School district recommended for AA accreditation rating

By LaVon Anderson

The Wayne-Carroll board of education accepted three staff resignations during its monthly meeting Tuesday night.
Submitting resignations were Rodella Wacker, elementary librarian, Maria Victor, Spanish instructor, and Robert Stuber, vocal music director.
Wacker is retiring after serving 16 years with the Wayne school system. Victor has accepted a position at Laurel-Concord High School, and Stuber resigned to devote more time to his work at Restful Knights in Wayne.

BOARD MEMBERS attending Tuesday night's meeting also learned that the Wayne-Carroll school district will be recommended for renewal of its AA accreditation following a visit by the AA visitation team on March 17-18.

The visitation team was comprised of four school administrators, two Department of Education representatives, and one school board member who also works for an Iowa area education agency.

In a letter to Haun, committee member Gerald Jordan said the committee unanimously agreed that Wayne Community Schools should be recommended to the State Accreditation Committee for continued AA classification for a period of seven years.

That recommendation will be considered by the State Accreditation Committee at its May meeting.

THE AA VISITATION team identified several areas in which the school system seems to be making "extraordinary efforts to excel." Those areas included:

- Good, updated board policies available;
- Strong financial operation of the school district;

—Good communication with the community through the school newsletter. The committee suggested that the newsletter be mailed to all households in the district by using a bulk mailing permit;

—Good in-service education provided for the professional staff, and teachers searching out staff development activities;

—Autonomy among principals in their own buildings, along with good communication among administrators and an excellent administrator/staff rapport;

—Good use of parent volunteers and high school students as aides in the classrooms;

—Implementation of technology at all grade levels;

—A strong effort to improve and expand the gifted education program;

—A good selection of courses available from which students may choose;

—Curriculum guides provided at all grade levels and updated periodically;

—Good support by staff members for their schools;

—An excellent educational media program;

—A good selection of student activities available and good participation in activities by the students. School officials also use feedback from students in making decisions;

—Good staff-student rapport and good student discipline throughout the school system;

—Good utilization of the school nurse for health education in the classrooms;

—A special education director is available for overseeing the special education program.

AREAS IN WHICH the AA visitation team felt may deserve attention include:

—The possible use of outside consultants for long-range planning needs to update the older buildings. The committee did state, however, that excellent long-range planning for maintenance of facilities was evident and some excellent updating of the Middle School had been done;

—The need for school officials to continue to study the possibility of cooperating with other school districts in continuing to offer courses where enrollment is low;

—More utilization of early morning staff time at the high school for student-teacher conferences;

—The integration of Carroll students as they move from the Carroll fourth grade into fifth grade at Wayne Middle School;

—More attention to the process of continuous K-12 curriculum development;

—Further development of the gifted program at all grade levels;

—Additional use of the high school special education facilities, and accessibility for the handicapped at the Middle School;

—Limited guidance services and no guidance facilities at the middle school. Little is done in the way of a coordinated guidance effort at the elementary school using either guidance counselors or elementary classroom teachers.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S board meeting also included a report by Dick Metteer, middle school principal, and David Lutt, elementary school principal, on a proposed K-6 science text adoption.
Each year, the elementary and middle schools conduct a study of one curriculum area. This year's study focused on science and health.

In researching various textbook companies, Metteer said the selection was narrowed to five companies with current, up-to-date copyrights. Samples submitted by those five companies were then evaluated by the teachers.

Following evaluation, the principals told board members they are adopting the Silver Burdett series because of its hands-on approach to science.

A science consultant from the Silver Burdett company will visit Wayne May 7 or 8 for a daylong workshop with elementary staffers.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday night, Wayne-Carroll board of education members:

—Learned from Superintendent Francis Haun that specifications have been prepared for the wiring project at Wayne Middle School. Bids received from local area licensed electricians will be opened at the May school board meeting.

—Heard a report from Elementary Principal David Lutt regarding Kindergarten roundup. Lutt said 38 youngsters attended the morning session and 24 youngsters attended the afternoon session at Wayne elementary school on April 4. Twelve youngsters were expected to attend Kindergarten roundup at the Carroll elementary school on April 9. "We're looking at a very large class," Lutt told board members.

—Were presented estimates by Haun on tuckpointing at the middle school and sanding and refinishing of the gym floor at the high school. The estimate for tuckpointing is $20,000, while the estimate for sanding and refinishing the gym floor is $6,000. "These projects don't need to be done this year," said Haun, "but they are down the road in our long-range planning."

—Learned from Haun that letters have been sent to all parents of elementary and middle school students regarding the presence of asbestos in the insulation on boiler

Timpte officials optimistic as production at plant begins

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Operations at Timpte are now to the stage that the first trailer unit to be completely manufactured at the Wayne facility will be coming off the line by Friday and ready for the Wayne Expo Show this coming weekend.

President of Timpte, Inc., James Remick, conducted a press conference Wednesday morning and gave a progress report on the current Timpte operation in Wayne and the future that it holds.

"I've been very satisfied with our work force, particularly those first 20 or so people who drove every day to the David City plant [before working at the Wayne plant]," said Remick. The company is currently setting up four trailers at the Wayne plant — one more than was originally planned for at this time, he said.

Three of the four are completely being manufactured here, while the other is a David City product that was built by the Wayne people.

Over 1,000 types of refrigerated trailers will be manufactured at the Wayne site, modeled in a variety of widths, lengths and heights, Remick said.

"Typically, the majority of trailers built here are from 46 feet, 6 inches to 48 feet in length, 96 inches to 102 inches in width and 13 feet and 6 inches in height," Remick said.

In the product will go a lot of aluminum, steel, riveting, plastic lining and poly-urethane, he added.
Other items are purchased elsewhere, such as the support legs to the trailer and the axle. "A large portion of the trailers are built to custom orders," he said, adding that their market is nationwide.

PRODUCTION LEVEL at the Wayne plant will depend largely on the market demand. "Our objective toward building a super product at a competitive price could result in manufacturing eight trailers a day by this fall," Remick mentioned.

Remick said there is plenty of competition in the trailer manufacturing industry — at least four or five major competitors, he said.

Of all the companies within Timpte, Wayne is the only plant site where refrigerated trailers are manufactured. By the term refrigerated, Remick said the trailers not only cool, but can also heat the cargo to protect from freezing.

"The plant at David City manufactures dry freight trailers and grain trailers for hauling non-perishables," Remick said.

He said the refrigeration unit can be installed at the plant or "the customer will install it themselves." Currently, Remick said the market for the Timpte trailers is "rather soft" right now. One reason for this, he said, is that there was a lot of year-end buying of trailers in 1985, due to concern that the federal government would be eliminating investment tax credits for 1986.

TRAILERS such as what Timpte manufactures is eligible for investment tax credits, Remick said. The false demand in 1985 has driven down the demand for the first part of 1986, he said.

"In a way, for us that is a blessing. It gives us a chance to start [the Wayne facility] under less hectic conditions rather than if times were booming," he said.

Remick was quick to add, however, that he is very optimistic about the future of the business and the use of the trailers in transportation.

"There is more cargo hauled by truck than any method of transportation," he said.

Presently, there are up to 25 people employed in the factory and another 15 individuals working in the office at the Wayne site.

Depending on the market situation, a full one shift has the potential to employ up to 225 office or factory employees. Current plans are to begin hiring six people per week "until we get to the level we are satisfied with," Remick mentioned.

"Then we'll stop and take a breath. If we need more, it will depend on what the markets tell us," he added.

From now until the plant is in full capacity of operation, the number of factory employees that are hired could increase up to 500 percent, he remarked. He added that most of the individuals hired are from the greater Wayne area. In a radius of some 15 to 20 miles from Wayne.

The second floor of the main office building has been utilized to accommodate the office personnel following the recent announcement to relocate file at the office of the Wayne City Clerk.

Several formalities pertaining to street improvement districts, opening of bids for a new street sweeper, a resolution against the sale of federal power to private enterprise and other business occupied a major share of discussing at Tuesday night's regular city council meeting.

The city council set the date for April 29 at 7:40 p.m. for a meeting, acting as members of the board of equalization, on the establishment of assessments for the street improvement district 84-2. This district is West 3rd Street — from Oak Drive to the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

The plans and assessments are on

Also, the city council took steps toward creating a sanitary sewer extension district and water extension district along the proposed Providence Road.

