County officials file to seek re-election

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Four individuals have recently filed the necessary papers with the county clerk for re-election to their respective Wayne County offices and all are on the Republican ticket.

Those seeking re-election include Oregretta Morris for the county clerk position, Leon Meyer for the office of county treasurer, and Doris Stipp who filed for county assessor.

Incumbent Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen announced his intentions last week to seek re-election and has also officially filed for the position.

Morris, a longtime native of the Millington Wayne County, is seeking re-election to her third four-year term as county clerk. She is a graduate of Hoskins High School and started working in the county clerk's office in 1961 as a bookkeeper.

In 1970, she was appointed as deputy clerk.

Stipp is a Wayne native and longtime resident of Wayne County. She is seeking her third four-year term as Wayne County assessor.

Meyer, a 1939 Wayne High graduate, was appointed to fill out two years of the unexpired term of Henry Arp, who had resigned in 1973. She started working in the county assessor's office in 1963 as a clerk. In 1966 she became deputy assessor before moving into the assessor's post.

MEYER, 47, is also a lifelong resident of Wayne County and a 1941 graduate of Wayne High School. He is completing his fourth term as Wayne County treasurer.

Meyer farmed and was owner-operator of the Altina Store for 21 years before winning election to the county treasurer office in the November, 1970 elections. He and his wife, Melvina, moved into Wayne from Altina about five years ago.

Other offices up for the primary election this year, scheduled for May 13, and the general election, (on Nov. 4) in Wayne County include the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, currently held by Robert Belterman and Gerald Paschall; the county attorney's office, presently held by Bob Enns; the clerk of district court position held by Jean Ostrander; the county surveyor position, held by Clyde Flowers, currently holding that office; the county superintendent position, held by Bob Sreckler; and two urban seats on the County Nominating Board.

Filing papers should be turned in to the county clerk by Feb. 27 (for incumbents) and March 14 (for non-incumbents).

Open offices for the city of Wayne will be for Mayor, now held by Wayne Marsh; two Third Ward Councilmen, currently held by Leo Hansen and Randy Pedersen; First Ward, now occupied by David Heier; Second Ward, held now by Carolyn Filmer; and Fourth Ward, presently filled by Larry Johnson.

Ashker extradited to South Dakota

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Lewis Ashker of Wayne was extradited Friday afternoon to the Charles Nix county jail in Lake Andes, South Dakota.

Ashker has been indicted by a South Dakota grand jury and will be facing charges of first degree murder, first degree manslaughter in the stabbing death of Jerald Pihaj of Delmont, South Dakota.

Ashker and Kurt Novaock of Wayne, who was indicted by the grand jury on the same charges as Ashker, had both refused to waive extradition to South Dakota in December. They were arrested and placed in the Wayne County Jail on Dec. 3, the same day the indictments were handed down.

On Jan. 3 the Wayne County Sheriff's Office received the necessary authorization from the Nebraska governor's office permitting the extradition of both Ashker and Novaock to South Dakota.

DURING A COURT appointment at the Wayne County Courthouse on Thursday afternoon (Jan. 9), both Ashker and Novaock were told of their rights concerning extradition. At that hearing, it was announced that Ashker would waive extradition and be sent to South Dakota.

Novaock, however, continues to refuse to waive extradition and he remains at the Wayne County Jail. It was not known, as of Friday evening, whether Novaock intends to make application for a writ of habeas corpus — a writ requiring a person to be brought before a judge or court for a restraint on that person's liberty.

Douglas County, South Dakota law enforcement authorities arrived about noon on Friday to transfer Ashker to the jail facility in Lake Andes. The county seat is Armour, South Dakota.

Ron Morrow, sheriff of Douglas County, told The Wayne Herald that Ashker, upon arriving at Lake Andes, had an appearance Friday afternoon before Circuit Judge Paul Kern of Lake Andes.

AT THAT court appearance, Judge Kern established Ashker's bail bond at $350,000. Morrow said that if Ashker can come up with 10 percent of that amount in cash ($35,000), he would be set free on bail from the South Dakota jail facility.

Also at that court appearance, Ashker was provided a court appointed attorney. "At the present time, that court appointed attorney is Tom Alberts of Avon, South Dakota," Morrow said.

What likely will take place in the Ashker case now will be to set the time and place for motion hearings — an application by the defendant made to a court or judge, either orally in open court or by petition, to obtain an order, ruling and direction in favor of the applicant.

Safety deposit boxes pulled from bank vault

by Chuck Hackenmiller

It had been merely speculation and obvious concern by many people as to how the 1,500 safety deposit boxes had survived inside the State National Bank's former location, the exact spot where an early morning fire on Jan. 2 had brought the building to its destruction.

However, all worries may have ceased Thursday morning after the clean-up crews had cleared enough of the rubble around the main vault of the bank so that bank officials could at last safely open the vault doors which was the gateway to the safety deposit boxes.

Later, the bank's insurance company opened up the boxes of several of the State National Bank bank of offices.

The result? "We were very happy with the condition of the contents," said State National Bank President David Ley. "We found no damage whatsoever."

He said the vault which was built to house the safety deposit boxes, and the other fire resistant vaults in the bank, had met "and exceeded" their specifications. The concrete walls surrounding the main vault were approximately 18" thick.

