State College trustees to meet here

The Board of Trustees of Nebraska State Colleges will be meeting at Wayne State College on Tuesday, Nov. 12, beginning at 9 a.m.

Among the agenda topics, under Personnel and Policies Subcommittee, is the information on the recommendation of the Presidential Selection

Task Force for Wayne State College.

The meeting will take place in the WSC Student Center.

Congratulates WSC on 75th

Reagan writes to WSC

A not-so-average letter has been received by a Wayne State College student.

Roger Gamble, a Wayne State student from Seward and chairman of Wayne State College Republicans, received a congratulatory letter from President Reagan commending the college on its 75th anniversary.

The letter praises Wayne State for its service to the state of Nebraska and the people. Gamble gave the letter to Interim President Donald W. Whisenhunt. The letter is now on display at the college.

Gamble said his organization invited the President to visit Wayne State. That hasn't happened yet; however, someone from the Reagan administration called Gamble and requested information about Wayne State's 75th anniversary celebration going on this fall.

"It was very nice," Whisenhunt said. "To receive this support from the President and we are very pleased with it. We will place it in the library along with the other commendations we have received."

The text of President Reagan's letter is as follows:

"I am pleased to send my greetings to the students, faculty, administration and alumni of Wayne State College as you celebrate its 75th anniversary as a state college.

Wayne State College has achieved recognition throughout the nation for its distinguished service to the people of Nebraska. In its relatively short history, it has developed into a prominent center of learning, a vital link in the chain of colleges in the Nebraska state system. The school has made a successful transition from a college primarily in teacher education to a liberal arts institution offering traditional curriculum in the arts and letters. Everyone associated with the College can take pride in its significant educational accomplishments.

Nancy joins me in extending our best wishes for a memorable event and continued success in the future. God bless you." Ronald Reagan.

Wayne State College's 75th anniversary celebration ends Nov. 26 with the appearance of the Chinese Magic Revue of Taiwan and the burial of a time capsule.

Decorated tree show dates set

The Interior Design Club at Wayne State College is organizing a community Christmas project similar to the 1983 "Fantasy of Trees" — working closely with the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and local businesses.

A display of decorated trees will be on show to the public from Dec. 5 to Dec. 8 at the Wayne City Auditorium.

Other activities are being planned with this event, including the Home Economics Club bake sale, the official start of Christmas shopping in the Wayne business district, the arrival of Santa and an opening program and lighting of trees on Thursday evening.

Laurie Stenberg of the Wayne State College Interior Design Club said it is not too late to turn in the registration slips for the decorated tree. Those not receiving a Christmas tree registration slip can call Stenberg at 375-2200, extension 288 at Wayne State College.

Requests for space will be accepted through Nov. 21.

Overtaken

YOUTHS, TRAVELING Friday evening in a car six miles south, two west and one-half south of Wayne, came upon this overturned pick-up in an east ditch and reported the mishap to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. The owner and driver of the pick-up, Dale A. Westerhaus of rural Winside, was unhurt. The accident took place at around 7 p.m. One of the youths that spotted the vehicle checks the pick up.

Music concerts in the air

The dates of approaching Wayne State College holiday choral presentations have been announced by Dr. Cornell Runestad, director of choral activities at Wayne State.

The annual Christmas Concert will be presented on Sunday, Dec. 8, at 3 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. A feature of this year's concert will include appearances by a number of WSC music faculty members.

The annual Elizabethan

Christmase Feastes are slated for Friday through Sunday, Dec. 13-15 at 7 p.m. in the North Dining Room of the Student Center. Tickets are $11.50 each and will go on sale by mail at the Fine Arts Office on Monday, Nov. 11.

This year's dinner presentation will be repeated a number of times as the Madrigal Singers depart Dec. 27 for a 13-day tour in England and Wales, Runestad said.

Choir Boys will appear this Monday

Over 2,000 people are expected to attend the Monday, Nov. 11 concert performance of the Vienna Choir Boys.

Tickets for the event are sold out, according to Jim Day, professor of music and chairman of the Special Program Series at WSC.

Doors to Rice Auditorium will open at 7:15 p.m. for the 8 p.m. performance. Because of contractual agreements, the Choir will rehearse until 7:15, according to Day.

Day reminds everyone that there is no reserved seating for the general public.

