

Three car collision takes life of Carroll woman

Icy road conditions which developed on Tuesday night was a factor involving an accident west of Wayne which claimed the life of a Carroll, Nebraska woman.

At about 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 4, there was a multiple injury accident on Highway 35 about 1 1/4 miles west of Wayne. Killed from injuries as a result of the accident was Audrey Fredrickson, age 38, of Carroll.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department has recently completed the investigation of the car crash that involved the extremely icy road surface conditions.

Information developed by the sheriff's office at the accident scene revealed that a westbound vehicle, driven by Gloria Wanderling, age 30 of Lincoln, lost control on the ice and was struck broadside by an eastbound vehicle driven by 42 year old James Fredrickson of Carroll. Audrey was a passenger in the Fredrickson vehicle.

A third vehicle, driven by Larry Morgan of rural South Sioux City, came up from the west and could not stop and glanced off the Wanderling and Fredrickson vehicles.

THE FREDRICKSONS, Wanderling and her three passengers (Lisa, Rita and Myrtle Triplett of Lincoln) were taken to Providence Medical Center by ambulance. Morgan and passengers in his vehicle, Donald Kuhl and John Portwood of Wakefield, received bumps and bruises and did not desire medical attention.

Condition reports of the accident victims were not available at press time and the Wayne County Sheriff's department is calling the investigation complete.

The Wayne Fire Department and Rescue Team responded to the accident along with two Wayne hospital ambulances and crews. Traffic control was handled through the assistance of the Wayne Police Department and the Nebraska State Patrol.

Highway 35 was blocked by the wreckage for nearly 1 1/2 hours, according to the sheriff's office news release.

Gerald Pospishil

Joann Ostrander

Clyde Flowers

Five file for public office

Three more individuals have filed for re-election to three separate county posts.

They include County Commissioner Gerald Pospishil; District Court Clerk Joann Ostrander; and County Surveyor Clyde Flowers.

Pospishil, who farms about seven miles southwest of Wayne, is seeking his third term to the commissioner post. He is a life-long resident of Wayne County and a Korean War veteran.

Prior to his election to the Wayne County Commissioners' office, he served on the Wayne County Extension Board and is currently a member of the Wayne County Fair board.

He and his wife, Shirley, have one son and a daughter.

Pospishil currently is the chairman of the commissioners board for 1986 and is serving as a secretary on the Region IV Mental Health. He also is a member of Wayne County's Board of Equalization.

Ostrander is seeking a fifth term as District Court Clerk.

Prior to being elected to the position, Ostrander had a 10 year business career with Mutual of Omaha. She also worked for the Department of Business and Social Science at Wayne State College and at KTCH Radio before winning the 1970 election.

Flowers is a licensed surveyor and a candidate for the Wayne County Surveyor office. He is a Council Bluffs' native and currently is surveyor and office manager for the Bruce Gilmore and Associates office in Wayne.

He and his wife, Michele, have one son.

Flowers also has been involved in numerous theatrical productions in Wayne.

Filter seeking re-election
Carolyn Filter is the first individual to file for election to a city council seat. She is seeking re-election to the Ward II councilman position.

Filter, employed at Providence Medical Center, is a 22-year Wayne resident. She moved to Wayne in 1964 following her marriage to William Filter, an associate professor of business at Wayne State College.

She will be seeking her fourth term on the city council.

Filing papers should be turned in to the county clerk by Feb. 27 (for incumbents) and March 14 (for non-incumbents).

Estimate given on elevator damage

Damage to the elevator and grain at Farmers Co-Operative Elevator in Allen, following a fire last Friday night, has been estimated at $190,000.

Fire departments from Allen, Ponca, Marlinsburg, Wakefield and Emerson responded to the alarm at approximately 7 p.m.

The fire was burning extensively by the time firemen arrived, and within a short time the top of the building had caved into the lower section.

Firemen remained on the scene throughout the weekend as several

City of Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh announced late Wednesday afternoon his intentions of filing for re-election to the mayor's post.

He joins current city council member Carolyn Filter as those who have announced to seeking re-election to office.

Marsh told The Wayne Herald he has paid his filing fee and will now fill out the necessary paperwork.

He is seeking his third term to the mayor's office.

small fires broke out in the grain.

APPROXIMATELY 12 to 15 thousand bushels of grain were stored inside. A spokesman for the elevator said much of the grain is being salvaged.

It has been speculated that the blaze was caused by an electrical shortage in the main panel of the fuse box.

The elevator was built approximately 29 years ago following another fire which destroyed the previous elevator.

Former Wayne mayor dies

Glen Houdersheldt, Sr., a former mayor of Wayne, died on Friday, Jan. 31, at his home in Freeman, South Dakota.

Houdersheldt was born Oct. 18, 1908 in Seward County. After his graduation from Millford High School, he was employed by Fairmont Creamery Co. at Crete, Nebraska, Guthrie Center and Sioux City, Iowa, as plant foreman and buyer. He moved to Wayne in 1944 where he established Wayne Poultry & Egg Co.

During his residency in Wayne, he served two terms as Mayor and was also a member of the school board and the Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include his wife, Alga; one daughter, Chere Schroeder of Papillion; one son, Glen Jr. of Las Vegas, Nev.; one sister, Ruth Engel of Friend; and four grandchildren.

Services took place Tuesday, Feb. 4 at Woods Mortuary in Seward and burial was in Seward.

Bud Froehlich receives Citizen of Year award

Melvin (Bud) Froehlich was announced as Wayne's Citizen of the Year during the annual membership banquet of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Sunday evening at the Black Knight.

Bud, saying "It's not too often you find me short on words", accepted the award from last year's winner, David Ley.

Ley was also presented a plaque in replacement of the one presented to him last year — which had been lost in the State National Bank fire.

He gave Froehlich some advice upon presenting the award. "One thing you should know about these plaques. They melt."

Froehlich, upon graduating from high school, embarked on a career in the sales field, selling tractors and farm equipment to people during the early 1950's.

He has served Wayne as a volunteer fireman, a Boy Scout leader and sings in his church choir. He also enjoys golfing, fishing, dancing and sports, which includes being a life-long "Big Red" fan.

Also in the past he has been chairman of the Wayne County Republicans, president of the Jaycees, chairman of the Heart Association and a member of the County Fair Board.

Currently, he is a member of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Industries Inc. and the Wayne Development Corporation. In addition, he is involved with the Wayne State President's Society and Second Guessers and with the Wayne County Historical Society.

HE MADE A career change from selling John Deere equipment to selling insurance. For the past 16 years he has managed the Wayne office for Farm Bureau Insurance. He also shares the ownership with his wife, Marlean, of the Wayne Shoe Company.

"The entire community is grateful for your unwavering enthusiasm and dedicated effort in serving as chairman of our recent Centennial celebration and helping to make it the huge success that it was," said Ley in announcing the Citizen of the Year winner.

Also during the Chamber gathering, executive vice-president of the organization, Anne Svoboda, commented on the numerous activities of which the Chamber of Commerce participated in during the past year.

Past president Dale Stollenberg then introduced the retiring Chamber board members. They include Stollenberg, Grant Ellingson and Randy Pedersen.

The current president of the Chamber of Commerce is Don Koeber, Carolyn Yakoc is president-elect and Phil Griess is treasurer.

BUD FROEHLICH, manager of the Farm Bureau office in Wayne, was selected as the 1986 Wayne Citizen of the Year during Sunday night's membership meeting held at the Black Knight. The event was well attended, with over 170 people on hand to witness the award ceremony. The award was presented by last year's recipient, David Ley. Other winners of the award have been Dean Pierson, Stan Morris, Arnie Reeg, Wayne Marsh, Bob and Marilyn Carhart and Lyle Seymour. This year's selection committee was Grant Ellingson, Paula Pfueger, Dave Ley and Wayne Marsh.

On the board of directors are Marie Mohr, Rich Zrust, Sam Schroeder, Vaughn Benson, Dick Sorenson and Dean Craun.

The Ambassadors, a newly formed branch of the Chamber, was also introduced during the meeting.

The 26 members include Grant Ellingson (president), Randy Pedersen (vice-president), Jack Hausmann,

DR. THOMAS COFFEY began his term as the new Wayne State College president Monday. After meeting with the Wayne Chamber Ambassadors that afternoon, he talked over some paperwork details with his wife, Maureen. On Tuesday, he met with the state legislators and on Wednesday, attended the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges general meeting.

Art show at Wayne State

Jerry Horning, associate professor of art at Creighton University, will present an art program Monday, Feb. 3 at Wayne State College. Horning, a potter who is at WSC as a part of the art department's Visiting Artist Program, will give a gallery talk in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center at 10 a.m. He will give a slide presentation at 11 a.m. in room 204 of the Fine Arts Center and a ceramics demonstration at the Memorial Stadium ceramics studio at 1:30 p.m.

Horning's work will be on display in the Nordstrand Gallery Feb. 3-28 and an opening reception for him in the Gallery is Monday from 7-9:30 p.m. The program and reception is free and open to the public. Horning has received the "Best of Clay" award at two Clay/Fiber/Paper shows at the Ames, Iowa, Octagon Center and recently juried the Octagon's national clay and fiber exhibition. He is president-elect of the National Council on Education in the Ceramic Arts.

Rules governing exemptions change

A new tax law change may ease the burden for some taxpayers who have disabled dependents. The general rule is that a taxpayer may not claim a tax exemption for any dependent who has a gross income of $1,040 or more ($1,040 is the amount of one exemption for 1985). This rule has been a hardship for some taxpayers whose disabled dependents earn an income for work done in sheltered workshops. Often this income is enough to prevent a taxpayer from claiming a tax exemption even though the taxpayer is providing support for the disabled individual.

unable to earn a livelihood because of a physical or mental condition that is expected to last at least a year or result in death.

A DISABLED person's earned income from a sheltered workshop can be excluded for purposes of the gross income test if:

- the workshop is a school that is run by a nonprofit organization or a government agency and provides special instruction or training to alleviate the disability of the person;
- the availability of medical care is the main reason the person is at the school; and
- the income earned by the disabled person at the workshop is received for activities done at the school that are incident to such medical care.

Beginning in 1985, this new law may allow these taxpayers to claim the tax exemptions for their disabled dependents.

Under the new law, qualified earnings from a sheltered workshop are not counted as part of disabled individual's gross income for purposes of determining whether your dependent is disabled and whether or not an exemption may be claimed. To determine whether your dependent is disabled and whether his or her earned income can be excluded from the gross income test, use the following guidelines. A person is disabled if he or she is unable to earn a livelihood because of a physical or mental condition that is expected to last at least a year or result in death.

A DISABLED person's earned income from a sheltered workshop can be excluded for purposes of the gross income test if:

- the workshop is a school that is run by a nonprofit organization or a government agency and provides special instruction or training to alleviate the disability of the person;
- the availability of medical care is the main reason the person is at the school; and
- the income earned by the disabled person at the workshop is received for activities done at the school that are incident to such medical care.

Merna Stalsberg, H & R Block District Manager, said, "This could be an important tax break for taxpayers with disabled dependents, because they now may be able to claim the tax exemptions for their dependents. And by claiming the exemption, some single taxpayers may qualify for the first time for the lower tax rates available for head-of-household status."

Order daffodils this month

Wayne will get its first touch of spring on March 21 when the Wayne County Unit of the American Cancer Society sponsors its annual Daffodil Day.

Approximately 25 volunteers will be bringing this first spring flower to Wayne businesses to raise funds for cancer research, education and patient service programs.

According to Meg Lodes, Daffodil Day chairman, thousands of daffodils will be shipped to Wayne for the festival. The daffodil, as the first flower of spring, was chosen because it symbolizes hope and renewed life.

Area businesses and employers are encouraged to make advance orders from Cancer Society volunteers during February for distribution to their employees or as gifts to hospitals and nursing homes on Daffodil Day.

Chamber of Commerce Week will kick-off with the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce Executive's annual Chamber Week Luncheon on Feb. 5 in Lincoln. Activities of Nebraska Chambers include sponsoring informational seminars on business topics, recruiting new business and assisting existing companies to expand, providing demographic and market data and representing the business community on legislative issues on the local, regional and national level.