All of the safety deposit boxes were moved from the burned grounds to the temporary State National Bank building (the former True Value business building). Bank officials brought over the boxes with a forklift obtained from Carhart's, with armed law enforcement personnel escorting the safety deposit boxes to the temporary bank.

"Throughout the whole operation, there was maximum security," Ley said.

BEGINNING today (Monday), those with safety deposit boxes can gain access to them at the bank's temporary location, starting at 8:30 a.m.

"It will be done the same way as the previous bank operation, with an employee helping to open the boxes," Ley said.

"They (the depositor) can examine the contents and lock it back up or remove any document if needed," he added.

Extra personnel, he said, will be on hand for a period of two weeks to make review of the safety deposit boxes more convenient for the customer.

Four stalls near the area of the safety deposit boxes have been set up to provide some privacy for customers to review the box contents.

A limited amount of depositors will be able to enter the safety deposit area at one time.

Depositors may want to call before going to the bank, just to avoid the inconvenience of waiting, Ley mentioned.

"The construction work on the new safety deposit box area has already begun. The vaults and doors are on their way from Des Moines," he said.

The transition of the State National Bank from its former location to the present temporary main headquarters is continuing at a rapid pace.

The night depository is now functioning at the temporary site, Ley said. "The customer can use the same night deposit key as before and it is the same letter drop as before," he said.

Interim rates upped for NW Bell

Northwestern Bell will begin charging higher interim rates for monthly telephone service in Nebraska on Jan. 8.

Don Bliss, Northwestern Bell vice president-regulatory and external affairs and chief executive officer for Nebraska, said the complex nature of the telephone company's June 1985 request for $14.5 million in rates has led to a very thorough examination of the company's operations by the Nebraska Public Service Commission.

"While this necessary process continues, Northwestern Bell will begin billing a portion of the requested increase," Bliss said. "This interim billing procedure is similar to that followed by local telephone companies in many other states and is available to us under Nebraska law.

"The Public Service Commission faces a difficult task in evaluating this request. The complex nature of our changing industry must be addressed to ensure that Northwestern Bell is financially capable of providing the high quality service our customers expect," Bliss said.

"The rates will vary depending on the availability of local measured service. Over 75 percent of Northwestern Bell's Nebraska customers have measured service available to them.

"By choosing one of the two local measured service options, customers can control what they pay for local telephone service. For $9.25 a month, residence customers receive $1 worth of local calls, then begin paying a small charge for each additional local call they place. For $12.25 a month, $5 worth of calls are included before additional charges apply," Bliss said. "There are also two local measured service options for business customers."

WHERE LOCAL measured service is available, residence customers would pay from $15.19 a month for a private line and unlimited local calling. Business customers would pay from $37.84 per month for a private line and unlimited local calling.

Nebraska customers who do not have local measured service available will continue to have unlimited call single-party service at a lesser monthly interim rate.

Charges for Nebraska directory assistance, residence and business service orders and operators assistance on local and long distance calls are also increasing.

Northwestern Bell is mailing a letter to all customers this week covering the interim rates, according to Bliss.

"Interim rates will be refunded if the total is more than authorized by the Nebraska Public Service Commission in its final decision.

'hacken' away

I was vacationing in the mild climates of Colorado with my family, visiting my in-laws in the Fort Collins area.

That particularly Thursday morning (which was Jan. 2) we were having a late breakfast when the telephone rang.

It was boss Jim Marsh and staffer LaVon Anderson on the other end of the long distance call.

"Hackenmiller, you're never going to leave Wayne again," Jim said. "What did I do now?" was my first thought.

LaVon broke in: "The State National Bank burned down last night!" "You're kidding me!" I said, still anticipating this to be some sort of practical joke because of incidents that had happened other times while I was vacationing. I'll get to that later on.

"There's water all over the basement here they were calling from the Wayne Herald office). If the weather conditions had been different, the Herald would have probably burned up, too," they told me.

It suddenly sunk in that they really were not pulling my leg. When they mentioned that John Prather's apartment was destroyed in the fire, then I became very concerned. They told me the details. It shook me.

LAVon AND Jim both assured me that they would handle the assignment of reporting the incident and there was no need me to shorten my vacation. So we stayed in Colorado—but the bank's disaster was always in the back of my mind.

The staff did an excellent job of getting the story—the most detailed of other articles which I read (and the most colorful).

And they did it under adverse conditions from within the smoke-filled newspaper offices on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Copies of our newspaper carrying the fire story sold fast.

John, despite losing all but a few belongings in the fire, was out there with the Herald camera moments after his apartment went up in smoke —snapping away with his camera. We now are contending with the occasional rumbling of the wrecking crews next door as they clear away the rubble of the bank and knock down the walls. Sometimes it feels like a mild tremor on the earthquake scale.

But that is music to our ears compared to what could have happened—like having no place in Wayne to put out a newspaper.

THE REASONING why Mr. Marsh said I wasn't to leave Wayne again. It seems every time I leave for some vacation or long weekend, something of major consequence happens—either in Wayne or during my vacation.

One time while I took some time off, a vehicle crashed through one of the buildings on Wayne's Main Street.

Another episode on the vacation saga was a weekend in late November as we went home to visit my parents in Iowa for a Thanksgiving gathering.

It snowed 16 inches where we were at. Started and never stopped. It seemed.

What was supposed to be a large family get-together on that memorable day turned into a comfortable six-some.

