Winside board doesn't change mind on R.I.F.

by Chuck Hackenmiller

After two hearings which lasted over six hours Wednesday evening, the Winside Board of Education reaffirmed its decision to reduce staff and programs in the areas of business education, home economics and guidance counseling.

The hearings were for Dallas Puls, a high school business education instructor, and Lee Johnson, currently the guidance counselor for the elementary and secondary schools. Conducting the hearing was John Gerard, who represented the board of education. Representative for the teachers was Pat Shaffer of Lincoln. The school administration was represented by Jim Gessford of Lincoln.

Both Puls and Johnson had requested the hearings concerning the board of education's actions on Feb. 6 of this year, when the board resolved to reduce the business education program and teaching position from full-time to half-time.

They also passed a resolution at that same meeting to cut the guidance counseling position from the current 60 percent of full-time equivalency (FTE) to half-time (which would eliminate the guidance counseling done at the elementary level and extended time), and the home economics program to one-half.

It was decided that the home economics instructor would also fill the half-time guidance counseling position, resulting in releasing Johnson from his guidance counseling employment.

THE FIRST hearing, which began at approximately 7:30 p.m., considered the Puls case. One of the first to be called to the witness stand was Mike Meierhenry, chairman of the board of education.

A question was brought up on whether Meierhenry can serve on two elective boards — the Winside Board of Education and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District Board.

However, it was ruled that there was not enough evidence presented at the hearing to permit the "serving on two boards" issue from interfering with the teacher hearings.

Superintendent Don Leighton then was sworn in as a witness. In his testimony, he said the school's accreditation would not be jeopardized if the business education program would be reduced to half-time. But it was his feelings that the overall educational quality would be affected.

The projected cost savings, considering salary alone if the programs were reduced, Leighton said, would be over $10,000.

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR Johnson then appeared on the stand in defense of Puls, mentioning the repercussions that could occur if the business education program was reduced.

"I have a concern that there will be a lack of options available for students who will be pursuing their graduation requirements [if business education program is reduced]," said Johnson.

"Students that have no interest in the trade or shop classes may find it hard to meet their graduation requirements," he added.

Johnson said several students have contacted him expressing concerns that courses would be dropped.

Puls, when on the witness stand, said that in the past, the board of education and the community has treated him well. He said he understands the pressures of serving in an elected office.

Of the pressures which the current board of education faces, he asked: "Are these pressures real? Are they being brought on by people who come to the board meeting and are asking pertinent questions? People in the smaller classroom districts are asking me what is the Winside school board's philosophy of education," Puls said.

"If you cut the [business education] program in 1986-87, then what are you going to do in 1987-88?" he asked the board.

HE QUESTIONED whether the decision to cut the business education program will stray from the school's philosophy of meeting the needs and interests of the Winside students — to provide a skill and create vocational awareness.

Some of the courses which Puls teaches include typing, vocational business, accounting and record keeping. Cutting the program to half-time would make it difficult for a student looking for some type of vocational program — whether it be home economics or business education, he mentioned.

Even those students who have no intention of continuing beyond high school with vocation programs will benefit from the skills learned from typing or record keeping, he said.

Class I students who plan on attending Winside High School may decide to go elsewhere to another school district that offers these skills, he said.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS by the administration's defense revealed that the projected incoming funding the upcoming school year appears to be less than the previous year and that enrollment figures in the courses, as well as the high school itself, have declined.

These substantiated the reason for a reduction in force, the administration's defense commented.

However, Puls' representative at the hearing said the enrollment has bottomed out and is now on the increase, with a greater number of students coming up from the elementary levels.

She asked the board of education to reconsider their Feb. 6 resolution, adding that the decision may have been made too hastily.

Guidance Counselor Johnson then had his hearing. Leighton was again called to give testimony on topics similar to the questioning in the Puls case, such as projected revenues and an overall view of the guidance counseling position.

For the past five years, Leighton said the position has been 60 percent of full-time.

Johnson said, however, that the position should be made into full-time.

Some of his major duties at the secondary school level included to interpret test results and to coordinate and supervise the data, provide counseling to students concerning future education, assist in the registration of students so that they meet the graduation requirements, and counsel students during the school hours who have grade problems or personal problems.

At the elementary level, some of his duties entail contact with students on an individual basis through parent or teacher referral, consultations with the teachers, to administer IQ tests, interpret test results, conduct needs assessments for students, transfer student records

Tappe to seek state office

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Secretary of State. How many people realize that this state office is part of the executive branch in Nebraska — the third in command?

Besides having the responsibilities for doing jobs of record keeping and filing, there is the working with the Real Estate Board, Nebraska Brand Council and the Board of Pardons. Once bills become law, the secretary of state office records the legislation and makes copies for distribution. All statewide election ballots are printed by the secretary of state office.

"Any official document of the state comes out of there," said Olga Sanchez Tappe of Wakefield.

Olga, a Spanish instructor the past eight years at Wakefield High School, has filed for the office of Nebraska Secretary of State, characterizing her campaign as an "investment in

SHE FIRMLY believes that despite all the busy responsibilities of the secretary of state and its staff, there should be room for keeping in contact with the public.

"There could be a lot more activity as far as educating the public of what's going on in the executive branch," Olga said.

"We need to learn to participate actively by becoming better informed on issues, registering to vote and serving [office] when possible," she added.

Her candidacy, she says, is an exercise in this political process and is also her family's investment in democracy.

Being elected will provide Olga more access to the executive branch of state government and an opportunity to provide the public with more education of the political process.

Another stand she takes on her candidacy is that she is offering citizens of Nebraska a choice. Olga filed for the Secretary of State position on the Democratic ticket approximately two weeks ago. At the time she filed, she thought she was the lone Democrat seeking the office.

She learned later that another Democrat had filed for the position.

OLGA EMPHASIZED that people will now be offered a choice of candidates in the upcoming May primary election, and then in the general election in November.

Other offices may just have one candidate running for office, but she says the Secretary of State's office is too important to remain unchallenged. Her feelings are strong that "Nebraskans should have a choice for the Secretary of State."

She said the present Secretary of State (Beerermann) has been in office for 16 years. "It makes the job look like a lifetime appointment rather than an elective position," she said.

No one had challenged Beerermann in the last election and it appeared that no one would run against him this time either, she added.

"We have a responsibility to ourselves as the governed to select our government officials. Not having choices on the ballots makes the political process meaningless — a sham," Olga said.

"Should the incumbent return to office next term, let it be by popular demand and not because of public indifference or apathy."

This is her first attempt at running for an elective office. "It's a big step. Yet somebody has to do it," she remarked.

NOW THAT Olga has made the commitment to seek political office, the challenge now arises as to how to acquaint herself with the voting public. She said the Secretary of State office is not funded by political parties.

"I'm going to need a lot of help from a lot of friends to get my name across the state," she said.

She has worked with state officials previously — now in her third year as an appointee of Governor Kerrey to serve on the state's Mexican-American Commission and currently is chairperson of the commission's legislative committee.

While serving on this commission, Olga has learned there are areas which Hispanics should become more involved in, such as politics. One personal reason she decided to run was to serve as a model and encourage the Hispanic people to do more within the political boundaries. "I decided that I should practice what I preach," she mentioned.

Residing in a smaller community has helped Olga grow in the understanding of the political process through association with city council representatives.

These communities also take a strong interest in the candidates by scheduling various functions or political forums.

"If they care, the people will be there to see just who the candidates are," Olga said.