Schimek announces candidacy

DiAnna Schimek, Democratic National Committeewoman, announced Wednesday her candidacy for Nebraska State Treasurer at press conferences in Omaha and Lincoln. "My candidacy follows a life of commitment to the basics of life in Nebraska. As a fourth generation Nebraskan in my hometown of Alma, through my years of teaching in public school districts in Colorado and Nebraska, to today, I have found that we must set realistic goals and accomplishments," Schimek stated. "The Treasurer's Office has long been a part of our state government. I feel the office can become an asset in difficult economic times by working with the farm, banking and business communities. We must set priorities and provide the incentives to reach our goals."

Changes language of constitution

Conway offers amendment to bill

Easily the hottest legislative issue of this past week, and perhaps the past few years, has been the controversy over protecting the family farm while preserving economic health in Nebraska.

The biggest danger with this and many other legislative issues is that they are often viewed too narrowly. We find it easy to view the legislative process as a series of votes for or against particular bills. In fact, the process is fluid enough to accommodate, for example, amendments that can make a bad bill become a very good bill. A vote for the same bill number is not necessarily a vote for the "same" bill.

The latest sample of this complicated process is the debate this past week within the framework of LR 16, the resolution that in its current form would put before the voters the suggestion that Initiative 300 be repealed.

Most important, when examining LR 16 is what we, as Nebraskans, wanted to accomplish with Initiative 300. Simply, it was protection of the "family farm." What we accepted was a cumbersome, four-page addition to the Nebraska Constitution with 14 different activities that are exempt from the law. A constitution is a document that spells out a general frame for government, not an instrument of particulars; that is what statutes are for.

What are some of the practical effects of this mish-mash of current language in our Constitution? Corporations can engage in custom harvesting, but not custom plowing. They can raise chickens, but not sheep. Corporations can grow alfalfa, but not sweet clover. I do not believe this sort of cut-and-paste approach is what the people of Nebraska thought they were voting for in 1982.

I believe they truly desired to keep our precious farm land out of the hands of large, publicly-held corporations. That is why I do not support LR 16's outright repeal of these sections of the constitution. I do believe, however, that the right amendments to this resolution could give family farmers better protection and opportunities than they now have.

The amendment I am offering to LR 16 would have the constitution's language reduced to read: "No publicly held corporation, as defined by the Legislature, shall purchase real estate to be used for farming or ranching. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this constitution, the Legislature shall by law prohibit the purchase of such real estate by publicly held corporations in order to protect and promote family farm and ranch operations."

I believe this amendment is what the people of Nebraska thought they were supporting at the time. If this language was used in 1982, we would now be working on statutes that could support our farming industry rather than waiting for federal aid that may never arrive.

The current language, as it is in the Constitution, prohibits innovative solutions, and leaves the Legislature and the Nebraska farmers without the proper tools for a speedy recovery from these difficult times.

I am convinced that this is a better approach. In order to make these adjustments, I am offering this amendment to LR 16, turning this bill into an opportunity rather than a repeal. If the legislature accepts this amendment and advances the bill, the voters will then have the opportunity to accept this idea or keep the existing language when we go to the polls next November.

The right direction

From all indications, Wayne State College will undoubtedly have a sincere and staunch supporter of both higher education and the community of Wayne in its new president, Dr. Thomas Coffey.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors met with Coffey Monday afternoon and they would have to be impressed with this individual's openness and willingness to offer his assistance in the economic development of the Wayne community and surrounding areas.

His interest and request to participate in the Chamber of Commerce functions and activities had to be satisfying to the Chamber members and executive officers. His experience as former president of Thomas More College, in gaining the legislature's attention to focus on higher education and economic opportunities with counties surrounding the college, is something that should be respected.

Already, he has proposed a coordinated effort between Wayne State College and the Chamber of Commerce to sponsor the visit of Nebraska state legislators — to have them view the college facilities and also to look at the industry and other areas within the new community.

Coffey asked that the Chamber of Commerce continue to place higher education at the top of its list in regard to the future of Wayne, and the state of Nebraska as a whole.

That is understandable, since higher education can be the number one tool in recruiting new industry or businesses that will further the economic development of the state.

Wayne State College will continue needing the steady support of the state legislature in its endeavor to provide higher education. And we, as residents of Wayne, must realize the impact this college makes to the community and surrounding areas — not only in the area of economics but also the prestige that goes along with being a home for one of the state's continually growing colleges.

As gained from our first impressions of Coffey, when there is an issue confronted by the state legislature or any other entity that concerns higher education, we will likely see Dr. Coffey in there fighting for Wayne State College and the areas that the college serves.

What's ahead for Coffey will be lots of listening and learning about Wayne State College, the state college system and the political process of the state.

"The only way I am going to find out is to listen to a lot of people at WSC and to find out where they want this institution to go and how much they will participate in moving toward that direction," he said in a previous Wayne Herald interview.

He appears to be heading in that direction already.

To testify can backfire

By Melvin Paul

Good intentions do not always make good testimony.

Each week hundreds of Nebraskans parade in front of the legislature's 13 committees giving their opinions on legislative bills.

They aim to impress. They hope to convince. They want senators to vote their way. But sometimes their testimony backfires.

Last week Omaha attorney Gregory Jahn inadvertently helped bring votes to a bill he opposed.

Jahn was representing Papillion Manor in opposing LB 782, a measure that would require all Nebraska nursing homes to take some low income Medicaid clients. Currently only six of the more than 200 licensed homes refuse to accept Medicaid patients.

The measure, sponsored by Papillion Senator Ron Withem, was direct result of Papillion Manor's decisions last year to serve only private-pay clients. That decision meant that 11 of their 79 residents — those who were funded through the federal Medicaid program — had to move to other nursing homes.

Withem's measure is intended to assure that no other Nebraska nursing home will be kicking out folks when they run out of their own money and move to Medicaid payments.

Moving is hard. Hard on the families of the patients. And hard on the patients. In fact the stress — called transfer trauma — often kills them. Supporters of the measure told the Health and Human Services Committee.

Jahn presented Papillion Manor's position in opposition to the bill. The Papillion home costs more than Medicaid is willing to pay because it provides high quality care. The staff ratios are higher, the food is better, the staff is better paid, the decor is high quality, according to Jahn. And he compared the manor to a good country club. "It's kind of like the difference between the Happy Hollow Country Club and the Field Club," he said, referring to two Omaha clubs.

Several senators didn't like what he heard. It smacked of elitism. They didn't see anything wrong with the Field Club, they said.

And in the private executive session following the public hearing they questioned Papillion Manor's real motives. Was it really money or did they just not want poor people in their home?

By the time the discussion ended Withem had enough votes to move the measure to the floor.

LATER IN THE week supporters of an economic development bill wanted to impress the senators on the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee with the good works of the Nebraska Business Development Center at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

They brought in Sankar Mukherjee, who praised the help he got from the center and from the Nebraska Food Processing Center at UNL.

With the help of these two state funded groups, the Omaha man had developed Oriental Chicken Delight. It is a pre-packaged, frozen dish which he hopes to sell to institutions and restaurants.

Senators questioned the entrepreneur. He had no customers; he had no employees. And he would be getting his chickens from Arkansas not Nebraska. Committee members were not impressed.

But the Arkansas chickens were not enough to kill LB 767. It carries the signatures of 18 senators as sponsors, enough to save it from death in the committee.

Revenue should be raised

Cut inspending not enough

by Senator Carl Levin of Michigan

Just a little while ago we heard the President talk about his high hopes for a brighter future. We all share those hopes. The way in which we deal with the historic federal budget deficit will really determine what the future will be.

The policies proposed by the President and the program ultimately adopted by the Congress will determine if we are excavating a foundation upon which we can build or just digging a deeper financial hole into which we will sink.

When the President talks about the deficit and federal spending, he often asks "If families can balance their budgets, why can't the federal government?" That's a good question. And here's the answer: "Because the President is not willing to take the actions families have to take."

Families balance their budgets by using some common sense. When families run into money problems, they face up to the problems. Sometimes families borrow money. Sometimes families cut back on expenses — they don't eat out as often or they give up going to the movies. And sometimes families try to make more money — people take a second job or work overtime. In fact, most of the time families faced with financial problems use a little of all three approaches.

Well, at the federal level we've mainly used one method: we've borrowed money. And folks, we've borrowed too much. Our debts are more than staggering; they are downright dangerous to our economic health. That's why the Congress decided that even if the banks would give us another loan, we'd better not take it. That's what the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings balanced budget law is all about. We are committed to cutting down on the amount of money we borrow.

WELL, IF THE GOVERNMENT isn't going to borrow as much, what do we do? The common sense family solution is two-fold: cut back on spending an try to bring in a little more money. That is what people do; but that isn't what the President wants to do.

His "tax reform" plan raises more revenue, mainly by closing tax loopholes. But instead of using that money to reduce the deficit, he wants to use it to give some people tax cuts. And instead of a balanced cutback on spending, the President wants to increase the military budget while eliminating some important domestic programs and slashing others. Defense spending and domestic spending have to be cut. We can economize in both areas.

And, just cutting spending isn't enough. The plain truth is that no set of reasonable budget cuts will get the deficit down far enough. If we are serious about doing that, then the government has to face fiscal reality just like American families do. We can't borrow any more; we can't save enough just by cutting back on spending; we have got to bring in a little more.

The President, though, will not do that. He has promised to veto any revenue raising bill that is sent to him, even one which just raises revenues from those very profitable corporations which aren't paying anything in income taxes now. The President is simply misreading the mood of the people if he believes that Americans only think about tax reform in terms of tax cuts for themselves. I know from talking with the people in my home state of Michigan that they recognize that it makes no sense to cut taxes in the face of $200 billion a year deficits. And we're not alone.

I recently commissioned Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey to conduct a nationwide poll of over 1,000 Americans on two questions. The results just came in. When asked "Which is more important for the economic well-being of the country as a whole — reducing the federal deficit to help balance the budget, or reducing the amount of federal income taxes," 59 percent favored reducing the deficit and only 31 percent said cutting taxes.

Yet the President wants to use the new revenues raised by his tax reform plan to cut taxes rather than reduce the deficit. When asked about the approach, people overwhelmingly reject it.

HERE'S THE SECOND question: "What should Congress do with the billions of dollars that can be raised by closing some of the federal income tax loopholes — give most Americans an income tax cut of about $200, or reduce the federal deficit by billions of dollars? By a three to one margin, 68 percent to 22 percent, Americans favor using the new revenues to reduce the deficit.

It isn't that people want their taxes raised — they aren't crazy — but they do want to see tax reform combined with deficit reduction not tax cuts. They want to kill two birds with one stone. One way to do that is to adopt a strengthened minimum tax so that the tens of thousands of profitable corporations and wealthy individuals who now pay nothing in income taxes start contributing their fair share. And we should take the ten billion dollars a year that a strengthened minimum tax can raise and use it to reduce the deficit rather than redistribute it in the form of small tax cuts.

This is a common sense solution to our deficit problem. And it is the kind of solution to our deficit problem. And it is the kind of solution government can do.

We can do it if we take our cue from you — from the common sense way that Americans meet their own personal financial problems.

If the President and the Congress work together with a common purpose to meet our common problem through a strategy of common sense, we can build a foundation for a better future in 1986.

Q. I have a will providing for the distribution of my estate upon my death. I also plan to open a money market fund with my niece. Do I need to add a codicil to my will stating that she is to receive any funds in that account upon my death?

A. No, if the account is held in joint ownership with your niece, she will automatically become the owner of the account upon your death. No codicil is needed, and in fact your will can be used only to dispose of individually owned property, not property which you hold in joint tenancy with another person.

First Baptist Church participating in spiritual adventure

For 50 days beginning Sunday, Feb. 9, a group from First Baptist Church in Wayne will participate in a special spiritual adventure sponsored by the national radio broadcast, "The Chapel of the Air."

Participants will pledge to follow five basic disciplines of the Christian faith for the entire 50 days. Planned to coincide with the Lenten season, the "adventure" is an annual event dedicated to helping participants experience rapid spiritual growth through a time of intense Bible study, prayer and Christian outreach.

This year's study is entitled "50 Days to Welcome Christ to Our Church," and will conclude on Easter Sunday, March 30.