So the staff here at the Herald continually reminded me before I left for Colorado after Christmas—"What's going to happen when you go? Something always does, you know." So what happens while we're in Colorado?

The bank burns down. Businesses in the bank building are destroyed. John's apartment is now a heap of rubble. I almost didn't have a newspaper office to come back to.

Seriously, we were shocked when we saw the bank ruins on our return to Wayne.

But we truly believe whatever happens while we're going is all coincidental. It's idiotic to think these things would never have happened had the Hackenmillers not gone on vacation.

Isn't it?

Reagan's 1985

comparable to roller coaster

by Richard Leshner

A year after triumphantly taking his second oath, Ronald Reagan might well compare 1985 to a roller coaster.

Like a roller coaster, the first year of the second Reagan term started and ended the same way: with a resurgent president, a strong economy, promise on the budget, and a shaky tax reform package. But as with its amusement park counterpart, 1985 offered plenty of ups and downs on the way. Let's review those high and lows:

• The Economy — Buoyed by the president's pro-growth policies, America roared into 1985—but then the engine of growth sputtered.

Why would an economy level off with interest rates plunging, inflation under control, personal income up sharply and investment strong? The answer: uncertainty on the budget, taxes and trade.

Still, the economy's vital signs were strong enough to sustain a second half revival—and I think it's poised for a surprising takeoff in 1986. But one worrisome signal is a Commerce Department report that business, concerned about the shape of tax reform, plans to cut back on investment.

• The Budget — Coming into 1985, all Washington agreed something had to be done about deficits. The Senate bit the bullet, but presidential cold feet on capping Social Security and clever number cooking by House liberals put the kabosh on that early action.

It took two freshman senators — Phil Gramm (R-Texas) and Warren Rudman (R-N.H.) — to jolt Congress into action. They seized on legislators' reluctance to raise the debt limit to $2 trillion—and proposed tying a debt hike to mandated spending cuts that would balance the budget by 1991. Gramm-Rudman is crude and subject to constitutional challenge. But it ensures that the 1986 round of budget-cutting will be played in earnest.

For starters, Gramm-Rudman froze cost-of-living adjustment for civil service and military pensions as of Jan. 1.

• Tax reform — Late in 1984, then-Treasury Secretary Regan dropped a bomb on business with a reform plan that drastically cut back pro-growth incentives. After limited improvements in the plan officially unveiled in May, the new Treasury Secretary, James Baker, turned to liberal Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski for help in the Democratic House. The result: an embarrassing preliminary defeat for the president in the House as his own party deserted him—and a bill sent to the Senate that portends recession if passed.

The president has promised to veto the bill if it isn't cleaned up, but the prognosis is not good: In an election year, business will be a tempting target for politicians.

• Politics — Riding high into his second term on a historic electoral win, the president was soon brought back to earth by congressional rejection of his budget priorities. But the Geneva summit sent his popularity soaring.

That presidential goodwill could help end the traditional six-year lull for the party in power in the 1986 elections. But the embarrassing split over tax reform could also sap the president's momentum—and hurt his influence on Capitol Hill and on the campaign trail next fall.

For now, President Reagan has put talk of lame-duckery behind him. But 1985, for him, must have resembled a roller coaster in one other way: like many a rider, he started with high hopes—and probably finished relieved to have survived the trip.

Nebraska Legislature well-staffed

CAPITOL NEWS

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

For a part-time citizen legislature, the Nebraska Legislature is well-supplied with staff members, according to a report prepared for senators by their research division.

In the years since 1967, the staff has grown by 245 percent. About 215 people are employed by the Legislature full time, the year around. They work for individual senators, for legislative committees or for any of six legislative staff agencies such as the clerk's office, the research division or the bill drafter's office.

Each of the 49 lawmakers is authorized to hire up to two full-time staff members—an administrative assistant and a legislative aide.

In addition, the 16 senators who chair committees may hire at least two more staffers and sometimes more. Thirty-six "professional" positions are distributed among the six staff agencies.

All that amounts to 4.4 staff people for each member of the Legislature. In Wisconsin, there has a full-time legislature, which has 550 staff people, or 4.1 per lawmaker.

THE REPORT said the growth in Nebraska's legislative staff has occurred without any clear design.

"The staffing pattern of the Nebraska Legislature is marked by fragmentation and decentralization. The various staff...are widely dispersed and function largely independent of one another. No structure, no mechanism, no process binds the staff together."

The consequences are that individual lawmakers may not be served as well as they might be, the report said, and the Legislature isn't able to engage in much policy research or to oversee the operation of state government.

"The Legislature is far from being an independent and assertive partner in the task of governing," the report said.

"The workload is miscalculated and unmanaged. Duplication of effort abounds. So many staff—of all shapes and sizes—do so many things that different staff often do the same things at the same time and don't even notice."

THE EXECUTIVE board of the Legislative Council has made one change in legislative staffing since the report was issued and has been discussing others.

With Sens. Bill Barrett of Lexington and Carol Pirsch of Omaha dissenting, the board voted in a new policy that denies newly elected senators the right to hire their own legislative aides for the first four years they are in office.

Instead, they would make use of a pool of researchers from the research division. For each pair of new senators, the research division would be authorized to hire one research analyst to meet those needs.