Providence Road is proposed for location near the National Guard Armory. Bid letting for the paving of the roadway, expected to be a direct route to Providence Medical Center, will be sometime this fall, it is hoped by Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster.

The Nebraska Press Association
It looks like senators are running headlong into a tax rate hike.
Just a week ago senators were making preliminary spending decisions, comfortable with the latest revenue forecasts.
Overnight that comfort disappeared.
The state took in far less corporate tax money in March than anticipated. And refunds went out faster than expected. In just a few weeks state net revenue was about $8.4 million below expectations.
Governor Bob Kerrey predicted the loss would be even greater. The state will have $25 million less than anticipated in net revenue next fiscal year. Most senators agreed.
Even before that bad news senators knew the budget proposal before them was about $25 million higher than expected revenue at the current tax rates. There were several plans floating around to eliminate that initial $25 million problem. Kerrey's announcement doubled the trouble.

The problem, though shrouded in a haze of complicated numbers, is fairly simple: The state cannot pay for the current budget proposal with current tax rates of 19 percent on income and 3.5 percent on sales.
The alternatives are also simple.

- But not easy.
- Raise the state's sales tax rate from 3.5 cents on the dollar to 4 cents on the dollar. That is the proposal of Senator Jerome Warner, veteran chairman of the Appropriations Committee.
- Put a sales tax on services. Kerrey proposed expanding the sales tax to services. The announcement had hardly left his lips before senators were rushing to his office to warn him that taxing services had about as much chance of passing the Unicameral as the proverbial snowball in hotter climates.

• Increase the state's income tax rate by at least 1 percent.
• Make massive cuts in a budget proposal that is a little larger than the current year spending.
None of the alternatives are politically palatable to senators, many of whom face re-election campaigns in their home districts.
Every year, it seems, senators have battled falling revenues. Projections are continually being revised — downward.
The problem lies in trying to predict what will happen 15 to 24 months into the future. Projections are part science and part crystal ball. The fiscal analysts and the computer crunch numbers, taking into consideration trends from the past and guesses about the future.
And if their long-range projections are less than 3 percent off, they call it good.

But a 3 percent change, particularly downward, can give politicians nightmares. In Nebraska a 3 percent change translates into a 1 percent income tax rate increase or a 1/4th cent sales tax hike.
AND THE TAX revenues, particularly the troublesome corporate taxes, do not always relate directly to what is going on in the economy. Corporations can decide to accelerate their depreciation schedule, or they can change their corporate calendar year and thus change, sometimes dramatically, what they owe in taxes.
Economist Wade German, now a professor at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, put it this way:
"I learned a long time ago that trying to forecast corporate profits is about as close to a roulette game as you can get."

ask a lawyer
a public service of the nebraska state bar association

Q. My question concerns artificial insemination. If there is a "social" father and a "biological" father (the donor), whose name appears on the birth certificate? In the event of a divorce is the social father responsible for the child support, or could the biological father ever be held responsible?
A. Nebraska law creates a "rebuttable presumption" that a child born within a marriage was fathered by the mother's husband. (A "rebuttable presumption" means that the court will consider this to be true unless evidence is presented to the contrary.) Thus, if the mother was married at the time of either the conception or birth of the child, or at any time between conception and birth, her husband's name is placed on the birth certificate as the father of the child, regardless of the method of conception of the child. If the couple then gets divorced, the man whose name appears on the birth certificate is liable for payment of any child support order that is entered by the court.
Currently, recordkeeping in the area of artificial insemination donors is incomplete at best. In most instances, it would be impossible to trace back to the biological father to make him liable for child support. Even if the biological father could be determined with certainty, it is highly unlikely that a court would, as a matter of policy, hold him responsible for any support of the child.

Yield goals

This letter is in response to an article printed in the April 3, 1986 Wayne Herald, page 28 entitled, "Set yield goals now to maximize potential profit." While I have no problems with the title, I do take issue with the author's suggestions for setting a yield goal.
He recommends the following: "If possible, aim for yield goals well above past averages to near or slightly above the past maximum for a particular field."
If a farmer follows this advice he will be over applying fertilizer in most cases. Lets examine this closer. First we are talking mostly about nitrogen. In Nebraska, that is the only nutrient for which recommended quantities (by the University) are affected by yield goal.
Second, 1985 was an excellent year for farmers in Wayne County. Many farmers report their best yields ever. Some dried corn only yielded 100 bushels of corn. The reason for this was not fertilizer application rates, but weather conditions that prevailed during the 1985 growing season. Among other reasons, high yields were achieved because there were very few days with high temperature, high wind, and low humidity in July when corn was pollinating.

This highlights the fact that for most good managers, the limiting factor for excellent corn yields is not fertility, but climate and weather. The challenge is to decide on a yield goal that has a high probability of being achieved and then, fertilizing for this goal. The best yield goal to set is approximately 5% above your five year average.
Dr. George Rehm started an experiment at the Northeast Research and Extension Center in 1974 that I have continued. It is called the Soil Test Comparison Study and it compares the effect of different fertility programs on corn yields. Over the length of the study the average nitrogen rates differed by 30 pounds, yet the yield differences were non-significant and within 2 bushels of each other.

This indicates that once adequate fertilizer is applied, extra fertilizer will not increase yields. In addition, even the lowest recommendations in the study were enough to produce top yields in good years. Extra fertility did not increase yields in bad years, since the limiting factor was not fertility. Since yields were equal, the cost of the various fertilizer programs can be compared and are relevant. The recommendations based on University of Nebraska suggestions totaled $136.70 in eleven years. The recommendations from four private laboratories ranged from $262.99 to $292.82 for the same period.
Anyone interested in learning more about cost effective fertilizer recommendations can obtain detailed results of our experiments at either the County Extension Office or the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

Bad raps exist Scientist must combat food myths

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
by Cheryl Stubbendieck, vice president/information
As one of those people who actively seeks out caffeine and would only drink decaffeinated coffee to be polite, it's often hard for me to understand why so many people get so uptight about food additives, use of ag chemicals, partaking of ones of God's best ideas, red meat.
But I've got this theory. The so-called nutritionists who want us to worry about every bite are just more interesting to watch or read about than the scientists who know the truth about foods. By their training, scientists tend to give you just the facts, ma'am. And they'll often qualify their statements to allow for all possibilities, such as ag economists do these days in discussing the '85 Farm Bill.
So it's a delight to find a scientist who knows the score but can still turn a phrase and is glad to do it. One such is Dr. Elizabeth Whelan, executive director of the American Council on Science and Health. Speaking recently to the American Farm Bureau's annual convention she compared scientific facts with popular food myths.
AMERICA IS becoming a nation of, nosophobics, Dr. Whelan says. Unlike hypochondriacs who think they are sick, nosophobics think they will be sick in the future because of something lurking in the environment, particularly in their food. Thus the appeal of foods touted as "chemical free" or "no preservatives added."

Of course, all foods are chemicals. Some are made by Mom Nature, some by men and women.
Nature, of course, is not benign. Many foods contain substances that if used to excess are not healthy. But the fact remains, Whelan says, that science knows much more about food additives and pesticides than it does about food. And it is the preservatives in bread that prevent mold growth and exposure to harmful mold toxins and nitrates that protect us from deadly botulism.
SUGAR HAS GOTTEN a bad rap in recent years and salt is a four letter word, Whelan says. But the truth is, sugar is a nutrient and it's gotten an almost entirely clean bill of health. It doesn't cause diabetes, heart disease or hypoglycemia. The only disease it's implicated in is tooth decay, which isn't much of a concern anymore because of use of fluoride.
And salt and sodium aren't the only factors causing hypertension or high blood pressure. Some persons with hypertension respond to a low-sodium diet, others who aren't salt-sensitive don't.
And then there's the Big C, cancer. With the advent of the carcinogen-of-the-week syndrome, choosing what to eat is a major decision. But, it's premature to recommend changes in diet to avoid cancer — studies of the possible diet-cancer link have been going on for only about a decade. Still, many cereals are touting their fiber content, as a potential cancer preventative. If fiber's what you're after, it may be better to toss the cereal and eat the box, Whelan suggests.

