Walter Benthack officially retires from medical practice

by Chuck Hackenmiller,
Managing editor

Dr. Walter Benthack, at age 90, is brief and to the point when he sums up his personal feelings about his nearly 62 years as a practicing physician.

"It certainly has been a great satisfaction to me. My career has certainly been far more successful than what I had anticipated when I started," he said.

Walter has officially retired from practicing physician status. He did not renew his practicing license which expired on Sept. 30 of this year.

"I think the retirement was long overdue. I've been trying to retire for 30 years, but there was a gap to fill and I think Dr. [Ben] Martin has filled that gap, and then some," Walter mentioned.

Walter, who has practiced medicine in Wayne for nearly 56 years, was honored in a special open house reception last Sunday at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

This is the same man who, through most of his life, has furnished the Wayne community with a wealth of medical knowledge. His expertise, dedication and efforts were a key cog in a driving force that helped produce quality facilities for medical care in Wayne and the surrounding area.

Walter's father was a country doctor. As a child Walter said he had suffered from illnesses that were not fully understood. His talents at this young age included a "very good memory."

"That talent alone might have been enough to entice a young man to enter medical school and become a physician. But there was another reason.

"We were very, very poor. At that time, education was the route out, just like it is the route out for the American people today," Walter said.

PERHAPS THAT is why he defends education so vehemently as he voices his concern that people

"beat up on the public schools instead of supporting it."

Walter graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1924 and interned for a year at the University hospitals.

"Most of the medical students in those days were dead broke. Interns were not paid in those days. They got room and board and that was all they got," mentioned Walter.

"Four year residencies were few and far between back in those days," he said. He constantly was taking post graduate courses, although it was not obligatory, after his internship.

Now, they get a substantial stipend and an extended vacation, he said. "You young folks don't understand that vacation was unheard of back in the 1920's. This business of paid vacations and sick leave benefits and all that kind of stuff is one of the horrible things that the New Deal brought in."

Now, the family doctor has to have a certain amount of continued medical education credits every three years to be continued to be certified, according to Walter.

DURING SUMMER months he filled in as locum tenens (temporary substitute) for vacationing physicians. However, his most successful locum tenens was in Pierce. That situation turned into a full-time practice as Walter practiced there for four years.

He came to Wayne and started his practice in June of 1930. That was a year after the stock market crash. Walter said he was in Detroit, attending the largest medical meeting in the country, on the day when the stock market bottomed out.

"I remember that day as though it was yesterday," Walter said. President Hoover was in Detroit the same day, but had not recognized what had happened either. Hoover had said the economy of the country was fundamentally sound at that time.

Walter said he remembers that date not so much because of the stock market crash, but because at the medical meeting Henry Ford and Thomas Edison had appeared.

"They were implored to come before the largest medical meeting in the country [at that time] because of the enormous contributions they made to the medical practice. Without electricity, so much of what we have could never have been developed," said Walter.

He started up his medical practice in Wayne on a lot where he built a small hospital. As World War II approached, Walter came to the decision that the community "certainly needed better facilities than it had."

In 1936 voters turned down a bond issue to build a hospital. Walter said he argued the case. Having a hospital between Norfolk and Sioux City, with road conditions certainly not as they are today, would have been rather feasible.

But financing a hospital was difficult. One reason was that in those days, there was no hospital insurance. Insurance came into being during World War II, according to Walter.

SO THE 26-bed hospital (currently the city hall building in Wayne) was constructed privately by Benthack. It opened on Easter Sunday, 1942.

"It was purely a private hospital," Walter said.

Seventeen years later, the city purchased the facility and it became Wayne Municipal Hospital.

An awareness that a new medical center would be needed was realized in the 1970's. After an effort to form a hospital district was abandoned, the Benedictine Order of Sisters in Norfolk agreed to provide half the total cost of a $1 million hospital if the Wayne area would raise the remainder and agree to allow the sisters to operate and maintain the facility.

Walter said an offer was made to the sisters for the construction of a hospital facility in 1936.

"But World War II was brewing and Hitler would not let them get any sisters out of Germany anymore," Walter said.

He said Providence Medical Center's staff and services, since its dedication, has "developed certainly beyond my fondest hopes."

Through his years in practicing medicine, the greatest and most cursed disease was polio or infantile paralysis. "During about 1952, the disease took many people here," he said.

"It was not totally understood that this [polio] was a viral disease. It was a curse then," he said.

Jonas Salk, a U.S. bacteriologist, developed a vaccine soon after. But there was controversy, Walter said, because the immunization handled only the paralysis and not the viral infection. A U.S. physician, Albert Sabin, developed another vaccine which is used today as "drops" that are given to every baby, he said.

"There is another bonus of the New Deal that we're so eager to malign and so prone to forget. Franklin Roosevelt had polio and the March of Dimes was created by him," said Walter.

Research work done by the March of Dimes had greatly helped the cause in fighting polio. "That's just one of the great benefits of the March

People won't find the Cap'n when calling Restful Knights

by Chuck Hackenmiller,
Managing editor

Things are not so restful at Restful Knights these days.

Because of a promotion, their phone keeps ringing...and ringing...and ringing. Trouble is, the promotion is with Quaker Oats, Cap'n Crunch cereal — not Restful Knights.

Restful Knights owners and their attorneys are working to find a solution to the vexing, menacing puzzle.

People who buy a box of Cap'n Crunch's variety of cereals (Peanut Butter Crunch, Crunch Berries and plain Cap'n Crunch) will find a contest called Free the Cap'n.

Children, with the assistance of their parents, can call a "secret phone number" to find out where in Sogland the Cap'n is; which door he's locked in; and which key Cap'n needs to break away.

Each clue gives a different secret phone number. Participants in the contest are asked, in the directions to call on any Saturday or Sunday up to Feb. 2, 1987 to Free the Cap'n.

If the participant rescues the Cap'n, then he or she is eligible to receive a $100 share of the $1 million reward to rescue him.

THERE ARE several numeral figures in the national WATS numbers that participants do not have to guess. Participants must solve the clues to gain the remaining four of the 11 numbers in the WATS phone number.

The seven numbers which are already given to the participants also align with the national WATS number given to Restful Knights in Wayne. According to Rob Stuberg, co-owner of Restful Knights, the block of national WATS numbers obtained for the cereal contest was not to include Restful Knights.

But because of wrong guesses of the four remaining numbers, Restful Knights has been recently deluged with the kids who say they have the answers to the clues. (As this interview with Stuberg was being conducted, another person came up with another answer that would help "free the Cap'n.")

Stuberg said a count was done from Saturday afternoon to Sunday afternoon (when cereal contest directions stipulate for the call to be made). "We got over 300 calls on it," said Stuberg.

The calls started coming in to Restful Knights after July 4. "We were getting these calls looking for Cap'n Crunch and we later found out it was a promotion," Stuberg said.

"The way it is set up, if the kids read the instructions, is that they are only supposed to call on Saturdays and Sundays. Well, some don't read the instructions and we get some calls during the day, all week long," said Stuberg.

Stuberg said the complicated situation has been turned over to Restful Knight attorneys. No court action has yet been taken, according to Stuberg. "Our first priority is to get the phone problem solved," he said.

THE CEREAL company has provided Restful Knights with a "black box," or sophisticated phone answering machine, that indicates the number is wrong and gives the correct number for individuals to call.

Jury finds Novaock guilty

Kurt Novaock of Wayne was found guilty Tuesday of first-degree murder in the June 1985 stabbing death of Jerry Pilhal of Delmont, South Dakota.

A 12 member jury, after deliberating for nearly 11 hours, came up with the verdict prior to noon on Tuesday — just one week after the trial started in Yankton, South Dakota.

The verdict said Novaock had committed murder during a robbery or burglary at Pilhal's home.

In December of 1985, Novaock and Lewis Ashker of Wayne were indicted and charged by a South Dakota grand jury with first degree murder-first degree manslaughter in the death of Pilhal. Ashker was first extradited to South Dakota, where he stood trial in Armour. Novaock was extradited months later to Armour and then to Yankton where the trial was conducted.

Ashker is currently serving a life sentence, having been found guilty of first degree murder earlier this year. Novaock's sentencing is set for Oct.

30. The verdict carries a mandatory sentence of life in prison.

In an Associated Press article, prosecutor Jon Erickson (an assistant South Dakota attorney general) mentioned that a major piece of evidence in the trial was a paint chip found near a benchclothesline pole in the victim's yard. Lab tests linked the paint chip to a pickup truck that was registered to Lewis Ashker's wife.

Erickson went on to say that the prosecution showed Novaock was the bridge between Wayne and Delmont and that he took part in the fruits of the crime.

Issues related to hunting season

By Cheryl Stubbendick
 Vice President/Information
 Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
 With pheasant season beginning Nov. 1, now is a good time to consider issues relating to hunting: permission to hunt, insurance liability and who's responsible for feeding wildlife.

Most of the hunting in our state, and in most states, is on private land owned by farmers for agricultural production of one type or another. Persons who want to hunt on another person's property need to get permission and that means asking ahead of time, not early on the morning of opening day. Hunters need to remember that they are asking permission to discharge firearms in what amounts to somebody else's back yard.

They need to consider, too, that the farm family may want to hunt its land itself and so may refuse permission to hunt, nothing more — it does not give permission to trespass.

A retired Farm Bureau staff member recalls the time he found a pickup parked by the side of the road and hunters nonchalantly striding in to his fields. When he got into their pickup, the hunters protested, but for this farmer, property was properly and his had been trespassed without permission.

FARMERS MAY deny hunting privileges for other reasons. First, there is the perennial problem of hunters' trampling unharvested crops or damaging conservation structures, perhaps through ignorance as much as anything. Second, there's the question of insurance liability — it is as much a concern with hunting as in every other aspect of production agriculture these days. Rates have risen dramatically and a farmer may not want to risk a lawsuit from a hunter injured on his property.

And then there's the matter of who's feeding the wild game. It's generally the farmer who suffers economic loss from crops foraged by wildlife. Hunting license fees generally go for raising fish and game and law enforcement, not food or habitat.

As much as anybody, farmers enjoy wildlife. Hearing birds singing in the morning or seeing a new fawn is one of the intangible compensations of farm life. But, wildlife do not eat for free, and farmers can't afford to pay for the recreational pleasure of hunters.

Some form of compensation is needed — either payments from licensing fees or perhaps direct compensation from hunters. Collectively, hunters could rent hunting rights, or more farmers could run "game farms" for profit. And, hunters could supply themselves with liability insurance coverage of their own.

Hunters who are aware of these concerns, and who ask courteously and ahead of time for permission to hunt, are much more likely to get it.

Benthack retires

Dr. Walter Benthack and medical practice in Wayne have gone hand in hand for nearly 56 years. Dr. Benthack has officially retired as a practicing physician.

Not included in the article in this Thursday's edition, which features Dr. Benthack, is the number of wounds he has stitched, the number of babies he has delivered, the number of life and death surgeries he has performed.

Many of those cases pass by and are not noticed, until you add them all up.

But drift away for a moment from the medical accomplishments of Dr. Benthack. Take a look at how his efforts and dedication have inspired economic development. Or how he stood firmly on his ideas and principles when it came to bringing quality life and education into the Wayne community.

He was a driving force, both financially and vocally, in doing his best to bring quality care to Wayne.

