To join Northern Activities Conference

Schools studying proposal

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A possibility that three other schools would join the present Northern Activities Conference was discussed during Tuesday's regular meeting of the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education.

Currently, Wayne is joined in the Northern Activities Conference (NAC) by Hartington Cedar Catholic, South Sioux City and O'Neill. Wayne-Carroll Athletic Director Ron Carnes told the school board that at two recent conference meetings, three other Class B schools — Columbus Lakeview, West Point Public School and Albion — were represented.

All three have indicated they have an interest in joining the NAC. Carnes said the three schools will be taking action this month on whether or not to pursue the idea of entry into the NAC.

"All activities would be included. This would not be just an athletic conference. There would also be speech, music and one-act contests," Carnes said.

A possible format, Carnes said, would be to have conference tournaments in all sports (with the exception of football) because of the distance involved between schools. In football, the teams would meet head to head to decide the conference champion.

CARNES SAID one consideration to cut down on traveling for conference teams is to ask Northeast Technical Community College if they would be willing to host some of the conference activities.

One idea discussed during the school board meeting would be to have the high school bands from each school in the conference perform at halftime at one of the conference schools other than their own.

West Point is currently in the nine-team East Husker Conference. The conference currently has two teams which compete in Class B (West Point and North Bend). The remaining teams are Logan View, Scribner, Tekamah-Herman, Oakland-Craig, Lyons-Decatur, Paider and Wisner-Pilger.

One reason why schools desire to play in a conference against schools of similar size and class is because often the conference champion automatically qualifies for a state play-off.

BUT THERE MUST be a certain number of Class B schools in the conference for this to happen. Currently the East Husker Conference and the NAC cannot qualify under these circumstances, according to some school administrators.

West Point Principal George Robertson told The Wayne Herald on Wednesday that the West Point Board of Education has not acted on any type of merger into a new conference. But board members there have given direction for the school district administration to pursue the best opportunities available to enter a Class B dominated conference.

Two options that are available which were discussed at a recent board meeting were to join the NAC, or try to bring more Class B schools into the East Husker Conference.

"But we're looking at two years down the road before anything can take place," Robertson mentioned, adding that the school district has contract agreements to fulfill.

It is projected that East Husker Conference team member Logan View will become a Class B team. Tekamah-Herman, he said, is on the borderline to becoming a Class B team.

Columbus Lakeview Superintendent Richard Kamm said there was no action taken by their board of education on conference merging proposals other than to discuss four options.

Those options include:

- Staying in the conference where they are at the present. Currently, Columbus Lakeview is in the Western Division of the Central 10 Conference that also includes Ord, Central City, Aurora and Grand Island Northwest.
- Considering a new conference affiliation with the NAC.

"Considering an invitation to take a look at the East Husker Conference as the conference to join."

"And discussing with Albion and Central City to form a conference in the surrounding Columbus Lakeview area."

"The biggest problem with our conference is competing with the other schools football. That is probably the only reason why we are looking at something else," Kamm said.

"The conference itself is as good as Class B conference as any in the state," he said. Columbus Lakeview

Agreement made with school City audit results praised

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

If the city of Wayne accounting staff was to be graded on the records kept of all phases of city finances, most likely the staff would receive an "A."

A representative of the firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell of Lincoln gave an audit presentation to the city council during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

"The city is being extremely well run. There were very few problems encountered," the representative told council members in his presentation.

One phase of the audit is to make sure all federal monies, provided to the city of Wayne, are "accounted for and accurate," the representative said. Tests were conducted on various expenditures that the city had made, he said, to make sure the city is in accordance with the grant requirements.

MANY COMMUNITIES which are audited by the accounting firm show non-compliance. But not Wayne.

"Wayne did not have any events that were in non-compliance," he said.

"We often find [in other audits] that lots of things need corrections or need adjustments. Your staff is doing an excellent job," he added.

He said he found very few items in the areas of internal control deficiencies.

He mentioned that in some areas involving federal grant money, when items were purchased and sales tax was charged, the sales tax was not charged to the federal program. These types of expenditures should be watched more closely, he mentioned.

He also noted that the property tax records are currently kept by Wayne County, and that the city is not receiving a list of delinquent accounts. He recommended that the city be supplied a list of the delinquent taxes every quarter and that the city "implement a system to speed up the collection of delinquent accounts."

Also on Tuesday evening, the council reviewed an agreement made between the Wayne-Carroll School District and the city concerning shared use of city and school facilities for recreational purposes.

Wayne-Carroll has consented to allow the city recreation's program to utilize the school facilities and in turn, the city will allow the school district to use the city auditorium for athletic contests.

CITY ADMINISTRATOR Phil Kloster said the agreement had

With W Club program

Students share time

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A new program to establish a "big brother/big sister" relationship between the Wayne-Carroll W Club and the fifth and sixth grade students at the Wayne-Carroll Middle School got a vote of support Tuesday afternoon from the Board of Education.

The program is a "type" of big brother/big sister format in which members of the W Club will "sponsor" a young student in the fifth or sixth grade, according to Ted Blenderman and Ron Carnes, who explained the program to the board of education members.

Sponsorship advantages which they listed include:

- An opportunity for younger students to identify with an older role model.

- An opportunity for students to participate in individual and group activities.

- An opportunity for the older students to share time and space with younger students.

- And an opportunity for younger students who are from single child or single parent families, to experience sharing with another person.

Carnes told the school board that there is a need for more mixture between the high school and middle school students. "We have excellent role models in our high school now," Carnes said.

The school system plans to work in conjunction with the W Club (a club recreated last year that includes students involved in Wayne-Carroll athletics and consists of a total 85 members) to organize the new program.

Blenderman said the first task was to pull up to 15 students and some

On mill levy services

ESU board hears numerous motions

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

It was a night of motions, withdrawn motions, re-stated motions, lengthy discussion and debate Tuesday night when members of the Educational Service Unit One board of directors attempted to take action on several mill levy items as presented in a report last month by ESU 1 Administrator Harry Mills.

Last month's study of all ESU 1 mill levy services, as presented by Mills at the request of the board, included recommendations on the nursing services program, media center, coop purchases and administration.

Several ESU 1 nurses were seated in the audience Tuesday night to learn what action the board would take regarding the nursing program for the 1987-88 school year.

IN KICKING OFF discussion of mill levy services, board member Deryl Lawrence of Wayne moved for adoption of Mills' recommendation on all mill levy services as presented in his report last month.

Recommendations as presented last month by Mills included:

- Nursing services — Budgeting a set amount annually and having schools pay the balance of the cost.

- Administrative costs — Maintaining the present administrative staff at its present level.

- Media center — Continuing with a budget of around $80,000, allowing ESU 1 to expand in other areas such as slide films, slide tapes, building block materials for elementary schools, etc.

- Coop purchase service — To remain as is.

Lawrence's motion to approve Mills' recommendations was defeated by a vote of six to four, with board members Paul Steffen of Hartington, Dr. Ervin DeBoer of Walthill, Dr. Randy Shaw of Wayne, Jim Martindale of Creighton, John Post of Bloomfield and Claire Hansen of Coleridge opposed to the measure, and board members Marvin Borg of Concord, Ken Lahrs of Ponca, Leo Kramer of Dakota City and Lawrence voting in favor of the action.

FOLLOWING LAWRENCE'S motion, board member DeBoer moved that ESU 1 discontinue nursing services using mill levy funds, and that if such services are provided they be on a contract basis with schools for the amount of time they desire.

"We have debated this thing so long," said DeBoer. "I've offered another solution. If you don't like it, defeat it. I don't see how we can continue a service with built-in escalation and a mill levy that can't support it."

Following discussion, DeBoer voted against his own motion, along with board members Steffen, Shaw, Lawrence, Kramer and Post. Voting in favor of DeBoer's motion were Hansen, Martindale, Borg and Lahrs. The measure was defeated six to four.

BOARD MEMBERS voted in favor of a motion by Post to continue to fund the nursing services program at its present level of $205,000 and to bill the excess cost to the schools during the 1987-88 budget year.

Post further stated that it was his intention to go through all four mill levy services — contained in Mills' report and to make a motion on each one of them.

