Hall: rehabilitation important part of cancer society

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Cancer. In 1913, only one cancer patient in five could hope to live. Today those odds have been changed for the better — one out of three people who get cancer will live. Enter the American Cancer Society — a volunteer-oriented organization that offers direct help to cancer patients and their families. The American Cancer Society has shown people what can be done on their own to help protect themselves against cancer. The society spreads awareness of cancer protection through other clubs and organizations. In homes or at schools with films and media so that more people can be helped than ever before.

TWO OF THE common areas which the American Cancer Society places as high priority in fighting cancer are research and education. Since 1946, the American Cancer Society has spent money in research to find out more about how cancer works, how it can be prevented and of most importance at the present, how cancer can be cured. Education is just as important, stressing the importance of regular check-ups and knowing cancer's seven early warning signals.

The American Cancer Society also teaches the doctors, nurses or other health care workers the newest and best ways to find and treat cancer. There is one additional primary function of the American Cancer Society which is often overlooked.

ENTER CHERYL Hall of Wayne, 38, who recently volunteered to become chairperson of the Service and Rehabilitation segment of the

Cheryl Hall

Wayne County American Cancer Society Program.

Hall, a pharmacist at Sav-Mor Pharmacy, says she would "like to get across [to Wayne area residents] more about the Service and Rehabilitation program."

"Some people do not realize that they have this [Service and Rehabilitation] program available," she said, adding that the American Cancer Society organization raises money for more than just research and education — although she emphasized that all funds contributed to the society, in whatever area, is crucial in the organization's effort of fighting cancer.

Through Service and Rehabilitation, an effort is made to make cancer a lesser blow to the patient or family members. Volunteers drive patients to treatment centers.

People who have been treated for cancer and "been through it" volunteer their help for new patients, offering information, counseling and support to the family.

HALL KNOWS what it is like to have a volunteer offer help to someone that is recovering from cancer, the rehabilitation aspect of the organization.

In May of 1984, Hall found out that she had breast cancer, considered as the highest of all cancer incidents among women. Later that month she had surgery at St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island.

"It was after the surgery that I became acquainted with the rehabilitation area [of the American Cancer Society]," Hall said.

A Reach to Recovery volunteer worker came to see Hall.

The Reach to Recovery is a rehabilitation program for women who have had breast surgery. Its objective is to help meet the emotional and practical needs of the new mastectomy patients.

"They explain what is available for help, to show the different types of prostheses available, and offer compassion," Hall mentioned.

"The volunteers [in the Reach to Recovery rehabilitation program] are people who have had breast cancer, so there is a sense of comradeship when they visit. They have all been through this and can answer the fears or waylay the fears," she added.

THERE ARE also I Can Cope sessions, held periodically in various communities state-wide to educate patients and their families in understanding the disease and identifying available resources to cope with the daily problems cancer can bring.

"It is helpful for members of the family to go through I Can Cope during treatments, to help them understand the process and relieve some of their fears," said Hall.

She returned to Wayne and was visited by members of the CanSurmount program, which is another rehabilitation group that assists in understanding and dealing with cancer.

CanSurmount in Wayne is not as active as previous years, Hall said, but if there would be 10 to 15 people interested in that program or I Can Cope "then we would find someone to take care of it in Wayne."

The programs are currently available in Sioux City and Norfolk, according to Hall.

Also under the Support and Rehabilitation Groups is the provision of transportation to the above-mentioned rehabilitation programs if needed or to oncology visits at medical treatment centers — particularly to those patients who are unable to transport themselves or who are without friends or relatives available to lend a hand.

HOME CARE equipment is also available for patients recovering at home, such as hospital beds, wheelchairs or commodes. Other items provided as a basic service of the American Cancer Society include dressings and other items necessary during recovery. Temporary breast prosthesis are given with the Reach to Recovery program.

Donated items to the American Cancer Society, such as slippers, lap robes, bedside caddies and wigs, are also provided.

What were some of the fears which the rehabilitation programs help to ease?

Hall related to a situation involving her grandmother who suffered from leukemia. People, even friends, would stay away from her residence for fear that the disease was contagious.

"I was afraid of that happening to me," said Hall. "But I found that not

Tae-Kwon-Do demonstration to raise funds

The Wayne County American Cancer Society and the Wayne Tae-Kwon-Do Club are joining efforts in a fund-raising promotion.

Wayne's Tae-Kwon-Do Club will be participating in a "Break a Board for Cancer" demonstration on Friday, Jan. 24 during the halftime of the Blue Devils-Hartington Cedar Catholic basketball game.

All proceeds will go to the American Cancer Society for research, education, service and rehabilitation for cancer patients in this area and across the country.

Pledges or donations should be made to a Tae-Kwon-Do member or at the basketball game.

to be true at all. The number of people who showed concern was overwhelming."

Advice that Hall offered to those people who know of another with cancer or other serious diseases is to "be a willing listener. A lot of people learn that. In order to cope, they have to talk about it."

At times, over-abundance of concern from people once the disease is diagnosed can also cause difficulties for the patient.

"When you are first in need of help, a lot of people are willing to do things for you. It's almost overwhelming," she said.

"It's not that people don't want help. But with so many offers, you have to pick someone the most convenient, the most close to you at the time."

SHE ALSO suggested that people should review the seven warning signs of cancer, and that if any of the symptoms apply — to immediately see the physician.

"If for anything, just for relief of mind," she said.

"Now, if they can catch it early enough, they can treat it and stop the growth," she added.

Those seven warning signals include:

- Change in bowel or bladder habits
- A sore that does not heal
- Unusual bleeding or discharge
- Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere
- Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
- Obvious change in wart or mole
- And nagging cough or hoarseness.

Volunteering to chair the Wayne County American Cancer Society's Service and Rehabilitation Program was a decision based on interest and need.

"I feel that I am pretty accessible to people in my job [as pharmacist at Sav-Mor]. And I like to see people helped," Hall said.

She is also one who had cancer and would likewise have a better rapport with the cancer patients.

Workshop planned in Wayne

Local businesses and citizens are taking an interest in promoting interdisciplinary science skills at this year's Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science Winter Workshop at Wayne State College on Jan. 25.

Last year over 300 students and teachers from 24 area schools attended the Winter Workshop and more are expected to attend this year.

Ron Cisar of Omaha, last year's winner of The Presidential Awards for Excellence in Teaching, will start off the Winter Workshop at 9 a.m. with a special presentation on Natural Prairies in Nebraska.

Once again, Winter Workshop officials are getting help from such local experts as Bob Carlisle from Norfolk, whose brother, Orville is credited by many as being the father of model rocketry. Carlisle will conduct a special model rocket show at 3:15 p.m. at Rice auditorium parking lot. The public is invited to come and watch. Estes Rockets has donated special demonstration model rockets for this launching and the Carlisle brothers have assembled them for this special demonstration.

Local businesses are once again helping to sponsor a union between education and business. Dave Kuchera, from Waldbaum's of Wakefield, and Bill Huser from Sioux Bee Honey located in Sioux City, Iowa, are sponsoring chemistry workshops in the area of food science.

Research professionals will also be donating their expertise; as Keith Jarvi from the Northeast Research Station will present a workshop on entomology, and Ed Rosa-Molinar, a reproductive biologist currently doing private research, will conduct a workshop on experimental biology of sharks and rays.

Bob Steinauer, a naturalist at Fontenelle Forest, and Kathy Albrecht, of the Elkhorn Audubon Society will conduct a workshop on taxidermy and museum preparations.

There are many other local teachers helping to present workshops on Saturday. There are 25 interdisciplinary topics offered currently, ranging from robotic photography and from lasers to old fashion soap making. Participants will attend one workshop in the morning, starting at 9:45 a.m., and a different one in the afternoon, starting at 1 p.m.

