Hearing set Thursday

Extradition papers here for Ashker, Novaock

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Extradition papers were handed down last Friday from the Nebraska governor's office to Wayne County law enforcement officials, giving state approval to allow Lewis Ashker and Kurt Novaock to be extradited to South Dakota.

Ashker and Novaock, who have been imprisoned at the Wayne County Jail since Dec. 3, each have received indictments from a South Dakota grand jury on charges on two counts of first degree murder and one count of first degree manslaughter.

They are being charged in the stabbing death of Jerald Pilhal of Delmont, South Dakota.

A hearing before a judge has been scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 9 at the Wayne County Courthouse to advise Ashker and Novaock of their rights concerning extradition, according to Wayne County Attorney Bob Ensz.

THERE IS A possibility both or either of the inmates may decide to waive extradition proceedings and agree to be sent to South Dakota. In itially, both inmates refused to waive extradition.

Ensz said it will probably be determined during the hearing on whether the defendants (Ashker and Novaock) will make an application for a "writ of habeas corpus."

Habeas corpus is defined as a writ requiring a person to be brought before a judge or court for investigation of a restraint of the person's liberty. It is used as a protection against illegal imprisonment.

If an application for writ of habeas corpus is made, then there will be a hearing on that, according to Ensz.

SHOULD THE judge grant the writ of habeas corpus, both Ashker and Novaock will be set free. If the judge denies the writ, Ensz said the denial can be appealed at the district court level.

If the denial stays, then the decision can be appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court. The Supreme Court, if it also decides to deny the writ, has the final authority to send the inmates to South Dakota.

Bank adjusts to new location following fire

by Chuck Hackenmiller

On one corner of a city block, wrecking crews tear down the walls and cart away the rubble from the State National Bank building — a business in Wayne that was gutted by fire during the early morning hours of Jan. 7.

In another corner of the same block killy-corner from the ruins, State National Bank employees and officers are adjusting to a new location (formerly the True Value Store) where they have been transacting business since Monday.

It's business, almost as usual, at State National Bank, now at the corner of First and Pearl Streets.

But from the time the bank burned and up to the day when the business re-opened at the new site, there has been a whirlwind of activity experienced by bank personnel and other individuals or organizations assisting in the bank's relocation.

"It has been a very fine transition (to the new site) as far as all bank functions are concerned. With the exception of the safety deposit boxes and sending out the bank statements with the checks included, all is functioning fully," said State National Bank President David Ley.

"The support of the community has been unbelievable. We're open for business and we would like to have the people come in and see our new facility," Ley said.

"We're proud of what we have been able to put together in four days," he added.

LEY SAID THE bank has received a tremendous amount of telephone calls — primarily of concern and of condolences — since the information had spread on the fire which destroyed the bank building.

Some of the concern comes from those who had items in the safety deposit boxes in the bank when it was destroyed.

"We have been able to salvage the master keys to the safety deposit boxes and also the access cards to the boxes," commented Ley. However, the state fire marshal office and insurance companies asked the local bank officials to wait until the site is cleared of rubble before entering the ruins and retrieving the safety deposit boxes.

Ley said the vault itself, where the safety deposit boxes were stored, met the fire code and was considered fire resistant.

OF THE FIRE resistant vaults that have been taken out of the demolished bank, Ley said the vaults have been opened and all the information inside was intact "and not even singed."

"Everything that we've opened so far that is suppose to be fire resistant, we have found no damages," he said.

Twenty-four hour law enforcement

Origin of fire known

The fire which destroyed the State National Bank main building early Thursday morning originated in the area of the janitor's closet on the west end of the building.

The janitor's closet was located on the main floor of the bank building.

Investigators with the Nebraska State Fire Marshal's office have concluded the "on scene investigation" of the fire which leveled the State National Bank building.

Officials from the fire marshal's office said the exact cause of the fire is still unknown and that the investigation is continuing.

They said a possible cause of the fire could have been a chemical reaction of chemical products and used cleaning rags that were stored in the area of the janitor's closet.

"At this time it is being considered an accident type fire," commented Deputy State Fire Marshal Curly McDonald of Wayne.

Janssen announces candidacy

by Chuck Hackenmiller

LeRoy Janssen of Wayne announced to The Wayne Herald on Tuesday that he filed, on Jan. 3, for re-election to the position of Wayne County Sheriff.

He is the first to announce his candidacy for an office in Wayne County. Janssen, age 31, will be seeking the Republican nomination. He is finishing out his first term as county sheriff.

He is entering his 13th year in the law enforcement field, serving all but one of those years in Wayne County. Upon graduation from high school in Randolph in 1972, he received an associate degree in law enforcement and criminal justice and worked on the campus security police force at University of Nebraska-Omaha before coming to Wayne.

Prior to his election to the sheriff's office in 1982, Janssen was chief deputy serving under former Wayne County Sheriff Scotty Thompson. He also worked a year with the Wayne security remains at both the old and new site.

Wayne City Police Chief Vern Fairchild said there has been no criminal activity worth mentioning at the site of the burned bank. Off-duty law enforcement personnel, on their days off, have been hired by bank officials to watch the site.

Once in a while a person will wander in the area. "Our major concern is that we don't want people to get hurt walking through the rubble," he said.

Work on tearing down whatever walls that had remained standing after the fire was extinguished began on Saturday and the rubble clean-up by J. Myron Olson and Sons of Sioux City was progressing.

Over the past week, local bank officials and personnel have been assisted by the bank's major correspondent, First National Bank of Omaha — which sent in a team of three individuals trained in disaster prevention and organization.

A MAJORITY of the records, according to Ley, were in the computers at Omaha. "Our phone system is on line to a computer in Omaha. Checking account balances or transactions made prior to 3 p.m. on Tuesday are all posted and accessible," Ley said.

Transaction records made after 3 p.m. on Tuesday of last week "are still in the vaults and still under guard," he mentioned.

"We have no idea how long we will be here [at the temporary bank site]," said Ley.

"We will eventually be rebuilding in the same location that we had been in since 1892 (94 years)," he mentioned.

Their temporary site is adequately serving the needs of the banking operation, Ley mentioned.

"If [the temporary bank building] is very spacious and as each day goes our work areas are expanding," he added.

He said space will be doubled within the temporary bank building within two weeks. "We'll have approximately the same square footage over here as the previous building, within a very short period of time," he reported.

Ley speaks in amazement at the numerous acts of kindness and offers of assistance from individuals or organizations that were "just too numerous to mention for fear someone might be left out."

He did make special mention to the volunteer fire departments that fought the blaze, the Nebraska State

MAD Dollars newest promotion

What opportunity exists where people who shop in Wayne on Thursday nights can win up to $100 in trade at a particular place of business, and can also get reimbursed up to another $100 for whatever they had purchased from businesses that Thursday night?

The promotion is called "Merchants Appreciation Dollars" (or commonly referred to as MAD - Money), Wayne's newest Thursday night shopping promotion.

Here is how it works.

Individuals can sign up at the promotion's participating sponsors, between the Thursday hours of 5 p.m. till closing for an opportunity to win $100 in MAD Money, redeemable at the business where the name is originally drawn. No purchase is necessary to register for the bucks.

However if, for instance, that same individual had purchased services or merchandise from one or several of the sponsoring businesses, then that dollar amount of purchases (which would be verified by a show of sales slips of participating businesses) would be reimbursed up to $100 in MAD Dollars, redeemable at any of the businesses participating in the promotion.

Photography: Dave Diediker

RENEE JENSEN, left, won $153 total from last Thursday night's MAD Dollars promotion in Wayne. Her name was drawn at Charlie's Refrigeration and Appliance Service, with the MAD Dollars being presented to Jensen by Marge Kudrna.

The names are picked up by Wayne Herald staff members on Friday morning and one name is drawn at one of the promotion's participating businesses. Once the name has been drawn, all the other slips are discarded. Each Friday drawing is fresh with new names of those who entered their name during the Thursday night promotion.

Participating businesses in the promotion include the following: Casey's General Store; Surber's; Ron's Jack & Jill; Ellingsons; El Toro; Kuh's; Bill's; G.W. Arnie's Ford-Mercury; Diamond Center; Black Knight; Swans; PoPo's II; Logan Valley; Palmida; Griesel Rexall; State National Bank; Sav-Mor Pharmacy; Coast to Coast; Wayne Val's Club; Merchant Oil; People's Natural Gas; Charlie's Refrigeration; Morning Shopper; Trip Travel and The Wayne Herald.

Subdivision assessments established

Assessments to lot owners in the Western Heights 2nd Subdivision (Coan Subdivision) for recent city improvements were approved last week by city council members.

Assessments were established for a storm sewer district, street improvement district, water main extension district and sanitary sewer main extension district within the Western Heights 2nd Subdivision. Two improvement district assessments were amended.

Jim Coan, who has 10 of the 12 total lots in the subdivision which will be assessed, appeared before the council last Tuesday evening objecting to the water extension, sanitary sewer main extensions and storm sewer assessment schedules developed by Bruce Gilmore and Associates from Columbus.

According to the assessment schedule, assessments for each district, with amendments that

Ag /small towns key to economy

viewpoint

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The state of Nebraska's economy must be rebuilt on agriculture and small towns, state Agriculture Director Chuck Schroeder says.

Although some are touting the potential for restoring prosperity to the state by attracting telecommunications industries, Schroeder said he believes agriculture is the future of the state.

He didn't oppose efforts to try to create jobs in the state by wooing telecommunications businesses, but he did warn against those who take a casual attitude about the severity of the problems in the farm sector and their effect on small towns.

"For those who said, 'so what if we lose 15 to 20 percent of our communities in the state, we'll just be more efficient,'" Schroeder cautioned them to "stay away from the Department of Agriculture."

HE CRITICIZED two University of Nebraska-Lincoln business professors for underestimating the state's farm crisis. Gary Schwendiman, dean of the College of Business Administration, and Donald Pursell, director of UNL's Bureau of Business Research, wrote to UNL faculty members and to Nebraska businesses in October.

They urged that research money for agriculture be shifted to areas they said might promise a greater chance of gain.

Pursell has made economic forecasts that predict continued economic growth in Lincoln and Omaha. Yet Schroeder said he wished Pursell had been with him when he learned from an official of the AFL-CIO in Omaha that 5,422 people were laid off their jobs in the city last year.

"They came about because our economy has a sickness in it and it has penetrated the economy of Omaha and the economy of Lincoln and it's rooted in agriculture," Schroeder said.

Schwendiman angered rural senators during their special budget session this fall because he maintained the state's revenue shortfall could be blamed on changes in the federal tax code that affected Nebraska because it "piggybacks" its tax system on the federal one. He said it had far more to do with that than with a faltering farm economy.

HE LIKENED those who say the state faces economic disaster from the troubled farm economy to "Chicken Littles" who have jumped to a false conclusion that the sky is falling.

Schroeder said Schwendiman used two-year-old statistics and averages to show that the state's farm economy was in relatively good shape, thus masking the severity of the problems that are confronting many Nebraska farmers.

Nebraska farmers and ranchers hold more than $1 billion in debt that likely will never be repaid, Schroeder said. They owe a total $7.6 billion on loans and 2,300 farms are technically insolvent.

He said nearly one-fifth of the state's farmers — about 10,000 of them — have debts worth 70 percent of their assets and many of them won't be able to repay all of their loans.

Schroeder said one step in the process of rebuilding agriculture in the state could be a proposal by the administration of Gov. Bob Kerrey to allow lenders to exempt a portion of a financially distressed farmer's property from foreclosure.

In wake of a fire

Often it has been that a tragedy, such as a business burning down, always brings people or a community closer together.

Saying it is one thing. But after actually witnessing the goodwill, the cooperation and the spirit and determination of the people who were directly or non-directly involved in the recent tragedy when the State National Bank main building and surrounding businesses were destroyed or badly damaged, one can verify that there are many individuals or organizations who are not reluctant to show they care.

Determination could be found in the efforts of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and the three other fire departments that offered mutual aid — Wakefield, Winside and South Sioux City — who diligently "stayed with" the fire until neighboring property or peoples' lives would be safe from entering the burning grounds.

Fifty or more firemen were on the scene, supplying at least eight pumping vehicles to combat the raging fire.

Give some credit to the city of Wayne for foresight also. With approximately 3,000 gallons of water pumped a minute off of six hydrants on three different city water mains during the major fire, one can be thankful that the city officials had the intuition to plan for instances when dangerous major fires occur.

Law enforcement officials and the state fire marshal office staff should also be commended for what can be a tedious watch of the bank and surrounding businesses — just to make sure nobody enters the burned grounds and risks serious injury.

One key ingredient here, is the people of the community including firemen and police officers — those people who belong to organizations that contributed efforts to ease the burden of the tragedy and made the load less for the businesses to relocate elsewhere, or those individuals offering acts of generosity or condolences who simply want to be of help to fellow businessmen or residents.

Another important contribution was made by the personnel of the businesses that were destroyed. Although their place of employment was gone, the working spirit thrived and endured in making the best of a difficult situation.

The loss of a 94 year old landmark that is rich in family tradition and history, right on Wayne's Main Street, is of course very tragic. Losing a bank, for one thing, touches the lives of many people.

One consolation is that some buildings can be rebuilt and the business can start all over again.

