Ward steps down as district extension director

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Cal Ward of Wayne has become very attached to the state of Nebraska.

The attraction is this: Nebraska is ranked highly as an agricultural state. Agriculture is a tremendously important part of this state's economic base.

Ward, age 57, has been strongly interested in agriculture ever since growing up as a child in the east central part of Oklahoma. He came to this state in 1950.

At that time there were more farms than there are now — the numbers have decreased by half.

In 1950 Nebraska was getting past the horse-drawn equipment stage but the corn was still all picked by ear and stored in cribs. A larger number of farmers had more livestock than today.

"Commercial fertilizer was just becoming fairly widely used in 1950. I remember when the first anhydrous ammonia dealership was set up in this part of the state," he said.

"They were just getting a start in fertilizer research in Nebraska and there had been a limited number of insecticides and herbicides. That list has increased up to 40 fold. Average dryland yields across the state then and now have almost doubled," he added.

HIS ADMIRATION for Nebraska agriculture can be measured by his dedication and service to his extension profession, particularly in the northeast sector of the state.

Ward will step down on Jan. 31 as the district director of the University of Nebraska Northeast Research and Extension Center — a position he has held since July of 1967.

"I have found this work enjoyable and a satisfying kind of responsibility," Ward said in an interview Friday afternoon.

He had pursued his career destined toward agriculture by obtaining his bachelor degree from Oklahoma A&M (now Oklahoma State), and in time, his masters and doctorate from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

Prior to arriving at the experimental station near Concord, he had high school teaching assignments as vocational agriculture instructor in Ainsworth and Creighton before deciding to work for the extension service.

His major training for extension work was in Cuming County and later he moved to Holdrege and served as the Phelps County Extension Agent for a seven-year period.

Afterwards, Ward became a district director for the extension service at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, but had supervisory responsibility as far as the northeast part of the state," he said.

UPON ARRIVING at the experimental station near Concord, the office facility was still under three years old and considered relatively new.

"It's been slow, but there has been growth of our station and its capabilities, growth in the number of qualified people and in the total program scope," Ward said.

"An example is that we had only one ag technician funded on tax money at the time that I came. Now we have eight. We added five faculty level positions here. In looking at the past, over a long period of time we have seen some really significant progress," he said.

Building-wise, the beef cattle facility has been expanded and improved and the feed center has been finished. The swine project had been in the planning process when Ward arrived and those facilities have also been completed.

While expansion of personnel and facilities grew, there were several other accomplishments at the Northeast Research and Extension Center that Ward highlighted.

"Nebraska has more completely and effectively integrated agriculture research and agriculture extension service, as compared to other states. This northeast Nebraska center and myself have been a part of this — kind of a 'first and out in front' in the complete integration of these two functions," Ward said.

"I feel that developing a combined research and extension team here at the center and in the 13 counties in this northeast district is the accomplishment that I feel most proud of," he added.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT he doesn't think of as his accomplishment, but something that was created by the whole northeast Nebraska experimental station, has much to do with the staff.

"Our faculty members and the programs conducted by them continue to be important to the people in northeast Nebraska. But they also have reached a level of maturity where they are recognized by people in those professions and by people through Nebraska and in other states," he said.

Still, hard times financially throughout the farming communities and the extension program itself may mean future reductions in work force or programs, according to Ward. Agriculture is going through some tough times. But he believes it will be bouncing back.

"We look back through the history of agriculture. It's typically been kind of 'boom or bust'. Agriculture is basically food production and food production is absolutely essential," Ward said.

"There has been, will be and currently is a most severe economic situation facing farmers. But over time we have to have food and our society and economic system has to pay for this, and they will," he mentioned.

"I have no timetable, but it has to bounce back," he added.

ON THE positive side, Ward sees opportunities available for those wanting to get into farming now, or possibly expanding their operation.

"The reduced land values — even as much as they have hurt individual people who invested in land when it was higher prices — will make it possible for people who are starting now or expanding now. It will be at least a big help in their making things fit together," he said.

"Someone starting farming today would have tremendous advantage, when considering total investment, then those who started five years ago or expanded five to eight years ago," he added.

There has also been too much money invested in equipment, he says. "It's so much nicer for us to work in an air conditioned tractor cab or combine, but if you start computing per acre-per bushel costs it can become unmanageable," Ward mentioned.

Agriculture, he said, is different now than it was years ago, and it will continue to be even more different within the structure of the industry.

The fact remains, however, that prices for what is produced by the farmers certainly needs to be reviewed.

"It seems to me that the price of our agricultural products are completely out of sync with everything else," remarked Ward.

THE REALM of tight economics extends into the confines of extension districts across Nebraska — including the northeast Nebraska experimental station.

"Funding has been real tight for the last several years and our operating budgets have continued trying to keep up with inflation.

"As our funds are reduced, there is no way that can be taken up than by reducing the number of positions or cutting personnel," he said.

Ward strongly believes the money invested in agriculture research and the cooperative extension service has returned big dividends to society.

"I guess I would hope that people would see funding for agriculture research as an investment that does pay dividends as opposed to just an expense," he added.

At the northeast Nebraska experiment station, Ward said there was a reduction of one technician position and an extension position from one of the counties in the district is in the process of being phased out.

Even before the Gramm-Rudman act had passed, Ward said it appears one extension agent position from within the northeast Nebraska district could be cut and the number of scientists at the station could be reduced "in order to have funds for the remainder of the station to have operating money."