To help elementary science teachers, a special effort has been made this year by featuring a special elementary science workshop called PROJECT WILD sponsored by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. Clayton Stalling and Bruce Trindle of the Nebraska Game and Parks, and Anna Daner, an elementary teacher of Tara Heights in

Hoch speaks at WSC Institute

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Nancy Hoch, Republican candidate for governor of Nebraska, stopped in Wayne on Monday to speak on higher education and also tour the Wayne State College facilities.

"If one cares about higher education, then they should be willing to stand up for it," Hoch told a group of listeners attending the Wayne State Public Affairs Institute, which hosted her address.

Hoch, age 49, has served eight years on the University of Nebraska President's Advisory Council, five years on the N.U. Board of Directors and on the Board of Counselors of the N.U. Medical Center. She is currently serving as an American Council of Education panelist.

In 1982 she became one of the first two women ever elected to the University of Nebraska Board of Regents. That regent position covers 10 counties in southeastern Nebraska.

She announced her candidacy for governor of Nebraska on Dec. 19 and 20 in various cities, inviting

Nancy Hoch

Nebraskans to join in a "Partnership for Tomorrow" plan.

"Education through teaching and research provides the raw materials for growth and development in Nebraska," emphasized Hoch in her address at the WSC public affairs institute.

"DECLINES IN state funding and mid-year cuts brings a very serious need to create a vehicle for "long term planning [in higher education and other areas]," Hoch said.

"There has to be steady support [of higher education], more of a long term challenge instead of a short term reaction," she said.

"We should not make slashing cuts in higher education," she said. "When cuts are inevitable, Hoch advised that care should be advised when considering where to narrow the scope of higher education.

"The investment in education is certainly the most important that we make," she said.

She said the state should begin looking at "not narrowing the scope of the state colleges and universities" but instead researching what is needed in supporting higher education in Nebraska.

Education, she said, will need to look for different sources of revenue. "We have to try and involve the business and industry in the private sector, to make them understand and carry on the advocacy of investing in

Hix fined for gambling violation

Jerry Hix of Wakefield appeared before the Dixon County Judge on Jan. 13 and was fined up to $150 for gambling and liquor violations.

On Dec. 17 Dave Nicholson, investigator for the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, and the Wakefield Police Department confiscated a "one-arm bandit" nickel slot machine from The Hotel in Wakefield, belonging to Hix.

The machine was located in an upstairs room inside The Hotel. A plainclothes officer had observed people playing the machine and who won money from it.

Hix appeared in court before Dixon County Judge David Curtiss on Jan. 13 for arraignment on the charges of possession of a gambling device and the consumption of liquor in a public place. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

He was fined $100 for the possession of the gambling device and $50 for the consumption of liquor in a public place.

The judge ruled that the Bally Manufacturing Company one-armed slot machine be released to Hix on the condition that the machine is to be used only at home for private purposes and for no business purposes.

Hoch

"Nebraska education," she mentioned.

"We can no longer rely on budgets that are not there," she said.

"More is needed than just ever increasing budgets. We must build a strong partnership between higher education, our communities, agriculture, business and industry for their mutual survival and growth."

"The state colleges are a vital ingredient in this partnership, who's future must be preserved and enhanced."

HOCH SAID that better and more coordinated planning, strong institutions and a change from the roller coaster budgeting will strengthen higher education in Nebraska.

"The revitalization and advocacy of education in Nebraska must be demanded by our people, our leaders as well as our educators, Hoch said.

She also spoke on several other issues following her address at the public affairs institute, including the state's tax system and monitoring the state's revenue.

Before any new tax laws are made, she suggested a study. There are some, she said, who do not really look at where the state revenue is coming from. Her recommendation was "to bring in people to look carefully at the actual facts and things that we are dealing with. We have to have a tax study to look at what we have," she said.

Comparisons can be made of other states, gained from results of the tax study.

"There is also room for realignment in state government, some reduction in some cases," she remarked.

Rather than do the realignment in a 60 day session, Hoch recommended having a commission look at what the state's priorities are and "what we expect of service from our state government."

NEBRASKA'S RESOURCES are numerous and the state's location in the center of the United States yields many economic advantages. However, the state must do a "marketing job" for all the resources or products the state maintains.

"We have to set our heights higher. It is time to look up and see what our potential is," Hoch mentioned.

As far as retention of teachers within Nebraska, Hoch said "we have to work hard to improve salaries at all levels."

On comment about Khadafy

Chambers remark draws controversy

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association's always outspoken Ernest Chambers has created a ripple nationally with his comments of praise for the Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy.

The controversy began during the early days of the session in typical Chambers style. Senators were debating rules, those regulations covering their own process and conduct. One of the proposed rule changes would have required senators to behave in a way that reflected "creditably" on the Legislature. Chambers pointed out that the proposed rule might limit voicing controversial opinions. And he gave some of his own.

"You would probably view somebody like Colonel Khadafy as an evil man or a nut, as your president has described him. I see him as a great man," said Chambers adding that the Libyan leader has provided his country with housing, medical services and education.

"The only reason a bastion of racism such as America is opposed to Colonel Khadafy in Africa is because he's not a bootlicker for white people," said Nebraska's only black legislator.

Not content to heap praise on Khadafy, Chambers went on to describe President Ronald Reagan as "a supernaturated, Rambo-esque caricature in the last stages of senility."

"Now am I reflecting creditably on the Legislature, which is white' person's assembly dedicated to the interests of white people," said the Omaha senator referring to the rule and pointing out that he does not always represent "the Nebraska Legislature and all its glory."

CHAMBERS IS NO stranger to controversy.

On Chambers' desk the day he made those remarks were three red roses in a vase — a thank you gift from the Arthur Kirk family for Chambers' support after Kirk was killed last year when a State Patrol SWAT team tried to arrest him at his home.

The rest of Nebraska's 48 senators listened politely but made no comment. They are accustomed to the Omaha senator's controversial views. The rule change was defeated but the Chambers remarks reverberated across the country and back.

The wire services sent a story quoting Chambers across the nation where it was used in cities like New Orleans and San Angelo, TX. And in San Angelo, where it ran on the front page of the Standard Times, local citizens were outraged. San Angelo private citizen Doug Alton raised more than enough money in just a few hours after the article appeared to buy Senator Chambers a one-way ticket to Tripoli.

His success was duly reported back in Nebraska and, lest constituents believe they shared Chambers' sentiments, state senators quickly jumped on the anti-Khadafy bandwagon.

Twenty-nine senators signed on to a letter drafted by Lincoln Senator Chris Beutler distancing themselves from the Omaha senator's statements.

"Mr. Khadafy is, at a minimum, an aider and abettor of murders. He has acted outside the law of all civilized nations in condoning random terrorism as an instrument of foreign policy by openly and knowingly allowing and encouraging the training of assassins in his country. He made himself an outlaw and should be treated as such," the letter said.

SOME AMONG the senatorial ranks suspect that Beutler, who is running for the governor's job, wrote the letter as a campaign tool.

The 28 senators who joined Beutler in signing the letter are Paul Hartnett, Bellevue; Chris Abboud, Ralston; William Nichol, Scottsbluff; Lee Rupp, Monroe; Elroy Hefner, Coleridge; Lowell Johnson, North Bend; Harold Sleck, Pleasant Dale; William Barrett, Lexington; R. Wiley Remmers, Auburn; Harry Chronister, Schuyler; Glenn Goodrich, Omaha; Jacklyn Smith, Hastings; Bill Harris, Lincoln; Rex Haberman, Imperial; Emil Beyer, Gretna; Ron Withem, Papillion; Sandra Scofield, Chadron; Don Eret, Dorchester; Peter Hoagland, Omaha; Patricia Morehead, Beatrice; Ariene Nelson, Grand Island; Howard Lamb, Anselmo; James Goll, Tekamah; Dennis Baack, Dix; Richard Peterson, Norfolk; Jerry Chizek, Omaha; Carol Pirsch, Omaha and John DeCamp, Neligh.

State salaries

This is not the time for the state to be allowing substantial salary increases for those in state office. However, a bill to do just that, LB 43, has been advanced to the second round of debate.