The new policy, which would not apply to current senators, may draw some fire when the legislature opens its regular session on Jan. 8. Barrett and others say it's very important for a new senator to be able to hire someone who is familiar with the legislative district, a feature that would be missing if a pool of researchers were used instead.

But some senators, like Senator Lee Rupp of Monroe, say they didn't know enough about the legislative process when they first arrived to be able to keep an aide busy full-time. He favors retention of the new policy put forth by the executive board.

Q. Is there a law regarding how long I have to keep cancelled checks and check book registers?

A. No, there is no law that you must keep these types of records for any specific period of time, or even that you must keep them at all. However, such financial records may someday be of assistance to you in settling a dispute over payment, figuring your income tax, or keeping a record of certain types of expenses, for example. Therefore, many people recommend that checks and other receipts and records be kept for at least five years.

Aging a Nebraska asset

Nebraska is not immune to the "graying" of the population. Recent information from the Nebraska Department of Aging indicates that historically the growth of the 60 plus population in Nebraska has outstripped that of the general population. From 1910 to 1980, the state population of all ages increased by 32 percent, while the 60 plus population increased by 242 percent in that same period.

This trend should continue as the Post World War II babyboom generation ages, assuming that birth rates remain at a relatively low level and mortality rates continue to decline. The state population of all ages is expected to increase by 21 percent from 1980 to 2020, while the 60 plus population will grow by 46 percent, or a rate twice that of the general population.

Even though the dramatic increases in the older population are projected to come nearer the turn of the century, continued steady increases are occurring right now.

The 1980 Census figures put the number of older Nebraskans 60 or older at 273,000. The Bureau estimates that as of July 1984, that figure had increased to 285,000, a number that surpasses Census Bureau projections for the number of older Nebraskans in both the years 1990 and 2000.

This trend has side effects that can have a positive bearing on Nebraska's economy if used to our advantage. New industry attracted to Nebraska would find a more mature, experienced work force available, which could greatly reduce start up costs. Additionally the older workers normally has more spendable income available after basic needs are satisfied, thus creating a plus for the retail business climate. Business and industry will find it necessary to provide pre-retirement planning in the personnel policy package to satisfy the older workers.

The Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging currently offers On-the-Job Training, Classroom Training, plus consultation programs for employers and qualified potential employees over 55 years of age.

Blue Devils start slow, but post easy 61-48 victory over Madison

It took a while for Wayne to get on track Friday night, but once the Blue Devils did they controlled the game's tempo and handed Madison a 61-48 loss.

Wayne head coach Bob Uhing said his club played hard in the early going, but was probably trying too hard.

"The kids were working hard in the first half, but they were trying too hard," he said. "I think they saw how easily the junior varsity won and were trying to score four points on every possession."

The Blue Devil JVs routed Madison 75-34, and after the first minute, it appeared the Wayne varsity was also going to have a laugh.

After Don Larsen ushered in the game with a hoop, Dan Gross picked off a Dragon inbound pass and converted the theft into an easy bucket.

But Madison settled down and although it appeared Wayne was controlling the contest, the Dragons opened a 10-8 lead with 3:57 to go in the first quarter.

The Blue Devils outscored the visitors 7-4 over the final three minutes, however, and 15-12 in the second quarter for a 30-26 halftime lead.

Wayne took total control of the game in the third stanza by outscoring the Dragons 22-9 for a 52-35 advantage with just eight minutes remaining. Madison outscored the Blue Devils 13-9 in the last period to make the final score respectable. Once Wayne played with more patience, the Blue Devils drew praise from their head coach.

"We settled down and once we did we played good ball," he said. "I was happy with the way we played, even in the first half because we played hard and aggressively."

Larsen was once again the Blue Devils' mainstay as the 6-5 senior canned 11-of-17 field goals and 2-of-5 free throws for a game high 24 points.

Ted Lueders followed Larsen with eight markers, while Jeff Hausmann and Brent Pick tallied seven and six points, respectively. Mike Choutka and David Hekrdle led Madison with 16 points apiece.

Wayne dominated the boards and out rebounded the Dragons 33-16. Larsen and Hausmann grabbed a game high 10 rebounds apiece for the Blue Devils.

Lueders led Wayne with eight assists, while Gross totaled a team high four steals.

The victory improved Wayne's record to 6-2 on the year. The Blue Devils have, perhaps, their most difficult period of the 1985-86 season next week.

Wayne plays Schuyler on Tuesday, Stanton on Friday and Seward on Saturday. Schuyler is ranked eighth in the state, while Stanton is rated seventh in Northeast Nebraska and Seward is ranked second in the state. All three games are on the road.

Uhing said he is naturally concerned about the coming week, but said he is pleased with his club's play so far this year.

"We have a very difficult week ahead of us so we'll have to be ready to play," he said. "But I'm very happy with the way the kids have progressed so far."

Jon Stollenberg led Wayne's junior varsity with 16 points, while Nick Engelson and Tom Miller added 13 and 10 points, respectively, to the Blue Devil rout.

The victory improved Wayne's varsity to 6-2 on the year.

Trojans face Homer for title

Wakefield reaches championship

PENDER — Wakefield's boys advanced to the championship game of the Pender Tournament with a thrilling 51-50 triumph over Pender here Friday night.

The Trojans enjoyed a 12-10 lead after the first quarter and a 30-25 advantage at intermission. However, Pender pulled within one, 40-39, after the third stanza.

