PMC plans events for Hospital Week

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Providence Medical Center of Wayne plans on celebrating National Hospital Week with a running start. Kicking off the activities will be a "Run, Walk for Fitness" event scheduled for Saturday, May 10 at 10 a.m.

The course will be two miles. The first 100 people to sign-up for the fitness event will get a free T-shirt to commemorate their two mile run or walk. The first man and the first woman to cross the finish line will get a free jacket with the hospital's name and the theme of Providence Medical Center's May 12-16 celebration — "Hospitals: Make Healthy Neighbors."

According to Sister Kevin Hermesen, coordinator of the "Run, Walk for Fitness," the race will begin at the Providence Medical Center parking lot, southward on Providence Road, west on 10th Street to Hillcrest, north and west on Hillcrest, north on Walnut and east on 14th Street to Providence Medical Center.

"They will take that route twice,"

Sister Kevin said.

ALSO IN conjunction with National Hospital Week, the hospital will be conducting tests for colorectal cancer. The material packets used for this check-up will be passed out prior to and during National Hospital Week, according to coordinator Elizabeth Mohr.

Mohr said the cancer society recommends that those over 50 years of age take advantage of the free colorectal screening check-up. Those who have a family history of certain types of cancer and are over 40 years of age should also be screened.

The test is simple, Mohr said and the procedure is explained when the packet of materials is distributed.

Individuals can pick up the packets for colorectal testing on Saturday, May 10 from 9 a.m. to noon and on Sunday, May 11 from 12 noon to 3 p.m.

If those wishing to take the cancer screening cannot pick up their packets at these times, they can call Providence Medical Center from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily during National Hospital Week from May 12 to May 16. The caller should leave their name and address so that the packet can be mailed out to them.

Mohr asks that the kits be returned to Providence Medical Center by May 31.

Jill Jordan and Ann Perry will be assisting Providence Medical Center in the colorectal screening service as part of their Challenge Project for the Girl Scout Gold Award.

PROVIDENCE Medical Center Administrator, Marci Thomas said the colorectal tests are just part of the many special tests and services which the local hospital provides.

Some of the hospital's special services mentioned include:

- Having a registered physical therapist available five days a week. The hospital also has the services of a speech therapist and provides respiratory and recreational therapy.
- Conducting audiology tests as needed, primarily to conduct hearing tests for those in industry in order to conform with OSHA rules and regulations, as well as others wishing a hearing test.

- Outside education classes such as for CPR and Lamaze or other classes, going beyond that of fulfilling acute physical needs.
- And other services such as pastoral care; cardiac rehabilitation program which has been approved by Blue Cross; Lifeline, which is a personal emergency response program; infant care seats that are available on a rental basis; social service work; ambulance service; intensive and coronary care unit and discharge planning.

AMONG THOSE staffing special clinics at Providence Medical Center are: a neurologist from Lincoln who arrives every other week; an ear-nose-throat specialist from Lincoln every other week; a radiologist three times a week to do special x-ray procedures; and orthopedics, who will set up out-patient clinics as needed.

Some of the medical procedures and tests conducted at the local hospital include mammography every other week; ultrasound every week; electrocardiograms, echocardiograms and doppler when needed; pulmonary function; and laboratory tests.

Sister Kevin said Providence Medical Center, owned and operated by the Missionary Benedictine Sisters, is working to educate and distribute information to the public on a good diet and exercise.

"We want people to understand that we are trying to promote wellness rather than just curing sickness," Sister Kevin said.

Occupancy at Providence Medical Center has been steady.

"The hospital has adjusted well to regulations and has been maintaining an average overall occupancy of close to 60 percent in 1986," said Marci Thomas.

One of the successful ventures by Providence Medical Center was the initiation of the skilled care swing bed, desired to provide extended care to the patient who requires skilled care after acute hospitalization.

The patient remains in the hospital room and receives skilled medical care and treatment provided by 24 hour professional nursing service.

In 1985, of the over 4,000 hospital beds occupied in the 31 bed hospital, close to 1,100 were occupied by swingbed patients.

Music contest features high school talent

A large number of northeast Nebraska high school students received high ratings in music competition this past weekend at Wayne State College.

High school students across northeast Nebraska participated in the annual Nebraska School Activities Association District III Music Contest conducted Friday and Saturday at Wayne State College.

Area schools participating included Wayne-Carroll, Allen, Laurel, Wakefield and Winside.

Judges for the event included Ray DeVilbiss of Vermillion, South Dakota; Robert Jenkins of Omaha; Paula Keeler of Heelan High School in Sioux City; Harry Moon of Morningside College in Sioux City; John Sether of LeMars High School (Iowa); and David Silhacek of Sioux Center, Iowa.

The Wayne-Carroll Band received a superior rating for the 31st consecutive year. The mixed chorus also received a I rating (Superior).

A mixed duet vocal team, comprised of Krista Ring and Kurt Runestad recorded a I rating, as did the flute trio of Shella Cowgill, Lori Anderson and Karmyn Koenig. The Cornet-Trumpet Trio of Nick Engelson, Seth Anderson and Jeff Green also recorded a superior mark.

In vocal solo competition, receiving I ratings were Krista Ring, Lori Anderson, Kurt Runestad and Jay Bruna. Excellent ratings (II) were captured by Nora Froeschle, Brenda Gimsman, Mary Supley, Dale Hansen and Brian Schmidt.

In the instrumental solo division, Wayne-Carroll got superior ratings from Krista Ring (oboe), Shella Cowgill (flute) and Kurt Runestad (Trumpet). Receiving II ratings were Karmyn Koenig (flute), Jed O'Leary (clarinet), Ronda Elsberry (clarinet), Jim Hartman (baritone horn), and Crystal Green (French horn).

Krista Ring and Shella Cowgill both achieved I ratings in piano competition.

THE WINSIDE school band and stage band also gained superior ratings.

Gaining II ratings for Winside were the mixed chorus, girls glee and swing choir.

The clarinet trio team of Kerrt Leighton, Julie Brockman and Lana Prince received a superior rating. Getting an excellent rating were the girls trio (Kay Meierhenry, Julie Warnemunde and Tracy Topp) and the girls sextet consisting of Julie

City reduces special assessments

by Chuck Hackenmiller

After chopping off nearly $1,800 from a total assessment figure of $37,114.75, the Wayne City Council adopted a schedule of assessments for the street improvement district of West 3rd Street.

The action came following protests of the original assessments that were proposed to the Board of Equalization, a board that is comprised of city council members.

Total cost of the improvement, as compiled by the city administrators and Bruce Gilmore and Associates (representatives (city engineers)), was $44,638 and it proposed that approximately $7,523 of that amount be absorbed as general obligation by the city, bringing the special assessment figure to be shared by property owners at approximately $37,114.

Among those requesting relief from the assessment figures was Jim Coan, subdivision of the Western Nebraska subdivision. He questioned whether property owners should be assessed on a 1/2 intersection that he says West 3rd Street called Emerald Drive, citing examples of when relief was granted from intersections in previous street improvement projects.

He said the better of equalization should be considered with the relief section.

"I think it's getting the street and the house it's right," Coan said in his questioning session.

He also questioned why a triangular parcel of property along Oak Drive, south of West 3rd Street which nears the intersection of West 3rd and Oak Drive, had also been assessed.

THE ASSESSED amount to Coan for the Emerald Drive intersection is $1,232 while the parcel along Oak Drive was assessed to Coan at almost $541.

Dennis Hirschnbrunner, a spokesman for Bruce Gilmore and Associates, said that Coan was assessed those amounts because he was the primary benefactor of the West 3rd Street improvements.

Another factor he stated was that the improvement district established for the work on West 3rd Street was initiated by petition of property owners abutting the paving project and had not originated at the request of the city of Wayne.

Joe Dorcay of Wayne asked that a $1,179 assessed value on property which he said was donated over to the city of Wayne also be erased and be part of the city's general obligation expense.

THE GROUND WAS needed for rights of way purposes in order to build West 3rd Street. However, Wayne City Attorney Ken Swartz said there was no agreement between Coan and the city of Wayne to purchase the land.

John Strube, who resides at 319 Oak Drive said he has little benefit of West 3rd Street. He also requested a 50 percent reduction in assessment.

"I did not sign the petition to form a government district in the first place," he said.

Director Swartz told the council that coming, whether it comes from the subdivider or whether it comes from someone else. He gave up $1,270 so that project could proceed," said Klotser.

"You as a council will have to decide whether or not it is worth $1,270 to have a right-of-way for a street which you could not have built without that right-of-way," he said.

Dorcay told the council that he did not think that he was going to give away the land, an approximate 28' by 106' parcel, to the city. "Otherwise I would not have had it appraised," he said.

Several other property owners protested to their share of assessments. Terry Meyer at 302 Oak Drive said his property does not benefit from the road improvement and he asked for a 50 percent reduction in his assessment amount.

