Arts Council considering possibility of disbanding

Wayne Regional Arts Council members and area residents interested in the arts should plan to attend tonight's (Monday) meeting to decide whether or not the arts organization can continue serving the area.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Black Knight.

The arts council board members, decided at the last meeting to put the fate of the organization in the hand of its members, according to Board Chairman Veronica Trezona.

Although the treasury is well in the black and events sponsored by the group during the past season were well attended, the number of members has continued to dwindle for the past two or three years. Finding members to serve on the board has become increasingly difficult.

With only 23 members during the 1985-86 season, it was difficult to recruit enough board members to operate legally, mentioned Trezona.

THE RESIGNATION of two board members, Trezona and Marla McCue, brought the motion from board members to dissolve the arts council. "Marla has been on the board since its beginning," Trezona commented, "and wants to pursue some of her other interests this year. And I am spending more time with my business than in the past and must limit my activity this year."

Pearl Hansen of Wayne, a board member on the arts council, said the history of the organization goes back to the fall of 1978 as a group of individuals met on an informal basis.

In the spring of 1979, the organization sponsored a Spring Arts Festival which also involved home extension groups, senior citizens and participation from Wayne State College Students.

The Regional Arts Council was instrumental in the establishment of the community theatre.

In 1981, the Chicken Show was hatched as a means of gaining the arts council some recognition. The Chicken Show was also looked upon as a way to obtain some funding for its organization.

Some other events sponsored this past year by the Wayne Regional Arts Council have included several workshops for children, a photography workshop—the Spring Arts Festival that was combined with a retail promotion for the first time and brought Klutzzy the Clown to Wayne for a special performance; and setting up the arts and crafts display at the Chicken Show.

Honor day set at WSC for Nov. 10

Former presidents, John G. Neihardt, and living retired and emeritus faculty members will be honored at "A Day of Remembrance" at Wayne State College Sunday, Nov. 10.

The 2 p.m. ceremonies in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center are a part of WSC's 75th anniversary celebration this fall. The Remembrance Day ceremonies are free and open to the public. A reception with refreshments will follow.

Comments will be made by J. Alan Cramer of Wayne, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, and Lyle Seymour of Wayne, former president and faculty member at Wayne State.

"We're honoring those people who have advanced Wayne State College to where we're at today," said Dr. Max Lundstrom, director of student services and the chair of WSC's 75th anniversary committee.

"We encourage the public to attend the ceremonies and visit with the people we're honoring," he added. "Presidents Seymour and Elliott and a number of emeritus faculty members are planning to be present."

WAYNE STATE HAS had seven presidents since it was opened by the state of Nebraska in 1910. Two are still living and plan to attend: Seymour (president from 1973-82) and Ed Elliott (1982-85) of Warrensburg, Mo.

Family members of at least three of the deceased former presidents will also attend, according to Lundstrom.

The former WSC presidents are U. S. Conn (1910-35), J. T. Anderson (1936-46), Victor P. Morey (1946-51), John D. Rice (1951-56) and William A. Brandenburg (1956-73).

An eighth president will also be honored. James M. Pile was president of Nebraska Normal College, the predecessor to Wayne State. Pile founded the Normal School in 1891 and operated it until his death in 1899.

John G. Neihardt, the late Nebraska poet laureate and an 1897 graduate of the Nebraska Normal College, will also be remembered. His daughter, Hilda Neihardt Petri of Lake of the Ozarks, Mo., is planning to attend the ceremonies.

Petri is preparing to tour the nation with the multimedia presentation "Flaming Rainbow, the Life, Writings and Wisdom of an American Poet Laureate, John G. Neihardt."

State ag director appearing at Agriculture Recognition Day

Chuck Schroeder, state director of agriculture, will help the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Wayne State College honor Nebraska agriculture on Nov. 2 during Agriculture Recognition Day in Wayne.

Schroeder will attend a coffee reception for agriculture leaders from 11 a.m. until noon, according to Frank Teach, director of student activities at Wayne State.

After the reception, the Wayne Chamber of Commerce will serve a free tailgate lunch for people in agriculture from noon until 1:15 p.m. near the one-room school house across from the football stadium.

"Schroeder will say a few words and socialize," said Teach.

The group will move to Memorial Stadium at 4:15 p.m. for the Wayne State College football game with Emporia State, Teach said. Schroeder will honor the agricultural leaders during halftime ceremonies.

Each ag leader attending Recognition Day will receive a certificate from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Wayne State College.

Anne Svoboda, executive vice-president of the Chamber, said beginning Oct. 22 people in agriculture may pick up complimentary tickets to the tailgate lunch and the Wayne State game at participating Wayne businesses.

Agriculture Recognition Day evolved with plans for Wayne State's Diamond Jubilee celebration, said Teach. Ron Jones (WSC Athletic Director) thought it would be nice since we've never done anything like this," he said.

"The agriculture situation was an influencing factor, but not the only reason."

"We're hoping to make it an annual event," said Teach. "But we may have it earlier in the future."

For more information, people may contact Anne Svoboda at 375 2240.

Wayne's Wert saw Halley's Comet

Harry Wert of Wayne can identify with what excitement Halley's Comet has stirred among scientists and stargazers.

Harry is one of the few individuals who saw Halley's Comet when it last appeared in 1910. Halley's Comet is expected to appear again during the last months of 1985 and early months of 1986.

He will share his recollections about the 1910 viewing with the Nebraska Educational Television Network as part of the network's STAR HUSTLER "Second Time Around" campaign.

STAR HUSTLER is a five-minute program, broadcast twice each weeknight, that helps stargazers identify various aspects of the night sky. In addition, the Nebraska ETV Network will be broadcasting a special documentary, COMET HALLEY, on Tuesday, Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. and repeating Friday, Nov. 29 at 10 a.m.

Here is what Harry had to say about viewing Halley's Comet in 1910.

"When I was nine years old people were telling how Halley's Comet would throw off gases and the world would come to an end. Some thought the second coming of Christ was here.

With all that talk about it, I was scared. I remember seeing the Comet, but it just looked like a big bright star with a tail on it.

"We lived southwest of Wayne and had a married hired man that lived in a house north of our place.

"His wife came to our house crying that the Comet had come and was poisoning the air by throwing out gases.