The bill would raise the governor's salary from $40,000 to $80,000 next January and other statewide elected officials would get raises over 72 percent.

It is no wonder that so many people are willing to throw their hat in the ring for the role of Nebraska governor.

Total cost of the increases which will be phased in over a period of three years, as reported in the Tuesday Lincoln Journal, would be eventually $248,593.

It was reported that the last increase that elected officials received was in 1979. Those arguing in defense of the bill stipulate that higher salaries are need to attract people with managerial talent. Plus, it might enable more people to consider running for office.

For some reason, there are people who are under the impression that the challenge of leadership and the responsibilities of the job were the primary incentives for individuals to seek office.

Going from a $60,000 business job to a $32,000 a year job as governor has its drawbacks financially, I'm sure. One may not get filthy rich when he or she gains the top office in this state.

Somewhere along the line, though, the reasoning doesn't really matter. What crops up in the back of the mind is — wasn't it during the latter part of 1985 when the legislature convened in special session to decide how to deal with the expected shortfall in revenue.

Cuts were made and the legislature ended its special session. Now, after they do all this, they come back and make this proposal about increasing elected officials' salaries substantially.

Where does all this extra money come from to fund these hefty increases?

Our-area senators, Gerald Conway and Elroy Hefner, have opposed it, with Hefner reportedly saying that when farmers and small businesses are being foreclosed upon, the increase should not be the size of the one on the bill.

We would recommend something in line as to what our own city, county and education officials have been given in the line of raises.

Keep in mind that the county froze the salaries of elected officials for the year when those re-elected or elected to office are installed into office, just so the people running for office realize what salary they'll be getting once they are elected.

They did it because they felt the area ag-oriented economy is having enough problems meeting their own financial needs to justify for a pay increase.

If legislators are considering the welfare of their constituents, they will reconsider their motions and deny the substantial increase.

The increases should have been kept in line in the years that followed 1979, not all at one shot.

Lotteries

Hot topics coming before legislature

The Unicameral's first full week of deliberations were marked by the pains of finalizing legislative rules and means of budget battles to come. About 320 ideas were submitted as legislative bills for senators to consider. More are sure to be added before the Jan. 22 deadline for introductions.

Last year's carryover bills and resolutions were the main focus of debate this week while the new bills were drafted, printed and introduced. The most controversial measure considered thus far was LR 57, the resolution which proposed to grant criminal retrocession to the Winnebago tribe in Nebraska.

A complicated and confusing proposition, LR 57 passed 25-21, receiving the minimum number of "aye" votes necessary for approval.

by sen. gerald conway

Although ancillary points clouded the debate, the measure will essentially grant the Winnebago tribe jurisdiction over misdemeanor crimes by Native Americans on the reservation. There are still many limitations on tribal authority, however. For example, non-Indians cannot be tried in tribal court, regardless of the crime.

The resolution now is sent to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for its approval. If granted, the transfer of authority will take place on July 1, 1986. I did not vote for this resolution but will work for the smooth transition now that the outcome was determined by our democratic process.

OTHER HOT topics are sure to take over the attention of the Legislature in coming weeks. Initiative 300, lotteries, banking laws, taxes — all are sure to add fuel to the debate. New proposals, that are important to some element of our society, are suggested daily and each one must be examined carefully.

Each legislature and interest group has an opinion on budget matters, for example. Revenue forecasts are continuously refined and the altering of state fund allocations in some fashion is a sport that's never out of season.

The Appropriations Committee is planning their budget in anticipation of a continuing decline in revenue. Holding the line on taxes will mean further cuts in services. As decisions like these are made, it becomes even more important that I know your concerns and suggestions. You can reach me at Senator Gerald Conway, District 17, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509 or phone (402) 471-2716.

To help ethanol industry

Policy needed to ban BTX

BTX's, A real Threat to Health and the Ethanol Industry
Last year, considerable controversy arose when the U.S. Customs Service temporarily suspended tariffs and permitted additional supplies of Brazilian ethanol to enter the United States. During the debate on the 1985 Farm Bill, I was successful in offering an amendment which requires the USDA to conduct a study to determine the impact that Brazilian ethanol imports have had on the domestic price of corn and other grains and the U.S. ethanol refining industry. The amendment calls upon the Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the International Trade Commission and the U.S. Trade Representative, to determine what relief should be granted because of the interference of subsidized Brazilian ethanol with the domestic ethanol industry. The USDA will have sixty days to complete the study and make its report to Congress.

In the meantime, it appears that an even larger threat to the ethanol industry is growing within the United States. Commonly referred to as BTX's in the refining industry, benzene, toluene and xylene are increasingly being used by refiners as an octane enhancer in gasoline. With the EPA-mandated phaseout of lead in gasoline, only two alternatives are available to increase octane ratings: ethanol and BTX's. Because BTX's are naturally present in crude oil and are a byproduct of petroleum refining, the larger oil refiners have tended to invest in BTX facilities rather than turn to ethanol as an octane enhancer for gasoline.

The increased use of BTX's, however, has generated concern within the EPA, OSHA and other Federal and state health officials because benzene is proven carcinogenic, and toluene and xylene are congressman doug bereuter

suspected carcinogens. (Lead you may remember was phased out because it was a toxin.) Recent cancer biopsies from animal studies show that benzene causes leukemia and a variety of other cancers including lymphoid cancers, cancers of the skin, ovary, oral cavity, lip, tongue, lung and mammary gland.

At present, both the EPA and OSHA are considering stricter regulations affecting benzene. And it certainly appears that the limitation, or even complete phase out, of BTX's would be beneficial for health and environmental reasons.

BTX Ban good for Ethanol Industry
However, for agricultural states such as Nebraska the limitation of BTX's in gasoline would also have positive economic consequences. A recent report by the Congressional Research Service shows that the United States uses nearly 110 billion gallons of gasoline annually, assuming a 10% alcohol mixture, the CRS estimates that 11 billion bushels of grain would be needed to manufacture this amount of alcohol. Therefore, in order to provide a 10% contribution to our nation's automotive fuel supply, the United States would have to use over 40% of its grain harvest, according to the CRS.

While it may be many years before this amount of grain is put to use in the production of alcohol, there is already a proven market for ethanol in the United States with a tremendous potential for future growth. Increased ethanol usage has already provided an additional market for corn producers. Between 1980 and 1985, corn used in the production of ethanol grew from 16 million to nearly 200 million bushels annually. However, if oil refiners are allowed to manufacture and use BTX's on an economically large scale, then ethanol will cease to be a viable alternative to lead as an octane enhancer and a market for surplus grain production.

Legislative action needed
When Congress returns this year, one of my first priorities will be to introduce legislation that will make it unlawful for any refiner of petroleum fuel to introduce BTX's into commercial gasoline. Naturally occurring BTX's already present in gasoline would also be strictly regulated. This legislation will not only help to insure the future of ethanol, it will also eliminate a potential health hazard for Americans.

ask a lawyer

a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q. I am in the process of getting a divorce, but no decree has been entered yet. My husband is now living with another woman. Is this legal?
A. Strictly speaking, your husband's behavior is illegal. Under Nebraska law, a divorce decree does not become final until six months have passed after the decree is entered with the court. During this time, the parties are still legally married. Thus, until a decree has been entered and the six month waiting period has elapsed, you and your husband are still legally married. Since the law looks at your husband as if he were still married, his conduct places him under the Nebraska statute prohibiting adultery, elements of which include the desertion of one spouse to cohabit with a third party.

Pro-life prayer breakfast

Omahan tells of work with anti-abortionists

By LaVon Anderson

Denny Hartford

"The scripture commands us to rescue those staggering towards slaughter."
 "That bids me to get involved in the ministry of saving babies."
 That was the message of Omaha resident Denny Hartford who spoke at last Saturday's sixth annual pro-life prayer breakfast held in Wayne. Approximately 45 persons attended the event in the Women's Club room. The breakfast was sponsored by the Wayne County Right to Life organization.