SHE GREW UP in Lincoln, which was not as accessible as the smaller communities when it came to gaining some sort of political insight. She did, however, gain her college education there, at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and she currently is in the process of obtaining her masters degree in education from Wayne State College.

Olga, her husband Duane (employed as a Director of Special Education for ESU 7) and sons Matthew, Marcus and Luke have made her campaign a "family project."

Stocking up

OVER 600 pounds of nothorns were recently transported to Carlson Clearwater Fish Farm in Wayne, primarily for brooding stock. The females were stripped of the eggs that are now in an incubator, waiting to be hatched at the fish farm facility. Once hatched the small fish will be used to stock ponds and other waterways. Also in the "load" of fish were brooding stock of perch, crotties and bluegills. Dick Carlson, owner (at right) says his farm buys, sells or trades approximately 20 different species of fish. Terry Rahn assists Carlson in the egg stripping, the net below being held by David Carlson. In the background is spectator Lyte Garvin of Wayne.

Forum to host Republican hopefuls

As many as all nine gubernatorial candidates for the Republican nomination for governor of Nebraska will be at the GOP Candidate Forum at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday) in the North Dining Room of the Wayne State College Student Center.

The forum is sponsored jointly by the Wayne State College Republicans, the Wayne County Republicans and the Northeast Nebraska Young Republicans.

Roger Gamble, a WSC student and president of the Wayne State College Republicans, and Charles Maas, chairman of the Wayne County Republican Party, said they expect all of the nine announced candidates for the GOP gubernatorial nomination to be at the forum.

"I expect all of them to show up," said Maas, who lives in Hoskins.

THE GUBERNATORIAL candidates, according to Maas and Gamble, are Kermit Brashear, Nancy Hoch, Chuck Loos, Kay Orr, Robert Reibold, Paul Rosberg, the Rev. Everett Sitemen, Monte Taylor and Roger Yant.

Candidates for the GOP nomination for Lt. Governor and attorney general have also been invited. To date, said Maas, Lt. governor candidate William Nichol and attorney general hopeful Don Stenberg have said they are planning to attend the forum.

Two other Lt. governor candidates, Randy Moody and Richard Matthews, and incumbent Attorney General Bob Spire have been invited, but have made no firm commitments, Maas said.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend the forum, Gamble said.

Mom's mail must go through

One cannot underestimate the popularity of a name.

Take for instance, the name of Roberta Welte, called "Mom" by those who know her. She is a resident director at Morley Hall at Wayne State. Jeff Blowers is a resident assistant at Morley Hall.

Recently, Blowers and several other individuals left Wayne during spring break for some mission work in the Appalachian territory in Kentucky. He decided to send a postcard to Welte and he mailed it in Vanceville, Kentucky — postmarked March 5. The only address he put on the card was:

"Mom"
Wayne, NE 68787

It went through the mail with that address.

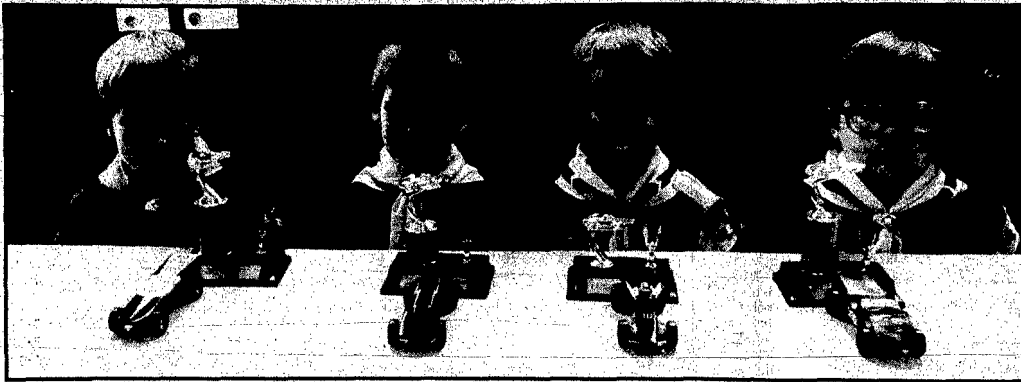

Mom Welte got the postcard two days later.

One would think that Mom would have universal meaning.

But in Wayne, Nebraska there's only one person that goes by the name of "Mom", as the United States Postal Service found out.

and participate in parent teacher conferences. DURING THE CASE hearing, it was repeatedly brought up that the enrollment at the elementary level is on the rise. "I can practically guarantee that in the next few years, parents will become concerned (about the loss of guidance counseling positions)," Johnson said, who has been with the school system at Winside for nearly 18 years. "I've developed an attachment with the school and with the students," he told the board members Wednesday night. Jean Gahl, a secretary at the Winside schools and board secretary, also testified and said she is concerned about leaving the elementary school without a guidance counselor, citing the assistance her child got from the counselor at the elementary level. Also testifying in behalf of Johnson was Marie Dougherty, special education instructor, who spoke on the benefits provided to her instruction program through the guidance counseling position. The administration's defense, in closing arguments, cited again that the enrollment at the elementary and secondary level would decrease approximately 20 percent and the number of students enrolled in home economics has dropped from nine in 1980-81 to four students this school year. The current instructor for home economics is Julie Freberg. IT WAS MENTIONED by Johnson's defense, during closing arguments, that combining the home economics and the guidance counseling job into would be arbitrarily capricious. The board of education then deliberated following the closing arguments and found that there had been a change of circumstance and that a reduction in force is necessary. Upon Lynn Lessmann's motion, the board unanimously approved the reduction in staff time and program of the business education program, reducing Puls' position to half-time. Also, following Bill Burris' motion, the board unanimously voted to reduce in force the staff and program of the guidance counseling and home economics department, with Johnson's position in the school district eliminated. Both Puls and Johnson have the opportunity to appeal the decision made by the board of education during the case hearings.

Planetarium shows winding down

"Comet Halley: Once in a Lifetime," a planetarium show in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium located in the Carhart Math-Science Building at Wayne State College, will be presented Sundays at 3:30 p.m. now through April 6. The show will examine the role comets play in expanding our knowledge of the universe. The presentations are free and open to the public.

Fire calls

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department was called to two fires last Thursday. The first call was to extinguish a grass fire on the Robert Meyer place four miles north and less than a mile west of Wayne. At 7:30 p.m., the fire department was called near the Timple plant site. A car belonging to Dale Johnson caught fire. The vehicle was estimated a total loss. Fire chief advises those who want to burn items such as rubbish in open country, to please be wary of the dry conditions. He said he has been refusing issuance of some burning permits because of the dryness of the season.

Pair of one-act plays coming

Mitch Schulte, a Wayne State College theatre student from Emerson, will present two one-act plays April 5, 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. in WSC's Ley Theatre in the Brandenburg Education Building. WSC students, faculty and staff are admitted free. General public adult tickets are $3 and children's tickets are $1.50. The first one-act, "Do," is about two young men and their competitive instincts. "It says a lot about people getting worried and caught up in how good they're going to be when they get out of school," said Schulte. "They don't care about how bad they step on somebody—they just want to do it." For this play, Schulte has cast Dave Blendenman of Wayne as Bentwood and Tim Renner of Howells as Easy.

