Opera appearing at Wayne State

A gingerbread house, an evil spell, a wicked witch and two innocently lost children will be on stage at Wayne State College of Nebraska's Ramsey Theatre when the Minnesota Opera Theater presents the classic "Hansel and Gretel."

A part of the Black & Gold Series at Wayne State, this light opera, performed in English, will come alive Nov. 6 at 8 p.m.

Based on the Grimm brothers' fairy tale, the musical adventure of a brother and sister was authored by real-life siblings. Engelbert Humperdinck — the German composer, not the modern-day pop singer — composed the music for the libretto, written by his sister Adelheid Wette.

The melodies are based on German folktales. The music and lyrics reflect the innocence and gaiety of childhood, and are designed for children and parents alike.

The MOT is also staging workshops on campus Nov. 7. Three residency workshops each are planned in music and drama, said Jim Day, coordinator of the Black & Gold Series.

Tickets for "Hansel and Gretel" are on sale at the Hahn Administration Business Office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for those high school age and younger. Wayne State students, faculty and staff are admitted free with activity tickets. Tickets may be obtained by mail by writing Black & Gold Series, Box 1910, Wayne State College of Nebraska, Wayne, Ne 68787, or by calling 402-375-2200, ext. 517.

Start thinking about entering Christmas event

It's time to start thinking Christmas. That is — if an organization or business is considering an entry in Wayne State College of Nebraska's Interior Design Club's community Christmas project "Fantasy Forest 1986."

According to Sandra Metz of the WSC Interior Design Club, participating entries must be submitted to Wayne State College (c/o Sandra Metz) by Oct. 31.

The display of decorated Christmas trees entered by businesses or organizations will be on show to the public Dec. 4-7 in the Wayne City Auditorium.

Other activities being planned in conjunction with the "Fantasy Forest 1986" event include a Home Economics Club bake sale, the official start of Christ shopping in the Wayne business district, the arrival of Santa, the lighting of trees and presentation of prizes for various categories of decorated trees.

Early notification is necessary so that plans can be made for numbers and space, according to Metz.

High school to get new sound system

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Wayne-Carroll School District will be getting a new sound system for the high school gymnasium.

In recent years, complaints had been voiced to the school administrators because of the difficulty in hearing the sound system during athletic events or other assemblies.

The school board looked at two price quotes on the sound systems that were submitted by Stanton Sound of Norfolk. According to Haun, the proposal accepted by the board of education was one which featured the sound system hanging from the center of the gymnasium.

Total cost for the work will be $1,988.50. Haun said the money for the new speakers will be extracted from the school district's sinking fund.

Haun recommended that the wording for the sound system work with Stanton Sound stipulate that there be a "satisfaction guaranteed clause" written in the contract.

The proposal includes retiring all the existing speakers and speaker wires; using the existing amplifier, mic and mic cables. Added would be a central source speaker cluster, new speaker wire and a 20 band equalizer.

Stanton Sound's first bid proposal totaled $2,749.60 and involved using existing equipment with the addition of drivers (transformers) to balance the sound system with the amplifier.

ALSO DURING Tuesday night's monthly meeting, Superintendent Haun went over the hall damage and settlement that recently occurred at Carroll Elementary School.

Extensive damage occurred on the one-year-old roof. The windows to the building's east side and a light and sensor. The cost to repair the damage was estimated at $4,019.35.

The board of education also took bids on the purchase of two bus chassis and accepted Ellingson Motor's low bid of $15,485 each. The other bid, for $15,726 each, was submitted by Arnie's Ford and Mercury.

Bids were also opened for who would handle the school district's refuse. The bids were submitted by Mrsny and C-D G-Men. The low bid, and accepted bid, went to C-D G-Men at a cost of $154 monthly ($1,848 annually).

Mrsny's bid came in at $2,520 annually, or $252 per month.

ALSO TUESDAY the board discussed a request, with Breck Giese of Wayne, to allow some of School District No. 59's residents to join with the Wayne-Carroll School District.

Giese presented a petition from several landowners who requested the transfer. He said individuals in School District 59 want the district dissolved. There are currently three students enrolled in the school, Giese said, and there will be an enrollment of three students for the next three years.

Some of those in School District No. 59 would like to transfer to School District No. 15, according to Giese.

The board of education decided not to take any action on the request at this time, until the issue of Initiative 400 (LB 662) is decided in the general election this November.

During the course of Tuesday night's meeting, the Wayne-Carroll board of education were given an explanation and demonstration from students and instructor Bill Wilson on the school's "New Technologies" course.

The course was developed to provide individualized as well as group experiences for secondary level industrial education students at the high school in the areas of new technologies.

INCLUDED in the course are: computer aided drafting and computer assisted manufacturing (it's application as well as utilization in the workplace); robotics (to include robotic training through hydraulic and electronic means; and applied science (to include specific software applications in a general format that applies to all job opportunities in industry).

J.P. Doodles creator brings skills to Wayne

Cartoonist Barry McWilliams, creator of "J.P. Doodles" which appears in almost every issue of The Wayne Herald (on the editorial pages), will present a Cartoon Workshop at the Wayne-Carroll High School on Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Barry explains the "Anatomy of a Cartoon," in which he details the steps of drawing his cartoon feature from beginning to end. Then he brings the audience into the show, drawing comic faces and helping the children learn the basics of cartooning.

Hailing from a ranch in rural Montana, Barry takes his family and his love for cartooning on the road because he loves to work with children. "Stretching imaginations is my real goal," he says. Although Barry says he is sure some of the children he teaches will eventually find careers as cartoonists, that isn't his main objective of traveling to schools. The kids enjoy the workshop and learn a skill that they can use and value forever.

Barry received his inspiration to become a cartoonist from a Walt Disney animator who conducted a workshop at his school when Barry was a fifth grader. He feels that his own workshop is a way of passing on the interest in cartooning.

For eight years, Barry has been drawing J.P. DOODLES, the cartoon feature which appears in over 350 newspapers nationwide. Getting to that point was a round-about route. After graduating from high school and serving in the Army, Barry majored in English at San Francisco State. He taught school for several years in rural areas of California.

Barry McWilliams

Montana, Colorado and New Mexico. He also drove trucks, cooked in restaurants, worked in the woods and broke horses.

The whole time, he was participating in and closely observing small town life and storing up knowledge that would someday appear in his cartoons.

Barry feels that cartoons are important to newspaper readers because they make a positive impact on a negative world. "If people can laugh at their problems, it's going to make it easier to deal with them," he says.

"I'm convinced there is a positive side to everything. This is what I want from my cartoons. Through good humor I want to remind people constantly that, in spite of how miserable things appear, there's probably a saving grace in there somewhere, even if it's only a chuckle."

1986 WSC royalty named

Paula Tippery of Walthill and Brian Johnson of Newcastle are the 1986 homecoming queen and king at Wayne State College of Nebraska. Tippery, a senior education major, and Johnson, a junior business administration major, were crowned Wednesday evening during coronation ceremonies before an estimated 450 persons. The homecoming royalty was elected by a vote of the student body Oct. 13 and 14. There were six queen and six king candidates.

Tippery is the daughter of Kenny and Sue Beaudette. She is a resident assistant in Berry Hall dormitory and is active in athletic intramurals. Johnson is the son of Norman and Mary Johnson. He is active in the Student Activities Board, Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity, Alpha Lambda Delta scholastic honor society for freshmen and athletic intramurals. The first attendant for the homecoming queen is Julie Boden, a senior business administration maior from Sioux City, Iowa. She is the daughter of John and Margie Boden. The first attendant for the king is Brian Hass, a senior chemistry/premed major from Beemer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Hass. Homecoming royalty reign over the week's remaining activities, including the parade, football game and dance on Saturday, Oct. 18. The Wayne State football team was to play Washburn University on Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Harvey said the pageant, which is a first of its kind, will be held Nov. 2 at 6 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Omaha Marriott Hotel located in Regency.

Fundraising soup supper in Winside

The Winside Museum Committee has announced plans for a fundraising chili and pie supper on Friday, Oct. 31. The public is invited to attend the event from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Winside Elementary School multi-purpose room. Cost is $2 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 years of age, with a 50 cent per bowl refill. The committee is seeking donations of hamburger, chili beans, crackers, coffee, pies and volunteers to help serve at the event. All proceeds from the chili and pie supper will go into a fund to relocate the Theophilus Church into Winside for use as a branch museum of the Wayne County Historical Society. The Winside Museum Committee is seeking to raise $18,000 to relocate the church, with approximately $7,500 raised to date. Plans for the soup supper were made during a meeting of the Winside Museum Committee on Oct. 15. Next meeting will be Oct. 29 at 8 p.m. in the home of Irene Dittman.

Star Wars explained

What is Star Wars, or the Strategic Defense Initiative? What is it intended to do? Can it work? What do scientists say about Star Wars? And why was it the chief obstacle to reaching an arms reduction agreement with the Soviet Union at the Reykjavik Summit Meeting. The Wayne Chapter of Nebraskans for Peace will be showing the film "Beyond the High Frontier," an analysis of the Star Wars Project, on Thursday, Oct. 23 at 3:45 p.m. in Room 315 of the Humanities Building. The film is intended to explain Star Wars to the ordinary citizen and to clarify its relationship to our defense policy. A discussion of the film will follow the showing. This event is open to all interested students, faculty members and townspeople. Anyone wishing more information is welcome to contact Rita Kissen, ext. 396 (Humanities 314) or Sayre Andersen, ext. 404 (Humanities 110).