Also requesting a 50 percent reduction was Charles Majer who resides at 323 Oak Drive, saying that the improvement project offered him no inlets or outlets for travel. "I don't believe this is a fair share," he told the city council members. He called the assessments "taxation without representation."

John Strube, who resides at 319 Oak Drive said he has little benefit of West 3rd Street. He also requested a 50 percent reduction in assessment.

"I did not sign the petition to form a government district in the first place," he said.

Director Swartz told the council that the assessment were equitably distributed to those who benefit from the road improvement, and he recommended that the assessments "stand as is."

OTHERS VOICING objections to the assessments were Steve Schumacher and Dennis Murray. Murray said he would like to see his assessment cut in half.

Councilman Darrel Heier, in discussing the $1,232 cost being assessed for the Emerald Drive T-intersection, pointed out that the intersection is not four-way.

"We decided in the past that it was not a good idea to pick up the cost on intersections. Maybe it's time we established a procedure and stayed with it," Heier said.

Klotser said one area to look at to reduce the cost would be go ahead and relieve Dorcay's assessment.

Mayor Wayne Marsh said he would personally favor general obligation costs to the city for the Emerald Drive intersection, the triangle of parcel near Oak Drive and the Dorcay property. "As to relief for anyone else, I would leave that up to the council," Marsh said.

The council voted that the property needed to the city by Dorcay get relief from the assessment and that the triangular piece of property also be picked up as general obligation by the city.

by Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
U. Gov. Donald McGlinchey called Gov. Bob Kerrey's budget vetoes "courageous and unrewarding."
But many senators are simply puzzled that a man retiring from public office would act like a man running for re-election.

obstinate simply because McFarland was a Democratic favorite.
After all, it was Kerrey who angered the party loyal by appointing a Republican, Robert Spire, as Attorney General; when there were qualified Democrats willing and eager to serve.

Some senators said Kerrey appeared "angry" as he walked down the aisle of the Legislative Chamber to give his closing remarks to senators on the last day of the session.
He avoided eye contact; he didn't stop to shake hands as is his usual style. He stalked in and stalked out, they said.

He has been consistent, Kerrey says. He believes that expanding the tax base (by a sales tax on additional services) is a better long range solution than simply increasing tax rates.
He believes that a reduced budget will force agencies and the University to abandon unnecessary programs and build quality into the remaining ones.
Despite his denials, Kerrey's every move is analyzed by the Refunda crew in the light of political ambition.

Like many in the Yuppy generation, Kerrey is not wedded to party.
When Chris Beutler decided to give up his legislative seat in mid session to campaign fulltime for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, some Lincoln Democrats encouraged the Governor to appoint Lincoln attorney Jim McFarland to that seat.
But they did it with some reservations, fearful that Kerrey would turn

At a public level the governor can provide cautious criticism and sincere praise without a single news conference.
The day after the Legislature adjourned Kerrey continued to lambaste their refusal to cut the budget and avoid a tax rate increase.
HE ACCUSED senators of pork barreling and spreading money like butter over everything.
Minutes later he praised their work on other issues and admitted he will miss the constant activity and adventure of the session.
At a private level Kerrey is also unpredictable. Senators say they never know what will "see them" when they walk into his office — a diet coke years for a higher political office.

He doesn't deny that he will likely "offer myself for political service" in the future.
But his current decisions are not based on that potential.
A reporter described the senators' comments and asked Kerrey if that behavior indicated his anger.
"That's one of the dumbest questions I've ever been asked," Kerrey replied.
THE GOVERNOR denies that his budget vetoes and adamant no tax rate increase stand is related to any viewpoint Assessing the situation

Tuesday night's hearing before the city board of equalization (city council) proves that there must be a better way for individuals to be informed of what their final assessment will be when a street project is completed.
In this instance concerning the improvements to West 3rd Street, near the Western Heights subdivision area, several of the property owners not even abutting the road improvement project were asking for relief from the assessments that were proposed.
The assessment district was initiated through petition, a procedure that requires a certain percentage of signatures of those abutting the West 3rd Street project. Several of those protesting the assessments that were given to them had not signed the petition.
Attempts were made to distribute the assessments to a proportion that was equitable, according to the city engineer. It all boils down to the benefits the property owner will benefit from the street improvement.
We feel some had a legitimate gripe about whether or not they benefited from the street improvement.
There should be some type of action that can be taken to let the property owners along an improvement project, or within the district, know approximately what the assessment will be prior to when the street improvement begins.
Councilmen Randy Pedersen and Freeman Decker brought out the point that it is unfortunate that property owners along the improvement project had no idea what the assessments will be prior to the completion of the project in the assessment district.
"The project is done, and then we hit them with it [the special assessment]" they say.
City Attorney Kem Swarts had pointed out that the city had fulfilled its necessary obligation in meeting requirements of the state statute — that is, publishing the necessary legals concerning the street improvement project. In this instance, the city was not required to notify the property owners.
A change in the notification process or change in the state statute is something that should be considered by the legislature.
Another instance, where lack of communication appeared to be the issue, involved property that was deeded to the city — but the city never purchased the property and so the person who gave the property to the city got assessed for the street improvement project. Even if the property did not belong to him anymore.
The property was needed as right-of-way or else the road improvement project could not be completed in the first place.
Confused?
Imagine the confusion felt by the property owner who thought he was, in good faith, helping the city by deeding a portion of his property to the city.
It is unfortunate that these incidents cannot be cleared up before the construction begins on the project.

Libyan bombing President's actions justifiable

by Jim Exon,
United States Senator from Nebraska
The United States has drawn the line against Libyan-backed terrorism. Libya has been a sanctuary for terrorists to plan attacks, but the recent American bombing raid on Libyan terrorist training areas has made Colonel Khadaffi fully aware that the United States will respond to terrorist aggressions. America will not sit quietly while innocent people die in unprovoked terrorist attacks.
Terrorism is an ever-present danger in today's world which is difficult to counter because it is usually indiscriminate and unpredictable. Too many Americans have suffered and been killed as a result of terrorist acts. America must take all possible precautions against terrorism and strike back whenever necessary. The interception and capture of the hijackers of the cruise ship Achille Lauro illustrated what our intelligence and armed forces are capable of accomplishing when the occasion presents itself. Given the evidence of past Libyan involvement in terrorism, the President had no choice but to order the air strike against Libya on April 14th.
Close cooperation with other governments is essential to effectively combat terrorism. On numerous occasions, the United States has worked with other governments and successfully prevented terrorist acts. These ties must be strengthened. Nations must work together to form an international agreement that would define international terrorism, deny political sanctuary to terrorists anywhere in the world, and impose economic sanctions against nations supporting terrorism.
Other defensive measures must also be taken to prevent terrorist acts. Airport and airline security must be improved. Congress has approved more airport security inspections and an expansion of the "Sky Marshal" program. Steps have been taken to improve the security of buildings and installations operated by the United States overseas. Our government officials and service personnel are receiving counter-terrorism training. Nonetheless, the recent bombing of a TWA jetliner and several terrorist acts against U.S. servicemen and their dependents in Europe reveal that still stronger security measures are needed.
With the exception of Great Britain, I was disappointed at the attitude of our European allies to the bombing of Libyan agents. Even though European nations have been the repeated victims of terrorism, they have not acted decisively against state sponsored terrorism. Until recently, most European allies have not even supported economic sanctions or diplomatic actions. Instead they tried to avoid the reality of the attacks and distanced themselves from the problem. Then, ironically, they complain that Americans are not vacillating in Europe.
The recent diplomatic actions taken by the European Community to limit the travel rights and number of Libyan officials are a step in the right direction but still far short of what is needed. Terrorism threatens the people of all nations and the sooner all nations join in the effort to fight it, the sooner it will be defeated.

Decision unreasonable Pork import reform needed

Since the International Trade Commission ruled that hog growers and pork packers are not producing like products — because there is not a continuous line between growers and packers — Canadian producers have been circumventing the countervailing duties on live hog imports by simply slaughtering their hogs in Canada and shipping their products into the United States.
The Commission's decision was not reasonable. It makes little sense to contend that there is not a continuous line between grower and producer when the farmer is unloading a truck full of hogs at a packing plant where, at the same time, workers are loading a truck with wrapped chilled pork on the other side of the building.
I am cosponsoring an amendment to the Tariff Act of 1930 that would clarify the Tariff act with regard to the single continuous line of production for raw agricultural products. It does this by establishing a clear and definitive economic link and relationship between raw agricultural products, such as livestock and further processed products.
The amendment directs the International Trade Commission to examine the degree of correlation between prices of the raw and processed agricultural commodity and with respect to value added. Producers of raw agricultural products in the United States would have standing to initiate countervailing duty and antidumping cases concerning imports of processed products, if the raw and processed products are completely obtained from one another. For example, the amendment would clarify that the production of swine is directly linked with fresh pork products through a single continuous production line, because fresh pork products are wholly derived from swine.

not exceed the amount of the individual's insolvency immediately prior to the transfer. The provision applies to those who have derived more than 50% of their gross income over the past three years from farming.

