Winside teachers get raise

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Winside's Board of Education and the members of the Winside Education Association came upon a final agreement on salaries and benefits for the 1986-87 school year.

On Monday, Dec. 8, the board of education voted to raise the base pay of its teachers for the current 1986-87 school year to $13,175 — an approximate 2.9 percent from the previous year. All other salary items will remain the same. The salary increase will become retroactive back to Sept. 1, 1986, according to Superintendent Don Leighton.

The total package increase to the teachers amounts to about 4.6 percent, according to Leighton.

Board of education voting on the salary increase was 5-0. Approving the motion were Melvin Melerhenry, Ray Roberts, Lynn Lessmann, Dean Mann and Gene Jorgensen. Absent was Bill Burris.

Negotiations on the 1986-87 teacher's contracts started last April. The settlement was reached before the fact-finding and impasse stage.

Leighton said negotiations will begin in either February or March for the upcoming teacher's contracts for the 1987-88 school year.

The Winside school system currently has 24 teachers, with a fulltime equivalency ratio of 22.35.

Also during the December meeting, the board of education voted to extend Superintendent Leighton's contract for three more years, beginning July of 1987 and ending June of 1990.

Winside Principal Ron Leapey's contract was renewed for the 1987-88 school year.

Details on the contracts will be released at the conclusion of the 1987-88 teachers negotiations.

The board of education also voted to allow the Women's Volleyball Team the use of the high school gymnasium at an established fee of $7 each time.

Match Santa winners named

Just how well do you know the retailers in Wayne? Or how they would look in a Santa Claus suit?

Apparently, the several hundred who participated in the Wayne "Match The Santa" contest — where contestants had to match the business with the person dressed in the Santa Claus suit who represented the business — to be a tremendous challenge.

Thirty-one business owners or employees of 116 businesses had participated in the contest. The deadline for matching the business with the Santa was Monday, Dec. 15.

Only four people out of hundreds of entries had been able to correctly match the business representative with the correct Santa Claus. Some entries had up to 18 wrong.

Rules stated previously when the contest was announced said that in case of a tie, the winners will be drawn. The four perfect scores were placed in a container and the first three places were drawn from there.

Gene Casey of Wayne was the first place winner. He will receive a $150 first prize redeemable at the participating merchants.

Second place went to Joan Thomsen of rural Wakefield. She receives the $75 second prize. Third prize went to Lu Hillon of Wayne, and she wins $50 that is redeemable at participating businesses.

Also recording a perfect score was Alan Thomsen of rural Wakefield.

Four entries were submitted with only two wrong.

Participating merchants in the "Match the Santa" contest included Ellingsons; Merchant Oil; State National Bank; Wayne Herald; Coast to Coast; Taco del Sol; Kufin's; Swans'; Diamond Center; Rusty Nail; Mines Jewelers; Wayne Shoe Company;

Surber's; Johnson's Frozen Foods; Chamber of Commerce; Orless Rex; all; Wayne IGA; Rain Tree; Dairy Queen; Sav-Mor Pharmacy; Country Nursery; Wayne Sporting Goods; Office Connection; Doescher's; Black Knight; Pamida; Bill's; G.W. Hardee's; El Toro; Logan Valley; and Casey's.

The contest photos, with correlating business and individual representatives, appears on page 5a.

Most Wayne stores will be open evenings this Thursday and Friday and will be open on Sunday (Dec. 21) for last minute Christmas shopping. Stores will also be open evenings Dec. 22 and 23.

On Christmas Eve, the stores are expected to close at around 4 p.m.

Two Chamber of Commerce Holiday Magic drawings remain. The second to last drawing will take place on Thursday, Dec. 18. The last drawing will take place on Monday, Dec. 22.

Benefit planned for Allen couple

First Lutheran Church and Pleasant Hour Club of Allen are sponsoring a benefit for Allen residents Bruce and Shelly Malcom who lost all of their possessions in a fire at their farm home earlier this month.

There will be a bake sale on Saturday, Dec. 20, beginning at 8 a.m. at the Allen fire hall. Doughnuts, rolls and coffee also will be served.

Residents of the community wishing to contribute to the bake sale may do so by bringing their baked items to the fire hall. For additional information, contact Virginia Wheeler, LCW president, or Tressa Sachau, Pleasant Hour Club president.

Planning to marry?

A new statute (42-109) that goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1987 will change the method in which marriage licenses are obtained from the Wayne County Courthouse.

Presently, paperwork for the marriage licenses are completed at the office of the clerk magistrate at the county courthouse. The county court judge or the clerk magistrate can also perform a marriage ceremony.

After Jan. 1, the judge or clerk magistrate still can conduct the marriage ceremony. However, the paperwork required to obtain a marriage license now must be completed at the county clerk's office.

Wayne County Clerk Orgetta Morris said the new statute will require more paperwork for her office. But the biggest problem, she said, is finding enough room to place in storage all the past and future records of marriage licenses which her office will now inherit from the clerk magistrate's office because of the new statute.

Roberts family makes WSC history

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

When Keith and Kent Roberts of rural Wakefield graduate this Saturday (Dec. 20) from Wayne State College, they will be a part of the college's record books.

Twins Keith and Kent, sons of Leonard and Ruby Roberts, are both majoring in Business at Wayne State. Their sister, Carolyn, majored in the same thing when she graduated from Wayne State in 1977.

But the list of Roberts family members who have graduated from Wayne State doesn't end here. After all, Leonard and Ruby have eight children. And all of them have graduated from Wayne State.

First there was Constance, who graduated in 1973 with a major in Spanish and a minor in Library. Her sister, Patricia (Ashbacher) also graduated in 1973 with a major in Biology. She currently is an instructor at Millard Junior High in Omaha. Constance is presently a teacher at the Allen Public Schools.

Carolyn (Brown) graduated from Wayne State in 1977, majoring in Business. She is currently employed at a state office in Norfolk.

Twins Denise (VonGlan) and Donna (Wayt) graduated from Wayne State in 1977 and 1978. Denise majored in English and had a minor in Biology. She works at the Gibson store in Norfolk and is a substitute

KEITH (left) and Kent (right) Roberts will be the seventh and eighth from their family to graduate from Wayne State College. Ceremonies are Saturday, Dec. 20 at 2 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

Orr inaugural celebration set

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
The invitations are in the mail for the "best party" Nebraska's ever seen.

That's the description of Kay Orr's inaugural ball by a man in charge of the event, Omaha's Dallen Peterson, co-chairman of the inaugural committee.

The buff invitations with black script lettering and the gold Nebraska state seal at the top were mailed late last week to more than 20,000 Nebraskans—prominent Republicans, friends and election and volunteers in Mrs. Orr's solicitation campaign.

But Nebraskans who fail to get a special invitation are welcome. The ball, to be held Friday, January 9, at the Bob Devaney Center on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln city campus, is open to the public. The cost is $12.50 a person and tickets will be sold at the door and are available from the Orr for Governor headquarters in Lincoln.

The festivities will begin with a $25 per-person evening buffet for 2,000, followed by the grand march in the Devaney arena and the adjacent fieldhouse.

Brass with Class, a 17 piece ensemble from Beatrice that plays big band-style music, will play in the arena area. Rumbles, a contemporary rock band from Omaha, will be featured in the fieldhouse.

AND ORGANIZERS expect a crowd of 5,000 to 10,000. About 5,000 turned out for Gov. Bob Kerrey's inaugural ball in Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium four years ago.

Mrs. Orr decided to move the event to the larger Devaney Sports Center, with its ample parking, in order to accommodate more people.

The dress is "black tie optional." That means men can wear a tuxedo or a dark suit and women can wear any after-5 dress from street to floor length.

"We don't want anyone to miss the event because they can't afford a tuxedo," Peterson said.

The inaugural ball is part party and part pomp and circumstance. It begins with a formal grand march of more than 100 dignitaries—men in tuxedos, women in long gowns parading down a long, red carpet.

The grand march, organized by the state Military Department based on historic protocol, begins with the inaugural ball committee and ends with the Governor herself.

She will wear a long blue gown, very likely designed by an Omaha designer. And her husband, Bill—though he has threatened to wear kilts in honor of his Scottish ancestry—will be properly tuxedoed.

THE INAUGURAL ball, a Nebraska tradition for more than a century, began in the mud and ice-plastered City Hall in Omaha to celebrate the selection of the state's second territorial governor, Mark W. Izard.