Ward doesn't plan on playing golf or fishing all the time once he officially retires on Jan. 31. His plans are to relocate in the general Lincoln vicinity. "One part of the plan is devoting some time to a small registered herd of Gelbvieh cattle that I have," he said.

He may or may not seek some part-time work. It depends on if he finds something that he enjoys doing.

If it has something to do with Nebraska agriculture, you can bet that Cal Ward will be giving the offer a second look.

Public library has tax form resources

The Wayne Public Library has resources available to assist the public in filling out federal income tax forms, according to Kathleen Tooker.

The material is prepared and provided by the IRS in cooperation with many of the nation's libraries. Useful aids include audio cassettes containing simple line-by-line instructions for filling out federal forms 1040EZ, 1040A and Schedule 1; and Form 1040 and Schedules A, B, and W.

These and other commonly used federal tax forms and schedules can often be obtained or photocopied at the library. Individuals should check to see if the forms they need are available in their local library.

Many IRS publications are available for reference. One that can help taxpayers prepare their individual tax returns is Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax."

Federal tax laws which apply to business persons and farmers are explained in Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," and Publication 225, "Farmers' Tax Guide."

Publication 1194, specially designed for libraries, is a set of the IRS's most requested publications and a helpful reference guide.

Reproducible tax forms are contained in Publication 1132. This allows a taxpayer to easily photocopy for a small fee of .10 each more than 90 of the most commonly used federal income tax forms.

Publication 910, also available at the library, is the handy "Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information, Assistance and Publications." This publication describes the services available to aid in tax return preparation and offers information on where to get additional help.

Taxpayers wishing to receive recorded tax tips by telephone can pick up a brochure on Tele-Tax, Publication 1163. The brochure lists various tax topics which can be accessed by either a push button or rotary-dial phone.

Librarians are not tax experts, the IRS stresses. They can however, direct taxpayers to the many helpful tax aids available.

What do grades mean?

by Donald V. Zeiss

For as long as the schools have existed, there have been methods for reporting to parents the progress their children make in school. Many different methods are used; but all of them involve assigning a mark that indicates a level of progress. Some schools use an "A, B, C, D, F" reporting system. Other schools use a check mark, a simple pass-fail mark, or an "S" or a "U" for satisfactory and unsatisfactory. And in many schools, the grade report is combined with a parent-teacher conference. Regardless of the grade-reporting system used, all these methods were designed so that parents would understand clearly the progress their children are making in school.

In deciding upon a grade, a teacher considers many objective factors. These include the grading standards that the school has established, the abilities of all students in the class, the achievement of a student in relation to his or her identified abilities, the expectations the teacher has for a student, and the progress a student makes in a given reporting period.

But there are some subjective factors as well. Perhaps the most important are the student's attitude and behavior while he or she is at school. Although teachers try very hard not to let attitude and behavior unduly influence the assignment of a grade for achievement, they are still important factors. Students and parents need to be aware of the effect that attitude and behavior have on the assignment of a grade.

Because grades contain both objective and subjective elements, we should view them as general indicators of student achievement and progress at a particular time and not as a precise measure of how well a student is doing in school.

When you as a parent have questions about what a grade means, ask your child's teacher to explain the grading system. With this explanation, you will understand better what your child's grade actually means rather than proceed on the basis of what you think it means. After all, it is infinitely better to know than to guess when your children's education is at stake.

Thanks to Jaycees

Volunteerism is on the rise! A group of young men in our community who are a vital service organization still believe in the philosophy that "service to humanity is the best work of life." The Jaycees are to be congratulated for their contributions to our community and the opportunities they offer their members.

The Women of Today would like to say "thank you," to the Wayne Jaycees during their week - U.S. Jaycee Week, January 19-25. This loyal group of young men have been active in the Wayne Community for 32 years.

Major projects that the organization has completed recently have been Christmas Tree Sales and their annual leaf pick up. Other annual projects include the Demolition Derby at the county fair and the K-8 Junior Wrestling Tournament.

They also sponsor scholarships for two Wayne High seniors. In addition, monetary contributions have been made to the elderly and to Muscular Dystrophy Association.

One of the most recent accomplishments that the Jaycees brought about was the completion of the Jaycee softball complex and refreshment stand. The proceeds from the refreshment stand are used to further improve the complex.

Family activities and personal development are also major points of emphasis in the Jaycees as they train their children, as well as themselves, to be better members in the community.

We the Women of Today, proudly commend our Jaycees for the many accomplishments they have contributed to the community of Wayne. They are a great bunch of guys to have as our counterparts - always there to lend a hand, as we all work together, striving to make our community a better place.

Exceptional museum

One day last week, Francis Sommerfelt, and some friends and myself were allowed the pleasure of touring the Wayne Museum.

It is filled with remarkable displays of furniture, textiles and beautiful hardwood floors. The guns upstairs on the porch, old muzzleloaders were especially interesting.

It is a treasure for the town and a tribute to the generosity of the Ley Family.

The influence of the antiques as a display of the history of the area and the ability to satisfy the curiosity of the past and how things came to be in our daily lives is stored in that museum.

Countless of others who are allowed the privilege of seeing what the museum has to offer will benefit from its heritage.

Thanks to Bess Baier for showing us thru.

King tribute

"I Have A Dream Party" what a wonderful idea that was shared with me this week. Talking with a friend about Martin Luther King, Jr. we shared our memories of him and she mentioned her family was having a party on Jan. 20, Monday, Jan. 20 has been declared Martin Luther King, Jr. National Holiday. What an appropriate way to call our attention to this mans contribution to our U.S. History.

