Carroll to celebrate Centennial days with gala events

"A Tribute to Our Town" is the title for the Carroll Centennial Pageant to be presented Friday at 8 p.m. on July 18 — one event of many that will kick off the three day celebration.

The first centennial event on Friday begins at 1 p.m., which is the 4-H Steer and Heifer Show that will take place in the Carroll Saddle Club Arena.

Entries must be in place by 10 a.m. so that the livestock show officials can determine the different classes, which will include Market Steer, Market Heifer, Breeding Heifer and Showmanship. For further information on this, contact Bill Claybaugh.

Opening ceremony for the centennial will take place at 5:30 p.m. in the Village Park. The ceremony will include opening remarks by city and committee officials, crowning of centennial royalty and announcing of the beard contest winners.

Afterwards, from 6 to 8 p.m., there will be a barbeque in the Village Park, with a charge of $3 for adults, $1.50 for those 10 years of age or under, and free for those under the age of four.

Area volunteer fire departments will square off against each other in the Men's and Women's Waterfights, to take place at 6 p.m. along a Village Park street.

One of the big events of Friday will be the Centennial Pageant.

"A Tribute to Our Town" was written by Mrs. Wayne Kerstine, with Kerstine and Mrs. Lynn Roberts as directors and assisted by Mrs. Eva Glass. It will be presented at the Village Park.

Mrs. Jeff Moore is the music director with pianists Mrs. Roy Glass, Mrs. John Rees and Mrs. Delbert Claussen, all of Carroll.

Gary Braden is stage manager and Richard Janssen will video tape the production.

The pageant is composed of readings of the town's history by Frank Gilmore, Howard McLain and Mrs. Richard Janssen. A scenery depicting Carroll's Main Street in the 1920's, painted by Mrs. Wayne Hankins and Mrs. Roy Glass, will be used in the background.

AND THE CHOIR is composed of 50 voices all from the Carroll area, with 22 songs taken from throughout the 100 years. Community performers will depict the special area through song and dance. The acts include: a special square dance, the Charleston, the Jitterbug, a Barber-shop Quartet, Hawaiian Music and song by Dick Hitchcock.

Different scenes will include beginning railroad, churches, doctor, World War I, the 20's, the 30's, World War II, Carroll School, Memory Time, Old Businesses, Horse and Buggy Days, Chautauqua, Lovers Lane, Halloween, Christmas, Free Shows, Ball Games, 50's through the 80's and Memorial Day.

A BAND, with 24 people from the Carroll area, will play in the pageant, directed by Tom Hughes of Norfolk. Hughes was the Carroll school band director in the 1940's.

Some songs which the choir will sing include: "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "Yes Sir, She's My Baby," "Memories," "Faith of Our Fathers," "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby," "How Ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm," "Over There," "There's a Star Spangled Banner Waving Somewhere," "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree with Anyone Else But Me," "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey," "Red River Valley," "Happy Trails," and audience participation with "God Bless America."

Tributes will also be made to Ellery Pearson, Carroll's lone surviving World War I veteran; Eleanor Jones, Darwin Jones and Milma Nordstrophy, the three oldest graduates of Carroll High School; and Leonard "Shorty" Halteen, who has been a barber for over 50 years.

Softball games will follow the pageant at Memorial Park.

Saturday, July 19

Those who take in all the ceremony and glitter on Friday night have no rest on Saturday morning as the Centennial Fun Run gets started at 8 near the Village Park.

Also at that time will be the opening of the auditorium for the Omelet Feed that goes until 10 a.m. Prices for the Omelet Feed are the same as the barbeque the previous night.

From 10 a.m. to the rest of the day, craft tables will be set up at the Carroll Village Garage and from 9 to 11 a.m. (and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.) Ed Leley will open up his Leather Shop and have an Antiques Open House.

The Methodist Church Open House is also planned from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m.

At 10 a.m., lining up at the school for the route down Carroll's Main Street, will be youngsters participating in the Kiddie Parade. The centennial's Grand Parade follows the Kiddie Parade, again with the route to follow along Main Street. Lining up for the Grand Parade will be on the south edge of Carroll at the Dennis Rohde farm.

Following the parades will be a "Fun Day" event for children ages three to 15 years old, to take place at the Saddle Club Arena and the school grounds. Among the events will be a frog jumping contest.

ACTIVITIES for ages 3 and 4 include: Hot Cycle Race; Popsicle Eating Contest; Musical Chairs; Summersault and Dance; Obstacle Course; Bubble Blowing Contest; Broad Jump; Scavenger Hunt; Throw the Ball; Paint the Sidewalk; Red Light-Green Light; and Sand Pile Dig for Painted Rocks.

Ages 5 through 7: Basketball; Golf Putting; Egg in Spoon Relay; Relay Running (the hard way); Summersault Relays; Shoe Kick; Hop On One Foot Relay; 3-Legged Races; Ring Toss; Target throw with pop cans and Nerf ball.

Ages 8-11: Softball Toss; Shoe Squabble; 3-Legged Race; Golf Ball Race; Water Balloon Toss; Haystack Treasure Hunt; Frog Jumping Contest (bring your best frog); Obstacle Course; Can Walk; Hula Hoop; Hurdles; Ring Toss; and Tug-of-War.

Ages 12-15: Six member team events in Tug-of-War; String and Spoon Race; and Balloon Blowing Relay.

Two member team events in Mummy Wrap; Water Balloon Race; 3-Legged Race.

Individual events are in the Shoe Scramble; Frisbee Throw; Obstacle Course; and Popsicle Eating Contest.

The Carroll Centennial Committee is sponsoring the events.

A Kiddie Tractor Pull is also scheduled to take place near the fire hall after the children's events, with different age categories competing.

Also following the parade will be a Carroll Centennial Horseshoe Pitching Contest (at 2:30 p.m.), behind the Carroll Steak House and Lounge. Participants are asked to bring their own horseshoes. Darrell Moore of Wayne is in charge of this event.

In the Village Park following the parade will be entertainment by Roger Welsch, a humorist; the Plainville Town Band; Lester Bethune; Ralph Olson & Ray Peterson; and the Old Time Fiddlers with a square dance celebration.

Budget sessions continue

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Members of the Wayne City Council began work sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday morning to decide on a budget for the 1986-87 fiscal year.

The budget proposal calls for a 3 percent decrease in property tax askings, according to City Administrator Phil Kloster.

Most of the departments within the city have taken cuts. Some of the major considerations of the proposed budget is the proposed completion this fiscal year of improvements at the Wayne Municipal Airport, which calls for the construction of the north-south runway at the airport.

Kloster said that cost will be financed primarily from federal and state funds.

Also on the budget is the area of water improvement, which would be financed primarily by a bond issue. The total cost to this project is anticipated at around $3 million.

It calls for the construction of a water tower, developing a new well site and transmission of the water from the well site to the city. Not all of this will be completed this fiscal year, however.

What would be done this fiscal year, Kloster said, will be the well site acquisition, construction of the water tower and the beginning of water distribution improvements within the city of Wayne.

Bonding for the water improvement project was necessary at this time because "interest rates are high."

Werner named Allen superintendent

The board of education at Allen Consolidated School has named a new school superintendent.

John Werner of Ceresco will fill the vacancy created by Bob Heckathorn, who resigned this spring to accept another superintendent's position at Humphrey Public Schools.

Heckathorn had served as Allen Consolidated School Superintendent since 1977.

Werner, 47, arrived in Allen to begin his new duties on Monday, July 14.

A NEBRASKA native, Werner graduated from high school at Falls City. He received his bachelor's degree from Peru State College and his master's degree in secondary principalship from Kearney State College in 1967.

He was awarded his educational specialist's degree from Kearney State in 1978.

Werner, who has 22 years of teaching experience, began as a classroom teacher at Nelson. He later served as junior and senior high school principal at Loop City, and most recently at Raymond Central.

John Werner

Before coming to Allen, Werner was employed as a corrections officer for the past five months at the Lincoln Correctional Center. His job there involved all areas of security.

WERNER AND HIS wife Carol are the parents of four grown children.

Carol is presently employed as bookkeeper-secretary at Swanson Ford in Ceresco and will join her husband in Allen as soon as housing is found.

The couple's daughter, Susan, is employed as manager of a McDonald's in Omaha.

Their three sons are John, who is employed as an underwriter for Catholic Mutual Insurance Co. in Omaha; Mark, an ensign in the U.S.

To combat the heat

Meter readers out early

The Wayne Public Works Department announced Tuesday that employees will be reading the meters for water and lights at Wayne residences in the upcoming days beginning at 6 a.m.

The move to the early morning scheduling was because of the exhausting heat which the area is currently experiencing, according to Superintendent of Public Works Vern Schulz.

Susan is a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and John, Mark and Kevin all graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln.

WERNER, WHOSE many hobbies include hunting, fishing, and a variety of collections, said he is looking forward to a very enjoyable school year at Allen.

"Right now I'm just trying to settle in and be a part of the community."

"Residents should not be alarmed if they hear someone in their backyard as early as 6 a.m.," he said.

news briefs

Koch relinquishes Legion duties

Ollan Koch has relinquished his duties as Adjutant of American Legion Roy, Reed Post 252 at Winside, NE. Ollan has been Adjutant from 1960 to 1986. He served in the Army during World War 2 from 1942 to 1945. He was awarded the PURPLE HEART while serving in the European African Middle Eastern Theater.

Robert Jensen has assumed duties of Adjutant and Ollan has agreed to assist Bob on various activities.

Whisenhunt receives award

Dr. Donald W. Whisenhunt of Wayne State College of Nebraska has been named the recipient of the C. K. Chamberlain Award for 1986 by the East Texas Historical Association. The award is for the best judged article of the year in the Association's semi-annual journal.

Whisenhunt, provost and vice president for academic affairs, wrote the article "Texas and the Bonus Expeditionary Army" in the East Texas Historical Journal, volume XXIII. The award will be presented at the historical association's fall meeting in Nacogdoches, Texas, Sept. 19-20.

The C. K. Chamberlain Award is named after the first president of the East Texas Historical Association, which is headquartered at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches.

A native Texan, Whisenhunt has written numerous articles and books on Texas history. He is also a professor of history at Wayne State.

Hanson on Dean's List

Monica Kaye Hanson of Concord was among the 431 students in the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln named to the Dean's List for the spring semester of the 1985-86 academic year.

Students named to the Dean's List in the College of Business Administration achieved a 3.6 or better grade point average for the semester while carrying 12 or more graded credits, according to Dean Gary Schwendiman.

Kardell on Chamber Board

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce has selected Virgil Kardell to fill a position on their Board of Directors left vacant by the resignation of Director Dean Craun.

Kardell is Vice-President/Treasurer of Restful Knights, Inc., a Wayne-based company that manufactures pillows and waterbed mattress pads. He is a lifetime resident of the community and has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce for several years.

Dean Craun, who has been station manager for KTCH radio for eight years, has resigned that position and will be moving to Bakersfield, California at the end of this month. He has served the Chamber of Commerce as a Director, member of the Retail Council, as an Ambassador and also as a liaison to the Board of Wayne Industries, Inc.

Brugger reappointed

Mayor Wayne Marsh reappointed Norbert Brugger to another five year term as a Commissioner on the Board of the Wayne Housing Authority.

At their monthly meeting, Brugger was re-elected as Chairman of this Board.

Other Board members are: Doris Walker, Stanley Hansen, Cletus Sharer and Steven Schumacher.

Memorials received

"A Time to Remember" (ATTR) memorials were received by the American Heart Association, Nebraska Affiliate in the name of Albert Grashorn, Wayne, and Marjorie Mann, Winside. "ATTR" gifts are made in memory of deceased friends or loved ones, as a get well wish, or to honor special occasions such as birthdays or anniversaries.

To make a 100 percent tax deductible "A Time to Remember" gift, send your check or money order, made payable to the American Heart Association, to Mrs. Claudia Koeber, Wayne County "ATTR" Chairman, 1010 Lilac Lane, Wayne, NE 68787. Please include the name of the person in whose honor the gift is made, how the card should be signed, and the name and address of the person to be notified. A card acknowledging your gift will be sent.

"A Time to Remember" contributions to the Heart Association support heart research, public and professional education and community service programs.

Substance abuse program in Wakefield

A substance abuse program for adults will be presented Monday, July 21 at 8 p.m. at the fire hall in Wakefield. Speaker will be Nebraska State Patrol Trooper Charles Buckingham of Norfolk.

The program is being sponsored jointly by the Happy-Homemakers Home Extension Club and the Wakefield fire fighters and rescue squad. The public is welcome to attend.

Allen school faculty changes

The board of education at Allen Consolidated School has hired Shelly Christensen, a recent Wayne State College graduate, to teach second grade at Allen during the 1986-87 school year.

Christensen replaces Barb Heckathorn, who resigned this spring to move to Humphrey with her husband, Bob, who is serving as superintendent of Humphrey Public Schools. Barb also has been hired by Humphrey Public Schools to serve as K-12 librarian.

Mrs. Martha Prochaska of Wakefield has been hired to teach part-time vocal music at Allen Consolidated School during the 1986-87 school year. Frank Purcell, instrumental director and elementary vocal instructor at Allen, submitted his resignation recently to the Allen board of education to accept a position as band director at Emerson-Hubbard Public School. No replacement has been named for Purcell, who taught at Emerson before coming to Allen one year ago.

Ruwe gets scholarship

A University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Agriculture senior is a recipient of the Ceres Club Scholarship of $150 for the 1986-87 academic school year.

Pamela Ruwe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ruwe of Wayne, is majoring in animal science. After graduating from the university, she would like to enter a career in animal research or go on to receive a master's degree in animal science.

Hillier a Regents scholar

Andrew Hillier of Wayne was one of 46 students at the University of Nebraska at Omaha named a recipient of Regents Scholarships. The Scholarships, based solely on merit, are each worth approximately $1,300 which applies toward the cost of tuition. Each award is renewable for up to four years or until 135 credit hours are earned, whichever come first.

Final plans set for county fair

The Wayne County Fair Board met Monday evening, with the primary purpose to get ready for the fair which will be conducted Aug. 7 to Aug. 10.

The board of directors mentioned that they have secured excellent entertainment for people of all ages. Two evenings will feature good musical entertainers and the other entertainment will feature a pickup pull and demolition derby.

All indications show that there will be an increase in exhibits. This is due, in part, to the good early crop growing season and an increased interest in small animals such as chickens, rabbits, dogs and goats. Because of this, remodeling has taken place in the chicken and rabbit building.

The big, annual Fair Barbeque will take place on Friday evening. A group of "Old Timers" will play music during the meal. Following this, several families will receive the Ak-Sar-Ben Pioneer Award for 100 years of homestead-ownership.

The final clean-up for the fair will be Monday afternoon, Aug. 4 at 4 p.m. The fair board would appreciate all of the volunteer help they can get and they are asked to bring weed eaters, lawn mowers, brooms and tractor mowers.

Fair books and season passes will be available at all Wayne County banks and at the Wakefield National Bank.

Memorials may be given to the American Lung Association or the National Rural Letter Carriers Association. Donations may be sent to the Commercial State Bank in Hoskins.