The dignitaries danced on the unplanned but thoroughly scrubbed floors. Water from the cleaning froze, making the floor icy. And it was reported that several of the dancers fell flat. The hors d'oeuvres for that 1855 event were simple—thick-bacon sandwiches and coffee with brown sugar.

The 1987 event will be far more elegant, organized by dozens with thousands of volunteer labor.

Just the addressing and stuffing of invitations required the volunteer labor of 40 to 50 people, said Helen Hayes, co-chairman of the committee. It took each volunteer about three to four hours to address one box of 250 invitations, she said.

And the invitations are just the beginning of the work she said.

False advertising

The federal government's largest effort to stop false advertising—maintained by the U.S. Postal Service—reached a record level during the latter half of the last fiscal year when 409 complaints were filed against companies and individuals who used the mails to misrepresent products and services.

Occasionally our office at the Wayne Herald will receive classified advertisements, accompanied with a check, advertising from out of state firms for help wanted in envelope stuffing at home or oil rigging in another southern state. Sometimes we receive letters from inmates at prisons far away who request pen pals because they are lonely and need someone to write to.

Our Nebraska Press Association is asked many times to verify a business—just to see if it is legitimate and so that our subscribers not get taken to the cleaners.

In his semi-annual report to the Postal Service Board of Governors and to Congress, Chief Postal Inspector Charles R. Clauson said 304 of the complaints alleging violations of the misrepresentation statute were concluded between April 1 and Sept. 30, 1986, with negotiated settlements under which the seller or advertiser agreed to halt or alter previous advertising claims.

In 120 of the cases, the Postal Service withheld delivery of the mail, either by obtaining temporary restraining orders and preliminary injunctions issued by federal courts, or under a False Representation Order issued by the Postal Service Judicial Officer.

During the last fiscal year, false representation complaints totaled 626, mail was withheld in 195 of the cases and in 513 of the total a negotiated settlement without hearings resulted in deletion or modification of advertising claims.

Cases are concluded by order of the Postal Service Judicial Officer after a hearing before an Administrative Law Judge, or as a result of a negotiated settlement.

So often we hear about products, through mailings, news media and other means, that are the "cure for all" or "will make you a million in no time flat."

These misrepresentations are logically targeted to unsuspecting people who might try their product or use their services as a last resort. Most of the time, the scheme ends up costing the consumer.

The cliché—If it looks too good to be true, then it probably is—would certainly apply here. It doesn't hurt to check with the Better Business Bureau or other agencies before making the investment in questionable products or services.

PMA sales a poor policy

The Power Marketing Administrations have begun delivering low cost power to millions of Americans for more than 50 years. Occasionally there have been proposals to sell the Department of Energy's Power Marketing Administrations. For a number of reasons I believe that would be unwise, and I have written to James C. Miller, Director of the Office of Management and Budget to point out that it would be bad policy to count on revenues from the sale of PMA's when the budget proposals are prepared.

It has been estimated that the sale or transfer of the PMA's would cost electric consumers at least $2.2 billion and possibly as much as $12.6 billion annually. Electrical rates would increase anywhere from 68 percent to 390 percent. And most of these increases would fall on the rural and urban parts of the nation that can least afford this kind of government-induced blow.

doug bereuter

In addition, the Power Marketing Administrations have been bringing in revenues to the Federal government in the form of interest and repayment of the construction costs of facilities. Over the long run, under the current system, the Federal Treasury will receive a greater return on its investment than it would through the one-time sale of all the PMA's.

In the past Congress has actually prohibited the Administration even from undertaking a study of the possible divestiture of the Power Marketing Administrations. The provision was passed with overwhelming support in both the House and Senate and was signed into law by the President.

I HAVE URGED OMB Director Miller to resist including any such proposal as he assembles the Fiscal Year 1988 budget. Our present policy is fair to both ratepayers and taxpayers. It insures flexibility for ratepayers and guarantees that the taxpayers' investment is fully repaid.

Given these facts, there is no reason to include revenue from the sale of PMA's in the FY-1988 budget. It would be misleading, when creating a Federal budget, to include the proceeds of a sale when that sale will not occur. Outyear projections would be wrong.

Both Congress and the OMB would have to scramble to make other adjustments—either further spending cuts or additional revenues—when the proceeds did not materialize. Budgetary honesty and sound public policy require that the FY 1988 budget not include a proposal to sell the Power Marketing Administrations.

Disability Criteria for Alzheimer's Disease

There has been concern that the Social Security Administration needs better guidelines for determining disability in cases of Alzheimer's disease and other similar disorders. Legislation passed at the end of the 97th Congress directs the Social Security Administration, in cooperation with the National Institutes of Health, to review and update the criteria used to determine disability on the basis of Alzheimer's disease and related disorders.

A report on the status of these changes must be presented to Congress prior to next year's appropriations hearings.

Blue Cross gets criticized by Representative Bereuter

Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa is guilty of poor management in its handling of Nebraska Medicare claims, and it is time for the Health Care Financing Administration to take action to protect its beneficiaries, according to Representative Doug Bereuter.

In a letter sent to the Administrator of the Health Care Financing Administration on Tuesday, Bereuter outlines the problems that Nebraska Medicare participants have been facing with Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa and suggests that HCFA step in and contract for a new Medicare carrier or take over the process itself until Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa proves that it can manage the program.

IN HIS LETTER Bereuter says, "While I recognize that any change in Medicare carrier will require certain initial adjustments, I am dismayed at the continuing problems my constituents face on receiving expeditious and accurate claim processing services and in getting answers to their questions. I have received complaints that Medicare is receiving constituents' credit ratings because they are unable to pay their outstanding medical bills. Others remark that they are having to cash in their certificates of deposit or withdraw money from their savings accounts while Medicare delays payments to them and their doctors. Even more serious are comments that the stress of dealing with Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa is more than they can handle. One constituent told me that his doctor advised him to avoid all stress, but that the problems with the carrier were slowing down his recovery and in fact prolonging his illness.

"Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa took 14 days to acknowledge my Congressional case worker that it had received an inquiry from my office. A constituent filed a Medicare claim and a claim with Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Nebraska (her secondary insurance) on the same day. Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Nebraska paid their portion of her claim within two weeks. Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa did not acknowledge receipt of the claim for one month.

"One constituent received four identical letters from Medicare in separate envelopes, all signed by the same person, with each envelope showing postage paid of eighteen cents. Another received two envelopes from Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa on the same day—one containing page one, the other containing page two. One Medicare participant mailed an envelope containing bills from three different doctors. When he called to discuss the claims, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa would admit to having only one of the claims.

"My office has worked on this problem since January of 1986," Bereuter said. "The situation has not improved, and I am increasingly troubled by the way that this carrier performs its contractual obligation with the Federal government."

BEREUTER ALSO responded to a recent statement by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Iowa that budget cuts due to the enactment of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Deficit Reduction Act are at fault in the carrier's inability to issue timely reimbursements.

"Pardon my candor," the First District Congressman said, "but invoking the three magic names of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings at this point in time is nothing more than a cop-out. The real financial impact of that landmark legislation was 4.3% cut last fiscal year."

Bereuter told the HCFA Administrator to "do whatever is necessary to straighten out this mess now!"

Generosity noted

So many concerned people have been so generous this year in donating money and food to the Wayne Food Pantry that I cannot name them all for fear I will leave someone out.

Organizations have donated food instead of exchanging gifts: young people collected food at Halloween; churches have had in-gatherings of food during the fall; a prominent merchant collected food during the fall promotion. These, among others, have filled our shelves and we thank you all.

One group I would like to mention specifically, is the Wayne County Lutheran Brotherhood, branch #212, who had new shelving built for the pantry. This more than doubles our storage capacity. We are very grateful.

You can be assured that your donations of food and money are needed and appreciated. You extend a service to your community you can be proud of. Thanks again.

Dorothy Stevenson, sec./treas. on behalf of the Food Pantry Committee

More gratitude

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking all of the churches, service and other organizations and all area clubs who were so generous in taking a name (some took two or three names) of someone special at the Wayne Care Centre.

They did this in order to make someone happy, and let them know that they are remembered, especially at this time of year.

So God Bless all area clubs, churches, service and other organizations and their members.

This project is sponsored yearly by the Wayne Women's Club and coordinated with the help of Peg Wheeler and June Baier of the Wayne Care Centre and myself.