However, that time when everyone pitched in with a united effort, when generosity was overwhelming, when an eager and helpful hand was easy to find — that is not always so easy to rebuild or recapture.

But it does bring on a relishing memory for those who suffered losses in the fire, and how the people came to help them in their time of need.

Sioux Indian photos subject of interest

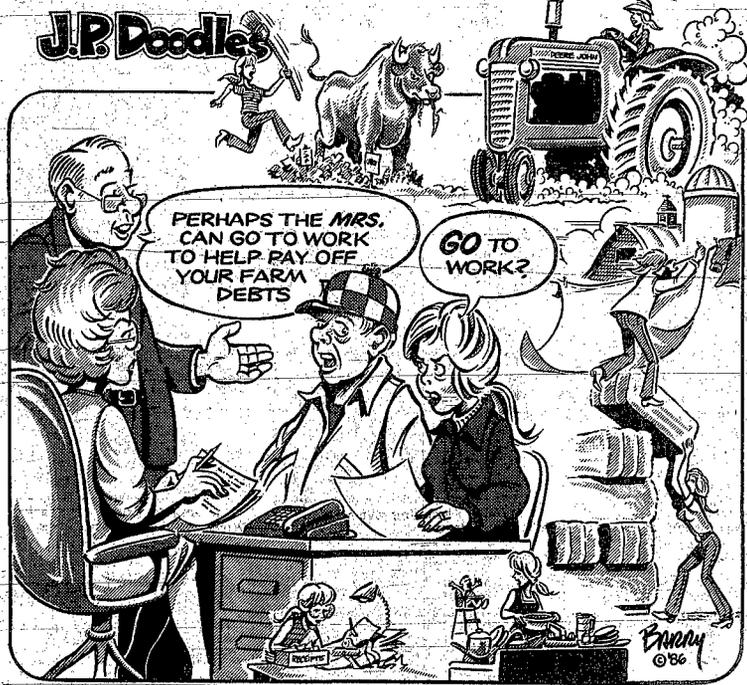

Nebraska Photographs will be seen in Sweden

On a recent visit to Nebraska, Mr. Claes Jacobsen of the Swedish Pioneer Historical Society became very interested in a collection of photographs of the Sioux Indians taken by a Swedish immigrant, John Anderson.

The collection includes some 500 Anderson glass plate negatives which have been the subject of numerous books and articles. The Historical Society describes it as one of its best and most used collections.

Mr. Jacobsen expressed interest in arranging for an exhibition of the collection in Stockholm. On behalf of the Historical Society, I contacted the U.S. Information Agency.

The embassy in Stockholm has agreed to sponsor the exhibition, and some private sector funds will be used to provide some of the support of the exhibit there.

Remember the ACTION Volunteers

The holiday season is a good time to remember those whose giving lasts all year — the local volunteers who serve through ACTION, America's volunteer agency.

ACTION is the principal agency in the Federal government for administering volunteer service programs — including VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), the Foster Grandparent Program, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), the Senior Companion Program, Young Volunteers in ACTION, the Volunteer Management Support Program, and the Drug User Prevention Program.

There's no better time to take the time to thank these volunteers who share with their neighbors, help those in need, and make life better for all of us.

'We're liable to get in trouble - unless we change'

WASHINGTON — "That community is already in the process of dissolution," the eminent jurist Learned Hand said, "where each man begins to eye his neighbor as a possible enemy."

He didn't know the half of it.

In 1940 — shortly after Judge Hand began presiding over the Second Circuit Court of Appeals — 35,000 civil cases were brought before federal courts. By 1982 that figure had leaped to 206,000. A staggering 12 million suits were filed in state courts between 1978 and 1983.

The sheer number of cases is really only half the problem. The other half is that plaintiffs are winning exorbitant judgments on increasingly outlandish legal grounds — and that even when they aren't winning, the courts are taking their claims seriously.

Consider the following cases cited by a group seeking product liability reform: A body-builder sued a harness manufacturer over injuries incurred when a strap slipped when he was racing — with a refrigerator on his back. A man with a heart condition sued because he suffered an attack after pulling on a lawnmower starter rope. A woman rescued nine days after she attempted suicide by closing herself in the trunk of a car sued the automaker for failing to provide an inside latch.

Only a few such cases are won. But defense costs add up, and the occasional big judgment — the body-builder got $1 million — leaves gunshy defenders eager to settle.

These cases survive in part because tort laws have been stretched beyond reason. In product liability, for example, damages are awarded not just for actual defects, but for failure to provide adequate warning, for injuries incurred in misuse and for injuries incurred by products up to 30 years old — even though the dangers could not have been known at the time of manufacture.

But there is another factor, summed up nicely by Gilbert and Sullivan: "Down went the owners — greedy men whom hope of gain allured. Oh, dry the starting tear, for they were heavily insured."

All too often, suits are aimed at "greedy" big business and the "deep pockets" of their insurance companies. But those pockets are tapped out — the insurance industry lost $3.8 billion last year — and the costs must be passed on.

For example, the board of directors for two Virginia retirement facilities learned its liability premiums will jump from $7,000 to $70,000. Off-sued businesses such as those operating motor vehicles or handling hazardous substances may not be able to get insurance at all.

But the real price is yet to be paid. Companies are risking going without insurance, while others may close and put thousands out of work. Physicians in high-risk specialties are deserting their practices in droves. Drugs like the whooping cough vaccine are unavailable because of huge lawsuits over side effects. Businesses are wary of innovations — fearing "liability for yet-to-be discovered dangers."

What can we do? I'll reflect on that further in my next column. But first we must recognize that by eyeing our neighbor once too often — by seeking a risk-free society through the courts — we risk losing the benefits of living in a civilized community.

Paying for College

When you want to know how to meet the costs for college, whether you are straight out of high school or returning to the academic scene after a number of years, the U.S. Department of Education has two booklets to help answer your questions.

THE STUDENT GUIDE, FIVE FEDERAL FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS 85-86. (Item 513N, free) is a free 44 page booklet containing how-to information about applying for Federal aid for higher education. It describes the various aid programs, explains how to apply for them, and gives the deadlines for application.

"HIGHER EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR MINORITIES AND WOMEN" (Item 207N) is a catalogue of aid available for $3.

For copies of these booklets, write to the Consumer Information Center, Department MB, Pueblo, Colorado 81002. Include item numbers and any cost.

One year 'stay' workable plan

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation by Cheryl Stubbendieck, vice president/information

Current Nebraska law provides for a nine-month "stay of execution" for borrowers who default on their agricultural loans.

At their convention in December, Nebraska Farm Bureau delegates voted to support extending the period before creditors obtain title to the mortgaged land to a full year.

Some individuals and organizations would like to see a longer period. In some cases much longer. Legislation to this effect will likely be introduced in the 1986 Unicameral session.

However, one calendar year — a full crop year — is a workable plan for both borrower and lender.

FROM 1932 to 1934, fully half of the states enacted farm foreclosure moratoria, for periods ranging from three months to four years.

These laws prevented creditors, in the event of a default by a debtor, from obtaining title to the land for either a specified or court-determined period of time.

According to research by economist Lee J. Alston, writing in "American Economic Review," debtors were usually obligated to pay a rental fee to the creditor, but state courts generally set the rent at below-market rates.

In addition, Alston notes, creditors received only part of those rental payments, because taxes were deducted from the rents before creditors were paid. Creditors retained limited rights to foreclosure, if the rent was not paid or if destruction of property occurred.

Not surprisingly, Alston found a relationship between enactment of moratorium legislation and farm financial stress. The states that enacted such laws tended to be those with higher rates of farm foreclosures.

While these moratoria may have helped debtors, the effect on creditors was negative. Their contractual rights were impaired by the temporary loss of the option to foreclose and they experienced losses from the low rents and deterioration of farms from neglect or malice.

AS ECONOMISTS are wont to do, Alston hypothesized that creditors would have tried to protect themselves from future losses by doing things that would reduce the likelihood of delinquency on new loans or that would compensate them for losses from delinquencies. He studied the effects of the moratoria on the quantity of loans supplied and on the interest rates in the real estate loan market in each state.

His research indicates that in the 1930s, creditors made relatively fewer new loans in states passing moratorium laws, but he did not find a relationship between moratoria and interest rates.

Alston concluded that some debtors apparently gained a temporary reprieve from foreclosure and some were able to avert it entirely, but this came at the expense of private creditors and of prospective farmers who weren't able to get credit to buy farm land because of the increased costs to the lenders.

As pressures for extended farm foreclosure moratoria mount, policymakers need to recall the experience of the 1930s. Inappropriately long moratoria increase the risks faced by lenders, and lenders will react to those higher risks.

A one-year moratorium makes sense. That's one full crop year to make changes which may help avert foreclosure. Looked at another way, it's one full year for a family to plan for life after farming.

A longer period would only create more uncertainty for all parties involved.

Dean Dederman of Norfolk will call.

No more diabetes

Granddaughter home in Lincoln following pancreas transplant

Bonnie Smith has returned to her home in Lincoln after receiving a new pancreas on Dec. 15 at the University of Minnesota hospital. Smith, age 32, is the granddaughter of Floyd and Clara Sullivan of Wayne and Mrs. Luella Smith of Laurel. Her parents are Virginia and Ray Carnicle of Ashland.

According to an article which appeared in the Dec. 31 edition of The Lincoln Star, Smith was back in Lincoln just two weeks after the operation — grocery shopping, sorting the laundry, and responding to calls from well-wishers.

IN THE LINCOLN Star article, Smith credited her success to faith, a positive attitude and the support of family and friends who helped her raise $60,000 to undertake the transplant. Smith was the 125th person to get a new pancreas at the Minnesota fac-ty since 1978. The transplant team called her their "star" patient.

On Christmas eve, nine days after the operation, doctors told Smith she should know by morning if the new pancreas was doing its job.

Her Christmas present the next morning? A working pancreas!

Her husband Tim and daughter Jenny, 13, arrived just after doctors broke the good news. The trio turned her intravenous pole into a Christmas tree with ornaments and ribbons.

SMITH IS NOW on high levels of anti-rejection drugs. The medicine makes the new pancreas feel more at home in her body, but suppresses her immune system and leaves her susceptible to all kinds of viruses.

The drugs cost $200 a week and have side effects including hair loss, puffiness, the shakes and night sweats.

Although the doses will be reduced, she will be taking the medicine for the rest of her life.

Smith said in The Lincoln Star that she has no regrets about trading one set of medical problems for another.

Before the operation she looked forward to a future of worsening diabetic complications. Without a functioning pancreas her eyesight, kidneys and nerves would continue to fall, doctors told her.

She now monitors her blood pressure, blood sugar and temperature for signs of rejection and telephones her statistics to the transplant center twice weekly.

On Jan. 10, she'll return to Minnesota for five days of testing.

SMITH WAS diagnosed as a diabetic at the age of 14.

Last year after complications of the disease became more life-threatening, she started a letter-writing campaign to celebrities nationwide to raise funds for a pancreas transplant.

The hospital required $35,000 up front before she could be put on a donor list. By the first week in September, the Ashland native had collected the money and she made the donor list.

In all, Smith, along with the help of family and friends, raised $60,000 to cover her expenses. However, they still don't know what the final costs will be.

The campaign is currently on hold until the rest of the bills come in. In the meantime, Smith said she is willing to share her fund-raising expertise with others in the same situation.

ALTHOUGH SMITH knows rejection could happen at any point, she says she is a very positive person and doesn't regret her decision to have the operation.

"Once I made the decision it was go forward, not look back."

Card shower for 60th

A card shower is planned for Lou and Tillie Baier of Wayne who will observe their 60th wedding anniversary on Monday, Jan. 20. Baiers reside at 312 E. 8th St., Wayne. They were married Jan. 20, 1926 at Immanuel Lutheran Church northeast of Wayne.

Home in Lincoln

MAKING THEIR HOME in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Froberg, who were married Dec. 21 at Grace Lutheran Church in Norfolk. The bride is the former Melanie Fuhrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Fuhrman of Norfolk and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Marotz of Hoskins. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Froberg of Norfolk. The bride, a graduate of Norfolk High School and the University of Nebraska, is director of the junior and senior high string program at Beatrice Public School. The bridegroom also graduated from Norfolk High School and plans to graduate from the University of Nebraska in May 1986. He is employed at Goodyear in Lincoln.

Defense, balanced scoring lifts Wayne to tourney title

A hawking defense and balanced scoring fueled Wayne to its third consecutive WSC Holiday Basketball Tournament title as the Blue Devils dealt O'Neill a 52-40 setback at Rice Auditorium Saturday night.

Wayne jumped out an early 8-0 lead and O'Neill didn't break into the scoring column until Brad Devall canned a jumper at the 2:22 mark of the initial frame.

Friday night, Blue Devil head coach Bob Uhing said a key to beating O'Neill would be stopping the Eagles' two fine perimeter shooters, Dave Eby and Greg Appleby. However, Wayne's defense instead stopped all the other O'Neill players as only Eby and Appleby scored again after Devall's hoop.

"I thought we did a good job of pressuring the ball," Uhing said. "And I think that's why O'Neill only had three people score."

Wayne's variety of defenses bothered O'Neill all night as the Blue Devils held the Eagles to just 13-of-42 shooting from the field for 30 percent.