HARTFORD SERVES as director of the Omaha Christian Action Council and is actively involved in picketing and counseling outside of abortion clinics in the Omaha area.
 "Between 15 and 22 abortions are performed every Saturday at these clinics," said Hartford. "They kill babies six days a week."
 "We're there to offer alternatives. We care about these women and we care about their children."
 Hartford told Saturday's gathering about the work of picketers and counselors outside the abortion clinics and their recent run-ins with the Omaha police department.

JUST THIS MONTH, three anti-abortion demonstrators, including Hartford, were arrested at a clinic in Omaha on suspicion of violating a 50-foot rule.
 The rule states that no more than two pickets at a time can be stationed within 50 feet of the premises they are picketing and that pickets must be at least 50 feet apart.

On Friday, the day before Hartford spoke in Wayne, anti-abortion demonstrators learned that the charges had been dismissed when police said that the 50-foot provision of the state's anti-mass picketing law no longer would be applied to the protesters.
 "This was a tremendous relief," said Hartford while in Wayne Saturday, "and reaffirms my belief that we can and indeed should stand firm in the Lord."

HARTFORD TOLD persons attending Saturday morning's breakfast that despite the fact that counselors and picketers take a "tremendous amount of abuse," their numbers continue to increase outside of the abortion chambers.
 "Human life is sacred," said Hartford, "but the world is rapidly losing heart."

Hartford added that when he first began his counseling work outside of the clinics he was unable to eat or sleep.
 "I was overwhelmed by the sorrow. I know that every single human being is created in the image and likeness of God, who says, 'Inasmuch as you do these things to others, you do them to me.'"

HARTFORD SAID that today the pro-life movement is just that — a movement.
 "It is a movement," stressed Hartford, "and its on the streets." He added that while it is still a movement of prayer, it also is a movement of activism.

"I've come here today to tell you, to encourage you, and to stimulate you," said Hartford. "I'm not interested in entertaining, but in recruiting and training."
 Hartford urged breakfast goers Saturday to visit an abortion clinic. "You may not be able to go one day a week, or a month, but you can go once in your lifetime."

"I guarantee you'll never be the same. Abortion will no longer be an abstract issue for you."
 "We've come a long way, but we still have an awesome enemy," closed Hartford. "He's entrenched, he's powerful, and he has the law on his side."

SERVING AS master of ceremonies for Saturday's breakfast was the Rev. Larry Ostercamp, pastor of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne.

The Rev. Ken Cleveland of the First Church of Christ had the invocation and closing prayer, and special music was provided by Fred and Faye Mann.

Officers of Wayne County Right to Life are Elda Warne, president; the Rev. Gordon Granberg, vice president; Kevin Fairbanks, secretary; and Linda Dorcey, treasurer.

Several members of the local organization have announced plans to participate in the 1986 Walk for Life which will take place this Saturday in Lincoln. Speakers will include Jack Wilkie, M.D., president of National Right to Life.

Defenders 'Dangerfields' of basketball

Points, points, points. Sometimes that's all I think people care about. Whenever a good basketball player is discussed, the first thing people usually want to know is how many points he or she averages.

However, basketball's one of the most team oriented games of all sports. Show me a basketball team that has a bunch of scorers, and I'll show you a loser. To be successful in basketball, a team has to be well-rounded, and that includes a solid defense.

Sure, you need scorers, but most coaches agree that more games are won with defense than any other element.

Now I don't want to sound like a hypocrite because I also focus a lot of attention on scorers. Players that make a lot of baskets are like players that score a lot of touchdowns and hit a lot of homers — they receive a lot of ink.

But too often good defensive players don't receive the respect and recognition they deserve. I guess you could say defensive players are the Rodney Dangerfields of basketball.

So I've decided that in addition to naming an all-area basketball team, I'll also name an all-area defensive team at the end of the year. I really haven't decided how to go about it yet, but at the end of the season the area's defensive specialists will receive the recognition they were probably eluded during the course of the 1985-86 campaign.

Record hopper

Speaking of scoring, there's a guy that plays at the University of Nebraska that's "Hopper" into the record books this year.

Now that Cornhusker center Dave Hoppen is Nebraska's all-time leading scorer, he can set his sights becoming the second leading scorer in Big Eight history.

Hoppen is one of only four Big Eight players to top 2,000 points in their career. Mike Evans played for Kansas State from 1975-78 and ended with 2,115 markers, and Iowa State's Barry Stevens played from 1982-85 and totaled 2,190 points. Heading into the Big Eight season, Hoppen had 2,029 career markers.

Wayman Tisdale of Oklahoma owns the Big Eight scoring record and the accomplishment is really quite amazing. In just three years (1983-85), Tisdale scored 2,661 points.

Tisdale could have returned to Oklahoma this year and added on to his total, but the NBA's big bucks persuaded him to pass on his senior season. If I remember right, his yearly salary is in the $600,000 neighborhood, which probably made his decision to leave a little easier.

Prior to the Kansas game, Hoppen needed to average just 10.8 points in Nebraska's minimum 15 games to top Stevens and become the second leading scorer in the Big Eight. But to give you an idea of what Tisdale accomplished in only three years, Hoppen would have to average 40 points to break the record.

Hoppen has scored in double figures in 78 straight times and has tallied at least 19 points in 44 of 49 games. He also has 53 career 20-point games, including seven of 30 or more.

But the Omaha Benson product is more than just a scorer. In addition to being a fine interior passer, the 6-11 senior needs just 40 rebounds to become Nebraska's all-time leader in that category, too. He is currently fifth on Nebraska's all-time list with 722 boards.

Wayne claims sixth triumph

Wayne stumbles to 47-42 win over Stanton

It wasn't pretty, but Wayne's girls continued to roll along with a 47-42 victory over a scrappy Stanton club Tuesday night.

The game totaled 50 turnovers and neither team shot well from the field or the line. However, two Wayne surges and their rebounding lifted the Blue Devils to their fifth victory in their last six games.

The Blue Devils experienced one of their slowest starts of the 1985-86 campaign and a Stanton hoop at the first quarter buzzer lifted the Fillies to an 11-4 lead.

But Wayne came back in a hurry. The Blue Devils applied full court pressure in the second period and outscored Stanton 12-2 to open a 16-13 advantage at intermission.

Wayne followed its second quarter surge with more inspired play early in the third quarter. Once again, it was the Blue Devils' press that sparked the hosts to a 23-13 lead midway through the third frame.

"They (Stanton) didn't handle pressure real well and we forced them into a lot of mistakes," Wayne head coach Marlene Uhing said. "But Stanton outthrust us and kept it close."

Stanton's hustle did turn the game around as the Fillies outscored Wayne 13-7 during the final four minutes of the third stanza to make the score 30-26 with eight minutes to go.

Wayne's impressive offensive rebounding in the fourth quarter allowed the Blue Devils to open its biggest lead of the game, 43-30, with just under four minutes to go.

But as they did several times earlier, the Fillies came storming back. Stanton was forced to foul the Blue Devils and Wayne made only 7-of-16 glifters in the last period. The Fillies responded with a fast-paced offense and cut the lead to five before time ran out.

Uhing said she was disappointed in her club's execution of its offense and its free throw shooting in the last quarter.

"We didn't do a very good job of running our offense. People weren't cutting and we weren't setting picks like we should've been," she said. "And we didn't hit the late free throws. You want to make more than 7-of-16 to protect your lead."

A key in the game was Wayne's dominance of the boards. The Blue Devils grabbed 48 rebounds (24 offensive and 24 defensive), while Stanton totaled 30. Shelly Pick and Kecia Corbit led Wayne with 13 and 10 boards, respectively.

Jodi Dittman and Corbit led Wayne in scoring with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Laura Keating and Pick added eight and six markers, respectively, to the Blue Devil cause.

Dana Nelson played a solid game for the Blue Devils. The 5-3 freshman finished with five points, seven assists and four steals. Corbit also totaled four thefts.