Dear National Aeronautics and Space Administration Chief James Beggs:

Upon reading in other publications that you have a desire to send a journalist into space on an upcoming Challenger space shuttle, I am hereby submitting my name as a darkhorse candidate.

I have not seen the list of qualifications or guidelines which must be met to qualify for the mission. But I can supply you with credentials, if that is what you need.

First thing you will probably check is my writing skills. Let me tell you that there are individuals who say that I have a knack for writing and should be doing more of it.

Then there is my mother in Iowa who says the same thing: that I don't write enough and should be doing more of it.

Do you want some references and recommendations? Right now there are probably some city, councilmen or county commissioners here who would be more than happy to supply a written recommendation to send me off in space.

If they do send in their recommendation, please disregard that part in their letter that says to "make sure he only gets a one way ticket."

YOU MAY want some character references from the clergy, too. My local pastor certainly isn't downgrading me when he says "That's the closest to heaven he'll ever get."

Is he? Just how well-rounded am I in this profession?

My personal feeling on this, Mr. Beggs, is that you are going to need some journalist who can write and also take pictures. That is why your first choice would likely be someone who does the work of two people.

During my first newspaper job (a weekly in Iowa), I wrote news and feature stories, wrote a weekly column, took photographs, developed film and printed pictures, sold advertising, handled the subscriptions, addressed the newspapers fresh off the press and bundled them for the post office.

Through all this, I played on two softball teams in two leagues and bowled in the winter months and helped my dad farm once in a while.

Tell me what I have to do to become more well-rounded (other than by eating a lot). And I did windows, too!

Another question you might have is: how will he react to being in tight quarters for up to a week or more with five or six other crew members? Let me put your mind at ease. You see, I grew up with seven sisters and two brothers.

Big deal, you say. Don't lots of people have large families?

Sure they do. But how many large families like this have only one bedroom in their whole house.

YOU WILL LEARN quickly to share — and to survive.

If, Mr. Beggs, you have any doubts about my ability to "not panic" when the going gets rough, let me tell you not to worry.

As you will see in my experience records, I only showed mild panic when caught during a Los Angeles, California rush hour traffic. I get that same feeling when I'm in the middle of a large lake, alone, and the sun sets as the outboard motor runs out of gas.

I've been told the space shuttle never runs out of gas in space. That is certainly reassuring.

Courage always comes through for me. I'm not afraid of anything. But do me a favor, will you?

Once the space shuttle has made a few orbits around the earth, tell me when I can open my eyes and look down.

There are dozens of experiments I would like to try on the space shuttle. I can think of nothing more satisfying than to stuff myself full of food and in the next minute, wallow in the world of weightlessness. Isn't that everyone's dream?

It would be ideal if I could take a walk in space like a walk around the block at home — what I constantly do to think over solutions to problems at work or elsewhere. For those few inspiring moments I wouldn't have any worries about the $26 million shortfall the state of Nebraska is facing; the coldness between countries; crimes, farm crisis or the crime of the farm crisis.

ALL THAT I'LL see is the color, beauty and peacefulness of earth, pictured as one large body with no boundaries visible. Everything as one. The song "We are the World" would be ringing in my ears.

Sorry, Mr. Beggs. Didn't mean to get so sentimental.

So, tell me. When are we leaving? Let me make a couple of weeks ahead of time, will you.

I have to make some arrangements with my travel agent, you know. I'll take a seat in the first class, the non-smoking seat section (I've always wondered how many packs a day a seat smokes).

I hope you have a good choice of movie reruns to watch.

Looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,
Chuck Hackenmiller

Farm credit merger needs careful study

Not everyone is in agreement with a proposal to merge 37 Production Credit Associations (PCAs) into a single, districtwide PCA and 31 Federal Land Bank Associations (FLBAs) into a single, districtwide FLBA.

Member-stockholders of the organizations will begin voting Nov. 14 on the measure — a total of over 70,000 eligible farmers and ranchers can vote.

Districtwide PCA and districtwide FLBA would be divided into 15 Farm Credit Service Regions, each having a PCA and an FLBA regional board as well as a regional president and staff providing short, intermediate and long-term credit to farmers and ranchers.

The mergers, if approved, would be effective Dec. 31, 1985. Stock in PCAs would be converted to the districtwide PCA and stock in the FLBAs would be converted to the districtwide FLBA. Technically, the continuing districtwide associations would be the Scottsbluff PCA and the Lincoln FLBA, but would be headquartered in Omaha.