"My mother told her that Dad had hired a man to come and spray the chicken and hog houses. It was the dip that she was smelling. She went home feeling better.

I hope to see the Comet this time—and be scared."

The Wayne Herald is looking for other individuals from this area who witnessed the arrival of Halley's Comet and would like to share their experiences in viewing the spectacular sighting with our readers.

Just write to us at The Wayne Herald, c Halley's Comet, P.O. Box 70, Wayne, NE 68787 or call 402/375 2600.

Influenza Vaccinations

The Nebraska Department of Health recommends that people 65 years of age and older and anyone with chronic health problems be vaccinated. "Influenza can be serious even in healthy individuals but in these high risk groups a bout with the virus can be extremely dangerous," said Christine Newton, coordinator for Nebraska's immunization program. Influenza causes thousands of deaths each year, especially among the elderly. Influenza should not be confused with what is commonly referred to as "stomach flu," according to Newton. The disease is a viral infection of the bronchial tubes and lungs and usually occurs in the United States from about November to April. Last year's surveillance data for influenza-like illness indicated widespread activity in Nebraska throughout the early part of the year with the outbreak finally ending in March. Symptoms include the sudden onset of fever, chills, cough and soreness and aching in the back, arms and legs. Since this is a respiratory ailment, its symptoms only rarely include vomiting or diarrhea. Complications from the shot are rare, but can include soreness at the injection site and may cause a fever or achiness for one or two days. When asked whether the vaccination can cause influenza Newton responded that the influenza vaccine is derived from a "killed" virus and the shot itself cannot cause the disease.

Drunk driving crackdown

The twenty member Traffic Safety Advisory Council appointed in September of 1984 today presented its final report of recommendations to Governor Robert Kerrey.

After an extensive series of research, meetings, and public forums the Council directed its recommendations in two major areas: drunk driving and driver education/driver improvement.

The Advisory Council determined that the most effective deterrent to reducing the incidence of driving while intoxicated is the likelihood of the loss of the driver's license for committing the offense. According to Holly Jensen, Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles and Chairperson of the Council, the Council is recommending the adoption of a law termed "Administrative Per Se" which would allow the administrative suspension of the driver's license for persons who drive under the influence of alcohol.

The license sanctioning process is currently being used in 19 other states. It provides that if a driver submits to the chemical tests required by law and the test reading is .10 percent blood alcohol content or more or if the driver refuses the test, the law enforcement officer on behalf of the Department of Motor Vehicles will serve immediate notice of the driver's license revocation to become effective 30 days after the date of its receipt. The officer at the time will take possession of the driver's license and issue a temporary permit valid for the 30 day notice period.

The individual would then have ten days from the date of the notice to request an administrative hearing stating the grounds for which he or she seeks to have the revocation notice rescinded. The Council is recommending a revocation period of six months for the first offense, one year for second offense and five years for a third or subsequent offense. Those whose licenses are revoked under the first offense "Administrative Per Se" provision may request a hardship license for four months of the six months revocation period.

Ms. Jensen said that the Council strongly recommended the introduction and adoption of the "Administrative Per Se" law for Nebraska.

A second recommendation by the Advisory Council states that every first time drivers license applicant be required to have completed a certified minimum ten-hour driver improvement course. This recommendation was prompted by the likelihood that standard driver education courses would decrease in number due to a reduction in available state funds that have previously been used to subsidize the costs of these programs. The Council felt that the loss of such programs would have a detrimental impact on traffic safety in Nebraska and that the recommended required driver improvement course would serve as an effective alternative in assuring that newly licensed drivers have the training and skills necessary to drive safely.

According to Ms. Jensen the Council also commended the Nebraska Legislature and Governor Kerrey for the passage and adoption of the mandatory safety belt law.

New state theme introduced

Governor Bob Kerrey officially announced a new theme, "My Choice, Nebraska," and marketing strategy for the state of Nebraska, particularly in the areas of economic development and tourism, at several locations across the state recently.

The new theme will be used in promotions by the Development and Tourism Divisions of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. A three-minute video tape program featuring Nebraska selling points has been developed for presentation by Department staff to industrial and tourism prospects in America and abroad.

Radio and television spots and full color ads illustrating the merits of Nebraska and its people will round out the economic development promotion.

"We want Nebraskans to realize the tremendous potential of our state and to begin meeting the challenges of the future," Kerrey said.

Below are the lyrics to "My Choice, Nebraska."

When the sun comes up in Omaha, reachin' toward midday... the night birds call to Scottsbluff that a new day's on its way. As the light spreads over grassland, racin's upstream on the Platte it's singin' to the heartland... "My Choice Nebraska."

When you meet Nebraska people, they look you in the eye and there's somethin' in their hand shake that's as clean as their blue sky.

Yeah, something makes you understand they'll give you what you can't buy... When it comes to willing hands, "My Choice, Nebraska."

We're the heartland of the nation, We believe in education... We provide for recreation, while we're reachin' for a star... If we need it, we can build it... If there's value, we've instilled it. It will work because we willed it and we're proud of who we are!

When the sun sets over Scottsbluff and the evening settles in... the lights are bright in Omaha where good times all begin. And the moon is ridin' high up in a sky that is clear and clean.

It's singin' you a lullaby... "My Choice, Nebraska."

Chorus: "My Choice, Nebraska... Where the Good Life is grown; "My Choice, Nebraska"... I'll make it on my own! Where the air is clear, and people here reap values they have sown... "My Choice, Nebraska."

"Nebraskans have a lot of pride in their state — its history and its future possibilities," Kerrey said.

"This program will rekindle and build on that pride and will help make every Nebraskan a key salesperson in promoting our state and its attributes," he added.

Kerrey responds to 'not seeking reelection'

Governor Bob Kerrey held a news conference at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 15 in the Governor's Hearing Room of the State Capitol Building in Lincoln.

Before explaining the call for a Special Legislative Session, Governor Kerrey made the following statement, "...I must in all good faith, and in keeping with the trust placed in me by the people of this State, declare that I do not intend to seek reelection as Governor of Nebraska."

This decision is based upon the feeling that it is time for me to move on to a future different than being an elected politician.