Alternative minimum tax bill passed
The Budget Reconciliation/Deficit reduction bill signed by the President on Monday, April 7, included the same provision as an Alternative Minimum Tax Bill that I have cosponsored.

Affected farmers will most likely file an amended return if they liquidated prior to 1985. But since it will take some time for the IRS to issue regulations on how to implement the change, taxpayers who filed 1985 returns based on the current law will probably also have to file amended returns later, after the new regulations have been implemented.

Controls on Government officials becoming foreign lobbyists
I am cosponsoring a bill that would keep former high level Federal or military officials from becoming lobbyists for foreign nations for five years after they leave their government jobs. It is not in the national interest when foreign governments use former high level government officials to gain access to present government officials.
Trip from Post Office to House offices is slow
Because of the volume of mail and limitations on the numbers of staff members, the distribution of mail that comes into the House of Representatives Post Office is quite slow. Too frequently I have been dismayed to learn that a letter mailed in Nebraska a look ten or more days to reach my office in Washington. This is especially frustrating when the letter includes a request that involves a deadline of some sort.

Unhappy with Conway
Wouldn't it be nice to set your own retirement benefits?
That's exactly what the state senators did! Yes, senator Gerald Conway of Wayne voted FOR the senator's retirement benefits and he also voted FOR raising taxes for Nebraskans by increasing the Nebraska sales tax.
Thanks to senator Elroy Hefner of Coleridge for opposing these bills. He tried to stop these spending measures stating that the constitution clearly prohibits such benefits for legislature.

Determined Hedlund strives to be his best

It is often said that track's greatest attribute is its variety. Simply put, track offers something for everyone. And for those that compete in the sport, personal satisfaction is more gratifying than glory.

Chris is a senior at Allen High School this spring and is completing his fourth year as a member of the Eagle track squad. Chris, however, is not an ordinary athlete. Actually, he's extraordinary.

During his 3 1/2 years of high school track, Chris' personal record in the 100 meter dash is 19.7, and his best in the 200 is 47.8.

But despite his lack of success, Chris still shows up every night after school for practice and does his best at weekly track meets.

It takes a certain kind of person to continue to compete even though the possibility of winning or even placing in a race is almost remote. And Allen head coach Dave Uldrich admits that Chris is, indeed, a special person.

Blue Devils cruise to triangular championships

Wayne's boys and girls combined for 24 first place finishes and cruised to respective titles in a triangular track meet Tuesday afternoon.

Wayne's boys totaled 105 markers, while the Blue Devils girls finished with 87 points.

Other winners for Wayne's boys in individual events were Tim Fleming in the pole vault (11-6), Cory Nelson in the discus (115-5) and Andy Hillier in the 800 (2:05.74).

Wakefield's McQuistan triple winner Hartington, Northeast win titles

Susie McQuistan and Suzanne Stelling guided Wakefield's girls to a second place finish behind Hartington at the Winside Invitational Track Meet at Memorial Stadium in Wayne Tuesday afternoon.

McQuistan was the meet's only triple winner. She captured titles in the 100, 200 and 400-meter dashes with 13.7, 27.5 and 59.8 clockings, respectively.

Girls Team Scores table with columns for team name and score.

Stelling, who underwent back surgery just prior to track season, won the high jump title with a 5-4 leap.

Last year, Stelling jumped 5-5, but her 5-4 is her personal best this season and ranks first in Nebraska in Class C.

Allen's Deb Uehling was a double winner. Uehling captured the 1600 and 3200 meter championships with 5:45.1 and 12:45.7 clockings, respectively.

Allen's girls were one of the favorites in the 3200 relay coming into the meet, but Denise Magnuson and Diane Magnuson, two legs on the relay, did not attend the meet because of a previous engagement.

Joyti Kwankin of Allen was the only double winner from the area in the boys division. Kwankin won the 110 meter high hurdles with a 15.7 time and his 42.4 allowed him the 300 meter intermediate hurdle title.

John Halverson of Wakefield claimed the 400 meter dash with a 52.9 effort.

The Lewis and Clark Conference Track Meet will be held Tuesday, May 6, at Memorial Stadium in Wayne.

Wayne State places second in CSIC

PITTSBURG, KAN. — A late rally by Wayne State's softball team fell short in the championship game of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) Tournament here Saturday and as a result, the Lady Wildcats were forced to settle for second place.

Pittsburg State opened a 4-0 lead after five innings and escaped with a 4-3 triumph and the conference title. The Lady Gorillas led 1-0 after two frames and added three more markers in the fifth for a 4-0 advantage. But Wayne answered with some fireworks of its own in the sixth.

Teresa Durbala stroked a one-out single in the sixth and moved to second on a wild pitch. Shelle Tomaszkiwicz then followed with a walk and Durbala scored when Pittsburg's second baseman played Mary Jean Guenther's grounder.

Tomaszkiwicz then crossed the plate when Pittsburg committed its second error of the inning on Shell Schumann's grounder.

Relief pitchers Heidi Anderson and Mary Lingelbach sent the Lady Gorillas down in order in the sixth and seventh innings, respectively, and the tension mounted in the bottom of the seventh when Wayne pulled to tie the game.

Kristi Govig ushered in Wayne's seventh with a single and reached third on a passed ball and a stolen base. Lingelbach then drove in Govig with a one-out sacrifice fly.

Durbala and Tomaszkiwicz then followed with consecutive singles. But Pittsburg recorded the final out and hung on for the triumph.

Wayne totaled eight hits in the game, including two each by Tomaszkiwicz and Govig. Govig had the only extra base hit for the Lady Wildcats when she doubled in the third.

fifth inning rally keyed Wayne past Washburn in the consolation finals.

Anderson chucked a four-hitter to record the shutout. The closest any Washburn baserunner got to scoring was in the second, fourth and fifth-innings when the Ichabods stranded runners on third base.

Wayne blew the game open in the fifth with all three of its runs.

Designated hitter Ronda Peck got the Lady Wildcats rolling with a one-out triple and Paula Dolesch reached with an infield single.

Mary Lingelbach then ripped a clutch key two-out double to plate both base runners and Lingelbach scored on Kristi Govig's triple.

Anderson then stranded two Lady Gorilla base runners in the sixth and one more in the seventh to preserve the victory.

The four hits the Lady Wildcats received in the fifth were all the safeties they totaled in the game.

Pittsburg State 3..... Wayne State 2 Wayne's first two batters of Saturday's opening game scored but no other Lady Wildcats crossed the plate and Pittsburg pulled out a 3-2 victory to bump Wayne into the loser's bracket.

Kristi Govig and Mary Jean Guenther led off the game by reaching base on consecutive errors by the Lady Gorillas and both scored on ensuing force plays.

But that was all the offense Wayne could generate and Pittsburg tallied one run in the second and two more in the third for the win.

All the runs scored in the game were unearned.

Wayne threatened to tie or regain the lead in every inning as at least one Lady Wildcat reached base. But Pittsburg always managed to dodge the bullet and hung on for the win.

Wayne's best chance to tie the game came in the fifth when Govig led off with a triple. But the next three Lady Wildcats went down in order to end the scoring threat.

Wayne totaled five hits in the game. Govig, Shelle Tomaszkiwicz, Paula Dolesch, Michelle Blomberg and Shell Schumann all collected one hit apiece for the Lady Wildcats.

Mary Lingelbach was the toughest losing pitcher.

Wayne plays again Wednesday at Yankton, S.D. against Mt. Marty and Friday at Saturday in the District 11 Tournament in Omaha.

The District 11 Tournament is double elimination and the winner will advance to BI-Districts May 9-10.

The Lady Wildcats are 9-1 against other District 11 teams this year. Their only setback was a 5-4 loss to St. Mary.

Wayne has a good shot at topping the school record for the most victories in a season. Last year, Wayne set the record with a 30-20 mark.

How 'bout them Lady Cats

Wayne State's second place finish in the CSIC Softball Tournament was the school's best finish since the Lady Wildcats hosted the event in 1984, when they also finished second. Wayne also placed fourth in the National Softball Tournament in 1984.

Marilyn Strate, Wayne's head coach, credited the impressive performance to solid hitting and pitching.

"I think hitting was our strong point during the tournament, and our pitchers did a super job, too," she said.

Shelle Tomaszkiwicz led Wayne in hitting during the tourney. The junior from Omaha batted .500, going 9-for-18 with three homers. Her CSIC tourney production raised her season average 12 points to .420. She is also fourth in the nation in slugging percentage.

Wayne has several other players over or near the .300 mark. Mary Lingelbach is hitting .328, while Kathy Didier is hitting .296. Others who are nearing the .300 mark are: Teresa Durbala, .292; Paula Dolesch, .288; and Kristi Govig, .283.