Post's motion carried by a vote of seven to three, with Steffen, DeBoer, Borg, Lahrs, Lawrence, Post and

"gone back and forth for some time." On Nov. 24, the city council and school district arrived at an agreement. In other action, the city council: Received a letter from Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council thanking the city representatives for presenting an excellent proposal for the agency to move to the city of Wayne. Goldenrod Hills recently decided to move its agency headquarters from Walthill to Wisner. Approved the amending of a municipal code item concerning handbill placement on windshields of vehicles. The change will allow only the city employees to place handbills on the vehicles. Reason for the amending, according to Kloster, was because of the new snow ordinance that was recently passed. Handbills will be placed on the windshields of vehicles that park in areas where there is generally no restricted parking. "The handbills are just a courtesy reminder or a piece of information," Kloster said. Learned that the company initially accepted by the State Department of Roads for improvements on Providence Road, GLC of Columbus (which was approved by the city at the previous council meeting), failed to make necessary compliance with the federal guidelines concerning the minority business enterprise, and could not be awarded the contract. Therefore, the contract went to a Wahoo firm which had submitted the second lowest bid to the state. The difference in the bids amounts to nearly $6,800. Kloster said the change will result in the city having to pay an additional $1,500 in costs. Passed resolutions establishing the State National Bank of Wayne and First National Bank of Wayne as depositories for the city. Mayor Wayne Marsh appointed Ralph Barclay to the Board of Adjustment and Joe Nuss to the Civil Service Board during the council meeting.

Also, Marsh gave the oath of office to five individuals who were elected to office in November. Four of them — Randy Pedersen, Larry Johnson, Darrel Heler and Carolyn Filler — are incumbents. Sheryl Lindau, who defeated Bob Lohrborg in the November election, replaced Ralph Barclay as city council member. Marsh presented community service plaques to Leo Hansen, Ralph Barclay and Keith Mosley for their terms served as council members. Mosley served on the city council 13 years. Hansen was a city councilman for 12 years before moving to another ward. He was replaced by Ralph Barclay, who was on the council for six months.

NAC

is considered as the smallest school in the conference. IF COLUMBUS Lakeview joined the NAC, travel distance would be greater than their present conference. But Kamm said that is not a big factor. "The most important thing is too look for schools more our size so that we can compete with them," he said. Albion, two years ago, was a member of the Central 10 Conference. It is now in the 10-team Lou-Platte Conference that consists of five Class B rated schools. They are Albion, St. Paul, Wood River, Gibbon and Adams Central. Other teams include Kearney Central, Burwell, Centura, Loup City and Ravenna. Albion Principal Bill Hellerich said the board of education there has been made aware of the conference situation, and are not against looking at various alternatives. "We're just looking at the possibilities and trying to work something out that is feasible," said Hellerich. He said Albion would consider looking at a conference where they can automatically qualify for state playoffs if they become the conference champion. One area discussed, he said, is to have a divisional-type arrangement and to decide the conference champion with conference tournaments.

Ak-Sar-Ben has much to offer

"An extra show, reserved seating, and much, much more." That's how Alan Cramer, Ak-Sar-Ben Ambassador from Wayne described this season's lineup for Ak-Sar-Ben's entertainment. The shows this year include comedian George Burns, country western singers George Strait and Marie Osmond, rock group Miami Sound Machine and the Oak Ridge Boys. "Something for everyone" Cramer said. In past years only three shows have been offered. In addition, members will receive discount tickets for the Ice Capades, Rodeo, all River City Festival activities and coupons good for ice skating and thoroughbred racing. Another new feature this year is the availability of reserved seating. "Many non-Omaha residents have asked for reserved seating," Cramer said. "This year we are making them available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Only 20,000 seats are available in this manner, so the first to ask will receive them." "We feel that a membership that offers so much variety is a real bargain and would make an ideal Christmas gift. We have gift certificates available," Cramer added. An advertisement elsewhere in today's Wayne Herald offers a coupon that may be sent to Cramer for memberships and gift certificates.

Gas rates to increase this month

Natural gas rates are changing again for Peoples Natural Gas customers in Wayne. As was anticipated, the new federal regulations are resulting in frequent natural gas price changes. In November, customers received a rate decrease and in December, rates will be increased. Both changes are a result of changes in the cost of gas that Peoples buys from Northern Natural Gas to serve Wayne. According to Tim Connealy, District Manager for Peoples, the November decrease reduced rates 0.52 cents per hundred cubic feet (Ccf) for the typical Wayne residential customer and the December increase will raise rates 1.970 cents per Ccf. "These rate changes are purchased gas adjustments which reflect changes in the cost of gas only and do not contribute to Peoples earnings," Connealy said. Even though the net effect of these two changes will increase rates approximately 1.448 cents per Ccf, the rate for residential customers is still 16.4 percent lower than it was last year at this time according to Connealy. "As the new federal regulations further deregulate the natural gas industry, we are seeing natural gas prices fluctuate in response to the market, Connealy explained. "The current increased winter demand has forced the cost of gas back up to the wellhead. Overall, we expect natural gas prices to remain fairly flat and decline somewhat in the spring." Peoples provides retail natural gas service for over 6400 residential, commercial and industrial customers in the Wayne area.

Nebraska habits, styles are surveyed

Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

Nebraska state senators are meeting this week to cut $6.5 million from the state's $338 million budget. At the urging of Governor Bob Kerrey and Appropriations Chairman Jerome Warner of Waverly, the senators will try to make the state's budget a little leaner.

At the same time Nebraska residents are apparently growing fatter.

A statewide survey conducted by the Nebraska Department of Health in March indicated that adults in the state are slightly heavier than they were four years ago.

The average Nebraska man weighed 174.7 pounds according to a similar survey conducted in 1982. This year that average man weighs 3.8 pounds more.

Nebraska's average woman weighed 143.7 pounds this year, a slight 2.6 pounds more than four years ago.

The increase is not statistically significant, according to Edye Wiebers, a health promotion coordinator with the department. But it is interesting, she admits.

The Health Department also used the weight results to make some other interesting comparisons.

Staff members computed ideal weights for selected males and females and discovered men are more overweight than women. The average Nebraska woman is 109.8 percent of ideal weight. The average Nebraska man is 111.9 percent of ideal weight.

THE STAFF also looked at Nebraskans who are at least 120 percent of ideal weight, the weight at which an individual is considered too heavy.

That comparison showed that more rural Nebraskans are overweight. Almost 30 percent of adults living outside of the two major urban areas are 120 percent or more above ideal weight. Within Lincoln and Omaha 17.2 percent are 120 percent or more above ideal body weight.

The leanest generation is the youngest, according to the survey. Only 7.7 percent of Nebraskans 18 to 24 years of age are 120 percent or more of ideal weight. The percentage of the hefty grows with increasing age until the 65 plus age group.

Here are the age group results:

- the 25 to 34 age group, 18.2 percent are 120 percent or more of ideal weight.
- the 35 to 44 age group, 28.9 percent are 120 percent or more of ideal weight.
- the 45 to 54 age group, 29.1 percent are 120 percent or more of ideal weight.
- the 55 to 64 age group, 42.6 percent are 120 percent or more of ideal weight.
- the 65 plus; 27.2 percent are 120 percent or more of ideal weight.

THE SURVEY, used to determine the health of Nebraskans, also indicated that Nebraskans are exercising more, wearing seat belts more often and binge drinking (5 or more drinks at one sitting) less.

—This year 40 percent of Nebraskans surveyed said they always buckle up. Four years ago only 10 percent always wore seat belts.

The smoking percentages have not changed much. About 25 percent of Nebraskans smoke. More men than women are cigarette smokers. About 29 percent of the men smoke about 23 percent of the women smoke.

—Almost 67 percent of the 1986 survey respondents say they actively exercise. That's higher than the 57 percent who reported they exercised in the 1982 survey. Men report exercising about 71 minutes 3.6 times a week. Women say they exercise about 48 minutes 3.4 times a week.

—Binge drinking and driving after drinking decreased during the four years. The percentage of people who admitted to drinking more than 5 alcoholic drinks at any one occasion decreased from 22.6 to 15.6 percent. And the percentage of Nebraskans who said they drove when they had too much to drink dropped from 8.5 to 7 percent.

viewpoint

Cuts are many

Governor Kerrey's proposed $6.5 million in total budget reductions for 1986 and 1987, which the legislative special session is dealing with at the present time, touches upon many areas.

Among them are $635,067 reduction in Mental Retardation Aid; $296,709 in public institution operations; $210,361 in social services operations; $242,938 in state college operations; and over $1.5 million in University operations.

There are also reductions proposed in aid to counties ($237,555); aid to schools ($1.9 million) and aid to technical colleges ($336,704).