Campus Ministry board meeting

Art exhibit at local gallery

A group of works covering a 20 year period in the life of artist Robert Malone is now on exhibit in the North Strand Visual Arts Gallery in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building at Wayne State College of Nebraska. Malone is the head of printmaking at Southern Illinois University, at Edwardsville. His recent work has had very favorable response and the St. Louis Dispatch has called him one of the leading artists in America, according to Wayne Anderson, who is assistant professor of art at Wayne State. The exhibition will continue through Friday, Oct. 24 and the gallery at the Fine Arts Center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

PAT HAYES of Thurston helps shooters Don Knieff of Newcastle and Robert Bromwich to bring their rounds on target in the state rifle shoot.

Guardsmen on target

By SSG. Gary Howey
Guardsmen from Company A 1/134th Mechanized Infantry of Wayne were right on target during the National Guard State Shoot held at Hastings recently. Members of the Wayne unit came home with four 1st place, two 2nd place, a 3rd place, 5th and a 7th place in this year's state shoot. In the individual M-16 rifle competition, PSC. Marc Mastalir (216) of Verdigris, SSG. Rick Sydow (205) from Maskell, SGT. Jerome Donner (180) of Laurel, SGT. Rick Brandal (167) from Coleridge, SGT. Gayle Sperry (169) of Wayne and SP-4 Brian Martinson (192) from Ponca. The M-16 Team honors were also won by the Wayne unit this year. This winning team consisted of PSC. Marc Mastalir (216) of Verdigris, SSG. Rick Sydow (205) from Maskell, SGT. Jerome Donner (180) of Laurel, SGT. Rick Brandal (167) from Coleridge, SGT. Gayle Sperry (169) of Wayne and SP-4 Brian Martinson (192) from Ponca. The top M-16 shooters who scored higher than 176 were given the opportunity to try a quality for the state National Guard team the following day with the M-14 rifle.

Qualifying for the State team were: SSG. Mark Delmont (420) from Beemer, SSG. Rick Sydow (416) from Maskell, SGT. Jerome Donner (414) from Laurel, SP-4 Brian Martinson (408) from Ponca and SSG. Lyle Juracek (396) from Neligh. These individuals will represent the Nebraska National Guard at the National Shoot to be held next year in Arkansas. On the M-40 Machine Gun Range the Wayne unit did equally well. PFC. Mike Hayes from Pender, out shot all competitors to take the first place plaque with a score of 188. In second place was PFC. Brian Ferris (171) from Snyder, third place was SGT. Don Knieff (148) from Newcastle. Fifth place was PFC. Brian Loberg (110) of Carroll, and in sixth place was PFC. Craig Anderson of Pilger. In the team competition with the M-60, the Wayne team of SGT. Don Knieff, SP-4 Robert Bromwich from O'Neill, PFC. Pat Hayes, and PFC. Brian Loberg brought back the first place plaque. Company A 1/134th Mechanized Infantry is located in Wayne and is made up of men and women from the surrounding communities.

Trouble in historical society ranks

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association The Historical Society, the preserver of Nebraska's past, is in turmoil.

Both times he has received the blessing of the majority of the board. But he needed the help of ex-officio members who seldom attend meetings this last time, at the October meeting.

Disgruntled board members have vowed to continue the battle. Board member Nellie Yost Lydic, a vocal opponent of Hanson's, said she will await the results of board member elections this fall before taking any further action.

On one side are Hanson, most of his professional staff, and a group of Historical Society members who say the society must move on to a new leadership.

On the other side are much of the old guard, some board members who have held board positions for decades and the former director Marvin Kivett who spent 35 years on the society staff — 22 of those as director.

Historically the society leadership has been a closed circle. Nine of the 13 elected members have served 16 years or more and four of these people have been on the board since the 1960's.

The undercurrent of discontent surfaced before Hanson was hired as director in June 1985.

IN 1984 HISTORICAL Society employees circulated a petition expressing concern that the society management did not have the best interests of staff at heart. The disenfranchisement was publicly highlighted in May of 1984 when Kivett was accused of nepotism in hiring his son Ron for a $22,000-a-year job, hiring his son's fiancée as a receptionist and permitting the couple to live in a rent-free home owned by the separate Nebraska State Historical Society Foundation.

That fall the new guard failed to unseat four longtime board members. The election took place at the board's annual meeting where 67 people voted.

Since then the election rules have been changed. This year five board members will be elected by mail ballot available to all of the 4,600 plus society members who pay an $8-a-year membership fee.

Controversy erupted again soon after Hanson took over. The new director decided to rotate museum curators, a fairly common practice in other states but not in Nebraska.

Vance Nelson, long-time curator at Fort Robinson, fought his forced move to Neligh Mills.

And the battle took on a west versus east flavor. Nelson supporters from the west packed the hearing room at the Historical Society's August meeting. But the board supported Hanson's decision. Nelson appealed and the state's Personnel Board upheld the rotation.

THE NELSON CONTROVERSY

was hardly history when new protests arose over potential changes at the Fort Robinson and the culling of material from the society's research library. The decision to remove unnecessary material from the library was actually made during Kivett's administration but the work began when Hanson took over.

Hanson detractors, like Mrs. Lydic, a 21-year board member from North Platte, say important books are being removed and the library is being destroyed.

Some board members, who support Hanson, contend that Kivett, now director of the society foundation, a private fund raising arm for the society, is leading the anti-Hanson charge.

The future direction of the society and the tenure of Hanson will be decided by ballot. This month society members will choose five directors from a double digit slate of candidates. A nominating committee of three — all three opposed retaining Hanson at the October meeting — nominated a slate of the old guard, including Kivett.

The new guard responded quickly. By early October at least 14 members had filed for election to board positions by collecting signatures of 50 Historical Society members.

The results of the mail ballot will be announced at the December 13 annual meeting where members will also be asked to approve by-law changes that will limit board members to a 12-year tenure.

Fact check

If there are parents who wonder why it takes so long for the newspaper to put in an article about their child being accepted at a prestigious college, we have our reasons for the delay.

We will continue printing college acceptance notices. But from here on in, the news releases will be checked to see if the student's college plans are accurately stated by the recruiting college.

About two weeks ago this editor received correspondence from a college in South Dakota. The release said that a Wayne-Carroll High School senior had been accepted and will enroll in the college, majoring in a certain course.

We felt uncomfortable about running the news release without contacting either the student or the Wayne-Carroll guidance counselor (Terry Munson).

Munson said he would check with the student and return the call.

When Munson called back, he said the news release should not be run because the part about the student enrolling at the college was not true. The student had looked into the college, but gave no intentions of enrolling there. If the article would have been printed, there would have been some risk of embarrassment upon the student and the newspaper.

We don't know why a college would do this sort of thing — perhaps to get its name in print or to capitalize on some free publicity.

So, in hopes that incidents like this will not be repeated, all college acceptances will be verified either with a call to the guidance counselor, student or parent.

When you think of aromas (not necessarily all pleasant), does it bring you back to some familiar surroundings?

Some of these came to mind recently.

Flashback: Growing up on a farm in Iowa, we usually attended church services on Sunday mornings. Mother would normally go to this early services.

Before leaving for church, she would be dipping the chicken (butchered earlier on our farm) in flour, then gently placing the chicken pieces in a frying pan to brown.

When we returned from the church services, the house aroma was baked chicken.

The event was almost as ritual as attending church on Sunday. And boy, was it ever good!

The incense used in church service also stands out as an unforgettable aroma.

Flashback: As a participant in the church service (particularly during the Easter ceremonial season), I had to hold the incense burner about two feet from my face.

To this day, incense does for me what onions will do for many others — keeps my eyes watering constantly.

Some aromas just stick with you and you learn to put up with it.

My wife really doesn't appreciate the smell of newspaper ink on my clothes when my work is done for the day. I never notice it because when you've been in this business for so long, you become immune to the smell.

I often found it difficult to diet in Dyersville, Iowa (my previous place of employment) because the newspaper office was located next door to a bakery famous for its apple fritters.

What is worse, it was harder to get away with "fleeing from the diet." I could never get away with any sneaking or breaking away from the diet because of the smell of the baked goods that clinged to the clothes.

It was always a dead giveaway.

Some of the familiar aromas of fall are: burning leaves; fresh baked pumpkin pie; diesel fuel spilled over from filling a tractor or combine; popcorn at halftime of college or pro football games; bonfires; apple cider; cutting of silage; wood burning in the fireplace; and turkey cooking in the oven.

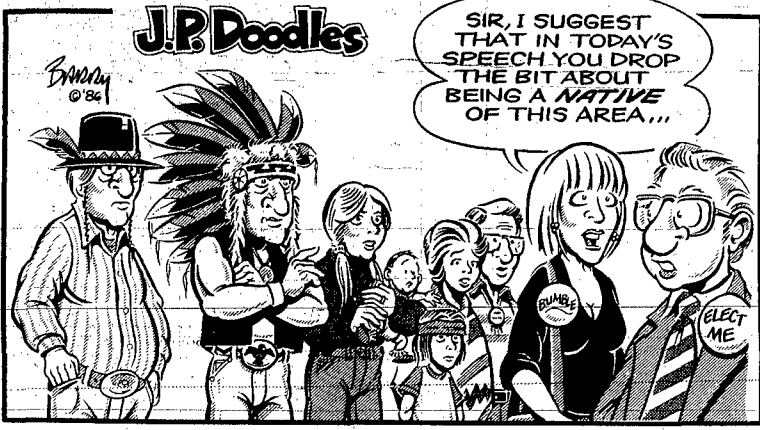

Every place I've visited has a specific odor to it. But before everyone starts getting out the aerosol cans and spraying the rooms — don't, please don't.