In the absence of a merger, it is likely that the financial condition of the FLBA and several additional PCAs will deteriorate to the point of insolvency, leading to liquidation, according to supporters of the merger.

Reasons listed for the merger are preservation of financial viability; centralization of association financial resources resulting in improved risk-bearing ability; improved efficiency; improved delivery of credit services by providing more comprehensive loan packages tailored to individual needs; and to demonstrate to investors in consolidation and system-wide securities that the system is taking action to address its financial problems.

A brochure, published by the Center for Rural Affairs; the Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa Farmer's Union; Prairiefire, National Catholic Rural Life Conference; and the Farm Crisis Committee has raised several issues about the consequences of a system merger.

Some feel that the Farm Credit System (FCS) merger will result in an irrevocable transfer of FCS control from the local associations and their borrowers to System employees at the regional and national levels.

FCS was created to provide credit to farmers during periods of financial stress, much like conditions today, according to the brochure. The system was designed as a cooperative to best serve borrowers, but the increasing failure of the System to provide constructive credit is due in large part to a gradual erosion of local borrower control.

According to merger plans, local direction and control would be maintained through 150 regional board members — 10 members for each Region; five on the FLBA board and five on the PCA board. Additionally, 15 directors would comprise the board for the districtwide PCA and 15 for the districtwide FLBA.

There would be a total of 180 board members, all elected by member-stockholders, which averages one elected board member for each 500 member-stockholders, the proponents of the merger say.

Service to the borrowers will be provided by 15 Farm Credit Service Regions through branch offices in 136 communities across a four state area.

The schedule of area stockholder meetings, where member-stockholders can vote, is Thursday, Nov. 14 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City (Sioux City PCA and FLBA) and Friday, Nov. 22 at King's Ballroom in Norfolk (Norfolk PCA and FLBA).

Those wishing to obtain a copy of the free brochure raising issues on the proposed merger should contact the Center for Rural Affairs in Walthill, 402/846-5428. Farm Credit Banks of Omaha can be contacted a 402/444-3362.

A vote of this nature deserves a careful study from both sides of the coin.

Comic book teaches soil care

By Cheryl Stubbendieck

One Sunday this past spring, my pastor brought a handful of garden soil to church for the children's sermon. He asked the youngsters to identify the dark mass and one boy immediately said, "That's soil!" The Detroit-born pastor noted that they always called it dirt where he came from.

It would be nice to think all Nebraska youngsters know enough about soil to revere it and give it its proper name, but probably not. The boy who knew is the son of an entomologist and he probably knows more about crop production than the pastor who preached about seeds falling on good and barren soil.

When we consider Nebraska's resources, soil is right up there with its people and its water, and it's good for youngsters to appreciate it. But how many of us could explain about soil and make it interesting to boot?

Fortunately there's a cheap and readily available resource to tell the story of soil. It's a comic book published by the Soil Conservation Society of America. More than 3.4 million copies of "The Story of Land — Its Uses and Misuse Through the Centuries" have been distributed since it first appeared in 1955. The recently revised edition is up-to-date, well and colorfully illustrated and fun for even an adult to read.

DIRECTED TO students in the upper elementary grades, the comic follows a group of kids and white-haired Professor Wharton as they learn how soil is formed, how many products come from it, how ancient civilizations abused their soil and how some sought to protect it. The philosopher Plato comments about soil erosion, "The land is like the skeleton of a sick man, all the soft earth having washed away, leaving only the bare framework."

In America the comic traces the clearing of the land and profiles early advocates of soil conservation: Connecticut's Jared Eliot who plowed green manure crops back into the soil; Maine's Samuel Deane, author of the first book on American agriculture, who urged contour plowing and experimented with crop rotations; and Virginia's Thomas Jefferson who noted, "In a farm horizontally and deeply plowed, scarcely an ounce of soil is now carried off from it."

To view current conservation practices, the professor and the youngsters go on a field trip, traveling both by bus and plane — hey, it's a comic book, after all. They visit farms using contour plowing, crop rotations, terraces and grassed waterways. From their plane they see water-saving irrigation systems and learn about irrigation scheduling and modern grazing practices which keep a cover on the land to reduce erosion.