"To Burn a Witch" is the second one-act Schulte will direct. This play, he said takes place in the heart of the Salem witch hunts. "Ruth and Mary have been accused of being witches," he said. "Slowly it comes down to a live or die situation." Schulte has cast Barbara Cunningham of Lake City, Iowa, as Ruth, Lisa Soseman of Omaha as Mary, Brenda Kowalke of Nemaha, Iowa, as Dame Stanley and Beth Todd of Kingsley, Iowa, as Widow Jones. "I've tried to cast the shows to give the people a chance to do something besides their typical characters," he said. "I'm really pleased with the choice of people. I've put in both shows." Schulte will graduate from Wayne State College in May. "This is my way of going out," he said.

"Everyone here feels very strongly about it," she said. Duane feels having an educator serving the capacity as Secretary of State is a good idea. "The position should not be all administrative. Part of the job should be to educate voters, so why not have an educator in that position," he said. "We know it is going to be an uphill battle. It's hard to beat an incumbent Republican in this state. But you don't know until you try." Duane added. Olga said she isn't intimidated by the thought of tough economic times often predicted for the state of Nebraska. If elected, her plans are to make the office as cost effective as possible. And also if elected, one of her desires of earlier years will be met. There were times when, while a resident of Lincoln, she would take a shortcut to her destination through the vicinity of the state capitol. "I'd say 'how I would love to be working here,'" Olga said. This will be the year that she could face the reality, to see if her wish will be fulfilled.

Students injured in one-car mishap

Two Winside high school students, Ann Meierhenry and Kay Meierhenry, were injured in a one-vehicle accident southwest of Winside on Wednesday. Ann, age 15, was the driver of the vehicle which lost control on a gravel road one mile south and 2.9 miles west of Winside. The vehicle went off the road and struck a tree. Kay received head cuts and both had possible concussions. They were taken to Lincoln General Hospital for treatment. The accident happened at around 5:40 p.m.

Host families needed to take in students

They will come from countries of Belgium, Austria, Colombia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico, The Netherlands, Norway, The Philippines, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and The United Kingdom.

The problem right now is to find them a home — at least for the 1986-87 school year.

Karen Marra of Wayne has received the application papers of several foreign teenagers who will be spending the school year here in the United States. These students are sponsored by Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit international youth exchange program.

As a local area representative for the EF Foundation, Karen is now interviewing and selecting local families who would like to host one of these students.

The students, ages 15 to 18, will provide local families with a unique chance to learn about other cultures while sharing their own.

Karen encourages families to select students as soon as possible so that they may become acquainted with their new "son" or "daughter" by corresponding with them for several months before they arrive.

And she is in the process of planning activities for the foreign exchange students that will involve them more with the community in which they reside — such as speaking to civic organizations. Anyone interested in finding out more about the program or about becoming a host family should call Karen at 375-1229.

For American ag producers

Trade restrictions likely

by Cheryl Stubbendieck vice-president/information of Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation

the two countries previously imposed. So in the EC's view, the U.S. will benefit overall from trade with the two newest members.

While the recent addition of Spain and Portugal to the European Community may have been good news for the Spanish and the Portuguese, it isn't for Americans — particularly American agricultural producers.

The expansion of the old common market concept to include 12 countries provided a handy excuse for the EC to take another look at updating its trading policies with other countries. Not that the EC has ever been reticent to push for a change that favored its member nations.

The expansion of the EC is likely to mean new trade restrictions on U.S. farm exports — with a value of $1 billion. U.S. shipments of soybeans, vegetable oil and meals and corn gluten feed into the community are particularly threatened.

For several years, the EC has considered restricting imports of these products through a tax. For the U.S., this move would also mean loss of duty-free entry of these products into EC countries. EC reasoning on the matter says that if it limits these imports, it won't have to subsidize as much of its own production, and it can use the "savings" for its own long-planned farm program reforms.

Under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, the U.S. is due compensation for any trade it loses because of the expansion of the EC. But the EC is expected to contend that it is the U.S. that owes the compensation — because Spain and Portugal will adopt the EC's industrial tariffs, which are lower than what

AS "COMPENSATION," THE EC may seek new import barriers for U.S. shipments of oilseeds and products and nonfeed ingredients such as corn gluten. Already on March 1, as part of the new country phase-in, a variable levy on corn and sorghum imports into Spain was imposed. It's estimated to be 70 percent of the world price, compared with the previous 20 percent tariff.

At the same time, "a market access quota," which is illegal under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade because it discriminates and locks in market share, has been imposed on grain imported by Portugal, but with special favorable treatment for European grain.

U.S. exports of corn and soybeans to Spain are worth $460 million, while our sales of those two commodities to Portugal have brought in about $435 million a year. Thus the combination of providing generous EC farm supports to the new members and the extension of "community trade preferences" — which favor trade among the member nations — means that U.S. ag exports are greatly endangered.

The U.S. can and must protest these actions by the EC. It cannot afford to concede these points, simply out of fear that a dispute would hurt the U.S. more than the EC. Giving in on these points would show them to be only the tip of the iceberg. And it could cause a renewed call for protectionist legislation in the U.S. Congress.

New rules proposed in legislative areas of economic development

My Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

For several years the Department of Economic Development has muddled through one controversy after another.

So it's not surprising that Senator Loran Schmit of Bellwood recently referred to DED as "the Department of Economic Disaster."

In July 1984 DED Director Don Dworak named Peggy Briggs, his former secretary aide, to head the Travel and Tourism Division. She had no experience in travel and tourism, and industry representatives across the state cried, "favoritism."

Dworak quickly backed off, changing Briggs' title to acting. But Dworak was eventually vindicated. As acting director for 19 months, Briggs won over the travel and tourism folks and was named permanent director this February.

When Director Dworak decided to resign in January 1985, Governor Bob Kerrey embarked on a national search for a major league economic developer. Kerrey hired a national headhunting firm — Heidrick and Struggles of Houston, TX — to help in the search. Their fee — one-third of the new director's annual salary, estimated to be in the $50,000 to $90,000 range — raised eyebrows.

KERREY FAILED TO attract his first choice and by the time the search was renewed the governor decided not to run for a second term. That ended the possibility that anyone of national stature would take the job. A Kerrey jogging buddy, Rod Bates, was appointed. The Texas recruiting firm received $25,249.14.

A decision this summer to change the way block grant money was distributed to Nebraska communities created statewide unrest. After years of handing out the money based on specific criteria, DED decided to parcel out the $6.5 million federal funds on a first-come, first-served basis.

Communities across the state cried foul. DED backed off, set up a committee to draft grant guidelines and redistributed the money.

The dust had hardly settled on the grant uproar when John Rosenow, acting DED director, appointed for a short 60 days, revamped the travel and tourism advertising campaign and picked a new slogan. "My Choice Nebraska" replaced "Discover the Difference." He also gave a firm with which he had a long business association, the $99,000 travel and tourism advertising contract. The industry once more rose up in righteous indignation.

Upset by the constant turmoil, state senators introduced several bills to correct old evils. These were merged into one package, LB 965. It creates new rules for granting tourism advertising contracts, sets up a permanent system for handling block grants, and creates guidelines for a small-business division that would avoid duplication with existing programs.

BUT ITS MOST important and controversial feature is a provision that removes the governor's direct control over DED. Under the original version a new 17-member commission would hire and fire the DED director. Currently the governor has that power. And Kerrey has promised to veto the bill unless his office retains that control.

The choice, according to Senator John DeCamp of Neligh, is clear. Allow a private club of businessmen (the commission) to run economic development in the state. Or give the governor, who is accountable at the ballot box, the power to run DED.

