THE WAYNE HERALD

Carroll woman

Still horsing around at 80

By LaVon Anderson

"I think everybody should have a passion for something. Mine is horses.

"My mother was horse nuts. My granddad was horse nuts. It's no wonder I am."

HER NAME MAY or may not ring a bell, but as Uncle Sam, Arlowyne Wingett of Carroll has become a fixture in parades throughout Nebraska.

Since 1976, the year of the nation's bicentennial, Arlowyne has donned her handmade Uncle Sam costume and proudly carried the American flag up and down main streets throughout the state.

Also decked out in red and white and blue, with ribbons in his mane and tail, is Apollo Captain, Arlowyne's 12-year-old half Arabian, half quarter horse named after the Apollo spacecraft.

"When I'm Uncle Sam, I like to ride Captain because I'm carrying the flag and he's so quiet. I broke him in 1976 to ride in parades," smiles Arlowyne. "That's all he knows."

APOLLO CAPTAIN is only one of the seven horses Arlowyne raises on her farm seven miles west and one and a half north of Wayne.

Penny, a 12-year-old Tennessee Walker, is the horse Arlowyne prefers to ride in parades when she's attired in her old-fashioned English outfit, which is also handmade.

And although parade watchers are sure to notice the stately lady and her horse Penny, they may not notice the antique Somerset saddle Arlowyne sits atop.

"I don't know how old it is," says Arlowyne as she rubs her fingers across the well-preserved leather, "but it has to be over 150 years old. The saddle belonged to my great grandmother."

ALSO A FIXTURE in the hundreds of parades in which Arlowyne has appeared are June Bug, Sugar and Black Beauty.

"June Bug is a 10-year-old half Arabian and I won't try to tell you what other mixtures," chuckles Arlowyne, "but she's got a lot of fire."

Cocoa and Candy have also found a home on the Wingett farm. "Cocoa has never been in a parade," says

Arlowyne, "and Candy is for the kids to fool with when they come."

ARLOWYNE, WHO will celebrate her 80th birthday in November, says she can never remember a time when she wasn't surrounded by horses.

"I was born in this house and raised by my grandparents when my mother went to study medicine in St. Louis.

"Granddad Herren raised horses and hogs, and I was my granddad's shadow. When he got tired of me he'd just sit me up on a horse."

Following graduation from Carroll High School in 1925, Arlowyne married Glenn Wingett the following year and the young couple set out farming.

And always, always, there were horses.

SHORTLY AFTER her marriage, Arlowyne formed The Wingett Troupe and traveled throughout the area during the 1930's performing shows with Silver Rhythm and Black Mischief.

Pulling a flyer from her book of memories, the Wingett Troupe was billed as a good/clean show to thrill both young and old.

The unique show was also backed by the best references, and it's motto — "A bigger and better performance each year."

An unusual seven gaited American saddle bred stallion, Silver Rhythm displayed his seven gaits along with kneeling, bowing, pivot, mounting pedestal, lying down and sitting up.

Black Mischief, according to the flyer, picks up mistress' handkerchief and returns it, teeters, stands on a box with all four feet, poses for the removal of her saddle, rings a bell, kisses anyone, hurdles, gets dreadfully sick, rolls and groans, and finally shows us the way to go home.

"MY HORSES HELP keep me young," smiles Arlowyne as she sits at her dining room table surrounded by pictures and other mementos.

Arlowyne's passion for horses is readily evident to visitors to the Wingett home — from the brides hanging in the entryway to the horse calendar on the kitchen wall, the horse pillows lining the sofa, the horse figurines on the window sills, and the big horse belt buckle Arlowyne wears around her trim waistline.

Her face weathered from years in the sun, Arlowyne says she can't even begin to count how many parades in how many years time she's appeared in.

HER BUSIEST parade year was in 1976 when Arlowyne says she made 32 appearances that year alone in costume, including three parades on the same day.

"I was in Wayne's parade in the morning, then to Elgin, and then to Madison that evening."

That year was also the first year Arlowyne appeared in parades as Uncle Sam, in the costume she designed and made. "I made the hat first," smiles Arlowyne, "and I thought if I can make the hat I can make the rest."

Arlowyne said her biggest disappointment that first year as Uncle Sam was the shock of seeing how many people did not recognize the flag she carried — except for the servicemen. "It made me feel bad to think the country was in that kind of condition."

Since then, Arlowyne says she has seen an increase in patriotism. "Now people stand up, or they salute. It's wonderful."

"I STARTED RIDING in parades a long, long time ago," says Arlowyne, and the only time I was laid up was in 1983 when I broke my knee.

Arlowyne laughs now as she recalls the accident that halted her parade circuit for several months.

The accident occurred just prior to the start of a parade in Hartington as Arlowyne was running across a grassy field for a cup of coffee and tripped and fell.

"I broke my left knee and was hospitalized in Norfolk. While I was hospitalized, I fell out of bed and broke my right hip.

"It's the only time I've been injured and it didn't have anything to do with a horse," laughs Arlowyne. "People always said I'd end up killing myself on a horse."

ALTHOUGH HER knee still bothers her, and it's a tad more difficult to climb atop her horses,

Rich band jazzy, rich in talent

His hands were a blur as he went into his drum solo. For a time frame of about seven or eight minutes, he was able to get your foot tapping to the beat.

And then the sound subsided to almost a soft lullaby as he set up the audience for a grand finale.

The tempo was picked up again. He finished with a flurry that had the crowd in complete amazement.

The memorable show was over. On Tuesday night, a good attendance had witnessed a legend performing on stage at Rice Carlson Auditorium at Wayne State College. Buddy Rich, the nationally famed drummer, and his 15-member band kicked off the Wayne State College Black and Gold Series for 1986-87 with a rousing performance. His band's performance began at 8:10 p.m. and continued for nearly an hour and a half.

Rich didn't steal the show, however. His performance on the drums was complimented by the splendid solo numbers of the other band members. The trumpet, saxophone, trombone and piano players in Rich's band all had a part in making Rich's music come alive and vibrant.

Rich is 69 years old. Yet his age

Legislative issues discussed

by Chuck Hackenmilller

Economic development, sales tax on services, workers compensation and the liability crisis are several issues which could be before the upcoming 90th assembly of the Nebraska legislature.

About 24 people, representing area businesses and city administration, attended a legislative forum Tuesday afternoon at the Black Knight in Wayne. The event was sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry with assistance from the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Those attending the forum were surveyed in five areas — sales tax on services, unemployment compensation, worker's compensation, economic development and the liability crisis.

Also, the 24 individuals were asked who their choice was for Nebraska governor — Republican Kay Orr or Democrat Helen Boosalis. Of the 22 responding to the survey, 15 placed a vote for Orr while seven had a vote for Boosalis.

State Senator of District 17, Gerald Conway, appeared at the forum and spoke on several of the key issues that will be confronted by the upcoming legislature.

CONWAY said he doesn't believe the sales tax on services proposal would progress this year to the extent that it will encompass everything. If the choice comes to "limited" sales tax on services, Conway said he would respond to what his constituents preferred.

Some things which he said could be excluded from sales tax on services, he said, would be health care, legal services or agricultural concerns.

Projected revenue to the state from sales tax on services has ranged from as low as $10 million annually, on limited services, to over $100 million covering most services.

A strong majority of those at the Wayne meeting opposed sales tax on most services, while the count was more divided on placing a sales tax on limited services.

The service industry, Conway said, is "one of the fastest growing sectors in the state's economy."

Concerning the liability crisis, Conway said making whole changes in tort reform "is a little bit scary" and that changes in the tort reform could "create a system that will disrupt an extremely delicate balance."

NACI officials believe legislation will likely be introduced in the 1987 legislature to attempt to change some civil liability and procedure laws in an effort to alleviate the liability insurance cost situation for all Nebraskans.

THE MAJORITY of those attending the forum supported the following in regard to the liability crisis:

- Eliminating or limiting the joint and several liability rule (when a person sues all individuals associated with a claim, with those having the "deepest pockets" to provide the money for, the awards, even though they do not have the most responsibility in the dispute).
- Placing a cap on how much judges and/or juries can award for "non-economic" damages.
- Require a party to a lawsuit to pay all expenses incurred when the court determines the action or the defense to be "frivolous" or without any merit.

Conway, said he believes the burden, in this instance, should fall "on the attorney filing the case because he should have known better."

•Eliminate the collateral source rule. In this instance, the jury would not be notified when a plaintiff has received compensation from another source, such as a disability or health insurance policy.

•And to limit the contingency fee arrangement that many attorneys have with clients which sometimes are as high as 33 percent of 40 percent of an award going to the attorney.

Conway suggested that "the market take care of what the [attorney] fee is."

ANOTHER ISSUE possibly forthcoming concerns an inconsistency in the current state law that permits new or diversifying companies locating into Nebraska to receive a rebate of sales taxes paid on the purchase of manufacturing or processing machinery and equipment.

Established Nebraska companies do not get a sales tax rebate for the purchase of replacement machinery and equipment. Most of the individuals at the forum supported legislation granting a sales tax rebate to existing Nebraska companies, even though it could create a decrease in state revenue collections of up to $7 million annual.

Officers presiding over this year's meeting were Fred Schellpeper, Stanton, president; Beatrice Steinmeyer, Wisner, vice president; Veryl Jackson, Winside, secretary-treasurer; and Dale Schellpeper, Stanton, historian. Three births, one marriage and one death were reported during the past year. The oldest woman attending was Esther Schultz of Pierce, and the oldest man was Art Marozot of Stanton. Travelling the furthest and also the oldest unmarried person present was Jim Jackson of Lincoln. Also recognized were the Bob Schellpepers, Stanton, the largest family present; the Boyd Ebbersons, Coleridge, most recently married; and Fred Schellpeper, Stanton, whose birthday was nearest the reunion date. There also were three sets of twins present. Mr. and Mrs. William Steinmeyer of Wisner were honored in May for their 50th wedding anniversary and served refreshments during the reunion. Newly elected officers for 1987 are Dale Schellpeper, Stanton, president; Beatrice Steinmeyer, Wisner, vice president; Veryl Jackson, Winside, secretary-treasurer; and Hazel Schellpeper, Stanton, historian. The next reunion will be Sept. 27, 1987 at 12:30 p.m. at Stanton.

Adoption workshop in Omaha

"Adoption - From Dream to Reality" is the theme for a workshop slated Saturday, Oct. 25 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at St. Stanislaus Catholic Grade School, 4501 S. 41st St., Omaha. The workshop is sponsored by intercultural families. The conference will explore avenues for adopting infants, toddlers and older children. Information also will be provided by adoption agencies in the midwest for adopting locally and from foreign countries. Some of the topics covered will be adopting the older child, adoption of siblings, single parent adoption, bonding with your child, how to start the adoption process, adopting through foster care, and explaining adoption to your child. Couples may pre-register by sending $5 to David Dysinger, 4817 Borman St., Omaha, Neb., 68157. Cost for singles is $3. Registrations also will be accepted at the door at a charge of $6 per couple and $4 per single parent.