Said Marci Thomas, administrator of Providence Medical Center in Wayne, when Dr. Benthack was presented a honorary plaque on his retirement during an open house reception there Sunday afternoon:

"Dr. Walter — we honor you, we respect you, we appreciate you and we love you. We are extremely grateful for having had the opportunity to share with you in our own way through working with you in the medical facilities that you have played such a vital role. Your commitment and dedication are an inspiration to all of us.

"This community will continue to benefit and reap the harvest from the many seeds that you have planted. We hope that this facility will continue to be able to maintain and grow and that we will continue to uphold your standards and expectations for good medical care."

Nobody can say it any better than that. We wish Dr. Benthack a happy retirement. We also know that many people who have benefited from his medical expertise and involvement in community affairs are also appreciative of all he has done for Wayne.

His dedication to the medical profession, to his family and to the community should serve as a constant reminder to many as to how much one can serve the public.

Homecoming

I'm a mom with still small children at home and my husband is often working on the weekends so we have not been able to attend Wayne State College football games. We did attend the Homecoming game this past Saturday though. I'm sorry the WSC team lost the game but I wanted people to realize the fun and entertainment that can be had at one of the games. We sat near the band and they were a show in themselves. We loved the cheerleaders routines and energy. Having been a pom pom girl myself years ago, I was very impressed with their professionalism also. The fans in the stands were really fun to watch and all seemed very enthused and behind the team win or lose. So much is written in the papers about bad kids, I was very impressed with these good ones.

I hear my friends complain often that there is nothing to do in Wayne. I think people can find the entertainment and fun they are looking for at WSC sporting events. You don't have to love football or even understand it well to enjoy the event when taken on the whole. I know this family for one will be attending more college events in the future.

Thanks Wayne State College students and team for a really great day. Sorry about the loss but hang in there, you'll probably win the next one and I know one family who will be in the stands pulling for you.

Please with hold my name

Alfalfa included in conservation reserve program

Both the House and the Senate have approved legislation which would open the Conservation Reserve Program to farmers who have planted alfalfa, other legumes, and multiyear grasses in rotation with other crops. This legislation, which was included in the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Act passed at the end of the 99th Congress, would redefine crops like alfalfa as agricultural commodities to allow farmers to enter those fields into the Conservation Reserve.

Under the 1985 Farm Bill, producers who have maintained alfalfa since 1980 on a field that is determined to be predominantly highly erodible will be subject to the sodbuster provisions in any year in which an agricultural commodity is produced on that field. Farmers who plan to plow up highly erodible alfalfa that should be maintained since 1980 should immediately contact the County Soil Conservation Service to get an approved conservation plan for that field in order to comply with the sodbuster provisions.

While this provision will not solve the problems of all farmers who have maintained alfalfa since 1980 on highly erodible land, it does offer an alternative for certain alfalfa growers.

Grain Quality Legislation Passed
 Also included in the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Act was language prohibiting the intentional adulteration of grain by the addition of foreign material, moisture and dirt. This is an important first step toward re-establishing the reputation of the United States as a supplier of clean, pure, uncontaminated grain.

We must take action to improve grain quality standards if the United States is to regain its credibility in the grain export market. Our present grain quality standards actually provide an incentive to adulterate grain. Current standards encourage any participants in the whole grain production-storage-export system to maximize their profits by adding foreign material, moisture and dirt to the grain. Such intentional introduction of foreign matter right up to the threshold of the particular standard is perfectly legal under our current standards.

U.S. grain arriving in foreign ports should be clean as it was when the farmer delivered it to the local elevator, and that is not the case right now. Earlier this year we saw the Peoples Republic of China reject the first of a number of shipments of soybeans into which the exporter had blended hurricane damaged soybeans. Officials from Japan and Taiwan have visited our farms and reported that the grain they see leaving the field is significantly better than the grain that arrives in their ports.

We now have given direction to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, in consultation with farmers and members of the grain industry, to determine the feasibility of adjusting its grain premium and discount schedules to encourage the delivery, storage, and export of high quality grain. The Administration has the authority to make a number of necessary changes in grain quality standards at this time, but it has not done so. The grain industry has the technical expertise to make positive changes, but in too many cases they have failed to do so. In the absence of this action, Congress must act of the problem.

ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE
 Nebraskans will be voting on four issues when they go to the General Election polls on Nov. 4. So that voters can better understand these important proposed changes to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared a series of reports on each of the issues. Each report deals with a single issue, briefly defining it, explaining its purpose and finally stating the arguments for and against. This is the fourth report in the series.

3. SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION AND FINANCING LAW TO MEET TEST OF VOTERS.

Referendum #400. Repeal of the school consolidation law.

"Shall Legislative Bill 662, enacted by the Eighty-Ninth Legislature of the state of Nebraska in its first session, the purposes of which are to require public elementary-only school districts to merge, affiliate or become a part of public school districts containing a high school, to limit the percentage of total operational costs of the public school system derived from taxes on real property, and to increase the amount of state financial support to the public schools, through an increase in the state sales tax, be retained?"

PURPOSE: The measure allows voters to decide if they want to retain the school consolidation bill, LB662. A vote for the measure will retain LB662. A vote against the referendum will repeal the law.

LB662, passed in 1985 by the Legislature, requires that the 6,034 Class I elementary-only school districts in the state merge or affiliate with neighboring districts that operate a high school by 1989. It would also establish a requirement that local property taxes could finance no more than 45 percent of the total operational costs of the state's public schools. The measure also raises the state's sales tax by one cent to pay for this increase in state aid to public schools.

SUPPORT: Tax fairness and property tax relief are the main objectives of LB662, supporters of the measure contend. The measure eliminates those school districts which provide only elementary (kindergarten-8th grade) education. Thus every taxpayer will be supporting all 12 grades of education in the area in an equitable way. In addition, some of the elementary-only school districts, with very low property tax levies, are tax havens for the businesses and property owners in that district.

LB662 provides property tax relief by limiting the amount of the district budget that will be funded through local property taxes. This forces the state to pay the bulk of the school bill. Currently the state pays about 26 percent of total public school costs. That would rise to 55 percent under LB662.

The one-cent increase in the sales tax will replace property tax and thus reduce local property taxes, supporters say.

The measure also improves local control. High school age students in elementary-only districts are now sent to neighboring high schools. But residents in these elementary-only districts have no voice in decisions about what goes on in those high schools. Under merger or affiliation these residents could vote for board members or become board members of the merged school district.

In a general way LB662 improves efficiency, supporters contend. Some of the small elementary schools will be closed and the students moved into neighboring schools without any need to increase the number of school staff in that larger school.

OPPOSITION: The measure assures a major state tax increase without guaranteeing property tax relief, according to opponents. Nothing in the law would force local school districts to reduce the property tax levy. The measure simply says that the state will pay 45 percent of the total statewide public school costs. Since there is no formula for distributing state money in the measure, there is no way to determine which schools will get increased state aid.

The measure will likely require far more than the one-cent sales tax hike. One cent will raise about $92 million a year. Yet LB662 will cost at least $178.5 million in its first year, money that must come from the state's income or sales tax, opponents point out.

The one-cent sales tax increase means the state's sales tax beginning in January will be five cents on the dollar. If the additional state aid also comes from the sales tax, Nebraska's tax could soon become the highest in the region, opponents point out.

Though promising tax equity, the measure will do nothing to eliminate inequities among the K-12 school districts in the state, opponents say. "Tax equity is just a buzz word. The same disparities in tax levies and the same inequities in valuation will continue to exist among the remaining school districts," says Rick Baum of the Nebraska School Improvement Association, the group which organized the successful petition drive. They gathered almost double the more than 54,000 signatures necessary to get the issue on the ballot and to stop implementation of the law until after the election.

The measure will likely result in the closing of many of the state's rural elementary schools, opponents say. A election requiring voter approval before closing any school may be unconstitutional.

Fall color misnomer

"It looks like someone took a brush and painted the forest!" That must be one of the most common remarks heard each fall, as thousands of people marvel at the glorious spectrum of colors in the hardwood forests of the United States.

Despite appearances, nature doesn't paint with brushstrokes. Paint-by-number would be the more accurate comparison, because each tree has its own fall color bound up in the chemical composition of the sap, which provides the "instructions" on what color to turn.

According to University of Nebraska-Lincoln foresters, trees change colors according to complex chemical formulas. Depending on how much iron, magnesium, phosphorus or sodium is in the sap, and the acidity of the chemicals in the leaves, trees might turn amber, gold, red, orange, or just fade from green to brown. Scarlet oaks, red maples, and sumacs, for instance, have a slightly acidic sap which causes the leaves to turn bright red. The leaves of some varieties of ash, growing in areas where limestone is present, turn a regal purplish-blue.

What prompts the change?

Although many people believe that a mischievous Jack Frost is responsible for the color change, the weather has nothing to do with it at all. As the days grow shorter and the nights longer, a chemical clock inside the tree starts up, releasing a hormone which restricts the flow of sap to each leaf.

As autumn progresses, the sap flow slows and chlorophyll, the chemical which gives the leaves their green color in the spring and summer, disappears. The residual sap becomes more concentrated as it dries, creating the colors of fall.

Toughest guy I know

There've been some great fighters the past decade. All the Los Angeles Raiders and even Billy Martin will all be remembered as some of the greatest fighters of our time.

But the most courageous fighter I've ever known is a friend I met at college named Tim.

Several years ago after returning home from pheasant hunting, I received a phone call from my college roommate.

He informed me that his brother — Tim — had been in a horrible car accident and that his life was in jeopardy.

It seems that after a wedding reception Tim attended, a car he was riding in crashed into a bridge. The railing on the bridge actually penetrated his head, leaving Tim paralyzed and with severe brain damage.

My roommate added that physicians and other specialists didn't give Tim much chance to live, and they said that if he did survive he'd be paralyzed the rest of his life.

But my roommate and his parents refused to accept the doctors' opinions — their faith was too strong and their confidence in Tim was overwhelming.

Brain surgeons did the best they could, and other doctors repaired the numerous additional injuries Tim received from the accident.

But everybody knew that most of the recovery would be up to Tim — and they knew he had one hell of a fight ahead of him.

After numerous close calls during several strenuous months in a Kansas City hospital, Tim finally gained enough strength to return home.

Considering the doctors' initial diagnosis, returning home was a major accomplishment. But the fight didn't stop there. Actually, Tim's fight had just begun.

After returning to Des Moines, Tim received close attention from his family and various doctors and nurses. And he began a rigorous physical therapy program.

Whenever challenges were proposed to him, he accepted them. And although it was a painful and frustrating process, he eventually achieved all his goals.

Such things as sitting up or moving a certain part of his anatomy — things that are taken for granted by most — have been major accomplishments for Tim during the past four years.

It's been over four years since the accident — but considering what Tim's had to endure — the progress he's made is astonishing.

Remember, this is a man who had a steel beam crash through his skull, who was given little chance to survive, who endured brain surgery and was supposed to be paralyzed the rest of his life if he did survive.

But he's fought his way back. And he isn't just surviving, he's living.

Tim now enjoys watching television, attending movies and chatting with friends, and he's starting to get around more and more every week. As a matter of fact, last weekend he went into the barn located in back of his parents' house, attended a jazz concert with his brother and went on a short trip out of town.