DeCamp successfully amended the bill giving the governor the power to fire the director during the first round vote. But Kerrey says his veto promise holds unless senators amend the bill giving his office the authority to hire the director.

My three-year old son Ryan was talking about the Charlie Brown cartoon episode appearing on television Wednesday night, recalling the names of the characters which were in the cast.

He remembered Lucy and of course, Charlie Brown. Now, comic strip readers should realize that Charlie Brown is not the most successful person ever to walk this earth.

Lucy is the bossy lady, my son says. "Charlie Brown is boss...Charlie Brown is a win...I guess Charlie Brown is just Charlie Brown," my son said as he sorted out his thoughts.

I can relate to Charlie Brown in several ways. Perhaps someone should recruit him into becoming a cub or boy scout. If anything, that organization can give him the confidence needed to get ahead in this world.

I just thought about this idea after talking to my son and after photographing some of the Pinewood Derby cub scout winners in Wayne. Some of the cars they made were spectacular.

MANY YEARS AGO I was a cub scout and had, as a project, making a bird feeder. By the time it was complete, it didn't look like a bird feeder at all — but it made a nice piece of wood to use for home plate during sandlot baseball games.

We also were asked to construct our own kite. This is another problem area that Charlie Brown and I shared (other than both having Charlie for a first name). Neither of us could get the darn things off the ground.

We'd use sticks for the frames and somehow wrap wax paper around the frame, then try to find all the twine string available on dad's property.

Heartache after heartache emerged as I watched the "made from scratch" product scrape the earth over and over again.

Charlie Brown at least got his in the air. Mine was destined to be a ground dweller.

My kite flew so low, I had to wear a helmet to fly it.

And I never had to worry about getting it tangled up in power lines because it never got up that high. I could run for a mile and the blasted thing would almost be sticking on my back every step of the way.

ONE THING THAT scouting did teach me during that short time I was a pack member, of which I can apply to everyday living, was to keep hammering away at things until they work.

No matter the complications, things usually work out in the end. That's what I believed in.

And it worked this past weekend as I was putting the downspouts on my garage. It took me all Saturday afternoon just to hang two permanent downspouts. It took me almost a quarter of an afternoon one day last summer to put together a toy my son received from store.

What's embarrassing is that my son said: "let me try, dad" and had the thing rolling before I could turn red.

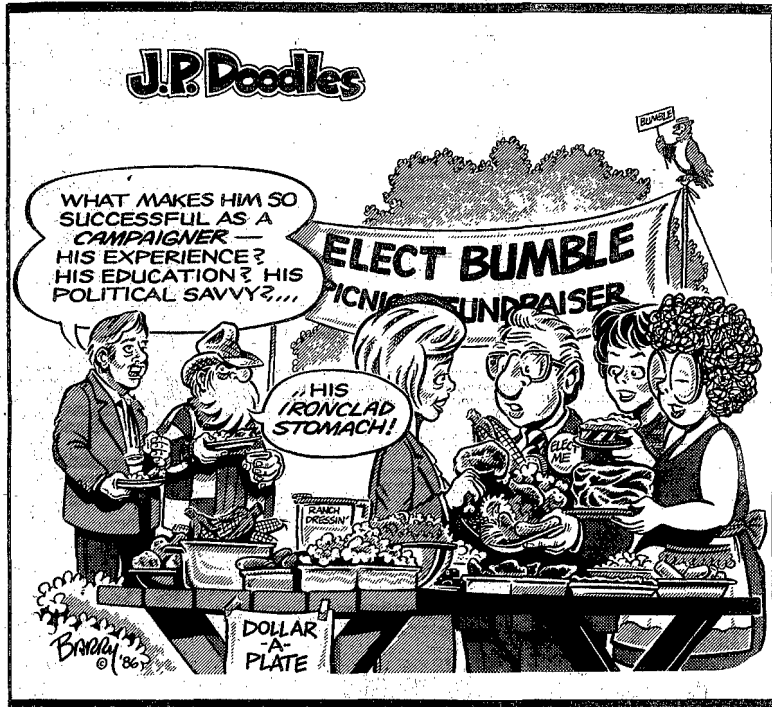

But it got done. That's the most important thing here. We can't neglect the girl scouts either. Charlie Brown's so-called friend, Lucy, should have been one.

I've covered many girl scout camps in Iowa and Nebraska — taking pictures and such. The girls look like they are having lots of fun enjoying the outdoors and having those water fights.

One Iowa camp was out in a wooded pasture area, among the dandelions and the sweet smell of clover. The group posing for me in a staged photograph suddenly burst out laughing. I usually tell them to smile before taking a picture — but they were laughing beyond control.

Turns out, after looking down at my hard-soled shoes, I was standing smack dab in a pile of...well, no need to go on.

Yes sir, Charlie Brown and I would make a dandy pair.

Ignoring something

I have sat back and read the controversial viewpoints on the issue of the lead dancers in Carroll, and I wish to respond to a question and a statement that were expressed in this column.

Kris Loberg and company asked if they were ignorant. Your sentences were grammatically correct and impeccable in character, but I must admit that you are ignorant of God's love for you and me. If we really understood the totality of His love, and if we truly understood the little Christian or religious that we use, then we would desire to keep his commands.

Easter is not bunnies and eggs, but God in flesh spit upon, kicked, beaten unrecognizable, murdered — all because He loves us. How many of us are willing to go through that for our God? It's that undying love that led Him up to the cross to conquer death once and for all. For who? For you and for me. What do lead dancers have to do with religion or Christianity? It attacks the very essence and desires of our Heavenly Father to His children. He commands us as His children-bought by His blood — to be holy and set apart. This is the very least I can do for the God who suffered on my account. Read Romans 12:1-2. Therefore I urge you, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God — which is your spiritual worship. Do not be conformed any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. And in chapter 13:13-14. Let us behave decently, as in the daytime, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and debauchery... Rather, clothe yourselves with the Lord Jesus Christ and do not think about how to gratify the desires of the sinful nature. And in response to the most recent letter — age has nothing to do with the issue. I'm in my 20's, not in my 60's.

HELPLINE

May I call your attention to the National Eye Care Project's HELPLINE, which begins March 31, in Nebraska.

The project's goal is to tell everyone age 65 and over throughout the state that medical eye care is available to those who cannot afford it.

The HELPLINE offers medical eye care to any U.S. citizen or legal resident age 65 and over who is needy, who does not have a medical eye physician, and who has a medical eye problem. Professional medical eye care will be offered to the disadvantaged elderly at no out-of-pocket cost to them. Information on eye diseases will be sent to anyone who calls the toll-free Helpline number, 1-800-222-EYES.

The National Eye Care Project is sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Nebraska Academy of Ophthalmology.

The success of this public service project depends on reaching people over age 65 who believe that they have a medical eye problem, but who do not have the resources to seek medical care.

Thank you for your help in calling attention to this project.

Nebraska Academy of Ophthalmology

Army Reunion

The 16th Armored Division Association is a non-profit organization of World War II Army Veterans, who served with General Patton's Third Army in Europe. We have 1100 members, who now reside in all 50 states except Montana and Alaska. Our Armored Division consisted of approximately 15,000 men during combat.

Since I was the First Sergeant of Company "B", 64th Armored Infantry Battalion of the 16th Armored Division, I can recall that there were men in my outfit who originally lived in Nebraska and either enlisted or were drafted from your state.