The aroma of a home is what makes it your home. It's the characteristic nature of the home. It stays with you forever.

Nothing wrong with it at all.

Some aromas which I could well do without are the smell of: burnt toast; sweat-soaked socks; incense; lutefish; the exhaust of vehicles on cold mornings; smog; sewage lagoon systems on a windy day; bees as they are boiled for human consumption; too much perfume; a bad mix of chemicals in the darkroom (when you combine some developer with a fix; you get a strong fragrance of ammonia); spoiled cottage cheese; brandy; a freshly opened can of sardines; catfish bait used for fishing; when rain falls on cut grass; clippings; dentist and doctor's offices; singeing the hair off butchered chickens; mothballs; and mom's lye soap.

And before people start to think this column is taking on a strange aroma — I think I'll cut it off right here.

FDIC will auction off loans

FDIC/FmHA Pilot Project starts in Nebraska

Since the failure of the Verdigre bank in late December two years ago I have been concerned about the plight of farm families and small business owners who lose their bank homes and have their loans liquidated even though they have been good borrowers.

For some time I have been working with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the Nebraska Bankers Association to develop a pilot project that would enable the FDIC to auction such loans to other banks. Last week the FDIC announced that the project will be implemented in Gering, Nebraska.

The FDIC will auction 160 loans

owned by 41 borrowers who had the loans with the Gering National Bank, which failed last August. The banks that buy these loans will buy them at a discount, they will be guaranteed by the FmHA, and they can be purchased outside the immediate geographic area of the failed bank. While the difference between the purchase price and the amount of the loan will be made up by the FDIC, in most cases that will be less expensive to the FDIC than liquidating the loan. The advantage to the farm and small business borrowers is clear. They won't necessarily have the rug pulled out from under them when a bank fails. If their loans are purchased by new banks, they don't face the loss of farmland, equipment and other assets. And, we can reduce the amount of land that is available for sale by not forcing additional foreclosures.

House Resolution Urges Action on Soviet Grain Purchase Agreement Just before President Reagan's meeting with General Secretary Gorbachev in Reykjavik, Iceland, the House of Representatives passed a resolution that I cosponsored which urges the President to discuss the 1983 long-term grain agreement at that meeting.

The resolution urges the President to insist that the Soviet Union fulfill its commitment to purchase 9-12 million metric tons of grain, including 4 million tons of wheat, from the United States annually in accordance with the 1983 long-term grain agreement.

LB 662 considered too harsh

By Cheryl Stubbendieck vice president/information officer Nebraska Farm Bureau

Nebraska voters will decide Nov. 4 whether they wish to retain LB 662, the mandatory school consolidation bill. The proposal will be listed as Initiative 400 and will read:

"Shall Legislative Bill 662, enacted by the Eighty-Ninth Legislature of the State of Nebraska in its first session, the purposes of which are to require public elementary-only school districts to merge, affiliate or become a part of public school districts containing a high school, to limit the percentage of total operational costs of the public school system derived from taxes on real property, and to increase the amount of state financial support to the public schools through an increase in the state sales tax, be retained?"

Nebraska Farm Bureau is urging its members to vote "no" in other words, to vote for repeal.

Several reasons argue against implementation of 662. First, although school consolidation is generally a good idea, a voluntary approach is preferable. Voters in many school districts have voluntarily chosen to consolidate during the past 10 years.

Second, 662 is too vague. Even though it is supposed to provide dollar-for-dollar property tax relief, it contains no language about how state aid to education will be distributed to school districts. There is no guarantee there will be equitable distribution among the districts.

THIRD, NOW is not the time for a tax increase for Nebraskans. If 662 is retained, the state sales tax will be increased by 1 cent, from 3.5 cents now to 4.5 cents — in addition to separate legislation, the Unicameral mandated that a one-half cent increase go into effect Jan. 1.

Given the recent announcement of a projected $50 million shortfall in state revenue receipts, the stage is set for another one-half cent increase to make up that deficit — or a total of 5.5 cents sales tax on the dollar. For cities with the local option sales tax, add another cent or cent-and-a-half, for a total of 7 cents in Lincoln and Omaha, 6.5 cents in many other Nebraska communities. It should be apparent that a sales tax at this level will not help the state's economic development.

And it should be understood that the 1 cent increase LB 662 mandates will not fully finance school consolidation and its promised property tax relief. The source of the additional funds needed for this purpose is unknown.

A fourth factor argues for repealing LB 662. If state funds are to provide an average of 55 percent of a school's budget — compared with the current average of 45 percent — it must be expected that the increase will not come without strings attached. It's logical to expect that the state will place greater restrictions on local school districts. Historically, Farm Bureau members have favored keeping control at the lowest possible level, the local district.

LB 662 seeks to implement a generally good idea, school consolidation. But its mandatory approach is too harsh and its methods are too vague to be relied upon. And the timing for a tax increase is all wrong.

Q. I am home most of the day, and I am frequently asked to accept mail and package deliveries for my neighbors from UPS, etc. They always ask me to sign a paper. What am I signing, and how much responsibility do I have to accept the package or to sign for it?

A. Under a sales contract, the seller is required to tender delivery to the buyer by putting goods covered by the sales contract at the buyer's disposal and giving the buyer any notice necessary to enable him or her to take delivery. This is what UPS or deliverers of registered mail do when the delivery person asks for your signature and then posts a notice on the buyer's door that the parcel or mail has been left at your residence. Using the example of UPS, your responsibility is to give up possession of the parcel when the buyer comes and asks for it. The notification slip left on your neighbor's door operates as a non-negotiable document of title which gives the buyer the rights to the parcel as against others, including you. However, the risk of loss of the parcel and the risk of your failure to honor the buyer's request to deliver the goods remains on the seller. Basically, what you are signing releases UPS from their responsibility as a carrier in the chain of getting the parcel from the seller to the buyer. You are certainly under no obligation to accept the package or to sign for it.

Briefly speaking

80th birthday open house

An open house honoring the 80th birthday of Mrs. Lydia Witte of Winside was held Oct. 12 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. Mrs. Witte was born Oct. 14, 1906.

Hosting the event were her daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Porter of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ebmeier of Laurel. Grandson Chris Ebmeier registered guests.

Table decorations and a corsage, which was presented to the honoree, were in fall colors. Grandsons Mike Porter and Mathew Ebmeier poured coffee and served punch. The birthday cake was baked and decorated by Daisy Janke, and served by granddaughter Lisa Porter and grandson Jon Ebmeier. Assisting with the luncheon were Mrs. Werner Mann, Mrs. Margaurite Janke and Mrs. Norma Janke.

Evening dinner guests Oct. 14 in the home of Lydia Witte in honor of her birthday were her children and families. Other guests included the Otto Kants of Norfolk, and Ella Dangberg and Amanda Dimmel of Winside.

Dr. Joyce Brothers speaking

Area women are invited to hear nationally known psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers address "Women and Choices: How to Get What You Want Out of Life" on Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. at the Marlina Inn in South Sioux City.

Dr. Brothers' seminar is being co-sponsored by the new Centre for Women's Care at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center and its Auxiliary. In her program, Brothers will advise participants on how to set and attain goals, minimize stress, reduce guilt, avoid pitfalls and gain greater personal satisfaction from life.

The lecture will be followed by a question and answer session and a wine and cheese reception. Persons who wish to purchase tickets are asked to call the Centre for Women's Care at St. Luke's in Sioux City, 279-3444; toll free outside Iowa 1-800-541-2304.

Carroll residents hospitalized

Mrs. Louise Boyce fell in her home at Carroll on Oct. 15 and was taken to Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk where she underwent hip surgery. Cards and letters will reach her if addressed to Mrs. Louise Boyce, Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital, Room 449, Norfolk, Neb., 68701.

Vernie Schnoor of Carroll is hospitalized at the Veterans Hospital in Omaha. Mrs. Schnoor spent the Oct. 12 weekend with her husband. Mail will reach him if addressed to Vernie Schnoor, c/o Veterans Hospital, Omaha, Neb., 68101.

Double Eagle Chorus in Laurel

The Double Eagle Chorus will sing at the United Methodist Church in Laurel on Tuesday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend the program, sponsored by The Crusaders.

Chorus members are all members of the Yankton Consistory and include two former Laurel residents, Earl Lipp and Gene Burns.

Senator speaking on Alzheimer's

Nebraska State Senator Calvin Carsten of Avoca will talk about the effects of Alzheimer's disease during a program Wednesday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. at the Pender Care Centre. The public is invited.

Carsten, whose wife suffers from Alzheimer's, will discuss what is being done in the legislature to help those who suffer from the disease and their families.

Persons who wish to know more about the program in Pender are asked to contact Peg Wheeler at Wayne Care Centre, 375-1922.

Order of the Eastern Star meets

Wayne Chapter 194, Order of the Eastern Star, met Oct. 13 with approximately 30 members attending.

Reports were given on the visitations to Wisner and Wausa. The chapter has been invited to Laurel for Friendship Night on Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. Members interested in attending are asked to contact Trilix Newman or Margaret Hansen.

It was announced the initiative work would be exemplified at the next meeting on Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

A new refrigerator for the hall has been purchased by the committee using proceeds from the group's pie and ice cream social.

October birthdays were acknowledged and lunch was served by Lynn Kramer and her committee.