Before the accident, Tim had the ability to turn a dull day into an eventful one. His mere presence had a positive influence on those close by and he was admired for those enviable characteristics.

Needless to say, he's still admired.

Lady Blue Devils' 'character' carries them past Central Athletics, at times, builds character in its participants. And according to Wayne head coach Marlene Uhing, a lot of character was built in her Lady Blue Devils during Tuesday's match against West Point Central Catholic.

Wayne claimed a 15-8, 8-15, 17-15 victory over the Lady Bluejays. And it was during the final frame when Wayne trailed 10-14 that Uhing realized what her club was made of.

"We were down, but we didn't quit. Our goal was to try and tie and go from there," Uhing said. "Central had five different opportunities to win, but we kept battling and once we tied them, I knew we'd win because the girls just told themselves 'there isn't any way we're going to lose now.'"

And that's exactly what happened as Amy Schluns scored the set's final three points to supply the Lady Blue Devils with their 14th victory in 18 tries.

The final frame was, perhaps, the most thrilling of the year for Wayne. In addition to the intense finish, the beginning and middle portions of third stanza were also exciting.

Wayne only held a 2-0 lead after both teams went through their entire squad in serving rotations. Wayne then trailed 6-7 before opening a slim 10-8 advantage.

But then things went bad for Wayne, and Central took advantage by scoring six unanswered points to pull ahead 14-10.

The Lady Bluejays couldn't tally the game-winner, however, and Wayne staged a dramatic comeback and eventually claimed the hard-fought victory.

A key moment in the finale came when potential all-staters Shelly Pick of Wayne and Central's Jill Mulvihill faced each other.

Last week, Uhing expressed concern about Mulvihill's powerful hitting out of the middle. But Pick proved to be more powerful when it counted.

"Shelly had two key blocks against Mulvihill and later had two or three spikes that Mulvihill couldn't get," Uhing said. "They're both very good players, and when Shelly did that it got us going."

After Wayne took advantage of Central's slow start to win the opener, the Lady Blue Devils staggered in the second frame.

Uhing said Central's ability to adjust and Wayne's inability to capitalize on the Bluejays' oversets were factors in the second set loss.

"It took West Point a while to get going in the first set. I think the home court advantage played a big part in our first set victory," she said. "But they relaxed in the second set and started playing the way they know how. And we didn't take advantage of their oversets and made too many mistakes."

Winside wins Hartington Invitational

HARTINGTON — Coaches like to groom a team so they peak at the end of the season, just in time for post season play. And it appears Winside head coach Jill Stenwall has her Lady Wildcats right on schedule.

Just 10 days ago, Winside was struggling with a 4-4 record. But the Lady Wildcats have captured five consecutive victories, including three here during Saturday's Hartington Invitational, to run its record to an impressive 9-4.

Winside's triumphs on Saturday included a 15-10, 15-12 win over Hartington Cedar Catholic's junior varsity, a 15-13, 15-12 victory over Bancroft-Rosalie and a 15-6, 8-15, 15-10 win over Ponca in the championship round.

Stenwall credits Saturday's championship and her club's quick turnaround to improved teamwork.

"We're playing much better as a team," she said. "That's volleyball — you need to play well together to be successful...and, lately, that's what we've been doing."

The Lady Wildcats didn't play well together in the second set of the title match, however, and as a result dropped a seven point decision. But Winside bounced back in the rubber frame and captured the championship.

"We just snapped out of it in the third set and started playing better as a team," Stenwall said. "The score was tied at 10, but we gradually pulled away down the stretch."

The second match almost did the Lady Wildcats in as they fell behind 11-0 in the first set to Bancroft-Rosalie.

"We couldn't do anything right," Stenwall said about her club's early play against the Lady Panthers. "But then we finally woke up and stole the momentum and worked our back into it."

The first match was also close as Winside claimed five and three point victories over Cedar's JVs.

Cedar's varsity should contend for the Class B state crown this year as the Lady Trojans are undefeated and ranked in the top-five. And since Cedar's JVs practice against varsity every day, the first match was an expected tough one for Winside.

But the Lady Wildcats proved to be too much for Cedar's JVs and outplayed the Lady Trojans down the stretch in both sets to claim the sweep.

Cher Olson finished the journey going 120-for-128 in setting for Winside, while teammate Tracy Topp was the Lady Wildcats' leading hitter going 39-for-43 with 15 kills.

Winside had a well-balanced hitting attack, however, as Christi Thies added six kills and Tricia Hartman and Ann Meierhenry both finished with five kills apiece.

Olson claimed team scoring honors in the first and third matches by tallying 10 points in both games.

Lori Jensen led the Lady Wildcats with nine markers in the Bancroft-Rosalie match, while Hartman, Topp and Olson both added five points apiece. Thies scored nine points in the Ponca match.

Winside went after its sixth consecutive win Tuesday at Hartington and play again Thursday at Norfolk Central Catholic.

Wayne State falls to 2-5

Washburn too much for Wildcats

The first and second halves during the Washburn/Wayne State football game at Memorial Stadium on Saturday went from one extreme to another. But unfortunately for the Wildcats, the result was the same old tune as the Ichabods exploded for 31 points in the last half for a 31-6 triumph.

The loss is Wayne's fourth in a row and the Wildcats have now scored only 40 points in seven games and just 22 in the last six contests.

The Wildcats had gone scoreless in 10 consecutive quarters before Todd Buchanan crossed the goal line with the game's first touchdown with 10:52 remaining in the third stanza.

The Wildcats took advantage of a Washburn fumble on the Wayne 10 yard line for its first score, but turned right around and set up the Ichabods' first touchdown with a fumble of their own.

The Wildcats fumbled on their next possession at the Wayne 19 and three plays later Lorenza Rayford reached pay dirt from two yards to tie the game at six.

Washburn's Nick Kresic followed with a PAT boot to supply the Ichabods' with the lead and they never looked back.

Washburn quarterback Jim Bernard supplied the Ichabods with breathing room later in the period when he scored on 13 yards. Kresic added another PAT conversion to make the score 14-6 heading into the final stanza.

The Ichabods opened the game up in the fourth quarter when Bernard scored from 14 yards.

Kresic added a 31-yard field goal and a PAT after a Johnny Perkins one-yard touchdown run to round out the game's scoring.

Washburn leads the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) in total defense, and played like the league's best-allowing only 68 yards rushing and 41 yards passing.

Wayne quarterback John

Lawrence completed 5-of-17 passes for the 41 aerial yards. Buchanan and Sonny Jones were leading ground gainers for the Wildcats with 32 yards apiece on 10 and five carries, respectively. Teammate Bill Mlnarik added 31 yards.

Washburn, on the other hand, finished with 231 rushing yards and another 93 through the air for 324 total yards.

Perkins led the Ichabods in rushing with 76 yards on 12 carries and Bernard added 75 yards on eight tries.

Linebacker Greg Cavill led Wayne's defense with eight solo and two assisted tackles. Dave Uhlers followed Cavill with six tackles and Eric Anderson finished with six unassisted stops and a recovered a fumble for Wayne.

Washburn entered the game ranked 15th in the NAIA Division I despite losing its last two games. But Saturday's victory improved the Ichabods to 5-2 overall and 2-2 in the CSIC.

Things don't get any easier for the Wildcats as they entertain undefeated Pittsburg State this Saturday for the season's final home game. The Gorillas were also ranked second in the nation in last week's poll.

A strong running game has allowed Pittsburg to average just under 43 points a game this season and top the 45 point barrier four times.

Pittsburg leads the nation in total offense with a 475 yard average, including a 412 rushing yard average.

Monte Weathers leads the Gorillas and the conference in rushing with 136 yards a game.

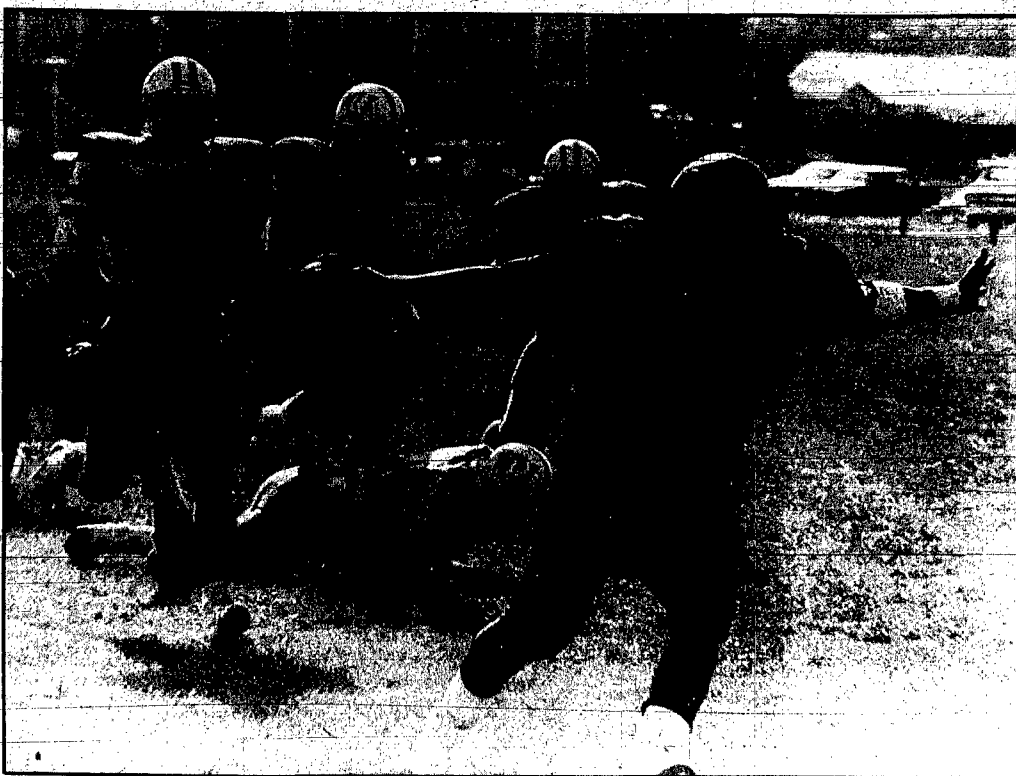

Pittsburg is not a one dimensional team, however, as quarterback Gene Stegman threw for 290 yards last week in the Gorillas' 45-14 thrashing of Fort Hays State.

Wayne will enter Saturday's game with a 2-5 mark overall and 0-4 in the CSIC.

Wayne's harriers place seventh at district meet

ALBION — O'Neill captured the district cross country championship at the Albion Country Club here Saturday with 23 points. Wayne's harriers placed seventh out of nine teams by finishing with 137 markers.

Matt Hillier once again led Wayne by placing 24th with a 17:44 clocking. Teammate Tim Griess followed Hillier by circling the 5,000 meter (approximately 3.1 mile) course in 18:40 for a 34th place finish.

Wayne's other times and placings were: 38-Jeff Simpson, 19:33; 41-Ted Lohrbert, 20:23; 44-Scott Alfred, 21:10; 45-Gregg Engel, 21:10. The top four placers from each school represent that team's final score.

The top three teams that place in districts qualify for state. Joining O'Neill as teams that qualified for state from this district are David City Aquinas (47 points), and North Bend (48 points).