The fourth quarter was evenly played until Wakefield opened a three point lead with just seconds remaining. Pender's Larry Ballinger rounded out the game's scoring with a dunk at the buzzer. Ballinger's final hoop was unopposed by Wakefield for fear the Trojans might accidentally foul the 6-4 lumping Jack and set up a three point opportunity.

A major key to the victory was free throw shooting. After the first three quarters, Wakefield was 6-of-7 from the line and finished 13-for-18. Pender, on the other hand, made just 2-of-8 giffers on the night.

Another factor in the Trojan victory was their defense, according to head coach Paul Eaton.

"We played pretty good defense without getting into foul trouble. We have to play aggressively on defense and a lot of time we get in foul trouble, but we didn't tonight," he said.

Wakefield committed just 12 fouls on the night, while Pender was guilty of 19.

A majority of Wakefield's scoring load fell on the shoulders of Wade Nicholson and Kevin Greve. The Trojan duo combined for 39 markers as Nicholson tallied 20 points and Greve finished with 19.

Ballinger and Jim Lehmkuhl led Pender with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Wakefield dominated the boards by out rebounding the Penderags 38-20. Greve and Kevin Rose led the Trojans with 11 and 10 boards, respectively.

Wakefield canned an impressive 18-of-30 field goals for 60 percent to go along with its 13-of-18 free throw shooting.

The victory improved the Trojans to 3-4 on the year. Wakefield will face 7-1 Homer in the championship game Saturday night.

Tuesday night Wakefield plays a boy-girl doubleheader at Wallhills.

Jason Erb, one of Wakefield's leading scorers before a knee injury forced him to the sidelines earlier in the year, has been shooting baskets at the Trojan practices and is expected to be back in uniform in early February.

Wayne State downs Kentucky State 84-70

FRANKFURT, KY. — Wayne State salvaged an otherwise discouraging road trip by slipping past Kentucky State 84-70 here Thursday night.

The Wildcats dropped a 91-63 decision to Southern Illinois on Monday and the following night lost to Kentucky Wesleyan 80-43. But Thursday night the tables turned in Wayne State's favor.

Kentucky State answered the opening bell with a quick spurt that allowed them to take a 10 point lead. But with Russ Rosenquist leading the way, Wayne State refused to roll over for the hosts and managed to tie the game at 33 at intermission.

The Wildcats then put together one of their most productive halves of the season as they outscored Kentucky State 51-37 in the final 20 minutes for the 14 point triumph.

Wayne State assistant coach Fred Schnell said the key to the victory was the Wildcats' patience and defense.

"We played hard defense, did not panic against their press and took good shots," Schnell said.

Rosenquist led the Wildcats in scoring with 24 points. But a major key to the triumph was Wayne State's balanced scoring as Arnie Hayes and Keith Berg both tallied 14 points, while Vincent White totaled 13 markers and Mike McNamara added 12 points.

It marked the first time this season that the Wildcats have had five players score in double figures.

McNamara led the Wildcats in rebounding with six, while Marcus Wilson and Mark Gracey both added four boards to the Wayne State win. The Wildcats grabbed 24 rebounds on the night. Kentucky State also had a balanced scoring attack as Mike Shoulders led the hosts with 21 points and nine rebounds, while Greg Cheatham tallied 13 markers, and Ghevel Burnside and Walter Wright both added 11 points.

Both teams had impressive nights from the line as Wayne State canned 24-of-27 free throws and Kentucky State made 20-of-26 giffers.

Wayne State made 30-of-59 field goals and finished with 24 fouls and 16 turnovers. Kentucky State made 25-of-55 fielders and totaled 22 fouls.

The Wildcats are now 4-8 on the year. Kentucky State slipped to 2-11. Wayne State plays again Tuesday when Missouri Southern invades Rice Auditorium. The Wildcats then travel to Kearney State and Fort Hays State on Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Olson shoots for finals at State

By John Prahier Sports Editor

A lyric from the song "The Burning Heart" by Survivor states, "his body says quit, but his spirit cries never." The song is describing Rocky Balboa in the hit movie Rocky IV, but it's also an accurate description of Winside's Chris Olson.

In his first two years of high school wrestling, Olson qualified for the state tournament. But last year, the 132-pounder was upset in districts and failed to make the trek to Lincoln.

That particular loss has haunted Olson the past 10 months, but it has also inspired him to work his very hardest this season.

"I was ahead 7-2 with about 10 seconds to go and lost," he said. "And if (losing) has been eating at me all year. I think about that loss before every match now, and when I get tired it helps me to dig down for that something extra."

In addition to qualifying for state in his first two years, Olson has accumulated an impressive 57-17 record over his last three seasons. This year the stocky senior owns a 10-1 mark, including six pins.

Paul Sok, Winside's head coach, said Olson's assets are numerous, and elaborated on several of his prized pupils' main weapons.

"He pays very close attention on the mat and he's a hard worker, but I think his biggest assets are his strength and his execution," he said.

athlete of the month

Chris Olson

"He's stronger than most of his opponents, and he executes very well."

"Although Olson has bench-pressed 230 pounds, he disagreed with Sok about his most impressive asset.

"I think my biggest asset is my coach. He's a great coach. He's a good coach at meets and he's good at practice, too, and he's always there when you need him," Olson said.