One state senator went on to say that about 50 percent of the budget falls to education. It would be difficult to cut a budget without reducing areas in education, he mentioned.

Over the past years, school districts in the area have made an effort to "get by" on what they have. Some have gone through the struggles of RIF and teacher reduction decisions.

It appears that unless the cuts are absorbed by increasing the property tax dollars, there are going to be more programs eliminated or scaled down to affordable proportions.

Who can really say what will happen to county operations with the lack of aid coming from the state?

If these proposed budget reductions get okayed, look for some of our taxing bodies to tighten down their spending and cut beyond the bare bone what is necessary to operate efficiently with as much quality as can be afforded.

Certainly the deficit must be dealt with. Just at what cost it will take to overcome the deficit is now in the hands of our legislators. It wouldn't be a bad idea to let them hear from you.

Novel idea

The Wayne-Carroll W Club's new program of becoming a big brother or sister to those Middle School age is a positive step toward developing responsibility on behalf of both students.

The W Club members become role models to these younger students. Hopefully, good examples will be passed down to the younger generation.

It is a good idea and the creators of the program should be commended for their sincere effort in wanting to bridge together the two age groups to share what could be some important years in the growing (and maturing) process.

Most of the program dwells on athletics now, since the W Club is students involved in Wayne Carroll Athletics.

We would hope that in the future, older students considered as role models will not be just in the athletic arena, but in the areas of music, art and other educational fields as well.

The concept is good, and worthy of the board of education's endorsement given Tuesday afternoon.

Bad act

Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men! In this Christmas Season we like to believe that everyone is filled with love, benevolence and the joy which the birth of the Christ Child brought all mankind. Not So! Our beautiful Blue Spruce tree at the Wayne Villa Housing Authority which we have worked so hard to provide with beautiful Christmas lights to warm the hearts of our elderly residents was vandalized Saturday night, lights and cords cut and stolen. Merry Christmas and thank you whoever you are. May your conscience bother you much!

Trouble ahead

Wayne State College will lose $200,000 in the next year and a half. If all goes as planned, Governor Kerrey's proposed budget cuts will start a chain reaction of disasterous proportions.

It seems illogical for the State of Nebraska to cut off it's nose to spite it's face. The quality of education in this area has always been a source of regional pride and national recognition. This concept is now in jeopardy. The $60,000 to be cut from next semester will endanger some of Wayne State's finest programs.

Yes, programs. It isn't a question of money anymore. With the budget cuts of the past few years, the WSC budget has been pared away leaving nothing left but the very essentials. Now these essential programs are being cut back. The diminished capacity results in less service not only for the students but for the community as well.

Each year students have faced higher tuition and costs. The increased financial demands have not been matched with expanded educational opportunities. Granted, this burden has been born by students alone. WSC has fought valiantly despite these constraints and still remains an educational leader in this state. So far, cuts have not injured the quality education which Nebraska has been known for.

This will change dramatically if we, as citizens of Wayne, do not challenge this proposal. If these cuts are put into effect, Wayne will see and feel the results.

In the past Wayne State has brought many forms of culture to our community. Last year the Vienna Boys Choir, Dick Cavett and the Chinese Magic Theatre, all world renowned, helped us celebrate our 75th Anniversary. Over the years famous musicians, poets, artists and celebrities have provided the college and the community with the fine programming usually reserved for much larger and richer universities. These valuable offerings will be surely missed but these are just the tip of the iceberg.

The area targeted for these cuts is student activities. Some of the specific programs that will be clinging to life include some of Wayne's most popular groups.

The WSC music department, including the Choir and Madrigal Singers who have collectively traveled Europe six times to perform in major cities, will be faced with an utter lack of funding. They may not have the capital to continue their performances.

Wayne State's up-and-coming theatre department, which has in the last few years provided many outstanding productions, will be crippled. Sets are expensive and when the money is not there productions will be impossible.

The campus radio station, television station and campus newspaper will be seriously impaired. The campus paper, The Wayne Stater, will have to be transformed from a weekly paper to a monthly paper because the money won't be there.

These "activities," sadly, are also programs in which people are studying. Majors in Theatre, Music and Journalism/Broadcasting will see their degrees turned into worthless pieces of paper without strong programs to back them up.

It's time for students and the community of Wayne to stand up against these cuts. If WSC is forced to sacrifice quality then students will have to go elsewhere to get it. This may mean traveling out of state. That can only hasten the eminent demise of our long suffering economy.

Sincerely,
Abbie Gaffey

out of old nebraska

Discussion about the weather is certainly not uncommon in Nebraska. In fact, at this time of the year when we already have seen record-breaking temperatures, comments about the cold, the wind, the snow, or even blizzards creep into most idle conversations.

What was probably the state's most devastating single storm struck the people of Nebraska on January 12, 1888. There are some who claim that the Easter storm of 1873 was more severe and others who talk about the great storm of March, 1913, but the veterans of '88 are able to hold their own against all comers—except possibly the veterans of '49.

That winter brought Nebraskans

the most prolonged battle with the elements in the history of the State.

The first storm, hit November 19. There was a great deal of snow between then and Christmas, but what is known as the "second storm" hit December 29, to be followed on January 2 by what probably will be known as "the blizzard."

State and local Highway crews, working valiantly to open lines of communication, found that no sooner had they got a stretch of road open than it was closed again, by redrafting or by fresh snow. Trains—all the way from the crack streamliners to the thrice-a-week locals—were stalled in the billowing drifts. For days in many areas, the only effective transportation was through the air, and Nebraska's many small plane pilots rendered heroic service to their fellow men.

The Nebraska National Guard was called out and volunteers worked round-the-clock in an effort to liberate trapped livestock, homes, and even whole communities. But the job was too big for Nebraska and other western states alone, and on January 28, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick was named to direct one of the army's most extensive peacetime rescue operations—Operation Snowbound.

The bulldozers and the weasels of the Fifth Army moved in, and during 23 days of operation opened 87,073 miles of road, liberated 152,196 persons from snowbound homes, took 35 sick persons out to receive medical care and hospitalization, and gave over 3,500,000 head of livestock access to feed.

These figures are only part of the story, and even a complete set of statistics would fall far short of telling the whole story. It's a story that can be told only in terms of individual human experience.

Fortunately for history, the newspapers of Nebraska large and small, provided excellent coverage, including spectacular shots by ingenious photographers. All these are on file in the archives of the Nebraska State Historical Society, and someday when "the book" will provide the author with an incomparable source of information.

Earlier in November, Lutheran Brotherhood members completed another Friends in Deed project when they constructed, painted and installed new wooden shelving units for the Wayne County Food Pantry. The pantry is housed in the basement of the Wayne Presbyterian Church.

Lutheran Brotherhood members involved in that project included Roy and Mabel Sommerfeld, Les Youngmeyer, Loren and Cory Stutheit, Merlin Slevers and the Roger Lentz family.

LENTZ ALSO reported that some churches in the branch have used congregational matching funds for office equipment funds, resinsing fund, organ fund, new folding tables, encyclopedias, etc.

Congregations in the branch also have used the free Concordia film coupons and stand-up scenes.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

Chances are that, when you were 15 years old, you sometimes misplaced a house key or other important object or you couldn't recall an address or phone number. But it certainly wasn't a traumatic experience in your life. Yet, if the same thing happens to you 50 years later, at age 65, you're likely to panic, thinking senility has set in or old age is catching up with your mind. That's precisely the kind of unrealistic reasoning which Dr. Robin West, a psychology professor at the University of Florida, is fighting. In her book, "Memory Fitness Over 40," Dr. West concludes that older people who panic over minor memory lapses that are common to persons of all ages actually "cause the very problem you fear: you WILL lose some of your memory ability because anxiety interferes dramatically with effective remembering." Dr. West recommends that older people participate in such memory-exercising activities as games like "Trivial Pursuit" and re-counting past times to younger people. In other words, not only is reminiscing fun, it's also good for you!

Remember When? 1928 — Mickey Mouse became an overnight star in "Plane Crazy," produced by Walt Disney. It was soon followed by "Steamboat Willie," the first cartoon with sound.

Presented as a public service to our senior citizens, and the people who care about them by the Wayne Care Centre, 516 Main Street, Wayne, Nebraska 68787, 375-1922.

Wayne vocal students presenting concert

The public is invited to attend a Christmas concert on Sunday, Dec. 14, presented by fifth through 12th grade vocal students of Wayne Community Schools.

