He wins $1,000!

THE FIRST THURSDAY night drawing of Bonus Bucks yielded a $1,000 winner — Arnie Ebker (left) of Wayne — who was in Florida when his name was called. He received the Bonus Bucks from Dean Carroll. The drawings continue this Thursday night when those who registered have an opportunity to win $350 in Bonus Bucks. Three names will be drawn that evening. Both husband and wife are eligible for winning, if either name is announced in the participating stores. Register, if 18 or older, at any of the participating stores and get your name in the barrel.

ESU sets hearing on budget

By LaVon Anderson

A federal mediator is scheduled to visit Educational Service Unit One at Wakefield on July 17 in an effort to settle contract negotiations for the 1985-86 school year between the ESU board and ESU Education Association.

During a meeting Tuesday night in Wakefield, board members learned that the federal mediator will be at the ESU-1 office on July 17 at 5 p.m. to meet with representatives of the board and education association.

Representing the board at the meeting will be Claire Hansen of Coleridge, Leo Krampfer of Dakota City and Randy Shaw of Wayne, along with the board's attorney, John Gerard of Norfolk.

Also meeting with the federal mediator will be ESU-1 Administrator Harry Mills, Assistant Administrator Rodney Garwood, and representatives of the ESU Education Association.

If an agreement cannot be reached through use of the federal mediator, the matter of contract negotiations may still be taken before the Commission of Industrial Relations.

Contract negotiations for the board and Education Association have been at an impasse for several months, with ESU staffers working the 1985-86 school year without a contract.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday night, ESU-1 board members set Aug. 12 as the date for a workshop and public hearing on the ESU-1 budget.

The workshop and hearing will be conducted at 7 p.m. prior to the board's regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m.

In a report Tuesday night, Assistant Administrator Garwood said preliminary estimated unit valuation figures for the 1986-87 year total $1,451,655,125.22. That compares with the 1985-86 figure of $1,536,764,862.

Based on those preliminary figures, the levy is expected to

Armed robbery attempted, victim able to flee scene

The second armed robbery attempt within an 18 day period took place Sunday afternoon on a road southeast of Wayne.

This time the victim was able to escape without the armed robber getting any belongings.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department and other law enforcement agencies are investigating an attempted armed robbery that occurred five miles south and a quarter-mile east of Wayne. It happened Sunday at about noon, according to a news release from LeRoy Janssen, Wayne County Sheriff.

According to his report, two individuals with ski masks stopped a 21-year-old rural Wakefield female who was alone in her car and demanded her jewelry and her money. The name of the victim was not released.

The Wakefield woman was heading in an easterly direction while the two ski-masked individuals were driving westerly, moving down the center of the roadway. The victim pulled to the side of the road to avoid a collision.

One individual got out of the vehicle, held a gun on the victim, while the other ski-masked individual remained in a brown Ford pickup that had no license plates. The vehicle was considered to be a mid to late 70's model.

As the gunman demanded the victim's jewelry and money, the gunman was distracted by his partner in the brown pickup. The victim, who had the vehicle already in drive and had her foot on the accelerator, took that opportunity to speed away from the scene before anything was taken by the gunman or his partner.

Authorities have no one in custody at this time, and are seeking suspects in the case. On June 18, an armed robbery took place at the Pizza Hut in Wayne with an undisclosed amount of cash taken. Investigation is continuing on that incident.

Janssen said the law enforcement officials are considering all areas in the investigation, including the prospect that the armed robbery attempts are somewhat related.

Witnesses in the "Pizza Hut" robbery described the armed robber as 5'10" in height with a medium build and a "beer belly" and the individual walked with a limp. A stolen pickup had been used as a get-away vehicle.

The victim in Sunday's robbery said she did not notice a limp nor a "beer belly." In describing the armed robber, no information on stolen vehicles have been reported from area counties, including Wayne County, Janssen mentioned.

Chicken Show event Saturday

People can do a lot with an egg — either boil it or make it into an omelet for good eating.

Then there are just some things you don't ordinarily do — like trying to catch a raw egg in mid-air as it is dropped from great heights.

When the sixth annual Wayne Chicken Show begins this Saturday (July 12), none of the above will be left out of the schedule of the day's events.

These happenings, along with many other chicken-related events that include a Chicken Show Parade, will highlight the Saturday "eggstravaganza."

Over $800 in cash or merchandise winnings will be given away.

Some of the pre-show events which have already taken place have included the balloon release and the chicken poetry and essay contest.

Winning the essay contest was George Berger of South Amana, Iowa. His entry appears on page 11b of this Thursday's edition. The first place winner in each division gets a chicken dinner at a restaurant of his/her choice in Wayne or $8 in cash. Mary Suplee won honors with the only entry in the "Legendary Chicken" theme division of the contest.

The winning poetry entry was by Mike Rethwisch, with an address of Honolulu, Hawaii. Several poetry entries were received by The Wayne Herald after the contest's July 7 deadline and were ineligible. They also appear inside this issue.

Other pre-show events will be the July 10 judging of the Chicken Window Displays in the stores and business windows in the city of Wayne.

Several athletic events will take place during the single day event. One is the Chicken Show Softball Tournament, which features some 31 teams from the surrounding area. The tournament is broken down into Mens Class A, B, C slow pitch teams and Women's slow pitch teams.

A schedule of opening games on Saturday, July 12, appears in this Thursday's sports section.

Also on Saturday morning will be a fun run, with the starting point to be the First National Bank in Wakefield and the finish line at Bressler Park in Wayne, where much of the Chicken Show events will take place.

The rooster crowing annual event is slated to begin at 8:30 a.m. at Bressler. First place is $50, second place $25 and third place $10. A free omelet feed will take place there from 9 to 11 a.m.

A Chicken Flying Meet, sanctioned by the International Chicken Flying

Association, will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The annual Chicken Show Parade will kick-off at 11 a.m., starting at First and Main and finishing at Bressler Park. Six categories in which entrants will be judged are in the areas of: overall best theme for "Legendary Chickens"; best chicken-related overall entry; best child entry; best group of children entry; best organization entry; and best commercial entry.

FIVE-TIME consecutive Cluck-Off champion John Agler of Wayne will be defending his title against other challengers in the National Cluck-Off contest that starts at 12 noon at Bressler Park.

Northwestern Bell is sponsoring this event and will offer cash winnings in all four classes, with first place winners gaining $25. The classes are children's hen, children rooster crowing; adult hen clucking and adult rooster crowing.

Then at 2 p.m. is another crowd-pleasing event called the egg drop/catch contest, in which participants risk egg in their hands (and face) in attempting to grab hold of a raw egg as it is dropped from the city of Wayne's cherry picker.

Carroll: A town that doesn't know how to quit

This is a first in a series of interviews with four individuals who live, or had lived, in Carroll for many years. The Carroll community will be officially celebrating its Centennial July 18-20.

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Carroll is a good, strong little town — don't let anyone tell you anything different.

That's the message Lavern "Shorty" Hallee carries whenever he's asked about why he came to Carroll in 1931 and began his barbering businesses. The community was prospering then, with a population of around 500 people.

He's been asked the question a lot. This isn't the first time that the 76-year-old barber has been interviewed or photographed by reporters of area newspaper publications. Walls inside his "Hallee's Barber Shop" business are covered with articles he's clipped from the publications. With all this exposure, he wasn't overly willing to talk about himself and his businesses. Yet he held nothing back when it comes to talking about the town of Carroll — its strengths and the dedication of the people who live there.

Shorty will go back to the days when Carroll had four passenger trains come through on almost a daily basis. On Saturday nights, he and his wife would take the train up to Wausa to visit his parents.

There was a big wash-out later on that carried out the tracks and that was the end of the railroad.

Up by the auditorium, he said, was a cafe and near that, a hat shop. There were more restaurants, a butcher shop and a bakery before it had been destroyed by fire.

A PERSON doesn't operate a business for 55 years and not see the changes — not even in his own business, when at one time he charged 35 cents for a haircut and lowered it down to 25 cents.

Or during the Saturday nights during the 1940's when sometimes he wouldn't get home from the barber shop till very late because he was cutting hair till almost 1 a.m.

He had installed a shower at that time, and people could use it for a 50 cent fee.

Now, opening for Saturday afternoon hours is uncommon for Shorty. But on Tuesday morning, the day of this interview, customers were waiting for their turn at the chair.

"It's been a great joy, and great fun," Shorty said in briefly summing up his 55 year of barbering.

"This has been a great town to live in. Sure, we've [the community] had our ups and downs with things, but it all works out," he said.

One of the more emotional aspects of being one of Carroll's oldest businesses is that the owner has to see the other businesses go.

"To see the businesses go, well, it's sad to think about it — being torn down after they have been there for so many years," said Shorty.

But the community has 10 to 11 good strong businesses now and is doing better than other small communities across Nebraska, or even the midwest.

IT SURVIVED the Great Depression, when things were slow and people didn't have any money, according to Shorty.

"Anybody that could afford to get a haircut [during the Depression] was considered great. There was just no money around — period," mentioned Shorty.

Shorty pulled out a yellowed Jan. 4, 1934 edition of "The Carroll News" newspaper he had saved for personal reasons. It carried advertisements from the City Meat Market, Carroll Service Station; Carroll State Bank; Jens Christensen; Dr. A. Textley; Fullerton Lumber Company; Bredemeyer's; and the Eddie Oil Co.

The Carroll Merc. Co. had blankets priced at 39 cents; Butter Nut Coffee at 31 cents for a pound can; Light House Cleanser at 4 cents per can; can of apricots for 22 cents; sugar, 10 pounds for 49 cents; flour, 48 pound sack for $1.69; three cans of lye for a quarter; large package of oatmeal for under 15 cents; and a gallon can of pork and beans at 25 cents.

An article in the 1934 publication, which stresses the merits of buying at home, drives home the statement that perhaps Shorty and all the other residents of Carroll are driving home to all those in the area.

IT SAYS:

"Next to a man's family and

"RED" WYLIE, a former Carroll resident, gets a hair trim from Shorty Hallee.

business, nothing should stand dearer to his heart than the town in which he lives. It is his home. It is the place in which he earns his living and educates his children.

If he wants it to be as populous, as thrifty and as widely known as possible, he cannot afford to be indifferent to anything that will further these ends.

A town that is not worthy of the devotion of its citizens in making it widely and generally prosperous is a town in which it is not worth the while to live at all."

Perhaps this explains the attitude of Shorty Hallee and the many volunteers who are cooperating in helping Carroll celebrate its 100th birthday. That cooperative volunteer spirit was there when the city auditorium was constructed years ago and Shorty sees it now as the Centennial date grows closer.

"Everything is piecing together like a million dollars," he said.

"People here are always on their toes, always up and throwing," he said.

And from those characteristics comes a community that carries plenty of Carroll pride and a true sense of accomplishment that will continue to carry on after the Centennial is over.

news briefs

Ice cream social on museum lawn

The public is invited to attend an ice cream social tonight (Thursday) from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the lawn of the Wayne County Historical Museum, located at 702 Lincoln St. Rain date is July 11.

The event is being sponsored by the Wayne County Historical Society to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the museum's location in the former Ley house. The house will be open for viewing during the ice cream social.

All proceeds and donations during the evening will go towards a matching funds grant from Lutheran Brotherhood Branch #212. The funds will be used to complete restoration work at the museum following extensive water damage in January 1984.

Wageman recent graduate

Julie Wageman graduated in May from the University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture at Curtis. She received an associate degree in technical agriculture, majoring in veterinarian technology.

Julie was a member of the Student Technicians of Veterinary Medical Association and served as president of the organization while attending school at Curtis. She is presently employed at the Pender Veterinarian Clinic.

She graduated from Wakefield High School and is the daughter of Mrs. Charles (Phyllis) Wageman.

Pollo support group to meet

The Nebraska Pollo Survivors Association Support Group will meet in the in-service room at Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk on Sunday, July 13 at 2 p.m.

Nancy Carter, coordinator for the state of Nebraska Pollo Survivors Association, will be the speaker. Nancy is a pollo survivor also struggling with post-polio syndrome. She will discuss post-polio syndrome and the functions of the Association. There will also be a question and answer period.

All interested persons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Wayne-Carroll band rehearsal

The Wayne High School varsity band will have a special rehearsal on Tuesday evening, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. to prepare for the Carroll centennial.

All band members are urged to attend this rehearsal. Football and basketball "open gym" sessions will each start one half hour earlier to allow students to attend the band's practice.

WSC grad creates sculpture

A sculpture by Thomas Schomburg, who attended Wayne State College, has been installed in a courtyard between Holy Ghost Catholic Church and 1999 Broadway in Denver, Colorado.

The sculpture is titled "The Veteran's Memorial" and is a memorial to American Veterans of all wars. It depicts a single soldier lying dead, according to a news article from the Rocky Mountain News.

At 11 feet, this is one of his larger works. He is now working on depictions of racehorses.

Old fashion camp meeting

Services will take place nightly from July 9 to July 16 in honor of Randolph Nebraska's birthday in a big tent just west of the Randolph Ballroom on the southside of Highway 20.

Services begin at 7:30 p.m. with Wednesday's program, Pastor Russell L. Peres; Thursday (Lord will provide); Friday and Saturday, Pastor Mark Richards of Norfolk; Sunday, Rev. Walter Neely of Sioux City; Monday and Tuesday, Rev. Bob Rasmussen of South Sioux City; and Wednesday, Rev. Walter Neely of Sioux City.

Youth Pastor Mike Crispin of Sioux City will be available for prayer and counseling on July 15 and 16.

Sunday morning praise and worship service is Sunday, July 13 at 8 a.m.

Copy fees increase

The fee for obtaining a certified copy of a birth certificate in Nebraska will be $6 instead of $5 effective July 17. Legislative Bill 333 passed during the 89th legislative session, provides for the collection of an additional $1 by the Bureau of Vital Statistics to establish and fund the Nebraska Child Abuse Prevention program.

Certified copies of records involving deaths, marriages, and marriage dissolutions will remain at $5.

A certified copy of a record can be obtained by contacting the Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, P.O. Box 95007, Lincoln, Nebraska, 68509 or phone 402/471-2871. Copies are supplied while you wait if the request is made in person at the Department of Health in Lincoln.

Miller gains scholarship

Thirteen students in Teachers College at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) have been awarded Jessie Keller Scholarships.

An area student who received the scholarship was: Rebecca K. Miller, Wayne, $250.

Student Intern from Wayne

Mark A. Hummel, a senior majoring in business administration at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL), is a student intern this summer in UNL's Personnel Office.

Hummel, the son of Jim and Vera Hummel of 801 Logan St., Wayne, is a personnel assistant responsible for researching the feasibility of new training programs.

Wayne stress prevention center

Stress questions answered at Show

by Jeff Berger

What came first: the chicken or the egg? We may not have the answer to this question, but we do have some suggestions on how you can get answers to your stress-related questions. However, if you go to Wayne High School Saturday morning at 10 a.m. as you usually would, you won't find us there!

We are going to be at the Wayne Chicken Days celebration with a booth at Bressler Park. Feel free to stop by for a chat with any or all of us. Do-it-yourself handouts that will allow you to figure out your stress level, along with separate sheets for your teenager, and your younger child, will be available.

And for those of you who know you have stress but don't know what to do with it, we will have additional handouts giving you techniques that explain ways to relax. We will be there most of the day to answer any questions you might have or explain more about what we do and how we can be of service to anyone interested.

The Wayne Stress Prevention Center will expand its services. Thanks to numerous responses and increasing demand from you and the community, we are taking our show on the road. We will still offer Saturday sessions to be held at Wayne

High School, Room 202, at 10 a.m. Now we are also offering our services to any group that would be willing to have us come to speak. We will address any topic that is related to stress including stress on the job, stress in raising children, money stress, farm-related stress, and stress in your personal relationship.

A word of caution, however, when considering whether or not to have us address your group. Our maximum benefit to groups is one of providing useful information on stress. We know that there are those of you who might be interested in receiving additional help for your stress on an individual basis. What we can do if you are interested in receiving that type of help is assist you in finding a place where you can get the help or information you are interested in.

If you would like to have us talk to your group, please contact either Dr. Derek Paar at 375-2200 or 375-3104, Doug Porter at 375-2420 or Jeff Berger at 375-5289. At the time of your call, tell us a person we can contact, the name of the group and when you want us.

Remember, if you aren't part of a group, you can still visit with us on Saturdays. And if you haven't already, tell a friend about us — we're here to help.

We hope to see many of you at Wayne Chicken Days on Saturday.

June was camping month for Pack 221

June was a month of camping for Pack 221, seven boys took part in the cub day camp in Norfolk on June 14. They are: Erin Aggers, Cory Erbelein, Mike Fluend, Dustin Longe, Terry Nutenbeck, Brett Otie, Alex Salmon. They completed a variety of activities including an obstacle course, knots, archery, target practice and leatherwork.

On June 21-22 Pack 221 had an overnight campout at Pilger NRDL Lake. There was fishing, boating, hiking and a baseball game where the boys beat the men 16-10. Everyone helped with a hot dog & bean supper. They had to come back to Wayne after a storm nearly blew them away. They reassembled for breakfast on Sunday morning and gathered up their far-ranging gear.