Chambers disputes arrest threat

Capitol News
by Melvin Paul

It had been a quiet summer in the Capital city, until shortly before 5 p.m. Wednesday, July 2.

At that precise time a veteran state trooper, assigned as a body guard to Gov. Bob Kerrey, almost arrested state Sen. Ernest Chambers.

The arrest was aborted. The publicity was not. For the irrepresible senator from Omaha is not one to let such an incident go unnoticed.

Chambers, the state's sole black legislator, quickly called for a state patrol investigation and urged the firing of the patrolman.

The story unfolded in newspaper accounts quoting Chambers and Kerrey's chief aide Donald Nelson.

The scene was the west steps of the Capitol building. Chambers met Kerrey as he was heading toward an interview with an Omaha television station. They began arguing about a Chamber's bill the governor vetoed last spring.

Trooper Lloyd Trackwell, dressed in street clothes, stepped between the two men and told Chambers to get moving.

When Chambers refused Trackwell threatened to arrest the senator. The patrolman took some handcuffs out of his briefcase and told Chambers he was under arrest.

Kerrey then stepped in, telling Trackwell that the man he was about to arrest was a state senator.

THE NEWSPAPER REPORTS quoted only Chambers, who was at the scene, and Kerrey's chief aide Donald Nelson, who was not. Kerrey himself told reporters that the matter was too sensitive to discuss before he had more information.

And the Omaha senator, in a 13-page memo, uses the incident for one of his favorite hobbies — Kerrey baiting.

Chambers calls the incident a classic case of "political hide and speak. Kerrey hides while Nelson speaks. Thus results the spectacle of an awful lot of talk from one who was not there and an awful lot of silence from the governor who was."

In the newspaper accounts Nelson said the trooper "did precisely what his job calls for — to protect the governor."

Chambers disagrees. "Don Nelson's assessment of what constitutes proper law enforcement practice is as ill-informed and badly flawed as the political advice he gives the governor," Chambers wrote.

And Chambers' own description of the aborted-arrest reads like a Keystone Kop episode.

When Chambers refused to leave, the trooper went to a small wall, laid his briefcase on top of it, opened the briefcase, took out a yellowish tan cardboard box, opened it and took out a pair of handcuffs.

WHILE THE TROOPER was fetching the hand cuffs, Chambers' secretary, Cindy Grandberry, afraid the man was trying to get a gun, took off her shoe.

"I thought maybe he was going to get a gun," she told a state patrolman investigating the incident.

I took my shoe off. And my feeling was, if this man goes for a gun, I'm going to get him. I did make my way behind him. I was going to use my shoe on his head. And I know I would have gotten him real good."

"Consider the situation," says Chambers in his memo. "A man looking like Sidney Greenstreet scampering off to a briefcase in which reside his handcuffs in a closed cardboard box — leaving the governor whom he is protecting, unprotected and vulnerable to harm."

"How much value do handcuffs have when closed away inside a box inside a briefcase isn't it a bit much for a bodyguard to ask that a dangerous man stand patiently by while the bodyguard fetches his handcuffs from his briefcase so that he can protect the endangered governor?"

The State Patrol will release the results of its internal investigation in mid July, not publicly, to the senator only. Chambers will likely use it as fuel for another chapter in this mid-summer escapade.

Telephone access for everyone

Affordable Phone Service. Necessary for All Americans. Deregulation of the telephone industry presents uniquely severe challenges for the rural areas of the country. There are many regulatory decisions yet to be made that could have an effect on affordable telephone rates. For that reason, I am cosponsoring a resolution which directs the Federal Communications Commission to act with the utmost caution to preserve universal service in rural America.

The resolution that I am cosponsoring, House Concurrent Resolution 308, calls for the continuation of nation-wide averaged rates. One of the most important aspects of reasonable and affordable rural telephone rates is averaged long-distance rates. It also calls for adequate support for high-cost telephone systems through the Universal Service Fund. And, it calls for a reduction in the regulatory and administrative burdens placed on small telephone systems.

We must do everything we reasonably can to assure that all Americans will continue to have access to a superior telephone network.

Fellowship Encourages Research on the Capitol

The U.S. Capitol Historical Society has announced a fellowship program designed to promote scholarship on the art and architecture of the U.S. Capitol. The Society and the Office of the Architect of the Capitol, which will jointly administer the program, hope to encourage a broad range of studies on the history of the Capitol buildings and grounds under the jurisdiction of the Architect's office.

Financial support for a period of between one month and one year will enable scholars and graduate students to come to Washington and use the archival resources of the Architect of the Capitol, the Library of Congress and the National Archives. Anyone interested in applying for the fellowship is urged to contact: Dr. Barbara Wolanin, Curator, Office of the Architect of the Capitol, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Volunteer military role increasing

by U.S. Senator Jim Exon

The largest portion of our nation's defense budget goes toward the pay and benefits of the men and women who serve in the armed forces and endure the rigors of military life.

Recognizing this fact, Congress has embraced the Total Force Concept program which increases reliance upon the part-time soldiers, sailors, and airmen of the National Guard and the Reserves. Since the Guard and Reserves serve in uniform only one weekend per month and two weeks annual active duty, and do not fully qualify for military health care and government housing, they cost much less to operate than active duty personnel.

Another factor encouraging greater reliance upon the Guard and Reserves is that the members of these units are talented, motivated personnel who often have served many years of active duty experience.

The Total Force Concept integrates the Guard and Reserves closer than ever into our nation's overall military strategy. In a time of crisis, Guard and Reserve units would mobilize and deploy overseas either before or with their active duty counterparts.

The goal of the Total Force Concept is to make the Guard and Reserves as prepared as the active armed forces. Right now the Guard and Reserve comprise 35 percent of the Army combat divisions, 86 percent of the Navy's minesweepers, nearly 70 percent of the fighter planes protecting the United States, and one-third of all the Air Force's fighter planes.

With this greater reliance on the Guard and Reserves, the days of the "weekend warrior" are gone. What was once two weeks annual training is now frequently three weeks. In instead of two days per month, additional evenings are frequently needed to achieve the required levels of readiness.

DESPITE ITS SUCCESS, some questions remain regarding the Total Force Concept. First, although Guard and Reserve units are less expensive, the cost is still high in order to make them as ready as active military units. Higher readiness can only be achieved by providing the Guard and Reserves with greater support services from the active duty services.

Another major difficulty arises in purchasing the quantities of needed modern equipment. Despite the modernization of weapons, many Guard and Reserve units have obsolete equipment, such as aging aircraft and Korean War-vintage anti-aircraft guns.

The readiness of military units also depends on the number of personnel assigned and the amount and quality of training. Here again, the Guard and Reserves face serious challenges. Training one weekend a month and two weeks a year is not much time to develop and maintain military skills. More training time is possible, but when it conflicts too much with a civilian career and family life it jeopardizes retention of personnel.

Despite the dedication of all involvements, there are inherent limits to what we can expect of the Guard and Reserves. Nonetheless, the Guard and Reserves are and must remain an instant, key component of our nation's defense, a new role for these talented forces.

Grateful feeling

One of the best feelings Chicken Show Committee members have each year is that of appreciation for all of the individuals, organizations, and businesses who contribute to the days events. A mere letter cannot recognize everyone, because the Chicken Show is affected favorably by literally hundreds of people.

We are always grateful for the helping hand provided by Wayne State College, the City of Wayne and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce each year. A million thanks to the Milton G. Waldbaum Company for their participation at the Chicken Show through the Omelet Feed and other contests. The Omelet Feed could not continue without the help of Bill's GW in providing food supplies either from their store or through their suppliers. Wayne IGA, Johnson's Frozen Foods, Taco Del Sol, the Black Knight, the Lumber Company and Godfather's also contributed food supplies. Other stores in two contributing to the feed include the Dairy Queen, Hardee's, and Panada. And of course the Wayne Kiwanis has been fantastic in their organization and contribution to the feed.

Thank you also to the Wayne Aerie and Eagles Auxiliary and particularly to Dorothy Nelson for the organization of the parade. Also thanks to the Sunrise Toastmasters for running the Cluck-Off and the Wayne Empire's Association and Denny Robinson for organizing the Softball Tournament.

Major contributions of prizes came from the On AmI Corporation, Northwestern Bell Telephone, and Pizzza Hut. Other businesses contributing goods or services include C. & D G-Men, El Toro, Kid's Closet, Mine's Jewelers, PoPo's II, Sav-Mor Pharmacy, Swan's, Black Knight, Gillette Dairy, Kraft Foods, Pat's Beauty Salon, Surfresh Foods, The Wayne Herald, the Morning Shopper, KITCH Radio, the Shepherdess, and the Rusty Nail. We give a big "Thank-you" to all of the above, as well as to the many individuals who contributed to the fantastic day in Wayne on July 12.

Just as the Wayne Chicken Show seemed to cause itself to "grow" into a major event, it also seems to be self-perpetuating. People are already talking about next year so everyone is advised to mark their calendars for the second Saturday in July, 1987!

Q. I have been having trouble getting approval for a bank credit card, and I believe that it is because of a disagreement I had over a previous bill. Is there a central credit file of some kind, and if so, can I see what is in it?
A. Throughout the United States, credit bureaus maintain credit files on millions of consumers. If you have ever used credit, there is probably a record in a credit bureau. Potential creditors use these files to check your credit worthiness before extending new or additional credit to you.
Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act, you have a right to see your credit history and to know who else has seen it for credit or employment purposes. There are time limits on how long negative information may be carried on your file. If there is incorrect information in your file, you have a right to have it reinvestigated, corrected or deleted, and to have a new report sent to creditors. You may also place a written statement in your file explaining your version of disputed information.

briefly speaking

95th observed in Laurel

Mrs. Leroy (Chloe) Johnson was honored for her 95th birthday during a party July 13 at Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel. The event was sponsored by her family, Hillcrest Care Center, and the Dorcas Circle of Concordia Lutheran Church, of which Chloe is an honorary member.

Ice cream, cake, sandwiches and coffee were served to Hillcrest residents and a group of relatives and friends from Albia and Remsen, Iowa; Omaha, Norfolk, Wisner, Wakefield, Wayne, Laurel and Concord.

Allen woman hospitalized

Mona Jean Roberts is a surgical patient at Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk. She underwent surgery on July 14.

St. Mary's Guild meets

Installation of new 1986-87 officers was held June 24 when St. Mary's Guild met in the school hall. Installing were Rose Rieken, president; Terri Hyipse, vice president; Barb Meyer, secretary; and Deb Daehnke, treasurer.

Conducting the installation was Marion Jordan. Helen Gunderson is the outgoing president, and Rita Sperry is outgoing treasurer. The group will not meet during July. Members will clean the fair stand on Aug. 4 in place of a business meeting.

Members were reminded that Guild booklets have been mailed. Persons who have not received a booklet are asked to contact Rose Rieken.

Franzen reunion scheduled

A Franzen family reunion will be held Sunday, July 27. The event will begin with a noon picnic dinner in Wayne's Bressler Park.

Sunny Homemakers meet

The July 10 meeting of Sunny Homemakers Club was held in the home of Mrs. Lowell Glassmeyer. Roll call was "Do You Believe in Fireworks?" followed with singing of "America." The afternoon was spent playing cards.

Attending the July meeting were eight members and three guests, Mrs. Edwin Vahlkamp, Mrs. Rowan Witte, and the hostess' granddaughter, Tiffany Glassmeyer.

The club will not meet during August. Next meeting will be Sept. 11 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Carl Mellick.

Four guests at BC Club

Leona Longe, Gloria Leseberg and Emma L. Franzen, all of Wayne, and Geraldine Woods of Richmond, Calif. were guests at the July 11 meeting of BC Club.

Seven members attended the July meeting in the home of Loyal Franzen. Pitch was played with prizes going to Alma Splittgerber, high, Esther Heinemann, most x's, and Geraldine Woods, low. Irene Jeffrey will be the Aug. 1 hostess at 2 p.m.

Dixon County council elects new officers

The 1987 Dixon County Home Extension Council chairman will be Evonne Magnuson of Laurel, a member of the Merry Homemakers Club.

Other officers, elected at the July 9 home extension council meeting, are Betty Anderson, Concord, chairman; Joanne Rahn, Allen, vice chairman; Marge Rastede, Concord, secretary; Muriel Kardell, Dixon, treasurer; and Eva Armstrong, Ponca, citizenship program thrust leader.

THE REGULAR summer council meeting was led by Joanne Rahn. Plans were made for participation in the county fair.

The council voted to sponsor a tour to the Upstairs Dinner Theater in Omaha in November to see the performance of "My Fair Lady."

Irene Magnuson, Concord, and Joanne Rahn reported on their attendance at the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs convention at Hastings in June.

A MINI-LESSON, entitled "Law and the Elderly," was presented by Joanne Rahn and Anna Marie White, Dixon County extension agent-home economics.

Dr. Don Hudman, director of the Northeast Research and Extension Center, was introduced to council members.

Next regular council meeting will be held Oct. 8.

Pageant in Miami

Wayne Miss wins honor to attend Hemisphere finals

Eight-year-old Jessica Marie Sievers of Wayne will represent this region in the beauty, modeling and talent divisions at the 23rd annual National Hemisphere Pageant to be held Aug. 4-9 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Jessica, daughter of Rod and Theresa Sievers, holds the title of Little Miss Hemisphere of Nebraska in the beauty, modeling and TV commercial, and talent divisions.

During the state contest, she received first place in beauty, first place in modeling and TV commercials, and first place in talent.

In addition, she received a $1,500 scholarship to the International School of Modeling, three large trophies, three crowns, and her entry fees and hotel accommodations paid to attend the national finals in Miami.

and Guam. Each contestant will appear in original costume representing her hometown industry or history, and, as an exchange of goodwill, each will meet with city officials hosted by Mayor Alex Dowd of Miami Beach.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a cutline underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Newlyweds home at Emerson

Theresa Morrill of Bloomfield and Dean Wageman of Emerson exchanged marriage vows in a 7 o'clock ceremony on June 28 at the United Methodist Church in Bloomfield, with the Rev. Robert Hopkins officiating.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Howard Keck of Bloomfield. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charles Wageman of Emerson.

Music for the ceremony was provided by soloist Jeanne Peterson, accompanied by Kay Bruns.

Decorations included pink peonies and pink carnations at the altar.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her uncle and guardian, Wendell Morrill, and appeared in a matte taffeta gown designed with an off-the-shoulder bodice trimmed in Venice lace and pearls and a ruffled flounced skirt encircling the chapel train.

She wore her mother's veil, a jeweled crown of pearls and rhinestones with an attached fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of pink and white roses and apple blossoms.

HONOR ATTENDANT for the bride was her sister, Julia Morrill. Bridesmaids were Amy Morrill, also a sister of the bride, Linda Kuderer, and Deb Wageman and Julie Wageman, sisters of the bridegroom.

Their pink satin gowns featured classifying bodices accentuating sweetheart necklines and double cape sleeves trimmed with bows. The full skirts fell from basque waistlines. Each carried a small bouquet of pink roses.

Best man was Perry Hansen, and groomsmen were Chuck Wageman, brother of the bridegroom, Les Cline, and Roger Morrill and Todd Morrill, brothers of the bride.