The program, under the direction of Kathryn Ley, is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. in the high school lecture hall. Refreshments will be served following.

The program will include traditional and contemporary Christmas music. Special groups performing will be the swing choir, girls glee and male quartet.

Home-court advantage is key to victories

How sweet it is, that home-court advantage. So far it has been good to Wayne State basketball teams. The Wayne State Wildcats are 4-0 in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium. On the other hand Coach Steve Aggers' Wildcats are winless, 0-5, when they hit the road. The Lady Wildcats have built their record to 6-2 with the strength of a predominantly home schedule.

Prior to the Dec. 3 game against Missouri Western Aggers mentioned in several interviews how crucial home cooking is. He said his team needed more noise from the student body to make Rice Auditorium an unfriendly place for Wayne State opponents to play.

Starting with the first overtime period against Western Aggers has gotten his wish. The student body, especially those seated in the bleacher section, have become quite vocal.

There favorite past time is to ride opposing coaches with sit down Skip or Ray or whatever the opposing coach's name is. They also start loud chants of D-E-F-E-N-S-E.

Monday night they were at it again when the Cats hosted Briar Cliff. The Chargers have two players from Panama and one from Puerto Rico. The student body picked up on that. From the introduction of the players until the final gun they cheered and jeered against them.

When Marcelino Garcia of San Juan, Puerto Rico and Fernando Pinillo of Colon, Panama were introduced students began chanting USA, USA, USA. They also performed another cheer designed to distract the foreign players. When either one of them went to the free-throw line to shoot free throws the students would count in Spanish how many times they dribbled the ball.

None of this was done in bad taste and it also brought a little fun to the game for the spectators.

Although Rice Auditorium isn't Pauley Pavilion, with a little practice it could become a miserable experience for visiting teams.

In football they say the home field is an automatic seven-point advantage. In the last five years the NFC Super Bowl representative has had the home-field advantage all the way through the playoffs.

Is there something to the theory or could it be only the teams with the best records have the home-field advantage?

Three area sports fans were published in the Voice From the Grandstand on Monday's Omaha World-Herald.

All three, Clark Cull of Wayne, Ronald McDormott of Winside and Jim Vranick of Wakefield commented on the suspension of Green Bay's Charles Martin for his actions against Jim McMahon. Cull and Vranick sided with Martin and McDormott called the Bears' quarterback the best player in the NFL.

It is good to see sports fans of the area voice their opinions.

Freshmen nip Schuyler by a basket

The Blue Devil freshmen boys' basketball team opened their season on the road with a 47-45 win over Randolph. The locals struggled in the late going after giving up a 12-point lead in the final period.

Willie Gross led the freshmen with 21 points. Neil Carnes and Brian Moore added eight and seven respectively.

Cats avenge loss to Briar Cliff

Revenge was the motive for the mauling of the Briar Cliff basketball team by the Wayne State Wildcats Monday night.

The Cats improved their record to 4-5 while the Chargers season mark dropped to 4-5 in the Wildcats' 64-54 win at Rice Auditorium.

Senior guard Vincent White sparked WSC with his fine play both offensively and defensively. The Joiner, Arkansas native scored a team-high 18 points to go along with his five steals on defense. Coach Steve Aggers was also pleased with White's floor leadership. The coach said in order to be successful they must have White's senior leadership.

White also looked to drive to the basket more against Briar Cliff than in past games. On two or three occasions the guard drove to the hoop made the shot and was fouled. Aggers said the offense the Cats ran was designed for White to drive the ball inside.

Briar Cliff, a 65-50 winner Nov. 15 in Sioux City, started the game looking for a season sweep. The Chargers leading scorer, Fernando Pinillo, posted the visitors with a 6-0 lead before the Cats called timeout. The Colon, Panama junior finished the contest with a game-high 28 points and 10 rebounds.

After the timeout Wayne State outscored Briar Cliff 18-2 to take a 18-8 lead with 10 minutes left in the first half.

The Chargers steadily cut into the Wildcat lead and with tip-in basket by Pinillo with one second left in the half they had cut the margin to four points at 26-22.

The halftime stats showed that Pinillo scored 16 of the Chargers 22 points. Kevin Williams was the Cats leading scorer at halftime with eight points.

It didn't take Briar Cliff long to get the lead in the second half. A Pinillo basket from in close gave the Chargers the 27-26 lead with less than two minutes gone in the second half. They increased the lead to 33-26 on a basket by Rudy Brynac with 15:35 left in the game.

The locals regained the lead thanks to some nice passing and pressure defense.

"After we got down early in the second half we picked up our intensity," Aggers said. "We played very unselfishly and had some great passes."

The Cats equalled their biggest lead when Mark Gracy hit a pair of free throws with 6:22 left to give Wayne State a 51-41 lead.

Briar Cliff hit a couple of three-point shots late in the game but they weren't enough as the Cats claimed the 10-point victory.

"We've been playing much more hungry," Aggers said. "We're not going to out talent a lot of people so we have to play with a lot of emotion."

Aggers said his team has shown that they can win on their home court. Now they have to learn to win on the road. The Cats will get that chance tonight (Thursday) when they travel to LeMars, Iowa to play Westmar.

The Wildcats won two of three from the Eagles last year. They beat them in LeMars 66-50 and at home 65-51. They lost to Westmar in the consolation game of the Hy-Vee Siouxland Tournament in overtime 68-66. This year the Eagles downed the Cats 71-55 in the Hy-Vee tournament.

Saturday the Cats will come home to host Midland College. The Warriors will rely upon sophomore center Mark Williams. As a freshman, Williams was selected to the all-district team. He averaged 16.6 points a game and 7.2 rebounds a contest.

Wayne State beat Midland in its only meeting last year 74-54.

SENIOR VINCENT WHITE drives in for a layup Monday evening against Briar Cliff. White finished with 18 points in the 64-54 Wayne State victory at Rice Auditorium.

Lady Cats edged by Flames

By Gregg Dahlheim

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats were beaten almost single-handedly Monday night when the College of Saint Mary came to town.

Flame guard Diane Foll shot holes in the Lady Cat defense enroute to a 38-point performance. The 5-4 senior was 16-26 from the field and 6-7 from the free-throw line.

"We tried to make adjustments at halftime and she came out and scored 22 in the second half," Coach Lenny Klaver said.

The loss dropped the Lady Cats to 6-2 and 2-1 in the Nebraska Athletic Conference.

Wayne State held leads of five and six points several times in the first half and led at the half 37-35 when Linda Schnitzler drove the length of the court and scored with one second left on the clock.

Schnitzler and Tonya Kelley ended the half in double figures with 12 and 11 points respectively. Kelley also finished the half with eight rebounds.

Turnovers were a thorn in the Lady Cats side in the first half. The locals coughed up the ball 17 times in the opening period compared to 12 turnovers for the Flames.

Foll continued to hurt Wayne State in the second half. The Kincaid, Illinois product scored the first four points for CSM and gave them the lead 43-41 with 16:40 left in the game.

The Flames increased their lead to 51-47 before Klaver took a time-out. After three straight Lady Wildcat turnovers, the locals started their comeback and eventually evened the score at 61-61 after CSM Coach Dee Romine was whistled for a technical foul.

The Lady Cats took the lead 65-64 when center Dawn Berni scored from under the basket with 4:49 left in the game.

The Flames reeled off eight straight points to take a seven-point lead with 1:18 left. Wayne State could get no closer than the final margin of five points thanks to some clutch free-throw shooting by the Flames.

College of Saint Mary hit 78 percent from the line hitting 18-23 shots. The Lady Cats only managed to connect on 57 percent of their shots from the charity stripe, 21-37. Coming into the game Wayne State was averaging 78 percent from the free-throw line.

"If we shot a decent percentage at the line we win the game despite Foll," Klaver said.

Another thing that hurt the Lady Cats was losing the services of Schnitzler and Kris Smith via the foul route. Both were having a good game before they ran into foul trouble. Kelley finished the game tied for team-high honors with 17 points. She also added 11 rebounds. Schnitzler, the team's leading scorer this season, finished with 16 points.

Two other Wayne Staters finished the game in double figures. Berni finished strong with 17 points and a team-high 12 rebounds. Mary Beth Ehrhorn tallied 10 points, she was 6-6 from the free-throw line.

Klaver's crew will hit the road with a pair of tough games to finish the 1986 portion of their schedule.