One measure of just how extreme some people are becoming about foods is a new kind of call coming into local poison control centers. People are calling with questions about whether there's caffeine in soda pop or preservatives in a store-bought loaf of bread, as if those questions were emergencies comparable to a child drinking laundry bleach.
Whelan herself would like to see more scientists speak out about food. They don't, she says, because they may feel incompetent or uncomfortable appearing in public with glib, well-rehearsed, popular self-appointed nutritionists. And they worry about what their colleagues will think about the professional propriety of being on a TV talk show that also features a quack, two unemployed actors and a male stripper.
The concern of scientists is understandable, but we need more who are willing to promulgate the truth: America has the safest, most health-promoting, most affordable, most varied and most plentiful food supply in the world — thanks in large part to ag chemicals and food additives — and the best diet is one that includes a variety of foods.

Free airports from government

Richard L. Leshar, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States.
It is the nature of government to defend the status quo long after the quo has lost its status.
For example, in 1803 the British government created a civil service position for a man to stand on the Cliffs of Dover with a spyglass and ring a bell if he saw Napoleon coming. The job was abolished in 1945.
Today in Washington, our own federal government is in the business of running our two local airports, National and Dulles. No one seems to know why the government is in the airport business: it just started out that way a long time ago and seems to have a momentum of its own.
The results are as you might expect. Both airports are doing booming business, but there have been no capital improvements at either one since the early 1960s. The result is barely controlled chaos, as parking lots are full and traffic jams are an almost hourly event. At Dulles, the airlines are themselves rushing to erect temporary terminals and gates to handle the extra traffic, which is way too much for existing facilities.

THE EXPERTS AGREE that both airports are in dire need of extensive capital improvements that will cost between $500 million-$700 million. But as we all know, our government is already wrestling with ballooning budget deficits and is disinclined to pursue any new large expenditures. This decision is penny wise and dollar foolish, at least as far as the nature of the federal government.
Fortunately, Transport Minister Secretary Elizabeth Dole is pushing a sensible solution to this imbroglio.

She wants to turn authority for the airports over to a regional authority that would have the power to act quickly and decisively to improve airport facilities. The authority could raise the money it needs for capital improvements by issuing tax-exempt bonds, thus saving Uncle Sam from what will surely be a massive expense. It would also repay to the government some $47 million it still has coming for investments it made in the airports many years ago, and put up $37 million to cover unfunded pension liability of airport employees.
Best of all, the Dole plan would get Uncle Sam out of the airport business where he doesn't belong. There is a bill before the Senate today, S. 1017, that would accomplish that worthy goal. It deserves our enthusiastic support.
I say enough of the status quo, and you can quote me on that.

Process explained on closing post office

Before a Post Office can be closed
Occasionally I am contacted by the residents of a small community who are concerned that their post office may be closed. Frequently this is just a rumor. Sometimes, however, the Postal Service does conduct a study of the use of a small post office, and that study could end with a proposal to close the post office and shift to another method of mail service.
The closing of a post office can be a great concern for a community, and it might be helpful to be aware of the steps that the Postal Service must complete before it closes a post office.

Center Manager. If the closing consolidation is approved, the law provides for a 30-day posting of a final determination during which local postal customers may appeal the final decision to the Postal Rate Commission, which then has 120 days to review the Postal Service's decision and render a final opinion. And, the post office may not be closed until 60 days after the final decision is initially posted.
When a post office is closed, the Postal Service will try to allow the use of community's separate address whenever possible, and in some cir-

Any decision to close or consolidate a post office must be based on certain specific criteria. These include the effect on the community served; the effect on employees of the post office; compliance with Government policy established by law that the Postal Service shall provide a maximum degree of effective and regular postal services to rural areas, communities, and small towns where post offices are not self-sustaining; the economic savings to the Postal Service; and any other factors determined to be necessary by the Postal Service.
When there is a postmaster vacancy, it is customary to conduct a study of the business activity of small post offices to determine the feasibility of providing alternative forms of mail service. Postal field managers investigate service alternatives and a questionnaire is sent to the post office customers to obtain their views on alternate methods of mail service in their community. The results of the questionnaire and comments from community members provide local managers with information that they use to determine whether a proposal to discontinue the post office should be pursued.

circumstances the ZIP Code originally assigned to the discontinued post office may be retained if the request is submitted with justification before the proposal to discontinue the post office is posted. In other words, attempts to keep a ZIP Code should be considered during the Postal Service study phase.
These rules cover any proposal to replace a post office with a community post office, as well as any proposal to discontinue a post office without providing a replacement facility.
Can we read you?
I am always pleased to receive letters from Nebraskans, whether they write to express opinions about current issues, ask about my opinions, or request help. I am concerned when I receive letters that have incomplete or illegible return addresses. That makes it difficult to follow-up. It is a big help if a writer includes a complete name and address, including ZIP Code, on the letter, as well as on the envelope.

'Toad of Toad Hall' at WSC

Thousands expected to attend 28th annual children's play

"Toad of Toad Hall" will be the offering for the 28th annual children's theatre play to be presented by the Wayne State College theatre department during 10 performances running April 18 through April 24.

Written by A. A. Milne, "Toad of Toad Hall" is a dramatization of Kenneth Grahame's book, "The Wind in the Willows."

The story focuses on Toad's idiotic obsession with motor cars. Unable to control himself, Toad wrecks each car that he takes out on the road. His reckless behavior lands him in jail.

Meanwhile, Toad's great mansion is taken over by a gang of nasty weasels. It is up to Toad's friends — Badger, Mole and Water Rat — to come to his rescue.

Dr. Andre Sedriks, director of the play, said "Toad of Toad Hall" is a delightful play with singing and dancing.

Sedriks added that the play is one everyone will enjoy — including children, parents and grandparents.

"TOAD OF TOAD HALL" will be performed Friday, April 18, and Monday through Thursday, April 21-24, at 1 p.m.

Additional weekday shows are scheduled at 8 p.m. on Monday, April 21, and at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, April 22 and Thursday, April 24.

Weekend performances are at 2 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, April 19-20.

All performances will be held in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center on the college campus.

Sedriks noted that thousands of area school children are expected to attend the weekday performances. He added that performances especially for the general public are the 2 p.m. matinees on Saturday and Sunday, or the 8 p.m. performance on Monday.

Cost is $3 for adults and $1 for children. Wayne State College students and staff will be admitted free with identification.

IN "TOAD OF TOAD HALL," the animals are characterized with makeup and costumes. No masks are used.

Leading the cast are Lisa Soseman, Omaha, as Toad; Wendy Stark, Fremont, as Badger; Beth Todd, Kingsley, Iowa, as Mole; and Brenda Kowalke, Nemaha, Iowa, as Water Rat.

Portraying weasels, rabbits, ferrets, squirrels, turkeys, stoats, ducks and horses are Janice Mc-

Crighr, Bob Reeker, Kami Walker, Cindy Holton, Jenelle Jones, Shelly Fowler, Brenda Blaker, Janelle Cook, Dawn Gerkins, Sue Boeshart, Anne Coombs, Tim Renner, Mitch Schulte and Curtis Todd.

Real-life characters are played by Byron Bon-sall, Paul DiBlasi, Mark Ford, Sue Scott, Barbara Cunningham and Dawn Gutzmann.

Head choreographer is Dawn Gutzmann of Pierce, stage manager is Laura Carlow of Wayne, and accompanist is Linda Baddorf of Wayne.

SEDRICKS SAID approximately 300 invitations to attend the play have been mailed to schools throughout the area.

The audience will be welcome backstage following each performance.

And once again, elementary students are encouraged to enter the "Toad of Toad Hall" poster contest.

All posters submitted by April 11 will be displayed in the lobby of Ramsey Theatre during the run of the play. Cash prizes will be awarded two winners from each grade level.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a outline underneath the picture. Coleridge and Hartington win team titles

Uehling, Kwankin big winners at Coleridge Invite Allen's Deb Uehling knows just one pace — fast.

Uehling captured three individual championships and was a member of Allen's winning 3200 relay team at the Coleridge Invitational Track Meet Saturday at Memorial Field on the Wayne State campus.

Uehling won the 800 with a 2:41 clocking and claimed the 1600 and 3200 with respective 6:45 and 13:14 efforts.

She was also the second leg on Allen's winning 3200 relay team

4. Allen	58

8. Winside	11

Girls Team Scores

which finished with a 10:09 clocking. Joining Uehling on the 3200 relay were Diane Magnuson, Denise Magnuson and Pam Connelly.