Although Wayne opened the early lead and held a 26-17 lead at intermission, the Blue Devils could not put the Eagles away for good.

An Eby bucket just before the third quarter buzzer made the score 39-29, Wayne. But the Eagles' consistency trimmed the Blue Devils' leading margin inside double figures during the final frame.

Uhing said he is concerned about his club's inability to "put the opposition to sleep."

"The last couple of games I thought we've lacked that killer instinct. We've had a couple of teams in trouble, and instead of burying them we play with them," he said. "It worries me that type of thing will happen in games in the future."

Don Larsen continued his steady play as the 6-5 senior led the Blue Devils in scoring with 13 points and grabbed a career high 21 rebounds.

During the two tournament games, Larsen shot 64 percent from the floor, scored 33 points and grabbed 31 rebounds. Larsen was named the Class B honorary team captain on the all-tournament team.

Uhing said he was naturally pleased with Larsen's effort, but added that he was especially pleased with several other Blue Devils' ability to drill the outside shot.

"Don played very well in the two games, but I was really pleased Dan Gross, Ted Lueders, Scott Baker's and Brent Pick's shooting. They proved that we have kids that can hit the outside shot and when they start doing that, it really opens things up for us," he said.

Gross and Pick both tallied 10 points, while Lueders and Baker both finished with eight markers.

"Baker did a super job for us off the bench," Uhing said. "He made 4-of-5 field goals against O'Neill and went 2-of-3 from the field against Pierce."

Appleby claimed the game's scoring honors with 24 points, while Eby tallied 14 markers.

The Blue Devils outrebounded O'Neill 37-21 and finished 25-for-54 from the field. O'Neill canned 14-of-18 free throws and Wayne finished 2-for-7 from the line.

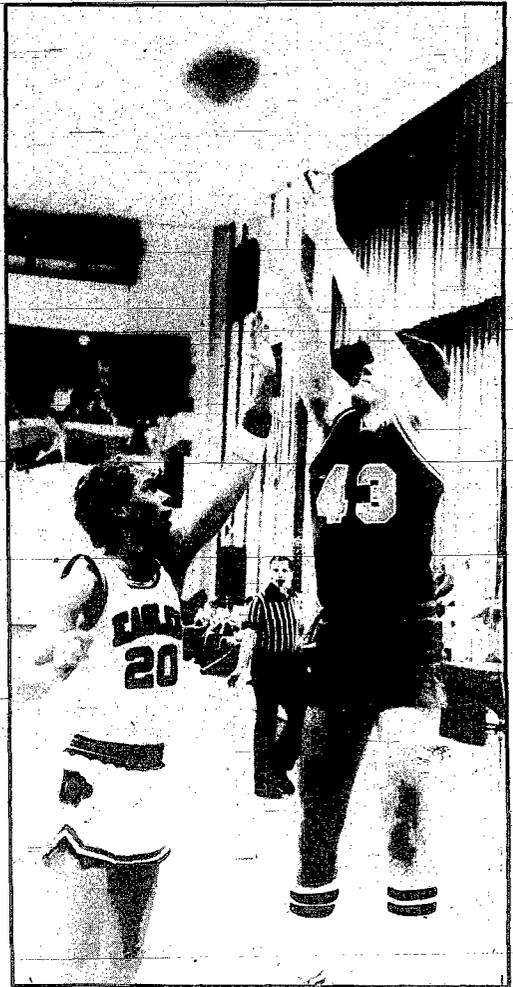

The victory improved Wayne's record to 5-2 on the year. The Blue Devils' next game is Friday when Madison invades the Wayne gymnasium.

Uhing said that he is hoping his club gradually improves its mental toughness as the season progresses.

"What I'm looking for right now is for our kids to play mentally tough an entire half, and then later in the year increase that to four quarters," he said. "We have a bunch of nice kids on the team, but once they start playing hungry we'll have a good team."

Life Lines

Hawkeye jacket burned in fire

Santa was nice enough to deliver an Iowa jacket to me on Christmas Eve, but I decided to wait until the Hawks won the Rose Bowl before I'd wear the jolly fellow's gift.

And after watching my beloved Hawkeyes get destroyed by UCLA in the Granddaddy Bowl, I was naturally disappointed, but still decided to break out the coat to wear in the '86 year.

But shortly after Iowa's dream of a national championship went up in smoke, so did my apartment and all my belongings, including the Iowa jacket. But due to circumstance, I was still able to wear an Iowa coat.

You see, since all my jackets were ruined, I was forced to browse through my father's winter attire. And fortunately (at least that's what I thought at the time) the only coat that fit was his Iowa jacket.

But I heard a lot of hooting from people on the streets about that coat and those Hawkeyes. Hmmm, perhaps I should buy an Oklahoma or UCLA jacket when my insurance adjuster gets everything finalized.

While I'm on the topic, I would once again like to thank everyone for all their concern and offered assistance during the past few days.

People have offered me a place to stay, furniture, clothes, food and even money since the Jan. 2 blaze. Heck, everyone has been so thoughtful that had I taken everybody up on their offers, I'd be better off now than I was before the blaze.

Perhaps the most gratifying experience during this whole ordeal is that many of the offers have come from people I hardly know. And some have been anonymous.

I'm from Iowa and everyone knows there's a mild rivalry between Hawkeyes and Nebraska natives, but you Cornhuskers are A-O-K in my book.

I stayed with a buddy the first few days after the fire before moving into an apartment on Wednesday. And yes, the new place does have a fire alarm and although the apartment is located on the second floor, it's only a short leap to the ground.

Ever since I was a little kid, my parents have always told me to try and look for the good in everything that happens, even if it's a bad experience. Well, I guess I could take the approach that at least I didn't have too much to pack when I moved.

I must reveal, however, that although so many people have been very nice, I have been on the wrong end of a few snide remarks about the fire.

The fellow Wayne Heraldites keep asking when I'm going to have my house "warming" party for my new place, and another friend said that some of the new clothes I've purchased are really "hot" stuff.

Yet another so-called friend phoned the day after the fire and asked if he could come over for a barbecue.

Sometimes I wonder about the company I keep.

I'd just like to end here by again saying thanks to all who have been concerned and have offered their assistance.

I certainly hope there wasn't anybody hoping that the fire might mean a new sports editor at the Wayne Herald. But if that's how you feel, all I can say is I'm glad you're disappointed and I'm still here.

Aggressive Cardinals stop Wayne in title tilt

Going into Saturday's WSC Holiday Basketball Tournament championship game with South Sioux City, Wayne head coach Marlene Uhing predicted a physical battle. And the Blue Devil mentor couldn't have been more accurate as South Sioux claimed a bruising 55-35 victory.

As mentioned in the initial paragraph, the title bout was very physical. And at times, the play could have been labeled dirty. But Uhing said she told her players before the game to play a clean game and not to retaliate when a Cardinal player becomes overly aggressive.

"I told the kids before the game not to respond to elbows and things of that nature," she said. "First of all, the refs usually only see the second blow in cases like that and besides, playing like that detracts from what we set out to do like get good position and playing good defense."

Good defense is exactly the element that brought Wayne back from a 29-13 deficit in the third quarter to only trail 39-31 early in the fourth period.

Jodi Diltman then closed the Cardinal lead to six when she picked a Cardinal pocket for a steal and cashed the theft into an easy bucket with 6:46 to go.

But the Cardinals are a talented team and with Shauna Sanders and Amy Brady leading the way, South Sioux outscored the Blue Devils 16-2 during the final six minutes of the 20-point victory.

As the scoring in the final quarter indicates, Uhing said the game was a series of ups and downs for the Blue Devils.

"I thought that at times, we played very well," she said referring to the fourth quarter comeback. "But we also played poorly at times."

Another key to the loss, according to Uhing, was a scoring drought her club experienced early in the second quarter.

"We didn't score for almost five minutes at the beginning of the second quarter and that might have been what cost us the game. That, and the fact that we had 27 turnovers," she said.

Although Wayne struggled early in the second frame, a basket by Lisa Engelson at the 2:26 mark cut South Sioux's lead to seven, 19-12. However, the Cardinals outscored Wayne 4-0 over the first half's final two minutes to open a 25-13 advantage at halftime.

The Blue Devils outscored South Sioux 14-12 in the third period to cut the lead to 10, 47-37. Wayne then pulled within six on Diltman's basket but South Sioux went on to post the lopsided victory.

Dana Nelson led Wayne in scoring with eight points. Teammates Shelby Pick and Engelson both tallied seven markers, while Kecia Corbit tallied six points. Sanders and Brady claimed the game's scoring honors with 16 and 13 points, respectively.

The Blue Devils shot just 30 percent from the field hitting 16-of-54 field goals. South Sioux went 21-of-56 for 38 percent. Wayne went 3-for-11 from the line, while South Sioux finished 13-for-22.

Although Wayne outrebounded the Cardinals 34-33, Uhing said she was only pleased with her club's rebounding effort in the second half.

"I thought we did a poor job of rebounding in the first half. It seemed like we were only getting one shot on each possession and they were taking two or three shots," she said.

Engelson and Pick led the Blue Devils in rebounding with 10 and seven boards, respectively.

Diltman played a solid floor game for the Blue Devils as the 5-6 junior dished out a team high four assists and came up with five steals. Laura Keating added five steals to the Wayne cause.

Although the Blue Devils lost by 20 points in the title game, they defeated 10th ranked (in Class C-1) Pierce in the opening round and played evenly with the sixth ranked (in Class A) Cardinals in the title bout. As a result, Uhing thought the tournament was a successful one for the Blue Devils.

"Pierce is a solid team and I don't think we'll face anybody better than South Sioux this season. We did a lot of things right and overall, I thought it was a good tournament for us," she said.

Wayne is now 3-4 on the year. The Blue Devils play again Saturday at Sioux City West.

Larsen, Corbit make all-tourney

Wayne's Don Larsen and Kecia Corbit were named all-tournament in Class B at the WSC Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Larsen was named the boys' Class B honorary team captain. The 6-5 senior scored 33 points and grabbed 31 rebounds in the Blue Devils' two victories. Corbit scored 13 points and grabbed 19 rebounds in Wayne's opening round victory over Pierce. Corbit tallied six markers in Wayne's loss to South Sioux City in the Class B title bout.

Allen hammers Homer

ALLEN — Allen's consistent defense and steady play from its top seven players allowed the Eagles a misleading 47-37 victory over Homer here Tuesday night.

Allen controlled the entire game and led by as many as 20 points late in the contest. Homer's reserves whittled the commanding Eagle lead to 10 during the game's final minutes.

Allen opened a comfortable 8-0 lead early in the first quarter before pulling ahead by 11, 15-4, at the end of the first period.

Allen head coach Gary Troth said his club's ability to execute well against Homer's man-to-man defense allowed the Eagles to take early control of the game.

"Homer opened up in a man-to-man defense and we took advantage and went up by eight," he said. "They switched to zone after the eight point lead, but we still played well."

The Eagles did, indeed, play well and opened a 30-17 advantage at halftime before pulling ahead by 16, 41-23, at the end of three periods.

Allen's lead swelled to 20 points early in the fourth quarter, and both coaches then emptied their respective benches.

Troth said he was especially pleased with his club's defensive effort, and named his top seven players as doing a very effective job in the first quarter.

"We played very well defensively. We did a very good job of pressuring the ball," he said. "The top seven girls played especially well in the first quarter. We held them to three shots in the first quarter."

Lana Erwin led the Eagles in scoring with 12 points. Kristi Chase came off the bench and followed Erwin with eight markers.

Allen outscored the Lady Knights 42-30. Kris Blohm led the Eagles with eight boards.

Allen finished 19-for-53 from the field and an impressive 12-of-17 from the free throw line. Homer canned 17 field goals and finished 3-for-10 from the stripe.

"That was by far, the best we've shot from the line and I was pleased to see that," Troth said.

The victory improved Allen's record to 4-2 on the year. The Eagles' next game is Thursday against Laurel-Concord in the opening round of the Ponca Invitational. The game is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Allen defeated Laurel in overtime earlier in the year.

Eagles slip to 1-6

Homer Knights trip Allen

ALLEN — "It was a disappointing loss. I was certainly hoping that we would play closer than we did," Allen head coach Dave Uldrich said after his Eagles were pounded by Homer 75-44 here Tuesday night.

The name of the game was defense. Homer's full court press allowed the Knights to take early control of the game. And Allen's defense, on the other hand, wasn't effective enough to counter the Knights' offensive attack.

"This was our worst effort of the year," Uldrich said. "We didn't put enough pressure on them and they held us down on offense."

Homer jumped out the gate quickly and opened an 11-1 lead midway through the first quarter before owning a 19-10 advantage early in the second frame.

Homer then built a 16 point lead, 33-17, at intermission by outscoring the Eagles 14-7 in the second quarter.

The second half was similar to the first as the Knights tallied 42 markers, while Allen was held to 27. A key to Homer's easy triumph was the Knights' torrid shooting. Homer finished 27-for-55 from the field, but was shooting over 66 percent after the first three quarters.

"Homer was just deadly from the field. Until they put in their reserves in the last quarter, they were shooting over 66 percent," Uldrich said.