On June 28, 8 boys took part in the Webelos Day camp. They were Brian Brasch, Scott Day, Craig Hudson, Scott Otie, Cory Erbelein, Aaron Schmier, Terry Rutenbeck & Brad Woelher. They learned fire building, conservation, plant identification and proper use of an axe. They also cooked their own meals and ended the day with a tug-of-war match.

June was a memorable month & the Pack wants to extend a big thank you to everyone who helped make these various events successful.

Morris Ebmeier, 62, of Laurel died Friday, July 4, 1986. Services were held Monday, July 7 at the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel. The Rev. Mark Miller officiated.

Morris Ebmeier, the son of Charles and Catherine Haisch Ebmeier, was born Aug. 31, 1923 in Laurel. He graduated from Laurel Public School in 1941. He attended the University of Nebraska, Midland and Springfield, Ill. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He married Norma Remmers on June 15, 1947 in Beatrice. The couple lived in Lincoln following their marriage. They returned to a farm by Laurel in 1951. Mr. Ebmeier died in 1982. He was a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church and the Laurel Veterans Club.

He is survived by four sons, Charles (Tom) and James of Hutchinson, Kan. and Richard and Mark of Laurel; three daughters, Cathy Ebmeier and Lynda Ebmeier, both of Lincoln and Mary Ebmeier of Omaha; 11 grandchildren; two brothers, Paul and Ben; and two sisters, Ruth Ebmeier and Mae Detjefsen, all of Laurel.

He was preceded in death by his wife Norma, his parents; two sisters and one granddaughter.

Burialbearers were Randy Ebmeier, Steve Ebmeier, Arnold Ebmeier, Lathan Detjefsen, Eldon Haisch, Ervin Haisch and Larry Haisch.

Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery with McBride-Willits Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Henry Greve

Henry Greve, 50, of Wakefield died Thursday, July 3, 1986 at the Marian Health Center in Sioux City, Iowa after a short illness.

Services were held Saturday, July 5 at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. The Rev. E. Neil Peterson officiated.

Henry George Greve, the son of John Martin Gustaf and Evelyn Laase Greve, was born Aug. 28, 1935 in Wayne County. He married Beverly Longe on Aug. 11, 1957 at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. She died in 1968. He married Carol Dinstage on July 10, 1972 at West Point.

Survivors include his wife, Carol of Wakefield; two sons, Steven and Rodney, both of Wakefield; one daughter, Mrs. Greg (Denise) Simpson of Wakefield; his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Greve of Wakefield; two brothers, John Jr. of Wisner and William of Wakefield; two sisters, Mrs. Eugene (Evelyn) Bartels of Wakefield and Mrs. Dennis (Shirley) Ronspies of Pierce; and four grandchildren.

Burialbearers were Howard Greve, Merlin Greve, Arthur Greve, Donald Dolph, Milford Kay and Erwin Stebrandt.

Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery with Bressler Funeral Home of Wakefield in charge of arrangements.

Progress made on taxes and budgets

viewpoint

Congress Makes Progress on Tax and Budget

Congress has made some progress on tax and budget matters over the past several weeks. Just before Congress adjourned for the July 4 District Work Period, the Senate passed its version of a Tax Reform Bill. Now that both the House and Senate have passed versions of the bill, a conference committee must now meet to work out differences between the two bills. Then a final version can be presented to both the House and Senate and sent to the President for signature. I believe we should have a new Tax Reform Bill on the President's desk for signature by August 15.

During the period of the conference, I expect to remain in close contact with my colleagues who will serve as conferees. My next and only remaining opportunity to vote, however, will be an "up-or-down" vote to approve or disapprove the final tax reform package that is presented to us. I am relating my constituents' views to the House-Senate conferees and expressing my overall thoughts on the legislation to the conferees.

Also, Congress has finally approved a budget for the coming fiscal year that I believe is an improvement over that originally proposed by the Administration earlier in the year. While not perfect (it has some suspect figures regarding projected "savings" and revenues), the budget falls within the deficit reduction targets established by the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law without decimating important programs. Defense spending will be cut $28 million below the Administration's request and probably will be slightly less than the expected rate of inflation. Spending for many domestic programs would be cut slightly or moderately frozen, but the budget would achieve savings without terminating a single domestic program. Frankly, some should be terminated, but this was the Budget conferees' decision. Some high priority programs, primarily in health and education, would actually increase.

The African Famine and U.S. Aid

Through my capacity on the Foreign Affairs Committee I tried to play an active role in forging an American response to the African famine. Being the only real "agricultural voice" on the Committee allowed me to take a lead on this issue. I repeatedly urged the President last year to release 300,000 metric tons of wheat from the Wheat Reserve to supplement our P.L. 480 program. The President did agree with me and released the wheat. I was also very involved in forging what was a very bipartisan response to the crisis. Our assistance was massive. The U.S. alone pledged as much as all the other industrialized nations put together. But, it was important that our emergency food assistance be supplemented with funds for long term development on the continent.

As a result, institutions like the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD) and other long term development programs should be supported.

The situation in Africa has improved dramatically. The U.N.'s Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) predicts "greatly improved crop prospects ... food aid requirements are sharply below last year." Nonetheless, the U.S. will spend over $1 billion in Africa in fiscal year 1986.

Regarding transportation costs, AID last year agreed to carry the costs for the inland transportation. This was an exception to a long adhered to rule not to cover inland transportation costs. This year AID decided to phase out paying for those costs by sharing the burden with the distributing agencies. I have not received any complaints about this decision from any of the major distributing agencies such as Catholic Relief Services or Lutheran World Vision. Should crisis conditions return, I will certainly consider during AID to once again pick up transportation costs.

Power Play

Wayne city council members were warned several months ago by Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster about the possibility that the federal power agency Western Area Power Administration — a major source of low-cost electricity for consumers in this and the agency's 15-state midwest region — could be sold by the Reagan Administration to various private groups.

Big deal, you say? Opponents of the proposal included a large coalition of publicly-owned power systems; rural electric cooperatives; consumer, labor, farm and environmental groups; and national organizations representing state and local governments.

Kloster, as well as these other groups mentioned above, warned that turning the power program over to private interests would increase electric rates for millions of households, businesses, farms and industries, and have a severe impact on state and regional economies.

On July 3, we received a release saying that Congress has stopped the Administration's plans to "privatize" or sell the Western Area Power Administration.

Reagan signed into law a congressional prohibition which bars the Administration from spending any more funds to push for "Privatization" of the Western Area Power Administration. The President objected vigorously and said proposals to sell the federal power agency should still be pursued.

The American Public Power Association calls the law signing a "major victory for consumers and taxpayers throughout the country and especially for regional and local economies which rely on relatively low-cost electricity from federal hydropower projects."

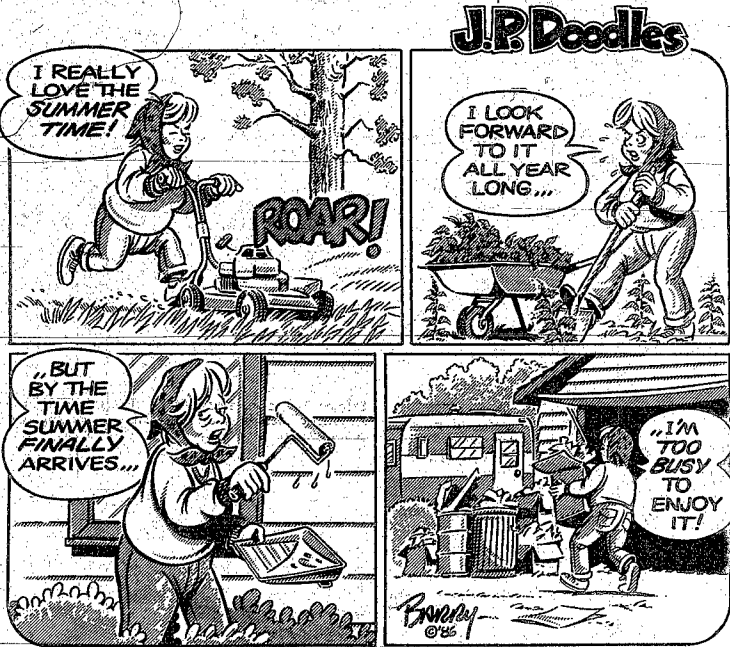

A study by this organization reveals that the selling of the power agencies would lead to electric rate increases ranging from 68 percent to 390 percent.

The Senate apparently agreed with American Public Power, because they approved the measure 75 to 25.

We have not seen the study by American Public Power Association. But to openly suggest that a dramatic increase in electric rates will come about because of the privatization of federal power agencies is a statement that merits further investigation — so that the issue on both sides can be put to rest, once and for all.

We agree that jacking up the power rates at the expense of the consumer is certainly not the way to reduce the deficit.

Comparable to David and Goliath

Family farm issue is still a battle

Capitol News by Melvin Paul

The family farm issue has been a David and Goliath battle from the beginning.

In 1982 groups which feared that corporate farming would take over the Nebraska landscape got enough signatures to put a Constitutional Amendment banning most corporate farming on the ballot.

Opponents to the Initiative 300 Amendment waged an extensive advertising campaign, financed predominately with insurance money. The Prudential Insurance Company, in particular, was interested in protecting its landholdings in the Sandhills. The battle appeared to pit the little individual farmers against the big bad moneyed boys. And big money lost.

That perception was a little unfair. The family farm amendment also sets western ranchers against the farmers of the east, for it prevents feed lots and ranchers from feeding corporate-owned cattle.

It also limits options for financially troubled farmers.

Voters approved the amendment, but the battle didn't stop.

For several years supporters of corporate farming have tried to get state senators to approve a proposed Constitutional Amendment repealing Initiative 300.

And both sides agree that several minor changes in the Constitution may be beneficial. These include language making it clear that corporate egg operations are permissible and language indicating that banks which hold farmland in trust are excluded from the corporate farming ban.

But they could reach no compromise. And the 1986 Legislature adjourned without taking any action on Initiative 300.

didn't appear on the November ballot they would have to wait another two years, 1988.

They tried a last ditch effort — a petition drive of their own to gather the more than 54,000 signatures to put a repeal of Initiative 300 on the ballot.

That petition drive quickly became another David and Goliath endeavor. Many of the names linked with the petition drive group, Citizens to Restore the Constitution, are familiar in the state's financial community. The petition drive organizers were apparently short on volunteers, especially in the urban areas. But their wallets were full.

They began recruiting volunteers who were paid $40 a day plus mileage and the word went through employment agencies. The volunteers did not have to turn in expense receipts. One college student "volunteer" told newspaper reporters that she just moved to Lincoln from Kansas and had never heard of Initiative 300 until the orientation meeting for circulators.

THOSE OPPOSING the repeal, part of an umbrella organization called Friends of the Constitution, objected to the $40-a-day volunteers. State law allows petition circulators to be paid for such expenses as meals, travel and lodging but prohibits payment for the work. David won again.

The Nebraska Attorney General's office agreed that the $40-a-day volunteers are probably illegal and the Friends of the Constitution promised to take the matter to court if petitions are turned into the Secretary of State's office in early July.

Governor Bob Kerrey also said that $40-a-day volunteers is at least improper. If not technically illegal. The Constitution allows the people to take matters into their own hands if they don't like what the elected officials are doing, Kerrey said.

"It's not set up so that those who have a whole bunch of money are going to have an advantage over those who do not."

State employees

Art P. Average is a 40-year-old veteran of nine years with a Nebraska state government agency. He earned $17,292 last year and took 7.7 days in sick leave.

That mythical average is a statistic which bears only fleeting resemblance to any of the more than 12,500 individual state employees.

Bill Birkel, 38, began his job with the Department of Water Resources in 1968 after two years of technical college training. Birkel, who lives in Bellwood and works out of the Norfolk office, collects information from stream gauging stations in northeastern Nebraska, monitors irrigation from rivers during dry seasons and inspects dams.

Nancy Vanourmy, 47, has been receptionist for the Public Service Commission in the Lincoln State Office Building for the past five years. Vanourmy, who has worked as a pharmacy technician and an assistant to a physician, enjoys meeting and visiting with the people who come to the PSC office. She was attracted to state government by the benefits — a good health insurance plan and generous holiday and vacation days. "The pay isn't the highest but the benefits are good."

Both Birkel and Vanourmy are represented in the new Personnel Almanac, a book of numbers by the thousands culled from computerized information collected for each of the 77 state agencies and their individual employees.

The Almanac printed by the State Personnel Department, contains information on everything from the cost of vacation days by agency to the salaries of the state's best paid professionals. It is based on 1985 information and does not include the University of Nebraska.

SOME OF THE information reports the obvious.

The bulk of the state's employees,

7,392, work in Lancaster County where state government is a major employer.

The four largest agency employers are Public Institutions which operate the regional centers and the Beatrice State Developmental Center (3,206 employees); Roads (2,252 employees); Social Services which has offices in almost every county (1,916 employees) and state colleges (1,795 employees).

Psychiatrists make the top money in state government with annual incomes between $71,057 to $90,237 last year. The governor, with his $40,000 income, didn't even make the top 40 highest paid state employees. Fifty-three employees made more than $50,000 last year. Another 6,573 made less than $15,000.

Minority workers comprise about 4 percent of the state work force. Thirty-one agencies had no minority employees. The Equal Opportunity Commission was the most effective equal opportunity employer. Minority employees make up about 42 percent of the 43-member staff.

Some of the information is obscure.

The Power Review Board, which grants or denies permits for transmission facilities and lines, had the highest employee salary average ($30,604). The agency has only two employees, a director and one professional staff member.

Buffalo County registered the second largest number of state employees, 1,606, topping even Douglas County. Buffalo County is the home of Kearney State College whose employees are considered state workers. Every county had at least three state employees.

The healthiest agency employees apparently work at the Status of Women Commission where no one took a sick day in 1985. Racing Commission staff took less than an hour per employee in sick leave (for the year) and the Attorney General's Office staff averaged a half day of sick leave per employee.

Q. Our apartment rent is due on the first of the month. If we are a few days late, can the landlord lock the doors and refuse to let us back into our apartment until we pay?

A. No. If the rent is not paid on time, the landlord must follow certain notice requirements as spelled out in the landlord-tenant act. The landlord must make a demand in writing that the rent be paid within three days, and that if it is not paid, the rental agreement will be terminated. If the tenant pays within three days, the landlord may not end the rental agreement.

If the rent is not paid after three days, the landlord may terminate the rental agreement. If the tenant refuses to leave voluntarily, the landlord may file suit to have the tenant evicted. The landlord may not lock out a tenant who has not paid rent, and may not take possession of the tenant's property or remove the tenant's belongings. A court order of eviction is required before the tenant can be forced to move.

Open house reception and buffet dinner mark Iversens' 50th

Howard and Marlen (Andersen) Iversen of Winside noted their 50th wedding anniversary on June 29 with an open house reception and buffet dinner in the Winside city auditorium.

The 250 guests attending the open house came from Lebanon and Hampton, N. J.; North Palm Beach and Jupiter, Fla.; Leoma, Tenn.; Rodgers, Ark.; Denver, Colo.; Fresno, West Covina and Hacienda Heights, Calif.; East Moline and Barrington Hills, Ill.; Williams, Ore.; Galva and Maquoketa, Iowa; Kenosha and Silver Lake, Wisc.; Battle Creek, Bridgeport, Blair, Carroll, Dalton, Dakota City, Fremont, Laurel, Lincoln, Hoskins, Norfolk, Stanton, Wakefield, West Point, Pierce, Pilger, Wahoo, Wayne and Winside.

Hosts were the couple's children, Lester and Greta Grubs of Winside, Bill and Jenny Iversen of Wahoo; Nancy Boffolfsen of Lincoln, and Tom and Marilyn Iversen of Lincoln. There are four grandchildren.

MARY BOWDER and Lynn Bowder of Lincoln registered the guests, and Jenny Iversen of Wahoo and Marilyn Iversen of Lincoln arranged gifts.

The anniversary cake was baked and decorated by Daisy Janke and Lorraine Prince of Winside.

Serving cake, coffee and punch at the reception were Shirlee Cathey of Lebanon, N. J.; Lois McKeown, Lois Bowers and Yvonne Siedschlag, all of Norfolk; Jean Hansen of Kenosha, Wisc.; Dorothy Andersen of Winside; Jerilyn Rathman of Dalton, Sophia Morris of Wayne, and Lorraine Levitt of Williams, Ore.

Waitresses were grand nieces of the couple, and others assisting at the open house were Arlene Rabe, Lois Krueger, Darline Eckert, Lila Hansen, Arlene Pfeiffer and Mary Ann Soden, all of Winside.

A BUFFET DINNER was served at 6 p.m. and was attended by 125 guests.

Assisting in the kitchen for the buffet were Bonnie Wylie, Irene Meyer, Bonnie Frevort, Ruby Ritze and Helen Holtgrew, all of Winside.

IVERSENS WERE married at Winside by the Rev. W. F. Most on June 7, 1936.

Among those attending the couple's anniversary celebration were Mrs. Helen Iversen Jones of West Covina, Calif. and Ray Andersen of Bridgeport, attendants at the wedding ceremony 50 years ago.

Following their marriage, Iversens resided on a farm southeast of Winside for 14 years before moving into Winside.

Wayne County event

4-H'ers compete in home economics contest

Thirty-three Wayne County 4-H'ers participated in the Home Economics Contest held July 2 in the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus.

The contestants answered a series of written and oral questions where they were scored on their reasoning and speaking skills.