First Trinity LWML meets

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona, met Oct. 2. Attending were 10 members and the Rev. Ricky Bertels. Doris Pflueger was hostess. Clara Heinemann led in prayer and presented the lesson, "Learning From the Scriptures," taken from the LWML Quarterly. The group sang "How Precious is the Book Divine." President Esther Thompson read "Millions of Mites" from the Quarterly, and the group repeated the LWML pledge as the mite box collection was taken. LWML Sunday will be observed Oct. 12, and all LWML members will sit together as a group and will sing the LWML hymn. Members were reminded of the Fall Rally, scheduled Oct. 21 at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Laurel. Seven members attended guest day at Immanuel Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, on Sept. 18. Next meeting will be Nov. 6 at 1:30 p.m. with election of treasurer and vice president.

Frese-Edelman exchange vows at Methodist Church in Wayne

The First United Methodist Church in Wayne was the site of the marriage of Joel Frese and Curtis Edelman on Sept. 27. Parents of the couple are Ivan and Hollis Frese of Wayne, and M. C. Edelman of Pierre, S. D., and the late Connie Edelman. The Rev. Keith Johnson officiated at the 5:30 p.m. ceremony. A large floral arrangement of burgundy carnations and rubrum lilies centered the altar, flanked by a candelabra accented with greenery. Two additional candelabras were adorned to match the altar bouquet. Boston ferns, potted white chrysanthemums and a ficus tree also were used in decorations.

THE BRIDE was escorted down the aisle by her father. For her wedding day, she chose a white satin gown accented with Venice and schiffli lace, featuring a jewel neckline. The elongated basque bodice was handbeaded with pearls and sequins, and the high rise Parisian shirred sleeves ended in elongated cuffs.

The A-line skirt with embroidered appliques swept back into a cathedral train edged with lace. The bride chose a small rolled brim hat of matching lace incrustated with pearls and accented with silk flowers, a fingertip bridal illusion veil and illusion pouf. She carried a cascade of rubrum lilies and white stephanotis, accented with burgundy sweetheart roses, greenery and long, white streamers.

MAID OF HONOR was Julie Jensen of LaVista, and bridesmaids were Kathleen Nelson of Lincoln and Kris Smith of Pender. They wore burgundy taffeta frocks designed with sweetheart necklines and elbow-length shirred sleeves trimmed with handmade roses. Tea-length full circular skirts fell from natural waistlines encircled with cummerbunds. Each carried a crescent bouquet of rubrum lilies accented with small-fl leaves, long spears of airplane plant, and burgundy and white streamers. CRAIG EDELMAN of Sioux Falls, S. D. served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Victor Deuter of Las Vegas, Nev. and John Beranek of Morris, Minn. Ushering guests into the church were Rick Luff of Wayne and Tom Beranek of Brookings, S. D. The men in the wedding party were attired in gray tuxedos with gray satin bow ties and cummerbunds. The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with a white satin bow tie and cummerbund. The bride's mother chose a mauve street-length dress trimmed in plum. Her corsage was a lavender alstromeria with plum ribbons.

FOLLOWING THE wedding, a buffet reception was held in the Wayne National Guard Armory. Hosts were Donald and Barbara Jo Pedersen of Wayne, and Randi and Carolyn Forman of Miller, S. D. Jill Luff of Orchard was seated at the guest book, and gift bearers were Valerie Rahn and Joel Pedersen, both of Wayne. Serving cake were Lorraine Johnson and Norma Lanke of Wayne, and Mary Beranek of Miller, S. D. Cheryl Duff of Orchard and Della Wade of Lincoln poured, and Barb Beranek of Miller, S. D. served punch. Helping with the buffet were Marjorie Summers, Jocell Bull and Sue Wert.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Edelman

A dance followed the reception. Following a trip to the Ozarks, the newlyweds will make their home in Omaha.

Grandson married in South Dakota

Stacy Lee Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cummings, and Richard Earl Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anderson, all of Rapid City, S. D., were married Sept. 27 in 2 o'clock double ring rites in Chapel I at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S. D. The bridegroom is the grandson of Joe and Rose Rieken of Wayne, who attended the ceremony. The Rev. Rick Johnson officiated, and music was provided by Peggy Bilger and Sally Razor. Decorations included an altar vase of purple and white carnations. The pews were marked with white lace and bows.

THE BRIDE WAS given in marriage by her father and wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with long tapered sleeves, a high lace neckline, and a circular train of matching Chantilly. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a lace petal headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and crystals. She carried an arrangement of white and purple carnations with daisies and baby's breath. MAID OF HONOR was Belinda Gifford, and bridesmaid was Tonya Eichman, both of Rapid City. They wore floor-length frocks of deep purple brocade satin. Brent Anderson of Rapid City served his brother as best man, and groomsmen was Jeff Lecker of Rapid City. The bridegroom and his attendants wore silver gray tuxedos with purple ties and cummerbunds. The bridegroom's boutonniere was a purple carnation with a white rose, and his attendants wore boutonnières of purple carnations. The bride's mother chose a long dusty rose crepe dress with an over-the-shoulder cape. The bridegroom's mother selected a light blue dress in floor length designed with a draped neckline and pearls on the bodice. Each wore a corsage of white roses and lace. A RECEPTION for 100 guests was held in the Chapel I annex following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by friends of the bride. Valerie Anderson cut and served the cake. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Douglas High of Ellsworth Air Force Base. Following a short wedding trip, they will reside at Rt. 5-Box 810, Rapid City, S. D. The bridegroom will be entering the Air Force this winter.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area. We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication. Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all wedding and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 30 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a collage underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Wakefield, Altona minister installed

The Rev. Ricky Bertels was installed as pastor of the First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona, and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, during services Sunday evening, Sept. 28 at First Trinity Church. Officiant at the installation service was Dr. Eldor Meyer, president of the Nebraska District Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The Rev. Steve Kramer of Immanuel Church, Wakefield, delivered the sermon, and liturgist was the Rev. Michael Gruhn of St. John's Church, Pilger. Lectors were the Rev. Jon Vogel and the Rev. Jim Pennington of Grace Church, Wayne. Also assisting were the Rev. John Fale of St. Paul's, Winside, and the Rev. David Boisclair of Jonesburg, Mo. Other pastors in attendance were the Rev. Charles Yungans and the Rev. Ernest Yungans, both of Hayfield, Minn. SPECIAL MUSIC for the service included several piano-organ duets. Organist was Mrs. Don Siefken, and pianist was Mrs. Arnold Siefken. A fellowship hour followed, hosted by elders and their wives. A noon potluck dinner will be served on Sunday, Oct. 12 at First Trinity, Altona, to get acquainted with Pastor Bertels. A grocery shower for Pastor Bertels also is planned at that time. PASTOR BERTELS comes from Dorsey, Ill. He graduated in May of this year from Concordia Seminary, and was ordained on July 13. He served a year of theological internship at Christ Lutheran Church, Bouton, Iowa. Following graduation from high school, Bertels enrolled in 1978 at St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo., and completed his associate of arts degree. He received his bachelor of arts degree in 1980 from Concordia College, St. Paul, Minn., and began his studies at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., in 1980.

American Legion Auxiliary

Winside unit hosts county convention

The Winside Legion Hall was the site of the Wayne County American Legion Auxiliary Convention on Oct. 7.

County President Julie Kant called the meeting to order. Chaplain Doris Marotz had prayer, followed with a moment of silent prayer for the deceased.

Members recited the flag salute and preamble, and Helen Holtgrew accompanied group singing of the national anthem.

Roll call of units in the county showed one member attending from Carroll Unit 165, eight members from Wayne Unit 43, and 14 members from Winside Unit 252. Two guests also were present.

OTHER COUNTY officers were introduced by President Kant and include Mrs. Lynn Roberts, Carroll, vice president; and MARTYNN Brockman, Winside, secretary.

District III President Arlene Lundahl of Emerson introduced past Wayne County presidents attending, including Evelyn Thompson and Marie Brugger, both of Wayne, and Vera Mann, Charlotte Wylie, and Dorothy Jo Andersen, all of Winside. Minutes of the 1985 convention were read, followed with a Gold Star program conducted by Chaplain Marotz. Honored during the program were Lillie Swinney, Eveline Thompson and Helen Hupp, all of Wayne. Mrs. Thompson was present and received a flower.

Members sang "America the Beautiful," followed with unit reports by Helen Stiefken of Wayne, Vera Mann of Winside, and Joanne Owens of Carroll.

THE DISTRICT III president presented a brief summary on the convention she attended in Kearney and the leadership school held at Gretna. She urged districts to complete memberships for the year. The District III president's special project for the year is show cases for the Norfolk Veterans Home. To date, three of the new show cases have been put to use.

Speaking on behalf of the Norfolk Veterans Home, Mabel Sommerfeld of Wayne reported that items needed include bibs, booties, men's handkerchiefs, lap robes, and hospital gowns made from old men's shirts. Cookies also are welcome.

A MEMORIAL service was conducted by Chaplain Marotz for members who have died during the past year.

Honored were Audrey Fredrickson of Carroll, and Thelma Bradford, Hazel Smith and Emma Soules, all of Wayne.

The memorial service included singing of "How Great Thou Art," the Lord's Prayer, and taps on the piano.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF upcoming events included the department commander's homecoming at Gretna on Oct. 25; Appreciation Day at the Norfolk Veterans Home on Nov. 2; Norfolk Veterans Dollar Day on Nov. 7; Gifts for Yanks Who Gave on Dec. 19; the mid-winter conference in Wayne on Jan. 10-12; the department convention in Grand Island next June; and the national convention in San Antonio, Texas next August.

Chaplain Marotz gave the closing prayer, followed with singing of "America." The Winside unit served lunch.

CARROLL WILL host the 1987 county convention, with the date to be announced.

New county officers for 1987 are Mrs. Glen Roberts, Carroll, president; and Helen Stiefken, Wayne, vice president.

Segura-Swanson

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Segura of Shawnee Mission, Kan. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne announce the engagement of their children, Becky and Lon.

The bride-elect is a 1981 graduate of Bishop Ward High School and attended Kansas State University and Rockhurst College. She is employed as a legal secretary for Oppenheimer Industries in Kansas City, Mo.

Her fiancé is a 1980 graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and a 1984 graduate of the University of Nebraska. He is employed as an agri-manager for Oppenheimer Industries.