Olson and two other Wildcat grapplers combine for an incredible 27-3 mark as 105-pounder Mace Kant sports an 8-1 record and 112-pounder Doug Paulsen is 9-1. But Sok said a lot of Olson's success is due to two heavier Winside wrestlers.

"Chris practices a lot against Darin Schellenberg (138-pounds) and Randy Leapley (155-pounds) in practice. It's tough to go against guys bigger than you because you give up a lot of strength and power, but I think it has helped Chris in the long run because he has to work hard in practice," the Wildcat mentor said.

Olson added that in addition to wrestling his teammates, several alumni and coaching aide Tom Koch have also assisted in his and the Winside wrestling program's success.

"A lot of alumni come in and wrestle, and Tom Koch is our assistant coach but he's strictly a volunteer," he said. "Being the only senior and the team captain, I really appreciate their help."

Missing the 1985 State Wrestling Tournament naturally affected Olson, especially because he beat five state placers and eight state qualifiers from last year. But missing the 1986 Lincoln tournament is not in his plans.

"My goals are to win the rest of the tournaments I'm in, and to make it to the finals at state."

Wildcats improve in second half

Beemer buries Winside

BEEMER — The Beemer Bobcats left little doubt as to why they're ranked in the top 10 in the state as they built a 35-12 halftime lead before claiming a 61-47 victory over Winside here Friday night.

The Bobcats totally dominated the first half. After owning a 22-2 advantage at the end of the first quarter, the hosts claimed the 23 point lead at intermission.

But Winside refused to quit and played better in the second half. Wildcat head coach Mark Froberg reflected on his club's second half play.

"We could've quit, but the kids stayed in there," he said. "Things were pretty bleak at halftime, but we just came out in the second half and worked on the things we try to do best and we ended up cutting the lead to 19 points and scored 35 points in the second half."

Winside trailed 55-25 at the end of three periods, but outscored the Bobcats 22-6 in the final quarter to round out the game's scoring.

"The last half was encouraging," Froberg said. "The kids showed in the second half that they can play ball."

Mike Thies led Winside in scoring with 10 points. Tim Jacobsen, just a freshman, tallied nine markers to the Wildcat cause, while teammates Brent Nau, Tim Voss and Doug Mundi all added six points apiece.

Tim Schuiz led Beemer with a game high 20 points.

Winside grabbed 26 rebounds on the night. Kevin Jaeger and Thies led the Wildcats with eight and five boards, respectively.

Beemer also claimed the junior varsity game with a 36-25 victory. Despite playing only two quarters so he'd have his varsity eligibility in fact. Jacobsen still led the Wildcat JVs with 10 points. Chris Nau and Darren Wecker added nine and six points, respectively, to the Winside cause.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 0-7 on the year. Winside's next game is Tuesday against Snyder, another top 10 team in Nebraska.

Laurel bumped at tourney

PONCA — With Dawn Hermelbracht leading the way, Bancroft-Rosalie pulled away from Laurel-Concord by outscoring the Panthers 13-6 in the final eight minutes to claim a 37-28 victory here Friday night in the consolation round of the Ponca Invitational.

Hermelbracht scored a game high 25 points, including nine in the last quarter to increase the Panthers lead from a 22-22 advantage to the final nine point victory.

"She (Hermelbracht) was something else," Laurel head coach Gale Hamilton said. "She was consistent because she had 10 in the first half and 15 in the second half, but she was especially impressive in the last quarter."

The game was evenly played in the first three frames as both teams battled to a 6-6 tie before Bancroft opened a 14-12 halftime advantage.

Both squads then tallied 10 markers in the third period before the Panthers outscored Laurel 13-6 in the final eight minutes.

Hamilton said his club might have been drained from the close loss it suffered Thursday night to Aljen, but said the biggest problem was the Bears' lack of hustle.

"I'm sure were down a little emotionally from Thursday night, but I'd hate to use that as an excuse," he said. "Basically, we were just outstuffed and we can't have that."

Allen trimmed the Bears 33-32 in the opening round Thursday night. Gail Twiford and Penny Dempster led Laurel in scoring with eight points apiece.

Laurel is now 2-5 on the year after winning its first two contests of the season. Hamilton said he hopes the Bears break out of the slump soon.

"We're really in a rut right now," he said. "I think the girls know they didn't play up to their potential against Bancroft, and hopefully we'll get back on the winning path Monday night."

area girls basketball

Once again, Allen trims Laurel's girls

PONCA — Everybody that attended the Allen/Laurel-Concord basketball game Thursday night expected a close contest. After all, the last time these two clubs met Allen pulled out a thrilling 37-35 overtime victory.

And everyone's expectations were met as the Eagles once again prevailed, this time by a 33-32 verdict, to advance to the championship game of the Ponca Invitational.

Laurel controlled most of the contest as the Bears held an eight point advantage in the second quarter and led 25-16 early in the third frame.

But Laurel's most productive player, 5-11 junior Gail Twiford, was whistled for her fourth foul midway through the third frame and was forced to the bench.

It was while Twiford was sitting, according to both head coaches, that Allen made its comeback. "We were playing well and had the nine point lead in the third quarter, and then Gail picked up her fourth foul and Allen came back," Laurel head coach Gale Hamilton said.

"We made our comeback when Twiford was on the bench," Allen head coach Gary Troth said. "Chris Blohm went to work on the inside and our outside people like Kristi Chase and Lana Erwin hit some shots and we came back from a 25-16 deficit to a 26-25 deficit."