They were attired in silver tuxedos with pink ties and cummerbunds.

GUESTS WERE registered by Jane Whitner, and ushered into the church by Scott Montgomery, Steve Keck, Mike Keck and Brian Keck.

Candlelighter was Jennifer Keck, and flower girl was Stephanie Kreifels. Ring bearer was Justin Meyer.

Dianne Keck pinned flowers.

MR. AND MRS. Darrell Keck and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Meyer served as hosts for a reception in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

Gifts were arranged by Therese Trenhale and Kathy Crossgrove, and gift carrier was Janice Merchen.

Hope Cline and Carol Morrill cut and served the cake. Doris Montgomery poured, and Nora Keck and Lisa Mosel served punch.

Waitresses were Sheila Stappert, Tracy Cayler and Patty Morrill, and assisting in the kitchen were Amy Willats, Helen Carpenter, Angie Delozier, Marle Case, Margaret Palensky, Emma Swartz, Goldie Bryce and Aildred Ruden.

FOLLOWING THEIR marriage, Wagemans traveled to the Black Hills and Yellowstone National Park. They will make their home at Emerson.

The bride is a December 1985 graduate of Wayne State College.

The bridegroom graduated from Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, and is engaged in farming south of Emerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wageman

TRINITY EVANGELICAL Lutheran Church at Hoskins, organized in 1886, will celebrate its 100th year during special worship services on Sunday, July 27.

Observance July 27

Hoskins church centennial

Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church of Hoskins will celebrate its centennial on Sunday, July 27 with two worship services and a catered meal.

The Rev. Joel Frank of Plymouth will speak at the morning service at 10 a.m. The Rev. A. R. Domson of St. Cloud, Minn. will be speaker at the 2 p.m. service.

THE REV. M. PANCHOW of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Norfolk helped organize the church at Hoskins in 1886.

During the first 10 years, the church was served by pastors of area sister congregations. The first resident pastor was the Rev. John Dowdat.

There have been 13 pastors who have served the Trinity congregation during its 100 years.

The present church building was dedicated on Aug. 23, 1970. Through the years there have been two other church homes.

The first church was dedicated on Nov. 13, 1887. The second church was dedicated on Oct. 30, 1904.

THE CONGREGATION has maintained a Christian Day School for many years. In the early years, religious instruction was conducted by the pastors.

When the first church building was sold, the proceeds were used to erect a school building which was used until a new one was completed in January 1925. The first regular Christian Day School teacher was Victor Albrecht who served from 1922 until 1927.

The present school is part of the church building which was completed in 1970. At the present time, there are two full-time teachers.

"A CENTURY OF GOD'S Grace and Blessings" is the theme of Trinity's centennial celebration. The present pastor is the Rev. James Nelson.

As of January 1986, the membership numbers 343, with 262 communicant members.

Carlson brothers and sisters

ALL EIGHT CHILDREN OF the late Albin and Hildur Carlson were in Wayne last month for a family reunion. In the top photo are the brothers and sisters in a photo taken around 1926 in front of the home place which is now the Virgil Kardell farm a mile east of Wayne. During the reunion, the group returned to the home place for another photograph 60 years later. Pictured in the same order in both photos are, from left, Loren Carlson of Stromsburg, Eunice Stair of Phoenix, Ariz., Ruth Gunnarson of Wayne, Reuben Carlson of Boulder, Colo., Ivan Carlson of Longville, Minn., Arthur Carlson of Denver, Colo., Verna Kardell of Wayne, and Harold Carlson of Louisville, Colo.

Class of 1951

Wayne High classmates here for 35th reunion

The 35th reunion of the 1951 graduating class of Wayne High School was held July 12 at the Black Knight.

Jim Birdsall served as master of ceremonies for the evening. He reminisced and brought with him his 1950 and 1951 annual, pictures, "W" letters, diploma and class ring.

Jeanne Wallick read the class will, and Daisy Lee Shores read the class prophecy.

A potted plant was presented to Wilma Baugous for being the first to respond to the committee's invitation.

Also recognized were Daisy Lee Shores and Robert Denesia for traveling the furthest distances; Wilbur Heithold for the most grandchildren; Delmar Vahlkamp for the youngest child; Ronald Day, the person who changed the most; and Merlin Sievers, the person who changed the least.

Four persons were recognized for attending a class reunion for the first time. They were Ronald Day, Robert Denesia, Rosalyn Nuernberger and Daisy Lee Shores.

ATTENDING the reunion from out-of-state were Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Lorraine Andrews) Reed of Plymouth, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Birdsall of Pueblo, Colo.; Ronald Day of Juliette, Geo.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Phyllis Debus) Adelman of Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denesia of Gardena, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Rosalyn Ellis) Nuernberger of Hinsdale, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. James (Daisy Lee Nelson) Shores of Camarillo, Calif.; Mrs. Ed (Jeanne Rogge) Wallick of Wintler Springs, Fla.; and Cleo (Shufelt) Lynch of Melbourne, Iowa.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Wilma Dorman) Baugous of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schroeder of Papillion; Donna

(Ulrich) Foreman of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Vahlkamp and Mr. and Mrs. Knole (Derelea Woods) Keefeaver, both of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Baier of Carroll; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon (Lois Boyce) Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Mann of Hoskins; and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Greunke of Winside.

Attending the reunion from Wayne were Joann (Beckman) Ostrand, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Frevert, Mr. and Mrs. Rowan (Twila) Willse (both were graduates), Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Heithold, Mr. and Mrs. Jack March, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin (Janet Ramsey) Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Sievers.

THE COMMITTEE for this year's reunion included Lois Miller, Dennis Greunke, Wilbur Heithold, Janet Ostrand, Merlin Sievers and Joann Ostrand.

The class is planning a 40-year reunion in 1991.

Reunions dot calendar

Carlson reunion

All eight children of the late Albin and Hildur Carlson met for a reunion in Wayne on June 27-29. A total of 45 persons attended the three-day event.

Richard and Jeannette Carlson entertained at a barbecued rib dinner on Friday evening at Carlson Clearwater Fish Farms.

Saturday began with a breakfast in the home of Virgil and Verna Kardell. Virg and Jan Kardell gave the group a tour of Restful Knights.

The birthday of Ruth Gunnarson was observed with cake and homemade ice cream. The cake was a surprise from her daughter and husband, Verlie and Alex Brown of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Following dinner at the Black Knight, family members toured the home place which is now the Virgil Kardell farm located one mile east of Wayne. Pictures were taken to compare with one taken in approximately 1926 of all eight children in front of the house.

Sunday breakfast was followed with the family attending worship services at the Evangelical Free Church of Wayne. A catered meal was served at noon at the Kardell home.

The 45th wedding anniversary of Verna and Virgil Kardell was observed. Janet Kardell, Terry and Ruth Kardell, and Virg and Jan Kardell presented their parents with an anniversary cake.

During the afternoon, Arthur Carlson showed slides of his trip to Sweden and Alaska.

Brothers and sisters attending the reunion, along with their spouses, were Loren and Margaret Carlson of Stromsburg, Eunice and Fred Stair of Phoenix, Ariz., Ruth Gunnarson of Wayne, Reuben and Josephine Carlson of Boulder, Colo., Ivan and Florence Carlson of Longville, Minn., Arthur and Betty Carlson of Denver, Colo., Verna and Virgil Kardell of Wayne, and Harold and Charlotte Carlson of Louisville, Colo.

Nieces and nephews in attendance included Terry Kardells of St. Paul, Minn.; John Carlson of Inver Grove Heights, Minn.; Nell Van Fossens and Kristin of Rosemead, Calif.; Dick Middleton of Kenosha, Wisc.; Cindy Willers and daughters of Lincoln, and Richard Carlsons and David, Terry Rahns and Virg Kardells of Wayne.

Doring reunion

Seventy persons attended a Doring family reunion on July 13 at Bressler Park in Wayne. The Emma Benjamin family was in charge of arrangements.

Towns represented were Adamsville, Ala.; St. Francis, Kan.; Richland, Mo.; Madison, Norfolk, Wakefield, Laurel, Randolph, Carroll and Wayne.

Attending from the furthest distances were Clara Kurrelmeier and Carol Brackett of Richland, Mo., and Barbara and Howard Smith and family of Adamsville, Ala.

Emma Benjamin of Laurel was the oldest in attendance. The youngest was Clinton Roberts, son of Cheryl and Connie Roberts of Wakefield. One wedding, 12 births and no deaths were recorded during the past year.

The 1987 reunion will be held the second Sunday in July at Bressler Park with the Henry Doring family in charge.

Fischer reunion

Fischer family members gathered for a reunion on June 28-29.

The meals on Saturday were served at the Paul Fischer home in Wakefield. On Sunday, over 100 relatives attended a picnic in the Wakefield city park.

All eight brothers and sister attended, along with their spouses. They include Gene Fischer of Fort Collins, Colo.; Clarence Fischer of Birch, Mich.; Lloyd Fischer and Del Sundahl of Lincoln, and Emma Harding, Paul, Francis and Melvin Fischer, all of Wakefield.

Of the 31 first cousins, 29 were present with their families.

Kraemer-Emry reunion

The second Kraemer-Emry family reunion was held at the Gene Kraemer cottage near Menomonte, Wisc. on July 4-6.

Area relatives attending included BeAnna Emry and Joleen Kraemer of Allen, Arnold and Sandra Emry, and Terry of Wayne, and Veri and Carolyn Carlson of Wakefield.

Other relatives came from Marshalltown, Iowa; Rosemount and Minneapolis, Minn.; Dallas, Texas; Grand Forks, N. D.; Menomonee, Wisc.; Lincoln, Omaha and Cozad.

Activities included water skiing, canoeing, sailing, paddle boating, horse shoes, softball, swimming, golf and badminton.

Carolyn Carlson was in charge of the Saturday evening vesper service. Gene Kraemer presented red t-shirts with "Kraemer Cousin Crew."

Lutt reunion

The 10th annual Lutt family reunion was held June 29 in the Wakefield city park with 91 guests attending.

Out-of-state relatives included LaVonne and Todd Anderson of Powell, Wyo.; Dennis, Connie, Wendy and Corey Blecke of Brighton, Colo.; Frank, Connie, Brian, Carrie, and Darci Lutt of Mt. Clemens, Mich.; and Sally Schroeder of Frankfort, Kan.

Other relatives were from Dakota City, Wayne, Emerson, Wakefield and Hoskins.

The oldest relative attending was Virgil Moseman, and the youngest was Sara Habrock, daughter of Warren and Carol Habrock of Emerson.

Virgil and Ruby Moseman were in charge of arrangements for this year's event.

The 1987 reunion will be held the last Sunday in June in Wayne city park, with Roy and Ardycce Habrock as hosts.

Wakefield High Class of 1961 holds reunion

Sixteen members of the Wakefield High School Class of 1961, along with their spouses, met for a reunion on July 5 at the Lumbar Co. in Wayne.

Following the meal, classmates reminisced by participating in a "Classroom Trivia" game.

Also during the evening, a letter was read from Dan Ring of Marshalltown, Iowa. Kathy Fischer Hass telephoned greetings from California.

Classmates were guests later in the evening in the home of Merlin and Faye Greve.

CLASSMATES RETURNING for the event included Shirley Anderson Lemmons of Oskaloosa, Kan.; Loren Olson of Des Moines, Iowa; Bonnie Mortenson Tiedtke of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Dale Fischer of Aurora, Colo.; Loren Anderson of Lakeville, Minn.; Diane Fredrickson Martin of Kansas City, Mo.; Barbara Larson Hehn of Fountain Valley, Calif.; Colette Borg Johnson of Snoqualmie, Wash.; Faye Thomsen Greve, Randall Carlson and Angie Barelman Blatter, all of Wakefield; Dean Brudigan of Oakland; Merle Schlines of Omaha; Merlin Heinemann and Carl Mortenson Willers, both of Wayne; and Barbara Johnson Hanson of Fremont.

bridal showers

Kimberly Stroman

Floral arrangements decorated the Hoskins fire hall on July 12 for a miscellaneous shower honoring bride-elect Kimberly Stroman of Hoskins.

Thirty guests attended the 9 a.m. affair, coming from Phoenix, Ariz.; Wayne, Norfolk, Stanton, Pierce, Carroll and Hoskins. Contests were played, with prizes forwarded to the honoree.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Harold Loberg, poured. Rochelle Sellin assisted with gifts.

Hostesses were Pat Brudigan, Phyllis Woodman, Lois Anderson and Jeannie Marolt, all of Hoskins, Miriam Willers of Stanton, and Kathy Broekemeier of Norfolk.

Kimberly Stroman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loberg of Carroll, and Rodney Doffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Doffin of Hoskins, will be married Aug. 4 at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

Karlene Benshoof

Karlene Benshoof was honored with a bridal shower on July 7 in the club room of the Carroll city auditorium.

Twenty persons attended the event, which was hosted by Mrs. Dave Brodhagen of Pierce. Mrs. Keith Owens, Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mrs. Martha Hansen and Mrs. Delmar Eddle, all of Carroll, and Mrs. Ron Stapelman of Belden.

Decorations were in the honoree's chosen colors of lavender and ivory. Mrs. Stapelman read "To the Bride," and prizes in games and contests were forwarded to the honoree.

The hostesses presented Miss Benshoof with a corsage and with the flowers used in decorations. Mrs. Tom Willis of Wayne, sister of the honoree, registered the gifts.

Miss Benshoof, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Benshoof of Carroll, and David Wolslager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wolslager of Winside, are planning an Aug. 2 wedding.

Becker-Uhing wed

Mary Kay Becker and Richard Bruce Uhing, both of Norfolk, were married June 7 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Norfolk.

Parents of the couple are Cletus and Florence Becker of Norfolk, and Hubert and LeAnn Uhing of Hartington.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Norfolk Catholic High School and a 1985 graduate of Wayne State College, where she was a member of the Lady Wildcat varsity volleyball team for four years. She is employed as a mental health counselor and case manager at the Liberty Centre in Norfolk.

The bridegroom graduated from Cedar Catholic High School in Hartington in 1976. He attended Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, and graduated in 1981 from Chadron State College. He is a member of the varsity basketball teams at both colleges. He is employed by Norfolk Beverage Co., Norfolk.

The newlyweds are at home in Norfolk following a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla.

Walter Lage — sports institution in Carroll

This is a fourth in a series of interviews with four individuals who live or had lived in Carroll for many years. Carroll will celebrate its Centennial July 18-20.

By John Prather
Sports Editor

CARROLL — As Walter Lage discusses his playing and coaching days of years gone past, he looks as though he's still capable of blowing fastballs past overmatched hitters.

Some 63 years have passed since Lage toed the mound as a spry 18-year-old for the Carroll Deer Creek Giants, but his mental and physical stature is just as sharp today as his curve ball was in the early 1920s.

"I used to have three pitches when I played, the drop, the curve and one I called the up-shoot-'n-in," he recalls as he models how to throw each pitch. "My curve was called the out-curve in them days, and it must've broke three feet."

DIZZY DEAN, A pitcher that played in the major leagues the same time Lage hurled for area country teams, often said that "it ain't brag 'n' if it's true." And Walter holds that same belief.