Matt Schmitz of O'Neill won the race with a 15:55 effort. Teammate Tom Magnuson, who won the Northern Activities Conference championship last week at the Wayne Country Club, placed second on Saturday with a 16:01 clocking.

The top six individuals qualify for state. Rounding out the top six are: 3-Mark Lodenberger of North Bend, 16:07; 4-Dan Parolek of Columbus School, 16:14; 5-Troy Klancey of Ord, 16:31; 6-Rod Hartman of North Bend, 16:31.

Doug Donelson, Wayne's coach, believes this district is the toughest in the state and said it should stay that way for several years.

"I think this is the toughest district," he said. "And it's going to stay that way. Out of the top 34 runners, only two were juniors and most of the rest were freshmen or sophomores. As a matter of fact, only one in the top six is a senior, and the rest are freshmen and sophomores."

Schmitz is a senior, while the second through sixth place finishers are freshmen or sophomores.

The entire Blue Devil squad drew praise from Donelson, but he was especially pleased with Hillier's, Griess' and Alfred's performances.

"Matt has been flirting with getting under 18 minutes most of the year, but he never did it until Saturday. Tim was the same way with 19 minutes, but he got into the 18s on Saturday. Scott's goal was to break 22 minutes, and he did it by 50 seconds so that's pretty impressive, too," the Blue Devils skipper said.

"But all the guys did real well on Saturday and during the season. Everybody worked hard and improved and Tim, Jeff, Ted and Gregg really provided a lot of senior leadership this year."

Hillier and Alfred are both juniors.

Friday's loss to Bergan drops Wayne's playoff average

LINCOLN — Friday night's loss to Fremont Bergan dropped Wayne's Nebraska High School Football Point Average to 38.5 points.

Wayne, now 4-3 on the year, finishes the regular season with a Wednesday, Oct. 22 game at Hartington Cedar Catholic and a Friday, Oct. 31 contest when the Blue Devils host O'Neill.

Schuyler leads Class B teams with 45.7 points. Bennington and Grand Island Central Catholic are tied for second with 44.2 points.

Seven conference championship teams qualify for post season play outright in Class B, while nine wild card teams also qualify for the playoffs.

Teams with the top playoff point averages in Class B are listed.

Wayne's freshmen gridders finish '86 with 5-1 mark

Wayne's freshman football team finished the '86 campaign with an impressive 5-1 mark by using a wild fourth quarter to claim a 28-6 victory over O'Neill last Tuesday, Oct. 14.

Both teams were deadlocked in a 6-6 tie before Wayne's Jeremy Fletcher recovered a fumbled lateral and scampered 96 yards to pay dirt with 4:30 remaining in the game.

Mike Hillier, who scored Wayne's first touchdown in the second quarter on a 40 yard interception return, picked off another O'Neill aerial just moments after Fletcher's touchdown and returned it 23 yards for Wayne's third touchdown.

Brian Moore then hit Jeff Lutt with a two point PAT pass to increase Wayne's lead to 14-20-6.

Willy Gross later scored on the final play of the season when he crossed the goal line from 29 yards and Moore added a two-point PAT conversion to round out the game's scoring.

Gross' run was by far the most productive offensive display by Wayne as the Blue Devils totaled only 55 yards in total offense on the day.

"It was a good thing our defense played so well," Wayne coach Duane Blomenkamp said. "Because we didn't get much going offensively."

Nell Carnes led Wayne's defenders with 14 tackles, while Rory Ashker and Kip Mau followed with 12 stops apiece.

Hillier finished with three interceptions and Moore added another.

In addition to Fletcher's fumble recovery, Greg DeNaeyer also recovered a loose ball for the Blue Devils.

Wayne lost its only game of the year on Tuesday, Oct. 9, when the Blue Devils dropped a 16-6 decision to Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Cedar opened a 16-0 lead by scoring a touchdown and a two-point PAT in each of the second and third quarters, but Wayne finally broke through with 2:30 remaining when Hillier reached pay dirt from 69 yards.

Wayne then tried an onside kick, but Cedar recovered and ran out the clock.

Hillier finished with 113 yards rushing on 13 tries, and Moore completed 3-of-3 passes for 50 yards.

Carnes totaled a team-high nine tackles for the Blue Devils, while Mau finished with eight and Matt Peterson added an interception.

Blomenkamp said that this year's ninth-graders are talented, and if they continue to work on their game they could make fine varsity players in the future.

"We had a nice cross-section of players this year," he said. "It's going to take an effort — they're going to have to lift weights and work on their football skills — but if the kids work they could be good players some day."

WAKEFIELD'S Karen Hallstrom (No. 8) rips a spike.

Lady Trojans now 12-1

Wakefield trims Bancroft

BANCROFT — Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton knew Tuesday's match against Bancroft-Rosalie was going to be a tough one.

In addition to having to play at Bancroft, the Lady Panthers were coming off a victory over a salty Emerson-Hubbard squad and had clinched the Lewis Division title of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

But Wakefield proved who the better team was by claiming a pair of 15-13 victories to close out the regular season with a 12-1 record.

"Things didn't look too rosey for the Lady Trojans in the early going, however, as Bancroft built a 6-0 lead and later held a 9-7 advantage."

But Wakefield always seems to make adjustments at opportune times, and that's exactly what happened Tuesday night as the Lady Trojan setters started involving more hitters into the game plan and went on to outscore Bancroft 8-4 down the stretch for the victory.

"Some of our better hitters had off nights," Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton said. "But the other girls did an outstanding job of picking up the slack."

Stacey Kuhl, Kudi Nelson and Karen Hallstrom all turned in solid hitting performances and keyed the first set comeback.

The second set was as thrilling as the opener. After Wakefield trailed 2-1 for what seemed like an eternity, both teams battled through a seesawed dogfight until Wakefield opened 14-13 lead before falling the game-winner.

Eaton said the key to the second set was his club's ability to take advantage of Bancroft's missed serves.

"Bancroft missed a lot of serves. They had a chance to blow the second set open but didn't," he said.

Hallstrom finished with a team-high nine kills on 12-of-14 hitting. Nelson followed with seven kills going 13-for-14 and Kuhl added six kills going 14-for-15.

Passing and setting are two areas that usually go unnoticed, but Eaton took note of Stephanie Torczon's efforts in both categories and praised her efforts.

"Stephanie really played a good game. She set the ball well and really passed well, too," he said.

Torczon finished 57-for-59 in setting and added a 29-for-29 passing performance. Torczon also scored a team-high 11 points on 11-of-13 serving.

Mollie Greve added seven markers for the Lady Trojans on 10-of-10 setting and Desiree Salmon went 38-for-38 in setting.

Wakefield also won the 'B' match 15-13, 15-13 and the 'C' match 11-0, 5-11, 11-5.

Lana Ekberg led Wakefield's 'B' team in serving going 4-for-4 with two points and in hitting going 8-for-10 with five kills.

Tricia Schwartz and Michelle Otte led the Lady Trojan 'B' squad in setting with 13-for-14 and 12-for-12 efforts, respectively.

Julie Greve and Susan Nurenberger led Wakefield's 'C' team in scoring with nine and seven points, respectively. Greve finished 10-for-10 in serving, while Nurenberger went 8-for-8.

Wakefield's varsity, which is ranked fifth in the Omaha World-Herald, plays again Monday against Coleridge at 6 p.m. at Wakefield in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Tournament.

The other match that will be played at Wakefield Monday night will be Winside vs. Hartington beginning at 7 p.m.

A probable 8 p.m. match up could be Winside and Wakefield. And Eaton said he expects a tough match from Lady Wildcats should Wakefield make it that far.

"Winside's really hot. I think that they're one of the top teams in the conference right now," he said.

Wayne junior high sweeps Wakefield

WAKEFIELD — Wayne's junior high volleyball team swept Wakefield here last week.

The Lady Blue Devil seventh grade team claimed a 13-15, 15-13, 15-2 victory, while Wayne's eighth grade team claimed a 15-0, 12-15, 15-0 victory.

Kami Billheimer led Wayne's seventh graders with 16 points on 18-of-20 serving.

Although Wayne was victorious, Sue Koch, Wayne's coach, said she saw some flaws in her club's play.

"We only served 68 percent as a team, and we need to be more consistent than that," she said. "We were also hesitant on defense, and made too many unforced passing errors. But we did do a better job of serve receiving."

Jennifer Hammer tallied a team-high 25 points for Wayne in the eighth grade contest. Hammer scored the first 10 points of the first set and all 15 in the finale. Hammer finished 25-for-26 on the day with six aces.

Deanna Schiuns led Wayne's eighth graders in spiking going 4-for-4.

As a team, Wayne's eighth graders served 84 percent.

The Lady Blue Devil seventh graders are now 2-2 on the year and play again Saturday at a tournament in Wisner.

Wayne's eighth graders improved to 3-1 and also play again Saturday at the Hartington Holy Trinity Tournament. Wayne has won the tourney each of the last two years.

Lady Wildcats win their own volleyball tournament

Most coaches in most sports agree that good defense can carry teams. And that was the case for Wayne State head volleyball coach Marilyn Strate and the Lady Wildcats during Saturday's Wayne State Invitational.

"We blocked really well. The whole team did an awesome job of blocking in the Mt. Marty match, and that kind of carried us the rest of the tournament," Strate said. "Our defense got our offense going."

With the Lady Wildcats' inspired defense keying their all-around play, Wayne downed Mt. Marty, Bellevue and Dana enroute to the Invite's title.

The Lady Wildcats downed Mt. Marty 15-6, 12-15, 15-8 in the opener before disposing of Bellevue 15-5, 15-11 in the second round.

Wayne then made it a perfect day by trouncing Dana 15-5, 15-7.

The victories avenged two earlier season losses to Mt. Marty and Dana, and were the Lady Wildcats' fourth victories in their last six matches.

Defensive leaders for Wayne were Tanya Gappa going 12-for-12 in serve receive, Missy Stoltenberg finishing with 24 digs and Meg Hurley, who leads the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) in blocking, with 11 blocks.

Bev Moeller led Wayne in serving going 13-for-13, while teammate Jeanette Moline finished with a team-high 19 assists in setting.

Diana Asay took advantage of Moline's setting by totaling a team-high 19 kills.

Strate said that she is specializing most of her varsity players this year. "I play approximately 14 girls every match, and there are 14 or 15 varsity girls on the team," she said.

The Lady Wildcats compete again Friday and Saturday at the CSIC Tournament in Joplin, Mo.

Strate said there are several areas her squad will have to improve on in order to play well during the conference tourney.

"Our passing on Saturday wasn't the best, and we'll have to improve that and our serving if we're going to do well at conference."

Lady Bears tune-up for conference

Laurel holds off Coleridge in three sets

COLERIDGE — Laurel tuned-up for the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament by trouncing Coleridge 15-11, 4-15, 15-12 here Tuesday night.

Laurel jumped out of the gate quickly by opening 5-2 and 8-4 leads in the opening set. Coleridge didn't roll over and die, however, but instead battled back to take an 11-10 advantage.

But Laurel proved to be too much down the stretch and went on to score the final four points to claim the victory.

Coleridge took advantage of the Lady Bears' lackadaisical attitude in the second set to tie the match at one set apiece.

"It just wasn't there offensively,"

Laurel head coach Carrol Manganaro said referring to her club's performance in the second set. "Coleridge never scored more than three points during the same possession so we played pretty good defense — we just didn't generate any offense."