A Nov. 29 wedding is planned in Kansas City, Kan.

bridal showers

Ellen Woockman

Ellen Woockman of Pueblo, Colo. was honored with a bridal card shower on Sept. 30 at the Hoskins fire hall. Twenty guests attended from Norfolk and Hoskins.

Decorations included a quilted money tree in fall colors and floral arrangements. The bride's mother, Mrs. Phyllis Woockman of Hoskins, poured for the luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Richard Doffin Sr., Mrs. Harold Brudigan and Mrs. Lane Marotz.

Miss Woockman and David Timme were married Oct. 4 at Grace Lutheran Church in Pueblo, Colo.

Kristi Carson

Forty guests attended a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Kristi Carson of Wakefield on Oct. 5 in the Columbus Federal meeting room in Wayne. Decorations were in blue and white.

Miss Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arland Carson of Wakefield, and Ed Foote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foote of Wayne, are planning an Oct. 17 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Laurie Breitkreutz

October bride-elect Laurie Breitkreutz of Wisner was presented a grocery shower Oct. 5 in the Bill Greve home, Wakefield, with 25 guests attending.

Hostesses, who presented the honoree with a corsage in the colors of red, white and black, were Mrs. Bill Greve, Mrs. Eugene Barfels, Carol Greve and Diana Greve, all of Wakefield, and Mrs. Dennis Ronspies of Pierce.

The program included pencil games and two readings, entitled "What is Marriage?" and "Understanding Your Farmer Husband."

Miss Breitkreutz will become the bride of Jeff Greve of Wisner on Oct. 25 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wisner.

Square dance festival

The Northeast Nebraska Square and Round Dance Federation will hold its fall festival on Sunday, Oct. 12 in the old gymnasium at Laurel-Concord High School. Admission is $5 for couples and $2.50 for singles.

Caller will be Ernie Gross of Syracuse, and registration will begin at 2 p.m.

There will be a round dance workshop from 2 to 3:30 p.m.; a square dance workshop from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.; requested round dancing from 7 to 8 p.m.; and a grand march and mainstream dancing from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Lunch will be served at 10:30.

THE TOWN Twirlers Square Dance Club held its annual fall festival on Oct. 5 in the Laurel city auditorium with Jerry Junck of Carroll and Duane Nelsen of Norfolk calling.

Hosts were old and new officers, including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Potter of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Roberts of Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Delfesen of Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Junck and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fork, all of Carroll.

Next Town Twirlers dance will be Sunday, Oct. 19. Dean Dederman of Norfolk will call, and hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Delfesen of Laurel and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fahrenholz of Allen.

Blue Devils roll, but don't frank

The Blue Devils have won three games in a row, have outscored their opponents 44-7 during that stretch and are coming off an emotional and thrilling 7-0 overtime victory over previously undefeated North Bend.

But they still aren't one of the top 10 teams in Class B, at least according to Omaha World Herald prep writer and rater Larry Porter.

Lionie Ehrhardt, Wayne's head coach, said Monday that he didn't expect his Blue Devils to be ranked in Tuesday's World Herald because he said most consider the southern schools to have tougher schedules.

"We have a tough schedule, but most people down south think those schools have tougher ones," he said. "To give you an example, two years ago we were rated No. 1 in the state, and after we beat West Point 7-0 we still dropped to seventh in the ratings."

Half the teams in the top 10 have 4-1 records, just like the Blue Devils. But Wayne's only defeat is a 38-14 loss to No. 1 ranked Schuyler.

The game was obviously one-sided, but all of Schuyler's games have been one-sided, according to Ehrhardt.

"Our loss to Schuyler naturally has a bearing in us not being ranked. Without that loss we're undefeated," he said. "But we played Schuyler just as well, if not better, than anybody else has."

Ehrhardt said the Blue Devils have been calling the game a Cinderella because nobody expected them to be 4-1 at this point. Nobody, that is, except Ehrhardt.

"It's kind of funny, the kids even say they're a Cinderella team because no one expected this fast start," he said. "But I honestly thought we could be 4-1 by now. We have a tough schedule, but the kids play hard and they play together."

Ehrhardt admits that he and the players notice who is and who isn't rated, but said the most important thing on his mind are the next couple of games and Wayne's chances of qualifying for the playoffs.

"I think it would be nice to be rated because then the players wouldn't have to be concerned with it — the less on their mind, the better. But we're most concerned with the LeMars game this Friday and next week's Fremont-Bergan contest," he said.

"If we win those two games, I'm sure we'll receive strong consideration for the top 10, but most importantly, we'll be in even better shape for a playoff berth."

As of last week, Wayne's chances of qualifying for post season play looked pretty good.

As far as playoff point totals is concerned, Wayne is seventh in Class B with 42. Bennington leads the Class B ranks with 46 points.

Sixteen teams make the playoffs — seven conference champions and nine wild card squads.

The Blue Devils will have another tough test to pass this week, however, as the Bulldogs are ranked No. 9 in Iowa's Class 3A ratings and sport a 4-1 record.

But, regardless if Wayne makes the playoffs or not, Ehrhardt said he and the players are striving for only one goal.

"We've been successful and a lot of that has to do with the fan support and everybody encouraging us. We're shooting for the playoffs, but if we make it, that'll just be icing on the cake," he said.

"We're just taking one game at a time — each one as it comes along. And the main thing we're trying for is to have fun."

Wow! Wakefield and Allen combine for 114 points

ALLEN — If a lot of scoring and a lot of offense is your "bag," then Saturday night's Allen/Wakefield match-up was a perfect game as the two teams combined for 114 points and 682 total yards in just two and one-half quarters.

Wakefield held a 64-20 lead at intermission before claiming an 80-34 victory. The game was called midway through the third period because of the 45-point rule after the Trojans scored their last touchdown and a two-point PAT.

Wakefield scored everytime it had the ball in the first half, except for when time ran out on the Trojans in the second quarter.

Randy Kinney got things started for Wakefield when he reached pay dirt from eight yards out and Brad Lund added a two-point PAT.

Lund then scored from 11 yards out and Todd Kratke followed with a PAT boot, but Allen's Jyoti Kwankin caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from Max Oswald to make the score 15-6.

However, Lund added another touchdown, this time from 45 yards, and Kratke followed with a one-yard touchdown run and a PAT to make the Trojans' lead to 22, 28-6, at the end of the first period.

Allen scored two touchdowns and a two-point PAT in the second frame, but Wakefield "ran crazy" and stacked on 36 points for a 64-20 half-time lead, which missed ending the game by just one point.

Lund, who was named the Wayne Herald's athlete of the month for September, picked up where he left off in the first quarter by scoring the second period's first touchdown from 32 yards.

Tony Halverson followed Lund's touchdown with a 25-yard run and Kratke added a PAT boot.

Kwankin pulled the Eagles within 28, 41-12, when he scampered 32 yards to pay dirt. But Lund followed with a 42-yard touchdown run. Halverson added a 32-yard touchdown run and Kinney scored a two-point PAT to put the game out of reach, 55-12.

Kwankin and the rest of the Eagles refused to quit, however, as Kwankin scored on a 33-yard run and Kurt Lund added a two-point PAT.

But Wakefield's Raymond Ferguson rounded out the first half scoring with a 39-yard run and Kinney added another two-point PAT. Despite trailing by 44 at intermission, Allen ushered in the second half with 14 quick points.

Matt Hingst, a freshman, scored from 13 yards out and Oswald added a two-point PAT.

Wakefield then fumbled on its next possession and Allen recovered. Then just moments later, Rusty Dickens, another Eagle freshman, scored from one yard out to make the score 64-34.

But the Trojans snapped out of their stagnant play of the second half by scoring the game's final 16 points.

Matt Tappe hit Scott Lund with a 47 yard touchdown pass and Halverson added a two-pointer, then Halverson scored on a nine-yard run and added the game-ending two-point PAT.

Dennis Wilbur, Wakefield's head coach, said he didn't expect his club to score so many points, and added he was pleased with his club's total team effort.

"We needed the conference win, and I thought we would win, but we basically only ran five plays so I was surprised we scored so many points," he said. "But all the kids played hard. Six different kids scored, and 23 kids were in on tackles so it was a good team win."

Lund turned in another outstanding performance stacking up 182 yards on just eight carries for an average of nearly 24 yards a tote.

Tony Halverson followed Lund with 84 yards on five carries, while Kratke totaled 65 yards on five totes. Wakefield finished with 437 yards rushing and completed its only pass for 47 yards and a touchdown.

Halverson and Doug Roberts led the Trojan defense with five tackles apiece, while John Wriedt, Ferguson and Lund each finished with four stops. Wriedt also intercepted a pass for the Trojans.

Defense keys Wayne past West

SOUTH SIOUX CITY — Wayne's defensive effort made a 180 degree shift between its two matches during the South Sioux City Invitational here

Tuesday as the Lady Blue Devils struggled in their opening 13-15, 15-6, 4-15 loss to Sioux City Heelan, but turned it around in their 15-3, 15-5 consolation victory over Sioux City West.

It was evident early on that the Lady Blue Devils weren't their usual aggressive self on defense and as a result, they fell behind 2-7 and 13-6 in the opening set.

But Wayne responded to a Mariene Uhing timeout by tying the game at 13. However, the Lady Crusaders used a pair of long volleys to claim the final two points and the first set triumph.

Uhing said that in addition to poor defense, her club wasn't communicating well in the early going.

"After we were down 13-6, we just started playing better defense and started talking to each other better," she said. "That, along with 10 serving errors, cost us the loss to Heelan."

The Wayne skipper was quick to add, however, that Heelan played a fine game.

"You have to praise Heelan. They outlasted us, forced us into a lot of mistakes and played very good defense," she said.

Amy Schluns finished with a team-high 12 points for Wayne on 16-of-17 serving.

Marnie Bruggeman led the squad in setting going 50-for-50 with 18 assists, with most of her sets going to Shelly Pick and Kecia Corbit who finished 39-for-42 and 38-for-42 in spiking, respectively.

Corbit and Pick also combined for 23 kills, including 13 by Corbit.

The second set was completely opposite for the Lady Blue Devils as

A busy Sunday for Sid Hillier

By John Prather
Sports Editor

Most people reserve Sundays for relaxation or family gatherings. And some "energetic" souls might use a Sunday for yard work or house cleaning.

But this coming Sunday, Sid Hillier of Wayne will run 26 miles and 385 yards in the fifth annual Twin Cities Marathon in Minneapolis.

Although the marathon will be Hillier's longest race ever, running is nothing new to the Wayne chiropractor.