The top six contestants in the senior division are eligible to compete at the Nebraska State Fair contest on Sept. 1.

HOME ECONOMICS Contest champion was Marta Sandahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nell Sandahl of Wakefield.

Joining her on the Wayne County team will be Kim Cherry of Winside, Carmen Reeg of Wayne, Margo Sandahl of Wakefield, Christina Bloomfield of Carroll, and tying for sixth position, Sherri Wittler of Randolph and MeLisa Johnson of Wayne.

Special awards will be presented to the champion senior and junior contestants during the Wayne County Fair.

Champion junior contestant was Kim Imdieke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Imdieke of Wayne.

RIBBON PLACINGS for contestants in the senior division (12 and older) were as follows:

Purple — Marta Sandahl and Kim

Cherry. Blue — Carmen Reeg, Margo Sandahl, Christina Bloomfield, Sherri Wittler, MeLisa Johnson, Tonya Erxleben, Becky Hutchison, Jennifer Luff and Tara Erxleben.

Red — Lisa Dowling.

In the junior division (under 12), ribbon placings included:

Purple — Kim Imdieke, Yolanda Sievers, Tammy Geiger and Lynn Von Seggern.

Blue — Debbie Sievers, Lana Casey, Ketta Lubberstedt, Tina Luff and Lisa Casey.

Red — Tammy Sievers.

White — Annette Hellmers.

In the novice division (8 and 9 years or first timers), ribbons went to:

Purple — Aletha Fale, Scott Sievers and Beth Wittler.

Blue — Megan McLean, Sara Rademacher, Wendy Morse, Karie Luff, Tina Sievers, Angie Steffen and Margaret Brugger.

ASSISTING WITH the contest as scorers were Mrs. Nell Sandahl, Mrs. Dennis Greunke and Mrs. J.A. Rademacher.

Judging the 4-H'ers oral presentations were Mary Lofits, Burt County 4-H aide; Marlene Borgelt, Cuming County 4-H leader; and Mindy Luff, Wayne County 4-H secretary.

June wedding rites in Norfolk unite Mary Winter-Don Luhr

Mary Winter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Winter of Norfolk, and Don Luhr, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Luhr of Wayne, were married June 21 at 4 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

The Rev. Phillip Zartling and Vicar Roger Kneppath officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Musical selections included "He Has Chosen You For Me," "And on This Day," and "The Lord's Prayer." Soloist was Linda Mullen of Norfolk and organist was Carla Free of Omaha.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white satin. The fitted bodice was decorated in French imported Alencon lace and tiny seed pearls.

The gown featured a Queen Anne neckline and long-lapelled sleeves decorated at the wrists with Alencon lace and pearls.

The softly gathered skirt was edged with a scalloped lace and fell into a cathedral-length train.

Her double fingertip veil of illusion fell from a brimmed satin hat decorated with Alencon lace and trimmed with a scalloped lace and Russian net blusher.

Both the dress and hat were made by the bride's mother.

The bride carried a cascade of pink roses, white stephanotis, yellow carnations and baby's breath.

MATRON OF honor was Sandra Nielsen of Norfolk, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Susan Wantoch of Omaha, Ellen Frey of Minneapolis, Minn., and Deanna Luhr of Wayne, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore identical teal-length gowns of deep turquoise satin with princess-bodices, self-fabric cummerbunds and short jackets.

Each carried a long-stemmed pink rose with a yellow carnation and yellow forsythia tied with a white ribbon.

Any Nielsen of Norfolk and Emily Schultz of Clarinda, Iowa were flower girls. Lighting candles were Carrie Schultz of Clarinda, Iowa and Jennifer Nielsen of Norfolk.

DAN LUHR OF Plainview served as best man for his brother. Groomsman were Scott Anderson of Laurel and Layne Johnson of Concord.

Ring bearer was Nathaniel Lipp of Wayne, and ushers were Ron and Bob Nielsen of Norfolk, John Huber of Minneapolis, Minn., and Matthew Umland of Red Oak, Iowa.

Men of the bridal party wore silver tuxedos with matching vests and ties.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Winter selected a street-length mauve dress with three-quarter length sleeves. The front wrap dress fell into soft folds with a pleated cummerbund at the waist.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a street-length pink belted dress with a draped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses and white carnations.

FOLLOWING the wedding, a reception and buffet dinner were held at St. Paul's School auditorium for 240 guests. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Joslin of Laurel and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Schulz of Clarinda, Iowa.

Seated at the guest book was Mrs. Patti Lemmerman of Watertown, Minn. Brenda Rolf of Delano, Minn. was personal attendant.

Michelle Joslin of Laurel and Willa Umland of Gretna were at the gift table.

Mrs. Robert Huber of Minneapolis, Minn. poured, and Connie Gadenken of Springfield, Mo. served punch. The wedding cake was baked by the bride's mother and decorated by her sister, Jean Nielsen of Norfolk. It was cut and served by Mrs. Nielsen, assisted by Mrs. Sharon Luhr of Osmond.

Waitresses were Joy Grebe, Mary Hall, Dawn Winter and Jolane Carlson. Others assisting with the reception were members of St. Paul's Ladies Aid.

EIGHT OF the couple's nine grandparents attended the wedding. They were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Luhr of Wayne, Mrs. Herb Umland of Eagle, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Starns of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben

Mr. and Mrs. Don Luhr

Winter of Norfolk, and Richard Huston of Neligh.

Out-of-state guests were from Alaska, California, Iowa, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri and South Dakota.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner the night preceding the wedding at the bridegroom's home north of Norfolk.

THE BRIDE IS a 1982 graduate of Martin Luther Preparatory School in Prairie du Chien, Wisc., and will graduate in August of 1986 from Wayne State College with a bachelor of science degree in medical technology.

She recently finished a year's internship at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center in Sioux City.

The bridegroom graduated in 1982 from Laurel-Concord High School. He attended the University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture at Curtis and Wayne State College. He has been employed by Armour Food Co. at Madison.

Following a trip to the Black Hills and Glacier National Park, the newlyweds will make their home in Miles City, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Behmer

Texas rites for Partida-Behmer

San Antonio Catholic Church in El Paso, Texas was the setting for the June 28 marriage of Amy Partida and Don Behmer, both of El Paso.

The bride is the daughter of Sergio and Benita Partida of El Paso, and the bridegroom is the son of Bud and Beda Behmer of Hoskins.

The 1 o'clock, double ring ceremony was followed with a reception at the VFW Hall in El Paso.

BEHMERS TOOK a wedding trip to Mazatlan, Mexico, and will make their home at 3244 Isla Bandejas, in El Paso.

The bride graduated from high school in 1980 and is employed at Dale Electronics.

The bridegroom graduated from Norfolk Catholic High School in 1979 and from the University of Nebraska College of Engineering in 1984. He is employed as an industrial engineer at Dale Electronics.

THE NEWLYWEDS were honored by the bridegroom's parents during a reception and barbecue on July 5.

The 75 guests attended from Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Palo Alto, Calif.; El Paso, Texas; Chicago, Ill.; Hastings, Columbus, Dodge, Omaha, Geneva, Pierce, Stanton, Norfolk, Wayne and Hoskins.

Mardella Bebee weds Harold Olson at Wayne

Mardella Bebee and Harold (Tony) Olson, both of Wayne, exchanged marriage vows on June 28 during a 5:30 p.m. double ring ceremony at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lester Craun of Ochevedan, Iowa.

The Rev. Jonathan Vogel of Wayne officiated at the service, and honor attendants were Mrs. Gerald (Lois) Johnson of Winsand, sister of the bridegroom, and Kent Craun of Mason City, Iowa, brother of the bride.

Bridesmaid was Mrs. Kent (Jan) Craun of Mason City, Iowa, and groomsman was Gerald Johnson of Winsand.

A WEDDING DINNER was served to 40 guests at Lee's Steakhouse in Wayne following the ceremony. Mrs. Terry Magdanz of Lincoln registered guests, and Mrs. Michael Bebee of Wayne arranged gifts.

The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Rick (Patty) Luff of Wayne.

Olsons are making their home at 311 South Main St., in Wayne.

Elizabeth Schuttler June bride of Doug Carlson at Wakefield

Making their home at rural Wakefield are Mr. and Mrs. Doug Carlson, who were married June 28 at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield.

The bride is the former Elizabeth Schuttler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Schuttler of Wayne.

A 1979 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a 1984 graduate of Wayne State College, she is employed at St. Augustine's Indian Mission School in Winnebago.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carlson of Wakefield, graduated from Wakefield High School in 1981 and is engaged in farming near Wakefield.

The newlyweds traveled to Okoboji following their marriage.

OFFICIATING at the couple's 4:30 p.m. double-ring rites was the Rev. E. Neil Peterson of Wakefield. Decorations included altar flowers of pink and white carnations, and pink and burgundy pew bows.

Connie Jensen of Norfolk registered the guests, who were ushered into the church by Scott Obermeyer of Wakefield, Chad Schuttler of Ralston and Keith Schubert of Sioux City.

Chad Schuttler and Keith Schubert also lighted candles.

Deb Nicholson of Wakefield sang "Say That You Love Me" and "This is the Day," accompanied by Connie Krueger of Wakefield.

HONOR ATTENDANTS were Bonnie (Marlinson) of Laurel and Mike Carlson of Wakefield.

Bridesmaids were Lori Carlson of Wakefield and Jill Padilla of South Sioux City, and groomsmen were Todd Greve of Norfolk and Kevin Woodward of Wakefield.

Flower girl was Sara Weiershauser of Wakefield, and ring bearer was Jobb Rhoads of Friend.

THE BRIDE WAS given in marriage by her father and appeared in a long ivory gown of tulle over taffeta with a chapel-length train.

The gown was accented with Chanilly lace, seed pearls and sequins, and featured a Queen Anne neckline and long lace sleeves. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom.

She wore a hat covered with Florentine lace and featuring a pouf veil in back, and carried burgundy and pink roses on a fan with pink and burgundy ribbon.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore pink tea-length frocks of satin with a lace overlay. The dresses featured satin cummerbunds with small candy box bows.

Each carried pink roses and carnations on a fan with pink and burgundy ribbon.

The bridegroom was attired in an ivory tuxedo with a burgundy rose boutonniere, and his attendants wore silver frockcoats with pink rose boutonnieres.

The bride's mother selected a lavender street-length dress, and the bridegroom's mother chose a dusty rose dress, also in street length.

FOLLOWING THE ceremony, a reception for 250 guests was held in the church social hall. Hosts were Duane Schuttler of Ralston, Linda Huffman of Shelby, Iowa and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Anderson of Wakefield.

Arranging gifts were Kerl Durant of South Sioux City, Misty Carlson of Des Moines, Iowa and Rebecca Rhoads of Friend.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Sharon Schuttler of Ralston and Sharon Gustafson of

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Carlson

Wakefield. Judy Skrivan of Bloomfield and Angie Huttman of Shelby, Iowa and Jenifer Gustafson of Sharl Carlson of Des Moines, Iowa and Sharon Gustafson of Wakefield served punch.

In Dixon County

Plueger top presenter at 4-H Presentations Contest

Renee Plueger of Concord, a member of the Wranglers 4-H Club, was named top presenter at the Dixon County 4-H Presentations Contest held July 1 at the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

The daughter of Frank and Kathleen Plueger, Renee's presentation was entitled "Shoo! 'Em Up." She received a purple ribbon and was also selected for contest competition at the Nebraska State Fair in September.

In her presentation, Renee discussed the selection, use and care of various types of syringes needed for disease control in livestock. She used toy animals to show where and how injections are to be made.

OTHER PRESENTERS selected for state competition were Donna Rahn and Paul Brentlinger, both members of the Lucky Lads and Lassies 4-H Club.

Donna, daughter of Joanne Rahn of Allen, received a blue ribbon for her presentation, entitled "Canning Low Acid Foods."

Paul's presentation, "Dad-Heip!" related to the parts of a small engine, how the engine works, its care and maintenance. He is the son of Ray and Sharon Brentlinger of Allen.

OTHER 4-H members entered in the contest were:

Purple — Patrick Brentlinger, Allen, a member of Lucky Lads and Lassies 4-H Club; and Scott Mattes, Wakefield, a member of Pop's Partners 4-H Club.

Her fiancé graduated from Winslow High School and is employed by Hoskins Manufacturing in Hoskins. An Aug. 4 wedding is planned at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hingst

June rites for Heimes-Hingst

Debbie Heimes of Wynot and Mike Hingst of Allen were united in marriage on June 21 during a 1 o'clock ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Wynot. The Rev. Carl Salanitto officiated at the service.

Parents of the couple are Duane and Marge Heimes of Wynot, and Verlan and Vicky Hingst of Allen.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and appeared in a gown of satin and lace, fashioned with a high neckline and full, elbow-length sleeves. The skirt of cascading lace ruffles included a chapel-length train.

A satin covered picture hat and silk flowers completed her ensemble.

MAID OF HONOR was Peggy Heimes, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Sandy Heimes and Jean Driver of Wynot, Shelly Malcom of Allen and Pam Peter of Hoskins.

Joetta Wieseler of Bow Valley was the bride's personal attendant.

Matt Hingst served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Brian Couch of Inman, Jeff Chase of Allen, Kevin Hingst of Emerson, and Karey Rahn of Marlinsburg.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Mindy and Adam Heimes.

MUSIC WAS provided by vocalists JoAnn Driver, Melvin Heimes and Vicky Hingst, accompanied by Deana Klug.

Lector was Nancy Olson of Norfolk, and altar boys were Kent and Eric Heimes. Lori and Sheri Heimes lighted candles and served as gift bearers.

Guests were ushered into the church by Lyle Klug of Wynot and Bruce Malcom of Allen. Judy Olson of Norfolk and Joyce Heimes of Hartington pinned flowers.

FOLLOWING THE ceremony, a reception was held in the Bow Valley Hall. Hosts were Reynold and Deana Klug, and Marlin and Judy Hingst. Amy Hans and Leann Heimes were seated at the guest book.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Marcia Marsh of South Dakota and Kathy Heimes of Hartington.

Serving punch were Lois Klug of Wynot and Kim Heimes of Hartington.

THE BRIDE graduated from Wynot High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Allen High School.

Both are 1986 graduates of Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills, the couple will reside near Allen where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

bridal showers

Kristy Otto

A miscellaneous shower honoring Kristy Otto was held June 25 in the Con Munson home in Wakefield. Approximately 25 guests attended, and co-hostesses were Ardyce Munson and Bonnadell Koch. Games furnished entertainment.

Hawaiian style fun

WAYNE CARE CENTRE residents and guests were treated to a week in Hawaii recently when the care centre administration and staff hosted five days of Hawaiian festivities. The weeklong event, which ran June 29 through July 3, included an open house, "fruit" bingo, movies and island music. On Wednesday, July 2, residents were treated to a Hawaiian luau.

Pictured performing a hula dance during Wednesday's luau is Siow Ling Tan, a native of Malaysia presently attending Wayne State College. Administrator Gil Haase sang "Lovely Hula Hands" as Siow Ling Tan performed her dance for care centre residents and guests.

Harry Hansens mark golden anniversary at reception in Hadar

An open house reception in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hansen of Pierce was held June 29 at the fire hall in Hadar.

The reception was hosted by their four daughters and two sons, Phyllis Koehn and Fauniel Bourn, both of Niobrara, Virgine Vester of Lincoln, Daphne Wright of Norfolk, and Lyle and Wayne Hansen, both of Plainview.

There are 21 grandchildren, including Keith Bourn of Niobrara who is stationed with the U.S. Army in Germany. There also are four great grandchildren.

Harry Hansen and Agnes Nielsen were married June 29, 1936 at Wayne. They resided north of Winside for 13 years, moving to a farm west of Niobrara in 1949. In 1967, the couple moved to their present home east of Pierce.

THE COUPLE'S open house reception followed a catered dinner for approximately 40 members of the immediate family.

Registering guests were granddaughters Paula Hansen, Tamara Hiller and Yolanda Rose, all of Lincoln, and Roshelle Hansen of Plainview, who also distributed the thank yous and served punch.

The serving table was centered with a large mum plant, a bouquet of pink and white carnations, and an anniversary cake baked and decorated by LaReta Branstiler of Niobrara. The cake was a gift from the couple's daughter, Phyllis Koehn and family.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Hansen's two sisters, Betty Miller of Winside and Bonnie Grothe of Hoskins.

Dave Ferguson of Norfolk recorded the event on video tape.

RELATIVES AND friends attending the reception came from Freeport, Ill.; Sioux Falls and Eagle Butte, S. D.; Merrill, Iowa; Lincoln, Kearney, Blair, Norfolk, Battle Creek, Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Niobrara, Plainview, Center, Creighton, Bloomfield, Osmond, Verdigré, Laurel, Hartington and Coleridge.

Campers performing musical at Osmond

The United Methodists will present "It's Cool in the Furnace" at the Lutheran Church in Osmond on Saturday morning, July 12 at 7 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

The musical, which includes youngsters from Wayne and Laurel, is based upon the Bible story in Daniel of three men who refused to worship a statue erected by the King of Babylon.

The three men are punished by being thrown into a furnace and are protected from the flames by God. The King then humbly acknowledges that the God of the three men is the true God.

THE MUSICAL is under the direction of the Rev. Ron Roemlich, district superintendent of the North-east District of the United Methodist Church.