The third set was a thrilling seesawed battle which saw the lead switch hands several times.

Coleridge ushered in the rubber frame by pulling ahead 2-1 before Laurel opened a 4-3 advantage.

The match was then tied at seven before Coleridge outscored the Lady Bears 5-3 for a 12-10 lead.

But Laurel's Sara Adkins took over the serving chores and tallied the game's final five points to supply the Lady Bears with the victory.

Adkins finished with a team-high 14 points on 20-of-20 serving and went 36-for-37 in setting.

Dawn Addison and Amy Adkins led Laurel in hitting with 14-for-18 and 7-for-8 performances, respectively.

Despite serving 91 percent as a team and turning in an 87 percent hitting performance, Manganaro said she wasn't totally pleased with her club's play because of its timid attack.

"We still didn't play as well as we can," she said. "Our momentum was too slow and we didn't have a strong attack like I know we're capable of having."

Coleridge won the 'B' match 15-9, 15-7 and the 'C' match 11-9, 11-8.

Sherrie McCorkindale led the Lady Bear 'B' team with four points, while Julie Dickey claimed Laurel's scoring honors in the 'C' match with five markers.

Laurel's varsity finished the regular season with a 4-9 mark. The Lady Bears play again Monday at Wausa against Wynot in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament.

"Times for the opening round match and the team Laurel would face if the Lady Bears win their opener were not available by the Herald's Wednesday deadline."

Allen ups season mark to 10-4

Lady Eagles get by Homer 15-10, 15-13

ALLEN — Allen always seems to play as well as its competition. And fortunately for the Lady Eagles, most of their opponents have had a successful '86 campaign.

But most teams haven't been quite as good as the Lady Eagles as Allen closed out the regular season with a 10-4 mark by trouncing Homer 15-10, 15-13 here Tuesday night.

Allen head coach Gary Troth said his club didn't play that well, but added that Homer didn't either.

"Both teams had trouble on offense and we didn't play a very good floor game either," he said. "But that seems to be the way it has gone for us this year — we seem to play as well as our competition."

Allen held comfortable leads in the first set before Homer closed the gap to three, 13-10. But the Lady Eagles pulled it out down the stretch to end the first set.

Homer opened a 4-0 lead in the second set, but Kristi Chase turned that around in a hurry by serving six straight team points, including four aces.

"Kristi really hit the ball hard," Troth said about her serving. "I think she served as hard as she spikes."

The second set remained close and the Lady Eagles trailed 11-13. But like the first set, Allen outplayed Homer down the stretch and claimed the victory.

Troth said his club's poor offensive display resulted from a chain reaction breakdown.

"We didn't handle a lot of their easy hits very well, and we didn't pass well or set well, either," he said. "And as a result, we didn't spike well."

Tiffany Harder led Allen in scoring with 10 points, while Chase tallied seven and Kris Hansen added four.

Chase finished 7-for-8 in serving with four aces, while Harder went 10-for-10 with one ace and Nikki Olsen went 5-for-5 with two aces.

Olsen led the Lady Eagles in setting with a 28-for-39 effort.

Most of Olsen's assists went to Harder who finished with three kills, while Chase and Lana Erwin both added one kill.

Allen's 'B' team finished the year undefeated and downed Homer 15-10, 15-6.

Lisa Boyle led Allen in scoring with eight points, while Missy Martinson and Liz Hansen both scored six points and Amy Noe added five.

"The 'B' team had a very good year," Troth said. "We lose a lot of seniors off the varsity this year, so a lot of the 'B' players will have to step right in next year."

Allen's 'C' team finished with a 5-3 mark but lost to Homer 10-12, 7-11.

Jennifer Johnson led Allen's 'C' team in scoring with nine points.

Allen's varsity plays again Monday against Newcastle in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament at Allen.

Waithill will battle Bancroft-Rosalie in the first match that night beginning at 6 p.m. Allen and Newcastle will square off and the two winners will square off at approximately 8 p.m.

Winside falls to Hartington in three

HARTINGTON — From one extreme to another.

That describes Winside's play the past week as the Lady Wildcats played brilliantly and won the Hartington Invitational on Saturday, but turned in one of their poorest performances in Tuesday's 15-11, 8-15, 9-15 loss to Hartington.

"We just flat out didn't play well," Winside head coach Jill Stenwall said. "I guess our main problem was a lack of communication. When you don't talk, bad things are going to happen."

After both clubs split the first two sets, Hartington opened a lopsided 12-2 lead in the rubber frame.

Stenwall then inserted Kristy Miller, Kathy Leighton and Lisa Greene into the lineup, and the Lady Wildcats responded to the personnel change by cutting the gap to four 13-9.

But that was all the closer Winside could get and was forced to settle for the loss.

Tricia Hartman led Winside in scoring with 10 points and teammate Christi Tills followed with six.

Tracy Topped led the Lady Wildcats in hitting with six kills on 12-of-21 hitting. Ann Meierhenrich tallied three kills on 13-of-15 spiking and Lori Jensen went 10-for-10 with one kill.

Cher Olson finished 48-for-50 in setting.

Winside lost the 'B' match 14-16, 15-17 and the 'C' match 4-11, 12-10, 7-11.

Greene and Wendy Boldt led the Lady Wildcat 'B' team in scoring with six points apiece, while Lisa Janke added five markers.

Jenne Rits, a foreign exchange student from Denmark, led Winside's 'C' team with seven points and Shawn Janke added six markers.

"This is the first year Janne has played volleyball and she's really made good progress during the season," Stenwall said.

The loss dropped Winside's varsity to 9-5 on the year. The Lady Wildcats play this same Hartington squad in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament on Monday at Wakefield beginning at 7 p.m.

Should Winside defeat Hartington, the Lady Wildcats will play

Wakefield or Coleridge at 8 p.m.

"We're going to have to communicate better and play a lot better if we're going to be heard from during the conference tourney," Stenwall said.

The mistakes Uhing is referring to were made by Kecia Corbit and Marni Bruggeman. But the Lady Blue Devil skipper said both girls showed tremendous poise by turning in outstanding performances in the third frame.

"I thought Kecia played poorly in the second set and Marni's only poor sets came at key possessions in the second set," Uhing said. "And they both could've quit right then and said to heck with it, but they didn't. They both came right back and played very well in the third set and they deserve a lot of credit for bouncing back."

In addition to Corbit's, Bruggeman's and Pick's clutch play, Uhing also praised her bench.

"Sarah Peterson, Robin Luff, Jennifer Salmon and Kristi Hansen all did an excellent job off the bench for us," Uhing said. "I don't know where we would've been without the bench play we received."

Bruggeman led Wayne in scoring with 10 points on 15-of-17 serving. While Schluns added nine markers on 15-of-20 serving.

Pick and Corbit once again led the Lady Blue Devil hitting attack with 20 and 18 kills, respectively. Pick finished 46-for-51 in soaking, while Corbit went 43-for-52.

Bruggeman finished 94-for-96 in setting with 39 assists.

Wayne breezed through the preliminary matches by winning the 'B' contest 15-2, 15-0 and the 'C' match 15-5, 15-5.

Julie Wessel claimed Wayne's scoring honors in the 'B' match with 12 points, while Heidi Reeg and Amy Bliven tallied 10 and nine points, respectively, to lead the Lady Blue Devils in the 'C' match.

The Lady Blue Devil varsity will shoot for its 15th victory Tuesday night when South Sioux City invades the Wayne gymnasium.

Tuesday's match is Wayne's final match of the regular season, and should the Lady Blue Devils defeated the Lady Cardinals, they will finish second in the Northern Activities Conference. Hartington Cedar Catholic already won the 1986 conference title.

The loss dropped West Point Central Catholic to 10-3 on the year.

Herald lists staff changes

Several staff changes have been announced by management of The Wayne Herald.

New to the advertising staff is Patti Zrust. She began this week employed as an advertising account executive with the Wayne Herald, replacing Dave Diederik who has filled the newly created position of commercial-printing manager.

Zrust worked previously at KTCH Radio as an advertising consultant. She had been working at the radio station since May of 1986.

Her husband, Rich, is currently the manager of Kuhn's Department Store and they have two children — Gina, age 8 and Rachel, age 3. The Zrusts have been residents of Wayne since August of 1977.

Diederik, in his role as commercial printing manager, will be responsible for printing sales, production and purchasing.

Wayne Herald Sports Editor John Prather has recently announced his resignation. He came to Wayne in July of 1985 from Ogalalla, Nebraska, where he was sports editor of the Keith County News.

He will continue his employment with the Wayne Herald until Nov. 3. His future plans are indefinite.

Recently hired to replace Prather in the sports editor position was Gregg Dahlheim of Omaha, who currently serves as general assignment reporter for the Papillion Times of Papillion, Nebraska. As a reporter there, he covered city council and school board meetings in Gretna and reported on a variety of sporting activities for Gretna, Papillion and Plattville high schools.

Dahlheim attended Kearney State College from Aug. 1979 to May of 1981. He then received his bachelor of journalism degree, with emphasis on news and sports reporting, from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

In the 1986 Class A division of the Nebraska Better Newspaper Contest, he was awarded a third place for best feature photo.

He and his wife, Roxanne, plan to be moving to Wayne on Nov. 1.

Patti Zrust

Dahlheim will begin his duties as sports editor on Nov. 3.

"Even with the box, the phone continues to ring on Saturday and Sunday," Stuber said. And those calls made through the Restful Knights national WATS line have to be paid for by the local Wayne county.

Stuber said there is a certain amount of business lost because of the tie-up in the telephone line, but added that "it is difficult to put a dollar figure on it."

"It's just plain inconvenient," he said.

Those on the road hauling manufactured products (pillows and mattress pads) of Restful Knights find it difficult getting through to the company phone lines on weekends because of the mix-up.

"This is something that you never expect to happen when you have a nationwide WATS line. Before this, we would usually get calls that were wrong numbers and just say 'that's life,'" he said.

"But now, it's getting worse all the time. And if [the Cap'n Crunch promotion] goes through February of next year," he added.

"That's if the complete instructions are followed."

of Dimes and the New Deal reforms that we don't appreciate because we don't study history," mentioned Walter.

THE DISCOVERY of penicillin was another breakthrough. Walter said use of penicillin picked up during World War II, and was almost completely monopolized by the military forces. "You could get a little bit of penicillin if you mortgaged your right eye, which I did several times."

"It was amazing. The infections we thought were severe would melt away with penicillin."

Walter said penicillin is still a valuable antibiotic in fighting infections.

Phoebe and Walter were married in 1923. They have six children: Robert, who is practicing medicine in Wayne; Elaine, who is currently a doctor of medicine; Elsie; Billie; and Alice. Daughter Eleanor is deceased. The couple have 10 grandchildren. Walter says in modesty that his skills, which were noted by some as the best, are an exaggeration.

"I've probably had some student of some sort around me during very much of my professional life. For a long time, it would be senior medical students that were assigned to me.

"And I always felt it was a rather heavy obligation for them to spend all their time with me, when so much of the times were filled with the very simple little things that they knew anyway," he said.

Still, some of those students were appreciative enough to seek out the man who helped launch them on their careers. Walter would go to meetings nationwide and the former students would seek him out.

Although Walter is noted widely for his medical advice, he is very opinionated on other areas too and isn't afraid to present his personal convictions.