I am trying to locate these men and ask them to join our association. It would be greatly appreciated if you would print this letter, requesting that these former members of the 16th Armored Division contact me.

We hold an annual reunion in a different city and state in the United States. In 1985, our 34th Annual Reunion was held in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1986, we plan to be at Lake Tahoe, and in 1987 in Orlando, Florida.

briefly speaking

Minerva welcomes new member

Pat Prather was welcomed as a new member of Minerva Club when it met March 24 in the home of Verna Reas. Thirteen members attended, and Norma Koerber presented the program, entitled "Travel — Conestoga to Concord." Frances Johnson will be the April 14 hostess at 2 p.m.

DAV, Auxiliary meet

Chapter 28 of the Wayne County Disabled American Veterans (DAV) and its Auxiliary (DAVA) held monthly meetings on March 11 in the Wayne Vet's Club room. Guests included Leon Wessling, Gordon, DAV department commander; Rose Mary Gallagher, Bellevue, DAVA department commander; and Velma Wessling, Gordon, department adjutant. The DAVA voted to send a donation to the Omaha Veterans Hospital to be used for comfort items. Donations also were sent to Carville and the Freedoms Foundation. Members of the DAV and DAVA will travel to the Norfolk Veterans Home on April 29 at 7 p.m. to play bingo with residents there. It was announced the department convention will be May 9-11 at the Midtown Holiday Inn, Grand Island. Next regular meeting will be April 8 at 8 p.m. in the Vet's Club room for election of officers.

Right to Life meeting slated

The Wayne County Right to Life chapter will meet at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne on Tuesday, April 1 at 7:30 p.m. Members are encouraged to attend. Discussion will be held regarding a future fundraiser. The program for the evening will be a tape by Rita Marker of the Human Life Center in Collegeville, Minn., regarding the euthanasia movement in this country. All interested persons are invited and are asked to use the small door on the south side of the church.

Ladies Aid meets at Immanuel

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church met March 20 at the church with Mrs. Gilbert Rauss and Mrs. Elmer Schrieber as co-hostesses. Viola Meyer and Irene Baier were guests. The group sang "Jesus I Will Ponder Now," and Mrs. Elray Hank presented devotions on "Seven Words God Speaks While on the Cross." Mrs. Reuben Meyer and Mrs. Lloyd Roeber gave the visitation report. It was decided to have guest day in August. Spring church cleaning will be April 29. Committees for April include Mrs. Elmer Schrieber and Mrs. Gilbert Rauss, nursing home; Helen Echtenkamp and Alma Weiershauser, visiting; Mrs. Lloyd Roeber and Mrs. Gary Nelson, serving; and Mrs. Lloyd Roeber, Mrs. Gary Hank, Mrs. Elray Hank and Mrs. Steve Kramer, cleaning. The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Lloyd Roeber, and the meeting adjourned with the Lord's Prayer.

Pleasant Valley Club

Pleasant Valley Club met March 19 with Louise Larsen. Thirteen members answered roll call with "color" remembrances. A thank you note was read from the Preston family. Hollis Fresse read a poem, "Old Friends," in memory of Angie Preston, a club member for nearly 50 years who died March 10. It was announced that 20 members and guests visited the Wayne State College planetarium on March 9. Most members are planning to take part in a tour to Sioux Falls on May 20. Phyllis Beck was in charge of entertainment. Card prizes went to Ida Bichel, Alta Baier and Della Mae Preston. Mrs. Don Larsen was a lunch guest. Alta Pearson will be the April 16 hostess at 2 p.m.

Boys, Girls Staters selected at Laurel

Four Laurel-Concord High School juniors have been selected to represent the school at Cornhusker Boys and Girls State at Lincoln in June. Scott Erickson and Gail Twiford have been chosen by the Laurel Veterans Club as the post's representatives to the 46th annual program, which is sponsored by the American Legion. Alternates are Scott Lindsay and Stacy Strawn. The Boys and Girls State program is designed to give students an intensive firsthand education in the workings of the democratic process. Prominent lectures will focus on the federal system of government, and the students will form mock political parties, elect leaders, and pass legislation on imaginary issues in a mock legislature. The stated purpose of the program is "to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship." ERICKSON, SON of Keith and Fern Erickson of rural Wayne, is a member of the National Honor Society at Laurel-Concord High School. He placed third in the Norfolk math contest last year and is interested in tennis, basketball and golf. Twiford also is a member of National Honor Society, in addition to Student Council and the 1985 Honor Band. She has been selected to participate in the Norfolk math contest grades nine through 11. She is active in basketball and volleyball, and was selected to the 1985-86 All-Conference Basketball first team, State Honorable mention in 1985-86, Norfolk Daily News in 1985-86, Volleyball Conference first team, and All-Area Basketball in 1985-86. Daughter of Gene and Jan Twiford of rural Laurel, she also has been a Laurel swimming pool life guard. She is active as an organist at the United Lutheran Church and serves as a Bible school teacher.

LINDSAY, AN honor roll student, was chosen for County Government Day and is a member of National Honor Society. He enjoys farm and yard work, hunting, golfing and fishing. Son of Archie and Virginia Lindsay of Laurel, his future plans are to be an engineer in the Air Force. Strawn, daughter of Cynthia Strawn of Laurel, served as a cheerleading mascot this year. She is a member of swing choir, Future Business Leaders of America, and the volleyball team. She serves as president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and likes to fashion hair and clothing.

Mortensons celebrate golden year

Weldon and Ann Mortenson of Wakefield were honored for their golden wedding anniversary during an open house reception held March 23 at Salem Lutheran Church, Wakefield. Hosting the event were their four children, Robert and Marcia Barg of Norfolk, Larry and Carol Willers of Wayne, and Butch and Carol Jean Mortenson, and Merlin Mortenson, all of Wakefield. There are 13 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. The 250 GUESTS attending the celebration were registered by Mrs. Lonnie (Debbie) Barg of Norfolk, Trisha Willers of Crete, and Tanya Willers of Wayne.

Friends and relatives came from Hector, Minn.; Manhattan, Kan.; Idaho Falls, Idaho; Martin and Strandburg, S. D.; Tabor, Iowa; Norfolk, Wayne, Wakefield, Neligh, Omaha, Allen, Winside, South Sioux City, Seward, Tilden, Concord, Laurel, Pender, Lincoln, Ralston and Albion. Cards and gifts were arranged by Mrs. Scott (Kathy) Barg of Wayne and Mrs. Monty (Vicki) Barg of Norfolk. Carol Willers was emcee for the afternoon program and read "Thoughts and Poem" from Paul Burman of Wakefield. Also read were original poems written by Mrs. Charles Pierson and Mrs. Marilyn Holm of Wakefield, and the Rev. Paul K. Hanson of Idaho Falls, Idaho. ANNIVERSARY CAKES were baked by Mrs. Butch (Carol Jean) Mortenson of Wakefield. Pouring coffee were sisters and sisters-in-law of the couple, including Mrs. Myrtle Nelson of Omaha, Mrs. Laurence (Louise) Hanson of Tilden, and Mrs. Ruth Boeckenhauer, Mrs. Marvin (Martha) Mortenson and Mrs. Clarence (Donna) Boeckenhauer, all of Wakefield. Punch was served by Lesa Barg of Norfolk, Mrs. Scott (Kathy) Barg of Wayne and Mrs. Monty (Vicki) Barg of Norfolk. Waiters and waitresses were grandchildren and great grandchildren of the couple, including Tanya Willers, and Scott and Kathy Barg, Jennifer and Heather, all of Wayne; Todd Willers, Lesa Barg, Monty and Vicki Barg, Tim and Joey, and Lonnie and Debbie Barg and Jessica, all of Norfolk; Trisha Willers of Crete; and Christopher Mortenson, Kobey Mortenson and Tracy Mortenson, all of Wakefield. The reception committee of Salem Lutheran Church assisted in the kitchen and attended the serving table. WELDON AND ANN Mortenson were married March 27, 1936 at the Salem parsonage by the Rev. A. L. Peterson. They have resided in the Wakefield area all their lives.

