Agency seeks funding for aid to businesses

A Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council project, coordinated by Tri-County Council of Governments to stimulate this area's economy, has received high marks from U.S. Representative Doug Bereuter.

The purpose of the project is to encourage local banks to lend more for commercial projects.

Pat Straight, director of Tri-County Council of Governments (TRICOG) said the agency's association with towns or businesses in the northieast Nebraska area indicates a definite need for additional financing — a need for loosening of dollars to promote business expansion, help a new business or a viable business caught in the crunch of a bank failure.

In March of this year, Goldenrod Hills (with the assistance of TRICOG) applied to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

New 'Old Settlers' events planned

A tennis fournament and road race are among two new events scheduled to take place during this year's Wayne County Old Settlers Celebration slated July 26 at Winside.

The tennis fournament and road race, along with several other activities, were discussed during a meeting of the Old Settlers committee on May 27.

Twelve committee members attended the meeting, and guests were Lynne Wacker, Dave Mann, Bob Jensen, Kevin Tunik and Stewart Nueck.

LYNNE WACKER was present at the meeting to discuss the possibility of holding a tennis tournament in conjunction with the annual celebration.

The committee voted to proceed with plans for the event. There will be a junior division for persons 16 years of age and younger, and a senior division for 17 years and older.

There will be male and female

Swinging for Joy

Nostalgic house to be razed

FRIDAY WAS the last day of school for the Wayne-Carroll Elementary students. Some headed home while others dropped their bags to take one last swing before next school year begins.

THE PRESIDENT'S House as it stands today on the fringe of

There was quite a house on the hill back in the early 1900's.
That house on the Wayne State Colege campus, called. The President's House by many, has, survived a relocation and plenty of remodeling. But the 81 year old structure has met its final match—an inevitable opponent called time.

The large house, empty now, will be torn down for scrap lumber this summer. But the memories of those summer. But the memories of

The large house, empty, now, with the torn down for scrap lumber this summer. But the memories of those who can talk about living inside the house are fond and fresh, never to be relinquished.

Minnie Rice of Wayne is one of the area individuals who can tell about the large house. She third in it for several years with her husband, John, and her one son while John served as president of Nebraska State Teachers College (Wayne State College) from 1931 to 1955.

Minnie said she is sorry that the house will be dismantled. "It's too bad they couldn't keep it up," she said.

"The house as I knew it is not as it is now. So many of the good features have disappeared in the remodeling process," she added.

Features? Fitture fills.

There were five bedinoms upstairs and no bedrooms downstairs. Also inside the house was a big parlor with a bay window. A porch was enclosed in glass. At least four fireplaces helped keep, the presidents' families warm on cold winter nights.

The butter had his own room in the lower level of the three story house. On the third floor was a maid's room with what Minnle said was furnished with intriguing "good old-fashioned wallpaper."

Outside, one could see a rose garden and big eigh frees.
"It was the centerpiece of the campus," said Minnie.

WHAT MINNIE thought was the prominent feature during her stay at the president's house was the spiral staircase that twisted about three times to the upper level of the home. Another 'back' stairway was in the

Another 'back' stairway was in the kitchen.

The three-story house was built 'on the hill' in Wayne during 1905, during the college president term of J.M. Pile. Pile was the first to be appointed president of the Nebraska Normal College.

For rearly 50 years the residence was located on the present site of Conn'Library, After 1956, it was moved across the campus to a site east and south of its original location to become a Home Management House and nursery school for students in the vocational homemaking program.

"The architects spent a lot of time deciding where the new library would go," said Minnie. The best spot, they decided, was where the President's House stood.

Moving the house on dollies almost spelled an earlier fate for the President.

But it survived the relocation. Dr.
William Brandenburg, who served as president of Wayne State College from 1956 to 1973, discontinued the homemaking program. During these years, the home was returned to its original purpose as the president's esidence.

IN LATER YEARS the house was used as the Kappa Delta Gamma douse.

According to college officials, the contract has been let for tearing down the President's House this summer, to be done by French Construction from Dixon. The lumber will be salvaged and the basement will be filled in to ground level, with total cost for the demolition bidded at $1,849.

Other details searched up by the college administration shows that the cost for constructing the 3,672 square feet three-story mansion in 1905 was estimated at $10,000.

To build a replica like it today could cost well over $100,000.