I have listened to my own arguments about unfinished work and the desire to avoid disappointing my supporters, as well as my belief that the effort of public service is rewarded with a sense that the work is worthwhile. The future which faces Nebraska is exciting and the challenge of facing that future as Governor has great appeal.

IN THE END, however, I look inside myself and do not feel the requisite things which would lead me to seek reelection. In my heart there is lacking the necessary call for "four more years."

My intentions this morning are to leave this announcement to you unfettered, with a discussion of what I will do now. My principle intention is to serve out my term of office with the kind of work and grace which Nebraskans deserve. I love the people of this wonderful prairie State. I love your faith and hope and humor and work. I love the hidden beauty of the land, and the efforts and sacrifices made by those of us who live here now and those who have prepared the way for us.

I will be forever grateful for the rare opportunity you have given me to serve you. It will be forever indelible to those who have supported me and my efforts: The experiences and the memory of those experiences have added immeasurably to my life.

To make this announcement after the Special Session would have been to live a very difficult lie. Some good friends have argued that I should postpone this declaration until our work in this Special Session is complete. In the end I have tried to be true to myself and you.

Q. What is the fine, jail sentence, etc., for a minor in possession of alcohol?
A. Nebraska law provides that no minor may sell or dispense or have in his or her possession or physical control any alcoholic liquor in any tavern or in any other place including public streets, alleys, roads, highways, upon property owned by the State of Nebraska or any subdivision thereof, or inside any vehicle while in or on any place including but not limited to the public streets, alleys, roads, highways, or upon property owned by the State of Nebraska or any subdivision thereof, except that a minor may possess or have physical control of alcoholic liquor in his or her permanent place of residence.

Violation of this statute is considered a Class III misdemeanor, which is punishable by a fine of up to $500, or a maximum of three months imprisonment, or both. The law also provides that in lieu of the above penalties, the court may sentence an individual who violates this statute to up to 10 working days of work on public streets, parks or other public property, under the supervision of the county sheriff.

In addition to the state statutes, there may also be city ordinances which apply to the offense of minor in possession of alcoholic liquor.

Q. When a man buys real estate, is his wife legally required to sign the contract?

A. A man is not required to have his wife sign a contract for the purchase of real estate. Either the husband or wife may purchase real estate in their own name without the necessity of having their spouse sign the contract for the purchase of that real estate.

If a husband purchases real estate and has the title placed in his name alone, his spouse may have a claim or legal interest in that real estate even though her name does not appear. This is based upon the Nebraska laws relating to the marital interest of a spouse in property of the other spouse.

news and notes

What to do about runaway children? It happens more often than people think. One child out of eight slips a few dollars in a pocket and leaves home.

Each year more than one million youngsters between the ages of 10 and 18 run away from home — some for a night, some forever.

"The problems of runaways are not easily categorized, let alone solved," says Herbert G. Lingren, extension family specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. "The seriousness of the problem is causing some professionals to rethink the existing policies."

NEARLY ALL federal and state policies regarding runaways aim to return the child home. But problems arise when the reasons the child ran are still there when he returns.

Occasionally, parents report that they don't particularly want the child back. Foster care for teenagers is often not a good solution. Securing good adoptive parents is tougher still.

"Perhaps more painful than adjustment to a runaway's return is the helpless feeling of not knowing where a child is."

In October 1983 President Reagan signed a bill creating a national clearinghouse for information about missing children. Public fears of child kidnappings, teenage prostitution and hitchhiking murders brought pressure to form the clearinghouse.

Some communities even fingerprint young children in case of later trouble.

WHILE FEDERAL dollars are funding the Missing Persons Center, responsibility for runaway policy is shifting to the states.

Since the enactment of the Runaway Youth Act of 1974, the federal government has funded 170 homes that provide food, shelter and advice to the runaways.

Federal funding was seriously cut in December 1983 with the expectation that states would fund these shelters as they saw fit. Many of these shelters have been forced to operate on reduced budgets.

Some researchers believe the most important policy change needed is in the legal status of runaways: By decriminalizing the offense, they believe non-threatening, positive assistance can be offered.

Other professionals suggest changing the compulsory education requirements. One suggestion has been that at about age 14, youngsters choose college prep track in school, begin training for a vocation, or try a combination of part-time work and further study.

At any future time, they would be free to change their decision.

ALTHOUGH FURTHER study is needed in this area, the best policies may be those that respect the variety of circumstances leading up to running away and support the individual in finding a productive course.

Two toll-free numbers are available to help runaways and their families. The National Runaway Switchboard, 1-800-621-4000, provides counseling and referral for runaways. The National Runaway Hotline, 1-800-231-6947, also provides those services and transmits messages between runaways and their families.

Greyhound Bus lines will provide any youth transportation home, free of charge, if the police verify the runaway status of the child.

Who's going to win the series?

So who's going to win the World Series? That's always a tough one to answer, but it's especially difficult this year because both teams rely on the same elements to win.

Good defense, good speed and good pitching — those three accounts describe both the Kansas City Royals and the St. Louis Cardinals. But after taking a closer look, maybe we'll be able to figure out who's going to take it all in '85.

Kansas City will suffer from the fact that since this is an odd year, the designated hitter rule will not be in effect.

Every other year, American League teams cry because the National League pitchers, they claim, are used to baffing (notice I didn't say hitting). That really can't be considered an advantage, though, because pitchers in both leagues are terrible at the plate.

But this year, having the pitchers bat for themselves is going to hurt the Royals drastically.

The main weakness with Kansas City is its inability to generate offense, and when you take Hal McRae's bat out of an already weak hitting lineup, it naturally has a devastating effect.

But McRae's absence will be a double negative for Kansas City. Since he usually hit behind George Brett during the regular season and playoff games had to be careful when pitching to the Royal third baseman. But with McRae gone, Brett won't get anything to hit, unless he absolutely has to be pitched to.

THE CARDINALS CAN THANK Tommy Lasorda for another advantage they'll have in the series. When Lasorda made the bone-headed decision to pitch to Jack Clark in the ninth inning of game six, Clark responded by ending the NL playoffs with one swing of the bat.

Clark's homer (or should I say Lasorda's decision to pitch to him) added the series in six games and prevented John Tudor from pitching the seventh game.

Since Tudor didn't have to throw another game in the playoffs, he'll be able to pitch games one, four and seven of the World Series.