A Merry Christmas to one and all. Thank you again.

Q. How difficult is it to obtain an annulment in Nebraska? My husband has some psychological problems that I was not aware of when we married, and for which he has refused to obtain treatment. I have been told that an annulment is almost impossible to obtain on these grounds. What are the guidelines?

A. In Nebraska, a marriage can be annulled for any of five reasons: where the marriage is prohibited by law (for example, one party is under age); where either party is impotent at the time of marriage; where either party had a spouse living at the time of marriage; where either party was mentally ill or a mental retardate at the time of marriage; or because of the use of force or fraud.

An annulment proceeding in Nebraska is almost identical to a divorce proceeding; a petition must be filed in the district court, a hearing must be held a valid decree entered. Unlike a divorce, there is no 6-month period before the decree of annulment becomes final. Also, the person petitioning for an annulment must be a resident of the county in which the petition is filed, but he or she does not have to meet the one-year residency requirement of a divorce action.

The law does not stipulate the degree of mental illness necessary to allow the court to annul a marriage. The court would have to hear the evidence of your particular case and determine whether the legal requirements for an annulment have been met. If you are contemplating such an action, talk to your lawyer to help determine whether grounds for an annulment exist in your case, and if so, how to proceed.

Hawkeye battle royal

They should have sold tickets. It was for the outright championship of Iowa City. According to an article in the Omaha World-Herald Tuesday, Iowa City police were called to stop a fight at a shopping mall over the weekend. When they got there they had to fight through 300 spectators before they could put an end to the 10-round battle between the Hawkeye basketball team and the Iowa wrestling squad.

The top-ranked wrestling team was the favorite of all the bookies in Vegas. The third-ranked Hawkeye basketball team was 2-1 underdog. All through the judges score cards couldn't be found it appeared that the roundballers pulled off the upset.

After the fight was dispersed two wrestlers went to police and reported that they had been assaulted by unnamed basketball players. The disagreement moved onto campus but when police arrived they could find nothing.

Final score: Hawkeye basketball 2, Iowa wrestling 0. That's what you like to see, comradery among college athletes. Especially around the holidays.

Congratulations should go to Wakefield's Brad Lund. Lund was one of 55 rushers to gain a 1,000 yards this past season.

The senior was 32nd on the list with 1,138 yards.

Tim Johnk of Schuyler was the state's top rusher with 2,175 yards. Wayne fans will remember Johnk for years to come. There were two other rushers that gained more than 2,000 yards during the 1986 season. Paul Van Housen of Pkik traveled for 2,142 yards and Troy Uhlig of Battle Creek totaled 2,012 yards.

Fifteen of the athletes on the list are underclassmen. Four of the players listed are from the Lewis and Clark Division. They are Lund, Scott Gray and Brent Anderson of Coleridge; and Brent Gatzmeier of Bancroft-Rosalie.

Wayne hosts Norfolk squad

The Wayne freshmen and sophomore wrestlers entertained the Norfolk freshmen and sophomores Tuesday night in a dual meet.

No team scores were kept but the Wayne wrestlers won seven matches while the Norfolk grapplers won eight matches. There was one draw.

The Norfolk squad had more members than the Wayne team so several Blue Devils wrestled more than one match. Greg DeNayer won three matches for Wayne while Chad Frey won two matches and lost one. Tim Sievers and Tom Etter were also winners of one match.

Taller Knights slay Eagles

It was a long night for Coach Dave Uldrich and his Allen Eagles as they were throttled by Homer 85-38.

The Knights outmanned the shorter and more inexperienced Allen team. Homer put up 84 shots and made 40 of them. They also outrebounced the Eagles 62-20.

Uldrich said he thinks Homer is one of the best teams in the area. The Knights scored most of their points from inside and on their fast break, the coach said.

Max Oswald was the team's leading scorer but the senior was held to a season-low 14 points. Oswald also had eight rebounds. Jyoti Kwankin added eight points for the Eagles.

"Last night's game was a deflating," Uldrich said. "If we had any air in our bubble it sure got let out."

Quicker team hands Wayne first loss

The opponent's quickness and a poor shooting night were a couple of the factors that led to Wayne's first loss of the year Monday night.

The Lady Blue Devils traveled to West Point and were beaten by the Lady Cadets 57-50. The loss dropped Wayne to 2-1.

Lady Blue Devils Coach Marlene Uhing said she thought the first half was the difference in the game.

"We got beat down the floor and got beat on the boards pretty bad in the first half," Uhing said.

She said West Point's quickness showed when they took the ball to the basket. The Wayne girls were a step slow.

The girls trailed by nine points at halftime, 31-22. The second half was a different story. Wayne outscored the Lady Cadets 28-26.

Uhing said her team trailed by five points with three minutes to play. Wayne had a chance to cut the lead to three points after Dana Nelson stole the ball and drove to the basket for a layup. Instead, Nelson was called for a charging foul and the Lady Cadets took possession.

Seconds later the Lady Blue Devils got another steal but missed the layup and the follow shot and West Point got the rebound and made a basket on its end of the floor to build the lead to seven points.

Uhing said she thought her team would have a height advantage. She said the game plan was to get the ball to Kecia Corbit and Shelly Pick inside. The pair responded with 11 and 17 points respectively. Pick was also credited with 13 rebounds.

Another key statistic was turnovers. The Lady Blue Devils committed 16 turnovers compared to nine for the hosts. Wayne struggled from the field and the free-throw line. The Lady Blue Devils shot 52 percent from the field. They weren't much better from the free-throw line. The girls hit 40 percent of their charity tosses connecting on 6-15.

Robin Lutt also scored in double figures for Wayne. The sophomore hit for 12 points. Gail Wordkemper led West Point with 23 points.

The junior varsity also suffered its first loss of the season as West Point edged the locals 39-32. Amy Bliven led the team in scoring with eight points. Marnie Bruggeman was the top rebounder with four carroms.

Balanced attack

The Wayne State Wildcats remained perfect at home as they bounced Midland College Saturday night 78-56 before a crowd of about 1,300.

Wayne State, 5-6, is 5-0 at Rice Auditorium and 9-6 when they hit the road.

The Cats were powered by a balanced offensive attack that placed four starters in double figures. Scott Hurley led the Cats with 23 points. The Montana junior was 9-17 from the field which included 5-11 from three-point range. Point guard Vincent White chipped in 13 points while Russ Rosenquist and Mike McNamara added 11 and 10 points respectively.

Coach Steve Aggers said he was pleased overall with his team's play. He said they were unselfish and passed the ball well as they racked up 20 assists compared to 10 for Midland.

Hurley set the mood early when he came out and hit a three pointer for the first points of the game.

The contest stayed close through much of the first half until the Wildcats opened up some breathing room right before halftime. The locals led by three points with 1:30 to play in the first half. Then the Cats rolled off the last five points to post a 31-23 halftime lead.

The second half was all Wayne State as they outscored the Warriors 47-33. The Cats increased the lead early in the half and held their biggest lead of 27 points with about three minutes to play.

Aggers said his team was the aggressor Saturday night. He said aggressive play was something his team lacked in the loss to Westmar "the" previous game. He said the Wildcats also cut down on their tur-

DANA NELSON went into the land of the tall fimers and found trouble against West Point Monday night. Wayne suffered its first loss of the season as the Lady Cadets got by the locals 57-50.

Cats remain untarnished at home after Midland win

The locals committed 17 miscues against Midland.

"With our style of play if we can keep it to 15 turnovers or less we'll win some games," the coach said.

Another positive aspect of the game was the improved free throw shooting. Aggers crew hit 70 percent of their charity tosses connecting on 19-27.

Wayne State also outrebounced the visitors 44-40. McNamara pulled down a game-high 10 rebounds. Kevin Williams added eight boards.

The home fans also got a chance to watch freshman Troy Flowers in action. The Boys Town graduate has been seeing more action in the Cats' last two games. Aggers said they are trying to bring Flowers along slowly. Aggers said Flowers is a strong rebounder and he wants to get him some playing time. The freshman scored eight points, most of them late in the game.

The Wildcats close out their first-semester schedule with a road contest against Bellevue College on Friday.

Aggers said the Bruins have several new players that boast a lot of talent. The matchup is an important Nebraska Athletic Conference game. The Wildcats are 1-0 in the NAAC.

"When you talk about Dist. 11 seatings, the Bellevue game is really important," Aggers said.