Many distance runners pace their race so they finish strongly. But Uehling goes hard from her very first step.

"She's a very tough runner," her head coach Gary Troth said just seconds after she supplied the Eagles with a comfortable lead in the 3200 relay. "She's strong enough to maintain a fast pace all the way through each race."

Uehling's banner performance allowed the Eagles a third place finish. Hartington won the meet with 102 points, while Newcastle placed second with 97 markers and Allen totaled 87. Winside placed fourth with 83 points.

In the boys competition, Coleridge totaled 138 points to edge out Bancroft-Rosalie who finished with 136. Allen placed fourth with 58 markers and Winside totaled 11 markers to place eighth.

Uehling wasn't the only Eagle to win more than one championship on the day as Jyoti Kwankin captured both hurdle events in the boys competition.

When one thinks of great hurdlers, lanky athletes with long strides usually come to mind, but at 57 Kwankin hardly fits that mold. However, his quickness and misleading speed makes up for his short strides.

Kwankin finished the 100 meter hurdles with a 16.16 clocking and crossed the 300 meter intermediate hurdle finish line in 43.60.

The only other area athlete(s) to win in the boys competition was Winside's freshest relay team who circled the track in 53.24 for the championship. Tim Jacobsen, Chris Nau, Garry Mundill and Dafn Walker participated in the relay for the Wildcats.

Winside claimed two other titles in the girls competition. Christi Thies captured the high jump championship with a 5-0 leap, and she teamed up with Jill Boldt, Lisa Greene and Kristi Miller to win the 1600 relay with a 4:34.16 clocking.

Do you think you're pretty good at softball?

So, you think you're a pretty good softball player, and your friends and teammates even think you're a "stud" softballer. Well, maybe you are pretty good, but I'd be willing to bet there's a gal in Winside that can top your diamond accomplishments this summer.

Jill Stenwall might be difficult to find this summer. You see, she'll be touring the country playing in softball tournaments with the Steel Athletic Equipment Company of Detroit, Mich.

Last year, Stenwall played for Huntel out of Blair. The Huntel squad played in several prestigious tournaments, including nationals in California.

The Steel Athletic Equipment Company (who was called Little Caesars last season) have noticed Stenwall's softball skill at these tournaments, and have stayed in contact with the Winside slugger over the past few years, according to Stenwall.

"Al Campbell (Steel Athletic Equipment's general manager) and I have been talking about me playing for them for a couple of years now, and this year it's going to finally happen," she said.

As mentioned earlier, Stenwall played in nationals in California for Huntel, and she also accompanied the Blair team to tournaments in Texas and Milwaukee. But this year, those prestigious tournaments will be a weekly occurrence.

"We open up in Louisville, Ky. May 16-18, and I know we have tournaments in Milwaukee, Detroit, Florida and Virginia. There're a lot of others, too, but I haven't seen our schedule yet," she said.

Stenwall said the biggest difference this year, compared to last year, is she'll be flying to those tournaments instead of having to drive.

"Last year, we drove to all our tournaments, but this year I'll catch a flight out of Omaha and meet the team at the tournament's site," she said. "It's going to be nice flying instead of driving."

Stenwall added that the Steel Athletic Equipment Company picks up all the expenses during tournament play, including, of course, flight fare.

The modest Stenwall wouldn't comment about her softball skills. But she did leave the impression that she hits her fair share of homers. When asked if she's more of a singles hitter or a power hitter, she simply replied, "I don't like to run fast. I'd rather jog around the bases."

Stenwall isn't a one dimensional athlete. In addition to her softball prowess, she's Winside's head coach in girls basketball and volleyball, and an assistant track coach.

Stenwall prepped at Winside and during her junior and senior year, won the shot put in all classes and was the Class C state champ in the discus. As a matter of fact, she will always be a state record holder because her 45-11 in the shot was achieved with an 8 lb. shot. Today, an 8.13 lb. shot is used.

Stenwall then attended Kearney State and set numerous meet records, and her 51-6 is still a Loper record.

However, last Saturday Stenwall's Kearney State Relay record in the shot was broken when Connie Hugen of Doane tossed the iron ball 48-3/2. Stenwall set her record in 1980 with a 47-10 effort.

But losing the record didn't discourage Stenwall in any way. "That's alright," she said. "They keep records to give people something to shoot for. Records were made to be broken."

Double champion

ALLEN'S JYOTI KWANKIN blows by opposing hurdlers enroute to the 100 meter hurdle title. Kwankin also won the 300 meter intermediate hurdles. Deb Uehling, also of Allen, won the 800, 1600 and 3200 for the Eagles, and was a member of Allen's winning 3200 meter relay team.

Lady Wildcats sweep Peru State to claim season home openers

Wayne State used two big blows by Mary Lingelbach and Kathy Didier for an 8-3 victory in the second game of a doubleheader against Peru State Tuesday. The Lady Wildcats swept the Lady Bobcats by claiming a 3-1 triumph in the opener.

Lingelbach belted a bases loaded triple in the first inning of the second game to supply Wayne State with a 3-0 advantage. Didier pinch hit in the Lady Wildcats' fifth frame and also stroked a bases loaded triple to supply Wayne State with a 7-3 lead. Didier eventually scored on a Peru State error to round out the game's scoring.

Mary Jean Guenther started Wayne State's first inning by laying down a two-out bunt. Durba followed by reaching on a felder's choice and Shelle Tomaszewicz loaded the bases by singling.

Lingelbach then cleaned the bases by ripping a triple to right-center field.

Lingelbach set the Lady Bobcats down in order over the first three frames before being roughed-up for three runs in the fourth.

But Wayne State bounced back in the fifth by tallying five runs and claimed the victory.

Kristi Govig, Ronda Peck and Guenther got the fifth inning started for the Lady Wildcats, by stroking consecutive singles. One out later, Govig scored on a Peru State error.

Didier then knocked Peck, Guenther and Tomaszewicz home with her triple before scoring on Peru State's third error of the inning.

Wayne State totaled nine hits in the game. Guenther finished 3-for-4 and scored two runs.

Lingelbach fired a four hitter while striking out four to improve her personal record to 4-6.

In the opener, Wayne State scored once in first, fifth and sixth innings and rode the strong pitching performance of Heidi Anderson to a 3-1 victory.

Anderson allowed just three hits, while striking out five and walking just one. The victory improved her record to 3-1.

Anderson had a shutout through six innings but the Lady Bobcats touched her for their only run in their final at bat: Two Wayne State errors led to the Peru State run.

Govig scored the Lady Wildcats' first run by reaching on an error, stealing second and crossing the plate on another Peru State miscue.

Wayne State opened a 2-0 lead in the fifth. Paula Dolesh and Michelle Blomberg layed down consecutive bunts and Dolesh scored on a Didier single.

Tomaszewicz accounted for the Lady Wildcats' final run in the sixth inning when she cracked her fourth homer of the young season.

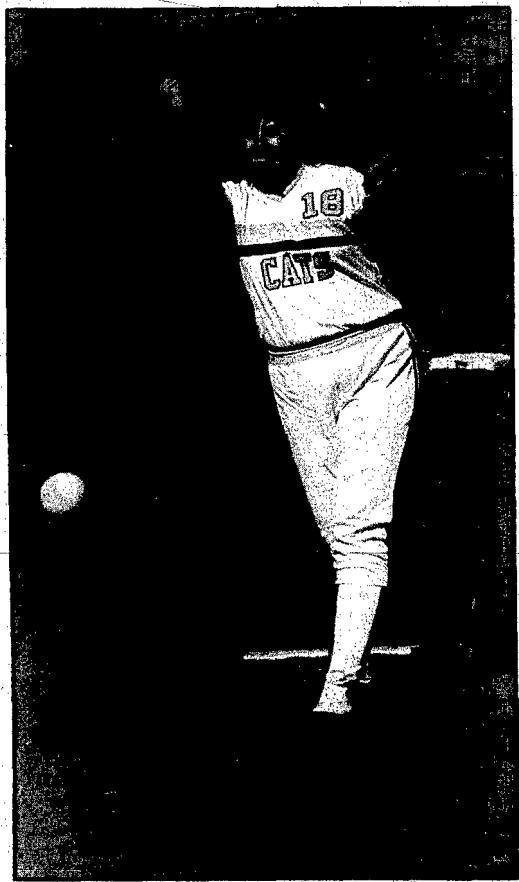

Marilyn Strate, Wayne State's head coach, said she was pleased with most aspects of her club's play and was glad to finally play at home.