Dwight Gooden was the only pitcher better than Tudor this year, and with the Cardinal ace starting three games, St. Louis has another advantage.

Another edge St. Louis will have is its speed. The Cardinals set records in the National League for stealing bases, and they might have a heyday against the Royals.

ROYAL CATCHER Jim Sundberg (who attended college at the University of Iowa) threw out only 18 of 78 base stealers this year. And that was in the American League where the stolen base isn't popular or as relied upon as it is in the National League.

In fairness to Sundberg, most bases are stolen off pitchers. But if he and the Royal pitching staff don't combat the Cardinals' speed, St. Louis might end the series before next weekend.

Tudor's ability to start three games, the designated hitter rule not in effect and the Cardinals' speed points to a St. Louis championship. But that might not be the case.

The Royals have great starting pitching, especially from the left side and the Cards had trouble against southpaws all season.

But the key for the Royals is Lonnie Smith and Willie Wilson. If there's any player in baseball that can carry a team, it's Brett. So if Smith and Wilson consistently reach base and Brett has to be pitched to, the Cards might be in trouble. So who's going to win the World Series? The Cardinals, I think.

John Prather will have a column in Wednesday's paper.

Mistakes once again haunt Blue Devils

Wayne Carroll faithfuls have many different theories as to why the Blue Devils slumped to 1-6 this year. But throughout the '85 campaign, mistakes and penalties have always been Wayne's biggest nemesis. And Friday night, mistakes once again cost the Blue Devils as they dropped a 28-7 decision to Fremont Bergan at Memorial Stadium.

Wayne was whittled for 13 violations and a whopping 119 penalty yards Friday night, and turned the ball over three times. And to make matters worse, most of the penalties and turnovers came at critical moments.

"It wasn't only that we made mistakes, but we the timing was bad when we made them. It seemed like we always made mistakes at the wrong time," Blue Devil skipper Lonnie Erhardt said.

But the turning point in the game, perhaps, came in the second quarter when the hosts didn't capitalize on a gift granted by Fremont Bergan.

The Blue Devils entered the game with extreme intensity and owned all momentum when Tom Perry scored the game's first touchdown from 21 yards out. Tim Fleming added a PAT to make the score 7-0, Blue Devils.

After holding Knights, Wayne received ball possession and moved inside the Fremont Bergan 11 yard line on three straight personal foul calls on the Knights. But Wayne failed to score on four plays and as a result, seemed to lose their intensity and the game's momentum.

"We didn't capitalize and it hurt," Erhardt said.

Indeed it did. Fremont Bergan responded by scoring two straight TDs and a pair of PAT boots. Chris Follett scored the Knights' first touchdown from six yards out and followed by hitting Thom Mendlik with a 50-yard TD strike on a halfback pass. Jeff Bundy added the two PAT boots to make the score 14-7 at the half.

Wayne pieced together a drive early in the third quarter but failed to reach pay dirt. Erhardt said that possession was also a big turning point in the game.

"We had a good discussion at the half and was moving the ball in the third quarter when we only trailed by seven. But we didn't get it in and it hurt," he said.

Fremont Bergan broke the game open with a 52-yard TD pass from Mike Johnson to Mike Fitzgerald and followed with a two yard TD run by Steve Beran. Bundy added two more PAT boots to make the score 28-0 heading into the third stanza.

Both squads played scoreless ball in the final frame and the score ended with the Knights on top by 21.

Perry led Wayne's rushing attack with 77 yards on 16 carries. Dan Gross added 48 yards on 16 totes, while Ted McCright and Jon Stoltenberg both totaled 18 yards.

Ted Lueders finished 4 for 11 with 44 passing yards, while Stoltenberg completed 1 of 4 aeriels for 17 yards.

Brent Pick was the Blue Devils' leading receiver gaining 30 yards on two receptions.

The teams' final statistics are similar as the Blue Devils totaled 155 yards rushing and 61 passing for 216 total yards, while Fremont Bergan rushed for 160 yards and passed for 124 for a 284 total. However, the big difference was Wayne's two fumbles and one intercepted pass, while the Knights didn't commit any turnovers. Also, Fremont was penalized for only 65 yards, compared to the Blue Devils' 119.

Defensively, Bill Liska led Wayne with 11 tackles, while Jeff Hausman finished with seven. Fleming and Gross both totaled six stops apiece for Wayne, while Pick and Jason Liska each finished with five tackles. The loss drops Wayne to 1-6 on the year. The Blue Devils' next game is Wednesday, Oct. 23, when Hartington Cedar Catholic travels to town.

The Wednesday showdown is parent's night for Wayne, and Dr. Robert Benhack will be honored during halftime for his service as attending physician over the years.

Jones places 11th

LINCOLN-Wayne Carroll's Missy Jones placed 11th out of 50 girls at the Class B State Tournament here at Mahoney Golf Course Friday afternoon.

Jones fired a 50 over the first round and closed with a 49 in the second nine for a 99 total.

Julie Hansen of Blair was the tourney's medalist with an 86 (42-44). Ashland Greenwood won the Class B title with a 424.

The tournament was originally scheduled for Thursday, but driving rains postponed play to Friday.

Despite moving the tourney back a day, Dick Metteer, Wayne's golf coach, said the course was still swampy and the players had to battle foggy conditions.

"There was still a lot of water on the course. But it was a good thing they moved it back because there was casual water on the greens on Thursday after it rained," he said. "On Friday, the main problem was the fog. It was really thick and the girls that weren't hitting tee shots had to watch where the other girls' drives went," he said.

Metteer said that other than the fog, a major problem for linksters was putting.

"The thing that hurt the girls the most was putting. The course has large rolling greens and the pins were placed in difficult positions. It wasn't strange to see girls three putt greens. But then again, all the girls had to play the same holes," he said.

The 11th place finish closed out a brilliant season for Jones. In addition to winning medalist laurels at each of Wayne's four duals, she also tied for third at districts before placing 11th at state.

"Missy and the entire team had a good year. I think Wayne golf is off to a good start," Metteer said.

Stoltenberg excels in two college sports

Todd Hilder
WCS Sports Information

Of the many former high school athletes now in college, only a few excel in a college sport. Wayne State's Missy Stoltenberg may be even more exceptional. She excels in two sports.