Lady Wildcats beaten on road to run losing streak to three games

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats got behind early and never recovered as they lost a 101-90 decision to Northwestern College of Iowa Saturday afternoon at Orange City, Iowa.

The loss dropped the Lady Cats to 6-4. Coach Lenny Klaver's team has lost its last three contests.

Klaver said the game was probably decided in the first 10 minutes of the game. The coach said Northwestern came out and hit everything they threw up and the Lady Cats couldn't buy a basket in the game's opening minutes. Midway through the opening half Northwestern posted a 35-15 lead.

The Lady Wildcats then installed a full-court press and cut the lead at halftime to 49-38 but they weren't able to get over the hump.

The Wayne State offense continued to run on all cylinders as three Lady Cats scored more than 20 points. Guard Linda Schmitzler led the way with 26 points. The sophomore leads the team in scoring averaging 20.3 points a game. Dawnn Berni totaled 23 points and Mary Beth Ehrhorn scored 22 markers. Klaver said Ehrhorn, who also had 10 rebounds, played her best game as a Lady Wildcat.

Klaver said it is evident that the Lady Cats need to work on their defense. In its last three losses Wayne State has allowed 287 points, 95.6 points a game.

"I think we have lost the intensity on defense that we had earlier in the year," Klaver said.

The locals were also outrebounced 41-39. Klaver said it was the first time that he could remember this year that his team was outrebounced. The Lady Cats were also hurt by the scoring of Melinda Meltema. Meltema burnt the nets for 33 points.

The girls are off until Jan. 10 when they host Midland College. The coach said the layoff is an advantage for his team.

"We lost to two pretty good teams before the break," Klaver said. "I think we need a break."

Allen girls rebound from loss to edge Homer

The Allen Lady Eagles posted a big lead but had to hold on in the end to down Homer 54-48 Tuesday night.

Allen went out on top 20-7 after the first quarter and led 31-24 at halftime. Allen Coach Gary Troth said he thought his team played the best quarter of the year in the game's opening period.

"I wondered how they would respond after the Laurel loss," he said. "They came out and played real well."

The Lady Eagles were without the services of Kris Blohm. Blohm came down with the flu and was replaced by sophomore Amy Noe.

Two Allen starters, Barb Hansen and Tiffany Harder, fouled out. For most of the second half Troth was forced to play JV's. He said Noe, Liz Hansen and Toni Boyle all played solid games off the bench.

The Lady Eagles held off a fourth-quarter charge which gave Homer a chance to tie the game. Lana Erwin led all scorers with 18 points. Kristi Chase added 15 points and nine rebounds. Jill Waldner and Shelly Beermann each had 14 for Homer.

Wayne State JV's down Midland

The Wayne State Wildcats junior varsity squad upped its record to 3-4 after they edged the Midland junior varsity team 76-68 Saturday evening.

The junior Cats placed four men in double figures. They were led by Tim Wobken and Troy Flowers who contributed 20 and 19 points respectively. Rod Hunke and Bob Geist each tallied 14 points. Hunke and Flowers led in the rebounding category with 11 boards apiece.

The locals posted a 38-33 halftime lead and held on in the second half for the win. The JV's hit 40 percent of their shots from the field while Midland hit only 37 percent of its shots.

Wayne beaten by Schuyler in best game of the year

The Wayne Blue Devils played their best game of the year Tuesday night against Schuyler but still came up on the short end of a 40-37 score.

Coach Bob Uhing said both teams controlled the tempo of the game which kept the scoring low.

"We did what we had to do to win the game but foul problems and poor free throw shooting hurt us," Uhing said.

The Blue Devils lost their leading scorer, Ted Lueders after fouling out. Nick Engelson and Jason Jorgensen were saddled most of the second half with four fouls.

The schedule has also been against the Blue Devils. The four teams the locals have played have a combined record of 15-1. The only loss was Lakeview's defeat by top-rated Aurora.

"We're close to being a good basketball team," Uhing said. "We need a couple of wins to get some momentum. Right now we have no momentum."

Corey Dahl led the Blue Devils with 14 points. The senior also added eight rebounds. Lueders also finished in double figures with 10 points. Jason Jorgensen pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds.

Schuyler's Pat Baumer took game-high honors with 18 points.

The Wayne junior varsity evened its record at 2-2 when they dumped Schuyler 49-44. Scott Hamner led the winners with 13 points. Doug Larsen added nine points.

Winside scores 69 1/2 at NBC tourney

The Winside wrestling team scored more than half of its trophies with the participation in the North Bend Invitational over the weekend. The Wildcats had one champion, Max Kant at 132 pounds, two second place finishers, Mace Kant at 125 pounds and Rod Diederichsen at 105 pounds, and one fourth place wrestler, Lee Maier at 112 pounds. Ashland and Milford tied for the team championship with 132 points apiece. North Bend finished third with 127 points. David City was fourth followed by Wisner-Pilger, Columbus, Lakeview, Wakefield and Weeping Water. The Wildcats finish of the year with 69 1/2 points.

Coach Rich Tourey said he thought his team wrestled fairly well in the tournament that was dominated by Class B teams. He said he doesn't mind wrestling against tough competition.

"In tough tournaments the good wrestlers have a chance to show that they can wrestle with anyone in the state," he said.

Max Kant breezed through the bracket on his way to being crowned champion in his weight class. He pinned his first two opponents and decided Todd Heller of Wisner-Pilger in the finals by a 15-6 count.

Mace Kant ran into a tough wrestler from North Bend in the finals. He was defeated by Daryl Houghton 8-0. Diederichsen didn't fare much better in his final match. He was pinned by Tom Havlet of Milford in 2:28.

In the consolation finals Maier was pitted against Tony Lahrs of Milford in a first-round match that happened in 1:57. But in the rematch the Milford wrestler got revenge and earned the third-place medal.

Chris Lutt places third; team scores 39 at WP

The Wayne-Carroll Blue Devil wrestling team came home from the West Point Invitational with a second and a third-place medal.

Sophomore Chris Lutt pinned his first two opponents before he was defeated by Steve Fox of O'Neill in the finals 9-3. Fellow classmate Corey Frye earned third place by pinning Monte Taylor of West Point in the consolation finals.

The Blue Devils scored 39 points to finish ninth in the 10-team tournament. O'Neill won the meet with 227 points. David City Acquinas was a distant second with 109 points. West Point finished third followed by Calhoun, Oakland-Craig, Plainview, Neligh, Wayne and West Point Central Catholic.

Coach John Murtaugh had no wrestlers at 98, 105, 112, 119, 185 and heavyweight. A couple of wrestlers were unable to compete because of ACT testing.

Murtaugh praised the performance of Lutt and Frye. He said it was the best Lutt had wrestled since he joined the varsity squad.

"The nice thing about Corey is his consistency," Murtaugh said. "He is consistently solid."

Blue Devils improve in LV defeat

A poor fourth quarter denied the Wayne Blue Devils from posting their first win of the season Saturday night when they hosted Columbus Lakeview.

The Blue Devils, 0-3, lost the game 71-54 after trailing only 43-39 going in to the final quarter. Fouls played a big part again. Wayne's Nick Engelson, Jon Stollenberg and Jason Jorgensen all were whistled for five personal fouls. The Blue Devils were called for 28 team fouls which allowed the Vikings to convert 23-37 free throws.

"A lot of our fouls are not real smart fouls," Coach Bob Uhing said. "That's the inexperience showing through."

Uhing was happy with the play of the Blue Devil front line. He said Jorgensen, Corey Dahl and Bill Liska did a good job of rebounding.

"Jason, Bill and Corey did an excellent job inside," he said. "We probably didn't go into them enough."

The skipper said although his team is improving with every game there are some things his team needs to improve.

"The things we need to improve on are correctable," Uhing said. "They have to realize the importance of each possession and take good shots, take care of the basketball and stop fouling."

Uhing said the team had a chance in the third quarter to build a big lead. Wayne owned a three-point lead and had the ball and either turned the ball over or took a bad shot on four consecutive times down the floor.

On the positive side the locals had good offensive balance. Ted Luaders once again led the way. He scored 14 points. The senior is averaging 16.6 points a game after the first three games. Dahl and Jorgensen also finished in double figures with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Uhing got a pleasant surprise from Liska. The senior has been bothered with a knee injury and had reinjured it in the loss to David City Acquinas on Friday. His status was unsure for the Lakeview game. But Liska came through with a strong performance as he finished with seven points.