As you might expect, there's a call for youngsters themselves to get involved in good conservation practices and a sort of quiz at the end which asks the reader to choose between an eroded farm and a conserving one; between a silted river and a fish-filled farm pond; between a clump of tree trunks and a beautiful forest.

"If you're looking for a Christmas stocking stuffer, "The Story of Land" would be a good choice. Single copies are 75 cents each from the Soil Conservation Society of America, 7515 N.E. Ankeny Road, Ankeny, Iowa 50021-9764. As Professor Wharton comments, "Strange how people have tried to find wealth from the earth in the form of gold and gems, while the real wealth is the soil itself!"

Fan following

On behalf of myself and the members of the Wayne High School Band, I would like to express our appreciation to those parents, families, alumni, and friends who traveled to Lincoln this fall to watch our performances at the Bandmasters contest and the Pershing marching contest. The number of spectators from Wayne or with Wayne affiliation that were in the audience was just fantastic. I know that over 80 percent of the 110 band members had family members in attendance at the Pershing auditorium and that the total Wayne delegation was over 300 people.

This type of support is the greatest reward for our efforts. We hope that all of these people are as proud of our students and their performance as we are of them being there.

Q. If you buy something from a door-to-door salesperson, are they required to explain to you that you have a right to cancel the sale if you later change your mind?

A. If you agree to a sale of $25 or more, and that sale takes place at your home or otherwise away from the seller's ordinary place of business, the customer has three days in which to change his or her mind and cancel the sale. The salesperson must give you a form which explains this right and how to exercise it. If you exercise this right properly, the salesperson must return to you any downpayment or advance payment which you made. Sales under $25 do not have this cancellation provision.

If you have complaints about door to door sales, contact your Better Business Bureau, or the consumer protection division of the Nebraska Attorney General's Office for assistance. You may also obtain general information on this and several other areas of the law by requesting a free copy of the Nebraska State Bar Association's handbook, "Consumer's Guide to Nebraska Law," P.O. Gift sewing for the holidays

Sewing gifts for family members can help solve those problems of finding the right gift for the right price.

Get started now so you won't be frustrated with last minute work. Simple accessories or garments can be made quickly and easily and still be a special gift.

Begin by considering special interests or hobbies of your gift recipients. Then browse through the gift and craft section of a pattern book.

There are patterns available for toys, home accessories, fashion accessories and storage items that anyone could use.

THE COOK-IN your family would appreciate some kitchen accessories. Appliance covers can transform cluttered counters.

Sew some place mats or crafty table decorations to help brighten any meal. Create a one of a kind apron with iron on letters and an applique for your favorite cook.

Is fitness your niece's bag? Give her a bag for toting running or aerobics gear. Headbands and wristbands are handy for any athlete. Sew up a wrist or shoe purse for that jogger to keep his house key. Cyclists will enjoy a bike bag or fanny pack to carry belongings.

Children love stuffed toys of all kinds. And with the popularity dolls are enjoying, why not stitch up a new wardrobe for a favorite doll.

Learning toys also are available to teach young minds to tie shoes, button buttons, zip zippers and learn numbers.

THE TRAVELER or college student in your family will appreciate one of the many organizers in pattern books. A jewelry roll, hanging organizer, cosmetic bag or shoe bags can save time packing for a business trip or trip home from college.

Add a touch of elegance to a friend's life with a sequined clutch purse. A square of silky fabric can be transformed into an evening shawl by sewing on some decorative trim.

Make a simple robe from a silky sheer fabric. It may not always be practical, but it could add a touch of glamour.

EVERY HOMEMAKER would appreciate a home fix it kit. Fold one-third of a square of fabric up and stitch to form pockets. Add a tie strap to one end and fill with some essential tools. Try painting the handles of a pliers, small hammer and some screwdrivers pink to discourage borrowing. Fold the top flap over the tools and roll, then tie with the straps.

Be creative this holiday season and use your sewing machine to make gift giving fun.

Program open to public

Wyoming educational consultant speaking at Wayne State College

Jim Kern, nationally known speaker on education, counseling, leadership and human relations, will present a program on Thursday, Nov. 14 at Wayne State College.

The public is invited to hear Kern from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in the north dining room of the Student Center on the Wayne State campus.

The program is free of charge and is being sponsored by WSC Housing and Cooperative Campus Ministry.