The Governor of Wisconsin has suggested that State and Federal employees in his State spend their day off helping the farmers pick corn. The snow depth on the unfrozen ground has made it necessary to pick the corn by hand. This working together in the field by farmers and non-farmers would demonstrate the message of our connectedness as people, which was central to the teachings of Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. Kings message was not exclusively for blacks. Jan. 20 is not a Black Holiday!

The Library has books to help us learn about this great American. One of the books "The Trumpet of Conscience" is a series of talks given by Martin Luther King Jr. Wonderful insight into this great man can be gained by reading this book.

Each of us will choose how to spend this day. We can ignore it or use it as an opportunity to learn. I suggest we commit to learning at least one new piece of information about Dr. King. Have a party: ice cream and cake, get out your encyclopedias, and books, share your memories of Dr. King! Lets learn about this great American and pass this knowledge to our children.

Riddle: What has two legs, moves slower than the average turtle, and huffs and puffs till near collapse?

Answer: Yours truly playing five-on-five basketball in Wayne's city recreation league.

Most certainly it is one way to stay fit during the winter months. And the game is enjoyable, but only when one is not lying exhausted on the basketball floor looking up at the ceiling while other players hop over you.

We've got players in our league (they are suppose to be the middle of the middle age group) that can slam dunk the basketball, hit those 35 foot jumpers and run like gazelles on fast breaks.

Then there is me who can only jump high enough to touch the top of my head, who can shoot a basketball that prefers taking a nosedive 10 feet before it hits the rim and who can run with the ball 20 feet before even taking a dribble (and get called for it every time).

I've played basketball before - in an older Catholic grade school gymnasium, on Monday nights in Stacyville, Iowa. That was about 10 years ago.

THERE, we had no league but just pick up games. Whoever showed up, we would divide them among teams equally as far as talent was concerned and go from there.

Some of the characters that played were fast and could turn and hit 25 footers on a dime. But most of the players were individuals who grew up playing basketball in their parent's driveway or around a basketball rim mounted on a barn or silo.

Many never put on a high school varsity basketball jersey.

There was one guy in his 40's who wasn't afraid to throw his weight as he dribbled down the basketball court. Another couldn't hit the side of a barn with a field goal, but he had enough muscles to move out the opposing players on rebounds.

Some guys were so old that they would only play half-court, even if the game was full court.

People would call their own fouls - call it the honor system. You could never foul out of the game - just keep running up and down the basketball floor until a team scored 20 points.

Then, another team would challenge the winners and on and on it went throughout the evening.

NATURALLY, I always avoided playing on winning teams. No use overdoing it.

There was this guy we called Hammering Hank who had this odd shot that nobody could ever block. He'd jump backwards and loft it over your head - nowadays people call it the fade-a-way jumper.

Back then I called it sloppy. I guess I said that because he usually beat me five out of five in one-on-one games.

But like I said earlier, it has been years since I've touched a basketball and played full court.

On the first night we practiced basketball in Wayne, I came home exhausted - so weak and sore that my wife wondered if I had left my body back at the gym.

And that was only two-minute games.

I said to myself: "This would be a good opportunity to get in shape."

After the first league game, I felt almost the same way as the first practice. During work here on the following day, I had to get weights for my fingers just so there would be enough pressure to push down a typewriter key.

IN THE LAST game I played, things went better and I didn't feel as stiff. All that jump roping at home must have paid off.

I've also found that all those news releases received from Pittsburg or New York, which by no means would interest anyone in this area, can be wadded into a ball and thrown in the wastebasket from distances sometimes 10 to 15 feet from my office desk. That gives me practice on my shooting style.

I had to stop that though when one of my fading hooks dropped and fell into someone's noon lunch.

The other night in a league game I took a shot and it actually landed in the vicinity of the rim. It went on the other side of the backboard, but who's counting.

The opposing team doesn't guard me anymore. They know how I shoot. You know you are a bad field goal shooter when, as you let it fly, everybody races under the basket and waits to pull down the rebound.

My team is probably thinking about installing a play just for me - I stand out of bounds and toss it to one of my teammates.

Rules are that you can't shoot the ball when you are standing out of bounds. So what are they trying to tell me?

Maybe I should have paid more attention to Hammering Hank's shooting form.

A pep talk

"Don't be comfortable sitting on the sidelines all the time and consistently complain when the person in charge happens to foul up or does something that does not agree with you."

This conversation piece is often heard, yet its meaning carries truth - whether it was said 10 years ago or as heard on the city streets today.

And that is why we would like to see people running for public office, be it at the grassroots level of heading community organization offices or for city, county or state positions. We like to see contested races so that voters can have a choice as to who they feel will perform in the best interest of members or residents within the election locality.

This year, in Wayne alone and surrounding area, people will be voting for three seats on the Wayne-Carroll School District board, at least 10 offices in the Wayne County system, five city council positions and positions on the board of Educational Service Unit and Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource Districts.

When it came down to the November election in 1982 (the time when Mayor Marsh, Carolyn Filter, Leo Hansen and Darrel Heier were elected to office) all the city office positions were contested. There were seven positions (now held by County Clerk Orgetta Morris, Clerk of District Court Joann Ostrander, County Treasurer Leon Meyer, County Surveyor Clyde Flowers, County Assessor Doris Stipp and County Commissioners Merlin Beiermann and Gerald Pospishil) that went uncontested in county government.