"It's important that the kids don't get down on themselves," Uhing said. "When we gain experience we're going to start winning a lot."

The Blue Devil junior varsity was also beaten by Lakeview by a 56-49 score. Jarod Woods led the 1-2 junior Blue Devils with 14 points.

Laurel starts slow in season's first loss

The Laurel Lady Bears were rudely dealt their first loss of the year Monday night when Ponca dumped them 46-28.

Laurel, 3-1, lost the game in the first half when they were outscored by the Lady Indians 30-12. The Lady Bears kept an even tempo with Ponca in the second half as each team tallied 16 points in the final half.

The one player in particular that hurt the Lady Bears was Amy Armstrong. The senior scored 14 of her game-high 19 points in the first half. Coach Pam Thies said her team sat in a zone defense in the first half but Armstrong forced them to change their defense.

Thies said in the second half the Lady Bears employed a box and one defense designed to stop Armstrong. The defensive scheme calls for four girls to play a zone defense while the other girl is assigned to guard Armstrong man-to-man.

The Lady Bear who got that assignment was freshman Amy Adkins.

Thies said Adkins did an excellent job of defending Armstrong, limiting her to just five points in the half.

The Laurel skipper said her team had a chance to get back into the game in the fourth quarter. The Lady Bears trailed by nine points with about four minutes to play but they couldn't get any closer than that. Laurel went scoreless for the last three and a half minutes of the game to make the final 18-point margin.

Laurel lost its leading scorer and point guard after each fouled out. Gail Twiford fouled out after scoring 16 points and pulling down eight rebounds. Sara Adkins also fouled out. Adkins only scored four points but the team missed her leadership in the late going.

Thies said the loss is probably a good experience for her and the team.

"I learned a lot about the girls last night," she said. "It's also probably good for me. It will help me next time we get in the same situation."

Laurel did finish on top in the rebounding department. The Lady Bears held a 36-32 edge. Becky Christensen was the top Laurel rebounder with 12 boards. Christensen also added eight points.

Ponca had two girls in double figures. Armstrong finished with 19 points and Jeanine Lund added 11 markers.

In the preliminary game the Laurel junior varsity dumped Ponca 29-16. The win improved the JV's record to 2-2.

Winside hurt at charity stripe in loss

"We played tougher than nails but we missed to many free throws," said Winside Coach Mark Freburg after the Wildcats' 57-45 loss to Bancroft-Rosalie Tuesday night.

The Wildcats were outscored 13-3 from the free-throw line.

Winside had control of the game in the early going leading 21-11 in the second quarter. The Panthers pulled back to within one point at halftime.

Winside entered the fourth quarter trailing 37-35. In the first three quarters the Wildcats hit 56 percent of their shots, 17-30. In the final period they connected on only 25 percent from the field, 4-16.

Freburg said part of the problem for the poor shooting in the final quarter could have been fatigue. Winside only used seven players with the starting five going most of the way.

Kevin Jaeger and Tim Jacobsen were the only Wildcats in double figures. They finished with 13 and 10 points respectively. Mike Thies totaled nine points and Daryl Mundell added seven points. Thies and Jaeger each collected seven rebounds.

Jason Slaughter scored 31 of the Panthers' 57 points.

Lady Trojans drop a pair of games to go 0-4

The Wakefield girls dropped a pair of games during the past week. Last Friday the girls were thumped by Waua 73-35 and Monday night Emerson-Hubbard downed the Lady Trojans 40-29.

The losses dropped Wakefield's record to 0-4. Coach Ellie Studer said she can see improvement in her team. She said the Lady Trojans got better in the Emerson-Hubbard loss than they have all season. The girls hit 12-36 shots from the field and 5-9 free throws.

Things looked good for Wakefield in the early going Monday. The girls led after the first quarter 8-7. Things turned around a bit in the second period but they only trailed by three points at halftime.

The game got out of hand in the second half as the Lady Pirates outscored Wakefield 31-15. Studer said turnovers really hurt the Lady Trojans. Wakefield committed 37 turnovers, 21 in the second half.

Karen Hallstrom led the team in scoring with nine points. Stacey Kuhl added six points. Wakefield outrebounded Emerson-Hubbard 36-28. Kudi Nelson was a work horse underneath as she finished with 15 rebounds.

Studer said she thought Waua's experience did her team in last Friday. The Lady Vikings returned four starters from last year's state runner-up team.

Waua put the game out of reach early jumping to a 26-2 lead after the first eight minutes. The Lady Vikings posted a 41-16 halftime lead.

Although the Waua five were taller than the Lady Trojans, Wakefield managed to "outbound them 53-49. Once again it was Nelson leading the way with a game-high 18 rebounds. She also added six points. Des Salnson was the top scorer with eight points. Stephanie Fischer added seven points and Hallstrom tossed in six points.

Sandy Finck led all scorers with 20 points. Waua also got 17 points from Lisa Linquist.

Wayne junior cagers split with West Point Central Catholic

The Wayne 7th and 8th grade boys' basketball team swept a pair of games from West Point Central Catholic Monday.

The 7th grade squad started the afternoon by nipping the visitors 24-22. The win improved their record to 1-2. John Murphy led the team in scoring with eight points. Jim Murphy and Kyle Dahl each tallied six points and Matt Metz added four points.

The 8th graders ran their record to 4-0 with a 41-39 win over Central Catholic. Craig Sharpe paced the victors with 20 points. Brian Lentz and Jeff Griesch added eight and six points respectively. Corey Wiest scored five points and Aaron Wilson chipped in two points.

Blue Devil freshmen lose to Lakeview and Schuyler

The Wayne Blue Devils' freshmen team lost a pair of tight ones to Columbus Lakeview and Schuyler.

Against Lakeview the locals blew a 10-point lead in the third quarter and went on to lose 50-49.

"We have to learn to finish some games," Coach Duane Blomenkamp said. "The game is not over after the third quarter."

For the third-straight game Willie Gross led the team in scoring. He pumped in a game-high 25 points.

Blomenkamp said he was very pleased with the play of Gross but said that they have to get more scoring from the rest of his team.