But the 1905 house is irreplaceable, no matter what it costs, because of the special memories it holds for Minnie Rice and others who have Little League is a learning experience when it comes to polishing basebail skills. But it is more than learning to hit a hanging curve ball or a moving fastball, or pounding the pocket in the glove while waiting for a fly ball to come out into the outfield, or sneaking a lead off of first base and studying the pitcher's moves in anticipation of stealing second base.

YOU LEARN that; just like.

Kerrey seeks energy ideas Viewpoint

Governor Bob Kerrey is looking for people with ideas, good ideas for conserving energy.

The Governor and the State Energy Office has some extra money this year about $15.5 million, to spend on energy conservation. Kerrey and the bureaucracy want some help deciding how to spend that money, a windfall from a successful federal court sult.

"You can help me chart

Nebraska imports about 90 percent of lis energy needs, the Governor pointed out. That means, for every dollar saved through conservation, about 90 cents that would have gone outside the state remains in Nebraska.
Kerrey has a few ideas of his own about how the Exxon Oil money—named after the successful lawsuit—should be used.
The Governor wants to use some of the money for a permanent revolving fund that would make loans for energy conservation programs. Other folks have already made suggestions. The Gasohol supporters would love to dip into the $15.5 million pocket for the money to help build ethanol production plants in the state. And state senators have their eye on part of that pot of oil money as a potential source of funding for remodeling state-owned buildings. Kerrey outlined some ways he won't use the money. He will not use it to replace lost federal funds in programs. And he won't use it in lieu of general tax dollars that normally go into programs.

A word of caution to senior citizens receiving correspondence concerning nursing home insurance regarding skilled care. Some people may buy the insurance on the presumption that the Wayne Care Centre in Wayne qualifies for the skilled care insurance.

That is not true, according to Care Centre Administrator Gil Haase. He says the facility offers Intermediate Care 1, and individuals cannot qualify for skilled care insurance there.

As in all contracts, make sure you understand the in-surance documents thoroughly before putting your signature on the bottom line.

The Wayne Region's highest level of per capita toxic waste generation — 1.8 times the national average — was found in zip code 68731. That's Dakota City.

Zip Code area 68701 (Norfolk) reported the largest single concentration of abandoned toxic waste dump-sites.

Figures were taken from 'Quality of Life in American Neighborhoods: Affluence, Toxic Waste and Cancer Mortality in 35,000 Residential Zip Code Areas' by Dr. Jay M. Soil Conservation Service Move from Lincoln Suspended

The Department of Agriculture notified me last week that it has suspended its plans to transfer the Soil Conservation—Service's Technical Service Office from Lincoln to Fort Worth. Texas. The transfer was a recommendation of the SCS administrator to Agriculture secretary Richard Lyng. I have been working with Lincoln City officials and with the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce to half the move.

A 1981 management study completed by the Soil Conservation Service rejects the notion of transferring all technical service centers to Fort Worth. That is apparently the only study that has been completed on the subject. The 1981 study does recommend, that cartography, employee development and Information functions be transferred to Fort Worth. news and notes

Insurance is crucial to good health care may make you ill!

Insurance is crucial to good health

The cost of health care may make you il!!

Between 1967 and 1982, health care expenditures increased 230 percent. Hospital daily room rates alone jumped 461 percent.

The 5322 billion that Americans spent on health care in 1982 breaks down to $1.365 for every man, woman and child in the United States. Consumers pald over_half this amount for health insurance premiums.

One antidote is to stress ways of avoiding illness or accidents. The recent concern with wellness and fitness is an example. Curtailling drug and alcohol abuse, cutting out smoking, and fastening your car seatbelt are all ways to reduce health risks.

BUT MOST PEOPLE also depend upon health insurance to protein memselves from financial disaster in case illness or accidents can't themselves from financial disaster in con-prevented.

Unfortunately, buying health insurance is becoming increasingly complicated.

Basically, there are five types of health insurance — hospital, surgical, regular medical or physicians, major medical, and disability income. In addition to these five basic coverages, supplemental (sometimes called limited) policles take care of costs associated with such things as dental care, dread diseases (cancer), accidents, travel mishaps, intensive care, hospital indemnity, nursing home care and others.

These supplemental policies need careful evaluation. They may not be necessary if you hold a good comprehensive policy.