Hillier has run over 1,500 miles each of the last five years, and tries to average approximately 50 miles a week. But he admits that just finishing the race will be an accomplishment.

"Finishing is my No. 1 goal," he said. "I'd like to finish somewhere around three hours and 30 minutes. And if I feel real good, 3:10 would be nice because that's the qualifying time for my age bracket in the Boston Marathon. But I'm not shooting for a Boston Marathon bid, I just want to finish."

The 45-year-old has paid his dues for Sunday's event. In addition to running over 6,500 miles the past five years, he has recently ran to Laurel and from Wayne to Wakefield and back.

The Wakefield jaunt — Hillier's longest — was approximately 20 miles, which is still over six miles shorter than a marathon. But Hillier said the hilly terrain from Wayne to Wakefield should be excellent preparation for Sunday.

"The Minneapolis course is relatively flat, so although the run to Wakefield and back is shorter, the hills should equal the two out," he said. "At least I like to think it will."

Hillier said most, if not all, of his conditioning and exercising is centered on distance running.

"I don't do many exercises, and short running or interval work isn't the most pleasant," he chuckled. "But it's basically a time thing. Running 50 miles a week equals about 10 hours, and that adds up to another work day, so I don't have time to do those other things."

Hillier has competed — and has competed well — in 17 other shorter races this year. In addition to winning six titles, he has placed in the top three in every race.

The Twin Cities Marathon is host this year to the United States Marathon Championships for men and women, which are qualifying races for the teams that will represent the United States in 1987 in the World Championships in Rome and, for women, the World Cup in Seoul.

But with 5,999 other athletes competing, Hillier's chances of accomplishing such laurels are obviously remote. And he isn't participating for any rewards — except self satisfaction.

But trying to define the satisfaction one gains by crossing the finish line after running 26 miles and 385 yards is impossible to describe unless one has also endured such an event — nothing else compares to it, there are no examples one can use.

But a slogan found in the Twin Cities Marathon Runner's Guide describes best why Hillier and all others compete in such events.

Of the thousands who enter a big marathon, only a few can turn in world-class times. And only one can win.

What are all those other runners doing there?

With no hope of winning, they endure the same agony as the elite athlete. They hurt as much. They try as hard. They quietly pay a similar price for success — yet the greatest success they can hope for is a new "best."

Why do they do it?

Because winning isn't a matter of outperforming others. It's a matter of outdoing yourself.

And when all is said and done, "personal best" is all that counts.

SID HILLIER of Wayne will compete in the fifth annual Twin Cities Marathon at Minneapolis this Sunday. Hillier has competed in 17 shorter races this year, winning six. But his main goal on Sunday is to finish.

Lady Blue Devils make the most of long day by winning the Tilden Invite TILDEN — Saturday turned out to be one long day for Wayne's volleyball team. After boarding the bus at 7 a.m., the Lady Blue Devils didn't return home until 11 p.m. But the long lay over between games didn't unravel Wayne as they won the Tilden Invitational.

After creaming Humphrey and Elgin Pope John in the first two matches, Wayne dropped a 13-15 first set loss to Madison in the championship round.

But the Lady Blue Devils bounced back in fine fashion by capturing the last two frames 15-11, 15-11 for the title.

The entire championship match was close, and Wayne's backs were against the wall in the rubber set.

After tying the score at eight, Madison tallied three unanswered points to open an 11-8 advantage. But Wayne fought back by scoring the final seven points to capture the title.

An indication of just how well both teams played in the title round are Marnie Bruggeman's statistics for the matches—the 5-4 junior finished 108-for-111 in setting with 30 assists.

Marlene Uhing, Wayne's head coach, said the match was an outstanding one for both teams and added that the difference was her club's impressive defensive effort.

"It was an outstanding match to watch. Both teams played very well. The match started at 8 p.m. and ended at 9:30 p.m. The difference for us was our defense. The girls were diving all over the place and did a great job on defense," she said.

"I was especially happy to see that defensive effort. We've been working a lot on our defense because we're going to need good defense down the stretch."

Bruggeman and Dana Nelson led Wayne in scoring with 11 points apiece on 14-of-16 and 15-of-17 serving, respectively.

Shelly Pick added nine points on 17-of-18 serving, and finished with a team-high 13 aces on 43-of-48 spiking.

Kecia Corbit, the other half of Wayne's strong hitting attack, totaled 12 kills on 45-of-51 spiking.

An interesting twist at the end of the third set, however, came when the 5-11 Corbit led Bruggeman for an ace spike to supply Wayne with a 14-11 lead.

Nelson followed by scoring the final point when Madison couldn't return her serve.

The first two matches were "cake walks" for the Lady Blue Devils. After pouncing Humphrey 15-2, 15-4, Wayne ripped Elgin Pope John 15-1, 15-2 in the semifinals.

The key to the Humphrey match, according to Uhing, was the Lady Bulldogs' inability to handle Wayne's serving.

"The first match started at 8 a.m., so both teams were kind of sloppy," she said. "But Humphrey had a rough time returning our serves and serving."

Wayne's individual statistics reflect that as Pick led the Lady Blue Devils in hitting with a 5-for-6 effort and one ace, while Corbit went 4-for-5.

Bruggeman went 8-for-8 in setting with two assists.

Sarah Peterson scored a team-high 12 points and ripped six aces on 13-of-14 serving, while Amy Schluns scored seven points, ripped two aces and finished 10-for-11.

Despite blowing Humphrey away, Wayne's easiest match was its semifinal game against Elgin Pope John in which the Lady Blue Devils breezed to a 15-1, 15-2 triumph.

Uhing said the most significant factor to the semifinal victory was her club's enthusiasm.

"The girls lost to Elgin Pope John in the championship last year, so they were very fired-up for Saturday's match and really took it to them," she said.

Bruggeman scored a team-high 17 points on 17 perfect serves. She also added five ace serves, went 17-for-18 in setting and totaled 11 assists.

Amy Schluns scored eight points, totaled four assists and went 10-for-11 in serving.

Corbit went 14-for-15 in spiking with seven kills, and Pick added a 6-for-7 effort with five aces.

Uhing was impressed with Wayne's championship victory over Madison, and called the Lady Dragons one of the better teams the Lady Blue Devils have faced this year.

"Madison has four girls approximately 5-10. They run a 6-2 offense and do a good job. They're one of the best teams we faced this season," she said.

The Wayne skipper added that in addition to defense, the Lady Blue Devils' practice habits since losing to West Point was a key to the victory.

"We played outstanding perimeter defense and did a good job of blocking at the net," she said. "Another key was the way we practiced the past week. We practiced very hard and enthusiastically last Wednesday and Thursday. I told the girls last week that you play the way you practice, so that helped."

Wayne is now 10-2 on the season. The Lady Blue Devils played at the South-Sioux City Invitational Tuesday night, and play again next Tuesday at Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Wayne's sophomores split at South Sioux City

SOUTH SIOUX CITY — Wayne's sophomore volleyball team placed third at the South-Sioux City Invitational here Monday.

After losing to Sioux City Heelan 4-15, 11-15, the Lady Blue Devils dealt Sioux City West a 15-3, 15-7 loss in the consolation round.

In the opener, Kristi Hansen led Wayne in scoring with seven points and finished 24-for-25 in setting with four assists.

Karmyn Koenig and Robin Luit led the Lady Blue Devils in spiking going 7-for-8 and 7-for-10, respectively. Koenig added two kills, while Luit totaled a team-high five.

Heidi Reeg led Wayne in scoring against West with eight points. She finished 10-for-11 in setting with three aces.

Julie Wessel led the Lady Blue Devils in spiking with a 6-for-8 performance, and four kills, while Hansen went 15-for-15 in setting with two assists.

Team depth boosts Lady Eagles past Bancroft-Rosalie in third set

BANCROFT — Allen head coach Gary Troth has a lot of faith in his bench. And it's a good thing because the difference in the Lady Eagle's 11-15, 15-11, 16-14 victory over Bancroft-Rosalie here Tuesday night proved to be Allen's depth.

Allen held a seemingly comfortable 13-5 lead in the final set. But Bancroft refused to quit and battled back to tie the game at 14.

Seven of Troth's top 10 players were out of the game at that point because they had exceeded their three rotation limitations. But Troth didn't fret.

"Lots of coaches would be scared to death at that point because so many starters were out," he said. "But my 'B' players handle the pressure real well, and they did again against Bancroft."

Reserves Liz Hansen, Kris Blohm, Angie Jones and Lisa Boyle joined regulars Tiffany Harder and Nikki Olesen by scoring the third set's final two points to preserve the victory.

Allen struggled in the first set, but after dropping an 11-15 decision, Troth inserted a different, quicker lineup.

"We started sophomores Amy Noe, Missy Martinson and Candace Jones along with seniors Kristi Chase, Barb Hansen and Tiffany Harder in the second set to give us more quickness," he said. "That's the lineup I used at the Newcastle Tournament and it was successful then."

It proved to be successful again Tuesday night as the Lady Eagles captured a 15-11 victory before claiming the final set by two markers.

Many other Allen players also figured into Troth's attack, and five Lady Eagles scored five or more points.

Harder tallied a team-high 10 markers, while Noe scored seven, Barb Hansen totaled six and Boyle and Deb Uehling both added five.

"Several of the girls like Deb and Lisa only play certain positions at certain times, so their point totals show they're responding well to pressure situations," Troth said.

Barb Hansen led Allen in hitting with eight kills on 24-of-32 spiking. Martinson finished 11-for-13 with five kills, while Chase went 10-for-13 with two kills and Harder finished 9-for-11 with four kills.

Olesen, who is steadily turning into one of the area's better setters, finished a perfect 63-for-63.

Allen made it a clean sweep by winning the 'B' match 15-2, 15-7 and the 'C' match 11-6, 11-0.

Boyle and Jones led the Lady Eagles' 'B' team with 10 and seven points, respectively, while Becca Stingley scored a team-high 15 points in the 'C' match.

Stingley amazingly scored all 11 of Allen's points in the second set as Bancroft could not return a single serve.

The victory improved Allen's varsity record to 8-4 on the year. The Lady Eagles play again Tuesday night at Newcastle.

Wakefield downs Osmond in three

OSMOND — Wakefield overcame a spirited attack by Osmond in the second set to claim a 15-7, 10-15, 15-6 triumph over the Lady Tigers here Tuesday night.

After capturing the eight point victory in the first set, Wakefield appeared to be in excellent shape for a sweep as the Lady Trojans held an 8-0 lead in the second frame.

But Osmond improved its hitting and defense and went on to outscore Wakefield 15-2 to force a rubber set.

"We were up 8-0, and then Osmond really started playing well," Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton said. "You have to give them credit, they started blocking our spikes and started hitting well and turned the whole thing around."