ACCORDING TO Kern, the five principles of understanding ourselves and others are:

- Human beings are priceless, precious, and the most important things on the face of the earth;
- Children are human beings;
- We are all different;
- We can change and change for the better;
- How a person feels is probably as important as what a person knows.

"Understanding ourselves and others may well be the single most important factor in becoming an effective force in education," according to Kern, who provides an understanding of human behavior, as well as techniques to foster significant change in the lives of associates, students and family members.

KERN: WHO has spoken throughout the United States and Canada, holds an educational doctorate in guidance and counseling from the University of Wyoming, with masters and baccalaureate degrees conferred by Winona State College, Winona, Minn.

His academic background includes nine years of teaching seventh grade English and coaching at the high school level.

Since 1979, he has served as an educational consultant based in Jelm, Wyo.

Wayne County 4-H's, leaders to be honored

The Wayne County 4-H Council will honor several 4-H'ers for outstanding achievements during the annual 4-H Achievement program on Sunday, Nov. 17.

The program will be held in the Wayne city auditorium, beginning at 2 p.m.

In addition to county awards, 4-H members will be honored for years of membership in the club program.

Membership pins are given to 4-H'ers in their first, fifth and 10th years of membership.

SEVERAL NEW ideas are being tested at this year's achievement program, according to Mary Temme, Wayne County extension agent-home economics.

A leaders committee suggested combining the leaders banquet and 4-H achievement night into one event.

"We're hoping to involve the entire family in this achievement program," said Temme. "That's why it is set for Sunday afternoon."

THERE WILL be a light meal served following the awards presentation. Local donors are helping to defray the expenses of the meal. The 4-H Council will be serving the group.

Four-H leaders will receive their pins for years of service at the event. This year, there are 43 leaders who have served two, five, 10, 15, 20 or 30 years.

Trojans hold off Pierce

Wakefield qualifies for state

NORFOLK — Great teams are built around team concepts more than individually. And Friday night at the C1-5 District Volleyball Championship, Wakefield pulled together as a team and held off Pierce for the title.

"The key for us was playing as a team. We have a really good team concept," Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton said. "We didn't get down after we lost the second set, even though it appeared we were going to win. Instead we just pulled together as a team." Eaton added after his Trojans claimed a 15-8, 14-16, 15-10 victory and earned the right to advance to the State Volleyball Tournament next week.

"It did appear that Wakefield might capture the C1-5 title bout in straight sets. After winning the opening frame somewhat easily, the Trojans owned a 14-13 edge in the second stanza and had ball possession. However, Pierce's Kelli Winder ruined any possibility of a Trojan sweep. With her perfectly-executed tipping, Winder proved to be Wakefield's biggest nemesis all night. And a Winder dink allowed the Lady Blue Jays possession of the ball.

Winder then followed with a powerful spike to tie the game at 14. The 5-9 senior added a block to give Pierce a one point advantage and a double hit whistled on Wakefield ended the contest and forced a rubber match.

But despite suffering such a heart-breaking loss, the Trojans didn't worry. Instead they bounced back by immediately opening a comfortable lead in the third set.

Molli Greve's ace serve provided Wakefield with a 4-2 lead in final set, and Leigh Johnson followed with a thundering ace spike to widen the gap to 5-2.

Pierce battled back, however, and tied the game at five. But Wakefield was back too strong and too deep down the stretch.

Throughout the year, the Trojans have relied on various players to come through in key situations, and Friday night was no exception.

The two squads battled back-and-forth before Pierce opened its first lead of the game when a Winder spike made the score 9-8. Lady Bluejays.

But Pierce's lead was short lived. With Molli Greve serving, Marci blocked two consecutive Lady Bluejays spikes to fuel Wakefield to a 10-9 lead.

Pierce was then whistled for a net call which upped the Trojan advantage to two points.

Two more blunders by Pierce made the score 12-9 Wakefield, and hard-hitting Kristal Clay used two Julie Oswald sets for a dink and a spike to supply the Trojans with a comfortable 14-9 lead.

Pierce did manage to score one more point, but when Wakefield's Kristi Miller took over the serving chores, most everybody at the Norfolk gymnasium sensed it was just a matter of seconds before the game would be over.

Miller was already 18-for-19 on the night in serving, and had already scored a team-high 14 points. She also tallied the set-winner in the opening frame, and was again credited with a game-winner when Pierce, once again, misplayed her serve.