Craig Noe led Allen with 17 points. The 6-3 senior kept Allen in contention in the first quarter by tallying seven of the Eagles' first nine markers. Max Oswald followed Noe with 15 points.

Homer's leading scorers were Chris Hergenlinder, Roger Bentz and Ron Rohde who totaled 19, 18 and 14 points, respectively.

Both teams grabbed 28 rebounds in the game. Oswald and Noe were also the rebounding leaders for Allen with nine and eight caroms, respectively.

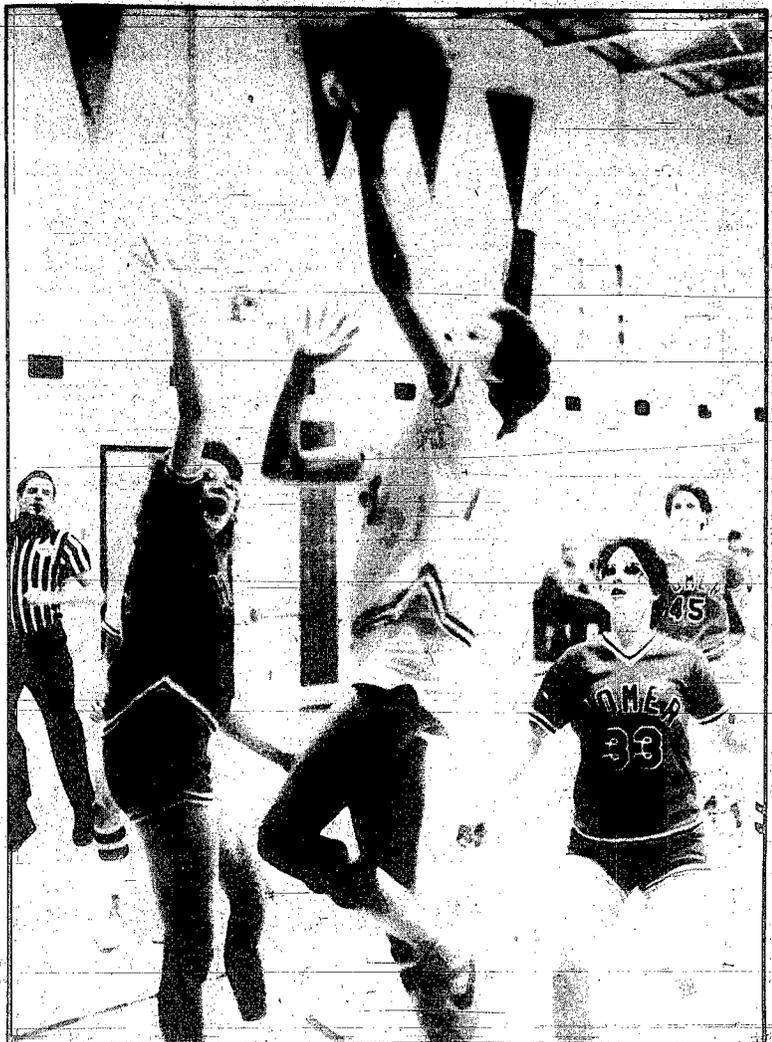

The Eagles made 20-of-54 field goals and 3-of-12 free throws. Homer canned 21-of-31 free throws to go along with its torrid shooting from the floor.

The loss dropped Allen to 1-6 on the year. The Eagles play again Friday night against Ponca in the Ponca Invitational. The first round game is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Bancroft-Rosalie and Laurel-Concord are the other two boys' teams that will be participating at the Ponca Invitational.

ALLEN'S KRISTI Chase drives in for a hoop against Homer Tuesday night.

Leighton hits gamer at :08

Wildcats claim thrilling 47-46 win

WINSIDE — A swarming defense by Winside's girls allowed the Wildcats a thrilling 47-46 come-from-behind victory over Wynot here Saturday night.

Winside trailed 46-43 with just 56 seconds remaining in the game, but the Wildcats stole the ball and pulled within one before Kerri Leighton canned the game-winning bucket with just eight seconds to go.

Winside trailed during most of the contest as Wynot led 12-9 after the first quarter and 27-20 at intermission.

But the Wildcats regrouped in the second half and after pulling within one, 32-31, early in the fourth quarter, won the contest on Leighton's jumper at the :08 mark.

Several key players for Winside were hampered with foul trouble during most of the game, but Wildcat head coach Jill Stenwall said the younger players did a nice job of filling in.

"Cher Olson, Ann Meierhenry and several other younger players did a real nice job of filling in," she said. Several of the younger Wildcats were in the game when Winside staged its late comeback, but Stenwall said Leighton's leadership was a major key to the triumph.

"With all the young kids I had out there, Kerri was the leader on the floor and she came through with the game-winning basket," the Wildcat mentor said.

Leighton, a 5-2 senior, finished with a team high 10 points, including six in the final quarter. Teammates Lana Prince and Kay Meierhenry added nine and eight markers, respectively.

The game's scoring honors belonged to Joslin Wieseler who totaled 18 points. But although Wieseler finished with 18, Stenwall said a key to the win was Winside's defensive effort on the Blue Devil standout.

"Wieseler got her points, but she only had three field goals," Stenwall said. "If we wouldn't have fouled her so much, we wouldn't have won easily."

Joslin finished 12-for-19 from the line and the Winside defense apparently frustrated the all-state candidate as she was whistled for a technical foul during the second half.

Winside won the battle of the boards, 61-52. Julie Brockman led the Wildcats with 14 rebounds.

Yet another key to the victory, perhaps, was Winside's ability to fire 15 more shots than the Blue Devils.

"We weren't afraid to shoot and that was nice to see because it opens things up for us," Stenwall said.

Winside finished 20-for-68 from the field and Wynot went 14-for-53. The Wildcats canned half of their 14 free throws, while Wynot went 18-for-32.

Winside is now 2-4 on the year. The Wildcats play again Thursday when Beemer travels to town.

Productive second half lifts Wynot past Winside

WINSIDE — Wynot exploded in the second half by outscoring Winside 27-12 over the game's final 16 minutes for a 45-26 triumph here Friday night.

Both teams started slow as Wynot held a slim 7-2 advantage after the first quarter. The Blue Devils then led by four, 18-14, at the half. But Wynot answered the second half bell with fire in their eyes and outscored Winside 11-2 in the third stanza for a 29-16 lead.

Wynot then outscored the Wildcats 16-10 in the final frame to round out the game's scoring.

Mike Eskens and Nick Hochstein were Wynot's main weapons as the two Blue Devils combined for 29 points. Eskens claimed the game's scoring honors with 19 markers.

Mike Thies led Winside with seven points and teammate Ryan Prince chipped in six markers.

Doug Mundil and Kevin Jaeger were Winside's leading rebounders with seven boards apiece.

The Wildcats struggled from the field and made only 11-of-48 field goals. The hosts finished 4-for-13 from the line and committed 14 fouls.

Wynot canned 19 field goals and made 7-of-12 giffers. The Blue Devils were whistled for 14 fouls.

Winside's Tim Jacobsen led the Wildcat junior varsity to a 43-27 victory.

Jacobsen, a freshman, tallied 24 markers and teammate Chris Nau added six points to the Winside victory.

Wayne frosh improve to 4-0

A long lay over did not affect Wayne's freshman boys basketball team as the Blue Devils thumped Norfolk Catholic 45-29 Monday night. The contest was Wayne's first since Dec. 20.

The Blue Devils were in total command from the very beginning and built a 23-9 advantage at intermission before posting the 16 point victory.

Doug Larson and Jarrod Wood led Wayne in scoring with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Rounding out the Blue Devil scoring and the total points they finished with were: Jess Zeiss, 6; Sean Baker, 6; Rob-Reeg, 2; Eric Liska, 2; Greg Schmidt, 2; and Jed Reeg, 1.

Wood led Wayne in rebounding with seven boards.

Darren Wacker and Dean Wockman led Winside's JV's with six rebounds apiece.

Winside's varsity is now winless in six tries this year. The Wildcats play again Friday at Beemer.

Wayne frosh improve to 4-0

Blue Devil head coach Duane Blumenkamp said he was pleased with his club's effort and added that it was a good tuneup for three games Wayne will play later this week.

"I thought we did a good job and we especially did a nice job of running our offense," he said. "It was a nice win to get because it will set things up for us later this week."

Wayne's next game is Friday at 5 p.m. before the Madison/Wayne varsity contest. The Blue Devils also play Monday when they host Wisner and Tuesday at Schuyler. Monday's game will begin at approximately 8 p.m. and Tuesday's contest will begin at approximately 5 p.m.

Wayne is now 4-0 on the year.

Nicholson leads Trojans past Allen, 53-50

ALLEN — The Wade Nicholson-led Wakefield Trojans overcame an Allen lead late in the game and trimmed the Eagles 53-50 here Saturday night.

Allen held a seemingly comfortable five point lead midway through the final stanza, but Wakefield bounced back by striking from the outside.

Nicholson was the Trojans' mainstay as he tallied 25 markers, most of which came from long range.

Although Wakefield was able to rally in the late going, Allen head coach Dave Uldrich said the difference in the game was Nicholson's ability to supply the Trojans with a quick lead.

"I thought the difference in the game was our slow start and their quick start," he said. "Nicholson hit his first four jumpers from the outside and they pulled ahead 8-2. And after that, the game was evenly played."

Other than the first few minutes, the game was indeed evenly played as Wakefield held slim advantages of 16-12 and 29-27 after the first quarter and halftime, respectively.

The Eagles improved their play during the second half's first 12 minutes. After leading by one, 37-36, early in the fourth quarter, Allen eventually built its five point advantage. But Wakefield came storming back to claim the victory.

Uldrich said that Nicholson was the key player in the Trojan triumph.

"He got them going early and it seemed that when ever they needed a big basket, he got one. He did a good job," the Allen mentor said.

Another factor in the game, according to Uldrich, was his club's impatience on offense.

"When we had that lead late in the game, we should've been more selective on offense," he said. "But instead we rushed things and became too impatient and took some shots we shouldn't have."

Kevin Greve followed Nicholson with 10 points for Wakefield. Allen had three players in double figures as Craig Noe tallied 17 markers, while Steve Jones finished with 15 and Max Oswald totaled 10.

Allen claimed a slim advantage on the boards, outrebounding the Trojans 29-28. Oswald and Jones led Allen with eight carries apiece, while Steve Jones totaled seven rebounds. Wakefield's individual rebounding was not available.

Allen finished 24-for-51 from the floor and Wakefield nailed 23-of-55 fielders. The Eagles canned 2-of-3 free throws, while Wakefield went 5-for-11 from the stripe.

Wakefield made it a clean sweep by winning the junior varsity game 33-21.

The 1-5 Eagles and the 2-4 Trojans both play again Thursday in the Pender Tournament.

Wildcats drop two on southern road trip

OWENSBORO, KY. — For opposing teams, a trip to Owensboro Kentucky to play Kentucky Wesleyan is hardly comparable to a trip to Disneyland. Going into Monday's game, Wesleyan had won 47 straight games at home and owned a .95-3 record in Owensboro.

And Monday night Wayne State College became the 48th consecutive victim as the Wildcats dropped an 80-43 decision.

Kentucky Wesleyan dominated the entire game and after opening a 13-0 advantage, pulled ahead by 25, 39-14, late in the first half.

Wesleyan led 41-18 at intermission and dominated the entire second half and posted the 37 point triumph.

Wayne State had trouble shooting from the field and finished 18-for-56 for 32 percent. Kentucky Wesleyan, on the other hand, went 35-for-66 from the floor for 53 percent.

Terrance Hall and Calvin Willoughby led the Wildcats in scoring with 10 points apiece. Dave Bennett claimed the game's scoring honors with 16 markers. Four of Wesleyan's five starters scored in double figures.

Wesleyan outrebounded the Wildcats 44-31. Marcus Wilson led Wayne State with nine boards.

Kentucky Wesleyan is currently ranked third in the NCAA Division II polls, and has won four national championships. Last year, Wesleyan finished third in Division II.

Fred Schnell, Wayne State's assistant basketball coach, compared Wesleyan to NCAA Division I powerhouse North Carolina.

"Kentucky Wesleyan is to Division II what North Carolina is to Division I," he said.

WSC vs. Southern Indiana

A second half press lifted the University of Southern Indiana past Wayne State, 91-63, Tuesday night.

Wayne State played well in the first half and owned a three point advantage, 33-30, at intermission. However, Southern Indiana pressed in the second half and outscored the Wildcats 61-30 during the final 20 minutes for the 28 point triumph.

Vincent White led Wayne State with 14 points. Teammates Russ Rosenquist and Mike McNamara both added 10 markers to the Wildcat cause.

Julian Hall, Southern Indiana's 6-9 center, scored 23 points and grabbed 19 rebounds to lead the hosts.

The difference in both teams' first half and second half play is evident in their respective shooting percentages. In the first half, Wayne State shot 61 percent, but the Wildcats made only 28 percent of their field goals in the last half. Southern Indiana, on the other hand, made 53 percent of its field goals in the last half.

Southern Indiana outrebounded the Wildcats 50-37. Willoughby led Wayne State with seven boards.

The loss dropped Wayne State to 3-8 on the year. The Wildcats' next game is Thursday at Kentucky State in Frankfort, Ky.

sports briefs

Schnitzler in district top 10

Wayne State's Linda Schnitzler is ranked in the top 10 in three different statistics in the NAIA District II.