The leading pitchers for Wayne are: Ronda Peck, 9-1 and a 7.36 ERA; Heidi Anderson, 9-2 and a 4.69 ERA, and Lingelbach, 10-8 and a 1.55 ERA. Durbala and Mary Jean Guenther are also two of the better fielders in the country. Durbala currently has the fourth best fielding percentage for catchers and Guenther is ranked No. 10 for second basemen.

Wayne is now 26-11 on the year and have an excellent shot at breaking the school record of 30 victories in one season, which was set last year.

Wayne competes in the District 11 Tournament Friday and Saturday in Omaha. The Lady Wildcats' first game is against Doane at 11:30 a.m. on Friday. If Wayne wins its opening round game, the Lady Wildcats play again at 2:30 p.m. against the winner of the Nebraska Wesleyan/Peru State game.

The following is the district 11 Tournament seedings: 1. Wayne State, 2. St. Mary, 3. Kearney State, 4. Peru State, 5. Nebraska Wesleyan, 6. Concordia, 7. Dana, 8. Doane.

Wayne State improves recent winning percentage to .750 with sweep

Wayne State improved its winning percentage to .750 over its last 14 games with a doubleheader sweep over Mount Marty on the Wildcat diamond Tuesday. Wayne won the opener 8-5 and claimed the night cap, 10-0.

The Wildcats played long ball in the first game as five of Wayne's runs can be attributed to homer runs.

Wayne opened a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Pat Salerno singled and Gale Bretschneider followed with a two-run shot.

Mount Marty pulled within one by scoring its first marker in the third and tied the game with another run in the top of the fifth. But Wayne opened a 5-2 advantage in the bottom of the fifth.

Destry Jaeger ushered in the Wildcats' half of the fifth with a single and Paul Calvert followed with a walk. Mike "Hoss" Hoffart then ripped a shot to dead centerfield for a three-run homer.

The Wildcats iced the game with three more markers in the sixth. Monty Shultz started Wayne's sixth with a single and pinch-runner Dean Heying scored on a Calvert RBI single.

Dale Clayton then singled Calvert home and Kurt Brosamie drove in the eighth run with another single.

Mount Marty did score twice in the sixth and once in the seventh, but never seriously threatened.

Wayne totaled eight hits, with Salerno collecting two. In addition to his single, Salerno ripped a triple in the fifth after Hoffart's homer.

Dennis Vollmer was the winning pitcher. Vollmer, now 3-5 on the year, pitched 5 1/3 innings and struck out eight. Mark Priegnitz finished to pick up the save. Priegnitz totaled three more K's.

Wayne failed one run in each of the first four innings before erupting for five in the fifth and one more in the sixth to claim a 10-run rule victory in the nightcap.

After opening the 4-0 lead, Bretschneider opened the Wayne fifth with a triple and Jeff Strain walked before Shultz reached on an error to load the bases.

Another walk forced in the Wildcats' first run of the frame and Calvert doubled home two more. Brosamie then singled in two more runs to boost Wayne's lead to 9-0.

After holding Mount Marty scoreless in the top of the sixth, Wayne ended the game in the bottom of the inning when Bretschneider walked, stole second and scored on a Shultz single.

Shultz's game-finishing hit was a linedrive over the centerfielder's head, but since Bretschneider's run was the final of the game Shultz's hit is only considered a single.

Wayne totaled 10 hits in the second game, including two each by Bretschneider and Shultz.

Randy Raabe went the distance to improve his record to 3-2. Raabe fired a three-hitter and struck out four.

The Wildcats improved their overall record to 16-22 and have now won 12 of their 16 games and six of their last seven.

Lenny Klaver, Wayne's head coach, said he was pleased with his club's performance considering they have not played in nearly a week.

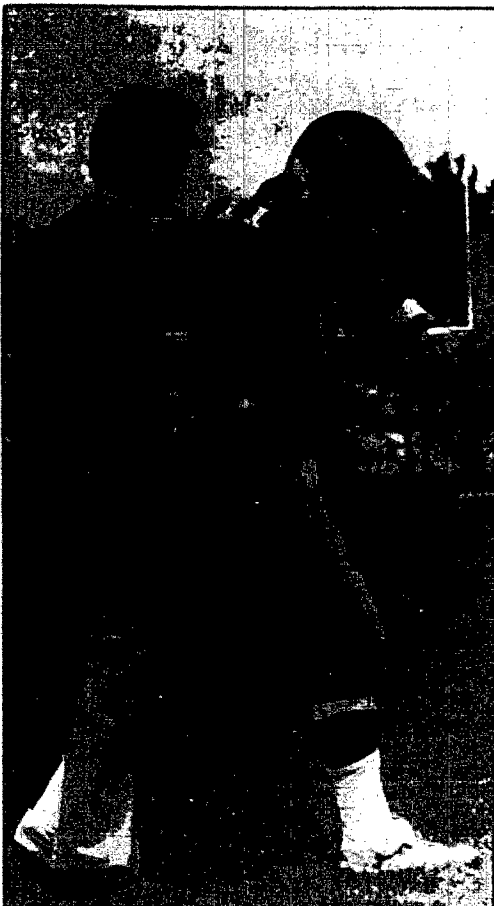

"I was happy to get the two wins because we haven't played in five days," he said. "We made a few mistakes and didn't execute correctly all the time, but you can't complain when you score 18 runs and sweep a doubleheader."

Wayne played Wednesday at Dordt and play again May 2-3 when Peru State travels to town.

Got the time

WAYNE STATE quarterback Scott Raue appears to be telling head coach Pete Chapman the time. The two are actually discussing which play to run. For more pictures from the spring game, turn to page 9a.

Wayne State varsity trims Alumni, 7-6

The Wayne State varsity defeated the alumni 7-6 in the annual spring football game at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

The varsity scored in the first quarter when sophomore-to-be Bill Minarik caught a 14-yard pass from Scott Raue. Tony Weise added the extra point and the varsity led 7-0 with 5:46 left in the first quarter.

The score remained 7-0 until the last minute of the game when the alumni put together a 72-yard scoring drive, capped by a 13-yard run by Carl Calvert. The two-point conversion by quarterback Mike Warren failed, leaving the score 7-6.

Wayne State gained 53 yards passing on eight of 24 attempts by junior Jeff Mathers and sophomore Scott Raue. Minarik led the receivers with three receptions for 20 yards. The alumni completed six passes in 24 attempts for 47 yards.

Defensively, the Wildcats were led by linebacker Greg Cavill who finished with 10 tackles. Randy Hupp had nine tackles and two quarterback sacks. Judd Meentey added eight tackles.

Steve Besch and Tony Shaw both had eight tackles for the alumni with Shaw getting three quarterback sacks. Pat Jennings also had three sacks for the alumni. Besch last played during the 1984 season, while Shaw and Jennings both finished playing with Wayne last year.

In all, 37 former Wayne State football players participated in the spring game.

Tickets to the May 20 Wayne Athletic Banquet are available at the high school and at both banks.

Alley Cats II win bowling title

Alley Cats II won the Junior League bowling championship at Melodee Lanes last week. Members of the team are Scott Baker, Laura Keating and Scott Milliken.

Milliken's 338 allowed him to finish with the highest individual series, while Baker finished with the highest average (164) and Neil Stalsberg finished with the highest game (200).

Brent Gamble and Tom Kramer both improved 13 pins during the year and were named the most improved bowlers in the league.

Cary Wheeler and Joe Denton finished the year with perfect attendance.

Baseball games rained out

Wayne State's doubleheader against Nebraska Wesleyan, scheduled for Monday at Overin Park, were rained out and will not be rescheduled.

Soccer team closes with loss

The Wayne State soccer team bowed out the spring season with a loss as Nebraska Wesleyan claimed a 4-2 victory Saturday afternoon on the Wayne State campus.

Jason Lund scored Wayne's first goal and had the assist on the second marker. Lyle Orr assisted Lund and Dan Wolken tallied Wayne's second goal.

The loss ends Wayne's spring season with a 1-3 mark. Anyone interested in joining the team next year should attend a meeting Tuesday at 9 p.m. in the lower level of the Student Center.

Asay, Brosamle athletes of year

Diana Asay of Columbus and Kurt Brosamle of Merville, Iowa were voted the 1988 Wayne State female and male athletes of the year last week.

Both athletes were nominated by their coaches and voted upon by members of the Wayne State Lettermen's Club. The award was sponsored by the W-Club and was based on the athletes' leadership and athletic abilities.

Asay, an athletic training major, is a three-year starter for the Wayne State volleyball team. During the 1985 season she was an honorable mention All-CSIC selection and was the team's leading hitter. She holds the school record for career serve receiving, career attack attempts and season attack attempts.