Wakefield proved to be too much, however, as the Lady Trojans claimed the third set, 15-6.

Desiree Salmon led Wakefield in scoring with 13 points on 13-of-15 serving. Marci Greve followed with nine markers on 11-of-12 serving.

Those were the only three serves Wakefield missed on the night as the Lady Trojans finished serving 95 percent as a team.

Kodi Nelson led Wakefield's hitters with four kills on 10-of-10 spiking.

Valorie Krusemark turned in a fine passing night, going 12-for-14. "Val turned some difficult situations into nice passes for our setters," Eaton said.

Steph Torczon led Wakefield in setting with a 25-for-30 effort.

Wakefield made it a clean sweep by winning the 'B' match 15-10, 12-15, 17-15 and winning the 'C' match 11-1, 10-12, 11-8.

Melany Kuhl led Wakefield's 'B' team with 11 points on 19-of-21 serving, while Julie Greve led the Lady Trojans' 'C' team with 10 markers on 17-of-18 serving.

Wakefield, now 8-1 on the year and ranked eighth in Class C-1 by the Omaha World Herald and ranked fourth in Northeast Nebraska by the Norfolk Daily News, entertains 3-6 Laurel Thursday night.

Spiking troubles cost Lady Bears

HARTINGTON — A poor spiking performance by Laurel cost the Lady Bears an 8-15, 13-15 loss to Hartington here Tuesday night.

Laurel only finished with a 69 percent in spiking as a team. Head coach Carroll Manganaro said her club usually hits in the 80 percentile.

"We didn't spike like we usually do. We're usually somewhere in the 80 percent as a team," she said. "And we only had two or three girls that had a lot of spikes, and usually it's more spread around than that."

Several poor spikes in the first set resulted in Hartington opening a quick 6-0 lead. The Lady Wildcats then built a 10-0 advantage before capturing the seven point triumph.

Laurel's problems carried over in to the second frame as Hartington built a 12-7 advantage. However, the Lady Bears finally snapped out of it and scored the next six points to open a 13-12 lead.

But Hartington regrouped and scored the set's final three markers for the victory.

Manganaro said that although her club lost, she was pleased with their efforts when they trailed by large margins.

"Even though we trailed 10-0, the girls played every point with enthusiasm and never quit," she said.

Amy Adkins led Laurel in scoring with 10 points on 12-of-14 serving and added three kills on 6-of-8 spiking.

Becky Christensen added three kills for Laurel on 9-of-13 spiking, while Tami Schmitt went 9-for-11 with one kill.

Laurel did win the 'B' and 'C' matches. The Lady Bear 'B' squad captured a 15-5, 15-12 triumph, while the 'C' team won 11-2, 10-12, 11-8.

Shelly Watter led the Lady Bear 'B' team in scoring with 10 points, while Shana Carstensen led the 'C' team with seven markers.

Manganaro said that although the first set of the 'B' game was slow paced, she was pleased with her club's victory and added that she was especially impressed with Laurel's spiking in the second set of the 'B' match.

The Lady Bear varsity dropped to 3-6 on the year. Laurel plays again Thursday at Wakefield.

"I really wanted to beat Hartington to get us started out right because we play four matches in 10 days," Manganaro said. "But we'll just have to take them as they come."

Wayne

their hustle and scrambling enabled them to dominate the Lady Wolverines.

"I was happy with the way the girls played in the second match," Uhing said. "You never come to a tournament not expecting to win, so it's tough playing consolation games. But they played with better intensity."

Schluns and Pick both scored nine points, going 11-for-13 and 10-for-11 in serving, respectively.

Bruggeman made it a perfect day by finishing the second match 36-for-36 in setting with 13 assists. But Uhing added that a lot of Wayne's spikes came on oversets by West.

"West had trouble setting the ball for their own girls," she said. "They had a lot of oversets, and Kecia put a lot of those down."

Corbit led the Lady Blue Devils in spiking with nine kills, while Pick totaled four.

Wayne, now 11-3 on the year, plays again Thursday at O'Neill. Thursday's match is the first conference test for the Lady Blue Devils this season.

"We don't have a conference tournament this year, so I go head-to-head," Uhing said. "So Thursday's match is a big one for us, just like all the other conference matches are."

sports briefs

Wakefield spikers ranked No. 8

Wakefield's volleyball team is ranked No. 8 by the Omaha World Herald in Class C-1. The Lady Trojans own a 7-1 record.

Wayne's volleyball team has been ranked in the top 10 in Class B most of the season, but fell out of the rankings after losing to West Point last Tuesday night.

First NAC event Friday

The first Northern Activities Conference (NAC) event will be held at the Wayne Country Club on Friday, Oct. 10, when Wayne hosts the conference cross country meet.

Other teams that will compete in the event are Hartington, O'Neill and South Sioux City.

Calcavecchia wins golf tourney

ABILENE — Laurel native Mark Calcavecchia won the Southwest Classic-Golf Tournament here Sept. 28 and in the process, claimed $72,000 in prize money.

The 26-year-old shot a 71 on the final day for a four-round total of 275, which is 13 strokes under par.

The win pushes Calcavecchia's 1986 winnings to $142,512. He is now eligible to compete in any and all tournaments on the American tour, including such elite events as the Masters, U.S. Open, World Series of Golf and the Tournament of Champions.

Lange wins football contest

Jim Lange of Norfolk won last week's Wayne Herald Football Contest by missing just four selections.

Kevin Hausmann of Wayne placed second with five misses. Others who missed five include: Dennis Rickett, Ponca; Leland Lilbbe, West Point; Steve Lutt, Wayne; Viola Meyer, Wayne; and Roger Echtenkamp, Wakefield.

Mike Larson qualifies

WAKEFIELD — Mike Larson of Wakefield was recently notified by the State Olympics headquarters that he is one of 35 athletes who has been chosen to represent Nebraska at the International Summer Olympics at Notre Dame University and St. Mary's College in South Bend, Ind.

Mike, the son of Randy and Diane Larson, has been competing in the local, regional and state Special Olympics for the past several years. The International Special Olympics is the highest level of competition for the special olympians. Over 5,000 athletes from every state and over 60 foreign nations will participate in these games.

Mike will receive an all-expense paid trip to the games the week of July 31 through August 8, 1987. A special chartered flight will transport the Nebraska delegation and their chaperones from Omaha to Indiana.

Allemann tourney

October 11-12

The Rodger Allemann, Benefit Volleyball Tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11-12, at the Wayne High School gymnasium.

The tournament, which is sponsored by the Wayne Jaycees, is double elimination and will feature 12 teams.

The first game will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Norfolk runners down Wayne

Norfolk's cross country team finished with the top four times and downed Wayne's runners 10-29 at the Wayne Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

Matt Hillier turned in an 18:25 clocking to lead Wayne's runners. Tim Griess also broke the 20 minute barrier with a 19:29 effort.

Other Wayne times and the place they finished in include: 8. Jess Simpson, 20:10; 9. Ted Lehnberg, 20:49; 10. Gregg Engel, 21:46; and 11. Scott Allred, 24:34.

Doug Donnellson, Wayne's coach, said he was pleased with Hillier's and Griess' times and added that the other four Blue Devil runners have been ill the past week, which effected their efforts.

"Matt improved and Tim finished right about where he usually does, so I was happy to see that," the Wayne skipper said. "All of the other four guys have been sick recently, and they've missed a couple of workouts. Their times were down, but they know they're going to have to work harder now to get back into the shape they once were in."

PR Olson of Norfolk captured the meet's best time by finishing the 5,000 meter course (approximately 3.1 miles) with a 17:22 clocking. Norfolk's other times include: Scott Jorgensen, 17:24; Keith Emerson, 17:36; and Rich Allen, 18:07.

Wayne competes again Friday when the Blue Devils host the Northern Activities Conference Meet at the country club.

Stanton golfers trim Wayne

With Tammy Raetz leading the way, Stanton fired an impressive 197 and defeated Wayne's golfers by 10 strokes at the Wayne Country Club Monday.

Raetz claimed medalist honors by stroking a 42. Ann Perry led Wayne's golfers with a 48.

Rounding out Wayne's top four scores were Missy Jones, 49; Holly Paige, 55; and Jill Jordan, 55.

Stanton's Julie Kamei followed Raetz with a 48, while teammates Shari Hansen and Kris Remm closed with a 50 and 57, respectively.

The Blue Devils compete again in districts at Blair on Thursday. Last year, Jones qualified for the Class B State Tournament at districts.

Gobbler hunting becoming popular

The wild turkey is quickly becoming one of Nebraska's most popular game species, both for the challenge it presents hunters in the field, and because of its delicious meat at the table.

When a hunter brings a wild turkey home and lays it on the table, he knows he's got something. An adult Nebraska tom turkey averages about 18 pounds. For a hunter who's just enjoyed a season of dove shooting, that's a lot of bird.

At first glance, the tom and hen turkeys are similar in appearance, but with a closer look distinguishing between the sexes is not that difficult.

The adult wild turkey has pink legs, while the young-of-the-year bird's legs are a brownish-gray. The tom is basically black, though its feathers display a variety of iridescent colors ranging from bronze to green. His breast feathers appear to be jet-black, and in the sunlight his neck and shoulder feathers seem to be a metallic-bronze color.

The wing's primary feathers have distinct white bars with a light gray background. The back is covered with velvet black feathers and the tail covers (rump feathers) are edged with white or light tan. Farther back towards the tail, the feathers are rich chestnut brown with darker markings. The distinctive tail feathers are almost black with chestnut markings and a light tan or buff-colored tip.

The tom's head is bald with a narrow band of feathers running up the back of the neck almost to the crown. His "hood" is greenish-blue until he becomes excited, when it turns red above the neck and reddish-blue in the cheeks.

The hen is similar in coloration except the feathers on her breast are tipped in buffy-white that gives him a "frosted" appearance. The head is more feathered than the male's and is covered with a scattering of short, velvety black hair-like feathers, which often gives her head a "dirty" appearance. Both sexes may grow a beard from an area near the base of the neck, though it is much more common and larger in males, averaging some six to eight inches.

Turkeys can be found in a variety of habitats but prefer areas with plenty of hardwoods and a good supply of acorns. They also do well in areas of hardwoods and croplands, and are able to get along well on a diet of pine seeds, berries, seeds, grasses, insects, corn and other grains.

During Nebraska's fall shotgun turkey-hunting season, hunters may take one turkey of either sex; the spring hunting season limits legal birds to toms only. This year, the fall shotgun season is Oct. 18 through Nov. 7 in the Central, Round Top, Southwest and Wildcat Units; Oct. 18-24 in the Niobrara and Verdigre Early Season Units; and Oct. 25 through Nov. 7 in the Niobrara and Verdigre Late Season units. The archery season is Oct. 1 through Nov. 7. A special permit is required to hunt turkeys.