"THE CHAPEL OF THE AIR," a 46-year-old broadcast headquartered in Wheaton, Ill., began the annual event in 1981. Last year, over 50,000 North Americans wrote in to commit themselves to the adventure's five spiritual disciplines.

Because of this year's church-related theme, hundreds of churches and small group studies are also expected to join — including the local group from First Baptist Church.

IN ADDITION TO the encouragement and instruction provided to participants on "The Chapel of the Air" daily broadcasts, each listener who signs up receives a personal copy of the chapel's Adventure Journal, a 40-page booklet containing scripture readings, weekly assignments, and a place to record daily progress.

Broadcasts in this area are heard each Monday through Saturday at 12:45 p.m. over radio station KTFK 103.3 FM.

This year's "50 Days to Welcome Christ to Our Church" will concentrate on helping Christians experience Christ's promise to be with them during times of worship.

Allen senior vying for state homecoming queen

LeAnn McDonald, a 17-year-old senior at Allen Consolidated School, has been selected a finalist for the State of Nebraska's sixth annual selection of Nebraska Homecoming Queen.

The pageant will be held Saturday and Sunday, March 15-16 at the Airport Ramada Inn in Omaha.

The two-day festivities will include an interview with judges and a queens' banquet on Saturday, and a queens' breakfast and luncheon, evening gown competition, crowning and awards on Sunday.

Each state finalist will receive a tiara, school banner and gift. In addition, a special plaque will be sent to the school of each finalist who participates in the state pageant.

JUDGING FOR the event will be based on poise, personality and appearance.

Fifty percent of the queen's score will be on a personal interview and 50 percent will be evening gown competition.

The state winner will receive an expense paid trip to Honolulu, Hawaii to compete with queens from other states. She also will receive a cash scholarship.

LEANN, WHO IS the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of Allen, was crowned Allen High School's 1985-86 homecoming queen last fall.

While in high school, she has served as a cheerleader and played volleyball four years, been involved in the Allen High School Future Homemakers of America chapter three years, and joined one-acts this year.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area. We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication. Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a collage underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted when the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Blue Devils clinch .500 season

Wayne trims Wisner, 41-40

WISNER — After Monday and Tuesday night, Wayne's girls deserve a rest.

Monday night, the Blue Devils staged a dramatic comeback and claimed a thrilling 42-41 victory over Pierce. Tuesday night, Wayne held off a late Wisner-Pilger rally and hung on for another exciting triumph, 41-40.

Unlike Monday's contest in which Wayne trailed 12-1 after the first quarter, the Blue Devils started quickly Tuesday night and jumped out to a 16-7 lead in the first frame.

Wayne then led 26-22 at intermission before opening a seemingly comfortable 35-26 advantage early in the fourth quarter.

But the comfort didn't last long for the Blue Devils as the aggressive Lady Gators clawed their way back into the game.

Wayne held a four point lead with just over two minutes remaining, but a Wisner hoop cut the lead to two. After a Holly Paige free throw, Wisner drilled another fielder and pulled within three.

Wisner added another field goal before Kacia Corbit drove the lane with the eventual game-winner with just under one minute to go.

Wisner scored an unconfessed hoop with just seconds remaining to round out the game's scoring.

The key to Wisner's comeback, according to Wayne head coach Marlene Uhing, was the Gators' aggressiveness.

"They just kept getting closer and closer, and the closer they got, the more momentum they built and the more confident and aggressive they became," she said.

Both teams shot very well from the floor in the first half as Wayne finished 13-for-20 and Wisner 9-for-18. First shooting statistics were not available by Wednesday's press deadline, but Uhing said it was probably the Blue Devils' best shooting performance of the season.

Wayne canned just 3-of-9 giffers on the night, however, including five misses in the last period. Wisner hit 6-of-11 free throws.

Corbit once again led Wayne in scoring with 16 points. Dana Nelson tallied 11 markers for the Blue Devils, while Shelly Pick added seven.

Wayne outrebounded the Gators 32-22. Pick and Corbit led the Blue Devils with 11 and nine boards, respectively.

Jodi Ditman and Pick led Wayne in assists and steals, respectively, with five.

The Blue Devils claimed a 37-20 victory in the freshman game, but dropped a 38-27 loss in the junior varsity contest. Kristy Hansen led Wayne's frosh in scoring with 10 points, while Robin Luft paced the Blue Devil JV's with seven markers.

The victory improved Wayne to 9-5 on the year and the triumph insured the Blue Devils of finishing with at least a .500 season as a minimum of four games remain in the 1985-86 campaign. Uhing reflected on her squad's effort to achieve a winning season.

"At the beginning of the season, I thought a .500 season would be fantastic. And it is," she said. "The coaches, the players and everybody else should be pleased with that. And it's a tribute to the kids. They come out and practice hard, listen to what they're told and never quit and the record is a tribute to their hard work."

The Blue Devils won't have much time to celebrate their two exciting victories, however, as they must travel to South Sioux City to play the rival Cardinals.

Uhing said she expects her club to be up for the Tuesday bout and discussed Wayne's game plan.

"The kids will be fired up for the game. South Sioux is turning into a rivalry for Wayne and they'll be ready to play," she said. "Hopefully, we're going to run a very patient offense. We're not going to sit on the ball, but use extreme patience on offense and get the good shots and try and hold South Sioux to one shot on defense."

The Cardinals have been ranked in the top 10 in Nebraska during most of the season and are currently 11-1 and ranked No. 8 in Class A by the Omaha World-Herald.

WAYNE'S MARC RAHN (back) tries to force Columbus Lakeview's Aaron Aerni to the mat.

Blue Devils close on sour note

Lakeview surprises Wayne

Wayne's wrestling team was surprised by Columbus Lakeview and dropped a 42-18 decision to the Vikings at the Blue Devil gymnasium Tuesday night.

Wayne outscored Lakeview 59 1/2-53 at the Albion Invitational on Saturday. And although tournaments and duals are executed under different formats, Blue Devil head coach John Murtaugh said he was disappointed in Tuesday's outcome.

"If obviously didn't turn out the way we wanted it to," he said. "Tournaments score differently and there're several other differences between tournaments and duals, but basically we just didn't wrestle as well as we did at Albion."

The Blue Devils fell behind 24-0 after Lakeview claimed a forfeit and three pins in the first four weight classes.

Mark Janke, Wayne's very consistent 132-pounder, got the Blue Devils on track with a second period pin against Rob George to make the score 24-6.

But Wayne lost by pin, technical fall and dropped two two point decisions over the next four weights to allow the visitors to open a commanding 42-6 advantage.

Stuart Rethwisch, Wayne's 185-pounder, captured a forfeit for the Blue Devils at 185-pounds. And Wayne heavyweight Steve Cowgill claimed a pin to round out the scoring. Cowgill had to work just 22 seconds to stick the Viking heavyweight.

Shane Gelger was a late substitution at 145-pounds for Wayne. And although he lost by technical fall, Murtaugh was pleased with Gelger's effort.

"For being a regular 132-pounder, I was very pleased with his effort," Murtaugh said. "He came out and gave it his best shot and that's all anybody can ask, especially when he's two weight classes above what he usually wrestles at."

The dual ended Wayne's regular season. The Blue Devils grapple again Tuesday at North Bend in sub-districts. Murtaugh said his troops will have to forget about the loss to Lakeview and concentrate on sub-districts.

"We just need to keep our heads up and plan on wrestling better at North Bend than we did against Lakeview," he said.

Blue Devil junior varsity wrestlers that claimed victories Tuesday night and the weight they wrestled at were: Chad Frey, 119-pounds; Brian Nelson, 138-pounds; Jason Cole, 145-pounds; and Tim Sievers, 155-pounds.

Gator aid?

WAYNE'S GIRLS position for a possible rebound but it appears they also might have to contend with a giant alligator. Wisner could have used a little help. The Gators dropped a one point decision.

Wayne slips past Pierce

PIERCE — Now you see it, now you don't.

That's an accurate analysis of Pierce's last 10 seconds against Wayne Monday night.

Pierce could see victory just around the corner as the Bluejays held a 41-40 lead and had the ball with just 10 seconds remaining in the game.

But one free throw each by Shelly Pick and Kacia Corbit over the next eight seconds ruined any victory possibilities for Pierce and the Blue Devils pulled out a thrilling 42-41 triumph.

Pierce called timeout with 10 seconds remaining in the game, but Pick intercepted the inbound pass and dribbled to the top of the key before being fouled.

The 6-0 junior canned the first giff to tie the game, and teammate Kacia Corbit rebounded her second attempt and was fouled in the act of shooting.

Corbit also canned her first offering. Pierce rebounded the second giff and called timeout. The Bluejays then fired a desperation shot but missed and Wayne claimed the emotional victory.

The contest was a series of up and downs for Wayne, and the first quarter might have been the Blue Devils' season low.

Wayne scored just one point in the opening quarter and trailed 12-1. Marlene Uhing, Wayne's head coach, said a lack of movement and poor shot selection resulted in the catastrophic start.

"We stood around on offense and didn't take very good shots," she said. "We just didn't do too many things right in the first quarter."

But the Blue Devils played very well in the final three frames and outscored the hosts 41-29 over the last 24 minutes for the victory.

There was one other low experienced by Wayne, however, during the game. After opening a one point lead midway through the fourth quarter, Wayne trailed by five just minutes later.

But the Blue Devils baffled back and set up Pick's and Corbit's heroics.

It was fitting that two late free throws lifted Wayne to the triumph because it was the Blue Devils' free throw shooting that was the major difference in the game. Wayne finished 12-for-18 from the line, while Pierce hit just 2-of-7 giffers.

In addition to her game-tying free throw, Pick finished 5-for-6 from the line in the last quarter.

Corbit led Wayne in scoring with 14 points, while Dana Nelson tallied 12 and Pick added nine. Pierce's Mickey Andrews, a fine all-around player, claimed the game's scoring honors with 24 points.

Both teams grabbed 28 rebounds on the night. Pick and Corbit led Wayne

Wayne State claimed an important Nebraska Athletic Conference victory at Rice Auditorium Tuesday night by downing Peru State 74-64.

The victory improved the Wildcats to 2-3 in the conference. Wayne State has three league games remaining and should the Wildcats win all three contests, they would qualify for the playoffs, according to head coach Steve Aggers.

"If we win our last three games that would put us at 5-3 and that would get us in," he said. "Our main objective now is to qualify for the playoffs, and we have a good opportunity with our three remaining games being played here at home."

The three remaining games are with Kearney State, Bellevue and Chadron State.

A solid defense effort in the second half of Tuesday night's game keyed the Wildcats past Peru State.

Wayne State held the visitors scoreless from the 11 minute mark until 6:30 remained in the game and in the process, opened a 54-40 lead.

Aggers said the triumph was an enthusiastic effort by his troops.

"The kids played with great enthusiasm and played well together. It was just a big win for us," he said.

Russ Rosenquist led the Wildcats in scoring with 20 points. Vincent White followed with 18 markers, while Terrance Hall and Mike McNamara, both added 10.

Scott Persigehl of Stanton led Peru State with 23 points, while teammate Derald Cummings added 10.

Both teams grabbed 35 rebounds on the night. Markus Wilson led the Wildcats with 14 boards.

Wilson added three blocked shots. Wayne State totaled six blocks in the game, its highest since the Concordia game played Nov. 23.

Wayne State shot well from both the floor and the line finishing 27-for-53 and 20-for-27, respectively, for 51 and 74 percent. Peru State made 44 percent of its field goals and half of its 12 free throws.

In addition to his 18 points, White dished out five assists and totaled two steals to lead the Wildcats.

Wayne State is now 8-14 on the year. The Wildcats play again Friday at Pittsburg State and Saturday at Missouri Southern.

Blue Devils place sixth at invite

Wayne excels at Albion

ALBION — "After watching the kids at this invite, I'm optimistic about the rest of the year and next year. The kids have improved every time out this year, and their effort here was the best team performance this season. Improvement is all I ever wanted out of them, and that's a tribute to the kids," Wayne wrestling coach John Murtaugh said after the Blue Devils turned in an encouraging performance at the Albion Invitational here Saturday.

Wayne placed sixth at the competition with 59 1/2 points. Schuyler edged O'Neill 133 1/2-133 for the title.