"Except for the last inning of the first game, I thought we played pretty well defensively," she said. "It was nice to play at home, too. The wind was a factor in the game, but it was nice playing at home."

The victory improved the Lady Wildcats' overall record to 10-7, but five of those losses have been against NCAA teams.

Wayne State has beaten Central States of Oklahoma, who is currently ranked No. 2 in the nation in the NAIA, and lost to No. 1 ranked Washburn in extra innings.

Record setter

WAYNE STATE'S Randy Ditter heaved the shot 54-0 at the Wayne State College Invitational Tuesday afternoon at Memorial Field. Ditter not only won the event, but set a new school record with his effort. Diana Asay, also of Wayne State, set a new school record in the shot, too, with a 45-0½ effort.

Traditionally-tough Oakland-Craig downs Wayne and Beemer linksmen

Oakland-Craig has, without a doubt, the strongest golf tradition of any school in the state. After all, the Knights have won the Class C state championship every year since 1979, and have captured the state crown eight of the last nine years.

Varsity Team Scores
1. Oakland-Craig	153
2. Wayne	160
3. Beemer	178

Junior Varsity Team Scores
1. Wayne A	193
2. Oakland-Craig	192
3. Wayne B	225

And, the 1985-86 Knight linksmen appear to be just as strong as recent Oakland-Craig teams as they defeated Wayne (the defending Class

B state champions) and Beemer in a golf triangular at the Wayne Golf and Country Club Monday afternoon.

Oakland-Craig finished with a 153, seven strokes better than Wayne's 160 and 25 better than Beemer's 178.

Jason Peterson of Oakland-Craig claimed medalist honors as he fired a 35. Wayne head coach Terry Munson said the name Peterson is commonly found on Oakland-Craig golf teams.

"It seems like Oakland's always had a Peterson golfing on their teams," he said. "I guess it's that kind of tradition that makes them as good as they are."

Wayne was led by Jed Reeg's 38. Tom Perry and Dave Ellis both fired a 40 for the Blue Devils, while Robb Reeg and Eric Runestad each finished with a 42. The top four scores are used to figure final team scores.

Three Oakland-Craig golfers broke the 40 barrier as Brad Larsen shot a 38 and Shawn Linder totaled a 39.

Linder had the shot of the day as he eagled the fifth hole.

Beemer was led by Jim Mestl's 40, but the next lowest score on the Bobcat scorecard was a 45.

Wayne's A reserve won the junior varsity round with a 183. Oakland-Craig placed second in the JV competition with a 192 and Wayne's B reserve team placed third with a 225.

Kevin Hausmann led the Wayne reserves with a 43, while Kevin Griess and Elliot Salmon both shot 45s for the Blue Devils, and Chad Jones and Jay Luft finished with a 50 and 51, respectively.

Oakland-Craig's string of consecutive state championships began in 1979. The year before, the Knights placed third and in 1977, they won the state title.

Oakland-Craig has placed in the top 10 in the state each of the last 12 years. The Knights placed fifth in 1974, ninth in 1975 and third in 1976 before winning it all in 1977.

Wayne's next meet is Thursday at the Wayne Golf and Country Club. The Blue Devils entertain Hartington Cedar Catholic, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

The All-American Heesacker also won the 400 with a 59.5 clocking, and teamed up with Jody Allen, Eisenmenger and Fran Gross to capture the 1600 relay title with a 4:12.16 timing.

Diana Asay placed second in the shot put, but her 45-0½ toss set a new school record and automatically qualified her for nationals.

Randy Ditter was the only winner for Wayne State's men and his 54-0 in the shot put is also a new school record.

LeRoy Simpson, Wayne State's head coach, said he will take Ditter to nationals as well.

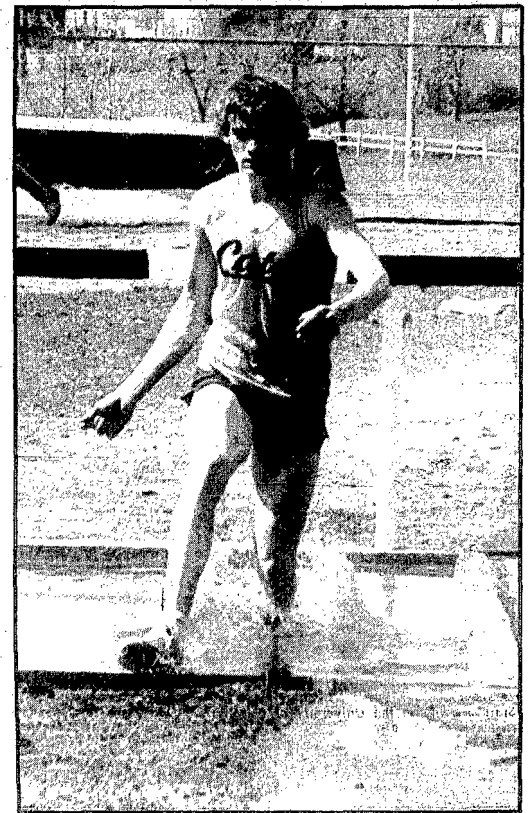

"Both Asay and Ditter really had good days with the shot. Asay's is good enough to qualify for nationals, and Ditter is close enough to go and compete," he said.

Wayne State track schedule

Wayne State's track teams compete again Saturday, April 12, at the Hastings Invitational. The Wildcat squads then travel to Dorfd for the Dorfd Relays April 19, and to Madison, S.D. April 23, before returning home April 29 for a meet against Northwestern, Dakota Wesleyan and Westmar. The CSIC meet will be held May 3-4 at Pittsburg, Kan., and the District 11 meet will be held May 10, at Memorial Field in Wayne.

Lady Cats finish 2-4 at UNI

CEDAR FALLS, IOWA — Wayne State's softball team finished the University of Northern Iowa (UNI) Dome Tournament with a 2-4 record over three days.

After beating St. Cloud State and losing to Mankato State on Friday, The Lady Wildcats downed St. Xavier 4-2, before losing to Washburn, 3-2, Southwest Missouri State 5-1 and to the University of Nebraska-Omaha 8-5.

Despite losing four-of-six games, Wayne State head coach Marilyn Strate said she was pleased with her club's overall performance during the rugged tourney.

"We faced some excellent competition in the tournament and I was pleased with our hitting, considering the level of pitching was better than anything we had seen all year," she said.

The Lady Wildcats did, indeed, hit much better during the tourney than they had in their games prior to Friday. Wayne State entered the tournament with a .198 team batting average, but hit .260 as a team during the three day tourney.

The highlight of the tournament, from a Wayne State point of view, was the Washburn game. Washburn is the NAIA's No. 1 ranked team in the country but the Lady Wildcats went extra innings before losing in the ninth frame, 3-2.

"Our best game to date was against Washburn," Strate said. "Now our players know they're capable of playing like that against the best teams in the country."

Strate also said she is impressed with her club's improvement during the season.

"Two of our seven losses have come to NAIA teams. We lost to Pittsburg 1-0 in the Central States Tournament and to Washburn 3-2 in nine innings. The other five losses have been to NCAA teams. I think that indicates how much we've improved since the beginning of the year," she said.

Wayne State 4..... St. Xavier 2
The Lady Wildcats were out-hit 5-3 but made the most of their three hits for the two run victory.

Shelle Tomaszewicz initiated Wayne State's offense with a solo homer in the second inning.

The Lady Wildcats then opened a 2-0 lead the following inning when Paula Dotson singled, stole second, was sacrificed to third by Kristi Govig and crossed the plate on a throwing error.

Xavier tied the game at two in the fifth, but Wayne State answered with two more markers in their half of the fifth to reopen a two run advantage.

Kelly Zierke and Michelle Blomberg scored for the Lady Cats in the fifth. Zierke crossed the plate on an error and Blomberg came home on a Govig single.

Heidi Anderson picked up the win to improve her record to 2-0 on the year. Anderson hurled a three-hitter, while walking one and striking out one.