Currently, Stoltenberg is competing on Wayne's volleyball team, coached by Marilyn Strate. "She's developed into a really good volleyball player," Strate said. "She's one of our strong leaders."

Strate praised Stoltenberg's versatility. "She's a hitter and a blocker. Some times they play just front row or back row, but she's versatile enough where she can do both," Strate said. Stoltenberg's only weakness may be her passing. "She's been working on becoming a better passer."

During her freshman year at Wayne State, Stoltenberg suffered an ankle injury during the early part of the volleyball season. Despite having to sit out for the rest of the season, she wasn't granted a redshirt year which meant she used up one full year of eligibility.

"I sure wish she had that extra year left," Strate said. "Strength-wise, she's very athletically talented. She has great leaping ability. She's quick and has very strong legs."

Stoltenberg's strong legs also came in handy in the spring during track season. "She's a fiery competitor," head track coach LeRoy Simpson said. "She's led us in scoring the last two years."

The five events Stoltenberg competes in are the long jump, 100 meters, 100 meter hurdles, 4 x 400 sprint relay, and the sprint medley. "It (competing in five events) doesn't sound like much," Simpson said. "But she'll make it through the preliminaries and place in all of them."

During track season, most athletes spend about an hour and a half each day practicing, Simpson said. "We have to spend a little more time with Missy because of all the events she competes in."

After only two seasons on Wayne State's track team, Stoltenberg holds or shares school records in three events. Along with her school record in the 100 meters (12.1 seconds), she was a member of the sprint medley and 4 x 400 sprint relay teams which also hold school records.

Stoltenberg's accomplishments helped her earn two KTCB Sportscaster Awards as Wayne State's Female Athlete of the Year during the last two school years. Sponsors of the KTCB broadcasts vote on the athlete to receive that award. Stoltenberg also won a similar award from KTCB as Wayne High's Female Athlete of the Year during her junior year in high school.

Stoltenberg's abilities sent her to the national track tournament in both her freshman and sophomore years at Wayne State. She competed in five events as a freshman and in four events at last year's national meet.

Another honor Stoltenberg showed pride in was one given to her back in high school. "I was chosen the most valuable athlete in high school my junior and senior years," she said.

Stoltenberg has one more goal she hopes to achieve. "I'd like to become an All-American."

She credits her family and Wayne for her involvement in athletics. "Sports are emphasized in Wayne," she said. "My family's also sports oriented."

During her first two years as a Lady Wildcat trackster, Stoltenberg was closely watched by her father, Del Stoltenberg, who was the assistant track coach both years.

Competing under her father's eyes every day can sometimes add a lot of pressure to an athlete. "It's not more pressure," she said, "but I felt like I was pushed harder to do well."

"I think she enjoyed running for her father," Simpson said. "I think she enjoyed it immensely. It was fun for her father, too."

"I owe a lot of my athletic success to my family, especially my father," Stoltenberg said.

When asked which sport she enjoys most, Stoltenberg replied, "I enjoy volleyball better, you're more team oriented. It's a more exciting sport to play."

In addition to her love of sports, Stoltenberg also loves to cook. "I love to eat." And she spends some of her free evenings earning a little extra spending money as a volleyball official. She and teammate Jill Zeiss work area high school volleyball matches.

A physical education major, she hopes to earn a degree and go into teaching. "I'd like to get into a small school where I can teach and coach both. I'd like to coach volleyball and track and teach physical education and maybe history, too."

Wildcats in groove

WSC wins fourth straight

"We just had excellent teamwork and communication. The kids are really doing their part and everybody's coming through." Wayne State head coach Marilyn Strate said after her Wildcats downed Morningside in straight sets 15-9, 15-10, 15-6 at Rice Auditorium Wednesday night.

If Strate sounds encouraged, she has reason to be. The Wildcats have now won four straight matches after suffering a poor 1-6 performance at the Central States Intercollegiate Conference Oct. 4-5.

As Strate mentioned, everybody did have a part in the Morningside triumph.

Defensively, Meg Hurlley led the Wildcats with seven splo blocks, while Missy Stoltenberg and Jill Zeiss finished with six and five digs, respectively.

Offensively, Diana Asay led Wayne with 13 points and Stoltenberg totaled 10 markers. Zeiss and Linda Bode led the Wildcats in assists with 13 and 10, respectively.

Hitting was Wayne's deepest category. Nate Fontenelle and Asay both totaled seven kills, while Stoltenberg and Shelle Tomaszkiwicz both closed with six.

Several Wildcats have impressive credentials so far this season. Fontenelle, Bode and Zeiss are ranked first, fourth and fifth, respectively, in service percentage in the CSIC. Tomaszkiwicz is fourth in block points, while Asay is fifth. Zeiss is seventh in assists, while Stoltenberg is 13th in kill percentage.

As far as the District II goes, Fontenelle, Stoltenberg and Bode are the top three servers, while Zeiss is fourth, Tomaszkiwicz is sixth in kills, while Hurlley is first in block points and Stoltenberg is third.

Saturday in the Midland Tournament, Wayne State plays Northeast Technical Community College at 9:30 a.m. followed by Westmar at 9:45 a.m. The Wildcats then play Morningside at 12:15 p.m. and Peru State at 4:15 p.m.

The two teams with the best record will meet the other top two teams from the second pool at 5:30 p.m., with the championship match being played at 7 p.m.

Last year, the Wildcats captured the Midland Tournament championship, and will take a 14-17 record into the tourney this year.

Strate said she's glad her club is coming together since the season is nearing the end.

"We're happy with things at this point of the season because we're getting things done as a team. And that's important because the rest of our matches are all important," she said.

WAYNE STATE'S Kristi Bateman dinks a shot past two Morningside defenders during the Wildcats' 15-9, 15-10, 15-6 victory Wednesday night at Rice Auditorium.

Allen downs Wildcats

ALLEN Never let it be said that Allen head coach Gary Troth doesn't speak his mind. When he has something to say, he says it.

And Thursday night after his squad played a lackluster first set, he let his players know just how he felt about their performance. And after Troth's discussion, the Eagles rebounded from a 6-15 loss and downed Winside 15-4, 15-12 and snapped the Wildcats' win streak at six.