Merry Mixers Club meets

Esther Hansen was hostess for the Oct. 14 meeting of Merry Mixers Club. Eleven members answered roll call by telling what was wrong with their garden. Guests were Mrs. Glen Olson and Mrs. Herb Echtenkamp.

Faye Mann led the group in singing "My Nebraska." Members discussed couponing and how to use coupons. The club is invited to attend an art show at Wayne State College on Nov. 3.

Ella Luft was honored with the birthday song. A letter was read from Mrs. Les Allemen who is in Greece with her son and daughter-in-law.

Next meeting will be Nov. 11 in the home of Faye Mann. Esther Hansen and Arlene Allemen will give honey recipes, and roll call will be "It's a Great Feeling When..."

Clubwomen tell Halloween tales

Fourteen members and a guest, Mrs. John Hochstein, attended the Oct. 14 meeting of Klitch and Klatter Home Extension Club in the home of Orvetta Blomenkamp. Roll call was answered with a Halloween tale.

The meeting opened with the flag salute and creed in unison, followed with a thought for the day by President Marian Jordan, entitled "October Is a Month of Falling Leaves."

Angie Denesia told about activities in October, and Loreene Gildersleeve read a poem, "Oh Halloween," and an article on the origin of Halloween.

Safety ideas to prevent fires were given by Barbara Sievers. Irene Victor read "The Lost Art of Keeping in Touch," and Stella Liska told about her plans for keeping precious memory items. Casserole material was distributed by Marvel Corbit. A thank you was read from Lee Moller.

A committee for Achievement Day was named, and President Jordan announced a program, "Renowned Birth Project," on Nov. 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Wayne State College.

Marvel Corbit received the hostess gift and Angie Denesia gave the lesson, "Dabbling in Stenciling."

Next meeting will be Nov. 11 at 1:30 p.m. with Viola Meyer.

Favorite fall flowers named

Thirteen members of Pleasant Valley Club answered roll call with their favorite fall flower when they met Oct. 15 in the home of Irma Baler.

Aita Pearson was in charge of entertainment. A kitchen quiz was played, with prizes going to Geila Mae Preston and Mary Martinson. Cards furnished entertainment the remainder of the afternoon, with prizes going to Aita Baler, Marjorie Bennett and Frances Nichols. Ida Bichel will be the Nov. 19 hostess.

Oct. 26 in Wayne

Methodist youth collecting for UNICEF, Wayne Food Pantry

Junior and senior high youth (grades 7-12) from the First United Methodist Church in Wayne will be collecting for UNICEF and the Wayne Food Pantry on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26.

Youths will be asking Wayne residents for money for UNICEF and for one non-perishable food or paper product item for the Wayne Food Pantry.

THE PRIMARY task of UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) is to help developing countries improve the quality of life of their children, regardless of race, creed, sex, or political persuasion.

UNICEF runs programs in six areas — primary health care, social services, education, water and sanitation, nutrition, and emergency relief. In addition, UNICEF has a goal of universal child immunization by 1990.

UNICEF depends entirely upon voluntary contributions. Ninety percent of all contributions are used for programs and program support, with 10 percent going for administrative services.

In 1965, UNICEF was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, and in 1979 it was designated the lead agency for the International Year of the Child.

THE WAYNE Food Pantry is an emergency source of food for Wayne County residents and is administered by the Wayne Ministerial Association.

Persons must be referred to the pantry by agencies such as the police, churches, welfare office, or Golden Road Hills.

Although it is not an on-going source of food, the pantry can help persons up to three days while more permanent solutions are found.

Donations of non-perishable items and money are kept on hand. When a referral is made to the pantry, the money is used to purchase fresh fruits, vegetables, meat, eggs, cheese, milk and bread.

ITEMS WHICH can be used by the Wayne Food Pantry include canned fruits and vegetables, canned meats, soups, canned juices, baked beans, gelatin, boxed dinners, packaged pasta, other non-perishable canned or boxed food items, paper products, bar soap, dishwashing soap and laundry soap.

No home-canned items can be accepted.

Woman's Club tours museum

The Wayne Federated Woman's Club met Oct. 10 at the Wayne County Historical Museum.

Loretta Tompkins and Donna Shufelt, conducted tours of the museum, assisted by Richard Baler.

Nineteen members and five guests attended. Guests were Dorothy Dangberg, Joy Getman and Marlene Mueller, all of Wayne, and Irene Iversen and Ruby Ritze of Winside.

THE GROUP returned to the Woman's Club room for a brief business meeting. Dorothy Grone reported on the District III convention held this month in Creighton. Also reporting on the convention was Marian Jordan.

Topics stressed during the convention included seeking volunteers, planting and preserving trees, and visiting shut-ins.

Mathilde Reeg introduced Ruby Ritze and Irene Iversen, who told about plans to relocate the Theophilus Church into Winside for use as a museum.

Mrs. Ritze gave a history of the church, located southwest of Wayne, and announced that the committee to relocate the church is seeking donations. Pledges to date/total approximately $7,300.

The Woman's Club voted to donate $25 towards the project.

MARLENE MUELLER of the art department at Wayne State College invited the club to attend a presentation by Judy Chicago on Nov. 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Ley Theatre.

Hostesses for the October Woman's Club meeting were Eleanor Manning, chairman, Mary Kleper, Hazel Lentz and Dorothy Kabisch.

Hostesses for the Nov. 14 meeting in the Woman's Club room will be Dorothy Grone, chairman, Phyllis Caauwe and Eleanor Manning.

bridal showers

Becky Segura

Fifty guests, registered by Lynette Krie, attended a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Becky Segura of Kansas City, Mo. at the Concordia Lutheran Church, Concord, on Oct. 11.

The guests attended from Sioux City, Iowa; Kansas City, Mo.; Kansas City and Shawnee Mission, Kan.; Lincoln, Wayne, Laurel, Concord, Wakefield and Dixon. Decorations included a teal and white floral and candle centerpiece.

Ardyce Johnson presented devotions and was mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon program, which included a piano selection by Pam Anderson, a skit, "Lon's Favorite Hats," and a parade of the kitchen committee. Ardyce Johnson poured at the serving table, and Lynette Krie served punch. Julie Gregory and Lynette Krie assisted with gifts.

Hostesses were Ardyce Johnson and Ruth Erwin, both of Wakefield; Suzie Johnson and Alyce Erwin, both of Concord; Evonne Magnuson of Laurel; Donella Johnson of Dixon; and Avis Pearson, Marilyn Wallin, Jeannine Anderson and Verlyn Anderson, all of Wayne.

Miss Segura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Segura of Shawnee Mission, Kan., and Lon Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne, will be married Nov. 29 in Kansas City, Kan.

baptisms

Christa Kay Maaske

Christa Kay Maaske, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Maaske of South Sioux City, was baptized Oct. 12 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Martinsburg.

The Rev. Gary Klatt officiated, and sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Diediker of South Sioux City.

Dinner guests afterward in the Duane Diediker home, Allen, were the Maaske family, Pastor Klatt, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Diediker and Kayla, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Diediker and Denise, Allen.

LCW Circles meet at Redeemer Lutheran

Circles of Redeemer Lutheran Church met Oct. 8 at the church. Mary and Dorcas Circles combined for a 2 p.m. meeting with 36 in attendance.

Guests were Evelyn and Shirley Gathje and Wes Sievers. Hostesses were Irma Baler, Neva Lorenzen, Florence Goewe, Irene Reibold and Blanche Backstrom.

Sue Olson and Joyce Sievers presented the lesson, "New Frontiers in Mission," and conducted the devotional period. Members viewed a film, "Gifts for the Future," which explained the purpose and function of LCW.

IRENE REIBOLD conducted the business meeting and reported that the sewing group will meet the fourth Wednesday to pack items for Lutheran World Relief. Men's and children's clothing is emphasized this year, and those donating are asked to keep in mind that clothing is needed for warmer climates.

Quilts to be donated will be on display in the church sanctuary. Doris Luft reported that the visitation committee will meet the third Wednesday to visit shut-ins of the congregation.

Dorothy Grone, delegate to the Unit LCW convention in Kearney, reported on the meeting.

Phyllis Rahn prepared a display of books which are for viewing and sale at the Book Fair currently underway at the church. A committee has been at work for several months preparing a library for the church.

Members are reminded that a thank offering will be received at the November meeting.

MARTHA CIRCLE met at 7:30 p.m. with seven members present. Program leader was Rodella Wacker, and hostess was Cleo Ellis.

WAKEFIELD'S RANDY KINNEY explodes through Walthill's defense for a touchdown.

Wakefield too much for Walthill, cruise to lopsided 54-14 victory

WAKEFIELD — After the first play from scrimmage, Walthill probably sensed Friday's game with Wakefield was going to be a long one. And long is exactly how it turned out for the Bluejays as Wakefield stormed to a 54-14 victory.

After receiving the opening kickoff, Randy Kinney scampered 47 yards to the one yard line on the very first play.

Todd Kratke then reached pay dirt to supply the hosts with a quick 6-0 lead.

Kinney tallied Wakefield's second touchdown, this one from four yards, and Kratke booted a PAT.

Walthill then ran its offense from a shotgun formation, and the Bluejays pushed the ball inside the Wakefield 10-yard line.

But a series of penalties and fumbles ruined Walthill's chance of scoring and making a game of it, and the Trojans never looked back.

"If they would've scored then, they might've been able to turn it into a good game," Wakefield head coach Dennis Wilbur said. "But they didn't and our kids dominated the rest of the way."

Kratke made the score 19-0 with an early second quarter touchdown, before the game turned into "The Brad Lund Show."