"I started playing when I was 18. Me and my brothers made a baseball diamond at my dad's farm and we and some of the other fellas from around here took on all the town teams, and we beat them all, too."

The baseball field Walter discusses was located on the Henry Lage farm approximately five miles northwest of Carroll, and it and the Deer Creek Giants are probably the first athletic institutions of Carroll.

LAGE IS SOMETHING of an institution himself when it comes to Carroll baseball. In addition to playing for 20 years, he coached the Carroll Junior Legion team for four years in the 1940s.

Walter's favorite coaching story is the year Carroll defeated a tough Winside team five times.

"We beat Winside five times the same year they won the Class B regionals. I don't imagine the Winside folks will like reading about that, though," he chuckled.

Names of players he coached are difficult to remember, although assistant coach Jay Drake quickly comes to mind, as does players Dallas Stoltenberg, the Whitney and Hampton brothers and his son, Orville.

And it was against Orville and the Carroll Juniors that Winside gained revenge a few years after losing the five straight games, according to Walter.

"We played Winside in the district tournament one year and Orville shut them out the first night," the elder Lage remembers. "We came right back and pitched Orville again the next day, but our outfielder dropped a fly ball and Winside won, 1-0. I probably shouldn't have pitched Orville the next day because he told me just a while back that he was never as good after that."

Steady pitching never seemed to bother Walter, however, as he once pitched three games in five days for Pierce and defeated Concord 1-0 in 15 Innings at a Dixon County Old Settlers Picnic.

WALTER SAID THAT other than a few dollars he made at a concession stand he ran at the baseball diamond on his father's farm, he never made much money playing baseball.

"I did make $12.50 a game for Wakefield one year. That doesn't sound like much money, I know, but it wasn't hay back in them days, either," he insists.

And although he didn't make much money, he was good at causing others to lose it.

"One year we were supposed to play Hoskins at an Old Settlers Picnic and they bet thousands of dollars on themselves, but when it came time to play they got the Norfolk State League team to play instead. We still won 5-2, and I remember I struck out Johnny Synot, Norfolk's best hitter, three times." Walter smiles as he fondles a Rawlings baseball on his house porch.

Harry Evans, Fritz Hohenstein, Bob Eddid, Harold Stoltenberg and John Ketchmark are teammates that played with Walter, along with brothers Eggert and power-hitter Art.

"Art was really built, he could break seven corn strings just by making his muscle," Walter said as he flexed his left bicep. "He could really hit, too. He hit four home runs in one game. He should've been in the major leagues."

WALTER'S LAST GAME might've been his most impressive when as a 51-year-old he beat the Carroll Town Team in an Old-Timers Game in which he struck out Bob Johnson, Carroll's best hitter.

After he quit playing baseball, Walter became an ace pitcher of another sort.

"I pitched a lot of horseshoes after I quit playing baseball. At the Old Settlers Days, I never finished lower than third for 40 years in a row," he said as he pointed to numerous trophies on a shelf in his living room.

Walter mentioned that he and his wife Ruby, who passed away two years ago, never traveled much. But one gets the feeling that his heart is, and always has been, in Carroll.

When asked whether he likes Carroll, he quickly responds, "I must, I've lived here 81 years," then immediately adds, "I've only been as far north as the Canada border and as far south as Wichita, Kan. I've just spent most of time in Carroll, lately sitting on my porch."

Reminiscing about the old Carroll baseball teams, no doubt,

Sapp edges Ward for Open Golf Tournament title

Sunday's annual Open Golf Tournament probably brought back old memories for Todd Sapp and Pat Ward.

Sapp and Ward, who battled each other on golf courses in high school during the late 1970s, battled each other again Sunday at the Wayne Golf and Country Club.

But a pair of bogies by Ward on holes seven and eight during the final round opened the door for Sapp and he claimed the championship flight title with a sparkling seven-under-par 101 over 27 holes.

Sapp (who graduated from Sioux City North in 1979) fired a four-under-par 68 after the first round, but Ward (who graduated from Sioux City Healan in 1978) was close behind with a 69.

Sapp was three under after the first five holes of the final nine, but Ward maintained his close pursuit by remaining just one stroke behind. However, Ward bogeyed number seven and eight and Sapp parred the final five holes to capture the title.

Incredibly, Sapp's three-under 33 over the final nine holes was not the best score of the final round as Omaha's Tim Marchese, who won the Wayne Memorial Open earlier in the year, fired a 32.

Ward, who now lives in Turlock, Calif., closed with a 104, while Marchese finished third overall with a 105.

Six players either shot even or under par during the tourney. Joining Sapp, Ward and Marchese in that department were Mike Peterson of Oakland (107), Kelly Danielson of Oakland (108) and Dale Erwin of Sioux City (108).

Wayne native Don Sund fired a 74 to claim the first flight title, while Tim Connealy and Don Lutt, both also of Wayne, captured first place in the sixth and eighth flights with an 83 and 84, respectively.

Missy Jones, who was Wayne High School's only qualifier for the Girls State Golf Tournament last year, became the first female ever to win a flight trophy at the Open.

Jones, who will be a senior this year at Wayne, fired an 86 from the men's tees to win the ninth flight. She was only the second woman ever to compete in the Wayne Open.

Mark Harrison of Blair won the second flight with the tourney's best score after the first 18 holes, 67, while Gary Troth, Allen's volleyball, girls basketball and girls track coach, won the fifth flight with a 75.

Other golfers who won flight titles were: Third Flight — Dan Belling (Beemer), 77; Fourth Flight — Gary Finn (Blair), 78; Seventh Flight — Neal Paul (Omaha), 82; 10th Flight — Mark Plumbeck (Bancroft), 89.

WALTER LAGE played and coached in Carroll during the 1920s, 30s and 40s.

Just love talking to ex-jocks

An interview I conducted Tuesday morning will be remembered as one of my most enjoyable experiences since becoming sports editor at the Wayne Herald.

The person interviewed was Walter Lage, former baseball player and coach at Carroll during the 1920s, 30s and 40s.

Ever since I worked on the Keith County News' (Ogallala's newspaper) centennial edition, I've become increasingly interested in former athletes and coaches.

I'm amazed when people tell me, as Walter did, that he remembers following Babe Ruth's career or how he made $12.50 a game pitching for Wakefield's country team.

I think Wayne Herald subscribers, both old and young, also enjoy reading about such former athletic stars. And that's why I'd like to feature a monthly story about a former athlete from the area.

When I first began working at the Wayne Herald, I informed the readers that I would have a monthly story about such athletes, as long as the subscribers selected the athletes to be featured.

Unfortunately, the response was disappointing. As a matter of fact, not one letter was mailed to the Wayne Herald.

But instead of abandoning the idea, I'm going to give it one more try. So if any reader out there would like to have a former athlete's career re-focused, just send in his or her name to me at the Wayne Herald.

I'm willing to do my part, so get off your duff and send in a few requests.

As most everybody knows by now, the Class B State Baseball Tournament will be held in Wayne August 8-11. And since Wayne is the host team, it receives an automatic berth.

Wayne's Juniors have been rather mysterious this season. One week they appear invincible, but they've had their troubles at tournaments.

For example, during the past few weeks, they were swept in four games at a tournament in Lincoln and dropped two of three games in a tourney at O'Neill. However, they've defeated Sioux City West, Sioux City Healan, O'Neill and a slug of other fine area teams during that same time span.

But despite it's lack of success in recent tournaments, Wayne looks good on paper for state. Most coaches insist that good pitching is the key to success at such tourneys, and a staff of Jeff Hausmann, Don Larsen, Brent Pick and Ted Luaders isn't too shabby.

Those four possess lively bats, too, and teammates Dan Gross, Tim Fleming, Scott Baker, Shannon Dorcey and several others have lifted their batting averages considerably the past few weeks.

It's tough to say who will fare well at the tourney because nobody knows any of the other teams that will qualify, but Hank Overin appears to have his boys on a course that will see them peak in a few weeks — just in time for state.

I've never cared much for computers. One could say they intimidate me because I fear they'll take over the working force some day. And that's why I was especially happy with the outcome of Tuesday night's All-Star game.

A couple of days before the all-star game, several baseball buffs fed a computer with all the all-star players' batting averages, ERAs and ever other bit of information imaginable. The computer chewed on the info for a bit and digested that the National League would win, 13-2. As everyone now knows, the American League won, 3-2.

I'm still intimidated by computers, though. As a matter of fact, the one I'm writing this story on just beeped, which means it's time to quit.

Wayne claims two 10-run wins

Wayne's softballers sweep Homer

Wayne's softball teams swept Homer in a doubleheader at the Wayne State field last Sunday. The 15-and-under team captured a 16-6 triumph, while the 18-and-under squad claimed a 10-0 victory.

In the first game, Wayne opened an 8-0 lead after the first two innings by scoring four runs in each of the first two frames.

Five consecutive walks led to Wayne's 4-0 lead in the first. Dana Nelson, Tonya Elsberry, Robin Lutt and Kristi Hansen all scored for Wayne in the first.

Nelson, Elsberry, Karmyn Koenig and Kelly Fleming all scored in the Wayne second after walking. Hansen added a two-run double in the second.

Homer tallied three runs in the third, but Wayne blew the game open with four runs in the third and four more in the fourth.

Koenig clubbed a three-run double in the third to score Betsy Lebsack, Shelley Gilliland and Kristin Frevert. Koenig later scored on a force out.

Elsberry, Hansen, Lebsack and Gilliland all scored in the fourth. Gilliland provided Wayne with a single in the fourth, while Kelly Fleming stroked a double.

Homer scored two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth to round out the game's scoring.

Wayne totaled just five hits in the game, but took advantage of 15 walks. Nelson, Hansen, Gilliland, Koenig and Fleming all collected one hit apiece for the victors.

In the second game, Wayne opened a 5-0 lead with four runs in the second inning before scoring three in the fourth and two more in the fifth to claim a 10-0 victory.

Laura Keating scored Wayne's first run after walking, moving to third on two straight passed balls and crossing the plate on Lori Jacobsen's squeeze bunt.

Keating then delivered a three-run double in the second to plate Leslie Keating, Marnie Bruggeman and Amy Schluns. Keating later scored on a Homer error.

Bruggeman plated Leslie Keating with a single in the fourth, while Bruggeman and Schluns later scored on Shelly Pick's two-run single.

Wayne rounded out its scoring in the fifth when Kerrl Leighton reached on an error, Leslie Keating walked and both base runners scored on a single by Bruggeman.

Bruggeman finished 2-for-2 at the plate, while Laura Keating and Pick both collected one hit in two tries.

Keating pitched, perhaps, the best game of the year for Wayne. In addition to allowing only two hits, she faced only 16 batters, just one over the minimum.

Emerson downs Wayne

EMERSON — Emerson overcame a 3-3 tie in the third inning by scoring two runs in the bottom of the third and an insurance marker in the sixth to claim a 6-3 triumph over Wayne's 18-and-under softball team here last week.

Emerson opened a 3-0 lead in the first, but Wayne baffled back with two runs in the second and another run in the third to tie the game.

Traci Gamble started the Wayne second with a one-out double and Leslie Keating followed by drawing a walk. Both runners then advanced to scoring position and crossed the plate on Shelley Gilliland's clutch two-out, two-run single.

Wayne tied the game in the third when Tonya Erxleben reached on an error, advanced to third and scored on Laura Keating's squeeze bunt.

Emerson used three singles to open a 5-3 lead in the bottom of the third and in the sixth scored an unearned run to round out the game's scoring.

Lutt collected two hits for Wayne, while Gilliland finished with one single.

Keating allowed seven hits, but allowed only one walk and struck out two.

Wayne teams split with Beemer

BEEMER — Wayne's 15-and-under softball team claimed a thrilling 15-12 victory in nine innings over Beemer here last Thursday, while Wayne's 18-and-under squad dropped an 11-8 decision.

In the opener, Wayne held a 5-1 lead after two innings and led 12-9 heading into the bottom of the seventh, but Beemer tallied three runs in its last at bat to tie the game and force extra innings.

Both teams failed to score in the eighth, but Wayne tallied three markers in the ninth and retired Beemer in order in the bottom of the inning to claim the victory.

Tonya Erxleben and Robin Lutt got things going for Wayne in the ninth by reaching on an error and singling, respectively. Both base runners then scored when Shelley Gilliland's grounder was misplayed.

Gilliland later scored on another fielding miscue by Beemer.

Dana Nelson, Suzy Lutt and Tonya

Elsberry all collected two hits apiece for Wayne, while teammates Erxleben, Robin Lutt, Betsy Lebsack and Traci Gamble all collected one hit apiece.

Beemer's 18-and-under team opened a 3-0 lead in the first inning and struck for six runs in the third and two more in the fourth to claim an 11-8 triumph.

Suzy Lutt scored Wayne's first run in the second after walking and crossing the plate on Tonya Elsberry's triple.

Amy Schluns, Laura Keating and Lori Jacobsen all scored for Wayne in the third after drawing walks.

Marnie Bruggeman, Kathy Mohfeld, Suzy Lutt and Erxleben rounded out Wayne's scoring with one run in the fourth, two runs in the fifth and one more in the seventh.

Jacobsen and Erxleben collected Wayne's only hits, but Beemer pitchers allowed 14 walks.

Wayne and Pierce split twin bill

Wayne's 15-and-under softball team captured a 17-7 victory over Pierce at Overin Park last week, while Wayne's 18-and-under squad dropped a 10-0 decision.

Wayne overcame a 3-0 deficit in the opener by scoring four runs in the first two innings for an 8-3 lead.

Shelley Gilliland, Tonya Erxleben, Tonya Elsberry and Betsy Lebsack all scored in the Wayne first after walking.

Kristin Frevert and Kelly Fleming both drew one-out walks in the second and scored on a triple by Gilliland. Gilliland and Erxleben also scored in the second when Elsberry stroked a two-run double.

Pierce scored twice in both the fourth and fifth innings, but Wayne scored one in the third, three in the fourth and five in the fifth to claim the 10-run victory.

Frevert scored Wayne's run in the third after reaching on an error and stealing second, third and home.

Elsberry, Lebsack and Fleming all scored in the Wayne fourth, while Robin Lutt, Erxleben, Elsberry, Lebsack and Traci Gamble all scored in the Wayne fifth after each drew a walk.

In the second game, Wayne only trailed 3-0 after five innings, but Pierce erupted for seven runs in the sixth inning to claim a 10-0 victory.

Pierce used three walks, two hits and capitalized on three Wayne errors for its seven runs in the sixth.

Lori Jacobsen collected two hits for Wayne, while Kathy Mohfeld and Robin Lutt each finished with one single.

West Point 10-runs Wayne

West Point scored seven runs in the fourth and eight markers in the sixth to claim a 20-10 victory over Wayne's 15-and-under softball team at Overin Park last week.

After falling behind 6-0 in the second inning, Wayne scored five runs in the bottom of the frame to pull within one, 6-5.

Traci Gamble, Kristin Frevert, Kelly Fleming, Shelley Gilliland and Tonya Erxleben all scored in the second inning for Wayne with two outs.