Washburn 3..... Wayne State 2

The Lady Wildcats touched Laura Klamm for a rare earned run in the third inning when Kathy Didier stroked a two-out single and Tomaszewicz followed with a double.

Wayne State scored again in the eighth off Klamm, who is an All-American and was last year's NAIA National Tournament MVP, when Mary Jean Guenther moved from second to third on a passed ball and scored on a Govig sacrifice fly.

Washburn scored in the fourth and in the top of the eighth to force a ninth frame. Washburn tallied an unearned run in the ninth to open a 3-2 lead. Wayne State's Michelle Blomberg reached third base with no outs in the ninth, but was unable to score and Washburn hung on for the thrilling victory.

Mary Lingelbach was credited with the tough-luck loss. Washburn finished the tourney with a 5-0 mark.

SW Missouri State 5... Wayne State 1

Wayne State opened a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Ronda Peck singled, was sacrificed to second by Blomberg and scored on a Teresa Durbala single.

Laurel finished with four second place finishes at the meet. Steve Schmitt placed second in the pole vault with a 9-6 effort, and Erick Christensen's 38-0 toss in the shot put earned him a red ribbon.

Laurel's 3200 and 1600 relay teams also placed second with 9:23.6 and 3:57.9 timings, respectively. Ron Anderson, Scott Marquardt and Paul Pearson join Nixon on the two Bear relay teams.

Laurel's 400 meter relay team placed third with a 48.8 clocking. Jim Hubbel, Brad Prescott, Steve Schmidt and Randy Sherry participated in the 400 relay for Laurel.

GO FLY A KITE SAFELY

Everyone enjoys flying kites this time of year...but this pleasant pastime can cause you real problems if your kite comes into contact with overhead power lines. That's why you're much safer when you observe these simple rules:

- Avoid flying kites or model airplanes in areas where there are power lines, trees or buildings.
- Never climb a pole or tree to retrieve a snagged kite or model plane.
- Be sure not to use any metal on your kite, string or tail.

Have fun — but remember, you'll enjoy yourself more if you know what's watt about electric safety.

Wildcats sweep Dana

Wayne State undefeated at home

There's no place like home. "The Wizard of Oz" might have popularized that phrase, but this year the Wayne State baseball team is proving the statement's validity as the Wildcats ran their win streak at home to six with a doubleheader sweep of Dana Tuesday afternoon.

Wayne State survived a mild rally by Dana in the middle innings of the opener to claim a 9-5 victory, then pounded the visitors 10-0 in the nightcap.

The Wildcats started quickly in the opener as Pat Salerno ripped a single in the first inning and scored when Mike Hoffart blasted his second homer of the season.

Wayne State added another run before tallying two more in the fourth to open a 5-1 lead. In Wayne State's half of the fourth, Kurt Brosamle popped a solo homer to right and Monty Schultz doubled home Randy Raabe.

Dana tied the game at five in the top of the fifth with four runs, but the Wildcats scored two runs in both the fifth and sixth frames to claim the victory.

In the fifth, Dale Clayton singled, stole second and scored on a Hoffart double. Raabe and Jeff Strain then followed with consecutive singles to plate Hoffart.

Gale Bretschneider started Wayne State's sixth with a single and Clayton reached on a fielder's choice.

The two Wildcat baserunners then advanced to scoring position on a double steal. Bretschneider eventually scored on a force out and Clayton crossed the plate on another Hoffart double.

Hoffart, who entered the game with a .317 average, finished 3-for-4 with four RBI.

Bretschneider, Raabe, Strain and Schultz all collected two hits apiece for the Wildcats.

Kevin Hoffart started for Wayne State and pitched 4 2/3 solid innings before giving away to Jeff Rothrock, who tossed the final 2 1/2 frames to collect the win.

A second inning uprising in the nightcap led to a Wildcat sweep as Wayne State tallied seven runs in the wild frame.

Wayne State opened a 2-0 advantage in the first on an RBI double by Salerno and an RBI single by Hof-fart.

Salerno, Hoffart and Destry Jaeger all had one RBI in the second inning for the Wildcats, while Strain and Clayton both collected two RBI in the second.

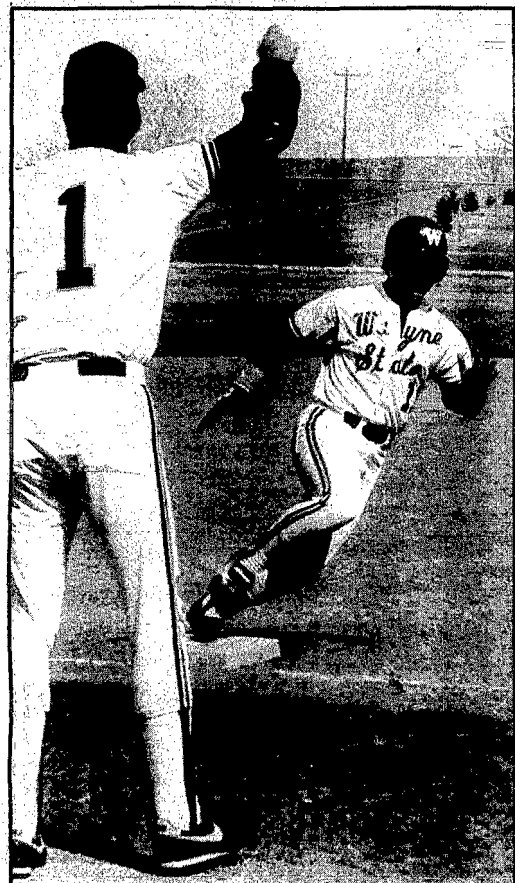

Wayne State then ended the game with the 10-run rule when pinch hitters Craig Hilgendorf, Randy Lau and Jeff Pasold all stroked consecutive singles.

Raabe pitched a two-hit shutout to claim his first victory of the year. Raabe was in total command as he struckout seven and walked only one.

The Wildcats totaled 26 hits in the two games, including 15 in the opener.

The victory improved Wayne State's record to 7-18 overall, and 4-2 in District 11 competition. The top four teams in the district qualify for the playoffs.

The Wildcats play again Friday and Saturday at Doane, and will attempt to continue their winning ways at home with a doubleheader against Kearney State on Sunday.

Kearney State deals Wayne State doubleheader sweep

KEARNEY — Wayne State lost both ends of a doubleheader to Kearney State here Sunday. The Antelopes pushed their win streak to six with 8-2 and 15-5 victories over the Wildcats.

In the opener, Wayne State clung to a 1-1 tie until the fifth inning when the Lopers rallied for four runs. Kearney then added three insurance runs in the sixth and claimed the victory.

The fifth inning of the second game was also a nightmare for Wayne State as Kearney State erupted for seven markers to end the game with the 10-run rule. The Lopers held an 8-5 advantage heading into the fifth.

The Wildcats have a busy week ahead of them as they played host to Dana Tuesday and Wednesday, before playing at Doane Friday and Saturday. Wayne State then hosts Kearney State Sunday, April 13, for two seven inning games at the WSC diamond. The opener is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m.

The two losses to Kearney State dropped the Wildcats to 5-18 on the year. Wayne State is 4-0 at home, but just 1-18 on the road.

After the first 23 games, Kurt Brosamle is leading the team in several offensive categories. The burly outfielder is hitting .409, has 10 doubles and 15 RBI.

Mike Hoffart and Dale Clayton are the only other Wildcats over .300 as both sport .317 averages. Hoffart leads the team in RBI with 22, while Clayton owns a team-leading 16 stolen bases. Gale Bretschneider has stolen 13 bases in 14 attempts.

Other Wildcat batting averages are: Paul Calvert, .283; Jeff Strain, .190; Randy Raabe, .250; Pat Salerno, .271; Craig Koehler, .182; Monty Schultz, .238; and Bretschneider, .227.

Kevin Hoffart leads the Wildcat pitching staff with a 3-3 record and 29 1/3 innings pitched.

Dennis Volmer, 1-3, leads the squad in strikeouts with 24 in 25 innings of work, while Jeff Strain has the best earned run average at 4.50.

Strate

Strate said her club can play with anybody on any given day.

"I think we have the capabilities to beat anybody on any given game, and we're gradually getting better and better," she said. "At times we have a problem with not having our heads into the game, but when we're ready both physically and mentally, we're tough. If everybody plays up to their potential, we can be pretty tough."

game at one in his half of the fourth and opened a 5-1 lead the following inning and hung on for the win.