Tonight (Thursday) the Lady Cats will invade Allee Gymnasium to play Morningside. The game against the Lady Chiefs will mark the first time Wayne State has played an away game on the opponents home floor. Its three other roads were at a neutral site.

Klaver said Morningside is a tough Division II team. He said it has good team size and several good shooters.

Three Cat gridders earn college honors

Concordia, Midland and Doane had two picks and Dana and Hastings rounded out the team with one selection each.

The Wildcat first-team selections are junior offensive lineman Mike Anderson, senior defensive lineman Randy Hupp and senior defensive back Lamont Lewis. Anderson was one of seven juniors named to the first team. One sophomore, Brian Levin of Peru State, was on the first team.

Coach Pete Chapman's crew also had two selections on the second team and six honorable mention picks.

Winside wrestlers place four at Creighton meet

The Winside wrestlers got their first taste of competition in the young season when they traveled to Creighton for the Creighton Invitational Saturday.

The Wildcat grapplers scored 52 points to finish sixth in the nine-team tournament. Clarks won the invitational with 150½ points followed by runner-up Creighton with 132½. Norfolk junior varsity, Norfolk Catholic, Osmond, Winside, Clearwater, Plainview and Neligh rounded out the tournament field.

No champions were crowned for Winside but they did have four wrestlers receive medals. Mace Kant finished second after losing to Corey Young of Creighton, 2-0, in the finals at 126 pounds. Rod Diedrichsen finished third at 185 pounds and Max Kant and Darin Schellenberg placed fourth at 132 and 155 pounds respectively.

Coach Rich Touney said he wasn't real excited about the results but he wasn't real disappointed either. He said the wrestlers he expected to do well did.

Touney said he hoped to finish in the top three. He said he thinks the team would have if Doug Paulsen and Randy Leapey would have wrestled. Paulsen came down with the flu Saturday morning and Leapey is still recuperating from an injury.

He said the team will have to improve to do well at the North Bend Invitational this Saturday. Touney said his team will be competing with several Class B teams at the meet.

Blue Devils wrestlers learn valuable lesson at Blair

Wayne-Carroll's varsity wrestlers headed into the Blair Invitational this past weekend knowing that there would be some top-notch teams there waiting for them.

When it was over, the wrestlers had taken a beating. But more importantly, from Head Coach John Murtaugh's standpoint, there were some valuable lessons learned.

"It was a real learning experience for us," he said.

The Blue Devils finished on the bottom of total team points in the eight-team invitational, scoring 17 1/2 points.

Gretna won the event with 138 total team points.

Six points separated the fourth place team from first place. Other teams in the running for the invitational championship were the host team Blair, Logan View and Tekamah Herman.

Murtaugh said the best effort in the "tough tourney" came from two sophomores — Corey Frye and Jason Cole.

Frye and Cole each finished 2-2 in the meet.

"It was nice to see our younger people do well," Murtaugh mentioned.

"We had hoped to finish higher than we did," he added. He anticipates his wrestlers will learn from their mistakes made during the invitational.

"We did learn that we need to improve in some areas," he said.

Two varsity wrestlers were unable to compete in the invitational. Both Chris Lutz and Robbie Gamble sustained injuries and could not wrestle.

Results of Wayne wrestlers, and team finishes, are as follows:

*119 — Marc Rahm pinned his opponent in the second period, was pinned in the second period of the first match; lost by decision in the second match, 4-0.

*138 — Paul Walde was pinned in the first period of the first match; lost by technical fall in the second match.

*145 — Shane Gelger was pinned in the first period of the first match; was pinned in the first period of the second match.

*155 — Tim Sievers was pinned in the second period of the first match; was pinned in the third period of the second match.

*167 — Jason Cole lost his first match by decision, 5-3; won his second match by decision, 12-0; won his third match by decision 7-1; and lost his fourth match by decision, 9-0.

*Hwtl — Stuart Rethwisch was pinned in the second period of the first match; was pinned in the second period of the second match.

Gretna, 138; Blair, 134 1/2; Logan View, 133 1/2; Tekamah Herman, 132; Arlington, 82 1/2; North Bend, 78; South Sioux City, 47; and Wayne, 17 1/2.

This Saturday, the Wayne Carroll varsity wrestlers will travel to the West Point Invitational. The reserve Blue Devil wrestlers will compete in the Stanton Invitational the same day.

Third quarters boosts Laurel girls to victory

By Gregg Dahlheim

The first half of the Winside vs. Laurel girls' basketball game Tuesday left many Wildcat fans in the Winside gym hopeful.

Their hopes were shattered in the third quarter as the Lady Bears outscored the home team 12-2 enroute to a 46-37 win.

The game saw-sawed back and forth in the first half.

Winside jumped up 4-0 and trailed 8-6 after the first period. The teams squared-off evenly in the second quarter and the girls went to halftime with Laurel leading 18-16.

In the first half Winside played a collapsing defense on the Lady Bears' leading scorer Gail Twiford. Whenever Twiford got the ball down low two or three Lady Wildcats converged on her. The senior also spent a lot of time on the bench saddled with foul trouble.

"We had to stop Gail if we wanted to do well," Winside Coach Jill Stenwall said.

Laurel came out pressing in the third quarter which resulted in several turnovers. On its first three possessions of the half the Lady Bears went inside and got two baskets from Twiford and a hoop from Dawn Addison. Twiford picked up her third foul and was forced to sit out the rest of the third period.

Becky Christensen picked up the slack inside for Laurel. The 6-0 junior finished the game with 10 points and 10 rebounds.

Laurel Coach Pam Thies said she thought the difference in the game was apparent in the third quarter. She had Sara Adkins and Penny Dempster put pressure on Winside guard Kristi Miller. The pressure resulted in several turnovers which increased the Laurel lead. Winside got its only points in the quarter on a basket with 13 seconds left in the period.

The Lady Bears pulled away even more in the early minutes of the fourth quarter posting their biggest lead at 44-21.

Winside put on its best offensive surge toward the end of the game when the Lady Wildcats scored 11 unanswered points against the Laurel reserves. The final Winside surge cut the final margin to nine points.

Laurel showed excellent balance as four of the five starters finished in double figures. Twiford led the way with 14 points and 10 rebounds. Dempster, Christensen and Addison all finished with 10 points. Addison led the team in rebounds pulling down 11 of the Lady Bears' 45 boards.

Miller led Winside in scoring. The sophomore tallied 14 points. Reserve Carmen Reeg added 12 points and a game-high 17 rebounds.

LADY BEAR Gail Twiford goes up for two of her team-high 14 points in Laurel's 46-37 win over Winside Tuesday night.

Lady Eagles squander lead but win in O.T.

The Allen Lady Eagles squandered away an 11-point lead in the fourth quarter but hung on to nip Ponca in overtime 59-53 Tuesday night.

Allen Coach Gary Troth said his team led by 11 points with about three minutes to play when Ponca started its charge.

The Lady Indians started to foul Allen late in the game. The Lady Eagles missed the front end of three ones and one opportunity and Ponca guard Amy Armstrong got the rebound, drove the length of the court and hit three shots to cut the Allen lead to four points. In all, the 5-8 guard scored 10 points during that stretch. She finished the game with 22 points.

"We may have gotten a little tentative," Troth said. "But you have to give all the credit in the world to Ponca."

Troth also praised Armstrong for her play. He said she is an excellent jumper and one of the better guards he has seen in the area for a long time.

The skipper said it didn't bother his team that they blew the big lead. They came out in the overtime period and scored on their first possession.

The game was tight most of the way. Allen held a one-point lead at halftime, 23-22 and led by a basket since Ponca's big girl was in foul trouble. Blohm did just that. The senior scored 14 of her 22 points in the fourth and overtime periods. She also added eight rebounds.

Kristi Chase led the team in rebounds with 10. The senior also tallied 13 points. She hit three crucial free throws in the overtime period. The win boosted the Lady Eagles record to 3-0. They will meet Laurel, 2-0, tonight (Thursday) in Allen.

The Allen junior varsity also increased its record to 3-0 with a 27-19 win over Ponca. Candace Jones led the team with eight points and Liz Hansen added six points.

Allen girls soar to victory over Wynot

Allen breezed to its second win of the season bombing Wynot Saturday night 61-29.

The Lady Eagles led the outcome of the game in little doubt as they went on top 18-4 in the first quarter and 27-11 at halftime.

Allen Coach Gary Troth said he thought the top five girls worked well together and took what the offense gave them. Early in the game the Wynot girls gave the Lady Eagles several easy baskets.