Open house for 45th

Laurel woman honored

Open house for 90th news and notes

Friends and relatives gathered at the Laurel Senior Citizens Center on Wednesday, March 26 to observe the 90th birthday of Mrs. Kate Danielson of Laurel.

The open house event was hosted by two of Mrs. Danielson's sisters, Mrs. Gustie Loeb of Laurel and Mr. and Mrs. George Wobken of Sioux City, Iowa.

One hundred and eleven guests were registered from Sioux City, Coleridge, Fordyce, Randolph, Wayne, Harrington, Ober, Belden, Wakefield and Laurel.

The birthday cake was baked and cut by Mrs. Adrian Burns of Ober, assisting during the event were Mrs. Florence Lute, Mrs. Lois Lute and Dianne Wubben.

KATHERINE EVERS Danielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Evers, was born March 26, 1896 at Laurel.

She was the oldest of 14 children, seven of whom are still living. They include Mrs. Gustie Loeb of Laurel, Mrs. Hilda Dirks of Coleridge, Mrs. Clara Wobken of Sioux City, Mrs. Meta Ash of Wichita, Kan., Mrs. Lillie School of Washington, and Leonard (Tiny) Evers of St. Anthony, Iowa.

Mrs. Danielson is the mother of five children, including Adrian and Bob Burns, Lillian Burns, Gale and Dickey, and stepson Robert Wayne Danielson.

Her husband, Dan Danielson, died in 1978.

GUESTS DURING the March 22 weekend of Mrs. Danielson were her great granddaughter and husband, Karland Dale Eichelberg, and a great great granddaughter, Thea Eichelberg of Longmont, Colo.

Guests in her home following her birthday were a granddaughter and husband, Alice and Ron Schulz of Longmont, Colo., grandson Kenneth Jensen of Denver, Colo., and a great granddaughter and family, Kathi and Ed Chase and nine-month-old Kyle.

Antique cribs harbor hidden hazards
Infant furniture can be hazardous to a baby's health. The number of fatalities due to crib hazards is on file at the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). And fatalities continue despite warnings from CPSC and the National Safety Council.

A major reason furniture continues to kill and injure babies and toddlers is the number of hand-me-down cribs used for sentimental or economic reasons. Parents may also be using secondhand baby furniture made before new safety standards for manufacturers went into effect in 1974.

THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL (NSC) estimates that in 1982 and 1983 nursing equipment-related deaths totaled 177. The CPSC reports that numerous accidents requiring hospital emergency room treatment in 1984 occurred. For example, baby changing tables were involved in 1,500 accidents; baby carriages, 1,100; baby gates and barriers, 1,200; baby walkers-jumpers, 15,700; playpens, 3,900; youth chairs, 400; baby strollers, 11,000; crib gyms, 300; portable cribs, 150; crib extender rails, 4,100; cradles, 600; and baby mattresses or pads, 300.

The National Safety Council attributes many of the nursery equipment accidents to lack of supervision or misuse of a product. But a larger number of recent deaths, says the NSC, can be blamed on unsafe features of older furniture that does not meet the 1974 federal safety standards. Older hand-me-downs or used furniture bought at garage or lawn sales or antique cribs are potential hazards.

PARENTS ARE advised to check out cribs for compliance with federal standards because more infants die every year in accidents involving cribs than any other product intended for children.

If you are buying a full-size crib, select cribs with corner posts that are less than five-eighths of an inch in height.

Corner post extensions can be a catch point for children's necklaces, cords around the neck, or their heads or arms.

If you buy bumper pads for the crib make sure they fit around the entire crib, tie or snap in place, and have at least six straps.

To prevent your baby from chewing on the straps or becoming entangled in the strap, trim off any excess length. Caution is urged to watch so that the baby will not use the bumper pad to try and step on to climb out of the crib.

And check the distances between side slats to be sure baby's head, arms or legs could not be caught between the slats. CPSC issues a buyer's guide, "The Safe Nursery," which provides tips to help avoid injuries from nursery furniture.

Johnson-Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson of Hoskins and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson of Madison announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Yvonne Johnson and Brian Anderson.

Miss Johnson graduated from Norfolk High School in 1981 and from St. Joseph School of Nursing in 1983. She is employed as a registered nurse at Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk.

Her fiance is a 1977 graduate of Barite, Creek High School and a 1982 graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed by Hastings Grain Inspection in addition to farming.

The couple plans a June 20 wedding at the Community Bible Church in Norfolk.

policy on weddings

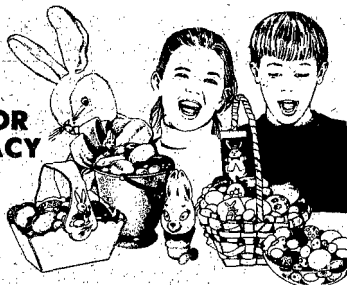

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a cutline underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

with a high interest tax deferred I.R.A.

With an I.R.A., your hard-earned dollars will come right back to you at retirement time, along with a tidy sum of interest to boot. Because it's tax-deferred, you won't have to pay on the cash you contribute each year, or on the interest that continually builds up...you'll only be taxed for the money you withdraw at retirement time. Sound good? There's more. Open your I.R.A. before April 15, 1986, and get a break on your 1985 income tax return.

Underclassmen dominate All-Area girls team

By John Prather
Sports Editor

Unlike the 1986 All-Area Boys Team in which four of five players selected were seniors, underclassmen dominate the all-area girls squad this season, as only one senior was chosen to the team. Denise Magnuson of Allen is the only senior selected this year, while Wayne's Kecia Corbit and Laurel's Gail Twiford are juniors. Sophomore Lana Erwin of Allen and freshman Dana Nelson of Wayne round out the all-area team.

Area coaches nominated the players from their respective teams, and from those lists the Wayne Herald sports department selected five all-area players, five special mention players and selected an honorable mention team from the remaining nominations.

Denise Magnuson, Allen
Magnuson was selected to the all-area team last year and was named all-conference and honorable mention all-state this season.

The 5-4 senior is a two year starter and averaged eight points and six rebounds a game this season. Last year, Magnuson averaged nine markers and six boards.

Although she was Allen's second leading scorer this year, Magnuson's specialty is defense as she consistently guarded opposing teams' main offensive threats.

Truth on Magnuson — "We played man-to-man defense and she always drew the tough assignments even though she gave up height to most of her opponents. She is a very hard worker and provides leadership by example."

Lana Erwin, Allen

Erwin was one of the area's better ball handlers this season and she quarterbacked the Eagles to within one game from the State Basketball Tournament.

Although busy running Allen's of fense, the 5-8 sophomore still led the Eagles in scoring with a 10 point average.

Erwin was named to the Lewis and Clark Conference honorable mention team this year.