Wayne finished with 27 turnovers, while Stanton closed with 23. The Blue Devils hit 11-of-26 free throws and the Fillies finished 14-for-24 from the stripe.

Wayne also won the freshman and junior varsity games. The Blue Devil frosh claimed an overtime 29-27 victory, while Wayne's JVs captured a 29-15 win.

Tonia Exleben led Wayne's freshmen with six points and nine rebounds. Betsy Lebsack added six markers to the Wayne win.

Leslie Keating, Andrea Marsh and Robin Lutt led Wayne's JVs with six points apiece. Jennifer Wessel and Lutt both grabbed a team high eight rebounds.

Wayne's varsity is now 6-4 on the year. The Blue Devils play two tough teams next week. Wayne hosts Pender and Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday and Thursday, respectively.

Pender has lost just one game this year and Cedar Catholic is undefeated and ranked No. 5 in Nebraska's Class B.

"We have two very difficult games next week so we're going to have to shake off our poor performance that we had against Stanton and play good basketball," Uhing said.

Wayne loses defensive struggle

Seward trims Blue Devils, 29-27

SEWARD — Second-ranked Seward overcame Wayne-Carroll's upset bid by slipping past the Blue Devils 29-27 here Saturday night.

The game was a defensive battle the last half and both clubs' pressure resulted in the low scoring affair, according to Wayne head coach Bob Uhing.

"The game was low scoring, but neither team slowed it down on purpose," he said. "Both teams played very good defense and you were forced to reverse the ball a lot before you could get a good shot off."

Wayne tallied 14 points in the initial quarter and opened a three point lead. But the Blue Devils managed just 13 markers in the last three stanzas and Seward made its move.

Wayne held a 21-19 lead at the half, but Seward pulled ahead by two, 27-25, late in the third frame.

Wayne held the Bluejays to just two points in the last period, but the Blue Devils managed only one point themselves.

Wayne did have a chance to tie the game and force an overtime. Seward's Mike Roll was fouled with 13 seconds remaining in the contest and after a Wayne timeout, Roll missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw. The Blue Devils hurried the ball up court and missed a 15 foot jumper and a shot off an offensive rebound, allowing Seward to claim the win.

The triumph improved Seward's record to 9-1. The Bluejays are ranked No. 2 in Class B by the Omaha World-Herald's prep writer Larry Porter. Arlington, currently 10-0 on the year, is ranked No. 1 in Class B by the Herald.

Holding the opposition down in scoring is nothing strange for Seward as opposing teams are averaging just 36 points a game against the Bluejays. Seward averages 50 points offensively.

Seward head coach Rod Felix said his club tries to play a slow game, concentrating on defense.

"We don't push the ball up and down the court," he said. "We like to take our time and get good shots and play strong defense."

Another factor in both teams' low scoring was their field goal and free throw shooting. Wayne finished 9-for-44 from the floor for 20 percent and 9-for-17 from the line. Seward canned 14-of-41 field goals for 34 percent and went 1-for-6 from the line.

"It wasn't a very good offensive exhibition," Felix said. "But we watched Wayne play Schuyler and they were really effective from the outside in that game and we wanted to take their outside game away."

Don Larsen claimed the game's scoring honors with 12 points. Brent Pick followed Larsen with 10. Jeff Hausmann tallied three markers for the Blue Devils, while Ted Luaders and Scott Baker rounded out Wayne's scoring with two and one point, respectively.

Roll led Seward with eight points. He was also credited with the game-winning basket which occurred early in the fourth quarter.

Wayne outrebounded the Bluejays 30-20. Larsen led Wayne with 12 boards.

Saturday night was a good night for close games as Wayne's JVs claimed a thrilling 40-37 overtime triumph over the Bluejays.

Jon Stoltenberg led the Blue Devils with 11 points, while Scott Hammer and Nick Engelson added 10 and nine markers, respectively.

Jason Jorgenson led Wayne in rebounding with seven boards. The JV game was tied at 32 at the end of regulation play. The victory improved the Blue Devils to 5-3 on the year.

Although the Blue Devil varsity lost, Uhing said he is pleased with his club's hustle and improvement during the last month.

"I thought the kids played really well the last week. We do need to be more aggressive on offense, but we're getting better," he said. "This is the most improved team I have ever coached. And if they continue to work hard and improve, we'll have a good team."

Wayne, now 7-4, plays again Friday when Hartington Cedar Catholic invades the Blue Devil gymnasium.

Nygren keys Lady Wildcats

PERU — A three-point play by Wayne State's Deb Nygren lifted the Lady Wildcats to a thrilling 62-60 victory over Peru State here Monday night.

Wayne State held a 58-55 advantage with three minutes remaining when the Lady Wildcats' leading scorer this year, Linda Schnitzler, fouled out.

Peru State capitalized on Schnitzler's absence by pulling within one, 59-58, with 2:30 to go. Both teams then traded possession of the ball before Nygren was fouled on an inside shot with 1:41 remaining. Nygren cannot the free throw to increase Wayne State's lead to four, 62-58.

Peru State was forced to foul down the stretch and three Lady Wildcats missed their free throws. But Peru State's final attempt to tie the game and force an overtime failed and Michele Blomberg dribbled out the clock to preserve the Wayne State win.

Wayne State fell behind by as many as five points in the first half, but with nine minutes remaining pulled ahead 17-16 and eventually led 21-16.

Peru State closed the gap to one,

29-28, late in the first half. But Schnitzler drilled three straight buckets to give the Lady Wildcats a 34-31 lead at intermission.

Wayne State opened its biggest lead of the game, 40-33, early in the second half. However, Peru State outscored the Lady Wildcats 17-4 to open a 50-44 edge at the 11 minute mark.

Wayne State pulled within two, 52-50, with seven minutes to go before taking the lead for good at 54-52 with six minutes remaining.

Nygren led the Lady Wildcats in scoring with 22 points, hitting 7-of-12 field goals and 8-of-11 free throws. Schnitzler finished with 16 points, while Blomberg and Shelle Tomaszkiwicz both added eight markers to the victory.

Connie Viner led Peru State with 19 points, while teammates Denise Cave and Tammy Freburg tallied 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Tomaszkiwicz led Wayne State with 13 rebounds and came up with a key steal late in the game. Nygren added 10 boards to the Lady Wildcat win.

The meet will be held May 22. Carnes said he expects anywhere from 100 to 130 golfers to compete at the state meet.

Conde Sargent, assistant executive director of the Nebraska School Activities Association, told Carnes several favorable reasons why Wayne was selected as the host site.

"Mr. Sargent told me Wayne was selected because he said we have good facilities and the type of community that will be supportive of such an event," Carnes said. "So it's quite an honor to be selected."

Wayne will also be the host of the Junior Legion State Baseball Tournament on August 8.

Ponca overcomes Wakefield, 45-21

WAKEFIELD — Ponca used a late first half spurt and a strong third quarter to down Wakefield 45-21 here Monday night.

The game was evenly played during most of the first half as Ponca owned a slim 12-10 advantage midway through the second frame. But the Indians tallied the first half's final seven points to open a 19-10 lead at intermission.

Ponca then outscored Wakefield 18-4 in the third stanza to open a commanding 37-14 lead before posting the 24-point victory.

Arnie Cerny, Wakefield's head coach, said he was pleased with his club's first half play, but added that his girls have to overcome a bad habit they have picked up this year.

"We played pretty good in the first half and I was pleased with the way we stayed with them," he said. "But we fell far behind in the third quarter and I think the girls subconsciously gave up. I know they would never do it on purpose, but it seems that when we fall behind by 12 or 15 points, the girls gave up without realizing it."

Stacey Kuhl and Tricia Schwartz sparked the Trojans with four points apiece, while Racquel Lueh added three markers to the Wakefield cause. Ponca's Amy Armstrong claimed the game's scoring honors with 16 points.

Rebounding totals were similar as Ponca finished with 20 boards and Wakefield totaled 18. Kristal Clay and Lueh led the Trojans with five caroms apiece.