Lund, who was named the Wayne

Herald's athlete of the month for September, was questionable before Friday's game because of a jammed neck he received in last week's loss to Beemer.

But he finished with 135 yards rushing on 13 carries, and scored four consecutive touchdowns for the Trojans.

"He showed up for Thursday's practice with a headache, so I sent him home and I didn't know if he'd be able to play or not on Friday," Wilbur said.

But play he did, as he scored four touchdowns on runs of five, three, 14 and 33 yards and added a two-point conversion after Kratke scored Wakefield's final touchdown from 48 yards.

Walthill's two touchdowns were scored by Kenny Beaudette from two yards and Ryan Fischer from three yards.

Brad Morgan added a PAT for the Bluejays, while Kinney and Kratke both tallied PATs for Wakefield.

The Trojans finished with three players over 100 rushing yards. In addition to Lund's 135 yards, Kinney gained 111 on seven carries and Kratke totaled 147 yards on 14 totes. Amazingly, Kinney had over 100 yards at halftime.

Wakefield finished with 394 yards in total offense, all of which came on the ground.

Walthill totaled 241 rushing yards and 48 passing, but most of that came against Wakefield's reserves as the Bluejays were held to only 28 rushing yards and 46 passing yards at intermission by the Trojan varsity.

Tony Halverson led Wakefield's defense with 10 tackles, while Jody Navrkal, Scott Lund and John Wriedt all finished with eight stops.

Brian Larson added seven tackles for Wakefield, while Kevin Greve totaled six stops and Mike Nelson finished with five.

Nelson also intercepted a pass and broke-up two other aerials, while Greve blocked a field goal.

Wakefield is now 4-3 on the year and 2-2 in the Eastern Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

The Trojans are also being considered by prep ranker Larry Porter as a top 10 team in Class C in the Omaha World Herald.

"This week we were mentioned by him as being considered as a top 10 team because he was taking into account who we've lost too," Wilbur said.

Wakefield's three losses have come against two No. 1 ranked teams — Coleridge and Bancroft-Rosalie — and second-ranked Beemer.

Wakefield's next game is Wednesday, Oct. 22, when 3-3 Wausa invades the Trojan gridiron.

Wayne's golfers prove they're some of the best at state tourney

LINCOLN — Wayne's golfers and their coach Dick Metteer knew they had a pretty good team heading into the Class B State Tournament here at Mahoney Golf Course on Thursday, but just how good the Lady Blue Devils actually were was still a question mark.

But now they know without a doubt that they are one of the best teams in the state, regardless of class, as Wayne placed fifth in Class B with a 409.

What's even more impressive, however, is the Lady Blue Devils would've placed sixth in Class A. The Class A Tournament was also played at Mahoney on Thursday.

Metteer said Wayne's high finish was due to a team effort and proper preparation that began last summer.

"This was a team effort, and we couldn't have done as well as we did without everybody playing well," he said. "The girls started getting ready for this clear back last summer, and that obviously played a big part in our success, too."

Crete defended its Class B title with a blistering 363 by placing four girls in the top five.

Blair finished second with a 394, while Cozad trimmed Omaha Duchesne 399-401 for third place.

Omaha Marlan captured the Class A title with a 359, while Lincoln Southeast placed second with a 361.

Julie Hensen of Blair claimed medalist honors in Class B with an 86, while Lincoln Southeast's Angie Wilson carded an incredible 77, including a 37 over the front nine.

Ann Perry totaled a 45 after her first nine holes and finished with a 98 to lead the Lady Blue Devils.

Missy Jones and Holly Paige followed Perry with a pair of 99s, while Jill Jordan rounded out Wayne's score with a 113. Andrea Marsh also competed at the tourney for the Lady Blue Devils.

The top 10 girls were awarded medals. Perry, Jones and Paige missed qualifying for a medal by one and two strokes, respectively.

Metteer said several unexpected players qualified for medals which hindered the Lady Blue Devils' chances.

"It was kind of strange, but Holdrege's fourth and fifth golfers made the top 10, Grand Island Northwest's fourth golfer made the top 10 and Crete's top four golfers finished in reverse order," he said. "So those unexpected players knocked our girls out of the running for a medal."

After nine holes, Wayne was tied for third with Grand Island Northwest with a 200, and the Lady Blue Devils were only three strokes behind second place Cozad. Wayne totaled a 209 on the second nine to round out its scoring.

Jones is the only senior on the Lady Blue Devil roster, so Metteer is optimistic about the future.

"Missy is the only girl that won't be back, and considering we placed three girls in the top 15, I think the girls left the clubhouse with the feeling that they'd be back and will compete at state again next year," he said.

Metteer said, however, that qualifying for state again next year won't come easy.

"The girls know they'll have to keep themselves in good condition and will have to stay on top of their game if they want to come back — just like they did this year."

Wynot outlasts Winside's stingy Wildcats for 28-6 victory

WINSIDE — Wynot steadily built a comfortable lead and hung on to claim a 28-6 victory over Winside here Friday night.

After scoring a touchdown in each of the first two quarters and adding a two-point conversion on the second one, the Blue Devils reached pay dirt again in the fourth stanza to open a 22-0 lead.

Winside finally got on the scoreboard when quarterback Tim Jacobsen scored on a 34-yard run.

Winside head coach Rich Touney has slowly been working Jacobsen into the quarterback position, and the Wildcat skipper said he thinks Jacobsen will be a good signal caller in the future.

"We've been grooming Tim all season at quarterback. He's only a sophomore now, and we think he'll be a good one in the future for us," Touney said.

Wynot answered Jacobsen's touchdown with one of its own to round out the game's scoring.

Winside had trouble moving the ball against the bigger Blue Devils, but the Wildcats did advance deep into Wynot territory in the second quarter.

After owning a first-and-10 on the Blue Devil 14, two running plays gained little yardage and two pass plays were off target and the Wildcats were forced to turn over possession of the ball.

Jacobsen finished with 88 rushing yards on 14 carries, while teammate Max Kant totaled 75 yards on 11 totes.

Winside gained 127 total yards rushing and 33 passing yards. Jacobsen completed 6-of-21 aerials for all 33 yards.

"We stuck with the running game as long as we could," Touney said. "But the clock started going against us so we were forced to throw a lot in the second half."

Wynot finished with 308 total yards, gaining 291 on the ground and 17 in the air.

The Blue Devils' most impressive statistic, however, might have been its 63 running plays.

"They ran 63 times, and that indicates how much they had the ball," Touney said.

Mike Thies and Randy Leapley led Winside's defensive attack with 11 and 10 unassisted tackles, respectively.

Mace Kant, Kevin Jaeger, Steve Jorgensen and Daryl Mundt all added eight tackles apiece to the Wildcat effort.

Winside has had trouble this season generating much offense, and Friday's game was no exception. But Touney said the main problem is youth.

"We've just decided that our backfield averages about 125 pounds and you're not going to knock around with other teams when you're that small," he said. "We'll just have to wait and let them grow."

Friday's game marked the second consecutive week the 1-6 Wildcats have played a tough team close. But Touney said the schedule seems to get tougher each week.

"We played better again tonight — the kids seem to be coming around," he said. "But every week we seem to improve, the next opponent is tougher-and-tougher."

Winside's next opponent — Bancroft Rosalie — is "the toughest of them all" as the Panthers are ranked first in the state and defeated second-ranked Beemer 30-14 Friday night.

The two teams play each other Wednesday at Bancroft.

Two early touchdowns sink Blue Devils again

FREMONT — Lately, a rule of thumb for Wayne's opposing teams seems to be score a couple early touchdowns and hold on the rest of the way.

That's what LeMars did in Wayne's 28-10 loss to the Bulldogs last week, and that's what happened in Thursday night's 20-7 loss to Fremont Bergan.

"They controlled the line of scrimmage in the early going, but then we switched to a 5-4 defense and the rest of the game was a real dogfight," Blue Devil head coach Lonnie Ehrhardt said.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Knights drove 11 plays before Tim Kasmeter reached pay dirt at the 8:07 mark from three yards. Jeff Bundy added a PAT boot.

The big play for Bergan in the opening drive came on a 31-yard pass play on a third-and-14 situation.

Wayne received the ensuing kickoff and after seven plays, punted to the Knight 18 yard line. But Bergan gobbled-up 82 yards in 11 plays before climaxing the drive with a one-yard touchdown run by Tom Rump at the 11:58 mark of the second stanza. Bundy added another PAT.

"At that point, we switched our defense to a 5-4 and the rest of the first half was three plays and punt — three plays and punt," Ehrhardt said.

Wayne's tough defensive effort after the switch ran out, however, in the third quarter. But Bergan also used some luck to score its third touchdown.

After the Knights gained 18 yards on a catch in which the Bergan receiver was on his knees, they used a circus catch from Bryan

Kuhlhenek from Rump for a 14-yard touchdown at the 7:06 mark.

Wayne's offense finally got on track when the Blue Devils turned to an aerial attack to conserve time.

Wayne took over on its own 28 and after Bill Landanger gained 29 yards on a reception, Liska totaled 29 more on three consecutive catches.

Liska finally capped the drive with a two-yard touchdown reception from Ted Lueders with 1:16 remaining in the third period.

However, that's as far as the Wayne comeback went as both teams shut each other out the rest of the way.

Wayne's passing game was sharp as six Blue Devils caught passes totaling 148 yards.

Liska totaled six receptions for 37 yards, while Landanger gained 32 yards on two catches and Russ Longe finished with 28 yards on two receptions.