"He'll tell you that not enough history is being studied, or that public education is getting a bad rap. He isn't afraid to say where disciplining of children should begin.

"It has to start in the mother's arms," he said.

Throughout his practicing years, he has prescribed a wide variety of advice to many — advice both in the area of his medical profession and in the other areas of community life — which will not be forgotten for many years to come.

School officials attend superintendent meeting

Approximately 85 area school officials attended the annual fall meeting of the Northeast Nebraska School Superintendents Association on the Wayne State College campus on Oct. 15.

Keynoting address was presented by Dr. Joseph Fleck, head of the Education/Psychology and Graduate Studies Divisions at Wayne State. Dr. Fleck discussed the pending changes occurring in the education of teachers in Nebraska, and pin-pointed several problem areas facing area superintendents seeking to employ quality teachers: erosion of financial support for education; accelerating competition for Nebraska-educated teachers from other states, particularly the "sun-belt states," etc.

Also addressing the superintendents was State Senator Gerald Conaway, Nebraska District 17. Senator Conaway emphasized the restrictions on state spending in many areas, and praised the educators of Northeast Nebraska for continuing to provide quality education despite state funding cut-backs.

Luncheon speaker JoAnne Owens Nauslar, Nebraska State Department of Education, Division of Support Services, provided both serious and humorous highlights of her experiences as a teacher, coach and state education official.

Dr. Gene Bigelow convened a panel presentation by Dr. Margaret Fitch, Assistant Superintendent of the Omaha Public Schools; Georgia McQuislan of Educational Service Unit No. 1; and F.J. "Butch" Forsberg, Coordinator for the Lyons-Decatur Public Schools. Topic for the presentation was "TESA: Teacher Effectiveness and Student Achievement."

Serving as president of NENSSA for the 1986-87 school year is Gerald Ehlers, Superintendent at Ainsworth; Superintendent is Mel Waldner, Superintendent at Homer. Deryl Lawrence, Director of Placement at Wayne State College, serves as the organization's secretary-treasurer.

Market program should work off farm surplus

Changing the 1985 Farm Bill to include a mandatory marketing loan program designed to increase export markets would be one way to reduce the surplus of wheat, feed grains and soybeans, according to James Kendrick, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"Tremendous surpluses are holding down prices and they must be gotten rid of one way or another," he said. "If we can get rid of the horrendous carryover, prices could recover."

The marketing loan provision would permit the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to take commodities that are in the hands of the Commodity Credit Corporation and redeem them at world prices rather than at the rate at which they were put under loan, Kendrick said.

"Hopefully, this would expand grain and soybean exports, as it has done for rice and cotton," he said. "The market loan program is opposed by Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng and the Reagan Administration because they fear it will drive prices down, Kendrick said. "The Administration's position is that prices are now at a low enough level to encourage world trade," he said. "Their position on getting rid of the surplus is using PIK certificates which permit producers as well as agribusiness firms to redeem grains at whatever price the certificate is worth."

KENDRICK THINKS another reason the Administration favors the PIK plan is that the number of PIK certificates issued can be controlled, but the marketing loan program is open-ended.

The Administration also feels that talk about the marketing loan program is making buyers hold off a bit, Kendrick said.

"In other words, they think that prices might go even lower," he said. "Secretary Lyng is complaining that Congress should stop all talk of marketing loans and see what kind of export expansion we would get under current prices. But, as you know, this is an election year, so there will be a lot of posturing on both sides which should all settle down after the election."

The marketing loan program won't come without cost, Kendrick said, "because the public which owns the grain, so to speak, will not be repaid the price at which it was originally put under loan."

If passed, the marketing loan program should work off the surplus for this year. Kendrick conjectures that the Administration might reduce future surpluses by instituting "one heck of a set-aside program for next year."

New and proposed legislation at both the state and federal levels will have important consequences for farmers, according to Dave Aiken, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

On the state level, Aiken an extension agricultural law specialist, predicts that a farm mediation bill similar to those passed in other Midwestern states will be introduced during the next legislative session.

Farm mediation would grant farmers who face foreclosure the option of meeting with the lender and a neutral third party in an attempt to reach a compromise whereby the farmer can continue farming and avoid foreclosure.

"The hope is that farmers will be able to stay in business, perhaps through partial liquidation, and that lenders will be able to get some relief without having to foreclose," Aiken said. "Farm mediation can be a very effective alternative for farmers who are considering bankruptcy. It's faster, it's cheaper, and it's better for everyone in both the long and short term."

A bill passed last session by the Nebraska Legislature, LB999, was designed to allow farmers to redeem up to 160 acres of foreclosed land if they have the money to pay the appraised value. The acres bought back by the farmer must contain the land on which the farm home is located.

LB999 also raised the existing homestead exemption from $4,000 to $10,000. "This means farmers can claim up to $10,000 from lenders or creditors on foreclosed land," he said.

CRITICS OF LB999 say the bill makes it harder for farmers to get credit. The reasoning is that lenders are apparently less willing to make loans since the amount of collateral they need is reduced if farmers have the option to buy back the land on which the farm home is situated.

It seems probable, Aiken said, that the Legislature will be convened in a special session after the election to address issues raised by LB999.

On the national level, changes in bankruptcy laws that are beneficial to farmers are being considered. Two bankruptcy options are available, Aiken said.

The liquidation option relieves the farmer of liability for unpaid debts. A second option is reorganization in which the farmer attempts to work out a deal with creditors to stay in business and resume cash flow.

Reorganization is difficult, Aiken said, but new versions of bankruptcy laws accepted by both the House and the Senate will make it easier if President Reagan signs them into law.

The new tax law also will affect farmers who are considering liquidation.

"After Jan. 1, if a farmer liquidates land held for a long time, capital gains treatment will not be as favorable," Aiken said. He advises farmers considering liquidation in order to pay debts to consult a tax advisor for differences in liquidating in 1986 or 1987 since the tax consequences will be very different.

SEED STORAGE TIPS

- In addition to storage of summer bulbs, many gardeners have leftover garden and flower seeds to store.
1. Unfold and lay out a stack of four facial tissues.
 2. Place two heaping tablespoons powdered milk on one corner. Powdered milk must be dry.
 3. Fold and roll the facial tissue to make a small pouch. Secure with tape or a rubber band.
 4. Place the pouch in a wide-mouth jar and immediately drop in packets of leftover seeds.
 5. Seal the jar tightly to exclude moist air.
 6. Use the seeds as soon as possible. Discard and replace the dry milk (desiccant) once or twice yearly.

GREEN-SKINNED POTATOES

Questions sometimes arise on the advisability of eating green-skinned potatoes. Potatoes, green or not, contain the compound solanine, which is a toxic material.

When potato skins become green from exposure to light there is a reported increase in solanine. Some authors consider these safe in the amount one normally eats. Also, if you peel the potatoes, the amount of the toxic material is reduced.

There is little agreement among present-day researchers. One potato researcher says that you would have to eat three to five pounds of raw potatoes each day for a week before ill effects would be felt from the toxin.

To be absolutely safe, the potatoes should be discarded.

INCREASING AFRICAN VIOLETS

- There are two ways to increase African violets without buying new plants.
1. Older African violets frequently develop crowns which you can separate with roots still attached. Using a sharp knife, cut straight down between the section and through the root system. The separated crowns are then ready to be re-potted.
 2. Start new African violets with leaf cuttings from healthy plants. Remove a matured leaf from the crown of the plant. Then root the leaf by placing it in water, sand, or a 50-50 mixture of sand and peat moss.
- The leaf blade should not come into contact with the water or other rooting material. If you use water, place a piece of waxed paper over the top of the container and fasten it with a rubber band. Then slip the leaf stem through a hole in the center of the paper and down into the water.

Forests produce opportunities

Nebraska forests make up less than two percent of the state's total land area, but add $93 million to the state's economy annually, according to Mike Kuhns, extension forester at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"Nebraska's forests, through proper management, provide a raw material for products such as lumber, fence posts, pallets, log homes, firewood, cedar shavings and railroad ties," Kuhns said. Firewood from the Pine Ridge area near Chadron is sold as far away as Vail, CO.

In Nebraska, 190 tree farmers manage 6,910 acres of woodlots and shelterbelts. One of those farmers, Wesley Sandall of Bassett, is the state's Tree Farmer of the Year and recently was recognized regionally as the 1986 Northern Great Plains Outstanding Shelterbelt Tree Farmer of the Year.

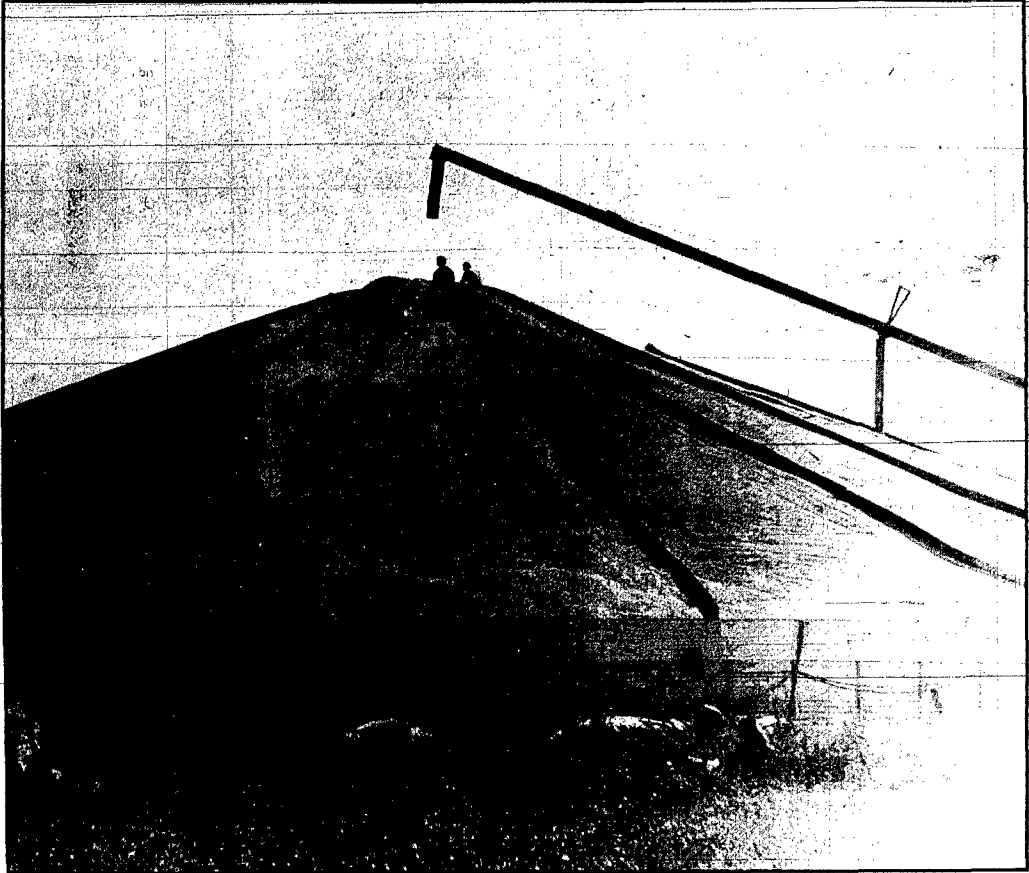

Forests also produce environmental benefits, such as water sheds and wildlife protection, as well as recreational opportunities for Nebraskans of all ages," Kuhns said. "When properly managed, the forest is a renewable resource without parallel."