Asay is also a shot putter and discus thrower on the track team, and she holds the school record in the shot for both indoors and outdoors. She also qualified for this year's National Indoor Track Meet.

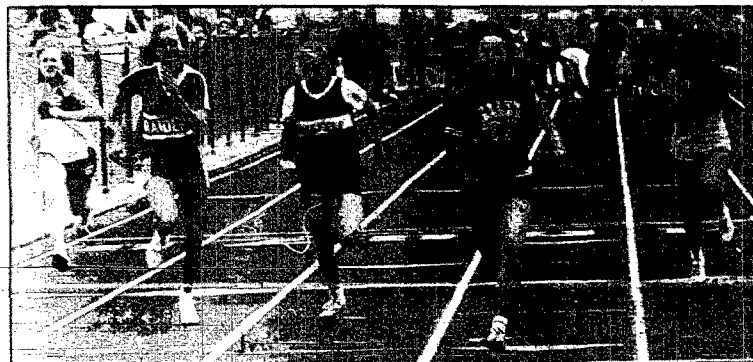

Asay is the daughter of Chuck and Carol Miller of Columbus and is a 1983 graduate of Columbus University.

Brosamle is a three-year starter on the baseball team in high school and is the team captain this year. He was named to the District 11 honorable mention team last season and currently is hitting .412 with 12 doubles, four triples and two homers.

The industrial arts education major is currently student-teaching at Pierce. He is a 1981 graduate of Woodbury Central High School and is the son of Duane and Lenore Brosamle of rural Merville.

This is the first year the W-Club has sponsored an athlete of the year award. Both received the award at the Second-Guesser's Sports Appreciation Dinner April 20.

Lady Cats split doubleheader with Kearney State, win 5-3 and lose 5-2

Wayne State and Kearney State split a softball doubleheader at the Lady Wildcat diamond Tuesday afternoon. Wayne won the opener 5-3, but dropped the nightcap 5-2.

The Lady Wildcats opened a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the opener. Kristi Govig started the inning by reaching on an error and Mary Jean Guenther was then hit by a pitch.

Teresa Durbala plated Govig with a double and Guenther scored on a sacrifice fly by Shelle TomaszKiewicz.

Kearney cut the lead to one by tallying a marker in the top of the third, but Wayne also scored once in the third to maintain its two run advantage.

Lingelbach started Wayne's half of the third by singling and Durbala followed with her second run-scoring double.

The Lady Wildcats added two insurance runs the next inning. Michelle Blomberg started Wayne's fourth with a walk and Govig followed with a double. Mary Lingelbach then cleared the bases with a double.

Lingelbach was the winning pitcher. The junior from Elkhorn tossed a five-hitter while striking out four and walking only one. She is now 11-8 on the year.

The Lady Wildcats dug too deep of a hole in the second game and couldn't rebound as Kearney State used nine hits in the first 1 1/2 innings to open a 4-0 lead.

Wayne pulled within two by tallying two markers in the third. Guenther started the third with a double and Durbala reached on an error. TomaszKiewicz then plated both with a two-run double.

Kearney added an insurance run in the seventh to round out the game's scoring.

Ronda Peck was the losing pitcher. Heidi Anderson pitched 5 1/2 innings of solid relief to keep Wayne close.

Wayne is now 29-12 on the year, one victory away from equalling the school record for the most wins in a season. Last year, the Lady Wildcats set the record with a 30-20 mark.

Wayne plays again Friday at Omaha in the District 11 Tournament. The Lady Wildcats, who are seeded first in the tourney, will play No. 8 seed Doane in the opening round at 11:30 a.m.

Wayne State teams compete May 2-3

The Wayne State's men's and women's track teams travel to Pittsburg, Kan. to participate in the 1988 Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) Meet Friday and Saturday, May 2-3.

All eight conference teams for both the men and women will be in action Friday and Saturday.

This will be the first meet for Wayne State's teams since they participated in the Madison Chamber of Commerce meet April 23 in Madison, S.D. The Wayne State women's team won that invitational, gathering three first place finishes. Cindy Heesacker of Humphrey won the 400 meter dash in 58.66, while Wayne's Missy Stollenberg won the 100 meter dash in 12.52 and the 1600 meter relay team of Heesacker, Jody Allen, Fran Gross and Ann Eisenmenger finished first with a 3:55.96 clocking. The 1600 meter relay squad automatically qualified for nationals with their effort.

The men received a first place finish from Bill Pappstein in the discus with a 143.5 toss. Mike Brungardt, also of Norfolk, finished second in the discus with a 136-2 effort.

Head coach Leroy Simpson said the team to beat at the CSIC meet is Kearney State in both the men's and women's divisions.

Wildcats that are ranked in the top five in the CSIC in the men's division are: 1. Randy Ditter, shot put, 54-0; 2. Darwin Barnes, 400, 51-9; 3. Ronald Holt, 800, 2:01.1; 4. Todd Nott, 10,000, 34:41; 4. Mike Brungardt, discus, 146-9; 4. Tony Shelby, pole vault, 13-0; 5. Darin Blackburn, 110 hurdles, 15.5.

Spring is in the air

A SURE SIGN that spring has finally arrived is the annual spring football game. Action from the game includes (clockwise): Wayne's varsity defense smother an alumni ball carrier; alumni Ed Jochum (No. 4) eludes would-be tackler Scott Wightman (No. 83); defensive coaches Dennis Danielson and Mike Breske talk strategy to Greg Cavill (No. 40); the alumni apply pressure on a pass play; referees discuss a penalty; Tony Weise boots a punt; and the alumni is penalized for an illegal tackle.

Councilman Randy Pedersen said better communication should be enforced so that the people in the street improvement district "know what is going on" and give the property owners some sort of idea as to what they will be assessed.

Swartz told the council that the city, by state statute, is not required to notify property owners, only to publish the official notices in the official newspaper of the city (The Wayne Herald).

Council member Carolyn Filler obtained from the voting of the assessments, citing that she wanted to study the assessment situation further before making a decision.

South Sioux ADC plans reviewed

Transportation available for Region IV clients

Transportation services will continue as before in Region IV, so decided the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities Governing Board at their meeting in Wayne last Thursday.

The Board voted to continue transportation services to and from the Adult Developmental Centers (ADC) for clients living outside the city limits. This recommendation would have affected primarily the Lyons and Bloomfield area programs, both having client transportation routes to other communities in their area.

The Board also heard a report from the architect working on the South

Sioux City ADC and office building. After seeing the plans for the design of the building, the Board voted to let bids for the construction once the financing was secured.

In other action, the Board decided to wait for more information on altering certain one, two, and three person living arrangements. After some discussion with a representative from Nebraska Advocacy Services, the Board decided to study further other options.

Further action by the Governing Board was taken when they gave final approval for the Bloomfield program to begin working with an Economic Development Grant. With the grant Bloomfield will open a paper and aluminum recycling operation.

The Board received information on many topics among which were insurance and children's residential services. The Board learned that the Region now has blanket fire insurance and will see some savings. Board members also learned of the status of negotiations with the Department of Education concerning children's residential services in the Region. Region IV contends that it is the responsibility of the Department of Education to provide funding for these services.

Local control on liquor license studied by Council

by Chuck Hackenmiller

A recently enacted legislative law shifting authority to grant liquor licenses from the state Liquor Control Commission to local governments will require a more vigorous approach on the license decision-making among city councils across Nebraska, including Wayne.

That is what Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster said Tuesday during the regular meeting of the city council.

CB 911 diversifies from the state liquor laws which previously allowed the state liquor commission to make the final decision on the license, with local governments only making recommendations.

But, as Kloster said Tuesday night, there were several times when the city council's recommendation was overridden by the liquor commission. Councilman Larry Johnson said the law "might have arrived too late, by a couple of years."

A provision in the new law states that if the city doesn't act on a decision for a liquor license, then the request is turned over to the state liquor commission.

Kloster gave the city council some "food for thought" by providing members with a proposed liquor licensing standards draft which he said "could be a part of the consideration process of the future applications for liquor license that come in."

He said it is necessary to administer some guidelines when evaluating the applications and renewals as they come in.

KLOSTER PRESENTED a draft of what the council should consider in making its liquor license applications:

- The adequacy of existing law enforcement and recommendation of the police department or any other law enforcement agency;

- Existing motor vehicle and pedestrian traffic flow in the vicinity of the proposed premises, potential traffic and parking problems and the proximity and availability of on-street, off street parking.

- The premises' sanitation or sanitary conditions.

- Whether there is a citizens' protest and any other evidence in support of or in opposition to the application.

- The existing population of Wayne and its projected growth and the existing liquor licenses, its class and the distance and time of travel to such license.

- Nature and needs of the neighborhood or community where the proposed premises is located as well as its projected growth.

- Whether the type of business or activity proposed, in conjunction with the proposed license, will be consistent with the public interest.