Truth on Erwin — "She's only a sophomore but she has excellent knowledge and understanding of the game. She was our best ball-handler and was used to break presses. She is also an excellent passer and one of the conference leaders in assists."

Gail Twiford, Laurel

Twiford joins Magnuson as the only repeater to the all-area team.

Although she averaged 8.9 points last year and 11.9 this season, the 5-11 junior is known primarily for her rebounding.

Although she still has one season remaining, Twiford already owns the school record for career rebounds (589), single season rebounds (221) and single game rebounds (25). She's also fourth in career scoring at Laurel with 372 points.

Hamilton on Twiford — "Gail works very hard in practice and is a model player. She is looked up to by her teammates and she is a good student as well. Gail was selected to the all-conference first team as a sophomore and junior and was honorable mention to the Norfolk Daily News' top 12 both years as well. She was also honorable mention all-state both those seasons. Gail is a pleasure to coach. She works hard and strives to become the best player she can be through dedication and hard work."

Kecia Corbit, Wayne

Corbit was a second team all-area selection last year, but her 13 points and 10 rebounds a game this year allowed her to make the first team.

The 6-0 junior was named to the WSC Holiday All-Tournament team and was named to the Norfolk Daily News' Top 12 honorable mention team.

Uhing on Corbit — "Kecia has developed into an excellent post player. She is a good position rebounder. She can also score from the inside and has a nice jumper from the outside. Kecia worked very hard over the summer to improve, and if she does so again this year she could be one of the best inside players around. We are looking forward to having her back next year."

Dana Nelson, Wayne

As far as the Wayne Herald sports department can tell, Nelson is the first freshman to ever be named to the all-area girls team. Following the 1983 season, an article in the Wayne Herald said Don Larsen of Wayne was the first freshman to ever be named all-area.

Nelson is only 5-3 and she averaged just seven points a game, but she led the team in assists and steals and despite being only a freshman, was one of the Blue Devils' leaders this

Four senior boys make All-Area team

By John Prather
Sports Editor

Seniors dominated the 1986 Wayne Herald's All-Area Boys basketball Team as four of the five selected players are seniors.

Brent Haisch, a junior from Laurel, is the only underclassman on the boys' squad this year. Rounding out this year's team are seniors Don Larsen and Brent Pick of Wayne, Craig Noe of Allen and Wakefield's Wade Nicholson.

Area coaches nominated their own players for the all-area team, and the Wayne Herald's sports department selected five players from those nominations for the all-area team, five for the special mention team and the remainder to an honorable mention squad.

Don Larsen, Wayne
For Don Larsen, being named to the all-area team is nothing new.

This is the fourth consecutive season Larsen has received postseason laurels from the Wayne Herald, and according to a 1983 Wayne Herald article, Larsen was the first freshman player to ever be named to the Wayne Herald all-area team.

Larsen averaged 16.3 points and 12.2 rebounds an outing this season, and was named to the Omaha World Herald's Class B second team.

The 6-5 senior has averaged over 14 points a game since his freshman season, and in the four years he tallied 1,169 points and 817 rebounds.

Uhing on Larsen — "Don is an outstanding student and was a good leader over the years for us. Don is a great competitor and was at his best in the big game. He will make some college coach very happy next year."

Brent Pick, Wayne

Pick was a second team selection last year, but his rebounding and intense defensive play during the 1985-86 campaign earned him a ticket to the first team.

The 6-4 senior averaged 9.1 points and 6.9 rebounds an outing this year, and despite his size, was a fine shooter from the perimeter and a good ball-handler.

Uhing on Pick — "Brent played both inside and outside this year. He was one of the people we depended on to help us break the press. He's a two year starter and was an excellent defensive player."

Craig Noe, Allen

Noe joins Larsen as the only repeat selection to the all-area squad. Last year, Noe averaged 13 points and seven rebounds but this season improved those numbers to 15.2 and 8.5, respectively.

The 6-3 senior is a three-year letter man and starter for the Eagles, and was an all-conference and all-state honorable mention selection each of the last two seasons.

Uldrich on Noe — "Craig has been a most valuable asset to our team. He could play inside and outside and will be tough to replace. He will be a good college prospect for somebody. I hope many of our younger kids watched Craig develop from his freshman year to now. It is remarkable how he came along, and I hope they all follow his progress."

Brent Haisch, Laurel

Haisch is one of those players that "did-it all" as he averaged 12.5 points, 9.5 rebounds, three steals and one assist per game this year for the Bears.

Last year, Haisch was named to the all-area's second team. In addition to being named to the all-area squad this season, the 6-1 junior was also named all-conference and honorable mention all-state.

Hrabik on Haisch — "Brent was our best all-around player and team leader. He's a very good player around the basket as well as a threat from the outside. He gave opponents many problems which they always had to prepare for."

Wade Nicholson, Wakefield

Nicholson was known as an "offensive machine" in the Lewis and Clark Conference this year, and lived up to that label by averaging 16 points, including a school and Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament record 41 point eruption against Wausa.

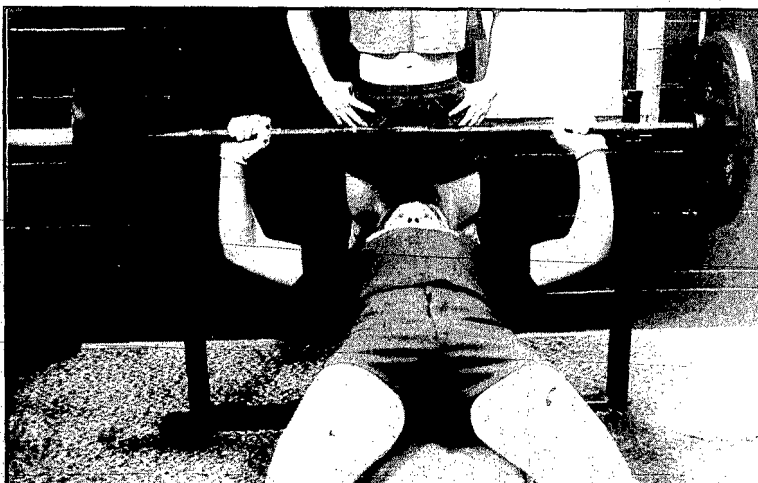

In addition to his offensive assets, Nicholson averaged eight rebounds a game this year and was a consistent defensive player.

Nicholson was also named all-conference this year, and was an all-state honorable mention selection by the Omaha World Herald.

Eaton on Nicholson — "Wade was quite a player for us this year. He had some fantastic games and a good all-around season."

Peck and Lingelbach hurl shutouts

Lady Wildcats sweep Concordia

SEWARD — Rhonda Peck and Mary Lingelbach both fired shutouts for Wayne State in the Lady Wildcats' softball sweep of Concordia College here Wednesday afternoon. Wayne State won the first game 3-0 and claimed the second contest 5-0.

Peck hurled a two-hitter in the opener while walking four and striking out five. In the second game, Lingelbach also allowed just two hits while walking two and striking out two.

Kelly Zierke initiated Wayne State's offense in the first game by drawing a walk to start the third inning.

Zierke then moved to second when Peck drew a walk and scored two outs later on a Kathy Didier single. The Lady Wildcats scored their second run in the same inning when Kelly Rich walked and crossed the plate on consecutive singles by Kristi Govig and Zierke.

Wayne State added an insurance run in the seventh after Teresa Durbala singled, Michelle Blomberg was then inserted into the game to run for Durbala and after advancing to third on two straight errors, scored on a Didier single.