Nationally, for forest products industry employs 1.4 million people with another 400,000 involved in related activities, including independent loggers, foresters and private landowners who grow trees as a crop.

Some 58,000 landowners with about 88 million acres of forestland participate in the American Tree Farm System, which encourages management of woodlands for harvest. The program is administered nationally by the American Forest Council in Washington, D.C. and locally by the Nebraska Tree Farm Committee.

National Forest Products Week, Oct. 19-25, is sponsored by the nation's forestry community to remind Americans of the importance of wood products and the need for productive forests to meet the growing demand for wood products, Kuhns said.

Dixon County Farm Bureau meets

Marie George was re-elected president of the Dixon County Farm Bureau during its annual meeting held Oct. 6 at the Farm Bureau office in Allen.

Other newly elected officers are Dale Jackson, vice president; Loretta Jackson, woman-at-large; and Monte Roeber, youth-at-large.

Representing their communities on the Dixon County Farm Bureau board for the coming year will be James Burcham, Don Dohma, David Manz, Don Curry, Raymond Brownell, Lyle Brown, Ernest Swanson, Monte Roeber, Duane Koester, Robert Anderson, Robert Wegner and Robert Grosvenor Sr.

Delegates representing Dixon County at the annual convention at Grand Island in December will be Don Dohma, Dale Jackson and Marie George. Alternates are Jim Burcham and Loretta Jackson.

Resolutions to be considered at the state convention in December were discussed and voted on. Maria Burcham of Newcastle reported on the safety seminar she attended this past summer.

the farmer's wife

I read somewhere that boredom is not healthy. I should be healthy! This has been another one of those weeks.

All the kids, plus a friend named Monte, were home last weekend. This meant lots of groceries and cooking.

Mike knew that Monte played chess, so he challenged him on Saturday night, and was chagrined to find himself beaten, after what seemed to us to be a very long game.

On Sunday he invited Kelly Hansen to play some more with kings and queens and rooks and pawns.

That afternoon, neighbor Ed was expecting 136 new calves from the Columbus sale barn in a semi. It didn't make the corner to the west of us and the trailer went on its side, while the tractor stayed upright.

Rich Doffin cut a hole in the roof and amazingly, the majority of the animals survived. Even more amazingly, they walked up the road and onto his yard with a minimum of encouragement.

I CONCOTED a pot of chili and baked some apple pies. The Big Farmer, Monte and Kelly sat down to three chess sets and each played two games simultaneously. And they even kept track of Clint Eastwood in the Good, the Bad and the Ugly while playing. Wonders never ceased.

On Monday night, we heard a provocative speaker on the subject of right and left brains at the support group meeting. I know one thing, I'm a right-brained person in a left-brain world.

On Wednesday, Norfolk hosted the state Home Health meeting at the Villa. Joan Burney shared two hours on the management of stress with us; mostly with laughter, as you can imagine. As she said, she and I are often on the same wave length; but that wave length defies description.

Kabaret provided us with after-dinner music, serenading us with such ditties as "Hello, Nurses," and "Don't Go Into Surgery With Anyone Else But Me!"

THURSDAY NIGHT was Parent's

Night, the last home volleyball game. This is a neat tradition in which the girls present parents with flowers and kisses and treats after the game. They won the game, too!

Friday, I was headed for Lincoln by 7 a.m. to the Heartland Wellness Conference at the Kellogg Center. (More on this in a later column.)

Mom and I visited the Acreeage at Hickman on Friday afternoon. All kinds of country stores, crafts, food and sights.

Saturday I saw NWU defeat Doane while listening to Nebraska Blitz Missouri. Kay marched in the Plainsman band.

I drove home in a gorgeous Nebraska fall afternoon. The trees were all colors, the sun was bright and combines were rolling across Huglerland. Every "man, woman and child" not in Lincoln was combining beans.

Then I put together a pan of lasagna and ooze cookie dessert for Mission Feet at church. I literally fell into bed.

MADE A QUICK trip to Norfolk to see two patients early this morning. Back in time to rehearse with the choir prior to the service. Served lots of people and washed a few dishes.

Then back to Norfolk to see another patient. Back to the Villa to the 80th birthday party of a much-loved nurse. And home to Hestins in time for the open house at Design Boutique, the new craft shop in the old lumber yard. Lovely place. Did some Christmas shopping.

Got in five miles of walking in between time. We hope the forecast for showers is wrong.

Oh, yes, sang for the funeral on Thursday of the coordinator of our local Alzheimer's support group. Harold Williams had been my accompanist on many occasions. He will be missed and I still have some "grief work" to do.

As Joan said, "He is a struggle, and there's hardly any justice." But we certainly don't have to be bored. Do you have your Jack-o-lanterns cut out?

Insurance period ends

The 1986 year insurance period for barley, hybrid seed corn, oats, rye and wheat grown in Nebraska and insured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) according to Leo B. Holthaus, Director, Lincoln Field Operation Office ends on Oct. 31.

"Under the terms of the policy, any acreage on which harvest will not be completed must be left intact until an inspection is made. Any claim for indemnity may be rejected if these loss reporting requirements are not met," Mr. Holthaus stated.

"Any notice of loss must be given promptly after the total destruction of the unit, completion of harvest, or Oct. 31, 1986, whichever occurs earlier," according to Holthaus. The producer who anticipates a claim should notify his or her crop insurance representative immediately.

Michele Borg of Lincoln was recently the subject of a feature article in the Lincoln Star. Michele, who is the granddaughter of George Borg of Wakefield, visits jails for a living.
For the past two years, the University of Nebraska graduate has crisscrossed the state of Nebraska checking city and county jails to make sure they meet state standards.
Michele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Borg.
Every year Borg and her partner, Kent Frifflin, check out each of the 81 jails in the state. They take with them 280 plus pages of questions to ask.

METHODIST WOMEN

The Laurel United Methodist Women met at the church last Wednesday evening with 30 members and one guest.

The Pledge Service was given by the treasurer Carol Heitman and District Financial Interpreter Shirley Wickett.

Each group of four were given paper, whole apples and apple cores. On the apple cores members were to write the projects completed by the four coordinators — Christian Personhood, Global Concerns, Social Involvement and Supportive Community. Written on the whole apples were projects the churchwomen would like to see accomplished. All the apples were then placed on a tree on the bulletin board.

As members handed in their pledge cards, each was given a shiny red artificial apple to remind them of the mission work to be done in the community and world.

The meeting was conducted by LaVonne Madsen, president. The secretary and treasurer reports were read.

Thelma Hattig gave a supportive community report from Hillcrest Care Center. Ruby Smith, Christian Social Involvement, read an article on arms reduction from a Methodist publication.

Winnie Burns, Sunshine chairman, reported on her work. The Prayer Calendar was read by Roberta Lute. Ardis Cunningham reported on the Prayer Chain and if someone wishes to have their name added they should contact her.

NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES WEEK

Dates: October 19-26, Sunday through Sunday.

Honorary National Chairman: Jack Nicklaus.

Congressional Resolution: Whereas more than half of the students in this nation's schools are involved in at least one extracurricular activity; Whereas this other half of education plays a significant role in the total educational development of high school students;

Whereas participation in activities such as athletics, speech, music, debate, drama, and others generally leads to positive development for all and often leads to superior achievement;

Whereas participation and achievement in those areas often contribute to increased interest and performance in strictly academic areas;

Whereas both academic and extracurricular achievement contribute greatly to the social development and interaction of all high school students;

Whereas that development directly benefits local communities by channeling young people's interest and talents into positive efforts; and by instilling in them an early sense of civic duty and community pride;

Whereas former President Gerald R. Ford has acted as honorary National Chairman of the effort to recognize the important role of extracurricular activities in this nation's high school; Now, therefore, be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America the President should designate "National High School Activities Week" in recognition of the valuable contribution that such programs make in developing the interests and talents of young people at the community level.

SPECIAL DATES

National Officials Day, Monday, October 20. High school contests are officiated by some dedicated persons who are involved because they see the benefits of school activities and should be recognized for their work in this area.

National Speech and Music Day, Tuesday, October 21. School activities are not solely sports. In fact, speech and music involve as high a percentage of the student body as athletics in some schools.

National Chemical Health Awareness Day, Wednesday, Wednesday, October 22.

National Coaches Day, Friday, October 24. They are teachers first, coaches next and they help build the youth of the state in both instances.

National Fund Raising Day, Saturday, October 25. There are projects at most schools designed to produce funds for extracurricular activities.

As to the values of activity programs, there are several very vivid, documented examples:

*National surveys reveal that students participating in high school activities are more likely to have higher academic averages and far better attendance records.

*Of the students who drop out of high schools, ninety-four percent have not been involved in any school activities such as athletics, music, speech, student government, etc.

*The best predictor (according to ACT and SAT studies) of success in later life is previous participation in high school activity programs not high school or college grade point average, test score or rank-in-class.

*Generally, participation in activity programs teaches values that make students happier and better citizens, builds strong minds and bodies, emphasizes the good points of competition and that race, color, sex and economic status are not obstacles for participation, and finally, instills poise and confidence.

*Nationally, over one-half of the high school student population participates in high school activity programs for approximately one percent of the total school budget, obviously the best value in public education today.

*Activities support the Academic Mission of Schools: They are not a diversion but rather an extension of a good education program.

*Activities are Inherently Educational. Activities programs provide valuable lessons on many practical situations—teamwork, sportsmanship, winning and losing, hard work. Through participation in activities programs, students learn self-discipline, build self-confidence and develop skills to handle competitive situations. These are qualities the public expects schools to produce in students so that they become responsible adults and productive citizens.

*Students participating in a number of activities not only achieve better academically but also express greater satisfaction with the total high school experience than students who do not participate, according to a survey conducted for the National Federation by Indiana University. The grade-point average for "high activity" students is 3.05 on a 4.0 scale, compared to a grade-point average of 2.54 for "low activity" students. Researchers defined high activity as involvement in four or more activities, while low activity students were involved in one activity or none.

*Besides higher grades, participation in activities helps students have a better attitude, according to a study conducted at the request of the Utah State Board of Education. In the study, students, parents, teachers and administrators agreed that being part of such activities serves not only as an incentive to do well in academic work, but it relieves tension and increases self-confidence.

Support your Schools Activity Program. National High School Activities Week-October 19-26.

Hyperactivity Therapy

Approximately three out of every 100 pre-adolescent children have what is commonly referred to as hyperkinesia or "hyperactivity." Boys are affected more frequently than girls. The condition is commonly linked with an attention deficit.

Children who experience problems of inattention, impulsivity, and excessive body-movements prior to age-seven may have both hyperactivity and attention deficit disorder. A thorough physical and emotional assessment of the child should be conducted, however, because such behavior could be due to overactivity of the thyroid gland, short-term emotional stress at home or school, or a variety of other physical or emotional problems.

It might appear that children having hyperactivity should be given central nervous system depressants to "calm them down." But central nervous system stimulants are most effective in treating childhood hyperactivity, for reasons that are not completely clear. Stimulants commonly used include dextroamphetamine, methylphenidate, and pemoline. Frequent dose adjustments are often necessary in order to maximize medication effectiveness and minimize possible adverse effects.