- Quality and management ability of the applicant, including the background information of each applicant, contained in records of the police department and the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission.

- Past instances of discrimination involving the applicants.

• Compliance with state laws and liquor regulations, city ordinances and regulations.

- If the application is for an on-sale license, whether it is associated to a legitimate food service operation, and the type and extent of the kitchen facilities.

- Are the premises separate and distinct from the sale of other mercantile products as provided by ordinance, including the sale of gasoline?

- Have the facts in the application been suppressed by the applicant and the applicant representative?

- What is the zoning restrictions and the city's zoning and land use policies?

- What type of entertainment, if any, is to be offered?

- And what is the proximity of and impact on schools, hospitals, libraries and public institutions?

Kloster, in the presentation, said the standards mentioned are not necessarily of equal value that can be computed in a mathematical formula. Rather, they are standards that can be weighed and cumulated positively and negatively.

During the regular meeting Tuesday night, the city council approved Class C liquor license application from Max Hendrickson.

Hendrickson used the name "No Name" on the application in fitting the establishment, previously known as The King of Clubs.

The council also approved the review of a manager application for Retail Class C license for Larry Beras, manager of the Wayne Country Club.

Council adopts overtime resolution

by Chuck Hackenmiller

A resolution adopting an administrative order covering overtime and on-call provisions was approved unanimously by the Wayne City Council during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

The resolution eliminates scheduling a day off for employees that are on call (such as those in the waste water, electrical department) as was the policy previously.

Employees on call who are called out will receive a minimum of a half-hour pay to take care of the problem, according to city administrator Phil Kloster. "If they go beyond that time, they will get compensated for the additional time," he said.

Originally, the pay for being called out was two-hour pay minimum. Kloster said some employees "took less than a half hour to fix the problem."

Employees asked to be available for on-call duty will be compensated 25 cents an hour, plus the half-hour minimum or more, when a problem arises.

In addressing travel time for on-call, Kloster said the employees will not get paid until they punch in at work.

Substantial savings to the city will come as a result of this resolution, Kloster said.

The changes came about because of the FLSA (Fair Labor Standards Act) ruling on paying compensation to employees working over 40 hours.

IN OTHER ACTION, the city council passed a resolution approving a notice of sale of a general obligation bond of $130,000. The bond sale, as pointed out by the city financial consultant from Paine-Webber, will be used to refinance a $125,000 outstanding bond debt, primarily because of the favorable market conditions.

The consultant said there has been a 2 1/2 percent drop in interest rates since the first of the year and he recommended the sale of the general obligation bond.

During this discussion, Kloster asked the city council to look ahead to the next city council meeting on May 13, when he will point out the upcoming projects the city faces.

Among those include construction of a water tower and feeder lines to the tower, plus downtown improvements. He estimated this cost to be up to $850,000.

"We are also going to need to secure our well field ground and that is going to run up to $250,000," he said.

Within the time frame of seven or eight years, the total cost of the well field and transmission lines, water tower and other expenses could total $3 million, with $1 million of that possibly incurred during the next 12 months.

The consultant advised holding off on the refinancing of the combined utility bond until it has been decided how to finance the upcoming city projects which Kloster had mentioned.

At NPA Convention Mead named Master Editor

The Nebraska Press Association conferred its highest honor, the Master Editor-Publisher Award, on veteran Nebraska newspaperman, Henry C. Mead of Seward during special ceremonies which closed the 112th Annual Convention of NPA at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln Saturday evening, April 12.

In presenting the award NPA President George A. Peterson of The Sherman County Times at Loup City observed:

"We are a diverse group. Because of this, the Master Editor-Publisher Award which we confer tonight has cut across every segment of Nebraska journalism. We have recognized the excellence and dedication of those who own and edit community newspapers and those who direct the activities of metropolitan newspapers."

A native of Allison, Iowa, Mead moved to Isle, Minnesota when he was a teenager where he graduated from high school at the age of 16 and worked on the weekly newspaper there after school and on Saturdays.

After attending Hamline University in St. Paul he became editor of the independent Age at Aitkin, Minnesota. For a decade he was a part owner of the Independent Age. After selling that interest, he and his wife, Evelyn became owners of the Seward Independent in Nebraska. Later he bought the Blue Valley Blade, the Ulysses Dispatch and the Ulica Sun which were absorbed into The Seward County Independent.

Early in the 1960s he bought the Aitkin Independent Age from his former partners and ran that newspaper along with his Nebraska operation for a decade. He sold the Seward property to J. Alan Cramer of Wayne in 1976 but still owns the newspaper in Aitkin.

Mead was elected vice president of the Minnesota Association. In Nebraska he served on the NPA Board and was elected president in 1956. He and Art Gardner of Crete incorporated the Nebraska Press Advertising Service in 1951.

In addition he held many civic positions in both Seward and in Minnesota. During World War II he served in the U.S. Army and was a member of the National Guard. At the end of the war he became an accredited journalist with the Department of Defense and traveled extensively all over the world. As a result of his effective writing on military affairs he became a member of the National Defense Orientation Conference which he served as a board member and as regional vice president. He also is known throughout much of the Midwest for his dramatic program, "O'Henry, Master of the Short Story."

Mead became the fifteenth recipient of the prestigious award. Others who were honored in previous years: the late Joe W. Seacrest of Lincoln; the late Fred Seaton of Hastings; Jack Lough of Albion; Ronald R. Furse of Aurora, honored posthumously; James W. Kirkman of North Platte; Jack Lowe of Sidney; Lyman P. Cass of Ravenna; Harold W. Andersen of Omaha; J. Alan Cramer of Wayne; Robert Bogue of Oakland; H. Dwight King of Holdrege; George Miller of Plattsmouth; Joe R. Seacrest of Lincoln; and Everett Waters of Bertrand.

Business contest results listed

Over 600 business students from 40 area Nebraska and Iowa high schools participated in Business Competition Day on Tuesday, April 22.

The annual event is co-sponsored by the Division of Business and P1 Omega Pi business education honorary, according to Patricia Arneson, coordinator of the annual event and Assistant Professor of Business at Wayne State College. Students competed in a variety of contests, including Typing I and II Speed, Shorthand, Accounting I and II, Business Communications, Business Knowledge, Business Law, Computer Literacy, "The Manager" computer decision-making game, Sales Presentations and the College Bowl.

In the small school division, Cedar Rapids (Nebraska) took first place honors, with Stanton winning second place and Humphrey St. Francis ranking third. Clarkson and Wayne tied for ninth place; Laurel-Concord and Lyons-Decatur 11th place; and Waketfield tied with Ewing and Hartington CC for 14th place.

Winside also competed in the day's events. In the large school division, Sioux City East High won first place with Sioux City North High ranking second and Norfolk High in third.

Individual results in large division: Accounting I, 1st, Peter Huff, Sioux City North; Accounting II, 1st, Joel Peterson of Sioux City East; Business Comprehensive Knowledge, 1st, Teresa Frank of Norfolk; Business Law, 1st, Bradley Williams, Sioux City North; Business Communications, 1st, Marvin Johnson, South Sioux City; Computer Literacy, 1st, Paul Davis, Norfolk; Printing Calculating Machines, 1st, Becki Chicoine, Sioux City North; Sales Presentations, 1st, Sioux City East; Shorthand 80, 1st, Gillian Baker, Sioux City East; Typing I Speed, 1st, Karla Allen, Sioux City East; Typing II Speed, 1st, Denise Taska, Sioux City North; "The Manager" Computer Decision-Making Game, 1st, Sioux City East; College Bowl Winner, Sioux City East.

In the small school division, winners were:

Accounting I, 1st, Julie Paustian of Bloomfield, 2nd, Tracy Prenger of Wayne; Accounting II, 1st, Tammy Hrouda of Stanton; Business Comprehensive Knowledge, 1st, Amber Voboril of Cedar Rapids, 3rd, Chad Lake of Laurel-Concord; Business Law, 1st, Dan Steffen of West Point Central Catholic, 5th, Cam Thies of Waketfield; Business Communications, 1st, Amber Voboril of Cedar Rapids; Computer Literacy, 1st, Russell Meier of Niobrara; Printing Calculating Machines, 1st, Cheri Maffette of Hooper; Logan View, 5th, Mike Jusel of Laurel-Concord.

Sales Presentation, 1st, Julie Kmet of Stanton; Shorthand 80, 1st, Debra Robinson of Cedar Rapids; Typing I Speed, 1st, Chris Rokusek of Clarkson; Krista Ring of Wayne; Typing II Speed, 1st, Liz Jessen of Bloomfield, "The Manager" Computer Decision-Making Game, 1st, Randolph College Bowl Winner, Crofton.

Cedar Rapids and Sioux City East will each receive a $500 scholarship to award to a graduating senior to attend WSC for the 1986-87 academic year.

Dairy awards presented

Members of the North Central Dairy Herd Improvement Association were recognized recently for butterfat and milk production.