When the Lady Bluejays mishandled Miller's serve, it concluded nearly 30 minutes of volleyball action. And while the Trojans celebrated, the Lady Bluejays watched dejectedly.

Wakefield also did a lot of celebrating in the first set. The Trojans fell behind quickly 2-0, but then stormed past Pierce to claim the all important first set victory.

The key stretch in the first frame was when Wakefield reeled off six unanswered points to overcome a 3-3 tie and open a commanding 9-3 lead.

During the Trojan drive, Oswald rifled four ace serves, Suzanne Stelling provided a beautiful block and Clay added a spike.

Pierce battled back to make the score 12-8, but Miller's ace serve ended the set, 15-8.

As mentioned earlier, the Trojans rely on a team concept. And Friday night there were plenty of Wakefield heroes.

Miller finished with 15 points, while Oswald totaled 10, Steph Torczon tallied eight and Molli Greve scored five, all of which came in the third set.

Oswald finished 49-for-49 in setting and Torczon added a 31-for-36 effort. Clay was the Trojans' leading hitter going 23-for-25 at the net, including 15 aces. Johnson added eight aces, while Stelling closed with four kills and Marci Greve added two.

The main problem Wakefield had on the night, according to Eaton, was defending the tip.

"We handled them (Pierce) pretty well, but we had trouble with their tipping. But you can't be too aggressive against something like that because then you start making mistakes," he said. "I thought that was their biggest problem. They seemed to be a little too aggressive at the net and it cost them. They were whistled for several net violations," he added.

The victory marked the third time Wakefield has qualified for the state tournament. The Trojans qualified in 1975 and 1983.

Wakefield lost in the first round on both previous occasions, but the Trojans' luck could change in '85 because Wakefield is seeded first and play 13-6 Utica Centennial in the opening round. The State Tournament begins Friday and the Wakefield/Utica Centennial game will be played at 9 p.m. at Lincoln Southeast High School.

Wakefield enters the tourney with a 19-1 record. If the Trojans beat Utica Centennial, they play again Saturday at Lincoln Southeast against the winner of Burwell and Creighton.

Wildcats open season Nov. 16

Newcomers are keys to season

An aggressive defense and an up-tempo, fast-paced offense await Wildcat basketball fans in the 1985-86 season.

First-year coach Steve Aggers brings a new style of play to Wayne State. Aggers favors a tough, pressure defense featuring full-court passes and a constantly moving offense based on an aggressive fast break attack. That same style of play was employed by Aggers at the College of Great Falls (CGF). In Great Falls, Mont., where he put together the 27th winningest program in the nation among National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) teams.

But just how well that style works for the Wildcats in 1985-86 will depend on how well the 10 newcomers and three returning players adapt to the change and blend as a team. Mike Daley, a 5-10 senior point guard, returns for his last year as a Wildcat. Daley will add stability to the young team, according to Aggers. Russ Rosenquist, a 6-2 sophomore guard, gained playing experience on last year's junior varsity, averaging 20 points per game. Senior forward Ed Heritage started about half of last year's games, averaging 10 points and three rebounds. His experience in the CSCIC should help the Wildcats, Aggers said.

Despite the late recruiting start and the change in playing style, Aggers does have some familiar faces on this year's Wildcat team. Keith Berg, a 6-7 sophomore forward, transferred to Wayne State from CGF. An intelligent defensive player, Berg should help the Wildcats' team defense. A second transfer from CGF is Mark Gracy, a 6-5 freshman forward. Gracy was redshirted last year after breaking an ankle, but is still familiar with the up-tempo game Aggers favors. Arnie Hayes, a 6-3 sophomore guard-forward, also came to Wayne State with Aggers. Hayes played last year for Aggers and is one of the most fundamentally sound players on the Wildcat squad.

Other top newcomers include 6-5 freshman Mike McNamara of Malta, Mont. McNamara was a two-time all-state player who comes from a solid high school program where he was well-coached. Vincent White, a 5-9 junior, should provide the Wildcats with leadership at the point guard spot, after playing two years of junior college ball.

"We are hoping to form a solid foundation in the first year upon which we can build. The junior college transfers will give us the immediate help we need to become competitive right away," Aggers said. "The new players, together with the three holdover players give us the dedicated, hard-working young men we need to build our program."

"We want to restore some pride in the Wildcat program and think the hard work and dedication exhibited by this group of young men will help us get the job done."