Controlled breathing slows down the heart rate

by Jeff Berger
The Wayne Stress Prevention Center wishes to thank all the people who have responded to our recent series of articles on techniques that allow you to relieve stress. The calls and notes are appreciated.
The comment has been made recently that attendance at our weekly sessions might be better if people weren't so nervous about seeking counseling for their stress.
It is almost as if you get labeled unstable or must admit to having a problem if you are seen coming in to visit us on Thursday nights.
We would like to "stress" that what we do at the Wayne Stress Prevention Center is not counseling. We are a group that has as its main goal to spread information on how to locate stress, how to relieve stress and how to live healthier lives by stress management.

We do also serve as a screening agency for people with unusually high stress levels. We can refer people to professional counselors with stress-related backgrounds for extra individual help. So now you can ask yourself: Could visiting this center for a little extra information on stress hurt? And if the answer is no then come by to see us at Wayne-Carroll High School Thursday night at 7:00 p.m. in room 202. We are also available to groups upon request by calling Jeff at 375-5289 or Doug at 375-2420 or 375-2200.
Over the "last" three weeks, three relaxation techniques were discussed. One, creative visualization, worked on the mental aspect of stress. Another, progressive relaxation worked on the physical side of stress. And yet another, the Relaxation Response, combined both aspects of stress into one package. In conversation with several people who had read the columns, one point came across. Many people were concerned with the amount of time each exercise took. Also, some said "Where do you ever find a quiet place to relax? If there was such a place, I wouldn't need the techniques, right?"

This week I would like to discuss a technique that can be used anywhere, at any time, to reduce your reaction to stressful events. No special tools or places are required and if done properly, no one can notice you practicing this exercise.

The technique is known as controlled breathing.
Since we all breathe, we all have the ability to do this technique. How many times did an adult say to you, when you were a child, "count to ten" or "take a deep breath" when you were about to get very angry at something?
This technique combines those thoughts into a very practical package. The technique is as follows: 1) Close your mouth and breathe through your nose. 2) Concentrate on your breathing in and out. 3) On every inhale and exhale, think "one hundred thousand one" "one hundred thousand two", etc. 4) Gradually slow the count down, just like dragging your feet when you walk. 5) Do this until you physically feel your heartbeat slow down.

The reason that this works is that your heart rate is connected directly to your breathing. When one slows, so does the other. A fast heart rate is linked to high blood pressure, which is linked to migraines, muscle aches, heart attacks, and strokes. So this breathing is a good temporary way to say "Whoa, slow down."

While you are not getting rid of the stress-causing event with this technique, a relaxed body can make a world of difference in your attitude and your approach to handling the problem. For more information on this and other techniques, call us or stop in on Thursday night.
The Wayne Stress Prevention Center is funded by the Providence Medical Center Foundation.

Merger of such district shall be within one year of the withdrawal or discontinuance and accomplished pursuant to sections 1 to 5 of this act.

The voters in the Class I school district shall by a majority vote decide whether to be an affiliated school district and shall select the Class II, III, IV, or V school district to which the Class I school district shall be affiliated.

Prior to the affiliation of a Class I school district with an adjoining Class II, III, IV, or V school district, the plan of affiliation shall first be approved by the school board of the Class II, III, IV, or V school district to which an affiliation plan has been proposed. Following the approval by such school board, the plan of affiliation shall be submitted at a special election to all the electors of the school districts involved. Notice of the election shall be given by the county clerk or election commissioner and shall be published in a legal newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties involved at least ten days prior to the election. The notice shall state that the election has been called for the purpose of affording the electors an opportunity to approve or reject the plan of affiliation.

All ballots shall be prepared and the special election shall be held and conducted by the county clerk or election commissioner, and the expense of such election shall be paid by the Class I school district. The county clerk or election commissioner shall use the duly appointed election board or appoint two judges and two clerks who shall be qualified electors of the territory of the proposed school district. The election shall be held at a place or places within the proposed district which shall have been determined by the county clerk or election commissioner to be convenient for the voters.

When the proposed plan of affiliation involves school districts under the jurisdiction of more than one county, the county clerk or election commissioner of the county which has the largest number of residents shall give the notice and prepare the ballots. The election shall be held and conducted by the county clerk or election commissioner of each county involved in the plan of affiliation. Approval of the plan of affiliation shall require a majority of all electors voting.

A Class I school district which is affiliated with another school district shall support the high school in such district by a tax levy as prescribed in sections 8 to 11 of this act. Transportation shall be provided for high school students attending school from an affiliated Class I school district.

Section 9. A proposal to affiliate a Class I school district with a Class II, III, IV, or V school district may be initiated by filing a petition or petitions signed by at least twenty-five per cent of the legal voters of the district with the county superintendent of the county in which the greater part of the Class I school district is located together with an affidavit listing all signatories and their addresses. Upon determination by him or her that the signatures are sufficient, the county superintendent shall transmit the petition to the school board of the Class I school district which may have the issue placed on the ballot at the next primary or general election or may call a special election to vote on the issue. The petition shall specify the school district to which the Class I school district is to be affiliated.

Section 10. Any Class II, III, IV, or V school district to which a Class I school district elects to become affiliated pursuant to sections 8 to 11 of this act shall annually separate the budget of the school district into two portions. One portion shall be the high school portion and shall include the cost of the education of the children of the school district for children in grades nine through twelve, including student transportation costs, and the other portion shall include the balance of the budget. The separation of the high school portion of the budget shall be done in the manner and pursuant to the guidelines which the State Department of Education shall, by rules and regulations, establish.

Following any affiliation pursuant to sections 8 to 11 of this act, bonds may be issued pursuant to sections 10-701 to 10-716, for purposes of capital additions or improvements to facilities used for the instructional program for grades nine through twelve or grades seven through twelve, upon the approval of a majority of all the qualified electors voting on the issue in the Class II, III, IV, or V school district and all affiliated Class I school districts.

Section 11. (1) The county clerk of any county in which all or part of an affiliated Class I school district is located shall, on or before July 15 of each year, certify the actual valuation of all taxable property of such Class I school district within the county to the county clerk of the county in which the high school of the school district is located. The Class I school district is affiliated is located.

(2) The county board of the county in which the high school is located shall make a separate levy for the high school portion of the school district's budget. Such levy shall be upon the taxable property in both the Class II, III, IV, or V school district and the affiliated Class I school district. The county clerk of the levying county shall certify the levy on a portion of the affiliated Class I school district is located. Such levy shall be collected in the same manner as other property taxes and shall be remitted by the collecting county to the county in which the high school is located.

Section 12. Notwithstanding any other provision of sections 1 to 6 of this act or Chapter 79, after the operative date of this act, whenever the question of closing an elementary school attendance site is raised following a reorganization governed by section 79-402, the Reorganization of School Districts Act, or sections 79-426.23 to 79-426.26 in which a school district has attached itself as a whole to a Class II, III, IV, or V school district or has become part of a Class VI school district, a class action may be filed against the school board of such Class II, III, IV, or V school district in connection with an elementary school attendance site, as such district existed prior to reorganization, has reason to believe that the school board in charge of such site is neglecting to provide reasonable educational opportunities for the children of the school district by neglecting to maintain such building site properly. If neglect is found, the court shall determine how such conditions at such site shall be improved.

Section 16. A family whose children attend a Class I school district which has merged, affiliated, or approved a plan for merging or affiliating with an existing Class II, III, IV, or V school district may submit a request in writing to the county committee for the reorganization of school districts for hardship status. The county committee shall consider such request and may recommend the approval or disapproval of such request and submit the request and its recommendation to the State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts for final approval. The county committee shall include in its recommendation the reasons for the recommendation and the children should be assigned. When considering whether to recommend the approval or grant final approval of hardship status, the county and state committees shall consider the following factors:

of a proposition to close an elementary school attendance site shall require a majority of all qualified electors voting at a special election called for such purpose.

If such school district divides and the various portions join more than one school district pursuant to this act, an elementary school attendance site shall not be closed unless a majority of the voters who, on the date of the election provided for in this section, reside in the portion of such school district, as the boundaries of such district existed prior to the reorganization, which contains such elementary school attendance site vote to close such site.

For purposes of this section, elementary school attendance site shall mean an elementary school site in a merged district which has been required to merge or become a part of another school district pursuant to section 1 of this act or section 79-701.

Section 13. (1) The election prescribed in section 12 of this act shall be called by the school board of the reorganized school district by resolution or upon a petition by twenty per cent of the voters residing in the school district as the school district, existed prior to reorganization and shall be conducted in accordance with subsections (2) to (4) of this section.

(2) Notice of the election shall be given by the county clerk or election commissioner and shall be published in a legal newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in the county at least ten days prior to the election. The election notice shall (a) state that the election has been called for the purpose of affording the electors an opportunity to approve or reject the resolution or petition to close the elementary school attendance site and (b) contain the legal description of the attendance site.

(3) All ballots shall be prepared and the election shall be held and conducted by the county clerk or election commissioner and the expense of such election shall be paid by the county board. The county clerk or election commissioner shall use the duly appointed election board or appoint two judges and two clerks who shall be qualified electors of the territory of the school district as the school district existed prior to reorganization. The election shall be held at a place or places within such school district which shall have been determined by the county clerk or election commissioner to be convenient for the voters.

(4) When the elementary school attendance site which is proposed to be closed involves a school district under the jurisdiction of more than one county, the county clerk or election commissioner of the county which has the largest number of pupils residing in such district shall give the notice required by subsection (2) of this section in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory of such district and prepare the ballots, and such election shall be held and conducted by the county clerk or election commissioner of each county in such district in accordance with Chapter 32. Section 14. The Attorney General shall file a petition under section 25-21349 seeking a declaratory judgment from the Nebraska Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the election provisions in section 12 of this act.

Section 15. Following a reorganization governed by section 79-402, the Reorganization of School Districts Act, or sections 79-426.23 to 79-426.26 in which a school district has attached itself as a whole to a Class II, III, IV, or V school district or has become part of a Class VI school district, a class action may be filed against the school board of such Class II, III, IV, or V school district in connection with an elementary school attendance site, as such district existed prior to reorganization, has reason to believe that the school board in charge of such site is neglecting to provide reasonable educational opportunities for the children of the school district by neglecting to maintain such building site properly. If neglect is found, the court shall determine how such conditions at such site shall be improved.

Section 16. A family whose children attend a Class I school district which has merged, affiliated, or approved a plan for merging or affiliating with an existing Class II, III, IV, or V school district may submit a request in writing to the county committee for the reorganization of school districts for hardship status. The county committee shall consider such request and may recommend the approval or disapproval of such request and submit the request and its recommendation to the State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts for final approval. The county committee shall include in its recommendation the reasons for the recommendation and the children should be assigned. When considering whether to recommend the approval or grant final approval of hardship status, the county and state committees shall consider the following factors:

- (1) The age of the students of the family seeking hardship status;
(2) The distance from the family's residence to the school attendance site which the students will attend after the merger or affiliation and the estimated travel time to and from such attendance site;
(3) The road conditions over which the students will be required to travel to and from school;
(4) The availability and proximity of an alternate school district to which such students may be assigned; and
(5) Any other factors the county or state committee deems necessary.