Wayne then opened a 7-6 advantage with two markers in the third. Tonya Elsberry and Betsy Lebsack scored in the Wayne third.

But West Point tallied 15 runs over the final three innings to claim the lopsided victory.

Wayne rounded out its scoring with three runs in the sixth. Gilliland, Jennifer Hammer and Robin Lutt scored Wayne's final three runs.

Baker, Larsen lift Wayne past O'Neill

O'NEILL — Scott Baker and Don Larsen are known for their clutch hitting, and both added to their reputations by delivering key three-run homers in a thrilling 8-5 victory over O'Neill here over the weekend during the O'Neill Baseball Tournament.

In addition to the win over O'Neill, Wayne's Juniors lost to Omaha South 4-2 in the first game and dropped a 15-5 decision to Norfolk in the finale.

O'Neill opened a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning when the hosts capitalized on three walks and a single.

Wayne battled back, however, and pulled within one in the fifth when Tim Fleming stroked a single, stole second and scored on two straight passed balls.

Wayne continued its comeback in the seventh when Jeff Hausmann reached on a walk, advanced to second on a passed ball and crossed the plate when Larsen clubbed his first key hit of the contest, a single to tie the game.

Larsen recorded three quick outs after yielding a lead off single in the eighth, but O'Neill used a walk, a hit batsman and a single to score three unearned runs in the ninth.

However, after Dan Gross singled and Larsen reached on an error, Baker clubbed a three-run homer to left-center field to tie the game at five in the bottom of the ninth.

Hank Overin, Wayne's head coach, said he would like to see the left-handed Baker hit to the opposite field more often.

"I told him that that's where most of his hits should go because he isn't a pull hitter," Overin said.

After O'Neill's first two batters reached base in the tenth, Wayne reliever Ted Lueders struck out the side and recorded two quick outs after a one-out single in the top of the 11th.

Fleming and Gross then stroked consecutive singles in the bottom of the frame and one out later, Larsen ripped a three-run homer to end the game.

Gross led Wayne offensively with four hits in six at bats, while Fleming, Larsen, Baker and Scott Nichols all totaled two hits apiece. Brent Pick and Lueders added one hit each to the attack.

Larsen and Lueders combined for 13 strike outs, allowed 14 walks and five hits.

Omaha South 4 . . . Wayne 2

Wayne's Juniors opened a 2-0 lead after the first three innings, but Omaha battled back and after tying the game at two in the bottom of the third scored the winning run in the fourth and added an insurance marker in the sixth to claim a 4-2 triumph.

Wayne opened a 1-0 lead in the second when Ted Lueders reached base on an error and scored when Omaha booted Bill Landanger's hit.

Tim Fleming provided Wayne with a 2-0 advantage when he led off the third with a double and scored on two force plays.

But Omaha touched Wayne pitcher Jeff Hausmann for three singles and a walk to tie the game at two in the bottom of the third.

Omaha then used three singles in the fourth to take a 3-2 lead, and in the sixth, used a single and a Wayne fielding error to round out the game's scoring.

Fleming led Wayne offensively with three hits, while Don Larsen and Scott Baker added two hits apiece. Dan Gross, Jeff Hausmann and Brent Pick all finished with one hit apiece for Wayne.

Hausmann finished with five strike outs, five walks and allowed eight hits.

Norfolk 16 Wayne 5

Norfolk took advantage of a depleted Wayne pitching staff and rocked Wayne for 11 hits and 16 runs in a lopsided 11-run triumph.

In addition to the 11 hits, Norfolk used seven walks, a hit batsman and three errors in the easy win.

Norfolk opened a 4-2 lead in the first before scoring two runs in the second, seven in the third and three more in the fifth.

Tim Fleming and Dan Gross scored in the first inning for Wayne after walking and singling, respectively.

Bill Landanger scored Wayne's third run in the second after doubling and crossing the plate on a Fleming single.

Scott Nichols drove in Shannon Dorcay with a single in the third and Scott Baker scored in the same inning after he singled, moved to third on Nichols' single and crossed the plate on a sacrifice fly to center by Landanger.

Hank Overin, Wayne's head coach, said the pitching staff was weak because Ted Lueders had to relieve in the O'Neill game.

"Hausmann, Larsen and Lueders all threw in the first two games and Pick threw Friday night against Ponca so that left our pitching staff kind of thin for Norfolk," he said.

Fleming collected two hits against Norfolk, while Gross, Baker, Nichols and Landanger each totaled one hit.

For the tourney, Wayne's leading hitters were Fleming (7-for-11), Gross (6-for-14), Larsen (4-for-10) and Baker (5-for-12).

Wayne splits two games at O'Neill Tournament

O'NEILL — Wayne's 'B' Junior Legion baseball team split two games here over the weekend during the O'Neill Baseball Tournament. Wayne lost its first game to Norfolk's Midgets 18-7, but won its second contest, 4-1, over O'Neill's Midgets.

In the opener, Norfolk overcame a 2-0 Wayne lead by scoring nine runs in the second inning, six in the third, two in the fourth and one more in the fifth.

Wayne's first two runs came in the top of the second when Mark Creighton and Scott Pokett consecutive walks, advanced into scoring position on a wild pitch, scored and moved to third, respectively, on a sacrifice bunt by Scott Nichols and Pokett later scored on a ground out.

Wayne's most productive inning was the fourth when it used a single, five walks and a Norfolk error to score five runs.

Ted McCright, Nichols, Hammer and Bill Melena all scored in the fourth after walking, while Robbie Gamble crossed the plate after singling.

Gamble finished with all of Wayne's three hits.

Wayne 4 O'Neill 1

Wayne's Scott Hammer tossed a three-hit shut out over the first six innings and Wayne claimed a 4-1 victory over O'Neill.

Wayne opened a 1-0 lead in the first when Ted McCright singled, stole second and scored on Jeff Luff's ground out.

Wayne then made it 3-0 in the fourth when Scott Pokett and Scott Hammer both singled and later scored on Bill Melena's single.

Jason Jorgensen scored Wayne's fourth and final run in the sixth after he singled, moved to second on a Pokett single, advanced to third on a single by Nichols and crossed the plate on a wild pitch.

Hammer recorded the first out in the seventh before walking Mark Banner. Banner eventually scored on a Wayne error.

Melena and Pokett both collected two hits apiece for Wayne, while McCright, Jorgensen, Nichols and Hammer each finished with one hit apiece.

Wisner's Midgets down Wayne, 6-2

Runs came in pairs for Wisner's Midgets in a 6-2 victory over Wayne Monday night at Overin Field.

After opening a 2-0 lead in the second inning, Wisner tallied two runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth and field Wayne to sole markers in the third and sixth innings.

Wisner opened a 1-0 lead in the first on a confusing play. After Wisner's second batter drew a walk, stole second and moved to third on a single, he scored when Jeff Luff and Bill Sperry both thought the other teammate was going to field a slow roller between the pitcher's mound and third base. By the time Sperry fielded the ball and threw to first, both runners were safe at first and at home.

Wisner then made it 2-0 when the lead off hitter in the top of the second tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly to center field.

Wayne pulled within one in the third when Scott Hammer doubled and scored on Brian Sherman's double.

Wisner widened the gap, however, in the fourth by tallying two runs to make the score 4-1.

Wisner then made it 6-1 in the top of the sixth when its first two batters of the inning reached on a single and walk, respectively, and eventually scored on a series of passed balls and force plays.

Wayne made things interesting in the sixth, when Kevin Hausmann drew a two-out walk and Jess Zeiss followed with his third hit of the game, an RBI triple. However, Wisner recorded the final out on a grounder to the shortstop to escape further damage and preserve the victory.

Luff, who is of Pony League age, finished with four strike outs against four walks and five hits.

Wayne collected six hits in the game. In addition to Zeiss' two singles and triple, Hammer and Sherman both clubbed doubles and Matt Peterson stroked a lead off a single in the fourth.

Wayne plays again Friday when Emerson invades Overin Field for a 6:15 p.m. contest.

Wayne has early X-mas

Monday night probably seemed like Christmas morning for Wayne Junior Legion baseball team as Wisner gift-wrapped a 5-4 victory to Wayne at Overin Park.

Wisner opened a quick 3-0 lead in the second inning and held a 3-2 advantage after six and one-half frames. However, Wayne received three "presents" in the bottom of the sixth and hung on for a one-run triumph.

Dan Gross received the first gift when he led off the sixth by reaching on an error. One out later, Scott Baker received gift No. 2 when he was walked.

Following a strike out, Brent Pick received yet another gift when he reached on an error and Gross and Baker scored.

Bill Landanger then knocked in Pick with the eventual game-winning hit.

Wayne pitcher Ted Lueders allowed a single, two doubles and two

'Longest Day of Golf' July 19

Summer finds Wayne golf enthusiasts in full swing. The growing popularity of golf is indicated by the many participants who invade the courses on sunny days.

A new Wayne tradition called "The Longest Day of Golf" will be born Saturday, July 19, when a foursome will play as many holes as possible from sunrise to sunset in order to raise funds for programs of the American Cancer Society.

American Cancer Society programs serve cancer patients, support cancer education projects here in Wayne County and further cancer research conducted in Nebraska. "said Kris Giese of Wayne, "Longest Day of Golf" chairperson.

The local foursome of Tom Perry, Jed Reeg, Lesa McDermott and Missy Jones will play their longest day of golf at the Wayne Golf and Country Club. Giese said that pledges are asked for each hole completed by the foursome. "Our Longest Day team has a goal of $5 pledged per hole golfed," Giese said.

She also urged anyone concerned about the disease of cancer to support the Wayne foursome by signing a pledge card or contacting the Wayne Country Club at 375-1152.

Wakefield trims Wisner, Vollmer, 3-2

WAKEFIELD — Former Wayne State pitcher Dennis Vollmer came within a few pitches of hurling a one-hitter against one of the Dodge County League's best teams here at Eaton Field Sunday night. However, Brian Blatchford clubbed a three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift Wakefield to a 3-2 victory over Wisner.

Vollmer, Wayne State's ace the past season who was named the All-District 11 Baseball team, breezed through the first seven innings allowing only one hit, a single to Blatchford.

But Blatchford made the most of his second hit in the eighth to lift Wakefield to its ninth victory and seventh in its last eight games.

Wakefield's Mark Starz also pitched well and went the distance to record the victory.

Wakefield is now 9-4 in the league, three games behind front-runner West Point. Wakefield defeated West Point last week.

Wakefield was scheduled to play Thursday night at Dodge but the game was rained out.

Wakefield plays again at Arlington Thursday night, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

walks in the top of the seventh inning, but recorded the final out on a fly ball to center field with the bases loaded to preserve the victory.

Lueders turned in a gutsy, yet unexpected performance. Earlier Monday afternoon, Lueders and Overlin discussed the upcoming game and both agreed that Lueders would probably only throw two or three innings. However, Lueders went the distance, allowing five hits, three walks, and striking out eight, including the side in the fifth inning.

Wayne pulled within one by scoring two runs in the third. Lueders started the third with a single and was sacrificed to second by Shannon Dorcay.

Tim Fleming then put base runners on the corners with a single and followed by stealing second. Lueders then scored on a wild pitch and Fleming moved to third before scoring on Don Larsen's RBI single.

Wayne totaled five hits in the game, including two by Larsen and one each by Fleming, Landanger and Lueders. In addition to his RBI single in the third, Larsen cracked a two-out double in the first.

Wayne's next game is Friday when Emerson travels to town for an 8:15 p.m. contest.

Lewon wins five awards

LINCOLN — Brian Lewon of Lewon's Taxidermy in Randolph participated in the 1st Nebraska State Taxidermy Championships here June 21-22.

Lewon captured a first place ribbon in the Upland Game Division with a pheasant, first and second place ribbons in the Fish Division with a large mouth bass and walleye, a second place ribbon in the Whitetail Division and a third place ribbon in the Antelope Division.

The show, which was sponsored by the Nebraska Taxidermists Guild, was largely represented by many taxidermists throughout the state which made it a great success. Next year, the guild plans to have the state show in conjunction with the Sports and Travel Show in Lincoln in February.

Tie for Class A title

They'll never know who the best team was at the 1986 Chicken Days Softball Tournament, because Wayne Sporting Goods and Doc & Eddie were named co-winners of the Class A Division.

Sporting Goods entered the title game undefeated in three games, but dropped a thrilling 14-13 loss to Doc & Eddie in the first championship round to force another game. However, because of darkness, both teams were named co-winners.

Wayne Sporting Goods captured the Class A title last year, and Doc & Eddie are undefeated in league play in Norfolk this year.

Golden Corral pounded Riverside 24-0 to claim the Men's Class B Division title, while MACC downed Tom's Body Shop of Wayne, 8-1, to claim the Men's Class C Division championship. Doc & Eddie made it two tourney titles by winning the women's division. Doc & Eddie slipped past KNEN 8-4 to claim the women's championship.

Wayne Chicken Show event winners listed

After the feathers settled and everyone returned to their roost late Sunday evening, it was time to reflect on the success of this year's 1986 Wayne Chicken Show.

John Agler of rural Wayne repeated as the National Cluck-Off Champion, but this year he found the competition much stiffer. He said, after the competition, that he would take a "vacation" from the Cluck-off competition during the next few years to allow more individuals to have a shot at the cluck-off title.

Some new events blended into the traditional contests of this year's chicken show. The 1986 contest winners of the separate events are as follows:

Balloon Lift — Kristin Thurman. Her balloon floated to Audubon, Iowa.

Writing Contest — Poetry, Mike Rethwisch of Honolulu, Hawaii; Essay, George Berger, South Amana, Iowa; Legendary Chicken Theme, Mary Supley.

Window Display — The Shepherdess.

Fun Run (from Wakefield to Wayne) — Women, first, Winona Schneider, Wayne, (1 hour, 29 minutes and 15 seconds); second, Susan Thompson, Wayne. Men, first, Mark Bushkamp, Emmetsburg, Iowa, 1 hour, 3 minutes and 26 seconds; second, Joel Greve, South Sioux, and Larry Bockelman, Wisner, tied at 1 hour, seven minutes and 31 seconds.

The overall finishings were as follows: Bushkamp, Greve and Bockelman, Jeff Grève of Wisner, Sid Hillier of Wayne, Jeff Beckman of Sioux City, Jean DeWald of Wayne, Don Pearson of Pender, Terry Meyer of Wayne, Allen George of Lincoln; Pete Chapman of Wayne, Pat

Finn of Carroll, Joe Kramer of Norfolk, Logan McClelland of Wayne, Gary West of Wayne, Bruce Hansen of Norfolk, Schneider, Neil Peterson of Wakefield, Keith Rabe of Madison, Thompson, and R.A. Cutshall of Winslow.

Rooster Crowing Contest — first, Big Red, entered by Jolene Deaver of Oakland; second, Champ, entered by Sue Sindelar of Norfolk; third, Feather, entered by Elizabeth Luft; Big Red crowed 87 times within a half-hour period.

Parade — Best Commercial, Timple, Inc.; Best Organization, Wayne County Old Settlers, Winslow; Individual Child, Brent Meyer; Group of Children, Jones Family; Best Overall, Legendary Chicken, Jennifer Schmitz (Helen of Troy); Best Chicken Related Overall, Eagles; Honorable Mention Entry, Thelma Hatfig.