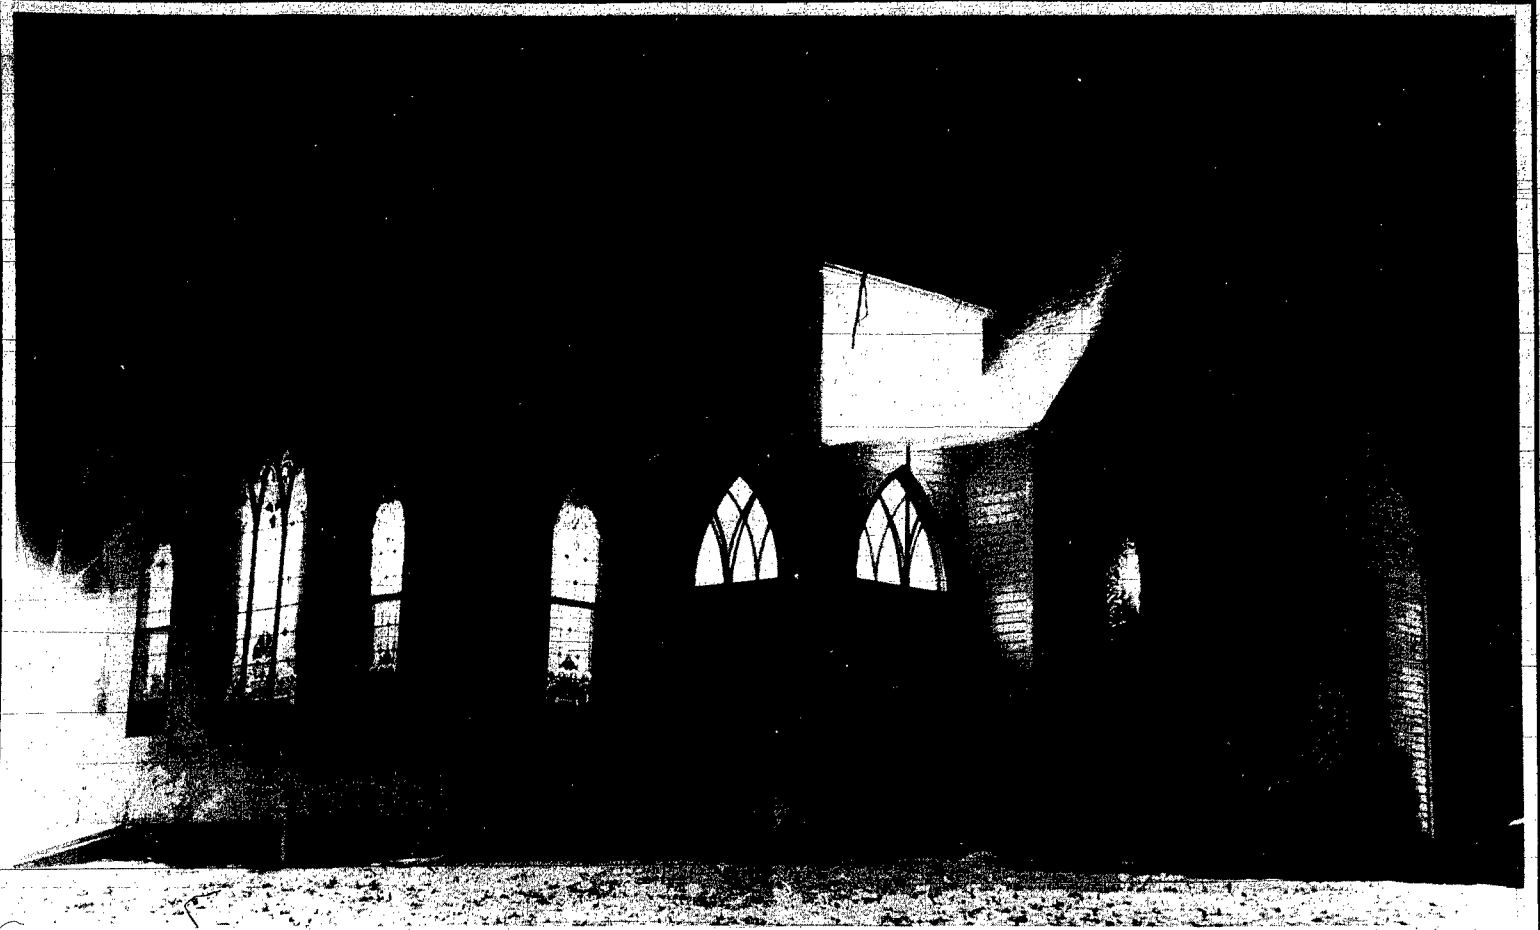

Trent Jansen was the top scorer for Lakeview with 17 points. Kaine Muhley added 14 points.

The Blue Devils got close again against Schuyler but lost 43-40. Gross was again the top scorer with 17 points. Neal Carnes added 10 points. The freshmen's record dropped to 1-3 for the season.

Smoking and Medications

Can cigarette smoke decrease the effectiveness of certain medications? According to recent studies, the answer is yes. Researchers believe that lost drug effectiveness may be due to changes in the liver caused by constituents of cigarette smoke.

Aromatic hydrocarbons in smoke are thought to activate liver enzymes which are responsible for metabolizing certain drugs. The production or activation of more enzymes means that certain drugs are metabolized more quickly than normal. The net effect is the rapid elimination of medicine from the body, thereby decreasing overall effectiveness.

Prescription medicines known to be most affected by cigarette smoke include the antiasthmatic medicine theophylline, the angina medicines propranolol and nifedipine, and the pain relievers propoxyphene, pentazocine, and phenylbutazone.

Other medicines are suspected to have decreased effectiveness in smokers. This list includes many tranquilizers, anti-anxiety agents, antidepressants, the anticoagulant heparin, and the diuretic furosemide.

Farm writer role experiences changes

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation by Cheryl Stubbendieck vice president information

Agriculture is one of the most rapidly changing industries in the U.S. today. To keep pace with it, agricultural news coverage also is changing. Recently four ag journalists took a look at the present and future for ag news reporting in a forum sponsored by the University of Nebraska chapter of Agricultural Communicators in Education.

Like the subject they cover, ag journalists and the media they work for have been affected by the downturn in the ag economy.

Dave Howe, managing editor of the Nebraska Farmer magazine, said he expects some farm publications will fold—not the Farmer itself, but other magazines that compete for shrinking ad dollars. As "merger mania" continues in the equipment and chemical businesses, there are fewer companies to buy, advertising and smaller advertising budgets.

Bryce Anderson, farm director for Omaha TV station WQWT, said the "three Rs" of TV these days are "reality, ratings and revenue." News coverage decisions are made on a cost-and-return basis, he said, and news must show an immediate benefit to the station, either an economic one—more viewers equals more ratings, equals higher ad rates—or benefits in improved image that will later return economic benefits.

Mike Hansen, farm director for Omaha radio station WOW, emphasizes that he is in the "business of farm broadcasting." He and the farm department are there to make money for the station. Hansen said he makes about 20 road trips a year to major advertising agencies to sell them on the Omaha-area market and why they should choose his station for their clients' ads, in addition to his news responsibilities.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS, with their general audience, are much less affected by the shrinking ag advertising dollar. Dan Looker, farm editor for the Lincoln Journal and Star newspapers, said his papers had little ag advertising to begin with, since they not targeted to farmers. Newspaper farm editors these days are "rarer than brain surgeons," he noted, and ag coverage is often considered to be just one part of a paper's business or regional coverage, with no particular person assigned to it.

Along with economic realities, these ag journalists said they are changing because farmers and agriculture are different than before. With more, better-educated farmers reaching the prime of their careers, something they don't already know, Howe said, and the ag journalist's job will be more difficult. Nebraska Farmer will emphasize more research and more interpretation to serve this need, he predicted.

TV newsmen Anderson said that as "airtime" for ag decreases, he's emphasizing two areas, profits and people: things that have a profit impact today, such as PIK certificates, and profiles of farmers who are meeting challenges.

AT WOW RADIO, ag news must be "hard" news, according to Hansen. There is little coffee shop/let'sram personality broadcasting anymore, he said, because it is bare, "what's happening now." Information that farmers need. Of all the media, Hansen said radio can do the best job with markets since it can present them quickly and often.

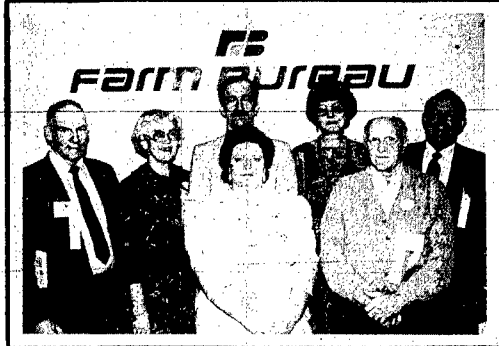

Looker said he expects that in the future, ag stories will be less sympathetic to farmers and farming practices and will deal more with the consequences of ag practices, such as environmental impacts, because it is that aspect that interests a general newspaper audience.

The traditional role of farm writer or farm broadcaster as an advocate for agriculture has changed some, too. While the Nebraska Farmer continues to promote the interests of its farmer reader, radio newsmen Hansen said he's doing more stories about agriculture than for agriculture. But as journalists not trained in agriculture are increasingly assigned to ag stories, he said he's become a "protector" of agriculture, making sure the coverage provided by those not versed in agriculture is fair and accurate.

Farm Bureau convention takes place

Delegates from Wayne and Dixon County Farm Bureau were among farmers-and-ranchers who determined policies on state issues for Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation at its convention in Grand Island on Dec. 7 to 10.

Ron Magnuson, Bill Claybaugh, Milton Owens and Donald Liedman were Wayne County's voting delegates. Dale Jackson of Allen, Carl Armstrong of Ponca and Marie George of Dixon were Dixon County's voting delegates. Other Dixon County members who participated in the convention were Harold George of Dixon, Ed and Mildred Fahrenholz and Mrs. Dale Jackson, all of Allen.

During its business sessions, the Farm Bureau House of Delegates voted to support creation of a state superfund to clean up soil and water damaged by chemicals. On a related water issue, the delegates established a policy that says Nebraska should not enact legislation which would place either civil or criminal liability on farmers and ranchers who follow generally accepted agricultural practices or who comply with label directions in applying ag chemicals, should environmental pollution occur.

Delegates also voted to oppose the sale of Nebraska's underground water, surface water or water rights, for use by out-of-state persons or businesses.