Peck collected two hits in the loss, while Durbala, Tomasziewicz, Dolesh and Shell Schumann all totaled one safety.

Anderson allowed eight hits over 4 1/3 innings and was credited with the loss.

UNO's Wayne State 5

The University of Nebraska-Omaha tallied five runs in the first two frames and held off a four-run rally by Wayne State to claim the three run victory.

The Lady Wildcats entered the third inning trailing 5-0, but Govig and Didier both singled and scored on an error making the score 5-2. Tomasziewicz then clubbed her third homer of the year to make the score 5-4.

But UNO pushed across two more runs in the fourth and added an insurance run in the seventh to claim the win.

Govig and Didier both collected two hits in the game, while Durbala, Tomasziewicz and Peck each finished with one.

Wayne State is now 8-7 on the year. The Lady Wildcats played host to Peru State Tuesday and Brar Cliff Wednesday. Wayne State will compete in the Augustana Tournament in Sioux Falls, S.D., April 11-12.

The paving will be a cost-share project, with the city paying only 25 percent of the road paving cost that will be assessed to neighboring property owners.

Bid letting for the sanitary sewer and water extension for the city project along Providence Road will be May 13 at 7:40 p.m.

In other action, the city council passed a resolution calling for Nebraska U.S. senators and representatives to vote against the current federal administration's plan to sell off dams and power distribution projects to private enterprises. This includes hydroelectric power projects across the nation, although Kloster particularly mentioned the power projects on the Missouri River.

If the bill is passed, Kloster said "power bills will go up tremendously."

Kloster said attempts have been made for years by companies seeking to take over the federal power projects. The current federal administration has become more vulnerable because it has gained greater conscious of removing the nation's debt.

"There never has been more effort put forth or successfulness in convincing the administration [to sell off the power projects]," Kloster mentioned.

ALSO TUESDAY evening, the city council:

Received bids for a three wheel mechanical street sweeper. The lowest bid (with trade-in allowance) was submitted by Nebraska Tractor and Equipment Company of Omaha. That bid was $52,300.

Other bids were received from Big Bear Equipment Company of Omaha; Fehrs Tractor and Equipment of Omaha and Highway Equipment Company of Lincoln.

Was informed by City Administrator Kloster that Saturday, May 17 has been established as a city-wide clean-up day.

Kloster said he met with the area Boy Scout representatives and came up with the city-wide clean-up day, which will be a joint effort between the city and scouts to "beautify the city of Wayne."

A combination of city equipment, private equipment and the boy scouts arm power will be used in the clean-up day. "We just ask that the people make a donation to the scouts for picking up the items," Kloster said.

The scouts will pick up "items in yards that you always wanted to get rid of, but never did, like a refrigerator or an old couch," he added.

Listened to Kloster's recommendation that a special council meeting take place for the purpose of doing some revision on the city's long term debts which could result in savings of up to $90,000. "We need to do this while the market is down," Kloster said.

The city must also begin looking at what is needed for the proposed water project as far as financing is concerned, he recommended.

And applied for federal funding in the operation of the Wayne Senior Citizens Mini-Bus Program. Currently, donations from riders comprise approximately 30 percent of the annual expense to run the service, while the city of Wayne chips in 25 percent and federal funding covers approximately 50 percent.

New product

OFF THE ASSEMBLY line at Heritage Industries, Inc. of Wayne were modular units resembling the company's latest venture into the commercial structure arena — a bank building. The modular units were transported to Lincoln, where the final product — a 1,800 square foot structure — will become a branch office of the Commercial Federal Bank of Lincoln. Employees at the Wayne industry have also been busy assembling other new modular structures, including buildings for automatic teller machines and also a two-story 30-unit motel called the Heritage Inn that will be transported to Chaska, Minnesota. Heritage Industries, Inc. also manufactures photo labs, kiosks and concourse sales centers, in addition to a variety of homes.

Timpte

Timpte's corporate headquarters to the Wayne site.

"I am excited about becoming a part of the Wayne community and I am personally delighted about being in Nebraska. I'm delighted that I am only just 1.8 miles away from my office [at the Timpte plant], said Remick.

"It is my thinking that a majority of them [corporate personnel] will be relocating to Wayne, maybe some to Norfolk," he said.

One area which Timpte officials hope will be pursued in the future is the carrying out of the project plans for expansion at the Wayne Municipal Airport.

"CENTURY SERIES" is the logo appearing on Timpte trailers manufactured in the Wayne plant.

Remick said many of the major fleet owners have their own airplanes and often travel to the Timpte plant sites to make inspection of the products they will buy. Expanding at the airport to meet increased air traffic demand could entice, as an indirect result, more industrial-type interest toward relocating or building in Wayne.

Remick pointed out a certain special logo currently being placed on the trailers being manufactured by Wayne employees.

The "Century Series" logos signify an important element that ties Timpte and the city of Wayne together.

Both are 102 years old — and the Timpte officials want everyone to know they are proud of that fact.

pipes at the elementary and middle schools. The asbestos may be located inside the cloth wrapping insulating the pipes. Haun stressed that nothing needs to be removed and there is no danger involved.

— Received a letter from Gertrude Vahlkamp, Wayne Middle School teacher, announcing that the Area IV Special Olympics swimming, track and field meet will be held at Wayne State College on May 2-3. Area IV includes 22 counties in northeast Nebraska.

— Learned from Superintendent Haun that a petition may be presented at next month's board meeting from Dixon County Rural School District 59, located northeast of Wayne. The petition, if presented next month, would take effect in June and would dissolve the district and bring the land into the Wayne-Carroll district.

— Heard a report from Haun regarding the possibility of offering to contract with other school districts for high school instruction in the areas of driver ed, foreign language, shop advanced science and math, and computer class. Haun pointed out that the study came about as a result of a recommendation by the AA visitation team which visited Wayne last month. "As far as any asset to our school district, there is none," said Haun, "but perhaps we can be of service to students in other schools." Board member Cap Peterson said he felt the Wayne school district should offer to contract, with other school districts having the option to decide if they want to take advantage of it. "I wouldn't be opposed to it where it doesn't jeopardize our own program," said Becky Keidel, board president. Haun said he will pursue the matter with the understanding that if something does come about he will bring the issue back to the board.

— Appointed a committee of school board members Joyce Reeg, Arnold Emry and Becky Keidel to negotiate with Wayne State College regarding the rental fee for use of the college football field. Presently, the district pays $40 per game, plus $60 to $90 for labor per game. The college is requesting that the Wayne school district pay $1,322.41 per season, plus the $60 to $90 labor per game. Haun told board members that Wayne plays approximately four home games each year at the stadium during the football season.

— Approved a list of seniors recommended for graduation from Wayne High School on May 18 at 7 p.m. The list includes 34 girls and 36 boys.

— Learned from Haun that open house at Wayne elementary and middle schools will be held April 29.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, board members met in executive session to discuss teacher negotiations.

Next meeting of the board of education will be May 13 at 8 p.m.

NEW TORCH™ TWIN-PACK HERBICIDE

Cuts it when others can't.

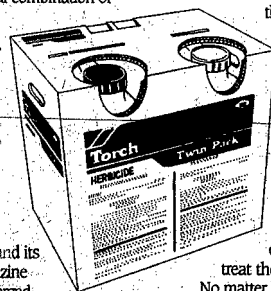

Year after year your pre-emergent corn and sorghum herbicide promised you broadleaf control, but just delivered problems. Now it's time to change your plan. TORCH™ Twin-Pack Herbicide is specifically designed to give you the broadleaf control others only promise.

CUTS OUT THE COMPETITION.

TORCH is the post-emergence herbicide specifically designed to cut down over 20 broadleaves in corn and sorghum. It controls the tough weeds like velvetleaf, cocklebur, and pigweed. And its powerful combination of bromoxynil and atrazine works like no single pre- or post-emergent herbicide can.

CUTS CROP DAMAGE.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide is strong, but only on broadleaves. Its bromoxynil controls many species of phenoxy- and triazine-resistant weeds and its low concentration of atrazine controls the partially emerged weeds. TORCH does all this without the crop damage phenoxy and dicamba can cause. And it won't drift to adjoining crops either. TORCH is the herbicide designed for the special needs of corn and sorghum.