"After the first set, I told them I wanted to see more encouragement while they played. I came right out and told them I was mad at the way they were playing," Troth said. "I was just trying to get them going mentally, because I know they have the skill to play well. And they're a good bunch of kids and they came back in the last two sets."

Indeed, they did, and a major weapon the Eagles used to rally back was Kristi Chase's left arm.

Chase is a slender 5-8 junior, but Thursday night the southpaw generated powerful spikes over the last two sets to propel Allen to victory.

On the night, Chase finished 25-for-30 in spiking with 11 aces. And her performance drew praise from Troth.

"She's quick and really leaps well. Her only downfall is she's a little inconsistent, but she's still young and she's getting better all the time," Troth said.

Chase was especially tough in the third and deciding set. Joined by teammate Denise Magnuson, the two Eagles served and spiked the Wildcats from an 8-9 deficit to the 15-12 triumph.

Winside's biggest problem on the night was its inconsistency on both defense and offense. In the first set, the Wildcats put it all together and opened an 11-2 lead before claiming the nine point victory.

But during the final two frames, Winside, at times, was its own worst enemy consistently making mistakes that were uncharacteristic of the Wildcats during their six game winning streak.

"Our serve receive was a problem for us in the last two sets, but our biggest problem on the night was we had too many free balls — we returned the ball without setting it up and Allen has too many good spikers to do that," Winside head coach Jill Fenwall said.

Magnuson followed Chase in spiking with a 14-for-16 effort and four kills. The 5-6 senior had another fine all-around game adding a 32-for-35 setting effort and an 11-for-12 serving performance with four aces.

Lana Erwin closed with a 10-for-11 serving effort, including two aces, and LeAnn McDonald went 24-for-26 in setting.

Winside's main strength was its balanced spiking attack. Kay Meierhenry and Teresa Brudigan led the Wildcats with a combined 50 good spikes and eight and five kills, respectively. But Christi Thies added an 11-for-13 effort with three aces, and Tracy Topp finished 10-for-13, including three kills.

However, the balanced hitting effort was rather ironic because Stenwall said the Wildcats' biggest problem was allowing the Eagles too many free balls.

"We gave them way too many free balls. We hit it over too often without giving our hitters a chance to spike," she said.

Kerri Leighton led the Wildcats in setting going 46-for-49, while Julie Bruggeman scored a team high 14 points and Tricia Hartman added eight markers.

Allen also won the "B" game 12-15, 15-6, 15-12, and the "C" bout 11-6, 10-12, 11-6.

Allen's leading scorer in the "B" game was Erwin with 11 points, while Cher Olson totaled a team high eight markers for Winside.

Winside's Christina Bloomfield claimed the "C" game's scoring honors with 13 points, while Amy Nee sparked the Eagles with 11 markers.

The loss drops Winside to 6-4 on the year, while Allen improved to 6-8. Both teams played in the Hartington Tournament Saturday. Check Thursday's Wayne Herald for details of the tourney.

Wayne's upset bid falls short

Pierce downs Blue Devils

PIERCE-Wayne-Carroll's netters ended Thursday's match with confidence they could knock off the seventh-ranked team in Class C-1 on their own court. And after the first set, things looked to be in the Blue Devils' favor. However, Pierce overcame a 6-15 loss by downing Wayne 15-6, 15-10 over the last two frames for the victory.

"The girls got themselves up for the first set and they had a lot of confidence in themselves that they could win. But in the last two sets they just lost the confidence they built in the first set and Pierce came back and got us," Wayne head coach Mavis Dalton said.

Although the Blue Devils' worst play came during the second set, they bounced back quickly and opened a five point lead early in the rubber frame with a 7-2 lead. But Pierce once again came back and outscored Wayne 13-3 down the stretch for the victory.

Marlie Bruggeman led the Blue Devils in setting with 37, with most of her assists going to Shelly Pick (17 good spikes and seven aces) and Keelia Corbett (12 good spikes and one ace).

Lori Jacobsen led Wayne in scoring with eight points.

The loss to Pierce was the Blue Devils' second straight defeat. Tuesday night Wayne lost in straight sets to Hartington Cedar Catholic. Dalton said the minor losing streak shouldn't affect her squad in a negative manner, however.

"We've lost two in a row, but the girls know that they were against two very good teams and I don't think they'll let that bother them too much," she said. "But by the same token, the girls should realize that they have several areas they must improve on with districts coming up," she added.

The Blue Devils' "B" team claimed a 15-8, 15-11 victory over the Bluejays, while the "C" team dropped an 11-2, 4-11, 4-11 decision.

Amy Schlyns led Wayne's "B" squad with 12 points, while teammate Jennifer Salmon totaled 31 sets.

In the "C" game, Tammy Schinder finished with a team high six points. For Wayne, while Holly Paige finished with 14 sets to lead the Blue Devils.

Dalton said the spiking was balanced in both games.

Wayne is now 11-6 on the year. The Blue Devils' next match is Tuesday when they travel to West Point and play Central Catholic.

Wakefield blows out Walthill, 65-20

WALTHILL-A wild 27-point second quarter blew Wakefield past Walthill and allowed the Trojans to post a lopsided 65-20 victory here Friday night.

Trailing 8-6 in the first quarter, Brad Lund supplied the Trojans with a 12-8 advantage when he crossed the goal line from five yards out.

Wakefield never relinquished the lead after that and blew the contest wide open by taking a 39-8 cushion at the half.

John Halverson scored the Trojans' first two TDs of the second period on runs of 30 and 46 yards.

Todd Kratke sandwiched touchdown runs of one and 21 yards around a combined safety by teammates Mark Lindahl and Kirt Roberts. Jeff Rose added a PAT kick after Kratke's second TD to supply the Trojans with a 31 point lead at intermission.

Despite owning the 31 point advantage, Wakefield didn't let up in the second half. Kratke scored on another run from one yard and Randy Kenney followed by scampering to pay dirt from 10 yards out. Rose added his second PAT boot after Kratke's one-yard plunge.

The Trojans closed out the game by scoring two more TDs and another PAT in the final stanza.

Kratke scored his fourth touchdown on a 23-yard run and Mike Nelson added a 33-yard TD run. Kratke capped Wakefield's scoring with a PAT kick after Nelson's touchdown.

Lund scored the Trojans' first TD of the game on a 15-yard run.