One of the best fall turkey hunting methods is for the hunter to find a flock of birds, break them up, then call to bring them back. Young birds needing the security of the flock are most readily called back into shotgun range.

Turkeys have remarkable hearing and eyesight, so a successful hunter has to use all the tricks at his disposal to be successful. Camouflage clothing is important, the ability to sit quietly in one spot for an extended period of time is crucial, and being able to ward-off "tom fever" and to sit patiently while letting the bird get within a few yards before taking the shot is essential.

Don't let a gobbler fool you. He looks dumb and clumsy as he bobs and weaves and saunters through the woods, but he is remarkably fast and agile when he senses danger and decides it's time to put some distance between the two of you. Once startled, he is capable of running at about 20 miles per hour through cover. You'd think would stop a horse, and once he decides to fly he can hit almost 50 mph for short distances.

To someone used to wingshooting pheasants, quail and doves, a flying 20-pound turkey looks about the size of a helicopter. But he's outfitted with a flack vest of dense, heavy feathers and it's hard to kill him with a shot to the body.

Because he's tough to bring down, many turkeys are wounded and lost each year by both shotgunners and archers. That's why it's important for hunters to wait until he's very close before shooting, and try for a head shot. A head shot will kill the bird quickly and cleanly and not ruin any usable meat. A missed head shot will allow the bird to escape unharmed.

There are hundreds of delicious recipes for preparing wild turkey. Some are listed in Nebraska Land Magazine's Wild Game Cookbook, available from some newsstands, or from any Game and Parks Commission office across the state.

Arlowyne says she still participates in all the parades she can, whenever she can.

And when there's not a parade, Arlowyne may well be seen pulling her horse trailer across the state to join a trail ride.

For five years she participated in the Black Hills Trail Ride, until it was discontinued in 1973.

The most recent trail ride in which Arlowyne participated with her horse Penny was the River City Roundup Trail Ride that left Ogallala Sept. 14 and arrived in Omaha on Sept. 20. Of the 111 participants, Arlowyne was the oldest.

Following Arlowyne on the ride with her horse trailer and supplies were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blank of Norfolk.

"I've already told them I'm going back in 1987," smiles Arlowyne.

WIDOWED SINCE March of this year, Arlowyne doesn't show signs of slowing down and she definitely has no plans to move off the farm she lived on the past 80 years.

"If I moved to town I'd have to give up my horses, and I'm not ready for that. I have my horses and gobs of friends, and I'm always going."

"Besides, I don't feel any older than I did 20 years ago, and I hope I'm never too old. I ain't going to give up and sit in a rocking chair."

Arlowyne's philosophy on life may well be summed up on one of the many buttons she has received.

"I may be over the hill, but I'm starting to pick up speed."

Rich

hasn't dulled his talents. The jazzy renditions by the Buddy Rich band exemplify that fact.

Rich had his own jazz band at the age of 32, with the financing of the group coming from Frank Sinatra in the form of a $50,000 loan. Sinatra and Rich have performed together throughout the years.

The drummer didn't have a whole lot of words to say to the audience — but most of the time he let his drums do the talking for him.

Other Black and Gold performances scheduled are the Midwest Opera Company's stage production of "Hansel and Gretel" on November 6; the Franz Liszt Orchestra of Budapest, Hungary on Feb. 18; and the Los Angeles Piano Quartet on April 14.

STATE SENATOR Gerald Conway speaks at a forum held Tuesday at the Black Knight in Wayne.

Issues

Conway, in speaking about incentives to companies, said cautiousness should be exercised. Some incentives could result in that company "being less supportive of the community than it was before."

New equipment and machinery could replace workers and would be a benefit to the business but not to society as a whole, according to Conway.

He said increasing employee numbers, in connection with the incentives offered for purchase of new machinery and equipment, is important.

THERE COULD be a proposal in the 1987 legislature to place a maximum percentage on the state individual income tax (such as 5 percent of federal taxable income) that any individual would pay to the state. Eleven of the 24 individuals at the forum were in opposition to this proposal.

Those at the forum were also questioned on whether they would support or oppose the proposal to relieve the legislature of the responsibility for setting the maximum benefits for unemployment benefits, instead having the benefits adjusted automatically as a percentage of the state's average weekly wage.

They were also asked about the amount they feel a worker must earn to qualify for benefits to be increased from the current level of $600 during the preceding month period to a higher level.

A majority at the forum opposed having the automatic percentage used as an indicator of unemployment compensation and supported the increase from the $600 level.

College stages play 'Born Yesterday'

A stage production of "Born Yesterday" will be presented by the Wayne State College of Nebraska Oct. 11-14 in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

The Garson Kanin play will be performed by a cast made up of many first-time college actors and a few Wayne State theatre veterans. It will be presented at 8 p.m. Oct. 11 (Saturday), 2 p.m. Oct. 12 (Sunday), and 8 p.m. Oct. 13 and 14 (Monday and Tuesday).

"Born Yesterday" is a sophisticated comedy in which goodness and democracy prevail. Although it is set in the 1940's, it has many comments on today's society and male and female relationships, according to Dr. Andre Sedriks, associate professor of humanities and director of the play. He added it is an interesting American classic with relevant topics and well-drawn characters.

CAST IN THE lead roles are students Mark Gartlick of Wayne as Harry Brock, Barbara Cunningham of Lake City, Iowa as Billie Dawn, and Wayne State faculty member Walter Hamilton as Paul Verrall.

Other cast members are A. Craig Florian of Glenwood, Iowa, Byron Bonsall of Burwell, Tim Renner of Howells, Michael Peters of David City, Lauri Struve of Paullina, Iowa, Doug Eickhoff of Papillion, Karen Andel of Bruno, Phil Monson of Wayne and, Susan Boeshart and Billy Denker, both of Emerson.

Tickets to "Born Yesterday" are $3. Wayne State students, faculty, and staff and holders of Wayne State activity tickets are admitted free.

Farmer Mac idea worth consideration

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

by Cheryl Haddadnick
Vice President/Information

The idea of creating a secondary market for agricultural mortgages isn't a new one, but it's exciting interest these days as all parties to the credit situation search for ways to spread the risk and make credit more available.

Several secondary markets for housing loans have been operating for years. They allow a local lender, such as a bank, to write a mortgage and then sell all or most of it. The bank avoids the interest rate risk of holding a mortgage for 20 or 30 years. It gets a fee for originating the loan and it's able to provide another service for established customers.

Essentially what happens is that local providers of housing loans "package" their loans—put several together—and sell them to investors, through one of several institutions specifically created for this purpose.

This summer, Nebraska Rep. Doug Bereuter and California Rep. Richard Lehman introduced a bill to create the Farm Mortgage Corporation. Nicknamed "Farmer Mac," their proposal would establish a quasi-private corporation which would buy and insure mortgages and sell packages of these mortgages. The federal government would provide capital of $200 million, and as lenders sell mortgages to the corporation, they would pay a fee and receive stock in it. Over time, the corporation would become privately owned and controlled. This is how Fannie Mae, one of the major secondary markets for home mortgages, was created.

Farmer Mac is targeted to commercial banks according to Bereuter aide John Amick. Currently FDIC regulations restrict banks to making short-term operating loans, but this proposal would allow banks to enter the longer-term market. Amick says the Bereuter-Lehman bill wouldn't provide additional credit, but it would make credit more competitive by offering some competition to the Farm Credit System.

Understandably, the FCS isn't too excited about the proposal, because it fears Farmer Mac would eliminate the need for the Federal Land Bank. Amick says rather, Farmer Mac would make long-term credit more accessible, because it would be available to those who can't get land bank loans. Additionally, he says it would stabilize land values by allowing more land to be purchased.

According to American Farm Bureau economist Ross Korves, the timing for introducing a new market couldn't be better. With hopeful signs that land values may be at the low end of the current cycle, new mortgages shouldn't carry a high risk of default. And with interest rates down substantially, interest rate risks also shouldn't be too great.

Farmer Mac has been referred to the House banking committee and has been discussed at hearings, but isn't likely to be passed before the current session ends. But prospects are good for it to be reintroduced next year, and it should be: it's an idea worth considering.

Champion dairy herdsmen

Candidates sought

The Wayne County Pork Producers are seeking candidates for the 1987 Pork Queen. Candidates must be single and age 16-19 inclusive as of Jan. 1, 1987 with parents or guardians actively engaged in the production of pork.

Girls interested in entering the contest or wish more information are asked to contact Rhonda Sebade, 375-2659, or Karma Magnuson, 585-4593, by Oct. 17.

The contest will be held in Wayne on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9 with crowning ceremonies that evening during the Pork Producers' banquet.

the farmer's wife

For the third time in five years, it rained for Winside's Homecoming. Somehow, fall and football and rain don't go together. Judging from the TV sportscasts we saw, there were a lot of games played in mud Friday night.

On Saturday, the sun shone, but the fields were still muddy. The "Biz Bags" were busy this weekend!

Nebraska Wesleyan's Homecoming was Saturday afternoon. We went to see Kay march in the band, but saw a heck of a football game.

Problem was, the Huskers were playing at the same time. And they were in trouble. So all the people with Walkman radios were busy giving reports.

I found it very hard to keep track of both games. The radio nearest me was behind me and the guy's wife kept saying things like "Well, they thought they were going to have an easy time." "I'm getting a sinking feeling." "Those Blackshirts had better dig in now." I could have choked her.

The gal next to them reported on the Lincoln Northstar game from the night before. "Grand Island had defeated them. It was also Homecoming there. And 100 student's cars parked in the school lot had tires slashed.

THE PEOPLE in front of us were from Illinois. They had kids playing for NWU. They had driven as far as Des Moines on Friday night, came in to Lincoln on Saturday morning and would drive all the way back that night. They did this frequently. And they just couldn't seem to get concerned about Nebraska's game.

I kept picturing Grandma Staehr, visiting Jim and Linda, at the game. If those Gamecocks pulled it off, we would never hear the end of it.

At the end of the first quarter in Columbia, the announcer expressed appreciation to the Northerners for all the hay sent this summer. Apparently, that was the only courteous moment.

With three minutes left and South Carolina ahead by 4, I was also having a sinking feeling. NWU trailed by three at half-time. The Benedictines, undefeated this season, had a tense coach. At one point, there was a time-out on the field before us. The boy with the earphone down the row yelled: "Touchdown, Nebraska!" Our whole section, with the exception of the Illinois folks, stood and cheered.

People watching the local game wondered what was to cheer about.