Chicken Flying Meet — Heavy Class: first, Tim Gansbom of Osmond, 29'; second, Joan Gansbom of Osmond, 24'; third, Angle Brown of Denver, Colorado, 18'. Middle Class: first, Dean Jacobs, 37'; second, Brent Meyer, 23' with refly 11'; third, Dalmer Gansbom, 23' with refly 10'.

Bantam — first, Joan Gansbom, Osmond, 30'; second, Chris Sebade, 28' with refly 32'; third, Matthew Clemens, Lincoln, 28' with refly 19'. Feather Class: first, Angle Brown, 40'; second, Holly Sebade, 28' with refly 34'; third, Brian Brasch, third, 28' with refly 16'.

Bon Ami Pane-Ting — Under 7, first, Rachel Walton; second, Jessica Vandervest; third, Amanda Walton. Ages 8-14, first, Paul Marra; second, Amanda Vandervest; third, Eric Wiseman. Over 14, first, Verdina Johs; second, Lynda Scott; third, The Unknown Chicken from Gorett, Indiana.

Biggest Midwest Chicken — Mylet Bargholz of Wakefield.

Biggest Egg-Prettiest Egg — Jeff Silhacek of Pierce.

Smallest Egg-Oddest Egg — Bernice Loetscher of Emerson.

Egg Drop/Catch — first place, Scott Moore of Elkhorn, 54 feet.

Runner-up, Karl Ann Kluge.

Cluck-Off:

Hen (13 and over), first, Judith Kluge, Fairbury; second, Lyle George; third, Heidi Hansen.

Hen (12 and under) — first, Schuyler Smith, Fort Worth, Texas; second, Megan Cornish; third, Johnny-Lempke.

Rooster (13 and over) — first, John Agler; second, Anne Goeken of Stanton; third, Rooster Zeeb of Minnow, South Dakota.

Rooster (12 and under) — first, Chris Headley; second, Danny Nyahis of Pierce; third, Brent Meyer.

Budget

good now" and because there is likely to be some changes in the future on the bonding laws which will not allow the city to collect interest on bonding as in the past, according to Kloster.

KLOSTER SAID there is also money in the budget for various street projects, including the financing for the work on Providence Road. This road work will be a project that is financed through 75 percent of federal funds and 25 percent local, with that local amount to be assessed to property owners along the Providence Road construction site.

There is also an amount budgeted for work on South Main Street in Wayne, but that project will likely not be completed until 1987-88, Kloster mentioned.

The budget proposal has the city's street department taking a cut from $1.8 million the previous year to approximately $705,000 this year. The Parks and Recreation budget proposal was cut about $20,000 and the buildings and grounds fund is down about $5,000.

Some of the funds, such as the transfer station, will remain the same. The library fund is budgeted for about $7,000 less, but the loss can be picked up through what the city can gain in revenue sharing.

Revenue sharing is projected in the proposed budget at $170,540 — over $100,000 more than the previous fiscal period. All the revenue sharing would be used on general fund type expenditures.

Kloster said the budget proposal has, for the most part, frozen what had been appropriated the previous fiscal year for salaries.

In 1985-86, the property tax askings for the general fund was $386,678 and a special assessment amount of $111,691. What the proposed budget is asking for in tax askings (general fund) is $367,344 while the special assessments is proposed at $91,798.

The hearing for the proposed budget will take place on Tuesday, July 29 at 7:40 p.m. in the city council chambers.

Also during Tuesday morning's meeting, the city council voted to have all the accounting of the various city departments, such as the city's Park and Recreation Board and others, done by the city office if not already being done there.

Cenntennial

The Carroll Library will conduct an open house from 2 to 4 p.m.

Saturday can also be called Alumni Day in Carroll. The social hour and banquet for Carroll alumni will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the city auditorium. A dance for alumni and guests will be at the auditorium, with music by All Knights.

To close out the Saturday festivities, there will be a street dance on the north end of Carroll's Main Street, with music by Red Eye. Admission is $2 per person.

Sunday, July 20

Starting at 8:30 a.m. will be a worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The Community Church Service will be from 9 to 10 a.m. in the Village Park.

After the church services, a Pancake Feed will take place at the city auditorium (meal prices similar to the previous barbeque and omelet feed), which will continue until 12 noon.

Then at 2 p.m. is the Bush Prostock and modified hot rod tractor pull on the southwest part of town. Dennis Rohde is in charge of this event.

The final event closing out the centennial activities is the Carroll Centennial Co-Ed. (Men-Women)

Mud Volleyball Tournament, which will take place at the Saddle Club Arena following the tractor pull.

Participants in the volleyball tournament must be 21 years of age or older. Team members names, ages and town they are playing for should all be forwarded with a $25 entry fee to Box 27 at Carroll. Prizes will be awarded. In charge of this event is Dennis Rohde.

Texley recalls growing with Carroll

This is a third in a series of interviews with four individuals who live or had lived in Carroll for many years. Carroll will celebrate its Centennial July 18-20. The final interview appears on page 6A.

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Ever since he was a small child, Lloyd Texley had a special liking to the business and social climate of Carroll.

His father was Dr. Andrew Texley, who served as the dedicated physician and surgeon in the Carroll area for nearly 50 years. The doctor's family came to Carroll in 1901. Lloyd was three then. He's 88 years old now.

Lloyd's fascination with Carroll and the people who reside there has not diminished.

"Barber Bill Belford cut my curls off, right after that (upon his move to Carroll). He also gave me my first shave," said Lloyd.

He recalls vividly the town of Carroll in the early 1900's, picturing it as if walking again down the board sidewalks on the lower part of town — with horse hitching posts off of Main Street.

Take a walk to the north end of Main Street and on the east side was a ball diamond. Along the ball park, Lloyd said there were six to eight corn cribs (where the county sheds stand now) — a place where farmers could haul in their harvested ear corn.

One can almost taste and smell the aroma of the general stores during the early 1900's. Lloyd said there were five general stores in business at one time in Carroll. Dry goods were in one end of the store, grocery department in the other side.

"They had it all — shoes, overall or trousers, or food items — all that was needed," Lloyd recalled.

"Farmers would bring in their produce, such as eggs and butter, to the general stores and settle the grocery bill at least once a year," he added.

Most likely the farmers did the trading when hauling their harvests to one of the two elevators which were operating during those early days in the 1900's.

THE RAILROAD cars no longer travel through Carroll. Lloyd can remember when the trains would stop many times during those early years because the town had a high water tower near the tracks and the engines would eventually have to fill up with water. A nearby windmill to help pump the water, plus a small shed for the handcar, were also near the tracks years ago, he mentioned.

It was along those railroad tracks and empty cars that the youthful imagination of Lloyd and his childhood friends made the railroad area a playground. There, they would act out the roles of "bums and brakes" — a game similar to the modern version of cops and robbers, with the bums sneaking on board the cars and the pretending brakemen seeking the infringing trespassers.

At the age of 14 or 15, Lloyd and other youths became interested in other hobbies and activities. His favorite was taking photographs with a old plate camera and developing his originals in his own darkroom. "We thought taking pictures was a lot of fun then," he said.

LLOYD EVEN ventured to say, with some reservation, that they climbed to the top of the standpipe just to take pictures. To those that don't know what a standpipe is — try using the term water tower instead.

He certainly doesn't encourage youngsters to do that sort of dangerous thing now.

At the age of 16, Lloyd may have been seen driving around Carroll on an "Indian" single cylinder-four horsepower motor bike. "To me it was just an overgrown bicycle with a motor on it," he said.

"Downhill, it worked pretty good. But uphill you had to get off and walk beside it sometimes. I traded the motor bike for a horse and buggy," Lloyd commented.

Horse and buggy were common sights from 1900 to 1915. A few years later, the motorized age began sweeping the countryside. Lloyd got his first car at the age of 17. His interest in the automobile sparked an ambition to start a business venture related to the automobile industry.

He went into the auto repair business around 1920, setting up shop on the west side of Main Street. One of the business' trademarks was selling lubricating oil in 55 gallon barrels to customers — even to those a great distance away. The oil came from National Oil Company. His wholesale lubricating order would normally be received in the spring, shipped by train. "I would call up the customers and they'd pick up their orders with their wagons."

About four years later, he and his brother Lawrence received the Model T Ford contract. This was a time when the horseless carriage idea became more and more popular over the conventional horse and buggy system.

LLOYD TEXLEY and his 1973 Buick Riviera.

Business took off right from the start for Lloyd. "We averaged about 100 [Model T's] sold a year. Most of them were the crank kind. They later came out with a starter," he said.

THE BIG volume of the Model T's, which came by railroad with the body and fender and wheels (and other parts) unassembled, went to the farmers and to the business places.

It didn't take much of a sales pressure tactic to convince people to buy Model T's back then, Lloyd said.

"We really didn't have to go out and sell them. The past history of the Model T sold itself. Those that were in the market for a car knew the Model T was one of the lowest priced cars that you could buy," he remarked.

The Model T was a pioneer adventure still fresh from being recognized as an advancement to the horse and buggy days. So what did Lloyd consider as trade-ins?

"We took horse and cattle for trade-in. One time we even traded for a batch of turkeys," said Lloyd, chuckling.

And prices? The lowest price that one could pay for a 1924 Roadster was $325 — without a starter.

"If you wanted a starter complete with generator and battery, it would have cost another $60," Lloyd said.

In 1928, the Model T business gave way to contracts for a Chevrolet dealership and Pontiac dealership. Then, the tough and lean depression years of the 1930's took its toll on the car business. In 1932, Lloyd said the business went down to nothing and had to pick up jobs elsewhere to make financial ends meet. He even took on the job of substitute mail carrier for awhile.

"Then in 1935-36 [his business] began picking up again," he mentioned.

In 1960, Lloyd got out of the automobile business and sold sites and silo equipment. He retired officially in 1968, every now and then monkeying around with old cars. He now enjoys reading about antique automobiles and keeps up on the farming news through his farm magazines.

This centennial weekend will be a reunion of sorts for he and his wife, Orpha. This will be their 65th wedding anniversary and most of his children will be there to help them celebrate.

When some of them get together this weekend, they will talk about old times — perhaps about the fact that Lloyd was one of the first volunteer firemen for Carroll, when the bucket brigade was for real.

"Usually, the water wasn't used to put the fire out, just to put the water on nearby buildings to keep them from getting too hot," Lloyd said.

Or he might tell this story, if not about the carnivals and other shows during Carroll's early years, about the time he took on delivering artificial ice in the early 1920's from the ice plant in Randolph with his Model T.

The Model T carried seven cakes of ice (each weighing about 300 pounds) which was enough to fill up the ice boxes of 30 customers. Ice boxes were uncommon in Carroll before that, simply because there was no place to find the cake ice.

One day, taking a dirt road from Carroll to Randolph, he loaded up with ice and started back one day before the hot July 4th holiday. It had rained and he got south of Sholes and couldn't make it up the hill, so Lloyd had to unload the ice at that spot. He covered the ice and went back.

Upon his return, he found that those who had passed where his misfortune took place "had helped themselves, taking a cake of ice with them."

He ended up going to Randolph for some more ice to bring back to Carroll.

The way Lloyd looks at it, those people may have thought their prayers were answered when they spotted that pile of ice along the road on that hot and dry day.

Wakefield gets grant

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Wakefield was one of 22 Nebraska cities and one county that has been awarded a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), it was announced Wednesday morning by Governor Bob Kerrey.

Originally, Wakefield had requested $200,000 for expansion of sewage treatment facilities and administration. They were funded a CDBG grant of $182,100.

The grant funds were awarded annually on a competitive basis by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development in the Community Development category. There were 76 applications received by the Department requesting $14.6 million. Approximately $4.1 million was awarded.

The local projects will focus on providing basic needs in the areas of improvements in housing; providing basic public facilities; and providing a potable source of water.

The Community Development Block Grant funds are made possible by federal funds to the State of Nebraska through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Field Day set for Aug. 19

The Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord will hold a field day Tues. Aug. 19, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The field day's focus will be on profitable production practices. It will be emphasized during the four presentations of all the research projects, said Charles Shaplor, extension soil specialist at the center.

Tours will be running throughout the day and will include a look at various research areas including swine and beef production, new terraces, a pesticide disposal area, soil fertility, wheat trials and irrigation management, Shaplor said.

Three separate presentations also will be given. They will be on the agricultural economy, the advantages of participating in a marketing club and on computer hardware and software for use on the farm, Shaplor said.

Concessions will be available, and there will be a free omelet feed from noon to 2 p.m. sponsored by T.W.J. Farms and the Nebraska Pork Producers Association.

Loan options are extended

Producers holding Commodity Credit Corporation loans on 1985 crops of feed grains, rye, soybeans and wheat may at their option extend the loans for 12 months, Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng announced today.

Lyng said the action was taken to encourage producers to take advantage of all available on-farm storage space in preparation for the projected large grain harvests this fall. The action is expected to help make available more commercial warehouse space at harvest. Lyng added that the action also would give additional marketing flexibility to producers who have outstanding or unsettled matured loans on 1985-crop barley, corn, oats, rye, sorghum, soybeans and wheat.

Storage costs for the added 12-month loan period will be paid by CCC for all the above commodities except soybeans, Lyng said. The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 prohibits CCC from paying storage on soybeans.

Producers who wish to extend their loans must request extensions by writing their local offices of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The request must be filed no earlier than 60 days before the loan maturity date.

Advance storage payments will be issued for all crops except soybeans. The annual storage rates are 26.5 cents per bushel for wheat, barley and corn, 47.32 cents per hundredweight for grain sorghum and 20 cents per bushel for oats.

Producers extending their loans may repay them at anytime during the extended 12-month period, Lyng said.

Interest will continue to accrue during the extended period. Interest rates for the extended loans will be subject to change on Jan. 1, 1987, Lyng said.

Mosquitofish

The mosquitofish (MF) is a hardy, adaptable fish that has been shown to be an effective biological control agent in mosquito abatement programs around the world. In many tropical and semi-tropical areas, these fish play an important role in reducing the incidence of malaria, encephalitis, yellow fever and other mosquito-borne diseases. MF are 1 1/2 to 3 inches in length and dull gray with a lighter belly. They are voracious feeders on mosquito larvae and other small aquatic invertebrates. Females are typically larger than males and give birth to living young.

The use of MF as a mosquito control is most successful in permanent or semi-permanent water situations, such as ponds, drainage ditches and other small bodies of water. MF prefer still, shallow water with extensive aquatic vegetation. Their small size and agility enable them to penetrate dense vegetation, making them ideal mosquito predators. In Nebraska, most early season mosquito problems are caused by floodwater mosquitoes emerging from low lying areas that are normally flooded in the spring by melting snow and rain. Later in the season, permanent water breeding mosquitoes become more of a problem. It is this latter group against which MF are more effective. In recent years, cold tolerant strains of MF have been developed that are better able to survive under Nebraska conditions.

Use Toxaphene Stocks Before It's Too Late
Farmers with toxaphene in their stocks should use it up this summer, because as of December 31, most uses of the insecticide will be illegal.

