptions of office personnel. Lessmann said Timpte in Wayne "will have salaried and hourly office positions numbering up to 30 people at opening of the plant."

"Some of the upper level management we will be working on now this fall and then we will be adding management and other office positions as we get on closer to the actual opening date," said Lessmann. "We are working to put that all together."

PGM chapter at WSC among best in nation

The Board of Trustees of Pi Gamma Mu (PGM), international social science honorary fraternity, has selected Wayne State College's (WSC) Delta Chapter to appear on its National Roll of Distinction.

This is the sixth consecutive year that the WSC chapter has ranked among the nation's top PGM chapters. The name of Nebraska Delta will be included on the back cover of Social Science, a PGM publication, for one year. The honor is the highest rating a local chapter can achieve, said Dr. Jean Karlen, associate professor of sociology and advisor for the WSC chapter.

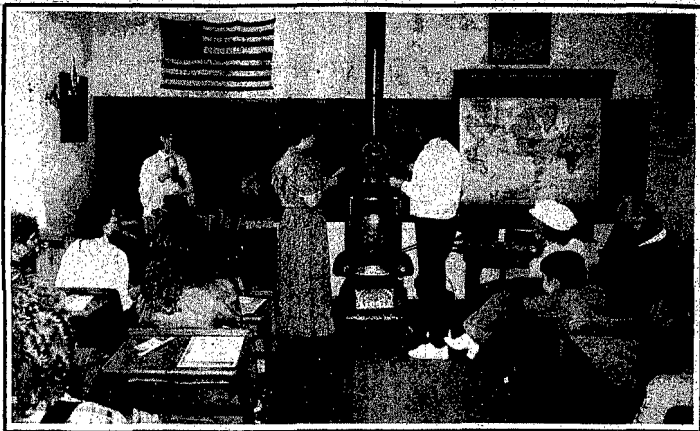

Achievement of these honors is based on a chapter's activities during the previous school year.

Emphasized criteria include chapter organization and participation, local initiative in developing new activities and programs, effectiveness of the chapter on its campus in promoting scholarship, initiation of members and financial responsibility.

Susan Brown of Schuyler and Kathleen Nelson of Genoa served as last year's president and vice president, respectively. This year's officers are Dean Lueders of Pender, president, and Laura Gray of Papillion, vice president. Karlen and Doug Taber, assistant professor of history, served as advisors for the honorary last year. Present advisors are Karlen and Cliff Ginn, associate professor of political science.

The active PGM full and associate members last year included: Don Kruse, Beth Alpaugh-Good, Mary Walick, Dona O'Gara, Norma Johnson, Tami Barth, Mike McMorrow, Sharon Starman, Melissa Hall-Zanker, Dennis Vollmer, Mary Eickhoff, Pamela Maler-Kenkel, Laura Gray, Rose Marie King, Karen Miles, Kim Dewitt, Dean Lueders, and Diana Heath.

Classroom long ago

DURING THE WSC Homecoming festivities, a classroom scene of practicing for the school Christmas play was enacted by the students of the WSC Method-Elementary Education Class. Behind the desk is Judy Theisen of Osmond. Near the stove are Sharon McCart of O'Neill and Anne Lenihan of Council Bluffs. The scene took place at the Mamie McCorkindale one-room school house on the WSC campus.

Visiting artist coming to WSC

James Johnson, a sculptor from Mankato, Minn., will be the fall semester Visiting Guest Artist at Wayne State College. He will be on campus Oct. 21 for a day-long program open free of charge to the public.

Johnson received the M.F.A. degree from UCLA and is currently an assistant professor of art at Mankato State University. His exhibition include numerous one- and two-person shows as well as work in public collections. He is also involved with large scale installation pieces.

Johnson says his work "is concerned with sculptures which achieve a strong dramatic presence." He added that is from "the implied effects of gravity upon suspended form and the visual impact of large scale forms upon the viewer within the defined space."