In other action, the Farm Bureau members voted for the first time to support a voluntary checkoff program for all commodities and approved a mandatory checkoff if certain conditions were met. Delegates also voted to support ending the special ethanol check-off on Dec. 31, 1987, as scheduled, rather than extend it as has been suggested.

On an issue addressed by the Nebraska Unicameral's first special session this year, the Farm Bureau delegates voted to support the central filing system passed by state senators. The system is designed to show prospective buyers any liens on farm products or machinery.

The delegates also passed national policy resolutions which will be forwarded to the American Farm Bureau for consideration.

Don Liedman is currently Wayne County Farm Bureau President.

Shawn Kai is Field Representative for Northeast Nebraska. John Anderson serves on the State Farm Bureau Policy Development Committee and Dorrine Liedman is on the State Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

Also attending the convention were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Loberg and daughters. Mrs. Loberg was a participant in the Young Farmers and Ranchers' discussion and debate. Agency Manager Stan McAfee and Career Underwriter Steve Jorgensen also attended.

Wayne County received recognition for 21 years of continuous membership growth. County Woman's Chairman Dorrine Liedman received a 4-Star Award for Women's activities.

4-H enrollment continues to rise

Despite decreasing numbers of Nebraskan youths ages 9 through 19, 4-H enrollment has risen for the fourth consecutive year, according to the 1986 4-H statistical report issued by the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The annual counts of students conducted by the State Department of Education show Nebraska's population of youths ages 9 through 19 dropping, from 273,346 in 1982 to 256,894 in 1986. At the same time, the percent of students involved with 4-H has increased from 22.3 percent to 25.2 percent in the same time period, according to the 4-H report. This year's 4-H enrollment has increased by 700 youths.

Nebraska ranks in the top five states nationally with the percent of youths involved in 4-H in relation to the states' youth population. The other top four states, according to 1985 figures, Kansas, Nevada, Oklahoma and Utah.

"A possible reason for this growth, I think is the strength of the volunteers, especially those in support roles," said Kenneth Schmidt, extension 4-H and youth specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

For 1986 the extension report showed 64,795 youths participated in 4-H activities—including 4-H clubs, special interest programs, school enrichment and individual study. The total 1985 enrollment figure was 64,070 and for 1982, the figure was 60,877. Volunteers in 4-H programs also showed an increase, with 14,529 participating in 1986 compared to 14,400 last year and 13,839 in 1982. Three districts had increased enrollment figures—Panhandle, Northeast and South Central districts—while the West Central and Southeast (which includes Lancaster and Douglas counties) showed a decrease from last year.

"We've noticed a 10-year drop in farm youth enrollment of about 1,500 youths, but the numbers have remained pretty steady for the past two years," Schmidt noted. Despite Southeast District's slight drop this year, 34,154 from 34,478 in 1985, "it is the urban areas that have grown the most in enrollment," he added.

"This has probably to do more with the school enrichment programs offered than anything else," Schmidt said. The school enrichment program also has helped increase the percent of minorities involved in 4-H, he added, with 3,301 minority youths participating in 1982 and more than 4,000 this year. This increase tends to keep pace with the percentage of minorities in Nebraska's schools, Schmidt said.

WHILE THE TOTAL enrollment in 4-H went up, only the school enrichment programs showed a significant four-year increase, from 34,652 youths in 1982 to 38,378 in 1986.

"School enrichment growth has been pretty volatile. It all depends on which programs the counties decide to use each year," Schmidt said of the fluctuations in enrollment numbers.

Special interest programs showed the biggest increase in the last year, with 5,550 youths participating this year compared to 4,126 in 1985. The special interest category consists of short-term programs or short series of workshops, such as tractor safety certification.

The organized 4-H clubs may be following the youth population trend with a slight decrease in enrollment over the last four years, Schmidt said. Participant numbers in clubs have dropped from 29,208 in 1982 to 27,241 this year.

Cattle on feed increases

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,920,000 cattle on feed on Dec. 1, according to the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service. This inventory was up four percent from last year, up five percent from 1984, and was the highest on record for any month of the year.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of November totaled 350,000, an increase of nine percent from 1985 and six percent above November, 1984.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during November totaled 490,000 head. This was up 14 percent from both last year and two years ago and was the highest for the month since 1976.

UP WITH AGRICULTURE
By David Garst

It's hard to see the sun when dark clouds loom overhead. But several factors indicate that the economic sky may be clearing over American agriculture.

At this point, there appears to be only a few rays of sunshine and not a blue sky, but there's still good reason to believe that agriculture has made a turn for the better. Major indicators like declining oil prices and interest rates, a softer dollar abroad, and increased U.S. farm export potential add up to good news for agriculture.

Interest rates today are less than one-half as high as they were just six years ago. According to agricultural economists, each percentage-point decrease in interest rates saves farmers $2 billion and boosts net farm income by as much as 8 to 10 percent.

Energy costs have decreased significantly in the last five years, too. Oil prices today are $12 a barrel, compared with $36 a barrel in 1981. These two factors—cheaper money and energy—mean more jobs for America. And when more people are working, generally more money is spent on food.

Add to this the fact that, after five years of decline, U.S. farm exports are predicted to increase during the trade year that began in October.

And the government is finally trying to take some long overdue steps in the right direction toward fiscal responsibility. When the federal deficit hit the $2 trillion mark in April, Congress set its collective foot down. With the passage of the Gramm-Rudman bill, Congress has declared that government must start paying its bills. This could mean a further decline in the value of the dollar and interest rates, as well as continued expansion in the rest of the economy.

It's been over 10 years since inflation, interest rates, energy prices, farm export predictions and the federal monetary policy have all been positive.

In short, American agriculture is on the rebound, and those of us in agriculture should look up. Because when we do, we'll see these rays of sunshine peering through the clouds.

Still accepting applications for management program

There is still room for additional farm couples in the Cooperative Extension Service's comprehensive educational financial management program which will be held in Stanton, Concord and Emerson in January.

The program assists families in planning the future of their operation by looking at where they are, where they want to be and how they are going to get there. The program starts with workshops held one day a week for four weeks that deal with setting goals for your family and business, looking at your present operation, and evaluating alternatives for the future. The farm visit and individual consultations that follow the workshops help you develop and monitor a cash flow plan for the operating year.

Although there is a charge for the program, the first meeting is free and after participating in this meeting the farm couple can decide whether they wish to enroll for the entire program. Some financial institutions are offering cash incentives for the clientele to enroll.

Meeting sites and dates are: Wednesday, January 7 - Community Building, Stanton; Thursday, January 8 - Basement Meeting Room, First Nebraska Bank, N.A., Emerson; Friday, January 9 - Northeast Research and Extension Center, Concord. The same program is being offered at all three locations and registration is 9:30 A.M. to 10:00 A.M. Please let the host extension office know you are coming.

Further information about the MFT program is available from local Cooperative Extension Offices, banks, PCA and FHA offices or by calling the MFT toll free number: 800-535-3456. Please note: over the Christmas holidays the Dixon County Extension Office will not be open on all days. If you try and can not reach the, please call again on January 5.

the farmer's wife by pat meierhenry

This is the season for music — all around us. I've stacked the stereo with records and pulled the old favorites from the music file. My copies of Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer and White Christmas have construction paper wrappers because they are in danger of falling apart.

I sent "I'll Be Home for Christmas (If Only in My Dreams)" to my parents the year I affiliated at Denver Children's Hospital and could not be home.

There are carolers out and about. Even people who do not sing all year want to sing Christmas carols. Another memory I have of the days when I was a student was the caroling in the halls of the hospital early on Christmas morning. We carried our lamps, candles lit, and I can still get goose bumps at 30 years.

Friday night I stayed home alone and watched The Mormon Tabernacle Choir. They included the Hallelujah Chorus.

My love affair with this number, and all the Christmas music from the Messiah, goes back to when I was about 13 years old and went to hear the University of Nebraska choirs perform it. I wanted very much to learn it and sing in it.

One of the first albums I bought was the Messiah, done by the Tabernacle Choir.

FINALLY. About 15 years ago, a Community Chorus was formed in Norfolk and it was decided that they would present the Messiah in December. We practiced at Norfolk Senior High on Sunday afternoons. Some of us brought our kids, and they played in the Forum, which is a large pit in the main lobby where the students can gather. It was carpeted in green, and our kids called it "the green place."