Even though they scored 18 points in the first quarter, they went the first three minutes without scoring. After that the Lady Eagles got several baskets off of their full-court press.

"We pressed early and our guards got most of their points off of steals in the press," Troth said. "Later they (Wynot) dropped back in a zone and our inside people scored."

The Allen coach said he wasn't pleased with the 23 turnovers his team committed. He said they also need to work on being more consistent when they set up in their half-court offense.

Troth got a balanced scoring at-

Wakefield outboarded on way to defeat

The Wakefield Lady Trojans opened their season with a 13-point setback at home against Homer Monday night.

Things looked good for the home team after the first quarter. The Lady Trojans led the taller Lady Knights 8-7.

The complexion of the game changed during the second and third quarters. In the middle periods Homer outscored Wakefield 27-14. The visitors captured the lead at halftime 20-15 and led after three quarters 34-22. Wakefield stayed with the Lady Knights in the final period but by then it was too late.

Wakefield Coach Ellie Studer said Homer's height and dominance under the boards hurt her team. The visitor's outrebounded the Lady Trojans 47-32. They scored a lot of their points from inside, Studer said.

The first-year coach said she saw several positive things from her team during the game. Studer was pleased with the way her team passed the ball and played together.

"We knew when to take the shot and we ran our offense well," she said.

The coach said the Lady Trojans need to work on running their man-to-man offense and they need more points from their offensive players. Studer said she needs to get more scoring from Karen Hallstrom, Stacey Kuhl and Des Salmon. Hallstrom was the leading scorer with seven points. Kuhl and Salmon scored four and five points respectively.

Kodi Nelson led the squad in rebounds with 11. Homer's Shelly Beerman took game-high scoring honors with 17 points. The post player scored the majority of her points from inside the lane.

Bancroft-Rosalie beats Wakefield with height

A height disadvantage and lack of outside shooting were some of the reasons that the Wakefield Trojans were handed their second loss in as many nights Friday when Bancroft-Rosalie dumped them 44-33.

The Trojans trailed 16-13 to a much taller Panther team. Bancroft-Rosalie posted a frontline of 6-5, 6-3, 6-3. It didn't get any better off the bench. The sixth man was 6-9.

To make matters worse Wakefield led the services of its top scorer and rebounder Kevin Greve when he fouled out with about four minutes left in the game. Greve got called for his fifth personal on a move to the basket. He made the basket but it was disallowed because he was called for charging. The bucket would have cut the lead to four points.

Trojan Coach Paul Eaton said his team played better than they did in the loss to Pender.

"The kids played real hard," he said. "They (Bancroft-Rosalie) set back in a 2-3 zone which allowed us to get some good shots but they wouldn't fall."

The starting forwards for Wakefield shot about 21 percent from the field, 5-24 collectively. Eaton said his team needs to improve from the outside.

Wakefield is without the services of two starters. Eaton said the shooting will improve when they get Scott and Brad Lund back on the court. Both are recuperating from injuries. The coach said Scott may be back for the game against Wausa on Friday. Brad will be out until mid-January, Eaton said.

Kramper voting in favor, and Shaw, Martindale and Hansen voting against.

FOLLOWING THE vote on Post's motion, board member Hansen moved that the program funding of $205,000 be provided to schools during 1987-88 with "no strings attached," and that if schools wish additional nursing services they have the option to contract for them.

Current board policy for the 1986-87 school year states that schools must pay the extra level of cost exceeding $205,000 or receive no nursing service.

"Service units were established to provide services, not force them," said Hansen. "If we can't afford these services and have to start charging for them, then we had better look at why we exist."

Voting in favor of Hansen's motion were Martindale, Lawrence, Kramper and Hansen. The motion failed when board members Steffen, DeBoer, Shaw, Borg, Lahrs and Post voted against the measure.

THE ISSUE OF nursing services was dropped when ESU 1 Assistant Administrator Rodney Garwood suggested that the administration look at various figures before acting further on the motion as approved by the board Tuesday night to continue to fund the nursing services program at a level of $205,000 for 1987-88, with the excess cost of the service to be billed to the schools.

"I move that the administration be charged with bringing back information to the January board meeting as to the financial impact the action we've taken tonight will have on each district if carried out," said board member Post.

Post's motion was defeated and discussion of the nursing services program was discontinued. Voting against the motion were DeBoer, Shaw, Martindale, Borg, Lawrence and Hansen, with Lahrs, Kramper and Post in favor and Steffen abstaining.

IN CONTINUING discussion of other mill levy services, Post questioned the board as to whether they should look at the same consideration for media services based on what actions have been taken during the past two or three years in providing nursing services to schools.

"I move that the media service budget be limited to $70,000 mill money and that the excess cost based on per media usage be billed to schools," said Post.

Board member DeBoer offered an amendment to Post's motion which stated that the excess cost charged to schools be determined by either per media usage or per student cost. The amendment passed by a vote of seven to three, and the original motion by Post was approved by a vote of six to four.

ONE OF THE most sensitive issues discussed Tuesday night, in regard to mill levy services, centered around the cost of the ESU 1 administrative staff, including Administrator Harry Mills and Assistant Administrator Rodney Garwood.

"If we're discussing all mill levy services then I think we need to talk about the cost of administration," said board member DeBoer. "I move that the cost for administration be limited to one administrator." DeBoer's motion died for lack of second.

"I move that we RIF (Reduction in Force) the assistant administrator's position for 1987-88 and hire one administrator," said board member Lahrs. Seconding the motion was DeBoer.

Lahrs' motion created discussion when several board members questioned what he meant by hiring one administrator when ESU 1 already has an administrator.

DeBoer then withdrew his second and Lahrs re-stated his motion to read that there be a RIF in the assistant administrator's position effective with the 1987-88 school year. That motion was again seconded by DeBoer.

"I think we're treading thin ice here," said board member Hansen. "I would like to see the motion withdrawn and the board go into executive session because we're getting into a personnel issue."

"I'm not interested in talking about the personnel," said DeBoer. "We're talking about a mill levy service (administration) and how we can save money. We're not talking about the people."

Lahrs' motion to RIF the assistant administrator's position was defeated when a vote of board members resulted in a five-five deadlock.

Voting in favor of the action were Steffen, DeBoer, Martindale, Lahrs and Post. Nay votes were cast by Shaw, Borg, Lawrence, Hansen and Kramper.

The board then adjourned into executive session to discuss personnel issues, legal issues and contract negotiations for 1986-87.

Upon reconvening, board members voted unanimously to allow the board's negotiating team to proceed with negotiations for 1986-87 as soon as possible with the ESU 1 Education Association.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night also:

—Heard reports by board members Lahrs and Post regarding the Nebraska Association of School Boards Association (NESUBA) convention held recently in Omaha. Also attending the meeting was board member DeBoer. Lahrs reported to the board that service units across the state voted to retain John Sullivan as a legislative consultant at a cost of $15,000. That cost will be divided among service units in Nebraska.

—Heard reports by Mills and Garwood on the State School Board/Assistant Administrator Convention held in Omaha.

—Heard a brief report by Special Education Director Duane Tappé regarding evaluation of two new special education staff members.

—Voted in favor of offering a contract to Dr. Jim Kapisnis of Omaha to serve as a psychologist in South Sioux City.

—Voted unanimously to offer a contract to Lisa Weinmaster of New Mexico to serve as a BI (Behaviorally Impaired) instructor for South Sioux City.

—Unanimously approved second and final reading to place administrative job descriptions in the board policy.

—Voted unanimously on second and final reading of a change in board policy which would allow ESU board members to begin their meetings during December through March at 7:30 p.m., instead of 8:30 p.m. The time change for board meetings goes into effect next month.

BEFORE ADJOURNING Tuesday night, board president Marvin Borg thanked outgoing board member Deryl Lawrence of Wayne for his service on the ESU 1 board.

Lawrence's four-year term expired this month and he chose not to seek re-election. Filling his position on the board as of next month will be Jan. Rohann of Newcastle.

Next meeting of the ESU 1 board of directors will be Jan. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at headquarters in Wakefield.

parents on their feelings about the sponsor program. Then, letters were sent home with the 118 fifth and sixth grade students at the Middle School. He said approximately 46 of the young students wanted to participate in the program. Likewise, at least 59 members of the W Club mentioned that they would like to sponsor a student in the fifth or sixth grade.