The performers are fifth through seventh grade campers from Camp Fontanelle near Fremont, who have been rehearsing during a week-long music camp.

Those from the Wayne area taking part in the musical are Jennifer Chapman, Jennifer Swinney, and Ben and Sam Wilson.

Performing from the Laurel area are Rachel and Ryan Andersen, and Mark Lute.

Dixon couple celebrate 60 years of marriage

Among those attending was Mrs. Opal Lawhead of Auburn, Calif. Mrs. Lawhead and Mrs. Knoell are cousins and had not seen each other for 60 years.

Other friends and neighbors called throughout the afternoon.

Ernest Knoell and Mabel Elch were married June 23, 1926 at Elk Point, S. D. They have six children, 22 grandchildren, 10 great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild.

Noting 50th year

AN OPEN HOUSE RECEPTION honoring the golden wedding anniversary of Alfred and Ruth (Miller) Carstens of Winside will be held Sunday, July 20 at 2 p.m. at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Jaeger, located three miles south of Winside and one mile east of Highway 35. Co-hosts are the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Carstens of Anaheim, Calif. All friends and relatives are invited, and the couple requests no gifts.

Roving Gardeners invite public to 'Garden Nook'

Seven members of the Roving Gardeners Club of Wayne planted flowers at the "Garden Nook" as their beautification project for the City of Wayne.

A spokesman for the club said the public is invited to visit the plot, which includes benches and is located next to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Office on West Third St.

Club members also helped set up the flower display held in Wayne city auditorium during the Country Store Days celebration on June 14. Members also served as hostesses during the day.

Four members of the club attended the state convention of Federated Garden Clubs held June 17 in Norfolk. They helped decorate tables for the noon luncheon and evening banquet.

CLUB MEMBERS met last month in the home of Loreene Gildersleeve. Eleven members answered roll call with a bouquet, "A Touch of Spring." Evelyn Barefman read an article, "You Call That Progress?" and Pearl Youngmeyer gave the lesson, "Early Blooming Perennials."

On June 23, six members toured the John G. Nelhardt Museum at Bancroft, the rose gardens at the Blair tourist stop, and the DeSoto Bend Refuge. Following lunch in Blair, other tour stops included Fort Atkinson, an antique shop in Blair, and a museum at Tekamah. Driver was Loreene Gildersleeve. NEXT MEETING of the Roving Gardeners Club is today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. in the home of Elsie Echtenkamp.

Blohm and Ankeny lift Wakefield

Town team downs West Point, 10-6

WEST POINT — Home runs and key strike outs both have the ability to turn baseball games around, and Sunday night, that's exactly what propelled Wakefield's town team to a 10-6 victory over previously undefeated West Point.

West Point, who entered the game with a 10-0 record, held a comfortable 6-2 advantage heading into the sixth inning.

But after Wakefield's Robb Eaton reached base on a fielder's choice, Neil Blohm ripped a two-run home run to pull Wakefield within two.

Wakefield then pulled within one in the top of the seventh when Brian Soderberg walked, stole second and scored on a Brian Blatchford RBI single.

West Point then threatened to blow the game open in the bottom of the seventh when the hosts touched Wakefield reliever Joel Ankeny for two consecutive singles and a walk to load the bases with no outs. But Ankeny buckled down and struck out the next three batters to end the threat.

Joe Coble, Wakefield's coach, said Blohm's home run and Ankeny's clutch pitching performance in the seventh inning turned the game around.

"We had two turning points for us in the game. Our offensive turning point came in the sixth when Blohm hit the two-run homer. We had been hitting shots all night, but West Point kept making great plays and that got the team down, but Blohm's homer gave us a big boost," Coble said.

"And Joel's three strike outs in the seventh gave us a lift, too, because they could've really broken things up."

Wakefield then tied the game in the eighth when Wayne Guy stroked a two-out single, advanced to third when Paul Calvert drew a walk and scored on a West Point error.

Wakefield then blew the game open in the ninth with four runs. Soderberg started the Wakefield ninth by singling and moved to second when Blat-chford was hit by a pitch. Miller then plated Soderberg with an eventual game-winning RBI single.

Blohm and Coble then sandwiched RBI singles around a Mike Meyer walk to account for Wakefield's final three runs.

Wakefield opened a 1-0 lead in the third when Coble singled, Calvert walked and Soderberg ripped an RBI single. But West Point pulled ahead by two with three runs in the bottom of the third.

Wayne pulled within one in the fourth when Eaton singled, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Meyer.

Soderberg and Blatchford both collected three hits in four plate appearances, while Coble finished 3-for-5. Blohm and Meyer both went 2-for-4 for Wakefield.

Mark Starzl started for the winners but was relieved by Ankeny in the third. Coach Coble said he admires Ankeny's competitive attitude and added that when Ankeny is on the mound, the Wakefield team seems to rally behind him.

"Starzl got into a little trouble in the third so we turned the ball over to old 'Mr. Reliable' Joel Ankeny," Coble said. "Joel just never seems to flinch and he's so competitive. When our entire team is together, we play pretty well but we play especially well when Joel is pitching. He's just a smart, gutsy, competitive pitcher that goes out there and gets the job done."

Ankeny hurled the final 6 1/2 innings, giving up three runs and five hits. He also rang up nine strike outs against six walks.

In 2 1/2 innings, Starzl gave up three runs, four hits, three walks and recorded one strike out.

The victory improved Wakefield to 8-4 in the Dodge County Baseball League and moved them into second place.

Wakefield plays again Thursday at Dodge, who is currently 4-6 and in eighth place in the league.

Mets have too much pitching

Former New York Yankee great Yogi Berra was never known for his enlightening philosophies, but his statement that "baseball is 90 percent pitching and the other half is defense," describes the front-running New York Mets to a tee.

Unless something drastic happens to the Mets in the second half of the season, they will breeze to the National League Eastern crown and capture the National League pennant. After all, they're already 33 games over .500 (55-22, .714 winning percentage) and own an 11 1/2 game lead over the second place Montreal Expos.

The Mets have some of the best offensive and defensive players in the game. And Darryl Strawberry, Gary Carter and Keith Hernandez would start in the All-Star Game if it were played tomorrow.

But despite all the impressive offensive names and numbers, the Mets win because it has, perhaps, the best pitching staff in baseball since the Baltimore Orioles of the early 1970s.

Just how good is the Mets pitching staff? Well, as of Tuesday, a guy named Gooden (the 1984 Rookie of the Year and last year's Cy Young Award winner) was 10-3 and owned a 2.58 ERA, but he was fifth in the league in winning percentage with a .769 mark. And believe it or not, the four guys in front of Gooden are his teammates.

The five leading pitchers in the National League with a minimum of eight decisions as of Tuesday are: 1 — Roger McDowell, 7-1, .875, 2.12 ERA; 2 — Sid Fernandez, 11-2, .846, 2.89 ERA; 3 — Bobby Ojeda, 9-2, .818, 2.43 ERA; 4 — Ron Darling, 8-2, .800, 3.18 ERA; 5 — Dwight Gooden, 10-3, .769, 2.58 ERA.

And just think, Boston-Red Sox hurler Roger Clemens (14-1, .933, 2.34 ERA and a league leading 133 strike outs) started his career in the Mets organization. Imagine having him on the Mets staff, too? But although the Mets would love to have Clemens back, they don't need him.

When New York won the 1969 World Series, they were labeled the "Miracle Mets" because they supposedly didn't have much talent. But remember, they had Tom Seaver, Jerry Koosman, Nolan Ryan and Tug McGraw throwing for them that year.

In retrospect, it was hardly a miracle the Mets won it all in '69 with that pitching staff, and it won't be considered a miracle when the championship returns to Shea Stadium this fall.

The "Big Apple" likes to be known as having the biggest and best in everything. And that holds true in baseball, too.

The two New York teams (Yankees and Mets) own a combined 101-61 record and should Gooden get the starting nod from National League manager Whitey Herzog, six New York players will start in this year's All-Star Game (Strawberry, Hernandez, Carter, Gooden, Dave Winfield and Rickey Henderson).

The funny thing about All-Star Games, though, is it's a popularity contest rather than an evaluation of the players that are having the best seasons.

For example, should George Brett be starting at third base instead of Wade Boggs? Probably not. Or how about Reggie Jackson beating out Kirby Puckett or Jim Rice in the outfield?

The biggest injustice, however, seems to be the first base position in the American League. With 19 home runs and 61 RBI, California's Wally Joiner is enjoying an outstanding rookie season. But shouldn't Don Mattingly (.340 batting average, 54 runs, 114 hits, 26 doubles, 14 homers and possibly the best glove at first base in the league) be starting instead of Joiner? After all, Mattingly was voted the best player in baseball by the players in both leagues earlier this week.

Legion team loses four games

Wayne's Juniors struggle at Lincoln tourney

LINCOLN — "We could compete with a lot of the teams at different positions, but in a tournament like this we just couldn't hold up as one team. We needed another team out to help with the pitching," Wayne head baseball coach Hank Overlin said after Wayne's Junior Legion lost all four games it played in a baseball tournament here last week.

Wayne dropped a 14-7 decision to Lincoln Beltzer in the opening round on Thursday before falling to Firstler Banks 7-5 later in the day. Vic's then dealt Wayne a 7-0 set back on Friday and Wayne then lost to East Park Plaza 10-9 Saturday.

Lincoln Beltzer 14, Wayne 7

Lincoln erupted for eight runs in the third and added four more markers in the fifth to claim a seven-run decision in the opening round.

Lincoln opened a 1-0 lead in the first but Wayne tied the game in the second when Don Larsen reached base on a walk, was sacrificed to second by Brent Pick and scored on Scott Baker's single.

But Lincoln used four singles, two doubles and a home run in the third to blow the game open in the third.

Wayne tallied three runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth to round out its scoring.

Larsen and Pick both scored in the third after singling and walking, respectively, and Casey Nichols crossed the plate after reaching on a fielder's choice. Baker stroked a two-run single in the Wayne fourth.

Tim Fleming scored Wayne's first run in the fifth after doubling and Scott Nichols tallied Wayne's final run after he walked, advanced to third and crossed the plate on Jason Jorgensen's sacrifice fly to right.

Baker finished 2-for-3 at the plate, while Fleming and Larsen collected the only other hits for Wayne.

Firstler Banks 7, Wayne 5

Firstler took advantage of five walks in the sixth inning to open a 7-2 lead and hung on for a 7-5 triumph.

Wayne pulled within two by scoring three runs in its half of the sixth. Larsen led off the sixth with a solo home run and Pick followed with a walk and scored one out later on Bill Landanger's single. Landanger eventually scored on Shannon Dorcey's single.

After retiring the side in order in the top of the seventh, Wayne made things interesting in the bottom of the frame when Larsen stroked a one-out single and Robbie Gamble followed with another safety with two outs. However, Landanger flew out to right field to end the game.

Larsen and Dan Gross finished with two hits apiece for Wayne, while Fleming, Jeff Hausmann, Gamble, Landanger and Dorcey each collected one hit apiece.

Vic's 7, Wayne 0

Chris Niederle fired a no-hitter and Vic's scored once in the first, once in the second and three times in the fifth before adding two more markers in the sixth to claim a 7-0 triumph.

Niederle fanned 16 hitters and faced only 23 Wayne batters. He struck out the side in the second, third and seventh frames, allowed only two walks and the farthest any Wayne base runner advanced was second base when Fleming reached on an error and moved to second on a force play.

Pick and Larsen were Wayne's only other base runners and they reached by drawing walks in the second and fourth innings, respectively.

East Park Plaza 10, Wayne 9

Wayne came close to salvaging one victory when it scored two runs in the top of the seventh to tie the game at nine and had the winning run on second base. However, Wayne failed to score the would-be winning run and East Park scored a marker in the bottom of the eighth for the one-run triumph.

Pick, Wayne's relief pitcher, escaped a bases loaded jam in the seventh by recording the final out on a fly ball to right field.

Gross got things started for Wayne in the top of the seventh by ripping a one-out single and Mark Creighton followed by drawing a walk.

Larsen and Pick then knocked in Gross and Creighton with consecutive singles before East Park ended the inning on a ground out with Larsen, the would-be game-winning run, standing on second base.

East Park scored the winning run in the eighth when its second batter of the frame walked, stole second and third and crossed the plate on a fly ball to center field.

Wayne's most productive inning of the game came in the third when Fleming, Gross, Hausmann and Larsen all scored after stroking consecutive singles. Landanger also clubbed a two-run double for Wayne in the third.

Wayne scored two runs in the first when Gross singled, Hausmann reached on an error and both base runners crossed the plate on Pick's two-run single.

Wayne's other run came in the fifth when Pick singled, advanced to second and scored on a single by Landanger.

Despite losing, the East Park game was Wayne's most productive from an offensive standpoint as it collected 13 hits.

Pick and Gross both totaled three hits apiece, while Larsen and Landanger each collected two hits and Fleming, Hausmann and Nichols all finished with one hit apiece.

Larsen and Gross were Wayne's leading hitters during the tourney. Larsen finished 5-for-9 at the plate, while Gross collected five hits in 12 at-bats. Pick added a 3-for-7 performance.

In past Lincoln tournaments, Wayne has teamed with Wakefield and Overlin said that always assisted the team because it strengthened the pitching staff.

"We usually teamed with Wakefield and that always made a big difference because instead of two or three solid pitchers you have four or five and in a tournament like this, you need a lot of pitching," he said.

Wayne played again Wednesday at Fremont and plays again Thursday when Pierce invades Overlin Park. Wayne then travels to Ponca Friday night before playing in the O'Neill Tournament this weekend.

Roni Johnson shines at Sioux Falls tourney

SIoux FALLS, S.D. — Roni Johnson, who graduated from Wayne High School in May, led Ralston to a third place finish in the 9th annual Ringneck Invitational Softball Tournament here over the weekend.

Johnson hurled a no-hitter and singled and tripled against a Sioux Falls team in the opening round.

The following day, Johnson fired a one-hit shut out against a Minneapolis team. She struck out 13 batters in that contest and singled and scored two runs.

Johnson tossed a three-hitter in the third game in which Ralston lost to the tourney's eventual champion.

In the third game, Ralston trailed 2-1 in the fourth inning before Johnson homered to put Ralston ahead 5-2. However, four consecutive errors in the fifth ended the tourney for Ralston as they dropped a 6-5 decision.

During the tourney, Johnson allowed just four hits in 25 innings, six runs (only one earned run), fanned 28 batters, gave up only five walks and collected four hits in six at bats.

The tournament brings together 43 eight teams and 30 boy teams from all midwest states and Canada.

Johnson, who was named Miss Nebraska Softball earlier this year, will attend Wayne State College this fall on a softball scholarship.

Park rejuvenation

LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD, Branch 8212, of Wayne County is conducting a fund-raising drive to raise money to rebuild the Hoskins Ball Park that was destroyed by a storm Sunday, June 29. Anyone wishing to help may leave their donation at the Commercial State Bank or contact Rosemary Severson in Hoskins. Pictured above is some of the damage from the storm.

Town team thumps Snyder, 8-4

WAKEFIELD — Wakefield's town team improved its record to 7-4 in the Dodge County Baseball League with an 8-4 victory over Snyder here Thursday night.

The game was tied at two in the second inning before Wakefield tallied one run in the third, two runs in the fourth and three more insurance markers in the sixth. Snyder scored two runs in the ninth but it didn't affect the final outcome.

Robb Eaton scored Wakefield's go-ahead run in the third when he doubled and crossed the plate on Scott Miller's single.

Wakefield then made it 5-2 in the fourth when Jeff Coble was hit by a pitch, Brian Blatchford singled and both base runners scored on Neil Blohm's two-run double.

All three of Wakefield's sixth inning runs came with two outs. Blohm started the two-out rally by walking and Eaton followed with a two-run homer.

Miller scored Wakefield's final run after he walked, moved to second on Bob Utemark's single, advanced to third when Paul Calvert walked and crossed the plate when Brian Soderberg drew a base on balls.

Eaton finished 3-for-4 at the plate with two RBI, while Blohm and Miller both collected two hits and drove in two runs apiece. Blatchford and Utemark also collected two hits in the game for Wakefield.

Joel Ankeny picked up the win for Wakefield. He went the distance, allowed four runs on 11 hits and gave up five walks. He also totaled six strike outs in the victory.

Papillion pounds Wakefield, 19-3

WAKEFIELD — The Papillion Dodgers pounded Wakefield 19-3 on July 4 at Eaton Field.

The visitors tallied 11 unearned runs in the first inning and held on for the easy triumph.

Joe Coble, Wakefield's head coach, said the wild first inning should not have happened.

Pick, Hausmann and Gross guide Wayne to 3-2 win over Pender

If you like a lot of offense, then Thursday night's Wayne/Pender Junior Legion baseball game at Overin Park wasn't for you. But if you wanted to see a clinic on pitching, Thursday night's contest was perfect as Brent Pick and Jeff Hausmann guided Wayne past Larry Ballinger and Pender, 3-2.

Pick and Hausmann combined for 12 strike outs and allowed only three hits, while Ballinger fanned 10 Wayne batters and hurled a two-hitter.

Dan Gross was the only Wayne player that had any success against Ballinger as he collected both Wayne hits and drove in two runs.