Allen eventually pulled ahead with just over two minutes remaining in the game on a basket by Blohm. Blohm's late hoop gave the Eagles their first lead of the night.

Allen increased its lead to three in the late going, but Laurel came back and had a chance to tie the contest on its last possession but missed.

Troth said that his club's full court press was a major factor in the Eagles' second half turnaround.

"We used a lot of full court pressure in the second half and it worked," he said. "We held them to only 12 shots in the second half."

Laurel built a 10-5 lead after the first quarter and led by eight in the second period. But Allen baffled back to only trail by five, 19-14, at intermission.

Laurel then pulled ahead by nine in the third period before Allen made its comeback.

Despite experiencing the foul trouble, Twiford claimed the game's scoring honors with 12 points. Diane Magnuson led Allen with 10 points, while Erwin and Chase tallied nine and seven markers, respectively. Penny Dempster added six points to the Laurel cause.

The Bears outrebounded Allen 27-22. Becky Christensen led Laurel with 11 boards and Twiford added 10. Magnuson and Blohm led Allen with eight and seven rebounds, respectively.

Hamilton said it was a tough loss, but added that it was not totally disappointing because he realizes Allen has a good team.

"It was a tough one to lose, but Allen hustled real well and they have a pretty good ball club," he said.

The victory improved Allen's record to 5-2 on the year. The Eagles will face Ponca in the championship game Saturday night.

Laurel dropped to 2-4 on the season. The Bears play Bancroft-Rosalie in the consolation game.

Winside hits 'low' in 32-21 loss to Beemer

WINSIDE — During the course of a basketball season, nearly every team goes through some highs and lows. Thursday night, Winside's girls experienced a low as Beemer handed the Wildcats a misleading 32-21 loss.

"Hopefully, this will be our worst game of the year because everything that could happen did," Winside head coach Jill Stenwall said.

The Wildcat skipper's analysis about her team's play is fairly accurate as the hosts shot just 25 percent from the field, made only 5-of-16 free throws and turned the ball over 21 times.

Most of Winside's poor play occurred in the first three quarters as the Wildcats trailed 26-11 with eight minutes remaining. Winside then outscored the Bobcats 10-6 in the final frame, including nine points in the last two minutes, to make the final score respectable.

Both teams struggled in the early going as the game was plagued with turnovers. However, Beemer was able to shake its early problems quicker than the Wildcats and the visitors opened an 8-2 lead before pulling ahead 10-4 after the first period.

The Bobcats followed by ushering the second stanza in with two quick baskets to pull ahead 14-4 at the 6:04 mark. Beemer then led 20-6 with 2:30 remaining before halftime. However, Winside stayed in contention as the Wildcats were able to cut the gap to 11, 20-9, by fallying the half's final three points.

Both teams experienced shooting difficulty in the third quarter and the Bobcats outscored Winside 6-2 to open a 26-11 advantage with just eight minutes remaining.

Beemer canned 15-of-40 fielders and only 2-of-14 free throws. Winside finished 8-for-32 from the floor.

Tracy Topp led Winside in scoring and rebounding with seven points and 11 boards. The game's scoring honors went to Beemer's Patty Frazubbers and Cathleen Schlickbernd who totaled eight points apiece. Julie Brockman added five markers to the Wildcat cause.

Winside outrebounded the Bobcats 50-42, and Beemer finished with 15 turnovers.

The night wasn't a total loss for Wildcat fans as the Winside junior varsity claimed a 24-21 triumph. Kristy Miller and Ann Meierhenry led Winside's JVs with eight and five points, respectively.

The Wildcat JV team is now 3-2 on the year, while Winside's varsity slipped to 2-5. Winside's next game is Tuesday at Snyder.

Board work lifts Emerson past Trojans

PENDER — Emerson-Hubbard's impressive board work allowed the Pirates a 47-25 victory over Wakefield's girls in the opening round of the Pender Tournament here Thursday night.

Emerson outrebounded Wakefield 38-21 on the night, but Trojan head coach Arnie Cerny said the key to the game was the Pirates' domination of the offensive boards.

"Emerson had 25 offensive rebounds and that was the whole story," he said. "Those 25 boards allowed them to take 60 shots on the night. We shot the best we did all year (39 percent), but we only got off half as many shots as they did. We just didn't do a good job of blocking out on the defensive end."

Wakefield made 12-of-31 field goals and 1-of-7 free throws, while Emerson canned 19-of-60 fielders and 9-of-21 free throws.

Emerson took control of the game very early and opened a 15-6 lead after the first quarter, before pulling ahead by 21, 29-8, at intermission.

The Pirates maintained their 21 point advantage after three quarters and led 37-16 with eight minutes to go before outscoring the Trojans 10-8 in the final period.

"We played much better in the second half," Cerny said. "We finished with 39 turnovers, but a vast majority of those came in the first half."

Emerson finished with 24 miscues on the night.

Both teams had balanced scoring. Marci Greve led Wakefield with six points, while teammates Stacey Kuhl, Desiree Salmon, Tricia Schwanen and Karen Hallstrom all tallied four markers. Emerson was led by Mary Henderson who totaled 11 points, while Melissa Martin and Laurie Millard followed with 10 points apiece for the Pirates.

The game was the second of the year between the two schools. Emerson claimed a similar 49-22 victory earlier in the season.