Schnitzler's 14.4 point average is fifth in the district, while her .718 free throw percentage and .450 field goal percentage are both the 10th best marks. Schnitzler is 28-for-39 from the line and 58-for-129 from the field.

Shari Krohn, Schnitzler's teammate, is seventh in rebounding with 79 boards and a 7.9 average.

Wildcats in District Top 10

Wayne State's Russ Rosenquist is ranked 10th in scoring and 11th in field goal percentage in the NAIA District II.

Rosenquist has scored 124 points for a 13.8 average and has made 58-of-115 field goals for a .492 percentage.

Vincent White is sixth in the league in free throw percentage. White has canned 21-of-26 gifters for an .808 percentage.

Mike McNamara is seventh in the district in rebounding with 55 boards and a 6.1 average. Wayne State is third in team rebounding.

Meyer's Bison ranked No. 1

David Lipscomb College is ranked No. 1 in the NAIA this week. The Bison are coached by Wayne native Don Meyer.

David Lipscomb ran its 1985-86 season record to 14-0 with an 86-76 victory over arch-rival Belmont Monday night. Both schools are located in Memphis, Tenn.

The 14 consecutive wins is a David Lipscomb College school record.

Wayne State returns to action

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats return to the court Tuesday, Jan. 14, when Missouri Western Invades Rice Auditorium for a 5:30 p.m. contest.

Missouri Western is 4-3 on the season with wins over Evangel, William Woods and Missouri-St. Louis. The last Western victory was a 72-52 triumph over Wayne State in St. Joseph, Mo.

The Lady Griffons host Southwest Baptist, Northwest Missouri State, Northwestern College (Iowa), and Culver-Stockton before meeting Wayne State for the second time.

Lori Flaherty leads the team in scoring with a 14.4 point average. Judy Amos averages 12.9 markers a game, while Tammy Arnold averages 10.7.

Flaherty also leads the team in rebounding with a 9.7 average. Amos is second averaging 8.1 boards.

Three new players became eligible at the beginning of the Lady Griffons. Freshman sophomore guard Chris Awward and guards Stacy Lucking are the new additions.

Holland and Awender are transfers from Iowa State. Lucking played for two seasons at Lamar Community College. All three are juniors.

Wayne State is now 2-8 on the year after losing to Missouri Western to close out 1985. In that game, the Lady Wildcats trailed by only three, 24-21, with four minutes remaining in the first half, but then were outscored 13-1 and trailed by 15 at the half.

Linda Schnitzler had 13 points to lead the Lady Wildcats against Western. Through 10 games, Schnitzler leads the Lady Wildcats in scoring with a 14.4 point average.

Shari Krohn leads the team in rebounding with a 7.9 average, while Shelle Tomaszewicz averages 6.5 boards an outing.

Tomaszewicz and Mary Beth Ehrhorn had seven rebounds each against the Lady Griffons the last time they played.

The probable starting lineup for Wayne State is Schnitzler, Michelle Blomberg, Tomaszewicz, Ehrhorn and Krohn.

Fire Marshal office staff, area churches, businesses that had shared space with the bank while relocation was in process.

THE STATE National Bank was not the only recipient of generosity from area citizens. Among items destroyed in the fire was an apartment located directly above the bank drive-in — where Wayne Herald sports editor John Prather had resided.

Prather, who has since found another Wayne apartment, said Tuesday he has been overwhelmed with the concern of people who have offered him clothing, a place to stay, food or even cash.

Other businesses destroyed or badly damaged in the blaze were the offices of Jerry Malcom (a certified public accountant), Dr. George Goblirsch (a dentist) and offices directly west of the main bank building — including State National Insurance Company, Farmers Mutual, Century 21-State National.

The Wayne Herald Office, located directly south of the former main bank building, sustained smoke damage and water damage.

Goblirsch told the Wayne Herald Tuesday it is still too early to tell what can be salvaged from the remains of his dentist office after last Thursday night's fire.

"Right now the bank is unsafe to check...to uncover more stones to see if anything can be salvaged," he said.

"We have no immediate plans to relocate, no concrete plans — but we're working on it," Goblirsch said. For now, patients calling him at his house for emergency treatment have been referred to other dentists, he said.

Jim Keating of Farmers Mutual said on Tuesday that his file cabinets and desk in the office were salvaged. However, a majority of the paper goods were destroyed. Files, Keating said, are being reconstructed and will be back to normal. He said records are kept at the home office in Lincoln.

He has relocated to a temporary office at the Northwestern Bell building in Wayne.

"This will be our temporary quarters for the next few weeks," Keating mentioned.

"WE SALVAGED A majority of policy files, but none of the physical equipment," said Tom McClain, vice-president of the State National Insurance Company.

The State National Insurance Co. is temporarily located in the Jensen Peters building on Main Street.

Other major fires

—By LaVon Anderson

A fire last Thursday morning which destroyed the two-story State National Bank and Trust Co. in downtown Wayne has caused several residents to question the dates of other major fires which have occurred in the Wayne business district.

Research from past Wayne Herald newspapers shows that the last major fire to strike the business district came in April of 1965 when a blaze gutted the Livinghouse Trucking service building on South Main St. and damaged two adjoining buildings — the city power plant and Marra-Home Improvement Co.

TWO TRUCKS FROM Winside and two from Wakefield joined the entire local department and their four trucks to fight the blaze.

In addition to the total loss of the building, owner Tom Livinghouse reported in the April 1965 Wayne Herald that he also lost a diesel truck, 30 tires, mechanical equipment, tools, office equipment, files, and all the company's records.

Livinghouse, who operated 12 trucks out of Wayne, said four of them were in the shop at the time of the blaze. Firemen and volunteers managed to get three trucks outside during the fire.

Livinghouse estimated the loss at $30,000.

MARRA HOME Improvement suffered a $14,000 loss. Damage was from smoke and water to the contents, and fire, smoke and water damage to the building.

The municipal power plant had damage to a substation which was serving water pumps, the WSC campus and the entire north part of town. Damage to the ceiling of the plant, along with damage from smoke, heat and water, brought the city's damage bill to about $2,500.

IN DECEMBER 1958, fire destroyed the two-story building and contents of Surber's furniture store at 115 West Third St. Only the walls of the 50 by 80-foot building were left standing. The building was constructed in 1949 at a cost of $27,000.

None of the furniture stock owned by Ray Surber was saved. Surber's sons, Charles and Harold, operated the business.

Assisting Wayne firemen at the blaze were the Wakefield and Winside fire departments.

Firemen battled the blaze in below zero weather and poured about 100,000 gallons of water onto the flames in the futile attempt to save parts of the store or its contents.

Prompt action prevented the blaze from spreading to the adjoining Rinehart supermarket when its roof caught fire.

OTHER MAJOR FIRES in the Wayne business area have included: July 1954 — Charles Meyer sale barn on South First St., $10,500. May 23, 1938 — Brown-McDonald store, $21,400.

April 19, 1933 — Petersen billiard hall, $4,200. March 8, 1931 — Jeffrey's style shop, $8,600. August 6, 1930 — Howard Hrabak store, $9,100.

November 1, 1927 — B. W. Wright and W. C. Coryell garage, $28,000. Thanksgiving, 1891 — One of the biggest fires in Wayne history. It destroyed six buildings in the half block on the west side of Main St.

Les' Steakhouse building. Many of the items inside the business were removed the evening of the fire, with the help of bank employees and businessmen. The back end of the office was destroyed while the front office (where farm management records were stored) had received basically water and smoke damage.

CPA Jerry Malcom said Tuesday night he was surprised that his payroll tax files survived the fire. However, his files on farmers and individual income tax records did not.

"But it's not all that bad," Malcom said. People are given a copy of their tax returns and a great deal of people are always wanting copies of their depreciation schedule, he said.

Information on disks that were warped or damaged as a result of the fire are being restored through the efforts of Lyle George at the Computer Farm in Wayne, according to Malcom.

"Good things have happened the last couple of days. Everybody has been real nice. I plan to be in full force again by Monday," he said.

Malcom and his wife have set up a new office in the former Dief Center building at 104 West First Street.

were approved last Tuesday, are as follows:

Water Main Extension District Total charge to property owners — $22,450.16. For each of the 12 lots in the subdivision, that averages an assessment of $1,795.35 per lot plus a special assessment of $725.96 for another lot in the Western Heights Subdivision. The schedule for payment is five years with 9 percent interest.

The total amount to property owners was decreased $180 from the original total because a service line that ran under West 3rd Street should not have been charged to the developer and should be charged to the city's general obligation fund, according to City Attorney Kern Swarts.

Sanitary Sewer Main Extension District Total charge to property owners — $13,287.07.

For the 12 lots, that averages to $1,107.25. The schedule for this payment is five years at 9 percent interest.

Coan had questioned the city council as to why a second manhole would be needed on the sewer main extension.

Swarts said Tuesday the extension required "upgrading of private line to a city line." The line, he said, had two jogs in it and that requires two manholes.

This assessment was not amended. Street improvement district Total charge to property owners — $32,371.

With the 12 lots, this came out to an average of $2,697.64 per lot. The schedule for this payment is 15 years at 9 1/2 percent interest.

Storm Sewer District Total cost to property owners — $13,576.63.

A cost breakdown for each of the 12 lots is $984.10 per lot. Schedule for this payment is 10 years and also at 9 1/2 percent interest.

This assessment cost was reduced by $17,747.40 — $380 for two inlets and $787.40 for a portion of the 12 inch storm sewer.

Councilman Darrel Heier said that it appears others will benefit from the storm sewer surrounding the subdivision and that Coan should not have to pay for it all.

The $1,747.40 will be picked up through the city's general obligation fund rather than assessed to the property owners in Western Heights 2nd Subdivision.

ALSO DURING last Tuesday's meeting, Superintendent of Public Works Vern Schulz approached the council to provide information on a request to proceed on specifications for a city street sweeper and to establish a date and time for bid letting.

Schulz said the new equipment was included as a budget item this fiscal year — either for the street sweeper or a loader.

The loader, he said is showing wear.

He proposed that fiscal 1987 be the year the council look at buying a new loader.

The 1979 all hydraulic street sweeper, which the city currently owns is not made anymore, according to Schulz. It has averaged 725 miles and 225 hours per year and is also wearing down.

Schulz said the city council has approximately $45,000 budgeted for a new street sweeper (or loader).

It was decided unanimously by the council to proceed on the specifications for the street sweeper and go to bid letting on the item on April 8.

The city council also approved the one and six year street improvement program presented by Schulz.

"I do welcome input throughout the year of other road projects we do not have down here (on the plan approved by the council)," Schulz said.

Schulz said the plan is just a guideline and is "nothing binding."

"Out of this list you make a first year plan in priority order."

"Last year, 11 projects we did, the highest number in the last 20 years that I have been here."

The projects listed included: 1986 — Providence Road from East 10th and Providence South to Highway 35. Concrete paving with curb and gutter.

Grainland Road, from Sherman Street to Blaine Street. Concrete paving with curb and gutter and storm sewer.

And five blocks estimate, locations to be determined later, of overlay similar to what was done on Sherman Street this past year.

1987 — South Main Street reconstruction, removing bricks and replacing with full depth asphalt.

Logan Street, widen from 4th to 7th street.

Walnut Street, from 12th Street to 14th Street, concrete paving with curb and gutter.

storm sewer on 3rd Street from Logan Street to Pearl Street.

1988 — Construct storm sewer, close open ditch from Armory to State Department of Roads Yard on East Highway 35.

1989, 1990, 1991 — Maintenance only.

Also last Tuesday the council had approved the specifications and the bid letting date of Jan. 28 at 7:40 p.m. for the purchase of a new city police car, estimated to cost $11,500 without trade-in, according to Police Chief Vern Fairchild.

Councilman Larry Johnson also brought up to the council concerns from individuals who had wondered why the city's Christmas lights and decorations were removed so soon.

Schulz told the council the decorations and lights were taken down soon after Christmas ever since the energy crisis. "It's easier to take them down than just unplug them."

Schulz said he would prefer seeing a policy handed down if the council doesn't want the decorations down so soon after Christmas. "Otherwise, we will continue to do it this way," he added.

New officer ALAN HART, age 29, is a new full-time police officer in Wayne. He began his duties on Jan. 6. His experience includes three years as the Village Marshall at Leigh, Nebraska, and he is certified through the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center. He and his wife, Karen, have two children, ages two and five.

SS earnings base increases

The annual earnings base—the maximum amount of earnings that counts for Social Security—will increase to $42,000 for 1986, up from the 1985 base of $39,600, Glenn Lane, Social Security Manager in Norfolk, said recently.

The increase is based on the change in average earnings levels from 1984 to 1985.

Also scheduled to increase in 1986 is the Social Security tax rate. The 1986 tax rate will be 7.15 percent, an increase of 0.10 percent over the 1985 rate of 7.05 percent.

The increase will amount to just $1.50 a month for a person earning $1,500 a month.

OTHER SOCIAL SECURITY figures are scheduled to increase in 1986 as well, Lane said. The annual exempt amount used in the annual earnings test will increase. The annual earnings test is the measure used to determine whether a person who works will receive benefits during the year.