AS SOUTH CAROLINA started its final drive, people with radios could not tell what was going on because of the noise at that stadium. I actually thought the guy behind me was going to have a heart attack.

Then Stiebler picked off an interception at the Husker 10 and we could all breathe again. And yet for Wesleyan again. The Plainsmen seem to be in the same position as the Gamecocks, 1-3, with some very close games. They set new school records for passing and receiving at the new Abel Stadium, but came up 4 points short.

By the way, our Wildcats made good mud hogs and won their game, too.

Lamb, sheep numbers continue to decrease

National sheep and lamb numbers are expected to continue declining for at least another year, according to an extension marketing specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Al Wellman said the national sheep and lamb population was estimated at 9.9 million head on Jan. 1, 1986—down 4.8 percent from last year.

"This is the fourth consecutive year that national sheep and lamb numbers have decreased," he said. "The 1987 national inventory is projected to decrease again."

Both the number of sheep operations and number of head per operation is falling, Wellman said. In Nebraska, sheep numbers have decreased about 3 percent from Jan. 1, 1985 to Jan. 1, 1986.

Lamb and mutton production for the first six months of this year was about five percent below 1985 levels and expected to stay at that level for the rest of 1986, he said. The supply of lamb and mutton also is projected to decrease in 1987, he said.

Projected slaughter lamb prices for the plains states for 1987 may average $66 per hundredweight (cwt). Prices are predicted to be lowest in the fourth quarter at $58 per cwt, and highest in the second quarter at $74 per cwt.

"Imports are becoming more important as a supply factor as domestic supply decreases," Wellman said.

IN THE EARLY 1980s, imports of lamb and mutton accounted for less than 5 percent of the United States' annual supply. Imports about doubled in 1985 and are projected to be 10 to 15 percent of this country's total supply in 1986 and 10 percent in 1987, he said.

With a relatively stable demand, most slaughter price variations will reflect fluctuations from the supply side," Wellman said.

Sheep prices have been volatile and for short periods were at record levels in 1985 and 1986, Wellman said. Prices rose rapidly when supplies dwindled, as in May-June 1986, and fell sharply when production exceeded retail movement, as in fall 1985.

Slaughter lamb prices were higher in 1986 than last year, reaching $80 per cwt. in early June, Wellman said.

"The net result is that profitable price levels have been generated during the past two years and generally favorable levels should continue for at least another year," Wellman said.

Future slaughter lamb prices are expected to follow the 1977-83 seasonal pattern of peaking in late spring and decreasing in fall and early winter," he said.

"There is a 95 percent probability in 1987 that quarterly slaughter lamb prices will fall between an average low of $64 per hundredweight and a high of $68 per hundredweight," Wellman said.

ANHYDROUS AMMONIA FOR STORED GRAIN PESTS

The use of anhydrous ammonia for stored grain as a substitute for commercial fumigants is not a recommended practice and may have serious consequences. There is some evidence that anhydrous ammonia will kill the more exposed insects, however, insects inside of grain kernels are likely to escape the treatment unharmed.

There is a danger that concentrations high enough to kill insects will damage the grain seriously enough to lower quality. In 1983, wheat that went into Kansas bins, as number 1 wheat and subsequently treated with anhydrous ammonia developed an off-odor and was discolored. This damaged wheat was then considered "Sample Grade" wheat and was difficult to market.

Corn may turn brown when treated with high concentrations of anhydrous ammonia. Aside from control variability and grain quality problems, anhydrous ammonia is extremely dangerous to work with. When grain fumigation is necessary, use commercially prepared fumigants designed for the job to be done.

MOVING HOUSEPLANTS INDOORS

Before moving house plants back into your home for the winter, examine them for the presence of unwanted pests. Generally, it is a good idea to keep plants that have over-summered out of doors isolated from other plants for at least a month. During this time, watch the plants carefully for signs of developing infestations of aphids, mealybugs, thrips, whiteflies, scale insects and spider mites.

If plants are re-potted, use sterilized soil to help prevent the development of soil pests such as springtails, millipedes, sowbugs, ants, and fungus gnats. Spraying plants with lukewarm water or gently washing leaves and stems with a solution of 2 teaspoons of a mild detergent in a gallon of water will eliminate many pests.

Always rinse plants after treatment to avoid soap injury to foliage. Larger pests such as caterpillars, cutworms, and snails may be picked off by hand and destroyed. Sprays containing insecticides such as pyrethrins, diazinon, cygon, Sevin, malathion or kelthane provide an additional method of controlling pests on house plants.

Since some insecticides can damage plants, be sure the product is recommended for both the plant and pest on which it is to be used. To be safe, test treat a few plants and look for signs of injury after 2 to 5 days. If only a few plants are to be treated, a commercial, premixed spray specifically labeled for house plants is probably the best choice.

TRINITY YOUTH GROUP

The youth group of Trinity Lutheran Church met after services Oct. 5 for a potluck dinner. President Kristy Miller conducted the business meeting. The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

A motion was made and carried that the sponsors would conduct the meetings and keep the treasury instead of elected officers. Others elected were Rhonda Suehl for secretary and Jenni Jacobsen for vice secretary.

On Oct. 26 the youth will conduct the church service then serve soup for dinner to the congregation. There will be a practice service Oct. 19 at 1 p.m. Nov. 2 will be the next meeting at 2:30 p.m.

GIRL SCOUTS

Fourteen Girl Scouts and one guest met Oct. 2 with leader Peg Eckert. Election of officers was held. Elected president was Holly Holdert; vice president, Jennie Hancock; secretary, Yolanda Stevers; treasurer, Alethea Fale; and news reporter, Tawnya Krueger.

The girls voted to have 25 cent dues and meet every Thursday. On Halloween, Oct. 31, the girl scouts will give a Halloween party for the brownies, with treats, entertainment, decorations and fun.

For Christmas, the group is planning to attend a matinee performance of Charles Dickens "Christmas Carol" at the Omaha Community Play House on either Sunday, Nov. 30 at 3 p.m. or Sunday, Dec. 7 at 3 p.m. A couple of Girl Scout leaders are needed to go on this trip so if you can go please call Peg Eckert, 286-4516. Jennie Hancock brought treats.

The next meeting will be Oct. 9 at the fire hall at 3:45 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES AID

Twenty-four members and Pastor Fale from St. Paul's Ladies Aid met Oct. 1. Laura Jaeger led devotions titled "Go and Tell," the song "Soldiers of the Cross Arise" was sung.

Pastor Fale gave the Bible Study on "Learning From Life" taken from the Lutheran Women's Missionary League quarterly.

The secretary and treasurers reports were read and approved. Bev Hansen reported on some painting done at the church and what still needs to be done.

The annual Ladies Aid Bazaar will be Nov. 8 at 9 a.m. Beverages and donuts will be served in the morning along with a noon lunch.

A thank you was read from Mildred Dangberg for the birthday cards set to Kerri.

Mary Frederick asked to be released because of employment. Members approved. The Esther group will serve at Lydia Witte's 80th birthday open house Oct. 12 from 2-4 p.m.

Hostesses were Donna Nelson, Vera Mann, and Verdell Reeg.

The next meeting will be Nov. 5 with Julie Kant and Bev Voss as hostesses.

WINSIDE'S HOMCOMING

Winside High School held their homecoming activities despite the rainy weather on Friday during the half time of the Winside/Wausa game. Crowned king was senior Kevin Jaeger and queen was senior Cindy Berg. First attendants were seniors Tracy Topp and Daryl Mudd. Honor attendants for the freshman class were Tina Hartmann and Max Kant; sophomores were Wendy Boldt, and Troy Touney; juniors were Tricia Hartmann and Mace Kant. The crown bearers were kindergarten students Sonya Stevers and Justin Bargstedt.

Following the first win of the season for the Winside Wildcats with a score of 20-4, a dance was held for the students in the elementary school multi-purpose room. Music was by Complete Music.

Shannon Jaeger and Jennifer Jaeger

both celebrated their fifth birthdays Sunday with an afternoon party at Shannon's home. Shannon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jaeger and Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Jaeger.

Grandparents present were the Herbert Jaegers of Winside and the LeRoy Middletons of Wayne. Great grandparents were the Louie Zautkas of Norfolk and Herman Jaeger of Winside. Others included the Dave Jaeger family, the Doug Jaeger family, the Dirk Jaeger family, the Morris Lindsays and Arlene Zofka and the Brian Hoffman family all of Winside, Deb Lienemann and the Russel Hoffmans of Hoskins; Lenell Zautka of Scribner; and Mark Middleton and Mary Giv of Norfolk.

Three special cakes were baked and decorated by Gail Jaeger, and Tammy Jaeger.

Cards were played and lunch was served.

Shannon's actual birth date is Oct. 1 and Jennifer's is Oct. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Burris returned Sept. 30 from three weeks vacation in Elk Creek, Va. They visited there with Cliff's sister and two brothers and other friends and relatives. Another sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Atkins, of Norrisstown, Pa., traveled to Elk Creek to also visit with the Burris's. The trip was a 50th wedding anniversary gift from their three sons and their families.

Guests in the Alvin Niemann home Sept. 25-Oct. 1 were the Garfield Newmans of Stanton, Iowa. Mrs. Newman is a sister of Alvin's. The Garfields also visited in Norfolk with Mrs. Louise Newman, a sister-in-law.

Oct. 4-5 guests in the Niemann home were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Parr of Omaha, another sister of Alvin's.

Soup, pie supper for museum scheduled

The Winside Museum Committee has received $7,300 in pledges to date for its project to move the Theophilus Church into Winside as a branch museum of the Wayne County Historical Society.

Ten members of the committee met Oct. 1 with Mrs. Rod Tompkins, president of the Wayne County Historical Society.

Committee members decided to continue with the museum project. Approximately $18,000 is needed to relocate the church into Winside.

It is hoped that the money will be obtained by spring for project completion.

IN AN EFFORT to continue raising funds, the museum committee has scheduled a soup and pie supper on Oct. 31 from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

There also will be a drawing that evening for a handmade afghan donated by Ruby Ritz.

Mrs. Veryl Jackson is chairman for the soup and pie supper, and residents wishing to donate pies, hamburger, chili beans, cash or other needed ingredients are asked to contact her, 286-4544.

NEXT MEETING of the committee will be Oct. 15 at 8 p.m. in the home of Irene Diltman.

Anyone interested in assisting with the project is invited to attend.

Todd Fox, 17, of Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln High School was recently awarded the top prize of a $500 savings bond and an expense paid trip to a meeting of the National Council on Youth in St. Louis later this month.

Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fox of Council Bluffs and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fox of Dixon, was among five Omaha-Council Bluffs area high school seniors honored for their leadership abilities at the Greater Omaha Council on Youth Leadership awards program.