Johnson's presentation was initiated by the Sioux City (Iowa) Art Center's Artist Outreach program and is being made possible through a grant from the Iowa Arts Council with additional funding from the Sioux City Art Center Association and Wayne State College.

The Oct. 21 program includes: 10-11 a.m. — Slide presentation of Johnson's work with a question and answer session afterward; 11 a.m.-noon — Critique of student work; 1:30 p.m. — Wooden joint demonstration and discussion of wood working tools and types of wood.

Johnson will be working at the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Karlen named to honorary board

Dr. Jean C. Karlen, associate professor of sociology at Wayne State College, has been chosen to fill a vacancy on the Board of Trustees of Pi Gamma Mu (PGM), an international honor society in social science, according to PGM.

Karlen has been sponsor of the Nebraska Delta Chapter at WSC since 1978. Under her leadership, the chapter has had six mentions on PGM's Roll of Distinction and the Roll of Merit. The chapter obtained grants from the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities in 1982 and 1984. She recently received a citation for her service to PGM while serving as a panelist at a meeting in Omaha.

The PGM newsletter stated that "Dr. Karlen will be bringing her fund of fresh ideas to bear upon the international affairs of the Society."

A member of the WSC faculty since 1976, Karlen is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a number of sociological societies. She has twice been voted the outstanding social science faculty member at WSC.

Karlen received all three of her degrees from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

She is married to Gerald Karlen. They are the parents of three daughters: Julia, Jaima and Jaclyn.

Joy awarded scholarship

A May 1985 graduate of Wayne State College (WSC) has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship to attend graduate school.

Zoann Snyder Joy, a criminal justice graduate originally from Springfield, received the scholarship from Pi Gamma Mu, the international social science honorary fraternity, according to Dr. Jean Karlen, associate professor of sociology and the advisor of the WSC Pi Gamma Mu chapter.

Joy is in graduate school at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln majoring in sociology. She served as the honorary's public relations officer last year.

Tiedgen broadcast communication tutor

Dr. Bobby Lupack, Director of the Tutor Program and the Learning Center at Wayne State College recently announced the appointment of Rob Tiedgen of Battle Creek, son of Rob and Mary Tiedgen, as a tutor in the area of broadcast communication. Rob will serve as tutor for scheduled courses in Radio and TV Production, Radio and TV

Workshop, and other broadcasting classes.

Part of academic support services at Wayne State College, the Tutor Program is highly competitive. Tutors are selected from among numerous qualified applicants and must be mature upperclassmen and women with high overall grade point averages and who receive the endorsement of and recommendations from the college faculty.

As tutors, they conduct large group review sessions before major tests and quizzes, work closely with students on individual bases to answer specific questions and to remedy difficulties in their subject areas. They also consult regularly with faculty and administration members.

Rob is currently a senior majoring in broadcast-communication and expects to graduate in December, 1985. Rob is also general manager of the campus radio station, KWSC stereo FM.

Rob's immediate career goal is to become involved in radio or television management.

SEED STORAGE TIPS

In addition to the storage of summer bulbs, many gardeners have leftover garden and flower seeds to store. Here are some suggestions for storing vegetable seeds.

Unfold and lay out a stack of four facial tissues. Place two heaping tablespoons powdered milk in one corner. Powdered milk must be dry.

Fold and roll the facial tissue to make a small pouch. Secure with tape or a rubber band.

Place the pouch in a wide-mouth jar and immediately drop in packets of leftover seeds.

Seal the jar tightly to exclude moist air. Use the seeds as soon as possible. Discard and replace the dry milk (desiccant) once or twice yearly.

HOUSEHOLD EQUIVALENTS OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Here's a list of household equivalents of fruits and vegetables, retail packs:

- A Bushel of apples (42-48 pgs) yields 125 medium apples, 15 9-inch pies, 30-36 pints frozen and 15-18 quarts canned. Three pounds of apples will yield one 9-inch pie.

A 2-quart basket of grapes will yield 1 quart juice. One lug (22 pounds) of tart cherries will yield 8-10 quarts canned.