Clay and Miller led Wakefield with three steals apiece. The Trojans finished with nine total thefts.

Cerny said his club has to concentrate on playing hard for an entire game the rest of the year.

"We always seem to play pretty good for a couple of quarters, but then we make mistakes and everything snowballs on us," he said. "We just have to concentrate on playing hard an entire game."

Ponca also claimed the junior varsity game, 24-12.

Wakefield, now 0-10 on the year, plays again Friday when Wynot invades the Trojan gymnasium for a boy-girl doubleheader. Friday's action is parent's night at Wakefield.

Wildcats slip to 3-7

Stanton downs Winside, 48-39

STANTON — Stanton used 16 free throws and a quick start to down Winside by a misleading nine points, 48-39, here Saturday night.

Winside trailed by only three points with just under two minutes remaining. However, Stanton stacked on six additional points down the stretch and went on to post the victory.

Winside head coach Jill Stenwall said her club should have had more patience on offense in the late going.

"We took some shots that weren't the very high percentage type," she said. "It was turning into a close game and I'm sure the girls got a little excited, but two minutes is a lot of time in basketball and we should've taken our time."

Initially, it appeared as though the Wildcats might be in for a long night as Stanton jumped out to a quick 14-2 lead. But Winside cut the Fillice lead to 10, 24-14, at intermission and to seven, 33-26, in the third quarter. The Wildcats then trimmed Stanton's advantage to three before the Fillice late flurry.

A major difference in the game was free throws. Winside finished 3-for-6 from the line, while Stanton canned 16-of-28 giffers. Winside was called for 19 fouls and Stanton was whistled for 12.

Julie Brockman led the Wildcats in scoring with 14 points. Sisters Kay and Ann Melehenry added seven and six points, respectively, to the Winside cause.

For the first time this season, the Wildcats were outrebounded. Stanton totaled 47 rebounds, while Winside grabbed 40 boards. Kay Melehenry and Kristy Miller led the Wildcats with nine and eight boards, respectively.

Turnovers have been a major problem for Winside during most of the season, but Saturday night the Wildcats only totaled 16 mistakes.

Stenwall said her club's overall play is improving.

"We're cutting down on our turnovers and the girls are coming right along," she said.

Winside's junior varsity improved to 5-2 on the year with a 14-12 victory. Carmen Reeg led the Wildcats with 10 points.

Paulsen entered the meet ranked second in the state and 15-1 overall. He faced third-ranked Bernie Howard of Scribner for the title.

Both wrestlers had each other in trouble during the match, but Howard pulled out a 17-14 victory.

"Doug gave up some quick back points that came back to haunt him," Sok said about the title match. "He came back though and had Howard on his back for about 40 seconds, but just couldn't quit pin him."

Olson, Schellenberg and Leapley all finished 3-1 on the day, while Jorgensen went 2-2.

Sok said he is impressed with Greunke's, Leapley's and Jorgensen's improvement.

"Those guys are really improving," he said. "They've been making the adjustments to the type of wrestling that is characterized by their weight classes."

Locals win free throw contest

Five area cagers advanced to Hartington for the Knights of Columbus Free Throw Competition by winning the local division Sunday at the Wayne High School Gymnasium.

Kim Kruse and Shelly Dorcey captured the 11 and 12-year-old brackets in the girls' competition. Boys winners and their respective age groups were: Bobby Barnes, 11-years-old; Matt Bruggeman, 12-years-old; Troy Kaup, 13-years-old; Adam Mrsny, 14-years-old.

The next competition will be held at the Holy Trinity Gymnasium in Hartington Feb. 9, beginning at 2 p.m.

Softball insurance available

FREMONT — The Nebraska Softball Association will again make available a special one million dollar insurance liability policy to all softball field owners. This includes municipalities, schools, parks and recreation departments, and private field owners.

With the tremendous increase in the cost of liability protection, many communities are not able to protect themselves against the increased number of claims being filed. This coverage is simply not available anywhere else. It protects against law suits, legal expense and judgments.

In previous years, the Amateur Softball Association/Nebraska Softball Association absorbed the total premium for this protection. With the soaring costs this year, there will be a charge of $50 per field owner. This means that if a community has more than one field, all fields are covered for the one $50 fee.

Full court press lifts Stanton past Winside, 84-31

STANTON — Stanton built a 43-11 lead at halftime and went on to post an 84-31 victory over Winside here Saturday night.

After falling behind 21-3 at the end of the first quarter, Winside trailed by 32 at intermission.

Stanton never let up as the Mustangs held a 63-20 advantage after three frames before claiming the 53 point victory.

A key to the lopsided victory was Stanton's man-to-man press. The Mustangs applied full court pressure the entire game, according to Winside head coach Mark Freburg.

"They were up by 45 points in the fourth quarter and kept on pressing us. They never took it (the press) off," he said.

Ketin Jaeger led the Wildcats in scoring with nine points. Doug Mundill followed with eight markers, while Mike Thies added six.

Stanton's Todd Anderson claimed the game's scoring honors with 18 points.

Winside totaled 19 rebounds. Jaeger and Thies led the Wildcats with six and four boards, respectively.

Thies and Mundill both dished out a team high two assists for Winside.

Stanton claimed a 42-34 victory in the junior varsity contest. Brent Nau and Tim Jacobsen led the Wildcats in scoring with six and four points, respectively.

Although Winside's varsity is winless in nine games this year, Freburg said he is pleased with his club's effort.

"The kids have a lot of guts for working as hard as they do even though they have been losing," he said. "The kids come out and work hard. They've been giving a tremendous effort and that's all you can ask."

The Wildcats' next game is Friday at Wausa.

Rosenquist led Wayne State in scoring with 10 points. Vincent White tallied nine for the Wildcats and Markus Wilson added seven. Fred Campbell and Thomas Hardneff led Fort Hays State with 20 and 14 points, respectively.

Smoky bank at Carroll

Farmers State Bank of Carroll suffered from smoke and soot Monday evening, caused by a furnace that was in the process of being repaired.

According to Sue Gilmore, executive vice president at the bank, the furnace had kicked in and it filled the bank building with soot and smoke.

The Carroll Fire Department was called to the bank at around 7 p.m. and aired out the building.

"There was no permanent damage," Gilmore said Tuesday.

Leonard and Alice Hallean of Carroll walked past the bank, which was closed for the day, and had noticed black smoke coming from the building's chimney. They saw the smoke inside the building, reported it to a nearby business and the fire department was notified.

Gas bill down

Peoples Natural Gas customers in Wayne are receiving another decrease in natural gas rates with this month's bill.

According to Tim Connealy, District Manager for Peoples, the decrease is due to a reduction in the price of the gas that Peoples buys from its supplier, to serve Wayne. Peoples passes such decreases directly on to customers.

Connealy said the decrease will mean an annual savings of about $25 for the typical residential heating customer.

"This is the fourth rate decrease within the last year," Connealy said, "and the combined effect is saving the typical residential customer over $50 a year."

"Consumers are benefiting from the price competition among fuels and the abundant supplies of natural gas available for the coming year which continue to force natural gas wellhead prices down."

Peoples provides retail natural gas service to over 1650 residential, commercial and industrial customers in the Wayne Community.

Chicken pox hits

Chicken pox is making its rounds in Wayne. The outbreak is evident in the ranks of enrollment at the Wayne-Carroll Elementary School. As of Wednesday morning (Jan. 22), a total of 47 students and one adult attending both the Wayne and Carroll elementary schools have, since Christmas, contracted chicken pox. Since Monday (Jan. 20) there have been 13 new cases reported at the schools.

"Last week we had seven out of 24 students gone in one room [about 30 percent absenteeism]. The second grade was hit hard then, but now it is hitting on the first grade," said David Luth, principal of the elementary schools.

"That is the most we've had of absenteeism for a long, long time. And it doesn't seem to be slacking off," he added.

Takes position at Missouri College

Hutton to leave Wayne State College

Kirk Hutton of Wayne has been appointed Central Missouri State University's new director of development at Warrensburg, Missouri.