Jon Stoltenberg caught one pass for 40 yards, while Lueders finished with eight yards on one reception and Ted McCright finished with three yards on one catch.

Wayne completed 13-of-21 passes, with Lueders going 10-for-17 for 117 yards and McCright finishing 3-for-4 for 31 yards.

Wayne gained just 42 rushing yards on 22 carries. Longe totaled 28 yards on two totes, while Landanger gained 32 yards on two tries and Liska finished with 37 yards on six carries.

Bergan totaled 181 rushing yards on 50 carries and completed all four of its passes for 71 yards.

Bergan's Starr Schulte was the game's leading rusher, finishing with 93 yards on 18 carries.

Troy Wood led Wayne's defenders with 15 tackles, including six unassisted stops. Liska followed with 13 tackles and McCright totaled 12.

Other leading tacklers for the Blue Devils were: Stoltenberg, 11; Lueders, 8; Landanger, 8; Jamie Fredrickson, 7; Longe, 7; and Steve Luit, 7.

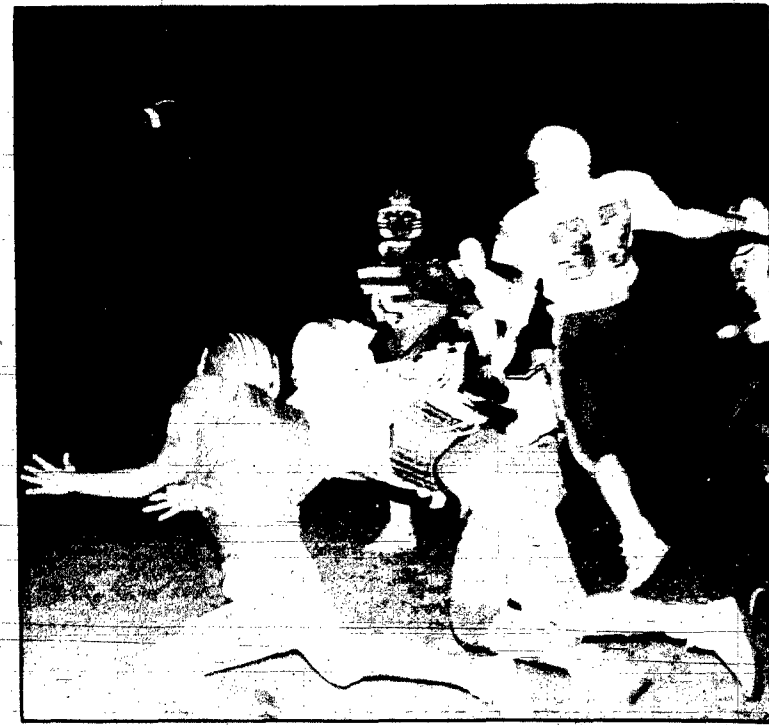

Luit was dazed during the game and was forced to leave. Ehrhardt said Luit was taken to the hospital during the game, but added that everything was fine by the time the team left Fremont.

"Nobody saw the play on which he got hurt. Our first indication that something was wrong was when he center on a shotgun formation," Ehrhardt said. "He wasn't making much sense, so we rushed to the hospital right away and left him there over night. But when I left the Fremont hospital last night, everything was under control and all the tests showed he was all right."

The loss dropped Wayne to 4-3 on the year, but didn't ruin the Blue Devils' playoff chances.

Wayne still plays 3-2 Hartington Cedar Catholic on Wednesday and 1-4 O'Neill on Friday, Oct. 31. Ehrhardt said that if the Blue Devils win those two games and they get help from other teams, Wayne could qualify for post season play.

"We have to win our last two games, and if South Sioux City wins two of its final three, and we get some help from West Point and Lyons-Decatur, we could still reach the playoffs," he said. "It might only take 39 playoff points to qualify, and we got a shot at reaching that."

Lady Wildcats end Allen's dominance with thrilling three set victory

WINSIDE — Allen head coach Gary Troth said Tuesday night that he expected a tough match from Winside on Thursday because the Lady Wildcats traditionally play well in their own gym.

And Winside did exactly that and trimmed Allen 18-16, 4-15, 15-11.

The victory might be the first time Winside has defeated a Lady Eagle volleyball team in eight years, according to Winside head coach Jill Stenwall.

"I'm not positive about this, but I think that's the first time we've beaten Allen in volleyball since the late '70s," she said. "If I had to guess, I'd say the last time we won was in 1978."

The Lady Wildcats' chances of winning in '88 also looked bleak as Allen raced to a 7-1 lead in the rubber set. However, Winside took advantage of an Allen formation and outscored the Lady Eagles 15-4 the rest of the way for the victory.

"After we got up 7-1, we were in a situation that wasn't one of our most powerful," Troth said, referring to his club's player formation. "And Winside did a good job of taking advantage of that — you have to give them credit."

Troth also gave credit to Lady Wildcat setter C'er Olson for getting Winside into an offensive flow. "I was real impressed with their setter," Troth said. "She took a lot of weak passes and turned them into good sets and got Winside's offense on track."

Both teams' offense was on track in the first set as both clubs battled through a very close and well-played frame.

But Allen missed several crucial serves and Winside came through when it needed to to claim the victory.

"We played together very well as a team in the first and third sets and that's why we won," Stenwall said. "But the second set was a different story."

Allen dominated the second frame and cruised to an 11 point victory.

"That was one of our best sets this year," Troth said. "We really had our offense going — I think (Kris) Chase hit a few spikes that traveled as fast as the speed of light."

Both teams had several players finish with outstanding statistics.

Olson finished 91-for-93 in setting, while Christi Thies went 32-for-36 in spiking with 12 kills and added nine points.

Lori Jensen also scored nine points for Winside and teammate Tricia Hartman added six markers.

Tracy Topp, Ann Meierhenry and Hartman also hit well for Winside and finished with 11, six and four kills, respectively.

Although they lost, the Lady Eagles' statistics weren't inferior.

Chase finished with eight kill spikes on 28-of-31 hitting and Lana Erwin went 19-for-22 with six aces, most of which were dinks.

Tiffany Harder and Barb Hansen added three and one kills, respectively, on 12-of-13 and 10-of-11 hitting. Erwin scored a team-high 10 points, while Chase scored nine points and Harder added seven markers.

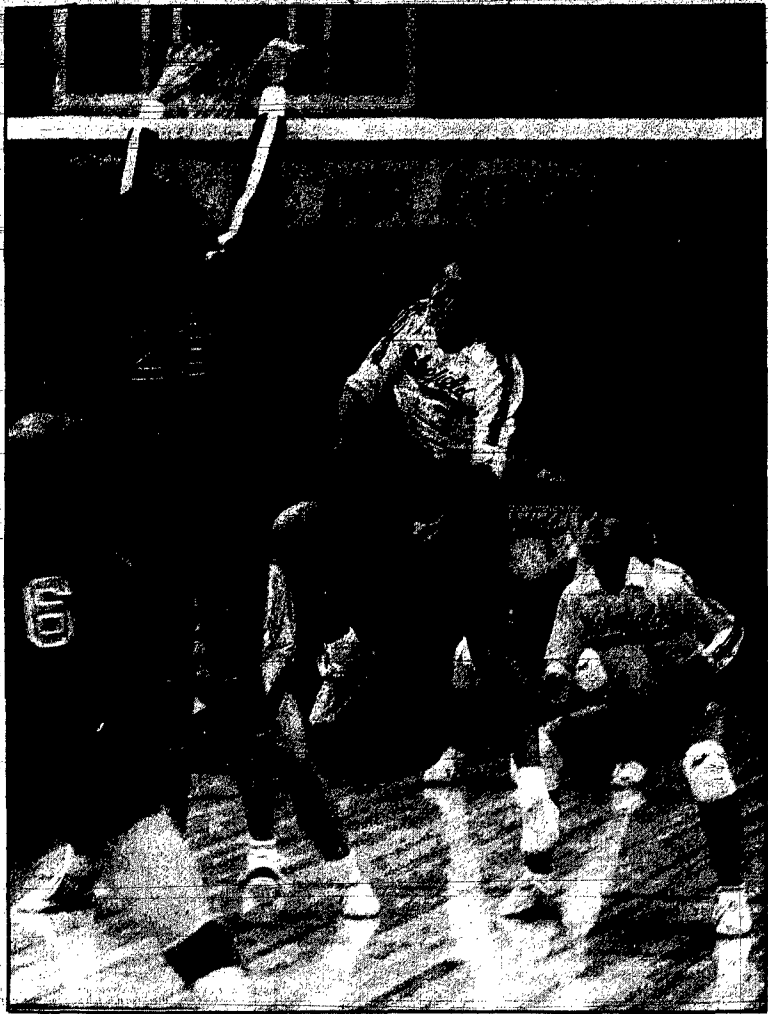

Nikki Olesen finished 68-for-72 in setting. Although Olesen is playing well, Troth said he's considering playing two setters more often.

"We've had four matches now that have been very close and have gone longer than usual, and that takes its toll on the setter so I might start working Amy Noe in there a little more," he said.

Allen won the 'B' match 15-5, 15-9 and the 'C' match 11-6, 11-5.

Winside is now 6-4 overall and played Saturday at the Hartington Invitational. The Lady Wildcats faced Hartington Cedar Catholic's junior varsity in the first round.

Allen slipped to 9-5 overall and play again Tuesday when Homer invades the Lady Eagle gymnasium.

WAKEFIELD'S MARCI GREVE pounds a spike against Coleridge. Greve finished 10-for-11 in spiking with four kills.