The 1986 annual exempt amount for people 65 or over will be $7,800, up from the 1985 amount of $7,320. The 1986 exempt amount for people under 65 all of 1986 will be $5,760, up from the 1985 amount of $5,400.

A person whose earnings do not exceed the annual exempt amount will receive all benefits due for the year. A person's benefit is reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. The annual earnings test does not apply once a person reaches 70.

THE AMOUNT of annual earnings needed to earn a quarter of coverage—the measure of Social Security work credit—will be $440 for 1986, up from $410 for 1985.

In 1986, a worker will earn four quarters of coverage if his or her annual earnings are $1,760 or more.

More information can be obtained about Social Security taxes and benefits at the Norfolk Social Security office located at 1310 Norfolk Avenue.

Tax load could shift

Bankruptcy can backfire

Some beleaguered farm operators are filing bankruptcy in hopes of minimizing taxes when the property is dispersed. But one feature of bankruptcy law may force a substantial tax load right back on their shoulders, said Dave Aiken, University of Nebraska-Lincoln associate professor of agricultural economics and extension water law specialist.

The bankruptcy route seems attractive since it appears to circumvent taxes which result from the alternative of selling property outright to pay debts. Selling property outright can cause problems, Aiken said. Somebody with $800,000 worth of land and $750,000 debts may be taxed $70,000 when that land is sold, and so will end up $20,000 in the hole. "The combined debts and tax, in that case, put him under," Aiken said.

Income tax liabilities may be triggered when land is sold by the farmer and the sale proceeds are turned over to the bank/lender, when the land is foreclosed on by the lender and/or when the farmer/rancher voluntarily turns the land over to the lender. The tax bite comes in that the farmer has to pay taxes on the "sale" of the land but all the sale proceeds go to the lender.

"Bankruptcy law appears to offer a way of escaping this dilemma," Aiken said.

WHEN ONE files bankruptcy, a new legal entity called the bankruptcy estate is created, and this estate takes over all the property of the filer. Because the estate now owns the property, when property is sold to pay creditors it is the estate that must pay the taxes on the sale.

"In short, the filer may end up with nothing, but won't end up in the hole because of a big tax bill," he said.

"Federal income taxes due from the sale of farm/ranch property to satisfy creditors can be wiped out in Chapter 7 liquidation only if the property is sold as part of the bankruptcy proceedings," Aiken said. "What often happens is that the farmer/rancher turns the land over to the lender and then, after the farmer is hit with the income taxes from the sale of the land, the farmer declares bankruptcy."

In this case the land was not sold as part of the bankruptcy proceedings, he said. Thus, if there is not enough property in the bankruptcy estate to pay off the old income taxes (i.e. those created by turning the land over to the lender), the farmer will be liable for those taxes after bankruptcy proceedings are finished. "The same thing would be true if the farmer sold the land and gave the money to the lender, or if the lender foreclosed on the property," Aiken said.

THE PROBLEM some people may run into involves the feature of bankruptcy law which allows a bankruptcy estate trustee to abandon any property that, because of outstanding liens or mortgages, is considered of no value to the estate. If the trustee does this, the tax obligations accompanying the selling of the land may revert to the original owner who declared bankruptcy.

"It is not yet certain who will be responsible for income taxes from disposition of abandoned property but it appears that the tax burden for the abandoned land will be put back on the debtor," Aiken said.

The legal maze surrounding a successful liquidation is vast and torturous. The best advice for farmers about to enter this maze, Aiken said, is to seek competent professional guidance.

Jump starting tractors
Cold weather and less frequent use of equipment can mean more dead or depleted batteries, more occasions for jump-starting — and potential for injury if it is not done properly.

Studies show that in many cases injuries caused by accidental starting of tractors and self-propelled machines are due to victims trying to start the vehicle with a jumper cable.

But this does not need to happen in an age where we have starters on the tractors. Almost all tractors with electric starters have an interlock designed to prevent unintentional starting in gear. The interlock may be incorporated into the transmission shift linkage so that the starter circuit can be closed only with the shift in neutral or park position.

Other models may have a similar switch on clutch pedal that keeps the start inactivated until the pedal is depressed.

If a jumper cable is used to assist in starting and is attached to the battery terminals, the starter interlock will prevent accidental in-gear starting. But operators sometimes find a way to apply to booster power directly to the starter, thereby bypassing the starter interlock.

IF THE OPERATOR had forgotten to take the tractor out of gear before attempting to jump start, it could start and then run over him. Manufacturers are seeking ways to shield starter terminals to discourage the bypassing of interlocks.

The best solution to this problem is for the vehicle to be started only by someone at the operator's station using the normal starting procedure. Remember the procedures to use would be the same as used in starting a pickup or car.

• Make sure the battery posts are clean.

• Hook the positive to the positive — red cable. Then hook the negative cable of the battery that is fully charged to the negative on the tractor.

• Get away from the battery. When the battery is charging, it gives off hydrogen gas. This could be ignited if you had a spark when you hooked up the battery or when you broke the circuit.

• Start the tractor from the operator's station.

testants will be judged on general knowledge of the pork industry, ease of expressions, and personal poise.

Coronation of the new queen will be at the annual banquet on January 11. The new queen will represent the Nebraska Pork Producers at promotional events and selected functions across the state. At the end of her reign as state queen, she will represent Nebraska at the American Pork Congress where she will compete for the title of National Pork Queen.

Jane is a 1985 graduate of Wakefield Public High School. She is now attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, and majoring in Journalism-Advertising.

For Queen

Gustafson in contest

Jane Gustafson of Wakefield will represent Wayne County Pork producers in the 1986 Nebraska Pork Queen Pageant to be held January 10 and 11 at the Villa in Norfolk. The contest is being held in conjunction with the annual meetings and banquet of the Nebraska Pork Producers and porkettes. Pork Queens from 22 area groups will be vying for the 1986 Nebraska Pork Queen title. The reigning queen is Angie Poehlein of Doniphan.

Each contestant will present a five minute consumer-oriented oral presentation before a public audience and will have personal interviews with a panel of judges. Con-

On FmHA income limits

Home loan change made

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), the government's lending agency for rural America, has recently changed the income limits for eligibility for home loans.

These new income limits are based on the number of persons in the family. The income limits and method of calculation are based on HUD limits as mandated by Congress in the Housing Amendments of 1980.

K. Kirk Jamison, State Director for FmHA, states the new income limits will benefit those persons with several members in the household. New deductions will also allow elderly families to deduct certain medical expenses and receive a $400 tax deduction. Mr. Jamison states the procedure will make loan funds available to those with the greatest housing need.

The income limits are used to determine eligibility for Rural Housing loans and to provide subsidy for those that cannot afford to pay the full interest rate. The current interest rate on Rural Housing loans is 10 5/8 percent. The low income limit for Wayne County ranges from $12,400 for a one person family to $18,800 for a family with five persons.

If you desire additional information, please contact Farmers Home Administration in Wayne.

Harvest help

AREA FARMERS gathered for a combining bee to aid Bob Bergt in the harvesting of his corn crop on Monday. A total of eight combines and 12 to 15 trucks and wagons were used to harvest the 110 acres of corn. Bergt farms about seven miles south and a half mile east of Wayne.

Among those assisting in the combining bee were Merlin and Laron Reinhardt, Dev and Marvelle Mikkelsen, Merlin and Kay Saul, Bob Reinhardt, Ron Wert, Wally Giese, Ron Hammer, Pete and Terry Pjueger, Les and Jim Youngmeyer, Neyron, Woodward, Kenny and Danny Frevort, Harold Fleer, Randall Bergt, Terry and Steve Gemelke, Terry Gilliland, Ed Vahlkamp, Alvin Anderson, Wilbur Stuthman, Melvin Stuthman, Roger Schmidt, Arnold Sietken, Kirk Wacker, Jim Shulteis and Mike and Michelle Meyer.

Fumigation of stored grain limited

Producers wishing to fumigate stored grain expect to find their options limited, according to Emery Nelson, extension pesticide training coordinator at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Carbon tetrachloride and carbon disulfide, active ingredients in the widely used fumigant 80-20 R, have been ordered off the market by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Ethylene dichloride, which also had been used as a grain fumigant, was similarly banned by EPA.

There were 100 registrations of these liquid fumigants in 1984, Nelson noted. However, in August 1984, EPA issued a notice requiring amendments to the registrations and label changes.

In response to that notice, 75 registrants cancelled their registrations and another cancelled after receipt of a suspension notice. The remaining 24 were later issued a "stop sale" (removal) order that prohibited further distribution of their products.

SALE AND distribution in the market place is prohibited after Dec. 31, 1985 for the products voluntarily cancelled, Nelson said. More importantly, he added, application or use of any of the 100 products after June 30, 1986 is prohibited.

The "restricted use" fumigant aluminum phosphide is the replacement, Nelson said. Contact with moisture (humidity) or acid produces phosphine, an extremely toxic gas. In addition, aluminum phosphide is flammable and contact with water can result in explosion and fire.

Nelson recommended that the fumigant be used only by persons who are thoroughly trained in its use. He noted, however, that certified private applicators are allowed to purchase and use the product.

PRODUCERS WHO choose to apply the fumigant themselves should observe several precautions.

1. Read the label carefully and completely.
2. Seal all bin openings (doors, vents, etc.) with gasproof tape before applying the pesticide. Failure to adequately seal the bin will allow the tumigant to vent into the atmosphere.

3. Post proper warning signs on the structure and at entrances. Federal regulations require that these be printed both in English and Spanish.

4. Have the proper gas detection device available; this will be specified in the label directions.

5. Never fumigate alone. Label directions require that a second person, adequately trained in the use of aluminum phosphide, be present during the application. This person should remain outside the bin structure positioned so that the applicator remains in view at all times.

6. Wear and use the prescribed safety clothing and equipment (chemical-resistant gloves and respirator).

7. Open the fumigant container outside.

8. Insert a grain probe to a depth of five feet and drop one pellet at intervals of six inches to one foot from that point to the surface. The grain should be probed on a criss-cross or grid pattern on four-foot centers.

Another option is to probe apply two-thirds of the required pellets as described above. The remaining third can be placed under the false floor of the bin, then seal all openings. However, utmost caution must be used since the pellets will react with any water that has collected in the bottom, causing an explosion or fire.

9. Place polyethylene (plastic) sheets on the grain surface to hold the gas in for five to seven days. Remove after aeration and the gas detector indicates that it is safe.

10. Be certain to follow label directions for container disposal.

11. Finally, spray outside the bin using malathion, diazinon or other appropriate insecticide. This will kill any insects forced out of the bin by the fumigant and prevent reinfestation of the stored grain.

ANY PERSON involved with using aluminum phosphide also should be completely familiar with procedures that must be followed in the event of overexposure to the fumigant.

It is vital that the victim given immediate medical attention if artificial respiration is necessary, the arm lift method, rather than mouth-to-mouth, should be used.

Today is Epiphany, the observance of the visit of the Wise Men to Bethlehem. Notice I didn't say "Three Wise Men." Nowhere does the Bible report there were three. I heard a radio preacher say one day that he thought there was a very large group of wise men, as many as 300.

The girls are back to school, though college students have a longer break. Ann took down the tree and put away the decorations last week one day when I was at work.

I reread the Christmas cards last night. In fact, I still mailed a couple on New Year's Day. It made me too nervous to watch the football game, so I stayed in the kitchen. Big Red looked great, except for three crucial errors.

I heard two Christmas stories at work that should be shared.

The third grade Sunday school teacher gave the class an assignment. They were each to draw a picture of the Christmas story. Johnny used magic markers and drew an elaborate stable, complete with a cow, a horse, and a pigeon. Mary and Joseph were kneeling before a stable containing the Baby Jesus. There were shepherds and sheep, and an angel in the sky above the stable.

In the opposite corner, in the sky, was a fat little man. The teacher was puzzled. She called Johnny to her and praised him for his art work. She said, "You have all the important characters here — Jesus, Mary and Joseph, the shepherds, the angel. There is just one figure I can't put a name on. Who is the fat little man?"

"Oh," Johnny beamed, "that's 'Round John Virgin!'"

THAT ONE went quickly around the hospital until it got to medical records. The head of that department told us she had taken her four-year-old grandson to hear the Living Christmas Tree concert at Nebraska Christian College.

They went early, to guarantee good seats and Cody stared at the huge tree fastened along one wall.

On either side of the tree, hanging from the ceiling, were cut-out wooden angels, complete with trumpets. Cody stared at these, too, and wondered what they were.

"Those are angels. They told the shepherds that Jesus was born," his grandmother explained, "you know, like when we sing, 'Hark the Herald Angels Sing.'"

The boy thought about this for a few minutes and said, "Which one's Harold? They both look like girls to me."

Always, those little minds are working. And they are not necessarily interpreting things the way we do.

THE WENDY'S ad featuring Clara Peller had been on for months, and people were asking everyone, "Where's the Bee?" before I finally saw it on TV.

This year, it's Herb they were looking for. I saw that commercial for the first time two weeks ago. I was wondering why the marquees on all the fast-food places were saying, "Here's Herb," or "We've found Herb!" What creative minds dream up this stuff?

Who thinks up the catchy bumper stickers? I saw one last week that said, "I owe, I owe, it's off to work I go."