One pound winter squash or pumpkin will yield 1 1/2 cups cooked. The trim loss on pumpkin from seeds, rind and trimming will average 30 percent. For acorn squash, trim loss is 26 percent and for butternut, 16 percent.

GETTING HOUSEHOLD PLANTS TO REFLOWER

Past of the challenge and enjoyment of growing houseplants is to accomplish reflowering. While some plants such as African violets, crown-of-thorns are relatively easy to reflower, others, such as azalea, are not.

In general, to reflower houseplants, you must expose them to the correct number of hours with light, temperature, and with some a rest period — reduced watering and fertilizing.

While most people admire azalea, few attempt to reflower the plant. While you wouldn't obtain the flower quality you see in a floral shop, remember the challenge is its own reward.

After the last likely frost in spring, place the azalea (sink the pot in soil), in a shady area protected from hot, dry winds. Pinch new growth till early July to develop an attractive shape to the plant. Flower buds develop in summer and fall, so don't pinch after early July.

As nights become cooler in the fall, reduce the frequency of watering. Bring the plant indoors before frost. The plant requires cool temperature — 45 to 50 degrees — for two months until flower color shows. Buds will "blast" — turn brown and drop off — if temperatures are warm.

Rodent infiltration will cause building damage

Rodents living in and around swine production facilities can, and often do, cause extensive damage.

Robert Timm, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension vertebrate pest specialist, said rats and mice will eat and contaminate feed, spread diseases, and often cause serious structural damage to buildings. "Insulation in modern confinement buildings, in particular, often suffers severe damage," he said.

He recommends a program of integrated pest management, since a combination of control measures is generally more effective than any single technique.

Cleaning up the area is the first step, Timm said. "If rats or mice are present, it is because they are able to find food, water, places to hide and places to nest and rear their young." If rodents are unable to hide and to nest, they cannot remain in any location for long.

Use of multi-dose baits is an effective way to control moderate numbers of rats or mice. These products can be used continuously to maintain numbers at a low level, Timm said.

BUT IF RODENT populations are high and quick control is needed, producers should contact a professional exterminator or other person familiar with single dose rodent poisons. These poisons are a potential hazard to livestock, pets and desirable wildlife and should be used only by trained persons.

"When using any rodent poison, it is wise to pick up and dispose of dead or dying rodents," Timm said. "Livestock or pets which feed on the rodents could be poisoned as a result of eating the carcasses."

Trapping is a very effective control method, particularly for mice. Simple inexpensive snap traps can be purchased in most hardware and farm supply stores, he said.

Traps should be placed close to walls, behind objects and in other places where fresh rodent activity is seen. Bait them with a mixture of peanut butter and rolled oats or a small piece of raw bacon tied to the trigger. "For best results," Timm said, "traps should be placed with the narrow side against the wall, the trigger pointing at the wall."

The most successful and permanent form of rodent control is to build-them-out by closing all openings through which they can enter a structure. "Although it may not be economically feasible to remodel older buildings to make them rodent proof, it is wise to invest in modifying newer buildings," he said.

Mice can squeeze through opening less than 1/2 inch across and both rats and mice can enlarge small holes by gnawing.

Timm advises using damage controls best suited to the situation and taking action as soon as a problem or potential problem is recognized.

Pork banquet Sunday night

Following the proclaiming recently by Mayor Wayne Marsh which announced October as Pork Month in the city of Wayne, the Wayne County Pork Producers begin their month-long promotion of activities with the hosting of the Chamber of Commerce coffee.

The Chamber Coffee is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 18 at 10 a.m. at the Chamber office.

The fifth annual Pork Producers Awards Banquet and Queen Coronation is scheduled for this Sunday (Oct. 20) at 7 p.m. in the north dining room of the Wayne State College Student Union.

Four area junior and senior high school girls are vying for the title of 1986 Wayne County Pork Industry Queen.