Until that date, stocks on hand may be used on field crops only. It should not be used on yards, gardens, vegetables, ornamental plants or trees, or any other use not on the label. Nor should treated foliage be used for silage, stover or feed.

After the 31st, toxaphene with the old label will be illegal to use and must be disposed of according to federal and state regulations.

Current registrations of this insecticide include the control of pests as follows:

Corn: grasshoppers, webworms, fall armyworms, cutworms, cinch bugs and flea beetles. Wheat: armyworms and cutworms.

Alfalfa (seed crop only): grasshoppers and pea aphids. Soybeans: armyworms, bean leaf beetles, corn earworms and grasshoppers.

After December 31, Toxaphene will be available as a "Restricted Use Pesticide" for selected new uses. It will be permitted for scabies control on beef cattle and sheep and under state-declared emergency for armyworms, cutworms and grasshoppers on sorghum and no-till corn.

For those uses, applicators must wear protective clothing including hat, goggles, long-sleeved shirt, long pants, boots, rubber gloves and respirator.

Farm legislation won't solve farm woes

Amidst growing disenchantment with the 1985 Farm Bill and sagging wheat and corn prices, crop producers need to understand that economic forces other than traditional farm commodity policies are affecting U.S. agricultural prosperity.

An overhaul of farm legislation alone, will not put a favorable "fix on grain prices," said a University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor of agricultural economics.

Emilio Pagoulatos specializes in research into international trade and finance. He said U.S. and foreign monetary and fiscal policies, along with farm programs designed to increase U.S. grain exports and raise farm income, determine U.S. agriculture's international competitiveness.

In a paper presented at the recent Midwest Governor's Conference, Pagoulatos stressed that changes in world economic systems during the past 15 years have altered the U.S. agricultural environment.

These changes contribute to unstable crop prices and fluctuating Nebraska farmers' income, he said. But the changing economic systems also strengthen agriculture's link to the U.S. economy and to international markets. U.S. midwestern agriculture is no longer isolated from the rest of the world, the economist said.

"Some of the farm problems encountered in the early 1980s — price deflation, export decline, financial insolvency — are the consequences of not anticipating or hedging the movements of forces originating outside agriculture," Pagoulatos said.

"It is important for farmers to adapt their management policies to fluctuations in real interest rates and inflation and to upward and downward movements of foreign exchange rates and commodity and land prices."

TO ACHIEVE MORE stability in U.S. agricultural commodity markets, Pagoulatos suggested:

— Increasing flexible commodity storage and support policies to accommodate price instability.

— Placing greater emphasis on farm families' individual needs as they adjust their scale of operations to market conditions.

Recognizing that agriculture has a stake in international solutions, such as: diffusing the Latin American debt problem, negotiating reductions in agricultural protectionism and reducing the volatility of interest rates, money supplies and exchange rates.

The influence of exchange rates, he said, became apparent when the rise in the foreign exchange value of the dollar in the early 1980s increased the prices paid by importing countries.

This reduced the demand for farm exports abroad and provided a stimulus for increasing agricultural output in other countries.

While exports provided market growth for agricultural commodities, they also contributed to price instability, Pagoulatos said. "Exports, associated with macroeconomic policies at home and abroad, are a source of instability added to the traditional sources related to weather and commodity supplies," he explained.

Pagoulatos explained the ultimate effect of changes on U.S. commodity prices this way:

WORLD COMMODITY prices during the '70s and '80s increased and then fell again much more than they did in the '50s and '60s, and they moved together. Prices of such diverse, internationally traded commodities as corn, wheat, soybeans, cocoa, cop-

Less corn planted this year

Nebraska producers, as of June 1, planted more soybeans, oats, barley, dry edible beans and sugar beets, but less acres of corn and sorghum according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service.

Corn producers planted 7.2 million acres with an estimated 6.85 million acres for harvest as grain, both down 8 percent from last year.

Soybean acreage planted at 2.5 million acres, is 4 percent above last year and the second largest planting of record. Acreage for harvest at 2.45 million is also 4 percent above last year.

Wheat acreage planted at 2.3 million acres is 12 percent below first year and the smallest acreage seeded of record, dating back to 1909.

Oats were planted on 700,000 acres. Acreage intended for harvest at 360,000 is 5 percent below last year. All hay acreage for harvest at 3.15 million is 5 percent below last year and is the smallest acreage of record. Alfalfa at 1.30 million acres is 7 percent below last year, while other hay at 1.85 million acres is 3 percent below last year.

Total acreage planted and intended to be planted to the above crops including wheat, rye and hay for harvest during 1988 totals 18.1 million acres, 6 percent below last year's 19.3 million acres. Some of this acreage decline may be attributed to government program participation.

To take place July 24

Farm tour features no-till

No-till planting will be the subject of a twilight Conservation Tillage tour to be held in Wayne County July 24, according to Don Spitze, local Extension agent.

The tour will start at 6:30 p.m. at the Harvey Brader farm 4 1/2 miles north and three miles west of Wayne where participants will be able to examine no-till soybeans and no-till corn in dryland conditions. Brader tried no-till on a few acres last year and liked it so well that this year he decided to plant all his acres using no-till, Spitze said.

The tour will continue to the Bill Loberge farm 1/2 mile north and 1 1/2 miles west of there to examine steep front and back float terraces. The tour will conclude with a stop at the Dale and Verlyn Stollenberg farm near Carroll where producers will be able to view an irrigated field of no-till corn planted into soybean stubble. Tour plans have not been completely finalized and one or two other stops also may be included.

In addition, specialists from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Cooperative Extension Service will speak on several aspects of conservation tillage and be available to answer questions. An Extension entomologist also will be available to answer questions on pest control, Spitze said.

The July 24 tour is being sponsored by the Wayne County Extension Service and Soil Conservation Service offices.

Another conservation tillage program will be held July 30 near Pender and include demonstrations of various conservation tillage implements as well as a rainfall simulator demonstration to show the effect of residue in reducing erosion. The tour will include several no-till fields in the area and end at the Leon Swoboda farm where the demonstrations will be held and recently constructed terraces will be examined.

Persons interested in attending that demonstration and tour should meet at St. Peter's Lutheran Church 4 1/2 miles west of Pender between 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m., July 30. Specialists from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Cooperative Extension Service will speak on the tour and be available to answer questions.

Adopting no-till planting

Getting started with no-till planting doesn't have to be complicated or costly. In fact, in many instances producers can use the same equipment they've always used with few, if any modifications. In addition, pre-plant herbicides have made weed control much easier than it was 10 years ago.

Using no-till however, may require some management changes. One of the easiest ways to begin using no-till is to try it on about 30-50 acres, said Elbert Dickey, Cooperative Extension Agricultural Engineer-Conservation. After adjusting to new field management skills, the producer may want to use no-till for several hundred acres the next season.

When trying no-till for the first time, Dickey suggested several steps: Plan ahead, particularly on site selection. Select a well-drained field that does not have substantial weed pressures.

Be flexible. If weed problems develop before planting, tillage or a "burn down" herbicide may be required. By careful planning, the most economical herbicide program can be used. An early preplant herbicide application can be used to control weeds before planting, especially with crops such as milo having later planting dates.

Use proper management, including careful scouting and timely application of herbicides.

Get solid information for help in making your decisions. Talk to neighbors, attend local farm meetings or tours, and talk with personnel from your local county Extension or Soil Conservation Service offices.

Area youths attending ag institute in Lincoln

Charles Schroeder, Director of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture has announced that Cindy Berg of Winside, and Bill Lisika, Stuart Rethwisch and Lori Sorensen of Wayne will be attending the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI) in Lincoln July 21-25.

NAYI is a five-day program offering high school juniors and seniors the opportunity to learn from nationally-known speakers, panels and through discussion groups and workshops.

The theme for NAYI 1988 is entitled

"Utilizing Our Common Resources." The 180 Nebraska juniors and seniors that will be in attendance this year will be exposed to topics such as "Agricultural Policy," "Commodity Marketing," "Alternative Crop Enterprise," "Farm Safety," as well as others.

NAYI will take place at the Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska East Campus, 33rd and Holdrege Streets in Lincoln. All meals, lodging and conference fees will be sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture.

RAINBOW KIDS
The Rainbow Kids 4-H Club met July 7 at the Hoskins fire hall. President Shelly Hentzer called the meeting to order.
Lonnie Grothe led the flag salutes, and Secretary Michelle Scheurich took roll call with members naming their favorite vegetable.
All members were encouraged to enter the home ec and agriculture demonstrations.
Shelly Hentzer, Teresa Elkins and Jamie Palnter will be in charge of the club's theme booth at the county fair. The yard of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wagner was chosen as the July Yard of the Month. They were presented a gift certificate to a nursery.
Members voted to donate $52.84 to the ball park fund to help rebuild the concession stand and bleachers which were damaged during a recent storm.
The club also furnished $15 in prize money for entries in the Fourth of July parade at Hoskins.
It was announced the Orr family will mow the fire hall yard this week.
Michelle Scheurich gave a demonstration on cats, and members practiced for the song contest.
Lonnie Grothe and Tracy Gubbels furnished treats.
Next meeting will be July 28 at 10:30 a.m. Entry tags will be filled out.

GINGHAM GALS
The Gingham Gals 4-H Club met June 24 at Grace Lutheran Church. Margo and Martha Sandahl told about the 4-H conference they attended, and Lori Sorenson told about her 4-H Citizenship trip to Washington, D. C. Younger members reported on 4-H Fun Camp.
Song contest outfits were cut out following the meeting.

We became a great aunt and uncle today. The Big Farmer has one sister, Darlene, and her daughter had an 8 pound girl at Mary Lanning Hospital in Hastings.
The mother of the new arrival was born in New Guinea and it does not seem that long ago. Now she has become a mother and I'm feeling a bit older.
It's the same feeling I have when "my babies have babies" at Lutheran Hospital. There are a lot of young adults around who made their debuts with my assistance. Now they are marrying and having children. And they have grown up so quickly.
It will no doubt seem a very short time until I find myself in the "senior citizen" category. I had potluck with the "young at heart" group at my mom's church today. There was a lively song fest and a Bible study following the meal.
Last Sunday I participated in a church service at a local nursing home. It is always a moving experience to hear these elderly folks sing "Amazing Grace" and "The Old Rugged Cross." I guess it is important to recognize that each generation has its blessings, and to try to accept each stage gracefully.

JON HAS discovered a new summer activity: deathlon. Today it was only a pentathlon: 200 meters, long jump, discus, javelin and 1500 meters.
This meet was sponsored by the Lincoln Track Club and there were all ages. One little white-haired fellow, 66 years old, ran every event, including the 5000 meters.
Next weekend is the Cornhusker Games, with something for everyone. It should be exciting.

She just finished a required art class. No one in our family pretends to be an artist. But I am discovering that the things can be learned; such things as basic drawing techniques, for instance. She presented me with a pencil sketch as an example.
Kay is finishing a canned seat for a rocking chair. This is an interesting craft, even more so with a right arm in a cast.

Ann is finishing a tan. She keeps busy with volleyball, babysitting and housekeeping.
AIR CONDITIONERS have been going full blast. The wind hasn't blown every day; it just seems that way. Charles Kuralt asked Roger Welsch if the wind blows in Nebraska.
"Every day," Roger asserted. "It stopped one day and everyone fell over!"
When the humidity is high and everything is sticking and the files are hanging on the screen door, I think the wind isn't so bad.
It's also our tourist season. The Currys were here from Houston, and now Aunt Linda and Jay are here from South Carolina. We pull streaks from the freezer and reminisce and wish the visits could be longer. Somehow, there has to be some time reserved for sleeping.

Gasses on farm could be deadly

Though it's a risk not usually associated with farming, four Nebraskans have died in the last two years after being exposed to toxic gasses.
People need to be aware of the different situations in which toxic gasses can be present on the farm, said Rollin Schlieder, extension safety specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
Grain bins are one potential danger area. When conditions are right, bacteria works on wet grain in a bin, and uses oxygen while producing carbon dioxide. This can lead to an atmosphere that will not support life, Schlieder said.
Silage storage facilities are another area in which danger may be present. There are three gasses that may be present in a silo at different times, Schlieder said. The first of these is methane gas. Methane is released from silage about 10 to 14 days after fermentation begins. There have been cases of explosions caused by methane gas in Nebraska, but they have usually been in manure pits. None have been too serious. Carbon dioxide as well as nitrogen dioxide, a lung irritant, may also be present in silos.
MANURE PITS BELOW farm buildings are another source of potentially dangerous gasses. Methane, carbon dioxide, ammonia and hydrogen sulfide are present in these areas, Schlieder said. Ammonia is an irritating gas that people are immediately aware of and won't stay in the presence of very long, therefore it poses little danger. But carbon dioxide is colorless and odorless and can asphyxiate a person. Hydrogen sulfide is particularly harmful because it paralyzes the respiratory system.

The biggest danger connected with manure pits is entering one that is being emptied. Hydrogen sulfide is normally held in suspension and once the holding area has been ventilated, it is no longer a threat. But hydrogen sulfide is released when the holding material is agitated and can be fatal. Ventilation is really the only way to alleviate the danger of toxic gasses in these facilities, Schlieder said. Bins should be opened and the blower should be moving the air around before a person enters a grain bin.
Farmers with silos attached to their barns should remember the possibility that their ensilage may be giving off gasses. One of these gasses, nitrogen oxide, is acutely visible and looks like a yellow/brown haze. Because it is heavier than air it will tend to drop to the ground.

CONSERVATION TILLAGE. HOW MUCH IS ACTUALLY HAPPENING?

Conservation tillage is a topic often discussed these days in agriculture circles. Everyone from chemical and implement dealers to seed companies are promoting the benefits. But how many farmers are actually leaving enough crop residue on the soil surface to reap these benefits?

A study was conducted by UNL Extension personnel Elbert Dickey, Paul Jaso, Bryon Dolash, Lisa Brown and S. Kay Rockwell to answer that question.

A statewide mail survey and a field survey in the seven-county target area were used to measure the current and perceived use of conservation tillage. The mail questionnaire incorporated objective questions on tillage use as well as more subjective questions pertaining to farmer opinions toward adoption of conservation tillage practices. The field survey was used in the target area to measure the percent of residue cover remaining on the soil surface after tillage and planting as well as the number and type of field operations used since the previous harvest.

It should be noted that the 1984 estimates of use of conservation tillage reported by CTCIC were made after the preliminary results from the seven-county field survey were released. This possibly explains why the seven-county estimated use of 23 percent was about half the estimate of statewide use. In 1983, the estimated use for the seven-county target was 48 percent whereas the state use was estimated at 52 percent (CTIC, 1984).

Conclusions
The percentage of farmers in the mail survey who considered their system to be conservation tillage was about three times greater than the measured use of 18 percent when a 20 percent residue cover was used to obtain the measured use. If a 30 percent residue criterion was used, then the measured use of conservation tillage was less than five percent.