My boss in Home Health has a sign in her office that says, "Some leaders are born women. Behind every successful woman is a surprised man."

And on my refrigerator is a clipping by Henry Drummond on pondering as we make our plans for a new year.

"You will find, as you look back upon your life, that the moments that stand out, the moments when you have really lived, are the moments when you have done things in the spirit of love."

Let's try to catch that spirit, and maintain it, in 1986.

FmHA borrowers should be alerted to letter

Borrowers who are at least $100 delinquent on their Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) loans are being encouraged to respond to a January letter, notifying them of intent to take adverse action if the enclosed form is not completed and returned within 30 days of its receipt, according to the Nebraska Farmers Union.

NeFU President Neil Oxtan said approximately 2,800 Nebraska FmHA borrowers, 80,000 nationally, will receive a letter early in the new year describing FmHA intent to begin adverse action if the accompanying "borrower's acknowledgment form is not filled out, signed and returned within the prescribed 30 days.

Borrowers delinquent on their loans as of Dec. 31, 1985 will receive "WE ARE STRONGLY advising every delinquent FmHA borrower to be on the alert for this special notice and acknowledgement form in the mail and to return the form within 30 days," Oxtan said.

However, we have been advised by Nebraska FmHA Director Kirk Jamison that the letters may possibly not be mailed to borrowers until early February," the Nebraska Farmers Union chief added.

Failure to return the form could mean an irreversible start on the road to foreclosure or involuntary liquidation, according to Oxtan. Conversely, returning the completed form will help many borrowers work out a difficult situation and possibly help them continue their farm business.

"These letters do not have to mean automatic foreclosure, but the 30-day response time is critical," Oxtan explained.

"Borrowers may use the return form to request an appeal, request servicing action, offer to cure the default, or to start liquidating their FmHA account.

ONCE THE form has been completed, Oxtan said the FmHA will set up a conference with the borrower and county supervisor to discuss the option(s) requested. Borrowers should be prepared to offer any information that will help in making the decision.

FmHA must send a letter to the borrower within seven days of that conference, informing him or her of the decision. If the request is denied, the reasons for denial must be included in the letter.

Borrower's may appeal any denial and if necessary may request an administrative review.

Generally, FmHA farm ownership and operating loans are due Jan. 1 and are considered delinquent after Jan. 15, Oxtan said. Borrowers listed as delinquent on Dec. 31, 1985, who will receive this letter have not made good on their payment due the previous January. In other words, they are a full year delinquent.

THE LETTERS are the result of new regulations issued under court order. The court effectively halted FmHA foreclosures until clear regulations and procedures were established to inform borrowers of their servicing options and rights. That foreclosure prohibition ended with the publication of the new regulations.

Each of the nearly 80,000 borrowers (approximately 28 percent of FmHA's farm borrowers) who receive the registered letters will be asked to choose from four categories of options: servicing actions, appeal curing defaults, or liquidation action.

In Nebraska, 2,800 FmHA borrowers are expected to receive the letters.

Pesticide applicator re-certification

Private applicators should check the blue Federal Pesticide Applicator Certificate card expiration date. If it expires anytime in the next 12 months consideration should be made in attending one of the re-certification meetings being offered in Wayne County in January and February, reports Don C. Spitzke, Wayne County Extension Agent.

All meetings will be held at the Wayne City Auditorium in Wayne starting at 12:30 p.m. on Jan. 22, 27 and Feb. 4.

Nebraska soy profit meeting

Northeast Nebraska soybean producers are invited to attend the Soy Profit meeting in Laurel on Tuesday, January 14. It is one of seven meetings scheduled in Nebraska during January. They are being co-sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, Nebraska Soybean Association, and the Nebraska Soybean Marketing and Utilization Board.

The program will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse. The morning coffee and noon lunch will be provided by sponsors.

The program will feature: Dr. Dale Flowerday, Pioneer Hybrids Agronomist, on "Genetics, Varieties, and Research"; Nebraska Soybean Association on "Japan Grain Quality Mission"; Dr. Elbert Dickey, UNL Extension Engineer, and David Shelton, UNL Extension Engineer, on "Soybean Tillage Systems"; and a farmer panel.

More program information is available at the Cedar County Extension office or Charles Sukup from Wausa who is handling the local meeting arrangements.

Farm finance survey mailed

Chuck Schroeder, Director of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, announced that a Farm Finance Survey is being mailed to randomly selected farmers and ranchers this week.

The 1985 Farm Finance Survey will provide helpful information for farmers and state and federal officials as they develop policies and programs to improve the future of Nebraska agriculture. It will encourage farmers and ranchers to respond promptly to this survey," Schroeder explained. "The results will provide an important tool for understanding agriculture's financial condition, as well as for development of policy to address the problems."

THE MIDWEST Association of State Departments of Agriculture (MASDA) is coordinating similar surveys in its 10 member states (Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Michigan, North Dakota, Kansas, and Wisconsin) in order to provide an explanation of the credit problems affecting the Midwest.

Due to the sensitivity of the individual data requested, the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has been asked to conduct this survey and tabulate the results for Nebraska.

Information from individual reports will be kept strictly confidential. A survey report will be prepared by that office and will be used to indicate the current farm financial conditions.

Results for Nebraska and the other Midwest states will be released in mid-February.

Retirement of PCA stock resumed

Retirement of stock owned by Production Credit Association (PCA) member-borrowers has been resumed throughout Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Wyoming effective January 1, 1986 under a new policy adopted by the Omaha District Farm Credit Board.

The recently approved merger of all 37 PCAs into the single district-wide Production Credit Association of the Midlands and this new policy makes possible the resumption of PCA stock retirement on a district-wide basis. The merger of the PCAs was effective at the close of business Dec. 31, 1985.

PCA members purchase stock in their association in proportion to the outstanding balance on their loan.

The newly-adopted policy for retirement of PCA stock, and participation certificates permits pro-rata stock retirement on PCA loans districtwide, according to John A. Harling, President and Chief Executive officer of the Farm Credit Banks of Omaha. The policy is applicable to all Class A stock and excess Class B stock and participation certificates of the PCA.

Stock was not being retired during 1985 for members served by 14 PCAs in which the stock retirement authority had been withdrawn in order to stabilize the capital position of the associations, Harling pointed out.

"The remaining 23 PCAs in the four-state district had been retiring stock where the individual borrower's stock balance exceeded the amount necessary," Harling said.

"There were three major events which assisted in restoring stock retirement districtwide," Harling said.

The merger of all PCAs into a districtwide association was the major event because it puts the financial strength of the districtwide association behind the stock held by each member-borrower. Additionally, systemwide capital preservation agreements have been ratified by all 37 Farm Credit Banks in the nationwide Farm Credit System. The third event was the passage of Farm Credit Assistance Legislation, which was signed into law by President Reagan on December 23.

"This legislation permits the government to offer a line of credit to the System if and when the System needs it," Harling added.

"The new stock retirement policy provides several advantages to PCA members," Harling said. "Most importantly, it should allow for increased effectiveness in PCA utilization of capital. Members should also benefit by having a better indication of what to expect in the way of stock retirement."

The PCA of the Midlands makes short- and intermediate-term loans through 15 Farm Credit Service Regions in the four states. It is a cooperative owned by member-borrowers.

Tillage conference set at South Sioux

Four farmers representing a variety of tillage systems, cropping systems and soil types, will highlight the 1986 Tri-State Conservation Tillage Conference. It will be held Tuesday, February 4, at the Siouxland Convention Center in South Sioux City.

Advance registration is not required. Tickets are one dollar at the door. Exhibits open at 8 a.m. and the speaking program begins at 9:30 a.m.

Two farmers will discuss their ridge planting systems. Ben Flathers has been using conservation tillage for 22 years on his farm near Correctionville, Iowa. He rides his corn on 30 inch rows. In 1985, Flathers tried some slot planting.

Gordon Elbert Larson uses ridges on 38 inch rows on his farm near Beresford, South Dakota. He moves his ridges every few years by splitting the old ridges with a lister.

THE COSTS OF production for conservation tillage and conventional tillage will be discussed by Robert Brodersen. He has kept detailed records of crop production costs for his farm near Tekamah, Nebraska. Brodersen has records for no-till versus conventional tilled corn and no-till drilled and wide row soybeans versus conventional tilled soybeans. He has been using no-till for about four years.

Dennis Shannon has been using conservation tillage for several years on his farm near Manilla, Iowa. He has modified both his planter and cultivator to work in crop residues. Shannon has also built his own sprayer for use with high levels of residue.

For more information, contact your local Soil Conservation Service or Extension Service Office.

The Iowa Cooperative Extension Service's programs and policies are consistent with pertinent federal and state laws and regulations on non-discrimination regarding race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, and handicap.

NOTICE TO WAYNE COUNTY TAXPAYERS

Nebraska law provides for self-assessment for its personal property owners. All owners of taxable personal property are required to list and assess their property. This property shall be assessed to the owner as of January 1, 1986 at 12:01 A.M. Personal Property schedules must be completed, signed and in the office of the County Assessor by March 1, 1986. Penalties are provided by law for omitted property and for filing a schedule after March 1, 1986.

1986 INDIVIDUAL PROPERTY SCHEDULE

The following personal property must be assessed: portable buildings, improvements on leased land, motorized boats, motors, airplanes, unlicensed motor vehicles, mobile homes, snow mobiles, 3 or 4 wheeler recreational vehicles, and cabin trailers, and any leased or consigned taxable personal property in your custody. THIS IS THE FIRST YEAR FOR SNOWMOBILES TO BE TAXED. IF USED ON PUBLIC ROADS OR STREETS, THEY WILL BE TAXED AS MOTOR VEHICLES. IF THEY ARE NOT USED ON ROADS, THEY WILL BE LISTED AS PERSONAL PROPERTY. PLEASE LIST YOUR SNOWMOBILE'S MAKE AND MODEL ON YOUR SCHEDULE IF YOU DO NOT NEED TO HAVE LICENSE PLATES FOR STREET DRIVING.

1986 NEBRASKA BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL PROPERTY SCHEDULE

The following personal property must be listed: leasehold improvements, leased or consigned personal property in your custody, portable buildings, improvements on leased land, motorized boats, motors, airplanes, unlicensed motor vehicles, furniture, tools and equipment. All equipment and fixtures shall be listed with acquisition date and cost. Also household property in furnished rental units must be listed.

REAL ESTATE

Report new improvements and additions including irrigation, as well as the removal of improvements to the County Assessor not later than March 1. An improvement statement must be filed with the County Assessor prior to commencing improvements or alterations. Homes, cabins, grain bins and other buildings placed on real estate owned by another person must be listed and assessed on the personal property schedule as improvements on leased land. Mobile homes and cabin trailers located on your property must be reported. With passage of LB 689, failure to report new improvements to real estate, a person or persons may be fined up to a $1000 penalty which will be applied to the real estate bill and become a lien against property.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

Exemptions are available to some persons over 65 years of age, depending on income, to disabled veterans and to some handicapped people. Persons filing for this exemption must be owner occupant as of January 1, and shall file application for this exemption on or before April 1 with the County Assessor. If there has been a change in the status of the exempt homestead during the previous year, the County Assessor shall be notified on or before March 15 of the year following such change. Homestead exemptions for the year 1986 also include owner-occupants of mobile homes, cabin trailers and homes located on leased land.

PLEASE CALL THE ASSESSOR AT 375-1799, IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS. DORIS STIPP, WAYNE COUNTY ASSESSOR

It's a tough decision. Each year after the harvest, the same questions come up. Which one will make the most money this year? Should you sell your grain today or store it for a better price tomorrow? If you store it, should it be on-farm or stored commercially? The questions make your head spin and finding the answers seem like finding the needle in the haystack... until now!

An informed decision. Now you can find answers to all these questions right in your own home, with Farm TABS from Terra International, Inc. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program helps you make informed management decisions that will increase your profitability. It calculates drying and storage costs, net crop value, and break even prices over a period of months. It allows you to look ahead and speculate taking into account: fluctuating interest rates, market prices, storage costs and storage periods. You can instantly determine what effect changing cost and price levels might have on your storage costs and overall grain marketing plan... but, Grain Storage Decisions is just one of the many options of this Farm TABS program.

The right decision. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program also has a Harvest Loss Calculator that allows you to check your combine's efficiency, a Crop Yield Calculator that calculates yield figures based on information from a given test strip, a Field Population Calculator that compares different hybrids and management practices and a Planter Calibration-Calculator that determines the most efficient rate at which to plant.

You decide. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program gives you the answers that can help you better manage your crop for better profits. This program alone is an incredible assistance in managing your farm operation, yet it is just a small part of the complete Farm TABS program. You can see the complete Farm TABS system at your local Terra Dealer.

ZION LUTHERAN LADIES AID-LWML
Nineteen members and Pastor Damm were present for the Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid-LWML meeting Thursday at 1:30 p.m.
Pastor Damm led in presenting the topic, "The Time of Our Lives."
Mrs. Elaine Ehlers, president, opened the meeting with a New Year's poem.
Members answered roll call by paying two cents to the Penny Pot if they stayed up to greet the New Year and three cents if not.
Mrs. Ralph Saegbarth reported on the previous meeting and Mrs. Melvin Freeman gave the treasurer's report.
Annual reports were given and names were drawn for 1986 nutshell friends.
Mrs. Lloyd Jonson and Mrs. Herman Koepke will serve on the January flower committee.
The February Altar Guild will be Mrs. Elaine Ehlers and Mrs. Barbara Planer.
Pastor Damm was seated at the birthday table.
Hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Jonson and Mrs. Alvin Jonson.