After Pender used two singles, a walk and a sacrifice to open a 1-0 lead in the first, Wayne tied the game in the bottom of the inning when Tim Fleming reached on an error and scored on Gross' RBI triple.

Wayne then held a 2-1 advantage in the third when Shannon Dorcay drew a walk, advanced to third on a balk and a wild pitch before crossing the plate on Ballinger's second straight wild pitch.

But Pender equaled Wayne's two runs with a marker in the fourth inning. A walk, stolen base and a single accounted for Pender's second run. Dorcay also scored Wayne's game-winning marker when he drew a one-out walk in the fifth, moved to second on a fielder's choice and scored on a Gross single.

Pick accounted for all of his seven strike outs in the first five innings before firing in the sixth.

Hausmann relieved Pick in the sixth with two men on and only one out. However, the strong right-hander struck out the next two Pender batters to end the threat and after walking the lead-off man in the seventh, struck out the side, to preserve the Wayne victory.

Pender's first two batters stroked consecutive singles to begin the game, but the only other hit record by the visitors came in the fourth inning. Pick was his strongest in the second and third innings when he fanned six straight batters. He finished with four walks to go along with his seven strike outs in 5 1/2 innings.

Big fifth inning boosts Pender past Wayne, 5-1

Pender's Midgets rallied for four runs in the fifth inning and claimed a 5-1 victory over Wayne at Overin Park Thursday night.

Wayne opened a 1-0 lead in the first when Jess Zelss reached base with two outs and eventually scored when Scott Hammer and Scott Pickett followed by slapping consecutive singles.

The game remained tied at one until Pender tallied four runs in the fifth. The visitors used four walks, a hit batsman, two singles and a sacrifice bunt for its four run fifth inning. Wayne managed only one hit after the first inning. That came in the second frame when Tom Baier clubbed a two-out double but was stranded at second base.

No other player reached base for Wayne after Baier's double as Pender's Todd Kubik retired the final 13 Wayne hitters he faced from the second through sixth innings.

Wayne plays again Thursday when Pierce invades Overin Park for a 6 p.m. game. A Junior Legion game will follow at 8:15 p.m.

Wayne claims 11-5 and 9-3 victories

Wayne's Midgets sweep

Wayne's Midgets used a big fourth inning in the opener and a productive third inning in the nightcap to sweep Laurel 11-5 and 9-3 in a doubleheader at Overin Park Monday night.

Laurel held a 4-2 lead in the third inning of the first game before Wayne exploded for six runs in the fourth.

Tom Baier started the Wayne fourth by drawing a walk and Jeff Lutt followed with a single. Corey Frye then stroked a single and to plate Baier and Jason Mrsny reached base on a fielder's choice which scored Lutt.

Kevin Hausmann and Scott Pickett then reached base on a walk and an error, respectively, and Scott Hammer drew a walk before Bill Sperry drilled a two-run double.

Laurel made the score 8-5 with a run in the top of the sixth inning, but Wayne came back with three insurance runs in the bottom of the inning to round out the game's scoring.

Lutt started the Wayne sixth by reaching on an error and stealing both second and third. He eventually scored on a force play.

Jason Danielson and Hausmann followed by drawing consecutive walks and both scored on two straight force plays.

Laurel opened a quick 2-0 lead in the first but Wayne tied the game when Danielson and Hausmann both singled and Hammer clubbed a one-out two-run double.

Sperry and Lutt both collected two hits apiece for Wayne, while Danielson, Hausmann, Hammer and Frye all totaled one safety apiece.

Matt Jones, Scott Marquardt and Doug Manz all collected one hit apiece for Laurel, while Troy Twohig totaled two singles.

Lutt hurled a five-hitter, finishing with eight strike outs against five walks.

In the second game, Wayne opened a 3-0 lead in the second inning before adding six more runs in the third and held on for a 9-3 triumph.

Hammer and Sperry started the Wayne second by walking and singling, respectively, and after a force play, Hammer and Sperry scored on a Lutt single. Lutt then crossed the plate after Frye, Danielson and Hausmann all drew walks.

Hammer drew a walk to start Wayne's third inning before Sperry and Baier followed with consecutive doubles and Lutt ripped a single.

One out later, Mrsny sacrificed Lutt to third, but Mrsny also reached on an error. Hausmann then ripped a two-run triple and Pickett plated Hausmann with a single to round out Wayne's scoring.

Sperry and Lutt both collected two hits apiece for Wayne, while Hausmann, Pickett and Baier totaled one hit each for the victors.

Twohig, Jones, Manz and Randy Sherry all totaled one hit apiece for Laurel.

In addition to finishing with a four-hitter, Hammer walked six and struck out three.

Wayne plays again Thursday when Pierce invades Overin Park for a 6 p.m. contest. A Junior Legion game is scheduled to follow at 8:15 p.m.

High school cage teams have changes for upcoming season

Editor's Note: The following are major rule changes for the 1986-87 Nebraska high school basketball season.

1. Adopted the use of a rectangular backboard 6 feet horizontally with 3 1/2 feet vertically.
2. An additional padding specification was adopted for rectangular backboards.
3. Deleted the requirement of the official designating the player who will make a throw-in.
4. Deleted the definition and effect of "change of status."
5. The granting of a time-out is no longer influenced by a change of status.
6. The time-out is not charged if a timing or scoring error or alternating possession is prevented or rectified.
7. Following an intentional personal foul, the throw-in spot out-of-bounds nearest the goal.
8. The coach may rise in front of his or her seat to acknowledge a replaced player(s) and immediately be seated.
9. The coach may confer at the scorer's table to request a time-out to prevent or rectify a timing or scoring error or alternating possession.
10. The penalty for an intentional personal foul is two free throws and the ball out-of-bounds nearest the foul.

Longest Day of Golf July 19

At sunrise on July 19, 1986, four Wayne golfers will tee off and play as many holes of golf as they can until sunset. The purpose of the event is to help raise funds to support the programs of the American Cancer Society in Wayne County.

Kris Giese, chairperson of the "Longest Day of Golf" in Wayne asks every person who is concerned about the disease of cancer to make a pledge for each hole of golf completed by the four golfers. Funds raised will support research and local education and service programs of the American Cancer Society in Wayne County and Nebraska.

The "Longest Day of Golf" participants consists of Tom Perry, Jed Reeg, Lesa McDermott and Missy Jones. They will be playing at the Wayne Country Club.

According to Giese, the foursome has a current goal of $5 pledged per hole the foursome golfs during the day.

"Please show your support for our team and the American Cancer Society by signing a pledge card or contacting the Wayne Country Club at 375-1152," Giese urged.

Wayne team wins mud tourney

NORFOLK — Greenview Farms, a co-ed volleyball team from Wayne, took first place honors in a single elimination Mud Volleyball Tournament here Friday, July 4, at Skyview Park in Norfolk.

Twelve teams were entered in the tournament. Greenview Farms took home $50 in first place winnings.

Greenview Farms team members were Jeff Dion, Steve Sorenson, Scott Hallstrom, Joan Miller, Christ Miller, Mary Schroeder, Jolene Bennett and Donna Kelley.

Game Thief busts Fremont man

LINCOLN — A 53-year-old Fremont man had pretty good luck cat-fishing over Memorial Day weekend, but his good luck ended up costing him over $800 in fines for possessing 105 channel catfish over his legal limit.

Charles Hurley pleaded guilty in court to a charge of having an over-bag of 105 catfish and was fined $300 and ordered to pay $525 in liquidation damages and $21 in court costs — a total of $846.

Conservation officer Dan Roberts said he had received several calls through the Operation Game Thief Program about Hurley taking more than a legal limit of catfish from the Platte River near Schuyler. Roberts located Hurley and his wife camped along the river with the catfish in possession.

Roberts said Hurley had been running set lines in the river with an air boat to take the fish. The catfish, ranging in size from one-half pound to 13 pounds, were confiscated, cleaned, frozen and will probably be donated to a worthy cause, according to the officer.

Stanton golf tourney results

STANTON — Nineteen linksters competed in five flights in a golf tournament held here June 29 to raise money for the Winside Rescue Unit.

The top two finishers in each flight were: First Flight — 1. Bob Wacker, Winside; 2. Duane Field, Winside. Second Flight — 1. Warren Gallop, Winside; 2. Myron Turner, Stanton. Third Flight — Shawn Kal, Winside; 2. Brad Sullivan, Norfolk. Fourth Flight — 1. Don Nelson, Winside; 2. Brad Janke, Winside. Fifth Flight — 1. Ver Neal Martoz, Winside; 2. Lori Gallop, Winside.

A total of $140 was raised during the tourney.

Nebraska's top 18 holes sought

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a service of the Nebraska section of the Professional Golfers Association and the Nebraska Amateur Golf Association. The stories will appear in The Wayne Herald periodically.

Lincoln — There's both beauty, and challenge in the golf courses of Nebraska, and the Nebraska Section of the PGA is planning to showcase the best of the state's golf courses in "The Best of Nebraska," a survey to find the state's top 18 holes.

Each of the state's PGA golf professionals and members of the Nebraska Amateur Golf Association board of directors will be asked to pool their vast knowledge and experience of playing the golf courses of Nebraska to determine which holes should rank in the top 18. "Nebraska has an abundance of great golf courses with some truly outstanding golf holes," said Rich Williams, executive director of the Nebraska PGA.

"These courses and holes stretch from border to border, and we want to poll our members to find out which ones they feel are the best."

The holes will not necessarily total an ideal par 72 course since they will be asked to rank them by the number of the hole. For an example, they will be asked to designate the best opening hole, the best No. 2 hole on down to the best finishing hole.

"Best doesn't always refer to the toughest, although that is a definite consideration," Williams said. "We're looking for holes with a certain amount of character as well."

Ballots sent to PGA professionals, their assistants and the Nebraska Amateur Golf Association board of directors will ask for their nominations listed in order from No. 1 to No. 18. A special section will allow club pros to support nominations from their own courses to be listed in "The Best of Nebraska."

The project is an ambitious one according to Williams.

"There are a lot of great golf holes, but there are also a lot of different opinions to consider when putting together something of this magnitude when you're limited to just 18 holes," Williams said. "Everybody won't necessarily agree with the final analysis, but the chosen holes will represent a consensus of views from the most knowledgeable golfers in the state."

A compilation of the ballots will determine the holes chosen as "The Best of Nebraska."

The results of the survey will be unveiled in a story later in the season and showcased in the magazine

Nebraska Golf, available through your local pro shops.

"We're expecting a favorable response from our members golf professionals in the selection process, and we feel the general golfing public will find the results very interesting," Williams said.

NAGA Player of Year announced

Norfolk's Larry Sock honored

Lincoln — When the Nebraska Amateur Golfers Association (NAGA) recently named Larry Sock as its 1985 Player of The Year, the group could not have found a better ambassador to carry the banner for Nebraska golf.

"According to the 31-year-old native of Norfolk who now lives and works in Lincoln, Nebraska golf takes a back seat to no one."

He's tried the year-round golfing climate of Arizona, and returned to the good life and good golf of Nebraska.

"I'm positive that Nebraskans who have lived here all their lives don't realize how good they have it," Sock insists.

Sock has played the best tournaments the state of Arizona had to offer, but regards the Nebraska set-up as superior.

"The Nebraska Amateur Golf Association does such a fine job for amateur golf and the game of golf in general," Sock said. "There are so many good, quality tournaments where you are going to play against top competition, you just can't beat it."

In 1985, it was difficult beating Sock. Not very many people did. He started the season placing third in the Micholob Classic in Grand Island, became a U.S. Publinks qualifier and advanced to the match play round in Hawaii, then finished off the successful year with victories in the state stroke play championships, the Coors 10/11 Classic and the Norfolk Labor Day tournament.

"I would have to say that I had the most success I've had since I started working for a living," joked Sock, who works as a broker for the investment firm of Merrill Lynch. "That was the best I've been able to play consistently."

His tournament state did not include the state match play tournament because of the time he had to be away from his job. "I have to set aside a certain number of tournaments I want to play in," he said. "And in Nebraska, there are so many of them."

Sock, who played his collegiate golf at Oklahoma State, said even he took amateur golf in Nebraska for granted.

"I took it for granted before I left here," he said. "I don't anymore. In the southern states, there just aren't as many good, quality tournaments in-state. I've always felt that tournament golf here has been great."

In the past couple of years, Sock admits that the state has lost some of its top quality amateurs to the pro ranks, but sees a good, solid group of young players taking their place.

"That's the way it's been in the past," he said. "We've lost good amateurs, but there have always been outstanding players who, like Sock, have foregone the dream of becoming a golf professional, but love the game just as much."

"Not turning pro may creep into my mind now and then, but usually only when you're really on top of your game and everything is going right," he said.

"Scoring becomes easy and you play very well. But think of Jim White as an example. He has tremendous ability, yet was never able to get to the success level he wanted to."

"It gets tougher and tougher when the number of great players in college is so phenomenal."

That's why Sock is content to just go out and match his talents against the best amateurs the state has to offer.

"Why not? That's some pretty quality competition. I'm sure it's not what most people would expect from Nebraska. But Nebraska golf is as good as anybody's golf."

Readers are reminded if they have any questions concerning golf or upcoming NAGA/PGA events, they may contact Rich Williams (402) 489-7760 for information.

Cornhusker State Games to be televised

LINCOLN — As the Cornhusker State Games enters its second year, Nebraskans statewide will be able to see live coverage of some of the 28 scheduled events and taped highlights of others during five hours over three days of special coverage being provided by the Nebraska ETV Network on the "1986 Cornhusker State Games."

The Cornhusker Games is an amateur sports festival for all Nebraska residents. Patterned after the Olympics and embodying the Olympic spirit and ideals, the Games encourage sports participation from all ages and all walks of life.

Nebraska ETV coverage of the 1986 Games begins with the pageantry of the official opening ceremonies at Ed Weir Track on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus at 7 p.m. Friday, July 18. Live and taped coverage of various Games events and competitions will be broadcast Saturday, July 19, at 7 p.m. and Sunday, July 20, at 1 p.m., including live track and field coverage Sunday. The Nebraska ETV special coverage concludes at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 20, with updates of the day's various events.

Scheduled events for the Cornhusker State Games include: archery; basketball, bowling, boxing, chess, cycling, diving, equestrian, golf, gymnastics, horseshoe pitching, judo, open water swimming, pocket billiards, road race, roller skating, sailing, shooting, soccer, softball, swimming, table tennis, tennis, track and field, triathlon, volleyball, and wrestling.

Sportscaster Bob Cullinan will host the Nebraska ETV coverage of the Games, with analysis provided by Jerry McGinn, State Athletic Commissioner.

The "1986 Cornhusker State Games" is a production of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Television's sports and special events unit, with Steve Alvis as producer and Jim Carmichael as director.

Wayne State College will have three volleyball camps

Two volleyball camps for junior and senior high school students begin next Monday at Wayne State College, according to Marilyn Strate, camp director.

The junior high camp, open to all girls in grades 6-8, runs from July 14-16. The cost for the camp is $25. Openings in the camp are still available. The first day of camp begins at 1 p.m.

The senior high camp is scheduled for July 29 through August 1. It is open to girls in grades 9-12. Cost for the camp is $40. The first day of camp begins at 1 p.m.

Both camps are commuter camps with no lodging or meals provided. A $10 advance deposit is required. Registration forms are available from Marilyn Strate at Wayne State. Enrollment in both camps is limited to the first 60 players who return their deposit and a parental consent form included with the registration form.

Both camps will feature coverage of basic skills and drills, as well as offensive and defensive play. Individualized instruction is available and a swimming pool work-out will be featured.

In addition to Strate, camp instructors include Mary Schroeder, head volleyball coach at Hartington Cedar Catholic, and Wayne State volleyball players.

A third camp, the Elite Camp, will be offered August 3-7. Participants in this camp must have an invitation to participate, based on a coach's recommendation. The camp will be limited to the top 11th and 12th graders and will focus on developing and fine-tuning a player's skills. For more information on the camps, contact Strate at (402) 375-2200.

Wakefield totaled only four hits in the game as Robb Eaton, Mark Starzl, Jeff Coble and Brian Blatchford all collected one safety apeece for the hosts. Blatchford also drove in two runs.

The game was not a Dodge County Baseball League contest.

Chicken gilet tidbits

Legendary Chicken "That's Gratitude"

It all started in the spring of 1984. I was raising in the living room brown through a hatchery catalog rearing in my lap. It was time once again to order baby chicks. If the order was placed before March 1, an exotic chick would be included in the shipment, free of charge.

I filled out the order blank, ordering 30 Rhode Island Red chicks from the Mackinac hatchery in Webster City, Iowa, to be sent on May 1. With the shipping date approaching, it was time to clean the chicken house, get out the beds, lamps and scrub up the feeder and waterers. Everything was finally ready for the new arrivals.

Early in the morning on May 1, my breakfast was interrupted by a "Ring! Ring!" The postmistress was on the phone. "There is a box here for you. I thought you would like to pick it up right away."

I hurriedly finished my breakfast and headed for the local post office, anxious to see the new arrivals.

I took the box home and opened it. There inside was 32 tiny, reddish-brown balls of fuzzy looking life with 104 beady eyes. It was then that I noticed one little black and yellow fuzzi-ball. It seemed smaller than the others, but very lively.

I proceeded to put the chicks into the front part of the chicken house which had been roared for them. This is where they were to spend the rest of their days.