At the time Joyce Reeg, Cap Peterson and Arnold Emry were elected to the Wayne-Carroll school board offices in 1982, they had to get more votes than three other candidates.

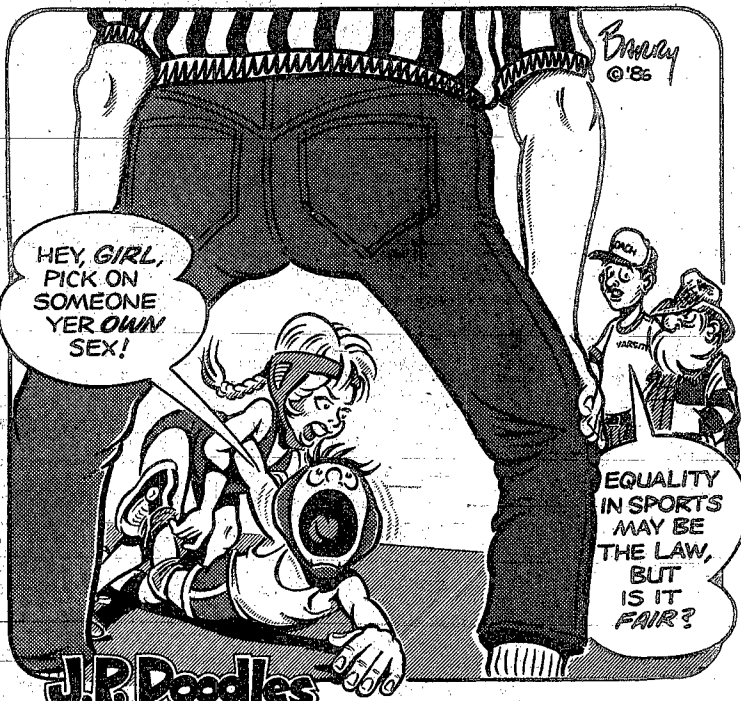

We are not, in any way, saying that people are being deprived of getting the best person for the job because the race is uncontested. That is not true. Perhaps people believe that nothing in that particular office needs changing - so they don't run for office.

However, there can be instances that candidates have reluctantly filed for positions at the last minute because nobody else wants the job.

What we would like to see is people publicly taking an interest in their city or county government or other offices that open up. One way to "beat apathy" is to run for office. Another is get out and vote for the candidate of their choice.

The filing deadlines for Wayne County public offices are Feb. 27 for the incumbents and March 14 for the non-incumbents. Primary election this year is on May 13 and the general election is on Nov. 4.

Spend reasons questioned

by John DeCamp, Nebraska State Senator

You remember the Bible story about David and Bathsheba. King David, who had everything - gold, power and many wives - lusted after the one thing he did not have. That was a beautiful gal named Bathsheba - who also just happened to be another man's wife. The other man, a simple soldier named Uriah, who had no gold, no power and only one wife, the beautiful Bathsheba, was sent into battle by David to be killed. That is, David deliberately "set him up" and indeed Uriah was killed.

After Uriah's death, David and Bathsheba were fat, happy and sassy and thought they could get away with anything - but God was angry. So, God sent the prophet Nathan to David, and Nathan said: "There were two men in a certain city, the one rich and the other poor. The rich man had 'velly' many flocks and herds; but the poor man had nothing but one little ewe lamb, which he had bought. And he brought it up, and it grew up with him and with his children; it used to eat of his morsel, and drink from his cup, and lie in his bosom, and it was like a daughter to him. Now there came a traveler to the rich man, and he was unwilling to take one of his own flock or herd to prepare for the wayfarer, who had come to him, but he took the poor man's lamb, and killed and cooked it."

WHEN DAVID heard this story he said, "As the LORD lives, the man who has done this deserves to die, and he shall restore the lamb four fold, because he did this thing, and because he had not pity." And Nathan said to David, "You are the man..." And God punished David something horrible.

Our state capitol, Lincoln, has everything the taxpayer can provide - tens of thousands of taxpayer financed public employees; enough new public buildings so that Lincoln may well sink to China someday from all their weight; and a tightly coordinated block of lobbyists and state officials, almost all with Lincoln resident status, who make certain that spending in, on, and for Lincoln is the first priority of every legislative session.

Contrast Lincoln with any other area of the state - my area, the 40th district, for example. According to the official statistics, the 40th district is the second-poorest legislative district in the state; it is the hardest hit in the agricultural crisis; if it is comprised primarily of "taxpayers rather than tax consumers"; and historically, its constituents - like most of the state - "ask a minimum from state government."

A FEW YEARS ago, a terrible natural disaster, a flood, completely wiped out a dam, the Atkinson Dam, which provided flood control, recreation and a host of other benefits for Atkinson and for all Nebraskans. So important was this dam that the Game and Parks Commission made it their number one priority over all other projects in the state to get rebuilt. Last year, after careful study, the entire Legislature agreed and approved the project and the money for it - some $250,000.

Now, this year, along comes Governor Kerrey, and in the most ruthless fashion tries to eliminate the dam from the budget, even though the dam and the appropriation had already been approved last year. Why? In my opinion, for the same reasons King David stole the other man's wife - greed and selfishness - and to get more money for new projects in taxpayer financed Lincoln at the expense of the rest of the State.

Proof? Absolutely. The Governor has a new million dollar jet airplane for himself in the budget; multi-millions for a new, big dance hall; the so-called LIED Center in Lincoln; millions programmed for completely new and unnecessary buildings, programs and new government agencies in his budget - all located in Lincoln, of course. And to sustain the spending habit for his top priority, Lincoln, the money has to be stolen from all the other taxpayers in the state, even "the ones who have only one little lamb."