For the next meeting on Feb. 6, plans are to have a 6:30 potluck supper and family night. Acting hostesses will be Mrs. LeRoy Koepke and Mrs. Orville Luebe.
TRINITY LUTHERAN LADIES AID
The Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid met Thursday afternoon at the school.
The meeting opened with a hymn and Pastor Bruss conducted devotions. He also led in presenting the topic, "The Home and It's Furnishing," taken from a booklet entitled "Home Life in Bible Times."
Mrs. Alfred Mangels presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Larry Severson read the report of the previous meeting and Mrs. Phyllis Woodman gave the treasurer's report.
Correspondence was read and committee reports were given.
Mrs. Alfred Mangels and Mrs. Todd Kuehl will serve on the visiting committee for January and Mrs. Gerald Bruggeman will be in charge of sending church visitors notes.
Ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. Todd Kuehl on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 21, to work on the serving project for the African Medical Mission.

Mrs. Larry Severson, secretary, read the Aid Constitution.
The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and Table Prayers. Hostesses were Mrs. Carl Hinzman and Mrs. Walter Koehler.
The next meeting will be on Feb. 6 at the school library, when hostesses will be Mrs. Art Behmer and Mrs. Bill Borgmann.
DORCAS SOCIETY
Mrs. Henry Langenberg was hostess when the Dorcas Society of the Peace United Church of Christ met Thursday afternoon.
The meeting opened with the hymn, "Open My Eyes That I Might See" and Mrs. James Spiedel presided.
Mrs. Hazel Wittler reported on the previous meeting and Mrs. Bud Walker gave the treasurer's report. Communications were read.
The annual meeting was held with election of officers and annual reports given.
1986 Aid officers are Mrs. James Spiedel, president; Mrs. Norris Langenberg, vice president; Mrs.

Hazel Wittler, secretary; and Mrs. Bud Walker, treasurer.
The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.
Mrs. George Langenberg Sr. will be hostess for the next meeting on Feb. 6.
OFFICERS INSTALLED
Newly elected church officers were installed during services at Zion Lutheran Church Sunday morning. Pastor George Damm officiated.
Installed were Larry Koepke, chairman; Galen Anderson, elder; Melvin Freeman, trustee; Ralph Saegbarth, financial secretary; Lowell Schradt, Dual Parish secretary; Mrs. Orville Luebe, Ladies Aid vice president; and Mrs. Melvin Freeman, Ladies Aid treasurer.
G&G CARD CLUB
The G&G Card Club met with Mrs. Rose Puls Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Puls and family were guests.
Card prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hinzman, Mrs. Alfred Carstens, Dave Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Puls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Miller will host the next meeting on Feb. 7.
Peace United Church of Christ (John David, pastor)
Sunday, Jan. 12: Junior choir practice, 9 a.m.; Sunday school, 9:30 a.m.; worship service and annual congregational meeting, 10:30 a.m.

NEW COMMUNICATION SYSTEM

The Wakefield Fire and Rescue units have changed to a new communication system. Anyone needing either the Fire Department or the Rescue Unit will still use the same phone number, 287-2826, but the calls will be answered at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

Each firefighter and rescue unit personnel will carry a small pager. The desk unit will be at the Care Center and an employee at the care center will find out what the nature of the emergency might be.

The small phone-like unit at the hospital contains a transmitter that will transmit the information to a repeater at the base of the water tower. The repeater in turn will transmit the signal from an antenna atop the water tower to each of the thirty pagers the local fire and rescue people will be wearing.

The Motorola Monitor pagers will receive the signal for a distance of fifteen miles as compared to the current telephone system restricting people to being within hearing distance of the telephones hooked to it.

Dr. Darrell Lee will also be able to carry a pager and be reached separately with the new system.

Funds for the new system came from the city of Wakefield, the Wakefield Rural Fire Protection District, the Wakefield Rescue Unit and a grant from St. Luke's Medical Center in Sioux City.

Firefighters and Rescue Unit leaders expect to have a quicker response time with the new units and eliminate the expense of the telephone system that had escalated to over $400 a month.

SLAVE AUCTION

The annual junior class slave auction was held Dec. 13 in which each student was sold for eight hours of work. This is one way of raising funds for the prom in the spring. A. D. "Fete" Brown and Myron Olson were the auctioneers.

The sale of the slaves and also of several cakes netted the class $663.50. Following is a list of class members sold; the buyer and amount paid.

Tanya Wilfers, Shelly Nettleton,

Jody Navrkal, Kevin Greve, Brad Lund and Dawn Boatman were all bought by the Millon G. Waldbaum Company for a total of $157.

Tim Schwarten was sold to his dad, Wilson Schwarten for $16. Kaye Kansen and Tammy Nicholson to Ray Lund for $44.50; Kraig Anderson to Carl Anderson for $40; Des Salmon and Stephanie Torcon to Gary Salmon for $66; Stacey Kuhl to Don Kuhl for $45; Amy Peters to Mrs. Don Peters for $17.50; Susie McQuistan to Duane Tappe for $30; Valorie Krusemark to Janelle Eaton for $22.50; Jeannie Carlson to the Feed Bank for $25; Randy Kinney to Mrs. Bill Kinney for $40; Marci Greve to Terry Nicholson for $43 and Bobby Greve to Randy Greve for $30.

The following purchased cakes, and the price paid: Terry Nicholson $8; Barb Greve $10; Willard Bartles $11.50; Phyllis Hix $10; Duane Tappe $10; Janelle Eaton $11; Merlin Greve $22.50 and Derwin Hartman $21.

Mrs. Clarence Schmitz and Mrs. Marvin Stoffe served the lunch. Their next meeting is Friday, Feb. 7 at 2 p.m.

SAVING LABELS

Students at Wakefield Community Schools are currently conducting a label collection drive which will provide the school with educational equipment. As part of a program called Labels for Education, Campbell Soup Company is offering free equipment to schools in exchange for labels from the company's products.

According to project coordinator Mrs. Alice Johnson, in past years the Wakefield School has acquired movie screens for the elementary rooms, tape recorders, audio/visual equipment, and much more. Mrs. Johnson continued by saying the school hopes to collect 10,000 labels before the drive ends on Feb. 15.

Labels from Campbell's condensed soups, Campbell's chunky soups, Campbell's soup products and bean products, Prego Spaghetti sauce, Campbell's tomato juice, V-8 juices, Franco-American products, Swanson canned and frozen food products,

Mrs. Paul's frozen food products and Recipe dog food products are redeemable.

BLUE LIGHTS

The Wakefield Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary's blue light memorial. This year, 477 blue lights were purchased to decorate the tree in the hospital sun room.

The money raised by this project of the auxiliary is used to buy hospital equipment and furnishings. Last year and lobby furniture was upholstered and 48 folding chairs with racks was purchased with the donations. No decision has been made as to how this year's contributions will be used at the care center.

This year the 477 lights purchased honored 300 people.

NPPD audit analysis is available

Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) is sending energy audit request forms to about 16,000 retail customers who own commercial buildings or certain multi-family apartment buildings.

If requested, the audit will provide an analysis of a building's energy efficiency and suggest means by which the owner can conserve energy and reduce costs.

The audits, which are mandated by the National Energy Conservation Policy Act, will cost $50.

To qualify, an apartment building must have been complete by June 30, 1980, have five or more apartments, and have a central heating and cooling system or a central meter for the heating-cooling system.

A commercial building must have been built by the same date and must not be used primarily for the manufacture of products, raw materials, or agricultural commodities.

The $50 fee "will be money well spent," according to Cliff Anderson, NPPD's energy management department manager. "It's a very comprehensive study," he said.

NPPD energy auditors will check a building's heating and cooling system, insulation, lighting, waste heat utilization, and other factors affecting energy costs. The information will be fed into a computer at NPPD's general office in Columbus and an analysis of the building's efficiency, as well as energy saving suggestions, will be returned to the customer within two weeks.

business notes

Focuses on retail customers

Edward D. Jones & Co. awarded revenue bonds

Edward D. Jones & Co. was awarded the $7,185,000 Columbus, Combined Revenue Bonds. Series 1985 issue in a competitive bid on Dec. 16, 1985. The bonds are being issued to provide funds for acquiring and improving additions to the electric distributions system currently owned by the city, to refund certain outstanding sewer and water system revenue bonds and to establish reserves and pay costs of issuance of the Series 1985 bonds.

Bob Beck, General Partner of Edward D. Jones & Co. in charge of municipal bonds, said, "With 21 offices in Nebraska, we feel it's important to offer local issues such as this. Many underwriters sell these types of bonds to institutions, but Edward D. Jones & Company's focus is on the individual retail customer, so we will sell them to the investors who receive the benefits of such an issue."

The bonds are AAA-rated by Standard & Poor's Corporation and are insured by the Bond Investors Guaranty Insurance Company. The interest on the bonds is exempt from all federal income taxes and is not includable in computing Nebraska state income taxes under existing laws, regulations and court decisions. The maturities available begin in 1989 and run through 2006.

cards of thanks

A SINCERE thank you to all who expressed their sympathy in the loss of our husband, father, and grandfather, J. Arnold Anderson. The memorials, flowers, cards, phone calls, prayers, food, and other expressions of sympathy were deeply appreciated. Special thanks to Pastor Monson for his visits and comforting words, the Wilste Mortuary for their kindness and consideration, and the Redeemer ladies for serving the lunch. Your thoughtfulness and concern have made this difficult time easier to bear. Thank you and God bless you. Margaret Anderson, Karen & Dale Finck and family, Judy & Gerald Robins and family, John and Sue Anderson and family. J9

WE WOULD like to thank our Wayne Herald customers for all the nice Christmas gifts. We appreciate your thoughtfulness. Teresa and Tanya Prokop. J9

OUR HEARTFELT thanks to our relatives and friends for their many expressions of sympathy during our bereavement in the loss of our beloved mother, grandmother and great grandmother. Your cards, food, flowers, memorials and many deeds of kindness were most appreciated. Also thanks to Pastor Nitz for his kind words and also thanks to the L.C.W. for serving the noon meal. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hansen; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hansen; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hansen; grandchildren and great grandchildren. J9

FOR THE many thanks that have gone unspoken to those who were so special at our time of loss, the family of Doris Simon wish to extend our heartfelt gratitude. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gross, Deborah, Craig, and Angela. J9

THANKS TO The Wayne Herald for the $100 MAD Bucks I won at the Black Knight. Connie Upton. J9

THANK YOU to all who came to celebrate mothers' 100th birthday. A special thanks to those who helped in so many ways that day for the flowers, gifts and cards. Willard and Joy Blecke. J9

THE FAMILY of Eric Nelson wishes to express their most sincere thanks for the beautiful flowers, cards, memorials, food and words of comfort during his illness and death. Also thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff at PMC and Hillcrest and to Pastor Newman for his prayers and service. God bless you all. Vernice Nelson, Cliff and Donna Stalling and family; Jim and Doris Nelson and family; LaVerne and Joyce Clarkson and family; Fred and Sharon Herrmann and family; Dean and Sue Nelson and family. J9

THANK YOU to the Winside Rescue Unit for responding with speed and care when I was injured, to Pastor Von Seggern for pastoral care and to Cherry's for keeping the kids and to friends for their kind words. It's good to know you are all there. Myrna DuBois. J9

A SPECIAL thank you to everyone who helped in so many ways since my accident, to the friends and neighbors who furnished machinery and worked to get our corn out and to the ladies cooking and sending food. Thank you to Pastor and Mrs. Monson, Pastor Von Seggern, Sister Gertrude and so many others for their prayers, the visits, calls, cards and flowers. Thank you to Dr. Lindau, Dr. Meyer, the nurses and entire staff at PMC for their wonderful care. Lawrence Sprouls. J9

WE ARE SINCERELY grateful to friends, neighbors and relatives for all the cards, flowers, memorials, food and other acts of kindness extended to us at the time of our loved one's death. Many thanks to the ladies who helped with meals at the home and lunch at the church. A special thanks to Pastor Bruce Schut for his comforting words and help. Your kindness will never be forgotten. The family of Claire Anderson. J9

A SINCERE thank you to all who touched our lives in the last five months — the doctors, nurses, staff, personnel at the clinic and PMC, to the pastors, of Grace Lutheran congregation, the prayer chain, to Sister Gertrude for her kindnesses and her daily encouragement, to those who cooked the nourishing meals, to those who provided fresh clean linens every day, to those who kept our rooms fresh and clean, to the therapy staff, and to relatives, neighbors and friends of their many good deeds in taking me to the hospital or bringing me home, taking me to the Norfolk clinic and hospital through snow and ice, to those who called, sent me flowers, fruit baskets, get well cards, holiday greetings and birthday cards, for the fruit cake, cookies, candy, nuts and other "goodies", so Jack was cared for when he was ill. I feel I could not have survived without your prayers and expressions of caring and love. THANK YOU! Frances Kingston. J9