Mark Janke and Steve Cowgill were the mainstays for the Blue Devils as both claimed championships at 132-pounds and heavyweight, respectively.

Janke captured decisions in the quarterfinals and semifinals before disposing of Schuyler's Dean Novak 6-2 in the title bout.

Cowgill has experienced an up-and-down season. He started quickly, but injuries have nagged the husky sophomore during most of the campaign. However, Saturday he was at the top of his game.

Cowgill whipped his first two opponents before handing Rob Martens a 10-3 loss in the championship match.

Murtaugh said he was impressed with both Janke's and Cowgill's efforts.

"Mark and Steve really did a good job for us," he said. "Overall, it was our best team performance of the year and these two guys led us."

Chris Corbit and Jamie Fredrickson both placed fourth at the tourney. Corbit finished the day with a 1-2 mark at 112-pounds, while Fredrickson accumulated a 2-2 record at 145-pounds.

Marc Rahm and Stuart Rethwisch claimed victories at the tourney but failed to place. Rahm grapples at 126-pounds, while Rethwisch is Wayne's 185-pounder.

Various junior varsity wrestlers also competed at the tourney. Jason Cole (145-pounds), Brian Nelson (138-pounds) and Chad Davis (126-pounds) all captured victories for the Blue Devil JVs.

Nicholson erupts, Laurel advances

Wade Nicholson of Wakefield erupted for 41 points in the Trojans' opening round game of the Lewis and Clark Basketball Tournament against Wausa Monday night. But despite Nicholson's outburst, Wakefield dropped a 73-66 decision.

Laurel's girls was the only area squad to advance in the tourney; but the Bears' second round game against Wausa was postponed until Thursday night.

For more about Nicholson, Laurel and all the other area teams that participated in the tournament, turn to pages 7a and 8a.

Question: Who belongs to one of the few high school organizations that is required to purchase their own uniform?

Question: Which high school organization attends practically every sporting event, both home and away, although seldom, if ever, receives any funding for their support?

Question: Which high school organization is involved in organizing some of the school's biggest activities, yet seldom receives any recognition or credit for their efforts?

Question: Which high school organization has the most school spirit?

The answer to the fourth question is easy — cheerleaders. But the answer to No. 4 is also the answer to the first three questions.

When one thinks of cheerleaders, glamour usually comes to mind. Everybody tries out for cheerleader, but only a handful make it.

Not only that, but a cheerleader is often the center of attention and is usually considered one of the most popular and attractive students at school.

But being a cheerleader isn't all glamour and fame. Behind all that smiling and faithful school support is a lot of sweat and hard work.

JULIE FREBURG, Winside's cheerleading sponsor, says most fans don't realize the effort cheerleaders put in to their job.

"Cheerleaders do a lot more than people realize," she said. "The girls put in a lot of time and effort, a lot more time and effort than most people understand."

Everyone knows that cheerleaders lead their respective crowds during games. But Freburg said there's more to cheerleading than cheering.

"Our (Winside's) cheerleaders have a big part in organizing homecoming. They're responsible for the dance, royalty and several other areas and we try and have a pep rally every week, too," she said. "But the thing about cheerleaders is they're usually active in most other activities, too."

Freburg made an important observation about cheerleaders being involved in other activities. Years ago, being a cheerleader, I'm sure, was quite a responsibility. But today, with all the girls sports and other school clubs and organizations, it's an even bigger dedication.

MARY LOU GEORGE is Wayne's cheerleading sponsor, and she agreed with Freburg that most people don't understand the dedication behind cheerleading.

"Our girls make signs, organize activities for the school, hand out programs for junior varsity games and try to raise money to buy their uniforms," she said. "They're willing to assist the school in any way they can."

But in addition to all the other activities they're involved in, cheerleaders are also very entertaining. And they just keep getting better and better at what they do.

I've been to probably 200 games the past three years, and I've noticed a major difference in the modern cheerleader. Their creativity, interest level and knowledge of sports have all increased.

I'll never forget when I was in high school and our cheerleaders broke into the chant "They got our ball so let's take it away." There isn't anything wrong with the content of that cheer, the only thing is we were on offense.

But today's cheerleaders don't make those kind of silly mistakes. And their jumping and other physical abilities are incredible. You cheerleaders have come a long way, baby.

So the next time you're at a game and you notice cheerleaders, remember, there's a lot more to their job than simply leading the student body in cheering. A lot more.

Girls Tournament Results

Bears advance with win

WYNOT — Laurel's girls overcame a horrible third quarter with a productive fourth frame and advanced to the second round of the Lewis and Clark Conference with a 40-32 victory over Wynot here Saturday night.

Laurel held a seemingly comfortable 24-12 lead at the half, but was shutout in the third stanza and Wynot tied the game at 24 with eight minutes to go.

The Bears bounced back in the fourth period, however, and outscored the hosts 16-8 for the eight-point triumph.

Gale Hamilton, Laurel's head coach, said his squad opened things up in the final frame by having numerous players take shots.

"In the third quarter, we kept trying to get the ball inside to Gail (Twiford) and Wausa really clamped in on her," he said. "But in the fourth quarter, we had some other girls take some shots and things opened up for us."

Another factor for Laurel in the final quarter was its free throw shooting. After three periods, the Bears were only 2-for-17 from the stripe but canned 6-of-8 giffers in the last quarter.

Laurel finished 16-for-51 from the floor and 8-for-25 from the line. Wausa drilled 13 fielders and went 6-for-20 from the line.

Hamilton said the final score was actually 43-34, but three Laurel points were lost somewhere.

"It's kind of strange, but I've watched the game film and we scored 43 points, but was only granted 40. But we still won so it isn't that big of a deal," he said.

The Bears grabbed 44 rebounds and turned the ball over 19 times. Becky Christensen and Twiford led Laurel in rebounding with 16 and 13 boards, respectively.

Twiford and Christensen were also Laurel's leading scorers with 15 and 10 points, respectively. The duo also combined for 11 blocked shots, including eight by Twiford.

Sara Adkins dished out a team high four assists for the Bears.

The victory proved to be a costly one for Laurel as Michelle Joslin injured her ankle and was questionable for Tuesday's game with Wausa.

The victory over Wynot improved Laurel's record to 6-7 on the year.

Wausa pounds Trojans

WAKEFIELD — "We just ran into a buzz saw. We had our troubles, but they just played very well. They're a very good team," Wakefield head coach Arnie Cerny said after his Trojans dropped a 50-29 decision to Wausa here Saturday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

Wausa was in total command from the start as the Vikings opened a 14-2 lead after the first quarter and a 33-9 lead at halftime.

Incredible shooting keyed Wausa's productive first half, according to Cerny.

"They just shot great in that first half. We did a good job of forcing the ball outside, but they still shot well from long range. They were 15-for-25 from the floor at the half," he said.

The Vikings cooled down in the second half and Wakefield worked its way back into the game. The Trojans outscored Wausa 11-6 in the third quarter to make the score 39-19. But the Vikings won the last frame 11-10 to round out the scoring.

Wakefield's Kristal Clay claimed the game's scoring honors with 10 points, while teammate Marci Greve added six. Wausa had a balanced scoring attack as Dani Anderson led the Vikings with nine points.

The Trojans hit 13 field goals and made just 3-of-13 free throws. Wausa drilled 22 fielders and finished 6-for-14 from the line.

The Vikings outrebounded Wakefield 22-18. Greve led the Trojans with four boards.

Cerny was impressed with Wausa and discussed the Vikings' 1985-86 season.

"They lost their first two games, and have won 12 since. And they avenged one of those losses," he said. "They just have a real good team. They shoot well and play good defense."

Wakefield won the junior varsity game, which was played before the boys contest on Monday night, 41-29. Marci Greve led the Trojan JVs in scoring with 16 points, while teammate Stacey Kuhl added 11 markers.

Wakefield's varsity is now 0-13 on the year. The Trojans play again Tuesday at Allen.

Ponca tips Allen

PONCA — Allen's girls took just seven shots from the field and scored four points in the second half and dropped a 24-21 decision to Ponca here Saturday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

The Eagles opened a 9-4 lead after the first stanza and held a 17-9 advantage at the half. But they lacked offensive aggressiveness in the second half and Ponca capitalized by outscoring Allen 5-2 in the third period and 10-2 during the final eight minutes.

Gary Troth, Allen's head coach, said there were a number of reasons why his club broke down in the second half.

"We had some girls get in foul trouble and foul out, but our main problem was we just didn't have anybody look to take a shot," he said. "We turned the ball over six times in a row at the start of the second half, and the girls lost their confidence and didn't want the ball and that allowed Ponca to get back in it."

Ponca didn't lead until a hoop supplied the Indians with a one-point advantage with under two minutes remaining in the game. The hosts then added an insurance bucket a little later.

Kristi Chase and Lana Erwin led the Eagles in scoring with six points apiece. Kris Blohm added four markers to the Allen cause.

The Eagles outrebounded Ponca 33-25. Blohm and Tiffany Harder led Allen with eight and seven boards, respectively.

Allen finished just 7-of-31 from the field and 7-for-14 from the free throw line. Ponca drilled 10 field goals and 8-of-25 giffers.

A junior varsity game was scheduled to be played, but Ponca could not field enough JV players.

Ponca advanced to the second round contest with Newcastle.

Allen, now 0-5, plays again Tuesday at Wakefield and Thursday concludes the regular season at Beemer. Should the Eagles win both of their remaining games, they will at least share the conference title.

Osmond downs Cats

OSMOND — A sluggish second half cost Winside's girls a 44-27 loss to Osmond in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament here Saturday night.

Winside played the favored Trojans close in the first half. The Wildcats opened a quick 6-0 lead and after trailing by four, 12-8, early in the second quarter, they only fell behind 24-17 at intermission.

But Osmond opened a 34-23 lead in the third stanza and outscored the visitors 10-4 over the final eight minutes for the 44-27 victory.

Jill Stenwall, Winside's head coach, said her club's second half turnovers led to Osmond's victory.

"We opened that quick lead and played pretty good ball in the first half," she said. "But we made too many turnovers in the last half. We finished the game with 17 turnovers, and 12 of those came in the last half, including eight in the last quarter."

Kay Meierhenry and Julie Brockman led Winside in scoring with eight and seven points, respectively. Osmond's Amy Waffler claimed the game's scoring honors with 17 points.

Osmond outrebounded the Wildcats 47-41. Tracy Topp and Meierhenry led Winside with nine and eight boards, respectively.

The Wildcats hit 10 field goals and finished 7-for-19 from the free throw line. Osmond drilled 18 fielders and went 8-for-25 at the stripe.

Winside captured a 24-19 triumph in the junior varsity game. Carmen Reeg and Ann Meierhenry led the Wildcat JVs with eight and six points, respectively.

Winside's next game is Tuesday when the Wildcats travel to Wynot. The Wynot contest ends the regular season for Winside.

Osmond's torrid shooting too much for Winside

OSMOND — Osmond's incredible shooting from both the field and the line allowed the Tigers to overcome an upset minded Winside club and down the Wildcats 58-37 here Monday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

Winside slowed the game down and executed a one-shot offense during most of the first half. And the game plan worked as the Wildcats only trailed the heavily favored Tigers 23-14 at halftime.

But Osmond's torrid shooting was too much for Winside as the Tigers canned 21-of-34 field goals and 16-of-22 free throws for 61 and 72 percent, respectively.

A key play in the game occurred at the beginning of the second half, according to Winside head coach Mark Freburg.

"We missed a layup at the start of the second half and they went down and hit a three point play. So instead of only being down by seven, we were down by 12 and they just kind of took over after that," he said.

Winside trailed by 20, 36-16, at the end of the third quarter but rebounded in the last frame by outscoring the Tigers 23-22.

Overall, Freburg said he was pleased with his club's effort.

"Osmond wants to run. They have a multifaceted team and we took them out of their game in the first half and were still in the game at halftime," he said. "I thought the kids did a good job of slowing down the game and was pleased with their effort, especially in the first half."

Winside didn't shoot too bad either as the Wildcats hit 16-of-37 field goals for 43 percent and finished 7-for-12 from the line.