BOTH CARNES and Blenderman agreed that the big brother/big sister type program provides an excellent opportunity for the high school students to "be responsible to somebody else."

Initial activities are expected to begin this month. Tentatively planned on Dec. 20, on the night of the Wayne-Carroll-O'Neill basketball game in Wayne, will be a get-together following the sporting event.

On Dec. 22, a trip to Lincoln (as a group) is planned to see a Nebraska Cornhusker basketball game — a date when the university had previously declared the game "High School, Middle School and Junior High Night"

Another night will be scheduled, tentatively for Jan. 27, when the participants in the sponsor program are recognized at a scheduled wrestling match.

Carnes said the W Club wants to purchase about 123 tickets to the Cornhusker basketball game. However, he asked the school board if they approve of the concept of the new program, and if the board would be willing to allow use of at least three buses to take the program participants to Lincoln.

There are concerns, Blenderman said, that the student relationships may require some change in sponsors or other adjustments later on. But he feels somebody will be out there for somebody else if necessary. When the students were asked why they chose to participate, Blenderman said every single answer was different.

"One likes to go to the games, but has nobody to cheer for. Another one may be the only child in a family and would like somebody to talk to," Blenderman mentioned. He said if the new program is successful, it is likely that more of the younger students would like a big brother/big sister. And he said perhaps arrangements can be made in the future for students under fifth grade to participate in the program.

IN OTHER action, the school board:

•Shared reports (given by board members Cap Peterson, Sid Hillier, Becky Keidel and Arnold Emry and Superintendent Francis Haun) on the National Association of School Boards Convention they attended.

•Reviewed results of a Carroll Elementary survey that was tabulated recently. Thirty five students out of 39 responses said they like eating and playing in Wayne on Wednesday and 25 of 39 mentioned they would rather not go back to Carroll to eat and play on Wednesday.

Thirty six of 39 students said they felt they had made new friends by staying in Wayne.

•Reviewed a notice from the National Association of School Boards to contact individual senators and notify them of the effect and impact of possible reductions in fundings to local school districts.

If the proposal for reductions is approved by the legislature as it stands now, Wayne-Carroll could stand to lose (in state aid receipts) approximately $4,100 in 1986-87 and $8,200 in 1987-88.

"The question is, how do we absorb it?" Haun asked the school board, adding that the school district has been cutting back every year.

•Discussed building barriers to the handicapped at the high school and Middle School level. No action was taken on this item at the present time.

•Reviewed an energy audit recently compiled. The school district can participate in the Nebraska Energy Efficiency School Program. Areas revealed in the energy audit that could be considered for the energy loan program include: Insulating of the high school roof; changing the lighting system in the auditorium; installing a night setting on the boilers; installing time switches on the lower level exhaust fans; and weather stripping all doors and windows.

Superintendent Haun will present a detailed report on the energy audit and the loan program at next month's meeting.

•Approved Claudia Koeber as the new full-time elementary school librarian.

•And reviewed short- and long-range goals scheduled for the agenda in January.

Agribusiness college majors continue to grow

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
by Cheryl Stubbendieck, vice president/information

Many of the sons and daughters of Nebraska farmers and ranchers are discouraged about their prospects for a career in agriculture. And indeed, many of their parents have actively discouraged them from pursuing farming or ranching as their life's work, because of current problems in agriculture.

But while opportunities are fewer in production agriculture, they are burgeoning in agribusiness. This stands to reason, with about 2 percent of so of U.S. workers producing food but about 20 percent of the workforce holding jobs dependent on agriculture.

"Agribusiness" is an amorphous term, but one thing is certain: as a career field, it's becoming increasingly sophisticated. And the need for people who truly are trained in both areas is as great as the opportunities for such persons.

Recognizing changes in the marketplace and society, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln initiated a new field of study four years ago, the agribusiness major.

Students who graduate from the agribusiness program will be equally comfortable in the business world and in agriculture, and very, very marketable, according to Sanford Grossbart, who directs the program for the UNL College of Business. Mike Turner is co-director in the UNL College of Agriculture, where agribusiness is the most rapidly developing major.

STUDENTS WHO pursue the agribusiness major have their work cut out for them, because it is a much tougher course of study than if they were seeking only an agriculture degree or only a business degree. Required coursework includes many classes in accounting, economics, marketing and management. In addition, students take ag econ courses and select production courses in agronomy, animal science, horticulture or natural resources from the College of Agriculture curriculum.

Few electives are included in the major, but students customize their program through the production courses they select. They also can choose which of two equally difficult 200-level courses in ag econ, for example, they wish to take. Students can complete the program in four years, but they must expect to work hard to do it, Grossbart said.

Because the major is new, and difficult, and each student's course of study is individualized, the agribusiness program places a premium on faculty advising. Advisors in both colleges get to know the student as an individual and go to bat in cutting the red tape that a college education involves.

Currently 150 majors are enrolled in the program and the first seniors are approaching graduation. Placement for these students is just beginning, but they are accepting positions paying in the low- to mid-$20,000-range, according to Grossbart. And because they are skilled and knowledgeable in fields from science to cost accounting to production economics, they will be very promotable.

THE INITIAL funding from Con-Agra and the University Foundation will expire in a year, so Grossbart and others involved in the agribusiness major will be seeking funding from the Nebraska Legislature, totaling $100,000 a year. Grossbart said he is optimistic state senators will approve because the program has a record of success and commitments from the private sector, and because its graduates can help spur economic development in the state.

For rural Nebraska youth discouraged about their prospects in agriculture, the agribusiness major is an opportunity worth looking into. Interested students can contact either the College of Agriculture or the College of Business Administration at UNL.

Report being distributed on organic farming

Now available from the Center for Rural Affairs is a new report which assesses the status of sustainable agriculture in Nebraska and reveals that throughout the state there exists a broad base of interest in low-input farming methods. Nearly 70 farmers, ranchers and former farmers were contacted by the Center last summer to obtain information for the report titled "Sustainable Agriculture in Nebraska: A Status Report."

The report defines "sustainable" as "agriculture that conserves and makes efficient use of resources, protects the environment, and provides social and economic assurance that all people can have access to resources needed to produce food."

Although there are only about 100 true organic farmers in Nebraska, as many as one-third of Nebraska farmers are "low-input," or selective and sparing in their use of chemicals. "Probably now more than ever farmers are receptive to cutting chemical use and other inputs to lower their costs," said Ron Krupicka, director of the Center's Small Farm Resources Project in Hartington, NE.

"But farmers who are making a transition from chemically-intensive agriculture to lower input methods are often frustrated by the lack of information available on how to accomplish this. Although the University of Nebraska is doing some outstanding research in the area of sustainable agriculture, the farmers we surveyed agreed that there is a crucial need for more information and university research into low-input farming methods."

The report also cites a need for more public awareness and support for low-input farming as an environmental protection strategy, and legislation and marketing programs designed to enhance the viability of such farmers in the market and political arenas.

Krupicka noted that there does not appear to be any Nebraska organization that represents low-input farmers. "By and large these farmers are a diverse and fragmented group without cohesive leadership," he said. "We hope to see an effective organization emerge, and we will be helping to bring that about in the next year." Krupicka invited any farmers interested in forming such an organization to get in contact with him at his Hartington office.

Copies of the sustainable agriculture report are available for $3 from the Small Farm Resources Project, Box 736, Hartington, NE 68739. (402) 254-6893.

A lot of my friends "start Christmas" the day after Thanksgiving. I think that is a little early, so I shoot for Laurie Gallop's birthday, which is Dec. 9. Sue used to come home from there complaining that their tree was up and where was ours?

We have to have a live tree, and we like one that has been fresh cut. We've tried all the local tree farms, so yesterday we drove to Belden and had Mr. Fuchs cut one for us. Since Ann is the biggest critic, I had her pick it out.

She decorated it today. After 26 Christmases, we have quite an assortment of decorations. There are some stained glass ornaments that Jon made, some painted wooden ones that Sue did, and some colored toothpick scenes created by Ann. There is a partridge and a pear tree, toy soldiers, gingerbread men and hobby horses.

I made 24 dozen cookies last week, pecan balls for the open house at the hospital, and angel cookies for the cookie exchange on Saturday night.

A SPECIAL guest at our exchange was Tamra Pederson. Tamra is a nurse friend with multiple sclerosis. She and her son live with her parents on a farm north of Hoskins. Her dad works rotating shifts in Norfolk; her mom teaches county school.