Lund, Wakefield's usual main offensive threat, closed with 61 yards on eight carries, while Kratke totaled 66 yards on nine tries. But Halverson turned out to be the Trojans' mainstay Friday night by gaining 183 yards on just 15 holes for an average of 14 yards per carry.

Wakefield rushed for a whopping 396 yards on 40 carries and added six yards passing for 402 total yards.

Walthill, on the other hand, gained just 92 rushing yards on 38 tries and passed for 26 more to finish with 128 total yards.

Defensive leaders for Wakefield were Jody Navrkal and Tony Halverson (John's brother). Navrkal totaled 10 tackles and recovered a fumble, while Tony Halverson finished with seven stops, a fumble recovery and an interception.

John Halverson picked off two Bluejay aerials and Nelson added another interception. John Halverson also finished with seven tackles and Craig Anderson totaled nine stops.

Dennis Wilbur, Wakefield's head coach, said he was disappointed with only one aspect of the Trojans' game.

"We were penalized 13 times for 85 yards and that's really the only area I was disgusted with. Other than that, the kids played a very good ball game," he said.

Wynot 'clicks' past Winside

WYNOT—"They were clicking and we weren't," Winside head coach Mark Freiburg said after his Wildcats were destroyed by Wynot 52-0 here Friday night.

As Freiburg said, Wynot was clicking from the very beginning and the Blue Devils scored 20 points in the first quarter before stacking on 32 more markers in the second frame for the 52 point lead at the half. The game was then called because of the 45-point rule that's in effect this year.

Freiburg said the entire Blue Devil team played well, but mentioned two Wynot players in particular that had exceptional performances.

"Mike Eskens is their quarterback and he's really smooth. He can throw or run and he really gets the job done," Freiburg said. "And Bob Heine is in their backfield. He can run inside or outside and if you give a step, he's gone." The Winside mentor added.

Freiburg mentioned Chris Olson as having a solid game defensively for the Wildcats. Olson finished with a team high nine tackles. "He stood out on defense," Freiburg commented.

The loss drops Winside to 1-6 on the year. The Wildcats' next game is Wednesday night when they host Bancroft-Rosalie.

Trojans host Bancroft Tuesday

Wakefield tunes up

COLERIDGE-Wakefield tuned up for its Tuesday night match with Bancroft-Rosalie by downing Coleridge 15-11, 15-12 here Thursday night.

According to Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton, the Trojans played a steady game, especially offensively.

"We played really well as a team. As a team, our serving was 86 percent and our hitting was 86 percent everybody did a pretty good job," Eaton said.

Julie Oswald led Wakefield with a team high 11 points going 13-for-13 in serving. She also led the Trojans in setting going 27-for-29 with 10 assists.

Kristi Miller totaled seven points for Wakefield on 8-for-11 serving. She also closed with an 18-for-20 passing effort. Suzanne Stelling added a 10-for-10 passing performance.

Steph Torczon rebounded from an injury she suffered in last week's match against Walthill by finishing 21-for-23 in setting with seven assists. Torczon's performance drew praise from Eaton.

"She had to get 12 stitches in her chin after she dove for a ball last week. But she came out and played well against Coleridge. She dove for some balls and wasn't afraid of getting hurt again and it was nice to see her aggressive," he said.

Marlie Greve led Wakefield in spiking going 11-12 with five aces. Kristal Clay added a 9-for-12 spiking performance with four kills and Leigh Johnson went 4-for-6 with three aces.

Wakefield lost the "B" game 15-12, 15-12, 15-15, and also dropped the "C" match 11-7, 9-11, 9-11.

Mollie Greve led the Trojans in the "B" game with nine points, while Karen Witt and Brenda Boeckenhauer were the leading scorers in the "C" game with 12 and seven points, respectively.

Wakefield is now 11-1 on the year and hosts 12-1 Bancroft-Rosalie Tuesday night.

Had a conference tournament not been added to the schedule this year, Tuesday's meeting would have been for the Lewis and Clark Conference title.

Wakefield is ranked No. 5 in Class C-1 in the Omaha World Herald, while the Panthers are ranked No. 6 in the paper's Class C-2 ratings.

Tuesday's game is also parents' night for all the Trojan volleyball and football players, cheerleaders and managers.

Wilbur did, however, find out some bad news when he learned that two key players might miss the remainder of the season with injuries. "John Navrkal has a back injury and Wade Nicholson (Wakefield's quarterback during most of the '85 campaign) hurt his neck and it looks like both will be out the rest of the season," Wilbur explained. "It feels good to be 3-3, but we got injury problems," he added.

Wakefield will attempt to top the .500 mark Wednesday night when the Trojans travel to Wausa and play the 3-4 Vikings.

Tennis players place at state

LINCOLN Both of Wayne Carroll's doubles teams made it to the quarterfinals of the Class B State Tennis Tournament here Thursday.

Thomas Krishan and Jim Hartman turned in the best performance for the Blue Devils at the tourney. After receiving an opening round bye, the Blue Devil duo edged Lincoln Christian 12-10 to advance to the quarterfinals.

Krishan and Hartman followed by opening an early 4-1 lead over Kearney. However, the Bearcats came storming back to post a 12-5 victory.

Despite the loss, Wayne head coach Miron Jenness was pleased with Krishan's and Hartman's efforts.

Thomas and Jim played the best they did all year at state. Last year, Kearney was the Class A champion and they were ranked No. 2 this year in Class B so they (Krish and Hart) had a difficult task, but they still played very well," he said.

Brian Sherman and Miguel Costales, Wayne's No. 2 doubles team, drew a bye in the opening round and received a forfeit from McCook in the second round, which allowed the Blue Devils to reach the quarterfinals. But No. 1 ranked Columbus knocked Wayne out of the tourney with a 12-0 victory.

Vini Johar, Wayne's No. 1 singles player, lost to No. 6 ranked Paul Mohr of Scottbluff 6-3, 7-5 in his first competitive match at state.

Jenness said Johar suffered an uncharacteristical off day at the tourney.

"Vini has carried us the last two years, but he just had an off day and that happens to good athletes sometimes," he said.

Seth Anderson, Wayne's No. 2 singles player, lost to Lincoln Christian's Jason Dworak 12-5 in the second round after drawing an opening round bye. Dworak was ranked No. 3 in the state.