Mike Thies led Winside in scoring with 10 points, while teammate Kevin Jaeger added nine. Mike Buchanan and Darin Gansbom were Osmond's leading scorers with 19 and 18 points, respectively.

Due to the slow-paced action and Osmond's outstanding shooting, Winside only tallied 13 rebounds in the game. Jaeger led the Wildcats with five boards.

Osmond trimmed Winside 34-32 in the junior varsity game. Tim Jacobsen led the Wildcat JVs in scoring with 12 points.

The loss dropped Winside's varsity to 0-12 on the year. The Wildcats play again Tuesday at Wynot.

Trojan breaks school scoring record

Wausa holds off Wakefield, Nicholson for 73-66 win

WAUSA — Wausa overcame a scoring eruption by Wakefield's Wade Nicholson and trimmed the Trojans 73-66 here Monday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

Nicholson, a 6-1 senior, tallied 41 points on 17-of-29 shooting from the field and a 7-for-8 performance from the line.

The 41 markers broke Wakefield's school record of 39 points set by Scott Hallstrom in 1979. Hallstrom is currently the assistant girls' basketball coach at Wakefield.

Most of Nicholson's scoring came from the 15-20 foot range, according to his head coach Paul Eaton.

"Wade scored from all over, but most of his points came from the 15-20 foot range," Eaton said. "He really had a good game, and he hit seven shots in a row at one point."

After falling behind by three points in the first quarter, the Trojans trailed 34-29 at intermission.

Wakefield's problems then snowballed as Wausa opened a comfortable 14 point advantage in the third stanza.

But the Trojans battled back and cut the lead to four in the fourth period. However, Wausa prevailed and hung on for a seven-point victory.

When the Trojans fell behind by 14 points, Eaton said his club's main problem was passing.

"We made too many wrong passes in the third quarter," he said. "We didn't really throw the ball away, but we threw it to people who were heavily guarded and then they couldn't shoot or make a good pass. We just blew too many scoring opportunities that way."

game, I think we could've won," he said.

Both teams drilled 26 field goals, but Wausa finished 21-for-32 from the line and Wakefield made 14-of-25 giffers.

Wausa outrebounded the Trojans 48-44. Nicholson and Jeff Rose led the visitors with 12 and nine boards, respectively.

Dan Kumm led Wausa in scoring with 24 points. Kevin Greve followed Nicholson with nine points, while Brgd Lund added eight markers to the Wakefield cause.

Eaton discussed Nicholson's scoring outburst.

"Wade's been a great shooter for us all year, and I just think we did a better job of getting the ball to him in this game," he said.

Wakefield won the junior varsity game, which was played before the girls contest on Saturday night, 32-23. Scott Lund led the Trojan JVs with 11 points.

Wakefield's varsity is now 5-10 on the year. The Trojans play again Friday, Feb. 14, at Coleridge.

Trojans fall to Homer, 56-48

Wakefield spurt falls short

HOMER — A late Wakefield spurt fell a little short and the Trojans dropped a 56-48 decision to Homer here Tuesday night.

Wakefield trailed by as many as 14 points in the last half. But the Trojans hustled back into contention and only trailed by four late in the game.

Wakefield was forced to foul the Knights, however, in the late going and Homer canned its free throws and hung on for the victory.

Despite losing, Wakefield played, perhaps, its best offensive game of the season. Two girls cracked the double figure barrier and another Trojan tallied nine points. Stacey Kuhl scored a team high 14 points, while teammates Desirée Salmon and Marci Greve tallied 12 and nine points, respectively.

"That was the best balance we've had this year," Wakefield head coach Arnie Cerny said. "And we took 52 shots so it was one of our better offensive games."

Homer also had balanced scoring as Shelly Beermann led the Knights with 16 points, while teammates Jill Waldner and Janelle Flaugh both scored 10 markers.

Two difficulties Wakefield experienced during the game, according to Cerny, were blocking out and Flaugh's outside shooting.

"They were taller than us and we didn't do a very good job of boxing out and they scored a lot of their points on offensive rebounds," he said.

"And we wanted Homer to shoot from the outside, but Flaugh scored all 10 of her points from long range."

Homer outrebounded Wakefield 34-26. Marci Greve led the Trojans with six boards.

Salmon led the club with six steals and Tricia Schwartz dished out a team high three assists for the Trojans.

Wakefield canned 18-of-52 field goals and 12-of-22 free throws. Homer finished 22-for-48 from the floor and 12-for-20 from the line.

Despite losing, Cerny said he was generally pleased with his squad's effort, especially their comeback.

"We did a lot of things right," he said. "And the girls were really scrappy and that's what brought them back into the game. Overall it was a pretty good game."

Homer nipped the Trojans 20-18 in the junior varsity game. Karol Hallstrom and Kadi Nelson led Wakefield's JVs with eight and six points, respectively.

Wakefield's varsity is now winless in 14 outings. The Trojans play again Tuesday at Allen.

Viner, Peru State downs WSC

Peru State's Connie Viner canned an incredible 20-of-23 free throws and lifted the Lady Bobcats past Wayne State, 93-82, at Rice Auditorium Tuesday night.

The game was plagued with 57 fouls, and Viner made the most of it by canning 86 percent of her giffers. As a team, Peru State finished 33-for-43 from the stripe, compared to Wayne State's 28-for-38 performance.

The Lady Wildcats trailed by 10 at the half, 45-35. And the closest they came after intermission was the final 11 point deficit.

Viner led all scorers with 24 points. Deb Nygren led Wayne State with 17 markers, while Shelle Tomaszewicz and Michelle Blomberg added 14 and 12 markers, respectively, to the Lady Wildcat cause.

In addition to hitting 77 percent of its free throws, the Lady Bobcats finished 30-for-67 from the field for 45 percent. Wayne State made just 37 percent of its field goals finishing 27-for-73.

The Lady Wildcats claimed a slight rebounding edge, 49-48. Tomaszewicz led Wayne State with 10 boards.

The loss dropped Wayne State to 3-18 on the year. The Lady Wildcats play again Friday at Pittsburg State and Saturday at Missouri Southern.

Paulsen leads Winside at Greeley

Wildcats place fifth

GREELEY — Doug Paulsen led Winside's grapplers to a fifth place finish at the rugged Greeley Wrestling Invitational here Saturday.

Palmer nipped host Greeley 135-134 1/2 for the title. Sargent and Scribner placed third and fourth with 113 1/2 and 103 points, respectively. The Wildcats totaled 93 markers.

Despite competing in one of the more difficult weight classes, the 112-pound Paulsen pinned all three opponents he faced and claimed the championship.

"Doug had a tough weight class, but he pinned all three guys he faced and did a very good job," Winside head coach Paul Sok said.

Mace Kant and Chris Olson both placed second for the Wildcats, while teammates Darin Schellenberg and Randy Leapley both finished third.

Kant held a lead in the 105-pound championship match, but his opponent used a reverse in the final 20 seconds to claim a 3-2 victory.

Olson was leading third-ranked Mark Starkey 6-2 in the 132-pound championship bout, but Starkey claimed a pin in the second period.

Schellenberg was defeated by the third-ranked 138-pounder in the state in the semifinals of Saturday's invite, while Leapley lost in overtime to the third-ranked 155-pounder.

Leapley held a 7-1 lead, but according to Sok, inexperience cost him a 12-8 setback.

"Randy was doing a good job, but I think his inexperience cost him the loss," Sok said.

The loss might have been a severe one for Leapley as far as district seedings go, according to Sok.

"We were hoping Randy would get the third seed at districts, and even-though he took the probable No. 1 or No. 2 seed in overtime, a loss is a loss and it might hurt him as far as seedings for districts go," he said.

"Randy and Darin both have very difficult weight classes in this district."

Sok added that he expected Paulsen to be the first seeded 112-pounder, and thought that Kant and Olson would be seeded second and third, respectively, in their weight class.

Winside wrestles again Thursday at West Point Central Catholic, and then concludes the regular season with the Clearwater Invitational Saturday.

Beemer gifters trip Allen

BEEMER — Beemer used outstanding free throw shooting and downed Allen 68-50 here Saturday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

Beemer finished 16-for-18 from the line for an incredible 88 percent. Dave Uldrich, Allen's head coach, said Beemer's torrid free throw shooting kept his Eagles out of contention.

"Their shooting from the line was the difference in the game," he said. "That's what kept us from getting close enough to make a run at them."

Beemer sandwiched two average quarters around two productive frames. The Bobcats tallied 14 markers in the second and third periods, but initiated the game with 19 points and concluded with 21 more.

Allen trailed 19-13 after the first quarter and 33-25 at intermission. Beemer then outscored the Eagles 35-25 in the last half for the victory.

Tim Schulz led Beemer in scoring with 24 points, most of which came from the inside. Allen had a balanced scoring attack. Craig Noe led the Eagles with 21 points, while Max Oswald and Steve Jones tallied 14 and 11 markers, respectively. Clark McGrath rounded out Allen's scoring with four points.

The Eagles canned 22 field goals and 6-of-11 free throws. Beemer finished with 26 fielders to go along with its 16 free throws.

The Bobcats outrebounded Allen 32-25. Noe and Oswald led the Eagles with 11 and seven boards, respectively.

Beemer also captured the junior varsity game 48-26. Jyoti Kwankin led the Eagle JVs with 10 points.

Despite losing, Troth said he was pleased with his club's effort and added that he would like to return to Beemer later in the month with a Valentine's Day present for the Bobcats.

"Beemer's 12-2 now and they got a good team," he said. "But I thought we did a pretty good job, too. We play them again Feb. 14 and I'm looking forward to playing them even better the second time around."

Beemer is the fifth ranked team in Class D-1 by the Omaha World Herald's Larry Porter.

Allen is now 2-11 on the year. The Eagles' next game is the Valentine's Day matchup with the Bobcats.

Wynot eruption sinks Laurel

WYNOT — Wynot erupted for 24 points in the last quarter and downed Laurel 54-39 here Monday night in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Basketball Tournament.

The game was closely played until the final eight minutes when Wynot outscored the Bears 24-13.

Laurel trailed 12-8 after the first quarter and 24-20 at intermission. Laurel was still in contention heading in to the last stanza as the Bears still only trailed by four, 30-26.

Mark Hrabik, Laurel's head coach, said the Bears usually experience fourth quarter slumps. But Monday night it was the fourth frame that did his club in.

"We've been in a lot of games this year where we were close at halftime but then got blown away in the third quarter," he said. "So during halftime I emphasized to the kids to come out and play extra hard. And we did, but then they got us in the last period."

The key to Wynot's explosion was six unanswered points which boosted the Blue Devils to a 36-26 lead early in the fourth quarter.

Laurel's last period problems then snowballed when Brent Halsch, the Bears' leading scorer this year, fouled out with five minutes remaining in the game.

"They got those six quick points, and then Brent fouled out a few minutes later," Hrabik said. "And after that they just took off and ended up beating us pretty bad."

But despite the loss, Hrabik was pleased with his club's effort.

"This morning (Tuesday) the Omaha World Herald has Wynot ranked tenth in Class C-2. And I guess I can't complain about our effort if we played the tenth ranked team in the state even for three quarters," he said. "And the kids were disappointed we lost. They want to win every night out, but our inexperience cost us."

Erick Christensen led Laurel in scoring with 12 points. While Halsch tallied 10 markers before fouling out, Nick Hochstein, Mike Eskens and Corey Stratman all scored 14 points to lead Wynot.

The Blue Devils won the battle of the boards, 29-23. Christensen and Halsch led Laurel with nine and six rebounds, respectively.

Halsch also totaled a team high three steals for the Bears.

Wynot trimmed Laurel's junior varsity 29-28. Kyle Nixon led the Bear JVs with 13 points.

The loss drops Laurel's varsity to 4-7 on the year. The Bears play again Monday at Coleridge.

Wynot improved to 11-3 on the year.

Shoot-out for cystic fibrosis

February 16

Editor's Note: The following is a news release for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation basketball shoot-out.

A special basketball shoot-out to benefit the Nebraska Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 16 at the Wayne High School gym at 2 p.m.

The event is open to everyone who wishes to help support the fight against cystic fibrosis which, among genetic diseases, is the leading cause of death and disability in children and young adults.

Youngsters with cystic fibrosis may be smaller than their peers, tire more easily and be frequently out of breath. They may have persistent coughs but the illness is not contagious.