Contestants include Jill Boldt, a senior at Winside High School who is the daughter of Robert and Karen Boldt; Kim Backstrom, a junior at Wayne-Carroll High School and the daughter of Verdel and Virginia Backstrom; Valorie Krusemark, junior at Wakefield Community High School and the daughter of Ron and Corliss Krusemark; and Malinda Janssen, a junior at Winside High School and the daughter of Richard and Georgia Janssen.

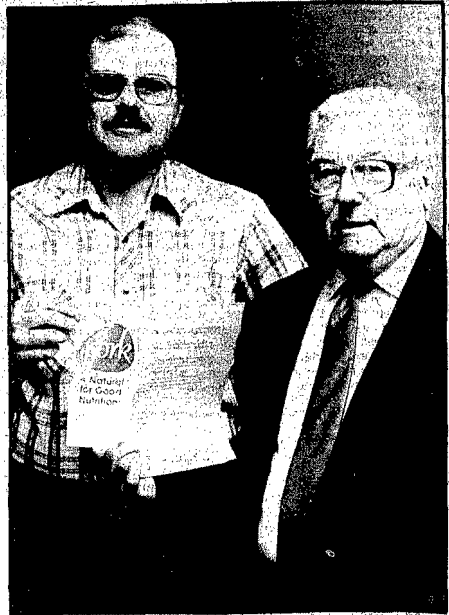

On Sunday, Oct. 20, the Wayne County Pork Producers will hold their fifth annual queen contest in the Nebraska Room at the Wayne State College Student Union at 2 p.m.

The grand finale will be the crowning of the 1986 Wayne County Pork Industry Queen during the Sunday evening banquet ceremony.

Guest speaker for the banquet and coronation will be Dan Christopher-son of WNAX Radio in Yankton, South Dakota.

Also during the evening there will be presentation of all 4-H and open class awards followed by the adult awards for Wayne County Pork Producer members.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for the evening banquet at $7 each.

MAYOR WAYNE MARSH joined Wayne County Pork Producer President Verdel Backstrom in promoting October as Pork Month.

Whatever happened to Indian Summer? We are allowed about one sunny day per week. As I watched the football players come in for showers on Friday night, I thanked my stars that those muddy pants did not have to go in my washer!

Two silos are full, they're wondering when the third will be finished. The lawn needs mowing, but it never seems to be dried off on the days anyone is home to do it. The cars are dirty, and it doesn't do any good to wash them. There is a hole at the end of the lane again.

The theme from "Ice Castles" keeps running through my head to day. I heard it at a wedding last week, and again on the radio this morning. Songs have a way of doing that to me. A particular melody will go round and round.

People have asked me what I thought of Farm Aid. To be honest, I did not hear any of it. As a country person, I'm not a country music fan besides. I was working the evening of the telecast.

But I've heard favorable comments, many from people not directly concerned with agriculture. And as I've heard bits and pieces of some of the songs on the radio, I'm struck again by the way people use music to express their emotions from the beginning of time. Music is truly God's gift.

When the Israelites crossed the Red Sea in safety, Moses' sister Miriam sang and danced for joy. The Psalmist David poured out feelings from despair to gratitude in his songs.

Many of the great oratorios are Bible passages set to music. Whenever I read "And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace," I have to suppress an urge to sing it.

MUSIC HAS reflected the mood of the times. Stephen Foster wrote about the South. During the Bicentennial, I bought records of songs sung and played during the Revolution. The accompaniment is heavy on the drum and fife.

I have collections of Golden Oldies and Barbershop that everyone can sing. "When You Wore a Tulip" and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" made Mitch Miller famous.

Depending upon the associations, certain songs can bring tears to my eyes. "Savior, Again to Thy Dear Name We Raise," was our recession on the day I received my nurse's cap. "I'm But A Stranger Here, Heaven Is My Home" has been our family's funeral hymn. For some, it is "How Great Thou Art."

My mother sang, "Red River Valley" and "There's a Lamplight in the Valley." Dad liked "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver."