For his act of taking the other man's life and wife, David was punished. For trying to take a dam so he can have a fancy personal airplane, maybe the Governor will learn that doesn't work either.

Q. Does the responsibility for paying alimony and child support automatically end when the ex-spouse remarries.
A. An individual's obligation to pay alimony generally ends upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the recipient, unless otherwise agreed by the parties or decreed by the court. However, the obligation to pay child support does not automatically end upon the remarriage of the recipient spouse. If the court orders one party to pay child support until the child reaches a certain age, usually the age of majority, then he or she must continue to make payments even after the recipient spouse remarries.

news and notes

Exercising smart — The value of a regular exercise program is no secret. There is no one program that everyone should pick up and use. Each of us need to work out our own program. Exercising "SMART" will give direction to your program.
5-stretching — It is important to work into exercising gradually with warm-up exercises. We need to follow the example of the cat and stretch! Then exercise. Stretching is probably the only must, the only requirement for exercising.
M-measurable goals — As with most projects we need to know what we're going to do. The old adage of "those who fail to plan, plan to fail" certainly fits personal exercise programs. Without direction, without goals, we slough off and end up doing little or nothing. Goals can be as simple as walking a number of blocks or they can be detailed and complex.
A-agreeable to you — Never use someone else's plan. Do something you enjoy. Fit exercise into the activities you enjoy.
R-realistic — Be realistic for you, your schedule and what shape you're in. Work out a plan you can do and will do.

1-trackable — Keep track of your progress. You may put a mark or star on your calendar everytime you exercise. Some may want to keep a detailed record of weight, diet and exercise. Keeping records helps you see whether you are achieving your goals.

FIT EXERCISE into your lifestyle. Stop looking for the parking place closest to the store. Park further away and walk briskly to your destination. Avoid escalators and elevators. Walking up a few flights of stairs is superb exercise. Your legs are lifting the total weight of your body at every step. Hopefully, with a balanced diet and exercise, your legs will soon have less weight to lift!

Aerobic exercise requires three or four 20 to 30-minute sessions of vigorous activity each week. You don't have to jog five miles or swim laps for an hour. Aerobic exercise involves continuous use of the lungs. Continuous, sustained movement and moderate elevation of the heart rate are the goals of aerobic exercise. The benefits are cardiovascular strength and improved fitness. Check with your doctor and start exercising "SMART!"

Wayne's offensive explosion lifts the Blue Devils to a misleading 83-74 victory over Stanton

STANTON — Tuesday night, Wayne had a difficult time generating much offensive production and dropped a frustrating 40-38 loss to Schuyler. Friday night, the Blue Devils made up for their offensive frustrations on Tuesday by downing Stanton 83-74.

The final score is not a true indication of Wayne's dominance. The Blue Devils stormed to a 50-28 lead at halftime and held a 62-44 advantage with just eight minutes remaining. Stanton outscored Wayne's reserves 30-21 in the last stanza to make the final score respectable.

Wayne head coach Bob Uhing said that his club needed to be more aggressive on offense after the loss to Schuyler. And the Blue Devil skipper got exactly what he ordered in Friday's contest.

"The kids came out and played aggressively right away and kept it up throughout the game," he said.

"That's the most aggressive we've been on offense so far this year."

Basically, the game was decided by halftime as Wayne opened a 19-15 lead after the first quarter before pouring in 31 second period points to hold a commanding 22 point advantage at intermission.

Uhing said the key to the offensive uprising was his club's running game and execution off its set offense.

"We did a lot of running, but we also did a good job of reversing the ball and hitting the open man," he said.

Four Blue Devils scored in double figures. Ted Lueders led Wayne with 23 points. Lueders canned six field goals and finished 11-for-13 from the line.

"Ted really played a good game for us," Uhing said. "He took the shot when he had it and played aggressively."

Don Larsen and Jeff Hausmann followed with 18 and 16 points, respectively, while Scott Baker added 12 markers. Brent Pick finished with eight points for the victors, while Dan Gross and Jon Stofenberg rounded out Wayne's scoring with three points apiece.

Rebounding statistics were not available, but Uhing praised his club's board work and their defensive effort.

"We did a good job on the boards," he said. "And I was happy with our defense. We got into foul trouble and that limited what we could do on offense, but we still did a pretty good job."

One of several keys to Wayne's dominance was its free throw shooting. Both teams canned 30 field goals, but the Blue Devils finished 23-for-30 from the line, while Stanton went 14-for-22.

Wayne also received a strong effort from its bench, according to Uhing.

Three players fouled out (Pick, Larsen and Baker) and we had a few others get into foul trouble, but the kids came off the bench and filled in nicely," he said.

Wayne's junior varsity also won, capturing a 67-41 triumph.

The Blue Devils are now 7-3 on the year and play again Saturday at Seward. Seward is ranked No. 2 in Class B by the Omaha World Herald.

Blue Devils top .500 mark

Wayne downs Howells 41-31

HOWELLS — After four games this year, it appeared that the 1985-86 basketball season was going to be another typical year for Wayne's girls—a losing one. Heading into the Laurel-Concord game on Dec. 19, the Blue Devils were 1-3, not including a loss against Norfolk's junior varsity that does not count on Wayne's record.