There is no cure at the present for the disease, which affects approximately one in every 1,800 births.

According to Mindy Luft, of the Women of Today, those who wish to participate can obtain sponsor sheets from the local schools and banks by Feb. 15. Participants of all ages should solicit pledges from relatives, friends or their neighbors. The total amount to be collected from the sponsors after the event will be based on the number of baskets each participant completes in two or three minutes. Each participant will receive a patch. Those who have 30 pledged will receive a T-shirt. A T-shirt and duffie bag goes to those with 50 pledged. Those with 75 pledged will also receive a cooler. An

NAIA could accept proposal to strengthen academic standards

KANSAS CITY, MO. — A proposal to change the governance structure of the NAIA will be presented by the NAIA Council of Presidents for a vote at the association's annual meeting, March 18. The new structure would assign to the NAIA Council of Presidents three specific responsibilities: the continuing review, evaluation and strengthening of academic standards; the budget and all fiscal matters of the association; and the employment and supervision of the Executive Director. These are responsibilities currently held by the NAIA National Executive Committee.

The association last year voted to change from a representative assembly as a ruling body to a system of one-shot-one-vote with the chief executive officer of each member institution responsible for casting or assigning that vote. This was an attempt to have these chief executive officers become more actively involved in the affairs of the NAIA. This new governance proposal is a continuation of that effort.

NAIA member presidents and chancellors function within a Council of Presidents. This council is composed of chief executive officers from each of the 32 NAIA districts elected by his or her colleagues from that district. The council will meet regularly twice a year with a five-member administrative committee acting for the council between meetings. The administrative committee includes: Dr. Jefferson Faris, University of Central Arkansas, chairman; Dr. Thomas Feld, Mount Mercy College, Iowa, chairman-elect; Dr. Leonard Campbell, Southwestern Oklahoma State University; Dr. John Tomlinson, Mesa College, Colorado; and Dr. Fred Young, Elon College, North Carolina.

The new structure will involve presidents and chancellors in significant and meaningful activities of the NAIA. This will encourage their participation with athletic administrators and faculty representatives to work toward further strengthening of academic standards for NAIA student-athletes. Together these groups can better define the unique mission of the NAIA and maintain a focus on the educational programs.

The NAIA now has strong requirements for participation. All athletes are required to have passed twenty-four hours in their last two semesters of attendance, and all must be currently enrolled in a minimum of 12 hours to participate. Those are comparatively stronger standards than those of other national associations. The interest of the presidents is to continue to study, all of the eligibility standards, to find real meaning in the phrase "normal progress toward a degree" as an eligibility requirement, and to strengthen the role of the executive director and national staff in helping member institutions meet and monitor these standards.

organization better," emphasizes Dr. Jefferson D. Faris, Council Chairman. "The chief executive officers have not met their responsibilities in the past for providing leadership and participation in NAIA activities. The Slow start costs Wildcats 89-66 loss

When it rains it pours. That cliché is an accurate description of Wayne State's play in the first half Saturday night as a rough start by the Wildcats allowed third-ranked Emporia State to post an easy 89-66 triumph at Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State made just two of its first seven shots and totaled eight turnovers in the first seven minutes.

Emporia State capitalized on the cool shooting and numerous mistakes by opening a 17-4 lead with 12:48 remaining in the first half.

Wayne State's subpar performance snowballed the rest of the half as the Hornets pulled ahead 37-13 at the 4:45 mark before owning a 43-25 advantage at intermission.

The Wildcats hit just 9-of-28 field goals in the first half for 32 percent. Emporia State, on the other hand, finished 19-of-31 from the floor in the first 20 minutes for 61 percent.

The Hornets maintained a commanding lead the rest of the way as the closest Wayne State could get was 16 when Russ Rosenquist drilled a jumper with 15:33 remaining to make the score 51-35.

The Wildcats finished just 25-for-68 from the floor for 40 percent. The Hornets canned an impressive 36-of-60 shots for 60 percent.

The game totaled 50 turnovers. Wayne State committed 24, while Emporia State finished with 26.

McNamara player of week

Wayne State's Mike McNamara was named the NAIA District 11 player of the week along with Midland's Mark Williams.

McNamara hit a layup with five seconds remaining to give Wayne State a 71-70 upset victory over then 12th ranked Missouri Southern.

In addition to his heroics against Missouri Southern, McNamara is leading the Wildcats in rebounding averaging 5.5 boards an outing.

Russ Rosenquist, McNamara's teammate, is averaging 13.3 points a game and shooting .477 percent from the floor.

Vincent White, also of Wayne State, is hitting .729 percent of his free throws.

Linda Schnitzler was nominated for District 11 player of the week laurels.

Schnitzler is averaging 15.6 points a game, shooting .458 percent from the floor and .667 percent from the line.

Shari Krohn, Schnitzler's teammate, is averaging 7.5 rebounds a game.

Wayne State drops fifth one-pointer

Wayne State head coach Lenny Klaver said Saturday night that his Lady Wildcats were naturally down after losing four contests by one point, but he added that they usually manage to bounce back and play tough the next time out.

And after Saturday's 84-83 loss to Emporia State, the Lady Wildcats did just that and played St. Mary's tough. However, Wayne State once again came a little short and dropped its fifth one-point setback of the season, 75-74, at Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State trailed by as many as eight points late in the first half, but when Linda Schnitzler drilled two free throws with 5:01 remaining in the game, the Lady Wildcats held a 70-62 advantage.

But St. Mary's came storming back and outscored the hosts 11-2 over the next 2:51 for a 73-72 lead.

A Schnitzler free throw with 1:41 to go tied the game at 73, and a Tomaszewicz gifter eight seconds later provided the Lady Wildcats with a 74-73 advantage at the 1:33 mark.

But two timeouts and 71 seconds later, Jeanell Stevens hit a bucket that proved to be the game winner for St. Mary's.

Wayne State still had 20 seconds to win the game. But the Lady Wildcats' bid fell short and they dropped the one point loss.

After leading 11-10 midway through the first half, Wayne State was not on top again until Michelle Blomberg's bucket supplied the hosts with a 42-40 advantage at the 17:22 mark of the second half.

The Lady Wildcats led the rest of the way until St. Mary's pulled ahead 71-70 with 2:39 remaining in the game.

Blomberg led Wayne State in scoring with 18 points and Schnitzler totaled 17. Tomaszewicz and Deb Nygren also scored in double figures for the Lady Wildcats finishing with 14 and 10 points, respectively. Jennifer Corah led St. Mary's in scoring with 18 markers.

Tomaszewicz and Kris Smith led Wayne State in rebounding with 11 and nine, respectively, while Tomaszewicz also dished out a team high six assists.

The loss dropped Wayne State to 3-17 on the year.

WAYNE STATE'S Mary Beth Ehrhorn wins a jump ball against the College of St. Mary's. The Lady Wildcats dropped an 84-83 decision.

Emporia State claims 84-83 win

The 1985-86 basketball season has been a trying one for Wayne State. In addition to a frustrating 3-16 record, the Lady Wildcats have dropped several close games. And Saturday night Wayne State again fell a little short, losing a heart-breaking 84-83 contest to Emporia State.

The defeat was Wayne State's fourth loss by one point. Lady Wildcat head coach Lenny Klaver said his club is naturally down, but added that they always manage to bounce back.

"You can't lose four one-pointers and not be a little discouraged," he said. "The girls are down a bit, but they always seem to bounce back and play hard the next time out and I'm sure they'll bounce back again."

Emporia State's Denise Dawson

drilled two free throws with 51 seconds remaining to supply the Lady Hornets with an 84-83 lead.

Both teams then traded possessions before the Lady Wildcats took over again with 10 seconds to go.

Klaver called timeout and called his play, and he said that although the shot missed, his squad executed his instructions perfectly.

"I called timeout with 10 seconds left and the girls ran it perfectly, the shot just didn't drop," he said.

The game was closely played the entire 40 minutes. Wayne State's biggest lead was an eight point advantage with 5:07 remaining in the first half, while Emporia State's largest lead was five points early in the first half.

Wayne State did own a 67-60 advantage when Linda Schnitzler drilled two free throws with 9:53 to go. However, the Lady Hornets outscored the hosts 24-16 down the stretch for the victory.

Schnitzler once again led the Lady Wildcats in scoring with 26 points. Emporia State's Carolyn Richard equaled Schnitzler's 26 markers for the game's scoring honors.

Deb Nygren and Michelle Blomberg tallied 19 and 15 points, respectively, for Wayne State, while Deanna Huber, Tina Wedel, Kristi Heldeman and Dawson all scored in double figures for Emporia State with 18, 16, 10 and 10 points, respectively.

Schnitzler also led Wayne State in rebounding with nine, while Blomberg totaled seven steals and four assists, both of which were team highs.

with 12 and 11 boards, respectively.

Holly Paige and Laura Keating led the Blue Devils in assists with five and four, respectively, while Corbit totaled a team high four steals.

Wayne's junior varsity claimed a 35-23 victory. Kristy Hansen led the Blue Devil JV's in scoring with eight points.

Wayne's varsity is now 8-5 on the year. The Blue Devils played Wisner Pilger Tuesday night and played South Sioux City Tuesday, Feb. 11.

Jochum and Ogren earn fourth letter

Fifty-two Wildcats receive varsity letters

Fifty-two football players have earned varsity letters at Wayne State College, according to head coach Pete Chapman.

Chapman awarded letters based on participation in the 1985 football season.

Senior offensive lineman Randy Ogren of Sioux City, Iowa, and senior quarterback Ed Jochum of Norfolk were the only two four-year letter winners.

Ogren, a graduate of East High School, was a four-year starter at Wayne State and served as captain of the team two years.

Jochum, a graduate of Norfolk Catholic, was the starting quarterback the past two seasons. He is Wayne State's career leader in passing yardage, single-season passing, and career total offense.

Players earning their third letter included: Sonny Jones, Omaha; Tom Letschuck, South Sioux City; Phil Wickwar, Springfield, Mo.; Darin Blackburn, Malvern, Iowa; Tony Shaw, O'Neill; and Keith Turner, Aurora.

A complete list of letterwinners and their hometown are listed below.

Expert says: no viable alternatives for swine antibiotics

LAUREL—To the question, "are there alternatives to antibiotics for swine," the answer must be an emphatic "No," a University of Nebraska-Lincoln swine nutrition researcher told those attending a Whole Hog Day program here Jan. 24.

E.R. Peo, Jr. said "there are no approved compounds that when added to diets, will improve gains and feed efficiency in swine as consistently as do the drugs classified as antibiotics."

Antibiotics are compounds produced by living organisms that inhibit or slow down the growth of other microorganisms. Other man-made compounds called chemiotics, act like antibiotics and often are lumped under the term antibiotics, Peo said.

The crux of the question concerning the inclusion of antibiotics in swine rations is that certain antibiotics, such as penicillin, are also used in human medicine. The concern is that the feeding of low levels of antibiotics to livestock may develop microorganisms that are resistant to antibiotics such as penicillin or the tetracyclines. These microorganisms might then pass the resistance to microorganisms infectious to humans. It is feared that an infectious disease might then not be controllable with an antibiotic such as penicillin, Peo said.

"Such a transfer could happen, but no one has shown unequivocally that it does or will happen in nature," Peo said, conceding that "the threat is there."

While the relationship of feed conversion and improved swine weight gains is not as great as in the early 1950s, Peo said, "a significant and continuing pig response to antibiotics exists today — contrary to what opponents of the use of antibiotics in swine feeding have inferred."

RESPONSE to antibiotics tends to be less as a pig gets older, but is highly effective in the young pig; the age group most susceptible to environmental stresses, Peo said.

"If all antibiotics were suddenly lost for swine diets, it would be a severe economic blow not only to the swine producer but also to the consumer. Production feed costs would rise, pig production would drop and ultimately, the cost of pork would increase at the retail meat counter," Peo said.

He said the pharmaceutical industry "is working day and night" to find and develop antibiotics that can be used exclusively in swine diets and probably would have no role in human medicine.

One such antibiotic, salinomycin, is not yet approved for use in swine diets. But pigs fed salinomycin gained faster and more efficiently than those not fed the drug, except during the finishing phase.