A reason for the discrepancy between the measured and perceived use of conservation tillage appears to be related to a change in type of tillage implements used. In 1974 the primary tillage system, used by more than 50 percent of the farmers, was the moldboard plow system. By 1984, this use had decreased to about 13 percent and created an impression that conservation tillage had been adopted. In the same 10-year period, use of chisel and disk systems increased a corresponding amount and there was some increase in the use of ridge- and no-till systems.

Although the disk and chisel systems were being used by about 75 percent of the farmers in 1984, the number of residue altering operations was not lower than for the moldboard plow system. Farmers using a field cultivator or ridge-plant system tended to have one less residue altering operation than those using a disk system.

INFLUENCE OF FIELD OPERATIONS ON SURFACE RESIDUE COVER

Tillage and Planting Implements	Percent of Residue Cover Remaining After Each Operation*
Moldboard Plow	3-5
Chisel Plow	50-75
Straight shovel points	30-60
Twisted shovel points	30-60
Anhydrous Applicator	50-80

*Use lower value for fragile residue such as soybeans.
*Use higher value for heavy residue such as irrigated corn.
*An example of how to use the above data to estimate residue cover after a typical tillage sequence would be: Assume 85% soybean residue cover following harvest, spring disk 3" deep (4), field cultivator (3) and plant with wide fluted coulters (8) (fields winter wheat - 7). 85% x 0.4 x 0.3 x 0.8 x 0.7 = 0.5% residue cover after planting.

NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT (NRD) ELECTION

Petitions are now available for anyone wishing to run for election as a Director of the Lower Elkhorn NRD or other NRD's. One Director will be elected for each of nine subdistricts and one Director-At-Large. The term of office is four years, beginning January 8, 1987. Candidates must be registered voters of the subdistrict they are nominated in, and must have their petition signed by 25 registered voters who are also residents of that subdistrict. Director nominating petitions may be obtained from the Norfolk Office of Lower Elkhorn NRD and County Clerks or Election Commissioners.

The completed petitions must be received at the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, P.O. Box 94874, 4th Floor State Office Building, 301 Centennial Mall South, Lincoln, NE 68509, on or before 5:00 p.m., August 11, 1986, in order for the name to appear on the ballot.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The Concord Evangelical Free Church held its vacation Bible school the week of July 7 to 11. It was held in the evening with an average attendance of 65. Standard Publishing material was used. The theme was "Jesus, I Love You."

Deb Dickey led the singing each evening. Todd Gunnarson was in charge of the mission project. This year's project was to help buy a van for missionaries in Belgium. The amount raised was $267.56.

A special attraction this year was the Service Activity Center. Included in this area were crafts, recreation and puppet skills which all related to the lesson of the evening. Rhonda Bloom, Bev Bloom, Ruby Arduser and Dick Grosvenor helped in this area.

Refreshments this year included a variety of goodies, including cheese and crackers, popcorn, cookies and fruit cups. They were served by Sharon Boysen, Margie Kardell and Jan Kamrath.

Teachers for the classes were: beginners, Susan Erwin and Betty Dahlquist; primary, Grace Ronhovde and Lori Hansen; middle, Jim Ronhovde; juniors, Carolyn and Monica Hanson; junior high, Judy Kvots; senior high, Donna Forsberg; and adults, Arden Olson and Randy Patfeld.

Nursery helpers were Joy Grosvenor, Denise Bloom, Sherrie Patfeld, Jeanne Ann Kardell, Sandy Hartman and Ave Olson. Bill Dickey was photographer. A central story time was held each night with Jim and Grace Ronhovde presenting the story in a variety of ways.

The closing program was held Sunday during the Sunday school hour. Featured was a musical entitled "Lookin' for Love." Bill Dickey played the part of Homer Sherlock — an investigative reporter who was "Lookin' for Love" at VBS. Other participants included song leader, Deb Dickey; elder, Don Arduser; missionary rep, Todd Gunnarson; Mrs. Crumbly, Sharon Boysen; janitor, Betty Dahlquist; and the three students, Jason Grosvenor, Shane Kardell and Phillip Bloom. All of the classes sang their VBS songs for Homer-Sherlock.

3 C'S CLUB

Ten members of the 3 C's Extension Club met at the Concord Cafe July 12 at 9:30 a.m. for coffee. They also discussed business.

The 3 C's annual family picnic will be Aug. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Senior Center in Concord. Ina Rieth and Clara Puhmann will be hostesses in the agriculture building Tuesday, Aug. 12 from noon to 2 p.m. during the fair. An extension booth or demonstration will be exhibited. Dixon County extension tour will be held Nov. 19 to Omaha.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

There was a good community attendance at the old-fashioned ice cream social held Sunday evening on the Concordia Lutheran Church lawn. It was sponsored by the Concordia Couples League and Joy Youth Group with proceeds matched by the Lutheran Brotherhood Ins. Co. Wayne Branch 8212. Homemade ice cream, pie and cake with coffee or iced tea were served.

Firemen honored

RETIRED firemen from Concord are pictured during a community potluck supper sponsored by the Concord Volunteer Fire Department last month at the Senior Citizens Center in Concord. Pictured are, front row from left, Elmer Lehman, W. E. (Bud) Hanson and Norman Anderson; back row from left, Robert Anderson, Victor Carlson, Jack Erwin, Quinten Erwin and Dick Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nelson and Jennifer Liebig of Allen and Dena Nelson of Bakersfield, Calif. were Friday luncheon guests of Mrs. Eric Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stalling and Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stalling, Brian and David of Omaha were Saturday afternoon luncheon guests of Mrs. Eric Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martindale arrived home July 9 from an eight-day trip to western Nebraska and Colorado. They visited the Tom Lannon family in North Platte and met the Jim Martindale family of Brighton at the Herman Utech home in Hugson, Colo. Thursday where all celebrated the 4th of July. On Saturday, the Utechs and the two Martindale families were dinner guests of the Glen and Syd Martindale families at Greeley. That evening they all attended the Greeley rodeo and carnival. On Sunday the Jim Martindales went on a two-day sight-seeing trip in the Colorado Springs area and the Utechs and the Jerry Martindales traveled through the mountains and Estes Park. En route back to Hudson they visited the Harlan Hughes Jr. family of Thornton, Colo.

The John Swansons of Omaha were guests in the Norman Anderson home July 8 and 9.

Pastor and Mrs. Albert Sleck, Ben and Ruth of Spencer were Sunday overnight guests.

The Roy Hansons spent the weekend with her mother, Lily Ortegren at Central City. They also attended the Ortegren family reunion at Hardville.

The Melvin Puhmanns visited Martha Neis at the Lyons Nursing Home on Sunday.

Velma Starling of Little Rock, Ark. and Angelia Starling of Tupelo, Miss.

left for home Saturday evening after spending six weeks with Stan Starling.

The Steve Erwins, Megan and Lindsay of Chadron were July 6 to 8 visitors in the Verdel Erwin home. The Tom Erwin family and the Clarence Pearsons visited them the afternoon of July 6.

Mrs. Cliff Stalling of Allen, Dena Nelson of Bakersfield, Calif., Mrs. Rich Denker and Tyler of Wayne and Mrs. Erick Nelson spent July 7 with Mrs. Laverne Clarkson at Arlington. Joining them for the afternoon were Mrs. Scott Stalling and sons of Omaha, Mrs. Fred Herrmann, Mrs. Scott Johnson and Eric of West Point.

The Evangelical Free Church of Concord was represented by five ladies attending the FCWM district convention at Oakland on July 8. Attending were Carolyn Hanson, Mable Johnson, Muriel Kardell, Deb Dickey and Luella Nelson.

Guests in the Carlson home honoring Opal's birthday, July 4th celebration and birthday party were the Lyle Carlsons and daughters of Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bub Ellis, the Vern Carlsons and Randall Carlson. July 5 afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fredrickson of Wayne. July 8 birthday guests of Opal Carlson were Mrs. Jerry Kling, Mrs. Darrel Harrison and Valerie Nelson, all of Wayne.

July 8 birthday guests in the Jack Erwin home in honor of the host were the Gene Casey family of Wayne, the Scott Thompson family of Laurel, the Kevin Erwin family of Wakefield and the Max Holdfors.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Erwin spent Sunday with Clayton Erwin at West Point.

Syrup of Ipecac

It is a safe and effective aid for the removal of many poisonous materials from the stomach through its emetic (vomit inducing) action. We know this nonprescription medicine as syrup of ipecac, a widely used product made from a powder containing two naturally occurring substances which are responsible for the emetic effect.

When used in recommended doses, syrup of ipecac causes vomiting to occur over 90 percent of the time. According to studies, about half those who use ipecac syrup can expect to vomit in less than 20 minutes, while others may wait 30 minutes for vomiting to occur. Some references suggest that a second dose be administered in 20 to 30 minutes if the person has not vomited following the first dose.

Because ipecac does not work well on an empty stomach, it is recommended that three to four glasses of water be given after the ipecac if the poison victim has not had food or drink for several hours. Syrup of ipecac should not be given to persons who are unconscious or to individuals experiencing seizures. In addition, if the suspected poisonous material is a corrosive substance (eg. an acid or lye) or a petroleum product (eg. gasoline), ipecac should not be used.

Suicide

Have you ever said to yourself, "I can't go on any longer," or "why is life so hard?"

It might surprise you, but in one year there are 260,000 people in the United States that have thought the same thing, so you are not alone. This Saturday morning at the Wayne Stress Prevention Center, we will be discussing the topics stress and suicide. The session takes place every Saturday at 10 a.m. in Room 202 at the Wayne-Carroll High School.

There are some 260,000 attempted suicides in the United States each year, and up to 40,000 people succeed in killing themselves. Suicide is increasing, and is not the 11th most frequent cause of death in the U.S. It is sobering to realize that suicide is the second highest cause of death in young people 15 to 24 years old.

There is no single personality type that can be called suicidal. Rather, a person can start thinking about suicide for many reasons. In most cases, the suicide is a result of some severe life stresses. Psychological depression is a major element in most, perhaps all, suicide.

The most prevalent feelings of those who attempted suicide are feelings of hopelessness—that they have no control over life events, that nothing they can do will change or improve anything.

There are many misconceptions about suicide, including the following:

- "If a person talks about killing himself, then they won't really do it." This is incorrect. Suicide gives warnings of his/her intent and talks about it to others; often just joking.
- "Suicide is a form of psychosis." The person who commits suicide may be severely depressed, but he/she is not necessarily psychotic or mentally ill.
- "If the attempt is unsuccessful, the person did not mean it." If a suicide attempt fails, the person will probably keep trying. They do mean it.

• "Suicide is stimulated by changes in seasons or moon cycles." No. There is no evidence for that belief.

• "When a depressed, suicidal person's mood improves, the danger of suicide is over." This is not necessarily true. Many depressed people do not attempt suicide until after they seem to improve somewhat.

If you or others you know are experiencing suicidal thoughts and behaviors, please feel welcome to attend our sessions this Saturday. Hopefully we will be able to help you decide on a new outlook.

Beginning logging program

Ever have one of those days when it seems nothing will go right; the car won't start and you're 15 minutes late work; when you get there the walls seem to close in around you?

The work day finally ends and you retreat to your sanctuary at home where you find that Timmy's broken his glasses, the fender is dented and the kitchen sink has sprung a leak. Do you feel like taking it out on your spouse, your family, an inanimate object? Do you feel like hitting a wall?

Why not hit the road instead. Don't run away from your problems. Run to make your problems go away, or at least seem less ominous.

The Wayne Stress Prevention Center can give you suggestions on how to begin a walk/log program that will help you feel better, look better and have a healthier outlook on life. We will meet, as always, this Saturday at noon at Wayne-Carroll High School, Room 202.

Stress isn't just mental. It's physical as well. Hypertension, insomnia and tension headaches are all examples of physical effects of mental strain.

Physical and mental aspects of human fitness are interrelated and inseparable. Let us show you how a sound body can contribute to a sound mind.

METHODIST WOMEN GUEST NIGHT

"Salad night" was the feature when the United Methodist Women had guest night July 9 at the church fellowship hall. There were 10 members and 18 guests present.

Following the supper, Mrs. Lynn Roberts, president, conducted a short business meeting and Mrs. Ed Simpson reported on the last meeting. Mrs. Louise Boyce, card chairman, reported sending a get well card to Andrea Simpson and a sympathy card to the Granfield family.

The group discussed the centennial float and stated that open house at the church will be held from 9 until 11 a.m. and 2 until 5 p.m. Saturday, July 19. There will be pillows to be sold and members should take their pillows to Mrs. Gene Rethwisch, Mrs. Merlin Kenny or Mrs. Lynn Roberts prior to the open house. Members are asked to bring cookies or bars for the open house.

Mrs. Renae Porter of Wayne spoke on the time 1982-1984 when she and her husband taught public school in Manokotak, Alaska at Tundra Village. She had art work and crafts on display.

The next meeting of the United Methodist Women will be Aug. 12 at 2 p.m. when the women will meet at the church and then go to visit shut-ins of the congregation.

Idaho couple arrive in Winside in 1929 Model A Ford Roadster

It was a long time on the road for Idaho residents Mr. and Mrs. Jim Goff in their 1929 Model A Ford Roadster.

The Goffs, who reside at Payette, Idaho, were house guests in the Otto Field home in Winside July 12-14, driving the entire distance in the roadster.

Goffs left Idaho on June 30 and drove to Lake Geneva, Wisc. where they attended a World Model A meet. Between 1,200 and 1,500 Model A's were on display from around the world.

GOFF PURCHASED the roadster in 1952 for $25. In the 34 years since, he has restored the car three times, overhauling the engine completely.

Inside, is a hand crocheted afghan made by Mrs. Goff to match the colors of the car's exterior — green and black.

Today, according to Goff, the vehicle is valued between $10,000 and $12,000.

ENROUTE FROM Idaho to Wisconsin, Goff said he averaged around 40 miles per hour, although the car can reach speeds up to 55 miles per hour. The couple arrived in Wisconsin on July 6.

This is the first major trip Goffs have taken in the roadster, totalling nearly 4,400 miles round trip.

Goff said he does travel with some spare car parts and a CB radio. They also have a book which shows the locations of service departments in each state that stock repair parts.

THE GOFFS drove their treasure in the Randolph centennial parade on July 13 and said they regret that they could not stay to participate in the upcoming Carroll centennial and Old Settlers celebrations.

Mrs. Goff is the former Ethel Pierce, born and raised in the Wisner area.

Wanted — Farm Tiling

Will be tiling in Wayne County and surrounding areas July 15 to August 15, approximately.

Most every farm has two to 40 acres of wet ground along waterways, bottoms and potholes that either can't be farmed or it doesn't pay to try to farm it. A few strings of drain tile would make this ground as productive as the rest.

Free estimates on jobs. References furnished. Forty years in the drain tile business.

Phone giving county, township and section number where land is to be tiled.

Ice cream social nets $1,200

AN ESTIMATED 400 PERSONS turned out last Thursday night for an ice cream social on the lawn of the Wayne County Historical Museum. The event was held to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the museum's location in the former Ley house. A member of the Wayne County Historical Society said proceeds from the event, including donations, totaled $1,201. That money will go towards a matching funds grant of $1,500 from Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212. The funds will be used to complete restoration work at the museum following extensive water damage in 1984.