Lady Trojans hammer Coleridge

Wakefield tunes-up 15-2, 15-1

WAKEFIELD — Wakefield used Thursday night's 15-2, 15-1 trouncing of Coleridge as a tune-up for a key match-up against Bancroft-Rosalie this Tuesday night and the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament, which begins Monday, Oct. 27.

Thursday night's triumph allowed the Lady Trojans to finish the season with a perfect 7-0 mark in the conference and the Lewis Division title. Wakefield is 11-1 overall.

The victory over Coleridge was obviously an easy one for the Lady Trojans, but although Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton said he thought his club played well, they weren't perfect.

"We played well, but we weren't crisp," he said. "We jumped out to a big lead and then coasted the rest of the way, but that happens sometimes."

Desiree Salmon finished 16-for-17 in serving with four aces and a game-high 15 points.

Stephanie Torczon went 16-for-16 in setting, while Marci Greve led the Lady Trojans in hitting going 10-for-11 with four kills.

Stacey Kuhl and Val Krusemark led Wakefield in passing with 5-for-5 and 3-for-3 efforts, respectively.

Wakefield made it a clean sweep by winning the 'B' match 15-6, 15-10 and the 'C' match 2-11, 11-6, 11-7.

Kelly Frédrickson led the Lady Trojans in scoring in the 'B' match with three points on 10-for-10 serving, while Cathi Larson led Wakefield's 'C' team in scoring with seven points on 11-for-11 serving and five aces.

Julie Greve led the 'C' team in spiking going 5-for-5.

Wakefield's next match is Tuesday against Bancroft-Rosalie. Bancroft is 8-3 on the season and defeated a salty Emerson-Hubbard squad Thursday night.

"Bancroft lost a lot of seniors from last year, but they had a real good 'B' team last year and they're playing good volleyball right now," Eaton said.

The Bancroft match-up is Wakefield's final regular season game-of-the-year, but the Lady Trojans then begin conference tournament play.

Wakefield will host divisional play Monday, Oct. 27, and will probably play Coleridge in the first round. Winside will probably play Hartington in the other first-round match.

The winner of that division will travel to Laurel on Tuesday, Oct. 28, to play the winner of the Clark Division. The conference championship will also be held Tuesday, Oct. 28, at Laurel.

MEG HURLEY (left) leads the CSIC in blocks.

Hurley leads CSIC in blocks

By John Prather
Sports Editor

If area volleyball fans want to see one of the best defensive players in Nebraska, all they have to do is travel to Rice Auditorium the next time the Lady Wildcats play at home.

Meg Hurley, a six-foot sophomore Lady Wildcat hitter, is currently leading the Central States, Intercollegiate Conference in blocking.

"I think this is the first time Wayne State's ever had a girl lead the conference in a volleyball category," Lady Wildcat skipper Marilyn Strate said.

Conference statistics are tabulated from CSIC tournaments only, and in 14 CSIC tourney games, Hurley has 31 blocks (14 unassisted and 17 assisted) to her credit for a 2.1 average.

Last year as a freshman, Hurley set a new Wayne State record in blocking with 177 in 77 games for a 2.3 average.

"For the most part, defensive statistics have only been kept during the 1980s," Strate said. "And she set a new single season record last year."

At this pace, Hurley should have little difficulty setting a Wayne State career blocking record, but she's hardly a one-dimensional player.

"Meg is also one of our strongest hitters and is fourth on the team in digs with a 2.6 average," Strate said. "She's also scored 14 points so she's a good all-around player."

A key to Hurley's fine play this season is an improved and stronger left knee. Ever since she injured her knee in a soccer game during her junior year of high school, the Omaha Westside graduate was forced to wear a large knee brace during athletic competition.

But Hurley hit the weights during the off-season, and the result is a stronger, more aggressive athlete.

"She really worked hard on the weights in the off-season. All the girls lifted weights, but Meg seemed to benefit the most," Strate said. "She had a knee problem in the past, but the weights seemed to improve that. She got stronger in her upper body, too, and as a result is hitting the ball with more authority."

Anyone who has seen Hurley play has probably noticed her enthusiasm, and Strate said that in addition to Hurley's strength, her competitive attitude is a key to her volleyball abilities.

"Meg just loves to play volleyball and she's a competitor — these two things figure into her success as a player as well."

LAUREL'S TAMMI SCHMITT (No. 12) looks on at a teammate setting the ball. Laurel dropped a 9-15, 10-15 loss to Randolph Thursday night to fall 3-9 on the year. The Lady Bears play again Tuesday at Coleridge before entering the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament on Monday, Oct. 27.

Laurel falls to Randolph 9-15, 10-15

LAUREL — Laurel dropped a 9-15, 10-15 loss to Randolph here Thursday night, but despite losing, Lady Bear head coach Carroll Manganaro was pleased with her club's effort. "We made some changes in our offense, and they worked pretty well," she said. "But unfortunately, Randolph was good, too."

The first set was evenly played as both teams battled to a 9-9 tie after Randolph opened a 6-5 lead. But Randolph used a powerful hitting attack to tally the set's final six points to claim the victory.

"They have a good team," Manganaro said, referring to the Lady Cardinals. "They really hit the ball well."

Both teams hit the ball well in the second set, but Randolph once again pulled away for the victory.

After owning a 4-3 lead, the Lady Cardinals opened a 13-6 advantage before capturing the five point triumph.

Although statistics were not available, Manganaro said Sara Adkins turned in a fine setting performance for the Lady Bears and added that Tammi Schmitt and Dawn Addison both hit the ball well.

Manganaro added that she was pleased with the way her club executed some different offensive formations and was also pleased with several reserve roles.

"We arranged some different line-ups and got more people off the bench in the game. And they did a good job," she said. "We did good on offense, and did a nice job on serve receive. The key was we made some costly errors at inopportune times."

Manganaro cited Shelly Wattler as doing a fine job off the bench in the serving department and Sherrie McCorkindale for playing well in the front row.

Laurel missed only one serve in the first set and finished the second frame without a miss. Wattler led the Lady Bears with four points.

Randolph also won the 'B' match

15-2, 15-3 and the 'C' match 11-1, 11-0.

"I think our play in the second set of the 'B' match is a more typical example of the way we can play," Manganaro said. "And we had two injuries in the 'C' match that really hurt us."

Amy Newton sprained her ankle in the first set of the 'C' match and Deb Rosser split her lip in the second set.

The loss dropped Laurel's varsity to 3-9 on the year. The Lady Bears play again Tuesday at Coleridge.

"We played better Thursday night and with more intensity," Manganaro said. "That was good to see, because the conference tournament is just around the corner."

csic notes

Gene Stegeman of Pittsburg State University has been chosen as the offensive player of the week in the CSIC for his efforts Saturday as the Gorillas used two third quarter touchdowns by Stegeman to break open a 7-7 tie to defeat Washburn University, 21-7.

Stegeman, a 5-11, 175-pound junior quarterback from Overland Park, Kan., rushed 25 times for 93 yards and scored two touchdowns. His scores came on runs of 17 yards and one yard.

Pittsburg State entered the game ranked second in the nation in the NAIA Division 1, while the Ichabods ranked ninth.

Bernard Brown of Pittsburg State University has been chosen as the CSIC's defensive player of the week for his contributions in Saturday's victory.

Brown, a 5-10, 195-pound senior linebacker from Claremore, Okla., had 12 total tackles, including 10 unassisted stops. He was also credited with one quarterback sack for a loss of five yards and had two other tackles for losses of nine yards and recovered a fumble.

The PSU defense limited Washburn to only 74 rushing yards in the game.

Last Week's Results
 Emporia State 11 Missouri Southern 0; Fort Hays State 14 Wayne State 0; Kearney State 20 Missouri Western 7; Pittsburg State 21 Washburn 7.

 The Wildcats are seventh in total offense averaging 188.8 yards... eighth in rushing averaging 57.8 yards... fourth in passing averaging 131 yards... fifth in total defense averaging 306.2 yards... fifth in rushing defense averaging 140.5 yards... sixth in passing defense averaging 162.7 yards.

Wayne State's Individual Rankings
 Mark Volt is first in interceptions with four... Sonny Jones is fifth in kickoff returns averaging 19 yards... Darin Blackburn is third in punting averaging 38.9 yards... John Lawrence is fourth in passing averaging 112.2 yards.

Lady Blue Devils learn valuable lessons

Wayne's volleyball players learned a valuable lesson this week in their two matches against Hartington Cedar Catholic and Pierce, according to head coach Marlene Uhing.

"You always have to get up for the games mentally, but in Tuesday night's loss to Cedar, I think we were too emotionally high," she said. "We were fired-up for Pierce, but we played within ourselves and everything turned out better."

It sure did, as the Lady Blue Devils cruised to a 15-5, 15-2 victory over the Lady Bluejays Thursday night.

Pick and Kecia Corbit led Wayne in hitting going 13-for-15 with eight kills and 15-for-15 with seven kills, respectively.

Dana Nelson added a 6-for-6 hitting effort with a pair of kills, and Marni Bruggeman went 23-for-24 in setting with 16 assists.

Bruggeman also scored a game-high 10 points on 10-of-11 serving, while Kristi Hansen went 9-for-9 with seven points.

Wayne made it a perfect night by also winning the 'B' match 15-3, 10-15, 15-8 and the 'C' match 16-14, 15-6.

In addition to playing in the correct frame of mind, Uhing credited the victory to her club's defense and the ability to run its offense.