MANY PEOPLE are covered by group insurance contracts provided by their employers, Tabor unions or affiliations with various professional fraternal or religious organizations. If you are self-employed or ineligible for group coverage, you must purchase freaths insurance as an individual, an often expensive proposition. Whether you're a first time purchaser, have found that your present coverage is inadequate or carries too high a premium, or your employer has adopted a new group plan, you may be in the health insurance market. Be prepared to spend some time carefully studying the options. When you make your decision, remember that most plans allow a 10-day waiting period during which you can change you'r mind.

TO HELP YOU avoid a headache, here's a handy check list of things to watch for:

—Buy broad coverage including the flye basic types;

—Choose a company that returns a high percentage of the premiums. For every dollar, the consumer spends on premiums, the company returns somewhere from 20 to 95 percent of the premium in the form of benefits. This is called loss ratio, and information on loss ratios is available at public libraries;

—Beware of advertising that sounds too good to be true;

- Beware of agree using man sounds to a Service your present coverage;
 -Avoid duplication of coverage;
 -Note pre-existing condition clauses;
 -Choose the largest deductible you can afford;
- Check renewal provisions; Update your insurance to keep pace with inflation and your family situation;

—Know the difference between a service benefit policy, which either pays charges in full or a percent of file charges, and an indemnity benefit policy that pays only a fixed amount;

—Be sure you understand the circumstances under which you would receive disability benefits.

SUSIE MCQUISTAN explodes out of the blocks to begin the 400 meter finals at the State Track

Wakefield's McQuistan gave it her all at state

By John Prather Sports Editor Susie McQuistan will do anything to win — even if it means diving for the finish line on an asphalf track. McQuistan, the Wayne Herald's athlete of the month, dove for the finish line at the State Track Meet in Omaha last Saturday during the finish of the Class C 400 meter dash. "I'm not real sure what happened. I guess I was just really trying to win and over-leaned at the finish line," the Wakefield sprinter said about her finish.

athlete of the month

Despite McQuistan's all-out effort, she didn't claim the title. Rita Goc of Doniphan edged her by five one-hundreths of a second. (58.32 to 58.37) for the championship.

though she scrapped her elbows Although she scrapped her elbows and knees with her unique finish. McQuistan was only concerned with winning and immediately motioned to head coach Dennis Wilbur to find out what place she finished in. "I wasn't sure whether or not I hung on to win or not," she said. "I had a feeling that she (Goc) might've gotton me at the finish, but I wasn't totally sure."

The diving finish amazed and concerned many of the 9,000-plus specatators at the meet, but it probably didnt surprise Wilbur. "Susie really did a good job down at state." he said. "But that's the kind of kid she is. She's a hard worker and always does her best." McQuistan qualified for the state meet in three other events, including the 100, 200 and 1600 meter relay. But she admitted that the 400 is her specialty and added that she intends to concentrate on sprinting in the future.
"The 400 is definately my best to concentrate on sprinting in the future.

"The 400 is definately my best race, and I intend to stay with the sprints through next year," she sald.

In addition to placing second in the 400, the straight A student joined Suzanne Stelling, Leigh Johnson and Stacey Kuhi for a sixth place finish in the 1600 meter relay with a 4:12.47 clocking.

The Trojan junior qualified for the finals in the 100 and placed seventh with a 13.01 effort. Her 26:38 in the 200 preliminaries falled to qualify her for the finals.

South Lincoln Track Club last sum mer and I'm planning to compete in Chicago with them again this July:"

Despite all her accomplishments this year, McQuistan had a rough spring physically and expects to be even better next season.

"I had my fonsils out in February and then I got mono at the beginning of the season. So I'm planning on do-ing better next year because I should be healthier and stronger," she said.

During the finals of the 400, Mc-Quistan led most of the way before Goc caught and passed her over the final 10 meters. She now admits that if she had to run the event over again she wouldn't kick as soon as she did, but added that she couldn't help herself at the time because of her adrenatine flow.

"If I had to run it over again, I'd probably wait just a little longer, before I'd start to kick because she didn't catch me until there were only:

10 meters or so leff;" she said. "But I couldn't help. It (kicking early) because I wanted to win so much that my adrenaline seemed to force me to kick early."

Tournament here Friday night at Eaton Park.

The game was marred with 35 walks, including 19 by three Wayne pitchers. There were only six hits in the game — four by Wakefield.

The hosis took advantage of three walks and a series of passed-balls and wild pitches to open a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning. Troy Lee, Scott Lund and Doug Roberts failied the game's first three markers for ""-befield.