Much of Tamra's care falls on her sister Anita, and she does a caring job. Tamra never complains to us, even when her limbs are in spasm or there is discomfort from an infection. We always bake extra cookies for her because there isn't much else we can offer her to show our friendship. Last night, she shared our fun, dressed in a holiday red velvet jogging suit.

This morning, there was a chimney fire at her parents' home. The one thing they can use are linens. The stove was back to back to the closet in the bathroom. There are single and double beds.

Somehow, when I hate to get up in the morning, I think of Tamra and just rejoice that my legs and arms move, even when my brain doesn't seem to.

At South Sioux City

Cattle conference set

The 2nd Annual Tri-State Cattle Conference, "Adapting to the Changing Cattle Industry" will be held on Dec. 16 and 17 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City, Nebraska. The program will be sponsored by the University Extension Services of Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa, according to Dr. Terry Mader, Beef Specialist, Northeast Research and Extension Center, Concord.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Dec. 16, Dr. Neil Hari, Iowa State University will discuss topics concerning economic conditions and implications for the cattle industry followed by Burton Eller, National Cattlemen's Association, discussing understanding and utilizing political resources.

At 1:30 p.m., Dr. Ivan Rush, University of Nebraska, will discuss the various aspects of gathering and utilizing information for management decision making. Martin Jorgenson, South Dakota beef cow owner, will discuss application to the cow herd and Harold Peyton, Iowa Cattle Feeder will focus on application to the feedlot. The final presentation will feature Dr. Jim McGrann, Texas A & M University on how to utilize information and production resources to be more competitive. Highlighting the first day will be the after dinner presentation by Dr. Baxter Black, "Cowboy Poet and Starvin Cattle Feeder."

On the second day, the lead off topics will be "Impact of Biotechnology on Cattle Production" by Dr. David Reed, Minnetonka, Minnesota and "Genetic Engineering—New Animals and Products" by Dr. Gordon Niswender, Colorado State University will follow.

The final topic of discussion at the conference will be "The Impact of Brand Name Beef on Various Segments of the Industry". Dr. Jack Allen and Dr. Tom Pierson, Michigan State University, will lead off with "Beef Marketing—Challenges and Opportunities". After lunch, Mary Ferguson, American Angus Association, will comment on their eight years of experience in marketing brand name beef. Then, future marketing practices to move beef and other red meats will be discussed by James Darazadi, Harrisburg, Virginia. The concluding presentation will be "A Processor's Experience in Developing and Marketing Brand Name Beef" by Herb Meischlein, Wichita, Kansas.

Approximately 25 commercial exhibitors will also be a part of the two-day conference.

The registration fee is $30 for Dec. 16 (includes steak dinner) and $20 (includes noon lunch) for Dec. 17. Pre-registration by Dec. 10 will reduce the two-day fee to $40 and help in conference planning (accompanying spouse is one-half price).

UP WITH AGRICULTURE
By David Garst

Imagine Thanksgiving without turkey and pumpkin pie, Christmas without egg nog, or New Year's without resolutions.

This is the holiday season, a time when we gather to express gratitude for our blessings and celebrate our good fortunes. Although these holidays may vary according to our cultures and religions, most are traditionally celebrated with an abundance of good food.

Often it seems the significance of these holidays takes a back seat to the parades, parties and sporting events...but we shouldn't forget their special purpose and importance.

Thanksgiving, for example, began when the Pilgrims, who landed on Plymouth Rock, gathered their first harvest. This was mighty important, considering that half of the original 102 pilgrims starved the previous year. Today, Thanksgiving is celebrated with parades, football games, lots of food...and less religious dedication.

Christmas traditionally is a joyous holiday to celebrate the birth of Christ. It's a time of exchanging gifts and sharing the good things in life with one another. As a boy growing up in the Depression, I learned that the thought behind the gift was far more important than its monetary value. Today, like most parents, I'm guilty of over indulgence.

The American farmer plays a big role in our holiday celebrations. Thanks to him, we're able to enjoy a variety of foods that are produced in abundance. And thanks to his efficient production, we enjoy these foods at low prices. That means families have more money for everything else: homes, cars and other material goods, or travel and entertainment.

In the last generation, American farmers have quadrupled production. Shouldn't we use this holiday season to thank them for their contribution to our well-being, and search for ways to help them overcome their current economic difficulties? Let's resolve this New Year's to make American agriculture a blessing for the world.

SEEKING PHOTOS

Two Wakefield sports enthusiasts have undertaken the task of compiling a history of Wakefield athletic teams. It is planned to include photos and facts on football, volleyball, basketball, baseball, wrestling and track teams and individuals.

Paul Eaton and Lefty Olson, directors of the project, are currently seeking pictures. Individuals may have photos of teams and individuals, especially those of all-state status, state champions and teams that may have finished in state top 10 ratings.

Anyone who has photos to contribute to the project are asked to leave them or mail them to the Wakefield High School Office, attention, Paul Eaton. Eaton states that pictures can be returned to the owners if desired.

The Wakefield High School W-Club plans to display the pictures of the outstanding teams in the school's history. Fans should note the club's project of recording and displaying the school's track record is near completion. The record boards are on the walls next to the trophy cases at the school auditorium entrances.

When all the information can be compiled, plans are to put it along with the photos in a book.

The Principals Offer

ONCE A BULLY?

The neighborhood bully—that belligerent tough kid that the other children fear—is likely to grow up to be a belligerent tough adult, according to a study reported in Psychology Today. (July, 1985) The study of 800 children over 22 years "found that both antisocial and positive prosocial behavior persist over time. Aggressive 8-year-old boys and girls were still aggressive at 19, and by age 30 were more likely to be social and educational failures, to have been in trouble with the law and to have emotional problems."

The psychologists who conducted the study found that children as young as six have already developed the patterns by which they deal with other people.

The study suggests that parents can encourage better social behavior by providing a good model and by encouraging children to identify with them, according to Psychology Today.

Not quantity of life
Wellness involves quality

by Doug Porter
This week's article will be the next to the last installment of the series which has been running for several weeks now on the philosophy of wellness. This week we will briefly discuss the risk of death.
Although death is not a pretty subject it is something that we all must face sooner or later. The hope is to make it as much later as possible.
However, wellness means not only the quantity of life, but it involves the quality of life as well. Therefore, if you are constantly evaluating the 11 areas of wellness which have been discussed previously in earlier articles, you should benefit from it.
Again, those 11 areas are: Physical/Exercise, Physical/Nutrition, Physical/Self-Care, Physical/Vehicle Safety, Physical/Drug Abuse, Social/Environment, Emotional/Management, Intellectual, Occupational and Spiritual.

It is important to be aware that those 11 areas can't constantly do what I refer to as a hazard summary. If you feel good about all 11 areas, which is quite rare, I might add, then you are on the road to well-being. However, if some of those 11 areas are inadequate and deficient, then it is important to take proper steps toward the health of those areas to increase longevity of life. This can be accomplished through several means.

wayne stress prevention center

At the Wayne Stress Prevention Center, we are prepared to help assess your wellness in any of the 11 major areas. If we cannot devise you a program to get you back on the road to wellness through stress reduction, then we will refer you to a qualified professional who can help.

We can help identify your major hazards to your mental, emotional and physical health if you stop in and see us. Wouldn't you like to relieve yourself of some of the "excess baggage" that you are carrying around with you in the form of stress?
Please stop in and see us on Thursday nights at 7 p.m. at Wayne Carroll High School in Room 202. We would welcome the opportunity to help you relieve your stress. If you would like us to give a presentation to your group, we can do that as well.
Call us for information or a brochure on our services at 375-5289 or 375-2420. We are here to serve northeast Nebraska due to a generous grant from the Providence Medical Center Foundation.
Come and try us. What do you have to lose other than your stress?

A sinfonia concert

The Northeast Nebraska Sinfonia will present a free concert at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15 in Ramsey Theatre on the campus of Wayne State College of Nebraska. The program will consist of the "Christmas" Concert by Arcangelo Corelli, selections from the Symphony No. 8 of Beethoven, and the Overture to Rienzi by Richard Wagner, according to Dr. Christopher Bonds, director of orchestral activities and assistant professor of music at Wayne State.

The only regularly performing orchestra in northeast Nebraska, the sinfonia combines the talents of students, faculty and area residents. The sinfonia is in its 67th season and consists of 44 members.

All musicians who play an orchestral instrument are invited to inquire about becoming a member of the sinfonia, says Bonds.