I bought my own book, pencilled in the cues, and learned the alto part. Only real sopranos sing soprano in the Messiah. Jean Anderson, the director's wife, sat on my left and kept me on the right track.

Our concerts were very formal in those days. We wore long skirts. Male soloists were in tuxedos. We usually used the junior high auditorium.

One year, a local bank sponsored it and we were in the city auditorium with poiseitias all around. Singers came from all over. We rehearsed that afternoon, and sang that night.

ONCE, THEY sang in a local church, and I decided I didn't have time to practice with them. I went to hear them, and my throat ached with the effort not to sing.

Gradually, my book has become dog-eared. We have a new director, and I miss having Jean beside me. Some communists just have a "Messiah sing," as Wayne did on Sunday. Folks just bring their books and sing through it.

When this work was first performed for the King of England, George I. is said to have stood for the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus. This is why the audience traditionally stands for this part of the oratorio.

This year, there will be a small oratorio and we are back at junior high. If you have an extra hour and the roads are good, come hear us next Sunday.

Meanwhile, I'm catching St. Olaf's choirs and an evening with the Pops featuring the Vienna Boys Choir. They're doing the Drummer Boy and the French horns are wonderful.

Remember to enjoy the music while preparing for the Big Day.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

"When young we tend to view aging as something exciting, eagerly anticipating growing up, and when old — facing physical decline — as something depressing. With typical human perversity, we nearly always want to be an age we are not." — Desmond Morris

Do you enjoy visiting museums and art galleries? If so, you're not alone. According to a survey taken recently by the Louis Harris polling organization, the proportion of people aged 65 and older who visit art museums, art galleries and historical museums has more than doubled over the last five years.

Frank Lloyd Wright, considered by many people to have been America's most important architects, created one of his masterpieces, the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York City, when he was almost 90 years old.

Remember When? January 31, 1950 — President Harry Truman ordered the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Honors recital held at WSC

Six music students were chosen by the applied music faculty at Wayne State College of Nebraska to perform in an honors recital Dec. 4 in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Petersen Fine Arts Center on campus.

The students that participated in this semester's recital were Gayle Hightree of Battle Creek, Iowa, with a voice solo; Denise Whipple of Stanton, playing the french horn; Teresa Travis of Lenox, Iowa, on the saxophone; Gene Eiler of Leigh with an organ solo; and Mary Beth Podany of Petersburg and Bébba Lee of Wayne, playing piano solos.

Dr. Jay O'Leary, division head of the fine arts department, said the honors recital is a long-standing tradition.

"It's called an honors recital because it's those students who are outstanding in their particular music areas," he said.

A total of eight students can be in the recital, one for each area of applied music. "But that doesn't always mean there will be eight people performing," said O'Leary. The instructors do not have to choose a student if they feel that none of the students are outstanding, said O'Leary.

"One needs to learn to play better in applied music, and one needs to perform," said O'Leary. "But the honors recital is different because it gives us, as instructors, an opportunity to recognize those students who have distinguished themselves," he added.

State Senator Hefner seeks chairman position

State Senator Ely Hefner announced his intention to seek the Chairmanship of Legislature's Revenue Committee in January. The Revenue Committee handles all major tax legislation which comes before the Legislature. Hefner has served as Vice-Chairman of the committee for the past 10 years.

Hefner's announcement puts him in the race with the present Chairman Senator Vard Johnson of Omaha. In making his announcement Hefner stated "I have a more conservative philosophy about taxes than Senator Johnson. I understand the tax problems our state faces, and the problems of the taxpayer as well. The Legislature needs a steady, fair, and level-headed approach to taxes."

Hefner presently serves as Vice-Chairman of a special tax study committee.

On the first day of each session the Legislature fills its leadership positions through a secret ballot election by the members. In a letter to other Senators Hefner said he has always "tried to be fair, open-minded, objective, cooperative, and honest with the members of the committee and with those who appeared before the committee. I can provide stable and reliable leadership."

Behavioral checklist

by Doug Porter
This week's article will be final installment of the series we have been running on Wellness and living a full, healthy life. The last article of the series will deal with medical alert and what to do if one or more of your previously mentioned 11 areas of wellness is lacking.
There are several areas which you should consider in the medical alert section of wellness. Some areas which need to be observed include: current problem list, current medications, suggested lifestyle improvement needs, allergies, immunizations and resolved problem list. These areas need to be developed and checked constantly as far as their progress and maintenance towards wellness.

Wayne stress prevention center

Changing your lifestyle and habitual behaviors is an extremely difficult task. Ask anyone who has tried to change a chronic bad habit such as smoking and they will tell you how difficult it is. The following is a Behavioral Change Checklist that if followed can help you change chronic behaviors:

1. Identify a specific behavior that you would like to change and feel you can change. Start with a less difficult behavior.
2. Make a tally sheet for one week and record the behavior you would like to change. Record the number of times it occurs, the circumstances and your feelings when it occurs, and how important the behavior was (one for the most important, five for the least important).
3. Immediately reward yourself in a "healthy" way for following the desired behavior.
4. Break the automatic habit. Many behaviors occur without conscious thought (smoking, eating, driving a car without a seat belt). Break up the routine. Put your cigarette in a different place, agree to eat with your opposite hand, etc.
5. Withdraw rewards, when possible, for undesirable behavior.
6. If possible, change your environment. Look for people and social systems that are compatible with and supportive of your desired behavior.
7. Focus on the positive effects rather than what you are losing as a result of the change.
8. Think flexible. Most limitations are internal. We tend to blame others for our inability to change when creative thinking would provide an effective strategy for the desired behavior.
9. Learn through observing others — healthy others — especially those with whom you can easily identify.
10. Convert difficult goals and complex behavior change into small and achievable steps; for example, running a marathon may begin with a short walk/run exercise program and gradually evolve over a six-month or year period into a full marathon.
11. Practice, practice, practice! Repetition is an important key to learning.
12. When in doubt, consult with knowledgeable others.

Learn from your failures. Behavior change takes time. Thomas Edison was once asked why he persisted in his desire to invent a new type of battery in the face of frequent failure. He replied, "What failure? I have no failures. Now I know 50,000 ways it won't work."

You are not a failure when you fail. It is vital that you keep a home health record for your own use and observe some of the areas that have been discussed in this article. The most significant determinant to your quality of life is your negative lifestyle choices. It is critical that you change your harmful lifestyle habits to more positive areas if you want to lead a long healthful life.

At the Wayne Stress Prevention Center we would welcome the opportunity to aid you in your wellness. If you have any questions towards this topic, please come in and visit on Thursday nights at 7 p.m. in Room 202 of Wayne-Carroll High School.

Furthermore, if you would like us to give a presentation to your group, please contact us at 375-2420 or 375-5269. We are totally free of charge thanks to a grant from the Providence Medical Center Foundation.

This will be our last meeting until Jan. 8, 1987 because of Christmas and New Year's Day. So if you want to alleviate some of the pre-Christmas stress, please stop by this Thursday or forever hold your stress until next year.

Hostesses were Mary Noe, Bessie Sherman and Phyllis Hartel.

cards of thanks

WE WOULD like to thank all of the people who helped to make our craft and bake sale a success. St. Paul's Lutheran Church. D18

TO MY WAY of thinking, nothing will compare with lots of good neighbors whose customs are rare. They are the most considerate, day in and day out, as good as real angels, without any doubt. If you're sick or you're well, no difference it makes they stand by you through all with whatever it takes. They tell me in cities you don't know the name of folks you live by — I think that's a shame. I may be old fashioned, but just take it from me — among alot a good people is the best place to be. I know I cannot express my thanks to each of you adequately for all you have done for my family and myself during my hospitalization and since returning home. It meant so very, very much to all of us. For all of you that helped in any way for picking our corn, to Julie & Jeff Hartung for making it convenient for them to unload the corn, for the food brought in, for Eunice who donated her time and place to feed everyone, for my cards and plants, to the wonderful people of our church, to Pastor Marburger, the doctors on staff at the hospital... God bless you all. Norman Lubberstedt. D18

MANY THANKS to all my relatives and friends that helped me celebrate my 90th birthday, for all the nice cards and gifts and to Esther Stoltenberg and the Hans Tietgen family for hosting this party for me. I enjoyed it very much. Dorothy (Dora) Tietgen. D18

I WOULD like to thank the Boy Scouts and their parents for coming to my house to sing Christmas carols. Betty Ulrich. D18