The announcement came last Wednesday from the Central Missouri State Board of Regents. Hutton will enter the position on March 1.

In his present capacity as institutional advancement assistant for Wayne State College, Hutton acts as the executive director of the Wayne State Foundation and the director of alumni affairs.

Hutton was instrumental in the creation of the WSC Alumni Association and also in the implementation of the President's Society, a major donors' club.

"Rarely, during a college profession does a person have the opportunity to work for his alma mater [which is Wayne State]. I have an intense sense of loyalty for Wayne State College," Hutton said.

"WSC has always been, and will continue to be, dear to my heart," he said.

WSC administration officials allowed him "an opportunity to do a lot of things."

"Of all the colleges and universities in Nebraska, WSC cannot be beat. It has a very bright future," he said.

Hutton said he looks forward to starting his new job at Central Missouri State because of what the University has to offer the students and community.

"I'm excited about Central Missouri State, and I say that geauinely too," Hutton said. "It has some programs that other institutions aren't able to have - some outstanding technology programs for example - and that's exciting."

Hutton says the Warrensburg community was a large contributing factor in his decision to move to Missouri. He says he and his wife, Deb, are impressed with what Warrensburg has to offer them and their family.

The Huttons have two children, Andrew, 4, and Anne, 2.

Sign-up dates to be announced

USDA announces new conservation reserve program

Farmers may begin in early March to volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the Conservation Reserve Program, a provision of the Food Security Act of 1985.

Highly erodible land that enters the Conservation Reserve Program will be ineligible for farming for 10 years and must instead be planted with permanent vegetative cover.

"The Conservation Reserve is one of the most important provisions of the 1985 farm bill," said Block. John R. Secretary of Agriculture. "The program will go a long way toward conserving America's eroding farmland for the future."

Up to 45 million acres may be enrolled in the reserve during the five-year period, 1986 through 1990. The yearly program acreage goals are at least 5 million for the 1986 crop year, 100 million or more each year, 1987 through 1989, and 5 million or more for 1990, according to Block.

Program participants will receive annual rental payments, the amounts depending on the bids per acre and the number of acres under the 10-year contracts. Participants also will receive 50 percent of eligible costs of establishing trees or grass on the acreage placed in the reserve.

RENTAL PAYMENTS will compensate farmers for retiring highly erodible cropland from crop production. The conservation payments will partly reimburse farmers for one-half the one-time costs of establishing vegetative cover.

Rental payments will be made annually as soon as practicable after Oct. 1 of each calendar year. Cost-sharing payments will be made as soon as possible after individual participants report their conservation treatments are in place.

The total amount of rental payments for any fiscal year may not exceed $50,000 or its equivalent, if in-kind payments are made. There is no payment limit on cost-sharing for cover establishment.

"Farmers who decide to return land to production during the 10-year contract must repay the government, with interest, all of its costs for annual rental and for establishing cover," said Block. "In the event of national need, however, the Secretary of Agriculture may declare that any farmer who wants to return the land to production may do so without penalty."

THE SIGN-UP DATES for the Conservation Reserve Program are expected to be announced soon. Farmers interested in participating in the program should contact their local office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Block said other USDA agencies also will administer the program. Technicians from USDA's Soil Conservation Service will help farmers determine if their land is eligible; the extension service lead public information and education efforts; and the Forest Service will coordinate and provide technical assistance for tree planting.

State and local agencies also will lend assistance, he said. State forestry agencies will help prepare and approve tree planting plans. State wildlife agency representatives will serve on the conservation review groups to recommend and assist in determining the cover practice specifications necessary for wildlife enhancement. State conservation agencies will recommend and assist with erosion control requires. Local conservation districts will approve all plans.

the farmer's wife

by pat meierhenry

It's really a fun change to set records for warm instead of cold. A January thaw is a pleasant surprise, even if the sleds and snowmobiles are idle.

There have been several weeks when only the yard was icy and it was hard to get a running start and over the hump in front of the garage, but now even that is gone.

No snow and warm temps mean that the livestock can be "in the stalks," finding dropped ears. Tractors start every morning, farmers don't freeze doing chores and stock cows stay "in condition" and are better prepared for calving.

No school has been cancelled, we don't have to worry about school buses getting around and games and wrestling meets do not have to be rescheduled. Plus, strained budgets have lower fuel bills.

Kids are happy because Mom isn't constantly yelling at them about boots and mittens.

SISTER MARY and her family came from Papillion for the weekend. When they travel, Freckles and Snuggles come along. Freckles and Snuggles are dogs who think they are people.

You know the kind. They lay around on the couch, stand by the table and look with appealing eyes while you eat and sleep with family members. Which means someone has to get up and let them out in the early morning.

Our dogs know they are dogs. They don't expect to come in the house unless they hear firecrackers. They eat dog food and table scraps. They sleep in the barn or the hay stack. They even chase a rabbit once in a while.

Freckles and Snuggles had to have mud cleaned off their paws several times. Freckles even had to have mud balls cut off on Saturday night. She just laid on her master's lap and yelped when the scissors got too close to flesh. To which her master said, "I'm sorry." I don't make a practice of apologizing to dogs.

At least Freckles and Snuggles are pleasant to have around. And they never have accidents in the house.

FOR YEARS, my sister had a little black dog named Tippy who hated me. The feeling was mutual. She had a high-pitched bark that set my nerves on edge. She loved to mess up my carpet in retaliation for her having to spend a weekend here.

On the day of Sue's graduation from high school, Tippy was so nervous, we placed her in the basement bathroom and shut the doors. Problem was, my Sis forgot her!

I would have been happy to put Tippy out of her misery, but I resisted for Mary's sake. On Monday afternoon, folks who had stayed over in Norfolk were coerced into taking Tippy along back to Omaha.

We had to put on gloves to catch her. We put her in a box and placed it in the back seat. Our friends told us later that she stuck her head out and glared at them with beady eyes all the way back.

Tippy has since departed this earth and I doubt if she is in Dog Heaven. But I have a feeling that my little sister will always bring dogs when she comes to visit.

I'm sure they really are "man's best friends." But I like a dog who knows his place.

In grain provisions, says Farmers Union

Improvements demanded on farm bill

"The crop loan rates and acreage diversion requirements announced Monday by the Reagan administration guarantee a lower farm income, and the continuation of economic hard times for every agri-related business and industry"....according to Nebraska Farmers Union president Larry Hall of rural Rocca.

Hall says, "the administration has alleged that farm income will be stabilized, because target prices are frozen. That's nonsense! The program requires a minimum of 20 percent acreage reduction for corn...and 25 percent acreage reduction for wheat. The price per bushel may be frozen...but the number of bushels a farmer produces will be reduced, and so will farm income."

Hall pointed out that "the corn loan rate has been reduced to $1.92 per bushel, and the wheat loan rate to $2.40 per bushel. The Nebraska Farmers Union believes that price supports for commodities should be linked to the parity in price, so prices are changed to reflect changes in the farmers costs of production. Parity price for corn is approximately $5.11 and the parity price for wheat is approximately $7.00 per bushel. The Farmers Union believes the loan rate should be set at 75 percent of parity, plus deficiency payments, to bring the price support level to 90 percent of parity for those who comply with the program"....Hill said.

The Farmers Union president stressed that "the public needs to understand that the loan, provided by the loan rate, is "paid back" by the farmer in the form of cash or commodity. But under the administration's new farm program, the loan rate is "lowered" This "forces the farmer" into the position of taking more money in the form of deficiency payments. The Farmers Union is fearful that even these payments will be lowered under the Gramm Rudmann balanced budget plan. This could leave the farmer with both a loan rate and target price that are below the cost of production. Faced with this, many would feed their grain to cattle and hogs until livestock numbers got out of hand, and the price of livestock dropped."

"The potential economic destruction extends beyond the active farmer," Hall said. "It may also prove devastating to retired farmers who derive the balance of their limited income from cash-renting their land. Under the new program provisions, cash renting may not pencil out for many farmers and land owners. Remember, even though these retired people may own their land free and clear, they still have to pay taxes."