"We had a good defensive effort from everybody — especially from Shelly Pick and Amy Schlus," the Wayne skipper said. "The hitting was more balanced and the kids worked well on offense. We ran a lot of our set plays better and that's something we haven't been doing as well lately."

Uhing added that she was especially pleased with Jennifer Wessel's faking out of the middle.

Karmyn Koenig led the Lady Blue Devils in scoring in the 'B' match with five points, while Teresa Ellis' 10 markers in the 'C' match claimed scoring honors for Wayne.

Wayne's varsity is now 13-3 on the year and plays again Tuesday when West Point Central Catholic invades the Lady Blue Devil gymnasium.

"Tuesday's match should be a good game. They have a good player out of the middle by the name of Jill Mulvihill," Uhing said. "She was at the same camp we were at, and she's a good one."

Pheasant season begins Nov. 1

The Ringneck Pheasant, Nebraska's favorite gamebird, is three pounds of flavorful meat easily identified by its brightly-colored feathers and long barred tail.

In the sunlight he stands out like a neon light, but give him a patch of short weeds and grass and he becomes almost invisible. You can walk through the grass, kick, yell, stomp and do everything possible to make him fly, but sometimes he'll sit tight until you decide he has somehow crawled away unnoticed. Then, when you unload the shotgun and reach into a pocket for a candy bar or a pipe, he'll explode from between your feet with a loud cackle and flurry of wings that sends your heart straight to your throat.

Or, other times you can take two steps into a 100-yard long-foot plot and every pheasant within a quarter mile will take flight far enough away that you couldn't hit them with heat-seeking missiles.

That's what makes the pheasant a favorite adversary. He is fairly abundant, but "he ain't easy!" It's the challenge he presents that draws shotgunners from throughout the state and across the nation to Nebraska each year for opening weekend.

The adult rooster has a distinctive red eye patch and his head is an iridescent purple. He has some green on his neck, a ring of white feathers at the base of his neck and feathers that range from shades of brown and tan and gold and black and white to his lower back where light blue hair-like feathers drape over his rump. His tail is long — some 15 to 18 inches — and tapered. It is dark tan with a reddish cast at the edge and black bars along its length.

Hens are more subdued, kind of a pale-brown mottling that looks somewhat like a sharp-tailed grouse. An adult hen weighs about two pounds.

There is nothing really agile about a rooster pheasant, except that he can run through cover, under cover, through corn and milo fields, road ditches and shelterbelts like an Olympic sprinter. He looks cumbersome and awkward when he takes flight, but all it takes is a few powerful flaps of his short wings for him to quickly build up speed and then he uses his momentum to glide — just out of range — over a hill, behind some trees, or into the middle of a field where he lands running. He quickly puts distance between the spot where you're sure he landed and the heavy cover where you're sure he couldn't have gotten to that quickly.

An old ringneck is tough. He can take a pretty good dusting and keep moving. Even if wounded he may continue to fly, or run and only a good hunting dog is really a match for his speed and illusive nature.

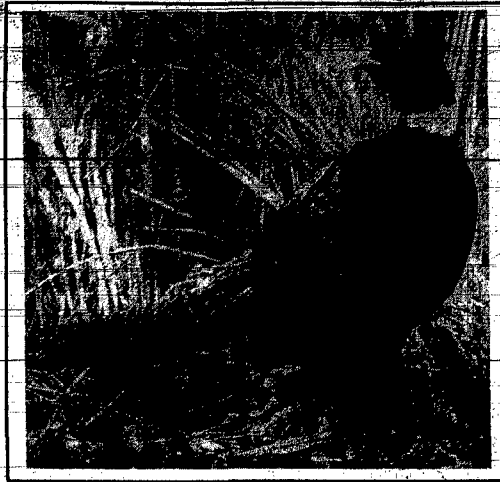

He is one great gamebird. Pheasants eat a variety of grain crops including corn, milo, wheat, and soybeans. They eat a lot of insects and weedseeds, and they pick grit from roadsides for grinding food in their gizzards.

At night he roosts in short grassy areas out of the wind and during the day when not feeding he loafs in heavy cover. Hunters are apt to find pheasants in about any area where there is cover, but they must remember most of Nebraska's pheasants are found on private property and permission must be obtained before hunting on private property, whether the land is posted or not.

The NEBRASKA Game and Parks Commission Wild Game Cookbook has many delicious recipes for preparing pheasant. Copies of the cookbook are available from many newsstands, or across the counter at any Game and Parks Commission office.

Nebraska's 1987 pheasant hunting season will be Nov. 1 through Jan. 31, 1987.

RINGNECK PHEASANT — The popularity of this gamebird makes the opening day of pheasant hunting season an unofficial holiday across Nebraska.

Changes made in fishing regulations

LINCOLN — The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission adopted several changes in fishing regulations that will become effective Jan. 1, 1987, including limiting of the paddlefish snagging season to the month of November and limiting the area of the Missouri River where they may be snagged, at the Commission meeting in Lincoln Oct. 15.

The new regulation restricts the harvest of paddlefish by snagging to Nov. 1 through Nov. 30 and allows paddlefish snagging only in that area of the Missouri River from Gavins Point Dam down river to Sioux City, or mile marker 734. Archery fishing for paddlefish will be allowed in the same section of the river June 1 through July 31. All other portions of the Missouri River will be closed to snagging and archery fishing for paddlefish. The new regulation goes into effect Jan. 1, 1987 and is in line with similar regulations adopted by South Dakota.

Wes Sheets, Chief of the Game and Parks Fisheries Division, says the regulation change was necessary due to declining paddlefish populations and the on-going deterioration of paddlefish habitat in the river.

The Commissioners also:

- voted to extend the 12-inch size limit on largemouth bass to include the Panhandle portion of the state and make the 12-inch minimum size limit standard throughout the state, except for those lakes designated as

- having a 15-inch size limit on largemouth bass. Those lakes are Elwood, Wagon Train, Stagecoach, Conestoga, Yankee Hill, Wildwood, Cottonball, Summit, Skyview and Calamus Reservoir; and
- set the minimum size limit on largemouth bass at DeSoto Bend Lake at 15 inches;

- voted to delete goldfish from the list of fish species prohibited for use as bait;

- voted to combine striped bass with white bass and hybrid bass for the purpose of bag limits. That change allows a 25 fish limit on striped bass per day, but only three of those fish can be longer than 20 inches;

- voted to combine the blue and channel catfish in inland waters for the purpose of bag and possession limits because of the difficulty most fishermen have in identifying the two. This change does not affect the waters of the Missouri River;

- voted to remove the largemouth bass and musky harvest restriction currently in effect at Watts Lake on the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge. The newly adopted statewide minimum 12-inch size limit for largemouth bass will be in effect at Watts, and the 30-inch size limit on musky will also be in effect;

- voted to remove Overton Lake in Holt County from the list of lakes where the use of live bait is restricted;

- voted to delete the restriction of live bait in the Two Rivers SRA area lakes other than the trout lake;

- set Jan. 8 as the date for a public hearing to establish opening dates for the 1987 hunting seasons for non-migratory game species; to set the 1987 spring turkey season; to set application dates for deer, antelope and wild turkey permits; and adopt general regulations for game and non-game wildlife;

- voted to reject a request by the Nebraska Council of Sportman's Clubs to consider establishing a hunting season for Sandhill Cranes in Nebraska and give the matter no further consideration;

- voted to designate 5,210 acres of land surrounding Calamus Reservoir wildlife management lands, and another 1,292 acres of land at the same lake as recreation lands;

- voted to accept a staff recommendation to approve an overtime policy in accordance with Nebraska Department of Personnel Rules and Regulations which were adopted July 1, 1986;

- voted to approve an easement to bury power cables at Pressey WMA in Custer County because the current overhead lines were being covered by trees and required continual maintenance;

- voted to approve a lease agreement with the Department of Roads for a 70 acre tract of land and water, just west of Maxwell to be designated as Pawnee Slough Wildlife Management Area.

JVs pound West Point

WEST POINT — Wayne's junior varsity football team finished its '86 campaign on a very positive note by pounding West Point 44-6 here Monday night.

Jason Liska turned in an outstanding performance for the Blue Devils by finishing with 136 yards rushing and scoring three touchdowns.

Wayne opened a 22-6 lead at the half. After Tom Baier blocked a punt and returned it 20 yards for Wayne's first touchdown, Robbie Gamble added a two-point PAT to make the score 24-0.

Liska then scored the next two touchdowns from one and three yards, respectively, and Gamble added another two-point conversion to round out Wayne's first half scoring.

Liska picked up in the second half where he left off in the first half by scoring from 16 yards.

Wayne's other second half touchdowns came on a 32-yard pass from Jess Zeiss to Elliott Salmon and a six-yard run by Chad Davis.

Eric Liska, Jason's brother, added a pair of two-point PATs for the Blue Devils in the second half.

Baier led Wayne's defense with a team-high six tackles. Chris Luff totaled five stops for the Blue Devils, while Eric Runestad, Eric Liska and Salmon all added four tackles. Scott Pokett and Salmon also picked off one pass apiece for Wayne, and the Blue Devils forced seven fumbles.

Wayne finishes the year with a 2-3 mark, but the three losses came on a total of four points.

Ron Carnes, the junior varsity coach at Wayne, said the junior varsity players have a lot of potential and added that Jason Liska would've made a big difference if he could've played JV ball all year.

future, especially on the line and in the running back area," Carnes said. "And I think if Jason could've played all year we would've had a better record. He had a sore shoulder so this was his first JV game."