Producers receiving silver awards for producing 550 to 599 pounds of butterfat were presented to Douglas Temma with 559 pounds of butterfat and Anderson Holsteins for 567 pounds of butterfat.

Receiving bronze awards were William Loberg with 506 pounds of butterfat and Valli View Farms of Laurel with 524 pounds of butterfat.

Cattle on feed report

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1.78 million cattle on feed on April 1, 1986, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This inventory was equal to the record number on feed last year and was up 10 percent from 1984.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of March totaled 450,000, an increase of 10 percent from 1985, 18 percent above March 1984, and a record high for the month. Placements of cattle into feedlots during March totaled 430,000 head, equal to last year but 16 percent above two years ago.

During the January-March quarter, Nebraska feeders marketed 1,290,000 fed cattle, 3 percent more than the corresponding period last year. Placements during the quarter totaled 1,210,000 head, up 2 percent from 1985. Nebraska feeders intend to market 1,200,000 head of cattle for slaughter during the April-June 1986 quarter, 2 percent above a year ago.

Hay mowing program begins

"Once again the Nebraska Department of Roads is allowing the mowing and removal of hay on highway rights-of-way," according to State Roads Director Ray Hogrefe.

Those wishing the extra hay should contact their area Department of Roads District Office for a license. The District Offices are located in Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island, Norfolk, Ainsworth, North Platte, McCook and Bridgeport.

He cautioned that only certain sections of right-of-way would be mowed, with a limit of five miles per license on one side of the highway.

The license to mow will be good for one cutting only. Mowing can not begin before July 15 and will not be allowed after Sept. 10. The hay must be cut, baled and removed from the right-of-way no later than 20 days after it is cut.

Hogrefe went on to say that both two-lane and four-lane highways, including I-80, are eligible for mowing, and that the hay mowing program is on a first-come, first-served basis.

He advised landowners, ranchers or farmers interested in cutting some extra hay to not wait too long before requesting that license.

Field demonstration planned

At the April meeting of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, the Board of Directors appropriated funds which will enable a field demonstration of irrigation and fertilizer management practices to be established by the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Dr. Charles Shapiro and William Kranz will be conducting the field test for the Extension Service. The demonstration site will include test strips with different rates of nitrogen fertilizer applied based upon deep soil samples and University of Nebraska recommendations. Irrigation scheduling will be used to insure that water is applied according to plant needs.

The site for the demonstration will be 2 1/2 miles west and 1 mile south of the city of Osmond. The site was selected in conjunction with proposed research attempting to identify the source of nitrates entering Osmond's water supply and to encourage farmers to closely manage irrigation water and fertilizer applications. Field tours and demonstrations will be held during the upcoming growing season to give local farmers the opportunity to view the test strips.

Yield results and other production related information will be presented at educational meetings next winter. Additional field sites, located in Pierce county will be monitored to determine the effects of the current nitrogen and irrigation management practices. Attempts will be made to identify the amount of nitrogen moving through the root zone and eventually into the groundwater aquifer.

Following is information taken from the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Newsletter written by Mike Brumm and Terry Mader, Extension Swine & Beef specialists respectively. This section is written by Terry Mader.

Meeting mineral requirements for cattle on grass
Minerals play a very important role in the well-being of the range beef herd. The major minerals include calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, sodium, potassium, chlorine and sulfur. The trace minerals include copper, cobalt, iodine, iron, manganese and zinc.

There are many different commercial mineral supplements available to producers. However, a simple mixture of salt and a phosphorus source which the producer can mix himself is probably the cheapest alternative. Dicalcium phosphate steamed and bone meal are two calcium-phosphorus sources that are readily available.

There has been much discussion about the calcium-phosphorus ratio that a ration should contain for the maximum utilization of both minerals. Since the animal's body contains a two-to-one ratio (Ca:P), many people have suggested this is the optimum ratio for the animal. Under range conditions, data has indicated that ratios as high as five to one are not detrimental; thus, under normal conditions cowmen should be concerned primarily with meeting phosphorus requirements.

Following are examples of mineral mixes for cattle on grass. Since these mixtures do not include salt, it should be provided free-choice in addition to the mineral.

- Free-choice mineral mixtures for cows or stockers on pasture.
 1. High phosphorus (8-12 percent) commercial mineral supplement.
- 2. Effective do-it-yourself mixture: 1/2 trace mineral salt, 1/2 dicalcium phosphate or bonemeal, add 5-10 percent ground grain, SBM or dry molasses to prevent caking and increase intake, if necessary.
- 3. Mixtures for late fall and early spring pastures where grass tetany (magnesium) is a problem:
 - A. High magnesium (8-12 percent) and phosphorus, commercial mineral supplement.
 - B. Effective do-it-yourself mixture: 1/4 magnesium oxide, 1/4 dicalcium phosphate or bonemeal, 1/4 trace mineral salt, 1/4 ground grain, SBM or dry molasses.
- 4. Loose mineral mixtures are generally preferred over blocks to insure adequate intake (1-2 ounces per stocker per day; 1/2 - 3 ounces per cow-calf unit per day). If intake is excessive, however dilute mineral mix with salt.

Tough decisions made Corn board budgets over a million

The nine-member Nebraska Corn Board closely scrutinized activities and organizations before approving funding of $1,025,958 for the upcoming fiscal year at the board's April 16 budget meeting.

"The board was faced with some difficult decisions," commented Chairman Nancy Heidemann of Plymouth, noting that requests for funding exceeded the budget by $153,000.

The board showed its commitment to export market development by increasing its funding of the U.S. Feed Grains Council to $375,000, up from $340,000, and in continuing support of the U.S. Meat Export Federation at $90,000. "The 1985 farm bill focuses on increased exports, but, because of Gramm-Rudman, the U.S. government's allocation for export market development could be reduced. It is vital that private industry and agribusiness help make up this shortfall," Heidemann explained.

She continued, "The board also realizes its responsibility for developing increased corn utilization in the U.S. and for research into new uses for corn and corn by-products. I think our financial commitment to in-state ethanol promotion, to the National Corn Development Foundation, to in-state promotion/education, and to the University of Nebraska for research provides a well-balanced export and domestic marketing program."

The corn board approved $65,000 funding to the National Corn Development Foundation for domestic marketing and research; $5,000 to The Ag Council of America, an organization with a dual role of export enhancement and consumer

the farmer's wife

I heard someone on the radio say last week that farming is like marriage: a lifelong commitment, in sickness and in health, for richer, for poorer, for better or worse. Maybe, but I don't remember saying anything about snowstorms and mud.

The fellas who date our daughters have to be brave and have pickups. Even then, Dad sometimes has to pull them out; or the girls have to walk up and down the lane.

I was completely oblivious to the rain, hail and tornado stresses on Saturday evening. I was watching swing chairs in Ramsey Theatre. They were the culmination of two days of tension, nerves, laughter and tears, of nervousness known as music contest.

If a coach has more than a dozen players, he gets an assistant. We expect band and choir directors to ride herd on 50 high school kids and get them to make music yet. The miracle is, they do it, every year. Our Wildcat band finally brought home a #1 for Mr. Jeffries. I got goose bumps listening to them. I had them again listening to the choir sing "All My Trials." I admit to a slight prejudice. Something I read tonight says "we are only beginning to learn that the right, kind of music and singing taught to children while they are young has the power to change the course and destiny of their lives."

The same source quotes Woodrow Wilson, "Music and singing make for better citizenship, they drive out envy and hate, they unify and inspire. Music is the one common tie between races and nations."

THE BIG FARMER claims that our kitchen table eats objects. Most of our paper work is done on it. Sometimes we have to move it out of the way in order to eat. Then the little

Long calving interval is costly to Nebraska producers

An excessive amount of time between a dairy cow having successive calves, or the calving interval, is costing Nebraska dairy producers millions of dollars annually, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension dairy specialist said.

"A dry period of 90 days and a milk-producing period of 305 days is considered the optimum total of dry period and lactation period," according to Jeff Keown. However, he said that the average calving interval for Nebraska Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds is 394 days.

Research shows that freshening a cow once a year—attaining a 365-day calving interval—maximizes income from the sale of milk, Keown said. "The most profit is made during the time of peak production and therefore, the goal is to freshen cattle so they have as many peak periods as possible during their lifetime," Keown said.

Economic losses occur not only through loss of milk produced for sale also in the cost of keeping cows not in production, Keown said.

For each day a cow's calving interval extends beyond 365 days but is less than 395 days, it will cost the producer $1 a day in lost production and increased feed costs, Keown said, with the daily costs increasing to $2 per cow if the calving interval extends beyond 395 days.

Using an example of a 60-cow herd with a calving interval of 400 days, Keown said the loss to producer would be $1,800 for the period of 365-394 days and $900 for the period 395-400 days, or a total of $2,700 per year.