CUTS OUT CARRYOVER.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide meets the special needs of rotational corn and sorghum growers. TORCH brand won't damage your crops this season or your rotation crops next season. That's because it's specifically designed to do the job and then break down, leaving your field safe for rotational crop planting next year.

CUTS THE COST OF BROADLEAF CONTROL.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide gives you more than effective broadleaf control, it gives you economical weed control, too. That's because it's a part of a complete cost effective weed control plan. And TORCH is easy to use. Treat for grasses first then let TORCH cut down broadleaves when they come up. TORCH brand can save you money because, unlike pre-emergence herbicides, you don't have to treat every acre. Just treat the acres with a broadleaf problem. No matter how you look at it, TORCH can cut it when others can't.

Ag secretary announces buy-out of red meat

Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture will begin purchasing 400 million pounds of red meat to help offset the impact of increased slaughter of dairy cattle under USDA's whole-herd dairy buy-out program.

Lyng said the new purchases, mandated by the Food Security Act of 1985, will be in addition to quantities of red meat normally purchased for distribution to the school lunch program and other domestic feeding programs.

The Act authorized the establishment of the dairy buy-out program in an effort to reduce domestic milk production.

PURCHASES OF CANNED beef and ground beef will begin immediately, Lyng said. Purchases of other red-meat items will be timed to coincide with slaughter under the termination program and to assist markets.

"Of the 400 million pounds to be purchased," said Lyng, "200 million pounds will be donated to nonprofit charitable institutions for the needy, to nutrition programs for the elderly, to nonprofit summer camps for children and to other child-nutrition programs including the school lunch program. The remaining 200 million pounds will be exported."

Information on purchases for domestic use may be obtained from the Contracting Officer, Livestock and Seed Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250; telephone (202) 447-2650.

Information on purchases for export may be obtained from the Director, Dairy, Livestock and Poultry Division, Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA, Washington D.C. 20250; telephone (202) 447-8031.

Interested parties may request information on the appropriate agency's bidder mailing list.

Operating costs reduced

Spayed implanted heifers gain faster

Spayed beef heifers implanted with a growth hormone will gain faster on pasture and in the feedlot and will reduce operating costs for cattle feeders, said Donald Hudson, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension veterinarian.

Hudson, of NU's West Central Research and Extension Center in North Platte, said the main advantage in spaying a feeder heifer is to prevent pregnancy.

"A bred heifer that calves in the feedlot will cost the cattle feeder about $150 due to calving problems, decreased gain, infection and decreased carcass quality and yield. A 16 percent average of heifers entering feedlots are pregnant and heifers going into a lot in late fall and early winter average about 30 percent pregnant."

Heifer spaying is increasing in popularity with cattlemen. Feeders like the spayed heifer and many markets are reporting a $1 to $3 per hundredweight selling advantage for them, said Hudson.

THE EXTENSION veterinarian said there are four spaying techniques.

• A vaginal spay (Kimberling-Rupp Technique) in which a veterinary surgeon removes the ovaries.

• Another vaginal spay in which a Willis Instrument is used to excise the ovaries and drop them into the peritoneal cavity.

• The Ovarian Autograft Technique, a routine flank spay. A small tissue section of the ovary is implanted into the rumen wall.

But results of three research trials conducted here at the Center, the University's Gudmundsen Sandhills Laboratory at Whitman and the NU Panhandle Research and Extension Center at Scottsbluff showed no statistical difference in average daily gain while on native range if the heifers received the growth implant in the ear. "The implant is the key to obtaining improved cattle performance," Hudson stressed.

The study involved 350 heifers, comparing the four spaying techniques with and without Ralgro ear implants. "We used Ralgro in this study but other growth implants would produce similar results," he said.

Heifers from the Gudmundsen unit went into the West Central Center's feedlot to be finished for slaughter. The group that were implanted when going to pasture were re-implanted. The implanted spayed heifers gain ed about 10 percent faster than the spayed non-implanted heifers in the feedlot phase, reported Hudson. There was no difference in feed efficiency.

Carcass data indicated the implanted heifers had heavier carcass weights and lower carcass quality. The implanted heifers graded low choice with the non-implanted group grading choice. There was no difference among the groups in backfat, yield grade or percent kidney, pelvic or heart fat.

"Spaying heifers is a good management tool and can be an aid in pasture management and marketing," said Hudson. "Any of the four techniques, depending on the veterinary surgeon's choice will provide similar results. But, heifers must receive a growth implant for maximum performance," Hudson concluded.

Juniper selections
The pfitzer juniper is probably the most widely planted juniper. It can also be considered widely misplanted because of its variable and wide-spreading form, which commonly grows to be more than five feet high and ten feet wide. The requirement for the regular pruning to keep a pfitzer planting in bounds for most sites give junipers, in general, a bad reputation. Many other selections from this plant group labeled Juniperus chinensis can be used as foundation plantings, ground covers and mass plantings. They include:

- Armstrong — 3 to 4 feet high with an equal or greater spread, horizontal branching and bright, yellowish-green color.
- Iowa — forms a loose pyramid of blue-green foliage and, with time becomes 8 to 10 ft. high, has resistance to juniper blight.
- Sargentii — a low growing (18 to 24 inches high) and wide spreading (7 1/2 to 9 ft. wide) ground cover with blue-green color. There are several selections of this variety available.
- Sea Spray — a good ground cover growing less than 1 ft. high, having blue-green foliage and good resistance to root rot and juniper blight.
- Maney — an excellent plant for cold climates, having bushy semi-erect form and bluish-green color. Often grows 6 ft. high and wide.

Preemergence weed control in turf
There is a big push to move preemergence herbicides for lawn weed control. It's alright to sell and buy them now but hold off on application. Mid to late May is the best time to apply Dacthal, Betasan and Balan in this area.

Preemergence law herbicides control which is primarily annual grasses such as crabgrass, foxtail, goosegrass and barnyard grass. Dacthal also controls prostrate spurge and purslane. None of the preemergence materials control perennials such as dandelion, field bindweed and ground ivy. Holding off on preemergence applications until just prior to weed seed germination extends effective control later into July and August. A second treatment around July 1 is necessary for season long spurge control.

Tupersan is a special preemergence product that can be applied when planting a new bluegrass lawn. It is usually designated "For New Lawn Seedlings." Tupersan controls crabgrass and foxtail without harmful effects on the bluegrass if label directions are followed. It is especially useful if a new lawn planting is delayed until May or June.

the farmer's wife by pat meierhenry

Two beautiful Sundays in a row are almost unheard of, especially when there was rain and mud in between and Denver had a snow storm.

Grandma grilled steaks for Easter. The Big Farmer borrowed a station wagon so the girls could lie down, and we brought them home that night. Ann was back in school on Tuesday, but it's taking longer for Kay to recuperate.

Head injuries are scary things. For her, there have been headaches and dizziness. She has also been acutely aware of noise and smells, and memory is not totally dependable. It makes us realize that whenever there is trauma to this area of the body, there may be unusual symptoms.

One friend told us of her sister who was hit by a softball. For three days she did not recognize her husband. After that, she didn't know her children. He explained who they were, she asked what their names were, and then said, "Why did we name them that?"

So we are taking it slowly, trying to give the brain time to recover.

WE WERE privileged to share the golden anniversary observance of Alfred and Lena Miller yesterday. Because they were a teacher and a school bus driver, they have been an important part of our children's lives.

Parents certainly don't raise their children alone. We have, and need, help from grandparents, aunts and uncles, pastors, teachers, Sunday school teachers, baby sitters and loving neighbors. All contribute in important and meaningful ways.

Mike and I were part of a group concerned about rural suicide last month. A pastor spoke of the need for each of us to be aware of our neighbors and notice any tell-tale signs of depression.

It occurred to me that I had not even seen some of my neighbors for some time. We are all so busy working off the farm, we're losing touch with each other. I didn't know if they were depressed.

Maybe taking the heart envelope and March of Dimes folder around will give me an opportunity to visit, much as I dislike those things.

ON SATURDAY morning, I was the guest of a Neighbor to Neighbor group that meets in local churches at Osmond. They get together every other week for breakfast and sharing. It warmed my heart to see the way they cared about each other.

I'm hanging clothes out today, and not just because it's sunny and windy. My dryer is kaput. It's as old as