There have been war songs like "Comin' in on a Wing and a Prayer"; all the branches of the service have their songs (my favorite is "Anchors Aweigh"); and there are college songs. A catchy tune, a haunting melody, all are part of our heritage.

One friend told me her in-laws had taught their sons to work and had given them the gift of music. Would that all parents would do the same. During the Civil Rights day, I was often moved by "We Shall Overcome." To be popular, songs should be singable, by everyone.

I HAVE a little trouble singing "The American Farmer," by Charlie Daniels, but I can appreciate the lyrics. Merle Haggard has one called "Amber Waves of Grain" that is appropriate.

I'm told that Neil Young sang "Heart of Gold" and dedicated it to farm wives, which I appreciate.

It wasn't really the money raised that made Farm Aid important. It was the fact that these entertainers donated their time, energy and talents to starting the rain and focus the attention of this country on the plight of the ag sector.

Willie Nelson went broke feeding hogs once himself. Too bad we all can't become professional singers.

Inter Church Ministries of Nebraska add receive $10,000 for their HoF Line service.

Meanwhile, I'll keep on singing and listening to the radio and the record player.

Yul Brynner died last week. He will always be the King of Siam to me. And I will always remember Ann Singler. "Whenever I Feel Afraid, Hold My Head Up High, and Whistle a Happy Tune, and Tell Myself That I'm Not Afraid." Farmers, keep whistling!

To build farm crisis awareness Leadership conference

A grassroots-oriented campaign designed to help communities prepare for fundamental social and economic change will move into high gear next month with "Nebraska as Leader" conferences in six regions across the state.

The conferences are one component of an independently organized project known as "Visions from the Heartland" and aimed at "developing rural-urban leadership for Nebraska's future," said Project Coordinator Milton Wall, a Lincoln-based strategic planning specialist.

The project is administered by Interchurch Ministries of Nebraska, whose Farm Crisis Hotline has been credited with assisting hundreds of farm and ranch families that are impacted by the depressed agricultural economy. A statewide steering committee guides the project, with membership drawn from the Legislature, state and federal agencies, the University of Nebraska, chambers of commerce, associations and businesses.

WALL, a former Lincoln School Board member, said one project goal is to build awareness among town and city dwellers about the farm crisis and its potentially devastating effect on businesses, schools, financial institutions and other institutions key to the state's economic and cultural life.

"More importantly, however, we want citizens to understand that community-level initiatives are the most powerful, constructive forces available to move us beyond crisis mentality toward a more hopeful future."

The project's activities include, in addition to the six planning regional conferences, a series of townhall meetings planned for early 1986 and a final leadership workshop scheduled for February. Its first component was a "Nebraska leader's conference" sponsored by the UNL Alumni Association in late summer and focusing on trends impacting on the state.

The "Nebraska as Leader" regional conferences is scheduled for Nov. 2 in Norfolk. Assistant Project Coordinator Vicki Luther, formerly with the Nebraska Commission on the Status of Women, said she anticipates a total of 1500 to 1800 community leaders will participate in the regional conferences.

Luther said each conference will begin with a keynote speech by Robert Theobald, a nationally known futurist who has worked with a variety of government and private agencies in Nebraska during the last year. Conference participants also will engage in future-oriented round tables on fundamental change, said Luther, and identify how current threats can be turned into future opportunities.

Anyone interested in attending should contact "Visions from the Heartland," c/o Interchurch Ministries of Nebraska, Suite 411, 515 Centennial Mall South, Lincoln, NE 68508.

FHA MEETING

The Allen Future Homemakers of America met Oct. 7 in the school lunch room and discussed convention, a hay ride and a pizza supper. District FHA Convention will be held Wednesday, Nov. 6 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Allen High School with about 300 members attending. This year's theme is "Together We Excel." FHA, along with the FFA, will be having a hay ride tomorrow (Friday), followed by a marshmallow and wiener roast. Discussion was also held to have a pizza party at a later date. The next FHA meeting will be held Nov. 6 at 2:30 p.m. E.H.A., historian Michelle Greenough.