All went well for about the first 10 weeks. The little balls of fuzz were now fully feathered; the Rhode Island Reds, a deep reddish brown and the exotic chick, a speckled black and white cockerel of the breed known as Speckled Hamburg. It was at this time that the cockerels were beginning to set up their pecking order. Since the Speckled Hamburg, which we had named Rocky, was the smallest, he seemed to be at the bottom of the pecking order.

One morning, as I went out to feed the chickens, I noticed that Rocky was hiding in a space below an old chimney in the chicken house. I reached in and got him out and noticed that he was bleeding on his head and both wings. The other cockerels had zeroed in on him. I watched him closely for a few days, but noticed he stayed in his hiding place to avoid his attackers. Fed and watered him in his small enclosure.

"I had some old hens and a rooster in the other half of the chicken house. Thinking it might be better for Rocky to be on that side, I placed him on the side with the old hens and rooster. This was not a solution. The old hens and rooster did not accept Rocky either. He immediately found a spot to hide in. It was behind a barrel in the corner of the chicken house. In which chicken feed was kept. I fed him behind the barrel and tried to make him as comfortable as possible, but it was no use.

"ONE MORNING, I found him all bloody, seeping almost lifeless behind the barrel. I realized then that something else had to be done.

We decided to clean the young cockerel so that I could put Rocky into that half of the chicken house by himself. At this point in time, I didn't know whether Rocky would recover. His head was a large scab, his tail feathers no longer existed and his wings were bare. One wing seemed broken because it drooped on the floor. He was scarcely able to move on his own. However, after a few weeks of solitude and no further encounters with his enemies, he was fully recovered.

It was then that another problem arose. It was the onset of cold weather. I knew I could not leave Rocky by himself for fear that he would freeze. I felt he had matured enough by this time that he could defend himself against the old hens and the rooster, so I put him back on that side of the chicken house.

He immediately did a complete turn-around. He decided to rule the roost and showed everyone who was boss. The old rooster was destroyed and lived only a few more weeks. I have the feeling that he died of a broken heart, knowing someone else took his place at the head of the brood.

Rocky, in the meantime, has become what might be considered a fighting cock. He will attack anything, even humans. No one can enter the chicken house without having something in hand for self-defense. When gathering eggs, I use the lid of the feed barrel as a shield. He has attacked me several times, flying at me with both feet and wings bating the air. I don't dare turn my back on him or he will hit me from behind. The shield is always kept between Rocky and myself.

Just imagine! After having rescued him from his enemies and saving his life, he attacks me every chance he gets. As the old saying goes, "he's biting the hand that feeds him."

Isn't that gratitude?

Written by George H. Berger of South Anamosa, Iowa, father of Jeffrey Berger of Wayne.

The Lock Nest Monster

Two months and seven days ago, my father set forth in Wayne, Nebraska to enter each of his children's names in a "European vacation sweepstakes" contest. He just filled out slips for each of his brood of 12 and dropped them in a book marked "Chicken Show" thinking that nothing would ever happen as a result of his efforts. What a chicken brain! And to think, normally, the "dozen" do that kind of thing.

My name was drawn! I was so shocked, I nearly laid an egg. I was soon informed that the trip was to commence immediately and that the prize was a trip for one person only. My high expectations for a family vacation cracked. I must have brooded for three minutes before I recognized that this was my "hole in the fence," my ticket to freedom.

Normally, I'm too chicken to fly (in a plane) and do so only when I must. I spent most of my time in the air yearning (as most chickens do) to land quickly. Luckily, the flight from Wayne, Nebraska to Europe seemed like a short hop. We landed in Scotland for the first stretch of our 13 day, 10 country whirlwind tour.

Wouldn't you know that the first place we landed was Loch Ness? That is where I spent my first night abroad. What a horror's nest of fourteenth all of those shops and so-called "locals" were trying to lay this big monster trip on me! I nearly laid another egg.

The first thing that morning, the tour coordinator tried to strong-arm me into renting a boat to row out onto the loch nest. What a bunch of hard-boiled ducks. I didn't even want to go.

There was sitting in a row boat, brooding over their high handedness at such an early hour. What a shock! Out of the corner of my eye I spotted a lock nest monster trip on me! I nearly laid another egg. (Doo-doo, doo-doo, doo-doo-doo-doo-doo.)

At first the monster seemed to just lay there as if it were basking a malevolent plan. Then suddenly the monster reared its ugly comb!

I was suddenly overcome by the smell of sudden chicken feathers. I nearly lost my head. When my eyes cleared, I was able to see the entire monster, one hundred feet tall, comb, quacking, beak or flapping, spiked tongue agog, chicken saliva splattering everywhere! What an experience! The Loch Ness Monster struck again and he very nearly cracked my psyche.

For a short while I rowed crazily about the loch nest like a chicken with its head cut off. Let me tell you, the feathers really flew.

Instead of continuing on the rest of the wonderful pre-paid tour, I signed my families' nest egg to buy a time lapse camera and a tent so that I could document the monster's escapades.

So far, my only contribution to proving the existence of the Loch Ness Monster is one photo I was fortunate enough to catch as the monster himself rose out of the water and scared the chicken shivers out of two innocent tourists at the Loch Ness.

"A Legendary Chicken?"

Who has ever heard of a legendary chicken? (I most certainly haven't I). Well, of course, everyone knows certain legendary people, but a legendary chicken? (That's a good yolk!) Well, as proud Americans, have the great George Washington, our first President, and among the greatest of our founding fathers, is there a poultry version? Either way, it would be totally preposterous! I'magine Cluck Gable! Aburd!!!

Then again, maybe, there are legendary chickens that people do not acknowledge or are simply unaware of. Since people can not communicate with animals, including chickens, it is impossible for us to know if perhaps they do have their own established "nations" or other such communities. If it is true that they do have these "communities", then they surely have had great leaders who have made their "nations" as they are today. They have probably had famous entertainers as well. For all we know, Camille the Chicken, Gordon's "chick" in The Muppet Movie, could be the idol of all teenage chicks. They've probably had many legendary athletes also—Will Chambercluck, etc. If not, how then can there be the fabulous "Chicken Olympics" at the sixth annual Wayne Chicken Show?

There could be a great deal more of these legendary chickens for the peasant in the crowd, none at all! That people are totally oblivious to. Likewise though, chickens might be totally unaware of the many legendary people, who shaped the world which we live in today, and mean so much to us. (If this is the case, we would probably consider those chickens, who know nothing of the many legendary people, nothing but a flock of dumb clucks! However, if the situation be vice versa, we would be very upset to be henpecked by poultry!)

Anyway, until we can better communicate with chickens, we can not "eggspack" chickens to know the many legendary people. As well, I do not think that it is right for us to assume that there are or are not legendary chickens. However, whether there are or not, aren't they all "eggspack"-ordinary?

"For all unintelligent people who had difficulty in the process of comprehending this specific "eggspack", eggspack is really the word "expect".

The 'Chicken' vs the proverbial 'road'

Little chicken in the road how can you be so dense? What makes you risk your life this way? Have you no common sense?

Little chicken, flightless bird your risk is much too high I can not stop my speeding car, I'm sure you're going to die!

Little chicken, crazy thing what forces you to roam across the road in danger zones? Now heaven is your home! Sorry!

I'm only a chicken

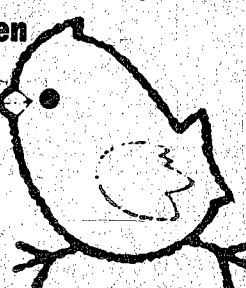

I'm only a chicken, I'm dumb as they say, I'm a scardy-cat too, I'd dogs come my way.

But I find I am needed When trouble comes round, For how else will I take care? When danger abounds?

I sleep but lightly, I hear every sound, "Wake up, wake up!" Chicken thieves are around.

They call me dumb Rooster But really I'm not, If it weren't for me "No chicken's the Pot."

Big Bad Joe

There is a legend I must tell, I know the story very well, It happened, oh, so many years ago.

A rooster by the name of Joe Harassed the hens, especially Flo. In fact, they often called him Big Bad Joe. In the morning he'd never let them sleep. The lovely hens would often weep. When Big Bad Joe would strut around and crow.

But one fine day, it was still dark, A weasel came, and Flo said, "Hark," "I think we're doomed, we have no place to go!"

But Big Bad Joe was quite alert, And he began to scratch the dirt, And then he left out one long healthy crow.

Big Bad Joe

The weasel didn't give up just then, He headed for one special hen, His long red tongue was wagging to and fro.

But Joe approached him from the back, And pecked and clawed in great attack. The weasel, he took off not very slow.

So Joe was a hero from then on, And all the hens got up each dawn, Just to applaud Joe's loud and lovely crow.

Money available for cooling bills

Gina C. Dunning, director, Nebraska Department of Social Services, announced that the Department has funds available to help eligible Nebraska households pay their cooling bills this summer. This assistance is available through the Nebraska Low Income Energy Assistance Program which is administered by the Department through its local Social Services offices.

A household is eligible if (1) a member of the household is 70 years of age or older or has a medical condition or illness that requires a cooling facility; (2) their income and resources are within the program guidelines; and (3) they are responsible for paying their cooling bills.

Dunning noted that automatic payments will be made to households where the head of household is 70 years of age or older and received heating assistance. These payments should have been received by June 10.

"People should apply by contacting their local Department of Social Services office if they did not receive the automatic payment. Applications must be made by Aug. 31.

In 1986, OUR MORTGAGE RATES WENT DOWN... DID YOURS?

The mortgage you have is not necessarily the mortgage you have to live with. If you acquired your mortgage since 1980, when rates were high, chances are you're paying more than you need to. Or, if you have an adjustable rate that's up one year and up again the next, refinancing at today's lower rates could be the answer to your high mortgage costs. Another Chicken Show event is the Chicken Show Dessert Box Social, with a $25 prize awarded to the best box which contains a dessert for two people. The boxes will be auctioned off to the highest bidder during the Chicken Feed from 3 to 7 p.m.

At 3:30 p.m., the Chicken Song Contest will begin. Entrants can tape record a familiar melody for background music and then make up lyrics which relate to the theme of the chicken show. They would perform the number at Bressler Park. For instance "I left my beak in San Francisco" is one possibility.

The number of categories in this contest will be determined by the number of entries. A $50 first place prize awaits those who finish at the top of the adult and children categories.

ANOTHER new event, and the grand finale of Chicken Show 1988, will be the Chicken Olympecks. In which teams will compete in the following areas: Shoe Scramble, Eggroll, Eggloss, Egg-in-face Relay, Three-legged Chicken Race, Spoon Race and a Mystery Event.

From 3 to 7 p.m. at Bressler Park will be a Chicken Feed, served cooperatively by Popo's II and El Toro of Wayne. Advance tickets can be purchased at these places for $3.75 (adults) and $3.25 (children). Prices during the day of the show are $3.50 for children and $4 for adults.

Other events include: "The judging (at noon) of the biggest midwest chicken; chicken show hat contest; and the biggest, lightest, prettiest and oddest egg contest. Entries must be bona fide chicken eggs. "Judging of Bon Ami Pane-Ting work at noon.

"Chicken Arts and Crafts Fair, with "eggchitling" chicken and egg displays and sales, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Chickens will be on display, brought forward from adults and county youngsters, who will have their prize winning roosters and hens on display.

"And from 5 to 9 p.m. there will be "chicken pickin'" at Bressler Park, as celebration goers are asked to relax, tuck-in their wings and enjoy the "roost" of the day.

On Sunday, the annual event sponsored by the Wayne Yacht Club, the Egg-ga, will take place at 12:30 at the bridge south of Wayne. From there, the boaters will follow the meandering waterway to Wakefield.

The following entry was judged a first in the poetry division of the Wayne Herald Chicken Show writing contest.

Flash Back

The farm and its images so far removed,
they serve to make the memories brighter.

And hens and roosters and pullets and eggs,
they help to keep the home strings pulled tighter.

For here in the islands so far away
I have yet to see a chicken.

But friends and neighbors, and their few friends
Well, their memories help keep me tickled.

They bring back thoughts of rooster lights and grinding feed of hens pecking at my hands while gathering eggs.

Of soft fuzzy yellow chicks and big fat broilers, of summer ammonia so strong I almost lost my legs.

Of cats in the chicken house, and mice
in the feed bin,
of the mallow that grew outside.

Of white hens sunning themselves and the way they run, of strutting the year's first pullet egg with pride.

Yes, the memories are still there, even if the chickens aren't.
I can see them without closing my eyes.

For you don't know how good life really is until you leave.
For then, and only then, do you realize.

generate $502,990 of the $2,259,500 ESU 1 budget proposed at this time, including cash reserves.

The new budget shows a slight decrease over last year's budget of $2,264,379.

A breakdown of expected revenues during 1986-87 includes Special Ed contracts, $1,208,000; levy, $502,000; nursing contracts, $22,000; transfers, $219,500; and cash carryover, $308,000 — for a total of $2,259,500.

Expenditures expected during 1986-87 include Special Ed, $1,246,500; general fund, $354,500; transfers, $239,500; and cash reserve, $225,000 — for a total of $2,259,500.

REGARDING THE financial structure of ESU 1, Wakefield National Bank Executive Vice President Randy Lanning was present at Tuesday night's board meeting to discuss the placement of ESU 1 monies.

Speaking before the board, Lanning said interest rates at the Wakefield National Bank have gone down over the past few months.

"I think through the years we have paid a competitive rate," said Lanning, "but because loan demands have gone down the past few months, the interest rates just aren't there."

"If our loan demand increases we will be able to increase our interest rates," added Lanning.

Lanning also told the board that because interest rates at the Wakefield National Bank are low right now, the bank has worked out an arrangement with its correspondent bank, First National of Lincoln, to transfer ESU 1 funds to Lincoln where higher interest rates can be offered.

"I would hope and propose as time goes on and we would be able to be more competitive with those interest dollars that we could transfer money back and forth between Lincoln and Wakefield to give ESU 1 the highest financial return on its money interests."

"WITH THIS PROPOSAL," said ESU 1 Assistant Administrator Garwood, "the ESU has a choice of two banks and it's entirely legal."

Garwood added that the proposal seems like the right way to maximize ESU 1 earnings while at the same time keeping the convenience of banking in Wakefield where ESU 1 is headquartered.

Following discussion, ESU 1 board members unanimously approved a recommendation by the administration which authorizes the ESU 1 treasurer, John Portwood, to deposit all funds in the Wakefield National Bank of its correspondent bank, First National of Lincoln.

The motion further states that the funds are to be deposited in such a manner as to maximize any earned interest. Funds in either institution are to be completely secured by a combination of FDIC insurance and other pledged securities held in joint custody.

Pledged securities must have a "market value" rather than face value, sufficient to cover funds in excess of FDIC insurance and be of a type permitted by section 77-2352 of the Nebraska Statutes.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night also heard a report by the executive committee on administrative job targets.

The executive committee, including Marvin Borg of Concord, Ken Lahrs of Ponca and Randy Shaw, met with ESU 1 administrators on June 26 to discuss job targets.

In his report, Shaw said that during the June 26 meeting, board members and ESU 1 administrators reviewed targets which have been reached and discussed other items that the committee feels should become job targets if they are not already.

Those suggestions for job targets included monitoring nursing services, monitoring legislation which affects ESU 1, reducing travel time, increasing staff development and in-service, sharing teachers and programs within the schools served by ESU 1, improving public relations, and researching and surveying the expanded needs of schools served within the unit.

Administrators and board members agreed that the June 26 meeting was worthwhile.

"I think it was a very valuable meeting," said Assistant Administrator Garwood. "In addition to discussing administrative job targets, the meeting also was valuable in that it gave the administration and board members an opportunity to visit in an informal setting. I believe the meeting was another avenue of communication that is extremely valuable."

The executive committee plans to meet with the administration every three months to continue defining and discussing job targets.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, Administrator Mills agreed to set up a meeting of the board policy committee between now and September.

Among board policies to be looked at is the use of the ESU 1 conference room by other groups and organizations.

Garwood asked board members to contact the committee. If they feel there are other areas that need to be looked at regarding board policy.

Next regular meeting of the ESU 1 board will be Aug. 12, following the budget hearing at 7 p.m.

Dr. Barclay to replace Hansen

Dr. Ralph Barclay was appointed Tuesday evening by Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh to finish out the councilman term of resigning third ward representative Leo Hansen.

Hansen, age 70, had served 12 years on the city council, and has recently moved to the fourth ward in the city.

"I will miss it at times. It's been an educational experience," Hansen said Wednesday. He added that he was glad to be an active member serving as councilman in the Wayne community.

Dr. Barclay, professor at Wayne State College of Nebraska's Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics Department, came to Wayne in 1967.

He will serve as third ward councilman until Dec. 1. Two individuals will be seeking the third ward councilman position in the November election — Sheryl Lindau and Robert Lohrborg.

Barclay summed up his reason for accepting the appointment to the councilman position by saying: "Living in a democratic society, people should be willing to do those kinds of things that would enhance the virtues of the society. This is my small way of helping out."

Mayor Marsh also appointed several other individuals to various city boards and organizations. They are: Housing Authority — Norbert Bruggier; Board of Health — Bob Benfack; Varn Falchild; Darrell Fuelberth; Dean Metz and Wayne Marsh; College Community Board — Randy Pedersen; Becky Keidel and Gary Van Meter; Non-Voting — Phyllis Spethman; Steve Jones and Jim Hummel.