Using the average calving interval of 394 days for Nebraska DHIA herds, and applying the $1,000 cows on test in Nebraska, this equates to a loss of $899,000 for dairy herds alone, Keown explained.

"There are approximately 110,000 cattle producing milk in Nebraska; if we assume that all non-DHIA cows also average 394-day calving intervals, the loss in income is a staggering $3,190,000 to Nebraska producers," the specialist said.

Keown listed five steps producers can take to shorten their cows' calving interval and increase income:

- Begin to breed cows at the first observed heat after 45 days fresh.

Begin a systematic heat detection program. Use any heat detection aids that you feel are beneficial.

- Set aside a specific time twice a day when your cows are outside to observe heat.
- Have a veterinarian routinely check your cattle before breeding to be certain that their reproductive tracts are in breeding order.
- And use pregnancy checks routinely to identify which cows are open to breeding and which ones are bred.

OLDSETTLERS

Nine members of the Wayne County Old Settlers Committee met April 23. Members discussed the cored softball tournament.

A thank you was read from the Fine Arts. Ray Jacobsen is compiling a list of helpers for the barbecue. Other items discussed were the P.A. system and entertainment.

The committee will start contacting businesses for donations. As a thank you, each one contributing will receive advertising on the Old Settlers hand bills. Anyone who does not get contacted and wants to contribute can call Rose Janke, 286-4856.

The Carroll centennial is interested in having people run carnival booths during their celebration July 18-20. Anyone wanting to rent a booth for Carroll's celebration can call Ron Leapley, 286-4850 for more information.

The next meeting will be May 6 at 9 p.m. Anyone who would like to help or who has questions can call Joni Jaeger, 286-4553.

ELEMENTARY DANCE

Forty elementary students attended the April 25 free dance at the city auditorium, sponsored by the Winside Girl Scouts. The dance was held from 7 to 11 p.m. with the girls serving popcorn and kool-aid. Music was played from tapes furnished by Bobby Holtgreaw.

Cash door prizes were won by Shannon Holdorf, Corey Miller, Cathy Holtgreaw, Trevor Topp and Marc Janssen.

Peg Eckert, girl scout leader, was presented with a corsage and gift certificate in honor of the April 22 Leader Appreciation Day. Peg has been a girl scout leader five years, a previous cadette leader for two years, church youth leader for two years and Sunday school teacher for six years.

Other adult sponsors at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Eckert, Jane Witt, Mary Ann Soden, Helen Hancock, Connie Oberle and Cathy Holtgreaw.

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION

Brush up on English, spelling, math and reading and improve your job seeking skills by completing your high school education. The Winside Advisory Council, in conjunction with the high school and Northeast Technical College, is sponsoring a class on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. at the high school library for anyone who would like to receive a high school equivalency diploma. It's free, the program is offered at no cost to students. Tuition and instructional materials are provided and each student can study and progress at their own rate, according to their level of achievement. If you have any questions, call Jean Gahl at 286-4200, Joan Jensen at 286-4858 or the Winside High School at 286-4465.

WEBELOS

Four Webelo cub scouts met April 26 with leaders Donna Nelson and Helen Hancock. They worked on their Webelo Badge again and discussed the cub scout oath and promise.

The Scout-O-Rama will be held Saturday, May 3 at the Norfolk city auditorium from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The boys have tickets for sale at $1.50 each. Children 12 and under are free.

when accompanied by a parent. Anyone wanting tickets and not being contacted may call Helen Hancock, 286-4265, or Donna Nelson, 286-4903. Bobby Holtgreaw served treats. The next meeting will be May 3 at the fire hall at 9:30 a.m.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

Speakers at the April 24 Winside Advisory Council meeting were Doug Jensen, Madison County School Superintendent, and Dr. James Merritt, Norfolk Public School Superintendent, who discussed the pros and cons of LB642, the school K-8 reorganization law that will be on the November election ballot.

Following the program, a short business meeting was held. Mr. Leapley reported four adults are taking the high school equivalency course being offered in Winside. Those assisting with this course are Joan Jensen and Jean Gahl.

Dianne Jaeger, chairman, handed out a copy of suggested by-laws for the Advisory Council. They will be discussed and voted on at the next meeting.

Mr. Leapley will ask Mrs. Grone and Mrs. Dougherty to speak on special education classes at the May 20 8 p.m. meeting. All Winside parents and residents are invited to come.

THREE FOUR BRIDGE

Mrs. Irene Warnemunde hosted the April 25 meeting of the Three Four Bridge with one guest, Twila Kahl, present. Prizes were won by Irene Dittman, Dorothy Troutman and Twila Kahl.

The next meeting will be May 9 with Norma Janke in Wayne at 2 p.m.

KARD KLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Warnemunde hosted the April 26 Kard Klub with four guests: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Janke.

The next meeting will be Sept. 20 at the Russel Hoffman home.

CUB SCOUTS AND WEBELOS ADVANCEMENT AWARDS

The Cub Scouts and Webelos from Troop 176 in Laurel met on Sunday at the Laurel city auditorium for advancement awards and a cake auction. The flags were presented by the scouts from Den 1.

Awards were presented to the Tiger Cubs as they crossed a wooden bridge and were promoted into Cub Scouts. Those present receiving the award were Lance Smith, Dustin Thompson, Jon Fritz and Mark Palefield. Others are Matthew Christensen, Jeff Erwin, Tyler Erwin, Joshua Klausen, Kyle Macklin, Kody Urwiler and Tony Pigg.

Those boys working on their wolf badge from Den 1 that received three beads apiece were Jim Dickey, Spencer McBride and Jared and Jeremy Reinhold.

Scouts in Den 2 receiving four arrow points were Ben Dahl, Matthew Ebmeier, Bret Harder, Joshua Erwin, Jason Stapleman and Ryan Van Cleave. Mark Stone received his gold arrow point and three silver arrow points. They will become Webelos.

Four Webelos received their Arrow of Light Award. This is the highest honor given to a cub scout and the only patch that can be transferred onto their Boy Scout shirt. They were Mark Lute, Kelly Arens, Benji Donner and Andy Smith.

These boys plus Wade Winkelbauer and Jason Jones crossed the bridge and were promoted into Boy Scouts. They were welcomed by the Scout Leader Dwayne Freeman. Den 2 retired the flags.

Fifteen cakes, baked and decorated by the scouts and their dads, were judged. Winners were Benji Donner, judges choice, which was a Nebraska map; Jason Stapleman, most original, a UFO space ship; Mark Stone, most humorous, an ear of corn; and a tie between Jason Jones and Bret Harder, most colorful. Jason baked and decorated the United States flag and Bret decorated Garfield the Cat. The cakes were auctioned off as a fund raiser for the scouting organization in Laurel.

The walnut bridge which was used for the scouts was built by Webelos leader Jerome Dellinger.

Vote ROSBERG for Governor

Wausa, Nebraska native, wife and five children, farmer, sheep shearer, packing plant worker, and had studied law.

Beliefs 1. Better pay for all working women and men. 2. Profit must be restored to agriculture and businesses. 3. Repeal mandatory Seat Belt Law and LB 662. 4. Lower taxes, less government, and Judicial Reform.

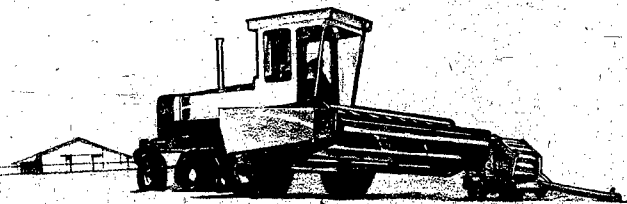

Differences. 1. Not a politician - ordinary person that knows the difference between right and wrong. 2. Largest campaign donation is $25 - nobody owns me and I can't be bought. 3. Lives as far from Lincoln as any candidate (Knox Co.) - all Nebraskans need representation.

As Governor I will call for a grand jury indictment of any judge who orders someone to jail or gives away their property without a trial. I have filed a petition that will have our judges elected by the people every 4 years instead of being appointed. This will cut their wages and retirement in turn saving taxpayers over 7 million annually. Please help! Write Elect Judges, 1261 Furnas Ave., Lincoln, Ne 68521. Fund

11.10%*

Government National Mortgage Association mortgage-backed securities (Ginnie Mae pass-throughs as they're popularly known) offer the investor some unique opportunities and advantages.

- A dependable, monthly check from interest and amortization.
- Principal and interest guaranteed by the U.S. government.

Many older Americans have found Ginnie Maes to be the perfect way to supplement their social security and retirement income. And many other investors have discovered they're an excellent addition to regular income.

PaineWebber maintains an active secondary market in existing Ginnie Mae pass-throughs. So call to find out the possible benefits of GNMA securities for your investment needs. Or, mail this coupon for our free brochure, "The Investor's Guide To Ginnie Maes."