Both teams were scoreless through four frames in the second game before the Lady Wildcats tallied three runs in the fifth.

Lingelbach started Wayne State's fifth with a one out single. Didier was then hit by a pitch Natalie Highman loaded the bases by drawing a walk. All three runners eventually scored on a series of wild pitches, passed balls and errors by Concordia.

The Lady Wildcats added to their lead in the seventh when Blomberg and Shell Schumann scored after they both reached base on Concordia errors.

Govig, Zierke and Durbala all collected one hit for Wayne State in the opener, while Didier finished 2-for-3 at the plate. In the second game, Lingelbach collected Wayne State's only two hits.

The Lady Wildcats are now 5-2 on the year, including a 3-2 mark and a fourth place finish in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference Tournament played March 8.

Wayne State's next game is Tuesday, April 1, at Omaha against UNO. The Lady Wildcats then play at Cedar Falls, Iowa, in the UNI-Dome Tournament at the University of Northern Iowa. The UNI-Dome Tournament runs April 4-6.

Morningside stifles WSC

SIoux CITY, IOWA — Morningside's pitchers stifled the Wayne State bats here Wednesday and swept the Wildcats 83 and 10-0 in a baseball doubleheader.

Wayne State totaled four hits in the opener and two in the nightcap. The second game lasted only six innings.

The Wildcats drew first blood in the opener by posting a 1-0 lead in their first at bat. Morningside tied the game in the bottom of the third and blew the game open in the fourth with five runs. The big blow in Morningside's fourth was a two run homer by Scott Larsen.

Wayne State cut Morningside's lead to three by scoring two runs in the top of the sixth. But the Chiefs answered that with two runs of their own in the sixth and held the Wildcats scoreless in the top of the seventh to claim the five-run victory.

Morningside sophomore Kevin Wauhob held Wayne State to just two hits in the second game. Jim Scholten, Morningside's coach, was quoted in Thursday's Sioux City Journal as calling Wauhob's performance "the best game of his career."

Craig Koehler slapped a single in the second inning for Wayne State's first hit. The Wildcats then went hitless until Gale Brestschneider singled in the sixth.

In addition to allowing just two hits, Wauhob walked only two and struck out four.

One bright side of the twin bill was Wayne State committed only three errors, including two in the first game and one in the nightcap.

Kevin Hoffart started for Wayne State in the opener before Dennis Voltmer relieved in the fourth. Mark Priegnitz then came in in the sixth inning.

Red 1 wins rec tourney

Brad Erwin erupted for 25 points and led the Red 1 team to a 69-64 upset victory over the Blue 2 team for the tournament championship in the B League of the Wayne Recreation Basketball League.

Erwin canned nine field goals and added seven free throws for his 25 markers. Joel Ankeny, who tallied 21 points in the Red's semifinal victory, followed Erwin with 14 points and Jeff Steffen added 13. Others who cracked the scoring column for the Red team were: Steve Jones, 9; Al Nissen, 6; and Derald Johnson, 2.

Bob Keating and Mike Breske sparked the Blue team with 18 and 16 points, respectively. Mike Meyer followed with 15 markers and Jerry Starkey added 13. Steve Meyer and Kirk Wacker rounded out the Blue team's scoring with one point apiece.

The Blue team captured the regular season title by claiming a triple overtime victory in the final regular season game.

Pictures and stories from other leagues will appear in future editions.

ADVISORY COUNCIL
A meeting was held March 25 of the Winside Advisory Council with 11 members and one guest present. Council president Dianne Jaeger presided. Introductions were made. Lorraine Prince read the minutes of the last meeting.

Ron Leapley, high school principal, reported all adult education classes have finished except the computer class which has four weeks left.

A basic education class for those wanting to complete their high school education will be scheduled sometime in April or May in Winside. He is currently working on the details with Northeast Technical Community College. There is still room for students so anyone interested in taking this course should call Mr. Leapley at 286-4465.

Members discussed possibly having annual dues and setting up some written formal by-laws. These items will be discussed again at the next meeting.

The program on teacher evaluations was presented by Mr. Leapley. He handed out numerous articles on state guidelines and rules, the adopted policy of the Winside School Board and samples of the forms he uses.

The next meeting will be April 24 in the high school library at 7:30 p.m. Topic will be either a discussion or debate on LB662. Tentative guest speakers will be Jim Moffitt, superintendent of Norfolk Public Schools, and Doug Jensen, superintendent of the Madison County schools.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT DAY
Fifteen Winside high school students participated in the March 20 Wayne County government day, sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary.

Wayne Denklau, of the Wayne County Veterans Service Office, served as chairman. Registration was held at the veterans service office at 8:45 a.m. followed by a briefing in the courtroom. cards of thanks

I WOULD like to say thank you to all who attended my 80th birthday open house and for all the beautiful cards, flowers and gifts I received. A special thank you to my dear family for hosting this event. It was a very special day in my life and to enjoy it with all my friends and relatives will long be remembered. God be with each and everyone of you, Irene Larsen. M31

THANKS TO everyone for your concern via cards, flowers, calls and visits thru the past 8 weeks of Jerry's illness. Special thanks to Dr. Lindau, Ann and Terry, the Providence Medical staff for their support and care and to Sister Gertrude and Pastor Newman for their visits and prayers. Also, special thanks to our children for all their help and support and to our grandchildren for the balloons, flowers, great handmade cards, and banners, which helped so much to keep up Jerry's morale. Jerry and Gail Martindale. M31

THE PARTY'S over but the memories linger on. To Gen and all your able helpers thanks so much for all the work and time you gave for our day, and for the beautiful altar flowers. The many cards, flowers, gifts and well wishes are so greatly appreciated. The surprise and joy to see and hear from so many friends and family from near and far was a great thrill. The poetic words from Florence, Lesa, Tanya, Paul Burman, Mardell Holm and Rev. Paul Hanson were much enjoyed by everyone. To Pastor Marek, special thanks for finding time in his busy day to give us his greetings and message on our special day. And to join us at our supper time hour. Finally to our children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, the biggest thank you goes for all the work and planning you did to give us such a "very great day." We love you dearly. The memories we have of "our day" will be with us to continue on our way to each new day in our lives. God bless you all with love. Weldon and Ann Mortenson. M31

WE WOULD LIKE to express to our neighbors and friends our heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of sympathy during the loss of our sister and aunt. The families of Lloyd Roeber, Bruce Roeber, Bryon Roeber and Garry Roeber. M31

WE WISH to express our appreciation to the many dedicated people at the Wayne Care Centre and the Providence Medical Center for their care of our mother, Angie Preston. We would also like to thank the many friends and relatives who called, sent messages of comfort and helped with food for the family during her illness and at the time of mother's death. Leland and Frances Preston; Quentin and Maxine Preston; Bonna and Walter Starkey; Merlin and Della Mae Preston. M31

WE WISH TO thank all those who remembered us in their prayers, sent cards, and memorials and helped furnish food. A special thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Miguel. The family of Daniel John Wolverton. M31

SINCERE THANKS to all my friends and relatives for the cards, flowers, telephone calls, visits, and food during my stay in the hospital and since returning home. Special thanks to Dr. Bob Bentback and Gary West, to the staff of Providence Medical Center, to Sister Gertrude and Pastor Keith Johnson for their visits and prayers. May God bless each and everyone of you. Viola Morris. M31