Fox will write a 750-1000 word essay on "The Challenges of Leadership in the 21st Century" for the National Council meeting to be held Oct. 26-28 at Washington University in St. Louis.

Fox is a member of the National Honor Society, student council president and co-editor of his school newspaper. He teaches religion classes at his church and is involved in other community activities. He said he hopes to pursue a career as an aerospace engineer.

He said he would like to attend Iowa State University, California Institute of Technology in Pasadena or the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge.

Todd's father, Ron Fox, is a graduate of Ponca High School and Wayne State College.

Catherine Peters and Boyd White of Seattle, Wash. arrived Sept. 28 to spend the week here. The Don Peters and their guests were visitors that evening in the Donna Durant home in South Sioux City. Promotes Hair Growth

A prescription medicine taken by mouth and used to help control high blood pressure may eventually be approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration as a promoter of hair growth in men having male-pattern baldness. Minoxidil solutions are already commercially available in Canada for this purpose. If the F.D.A. gives its seal of approval, minoxidil will be the first drug in the U.S. approved for use in baldness.

The manufacturer of minoxidil has already tested over 1,800 balding men at 27 centers for one year. According to one report, 40 percent of men using a two percent minoxidil solution rated hair growth as "moderate" while 8 percent rated hair growth as "dense."

Minoxidil does not, therefore, appear to be a "miracle" hair replenisher. Solutions of the medicine do not stimulate hair growth in all bald men. And most men who have experienced hair growth have not observed phenomenal results. When taken by mouth, minoxidil can cause a variety of side effects including increased heart rate, dizziness, and fainting. Its effects when applied to the skin for long periods of time are not known at this time.

A FREE PRESS SERVES A FREE PEOPLE

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK  OCTOBER 5-11, 1986

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON
NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK
October 5 - 11, 1986

It gives me great pleasure to extend greetings to the Newspaper Association Managers as you sponsor National Newspaper Week.

Since our nation's founding, freedom of the press has been a vital part of our heritage, reflecting the strong American belief that only when the people have access to the facts and a robust discussion of the issues are they able to participate fully in the democratic process. History has confirmed that an independent and responsible press is essential to the maintenance of a truly free society.

This year's National Newspaper Week theme, "A Free Press Serves a Free People," makes it clear that we all benefit from a free press. If the people are to decide what is in their best interest, they must have access to the truth and a wide range of unfettered analysis. During National Newspaper Week, let us reflect together on the importance of our First Amendment guarantee of Freedom of the Press.

Nancy joins me in sending our best wishes for a successful week and for every happiness.

God bless you.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Anton Bokemper Unit 81, was held on Sept. 8 at the Legion Hall with five officers and eight members present.

Valorie Krusemark was guest speaker and gave a report on her week at Girls State in June. She thanked the unit for making it possible for her to have this experience. Carol Ulrich presided at the business meeting. Margaret Cisney, acting chaplain, led in prayer, the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble. Famy Johnson, music chairman, led the group in singing one stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner." She also read a verse of "Amazing Grace."

In a ceremony, led by Carol Ulrich and Margaret Cisney, the charter was draped for a department member, Mrs. Albert (Helen) Sundell, who died on Aug. 3. She had been a member of the American Legion Auxiliary for 48 years.

Mary Jane Van Cleave, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Nancy Schulz, treasurer, gave the monthly report. The auxiliary scholarship was awarded to Scott Salmon. He is enrolled at Northeast Tech in Norfolk this year.

A letter was read about the Department Auxiliary Leadership School held Sept. 14 at Gretna. Carol Ulrich represented the unit. The secretary read a letter informing members of the accident policy that covers every Legion Auxiliary member. There is no extra cost the members. Cards were issued last year with membership cards. More information on this matter will be presented at the next meeting.

The auxiliary has a new permanent member for a total of 14. 1987 dues have been set to Department for 56 members. The unit has one new member, Eileen Cisney of Denver.

Allice Johnson reported she had delivered treats and clothes on Aug. 15 to the Veterans Hospital in Norfolk. Margaret Cisney and Lois Schlines baked cookies and these were delivered on Aug. 27.

Auxiliary members were reminded of the general cleaning at the Legion Hall on Sept. 13.

Betty Bressler told of cutbacks being made in free care at the Veterans hospitals across the country. Many in higher income brackets will be asked for co-payment of hospital bills.

Serving lunch was Shella Schroeder, Arlene Benson and Vernetta Busby.

The St. John's Lutheran Church Ladies Aid met Friday. Mrs. Randall Blafert gave the devotions. Mrs. Marvin Stolle and Mrs. Delbert

Jensen gave the lesson on Bible study.

The sewing committee reported they had tied and hemmed 12 quilts for World Relief.

They sent get well card to Erwin Lubbersedt, Darrell Jahde, Rachel Prochaska and Doug Paulson. Baby card to Mr. and Mrs. Randy Benson; sympathy cards to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hartig; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henschke; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Salmon; Lillian Fredrickson and Clarence Tompe; and visited Mr. and Mrs. Anders Jorganson and Erwin Lubbersedt.

The LWAL fall rally will be held at Laurel on Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Mrs. Melvin Kramer and Lucille Bartels served the lunch.

Next meeting will be Friday, Nov. 7 at 2 p.m.

RECEIVES AWARD

Ruth Schopke of Wakefield, a registered nurse, was recently recognized by the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging for her service to senior citizens. Ruth received a special award at the agency's annual recognition dinner held Sept. 17 in Stanton.

She was nominated by the Emerson Senior Citizens, Inc. In appreciation for donating her professional expertise and time providing monthly blood pressure clinics, home visits, giving flu shots, health-related programs and also for working up medical histories for individual seniors.

The Emerson center also nominated the Aid Association for Lutherans at Wakefield for a service organization award. The AAL, whose chairman is Larry Baker, received the award for providing $2,442.50 to the Emerson Center to purchase and install a salad bar and water softener.

The National Honor Society tapped eight new members last Thursday afternoon. Tapped were Kodi Nelson, Tricia Schwarten, Mollie Greve, Desiree Salmon, Bruce Bartels, Brian Bartels, Tim Schwarten and Bobby Greve.

That evening the National Honor Society and their sponsors had supper at the Hotel in Wakefield.

During the evening, the group elected officers for the coming year. They are Cam Thies, president; Mollie Greve, vice president; Kaye Hansen, secretary; Tricia Schwarten, treasurer; and Desiree Salmon, historian.

Other members of the National Honor Society are Valorie Krusemark, Brad Lund, Randy Kinney, Stacey Kuhl and Susie McGuilstan.

PARK PROJECT

A group from the Senior Citizens Center, called Wakefield Tree Planters, and the Wakefield Park Board have developed a three-year plan to replace trees in the picnic area of the park, behind the right field fence and around the softball field. Vernetta Busby, chairman of the Wakefield Tree Planters, has been notified by the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum that the group will receive a $600 grant to assist with the project.

The Wakefield Tree Planters and the Cub Scouts will be planting the first trees next spring.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

The United Presbyterian Women met Thursday. Mrs. Richard Kargard and Patsy Wolfe had the program on the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Terry Potter and Mrs. Clarence Boeckenhauer served the lunch.

THE NUMBERS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

In the early 80's, mortgage interest rates soared as high as fifteen and sixteen percent. Our current mortgage rates are much lower, so you can do yourself a good deed and look into refinancing with a lower rate mortgage from Columbus Federal.

By refinancing, you could reduce the interest cost of your loan by thousands of dollars and we'll even finance the points at our lower rate. See the chart below to see how much you could save by refinancing.

Loan Amount	Rate	Term	Monthly Payment	Total Amount
Your Original Loan - 30 years @ 12%	$50,000	12%	30 years	$514.31 ³	$185,151.60
Your Refinanced Loan - 30 years @ 9.5%	$50,000	9.5% ¹	30 years	$420.43 ³	$151,354.80
Your Refinanced Loan - 15 years @ 9.5%	$50,000	9.5% ²	15 years	$522.11 ³	$93,979.80

You could reduce your monthly payment by $93.88 and save over $30,000⁴ in the total amount paid or Own your home in half the time and save over $90,000⁴ in the total amount paid

Try progressive relaxation for stress relief

by Jeff Berger

Last week, a series of articles on ways to relax was started by discussing a technique called creative visualization. This technique, also called constructive daydreaming or imagery, is simply done by taking a trip to a quiet, relaxing place in your mind. The effect from the technique is that your breathing slows down while you take your mind off of what is bothering you, which will hopefully lead to relaxation.

The goal of this technique and all relaxation techniques is to ultimately get you to relax. Relaxation can create a feeling of well-being, can allow you to sleep better, and allows you to live more productively. How each technique gets you to that point of relaxation can often be quite different. While last week's technique worked mostly on the mental level, this week a technique will be discussed that works mostly on the physical level.

Progressive relaxation is a technique that uses tensing and relaxing of major muscles as a way to train your body (and mind) to relax. This is a technique that is easy to learn and is often most effectively done in bed at night before you go to sleep.

To do the technique, find a quiet place where you will not be disturbed for about one half hour. If this seems excessive, remember it is your relaxation we are talking about. Only you can decide what is right for you and if the time is worth the effort. Lay in a flat position and start by slowing your breathing down. Concentrate on your breathing and try to breathe through your nose only.

NOW YOU are ready to relax. Each time a muscle group is worked on, what you will do is tense all of the muscles in that group for about 10 seconds, then with a release phrase like "let go" or "relax", you will let that tension in each muscle group go and leave the muscle group relaxed. Each time concentrate on the relaxed feeling compared to the tense feeling. Once you relax a muscle group, try not to use it again.

Now you are ready to start tensing muscle groups. Start with the hand and arm you write with, tense for about 10 seconds and let go. As you tense each of these groups, you should be getting a warm, heavy feeling in these muscles. Move on to your stomach, then your back and butocks. Go on to your shoulders and neck, and lastly the eyes, face, jaw, and throat. Repeat this entire process once again.

After you are completely done with your entire body, if there is still a tense muscle or two in your body somewhere, go to it and repeat this tensing and relaxing. People carry tension in different places, so go to that place and really relax it.

Now that your entire body is relaxed, enjoy it. Let your mind drift to a pleasant place and when you are ready, slowly come back with a stretch or two or stay there if you'd like to sleep.

Once again, this technique is not magic. In order for this and all techniques to work, practice and repetition are needed. If you would like a demonstration of this and other techniques, stop in to see us at our weekly Thursday night sessions. We meet, with no charge to you, every Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in Wayne-Carroll High School in room 202. The Wayne Stress Prevention Center is funded by the Providence Medical Center Foundation.