Wayne didn't quil, however, and switch-hitting Jess Zeiss ripped a clutch two.out triple to right-center to plate Kevin Hausmann, Brian Sherman and Jarrod Wood, Scott Hammer scored earlier in the fourth to make the score 6-4.

But the roof caved in on Wayne in the bottom of the inning as Wakefield crossed the plate six times for an unreachable 12-4 advantage.

McQuistan collected Wakefield's only hit in the fourth, but the hosts capitalized on five walks, a hit batsman and a Wayne error.

Wayne did answer with two runs in

Tennis registration June 5

Lee Koch, a booster of Winside wrestling and other wrestling programs throughout the state, will be inducted into the Nebraska Scholastic Coaches Hall of Fame at a banquet in Columbus July 26. Koch was chosen to be inducted into the Hall because of his contributions to high school wrestling in Nebraska.

Nine people will be inducted into the Hall during the banquet, including another person other than Koch because of contributions to high school wrestling in the state.

A member of the coaches organization said a press release will be arriving at The Wayne Herald within the next few weeks, so further defalls about the banquet and Hall of Fame will be revealed in future editions.

Registration for the Wayne Summer Tennis Program will be held hursday, June 5 from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the shelter by the swimming

Thursday, June 5 from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the shelter by the swimming pool.

Tennis will be offered to juniors (ages 9 through 19), adults and intermediate adults. Those registering for infermediate classes must be able to correctly execute a forehand, backhand, volley and serve.

Classes will be held June 9 through July 3 during the mornings on Mondays. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Lessons are free to Wayne natives who have paid their fee to the Wayne Recreation Fund. There will be a small charge to those not living in Wayne.

During the four week period, funiors will once again use the United States Tennis Association skill drills and test.

After registration, a summer schedule will be revised.

GREEN BAY, WIS. — Ruben Mendoza, the All-American lineman at Wayne State College last season, has signed a free agent contract with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Mendoza left Wayne on Wednesday to attend a Packer mini-camp.

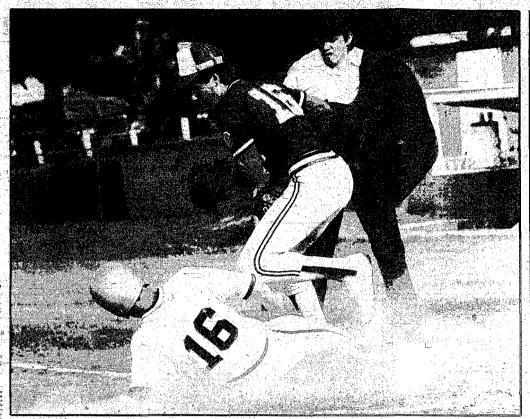

Mendoza is the second Wayne State gridder to sign a free agent contract this spring. Matt Hoffmann signed earlier with New England.

Murphy will play hoops at Wayne State

Pat Murphy of Fremont has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at Wayne State, according to head coach Steve Aggers.

Murphy, a 6-6, 210-pound forward-center, averaged eight points and 4-6 rebounds per game last year for Fre-mont In fleld goal percentage, offen-sive rebounding and in blocks, averaging 1-6 per game. Murphy's high school coach, Joel Parks, is a Wayne State graduate.

Murphy will play in the Fremont Tribune All Star Game June 14 as a member of the East squad. He is a member of the National Honor Socie-ty at Fremont.

"We are excited to sign an area player with the size and potential of Pat." Aggers said. "We like his mobility and agility for a bigger front. Ine player and feel with a good weight and strength program at the college level, he will improve by leaps and bounds.

"'Murph' will start playing inside, but could develop into a power for-ward in time. He is a quality student-

"It's a fremendous opportunity for us to have a young player like Pat with so much potential who has four years to develop that potential. We believe Pat has a chance to become a fine performer with time, hard work and patience. He is a great addition to our rebuilding efforts here at Wayne State." Aggers said.

Murphy will major in accounting at Wayne State. He is the fourth recruit signed by Aggers. Murphy, joins Wade Behlen of Columbus, Tim Wobken of Scribner and Rod Hunke of Snyder as this year's Wildcat recruits.

Wayne State finished the 1985-86 season just one game short of a NAIA National. Tournament appearance, losing in the finals of the district championship.