Planning Commission — Sam Schroeder, George Phelps and Ken Berglund; Recreation Board — Dean Bruggeman; Board of Adjustment — Mern Mordhorst and Thomas Schmitz; Library Board — Margaret Lindstrom and Pat Gross; and Board of Appeal — Richard Zrust.

Main Street almost completed

Most of the work on Wayne's North Main Street (from 7th to 13th Street) has been completed and was to be opened for traffic on Wednesday (July 9).

"Everything is pretty well completed," said Earl Echtenkamp of Wayne project manager for the Nebraska Department of Roads.

There still remains some sodding work along the terraces and sidewalks, but this will not affect the opening of the road.

Echtenkamp said the project was completed on schedule, with time to spare. "We anticipated the completion for mid-July, and we were done sooner than that," he said.

ANOTHER STREET PROJECT that is going on within the city of Wayne, not related to Nebraska Highway Department projects, is the work on removing and replacing of last fall's new asphalt surfacing on several Wayne streets by Brower Construction Co. of Sioux City.

Dennis Hirschbrunner from Bruce Gilmore and Associates, engineers of the surfacing project, said the surfacing, when completed last fall on parts of Sherman Street (north of 7th Street) and several streets off of Sherman Street, fell short of specifications, with problems developing with the bonding and the mix of the asphalt.

It was decided to remove and replace the asphalt rather than live with the surfacing problems, Hirschbrunner mentioned.

The removing and replacing of the asphalt will be the contractor's expense since it did not meet project specifications, Hirschbrunner added.

Going strong

WORK IS GOING at a steady pace on the Rice-Carlson expansion project, expected to be completed by September of next year. The new tennis courts, located east of the project, are now completed and ready for play by tennis enthusiasts, according to Wayne State College of Nebraska officials.

Work on city budget begins

by Chuck Mackenmillor
"We have pretty well balanced our proposed budget and have achieved a 5 percent cut."

That is what Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster told city council members during Tuesday night's regular meeting. The city council did not adjourn from Tuesday night's meeting, but recessed for early next Tuesday morning when they begin work-sessions on the proposed budget.

"It isn't going to be easy. Next year will be tougher," Kloster told the council members.

By "putting off some things," Kloster said the city can reduce the property tax askings by 5 percent. Special assessments will also be down for the upcoming year, he added.

"It should be noted that we are the only ones (of area governmental bodies) cutting right now," he said.

Copies of the proposed budget will be provided to the council members by Friday so that work sessions can begin next Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALSO ON Tuesday, the city council approved a zoning change, from residential to business, of property located near the KD Inn.

Plans mentioned by Dennis Otte of KD Inn include expanding the business, adding another two-story structure with additional motel units. The original zoning request was by the Dennis Ottes and Mrs. Leone Sandahl.

Most of the property of KD Inn is zoned business. However, a parcel of property south of the business is zoned residential, as is the property of Sandahl which adjoins it. Both these parcels of property were rezoned.

City staff and the planning and zoning commission had recommended that the council rezone these parcels as business along with property owned by Arnold Ebker located west of Sandahl's property.

Ebker appeared at the council meeting, objecting to rezoning his property from residential to business. "If I go commercial, I feel it will be hard to sell my property if something would happen," Ebker told the council.

If it were all zoned business as proposed, there would be little space between the structures on the properties of Otte and Ebker, some of the council members mentioned. However, if the Sandahl property was zoned residential, up to 10 feet of distance could be achieved between structures along the property line.

"I'm not against rezoning. But at the present time I would like my property to stay as it is," said Ebker.

COUNCILMEN Darrel Heier and Freeman Decker opted to not go with the recommendation of the commission and proceed with the original recommendation — which would not include rezoning Ebker's property.

Kloster said the bottom line is that the city faces a situation where the planning and zoning commission has done its job and did it right. However, he added that "each incident such as this has to be treated by themselves."

He said a similar request for rezoning will be coming before the council in a couple of weeks.

The city council voted to pass an ordinance on the change of zoning from residential to business for the KD Inn expansion, not to include the lot belonging to Arnie Ebker.

IN OTHER ACTION, the city council authorized the preparation of plans and specifications for water main extensions and a relief sanitary sewer line which is anticipated to cost under $170,000, to be financed through sewer and water revenue the city gains.

Some of the larger water mains, mostly 8", will be installed at 4th Street, between Main and Sherman Streets; 6th Street, between Main and Dearborn Streets; and water main from 14th Street to the Sunview Subdivision.

The sanitary sewer relief line will be utilized to take the load off another sanitary sewer line near Hank Overlin Field in Wayne.

Construction on the water and sewer projects is expected to begin in October or early November.

Also, Kloster informed the council members that the Wayne Jaycees were asked to secure some liability insurance for the July 4 fireworks display at Overlin Field this year.

He said the Jaycees received a minimum of $100,000 in coverage for this event. He said he will be asking the Jaycees to secure $1 million in coverage for next year to safeguard against large lawsuits.

"Whoever sponsors the event should be securing the liability," he told the council members.

Care helps prevent tomato diseases

Tomatoes, the home gardener's favorite vegetable, are not seriously affected by many diseases. But the old adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" certainly applies in reducing tomato disease losses.

Leaf spot and fruit rot diseases thrive in damp, shady places. So, the first step is to plant tomatoes where they get sunlight most of the day, and where wind movement will dry out foliage early in the morning.

Staking plants so the vines will not lie on the ground permits vines and fruit to dry out quickly and reduces the chance of fruit rot infection coming from the soil. Staking and tying of plants is hard work, but more disease-free fruit can be raised on fewer plants this way. Other benefits of staking are better shading of fruits and so less sunscald and easier picking, irrigation, and weed control.

Mulching around the plants with straw, grass clippings, or old silage on either staked or unstaked tomatoes will reduce fruit rots and foliage diseases as well as stretching soil moisture.

If leaf or fruit diseases do get started, fungicides may be necessary. Maneb or Zineb have proved effective in control of most leaf and fruit diseases. Several chemical companies manufacture tomato spray mixtures containing these fungicides along with an insecticide.

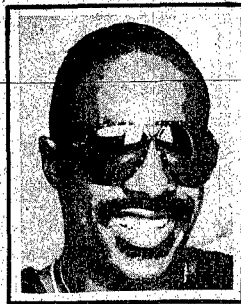

Wilt in watermelon and cucumbers

There are two microscopic organisms that are responsible for diseases known as cucurbit wilt. One is a fungus (fusarium) living in the soil and the other is a bacteria carried by insects. It is difficult to tell which organism is responsible for the wilting because the symptoms produced are very similar. Fusarium will occur wherever cucurbits are grown. Plants may become infected at any stage of growth. Germinating seeds may rot in the soil, young seedlings may lose their green color, droop, and wither. In older plants the leaves suddenly wilt and the runners die. A characteristic yellow-to-brown discoloration may be found when the lower stem is split.

Fusarium wilt of watermelon, muskmelon, squash and cucumbers can be controlled by planting wilt resistant varieties. Other practices will also help to control this disease. Among these are sanitation, planting of clean seed, and the maintenance of good plant vigor.

The bacterium responsible for bacterial wilt is carried in the body of the striped and twelve-spotted cucumber beetle. These beetles transmit the disease while feeding on the leaves of a susceptible plant. Following feeding by infected beetles, the leaves begin to wilt. The infection begins on one or a few leaves which droop at once. The disease then spreads through the vines causing them to gradually die one at a time. The wilt is more gradual than the sudden, total wilt caused by fusarium.

Because of the close association of the cucumber beetles and the bacteria, control measures are focused on the beetles. When the beetle is controlled in an area it is practically wilt-free. Applications of insecticides throughout the growing season will control the beetles. The recommended chemical is Sevin 50 percent wettable powder at two lbs./gal.

Celebrities highlight state fair talent

The evening concerts have always been a big draw for the Nebraska State Fair, and Henry Brandt, general manager, is certain this year's lineup will be one of the best. "Variety is certainly the word to describe this year's lineup of entertainment," said Brandt. "We have something for nearly every musical taste, including rock, country-western, gospel and even big band favorites."

The Nebraska State Fair opens for its 10-day run on Friday, Aug. 29, with the magic of David Copperfield. Rounding out the Labor Day weekend will be the popular rock group Mr. Mister and their opening act The Bangles on Saturday, Aug. 30, with contemporary gospel-artist Amy Grant appearing on Sunday, Sept. 1.

On Wednesday, Sept. 3, the one and only Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, conducted by Buddy Morrow, will entertain fairgoers with their big band sound. Also appearing with the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra will be The Pied Pipers. Thursday, Sept. 4, brings the ever-popular Alabama to the Bob Devaney Sports Center for a return engagement, followed on Friday, Sept. 5, by the enormously successful Oak Ridge Boys. Appearing with The Oaks will be Exile, the rock-turned-country band.

Last, but certainly not least, the closing weekend of the fair offers Willie Nelson & Family on Saturday, Sept. 6, with the legendary Stevie Wonder appearing on Sunday, Sept. 7.

All concerts will be performed in the round in the air-conditioned Bob Devaney Sports Center, with the exception of David Copperfield's program, which will be theater seating. All performances will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the exception of Willie Nelson, who is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. to avoid a conflict with the Cornhusker's game that evening.

Tickets for all concerts except Tommy Dorsey and Stevie Wonder will be $12, $11, $9 and $7. All tickets for the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra will be $9. Ticket prices for Stevie Wonder will be $16.50, $15 and $12. All seats are reserved. There will be a $1 handling charge.

Tickets are available by mail only through July 20 from the Nebraska State Fair Ticket Office, P.O. Box 81202, Lincoln, Neb. 68501. Beginning July 21, over-the-counter sales will begin at the ticket office in the Administration Building located on the Nebraska State Fair Park weekdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Phone reservations will also be accepted beginning July 21 with MasterCard or Visa by calling (402) 473-4105.

Livestock Judging Contest

A 4-H Livestock Judging Contest will be held today (Thursday) for all 4-H'ers living in Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Dakota County. The contest starts at 1 p.m. and will be held at the Dixon County Fairgrounds in Concord.

Dixon County Pet Fair slated

The Dixon County 4-H Council and the Dixon County Agricultural Society will co-sponsor a Dixon County Pet Fair on Saturday, July 12 at the Dixon County Fairgrounds.

Entry check-in will be from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., with judging beginning at 10 a.m.

The event is open to Dixon County youngsters, ages three through 18. Youth living in other counties who are members of Dixon County 4-H clubs also are eligible.

All participants will receive 4-H ribbons, and the public is invited to attend.

Persons who would like additional information about the event are asked to call the Dixon County Extension Office, Concord, 584-2234.

Farm Bureaus plan joint picnic

The Cedar and Dixon County Farm Bureaus will hold a joint picnic on Thursday, July 17 at 7 p.m. in the Laurel Lion's Club Park. Wayne County Farm Bureau members also are invited to participate.

The Cedar County Farm Bureau will provide drinks and ice cream, and those attending are asked to bring their own table service and potluck meal.

Caucus meeting set

The United Farm and Ranchers Congress, sponsored by Farm Aid, will be holding their first caucus.

This is a nationwide kick-off meeting to elect delegates to attend the Congress in St. Louis in September.

The local caucus will be held Wednesday, July 16 at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall at Emerson. All farmers and ranchers please try to attend.

4-H citizenship tour

Forty area 4-H'ers recently returned home after spending two weeks touring the East Coast. One week included tours of various American and Canadian cities which were instrumental in creating our heritage.

Sites along the way included stops at Niagara Falls, Ontario, Chicago, Boston and historic Quincy Market, New York City and the Statue of Liberty and Amish Culture in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, finally culminating in a week-long stay at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C., where over 700 4-H'ers from 16 states participated in workshops and assemblies on leadership, citizenship and government.

4-H'ers from the surrounding communities taking part in this tour were Amy Birkley, Hubbard; Sonya Kraemer, Emerson; Rita Bodlak, Pender; and Amy Mahaney, Walthill. Also participating in the tour were Angela Jones and Liz Hansen, Allen; Janet and Janell Kaup, West Point; Sharla Kurz, Oakland; Darin Greenke and Carmen Reeg, Winslow; Stuart Rethwisch and Lori Sorensen, Wayne; and Bobby Greve, Wakefield.

Norfolk District Dairy Show set

The 40th annual Norfolk District Dairy Show will be held at the Madison County Fairgrounds in Madison on Monday, July 28.

The 4-H and FFA members should be getting their entries for the show to their Extension Office or Voc. Ag. Instructor in the near future. Each exhibitor may show three animals.

There will also be a selection of a District Dairy Queen at the contest. Dairy Queen candidates must be a member of a 4-H Dairy Club in 1986 and must carry a 4-H Dairy Club project. They must also be 16 years old as of January 1, 1986. There will also be a fitting and showing contest.

All 4-H animals which receive purple or blue ribbons at the district dairy show by exhibitors who are 12 years old or older will then be eligible to compete in the Ak-Sar-Ben Dairy Show.

The contest is sponsored locally by the Norfolk Jaycees who furnish 1/3 of the premium money, Nebraska Dairy interests and Ak-Sar-Ben also provide 1/3 of the premium money.

A dairy judging contest starting at 10:00 a.m. will also take place. This will be open to all dairy members not just those entered in the show. Additional information and entry forms are available from the local county Extension offices.

Everyone is invited to attend the show. There will be seating available. The crowning of the District Dairy Show Queen will take place at 12 noon and the show will start right after that. The show will start with the Jersey Breed, then the Milk King Shorthorn, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Holstein and Guernsey. The last event will be the showmanship contest.

Center for Rural Affairs meeting July 19

The "Revitalization of Rural America" will be the theme of this year's annual meeting sponsored by the Center for Rural Affairs. The day-long event will be held on Saturday, July 19 in Tekamah, NE. A potluck picnic supper will follow the keynote address by August Schumacher, Jr., Massachusetts Commissioner of Agriculture.

August Schumacher, Jr. is presiding over an agricultural renaissance in Massachusetts sparked by consumer demand for locally produced products, direct marketing, and a state commitment to preserve farmland. He was formerly with the World Bank, where he promoted appropriate technology as an agricultural development policy in the third world.

The day will begin with a "Rural Issues Fair" from 10:30 to 11:30. Sessions will be held in the Presbyterian Church (13th and K Streets), and the Methodist Church (14th and L St.). Lunch will be from 11:30 to 12:30 and a food stand will be set up for the convenience of attendees.

The afternoon will begin with its first set of workshops from 12:30 to 1:30. The workshops are "Agriculture and the Military Budget," (Presbyterian Church), "Role of U.S. in World Food System," (Presbyterian Church), and "State Responses to the Farm Credit Crisis," (Methodist Church). From 1:45 to 2:45 workshops will cover: "Marketing," (Presbyterian church), "Water Quality," (Presbyterian Church), and "Alternative Crops," (Methodist Church). Child care will be provided during workshop hours only. A Plenary Session on rural communities with representatives from three Nebraska towns will take place in the City Park (11th and Q St.) from 3:15 to 4:15. Following the Plenary Session will be presentation of the Annual Report, Special Recognitions, and the Keynote Address—from 4:30 to 6:00 in the City Park.

Workshop leaders and panelists include farmers, farm organizations leaders, staff of the Nebraska-Water Conservation Council, Farm Crisis Hotline, Nebraskans for Peace, Sierra Club, Small Farms Action Group, the Center for Rural Affairs, Chuck Schroeder of the Nebraska Dept. of Agriculture, Sen. Chuck Davis with the Minnesota Senate, Dr. Dennis Weisenburger of the University of Nebraska Medical Center and several others. Child care will be available during the morning and afternoon workshops only (10:30-4:15).

A potluck supper line opens at 6:00 p.m. in the City Park. Meal is $1 per serving, and guests are asked to bring desserts, salad, or other side dishes, plus coolers or ice chests since no refrigeration is available.

The annual meeting is being held in conjunction with the Small Farm Resources Project's Farm Tour and Discussion Day on Friday, July 18 in Harrington NE. "Research agendas for the revitalization of rural America" will be the focus for the discussion. The Small Farm Resources Project is a part of the Center for Rural Affairs. For more information about the Farm Tour and Discussion Day, call the Project at 402-254-6893.

the farmer's wife by pat meierhenry

For someone who routinely avoids the TV set, I've logged a bunch of hours in front of the "boob tube" this holiday weekend. How I wished for a recorder.

I'm writing this on Sunday night, watching the ABC coverage of closing ceremonies in the Giants stadium. There has been so much good music and so many emotional moments, I hate to see it end.

One high spot was the simultaneous oath of citizenship by thousands of newly naturalized citizens from Ellis Island to the Orange Bowl in Miami to St. Louis and San Francisco. I had never heard the oath before; all of us fortunate enough to be born here should repeat it annually.

Another great segment was the presentation of Liberty Medals to 12 outstanding naturalized citizens. No. 1 unanimous choice was Bob Hope, who quipped: "I knew Miss Liberty was in trouble when I waved at her, and she waved back!"

The oldest winner was Irving Berlin, who at age 98, was not present. Kate Smith, who sang his famous song, died just last week. And Rudy Vallee, 84, sat in his living room watching TV on Thursday night, turned to his wife and said, "I wish I was there. You know how I love a party," and died.