Homer trims Wakefield, 41-34

PENDER — Wakefield's girls came within a whisker of claiming their first victory over the year Friday night, but Homer outscored the Trojans 15-5 in the final quarter for a 41-34 triumph in the consolation round of the Pender Tournament.

Wakefield enjoyed comfortable leads in the first half and after opening an 8-7 advantage in the first quarter, pulled ahead by seven, 18-11, at intermission.

But Homer started its comeback in the second half by outscoring the Trojans 15-11 in the third quarter to cut Wakefield's lead to three, 29-26. The Lady Knights then went on to claim the seven point victory.

Arnie Cerny, Wakefield's head coach, said a major factor in his club's second half play was its foul trouble.

"Kristal Clay and Marci Greve are two of our better rebounders and they both fouled out," he said. "When they got into foul trouble, Homer made its comeback."

Two Homer players were also deadly from the free throw line in the late going. Tammy Mast and Shelly Beerman finished 7-for-10 from the stripe, including 7-for-8 in the final quarter.

Cerny said that his club's free throw shooting allowed the Trojans the early lead.

"We shot pretty good from the line," he said. "We finished 14-for-25, but were 13-of-22 after the first three quarters and that allowed us to take the early lead."

Stacey Kuhl led Wakefield in scoring with 10 points. Greve and Clay tallied eight and seven points, respectively, before fouling out.

Mast and Beerman finished with 15 and 14 points, respectively, for the Lady Knights.

Homer outrebounded Wakefield 41-26. Greve and Kuhl led the Trojans with six boards apiece.

The game was plagued with turnovers as the two squads combined for 77 mistakes. Homer totaled 40 miscues, while Wakefield finished with 37.

The loss dropped Wakefield to 0-7 on the year. The Trojans play again Tuesday in a boy-girl doubleheader at Walthill.

Creighton pins Blue Devils, 51-15

For a while Thursday night, it looked as though Wayne's wrestling team was going to claim its second dual victory of the young season. After the 138-pound weight class, the Blue Devils only trailed 24-15, and half of Creighton's 24 markers came from Wayne forfeits.

But Creighton won the remaining five weights, including four by pin, to rout the Blue Devils 51-15.

"After the 138-pound match, I thought we were in pretty good shape because we were wrestling well and had all our forfeits out of the way," Wayne head coach John Murtaugh said. "But then the roof caved in."

The Blue Devils felt behind 120 after forfeiting the 99 and 105-pound slots, but Chris Corbit captured the 112-pound division with a 7-5 victory.

The Blue Devils lost at 119 and 126-pounds, but Mark Janke (132-pounds) and Robble Gamble (138-pounds) pinned both their opponents to cut the Creighton lead to nine, 24-15.

However, Gamble's victory was Wayne's last hooray as Creighton swept through the final five weight classes for the lopsided triumph.

Janke continued to wrestle well for the Blue Devils. The 132-pounder pinned the Creighton opponent in just 21 seconds to improve his season record to 11-3. All three of Janke's losses have come against grapplers ranked in the top six in the state.

Jason Cole was the Blue Devils' only victor in the junior-varsity matches. Cole claimed an 8-7 triumph.

Wayne's junior varsity will wrestle again Monday against West Point Central Catholic's varsity at West Point.

Strong fourth quarter lifts Bancroft-Rosalie past Laurel-Concord, 51-31

PONCA — Bancroft-Rosalie outscored Laurel-Concord 24-9 in the fourth quarter and went on to post a 51-31 triumph over the Bears in the opening round of the Ponca Tournament here Friday night.

The game was close throughout the first three frames as Bancroft led 17-12 at halftime and 27-22 at the end of three quarters. However, the Panthers exploded in the final eight minutes to post the 20-point victory.

Mark Hrabik, Laurel's head coach, said his club just couldn't get on track.

"We were slow all night," he said. "We haven't played for almost three weeks and it looked like it."

Jodey Cunningham and Brent Haisch led Laurel in scoring with 10 points apiece. Erick Christensen finished with five markers for the Bears, while teammates Doug Manz tallied four points and Steve Schmitt added two.

Laurel made just 12-of-60 field goals for 20 percent, but finished an impressive 9-of-11 from the free throw line.

"We've been practicing our free throws a lot lately and it paid off tonight," Hrabik said.

The loss dropped the Bears to 2-3 on the year. Laurel will face Allen in the consolation round of the tourney Saturday night.

cards of thanks

THE FAMILY OF Frank Gilbert extends their deepest appreciation to the many dear friends, for their cards, food, flowers, memorials, visits and expressions of sympathy during our recent sorrow. Thank you to the ladies who served lunch at the church after the services. Special thanks to Rev. Johnson, Dr. Bob, Sister Gertrude and the staff at P.M.C. j13

THE FAMILY OF Andrew Mann Sr. wishes to say thank you to all who came to our help at the time of Dad's death, especially Scott Jackson, Bill Anderson, the Winslow Rescue unit, Nancy Landager, Veryl Jackson, Pastors Von Seggern, Fale and DuBois and the Schumacher Funeral Home. Also our deepest gratitude to Pastor Von Seggern for the beautiful service and prayers and to the Trinity Lutheran Church Women for the lunch served at the funeral. The cards, flowers, food and memorials all helped to ease the pain. Your thoughtfulness will never be forgotten. j13