Overall, the 1985-86 Wildcats will be quicker and the wide-open competition for playing time should bring out the best in everyone. "No proven players on the front line will be a weakness—the team must overcome. Young players in key roles must mature quickly against the tough CSCIC competition if the Wildcats are to be successful this season."

Wayne State opens the season Saturday, Nov. 16, in Wayne against Briar Cliff. Game time is 7:30 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State picked last

Both Wayne State basketball teams were picked to finish last in the 1985-86 Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) basketball race this year.

Fort Hays State was picked to win the men's division. Fort Hays has won two consecutive national championships and received 12 of the 15 first place votes.

Missouri Southern was a unanimous selection to capture the women's title this season.

Lady Wildcats will rely on quickness this season

Speed, quickness and an aggressive style of play will be the main weapons of this year's Lady Wildcat basketball team, according to second year Wayne State head coach Lenny Klaver.

"We want to run and put pressure on the other team at both ends of the court. We want to be intense all the time, and never let up on them," Klaver said.

Quickness is the main strength of the Lady Wildcats. "We want to use the natural quickness we have to our best advantage," Klaver said. "It fits in with my philosophy of basketball. Look for a pressure defense and some hard-nosed, aggressive play this year. We also want to use our speed to control the boards."

Four starters off last year's 11-19 squad return in 1985-86. For Wayne State, Deb Nygren, a 6-0 senior center from Mead, brings back a 12 point scoring average. Nygren, an honorable mention all-conference selection last year, also pulled down 190 rebounds and led the team in blocked shots with 17.

Forward Shari Krohn, the team's leading rebounder, also returns. Krohn, a 5-10 senior from Osmond, averaged nine rebounds and eight points per game last year.

Michelle Blomberg, a 5-4 sophomore from Albert City, Iowa, returns to her starting point guard position. She averaged eight points and three rebounds last year and was second on the team in assists with 57.

The fourth returning starter is Shelle Tomaszewicz, a 5-10 junior from Omaha. Tomaszewicz earned a starting spot midway through the season last year. She averaged seven points and seven rebounds and finished with 12 blocked shots, second on the team.

"Our new players have a lot of talent. They're going to push the starters for their place in the line up," Klaver said. "A number of girls from last year's team tried out and didn't make the team this year. Overall, our talent level is way up."

Leading the way in the talent department is Linda Schnitzler, a 5-6 guard from Battle Creek. Schnitzler averaged 16 points in high school and was twice named to the Class C-1 Nebraska All-State team. She will give the team immediate help in the back court, Klaver said.

Mary Beth Ehrhorn of Gretna also brings lofty credentials to the Lady Wildcats. The 5-8 freshman averaged 18 points and was a three-time all-conference selection. Other top newcomers are: 5-11 freshman Julie Heath of Correctionville, Iowa; 5-5 freshman Kelly Rich of Sumner, Iowa; 6-0 freshman Jackie Heesacker of Columbus and 5-8 freshman Tanya Kelly of Omaha.

"We've got a real good group of girls this year," Klaver said. "We've got depth this year. I have 15 players I'm confident in. I wouldn't be afraid to put any one of them in a game. I couldn't say that last year."

"We're young and have a long way to go, but we're not holding back. We're going after other teams this season and give it our best shot."

The Lady Wildcats open the season Friday, Nov. 15, against Hastings in the District Classic in Hastings. Wayne State plays Concordia College, the following afternoon in that same tournament. Meetings with Doane and Briar Cliff follow before the Lady Wildcats open at home Dec. 4 against Doane.

Other home games the first half of the season include a Dec. 7 meeting with Northwestern and a Dec. 13 game against Chadron State.

Klaver, a 1980 graduate of Wayne State, had an 11-19 record in his first season at Wayne State. Assisting Klaver this year is Paul Thomas. Thomas is a transfer student from Midland Lutheran, where he played basketball for two years. For the past two seasons he has been an assistant girls basketball coach at Pender High School.

Southern travels to Wayne

Wildcats end '85 season

By Todd Hilder
WSC Sports Information
 Saturday's football game between the Wayne State Wildcats and the Missouri Southern Lions will be the season ender for both teams. It will also be a career ender for Lion head coach Jim Frazier.