Itzak Perlman, a violinist who had polio at age four, received a medal, as did Dr. Albert Sabin, who discovered the vaccine for polio.

JOHN DENVER sang, "America, the Dream Goes On," Sinatra did "The House I Live In," military choirs joined for "God Bless America" and "America, the Beautiful," and a 13-year old boy and Sandy Patti each did "The Star-Spangled Banner."

There was "This Land is Your Land," "What is America to Me?" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

There were fireworks galore. For the first time in over 20 years, I did not buy a single fire cracker, not even a sparkler.

There were bands and dancing, including ballet by new citizen Mikhail Baryshnikov, and opera. It was quite a show.

I took in Friday morning's parade in Norfolk between patients. I even had a lawn chair to sit in, thanks to Vera Broglio.

I also finished Bill Cosby's book, Fatherhood, this week. What laughs. Bill tells it like it is, from diapers to college. I must admit I thought $15 was a lot to pay, even for all the giggles.

I plan to take it to work and loan it, even though I should know better. I've loaned the complete set of the Little House books, and both volumes of Walk Across America, and can't remember who to. I've lost more books and music that way.

OUR RESIDENT Nebraska humorist, Roger Welsh, had a good story in the Nebraska Farmer this week. It seems there were three farmers who died and went to heaven. St. Peter met them at the gate.

He questioned Farmer #1: "Where are you from?"

The fellow said he was from Oklahoma. "We don't get many people from Oklahoma in Heaven," St. Peter announced. "Come right in."

The second farmer said he was from South Dakota, and Peter told him, "Come right in."

The third applicant said that he was a Nebraskan. To which the gatekeeper replied, "Nebraska, huh. Well, come on in. But you probably won't like it here!"

Scouting urged for root worm beetle

Corn root worm beetle scouting programs should be initiated now to help prevent damage to future crops, according to members of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Cooperative Extension Service, Agricultural Climate Situation Committee.

UNL entomologist Fred Baxendale said an average of one beetle per plant, found through mid-July and August is enough to warrant soil insecticide applications before a spring planting of corn in the same fields next year.

Don Kemper with the state's department of agriculture recently surveyed counties in southeast Nebraska and reported large numbers of both western and southern corn root worm beetles. Baxendale said producers don't have much of a problem for this season unless the silks are cut back beyond half an inch. If the beetles are causing a problem, he said a pesticide application should take care of it.

Major soil damage to crops was reported throughout parts of the state, with Daves and Sheridan counties in the northwest receiving the worst losses. The thunderstorms and turbulent weather also caused several cases of bacterial blight in beans, according to Dave Wysock, UNL extension plant pathologist. But he said the blight is not uncommon for these weather conditions.

The accumulation of growing degree days for corn (planted May 1) and grain sorghum (planted May 20) shows close to normal development for most of the state, except the southwest, which has fallen to as much a week behind normal.

Ak-Sar-Ben Exposition deadline set

All entries for the 1986 Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H livestock Exposition are due in County Extension Offices no later than August 15, according to Ak-Sar-Ben's Director of Agriculture and Membership, Sherman Berg. Entry blanks and application forms are available at County Extension Offices.

Berg announced that a record 5,100 Market Beef nominations have been submitted for the 1986 Exposition, the 59th edition of the event. Nominations have come from 4-H youngsters from an eight-state area for this year's Exposition, the world's largest 4-H livestock show. The eight states represented are Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, and Missouri. The show is scheduled to run September 16 through September 27.

The 4-H Horse Show judging will be held September 17, 18, and 19. Dairy judging starts September 19 and runs through September 20. Market Swine judging is all day on September 21. Market Lamb judging is all day on September 20. The Market Beef judging will be held on September 22 and 23, followed by the premium Livestock Auction, Market Broker judging is Sunday, September 21. The 4-H National Computer Contest judging is September 19-21.

Ak-Sar-Ben annually hosts 2,500 exhibitors to the Livestock Show, held in conjunction with the Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo and River City Roundup, a midwestern celebration of the area's agricultural and western heritage, which is scheduled for September 17-21.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo runs September 17-21 in the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum.

Buy Nebraska First campaign coming

by Cheryl Stubbendieck
Nebraska Farm Bureau Information
If there's one thing I know about it, it's grocery shopping. I'm a regular practitioner. The second half of Sunday afternoon will generally find me with list in hand and toddler in cart, making the rounds of the supermarket near my home.

I don't dislike grocery shopping (arriving in the store at least means that menu planning is out of the way) but it's not a great intellectual challenge. I already know where "my" store hides my favorite nacho chips and I've already figured that I'm better off buying a smaller box of cereal even if the larger size costs less per ounce. No, my big challenge is trying to find some small item my son can play with that won't get eaten or destroyed.

Like most grocery shoppers, I am a creature of habit. I buy pretty much the same brands week after week. I look at the nutritional labels, but I don't check to see where a particular item is made.

The Nebraska Food Industry Association would like to change my attitude, and I'm willing. Toward the end of June, the association announced its new "Buy Nebraska First" campaign, designed to encourage consumers to give preference to foods produced or processed in the state. Before long, we'll be seeing red, white and blue "Buy Nebraska First" logos in stores, on signs, grocery shelves and food packages.

I THINK MOST Nebraskans would be glad to buy Nebraska-made foods, rather than those "imported" from other states. But the problem has been identifying what's made in Nebraska and what's not.

Although most Nebraskans know that Alpo Pet foods are made in Crete, many fewer would know that Duncan Hines has a plant in Omaha that makes bread, muffin, cookie and cake mixes.

But in addition to having national giants such as Campbells, Wonder Bread and Kellogg's in the state, Nebraska is home to a great many smaller food companies — such as Brown's Best Dried Beans of Morrill, Gillette Dairy products of Norfolk and Gering, and Fairbury meat products, made in the city by the same name.

Like the products it seeks to promote, the Nebraska Food Industry Association is home-grown. With assistance from the Food Processing Center at the University of Nebraska, the association was organized last year to help Nebraska companies expand their business potential, through such programs as "Buy Nebraska First."

Other benefits have come through informal contacts among members. For example, a spice distributor who was buying onion powder from out of state made the acquaintance of a Nebraska onion producer who was discarding onions that didn't meet size requirements for the city by the same name, and they're looking into doing business together.

When "Buy Nebraska First" is implemented in grocery stores, it will be easy to select food products made here, and I hope many shoppers will — buying Nebraska products means your food dollar stays in the state, paying wages to Nebraskans and turning over many times without our economy.

In Dixon County

Bike rodeo held

Senior champion of the Dixon County 4-H Bicycle Rodeo was Paul Brentlinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brentlinger of Allen.

Paul also took first place in the five-mile race. Brian Nelson was second in the five-mile race, and Bobby Kumm was third.

Junior 4-H Bicycle Rodeo champion was Megan Kumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kumm of Allen.

Paul and Megan will receive Dixon County Fair trophies donated by the Silver Spur Cafe, Ponca, and Schlickbernd Insurance, Emerson.

SPORTSMANSHIP awards went to Zoi Persinger, Brett Nelson, Debbie McCluskey and Tammy Jackson.

Each of these team members will receive a free carnival ride ticket for the Dixon County Fair.

PLACING IN THE senior division were Paul Brentlinger, Brian Nelson and Bobby Kumm, all blues.

Junior division placings were as follows:
Purple — Megan Kumm, Zoi Persinger, Brett Nelson, Jay Jackson, Chris Pierce, Greg Rastede and Tracy Schram.

Red — Nikki Engle, Robert Engle, Jennifer Hoffman, Tammy Jackson, Andrew Manz and Danny Puckett.

PARENTS AND leaders helping with the contest as checkpoint judges, timers, flaggers and scorers were Pam Schram, Sandra Mattes, Sharon Puckett, Dave Manz, Dee Pierce, Marge Hoffman, Glenn Kumm, Sharon Wensstrand, Loreita Jackson, Susan Roberts, Karen Hank, Pat Philbrick and Beverly Bloom.

Rodeo events included a bicycle knowledge quiz, fast-time and slow-time control events through a six-inch lane, riding a slalom course, figure eights, and newspaper toss. Only senior division participants were eligible for the five-mile race.

Conservation program signup approaching

Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng today announced that signup for the 1987 Conservation Reserve Programs will take place Aug. 4-15 at Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices.

According to Lyng, farmers may volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the Conservation Reserve program, under a provision of the Food Security Act of 1985.

"We are pleased with the response from farmers during the 1986 signup," said Lyng. "Now that producers are aware of the other provisions of the Act, such as sodbuster and conservation compliance, we expect even more interest by producers in the Conservation Reserve Programs this year."

Producers wishing to put land into the program are eligible for cost-share payments of up to 50 percent of the eligible costs to establish a cover crop. The annual rental payments are for 10 years.

The total amount of rental payments for any fiscal year may not exceed $50,000, or its equivalent if in-kind payments are made.

Lyng said producers will be allowed to harvest their 1986 crop before the contract becomes effective, if necessary.

Land that is designated may not be grazed after the Commodity Credit Corporation approves the contract.

COMMUNITY CELEBRATION

A large crowd attended the community celebration July 4 held at the Dixon County fairgrounds at Concord. A potluck supper was held at 6 p.m., followed by games for all ages. Games included tricycle races, three-legged races, egg toss, necktie-tying contest, sewing contest while wearing flannel gloves, carrying golf balls in spoons and sweeping balloons into a bucket across the stage. Others played volleyball, horseshoes and softball.

The new city park equipment was also dedicated during the evening by the Friendly Neighbors Extension Club. Ervin and Frances Kraemer and Fritz Kraemer were on hand to represent the Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 2796 of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, rural, Concord, which acquired a grant that made it possible to purchase the equipment. The evening closed with a fireworks display.

The event was sponsored by the Friendly Neighbors Extension Club and the Concord Women's Welfare Club helping with a donation.

LCW CIRCLES

Concordia LCW Circles met Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. with Bible study chosen by God "Prayer," from Ephesians 3:14-21.

TRINITY LUTHERAN LADIES AID

Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid observed their guest day Thursday with 60 attending the 12:30 luncheon. Guests were ladies of St. Paul's Lutheran Church—of—Norfolk—and ladies of Trinity.

Table decorations were centennial banners and dolls.

Mrs. Alfred Mangels, president, gave the welcome and Pastor Nelson conducted devotions.

Mrs. Mangels presided at a short business meeting. Secretary and treasurer reports were read and committee reports given.

The visiting committee for July will be Mrs. Myron Deck and Mrs. Scott Deck. Mrs. Howard Fuhrman will have charge of sending church visitors notes.

Kitchen cleaning was set for tonight (Thursday). The birthday song was sung for ladies of Trinity and guests having birthdays in July.

Mrs. Alvin Wagner gave the introduction of a brief history of the Ladies Aid. Members who are descendants of the charter members were introduced.

Others who read articles on the history were Mrs. Howard Fuhrman, Mrs. Myron Deck and Mrs. Emil Gutzman.

Mrs. Dan Bruggeman read a poem entitled "The Ladies Aid." Mrs. Lyle Maroz brought and displayed her doll collection. She told about and showed the different kinds. Story book dolls, dolls representing foreign countries, some that she had bought in different countries and many she had made and antique dolls. Several members also brought dolls to display.

Committee 1 was in charge of registration and decorating. Committee 2 had the program and committee 3 was in charge of serving.

The next meeting will be Aug. 7 at 9 a.m.

ZION LUTHERAN LADIES AID-LWML

The Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid-LWML met Thursday afternoon with 15 members and Pastor Damm present.

Pastor Damm led in presenting the topic, "Work is Praise." Mrs. Orville Luebe had charge of the Mile Box devotion.

Mrs. Elaine Ehlers, president, conducted the business meeting. Members answered roll call by paying three cents to the Penny Pot if they had a handkerchief and five cents if not.

Mrs. Orville Luebe, acting secretary, read the report of the previous meeting and Mrs. Mel Freeman gave the treasurer's report. Reports on the District LWML Convention held at Atkinson were given by delegates Mrs. Duane Kruger and Mrs. Guy Anderson. Members will donate articles to be taken to the Lutheran Family Service bazaar to be held at the Sunset Plaza in Norfolk on July 26.

Mrs. Clemens Welch and Mrs. Galen Anderson will serve on the flower committee for July. The Altar Guild for August will be Mrs. Herman Koepke and Mrs. William Thoendel.

AMERICAN LEGION

Commander Warren Baird opened the July 1 meeting of the Roy Reed American Legion Post 252.

The Legion and the Auxiliary will make a float for the Carroll centennial and the old settlers parades.

A motion was made to donate $100 to the old settlers day.

Cecil Prince was given a 48 star burial flag by the Roy Reed family which Cecil turned over to the Legion. Members discussed different ways to display the flag.

A thank you was read from Robert Oswald of West Point for the cash gift for speaking memorial day.

Installation of new officers was held. Installed were Harold Ritze, commander; Dallas Schellenberg, vice commander; Dan Jaeger, finance officer; George Voss, service officer; and Cecil Prince, chaplain.

Bob Jensen was appointed to take minutes at the meeting and Ollan Koch was reappointed as adjutant. Ollan will still be in charge of renting the Legion Hall and the hospital equipment.

Medicine Plus Good Habits

Recent newspaper articles and television news reports tell us that we are losing the war in our fight against cancer. Although new and exciting drug therapies are providing to be highly effective against a variety of cancer types, people are developing cancer more frequently than ever before. Tobacco use in its various forms (cigarettes, cigars, chewing, and smokeless) appears to be the primary factor responsible for increased cancer frequency.

Cancer is not our only preventable health problem, however. According to Alvin Tarlow, M.D., president of the Kaiser Foundation, "It has been estimated that 67% of all disease and premature death is potentially preventable. And 52% of the estimated 455 billion dollar economic cost of illness in 1980 resulted from tobacco use, alcohol misuse, drug abuse, automobile crashes and other injuries — all clearly preventable."

Although prescription and nonprescription drugs can help us live longer, healthier lives, they are not enough. Consider avoiding tobacco, using alcohol in moderation if at all, always wearing seat belts, obtaining regular exercise, eating a balanced diet that is low in sodium and high in fiber, and using medicines only when needed.

ATHLETIC PHYSICALS
Glenn Kumm, athletic director at the Allen schools, has announced that athletic physicals for students in grades 7-12 are planning to participate in sports next year will be scheduled different this year. Students attending Allen can schedule an appointment at the Ponca Medical Clinic and Dr. Knerl's office during July 15 and Aug. 15 during regular office hours and receive a physical examination for $12.50. Anytime after Aug. 15, the charge will be a regular office call. The change was made to better accommodate the large number of students taking physicals and to allow more flexibility to parents for scheduling them.

Forms will be available at Dr. Knerl's office and you are asked to bring a urine specimen. Any physicals taken during the summer months are valid until the completion of the following school year. There will not be any night physicals scheduled this year.

Mr. Kumm added that students are welcome to go to their family doctor for athletic physicals. Forms have been enclosed in a letter sent to students and are also available at the Ponca, Pender and Wakefield Clinics. State law requires all seventh graders to have physicals regardless of athletic participation.

Sports practice for high school volleyball and football begins Monday, Aug. 18 and junior high on Monday, Aug. 25, the first day of classes.

THANKS TO ALL for the cards, flowers and the beautiful birthday poster, made and signed by the P.M.C. nurses and for their concern. We say thanks for Eta on her 93rd birthday. Eta Blodgett and the Milliken family. JUI10

WE WISH TO say "Thank You" to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for food, flowers, cards, memorials, visits, given in memory of our loved one, Walter Hamm. Special thanks to Dr. Wiseman and staff of P.M.C., Rev. C.A. Sandy Carpenter, McBride-Wiltse Funeral Home and the ladies of UMW for the lunch served after the funeral. Your kindness and prayers were a comfort to us at this trying time. God bless all. Ethel Hamm and family. JUI10

THE FAMILY OF Althe Selders wish to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for the flowers, memorials and cards and food brought in at the time of his death. It was greatly appreciated. Goldie Selders, Kenneth Thirlwall, Ronald Thirlwall, Charles Thirlwall, Mrs. Charles (Mary) Marguriet and Mrs. Sam (Peggy) Evans. JUI10

WE WOULD like to thank the Carroll Centennial Committee for the prizes that we won at the Ice Cream Social. Richard and Patricia Jenkins. JUI10

THE DAY THAT The Lord called our little angel, Marissa Ann-Marie, home, a part of us went with her. Our hearts are broken deep inside but she didn't go alone. But, with special friends, family and neighbors our hearts are healing with love. So many thanks go out to all for everything that has been done. Thank you for the cards, food, flowers and memorials, but a special thanks goes to our special friend, Dr. James A. Lindau, for the patience and guidance he gave us. May God bless you and help you through these times of tribulation. Also, many thanks to the nurses on the staff at PMC for the special care and support we've had. The words of inspiration and prayers from Rev. Keith Johnson, Rev. Ken Marquardt and Sister Gertrude will never be forgotten. Many loving thanks go to our true friend and babysitter, Irene and Raymond Florine. Joel David loves you. Thanks also go out to Sandy and Lorree for taking care of The Headquarters. In God we trust and love. Matt, Sheryl and Joel David Polhamus. JUI10

THANK YOU for the cards, letters, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital and since I returned home. Cliff Johnson. JUI10

I WOULD like to thank the Lumber Co. for the nice gift certificate I received from the Birthday drawing. Mildred West. JUI10