Researchers are also looking at such products as live yeast cultures, fermentation byproducts and the so-called "probiotics" as replacements for antibiotics in swine feeding programs. "In current studies, pig response to probiotics has not been as consistent as when antibiotics are fed," Peo said. Similarly, pig response to fermentation byproducts has been quite variable.

Recently, a naturally occurring, biologically active steroid from the Yucca plant has shown promise as a growth promotant in swine, but performance is inconsistent, Peo said.

Special permits needed for young tractor drivers

Two special permits are needed for young tractor drivers to meet Nebraska state law and the Federal Department of Labor Standards.

The Department of Labor Standards require boys and girls from 14 to 16 to have a special exemption permit if they are to operate a tractor or other farm implements for someone other than their parents. This permit can be obtained by completing a 10-hour course in tractor operation and safety.

The county extension agents in Dakota, Cuming, Cedar, Thurston, Stanton, Wayne, Pierce, and Dixon Counties are providing a special training for this purpose to be held on March 7 and 8 at the Northeast Center near Concord from 5 p.m. on Friday to 3 p.m. on Saturday. This is part of their 4-H Youth Development Program and is open to all youth without regard to race, color, national origin, sex, or handicap.

There is a $5 registration fee for this training payable in advance. Those interested in receiving this training should register with their county extension office prior to March 1.

This training would be excellent for all youth who are driving tractors as the main emphasis is safe tractor operations and maintenance.

The Nebraska State Law requires a special permit for all tractor operators, 13 to 16, to enable them to drive a tractor or other farm equipment on any Nebraska roadway. This permit can be obtained in two ways:

A temporary permit is available from the Department of Motor Vehicles for a $5 charge. It is good for only six months and no test is required. It is especially good for those youth who will be 16 in six months.

A permanent permit is available for a cost of $5. It is good until the age of 16. A written test, an eye exam, and a tractor-driving test, administered by the Department of Motor Vehicles examiners, is required. A special test day to obtain this permit has been scheduled for March 8 at the Northeast Center near Concord from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Special application blanks can be obtained from the local county extension office.

the farmer's wife

by pat meierhenry

We had pea soup for supper tonight and then I drove to Wayne in pea soup. It's a lot more fun eating it! Guess I should be glad I wasn't in a blizzard. That may come yet. I heard someone complaining yesterday about not having had a snow day yet.

Farmers and farmers' wives are at the kitchen-table these days, going over the piles of bills and receipts. Trouble is, the first pile is so much higher than the second.

There is much uncertainty about the new "farm program." The Midwest Messenger has another whole front page of farm sale dates. It seems I hear of another foreclosure affecting someone I care for every day.

People are asking "who will farm the ground? Will it be covered with weeds?" Cash rent is fast becoming a thing of the past. Even Paul Harvey has succumbed to "black humor." He asked what four jars of pickles, a rusty tractor and a dead lamb represent. The answer: the 1990 South Dakota State Fair! Awful!

Reading has always been my method of escape. When I can't sleep, I read. Lately, I've been collecting stories about flashy ways of doing things. You know, like the sportscaster (ex football player) who asked Bill Cosby's TV wife to marry him on national TV. Great!

On a local level, a boy from Stanton we've seen wrestle a time or two proposed in a light plane. When he and his sweetheart flew over his Dad's farm, his buddies set fire to corn cobs that spelled out "Tracy, will you marry me?" Life with that boy should always be interesting.

One evening, about 6:00, I drove through Hoskins and spotted a bunch of people on the street sending a couple into a limo, complete with uniformed chauffeur. A sight like that in Hoskins does tend to make one slow down. Turns out it was Gloria Doffin's birthday and the kids paid for the ride to a restaurant. That should make up for at least some of the nights they kept her up.

Newspapers are also gearing up for the gubernatorial race. Kermit Brashear mentioned last week that it is currently the biggest growth industry in Nebraska! There are some interesting candidates; and for a job that I envision as a very difficult one the next four years.

From this juncture, if anyone's interested, I see Brashear and Domina as winners of the primaries. Both are attorneys, which could be an asset or not, depending upon your frame of reference.

Oh, well, whoever wins, life will go on and Nebraska will survive. I'm a lot older and wiser than on the day that Truman beat Dewey, and I thought America was doomed.

Actually, my brother is correct. A dictatorship would be a heck of a lot more efficient. How I got from pea soup to presidents beats me, but it's late and I have to get this in the mail.

Farm income to modestly worsen

Challenge ahead for agriculture

U.S. agriculture endured a difficult year in 1985. Farm business failures continued to mount during the year and farm lenders were strained. An economist at the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City says another difficult year lies ahead for U.S. agriculture.

Writing in the Reserve Bank's Economic Review, Mark Drabentstoft, research officer and economist, says the most striking toll of 1985 was the mounting number of financially pressed farm business, rural merchants, and farm lenders. "Farm business failures and farm lender closings occurred at a rate not witnessed since the Great Depression," Drabentstoft writes.

The farm economy deteriorated throughout 1985. Large spring plantings and excellent growing weather led to large crops that began depressing crop prices. The author reports that farmland values fell dramatically throughout the year while farm loan problems grew bigger and more vexing to farm lenders. Net farm income also declined sharply in 1985.

Drabentstoft feels another difficult year lies ahead for agriculture in 1986. Farm income probably will worsen modestly in the coming year. With a normal growing year, crop stockpiles will grow bigger. Thus, he says, weak crop prices likely will more than offset some improvement in livestock prices.

According to the author, farm credit conditions will remain troublesome in 1986. "While the 1985 farm bill promises to keep government farm payments large, fundamental recovery for U.S. agriculture still awaits lower real interest rates and improved export markets."

Despite all the troublesome problems experienced in 1985, Drabentstoft says a few bright spots did emerge. He points to farm legislation that does move U.S. agriculture toward global market realities, although at a slow pace. Many crop growers had record yields and government commodity programs, while expensive, helped stabilize income for some producer groups. Thus some producer groups, such as corn growers, had strong cash flows in 1985. Finally, he says, agriculture has demonstrated remarkable resilience.

"There is no question that great financial pressure has been exerted on the industry," the author writes. "Yet, in retrospect, agriculture has adjusted at a fast but even pace." Drabentstoft concluded, however, that the coming year will challenge agriculture's resilience again.

Misleading tree advertisements

In late winter, many homeowners come down with the "spring planting itch."

Thumbing through the spring nursery catalogs for garden seeds, flowers, trees and shrubs helps break the winter monotony and satisfy "the itch." This season, magazines and newspapers are full of advertisements for shade and ornamental trees.

Beware of ads that proclaim "super trees." Super trees usually have faults that should be investigated and identified before purchase. Unsuspecting buyers are lured by vivid descriptions of amazing growth and beauty. Generally these ads refer to the tree by scientific name only, or to unfamiliar species.

Each year it seems a new "super tree" is promoted. This year, the new super tree appears to be "Populus hybrid-family Salicaceae." The advertisement claims this tree "soars into a magnificent tree in just one single year" and "grows as much as 1/2 foot weekly."

This magnificent tree (Populus hybrid), which sells for $3.95 per seedling, is most probably common cottonwood.

Two other examples of extensively advertised "super trees" are Ulmus pumila and Royal Paulownia (Empress Tree). It is true that both trees grow rapidly.

However, Ulmus pumila is the scientific name for the common Siberian (Chinese) elm. Siberian elm is short-lived, susceptible to heavy elm leaf beetle infestations and has brittle branches that break easily in storms.

Paulownia or Empress Tree is not adapted to Nebraska's climate. It grows rapidly after planting, but dies to the ground each winter.

Learn the characteristics of the tree before purchase. If you have questions contact a reputable nurseryman or the extension office before you purchase.

Kiwis come to Nebraska?

Can you name an exotic fruit which can be grown in Nebraska?

Kiwi (pronounced kee-wee) fruit are relative newcomers to produce departments in some grocery stores. The fruit are slightly smaller than a plum and are fuzzy brown on the outside and green on the inside. The flavor is described as a cross between a strawberry, banana and melon.

Kiwis sold in supermarkets probably were grown in Florida or California where the long, warm growing season they require is prevalent. However, some nurseries in Nebraska are carrying a harder relative of the tropical Kiwi.

The hardy Kiwi, Actinidia arguta, is a vine which survives winter lows of 25 degrees below zero. The vine flowers in May or June and bears ripe fruit in early October. The fruits average three-fourths to one and one-half inches in diameter, smaller than the fruit of their tropical relative. The fruit are smooth on the outside, do not require peeling and can be refrigerated for at least 12 weeks — an important quality because the vines can fruit heavily.

The vines of the hardy Kiwi are quite vigorous, requiring a stout trellis or support. Plants are either male or female, so you must purchase one of each if you want fruit.

The hardy Kiwi may be an interesting addition to the backyard garden or to the landscape. And its fruit certainly will be an exotic addition to Nebraska tables!

Runoff problems from irrigation remedied with inter-row tillage

Two years of study by University of Nebraska-Lincoln researchers suggest that inter-row tillage practices can help reduce runoff of both irrigation and rainfall in crop fields using center pivot systems. Inter-row tillage involves tilling the zone between crop rows after the last cultivation.

Dean E. Eisenhauer and Terry C. Bockstader, extension irrigation specialist and extension engineer, respectively, discussed the results of inter-row tillage research in 1984 and 1985 at two sites in a paper presented at the UNL Irrigation Short Course here Jan. 27.

The authors, both on the staff of the UNL South Central Research and Extension Center, reported that inter-row tillage, using two different techniques — layby subsoiling and basin tillage — have not resulted in yield improvements or significant savings in the amount of irrigation water supplied. Yield increases only can be expected where runoff is a serious problem.

"In theory, the amount of irrigation water applied could have been reduced by 1 to 1 1/2 inches without affecting grain yields if inter-row tillage had been used on the entire field," the scientists said.

HOWEVER, THEY cautioned that conclusions may be different when the studies are conducted in a hot and dry season.

Runoff from center pivot irrigated fields can be severe, especially on moderately to steeply sloping land or where low pressure sprinkler systems are set on low intake rate soils.

One UNL researcher found runoff to be as high as 65 percent under a low pressure spray center pivot system on a very fine sandy loam. Runoff on a center pivot, silty clay loam soil in southeast Nebraska was 7.9 percent on a 2 percent land slope and 17.6 percent on an 8 percent slope.

With layby subsoiling, a chisel shank is operated 10 to 14 inches deep in the inter-row area, with the practice carried out when the corn is in about the six-leaf stage.

BASIN TILLAGE refers to small dams or depressions spaced at 1- to 8-foot intervals in the inter-row area. The dams create small reservoirs which will hold potential runoff until it has time to infiltrate into the soil.

In another technique, dubbed reservoir tillage or implanted reservoirs, small holes or depressions are punched in the soil in the inter-row area.

In reviewing the studies at sites in Buffalo and Clay counties, Eisenhauer and Bockstader noted that harvesting problems can develop using the basin practice.

"The basins resulted in a relatively rough ride for the combine," the authors reported, with furrow dams worse than the implanted reservoirs. "This problem might be eliminated by not damming the rows where the combine wheels operate."

The basins created by the furrow dammer tended to hold water longer than the other tillage systems. This hampered harvest in the fall of 1985, when wet fields were a problem.

In June, Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev is scheduled to visit the United States. Hopefully, he will come to the Corn Belt and take a look at American agriculture.

Such a visit would have pleased my father, Roswell Garst. You see, Roswell started the tradition by hosting a similar visit by Nikita Khrushchev in 1959. Roswell died in 1977 and was inducted into the Agricultural Hall of Fame in 1985. He believed in better communication between world powers, especially when it came to agriculture. He was instrumental in establishing an agricultural dialogue between the U.S. and eastern Bloc countries, including the Soviet Union, Hungary, and Romania.

His theory was that a well-fed nation is a peaceful nation, and that there's more to be gained by helping others improve their agriculture than by rattling sabers.

When Khrushchev and his family visited the Garst farm, the world watched as representatives of these two great countries talked about grain yields, livestock, farm prices... all the things you and I talk about daily. And suddenly, the differences between our nations were not so great. Both had millions of mouths to feed. Both depended on a healthy agriculture. Both respected the ability of Mother Nature to give and take.