But things have changed drastically since the early going. The Blue Devils have turned into winners and Thursday night, Wayne captured its fourth win in its last five games with a 41-31 victory over Howells.

The Thursday night triumph was not an easy one for the Blue Devils as they had to overcome a Howell lead at the half to post the win.

Howells was deadly from the outside in the first quarter and opened an 11-8 lead heading into the second stanza. The Bobcats continued their fine marksmanship in the second half and led 20-18 at intermission.

But Wayne came storming back in the final 16 minutes for the win. According to Blue Devil head coach Marlene Uhing, it was Wayne's defense that spurred the visitors to the win.

"We just acted like we weren't ready to play in the first half and Howells was very hot from the outside," she said. "But we switched to some different defenses in the second half and did a better job of rebounding and turned the game around."

Wayne outscored the Bobcats 9-6 in the third stanza to open a 27-26 advantage and then blew Howells away in the fourth period by outscoring the Bobcats 14-5.

The strong defensive effort was typical of Wayne during the past few weeks, according to Uhing.

"We improved our defense in the second half and that got us going," she said. "We've been playing much better on defense the past few weeks and I think that's the main reason why we've been winning."

Kecia Corbit was a significant factor in the Blue Devil victory. The 5-11 junior scored 18 points and grabbed as many rebounds. Both were team highs.

"Kecia has been doing a good job on the boards lately," Uhing said. "She's been dominating on the boards because she's been getting great position."

Jodi Diftman followed Corbit with eight points, while Shelly Pick and Dana Nelson both added seven markers.

Tracy Baumer led Howells with eight points.

Wayne outbranded the Bobcats 39-28. Pick followed Corbit with nine boards for the Blue Devils.

Nelson led the Blue Devils with six steals, and Laura Keating dished out a team high three assists for Wayne. The Blue Devil junior varsity improved to 5-2 with a lopsided 45-21 victory over the Bobcats.

Leslie Keating and Andrea Marsh led Wayne in scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Robin Luff grabbed a team high 10 rebounds for the victors.

The win improved Wayne's varsity to 5-4 on the year. The last time a girls basketball team from Wayne won as many five games in one year was at least seven years ago, according to Wayne Athletic Director Ron Carnes.

Wayne's next game is Tuesday when Stanton travels to town.

Frustration continues for Allen's boys in 44-42 loss

ALLEN — The 1985-86 basketball season has been a frustrating one for Allen's boys. After 10 games, the Eagles have captured just two victories.

Allen could easily be above the .500 mark but the Eagles have lost several close games. And Friday night Allen was once again on the wrong side of a "nail-biter" as Bancroft-Rosalie claimed a thrilling 44-42 victory.

"We've lost our share of close ones," Allen head coach Dave Uldrich said after the Bancroft loss. "Maybe our luck will change later in the year."

The game was tied with just seconds remaining before Bancroft's Jason Slaughter drilled two free throws with seven seconds to go to give the Panthers a two point edge.

Allen managed to fire two shots before time expired, but both missed and Bancroft claimed the win.

Slaughter and Allen's poor shooting were the Eagles' biggest problems on the night. Slaughter, a 6-3 sophomore, scored a game high 23 points and Allen made just 19-of-51 field goals.

"Slaughter was tough, but the biggest problem was our shooting. We got a lot of good shots, but they just wouldn't fall," Uldrich said.

The Eagles finished 4-for-7 from the line, while Bancroft went 8-for-13. The Panthers finished 18-for-42 from the field.

Allen trailed 15-14 after the first quarter and by five in the second frame before cutting the gap back to one, 25-24, at intermission.

Both teams tallied 12 markers in the third stanza to make the score 37-36 with eight minutes to go.

Max Oswald led Allen in scoring with 22 points, hitting 10 field goals and both his free throws. Steve Jones and Craig Noe followed Oswald with nine and eight points, respectively. For the Eagles, Clarke McGrath rounded out Allen's scoring with three points.

Both teams grabbed 25 rebounds. Jones and Oswald led Allen with eight and seven boards, respectively.

McGrath totaled five steals and Oswald dished out three assists.

Uldrich said Bancroft did a good job of defending Noe, and added that Jones was not feeling well.

"Oswald was the only player that really got it going on offense for us," Uldrich said. "They really guarded Noe close and Jones wasn't feeling too good."

Bancroft won the junior varsity game 25-20. Jeff Gotch led the Eagle JV's with 10 points.

Allen's varsity plays again Friday at Walthill.

Janke claims two victories

Wayne loses to O'Neill, Albion

"Everytime we take the mat, I see an improvement. And we've got to base our encouragement on that. We're such a young team, that we have to look to improve everytime out and that's what we've done so far this year," Wayne wrestling coach John Murtaugh said after his club dropped two lopsided decisions in a double dual with O'Neill and Albion at the blue Devil gymnasium Friday night.

O'Neill and Albion are two of the better Class B wrestling teams in the state and had an easy time with the Blue Devils. O'Neill claimed a 54-12 victory, while Albion captured a 54-9 triumph.

Mark Janke once again wrestled brilliantly for Wayne. The 132-pounder beat both opponents by pins and improved his overall mark to 13-3, with all three losses coming against rated wrestlers.

Murtaugh praised Janke's effort, and called his prized pupil one of the best 132-pounders in Nebraska.

"Mark once again did a great job. He's a very consistent winner," Murtaugh said. "He was ranked earlier in the year, but isn't rated right now. I'm sure he'll be rated again, though, because he is one of the better 132-pound wrestlers in the state."