SCHOOL NOTES

Allen room mothers for kindergarten through eighth grades met Oct. 7 to make plans for the 1985-86 school year. The room mothers will be in charge of two parties during the year. The Halloween party will be held Friday, Nov. 1 with a parade in the gym at 2 p.m. A Valentine party will be held Feb. 14. Each child is asked to bring $1 to school to help with party expenses. Have your child give their money to their teacher.

The teacher is in charge of the Christmas party on Dec. 20. There will be a gift exchange with a $1 limit. Boys are to bring a boy's gift and the girls are to bring a girl's gift. The room mother will provide a gift for the teacher, however, each child is encouraged to remember their teacher with a card for Christmas and their birthday.

It was decided that each room mother for this year will find her replacement for the next year. Room mothers serving this year are kindergarten, Lori Schwartz first; Marlene Swanson; second, Deb Snyder; third, Mary Ann Simpson; fourth, Sandy Chase; fifth, Laurie Stewart; sixth, Bev Stewart; seventh, Donna Schroeder; and eighth, Maxine Smith.

FRUIT AND CHEESE SALES

The FFA chapter met Thursday evening to make plans for their annual fruit and cheese sales which began on Friday. The fruit will arrive the second week in December.

They have for sale 40 pound boxes of red delicious apples, about 125 in a box, which sells for $19; about 40 lb. box of grapefruit, Indian River Red, $1; about 88-100 oranges in a box, Sunkist Navel, $17. They will once again be dividing boxes with half apple and half grapefruit for $16; half orange and half apple, $18; half grapefruit and half orange, $15; one-third apple, one-third orange and one-third grapefruit, $17.

The cheese assortment comes in white postal mailer cartons in five different assortments with costs of $6, two at $9.50, $10 and $18. All profits will go towards the chapter to sponsor FFA activities.

Direct dialogue

DON BLISS (right), vice president and CEO of Northwestern Bell for Nebraska, was a guest speaker at a Nebraska Direct Dialogue program conducted last Tuesday at the WSC Student Center Building. Bliss presented a historical overview of the telecommunications industry and provided a glimpse into the future of telecommunications. The program was initiated to inform NW Bell customers about the changes taking place in the industry and explain how these changes will affect telephone service to customers.

The Wayne Herald, Thursday, October 17, 1985

OUR HEARTFELT thanks to our children, Robert, Donald, Patricia, George, Michael, their spouses and all of our grandchildren for giving us such a wonderful 50th anniversary. To relatives and friends for attending our anniversary Mass and afternoon reception. For the many cards, gifts, and flowers from Wayne and distant places. Special thanks to Fr. Jim for starting our day in such a beautiful way. We will always cherish the memory for years to come. Thanks to You all and God bless you. Dan & Florida Sherry. 017

WE WISH to extend a very sincere and heartfelt thank you to each and everyone who helped in anyway since the loss of Charlotte's husband and Heather's father, Ted. Your cards, personal visits, donation of food, phone calls, memorials and beautiful floral arrangements were deeply appreciated. A very special thank you to Steve Schumacher for his kindness and help. Rev. Gordon Granberg and the Ladies of the First Baptist Church for the lunch served after the funeral. God bless each and everyone of you. Charlotte and Heather Biggerstaff, Bill and Darlene Smith, and Kiri, Lori, Michael, & Scott Smith. 017

WE WISH to express our thanks for all cards, flowers and gifts we received on our 50th wedding anniversary. To all those who came from Missouri, Kansas City, Sioux Falls, Minnesota, Norfolk, and Wisner. Also many thanks to the Ladies Aid and those who helped serve and for Rev. Munson for his work of prayer. Arnie & Winnie Ebker. 017

WE WISH to express our deep appreciation to relatives and friends for the many, many visits, cards, phone calls, flowers, the prayers, gifts and meal and all words of concern during Carl's long hospitalization. Thanks also to the staff of PMC and the doctors. Carl and Hazel Lentz. 017