It was, in short, a fieldside chat that probably accomplished more than a year's worth of political rhetoric.

Many viewed the visit with optimism. It eased Cold War tensions and strengthened the relationship between two countries that had no choice but to learn to live together. And, it opened the gates to agricultural trade between the U.S. and the Soviet Union that brought prosperity to American farmers.

Others were not so impressed. They believed the Garst family was un-American and sympathetic to Communists. Some refused to do business with us.

Roswell ignored the skeptics and the unfavorable press and continued to work for better international communication. Many times, in his quest to promote peace and understanding between the U.S. and so-called unfriendly countries, my father walked alone. Few people shared his crusading spirit.

But today, things are different. We all realize the importance of a strong relationship, both economically and politically, between nations. We all understand the miracle of agriculture. We all fear war and hunger.

"We must all continue to work for better understanding between the U.S. and other nations, no matter how fundamentally different our lifestyles and values may seem. All of us — farmers, bankers, factory workers, managers, and so on — will be ambassadors of peace."

The 1989 visit by Khrushchev marked the first time a Soviet leader had visited the U.S. If Gorbachev visits the U.S. he will be the second. Gorbachev is not only a premier, he is an agriculturalist. If he visits an American farm, it will be a great day for agriculture.

Somehow, it seems fitting. So much is produced on the farm. Perhaps even a lasting peace.

NEW FARM CRISIS HEAD
During their regular meeting Jan. 28 the Wakefield Farm Crisis Committee re-elected officers: Kurt Rewinkel will serve as the new chairman, Lyle Baekkenhauser was elected vice chairman and Delores Felt will serve as secretary-treasurer for the committee. The reelection was necessary after Randy Larson declined to serve as the group's chairman.
The Wakefield committee is tentatively planning to hold monthly meetings. The next meeting is set for Tuesday, Feb. 18.
At the meeting, the group discussed an upcoming statewide meeting set for Hartington on Wednesday, Feb. 12. Several members of Wakefield committee are planning to attend.

LUCKY LADS AND LASSIES
The Lucky Lassies and Lassies 4-H Club began its new year with a potluck supper held recently in the Methodist Church basement in Allen. The event was attended by 60 parents and 4-H'ers.
Donna Wood served as commentator for the evening. Special recognition was given to past organizational leaders Mary Jean Jones and Joanne Rahn. All leaders were thanked for their help throughout the past year.
Newly elected officers are Angela Jones, president; Brenda Fiscus, vice president; Lyneil Wood, secretary; Elizabeth Hansen, news reporter; Carla Stapleton, treasurer; and Matt Hingt and Carr Smith, secretaries.

New organizational leaders are Sharon Brenlinger, Joyce Benstead, Lila Fiscus and Maxine Smith.
New members introduced were Becky Simpson, Jennifer Hoffman and Danie Puckett.
Dues were set and it was announced that project enrollment is to be completed by the next meeting. Community pride projects have been selected, and a money making project was discussed. Parents have been asked to help lead the different project areas.

RAINBOW KIDS
The Rainbow Kids 4-H Club held its first meeting of the year on Jan. 27 at the Hoskins fire hall. Attending were 29 members and six leaders.
Jamie Painter opened the meeting, and Tammy Bruss led the 4-H pledge. First year pins were handed out.
New officers were elected and include Shelley Hentzer, president; Jamie Painter, vice president; Michelle Scheurich, secretary; Teresa Elkins, treasurer; and Becky Greene, news reporter.
Club members decided to hold meetings the first Monday of each month.
Jamie Painter gave a demonstration on trains, and Jason Gillespie spoke on the various kinds of projects. Tina Austin and Sharmin Allen furnished treats.
Next meeting will be Feb. 3. Becky Greene, news reporter.

To succeed in farming: the right hand must know what the left hand is doing.

Farm TABS keeps it straight.
Farm Accounting—a lot goes in and plenty goes out, and in order to be successful, you've got to know what both your right and left hands are doing.
Farming isn't what it used to be. Today's farmer has crops, livestock, machinery and many other items to consider. So in order to keep up you need something that keeps it all straight, like a computer and ag-specific software from Farm TABS, a computer store located within Terra.
A helping hand.
Farm Accounting software provides a better record-keeping system which is more accurate, easier and faster than keeping records by hand. It can help you gauge your financial performance and make profitable decisions. Farm Accounting provides you with:
• Balance sheet—reflects what you owe and what you own
• Income statements—shows income received over a time

• Accounts payable listing—provides listing of outstanding debts and records
• Detail trial balance—tracks transactions and provides audit trail for accurate record-keeping
• Period Register—for tax preparation, loan documentation, management decision-making and cash flow management
Getting a handle on profits.
You can't afford to mismanage your money in today's farming economy. That's why Farm TABS' Farm Accounting software is your best route in keeping tabs on your farm operation. When it means the difference between profit and loss... Farm TABS is your best alternative.
Come in and view our free video presentation that will help you determine your ag-software needs. Farm TABS, available at your nearby Terra location.

RETIRE RICH

It's easy to see the advantage of investing in a Columbus Federal IRA.

The chart below shows a comparison between investing $2000 a year in a tax-deferred IRA as opposed to investing $2000 a year in a taxable savings instrument. See for yourself what a difference an IRA makes:

If your age is now:	At age 65 WITH an IRA, you will have	At age 65 WITHOUT an IRA, you will have:
30	$431,421.51	$237,626.75
35	$272,615.08	$166,720.55
40	$169,401.79	$114,478.78
45	$102,320.24	$ 75,988.45
50	$ 58,721.83	$ 47,629.82

The above calculations assume a 30% tax bracket and a 9% annual percent-age rate with deposits made at the beginning of each year.

THE PAUL ANKA SHOW FEATURING PAUL ANKA February 24 - March 2

The Paul Anka Show has been described as "...much more than an evening of first-class music. It is a masterpiece of music and drama." Paul Anka is one of America's most talented singers and songwriters. During his career, he has recorded numerous hits and has written over 400 songs.

His first hit came at the age of 16 when he wrote and recorded "Diana." It became the number one song in the world and earned biggest seller ever with over 20,000,000 copies sold.

Anka's talent has enabled him to maintain superstar status throughout the years. Other songs he has written and/or recorded include "Times of My Life," "One Man Wilson," "My Home Town," "You're Hanging My Baby," "Put Your Head on My Shoulder," "Puppy Love," and "You Are My Darling." To name but a few. He also has written the well-known themes for the "Tonight Show" and the motion picture "The Longest Day."

PAUL ANKA

ENGELBERT HUMPERDINCK April 7-13

Engelbert Humperdinck is a genuine superstar in contemporary music. Humperdinck has had legions of faithful followers throughout the years. Today there are over 250 Engelbert Humperdinck fan clubs across the world.

Known as the "King of Romantic," Humperdinck makes over 200 personal appearances each year. In addition, he has appeared on several television shows, including "Hoot," "Fantasy Island," and "Love Boat."

Through his career, Humperdinck has recorded 40 gold records. His hits include "Release Me," "The Last Waltz," "A Man Without Love," "Love Is All," "Winter-World of Love," "This Moment in Time," "After the Lovin'," "There Goes My Everything," and "Am I That Easy to Forget."

A regular Las Vegas performer, Engelbert also is constantly reworking arrangements, experimenting his act, and introducing new numbers.

ENGELBERT HUMPERDINCK

THOROUGHBRED RACING April 30 - August 24

Ak-Sar-Ben is coming off a record-setting year which saw new highs reached in total attendance and mutual handle. Some of America's top jockeys compete for purse money reaching $9,000,000. There is racing every Wednesday through Sunday, plus Memorial Day, throughout the summer months. Your Ak-Sar-Ben membership entitles you to half-priced general admission all season long.

AK-SAR-BEN RODEO September 17-21

Each year, many of America's finest rodeo cowboys, clowns, and steeple chasers in this traditional western event. Your membership entitles you to purchase two reserved seats (one at the regular price and the second for just $1).

ICE CAPEDES FAMILY SHOW December 2-7

The Ice Capedes has become America's number one family show and stands unchallenged as the country's most enduring and most enduring skating spectacular. It is one of the most popular portions of the Ak-Sar-Ben membership package, allowing the member to enjoy the show at a greatly reduced price.

TONY ORLANDO with Special Guest Star Juliet Prowse March 17-23

The multi-talented Tony Orlando puts on an extraordinary show on the concert stage. Like Paul Anka, Tony Orlando also made the "Big Time" at age 16. His first hits were "Hitchhiker to Paradise" and "Diana You."

Although expecting somewhat of a slump during the Beatles era of the 60's, Orlando came back strong in the late 60's to record such hits as "Goodie, Goodie," "Kiss Three Times," and "To a Yellow Submarine Bound the Old Oak Tree" which became the unofficial anthem of love and American spliffs.

Even with his tremendous recording success, perhaps Orlando is best known for his television show "Tony Orlando and Dawn." The energetic singer enjoyed huge success in the four-year run of the show.

Juliet Prowse is a complete entertainer who has gained acceptance around the world. Whether it be as a comedienne, a dramatic actress, a singer, a dancer, or a television guest star, Juliet Prowse has achieved success.

Born in India and raised in South Africa, Juliet really got her career take off in London. Following rejection by many of the ballet masters for being too tall (she stands 5'7"), Juliet went into modern dance. One of her first breaks came in the London production of "Flamenco." On a 24-hour notice, Juliet took over the part of lead dancer in the production. It was one of her first productions, and she received rave reviews for the next two years.

Juliet has appeared in numerous dramatic productions around the country. These include "Sweet Charity," "Yves le Douce," "Do a Star Boy You Can See Forever," and "Mama."

Mayor supports heart drive

MAYOR WAYNE MARSH IS shown offering his support to the Wayne County American Heart Association fund drive scheduled to kick off on Monday, Feb. 10. Pictured with the mayor are Wayne residential campaign chairmen, from left, Jean Blomenkamp, Judy Peters and Sheryl Summerfield. This year, the American Heart Association is combining the business and residential drive with envelopes being taken door to door in the residential areas only. A spokesman for the organization said businessmen may give at their home or, if they wish to contribute as a business, send their checks to the State National Bank and Trust Co. or call Marian Simpson, 375-3560, or Judy Peters, 375-4702. The drive, which has a goal of $6,000, is expected to conclude on Feb. 28. Another way in which the American Heart Association reaches its goal is through memorial contributions — not only in memory of deceased persons but in honor of living friends and relatives celebrating birthdays, anniversaries, etc. Memorial chairman in Wayne County is Claudia Koeber.

Wayne State Madrigal Singers complete tour of England, Wales

The Madrigal Singers of Wayne State College returned from a 13-day trip to England and Wales in January. The tour was a success and left lasting memories on all the participants. Among the singers who went overseas was Michelle Sherlock of Wayne. A 1983 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, Michelle said the trip was an excellent opportunity for her to explore a different part of the world. "I enjoyed all the architecture in the cathedrals and just seeing people and life how it is in England," she said. "It was a wonderful chance to get away and enjoy the many various sights." Michelle is a music education major at WSC and is the daughter of Clifford and Faye Sherlock.

Comet Show featured

Every 76 years, a celestial entity now named Halley's comet passes through the inner solar system causing earthlings to stand in awe of its majestic tail.

Wayne State College will share the secrets of this renowned comet with enthusiasts in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium, located on the lower level of the Carhart Math-Science Building. The new planetarium show, "Comet Halley: Once in a Lifetime," will be presented each Sunday from Feb. 9-April 6 at 3:30 p.m., according to Carl Rump, Director of the planetarium.

The shows are open to the public, free of charge.

Rump said the presentations will examine the role comets play in expanding our knowledge of the universe.

"The story of this most famous comet will be of interest to viewers of all ages," he said. "It will be especially helpful to students of astronomy, biology, history and chemistry."

The comet, named for English astronomer Edmond Halley, was visible to the naked eye a month ago and can be seen again in March. Halley's comet has been observed and recorded on all but one of its visits since 240 B.C.

Special planetarium presentations can be arranged for school groups and other organizations by appointment. For more information, contact Rump at the planetarium, Box 77, Wayne State College, Wayne, NE 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 343.