Steve Cowgill was the Blue Devils' other victor in the O'Neill match. The Wayne heavyweight pinned O'Neill's Pat Langan in the second period.

Jamie Fredrickson, Wayne's 145-pounder, claimed an 8-2 victory over Mike Goodwater in the Albion dual to round out the Blue Devils' victories on the night.

Murtaugh said the squad will use the double dual as a learning experience and added that he was pleased with Cowgill's and Fredrickson's performances.

"We're a young team and we'll use this as a learning experience," he said. "We did have some good performances. In addition to Mark, I thought Steve and Jamie did a good job, too."

Wayne wrestles again Saturday at the Elk Horn Invitational and Thursday host Wisner-Pilger for a dual.

Inconsistency costs Laurel's boys 47-40 loss

WYNOT — Laurel's boys have had trouble playing consistently for an entire game during most of the 1985-86 season. And Friday night, a poor second half cost the Bears a 47-40 loss to Wynot.

"We haven't played a full game yet," Laurel head coach Mark Hrabik said after the Friday's defeat. "We play two or three good quarters, but always have one or two bad ones."

Laurel opened a 14-9 lead after the first quarter before trailing 21-20 at intermission.

Wynot then outscored the Bears 11-8 in the third stanza and 15-12 in the last quarter for the seven point victory.

Laurel used a man-to-man defense against the Blue Devils, but Hrabik said the next time the Bears play Wynot, he'll insert a zone defense.

"We played a man-to-man against them, but looking over the shot chart

I see they got 10 of their 16 field goals from the inside," he said. "We started out in a man-to-man and did pretty good, so I stayed with it. Then, we couldn't go to a zone in the last half because they had the lead and probably would have stalled. But the next time we play, we'll probably go zone."

Mike Eskens was Wynot's mainstay with a game high 23 points and impressed Hrabik.

"Eskens got inside and posted up and made some nice moves down low. He's another reason why we'll probably go zone the next time we play them."

Brent Haisch and Scott Marquardt led Laurel in scoring with 12 and 11 points, respectively, while Joey Cunningham added eight markers to the Bear cause.

Laurel totaled 32 rebounds on the night. Haisch led the club with 14 boards and also came up with a team high five steals.

"Brent is becoming our leader. He's not the whole team, but he's been playing relaxed and doing a good job and we're going to have to start getting the ball to him more often," Hrabik said.

The Laurel skipper also praised two other Bears.

"Marquardt and Cunningham are both coming around. Their outside shooting has been getting better and once some of the others start improving offensively, we'll come around as a team."

The loss dropped Laurel to 2-6 on the year. The Bears play again Friday when Hartington travels to town.

Wayne wrestles again Saturday at the Elk Horn Invitational and Thursday host Wisner-Pilger for a dual.

Laurel wins second in row with 52-37 triumph

WYNOT — Sometimes all it takes is belief in yourself to turn a season around. Such is the case for Laurel's girls.

After winning their first two games of the 1985-86 basketball season, the Bears lost their next five contests.

Laurel head coach Gale Hamilton said his club's confidence was extremely low after the fifth loss, but the Bears have bounced back with two consecutive victories, including a 52-37 triumph over Wynot here Friday night.

"We were in the dumps after we lost five in a row," Hamilton said. "But after we beat Osmond, everything turned for the better. All it took was that win to get us going."

In Friday's game, the Bears opened a 7-6 lead after the first quarter before pulling ahead by nine, 21-12, at intermission.

Laurel outscored the Blue Devils 31-25 in the last half for the victory.

The Bears used a balanced scoring attack in the win. Gail Twiford led Laurel with 17 points, while Sara Adkins and Michelle Joslin finished with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

In addition to the even scoring, several of the Bears turned in fine floor games. Adkins dished out a team high five assists, while Joslin and Penny Dempster both totaled four feeds.

Hamilton praised his club's offensive effort.

"We had a lot of assists, had three girls in double figures and took 66 shots from the field which is the most we've taken all year," he said. "We just did a good job of running our offense and the kids feel good about that."

Laurel finished 25-for-66 from the field and 2-for-8 from the line. Wynot canned 15 field goals and finished 7-for-9 from the line.

The Bears grabbed 46 rebounds on the night. Twiford and Joslin led the visitors with 16 and 13 boards, respectively.

Twiford and Becky Christensen led the Bears on defense with four and three steals, respectively.

The victory improved Laurel to 4-5 on the year. The Bears play again Tuesday when Hartington travels to town. Hartington is the eighth ranked team in Northeast Nebraska by the Norfolk Dalley News.

Wildcats improve to 3-6

Winside's girls down Wakefield

WINSIDE — Winside used a strong first half and impressive board work to down Wakefield 37-26 here Friday night.

After opening a 12-7 lead in the first quarter, the Wildcats outscored Wakefield 11-5 in the second frame for a comfortable 23-12 advantage at intermission.

Wakefield came back in the third quarter and cut the Winside lead to eight, 27-19, heading into the fourth frame. But the Wildcats won the last period 10-7 for the 11-point triumph.

A key factor in Winside's victory, according to Wakefield head coach Arnie Cerny, was the Wildcats' rebounding.

"They (Winside) outrebounded us 42-28 and that was a big difference in the game," he said. "Our kids just didn't get where they were supposed to be and it cost us."

Both teams had a balanced scoring attack. Julie Brockman led Winside with 11 points and Christi Thies followed with eight markers. Kay Meierhenry, Ann Meierhenry and Kristy Miller followed with six points apiece for the Wildcats.