After 15 years in the business at Missouri Southern, Frazier announced Tuesday that he has decided to call it quits. Frazier's 15 year record with the Lions is 97-51-5 coming into this weekend's game.

Rod Giesseimann, an assistant coach of Frazier's, will take over the head coaching duties for Missouri Southern next season.

Frazier's resignation won't have any effect whatsoever on the game. Wayne State head coach Pete Chapman said.

Despite his resignation, Frazier praised his team's effort this year. "We are extremely proud of this 1985 team. They've really overcome some adversity," Frazier said, referring to the team's rough start earlier this season.

"We had a rash of injuries and in three consecutive games, we had 16 turnovers. We've had only one since," Frazier said.

According to Chapman, the Lions have progressed this season to the point where they may be as good or better than last year's team that defeated Wayne State 24-23. "I don't think there's any question about that," Chapman said. "They're very big and physical and they run the ball right down your throat."

"The personality" is the biggest difference between last year's team and this year's, Frazier said. "It's a lot different. They're six new players on offense and five on defense. This is a year of a lot new people."

According to Frazier, runningback Greg Dageforde, tackles Dan Struberg and wide receiver Kelly Young have really stood out for Southern's offense. Dageforde, who was included in the Lions' long list of injuries early this season, sat out the first five games. Last week, he rushed 140 yards on 23 carries while helping Southern to a 22-20 mild upset over Fort Hays State. Dageforde was named the CSIC's offensive player of the week for his efforts. Linebacker Steve Forbis, safety Michael Toney and end Kevin Ziegler lead the Lion defense, Frazier said.

"The Lions improved their record to 6-3 on the year after last week's win over Fort Hays. "It was just a great football game," Frazier said, "the finest of NAIA football. The gun sounded and we just happened to be ahead. Had it gone another five minutes, it might have gone the other way."

The win gave Missouri Southern a 4-2 mark in the CSIC. Pittsburg State leads the conference with a 5-1 mark. Fort Hays is tied with the Lions at 4-2, while Emporia State is 3-3. The rest of the conference follows with 2-4 records.

Missouri Southern earned its 6-3 overall record with wins over Arkansas Tech., 21-0; Northwestern Oklahoma, 40-3; Emporia State, 34-26; Kearney State, 24-20; and Missouri Western, 23-0. Their losses have come to Southwestern Oklahoma 34-7, Washburn 19-6 and Pittsburg State 30-3.

The Lions are riding a six-game winning streak in the series between the two teams, including last year's 24-23 victory. Southern has a 7-3 overall advantage in the series that began in 1968.

In last year's game, Wayne State led 17-14 at the half after scoring on a 37-yard field goal by Herve Russel and an 80-yard touchdown pass from Ed Jochum to Sonny Jones. Pat Jennings returned an interception 84 yards for the other Wildcat score in the first half. The Wildcats led 23-14 before Southern managed a 22-yard field goal in the fourth quarter. Southern then scored on a 77-yard pass from Mark Bellany to Rich Williams for the triumph.

The Wildcats enter Saturday's game following a heartbreaking 26-24 loss to Emporia State. Wayne State, 3-6 overall and 2-4 in the CSIC, led 21-10 at halftime and 24-17 at the end of the third quarter. But the Wildcats could not survive nine turnovers, including eight fumbles. Four of Emporia's five scores followed Wayne State fumbles.

Wayne's final scoring attempt followed a goal-line stand by the defense. Jochum quarterbacked the offensive attack 73 yards before an interception ended the Wildcats' hopes.

Jochum was 21-of-44 passing for 267 yards and two touchdowns. Carl Calvert gained 146 yards on 23 carries and Glenn Mathews caught five passes for 92 yards to lead the Wildcat offense.

Tony Shaw and Randy Hupp led the Wayne State defense with 21 and 18 tackles, respectively.

"Take away those turnovers and our kids played a very good game," Chapman said. "When you play a team that's supposedly leading the conference in defense and we get 400 yards against them despite the turnovers, that tells you something. We didn't even punt in the first half and we only punted twice in the game. One was blocked and they didn't even score on it."

Chapman said that Emporia was unable to do anything that was consistently effective in stopping the Wildcat attack except for the turnovers.

"Looking back at them (the turnovers) a lot of them were cases where we were trying to get a little extra yardage," Chapman said. "They did just what we asked them to and they did it with an awful lot of young kids, especially on the offensive line," Chapman said.