The tourney was hampered with rain and as a result, doubles play was moved to the Davaney Sports Center, while the singles play was moved to Nebraska Wesleyan before being switched to the Lincoln Racquet Club.

The Wayne mentor added that he was disappointed his squad didn't get to compete as much as they would've liked to during the season, but added he was pleased with their performance at the state tourney.

"Between the rain we had this fall and the fact that the tennis courts were removed, we didn't have very many meets or practices and that's

Chapman discusses Washburn University

By Todd Hilde

WCS Sports Information
When the Washburn University Ichabods take the field Saturday afternoon against the Wayne State Wildcats, only a few of their names will resemble their 1984 team.

Last season, the Ichabods finished with an overall record of 2-8, worst among Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) schools. Their 2-5 conference record placed them in a tie for sixth and seventh place. Included in their eight losses was a 27-7 drubbing by Wayne State. This season, Washburn is 4-2 and is the favorite against the Wildcats.

"They've won a few more games this year and it gives them added confidence," Wayne State head coach Pete Chapman said. He attributed Washburn's success this year to their lack of injuries compared to last year. "They have healthy kids this year. Last year, their quarterback got injured and they had to use one of their receivers at quarterback."

This year, Washburn quarterback

Mike McCartney is 7-4 of 151 and has passed for 891 yards and eight touchdowns. Receiver Steve Tacca accounts for 262 of McCartney's passing yards on 23 catches.

Although they have had success passing the ball, according to Chapman, "Senior quarterback Dino DeLisa leads the Ichabods' ground game with 436 yards on 151 carries. They want to run if they can," Chapman said.

Washburn, 4-2 on the year, is 2-1 in the CSIC after losing to Pittsburg State 35-18 last Saturday. The Ichabods have defeated Northwest Missouri State 38-24, Central Missouri State 31-3, Missouri Southern 19-6 and Emporia State 25-18. Their two losses have come to Morningside 47-17 and Pittsburg State.

Saturday's game is at 1:30 p.m. at the Moore Bowl in Topeka, Kan. It will mark the 11th time the two teams have faced each other since the series began in 1970. Washburn leads the series 6-4.

In last year's Wildcat win, Wayne State led 14-0 in the first half on two short touchdown runs. The first was set up by a Washburn fumble on the 20, with Randy Hupp recovering for the Wildcats. The second was set up by a 36-yard interception return by Elvis Harrell. Herve Roussel added two second half field goals and the Wildcats drove 60 yards in 10 plays in the third quarter for their final touchdown. Washburn's only score came on a DeLisa 53-yard touchdown run.

While the Ichabods were falling to Pittsburg State last week, Wayne State fell to 1-2 in the CSIC and 2-4 overall after losing to Fort Hays State 26-21 in their homecoming game. Senior quarterback Ed Jochum regained his starting job and responded with 22-of-51 passing for 299 yards. Jochum also led the Wildcats in rushing with 33 yards on 20 carries.

Senior Matt Hoffmann was moved to the starting running back spot and carried for two Wayne State touchdowns. Senior linebacker Tony Shaw again led the defensive effort with 19 tackles, including 12 solos. Mark Will and Pat Jennings both had interceptions for the Wildcats.

"I think we played well," Chapman said. "He especially praised the Wildcats' defensive effort." "Defensively, we played well against a really good offensive team."

After going with freshman quarterback Eros Sanchez against Missouri Western a week earlier, Chapman started the veteran Jochum against Fort Hays. "Ed wasn't bad," Chapman said. "It was probably his best game of the year. There's still room for improvement, though."

Chapman mentioned that Jochum would probably start against Washburn along with Hoffmann for the injured Carl Calvert, who suffered a leg injury in warm-ups against Fort Hays. Sophomore linebacker Greg Cavill will also be out of Saturday's lineup after suffering a broken finger, also during Saturday's warmups.

Wayne frosh end season with win

O'NEILL Wayne's freshman football team ended the 1985 season on a positive note by destroying O'Neill 34-15 here Thursday night.

Chad Davis had a big day for the Blue Devils. Davis rushed 19 times for 171 yards and scored a touchdown from 25 yards and added a PAT conversion.

Corey Frye scored two TDs for Wayne, one from two yards out and another from 18.

Eric Liska scored Wayne's first touchdown from four yards and Eric Ruested added a TD when he recovered a fumble and returned it 30 yards to pay dirt.

Greg Schmidt hit Sean Baker for a PAT pass in the second quarter.

Wayne led 28-7 at intermission. Jess Zeiss completed 4-of-5 aeriels for Wayne and the Blue Devils totaled 87 passing yards and finished with a 353 total.

Jed Reeg led Wayne's defenders with 16 tackles, while Frye added 15 stops. Schmidt and Matt Wilke both picked off passes for the Blue Devils.

Wayne coach Duane Blumenkamp said the ninth grade class has the potential to be successful in future years.

"These kids got a chance to be outstanding. They have confidence in themselves, have good size and good speed so they could be real good some day," he said.

The Blue Devils end the season with a 4-1 mark.

Blue Devil netters win two matches

Wayne's Junior high School "A" volleyball team won two of three matches over the past two weeks, and the "B" team won one of three outings.

The "A" squad dropped a 10-15, 10-15 decision to Schuyler Oct. 8, but rebounded with a 15-11, 15-8 triumph over Hartington Holy Trinity Oct. 10 and a 15-1, 15-5 victory over Wakefield Oct. 15.

Rachel Haase and Teresa Ellis led Wayne with nine and eight points, respectively, against Schuyler.

In the Hartington Holy Trinity win, Deanna Schlus led Wayne with 10 points and Jennifer Isom added eight. Heidi Reeg was 13-for-17 in spiking for Wayne, while Ellis finished 5-for-6.

Isom and Ellis led Wayne in the Oct. 15 match with 10 and nine points, respectively.

Brec Bebee led Wayne's "B" team with nine points against Schuyler, while Teresa Bennett and Becky Porter finished with 14 and six points, respectively, against Hartington Holy Trinity.

In the Wakefield match, Kelly Davis led Wayne with 15 points and Porter totaled 11 markers.

The "B" team's record is 1-3, while the "A" squad is now 3-1.