Desiree Salmon and Tricia Schwarzen led Wakefield in scoring with seven points apiece, while Marci Greve tallied four.

Winside canned 12 field goals and finished 13-for-23 from the line. Wakefield finished with seven fielders and made 12-of-21 giffers.

The Wakefield bench was slapped with three technical fouls in the game. Cerny discussed the three violations.

"I was complaining when I got the first technical, but on the second one I just got up off the bench to insert a player and they gave me a 'T' because I was off my chair," he said. "And the third technical was because Kodi Nelson played too many quarters."

Winside made it a clean sweep by also winning the junior varsity game. The Wildcats claimed a 21-16 victory.

Carmen Reeg led the Wildcats in scoring with nine points. Sharon Wendstrand and Steph Torczon led Wakefield's JVs with six and five points, respectively.

Winside's varsity improved to 3-6 on the year. The Wildcats play again Saturday at Stanton and Tuesday at Homer.

Wakefield dropped to 0-9. The Trojans' next game is Monday when Ponca travels to town.

Winside grapplers split with Stanton, Howells

STANTON — Winside's grapplers split a double dual here Thursday. The Wildcats thumped host Stanton 33-12, and dropped a 41-27 decision to Howells.

Howells is one of the area's better wrestling teams, but had Wildcat 105-pounder Mace Kant wrestled, the final score probably would have been much more close, according to Winside head coach Paul Sok.

"Mace was a little over weight this week and didn't wrestle," Sok said. "It was no big deal that he missed the match, but if he had, it probably would have made a 12 point swing in our favor."

Kant currently sports an 11-1 record and had pinned Howells' 105-pounder, the final score would have been 35-33, Bobcats.

Another factor that hurt the Wildcats' chances were four forfeits and two pins, according to Sok.

"We actually wrestled Howells better than I thought we would," he said. "We could have beaten them, but the forfeits and a couple of pins hurt us."

Randy Leapley recorded a pin in just 34 seconds for the Wildcats. The 155-pounder also recorded a pin in the Stanton match and drew praise from Sok.

"Randy has really been coming on strong for us. He's only been wrestling a little over a year and is 11-8," Sok said. "He and Doug (Paulsen) have really been stacking up the pins and that's always nice to see."

Paulsen recorded a pin in 3:44 against Stanton, and then claimed a 16-0 victory in the Howells dual.

Chris Olson and Rodney Dierdrichsen also claimed two victories on the night. Olson captured an 8-0 win against his Stanton opponent and a 5-3 triumph against the Bobcat 132-pounder. Dierdrichsen, Winside's 145-pounder, was forfeit in the Stanton dual and pinned his Howells opponent in 1:59.

Darin Schellenberg claimed an 11-3 victory in the 138-pound match against Stanton, while Steve Jorgensen won by forfeit in the 167-pound weight slot.

Jeff Bolich was the only other Wildcat to record a victory on the night. Bolich captured won the 119-pound slot by forfeit in the Howells match.

Sok said he is pleased with his wrestlers' performances as of late. "The kids' technique and conditioning look pretty good," he said. "Overall, the kids are coming right along."

Winside wrestles again Saturday at Battle Creek and Tuesday when Plainview travels to town.

Late surge lifts Wakefield, 50-46

WINSIDE — Wade Nicholson's and Brad Lund's impressive shooting allowed Wakefield to claim a hard-fought 50-46 victory over an upstart Winside club here Friday night.

Nicholson was struggling from the field during most of the game and at one point was only 3-for-9 from the floor. But he canned his final six fielders and lifted the Trojans past Winside.

Lund made his first seven field goal attempts and finished 7-for-8 from the field. Paul Eaton, Wakefield's head coach, said Nicholson's and Lund's shooting was the difference in the game.

"Wade and Brad hit some big baskets for us and that was probably the biggest factor as to why we won," he said. "Winside played a good game and Kevin Greve had an off night, so if Wade and Brad wouldn't have played as well as they did, it might have been a different story."

Nicholson finished with 19 points, while Lund tallied 16. Mike Thies of Winside claimed the game's scoring honors with 21 markers. Kevin Jaeger added 10 points to the Wildcat cause.

Winside is winless in nine games this year, but Friday's effort supplied Wildcat head coach Mark Freburg with optimism.

"We did a good job of rebounding, cut our turnovers down to 14 and proved we can be competitive," he said.

"They made some clutch shots from the outside late in the game and had some of those missed we might've pulled it out."

especially pleased with his club's defensive effort.

"We really played well on defense. We fell behind by seven or eight points a couple of times, but our defense always brought us back and that kind of team defense is what I like to see," he said.

Winside opened an 11-9 lead after the first quarter before falling behind 25-24 at intermission.

Wakefield pulled ahead 35-32 after three frames before posting the four point victory.

Outstanding free throw shooting allowed the Wildcats to stay close. Winside finished an impressive 12-14 from the line to go along with 17 field goals. Wakefield canned 21 fielders and finished 8-for-20 from the line.

Wakefield outrebounded the Wildcats 30-24. Nicholson led the Trojans with 12 boards, while Jaeger totaled a team high nine for Winside.

Wakefield's junior varsity claimed a 35-16 victory. Winside's Tim Jacobsen claimed the game's scoring honors with 10 points, while Todd Kraatke led Wakefield with eight markers.

Winside's next games are Saturday at Stanton and Friday at Wausa. Wakefield, now 5-5, plays again Tuesday at Emerson.