"The Nebraska Farmers Union is calling upon its members and all other interested parties to write to the Nebraska congressional delegation, demanding improvements in the grain provisions of the new farm bill."

Financial planning program set, to be sponsored by Extension Service

Auditorium in Wayne. Identifying Your Goals; Income and Expense Sheets (based mainly on your income tax records) and Start on Cash Flow.

February 20, Thursday, 7 p.m. at Woman's Club Room, City Auditorium in Wayne. Determining if your goals are compatible with your financial situation; Setting Your Priorities; Checking Your cash flow and Financial Trend Sheet (done previously).

All-American Selection set for 1986. All-American Selections are new varieties which have proven themselves at All-American Trial Gardens across the country. Here, both flowers and vegetables are compared with the best of their class by impartial judges. Vegetables are evaluated for flavor, yield, appearance, texture, disease resistance, productivity, space efficiency, nutrition and novelty value. In flowers, judges look for color, resistance to disease, insects and weather stresses, prolonged flowering attractiveness of blossoms, uniformity and fragrance.

Two vegetable varieties and one flower variety have been selected as AAS for 1986. The vegetables include okra "Blondy" and a sweet corn "How Sweet It Is." The flower is a red cosmos called "Sunny Red."

Okra "Blondy" is a dwarf variety (only 3 feet high) which bears creamy lime-colored pods instead of dark green pods like regular okra. This makes the pods easier to find in the thick foliage. "Blondy" is early and productive and will provide gardeners with abundant okra for the popular French and Creole cooking from Louisiana.

"How Sweet It Is" is a white sweet corn with an extra gene for high sugar and which also retains its sweetness well after harvest. The flavor compares well with "Silver Queen." "How Sweet It Is" requires about 80 days from sowing to picking. To ensure superior eating quality, this variety must be isolated in time (by staggered planting dates) or in space (by separating it 25 feet) from other varieties of sweet corn. Plants grow higher than 7 feet tall.

The cosmos "Sunny Red" was selected for its outstanding summer performances. This variety has a dwarf habit (only 2 feet), and does not require pinching, pruning or staking to enhance its appearance or flowering. This annual requires full sun in the garden and thrives in summer heat or humidity. With minimal care, it will bloom abundantly all summer.

Some seed companies which carry these new varieties include: Burpee, Henry Field, Gurney, Earl May, Northrup King, Parks and Twilleys. These new varieties are certainly worth a try in Nebraska gardens.

It's a tough decision. Each year after the harvest, the same questions come up. Which one will make the most money this year? Should you sell your grain today or store it for a better price tomorrow? If you store it, should it be on-farm or stored commercially? The questions make your head spin and finding the answers seem like finding the needle in the haystack . . . until now!

An informed decision. Now you can find answers to all these questions right in your own home, with Farm TABS from Terra International, Inc. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program helps you make informed management decisions that will increase your profitability. It calculates drying and storage costs, net crop value, and break-even prices over a period of months. It allows you to look ahead and speculate taking into account: fluctuating interest rates, market prices, storage costs and storage periods. You can instantly determine what effect changing cost and price levels might have on your storage costs and overall grain marketing plan . . . but, Grain Storage Decisions is just one of the many options of this Farm TABS program.

The right decision. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program also has a Harvest Loss Calculator that allows you to check your combine's efficiency, a Crop Yield Calculator that calculates yield figures based on information from a given test strip, a Field Population Calculator that compares different hybrids and management practices and a Planter Calibration Calculator that determines the most efficient rate at which to plant.

You decide. The Farm TABS Corn/Soybean Management program gives you the answers that can help you better manage your crop for better profits. This program alone is an incredible assistance in managing your farm operation, yet it is just a small part of the complete Farm TABS system. You can see the complete Farm TABS system at your local Terra Dealer.

WILDLIFE HABITAT APPLICATIONS

The Lower Elkhorn NRD is now accepting applications for the Wildlife Habitat Program. This is a cooperative program of the NRD and the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, which pays landowners for establishing habitat or improving existing habitat.

Practices IVa and IVc require the conversion of cropland to permanent cover, but Practice IVd is for the improvement of existing habitat. These practices not only provide some badly needed nesting cover for wildlife, but also control soil erosion by taking marginal cropland out of production.

Practice IVa — Grassland Habitat

- Three year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
- Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 5 acres with a minimum of 3 acres per plot. A maximum of four plots with a total of 80 acres.

PROJECT WILD

Project WILD is a supplementary education program that emphasizes wildlife. It involves kids and animals—the proven formula for generating classroom interest and participation.

It can be used to teach most major subject areas, including language arts, social studies, math and art. But, it is particularly well-suited to science. Attractive and easy to use, Project WILD is an ideal way to supplement your curricula and fire the imaginations of your students.

The core of Project WILD is two activity guides, one for kindergarten through grade 5, and one for grades 7 through 12. Project WILD guides include cross-reference indexes and other aids to help teachers incorporate wildlife-related concepts into their day-to-day teaching. Each guide contains approximately 80 complete activities.

Project WILD guides are available to teachers free of charge, through workshops designed to explain the philosophy of the program and to show how the activities can be integrated into existing curricula. To set up a workshop or for more information on Project WILD, contact: Outdoor Education Division, Nebraska Game & Parks Commission, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln, NE 68503. Phone: (402) 464-0641.

Local workshops: Wayne, January 25; Verdugo, March 11; Norfolk, April 3. Contact: Clayton Stalling, Norfolk, 371-4950.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield Board of Education met Jan. 13. Officers for 1986 are Ronald Weststrand, president; Merlin Greve, vice president; and Larry Clay was re-elected secretary.

The board voted for one year extensions of Superintendent Derwin Hartman and Principal Joe Coble's two-year contracts.

Mr. Coble reported that the school has met North Central accreditation standards for the 1985-86 school year with no deviations. He also asked for a tuition waiver for Rob Hingsi who will be residing in the district when his family moves to Holdrege in February. At that time, he will be a second semester senior. The board granted the waiver.

The possibility of offering a drivers' education class again this summer was discussed. Because there is no more state funding for this program the board felt that a questionnaire should be sent out to this summer's prospective students indicating their interest in the program if they should have to help finance it.

Mr. Hartman reported that Ida Hingsi will be quitting her teacher's aide job at the end of January. The board felt that her position should be eliminated at that time and that her responsibilities be assumed by the present staff.

ARE YOU TIRED OF 6%-7% RETURN ON YOUR MONEY? READ THIS!

Most farm lenders will not make a farm loan for under $100,000.00. The one that will, is not currently in favor. We have some well secured farm loans that will make your money work at 30% greater return than most 5 year Certificates of Deposit.

EXAMPLE 1: Make a $35,000 first mortgage loan on 160 acres. Financially sound businessman with good credit doesn't want a stock loan and is not eligible for insurance Company loans. (Too small) Make it 9% for 5 years or 10% for 10 years.

EXAMPLE 2: Excellent quarter with $70,000 loan with stock. Business man borrower wants to get rid of the stock loan. Make it $65,000 to $70,000 first mortgage, 10 years, 10% with $2,000 returned each year on principal. Consider lending as your money matures on deposit!

Is your mortgage costing you a fortune?

For an extra $3<sup>67</sup> a month, you can save $95,392<sup>00</sup> and pay for your home in half the time.

If you acquired your mortgage since 1980, when rates were high, chances are you're paying more than you need to. Or, if you have an adjustable rate that's up one year and up again the next, re-financing at today's lower rates could be the answer to your high mortgage costs.

Loan Amount	Rate	Term	Monthly Payment	Total Amount Paid
$50,000	12.5%	30 yrs.	$533.63	$192,106.80
$50,000	10.0% <sup>2</sup>	15 yrs.	$537.30	96,714.00
Difference	2.5%	15 yrs.	$3.67	$95,392.80
